THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 26 No. 150 | QUINCY, MASS., SATURDAY EVENING, JULY 1, 1911 | PRICE TWO CENTS

CITY'S GROWTH SUBSTANTIAL

Building Permits For June Amount To $168,485

SIX MONTHS $694,147

Inspector of Buildings Warren S. Parker reports the total number of permits for buildings issued in June to have been 77 a total value of $168,485. Of this amount $89,750 was for new dwelling houses and $10,750 for new cottages.

The estimate of the amount of work to be done under permits issued for the first six months of the year are given below in comparison with the same period in 1909and 1910.

1909	$515,212
1910	578,734
1911	694,147

The permits issued in June for new dwelling houses and cottages were as follows:

C. W. Guy, dwelling Hudson street.

John W. Chisholm, dwelling Stewart street.

Sarah McCarthy, cottage Brunswick street.

Merry L. Roach, dwelling Highalnd avenue.

Crolinda Cappelini, dwelling Independence avenue.

Margaret Fallon, dwelling School street.

Albert B. Peterson, dwelling Cranch street.

W. A. Dunham, cottage Petrel road

Frank W. Anderson, dwelling Squantum.

Daniel Gallant, cottage Palmer street.

James Doherty, dwelling Merrymount road.

A. W. Parlee, dwelling Merrymount road.

R. S. Crosby, cottage Manet avenue.

Joseph D. Mastico, cottage Casco street.

C. F. Brown, dwelling Ocean street.

M. E. Kilpatrick, dwelling Faxon road.

Julius Nelson, cottage Brockton avenue.

Ruel O. Jefferson, dwelling Palmer street.

Felix Favorite, two dwellings Belmont street.

Nellie Greenlaw, cottage Babcock street.

M. E. Kilpatrick, dwelling Squantum.

(Continued on Page Three.)

CARPETS
Oriental Domestic RUGS
Floor Coverings
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION
At Lowest Possible Prices

John H. Pray & Sons Co.
Established 1872
646-658 Washington St., Opposite Boylston St.

All Goods will be Delivered Free at Residences in Quincy
REPRESENTED IN QUINCY BY
Messrs. OTHO A. HAYWARD and WALTER J. WELLINGTON.

HURRAH! HURRAH!
JULY 4th
Children Attention

Refined free entertainments as follows:

St. Mary's Hall, West Quincy, 10.45 A. M. Prof. Josef Yarrick, Modern Miracle Worker advanced magic.

Alpha Hall, Quincy Centre 3.00 P. M.

THE PIXIES—One of the most pleasing entertainments on the stage for children.

READ! READ!

Prof. Wallace the celebrated Punch & Judy man will give open air shows at the time and places as follows:

WARD 1. Adams Academy Grounds, 10.45 A. M. Sharp.
WARD 2. River Street near Washington St., 11.30 A. M. Sharp.
WARD 3. Near Lincoln School, 1 P. M. Sharp.
WARD 4. New Playground, Copeland and Common Streets, 2 P. M. Sharp.
WARD 5. Wollaston School, 3.15 P. M. Sharp.

YOU FOR A GOOD TIME.

Charles H. Johnson, Chairman; George W. Abele, John D. Mackay, John O. Hall, Edward J. Sandberg, Daniel J. Deasy, John R. Richards, Daniel Duggan, Charles J. McGilvray, Thomas J. Shortle, William H. Teasdale,

Committee on Children's Entertainments,

QUINCY FOURTH JULY ASSO.

June 30-3t

JULY 4th PROGRAM AT A GLANCE

5.30 A. M.—Parade at Atlantic

8.30 A. M.—Parade at Quincy Centre

8.30 A. M.—Fancy Base Ball, Ward 6 Playground

9.30 A. M.—Preliminaries Merrymount Park

10 A. M.—Ball games various Wards.

1 P. M.—Ball Game, Ward 6.

2 P. M.—Track Meet.

2 P. M.—Finals Merrymount Park.

1.30 to 3 P. M.—Band Concert, Ward 6.

3 P. M.—Baseball, Ward 6.

3 P. M.—Band Concert and water Sports, Ward 6.

8 P. M.—Fireworks—Merrymount Park

Evening—Cruiser Chester Decorated—Off Yacht Club.

CHILDREN'S PROGRAM.

10.00 A. M.—Ward 6—Athletic sports.

10.30 to 12—Ward 6—Ice cream at Music Hall.

10.45 A. M.—Ward 4—Prof. Josef Yarrick in Magic—St. Mary's Hall.

10.45 A. M.—Ward 1—Punch and Judy—Adams Academy Grounds.

11.30A. M.—Ward 2—Punch and Judy River near Washington street.

1.00 P. M.—Ward 3—Punch and Judy near Lincoln School.

2.00 P. M.—Ward 4—Punch and Judy New Playground

3.15 P. M.—Ward 5—Punch and Judy Wollaston School.

3.00 P. M.—Ward 6—Water Sports—Foot Webster Street.

3.00 P. M.—Ward 1—The Pixies—Alpha Hall.

DRAWINGS FOR BALL GAMES

South Quincy and West Quincy Play Preliminary Game

GAME 9.30 JULY 4TH

At a special meeting of the baseball committee held Friday evening, drawings were made for the big game at Merrymount park, on the morning of the Fourth. South Quincy A. A. and the West Quincys play the preliminary game beginning at 9.30 and the winner plays Makaria. The committee has decided that every team which is to compete for the prizes must have a list of twelve from whom the nine will be picked, in the hands of the chairman of the Baseball committee, Leo Noonan, by Monday noon. Any team failing to have its list in will be disqualified. Likewise, any team playing a man not mentioned on the list of twelve will be disqualified. The teams which have not handed intheir lists to date are Adams A. A., West Quincy All Stars, West Quincy and Bigelows.

The Adams A. A. and the West Quincy All Stars have decided that the winner in their game shall get both the prize and the receipts. The St. Marys and Colonials have made a similar arrangement. In the other games the winner will take the prize and the receipts will be divided equally between the two teams after the umpire is paid. No variation from this can be made without first getting the approval of the baseball committee.

The games on the Ward playgrounds and on the lower field at Merrymount park will begin at 10 o'clock and the final game on the upper field will be played as soon as possible after the 6 inning preliminary game. The parade committee will make a special effort to get their event through on time so that the ball games may be completed in good season.

WILL SWIM TO BOSTON LIGHT.

Early in August Charles Durborow the noted Philadelphia swimmer will undertake the trip to Boston light and return. Durborow's feat in successfully swimming from Atlantic City to Ocean City a distance of over 12 miles in spite of very rough water, gives one more instance of strength and endurance of this remarkable young champion.

Before he started both his friends and the life guards of Atlantic City advised him to postpone the attempt, so bad were conditions, but he thought it a good opportunity to try himself out, and would not listen to their remonstrations. The fact is that Durborow anticipates trying to cross the English channel in August, and he is taking these preparatory swims both as preparation for the great test and to ascertain what are his chances of success. Early in July he will tackle the journey from the Battery to Sandy Hook.

ATE RAT BISCUIT.

Thirteen children, most of whom were very young, were poisoned at Lowell by eating rat biscuit which they had found in the ruins of a drug store burned about two weeks ago. All will recover.

(ADVERTISE.)

ATWOOD MAKES GREAT FLIGHT.

Harry Atwood the intrepid young Boston aviator left Squantum, Friday morning for one of the greatest flights on record. Carrying a passenger he flew to New London, Ct., a distance of 135 miles, without making a stop and without any trouble whatever to the machine.

The American record of 120 miles sustained flight with a passenger was made last summer by Parmalee, who carried an army officer. Atwood claims to have beaten this mark by at least 15 miles over the course he followed yesterday, along the shore line toward New York.

A little more than a week ago Atwood made his first long cross-country flight from Waltham to Concord, N. H. and on Thursday broke the New England record covering 80 miles.

Atwood said his route Friday followed from Boston was over Quincy, Brockton, Bridgewater, Middleboro, Tremont, Taunton, Fall River and Newport to Westerly, and then over the railroad tracks to New London.

"This was the most successful flight in my career," declared Atwood to a Herald reporter over the long distance telephone from New London yesterday. "The weather conditions were ideal and with the wind at my back the entire distance I was considerably favored. I followed the shore line route to New London, which makes the distance approximately 135 miles, a new American record, carrying a passenger. I had considerable trouble in finding my way and in this manner probably travelled a few more miles than was really necessary."

—The advice of a furniture house "to those about to marry" is, "If the amount of money you can spend in furnishing your house is limited, do not try to buy too much with it." Do as the storied pair in Nebraska: set up housekeeping with a dinner table and a washboiler. They found that they could get along without the washboiler.—Boston Transcript.

COLLECTORS TO REPORT

At the Meeting of July 4th Committee To Night

ELABORATE PARADE

A meeting of the general committee of the Fourth of July celebration will be held tonight. It will probably be the last meeting before the celebration and a large attendance is desired. A full rport of all the collectors is desired at this meeting. If the returns of the collectors are what it is fully expected they will be additional appropriations will be made for the different events. The committee on sports desire more money for prizes as also does the committee on parade whose appropriations were cut at the meeting of Wednesday evening. It was announced at this meeting that if the collections came in that they would be given more money.

Everything now points to one of the grandest celebrations that the city has ever held. From the features already entered for the parade it will be a grand one, the only regret being that the route of the parade as laid out is a little long especially for those who have to walk.

—Reports from Iowa say, eggs are selling there at 10 cents a dozen, but we shall probably have to pay 50 cents a dozen next December for those same eggs. Great are the possibilities of the modern system of cold storage.—Milford Gazette.

International Bible Students Association
CLASS EXTENSION COURSE

Resurrection

SUNDAY, JULY 2, 3 P. M.
LECTURE BY
H. P. CLEASON OF BOSTON
TOPIC
"Necessity of a Resurrection"
COLONIAL HALL, QUINCY, MASS.
Seats Free All Welcome No Collection

Outing Shirts
Soft Bosoms, Soft Collars, Soft Cuffs
You can take a mighty lot of comfort in them
50c to $1.50 JONES 'Just Around the Corner'

INTERESTING EXCURSION

Prominent Coal Merchants Return From Coal Fields

REPORT OF TRIP

Frank S. Patch, Eben W. Sheppard and William Cashman, Quincys well known coal merchants returned Friday evening from an interesting and profitable trip to the coal mines of Pennsylvania. It was an educational excursion of the Retail Coal dealers association, to the mines of the Lehigh Valley Coal Co. at Hazelton, Pa.

The party, 250 strong, left Boston via Fall River line Tuesday evening and the Quincy members of the party arrived home Friday evening.

Arriving near the mines, they made their headquarters at the Glen Summit Springs house, a most beautiful hotel situated 2000 feet above the level of the sea. Here they were the guests of the Lehigh Valley Co. who proved most royal entertainers.

The next morning after their arrival the made a visit to the coal mining region, each of the coal merchants being clad in overhauls and jumpers, in order to protect their immaculate linen. The trip took them over the famous switch back railroad into the mountains.

Owing to the danger of descending with such a large number, in the party they did not go down into the mines

They saw the fresh mined coal come up out of the bowels of the earth however and the nudis operandi of screening and sorting the coal ready for market. As the coal comes from the mines it appears to be largely screenings. This runs over a long screen run where it is automatically sorted into the different sizes.

After seeing the coal as it comes from the mines the wonder is that people in Quincy and other places get as good coal as they do, was the general opinion arrived at by the merchants.

Of course such a trip as this would not be complete without a banquet and this was one of the pleasing features of the trip.

As noted in the announcement, the excursion was one of education and the coal men learned much of the trip that was new to them aside from being an enjoyable outing.

STATE BAR EXAMINATIONS.

Albert Coffin, Arthur Thomas and Carl Prescott are among the three hundred and three law students who took the Massachusetts State bar examinations Friday at the English High School Building, Boston. Most of them came from Greater Boston, principally from this year's graduation classes atthe Boston University, Harvard and the Young Men's Christian Association. Among those from Cambridge was William E. Russell, a son of former Gov. Russell. The examination board, hopes to announce the successful candidate by the later part of July.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

Summer School for Girls WILL OPEN on July 5th, 1911
— AT —
The Quincy Women's Club House

SEWING CLASSES
(Girls please bring scissors and thimbles)
HOME NURSING CLASSES
PHYSICAL CULTURE CLASSES

For information address
MRS. C. R. SAFFORD,
31 Clive Street, Atlantic
June 26-3t--26-28-1

SAFETY
FIREWORKS

Manufactured under Massachusetts Laws for a Safe and Sane

Fourth of July Celebration

If there's any place on Earth where Fourth of July should be celebrated, it is here in Quincy—the home of John Adams—the man who advocated, seconded and signed the Declaration of Independence, and was the first Minister to the Court of St. James after the signing of the Treaty.

ISN'T THAT A GOOD REASON FOR CELEBRATING?

THE LARGEST ASSORTMENT IN QUINCY

Day Fireworks, Evening Fireworks, Torpedoes, Paper Caps, Fire Crackers, Fish Horns, Cow Bells, Weird Whistles, Cap Canes, Roman Candles, Mines, Fountains, Pin Wheels, and Hundreds of Fireworks Novelties.

The Evening Fireworks for small home Celebrations are Better and Cheaper and Saner than ever.

SPARKLETS for Day or Evening. Absolutely Harmless
COLORED FIRE LAWN LIGHTS

OUR SPECIAL
Mandarin Fire Crackers sold everywhere for 5c
Our Price 3c per bunch
Box Assortments 10c, 25c, 50c, $1, $2, $3, $5, $10
A Big Assortment of Penny Goods

FOR DECORATING
Japanese Lanterns Japanese Parasols
FLAGS FLAGS
All Sizes All Prices

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
ANNEX 5 and 10-cent STORE
1459 Hancock St., QUINCY

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1889
THE HOME NEWSPAPER

[Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.

BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
219 East 23d Street,
New York City

Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter.

Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50

Telephone, Quincy 425

Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

The parade at Atlantic starts at 5.30.

After the Fourth the Circus.

Set your alarm clock next Tuesday for 5 A. M.

Again we ask—have you sent your donation?

Everybody prepare to get together for a glorious Fourth.

In view of all the silver the Tafts received, the White House can now entertain company without using the old yellow earthenware bean-pot.

If G. W. Should come back to earth on July 4th, Young America would look at his cocked hat and ruffled shirt and call him Uncle Reuben.

Judging by the chorus of "How dry I ams" from the troops returning from Texas, we judge they walked all the way and that the roads were dusty.

The arbitration treaty with England is nearly ready, but the Senate will observe its rights to deposit chestnut burrs beneath the British lion's tail.

Col. Roosevelt's answer to the fellow who is assailing him in the Sugar investigation will probably be issued without one chrystal of sweetness.

The recent Natnucket fire leads one to think that some day the careless user of matches may be brought to realize that letting go of a lighted match, or throwing it away, does not necessarily extinguish it.

The way to have a sane Fourth for the children and do away with the danger of celebrating in the old way is to provide a substitute. This is just what is being planned for Quincy The committee on the children's program has arranged entertainments for each ward and besides this, the parade band concerts, and fireworks will round out a day's pleasure for young and old.

THE VALUE OF REST.

Prof. Lee, writing on the subject "The Physiology of Exercise and Rest," shows by experiments the way in which exercise tires the muscles and in fact, all the organs of the body. He says: There is no known antidote to fatigue, unless it be rest, with all that rest implies. Sleep allows the reparative process of rest to be performed most quickly and completely. A moderate degree of fatigue, or even a considerable degree when not too often encurred, as not detrimental to a healthy body and is even to be advised. The healthy body is provided with great recuperative powers, and does not rapidly succumb to even excessive demands on its energy. But it should be allowed the proper condition for recuperation, and that condition is adequate rest. There is danger when the fatigue of one day's labor is not eliminated before the next day's work as begun. The effect may then be cumulative. the tissue may be in a continued state of depression, and the end may be disastrous.

AVERTISING AS A GUARANTEE.

When a business concern invests a large sum of money in a handsome store and equipment for retail merchandising, the public feels a certain degree of confidence that the concern has goods worth examining. People argue that unless they had established a reputation for fair dealing and unless they had goods that they knew filled a need, they would not dare spend so much money.

Advertising, likewise, acts as a guarantee of substantial business character. When a firm spends money freely on this necessary form of salesmanship, the public concludes that it must have goods back of it that have demonstrated their worth, or the firm would not have set apart this sum of money or selling them through the newspapers.

A concern that does not advertise impresses the public as merely an experiment. The fact that it may have been in existence for many years does not help it so very much. The public may even look at mere existence for a long term of years as a disqualification, indicating preference for old time methods. It takes advertising to prove that you have confidence in your goods.

OTHER EDITORS ARE SAYING

It is a satisfying reflection that the fame of the noted beauties of the day will go down to prosperity not as the artificially bedecked and painted heroines of old but conspicuous and celebrated by reason of their splendid manifestation of health, of youth, of Comeliness (Ladies Field).

If it be recalled that Mr. Taft was responsible forMr. Ballinger it is also to be remarked that he is to be credited for the selection of Mr. Fisher for the Interior portfolio. (Prov. Journal.)

A man need not be a born Wordsworthian, nor even a Wordsworthian at all, to know and to feel the spell of Nature in June. Even over the plain man who feels no more than he sees the mere external beauty of nature, even if devoid of all ethical and spiritual heightening must needs cast a spell so potent in these days of June that none but the dullest of souls can ignore or resist it. (London Times.)

The beginning of a $500,000 addition to the plant of the Oxford paper mill at Rumford does not indicate any great fear that Canadian reciprocity is going to ruin the paper industry of Maine. (Portland Press.)

If the bill introduced in the legislature by Rep. O'Connell of Peabody, prohibiting steam railway corporations from charging more than half-fare for passengers who are not furnished with a seat, becomes a law, we may see people quarreling with one another for the privilege of standing up. (Globe.)

Hoboken, N. J., has refused the commission form of government, thus showing that the town is something more than a figment of the joker's imagination. (Herald.)

When a fly lights on flypaper he realizes that he is better off. (Tribune.)

PICKED UP IN PASSING

FOOLED—"My baby cries all night. I don't know what to do with it."

"I'll tell you what I did. As soon as our baby commenced to cry I used to turn on all the gas. That fooled him. He thought it was broad daylight and went to sleep."—Tit-Bits.

SHOULD HAVE.—An Indiana assessor had trouble getting people to list dogs for taxes.

"Got a dawg?" he asked.

"No," was the answer.

"Well, I'll 'sess you one anyway—not my fault if hain't got any—plenty of dawgs."—Success Magazine.

OPPORTUNITY— Widow—My husband, who so often helped you before, died a few months ago.

Beggar—I sympathize with you very much, ma'am. You haven't got a colored dress you could give me, I suppose.—Fliegende Blaetter.

Church— You know Shakespeare said men of few words are the best men.

Gotham— What did Shakespeare want to "knock" Noah Webster like that for, do you suppose?"—Yonkers Statesman.

COLLEGE DEGREE.

The college degree factories have again produced their annual output of more or less meaningless literary tags. The conferring of these distinctions may be harmless enough. Often such awards recognize some conspicuous merit.

But one sometimes thinks, when some eminent politician is dubbed a Doctor of Laws, how much more fitting it would be to call him D. W. P. (Doctor of Wire Pulling.) When some captain of industry is made Master of Arts how much truer it would be to call him D. H. F. (Doctor of High Finance.)

The university blazons the word "Truth" over its front door, and in an enthusiasm of devotion to public enlightenment, it preaches frankness and sincerity in the search for knowledge as the one consummate and predominating end of man. Then it closes its annual scholastic career by distributing titles broadcast, which in the majority of cases are shams.

Originally the degree of bachelor of arts was sought only by those who proposed to teach, or live the life of scholastic research. If one of the medieval bookworms to whom the title was correctly applied, could see the modern Bachelor of Arts as he hangs around the stage doors of our theatres, he would be very considerably jarred.

The degree of doctor of divinity is conferred with a freedom that makes us the laughing stock of the scholars of Europe. It is true that our most important colleges are growing more and more careful to have such degrees distributed only on a basis of merit. For instance in one recent year, Harvard gave no degrees of doctor of divinity, Amherst gave only one, and Yale, Dartmouth, and Williams gave but two each.

The trouble is that the less important a college is, the more freely it discharges these volleys of capital letters, whether from easy good nature, or for advertising purposes, or for cold cash, one can hardly say.

The United States constitution expressed the American spirit when it decreed that no title of nobility should be granted by the United States. Theoretically speaking, academic degrees have been contrary to this national temper, since their purpose has been to constitute a prilvileged literary class. In so far as these degrees are awarded on strict merit, few will be disposed to quarrel with them. But a great many of our colleges simply cheapen themselves by the freedom with which they hand around these distinctions to pushing nobodies.

BRIEFS

At the close of the Sunday school session of the Wollaston Methodist Sunday school at 12.30 P. M., there will be given a short address on "A Sane Fourth" by H. E. Gould, Commander of the Local Camp of the Spanish War Veterans. The nature of all the services held in the church tomorrow will be of a patriotic character. At 7 P. M., a special service lasting for one hour, with patriotism as the theme, will be conducted with special speakers and music. The public is welcome to attend these services and it is expected that several members of the Women's Relief Corps, the G. A. R., and the Spanish War Veterans will attend.

Frank S. Patch and Eben W. Sheppard, Quincys well known coal merchant returned this morning from a visit to the coal mines of Pennsylvania.

A building committee of twenty-five who are contemplating the building of a new church in Fanueil, visited Atlantic this week and inspected the new Memorial church.

From 10.30 until 12 o'clock on the Fourth children will present tickets at Music hall, 7 Botolph street, and be served with ice cream. These tickets will have been previously distributed and it is believed the children will enjoy their part of the day's festivities as much as the older ones.

Alfred W. Brown of Washington street, Quincy Point, starts in today as cashier of the State bath house at Nantasket beach.

A special feature in the Ward 6, Fourth of July parade will be given by Cornelius Duggan. It is expected that it will eclipse his famous, "Darkest Africa" of two years ago. Mr. Gallagher is also planning an elaborate float. Both features will include about forty participants. It is expected that the general committee will distribute programs and ice cream tickets ,to those from whom they have collected funds, early in the week.

David Lindberg formerly of Quincy is now located in San Antonio, Texas, where he is working with a medical corps employed by the government. He is planning to enter Baltimore Medical school in the fall.

The Epworth League of the Hall Place M. E. church has discontinued its devotional meetings on Sunday evenings during July and August. The service will commence the first Sunday in September.

The Faxon Loyal Temperance Legion will have float in parade July 4th. All members wishing to go on the float will meet at Johnson building Tuesday morning at 7.30 o'clock, sharp.

Diplomas and certificates were awarded Sunday to the members of the Sacred Heart church Sunday school, for excellence in attendance and lessons for the past year.

JULY FOURTH AT ATLANTIC

Eagle Will Screech and Cannon Boom Independence Day

PARADE AT 5.30 A. M.

Ward Six will be in gala attire on Independence day a great time is expected. An elaborate program has been prepared starting with the parade at 5.30 A. M. In the evening everybody will go to the fireworks display at Merrymount park, given under the auspices of the Quincy association.

5.30 A. M.—Parade—$200 in prizes. Judges—G. A. Gray, Charles Letteney, A. W. Jelinek.

Chief Marshal—William L. Buckley.

Aids—Misses Pheobe and Gertrude Buckley.

Chief of Division—Messrs Langelier, Sodergren, Parlee, Gill.

Cars leave City Square about five to arrive in Atlantic in time for parade, and also a car from Squantum.

Route of Parade—Form at junction Squantum, Hunt, and Newbury avenue, opposite Methodist church, Squantum to Hancock, to Billings, to Faxon, to Edwin, to Clark, to Squantum, to Botolph, to Clive to Walker, to Squantum, to Billings, to Newbury avenue to Atlantic street. Counter march to Hancock, to Walnut, to Oak, to Linden, to Hancock, to Madison, to Newbury avenue, to Sagamore to Playground and disband.

8.30 A. M.—Fancy baseball game—Fat vs. lean men. Players to be in costume—Ward 6 playground, C. E. Cherrington, chairman; Henry Cunningham, umpire.

10 A. M.—Athletic sports on Ward 6 playground—$100 worth of prizes. Events:—220-yard race; 100-yard race; mile run; shot put; high jump; broad jump; three-legged race; 220-yard hurdle race; 50-yard race—boys not over 10; 50-yard race—girls; fat men's race; sack race; and pony race, 2 girls riding.

10.30 A. M. to 12. Children will present tickets at headquarters, 7 Botolph street for ice cream.

1 P. M.—Base ball, Ward 6 playground, Glovers vs. Mt. Pleasant.

1.30 to 3—Band concert corner Billings and Faxon road.

3 P. M.—Base ball, Ward 6 playground, Atlantic vs. Makaria.

3 P. M.—Band concert and water sports, Sandy beach foot of Webster st. Athletic committee in charge—$100 in prizes. Events:—50-yard race; 50-yard race—boys under 16; relay race—teams of 2, 50 yards each; swimming under water; diving contest, open; diving contest for girls; water polo; riding barrel and blindfolded rowing race.

The City band of Melrose will furnish music for day and evening.

8 P. M.—Fireworks at Merrymount park under direction of Quincy Association.

PICNIC MONDAY.

The Swedish Congregational picnic will be held at Merrymount park on Monday. Cars will leave Brewer's corner at 9 o'clock in the morning. It will be an all day picnic.

REWARD OF $1000

Offered For Return of Missing Youth Whose Mind Is Deranged

Barnstable, Mass., July 1.—One thousand dollars reward for the return of Kenneth Linn, a wealthy Chicago youth, 20 years old, his widowed mother's only son, who, mentally unbalanced from a baseball injury, is believed to have drifted from the Cotuit short in a skiff, was offered last night.

He escaped from his bed at 8 o'clock last night from his attendant, whom he sent away on a fictitious errand, and has since been missing .

His mother, Mrs. R. W. Linn, headed a search for him when all were suddenly astounded to find a dory named the Waterwitch also missing. The dory was late last night recovered in Vineyard Haven capsized.

(ADVERTISE.)

The Quincy Co-operative Bank
Room 13, Adams Building
On and after Monday, May 22, 1911, the hours of the Bank will be as follows :
8.30 to 12. 1 30 to 4
Saturdays 8.30 to 12.
Evenings
7 to 9 on first Wednesday of the month and the preceding Saturday.
FRANK A. REED, Sec.
Telephone 353 M Quincy.
May 13-pol-tf

SUNDAY SERVICES

THIRD SUNDAY AFTER TRINITY

Church services inserted in this paper without charge, but none will be accepted to run until further order. A notice should be sent each week though it is but a renewal. Give subject and special services when possible. Let all churches be represented.

BETHANY CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.—Junction Hancock and Chestnut streets Morning Service at 10.30. Preaching by the the Rev. Langley B. Sears. Evening service at 7.30. Patriotic service with address by Rev. Mr. Sears on "Universal Peace." Christian Endeavor meeting at 6.15.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST—Quincy. Alpha Hall, cor. Hancock street and Cottage ave. Morning service and Sunday school at 10.45. Subject, "God," Golden Text; "I am the first, and I am the last; and beside me there is no God." Isaiah 44:6. Wednesday 7.45 P. M. a testimony and experience meeting. Reading rooms open from 3 to 5 P. M., weekdays, Holidays excepted. All are welcome.

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH, Franklin street—Rev. R. J. Davis, pastor, residence 206 Franklin street. Preaching service at 10.30 A. M. Theme; "The Climax of The Blessed Life." Communion service 11.30. Sunday school at 11.45 A. M. The "Davis" Class for Men at same hour. All Men invited. Y. P. S. C. E. at 6 P. M. Praise and preaching service at 7.00 P. M. Theme: 'Are You Free?" These services are open to all. Seats free. Good Singing. "Come thou with us and we will do thee good."

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH— Corner Quincy and Water streets. Rev. James A. Matheson, minister. Morning worship and Sacrament of the Lord's supper at 10.30. Bible School and Men's Bible Class at 11.45. C. E. Consecration service at 6.15. Evening worship and praise 7.00. Thursday prayer service 7.30.

FIRST UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH—Fort Square. Rev. A. M. Thompson, pastor. Residence 182 Glendale road Quincy. Morning service at 10.30 Sabbath school and Men's League at 11.45. Y. P. S. C. E. at 6.30. Topic; 'Ways of serving our nation," Esther IX: 1-17. ("A Patriotic Consecration Meeting") Evening service at 7.30. Good Singing. Seats free. All welcome.

HALL PLACE M. E. CHURCH—West Quincy Rev. T. C. Martin, pastor, Residence, 12 Hall place. Morning worship at 10.30 A. M. Sunday school at 12.00 M. Evening Praise and Gospel service at 7 o'clock. Prayer meeting Friday at 7.30 P.M.

ST. CHRYSOSTOM'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH—Hancock street, Wollaston—Rev. Frederick H. Steenstra, rector, residence, the rectory, 323 Hancock street. Holy Communion and sermon at 10.30.

WOLLASTON CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH—Rev. Edward A. Chase, minister. Parsonage 20 Marion street. Tel. Quincy 654-1. At 10.45 Morning worship and sermon. The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper. 6.00 The Consecration Meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society.

WOLLASTON M. E. CHURCH—Corner Beale and Safford streets. Rev. Wesley Wiggin, pastor. Residence 52 Brook street, Telephone Quincy 378-2. Holy Communion at 10. 5 with Patriotic sermon and music. Sunday School at 12 M. Epworth League at 7 P. M. Leader Mr. Rhodes. Subject, "Patriotism and a Sane Fourth."

WOLLASTON UNITARIAN CHURCH—Corner Beale and Farrington streets, Rev. Carl G. Horst, minister, residence 67 Winthrop avenue 10.45 preaching by minister. With the morning service the Church will close for the season. A "Fresh Air" worker from Boston will address the Sunday school on the subject of this committee.

WOLLASTON BAPTIST CHURCH—Rev. Joseph Walther, pastor. Residence 81 Prospect avenue. Tel. 341-4 Morning service at 10.45. Hand of Fellowship to new members. Sermon by the minister and Celebration of the Lord's Supper. Sunday School at 12.15. Y. P. S. C. E. Meeting at 6. Evening Service at 7. Sermon by former minister, Rev. E. W. Webber.

MEMORIAL CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH—Atlantic. Rev. Thomas W. Davison, pastor. Morning service at 10.30. Subject: "Woman at her best.." Music by a ladies' quartette. Sunday School at 12 M. Evening service omitted

Makaria
Fraternity
SUNDAY 12 TO 1—SHARP
Bethany Church, City Square
If YOU are a young man, and not associated with any other Quincy church, YOU are most cordially invited to come to our meeting.
A warm welcome—Hearty singing—A helpful hour together.

Senators Take a Vacation

Washington, July 1.—The senate agreed yesterday to adjourn from today to next Wednesday in order to observe the Fourth of July.

Canadian Prelate Dead

Toronto, July 1.—Archbishop Denis O'Connor, C. S. B., D. D., died at St. Basils Novitiate, in this city, from Bright's disease. He was 70 years old.

SUMMER HOURS
— AT —
PUBLIC LIBRARY
Beginning Monday, July 3, until further notice the main Library will be open from 10 o'clock A. M. to 6 o'clock P. M.; on Saturdays, from 10 A. M. to 9 P. M.
CHILDREN'S ROOM
From 1 P. M. to 6 P. M.
Saturdays from 10 A. M. to 12 M. and from 1 P. M. to 6 P. M.
June 28-3t--July 1-1w

THE BANK
And Your Accounting
The bank's books are right. When you keep your money with us subject to check, you are getting an expert book-keeper without paying a salary. Your accounts are taken care of rigidly, your checks give you a uniform voucher system, your monthly balance and check-stub records keep you accurately posted at all times. The other advantages of modern banking would fill a big book. Come in and ask questions.
NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

BAREFOOT SANDALS
The best thing for the children to wear during the warm weather. They are light and comfortable and give good satisfaction.
CHILDS 5 to 8 45c
MISSES 8 to 11 50c
HEFFERNAN'S SHOE STORE
1375 Hancock Street, Quincy

ZOROID
TRADE MARK
LENSES
FOUNDED 1883
Red Eyelids---
A Result of Eyestrain
Red, irritated or swollen eyelids are usually caused by some form of eyestrain.
Astigmatism of the eyes is the most frequent cause.
Persons having astigmatism can usually see well—do not realize that there is any imperfection in the eye. (The strain is there constantly!)
Our system of examination of the eyes demonstrates clearly as to whether you have eyestrain, and our scientifically fitted glasses will correct it!
Briggs S. Palmer President
Sanborns
3 Winter St.-Boston
REPRESENTED IN QUINCY BY
WILLIAM F. SIDELINGER
June -28 1

WHEELER'S
The Store for Ladies' Furnishings
We will continue our Sale of Shirt Waists and Long Gloves
See what we offer in Shirt Waists for 79c and 98c
and Long Gloves for 50c and 75c
We are also showing a new line of Children's Parasols, all colors, for 25c and 29c
WE GIVE CASH DISCOUNT SLIPS
City Square G. W. WHEELER Quincy

Khaki Trousers
For Yachting, Golfing, Working and Taking Comfort
$1.00 to $1.50
GEORGE W. JONES
1 Granite Street "Just Around the Corner"

GET THE HELP QUINCY GROW HABIT

The Social Realm

Professor B. Huntley of Harvard has been a recent guest at the home of his cousin, G. H. Van Iderstine, Glendale road.

• • •

Mrs. G. M. Titus of Providence is the guest of her sister Mrs. J. F. Davidson of Newbury avenue.

• • •

Mrs. John O. Holden of Adams street is at South Harpswell, Maine, for the summer.

• • •

Members of the Appalachian Mountain club left Friday on a trip to the Green mountains with headquarters at the Waterbury inn, Waterbury, Vermont, from which point outings will be taken, including a night at the Summit house on Mt. Mansfield and one on Camel's Hump.

• • •

Two Wollaston young ladies, Miss Helen E. Hapgood of Prospect avenue and Miss Margaret M. Thompson of Arlington street left this week en route for California. They go by way of Montreal, visiting Niagara Falls, Yellowstone Park and other places of interest on the way.

• • •

Miss Sarah Sproul and Master Harold Morgan of Standish avenue left Friday for Danbury, New Hampshire, where they will spend July and August at Inland farm.

• • •

Harry W. Read and family of Squantum street have gone to Camp Kitnalta, in Pembroke for three weeks.

• • •

Mrs. Walter A. Webster of Jamaica Plain is the guest of her parents Mr. and Mrs. G. Arthur Gray of Botolph street.

• • •

The George L. Baxters of Somerville are at Tuftonboro, New Hampshire where they will stay until fall.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Holmes, nee Simmons and family of Detroit, Michigan, have been guests this week of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Simmons of South Central avenue, leaving today for Plymouth to spend the summer.

• • •

Miss Bertha Badger is to spend the summer at Moosehead lake, Maine.

• • •

Mrs. I. Smith chaperoned a party of young ladies Thursday on a trip to Provincetown.

• • •

Mrs. Fritz Luhmann and Miss Florence E. Luhmann of Blake street left Wollaston Wednesday for Roseburg, Oregon, to join Mr. Luhmann who went west last year, Mrs. Luhmann waiting until after her daughter's graduation at Quincy High school.

• • •

C. Homer Ginns of Gloucester is visiting his aunt, Mrs. James McCormick of Hall place.

• • •

Miss Sybil Hobbs has returned from a three weeks' visit with her aunt in Orange, Mass.

• • •

Professor Crosbie of Exeter Academy is located for the summer in the Vogler house on Botolph street.

• • •

Gordon Adams son of Warren W. Adams of Greenleaf street, who has been in Denver, Colorado, for over three years is expected home next week for a month's visit.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. Horace W. Richmond and children Paul and Virginia of Brook street are at their summer home at Long Island, Portland harbor, Maine, for the season.

• • •

Mrs. F. G. Osgood is spending three weeks in New Hampshire.

• • •

George Deans has continued his Journey west and is now located at Emporia, Kansas.

• • •

Pupils of Miss Ella Ames Horton gave an entertaining recital at her home on Squantum street, Friday afternoon June 23d. Parents of the pupils were highly pleased with the season's work. Miss Horton is one of the best known teachers around Quincy and has met with great success in her work. Her pupils play with a clearness and finish quite unusual. Master Raymond Higgins assisted with violin solos which were carefully rendered and showed talent. Those participating in the recital were: Mae Stevens, Elinor Phillips, Zenith Kilpatrick, Helen Hanson, Eva Frostad, Harold Hall, Clara Von Emden, Beatrice Rogers, Agnes Bradford, Mildred Burke, Marion Golden Margaret Read, Mary Golden, Marion Letteney, Cora Pratt, Louise Churchill, Francis Shea and Charles Cullen.

Henry C. Low of Brooklyn, New York, came over on Friday for a week end and over the holiday visit to his son Russell C. Low of Spear street and to make the acquaintance of his new grandson who is now a month old.

• • •

Miss Florence Hall of Arlington street entertained at luncheon on Thursday at her home, covers being laid for eight.

• • •

Miss Edna L. Gray of Newton street returned Thursday from Lynn where she spent a week with her aunt Mrs. Thomas M. Cunningham.

• • •

Benjamin F. Thomas of Billings street and Mrs. Annie E. Heald of Boston were married on Sunday by Rev. T. W. Davison. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas will start Monday for Nova Scotia for ten days' stay

• • •

The Paul R. Blackmurs of Elm street and Miller Stile road are to spend the summer at East Dennis on the Cape going down today. The boys made an early start in their motor boat, making the trip by water.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kolb are on from New York for a few days to attend the wedding of his brother, Frederick Kolb.

• • •

Mrs. John S. Vogler and Misses Ethel and Marion Vogler of Botolph street left Wednesday for Naples, Me., where they will spend the summer.

• • •

Mrs. S. I. Wood of Upland road is to spend the week-end and holiday with her daughter Mrs. Cecil K. Blanchard of Wellesley, where she will be joined on Sunday by Mr. Wood who returns from the Berkshires where he has been recuperating from his recent illness.

• • •

S. W. Daniels of Hollis avenue with his family started Sunday on an automobile trip to Indiana, to be gone all summer.

• • •

With the colors of the Argentine Republic, and the Stars and Stripes decorating the house, Miss Alice Margaret Lundin was married Thursday evening to Lieutenant Valerio Masjoan of the Argentine Republic Naval Construction Corps at the home of the bride's parents Mr. and Mrs. Emil O. Lnudin, 311 Charles River road, Cambridge. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. W. Sunderlof, pastor of the Auscarius Swedish church of Roxbury. The bride's sister, Miss Jennie Lundin, was her attendant. Lieutenant-Commander Carlos Valladres, also of the Argentine Navy, acted as the best man. About fifty guests attended the wedding and reception which followed. Lieutenant Masjoan is a graduate of M. I. T. '09 and since his graduation has been attached to the construction corps of the navy. He is now stationed at Quincy in connection with the building of a battleship for his Government. After a short wedding trip he and his bride will reside at 47 Bigelow street.

• • •

Mrs. Millard Baker has returned to her home for a few days before starting for her summer home at Nantasket.

• • •

Col. Henry L. Kincaide and Hon. and Mrs. Eugene C. Hultman who are abroad with the Boston Chamber of Commerce tourists are enjoying London this week. They have seen King George and on Wednesday attended a reception at Dorchester house where they were received by Ambassador and Mrs. Reid and Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Taft.

• • •

Leslie Arthur, Q. H. S. '11 and Allyne Litchfield of Cambridge have gone camping in Maine for three weeks.

• • •

Miss Marguerite Munroe of Providence is the guest of Miss Florence Hall of Arlington street.

• • •

George Geikie spent a day in Atlantic with his friends before returning to Washington, D. C., on Saturday.

• • •

Miss Clara Pearce of Quincy and Miss Marion Hicks of Atlantic left Friday for Craigville, on the Cape, where they will spend July and August.

(Continued on Page Six.)

INDUSTRIAL EXPOSITION

Active Preparation Begun By Boston Chamber of Commerce

HELD IN OCTOBER

Active preparation has been begun by the Boston Chamber of Commerce for the great Industrial and Educational Exposition which is to be held during the entire month of October, in Mechanics building, Boston.

This exposition is being planned on the largest scale ever attempted in conducting an exposition in New England. It is to be strictly a demonstration of New England industries. No manufacturers outside of the six New England states will be allowed to exhibit, but every section of every one of these six states will be represented. "Working" exhibits will be installed in practically every case; that is, the machines will actually be turning out the goods on the premises. Every portion of the great Mechanics building will be occupied, and the show will run for four weeks. It is expected to attract hundreds of thousands of people.

The purposes of the Exposition are:

First: To promote manufacturing and commercial activity in New England.

Second: To show the people of New England the methods and extent of our manufactures and resources.

Third: To attract the attention of the whole country to New England's large and varied industries.

Fourth: To bring the employer and workman, merchant and buyer, into closer touch with manufactory and its products.

Fifth: To stimulate the people of New England, particularly the younger generation, to a realization of the dignity and possibilities of a trade, and thus promote industrial education.

The management is in the hands of Chester I. Campbell, a member of the Chamber of Commerce and manager of the highly successful automobile shows, flower shows and other recent expositions.

The opening day of the exposition has been set for October 2nd. It will close October 28th.

BUILDING PERMITS

(Continued from Page One.)

Ella J. Hill, dwelling Vassel street.

Patrick Farrell, dwelling Hancock street.

Edwin C. Snowden, dwelling Granger street.

Alice M. Carr, dwelling Hancock street.

W. A. Dunham, 3 cottages Sea street.

Dennis L. Murphy, cottage Rhoda street.

Charles H. Fagan, cottage Wamback street.

Carl Peterson, dwelling Glendale road.

James Mullarkey, dwelling Quarry street.

Andrew Ericson, dwelling off Cranch street.

George A. Tripp, dwelling Everett street.

Allen B. Speire, dwelling Watson road.

Mary Winnegar, dwelling Fayette street.

Daniel Claque, dwelling Truro street.

Charles Pratt, dwelling, Fenno street.

William Harrington, cottage Brunswick street.

Napoleon's Bed In New Hands

Paris, July 1.—The camp and bed used by Napoleon on St. Helena has been presented to the Malmaison society by Edward Tuck, an American resident of Paris.

Abbey Is Recovering

London, July 1.—The condition of Edwin A. Abbey, R. A., the American painter, who was operated on for liver trouble, is very satisfactory.

☞The Danger Trail, a story of the frozen north by James Oliver Curwood, a great gripping story will be run as a serial in the Ledger beginning Monday, July 3. The author has lived among the Arctic ice packs, has learned to know the ways of the sometimes simple, sometimes treacherous French Canadian guides. The story is of the clashing of strong men, brave men, cowardly men and would be assassins, a story of a young girl's untarnished love. What is the secret that mysteriously threatens John Howland's (the hero) life baffles the reader throughout the story. tf

Money Saved Through Anty Drudge.

Mrs. Youngwife (at telephone)—"Hello Harry, you don't need to order those new tablecloths and napkins at Blashman's after all. Anty Drudge came in this morning and showed me how Fels-Naptha soap would take the stains out of the old ones. They're as clean and white as new now."

Anty Drudge—"You just keep on using Fels-Naptha, Deary, and it'll save you buying lots of things—everything you wash will wear so much longer. It'll save your health and beauty, too."

Stains are the great trial of a woman who does the family wash in the old way. Coffee stains, fruit stains, egg stains, occasionally blood stains, and many others which defy all ordinary soaps and hard rubbing as well. In despair, the housewife boils the clothes until their fibre is softened and weakened, but even then the shadows of the stains remain.

Such stains are easy for Fels-Naptha soap. They are but minute particles of colored matter clinging to threads of the cloth. The Fels-Naptha dissolves them into tiny atoms which can't cling to anything. A rinsing separates them from the clothes entirely. The stain is gone, leaving the clothes clean, white and pure. And mind you, all this is done in cold or lukewarm water, without boiling or hard rubbing. Fels-Naptha does not in the slightest degree harm the fibre of the cloth as boiling does. No other soap, no matter what it is called, will take out stains without boiling. Be sure to get the genuine Fels-Naptha. It comes in the red and green wrapper.

WILL DIRECT MUNICIPAL PLAY GROUNDS.

Brookline will give organized play on the municipal playgrounds a test under the direction of the park commissioners and the Brookline educational society.

The plan is somewhat of an innovation in the East though it has been agitated and tried a number of times with success in the West.

Beginning July 5 and continuing every day except Saturdays and Sundays until Aug. 16, instructors will be placed on two different playgrounds in the town to conduct organized play for children and older boys and girls.

The experiment is due to a growing belief in Brookline among people interested in physical education that the children and young people of the town are not getting the proper kind of benefit from the open air spot and that this is due to the fact that the average youngster does not know how to use a playground properly.

Printed circulars giving information concerning the playground experiment have been issued. The experiment, it is predicted, will command the attention of many other eastern municipalities, and if successful will be tried elsewhere.

☞Going away for the summer? If so don't forget to have the Daily Ledger sent to your address and keep posted on home news. If you have forgotten to send in your order in the rush of getting away drop us a postal and we will do the rest. tf

COURT IS LENIENT TOWARD REICHMANN

Sentenced to Four and a Half Months In Penitentiary

New York, July 1.—J. B. Reichmann, formerly president of the Carnegie Trust company, convicted of making a false report to the state banking department, was sentenced to serve four and one-half months in the penitentiary by Justice Davis, in the criminal branch of the supreme court.

Justice Davis said he did not regard this as a case for the infliction of the extreme penalty, as he did not regard the defendant as a criminal ,although he committed a criminal act. Pending an appeal to the supreme court for an order to show cause why a certificate of reasonable doubt should not be issued, commitment to jail was postponed.

DE GRAFF IS INDICTED

Cook on Barge Is Charged With Murder of Captain Wyman

Boston, July 1.—An indictment was returned by the United States circuit court grand jury against William De Graff for the alleged murder of Captain Charles H. Wyman on board the barge Glendower.

The defendant was employed as a cook on the barge, and when the harbor police boarded the the craft off Boston light two weeks ago Wyman was found dead on his bunk.

Straw Hats
Lamson & Hubbard Makes
Will last two seasons with a little care
$1 to $2.50 JONES "Just Around the Corner"

R. E. FOY & CO.

GROCERIES
OF SUPERIOR QUALITY

The most fastidious epicure will find here everything suited to his taste, while the economical housewife will find every known brand of staple food at the lowest possible prices consistant with high quality. In fact, this food store of ours will more than uphold the well known standard of FOY.

FOR SATURDAY

Honey Brand Smoked Hams

EXTRA Butter Beans Peck 45c, 4 qts. 25c

FANCY Native Beets Bunch 5c

LARGE SWEET Oranges 25c doz.

Genuine SPRING LAMB

Fancy Native Fowl

EXTRA Green Beans Peck 45c, 4 qts. 25c

FANCY SUMMER SQUASH Ea. 10c. 3 for 25c

EDEN GEM Cantaloupes 5c ea.

QUALITY STORE

Much of the pleasure of the Sunday dinner depends on the quality of the fruits and vegetables. Our assortment is always the largest and selections the best.

Native Peas — Large, Sweet, Tender Fresh Picked

Rhubarb
Ripe Tomatoes
New Cabbage
Rareripes

Water Melons — A whole carload right from Florida. Ripe. Sweet.

Lettuce
Cucumbers
New Potatoes
Onions

Bananas, Raspberries, Grape Fruit, Strawberries, Blackberries Pineapples

Kennedy's Grahams, Social Teas, Nabiscos, Butter Thins
3 pkgs. 25c

Heinz Bottled Pickles 25c
Williams Bros. Bottled Pickles 10c

Everything in canned goods, fancy crackers fancy Groceries, thirst quenchers for

THE BIG HOLIDAY

CLOSED ALL DAY
July 4th
Open Late Monday Night

R. E. FOY & Co.
Water cor. Quincy St.
2 phones, if one is busy call the other
June 30-2t

Phones 117 and 153

Outing Caps
For Men and Boys
Won't blow off. Can put them in your pocket if you want to. Light weight.
25c to $1 JONES "Just Around the Corner"

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.
A Clearance Sale
— OF —
Soiled Shirt Waists
A Specially good assortment of Large Sizes
THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

DON'T EXPERIMENT

You Will Make No Mistake If You Follow This Quincy Citizen's Advice.

Never neglect your kidneys.

If you have pain in the back, urinary disorders, dizziness and nervousness, it's time to act and no time to experiment. These are all symptoms of kidney trouble, and you should seek a remedy which is known to cure the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills is the remedy to use. No need to experiment. It has cured many stubborn cases in Quincy. Follow the advice of a Quincy citizen and be cured yourself.

Charles Somers, 17 Newcomb Place, Quincy, Mass., says: "It is a pleasure for me to make known to other kidney sufferers, the benefit I received from Doan's Kidney Pills. I had lame back, as the result of weak kidneys for about ten years. I could get no relief from the many remedies I tried and when Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention, I procured a supply at the Cox Drug Store. Before long this remedy completely cured me."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

WHY OWN WEBSTER'S NEW INTERNATIONAL DICTIONARY

THE MERRIAM WEBSTER?

Because it is a NEW CREATION, covering every field of the world's thought, action and culture. The only new unabridged dictionary in many years.

Because it defines over 400,000 Words; more than ever before appeared between two covers. 2700 Pages. 6000 Illustrations.

Because it is the only dictionary with the new divided page. A "Stroke of Genius."

Because it is an encyclopedia in a single volume.

Because it is accepted by the Courts, Schools and Press as the one supreme authority.

Because he who knows Wins Success. Let us tell you about this new work.

WRITE for specimen of new divided page. G. & C. MERRIAM CO., Publishers, Springfield, Mass. Mention this paper, receive FREE a set of pocket maps.

HOUSEKEEPERS

TELL YOUR TROUBLES

HOLMES & HALL

We make a business of repairing the things about the house that get out of order such as DOORS, LOCKS, SHADES, BELLS and FURNITURE.

96 Washington St., Quincy

TELEPHONE 974 L

Faded Draperies Dyed

Your draperies can be dyed to look like new, send us yours and be convinced. Phone or write and our team will call.

WARSHAW'S DYE HOUSE

EST. 1892

1503 HANCOCK STREET QUINCY

May 12-tf

PATENTS

PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES. Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent. Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively. Write or come to us at 710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office, WASHINGTON, D. C.

CA·SNOW & Co.

Quincy Daily Ledger

HIGH TIDE FOR WEEK.

Monday, June 26,	11.00	11.15
Tuesday,	11.45	12.00
Wednesday,	12.15	12.45
Thursday	1.00	1.45
Friday,	2.00	2.30
Saturday,	2.45	3.30
Sunday,	3.45	4.30

1911 JULY 1911

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
						1
2	3	4	5	6	7	8
9	10	11	12	13	14	15
16	17	18	19	20	21	22
23	24	25	26	27	28	29
30	31

BRIEFS

Have you read the new timetable of the Old Colony Street Railway Company? It will be found in another column and should be looked over if you wish to get quick connections all along the route.

The Walther Men's class will meet Sunday at 12.15 in the Wollaston Baptist church. Rev. Joseph Walther will teach the lesson. This will be the last session till Sept. 10. All men invited.

Miss Rita Hunter of Forest avenue met with an accident last week in which her arm was broken.

Friends of Louis Barry of Sagamore street will be glad to know that he returned this week from the hospital, where he was operated on for concussion of the brain.

"Patriotism and a Sane Fourth" is the subject of a talk Mr. Rhodes of Philadelphia will give before the Epworth League of the Wollaston M. E. church, at 7.00 in the vestry Sunday night. The Fourth in the past has been celebrated, in a most rough way. People are waking up to this fact, and trying to put a stop to it. If you are interested in this movement you should hear Mr. Rhodes.

The following committee have been appointed to investigate and arrange for the Hall Place Sunday school picnic. Mr. Joseph Francis, Mr. Enock Fuller and Miss Hilda Francis.

Rev. T. W. Davison conducted the funeral services for the late Mrs. T. W. Mosely of 118 Atlantic street at her home on Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. Mosely died Sunday evening after a long illness. She leaves two sons and three daughters. The interment was at Cedar Grove.

Rev. Edmund D. Webber of Wolfville, N. S., will occupy the pulpit of the Wollaston Baptist church at the Sunday evening service. Mr. Webber being a former pastor of the church will be welcomed by his old parishoners.

BIBLE STUDENTS' ASSOCIATION.

(Undenominational.)

Divine service every Sunday in Colonial hall at 3 P. M. Sunday, July 2d, H. P. Gleason of Boston will deliver an address taking for his topic "The Necessity of a Resurrection." Christian people generally recognize something of the Bible doctrine of the resurrection and its necessity, but very generally fail to notice how far-reaching the resurrection is to be. Mr. Gleason will show how the death of Jesus guarantees a resurrection of all the dead and will also show the object of the resurrection of all the dead, viz. the restoring of all the willing and the obedient to life.—"Our Lord said that all in their graves will hear the voice of the Sons of Man and come forth." (John 5:28-29.) Just how they will come forth and why will be the burden of Mr. Gleason's lecture. He will explain how the church will have resurrection to "glory, honor and immortality" as Christ's joint heirs on the Divine spiritual plane, and that the world in general is to have a resurrection by judgment processes to human perfection. Seat free. All cordially invited. No collection.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, Lucas County, ss.

Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure. FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

A. W. GLEASON, (Seal) Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

LITTLE ONES REMEMBERED

Pretty Coronation Ceremony In London Crystal Palace

GUESTS OF KING AND QUEEN

Fifty Thousand Girls and Equal Number of Boys Enjoy Five Solid Hours of Merrymakinig—Great Show and Refreshments, Following Which Each Child Is Presented With a Mug From King George

London, July 1.—One of the prettiest ceremonies of the coronation was the entertainment of 100,000 children at Crystal palace by the king and Queen Mary yesterday afternoon.

There were fifty thousand little girls and fifty thousand future soldiers of the empire, and at the close of this unique fete there were a hundred thousand glad little smiles and the same number of souvenir mugs in so many little hands, commemorating the event.

The king's "school children committee," composed of Sir William Carrington, the lord mayor, Sir John Kirk and five others of the most prominent men of London, selected the children by lot, the drawings being made in each of the London county council elementary schools by the teachers, who accompanied their charges at the head of five divisions, each of which was divided into twenty regiments.

The army of little ones was conveyed to Crystal palace by special trains and, upon their arrival, there began five solid hours of merrymaking. The children were first treated to a scene from the Pageant of London, perhaps the most impressive one of all, for in it were grouped the representatives of Greater Britain over the seas. Then refreshments were served, and the mugs which the king gave to each child were presented.

Next the children were permitted to go to the many entertainments which the Festival of Empire and the Crystal palace this year affords. When the afternoon was over, the children enjoyed a farewell glimpse of their monarch as he stood on a specially built balcony, waving kisses to them, while they all saluted him.

CHINESE FUNERAL AT SEA

Sailor's Body Committed to the Deep With Weird Ceremony

Boston, July 1.—Ahr Fong, a Chinese fireman, died when the Manchurian liner Matoppa was 200 miles off shore, and when the steamship made this port Captain Dormand reported the weirdest sea funeral ever heard of.

The thirty other Chinamen aboard put a snow white shroud on the body and spent all night in Confucian incantations. They had the hold decorated with mourning emblems and hieroglyphic appeals to their gods.

The next morning the head Chinamen came aft and asked the skipper to stop the engines and turn the bow toward China, which he did. The Celestials brought the body on deck and paraded while they sang a burial service. When the body was slipped overboard it had with it a tin filled with food and matches.

The Chinamen said Ahr Fong's spirit would go straight to the Flowery Kingdom. The matches were to light his way under the water, where it was dark, and the food to keep him strong during the journey.

ADJOURNMENT THIS MONTH

Senate Is Expected to Speedily Settle the Reciprocity Matter

Washington, July 1.—The Canadian reciprocity situation cleared to a marked degree yesterday and a canvass of the situation in the senate was in every way assuring to friends of the measure.

With not more than a dozen set speeches in prospect and with eight-hour sessions of the senate on the program to hasten action, many of the senators count upon a vote before the end of July, and Senator Smoot holds to his original prediction of an adjournment of congress by that date.

OFF FOR NEW POST

Ambassador Guild Starts on His Journey to St. Petersburg

New York, July 1.—Curtis Guild, who was recently appointed ambassador to Russia, accompanied by Mrs. Guild, sailed this morning on the Cundarder Caronia for Liverpool.

Ambassador and Mrs. Guild after reaching Liverpool will go to London and then to Paris. From Paris they will go via express to St. Petersburg.

The Weather

Almanac, Sunday, July 2.
Sun rises—4:29; sets—7:31.
Moon sets—11:50 p. m.
High water—3:45 a. m.; 4:30 p. m.

Forecast for New England: Fair; warmer in western portion; light to moderate variable winds.

ATLANTIC PLACE OF RESIDENCE.

Note first the streets lined on each side with shade trees of various kinds, well kept lawns and beautiful gardens. Then the state boulevard that winds around the crescent beach ,on one side of which are residences, on the other the yacht club houses and bathing floats, looking out upon as beautiful a harbor scene as may be found anywhere, with hundreds of yachts flitting to and fro like gulls and scores of motor boats with their muffled clatter, darting in and out among the islands, bringing joy to those on board by the ever changing scene.

Then the automobiles which on holidays especially form one continuous line all along the boulevard. Then add to all this the newest and most wonderful means of travel, the flying machines on the aviation field. There are the latest and most up to date machines—the aviators taking them out many times a day for joy rides and practice spins until the residents have become as accustomed to the sight ofthe air-craft and the gattling gun sound and of their motors as they are to the motor and sail boats.

It seems needless to mention the electric and steam car accommodations, but nevertheless Atlantic has many more than any other suburb. All these with the bathing facilities tend to make Atlantic what she is, an interesting place of residence.

CHICHESTER S PILLS

THE DIAMOND BRAND. Ladies! Ask your Druggist for Chichester's Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with Blue Ribbon. Take no other. Buy of your Druggist. Ask for CHI-CHES-TER'S DIAMOND BRAND PILLS, for 25 years known as Best, Safest, Always Reliable

SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

H. L. SATTERLEE

Son-In-Law of Morgan Among Indicted Men

TO PLEAD ON JULY 5

No Arrests of Wire Trust Men Who Are Under Indictment

New York, July 1.—The eighty-four wire manufacturers criminally indicted for pooling their business in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law will appear for pleading July 5. No bench warrants have been issued nor have any arrests been made, but counsel for the defendants will be asked to produce them in court.

It has been learned that Herbert L. Satterlee, son-in-law of J. P. Morgan, waived his rights of immunity and addressed the grand jury for fifteen minutes Thursday.

"Supper Ready"

When you get back to camp, tired and hungry, you do not want to spend the evening getting supper ready. You want a stove you can start up in a minute—that will cook quickly and well.

For camp, houseboat or bungalow, a New Perfection Oil Cook-stove is the ideal cooking device. It is ready for use in a moment. It saves all the trouble of cutting wood and getting in coal. It does not overheat or make dirt in a kitchen; there are no ashes nor smoke. It requires less attention and cooks better than any other range.

New Perfection WICK BLUE FLAME Oil Cook-stove

Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners, with long, turquoise blue enameled chimneys. Handsomely finished throughout. The 2- and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without a cabinet top, which is fitted with drop shelves, towel racks, etc.

Dealers everywhere; or write for descriptive circular to the nearest agency of the Standard Oil Company (Incorporated)

NEW PERFECTION OIL COO-KSTOVES ARE SOLD BY

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.

AT PRICES THAT ARE THE LOWEST IN NEW ENGLAND

EVERYBODY SHOULD CONTRIBUTE TOWARD THE FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATION

SEND IN YOUR CONTRIBUTION

DON'T WAIT TO BE ASKED

CLARENCE BURGIN, Quincy Savings Bank is the Treasurer

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is Pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. It destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. It cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. It relieves Teething Troubles, cures Constipation and Flatulency. It assimilates the Food, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS

Bears the Signature of

Chas. H. Fletcher.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

In Use For Over 30 Years

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

LLOYD'S EYEGLASSES AND SPECTACLES

KRYPTOK BIFOCAL GLASSES

Far and Near Glasses in a Single Pair.

Common bifocals look queer; but KRYPTOK two vision glasses look young and becoming. Any of our stores will be glad to show them.

315 Washington St.
310 Boylston St.
75 Summer St. } BOSTON

1252 Massachusetts Ave. CAMBRIDGE.

ANDREW J. LLOYD CO.

NOTICE

If you have not ordered your Coal Do It NOW The Price is at Its Lowest Take advantage of it by placing your order NOW with

J. F. SHEPPARD & SONS

Tel. 232-L 27 Granite St., Quincy

Cheerfulness

pays and cheerfulness replaces grouch when stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels are helped naturally to do their duty by

Beecham's Pills

Sold Everywhere. In boxes 10c. and 25c.

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER and GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point
Mass. Tel. 933 R Quincy. Nov. 3-tf

Quincy Savings Bank

BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.
SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.
CLARENCE BURGIN,
Treasurer.

JAMES F. BURKE
Real Estate and Insurance
AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES
Justice of the Peace Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Tel. 385-3 Jan. 17-tf

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.
FIRE INSURANCE.
The Best Insurance. The Lowest Rates
Insurance Department,
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Telephone, Quincy 97-3.

UPHOLSTERING
My only ambition is to get the work and to show the people of Quincy Town that nobody can beat me with my good work. Low prices on all kinds of furniture, repairing, mattresses, and cushions. Can give references. M. Mirkin 67 Washington street, next to Y.M.C.A. Quincy. Tel. 1112W. April 10-3mo.

STORAGE
—FOR—
Furniture and Pianos
Storage Warehouse with Separate Rooms
Furniture and Piano Movers
HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy Tel. Con.

A. M. DEANE & CO.
MONUMENTS
MEMORIALS ERECTED
IN ANY
CEMETERY
IN THE
UNITED STATES
Aug. 1.-1y

PATTERSON, "The Florist"
92 South Central Ave.
WOLLASTON, MASS.
Telephone 392 Quincy

M. T. SULLIVAN
Real Estate Insurance
Auctioneer Care of Property
Justice of the Peace
Corner School and Hancock Streets
QUINCY.

PATENTS
TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 26 years experience.
Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.
READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.
D. SWIFT & CO.
PATENT LAWYERS,
303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

EASY VICTORY FOR HARVARD

Yale Makes Pathetic Showing In Great Varsity Race

PROCESSION ON THE THAMES

Crimson Leads Almost From Start, Finishing Fourteen Lengths Ahead of Blue by 56½ Seconds—Losers Never Falter In Hopeless Task, Even Striking a Spurt at Last Moment—Beef and Brawn Tell In Most Decided Fashion—Wild Scene at Finish—Preliminary Honors Are Divided Between Colleges

New London, Conn., July 1.—Harvard wins! This exultant cry of victory once more swept across the placid waters of the Thames when amid the din of booming cannon, the shrill shrieks of hundreds of steam sirens and the cheers of thousands of spectators who occupied every conceivable vantage point, the Harvard varsity eight swept across the finish line, fourteen lengths and 56½ seconds ahead of the Yale crew, in one of the most one-sided races that have been contested between the great rivals.

Yale did not have a chance. For just fifty yards in the entire four miles did the Yale supporters have hopes of victory. The Blue gained the jump at the start and held a slight advantage for that distance. Then their hopes vanished, for the brawny sons of John Harvard shoved to the fore and showed their rudder to the Blue for the remainder of the race.

After the first quarter of a mile had been covered, and clear water began to show between the two shells, with Harvard pulling steadily away, it was only a question of how much the Crimson's margin of victory would be.

Yale's Plucky Crew

Yale was game to the core, however, as Yale crews have always been, and kept at the hopeless task, even striking up a spurt toward the close of the race, when Harvard was almost crossing the line. But the Blue was pathetically outclassed and was forced to submit to a superior crew, which displayed greater stamina as well as watermanship.

Although Harvard was picked as the favorite in the big race, Yale's hopes were high, especially after the Yale freshman crew showed itself to the Harvard youngsters in the morning race, which was rowed over the mile course. Harvard, however, divided the honors in the forenoon, when the varsity four in the second race of the day just walked away from the Blue four.

But the chief interest, of course, was centred in the varsity race, which was scheduled to start at 5 o'clock from a point opposite Red Top and to be rowed down stream.

The crowd was in gay spirits. When the observation train reached Red Top the announcement was made that the race had been postponed until 5:30. Before the time limit was up, the Harvard crew was seen to leave the float at Red Top, which was the signal for an outburst of three long Harvard cheers and much jubilation on the part of the Harvard supporters. In a few moments the Yale crew was sighted coming down the stream from Gales Ferry, and then the Yale rooters had their inning.

The Start

The two crews quickly lined up at the starting point, Harvard having the inside course, close to the west bank of the river. As the crews got into position the voices of the Harvard supporters, chanting "We're All Alone," could be heard.

"They're off," shouted the crowd, almost in unison. Sure enough, both crews were bending their long oars almost to the breaking point. The Crimson crew seemed to tower above their light opponents. Yale got the jump on Harvard and took the water first, pushing the prow of their shell slightly in the lead. The Harvard stroke hit up a pace of 44 to the minute, while the Yale crew was rowing at 42. For fifty yards old Eli had this advantage and appeared to be rowing in better form.

But then Harvard beef and brawn began to tell in decided fashion. They pulled down the Blue and gradually wormed the point of their shell beyond that of Yale. At the quarter mile mark Harvard had a lead of about three-quarters of a length.

Crimson Runs Away

Then the big surprise occurred. The Crimson eight seemed to fairly run away from Yale as the eight husky oarsmen, their well muscled bronzed backs and shoulders glistening in the sun, put every ounce of strength they possessed into their stroke. They drew farther away from Yale each time they dipped their oars in the water. The comparative ease with which Harvard was leaving the Blue in the rear, although the Elis were rowing in fine form, caused great astonishment.

At the half-mile mark Harvard was still keeping up a high stroke and was leading by nearly two lengths. Yale began to pick up in its stroke at this point, but Harvard continued to gain. The little coxswain in the stern of the Yale boat could be heard calling on his men and imploring them to greater efforts.

The Harvard supporters went into esctacies of joy as they observed the ease with which their favorites were taking command of the race, but the interest began to wane among many of the spectators when the mile mark was reached, with Harvard leading by nearly four lengths and still gaining.

Atwood Shows Up

At this juncture, however, the edge was taken off the monotony by the appearance over the river of Atwood in his biplane.

Atwood came swooping up the river, and after circling around twice, dropped his biplane to a distance of about 300 feet above the heads of the oarsmen and followed along. But their pace was a little too slow for his bird of flight, and he followed the crew by making great wide circles in the air.

When the crowd next thought of the struggling crews, the mile and a half flag had been reached, and Harvard was leading by five lengths. Harvard dropped its stroke for the next half mile, and at the two-mile mark Yale had crawled up to within four lengths of the leader.

Yale Men Weaken

But the spurt had raised havoc with the Yale crew and Captain Frost at bow was first to show it. Van Blarcom at 7 also showed signs of weakening and the two splashed furiously. Yale had shown all its power and was no match for the Crimson. For the remainder of the race it was simply a matter of how far Yale would be in the rear. The Harvard crew was rowing as strongly as ever, while Field at 2 in the Yale boat was showing the same symptoms of weakening as the other two Yale men and Romeyn at 5 did not appear any too strong.

After passing the two-mile mark the remainder of the course stretched down through a long lane of water which was occupied on either side by yachts for the entire distance. As the Harvard crew entered this part of the course they were greeted on all sides by the booming of cannon, blasts from yacht whistles and the cheers of hundreds of spectators who crowded the sides of the big sound steamers and other boats.

The scene at the finish, as Harvard swept across a winner, is beyond description. From the hundreds of yachts, revenue cutters and boats of various types and sizes, all bedecked in their finery of gaily colored pennants fluttering in the breeze, arose a din that was ear-splitting in volume. On the shore thousands of spectators waved flags and handkerchiefs and added their vocal powers to the great upheaval, while the throng on the observation train standing on the iron bridge, under which the race finished, waved parasols and banners and screamed.

Preliminaries Even

Cheering thousands saw Yale and Harvard break even in the two preliminary races on the Thames river that ushered in regatta day and the great varsity eights' struggle.

The Blue oarsmen pulled out a victory in the freshman eights by a superb spurt in the last half mile, while the Harvard varsity four, leading from the start, defeated Yale in the succeeding race by two lengths. Both races were well rowed, but a contrary wind and a slack tide made the times slow.

Official time for the freshman race: Yale, 11:53; Harvard, 11:59½.

Official time for varsity fours: Harvard, 13:37½; Yale, 13:52.

MONEY FOR THE PRESIDENT

Man on Way to the White House Is Held Up by Police

Washington, July 1.—President Taft would have been presented with a large roll of "yellow backs" by Andrew Tomaso of McKees Rocks, Pa., if Tomaso's intentions had been carried out. But he was interrupted by a policeman.

Tomaso was on his way to the White House holding the "roll" in both hands, and when questioned by the policeman he said the money was to be presented to the president. The policeman promptly took him into custody. He was sent to the Washington asylum hospital for observation. There was $1800 in his "roll."

BURNED AT STAKE

Punishment of Man Who Refused to Tell Where Gold Was Hidden

Shawkee, Okla., July 1.—Robert Swazey, a Canadian, was burned at the stake by Mexican bandits near Fort Sumner, N. M., according to a letter received here from Mrs. Emma Bingman, mother-in-law of the dead man.

Swazey was killed because he refused to reveal the hiding place of a large amount of gold that had been left in his care by a Mexican railroad which employed him, the letter said.

King Decorates Soldiers

London, July 1.—Indian and colonial troops which came to England to take part in the coronation ceremonies were decorated by King George at Buckingham palace. The king in person pinned the coronation medals upon the uniforms of the soldiers.

A BOSTON GIRL'S BUDGET.

Some Getaway about Honey Fitz' Departure for Europe—These Are Sight Seeing Days at the Hub—Millionaires Loan Automobiles to Give Poor Children Joy Rides—An Outdoor School Association Will Advocate Hospital Treatment for Young Consumptives.

A well intentioned but poorly informed Boston woman was pointing out to a visiting friend some of the interesting landmarks of the city as they passed them on a street car. "These buildings are the Massachusetts Institute of Technology," she explained as the car rolled up Boylston street. Her companion inquired what was taught there. "Oh, er-why, technique—anything connected with technique they teach there. It's a very remarkable school." As the car passed through Copley Square she continued: "We are going up Huntington Avenue, the Parisian Latin Quarter of Boston. This is Copley Square here, you know, quite famous." "Yes I've often heard of it" replied her visitor, "Who was it named for?" "Oh, Copley was the name of one of the old Boston families." Let us hope the artist did not turn in his grave. The Boston girl who overheard the conversation regretted that she was obliged to leave the car at that point, for it would have been illuminating to have heard the descriptions of the newer sights of interest along the Fenway. It is sad but true that the majority of Bostonians are dimly aware of the significance of the various public and private institutions in their native city, but when it comes to a straight question as to facts they are generally surprised to find how little they really know about the place.

Automobile loads of children furnish no unusual sight in the Hub during the hot weather months. A short time ago the members of the various schools for crippled or blind children were given an outing in the country whither they were transported in beautiful touring cars loaned for the purpose by wealthy owners. This week the children of the Leopold Morse Home of Mattapan and the Home for Destitute Jewish Children of Dorchester were given a trip to Pinehurst Park, Billerica, for a day's outing. Forty automobiles conveyed the happy throng, and the shouts of joy and fun attracted all eyes as they passed. It is an easy way of giving much pleasure and no inconsiderable amount of good to the little shut-ins, and if any of the wealthy owners are minded to drive their own cars they may get a large amount of pleasure out of the outing themselves.

At last the lively question as to where Boston's new High School of Commerce shall be established has been settled. It has been decided to add this enterprise to the rapidly growing "university of the Fenway" which is becoming known far and wide as the most remarkable group of educational and healing institutions in the country. A site bounded by Boylston Street and Agassiz Road has been selected and work will begin in the near future on the Hub's latest experiment, a high school of commerce where may be trained the aspirants for leadership in the industrial and commercial world of the coming years. With this knotty problem settled, His Honor the Mayor was enabled to start on his European trip with a mind at ease.

Speaking of the Mayor's departure—in the language of the day it was certainly some get-away. No mayor in the hisory of Boston, or for that matter probably anywhere else, ever departed for foreign shores under quite as hilarious conditions. The spectacle of His Honor standing on the bridge of the good ship Franconia, the largest ever making port in Boston, with the captain on one side and his two fair daughters bearing American flags on the other, while he sang the inevitable "Sweet Adeline" to listening thousands, was one to be remembered. Tug boats, government and municipal boats, fire boats with shrieking sirens, tooting steamers, and wildly screaming citizens acknowledged the song, and many of his political and personal friends escorted the ship as far as Boston Light. Nothing like it ever broke loose in Boston before, and the only thing lacking was an escort of battleships with booming cannon. There were other passengers on board, some 1700 of them, and presumably they had some friends to see them off, but Honey Fitz was the centre of attraction. It is likely to be a lively passage, if all goes well. It is hoped that a reporter from the New York Sun was present at the farewell demonstration.

A "Boston Outdoor School Association" is now an organized and active body, bent on remedying the damage done by the closing of the Franklin Park open air school for tuberculous children last February. At a meeting held recently Mrs. George W. Perkins of Roxbury was elected President and Mrs. Charles M. Cabot Secretary, and it is expected that under the guidance of these two energetic women those who closed the hospital school will be shown the error of their ways. The uprising is hinged on the fact that, contrary to promises, the children formerly taken care of in the Franklin Park school have not been equally well taken care of since. A number of them, to be sure, have been sent to the Mattapan Consumptives' Hospital, where they receive hospital treatment, but where they have the adverse condition of being in constant contact with advanced and dying cases. Many of the other children have been sent to open air school rooms where they do not have the care, the feeding nor the rest periods that they did at the Park school, and have invariably declined in health. The Association is backed by many of the foremost physicians and tuberculosis specialists in Boston as well as business men, settlement workers and other public spirited persons. It hopes to convince the authorities that it is no worse to feed tuberculous children at an open air school, free of cost, than it is to feed patients in a regulation hospital, for on that difficulty was based the heaviest objection to the plan. The school was properly a hospital, for the schooling was a minor matter, being considered in the light of a beneficial occupation and stimulant to the children strong enough to take part in the lessons, and being withheld entirely from those whom the physician in charge considered more in need of rest and strength. The Association will undoubtedly grow rapidly as its object becomes known, and it is to be hoped that it will result in a resumption of the open air school at the ideally located Refectory at Franklin Park.

Ethel Angier.

PAUL DE LONGPRE DEAD

He Had Achieved Fame as "King of Flower Painters"

Los Angeles, Cal., July 1.—Paul De Longpre, 56 years old, known the world over as the "King of Flower Painters," died at his home in Hollywood, after an illness of several months. A widow and two daughters survive him.

After his first exhibition of flower paintings at the Paris salon in 1876, his rise to fame was rapid. De Longpre's flower studies have been reproduced by leading art publishers in America and Europe.

Cholera on a Liner

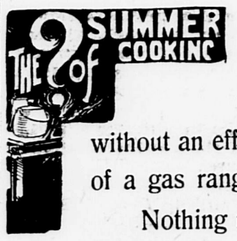
Triest, July 1.—A woman passenger on the Austrian steamer Oceania, from New York, has developed cholera. The other passengers had been detained at the isolation hospital.

WE ARE NOT THE
LOWEST PRICED
STORE IN QUINCY BUT WE POSITIVELY ARE THE
LOWEST PRICED STORE
IN MASS., CONSIDERING THE QUALITY OF MEATS WE SELL
HIGHEST QUALITY, LOW PRICES OUR STANDARD
RESPECTFULLY,
JOHNSON BROS.
June 16-tf

MAKE YOUR DOLLAR GO FAR
was George Washington's theory when he threw a dollar away across the Potomac River. When you want your dollars to go a long way without giving you trouble invest them in a Hartford bicycle and then ride it any distance that you desire and they will go a long way without giving you any trouble when it is a Hartford wheel from Nelson's on Granite street.

SUNDRIES and REPAIRING
HUB CYCLE CO.
Thomas Nelson, 20 Granite Street, QUINCY
Agency for Hartford and Columbia Bicycles
May 15-2m

Special Range COAL
Stove or Nut
$7.00 Cash
Price Published in
MERCHANTS' WEEK PAPER
Incorrect
C. PATCH & SON, INC.
Office, 1422 Hancock Street, Quincy



IT'S SOLVED
without an effort by the simple placing of a gas range in your kitchen.
Nothing more convenient can be thought of, nothing more economical utilized, for a gas range prove its merits the first trial it's given.
CITIZENS' GAS LIGHT CO.
11 Granite St., Quincy

Are You Going Away?
If so have the DAILY LEDGER sent to your vacation address. You cannot afford to be without your home paper.
FILL OUT THIS BLANK
QUINCY DAILY LEDGER:—
Send the Daily Ledger for _____ to address below.
_____
_____
_____
SEND YOUR ORDER AT ONCE

Quincy Market

SPECIAL

Roast of Beef

1st cut Rib Beef	12 to 15c lb
2d cut Rib Beef	10 to 12½c lb
Rib Rolls	10c lb
Pork to Roast	14c lb
Bonelees Rib Steak	12½c lb
Under Cuts	12½c lb
Lean Corn Beef	6 to 10c lb
Sirloin Steak	15 to 20c lb

Spring Lamb---all you want

Native Fruit and Vegetables

IN ABUNDANCE

LASANTE BROS.

Next to Woolworth's 5 and 10c Store

Telephone 960

June 30-2t

QUINCY

FRI., JULY 14

Water Street Grounds, Quincy

Reserved Seats on sale at Murphy's Drug Store

July 1-3t--1-8-13--po-8-1w

Cremo 5¢ CIGAR

You try one!

Quincy Daily Ledger

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	87 degrees
July 1, 1910,	90 degrees
July 1, 1909,	90 degrees
July Noon Maximum, 14 years,	101
July Noon Minimum, 14 years.	60

BRIEFS

Peter J. Williams who is erecting the grand stand in City Square says that it will comfortably seat 300.

Friends of Albert Wilscher of 7 Bedford street will be sorry to learn that he was obliged to undergo an operation on his throat Friday at the Homoeopathic hospital.

There should be at least ten police officers on duty at Merrymount park on the afternoon of the Fourth during the athletic events to keep the crowds back.

About eighty-five members of Memorial church Sunday school with friends, chartered a special car Saturday and held an all day picnic at Highland park, Brockton. A baseball game added to the many attractions helped to pass the merry time away.

POST OFFICE CLOSED.

The Houghs Neck post office is closed but the government authorities have assured the residents of the district that it will reopen very soon.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT.

The Presidents hill tennis club tournament will be finished on the Fourth with final matches in mens singles, mens doubles and Ladies singles.

In the mens singles, the semi finals will be played off this week, Sampson vs Blanchard and Hallowell vs winner in match between Parker and L. H. Allen.

In the Mens doubles Tourtellot and L. H. Allen will play winner in match between, C. K. Allen-Wetherell and Sideinger-Blanchard.

In the ladies singles, the finals will be played between Mrs. Charles Sampson and Miss Olive Allen.

AUDITOR'S COMPARISON.

The receipts for water, sewer, taxes and permanent sidewalks for the six months ending July 1, as reported by City Auditor Fairbanks are as follows, the figures being given in comparison with the years 1909 and 1910:

WATER.
1911	$56,392.09
1910	53,424.34
1909	50,430.10
SEWER
1911	$870,372
1910	807.922
1909	807,372
TAXES
1911	$195,497.37
1910	162,828.96
1909	130,075.67
SIDEWALKS.
1911	$2,428.95
1910	2,980.67
1909	2,957.75

TODAY'S COURT.

Frank Comier was arraigned for the larceny of 429 quarts of milk in jars to the value of $171.21 at Weymouth. Case continued until July 6.

Henry C. Corbett was fined $3 for assault on Helen M. Wilcox at Quincy. Appealed.

The case of Helen M. Wilcox for assault on Annie Lincoln was heard and she was found not guilty and discharged.

—Gossip at Hartford alleges that during the week-end immediately preceding the Connecticut House's rejection of the Senate's Public Utilities Commission bill with teeth in it, 55 automobiles, carrying New Haven Railroad emissaries, pursued members to their homes. Perhaps they were merely taking the railroad out of politics. —Boston Common.

MARRIAGES

GRIFFIN—KREITMAN.— In Quincy, June 29 by Napoleon B. Farnald, Esq. Patrick Griffin and Louise Kreitman all of Quincy.

DEATHS

HISCOX—In Wollaston, June 30, Miss Emma E. Hiscox daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hiscox of 159 Farrington street, aged 20 years.

SMART—In Braintree, June 30, Mr. Walter C. Smart of 256 Washington street, aged 36 years and 10 months.

Established 1870 Telephone

JOHN HALL

FUNERAL DIRECTOR

Carriage and Ambulance Service

1485 Hancock Street, Quincy Mass.

LIVE SPORTING EVENTS

BOSTON WANTS CRANDALL.

Memphis, Tenn.,—Although the Boston Nationals offered today pitchers Ferguson and Flaherty and a third player to the Memphis club for immediate delivery of Carl Crandall, brother of Otis Crandall, and present shortstop here, the trade will probably be delayed, according to manager Bernhard, who says Crandall will remain here till the season ends. Crandall is fielding and batting at a sensational clip.

BAN JOHNSON ILL.

Cincinnati—Pres. Ban Johnson of the American league was taken suddenly ill with inflammatory rheumatism while on his way to Cincinnati last night and is now laid up at the home of his brother in this city. He may be disabled for a week or more. A meeting of the national baseball commission which was set for today was postponed until he recovers.

WEYMANN'S MOTOR POWERFUL.

Paris.—Charles Weymann, the American aviator who is to represent the United States in the international air race at East church, Sheepey Island, on Saturday, left with his aeroplane today.

He is due at Eastchurch on Thursday, which will allow him a day to tune up his machine. He will use a 100 h. p. Gnome motor, which will be the only one of that power in the race.

INTERNATIONAL MEET.

Oxford, Eng.—The combined Oxford Cambridge teams from which the athletes will be chosen to meet the Yale-Harvard representatives have been training together here for the past week. They started for Cambridge today by way of London and will visit the Queen's Club grounds, where the international intercollegiate meet will be held on July 11.

OUTO SPEED RECORDS.

At Grand Rapids Bob Burman, world's speed king, driving his 200-horsepower Blitzen Benz, established a new circular track record for the mile at Comstock Park yesterday afternoon by travelling the distance in the remarkable time of 51 seconds. Five thousand persons saw the speed king make his dash, which lowered the mark of 51 3-5, made by Barney Oldfield last year with the same car. The three and 10-mile track records also fell before the onslaught of Burman, when he hurled his 110 Benz over the course in the time of 3m. 1s. for the three miles and 9m. 20 2-5s for the 10 miles.

YALE MAY DROP COACH.

New Haven, Conn.,—A change in coaching methods for the Yale baseball team is expected to be put in operation this coming spring. The losing of the last four games of the season, when Yale was looked upon as having one of the best teams in several years, made a disastrous ending that may possibly do away with the services of Billy Lush, the professional coach.

ATHLETES FROM BOSTON.

At Pittsburg five records in the national junior A. A. U., were broken and one equaled before an enthusiastic crowd of 15,000.

Boston athletes made an excellent showing. Together the Boston A. A. and the South Boston A. A. ran up a total of 29 points for the day, only eight less than the organization which carried off first honors.

QUINCY REAL ESTATE SALES.

Abdoo H. Asmaiel to Walter E. Burke, Winter street.

Bertram A. Brown to Wilton A. Dunham, Sea street.

William I. Brown to Leah E. Lewis, Fayette street.

Francis R. Burke to Abdoo H. Asmaiel, Winter street.

Walter E. Burke to Elizabeth H. Asmaiel, Winter street.

Sadie W. Cannell to Fred Holdsworth, Oxenbridge road.

City of Quincy to Michael Owens off Common street.

Wilton A. Dunham to Celina Reardon, Houghs Neck.

Bridget Folan to Ida M. Howard, Flynt street.

Johan O. Holmberg to Herbert L. Tinkham, Federal avenue.

George B. James et al trs to Dennis F. Crowley, Highland avenue.

William Keeley to Mary A. Owens, Point Bass Common.

Annie M. Kelley to Mary R. Murphy, Hancock street.

Maurice E. Kilpatrick to William G. Hersey, Faxon road, Sharon road.

Joseph P. Lyons to Annie E. Perkins, Lincoln avenue.

Flora Macdonald to Alice M. Ganzel Billings road.

Flora Macdonald to Alice M. Ganzel, Sachem street.

William W. Marple et al to Harold M. Sweet, Everett street.

Charles W. Miler to Alice F. Joss, Cherry avenue.

John H. O'Donnell to John P. Granahan, Lunt street.

Michael Owens to Joseph H. Vogel, Pt tract Bass Common.

Mary A. Owens to Carl Siltanen, Pt. Bass Common.

George A. Richards to George H. Field, Hancock street.

Chester H. Smith to Clark G. Boynton, Greenwood avenue.

David Stevens to Charlotte M. Winnette, Darrow street.

John B. Sutherland to Murdock J. McLeod et al trs Independance avenue.

Joseph H. Vogel to Mary A. Owens, Pt. Bass Common.

Richard H. Walsh to Mary L. O'Brien, Revere street, Malden street.

Boardman J. West to John R. Young Allerton street.

Guy M. Winslow tr to Robert B. Stitt, Cleverly court.

Fred W. Wood et al trs to Andrew G. Youngquist, Billings road.

IN TROLLEY WRECK.

A. M. Parker of Presidents hill was on the car going between Dedham and Roslindale which almost plunged into Mother's brook, Dedham, yesterday afternoon. The front wheels left the track and the car crashed through the fence and the forward part has hanging over the brook when the motorman brought it to a standstill. The guardrail prevented the rear wheels from leaving the track and thus saved the lives of the passengers. As it was, no one was seriously injured. The car left the rails on a curve at the approach and for a few moments it looked as if a terrible accident could by no means be averted.

ASSAULT CASES

CELEBRATED HOUGHS NECK CASES IN COURT THIS MORNING. FINE IMPOSED IS APPEALED.

The celebrated cases from Houghs Neck which were begun in the district court before Judge Cook Friday, were completed this morning. There being two of them. The first was that of Officer Henry F. Corbett who was charged with assaulting Helen M. Wilcox proprietor of the Midland hotel and the second that of the Wilcox woman who was charged with assaulting Mrs. Annie Lincoln.

The alleged assaults took place last Saturday evening at the request of Mrs. Lincoln, Officer Corbett accompanied her to the Midland house to help her get a trunk which the Wilcox woman was holding under the claim that money was due for board.

It was alleged that the officer in attempting to get between the trunk and the Wilcox woman placed his hands upon her and therefore made an assault. The court rules that although he undoubtedly thought he was within his rights, the officer made the marks on the woman's arm, which were shown. He therefore found him guilty and imposed a fine of $3 from which an appeal was taken.

In the case of the Wilcox woman for assault on the Lincoln woman counsel for the latter after the hearing said he would not ask for a conviction in view of the evidence that had been presented. The court therefore ordered her discharge as being not guilty.

FIFTY YEARS A PRIEST.

Cardinal Gibbons the venerable head of the Catholic church in the United States on Friday celebrated his fiftieth anniversary as a priest. In a little chapel in a home where he is at present visiting and about 50 miles from Baltimore, the Cardinal offered up a mass of thanksgiving in honor of the most momentous event of his long career.

In the morning the cardinal arose at the usual hour, six o'clock, and with a single assistant celebrated a low mass without any musical program and with only the members of the household attending.

The religious celebration of the anniversary will be held at the Cathedral next October.

BETHANY CHURCH PICNIC.

Four carloads of Bethany church picnickers went to Glen Echo park yesterday for the day leaving Quincy square at 8.50 in the morning and returning at 7 o'clock in the evening. The day was spent in boating, bathing, baseball, and performing gastronomic feats. With the Hayward brothers in charge everything was sure to run smoothly and every thing did. The motor boat was not in working order but the rowboats were put to good use. A hogshead full of lemonade was consumed during the course of the day and ice cream was served to all. In the baseball game Mr. Sears, the pastor, played a fine game and aided his team greatly in winning.

Social Realm

(Continued from Page Three.)

Dr. and Mrs. Clarence B. Underwood and Miss Josephine Underwood of Spear street have gone to Marblehead for over the week end and holiday.

* * *

Mrs. John F. Hunt of Bigelow street returned this morning from Portland, Maine, going down by boat for a few days' rest.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Louis W. Vaupel of Post Island are leaving today for a few days' stay at the White Mountains.

* * *

Miss Margaret Stevenson of Yonkers, New York is visiting her uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller of Liberty street.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Gould of Adams street are entertaining over the Fourth Mr. Edward Hubbell of New Haven, Connecticut. Mr. Hubbell is commander of Admiral Foote Post No. 17 and a member of Gideon Wells Naval association. He is 84 years of age but looks and feels about seventy He made the trip up from Connecticut alone.

COMING EVENTS.

Under this heading The Ledger will print single line notices of future happenings of interest to Quincy people. Secretaries of clubs, societies and other organizations are requested to forward to The Ledger notices of their meetings, entertainments, etc.

If a report of the entertainment is desired send to this office tickets for the use of the reporters which will guarantee a full and accurate account in The Ledger the next day.

JULY.

1—Garden party, St. Marys.
1—Picnic, Park and Downs, Sunday School.
1—Quincy Point Sunday School.
1—Hancock N. C. Picnic.
1—Food sale, Wollaston Congregational Y. P. S. C. E.
1—Picnic, Wollaston Baptist.
3—Swedish Congregational picnic.
3—Dance, St. Johns.
3—Garden Party—St. Johns.
4—Red Men—Alpha Hall.
4—Atlantic parade, 5.30 A.M.
Quincy parade 8.30 A. M.
Baseball games, 10 A. M.
Children's Entertainment 10.45,
Children's Entertainment, 10.45.
St. Marys.
Adams Academy.
Children's Ent. 11.30, River street.
Children's Ent. 1 P. M. Lincoln school.
Children's Ent. 2 corner Copeland and Common streets.
Children's Ent. 3.15, Wollaston school.
Athletic Meet, 2 P. M. Merrymount park.
Fire works, Merrymount 8 P. M.
Open Doubles, Quincy Tennis club.
5—Q. Y. C. Hop.
5—Jolly Sixteen.
5—Ward One playground opening.
6—Whist—Q. Y. C.
7—First Presbyterian Lawn Party.
8—Q. Y. C. race.
8—State golf tournament, Wollaston G. C.
11—Hop, Q. Y. C.
12—Lawn party, Hall place M. E. church.
12—Granite city club outing.
13—Whist, Q. Y. C.
15—Park and Downs lawn party.
15—Calvary Baptist Picnic.
15—Presbyterian Picnic, Nantasket Beach.
19—Ladies Day, Q. Y. C.
25—Hop, Q. Y. C.
27—Whist, Q. Y.C.
29—United Presbyterian picnic.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS. —STATE HOUSE BOSTON, JUNE 30, 1911. The committee on cities will give a hearing to parties interested in the petition of George T. Magee for legislation to authorize the city of Quincy to incur indebtedness for the development of its water front (House bill No. 2079), at room No. 436, State House, on Wednesday, July 5, at 10.30 o'clock A. M. George H. Newhall, Chairman. Alvin E. Bliss, Clerk of the Committee. July 1-2t

BY FRANK FESSENDEN CRANE

AUCTIONEER OFFICE, 19 TEMPLE ST., QUINCY, MASS.

AUCTION SALE

—OF—

120 ACRES

Standing Grass

ON THE FAMOUS

LOTTA CRABTREE FARM

SQUANTUM, MASS.

Thursday, July 6th, at 1.30 P. M.

This grass comprises both upland and meadow and will be sold in medium sized lots. SALE POSITIVE, RAIN OR SHINE. June 28-7t

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents. Three consecutive insertions 50 cents, 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.

No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Modern house of 7 rooms, all conveniences, 46 Stewart street. Apply at Room 20 Adams Building. June 21-5t M. W. S.

FOR SALE or TO LET—Before you buy or rent, consult me. Houses for sale or to rent in the finest residential section in Quincy. All improvements. Close to school, churches, stores and depot. C. A. ERICSON, Builder 117 Glendale Road. Tel. Quincy 586 M. W and Sat. May 22-tf

PASSES INTO HISTORY.

The name Old Colony street railway passed into history at 12 o'clock midnight Friday and from now on it will be known as the Quincy division of the Boston & Northern street railway. As far as the riding public are concerned however it will make no difference whether it is the Old Colony or Boston & Northern.

STARTED FOR CAMP.

At 1.20 today forty boys and six men started from Quincy en route for Rindge, N.H., where the Y. M. C. A. summer camp is located. They go by train as far as Winchendon, Mass. and from there go by wagon to Rindge They will arrive at their destination at 6.30 tonight. The boxes containing clothing, etc., were shipped Tuesday and will be awaiting them at the camp tonight when they arrive.

Administratrix Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administratrix of the estate of Jacob Waisanen late of Quincy in the County of Norfolk, deceased, intestate, and has taken upon herself that trust by giving bond as the law directs.

All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to (Address) MIMMI WAISANEN, Adm.

June 16, 1911. July 1-3t 1, 8, 15

By C. H. JOHNSON, Auctioneer

Office: Room 3 Adams Building

Tel. Quincy 755-M

100 ACRES

Standing Grass

At PUBLIC AUCTION from PREMISES

MOUNT WOLLASTON FARM

Sea St., Quincy, Mass.

Monday, July 3, 1911, 2 P.M.

Will be sold in parcels

Houghs Neck electrics pass the farm

TERMS AT SALE

June 26-6t

J. A. KEATING & CO. - - Auctioneers and Appraisers.

Office, 1357 Hancock Street, Quincy.

LAND SALE

—AT—

PUBLIC AUCTION

Tuesday, July 4th, 1911

At 3 o'clock P. M.

WILLOW STREET, WOLLASTON

Lot contains 5,250 square feet of land in one of the best neighborhoods in Quincy. This would be a very desirable place to build for a home or for rental purposes. This property being handy to churches, schools, R. R. stations and electric car lines. This lot will have to be seen to be appreciated. Sale positive. No limit, no reserve, be on hand at the date and time mentioned above.

Terms : $100 to be paid to Auctioneer as soon as sold. Balance on delivery of deed in 10 days.

June 27-5t

WANTED

WANTED—Boy, good and stout to tend store. Apply at 750 Washington street, Quincy Point. June 30-6t

WANTED—A boarding place in or near Quincy for an American girl of seven years. Protestant family preferred. Adress Box 273, Quincy. June 30-3t

WANTED— 2 or 3 unfurnished rooms for light house keeping. Would take small cottage or flat. P. O. Box 256, Quincy. June 29-3t

WANTED Salesman. Earn $300 per month. Sell dealers highly advertised article. Exclusively or side line. No samples to carry.
Berlame, 215 West 125th street, New York, N. Y.
June 29 6t

WANTED—Engagements for manicuring, shampooing, face and scalp treatment. Please addess by letter Miss S. Torola, 332 Granite street. June 28-6t

WANTED—Experienced girl for general housework. References required. Apply 118 Merrymount road. June 26 tf

TO LET

TO LET—Modern house of 7 rooms, all conveniences, 46 Stewart street. Apply at Room 20 Adams Building. June 21-5t, M. W. S.

TO LET—Nicely furnished rooms, with excellent table board. Central location. Address P. O. box 346, Quincy. June 29-tf

TO LET—Desirable house on Edison street. Apply to J. Peterson & Co., 394 Washington street. June 28-6t

TO LET—On Spear street, tenement of 4 rooms and bath. All modern improvements. Apply to C. A. Ericson, 117 Glendale road. Tel 586 M. June 27-tf

TO LET—Upper flat of five rooms, all modern improvements, gas and coal range, at 56 Euclid avenue. Apply at 84 Quarry street. June 27-6t

TO LET—On Bigelow Street half house of 7 rooms and bath. Rent $25 per month. Apply at No. 44 Bigelow street or of Miss Prescott, Ledger Office, Quincy. June 23-tf

TO LET—Tenement with 9 rooms and bath at Quincy Point, also rooms to let and table board at 55 Washington street, Quincy, Mrs. Margaret S. MacDonnell. June 23-1mo.

TO LET—House 12 rooms, all improvements. Ideal location, 5 minutes to center. Apply to James F. Burke, Real Estate Agent, Room 4 Savings Bank Building. June 9-tf

FOR RENT—Quincy, Centre, apposite Adams Academy, house of 8 rooms and bath, also garage, 3 minutes to R. R. Station. Dr. E. S. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263L, Weymouth. May 10-tf

FOR RENT

On Spear street, very desirable house of 8 rooms, bath and laundry. All modern improvements, range, gas, electric lights shades and screens. Large piazzas and lawn. To private family only. Apply at 41 Spear street or of Miss Prescott at Ledger Office, Quincy.

June 2-tf L. P. O

TO LET

Tenement—22 B Granite Street. $10.00 per month.

Greenleaf Hall—Greenleaf Block Large Furnished Hall with various anterooms—to let by the evening or permanently.

City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 26 feet high. Splendid light, low rent

Quincy Real Estate Trust,

(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)

Music Hall Block, Quincy.

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 26 No. 151 QUINCY, MASS., MONDAY EVENING, JULY 3, 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

WOLLASTON YACHT CLUB

Holds Vaudeville Entertainment At Club House

ALL NUMBERS ENJOYED

A large and appreciative audience greeted the performers at the vaudeville entertainment held under the auspices of the Wollaston Yacht club at the club house on Friday evening.

The talent consisted of Mrs. Molly Mildram in songs and readings and Frederick Byron Munro in minstrelsy and character sketches. They were accompanied by Mrs. Helen Parker Munro.

Opening the evening was a reading by Mrs. Mildram entitled "Home from boarding school" which dilated upon the follies and foibles of modern society life.

As a one man minstrel show Mr. Munro made a decided hit. With everything complete from the opening chorus "by the entire company" to the end men's gags and topical songs his infectious spirit of fun caught the audience and he was applauded to the echo.

His talk contained hits on the locality and club members which were well received. Among the musical numbers were: "Angle worm wiggle," "Any old way you cook a chicken is good enough for me," "Go to sea, my lads," "Captain Kidd," "Lovey Joe," "Hash" and the grand finale "Band, band, band."

With her pretty story of "The ambitious nightingale" Mrs. Mildram charmed those present. This told of a nightingale who dissatisfied with the small audience of the woods was changed into a child.

Beginning with the songs of the children the story brought in music of a little older period until the song of the mother "Sail baby sail" was reached.

Fred Munro followed with character songs depicting the Irish, German, farmer and Italian. Their titles included "Patrick J. O'Hare," "Annie Anheuser," "My Irene" and "Fluff-a-da-ruff."

With "At the music counter," a reading composed by herself, Mrs. Mildram closed the evening's entertainment. The piece took off the slang and manners of the shop girl to perfection and was a credit to its author.

The entertainment was in charge of Frank F. Taylor of the club and dancing was enjoyed until a late hour.

JOINED INDIAN TRIBE.

John McEachern aged 18 years a son of Mrs. Margaret McEachern of Water street became carried away with the Kicapoo Indian tribe when they were in Quincy a few days ago and Saturday ran away from home to join the company. His mother knowing of his desire got out a warrant for him for being a stubborn child. Chief Burrell located the troop at Hyannis and notified State Officer Bradford who found the youth and held him until Officer Dinneen arrived to bring him home.

AUTO HITS BICYCLE.

Turvo Mervoertu of 63 Arthur street was struck by a passing automobile Sunday afternoon, while riding a bicycle on Washington street. The bicycle was smashed but the boy was uninjured.

CHARGED WITH SELLING LIQUOR.

Inspector Goodhue paid an official visit to Houghs Neck Sunday. He noticed some things that he did not consider just according to law. One of these was a man who it is alleged was selling red liquor from a bottle which he carried in his pocket. He placed the man, who gave his name as Frank Royce, under arrest and this morning in court Royce was arraigned on two complaints. One charged him with soliciting sales of liquor and the other with the illegal sale of liquor. The case was continued for hearing.

LIVELY SUNDAY MORNING BLAZE

Syrian Boarding House Fired By Gasoline Explosion

MAN'S HAND BADLY CUT

The alarm from Box 175 at 11.40 Sunday morning called the department to a lively blaze in a Syrian boarding house at 165 Quincy avenue, owned by Patrick Brennan and occupied by Lewis Hatch. The fire started from an explosion of a gasoline stove. At the time of the explosion most of the boarders were in the front part of the building and attempted to put the fire out with water. This only served to spread the flames and when the fire department arrived it seemed as though the whole house was on fire.

When the fire started one boarder was in bed and had a hard time getting out. In endeavoring to awaken him, Michael Hagg but his hand through a window and cut himself quite badly. When at last the boarder got out, he left his suit case behind and came out dragging the mattress. By this time the fire had spread and it looked as though the house would be doomed. The firemen got to work quickly however and after nearly an hours fight had the fire out.

The loss is estimated at $600.

BRIEFS

Mrs. John Kennarie has returned from a two weeks' stay at Hull.

William Crammond, who is employed at New London, Conn., is home for the holiday.

Quincy lodge of Elks will keep open house at the club house on Foster street tonight. A lunch will be served.

James C. Michael of Syracuse, N. Y., is visiting at his home in South Quincy for a few days.

Mrs. Malcom McKenzie and her daughters together with Miss Margaret McKenzie sail for Prince Edward Island today.

The funeral services of Miss Bessie Hiscock who died on Friday were held today from her home on Farrington street.

The Atlantic Methodist church will remain open for all services during the summer if the people of Atlantic show by their attendance that they desire services.

The regular monthly meeting of the official board of the Atlantic Methodist church will be held in the vestry of the church Thursday evening at eight o'clock.

All persons are requested to refrain from discharging firearms or fire crackers while the parade is in progress as it is feared they may frighten horses and cause runaways.

Stock up the larder today and entertain your friends over the Fourth. The stores are all open tonight but tomorrow they will be shut, so shop early and avoid the rush.

The Ladies' Aid of the Atlantic Methodist church is to hold a picnic at the home of Mrs. Larson in Squantum on Thursday. The car leaves Neponset bridge for Squantum at half past ten.

There was an unusual busy session of the district court this morning, the most of the cases being early Fourth of July drunks. Most of the cases were placed on probation. Small fines were imposed in some of the cases however.

The Friends club of the Atlantic M. E. Sunday school have elected the following officers for the coming quarter: President, Sidney Hoyt; secretary, Claude Young; treasurer, Ralph Hedstrom; messenger, Raymond Hoyt; music committee, Richard Young; absent member committee, Adrian Parker; care-taker, Freddie Wilcox.

If any one has a grand stand ticket which they are not going to use they are urged to send it to Arthur W. Stetson, Secretary of the Committee, as there is great demand for them and no seat should be vacant. Use your tickets or let some one else have the privilege.

BAND CONCERTS JULY FOURTH

Additional Funds Needed For Program As Arranged

DRILL OF THE EAGLES

A largely attended meeting of the general celebration committee was held Saturday evening at the rooms of the Board of Trade. The entire evening was given up to completing the arrangements for the grand celebration of tomorrow. The financial problem is the most difficult one with which the committee have to deal and up to the time when the meeting adjourned the committee was still short of the amount desired to carry out the full program as arranged.

An effort will be made by the collectors, today, however to get enough to carry out the full program. Although the committee has not got the money desired the celebration will be carried through according to the program as already announced for there is no doubt but what public spirited citizens will see to it, that what ever is lacking is provided.

One of the first things that will take place tomorrow morning will be a drill of the Eagles. This will be given in City Square at 8 o'clock or half an hour before the parade starts.

The program for the afternoon and evening band concerts by the Wollaston band under the leadership of Harry Sprague is as follows:

AFTERNOON.

March—Universal Peace	Lampe
Overture—Morning, Noon and Night	Suppe
Waltz—Reign of Love	Barnard
Selections—Poular airs of the day
Patriotic	Remick
American Patrol	Meaghna
Selections from Bright Eyes
Southern Melodies	Hoschna
Dream Pictures of the Old South	Foster
Mill in the Forest	Eilenberg
National Emblem March	Bagley

EVENING.

March—Stars and Stripes, forever	Souza
Overture—Wm. Tell	Rossini
Waltz—Venus Reign	Gungel
Minuet	Paderewski
Popular Song hits	Remick
Suite
(a) Tales from Hoffman	Offenbach
(b) Muttering Fritz	Losey
Plantation Melodies	Foster
Selection
Madam Sherry	Hoschna
U. S. A. Patrol	Peck
Guard of the Nation	Kuhler
AMERICA all sing.

FIREWORKS ARRIVE.

A ton or more of fireworks for the grand display which will wind up the days program arrived at Merrymount park, Saturday from Hanover, where they were manufactured, and are stored in three large tents. Some of the frame work for the large set pieces is in position and the fireworks are all ready to be attached to the frames. They will be kept under cover however until the last minute as a sudden shower would put them out of commission.

Contributions to the Fourth of July Association from Wollaston. By request of the contributors no names will be published.

Amount contributed	$142.15
Quincy Lodge of Elks	10.00
Granite Lodge No. 193	5.00
Sons of St. George	5.00
Arthur W. Stetson	5.00
W. G. Shaw	5.00
Jacob Peterson	5.00
Hon. John F. Merrill	5.00
Hiram PhiHips	5.00
A friend	2.00
Thomas Williams (additional)	2.00
A friend	2.00
Four Kids	2.00
H. H. I. Smith	1.00
L. Billinghurst	1.00
T. L. Allen Wester	1.00
Jerry Cuffman	1.00
Sam Davis	1.00
Peter Sullivan	1.00
Chester Nowland	1.00
Fred F. Deering	1.00
John Bass	1.00
Rev. Charles P. Marshall	1.00
Friend	.50
George A. Bolster	2.00
B. F. Hodgkinson, Jr.	.50
James Robbie	.50
Barnaby Ridge	1.00
Roy Prout	1.00
A. Repenhager	.50
Thomas Newcomb	.50
George LeRose	.50
Alfred Saunders	.50
G. Hamford	.25
Michael Cullety	.25
G. U. Andrews	.25
Carl A. Courtner	.25
Edward Marnock	1.00
John Igo	1.00
George Shirley	.75
William Fossati	.50
James Matini	.25
A. Fay	.25
Walter Masson	.50
George McHaughton	.50
E. J. Chisholm	.50
Joe Healey (additional)	.50
H.F. Tilden	1.00
J. W. Beal	1.00
Ike Stebbins	1.00
John Curtis	1.00
T. G. Smith	1.00
R. L. Lovell	1.00
J. W. Lalley	.50
Friend	1.00
Friend	1.00
A. L. Mead	1.00
Friend	.50
Charles Keating	.50
W. A. Prince	.50
Friend	.25
Friend	1.00
Edward Berry	1.00
M. Halligan	1.00
John C. Ballou	.50
John F. Burke	.50
James Wiley	.50
Thomas Dillon	.25
Mr. Nason	.25
R. Newcomb	.50
John Daley	1.00
C. L. Hammond	1.00
Thomas McNeal	5.00
L. K. Badger & Co.	5.00
Rev. Father Grady	.25
Ernest Gillis	1.00
P. Kelly	1.00
A. Monti	.50
Arthur Roberts	.25
John McDermott	.25
William Belanger	.25
M. Gillis	5.00
Frank Burgess	2.00
John H. Gillis	5.00
James F. Burke	5.00
Eaton Ice Co.	5.00
John Casey	1.00
Palisi Bros.	.50
John E. Lilliback	2.00
Joseph Walker	.50
M. Catler	.50
D. Kebutchmick	1.00
Lysander S. Richards	1.00
F. F. Prescott	1.00
E. E. Davis	1.00
W. F. Rice	.50
A. W. Walker	1.00
George M. Rand	2.00
G. W. Wheeler	1.00
John W. Walsh	1.00
W. G. Comey	1.00
Dr. G. H. Ryder	1.00
J. Evans	1.00
H. C. Hallowell	1.00
E. T. Spear	1.00
C. T. Hardwick	1.00
M. T. Sullivan	.75
Friend	.50
James A. Ring	.50
M. Gilson	.50
H. Patch	.50
Dr. C. T. Sherman	.50
A Friends	.25
A Friends	1.00
W. J. Leslie	2.00
Mrs. Caroline Spear	4.00
Palisi Bros	2.00
Wm. Callahan	1.00
Robert Donahue	.50
Roderick McDonald	.50
John O. Minihan	.50
Ira F. Doble	2.00
Frank E. Burrell	3.00
Wm. P. Thompson	10.00
John H. Johnson	5.00
Johnson Lumber Co.

(Continued on Page Three.)

ROUTE of PARADE

Parade will start promptly at 8.30 A. M., over following route:-

From City Square via Hancock street, Granite street, Copeland street, the Parkway and Miller street, with a countermarch on Copeland to Water street, Franklin street, School street and Hancock street, passing in review before the Mayor, Judges and guests at the grandstand and in front of the rooms of the Board of Trade, and the Chief Marshal at Temple street.

ST. MARY'S LAWN PARTY

Successfully Held Saturday Afternoon. Children's Festival

RESULTS OF SPORTS

The lawn party under the auspices of St. Mary's parish which has been in preparation for some weeks was held Saturday afternoon and evening on the grounds surrounding the parochial residence. The grounds were beautifully decorated with flags and bunting, with the decorations of the several tables made the scene like a fairy land.

During the afternoon there was a festival for the children which included sports of various kinds. The pastor Rev. Henry T. Grady and Rev. William J. Duffy were about the grounds assisting in seeing that all had a good time. Rev. John P. Cuffe of the Sacred Heart church was also present as was Rev. Marcian L. Ballou who was ordained to the priesthood a few weeks ago.

An orchestra furnished music during the afternoon and also played for the dancing in the evening. The children were also taken for automobile rides in William Cashman's car. In the early evening supper was served in a big tent.

The result of the sports was as follows:

75-yard dash for girls—Won by Teresa Collins.

Egg race for girls—Won by Julia Reardon.

Sack race for girls—Won by Ella Robertson.

Sack race for boys—Won by John Knight.

75-yard dash for boys—Won by Patrick Stanton.

Three-legged race for boys—Won by Patrick Stanton and Patrick O'Connell.

JULY 4th EVENTS.

The glorious Fourth will surely be safely and sanely celebrated in Quincy. The baseball games in the morning should be a big attraction and although the game at Merrymount park will be the big one all the games will undoubtedly have a good sized crowd to witness them. The baseball committee has arranged the games as fairly as possible and it is up to the teams to give the fans the best baseball as is in them even if one team would rather play some other than the one opposing it. The games in all sections of the city have been arranged with an eye to getting as much local interest in them as possible and old time and new rivals will battle for the prizes.

The track meet will be the best yet and judging from the list of entries there will be some good times made. There is still room for more entries in the 440 yard novice which is a scratch event. Get an entry blank from William L. Elcock, 21 Marsh street, and take a chance on getting that watch, travelling bag or umbrella. No one who has ever won a race is allowed to compete and no one outside the city can run so that there is a good chance for anyone with any pretensions as a runner.

NO BONFIRES ALLOWED.

After the fire Chief Williams said that owing to the dry condition of everything he would not allow any bon fires tonight and this afternoon firemen will wet down every pile of boxes that have been made ready for a fire.

SPECIAL POLICE.

Mayor Shea this morning appointed Michael F. Canavan, Joseph F. Sweeney, Joseph A. Delory and George W. Fallon as special policemen. These are the men who recently passed the civil service examination for the police force.

In addition to this the Mayor also appointed a large number of special constables for duty tonight in various parts of the city.

HOME TRADE WILL HELP QUINCY AND EVERYONE IN QUINCY.

WILL BE CLEAR ON THE FOURTH

Weather Man Promises a Fair But Hot Independence Day

THE HOT WAVE

The weather man promises a clear Fourth of July but unless all signs fail it will be a very hot one. The weather bureau says that high temperature will continue for the first few days of the week in the northern and middle states east of the Mississippi but promises some relief of lower temperature about Wednesday. A barometic depression that now covers the Rock Mountains, according to the bureau will drift slowing eastward and will cross the Mississippi valley about Wednesday. It will be attended by thunder storms and followed by cooler weather.

The heat record for the North American continent on Sunday was not held by the U. S., but went to Canada, Ontario reporting 108 degrees. Six big cities reported 96 degrees while New York and Philadelphia sweltered under a temperature two degrees less.

Here at Quincy the thermometer registered 95 in the shade and held the record for the warmest day of the year. Thousands enjoyed the cooling breezes of Nantasket beach.

The city bathhouse on Town river was crowded all the afternoon, and workmen were kept busy on the new women's bathhouse in order to have the place ready for occupancy by Tuesday. This job was begun less than three weeks ago and is almost finished.

When done, the old bathhouse, now used for men and women, will be devoted exclusively to men and the new pavilion will be given up to women entirely. The bathing accommodations will be doubled with the addition of the new bathhouse.

Among the heat prostrations was that of Regina Korow of 29 Edison street who was sent to the hospital in a private carriage.

HONORS FOR ATWOOD.

At Squantum, yesterday afternoon, Harry N. Atwood received unbounded congratulations for his remarkable flights of the previous days. Not being able to resist the temptation, he made a short flight over the field at about 5 o'clock, having for a passenger a young New Yorker just arrived on the aviation grounds. This young fellow hopes to be performing flights on his own account within a few days.

"Opporchunities," said Uncle Eben, "is pretty sho' ter come ter ebry man. But it's a mighty good idee, jes, de same, foh him ter hustle roun' an' send out a few invitations."—Washington Star.

FIRECRACKERS START BLAZE

Serious Fire on Walnut Street This Morning

ALARMS CONFUSED

Alarms from Box 75 followed in a few minutes by an alarm from Box 725 gave indications that a good fire must be in progress in the vicinity of Main street. The alarm from Box 75 was somewhat confused as the party who pulled the box began to work the lever up and down. This caused a jumble of the box and it was evidently pulled a second time.

The first rounds that sounded were counted as Box 431. Chief Williams who was in City Square at the time started to West Quincy as did also the auto chemical which responds to boxes in that vicinity. When the chief arrived at Brewer's corner he saw none of the apparatus. Then seeing the smoke of the fire he concluded that there had been a mix up in the alarms, and returned to Quincy.

In the meantime the apparatus at the central station remained hitched up and in the station. In a few minutes Box 725 came in correct and this gave the location of the fire and the apparatus started for that locality. The fire in the meantime had made good headway.

The fire proved to be quite a lively blaze on South Walnut street. It started in the small barn of Joseph Purpora, a fruit peddler and was said to have been caused by his little daughter playing with firecrackers in the barn. This barn with its contents consisting of a wagon and a quantity of fruit was destroyed. The fire also communicated with Mr. Purpora's house adjoining and the L was also gutted.

Adjoining is a small barn of Sam Silverman which also took fire but was not damaged much. Sparks also set fire to a shed of T. Feeley and the roof of a house of Mrs. Frank Gearing on the opposite side of the street.

Neither of these places were much damaged however. Across the street in a vacant lot a large pile of old boxes and barrels which were intended to be set off at midnight tonight. Fearing that the sparks would ignite this pile of rubbish a line of hose was run to the bon fire and it was wet down. It will probably dry out however before night.

Everything is particularly dry and had the blaze started in the night there would probably have been a conflagration. The loss by the fire will not exceed $1,500.

HOUGHS NECK

Mrs. Alexander Boutilier was taken to a Boston hospital on Saturday for a surgical operation and her many friends at the beach are hoping for a speedy recovery.

When You Buy

You want the best value you can get for your money, don't you? Most folks come here for that. People expect more from us than they do of others. They know we can give more and they know we have been in the habit of doing it ever since we started in business. They know we are determined to give them always the biggest possible value for the least money and we do it.

FOR THESE SCORCHING DAYS

Cool Underwear, Soft Shirts, Oxford Shoes

Straw Hats. Light Weight Clothing.

Four-in-hand Wash Ties. Soft Collars.

Everything for the Man or Boy.

GEORGE W. JONES

1 Granite St., "Just Around the Corner" Quincy

July 3-2t

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1889

THE HOME NEWSPAPER

Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.

BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
219 East 23d Street,
New York City

Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter.

Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50

Telephone, Quincy 425

Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

The Ledger Office will be closed all day on the FOURTH and no paper issued.

All the News in Wednesday's Edition

Some people favor substituting ice cream for explosives July 4th, and stomach ache really seems more desirable than lock-jaw.

The thing that is killing the high tariff is the ability of the beneficiaries to pay freight to Europe,—and undersell the so called "pauper labor" in its own home.

Assistant Treasurer Millington after counting the $144,000,000 coin in the New York sub-treasury, will learn what an awful time John D. has every month to make his cash account balance.

Opposition to postal savings banks is found in many places from regular savings institutions. But if people having money are willing to sell the use of it 50 per cent cheaper, it all helps reduce the cost of living.

The government could make money selling the wreck of the Maine to souvenir hunters. It could also make money selling George Washington's monument to a circus side show. But it won't do either.

The true way to test the fervor of a boy's patriotism, is to see if he is willing to go out of town a mile from any house, and discharge his fire crackers in honor of the nation's birthday.

Less economy and better service is what the people want in public utilities and one of these is the postal service. We understand that for a matter of economy the service in Quincy is to be cut down this summer, that is some of the deliveries are to be omitted. A city of over 3200 people is entitled to at least three deliveries a day and four would not be too many in business sections. The noon delivery is an important one to merchants and should not be cut out even in hot weather. If the postmen have to have vacations, as of course they should, substitutes should be employed. That is good business whether a government or private concern. The clerks are entitled to a vacation and the people to good service.

Although Quincy is now only a small part of the Boston Postal District it is still on the map and should insist on progressive service.

INDEPENDENCE DAY.

Quincy's delightful celebration of the great day will undoubtedly come close to the ideas of Sen. John W. Kern of Indiana, who says: "Let us go back to the old-fashioned Fourth of July, the one where the people gathered together for patriotic exercises, the reading of the declaration of independence and to listen to patriotic speeches. We have gotten too far away from that idea. I am in favor of the old-fashioned Fourth; the one that brought the people together for a true renewal of the patriotic spirit; the celebration that warmed the hearts of the old, and that inspired the young. John Adams said Independence day would go thundering down the ages with guns booming, bells ringing and whistles blowing. The use of firearms and firecrackers has perhaps been overdone, but it ought not to be entirely lost from the celebration of the day."

HORSE KILLED

MISFORTUNE OF MRS. JAMES CORBET OF ACCORD. AFTER FINDING LOST HORSE HAS IT KILLED BY WAGON.

Mrs. James Corbett of Accord, a small village near Norwell had a streak of bad luck Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Corbett lost her horse some days ago and could find no trace of it until she happened to see the advertisement of Chief of Police Burrell that the police department had a horse that had been picked up.

Mrs. Corbett came to Quincy, and after furnishing proof that the horse was her property started home with the animal. She was proceeding along Quincy avenue when the big ice wagon automobile of the Eaton Ice company came rumbling along and before the driver could prevent it he struck the horse causing such severe injuries that the animal had to be killed by Dr. Abele.

WOLLASTON BAPTIST CHURCH PICNIC.

The annual picnic of the Wollaston Baptist church was held at Glen Echo park, Stoughton, on Saturday. The day passed pleasantly in boating, bathing and in playing various games not to mention the other indispensibles. A ball game was played in the afternoon and a series of sports was conducted as follows:

50 yard dash (girls under 12)—Won by Sybil Pountney.

50 yard dash (girls over 12)—Won by Vivian Dresser.

50 yard dash (boys under 12)—Won by William Nickerson.

50 yard dash (boys over 12)—Won by Elmer Lothrop.

Each winner received as a prize a box of chocolates.

Referee—Mr. Hardy,

Judges at finish—Harold Thomas and Lester Porter.

Clerk of Course—Theodore Marceau.

Starter—J. J. Floyd.

DEDICATION AT HOUGHS NECK

July 4th will be royally celebrated at Houghs Neck. In the afternoon at 4 o'clock the new club house of the Catholic Lyceum will be dedicated. The building is located nearly opposite the Catholic church and will be used all the year round, as the lyceum is composed of all-year residents at the Neck. During the afternoon there will be a flag raising the flag having been purchased by popular subscriptions by the members of the lyceum.

GARDEN PARTY TONIGHT.

There will be a Garden Party on the Parochial school grounds this evening. The program will consist of a fine display of fireworks, dancing and games with music and other attractions to amuse both young and old. A large committee has been preparing for the event for a number of weeks. The illuminations will consist of hundreds of small electric lights together with Japanese lanterns.

BIG BOOST IN SALARIES

Many Thousands of Employes Added to Uncle Sam's Payroll

Washington, July 3.—The general appropriation passed by the last congress went into effect Saturday, it being the first day of the new fiscal year.

The bill provides for an increase of 3637 new offices in various branches of the government, and an increase in the aggregate amount of salaries of $9,805,247. The number of offices eliminated is 4587.

The DANGER TRAIL

by JAMES OLIVER CURWOOD

COPYRIGHT 1910 by BOBBS - MERRILL Co.

PROLOGUE . . . .

A face, beautiful and clear cut as a cameo, seen in the shimmering starlight—a face alluring and half pleading — is the magnet that draws Jack Howland, engineer, into a series of thrilling, absorbing and interest gripping adventures in arctic wilds, where beneath the light of the aurora borealis a strange vengeance is planned, where mysterious plotters encompass him, where assassins lie in wait along the danger trail.

CHAPTER I.

THE GIRL OF THE SNOWS.

FOR perhaps the first time in his life Howland felt the spirit of romance, of adventure, of sympathy for the picturesque and the unknown surging through his veins. A billion stars glowed like yellow, passionless eyes in the polar cold of the skies. Behind him, white in its sinuous twisting through the snow smothered wilderness, lay the icy Saskatchewan, with a few scattered lights visible where Prince Albert, the last outpost of civilization, came down to the river half a mile away.

But it was into the north that Howland looked. From the top of the great ridge which he had climbed he gazed steadily into the white gloom which reached for a thousand miles from where he stood to the Arctic sea. Faintly in the grim silence of the winter night there came to his ears the soft hissing sound of the aurora borealis as it played in its age old song over the dome of the earth, and as he watched the cold flashes shooting like pale arrows through the distant sky and listened to its whispering music of unending loneliness and mystery there came on him a strange feeling that it was beckoning to him and calling to him, telling him that up there very near to the end of the earth lay all that he had dreamed of and hoped for since he had grown old enough to begin the shaping of a destiny of his own.

He shivered as the cold nipped at his blood and lighted a fresh cigar, half turning to shield himself from a wind that was growing out of the east. As the match flared in the cup of his hands for an instant there came from the black gloom of the balsam and spruce at his feet a wailing, hungerful cry that brought a startled breath from his lips. It was a cry such as Indian dogs make about the tepees of masters who are newly dead. He had never heard such a cry before, and yet he knew that it was a wolf's. It impressed him with an awe which was new to him, and he stood as motionless as the trees about him until from out the gray night gloom to the west there came an answering cry and then from far to the north still another.

"Sounds as though I'd better go back to town," he said to himself, speaking aloud. "By George, but it's lonely!"

Jack Howland was a Chicago man. For fifteen of his thirty-one years he had been hustling. Since he could easily remember he had possessed to a large measure but one ambition and one hope. With a persistence which had left him peculiarly a stranger to the more frivolous and human sides of life he had worked toward the achievement of this ambition, and tonight because that achievement was very near at hand he was happy. He had never been happier. There flashed across his mental vision a swiftly moving picture of the fight he had made for success. It had been a magnificent fight. Without vanity he was proud of it, for fate had handicapped him at the beginning, and still he had won out. He saw himself again the homeless little farmer boy setting out from his Illinois village to take up life in a great city. As though it had all happened but yesterday he remembered how for days and weeks he had nearly starved, how he had sold papers at first and then by lucky chance became errand boy in a big drafting establishment. It was there that the ambition was born in him. He saw great engineers come and go—men who were greater than presidents to him and who sought out the ends of the earth in the following of their vocation. He made a slave of himself in the nurturing and strengthening of his ambition to become one of them—to be a builder of railroads and bridges, a tunneler of mountains, a creator of new things in new lands. Voluntarily he had kept himself in bondage, fighting ceaselessly the obstacles in his way, triumphing over his handicaps as few other men had triumphed, rising slowly, steadily, resistlessly, until now— He flung back his head and the pulse of his heart quickened as he heard again the words of Van Horn, president of the greatest engineering company on the continent.

"Howland, we've decided to put you in charge of the building of the Hudson Bay railroad. It's one of the wildest jobs we've ever had, and Gregson and Thorne don't seem to catch on. They're bridge builders and not wilderness men. We've got to lay a single line of steel through 300 miles of the wildest country in North America, and from this hour your motto is 'Do it or bust!' You can report at Le Pas as soon as you get your traps together."

Those words had broken the slavedom for Howland. He had been fighting for an opportunity, and now that the opportunity had come he was sure that he would succeed. Swiftly, with his hands thrust deep in his pockets, he walked down the one main street of Prince Albert, puffing out odorous clouds of smoke from his cigar, every fiber in him tingling with the new joy that had come into his life. Another night would see him in Le Pas, the little outpost sixty miles farther east on the Saskatchewan. Then a hundred miles by dog sledge and he would be in the big wilderness camp where 300 men were already at work clearing a way to the great bay to the north. What a glorious achievement that road would be! It would remain for all times as a cenotaph to his ability, his courage and indomitable persistence.

It was past 9 o'clock when Howland entered the little old Winsor hotel. The big room, through the windows of which he could look out on the street and across the frozen Saskatchewan, was almost empty. In one corner, partly shrouded in gloom, sat a half breed trapper who had come in that day from the Lac la Ronge country, and at his feet crouched one of his wolfish sledge dogs. Both were wideawake and stared curiously at Howland as he came in. In front of the two large windows sat half a dozen men as silent as the half breed, clad in moccasins and thick caribou skin coats.

Feeling in his pocket for a cigar, Howland seated himself before one of the windows and proffered it to one of the men.

"You smoke?" he asked companionably.

"I was born in a wigwam," said the man slowly, taking the cigar. "Thank you."

"The clerk tells me you are from Lac Bain. That's a good distance north, isn't it?"

"Four hundred miles," replied the man with quiet terseness. "We're on the edge of the Barren lands."

"Whew!" Howland shrugged his shoulders. Then he volunteered, "I'm going north myself tomorrow."

"Post man?"

"No; engineer. I'm putting through the Hudson Bay railroad."

He spoke the words quite clearly, and as they fell from his lips the half breed, partly concealed in the gloom behind him, straightened with the alert quickness of a cat. He leaned forward eagerly, his black eyes gleaming, and then rose softly from his seat. His moccasined feet made no sound as he came up behind Howland. For a moment the upturned eyes of the young engineer met those of the half breed.

Not until the half breed had turned and was walking swiftly away did Howland realize that he wanted to speak to him, to grip him by the hand, to know him by name. He watched the slender form of the northerner, as lithe and as graceful in its movement as a wild thing of the forests, until it passed from the door out into the night.

"Who was that?" he asked, turning to the man with whom he had spoken.

"His name is Croisset. He comes from the Wholdaia country, beyond Lac la Ronge."

"French?"

"Half French, half Cree."

After a little his companion shoved back his chair and bade him good night. The others followed him, and a few minutes later the engineer was left alone before the windows.

H MEYER

ALL THAT HE SAW WAS THE FACE.

(Continued on Page Four.)

LOST CHILD.

The lost child call, followed by one round from Box 136 was sounded at 6.45 Saturday night. The lost child was Bessie Stromberg aged 5 years of Hingham who has been visiting withthe family of Henry Litchman at 303 Water street. The child had been missing about three hours and was found shortly after the alarm sounded on Main street.

APPEALED FINE.

Louis Schlager was fined $75 by Judge Cook Saturday for letting a building knowing it to be used for illegal purposes. He took an appeal.

Schlager is the proprietor of the property on West street, that was occupied by the Farmer's club who were raided by the police some weeks ago. At that time the president of the club was fined for violation of the liquor law.

EDNA GOODRICH SUED

Goodwin Seeks Annulment of Ante-Nuptial Agreement

Paris, July 3.—Edna Goodrich, the acress, who used to be the wife of Nat Goodwin, is here with her mother. She had her enjoyment clouded by the receipt of a summons and complaint with regard to an action brought in the superior court of Los Angeles against herself and Thomas Dudley, trustee, under an ante-nuptial agreement in 1908.

The suit is brought by Nat Goodwin, who is seeking an annulment of the agreement and the recovery of equities in real estate and buildings thereon at San Francisco and Ocean Beach, Cal. Goodwin also seeks the surrender of securities delivered to Dudley and Miss Goodrich and he requests that it be adjudged that she has no claim thereto.

OTHER EDITORS ARE SAYING

A new Jersey judge declines to divorce a couple who have not spoken to each other since the day after their marriage, two years ago. He hates to break up a quiet home (Herald.)

With the celebration of Independence Day so near at hand there is especial timeliness in that decree ordering dssolution of the powder trust (Pittsbury Chronical.)

Mayor Fitzgerald, leaving Boston, for a short trip abroad, took his station on the bridge with the captain when the Franconia backed out into the stream. Why was it necessary to bother about the captain on such an auspicious occasion? (Prov. Journal.)

We need a new Declaration of Independence in this country. A Declaration of Independence from the money power; and to this end we, the citizens need to free our own souls from the spirit of greed.

A Declaration of Independence from the saloon power; and to this end we need the spirit of union and the courage of our convictions.

A declaration of Independence from traditionalism, and to this end we need to examine all new ideas, all honest reforms, without prejudice and with sympathy (Endeavor World.)

Senator LaFollette's complaint against the newspapers is that they failed to give space enough to the celebrated farmer's movement against Canadian reciprocity which was very ably managed from an office in William street, near Wall, New York city.

This is the first intimation we have received that the serious minded senator from Wisconsin has a sense of humor. The newspapers devoted so much space to the distinguished promoters of that grand uprising of farmers that it came to an end in about 24 hours. Being in the newspaper business himself to some extent, Mr. La Follette should know that a humbug once fully exposed is not worth featuring thereafter. (N. Y. World.)

THE QUINCY BANK
Of Greatest Strength

A condensed Statement of the National Granite Bank as reported to the Comptroller of Currency March 7, 1911.

ASSETS	$1,119,540.75
CAPITAL STOCK	150,000.00
UNDIVIDED PROFITS	195,441.41

Dividends paid to stockholders since organization as a National Bank, $487,500.00.

Strong Endorsement

The Treasurer of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts carries a part of the state's money in our institution, and has done so for years.

NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

Special
Range COAL
Stove or Nut
$7.00 Cash

Price Published in
MERCHANTS' WEEK PAPER
Incorrect

C. PATCH & SON, INC.
Office, 1422 Hancock Street, Quincy

Faded Draperies Dyed

Your draperies can be dyed to look like new, send us yours and be convinced. Phone or write and our team will call.

WARSHAW'S
DYE HOUSE
EST. 1892
1503 HANCOCK STREET
QUINCY
May 12-tf

PATENTS
PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc. IN ALL COUNTRIES. Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent.
Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively. Write or come to us at 710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office,
WASHINGTON, D. C.
CA SNOW & CO.

THE ? of SUMMER COOKING IT'S SOLVED

without an effort by the simple placing of a gas range in your kitchen.

Nothing more convenient can be thought of, nothing more economical utilized, for a gas range prove its merits the first trial it's given.

CITIZENS' GAS LIGHT CO.
11 Granite St., Quincy

SUNDAY IN OUR CHURCHES

Topics and Announcements For Coming Week

WOLLASTON UNITARIAN CHURCH.

The "Fresh Air" committee acknowledge with thanks contributions amounting to $32.53. This will enable the committee to make a good beginning. Additional contributions will be thankfully received by the chairman, Fred M. Rollins, 341 Highland avenue.

The Earnest Workers Lend-a-Hand society will have charge of the Wollaston Flower Mission work for the summer. The Unitarian vestry will be open from 7 till 8 each Monday evening to receive contributions of flowers. This is a beautiful charity and is earnestly commended to the Christian people of Wollaston and the citizens at large. Let those that have feel a personal responsibility to give of their abundance to those who have nothing.

Miss Elizabeth Murray, one of the Fresh Air workers from the Children's Mission in Boston gave a most helpful talk at the Sunday school session yesterday upon the good accomplished by the Country Week work.

Divine services will be resumed Sunday, Sept. 10th.

The pastor and family will spend their vacation at Prospect Harbor, Maine.

While the minister, Rev. Carl G. Horst is on his vacation, the Rev. William Channing Brown, Field Secretary ofthe American Unitarian Association, 25 Beacon street, Boston, will gladly render any service within his power to any one in need of a Unitarian minister. His telephone number is Haymarket 652.

The committee in charge of the "Fresh Air" work are Raymond Hall, Edward Taylor, Helen Brown, Mildred Polk, Louise Emery, Edna Sanborn, Fred M. Rollins.

The Wollaston Unitarian church News will be resumed in this column Monday, Sept. 11th.

WOLLASTON METHODIST.

H. E. Gould, commander of the local camp of Spanish War Veterans and Captain Webb of Paul Revere post, No. 88, G. A. R. gave interesting talks before the members of the Sunday school yesterday.

In the evening a patriotic service was held. The church was beautifully decorated with flags. Arthur Dewsnap played violin solos and Wesley Rhodes, new chief engine draftsman at the ore River shipyard gave an inspiring address on patriotism. J. A. Sedgwick gave a short talk on the Declaration of Independence and the Flag.

SWEDISH LUTHERAN.

M. L. Swanson of Brockton preached at both services on Sunday Mr. Swanson is a young man who is studying for the ministry and his outlook for a successful career as pastor is bright. At the services yesterday he preached inspiring sermons.

The Ladies' Aid society will meet with Mrs. Lindquist, Cranch street, Thursday afternoon.

The Young People's society will hold their meeting in the church on Thursday evening.

UNITED PRESBYTERIAN.

The pastor preached at the morning service fromthe topic "Sennacherib's defeat and its lessons." There was a f air audience at the meeting.

The Sabbath school session was quite well attended. The Y. P. S. C. E. meeting was held at 6 o'clock with a small attendance.

In the evening the pastor continued witht he thought of the morning. The choir sang an anthem which was very well rendered.

There will be a meeting of Session at 7 o'clock Thursday evening followed by the regular mid-week prayer meeting at 7.30. A special meeting of the Corporation of the congregation will be held immediately after the prayer meeting.

75TH AVIATOR KILLED.

Chalonssur Marne, France June 30—Lieutenant Trochon was fatally injured yesterday while making his first trip as pilot of a biplane. The machine plunged to the earth almost immediately after rising, and the lieutenant was taken from the wreckage terribly injured. He was taken to a hospital, where he died soon afterward.

Lieutenant Trochon is the seventy-fifth aviator killed in heavier-than-air flight.

FOURTH OF JULY

(Continued from Page One.)

The entries are as follows:

100 yards dash: M. Cronin, North D. A.A., W. Avery, Quincy, G. Cusack, Milford, N. H., Phelan, Boston, M. A. Oettinger, Fore River A. A., J. Lipsett, Somerville; L. H. Thayer, Wollaston; Joseph T. Becker, South Boston A C.; J. M. Pulhan, Boston; K. H. Wade, Brookline Gym; P. M. Chamberlain, Newton Y. M. C. A.; F. Coughlin, Boston; Ed Caples, Brookline Gym.; G. A. Sullivan, South Boston A. C.; W. C. Prout, B. A. A.; H. S. Sawyer, Boston; A. Knudson, Brookline Gym.; W. B. Colleary, Holy Cross A. A.; E. Prout, Quincy; J. F. Phelan, Quincy Y. M. C. A.; F. L. Avery, Quincy Y. M. C. C.; F. L. Tirrell, Makaria Fraternity; H. Hargraves, Worcester; A. Pierotte, St Alphonsus A. A.; A. Illman, Boston; L. A. Clark, Medfield; W. Riordan, Roxbury; W. P. Tucker, South Framingham; R. H. Trask, Quincy Y. M. C. A.; F. B. Banan, Lawrence; C. H. Wilson, North Dorchester A. A.; J. H. Elcock, South Boston A. C.; W. Cranshaw, Quincy Y. M. C. A.

44 yard novice—T. J. McLaughlin, W. Avery, M. A. Oettinger, J. Milson, E. J. Pletsch, F. Jameson, P. S. Wood, P. J. Flynn, W. Cranshaw.

1 Mile Run—S. C. McGaragle, Dorchester H. S.; W. A. Hubbard, Cathedral A. A.; G. J. Balch, Wellington A. C.; A. Ostrand, Swedish Gym, Cambridge; S. G. Toung, North Weymouth, K. W. Bell, Arlington; E. V. Pletsch, Wollaston; J. W. Martus, South Boston A. C.; W. H. Doggett, South Boston A. C.; J. Davies, Brockton Y. M. C. A.; A. A. Robinson, Quincy Y. M. C. A.

5 Mile Run—D. Withey, I. A. A. C.; Fisher, North Weymouth; G. A. Balch, Braintree; D. St. Paul, Boston; F. Bruce, I. A. A. C.; C. Robinson, Boston; J. Henigan, North Dorchester A. A.; A. L. Upham, North Dorchester A. A.; P. A. Corrivean, East Bridgewater; J. Davies, Brockton Y. M. C. A.; E. Fasci, I. A. A. C.; F. Jameson, I. A. A. C.; L. A. Clark, Medfield; Joseph Silva, B. A. A.

880 yard Run—W. L. Osborn, Michigan; W. J. Cotter, Boston; J. H. Cameron, South Boston A. C.; S. G. Young, North Weymouth; R. W. Bell, Arlington; S. A. Barrett, Roxbury; W. C. Prout, B. A. A.; J. M. Martus, South Boston A. C.; A. A. Robinson, Quincy Y. M. C. A.; F. A. Tirrell, Makaria; S. Smith, Cabot St. Gym.; T. J. Halpin, South Boston A. C.; E. T. Marceau, Wollaston; H. F. Manadier, North Dorchester A. A.

440-yard Run (closed)—M. A. Oettinger, Fore River; L. H. Thayer, Wollaston; G. A. Sullivan, South Boston A. C.; E. Prout, Quincy; J. F. Phelan, Quincy Y. M. C. A.; F. A. Tirrell, Makaria; E. J. Howley, West Quincy; R. H. Trask, Quincy Y. M. C. A.; T. H. McLaughlin, West Quincy; J. H. Elcock, South Boston A. C.; F. Marceau, Wollaston; E. T. Marceau, Wollaston.

Broad Jump—W. L. Osborn, Michigan; H. H. Phelan, Boston; J. M. Wilson, Quincy Y. M. C. A.; G. E. Read, E. H. S.; J. T. Becker, South Boston A. C.; K. H. Wade, Brookline Gym.; T. M. Chamberlain, Newton Y. M. C. A.; H. S. Sawyer, Boston; A. Knudson, Brookline Gym.; W. B. Colleary, Holy Cross; J. H. Dowd, Brookline, A. Illman, Boston; W. P. Tucker, South Framingham; R. H. Trask, Quincy Y. M. C. A.; L. F. Wheaton, Roxbury; E. S. Chapman, Boston Y. M. C. A.; W. J. Cotter, Boston; J. McTiernan, St. Josephs A. A.

W. F. Corkum, Cambridge, H. M. Cutting, South Boston A C.; F. Bruce, I. A. A C.; F. Marceau, B. A. A.; B. Nelson, Chelsea Y. M. C. A.; E. Van-Poppel, Chelsea Y. M. C. A.:

440 YARD OPEN

T.McLaughlin, West Quincy; G. Cusack, Milford; H. Phelan, Boston; M. A. Oettinger Fore River; J. Lipsett, Somerville; H. M. Cutting, So. Boston A. C.; F.L. Liehnor, Roxbury; S. Resenbury, Malden; J. M. Pullman, Boston; T F. Coughlin, South Boston A. C.; Ed. Caples, Brookline Gym; G. A. Sullivan, South Boston A. C.; W. C. Prout, B. A. A.; W. B. Colleary, Holy Cross A. A.; F. A. Tirell, Makaria; W. Hargraces, Worcester; A. Pierotte, St. Alphonsus; E. J. Howley, West Quincy; W. Riordan, Roxbury, T. J. Halpin, South Boston A. C.; W. P. Tucker, South Framingham; A. E. Ross, Cambridge; E. S. Chapman, Boston Y. M. C. A.; F. B. Banan, Lawrence; J. H. Elcock, South Boston A. C.; E. T. Marceau, Wollaston; W. Lloyd, Chelsea Y. M. C. A.

HIGH JUMP.

T. C. Wilson, Cambridge; W. P. Tucker, South Framingham, R. H. Trask, Quincy Y M. C. A.; L. T. Wheatton, Roxbury; A. L. Ross, Cambridge; E. S. Chapman, Boston Y. M. C. A. P. S. Wood, Wollaston; P. J. Flynn, West Quincy; F. B. Banan, Lawrence; L. S. Paul, M. I. T; M. J. Malley, Boston; J. O. Johnson, B. A. A.; C. H. Wilson, North Dorchester, A. A.

"What do you consider the ten best books, Mr. Seet?"

Young author—"Really, I've only written six books so far, you know."

GIRL ARRESTED FOR MURDER

Is Alleged to Have Confessed That She Smothered Infant

NOW IN CITY HOSPITAL

Margaret Savoy, 17 years, was arrested late Saturday night by Inspector Goodhue charged with child murder. It is alleged by the police, that the girl, who is employed in a factory at Wollaston gave birth to a child early Saturday morning and then strangled it to death.

Saturday morning when the girl did not arise as usual the family where she lived, went to her room to see what was the trouble. They found the child which weighed, 14 pounds by her side dead. Medical Examiner Jones was called but the girl denied that she had taken the child's life.

Then Inspector Goodhue was sent down and it is alleged that the girl confessed to him. According to the police the girl said that she became desperate when the child was born and fearing that people in the house would hear it cry, she smothered it.

The girl was placed under arrest and taken to the City Hospital. She will be arraigned in court when she recovers from her sickness. Miss Savoy came to Quincy from New Brunswick, about a year ago and has been employed at a Wollaston machine shop.

QUINCY BOATS PARTICIPATED.

Seven of the Class D boats of the Quincy Yacht club participated in the annual open race Saturday of the Cottage Park club at Winthrop. Several of the local class S boats also participated. In class D the Arawak won on both actual and corrected time with the Dolly III second and Iris third. The summary:

CLASS D

Name and owner	Elapsed time h m s	Corrected time h m s
Arawak, H C Nickerson	2:15:40	2:14:17
Dolly III, W W Arnold	2:15:46	2:15:04
Iris, F F Crane	2: 6:57	2:36:53
Mudjekeewis, E W Emery	2:17:17	2:17:00
Emeline, H W Robbins	2:20:35	2:17:47
Busy Bee, W J Coombs	2:20:35	2:18:55
Dartwell, I M Whittemore	2:19:11	2:19:11

CLASS S.

Name and owner.	Actual time. h m s	Corrected time. h m s
Maritza, C. H. Porter	2:15:10	1:50:01
Zoe, F. J. Stewart	2:15:54	1:50:38
Wanenock, Gearmar and Sargent	2:14:00	1:52:17
Winnlahdin, James Spratt	2:16:29	1:52:32
I X L, T Edgar Smith	2:36:54	2:19:24

BRADY AT BROOKLINE.

At the Country club, Clyde park, Brookline on Thursday and Friday of this week the 6th annual open championship of the Massachusetts G. A. will be played with the resident professionals and amateurs taking part in the competition which will be played at 72 holes medal play.

Much interest will be taken in the play of the professionals. M. J Brady showed such excellent form at Chicago in the national open tournament, tieing for first place at 307, that the Wollaston man's play will be followed closely at Brookline. To lose the playoff to J. J. McDermott was disappointing from a local standpoint, but it is something to have had a native-born and home-developed golfer do so well.

BOAT RACE IS A "FROST."

NEW YORK, July 1—Although cups worth $1,500 were offered as prizes the annual Cape May race of the National Y. C. started this morning with only a few boats competing. Five made up the power boat division. The sailing division brought one to the starting line and that boat refused to try for sail over prize.

It is hard to say just why the race did not fill better, but it seems as if the yacthsmen are growing tired of long distance ocean racing, as not a contest of the type has filled satisfactorily this year.

WOLGAST—MORAN BOUT.

Will the lightweight championship of the world belong to an American or an Englishman after the 20-round fight between Adolph Wolgast of Cadillac, Mich., and Owen Moran of Birmingham, England? More than 15,000 fight fans will surround the ring in the big Mission street arena next Tuesday afternoon, while hundreds of thousands through this country, Great Britain, Canada, Australia and France will await the result of the battle with unusual interest. Wolgast, the present holder of the title, will meet Moran at 133 pounds ringside, the American limit, so that the championship can change ownership if the Briton is victorious.

TROTS FASTEST MILE OF THE YEAR.

Working out on the Indianapolis fair grounds track, yesterday, the trotter Penisa Maid was timed at 2.04 3-4 for the mile, or the best done this season. She was accompanied by a runner. Gold Dollar trotted in 2.05 a week ago, the day after Penisa Maid had done 2.05 1-2.

CHAMPION TRACK GAMES.

The championship track games which will take place at the Queen's club, London, Eng., a week from Wednesday between teams comprised of Harvard and Yale athletes from America and the best from the English universities of Oxford and Cambridge will be the fourth of these international contests.

The three previous meets were held in 1899, 1901 and 1904, the first and last years the contestants meeting in England, and in 1901 the games being held on old Berkeley Oval in New York.

The American teams have won the last two championships, each by a wide margin, and it has been with considerable confidence that the Harvard and Yale men have gone abroad again this year, although in ordinary sequence of events Oxford and Cambridge should have sent their athletes to this side of the water.

FIVE ARE KILLED AS TRAIN HITS CARRIAGE

Lone Survivor of Picnic Party Probably Fatally Hurt

New York, July 3.—Five persons were killed and two injured in a grade crossing accident near Ozone park, in the suburbs, late yesterday. The victims were in a horse-drawn vehicle when it was struck by a railroad train.

The crossing where the accident occurred is at the bottom of a slight declivity and flanked by obstructions which prevent a clear view in either direction. In the wagon was a party of five, residents of the East Side of this city, who were out picknicking, and a driver.

Of the four women and two men in the vehicle, only one, a woman, is alive, and it is feared she will die. The other injured person is Richard Creed, conductor of the electric train which came booming along at express speed and struck the vehicle just as it had reached a point squarely across the rail.

PRESIDENT STARTS WEST

Had Brief Vacation In Summer White House In Beverly

Boston, July 3.—Bowing and smiling to right and left and sweltering good naturedly, President Taft arrived at the South station from Beverly yesterday afternoon. At 2 o'clock the train to which his private car, the Ideal, was attached, started the president on his way to Indianapolis. Major Butts and Detective Sloane of the secret service bureau will take the entire trip.

Not more than 300 people had assembled to witness the departure of the president's party, and a squad of fifty patrolmen had little to do.

FOOD SUPPLIES CURTAILED

Prices Advanced In England as Result of Shipping Strike

London, July 3.—The shipping strike has greatly affected coastwise, channel and North sea shipping, upon which the country largely depends for provisions.

Already it has proved a sharp object lesson of the effect on England war would have. The price of corn, flour, bacon and other products has advanced at many seaport towns, although London has not yet suffered seriously in this respect. Apparently the men are relying upon this to bring success.

SIXTEEN DROWNINGS

Toll of Hot Wave Which Spread Over New England

Boston, July 3.—Thousands of people were driven to the water by the heat all over New England yesterday, and as a result there were sixteen deaths by drowning and at least eight narrow escapes.

Although vast throngs crowded all the beaches around Boston there was only one drowning in Greater Boston, that of Charles W. Lovett of Lynn, an expert swimmer, who was drowned at Revere Beach.

Auto Goes 116 Miles In an Hour

London, July 3.—A world's record for automobiles was created at Saltburn-by-the-Sea by P. Bordino, the Italian driver, who covered 116.13 miles in one hour.

The Weather

Almanac, Tuesday, July 4.
Sun rises—4:31; sets—7:30.
Moon sets—12:31 a. m.
High water—5:45 a. m.; 6:15 p. m.

Forecast for New England: Probably fair and continued warm; light southwest and west winds.

ATWOOD'S NEW AERIAL FEATS

Tackles Treacherous Currents Created by Skyscrapers

THRILLING STUNTS IN GOTHAM

Flies Over Manhattan and Lands on Governor's Island After Doing 145 Miles In Two Hours and Thirty-Five Minutes—Climax of Trip Begun at Boston, Which Breaks All American Records

New York, July 3.—Quite casually and without any prelude of trumpets, Harry N. Atwood, the young Boston aviator, made the first aeroplane flight over the island of Manhattan. Others have flown near it, but never before had an aviator ventured into the treacherous currents created by the towering buildings of the Wall street section. Atwood covered 145 miles in two hours and thirty-five minutes.

This feat which he performed on the spur of the moment furnished an attractive climax to a two-day trip from Boston, made in two splendid flights, each of which was long enough to break the cross-country record for America.

Every one who caught even the most fleeting glimpse of the biplane as it swept easily over the skyscrapers, realized that he had seen a memorable thing, but of all those who were busy talking it over Atwood himself seemed the least impressed with what he had done.

When he had escaped to the shelter of a room at Hotel Manhattan, instead of waiting to relish the plaudits which began to pour in upon him, he made a rapid shift to some clean linen and slipped quietly out of town on a train for Boston.

Young Atwood, who first ventured alone in an aeroplane so recently as Memorial day, had no thought of startling New York when he awakened in New London, Conn.

He had flown down from Boston the morning before, carrying a passenger with him and by traveling the 135 miles without a stop, had made the longest continuous cross-country flight recorded in America.

He rose into the air at New London and did not come to earth again until he reached Astoria, when the dwindling of his gasolene made him pause to increase his supply.

It was after he had left Astoria and had sailed down along the river, over the four bridges, that he took it into his head to fly over the city itself. He was just mooning along past Manhattan, and, once the idea had struck him, he saw no legitimate reason for not attempting it.

The biplane had sailed down the river past Brooklyn bridge when Atwood became inspired to fly over the land. There was a stiff wind blowing, and that very fact tempted him because he wanted to see just what it meant to tackle the famous eddies of the skyscraper region. It was in the neighborhood of Wall street that he turned in, flying about 400 feet above the roofs of the average building.

Fourteen minutes after he had risen into the air at Astoria on the Long Island shore, Atwood landed easily on the soft soil of Governor's island. About five minutes of that brief final flight was spent over roofs of Manhattan.

It was indeed an excited island that lay beneath him. Five minutes was plenty of time for the spreading far and wide of the news that a startling, unheralded flight was going on above the very heads of thousands of business men. The tidings were communicated with inconceivable rapidity, and in no time from a myriad windows people strained their eyes into the bright sky, while the roofs were black with cheering people.

THIRTY YEARS IN ASYLUM

Spanish Woman Victim of Plot to Secure Her Large Fortune

Barcelona, July 3.—Senorita Matilde Andeyre has been released from an asylum after thirty years' confinement on a trumped up charge of lunacy to enable the trustees of her enormous fortune to manage it to suit themselves.

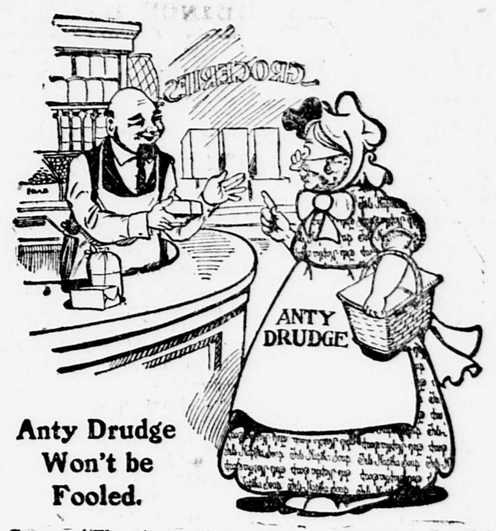
Senorita Matilde refused to marry a person of their selection, and has spent all this time in a madhouse rather than yield to their wishes. She was accidentally discovered by a cousin, who has obtained her release.

Three Killed In Auto Accident

Albany, July 3.—Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Newell of Trenton and 16-year-old son, Clifford, were killed when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a passenger train at Post Roads Crossing, about twenty miles east of this city. A daughter, Marian, was badly bruised, but is expected to recover.

Death In Auto Accident

Grafton, Mass., July 3.—George A. Geer, aged 64, was so seriously injured when he was thrown out of an automobile which skidded on a car track on the Fisherville road that he died at a Worcester hospital.



Anty Drudge Won't be Fooled.

Grocer—"There's your butter, tea, and baking powder. Now as to soap, I want you to try this instead of Fels-Naptha. It's said to be the best in the market."

Anty Drudge—"Say, Mr. Grocer, that's enough. Unload this basket. I don't know but what you've given me a fraud butter or tea, or a hurtful baking powder. But I do know you are trying to fool me into buying an imitation of Fels-Naptha. It don't go with me. After this I'll go where I can trust the grocer to give me what I ask for."

Fels-Naptha itself does the work of loosening the dirt from the fabric which every other soap leaves you to do with the washboard.

With Fels-Naptha there's no backache, no long bending over the wash-tub, as with other soaps.

Your clothes will wear twice as long, because boiling or scalding softens the fibre and rots the clothes. And they'll be whiter and cleaner.

But Fels-Naptha must be used according to the simple directions on the red and green wrapper—and in cold or lukewarm water.

PICKPOCKET USES BALLOON TO ESCAPE

Aeronaut Obeys Orders at the Point of a Revolver

Sayre, Okla., July 3.—A pickpocket closely pursued by the town marshal leaped into the basket of a balloon near here just as the air craft was leaving the ground and sailed away to safety.

At the height of several hundred feet the thief drew a revolver and warned George Harvey, the aeronaut, not to release the rip cord on his balloon until he was ordered to do so.

After they had traveled fifty miles the unwelcome passenger gave the word and the balloon was lowered. Ten feet from the ground the thief leaped from the basket.

The balloon shot upward and when Harvey finally effected a landing, several hundred yards away, he had disappeared.

SEABIRD REACHES HORTA

Little Yawl Has Covered a Large Part of Her Long Journey

Horta, Azores, July 3.—The Seabird, a 25-auxiliary yawl, which sailed from Providence, June 10, on a 4000-mile voyage, has arrived here. On board are Captain Thomas F. Day, T. R. Goodwin and F. B. Thurber.

The navigators reported all well. During the voyage they experienced four days calm, some head winds and two heavy squalls. The latter part of the voyage was favored with good weather.

Going away for the summer? If so don't forget to have the Daily Ledger sent to your address and keep posted on home news. If you have forgotten to send in your order in the rush of getting away drop us a postal and we will do the rest. tf

SUMMER HOURS

— AT —

PUBLIC LIBRARY

Beginning Monday, July 3, until further notice the main Library will be open from 10 o'clock A. M. to 6 o'clock P. M.; on Saturdays, from 10 A. M. to 9 P. M.

CHILDREN'S ROOM

From 1 P. M. to 6 P. M.
Saturdays from 10 A. M. to 12 M. and from 1 P. M. to 6 P. M.

June 28-tf—July 1-1w

A NEW CREATION
WEBSTER'S NEW INTERNATIONAL DICTIONARY

THE MERRIAM WEBSTER

The Only New unabridged dictionary in many years.
Contains the pith and essence of an authoritative library. Covers every field of knowledge. An Encyclopedia in a single book.
The Only Dictionary with the New Divided Page.
400,000 Words. 2700 Pages. 6000 Illustrations. Cost nearly half a million dollars.
Let us tell you about this most remarkable single volume.

Write for sample pages, full particulars, etc. Name this paper and we will send free a set of Pocket Maps

G. & C. Merriam Co.
Springfield, Mass.

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.

A Clearance Sale
— OF —
Soiled Shirt Waists

A Specially good assortment of Large Sizes

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

The Quincy Co-operative Bank

Room 13, Adams Building

On and after Monday, May 22, 1911, the hours of the Bank will be as follows :

8.30 to 12. 1 30 to 4
Saturdays 8.30 to 12.
Evenings

7 to 9 on first Wednesday of the month and the preceding Saturday.

FRANK A. REED, Sec.

Telephone 353 M Quincy.

May 13-pol-tf

Quincy Savings Bank

BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.

SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.

CLARENCE BURGIN,
Treasurer.

PATTERSON, "The Florist"

92 South Central Ave.
WOLLASTON, MASS.

Telephone 392 Quincy

A. M. DEANE & CO.

MONUMENTS

MEMORIALS ERECTED
IN ANY
CEMETERY
IN THE
UNITED STATES

Aug. 1.-1y

M. T. SULLIVAN

Real Estate Insurance
Auctioneer Care of Property

Justice of the Peace
Corner School and Hancock Streets
QUINCY.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

FIRE INSURANCE.

The Best Insurance. The Lowest Rates.
Insurance Department,
1405 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Telephone, Quincy 95-3.

JAMES F. BURKE

Real Estate and Insurance

AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES
Justice of the Peace Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Tel. 385-3 Jan. 17-tf

UPHOLSTERING

My only ambition is to get the work and to show the people of Quincy Town that nobody can beat me with my good work. Low prices on all kinds of furniture, repairing, mattresses, and cushions. Can give references. M. Mirkin 67 Washington street, next to Y.M.C.A. Quincy. Tel. 1112W. April 10-3mo.

HERBERT A. HAYDEN

Piano Tuner

Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock treet, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1153 M Nov. 3-tf

STORAGE

— FOR —
Furniture and Pianos
Storage Warehouse with Separate Rooms
Furniture and Piano Movers
HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1405 Hancock Street, Quincy Tel. Con.

LEWIS N. CURTIS,

PAINTER and GLAZIER

LEADED STAINED GLASS.
DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

PATENTS

TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 26 years experience.
Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.
READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write today.

D. SWIFT & CO.
PATENT LAWYERS,
303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

Quincy Daily Ledger

HIGH TIDE FOR WEEK.

Monday, July 3,	4.45	5.15
Tuesday,	5.45	6.15
Wednesday,	6.45	7.15
Thursday,	7.45	8.00
Friday,	8.45	8.45
Saturday,	9.30	9.45
Sunday,	10.15	10.15

1911 JULY 1911

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
						1
2	3	4	5	6	7	8
9	10	11	12	13	14	15
16	17	18	19	20	21	22
23	24	25	26	27	28	29
30	31

BRIEFS

It is not too late to enter the Quincy parade. It costs nothing and may add to the attractiveness of the show. Get busy and help make it the finest parade ever in Quincy.

Tony Hamilton Chase of Detroit, Michigan, is visiting his parents Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Chase at their home Shore Den on the Quincy shore reservation for a few weeks.

In today's paper will be found a complete program ofthe set pieces and fireworks to be set off on the night of July Fourth at Merrymount park Cut it out and take it with you for reference.

Rev. S. N. Elvin, pastor of the Swedish Lutheran church returned Sunday evening from Duluth, Minn., where he has been attending the three weeks' conference of the Swedish Luthran churches of America.

If you like reading a really good story do not fail to read the Ledger's new serial which starts in today's issue. It is interesting from beginning to end and you won't want to miss a line of it.

The ocean race of the Wollaston Yacht club will take place this year on Sunday, July 30. Great interest is being taken in the event and F. W. A. Schultz treasurer of the club has donated a cup for the occasion.

The condensed program published in the Ledger will be found very convenient for those who wish to keep posted on the hour and place of the various entertainments. The list of fireworks to be set off at Merrymount park is republished by request.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick S. Gorham, Elmer K., Mildred H., and Evelyn G. Gorham are occupying a cottage on Parnell road, Fort Point, Weymouth. Victor E. Miller and family of Russell park are at their cottage on Weymouth Great pond for the summer

Sidney T. Carr of San Francisco formerly of Quincy, left the Pacific coast Saturday for Honolulu where he has secured a good position with the Hawaiian Electric Co. He recently made a short visit to his Quincy home after an absence of three years. His stay here was much too short for the enjoyment of his many friends who wish him success in his new field of work.

VIRTUALLY CONTROLS BOSTON AND ALBANY.

Under the change of management the New York, New Haven & Hartford and Boston & Albany railroads assumed such close relations as to place the latter under the virtual control of the former road. The New Haven assumes one-half the annual deficit of the Albany and will share equally in the profits of that company when it earns profits.

INJURED BY FOUL BALL.

Bernard Smith the fire year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Smith is in the Brockton hospital, dangerously ill, having been hit on the head, Saturday afternoon, by a batted ball at the Center street baseball grounds. Sports were being held there by the Holy Name Society of St. Patrick's church. The lad was passing the grand stand when a foul tip hit him. He was unconscious when picked up. It was stated at the hospital that he is suffering from a fracture of the scull.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, Lucas County, ss.
Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure. FRANK J. CHENEY.
Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.
A. W. GLEASON,
(Seal) Notary Public.
Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.
F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by all Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

TENANTS FLEE IN BIG HURRY

Panic In San Francisco as Huge Buildings Tremble

WORST TREMORS SINCE 1896

Earthquake Extends From Coast to the Sierras, Avoiding Playground of Tremblers In the Past—One Death From Fright and Hospitals Treat Many Injured—Damage to Property Not Very Serious

San Francisco, July 3.—Two earthquake shocks, the heaviest since the big shake of 1906, and separated by only a few seconds, jarred the central portion of California and western Nevada. The first sharp shock was followed within a few seconds by one of similar intensity, each lasting about five seconds.

Only trivial damage was reported from any section, but in San Francisco and other cities in the affected area panic seized upon crowds in stores and restaurants and there was a pell-mell exodus from the large buildings.

One peculiar feature of the earthquake was that it did not appear to follow the old "fault" in the earth's crust which has been the playground of tremblers in the past, but extended from the sea coast eastward to the Sierras, including hitherto exempt mountain areas.

It was felt to the northward of Sacramento, in the Sacramento valley, southward as far as Fresno and to the east to Carson and Reno, Nev., the former place experiencing the heaviest shock in its history.

Some slight damage was done to buildings in San Francisco. Heavy stones in the cornice of the Mechanics' bank building were moved slightly out of alignment and superficial cracks were made in several large office buildings.

Cornices of the new postoffice building were disarranged and minor damage was done to the interior walls of a number of other buildings.

Within a few seconds after the first shock many down town buildings were depopulated in a rush to the streets. Telephone and telegraph service was suspended by the operators deserting their posts.

Herbert Hadley, a lodging house keeper, fell dead from fright, and some cases of hysteria or of cuts or bruises suffered in the panic were treated at hospitals.

San Jose, a heavy sufferer in 1906, reported that the shock was the severest experienced since that time, but it did no serious damage. Stockton and Fresno people were frightened by the jarring, but there, as in Sacramento, where the state offices were deserted in a trice as a result of the trembler, the damage to buildings was trifling.

In Reno, Nev., the shock was scarcely felt, but in Carson it was severe. The federal court was in session in the Nevada capital, and judge, jury and attorneys rushed to the street.

The booming reveberation which usually marks disturbances of a widespread character accompanied the first tremor.

In San Francisco the groaning and creaking of the steel structures played a larger part in frightening people than did the tremors.

PROVERBIAL NINE LIVES

Prove Advantageous to Pussy When Caught In Fire Ruins

St. Louis, July 3.—Employes of the Mound City Box company, which was destroyed in the recent big fire in South Vandeventer, while digging in the ruins a week later for tools they had lost, were attracted by queer and faint cries that seemed to come from the bottom of one of the heaps of brick and wood.

James Betzer and some others started to investigate. After digging for thirty minutes they unearthed a small box which, when raised, was found to be covering a cat that had been all but starved to death.

LIGHTWEIGHT PEAS

Combined Weight of Indiana Twins Is Less Than Three Pounds

Lawrenceburg, Ind., July 3.—Twins, boys, have been born to Mr. and Mrs. Grant T. Peas.

Together the infants weigh less than three pounds, and, though they are so small they can hardly be seen in their bed, they are thriving.

If it were not for their cooing and occasional cries one could hardly tell they are really babies.

Bank Teller Goes to Prison

Cleveland, July 3.—Jules W. Hopkins, former teller of the First National bank, was sentenced to seven years in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth. Hopkins pleaded guilty to embezzling from the funds of the bank.

Hoke Smith Again Governor

Atlanta, July 3.—Hoke Smith was inaugurated governor of Georgia for the second time in his life.

THE DANGER TRAIL

(Continued from Page two.)

"Mighty funny people," he said half aloud. "Wonder if they ever talk!"

He leaned forward, elbows on knees, his face resting in his hands, and stared to catch a sign of moving life outside. In him there was no desire for sleep. Often he had called himself a night bird, but seldom had he been more wakeful than on this night. The elation of his triumph, of his success, had not yet worn itself down to a normal and reasoning satisfaction, and his chief longing was for the day, and the day after that, and the next day, when he would take the place of Gregson and Thorne. Every muscle in his body was vibrant in its desire for action. He looked at his watch. It was only 10 o'clock. Since supper he had smoked almost ceaselessly. Now he lighted another cigar and stood up close to one of the windows.

Faintly he caught the sound of a step on the board walk outside. It was a light, quick step, and for an instant it hesitated, just out of his vision. Then it approached, and suddenly the figure of a woman stopped in front of the window. How she was dressed Howland could not have told a moment later. All that he saw was the face, white in the white night—a face on which the shimmering starlight fell as it was lifted to his gaze, beautiful, as clear cut as a cameo, with eyes that looked up at him half pleadingly, half luringly, and lips parted, as if about to speak to him. He stared, moveless in his astonishment, and in another breath the face was gone.

"The deuce, but she was pretty!" Howland said to himself. "And those eyes"—

Suddenly he checked himself. There had been more than the eyes, more than the pretty face. Why had the girl paused in front of the window? Why had she looked at him so intently as though on the point of speech? The smile and the flush left his face as these questions came to him, and he wondered if he had failed to comprehend something which she had meant him to understand. After all, might it not have been a case of mistaken identity? For a moment she had believed that she recognized him; then, seeing her mistake, had passed swiftly down the street.

He walked casually to the door. At the end of the street, a quarter of a mile distant, a red light burned feebly over the front of a Chinese restaurant, and in a mechanical fashion his footsteps led him in that direction.

"I'll drop in and have a cup of tea," he assured himself.

He stopped and turned his eyes again into the north. He wondered as he still stood gazing into the infinity of that other world beyond the Saskatchewan if romance was really quite dead in him. Always he had laughed at romance. Work—the grim reality of action, of brain fighting brain, of cleverness pitted against other men's cleverness—had almost brought him to the point of regarding romance in life as a peculiar illusion of fools—and women. But he was fair in his concessions, and tonight he acknowledged that he had enjoyed the romance of what he had seen and heard. And, most of all, his blood had been stirred by the beautiful face that had looked at him from out of the night.

He passed through the low door of the restaurant and entered a large room filled with tables and chairs and pregnant with strange odors.

"A pot of tea," ordered Howland.

He sipped his tea leisurely, listening with all the eagerness of the new sense of freedom which had taken possession of him. The Chinaman had scarcely disappeared when he heard footsteps on the stair. In another instant a low word of surprise almost leaped from his lips. Hesitating for a moment in the doorway, her face staring straight into his own, was the girl whom he had seen through the hotel window.

(To be Continued.)

HOME TRADE WILL HELP QUINCY AND EVERYONE IN QUINCY.

WE ARE NOT THE
LOWEST PRICED
STORE IN QUINCY BUT WE POSITIVELY ARE THE
LOWEST PRICED STORE
IN MASS., CONSIDERING THE QUALITY OF MEATS WE SELL
HIGHEST QUALITY, LOW PRICES OUR STANDARD
RESPECTFULLY,
JOHNSON BROS.

June 16-tf

WHEELER'S

The Store for Ladies' Furnishings

We will continue our Sale of Shirt Waists and Long Gloves

See what we offer in Shirt Waists for 79c and 98c
and Long Gloves for 50c and 75c

We are also showing a new line of Children's Parasols, all colors, for 25c and 29c

WE GIVE CASH DISCOUNT SLIPS

City Square G. W. WHEELER Quincy

FINANCIAL NEWS.

(Special)

The decision of the Circuit Court that the Union Pacific's control of the Southern Pacific by stock ownership does not contravene the Sherman anti-trust act is a development of distinct importance. It removes a barrier that has existed for some time, preventing the open, concerted operation of non-competitive lines of transportation. Coming at this time when court rulings have been so uniformly against formal co-operation among our great industrial and railroad combinations, it will exert a steadying influence on the mind of the investor, as it is direct evidence that the courts may be depended upon to protect property interests as faithfully as they do public interests.

Looking at the more favorable influences that present themselves, we have in the first place what are undeniably excellent crop prospects. Rains in North and South Dakota have measurably improved the spring wheat harvest outlook. An excellent winter wheat yield is already assured, and corn, while still subject to the vicissitudes of weather, is thus far in good shape. Cotton gives every promise of a satisfactory yield at excellent prices, resulting from an accumulated demand. Hay and oats are rather disappointing and will, therefore, stimulate the demand for corn as feed. But the harvest outlook, considered as a whole, certainly suggests another link in the long unbroken chain of years of agricultural prosperity. This means, in turn, a tremendous purchasing power for the products of industry which cannot fail to show itself in general mercantile activity when the improved movement once really begins Stocks of merchandise in course of distribution and in the hands of manufacturers are unusually light and must be promptly replaced. The demand from consumers has during the last few months been restricted to day-to-day requirements and has been supplied out of stocks in process of distribution, both retail and wholesale merchants in their own purchases from first hands merely reflecting the limited demands for actual consumption. Thus our manufacturers will be face to face in a short time not only with supplying the accumulated demand of consumers, but also with supplying in the ordinary channels of distribution products to bring supplies in the channels up to normal distributing proportions.

Trade and industry are both gradually improving. Their improvement, however, will not be so sudden as to cause congestion in banking circles during the crop-moving season. According to the present outlook, their demands for working capital will not assume sufficient volume to cause liquidation of securities that have been accumulated by the banks in order to release funds. It is very probable that the crops will have been fully financed before mercantile demands in their turn reach even normal proportions. And should this reasoning not prove entirely accurate, we still have large balances available abroad ready to show themselves in the form of gold imports as soon as money rates justify the movement of the precious metal from London to this center.—Henry Clews, Banker, New York.

Cholera In Empire State

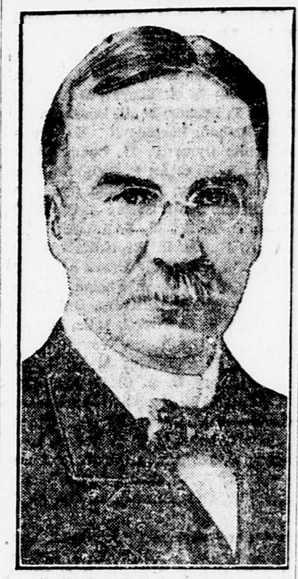
Auburn, N. Y., July 3.—Tomaso Biradri, aged 17, who came over on the Duca Degli Abruzzi and who managed to evade the immigration officias, died here of cholera.

Ex-Mayor Ely of New York Dead

New York, July 3.—Smith Ely, mayor of New York in 1877-'78, died at Livingston, N. J. General decline incident to old age was the cause of death.

T. R. SHONTS

His Wife Has Entered Suit For a Separation



SEEKS A SEPARATION

Mrs. Shonts Brings Suit Against New York Traction Magnate

Paris, July 3.—S. G. Archibald, at attorney representing Mrs. T. P. Shonts, wife of the president of the New York Interborough system, declares that his client has caused papers in a suit for separation to be served upon her husband in New York city.

Archibald refused to discuss the details of the case, but said that an absolute divorce was not desired. Mrs. Shonts is at present with her daughter, the Duchess de Chaulnes.

Death of Confederate Leader

Atlanta, July 3.—General Clement A. Evans, formerly commander-in-chief of the United Condeferate Veterans, died at his home here after a long illness of muscular rheumatism.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

In effect June 4, 1911

The letters in the same line as the figures below stand for different stations and indicate that trains stop as follows.

a Wollaston,	f Harrison Square
b Norfolk Downs	g Savin Hill
c Atlantic	h Crescent Avenue
d Neponset	i South Boston
e Pope's Hill	r Quincy Adams

Exp.—Express train.

TO BOSTON

Leave	Stop	Arrive
r 5 14 abedefghi	5 41
r 6 16 abcl	6 35
r 6 33 e	6 48
r 6 40 abef	7 00
r 7 08 abcd	7 30
r 7 25 d	7 42
r 7 33 Exp	7 48
r 7 42 ab	8 00
7 57 a	8 13
r 8 09 abcd	8 31
r 8 30 Exp	8 45
r 8 53 ad	9 10
r 9 15 abc	9 33
r 10 03 a	10 20
r 10 19 abedefghi	10 45
11 12 a	11 28
r 11 24 abedefgh	11 50
12 04 a	12 20
r 12 25 abedefghi	12 52
1 22 a	1 40
2 04 a	2 20
r 2 19 abedefgh	2 45
r 3 13 Exp	3 28
4 04 a	4 20
r 4 25 abedefgh	4 52
5 05 Exp	5 10
r 5 30 abedefg	5 55
6 12 a	6 30
7 22 Exp	7 37
r 7 30 a	7 46
r 8 07 abedef	8 30
r 9 01 abc	9 20
10 04 a	10 20
r 10 07 abedef	10 30
r 11 25 abc	11 45

FROM BOSTON

Leave	Stop	Arrive
5 45 ihgfedeba	6 14 r
6 12 ihgfedeba	6 39 r
6 30 a	6 47
7 15 hgfedeba	7 41 r
7 41 a	7 58
7 45 c	8 03 r
8 35 cb	8 53
8 42 a	8 59
9 10 fedba	9 32 r
9 45 a	10 11 r
10 15 ihgfedeba	10 41 r
10 50 Exp	11 05
11 15 hgfedeba	11 41 r
11 50 a	12 07
12 15 hgfedeba	12 41 r
12 37 a	12 54 r
12 50 Exp	1 05
1 11 fedeba	1 32 r
1 45 a	2 02
2 15 ihgf	2 37 r
2 35 Exp	2 50
3 15 hgfedeba	3 40 r
3 45 a	4 02
4 12 fedeba	4 34 r
4 41 d	4 78
5 14 a	5 31 r
5 21 a	5 42
5 31 dcb	5 50 r
5 43 a	6 00 r
5 55 fedeba	6 21 r
6 14 Exp	6 30 r
6 30 ecba	6 51 r
7 00 fedeba	7 24 r
7 12 a	7 29
8 05 ba	8 32
9 25 dba	9 46 r
10 35 fedeba	11 02 r
11 10 fedeba	11 35 r
11 30 ba	11 49

SUNDAYS

r 7 43 abc	8 03	6 30 ba 6 48 r
8 20 Exp	8 45	8 45 ihgfedeba 9 13 r
8 34 abc	8 52	9 05 Exp 9 21
r 8 46 bedefghi	9 13	10 15 ihgfedeba 10 2 r
r 9 13 abc	9 33	12 15 ihgfedeba 12 42 r
9 31 a	9 47	12 45 Exp 1 01
10 23 ac	10 40	1 30 ihgfedeba 1 57 r
10 31 Exp	10 47	2 15 hgfedeba 2 42 r
11 00 Exp	11 17	2 45 a 3 02
r 11 16 abedefghi	11 43	3 15 ihgfedeba 3 42 r
1 02 Exp	1 17	4 27 eba 4 48 r
r 1 16 abedefgh	1 43	5 15 ihgfedeba 5 42 r
r 3 10 abc	3 30	6 15 ihgfedeba 6 42 r
r 4 16 abedefghi	4 43	7 00 eba 7 19 r
r 5 07 abc	5 27	8 15 ihgfedeba 8 41
r 6 16 abedefghi	6 43	8 50 Exp 9 05
r 7 16 abedefghi	7 42	9 30 ihgfedeba 9 57 r
r 8 11 abedefghi	8 38	10 45 eba 11 04 r
r 9 07 a	9 22
r 10 46 abc	11 05
r 11 01 abc	11 20

West Quincy for Boston (stopping at East Milton)-6.23, 6.56, 7.17, 8.01, 8.11, 9.07 10.09, 11.01, A. M. 12.09, 1.23, 2.09, 3.18, 4.09, 5.13 6.06, 7.19, 9.09, 11.14 P. M. Sundays- 8.20, 9.20 A. M. 12.59, 5.15, 6.59, 11.02 P. M.

Boston for West Quincy (stopping at East Milton)-6.35, 7.27, 8.23, 9.35, 10.25, 11.35 A. M. 12.25 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 5.47, 6.18 7.50, 9.10, 11.20 P. M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M.

Montclair for Boston 6.20, 7.2', 8.17, 10.15, A. M. 12.15, 1.20, 4.15, 5.20, 6.12, 7.2', 9.15, P. M. Sundays - 8.26, 9.26, A. M. 1.06, 5.21, 11.09 P. M.

Boston for Montclair 9.35, 10.25, 11.35, A. M. 12.25, 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 6.18, 11.20 P. M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M. 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M.

CHICHESTER S PILLS

THE DIAMOND BRAND.
Ladies! Ask your Druggist for Chi-ches-ter's Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with Blue Ribbon. Take no other. Buy of your Druggist. Ask for CHI-CHES-TER S DIAMOND BRAND PILLS, for 25 years known as Best, Safest, Always Reliable
SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

Boston & Northern St. Ry. Co.

QUINCY DIVISION

TIME TABLE

In effect June 24th, 1911.
Subject to Change Without Notice

Leave QUINCY for

Brockton, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M. then 9.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Brockton, 6.30, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 9.30 P. M Sundays, 8.00A. M. then same as week days.

Braintree, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Braintree, 6.25 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.25 P. M. Sundays, 7.55 A. M. then same as week days.

East Milton, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Milton, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M., and every 20 minutes to 11.45 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.15 midnight.) Sundays, 7.25, A. M. then same as week days.

East Weymouth, 6.00, 6.15, 6.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.42 P. M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Weymouth, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.45 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Holbrook, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M. then 9.50 and 10.20 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Holbrook, 5.55, 6.25, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.00 P. M. Sundays, 8.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Houghs Neck, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 5.20, 5.45, 6.10 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 4.10 P. M. then 4.25, 4.40, 4.55, 5.10, 5.25, 5.40, 5.55, 6.10, 6.25, 6.40, 6.55, 7.10 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 11.10 P. M. then 11.49 P. M. Saturdays and Holidays, 5.20, 5.45, 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, 10.10, 10.40, A. M. then every 15 minutes to 10.40 P. M. then 11.10 and 11.49 P. M. Sundays, 6.50, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, 10.10, 10.40 A. M. then every 15 minutes to 10.40 P. M. then 11.10 P. M. Return, leave Houghs Neck Mondays to Fridays, both inc. 5.45, 6.05, 6.35 A. M. and ever 30 minutes to 4.35 P. M. then 4.50, 5.05, 5.20, 5.35, 5.50, 6.05, 6.20, 6.35, 6.50, 7.05, 7.20, 7.35 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 12.05 midnight. Saturdays and Holidays, 5.45, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05, A. M. then every 15 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.35 and 12.05 P. M. Sundays, 7.20, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05 A. M. then every 15 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.35 P. M.

Nantasket 8.25 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 9.25 P. M. Sundays, 9.25 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Nantasket, 10.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.00 P. M. Sundays, 10.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Hancock Street, 5.45, 6.14, 6.44, 7.14, 7.44, 8.14, 8.35, A. M. then 5, 14, 35 and 44 minutes past each hour to 10.44 P. M. then 12.14 midnight. Sundays 7.14 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Neponset 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, 8.07, 8.35, 8.37, 9.05, 9.37 A. M. then 5, 7, 35 and 37 minutes past each hour to 11.07 P. M. then 12.37 midnight. Sundays, 7.37 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Wollaston. 5.59 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.59 P. M. then 11.14 and 11.44 P. M. Sundays, 6.59 A. M. then same as week days. Return leave Neponset, 6.22 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.22 P. M. then 11.37, 12.07 P. M. Sundays, 7.22 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Norfolk Downs, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 7.55, 8.25, 8.50, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 1.30 P. M. then 2.05, 2.35 P. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.05 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.00 P. M.) Sundays, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Neponset, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 1.35 P. M. then 2.00, 2.30 P. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M.) Sundays, 8.30, 9.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Weymouth Landing, 5.20, 6.00, 6.20, 6.55, 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.00 P. M. Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days. Return leave Weymouth Landing, 5.40, 6.15, A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.15 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Wollaston, 5.59 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.59 P. M. then 11.14 and 11.44 P. M. Sundays, 6.59 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Wollaston, 6.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.30 P. M. then 11.50 and 12.20 P. M. Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days.

West Quincy, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave West Quincy, 6.00, 6.20, 6.50, A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.50 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.20 midnight) Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days.

Leave NEPONSET BRIDGE for Squantum, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 3.30 P. M. then 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30 P. M. then every 60 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Saturdays, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Sundays, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. (Note—Week Days, cars will leave Atlantic Bridge for Squantum, 5.45 and 6.15 A. M.) Return leave Squantum, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 4.05 P. M. then 4.35, 5.05, 5.35, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05 P. M. then every 60 minutes to 11.05 P. M. Saturdays, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 10.05 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. Sundays, 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M.

THOMAS GAMMON,
Superintendent.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.
To the heirs apparent or presumptive of Susan J. Lund of Weymouth in said County of Norfolk:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court, by Florence H. Adams of said Weymouth, alleging that said Susan J. Lund has become incapacitated by reason of advanced age or mental weakness to properly care for her property, and praying that she, said Florence H. Adams or some other suitable person, may be appointed conservator of her property, agreeably to the law in such case made and provided. You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy in said County of Norfolk, on the twelfth day of July A. D. 1911, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And the petitioner is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in said Quincy, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-sixth day of June in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.
June 27-3t 27, 3, 10

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
Norfolk, ss Probate Court.
To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin and all other persons interested in the estate of Joseph A. McCrory late of Quincy in said County, deceased:

Whereas, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for Probate, by William P. Thompson of said Quincy who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named. You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Dedham in said County of Norfolk, on the fifth day of July A. D. 1911, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in said Quincy the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, postpaid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-third day of June in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.
June 24-3t 24, 26, 3

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
Norfolk, ss Probate Court.
To all persons interested in the estate of Henry Turner late of Quincy in said County, deceased:

Whereas, Henriettta E. Polk executrix of the will of said deceased, has presented for allowance, the first and final account of her administration upon the estate of said deceased: You are h reby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Dedham in said County, on the fifth day of July A. D. 1911, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed. And said executrix is ordered to serve this citation by delivering a copy thereof to all persons interested in the estate fourteen days at least before said Court, or by publishing the same once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in said Quincy the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, postpaid, a copy of this citation to all known persons, interested in the estate seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this fifteenth day of June in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.
June 24-3t 24, 26, 3.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
Norfolk, ss Probate Court.
To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, creditors and all other persons interested in the estate of Caroline A. Wild late of Quincy in said County, deceased, intestate:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, to Emily C. Wild of said Quincy without giving a surety on her bond. You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Dedham in said County of Norfolk, on the fifth day of July A. D. 1911, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And the petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in said Quincy the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twentieth day of June A. D. 1911.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.
June 22-3t 22, 29, 3.

HOUSEKEEPERS
TELL YOUR TROUBLES
HOLMES & HALL
We make a business of repairing the things about the house that get out of order such as DOORS, LOCKS, SHADES, BELLS and FURNITURE.
96 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 974 L

Read Ledger Advs.

WANT 100,000 ACRES YEARLY

Zionists Plan to Buy the Palestine Holy Lands

TO MAKE HOMES FOR JEWS

Prospect For Immediately Regaining Control of Jewish National Soil Would Be Brighter If Young Turks Were to Meet With Defeat—Zionists Will, However, Maintain Neutral Attitude Toward Politics

Tannersville, N. Y., July 3.—To buy 100,000 acres of land annually in Palestine in order to establish colonies of Jews was a proposition placed before the fourteenth annual convention of the Federation of American Zionists at its sessions here Sunday.

The proposal was made by the national fund commission, which is the active agency of the Zionist movement for the purpose of regaining the Holy Land.

The commission reported that in addition to the thirty-eight agricultural colonies established in Palestine through the efforts of Zionists, a residential suburb for artisans had been established close to the port of Jaffa.

The political situation in the Ottoman empire, as it affects the progress of the Zionist movement, was the subject of a prolonged debate. It was recognized that the policy of the Young Turk party, aiming toward the nationalization of the entire empire, would delay the realization of the Zionists' purpose to secure a publicly, legally assured home for the Jews in Palestine, and that the movement would have a better immediate prospect for regaining the Jewish national soil if the opposition should triumph.

Nevertheless, while the delegates were unequivocally opposed to any amendment of the movement's platform, it adopted a resolution calling upon the International Zion congress and the greater and inner actions committees to maintain an attitude of strict neutrality toward the Turkish political parties.

The delegates cheered to the echo a report from the Russian wing of the movement that, although harrassed by all manner of exceptional laws, they display their self-sacrifice for the cause unabatedly. Denied the possibility of gathering from the Jewish masses, the report said, a number of individuals have made personal contributions which almost counteract the effects of the oppressive administrative measures.

BANKER SECURES DIVORCE

Decree Granted Because He Has Suffered Mental Agony

Denver, July 3.—John W. Springer was granted a divorce in Judge Allen's court from Isabelle P. Springer. The charge was mental cruelty.

Springer, who is a wealthy Denver banker, brought suit for divorce following the slaying of Louis VonPhul and George E. Copeland by H. F. Henwood at the Brown Palace hotel.

Springer declared that recent publications concerning the relations of Mrs. Springer, VonPhul and Henwood, and the evidence at the trial of Henwood, had caused him much agony of mind, and that he believed the testimony at the trial was true. Judge Allen held this testimony by Springer was sufficient to sustain the allegation in the complaint and ordered a decree.

TO WED ON JULY 12

Date Set For Marriage of Mme. Eames to de Gogorza

New York, July 3.—Mme. Emma Eames, the prima donna, and Emilio de Gogorza, the operatic baritone, who have been betrothed for two years, will be married in Paris, July 12 or 15, according to announcement made by Mrs. Ernest de Gogorza, who lives in Brooklyn.

Both de Gogorza and Mme. Eames will come to this country in October to make a concert tour together. Their romance began about three years ago, when they were singing together. In her divorce papers, now marked "settled," de Gogorza's wife named Mme. Eames as "psychic corespondent."

FIRST WEEK IN AUGUST

Extra Session of Congress Expected to End at That Time

Washington, July 3.—Indications are growing that congress may conclude its extra session earlier than has been generally expected.

Many senators, together with Representative Underwood and other Democratic house leaders, are figuring on the first week of August as a possible adjournment time.

The situation, however, is not sufficiently clear to warrant a positive prediction.

Held For Baltimore Police

York Beach, Me., July 3.—Deputy Sheriff Woodward arrested John Ross, aged 28, who is wanted in Baltimore on a charge of murder.

JULY 4th PROGRAM AT A GLANCE

5.30 A. M.—Parade at Atlantic
8.30 A. M.—Parade at Quincy Centre
8.30 A. M.—Fancy Base Ball, Ward 6 Playground
9.30 A. M.—Preliminaries Merrymount Park
10 A. M.—Finals Baseball
10 A. M.—Ball games various Wards.
1 P. M.—Ball Game, Ward 6.
2 P. M.—Track Meet.
1.30 to 3 P. M.—Band Concert, Ward 6.
3 P. M.—Baseball, Ward 6.
3 P. M.—Band Concert and water Sports, Ward 6.
4 P. M.—Flag raising at Houghs Neck with children's program and dedication of new Lyceum Building in afternoon.
8 P. M.—Fireworks—Merrymount Park
Evening—Cruiser Chester Decorated—Off Yacht Club.

CHILDREN'S PROGRAM.

10.00 A. M.—Ward 6—Athletic sports.
10.30 to 12—Ward 6—Ice cream at Music Hall.
10.45 A. M.—Ward 4—Prof. Josef Yarrick in Magic—St. Mary's Hall.
10.45 A. M.—Ward 1—Punch and Judy—Adams Academy Grounds.
11.30A. M.—Ward 2—Punch and Judy River near Washington street.
1.00 P. M.—Ward 3—Punch and Judy near Lincoln School.
2.00 P. M.—Ward 4—Punch and Judy New Playground
3.15 P. M.—Ward 5—Punch and Judy Wollaston School.
3.00 P. M.—Ward 6—Water Sports—Foot Webster Street.
3.00 P. M.—Ward 1—The Pixies—Alpha Hall.

FIREWORKS FOR FOURTH.

The grand display of fireworks which will wind up Quincy's Fourth of July celebration will be the best display of the kind ever given in any city. Last year's display was pronounced one of the best ever seen in Quincy but this year the National Fireworks Manufacturing Co., promises to do even better than a year ago. The full program of the display as accepted by the committee is as follows and it will be seen there are a number of especially constructed set pieces that will be well worth while seeing.

One half hour before the display is scheduled to take place a flash and sound signal will be fired, which can be heard for miles.

A discharge of ten aerial guns at intervals of thirty seconds will denote the opening of the display proper.

Special Device—in lines of dazzling fire, four hundred square feet:

WELCOME TO QUINCY
THE CITY OF PRESIDENTS
1911

Grand prismatic illumination of the grounds with fifty mammoth bengal lights, changing colors three times.

The Fourth of July salute—Imitating artillery fire and produced by over five hundred explosions.

Ascent of fifty, one and two-pound exhibition rockets 1911 novelties and effects.

Discharge of two, thirty-six inch bomb shells containing stars of innumerable colors and wonderful brilliancy.

The aerial rose garden—produced by the s imultaneous discharge of large shells, opening with a burst of shimmering greens and changing to clusters of dark red roses.

Ascent of three electric cascades—Sparkling water bubbling from the earth.

Discharge of three, thirteen-inch shells, assorted containing light green, lark blue, golden rod, ruby and silver, lilac and crimson.

Device. Bunker Hill—A representation in fire of the famous product of Quincy's granite hills, 25 ft. high, with motto in large letters of colored fire, "Who Built Bunker Hill?"—"Quincy."

Ascent of three, four-lb. fiery wagler rockets. All that their name implies.

Ascent of three, four-pound sun cluster rockets—a dazzling novelty.

Display of batteries or acrobatic candles, discharging quivering stars that perform a series of somersaults as they ascend.

Discharge of three special 15-inch bomb shells showing buttercups and daisies.

Display of six golden spray fountains to be equally spaced across the grounds and fired simultaneously, giving a very beautiful effect.

Ascent of three, four-lb. national streamer rockets, showing the national colors in long streamers of brilliant light.

Ascent of twenty, two and three-pound colored exhibition rockets, fired in groups of five.

Salvo of ten, nine-inch bomb shells containing meteroric stars, amethyst, sea-shell pink and electric irradiant.

Flight of aerial wrigglers—very laughable, chasing one another through the air.

Ascent of three, four-lb. Halley's comet rockets—a rocket with a very bright head and a luminous tail, resembling the famous comet soaring through space.

Device. The Mikado's Fan—a pretty device from Japan. A large fan in outlines of colored fires, slowly opening to its full size, thirty feet in diameter.

Ascent of three, four-lb. Eagle Scream rockets—the cry of the national bird being faithfully reproduced at a great height in the air.

The Crescendo Repeating Bomb, first shell breaks once, second shell breaks twice, third shell breaks three times, fourth shell breaks four times, fifth shell breaks five times. Each break being entirely separate and distinct and accompanied with a loud report, and a fresh outburst of colored stars.

The Mid-Summer Storm—Formed by a hundred flashes and detonations in the air, resembling thunder and lightning.

Salvo of ten, thirteen-inch bomb shells—producing a very pretty effect "twinkling stars."

Ascent of three extra large prismatic whirlwinds—perfect whirlwinds of fire.

Discharge of three extra large devil-among-the-tailors—a comical conceit in pyrotechny, commencing with a triangular outpouring of colored stars, and finishing with a burst of turning and squirming figures, gyrating in all directions.

Salvo of fiery spider bombs, one two and three repeats, bursting in the air and resembling scores of mighty and colossal spiders creeping and crawling across the sky.

Ascent of three, four-lb. radium rockets—new and dazzling effect.

Grand display of New England batteries.

Ascent of three, four-lb . weeping willow rockets—forming willow trees in the clouds.

Device—In lines of vivid fire, f our hundred square feet—Thanks to Our City Officials and Contributors.

Discharge of three, twenty-four inch cardinal flash bombs—a liquid cardinal red, terminating in vivid flashes of fork lightning.

The Diamond Dust Shower—fired from extra large steel mortars.

Ascent of two, six-lb. hanging chain rockets—releasing long chains of brilliant colored lights, which float in mid air, changing to various colors until out of sight.

Discharge of five, eighteen-inch bomb shells silver and pearl showers.

Flight of twenty-five, one-lb. exhibition rockets.

Explosion of six large crackers mines—forming a mimic bombardment, high in the air.

Salvo of five, fifteen-inch repeating bomb shells—each shell having three different effects, making nine effects in all.

Display of four jewelled cannonades commencing with a silver fountain.

Ascent of six, three-lb. peacock plume rockets, forming plumes of peacock feathers with colored eyes.

Ascent of three, four-lb. prismatic torrent rockets, pouring forth torrents of prismatic fire.

Fore River—The Battle of the Dreadnoughts—A very realistic and thrilling representation of a naval engagement between two of the latest deep sea monsters, culminating in the blowing up and sinking of one.

The Field of the Cloth of Gold—a flight of large shells, bursting into a mass of gold and silver stars.

Display of batteries of monster glow worms, a new battery this season.

Showers of meteorites

Ascent of three,six-lb. flowering pampus rockets.

Discharge of five, eighteen-inch cuttlefish bomb shells, with long, radiating fiery tentacles.

Salvo of six,fifteen-inch Italian reporting bomb shells.

Ascent of six e xtra large bayonet tourbillions, forming perfect umbrellas of fire in their ascent and descent.

Ascent of three, six-lb. prize asteroid rockets—discharging beautiful floating asteroids with prismatic effects

Ascent o fthree, six-lb. whistling coon rockets—shrill whistles that sound from the air.

Ascent of three, four-lb. liquid fire rockets pouring liquid silver fire to the earth.

Display of batteries of electric spreader candles, filled with extra large stars, emitting electric flashes in their flight.

The Fountain of Life in five tiers of pure white dazzling light, falling to the ground, will light up the entire surroundings.

Discharge of three, twenty-four inch bomb shells containing thousand of variegated stars.

Discharge of three, four-lb. musical golden rain rockets, golden rain from the clouds.

Salvo of ten, twelve-inch bomb shells "Forget-me-nots and Pinks."

Ascent of six fiery geysers, finishing with loud reports.

Flight of two flying pigeons—flying from one end of the grounds and returning, passing and repassing in the air.

The Great Silver Cloud—formed by the discharge of ten, nine-inch electric shells.

Ascent of three, four-lb. floating festoon rockets—resembling festoons of jewels as they float silently away into space.

Nests of Fiery Cobras.

Salvo of ten, nine-inch Du Barry repeating b omb shells.

Display of three extra large Jack- in the box—Starting with a battery of colored stars, and ending in masses of fire, scattered in all directions.

Device. The American Flag, Post 88—61-65. A gigantic reproduction of the national emblem in its true colors, outlined in lines of vivid colored fire.

Accompanied by the national salute of (21) guns size six hundred square feet.

Ascent of three six-lb. search light rockets—illuminating the surrounding country.

Display of three north pole batteries—emitting snowflake stars, and finishing with the national colors.

Salvo of chrysanthemum repeating bomb shells, covering the skies with enormous Japanese blossoms.

Discharge of fifty fire flies and will o'wisps—a very pretty effect.

Special. The Pan-American Shell—a huge shell, showing in their proper sequence, the Mexican national colors, followed by Red, white and blue.

Display of three jewelled mines, extra large—an eruption of Molten lava.

Display of batteries of extra large size saucissons—showing curious and bewildering contortions, and finishing with sharp reports.

Discharge of two, twenty-four inch bomb shells—containing nile green, magenta, orange, opal, emerald green and cardinal red.

Ascent of six, three-lb. aerial sleigh bell rockets.

Ascent of three,six-lb. rockets—forming the electric kaleidoscope.

Device. The Mammoth Ferris Wheel fringed with gold and silver, slowly revolving, changing colors and interesting centres. Fifty feet in diameter when in operation.

Discharge of five, fifteen-inch liquid silver bomb shells, filling the air with misty blue radiance.

Ascent of twenty-five, two-lb. colored exhibition rockets.

Ascent of three, four-lb. electric rockets, containing electric stars of great brilliancy.

Discharge of one hundred golden shower candles each candle containing ten stars.

Salvo of ten, nine-inch repeating bomb shells—filled with Alice Longworth blue, Helen Taft pink and Du Barry red.

Special Device. The Falls of Niagara. A beautiful and natural reproduction of thest famous falls in pure white fire, two hundred feet long.

Salvo of ten Italian bombettes.

Ascent of three, six-lb. parachute rockets—containing floating lights attached to invisible parachutes.

Flight of twenty-five flying fish.

Salvo of ten, eighteen-inch bomb shells—an acre of varigated stars.

Ascent of four, six-lb. flash and thunderbolt rockets—the Acme of Pyrotechnic Art.

Ascent of four, four-lb. up and down electric.

The Shell of Shells—The Father of them all, and greatly improved. The largest shell ever fired. When bursting into beautiful colors, releases smaller shells with electric and radium effects.

The Grove of Daphne. This piece will extend across the grounds and will give a very beautiful effect, caused by the discharge of thousands of colored stars, high in the air, intersected by columns of gold and silver spray.

The Aerial Wheatsheaf—formed by the simultaneous discharge of two hundred and fifty rockets.

Good Night—In large block letter of fire.

LAWN PARTY AT BRAINTREE.

The Women's Alliance of All Souls' church held the annual lawn party, Saturday afternoon, on the lawn of Mr. and Mrs. George O. Wales. A large tent had been erected on the lawn where refreshments were served. During the afternoon tennis and croquet were enjoyed. The committee in charge of the affair included Mrs. Geo. O. Wales, chairman, Mrs. Henry Bond, Mrs. F. A. Bower, Mrs. W. P. Battles of Weymouth, Mrs. Walter E. Morrison, Mrs. G. T. Butterworth and Mrs J. C. Danforth.

LLOYD'S
EYEGLASSES AND SPECTACLES
KRYPTOK BIFOCAL GLASSES
Far and Near Glasses in a Single Pair.
These beautiful two vision Glasses are worth seeing and trying.
Any of our stores will be glad to show them.
315 Washington St.
310 Boylston St.
75 Summer St. } BOSTON
1252 Massachusetts Ave. CAMBRIDGE.
ANDREW J. LLOYD CO.

NOTICE

If you have not ordered your Coal Do It NOW
The Price is at Its Lowest
Take advantage of it by placing your order NOW with
J. F. SHEPPARD & SONS
Tel. 232-L 27 Granite St., Quincy

BAREFOOT SANDALS
The best thing for the children to wear during the warm weather. They are light and comfortable and give good satisfaction.
CHILDS 5 to 8 45c
MISSES 8 to 11 50c
HEFFERNAN'S SHOE STORE
1375 Hancock Street, Quincy

Are You Going Away?
If so have the DAILY LEDGER sent to your vacation address. You cannot afford to be without your home paper.
FILL OUT THIS BLANK
QUINCY DAILY LEDGER:—
Send the Daily Ledger for
to address below.
SEND YOUR ORDER AT ONCE

E. E. GRAY CO.

QUINCY and WOLLASTON

1525 Hancock Street, Music Hall Block — Corner Newport Avenue and Brook Street

Cuts for Week Beginning July 3d

Flour, Golden Gate Brand	Bbl.	$5.79
	Bag	73c
Peanut Butter	per lb.	12c
Soups, Campbell's, all Varieties,	3 cans for	25c
Macaroni or Spaghetti	per pkg.	7c
Stringless Beans, Summer Brand	per can	10c
Soap, Oves family	per bar	3c
Corn, Standard	per can	8c
Salmon, Good Alaska	per can	13c
Beans, York State, Hand picked	per qt.	8c
Evaporated Milk (Van Camps or Peerless)	large can	8c
Corn Flakes, Toasted Quaker	per pkg.	6c
Crackers, Grandmother's Cookies	per lb.	8c

F M W

HURRAH! HURRAH!

JULY 4th

Children Attention

Refined free entertainments as follows:

St. Mary's Hall, West Quincy, 10.45 A. M. Prof. Josef Yarrick, Modern Miracle Worker advanced magic.

Alpha Hall, Quincy Centre 3.00 P. M.

THE PIXIES—One of the most pleasing entertainments on the stage for children.

READ! READ!

Prof. Wallace the celebrated Punch & Judy man will give open air shows at the time and places as follows:

WARD 1. Adams Academy Grounds, 10.45 A. M. Sharp.
WARD 2. River Street near Washington St., 11.30 A. M. Sharp.
WARD 3. Near Lincoln School, 1 P. M. Sharp.
WARD 4. New Playground, Copeland and Common Streets, 2 P. M. Sharp.
WARD 5. Wollaston School, 3.15 P. M. Sharp.

YOU FOR A GOOD TIME.

Charles H. Johnson, Chairman; George W. Abele, John D. Mackay, John O. Hall, Edward J. Sandberg, Daniel J. Deasy, John R. Richards, Daniel Duggan, Charles J. McGilvray, Thomas J. Shortle, William H. Teasdale,

Committee on Children's Entertainments,

QUINCY FOURTH JULY ASSO.

June 30-3t

BY FRANK FESSENDEN CRANE
AUCTIONEER OFFICE, 19 TEMPLE ST., QUINCY, MASS

AUCTION SALE
—OF—120 ACRES
Standing Grass
ON THE FAMOUS
LOTTA CRABTREE FARM
SQUANTUM, MASS.

Thursday, July 6th, at 1.30 P. M.

This grass comprises both upland and meadow and will be sold in medium sized lots. SALE POSITIVE, RAIN OR SHINE. June 28 7t

MAKE YOUR DOLLAR GO FAR

was George Washington's theory when he threw a dollar away across the Potomac River. When you want your dollars to go a long way without giving you trouble invest them in a Hartford bicycle and then ride it any distance that you desire and they will go a long way without giving you any trouble when it is a Hartford wheel from Nelson's on Granite street.

SUNDRIES and REPAIRING
HUB CYCLE CO.
Thomas Nelson, 20 Granite Street, QUINCY
Agency for Hartford and Columbia Bicycles
May 15-2m

Quincy Daily Ledger

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	100 degrees
July 3, 1910, .	76 degrees
July 3, 1909,	80 degrees
July Noon Maximum, 14 years,	101
July Noon Minimum, 14 years.	60

BRIEFS

An addition of six feet was added to the grand stand in City Square this morning.

Owing to the excessive heat all work at the Fore River ship yard was suspended this noon.

Miss Grace Hodge of Town hill is spending a week at Long Beach, Gloucester, with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hastings of Barnsville, New Brunswick are guests of Joseph H. Titus of Warren avenue.

Chief Williams says the only bonfire that will be allowed tonight will be that on the Ward Three playground which is well guarded.

Miss Viola Croteau and sister Rena of Brockton are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon Reed at their summer home on Rock Island.

Miss Eliza Miner of Old Colony avenue, Wollaston, is entertaining Rev. and Mrs. A. Lincoln Abercrombie of Daytona, Florida.

A large furniture van was overturned at the corner of Hancock street and Billings road Saturday afternoon. The team was on its way to Brockton.

Miss Amy L. Fuge of Hampton, Va., who is spending her vacation with her parents of Centre street, has gone to Madison, Maine, for a short visit.

Napoleon Reed and two daughters, Misses Bertha of the Reynold's hospital, Back Bay, Boston, and Alma of the Quincy hospital have gone to New York for a few days.

Miss Grace E Floyd of Concord, Mass. formerly of Wollaston was operated upon Sunday at the Concord hospital for appendicits. She was reported as resting comfortably this morning.

MARSHAL FIFTH DIVISION

Maj. Fred E. Jones Chief of staff announces the appointment of Fred E. Tupper as marshal of the fifth division comprising the civic and trades division.

Maj. Jones advises that any ladies participating in the parade should carry sun shades as the day promises to be hot.

He also advises men who intend to march to carry sun shades.

Halts will be made at intervals during the parade and should the day be excessively hot the route of the parade will be cut short.

TODAY'S COURT.

James O'Brien, James Creighton were fined $5 each, Edgar O'Neil, William Hickey, Thomas E. Hubbard, $3 each for drunkenness at Quincy.

Pohn Moore, Stephen Dowling, Roy Campbell, Robert Pallusio, Louis Henderbergren and William Gillispi $5 each for bathing without proper clothing at Quincy.

John McGilvray and George Powell were fined $10 each for exceeding the automobile speed limit.

Edith Haynes was arraigned for keeping a disorderly house at Quincy. Case continued until July 11.

John Caffill and George Lindquist were fined $20 each for violation of the city ordinance at Quincy.

Frank Royce was arraigned on two complaints for violation of the liquor law at Quincy. Cases continued until July 17.

SAVING MONEY IN NAVY

Ships Placed In Competition In Matter of Expenditures

Washington, July 3.—By the application of strict business methods and placing the ships in competition in the matter of expenditures Secretary Meyer has effected a saving of $107,874 during six months, using eighty-four ships as a basis of experiment.

A definite allowance, based on close estimates, was made to each of the ships at the beginning of the year and very few of the vessels overdrew their allowance.

☞Shop today for tomorrow is the Glorious Fourth and every one is going to celebrate. R. E. Foy & Co. are stocked up with everything good to eat and if you cannot get your order in today you will find the store open tonight so don't go hungry over the Fourth.

Established 1870 Telephone

JOHN HALL
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
Carriage and Ambulance Service
1485 Hancock Street, Quincy Mass.

LIVE SPORTING EVENTS

ADAMS A. A. DEFEATED.

South Quincy A. A. defeated the Adams A. A. at the Ward Three playgrounds on Saturday by a score of 8 to 3 in a slow game marked by occasional brilliant plays. The game was delayed for about an hour by the train wreck in Boston since Hawkes, the South Quincy pitcher was coming out from Boston and his train was held up. As it was the game was started with Kenn in the box and a few innings, Canavan went in only to be replaced by Hawkes when he arrived. The Riversides who were to play the Quincys were delayed in the same way that Hawkes was and since the game had to be cancelled at the Water street grounds the Riverside pitcher was grafted on to the Adams A. A. team but Blowers got his bumps with the rest of them. Fairbanks, catcher on the Riverside team, caught Hawkes on the South Quincy A. A. Among the other recruits were McKenzie who played third base for Adams A. A. during the last three innings, Holmes, the Y. M. C. A. catcher, and one or two others. Up to the sixth inning there were so many shifts that it was hard to get interested in the game but after that the teams settled down and played ball. The winning team proved its superiority in the field and at the bat and the victory was well merited. Among the features of the game was a double play made by F. Erickson, unassisted, for South Quincy and the all round work of Hoyt for Adams. McTierney of Adams led in hitting with a single and a three bagger but his error in right field was responsible for two runs and started the ball a rolling for South Quincy in the seventh when they got their five runs. Blowers was touched up for four hits in that innings, F. Erickson again coming to the front and sending two men in with a clean single after McTierney had let two in by muffing Fairbanks' long fly. T. Galvin played a good game in left field and made a hit with fans by jumping into the brook after the ball and getting wet to the waist.

The score:

SOUTH QUINCY.

	A.B.	B.H.	P.O.	A.	E.
Dackers 3b	1	1	2	1	0
W. Galvin cf	3	1	0	0	0
G. Erickson ss	5	1	1	1	0
T. Galvin lf	4	1	2	0	0
Holmes c	2	1	4	0	0
Fairbanks c	1	0	5	0	0
F. Erickson 2b	5	1	3	2	0
Berlucchi, rf	3	1	1	0	0
Comolli 1b	3	1	7	0	1
Kenn p	1	0	0	0	1
Canavan p	0	0	1	3	0
Hawkes p	2	0	0	1	0
	30	8	26*	8	2

ADAMS A. A.

	A.B.	B.H.	P.O.	A.	E.
Desmond 1b	4	1	8	0	0
Barry c	4	1	11	1	0
Mulligan ss	4	0	1	1	0
Hoyt 2b	2	1	3	2	0
McDonald lf	4	1	1	0	0
Artis 3b	2	0	1	2	2
McKenzie 3b	1	0	0	0	0
McTierney rf	4	2	1	0	1
Jolly cf	2	0	1	0	0
Munroe p	1	0	0	0	0
Blowers p	3	1	0	3	0
	31	7	2	9	3

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
So. Quincy	0	2	1	0	0	0	5	0	0	—8
Adams	0	0	0	2	0	1	0	0	0	—3

Earned Runs—Dackers 2, G. Erickson, T. Galvin 2, Holmes, Fairbanks, F. Erickson, Hoyt 2, Artis. Three-base hits—McTierney. Sacrifice hits— F. Erickson, W. Galvin. Double plays—F. Erickson (unassisted) Muligan and Desmond. Struck out by—Kenn 2, Canavan 2, Hawkes 3, Munroe 4, Blowers 7. Bases on balls by Hawkes 2, Munroe 6, Blowers 1. Wild pitches by Munroe. Umpire Duffy. Time 2 hours.

—* Jolly out, hit by batted ball.

GLOVERS DEFEAT MOHAWKS.

In a fast and well played game at the Ward Six playgrounds, the Glover A. C. defeated the Mohawks on Saturday by a score of 1 to 0. The lone run came in the fifth inning and although at several times later in the game first one team and then the other threatened to score the plate was not crossed again during the game. The pitchers battled throughout the contest and came out with honors pretty evenly divided, Duggan allowing 6 hits and Smith 7.

The score by inings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Glover A. C.	0	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	0	—1
Mohawks A. C.	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	—0

Batteries, Duggan and McCleod; Smith and Allicon.

COLONIALS WON.

The Colonials defeated the Station Outing Club on Saturday at the Ward Four playgrounds by a score of 21 to 10 in a game marked by heavy hitting on the part of the victory and a comedy of errors in the part of the losers Belanger allowed 17 hits while Mcpherson was touched up for 7. The Outing club had ten errors chalked up against it and the Colonials failed to accept four chances. The score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Colonials	2	0	1	5	1	4	6	0	2	—21
Station O. C.	0	1	2	3	0	2	0	2	0	—10

Batteries—McPherson and P. McDonald; Belanger and DiBosa.

MILLERS WIN FROM W. QUINCYS.

The West Quincys were defeated by the Millers of Wakefield at Wakefield Saturday afternoon by a score of 10 to 6. The hitting of both teams was heavy but the West Quincys played loosely, making six errors. Grethe pitched for the losers and was touched up for 11 hits while the West Quincys got 10 off Wade's delivery. Hawley and Duggan led the Quincy team in batting, the latter getting a single and a double and the former three singles. In the field O'Brien played exceptionally well pulling down five flies. Up to the seventh inning it was anybody's game but Grethe was hit hard in the seventh and with the assistance of errors the winners got five runs. The West Quincys had a little rally in the ninth but were unable to overcome the lead of their opponents. The score by innings:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Millers	0	1	0	0	3	1	5	0	0	—10
W. Quincy	2	1	1	0	0	0	0	0	2	— 6

Batteries, Wade, Stewart and Bennett; Grethe and Duggan.

BASEBALL LINEUPS.

The baseball games for tomorrow should be among the most interesting of the season. In addition to the double header at Merrymount park which starts at 9.30 there will be games at all the playgrounds in the morning at 10.

At Ward Four the Colonials and St. Mary's will line up as follows:

COLONIALS	ST. MARY'S
McDonald c	2b DeCoste
Hebert p	ss Mannix
O'Dowd 1b	c Leary
Elcock 2b	cf O'Rourke
Gillis ss	1b Scanlan
Thomas 3b	W. Little 3b
McPherson lf	lf Duggan
Patriarca cf	rf P. Little
Shea rf	p Joyce

The Orients and Mohawks will meet at the lower field at Merymount park with the folowing lineups:

ORIENTS	MOHAWKS
O'Brien c	cf Blanchard
Bradley p	rf Rockie
McDonald 1b	3b McCarty
Curtin D. 2b	1b McDonald
Mattson J. ss	2b Young
Markham J. 3b	lf Monihan
Cremins lf	ss Holmes
Mattson A. cf	c Allicon
Allan rf	p Smith
Curtin J. rf
Small W. cf	sub Corson

SOUTH QUINCY	MAKARIA
Berry, c	c, H. Chapman
Hawks, p	p, Penley
Comolli, 1b	1b Rice
F. Erickson, 2b	2b Jenkins
G. Erickson, ss	ss, Nicoll
Dackers, 3b	3b, Manning
T. Galvin, lf	lf, M. Chapman
W. Galvin, cf	cf, Curtis
Berlucchi, rf	rf, Eggleton
J. L. Elcock	R. Ganzel
Mullane, p	p McKenzie
Jesseau, c	c, R. Bates

West Quincys:

Dooney, 3b	lf, Duggan
Elcock, 1b	c, Fitzgerald
Mulligan, ss
O'Rourke, cf
Densmore, 2b
Michaels, p
Grethe, p
Fallon, rf
Everett, outfield

Fore River Apprentices—Boyle c, Oliver 2b, Kane 3b, Williamson p, Wilkins 1b, Blackwood ss, Lang lf, Costello cf, Ackers rf, Murphy sub, Wood sub, Chase sub.

Adams A. A.—Desmond, Milligan, Hoyt, McDonald, Artis, McTierney, Jolly, Grethe, Blowers, Fairbanks, Clinton.

The West Quincys, West Quincy All Stars and Bigelows have not handed in their lineups yet and the committee will meet this evening to decide whether these teams will be allowed to play or not.

THE MAKARIAS.

The Makaria Base ball team of Quincy played a splendid game and defeated the strong Norfolks at South Weymouth by the score of 12 to 9. The pitching of Rice for the Makarias was fine, until the sixth inning when he gave two base on balls a three base hit and a couple of errors resulted in 5 runs for opponents. Rice gave way to Penley and the opponents only made 3 runs off him for the remainder of the game. At the end of the eighth inning the score was tie, but the Makarias won out in the 9th inning a batting rally.

The score by innings:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Makarias	1	0	0	0	1	2	0	5	3	—12
Norfolk C.	1	0	0	0	0	5	1	2	0	— 9

Batteries, Rice and Chapman; Bill and Carlton.

FOURTH OF JULY TRACK MEET

The second annual track meet under the auspices of the Quincy Fourth of July Association will be beyond question the best, meet in the State on the holiday. Many noted athletes such as Bill Prout, Joseph Silva, T. J. Halpin, Osborn of Michigan, Ed. Caples of Brookline, Gym Franz Marceau and a long list of others will participate and the events are sure to be very exciting. Mr Brogan has been very fortunate in securing Frank X. McGrath, the efficient secretary of the N. E. A. A. U. to act as an official and that in itself assures success

The meet will begin at 2 o'clock on the upper field at Merrymount park and there is sure to be a record attendance on hand to witness it.

JULY FOURTH AT SQUANTUM.

Squantum is to have a little Fourth of July celebration, to be held under the auspices of the improvement association.

The program include a game of ball at 10 A. M.

Parade of antiques and horribles at 2 P. M.

Field sports at 3 P. M. for which thirty prizes will be given.

In the evening at 8 o'clock there will be a vaudeville show on piazza of the Squantum Inn by well known artists who are summering at Squantum.

SPORTING EVENTS ON THE 4TH.

Baseball games:

9.30—West Quincy vs South Quincy at Merymount park.

10.00—Makaria vs winner of above, Merrymount park.

Orients vs Mohawks, Lower field.

Bigelows vs Fore River at Ward Two.

Adams A. A. vs. West Quincy All Stars at Ward Three.

St. Marys vs. Colonials at Ward Four.

3.00—Atlantic vs Makaria at Ward Six.

10.00—Open Doubles, Quincy Tennis club.

10.00—Members Tournament, Wollaston G. C.

10.00—Tennis Tournament, Wollaston Tennis club.

2.00—Second Annual Track Meet, Fourth of July Ass'n. Merrymount park.

SPORTING NOTES

The Athletics defeated the Quaker A. C. at their home grounds on Saturday by a score of 15 to 6. Swain allowed his opponents but two hits and got 19 strikeouts. For games with the Athletics apply to A. DeSenso, 52 Phipps street.

J. Elcock of Quincy took third place in the 100 yards dash at the track meet of Our Lady of the Presentation parish in Brighton on Saturday. "Nat" Sherman the old Dartmouth sprinter was first and Bowser of Lynn was second.

Photographer—"Is there any particular way in which you'd like to be taken?

Mr. Sambo Johnsing—"Yes, sah. If there's no dejection, I'd like to be taken a light-cream color."

Cremo 5¢
CIGAR
QUALITY PLUS

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS. —STATE HOUSE BOSTON, JUNE 30, 1911. The committee on cities will give a hearing to parties interested in the petition of George T. Magee for legislation to authorize the city of Quincy to incur indebtedness for the development of its water front (House bill No. 2070), at room No. 436, State House, on Wednesday, July 5, at 10.30 o'clock A. M. George H. Newhall, Chairman. Alvin E. Bliss, Clerk of the Committee. July 1-2

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents. Three consecutive insertions 50 cents, 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents. No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

FOUND

FOUND— Small purse containing money. Owner may have same by proving property and paying charges Call at Ledger Office. July 3-3t

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—New house, 6 rooms bath, improvements 5,400 feet land Apply to Frank Leben, 76 Howard st East Braintree. July 3-6t O 8-2w

FOR SALE—An up-to-date grocery and provision store at a reasonable price. Good reason for selling. Apply to J. A. Weeden 23 Cranch street Quincy July 3-6t

WANTED

WANTED— Position by Swedish woman with baby 4 weeks old. Will take position as cook or general house work. Mrs. D. 171 Billings road, Atlantic. July 3-3t

WANTED—Boy, good and stout to tend store. Apply at 750 Washington street, Quincy Point. June 30-6t

WANTED—A boarding place in or near Quincy for an American girl of seven years. Protestant family preferred. Adress Box 273, Quincy. June 30-3t

WANTED Salesman. Earn $300 per month. Sell dealers highly advertised article. Exclusively or side line. No samples to carry.
Berlame, 215 West 125th street, New York, N. Y.
June 29 6t

WANTED—Engagements for manicuring, shampooing, face and scalp treatment. Please address by letter Miss S. Torola, 332 Granite street. June 28-6t

WANTED—Experienced girl for general housework. References required. Apply 118 Merrymount road. June 26 tf

TO LET

TO LET—Nicely furnished rooms, with excellent table board. Central location. Address P. O. box 346, Quincy. June 29-tf

TO LET—Desirable house on Edison street. Apply to J. Peterson & Co., 394 Washington street. June 28-6t

TO LET—On Spear street, tenement of 4 rooms and bath. All modern improvements. Apply to C. A. Ericson, 117 Glendale road. Tel 586 M. June 27-tf

TO LET—Upper flat of five rooms, all modern improvements, gas and coal range, at 56 Euclid avenue. Apply at 84 Quarry street. June 27-6t

TO LET—On Bigelow Street half house of 7 rooms and bath. Rent $25 per month. Apply at No. 44 Bigelow street or of Miss Prescott, Ledger Office, Quincy. June 23-tf

TO LET—Tenement with 9 rooms and bath at Quincy Point, also rooms to let and table board at 55 Washington street, Quincy, Mrs. Margaret S. MacDonnell. June 23-1mo.

TO LET—House 12 rooms, all improvements. Ideal location, 5 minutes to center. Apply to James F. Burke, Real Estate Agent, Room 4 Savings Bank Building. June 9-tf

FOR RENT—Quincy, Centre, apposite Adams Academy, house of 8 rooms and bath, also garage, 3 minutes to R. R. Station. Dr. E. S. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263L, Weymouth. May 10-tf

TO LET
Half House No. 44 Bigelow street, 7 rooms and bath. Shades, screens, electric lights, set tubs, range, etc. Rent $25. per month. Apply to Miss Prescott, Ledger Office, Quincy. July 3-tf

FOR RENT
On Spear street, very desirable house of 8 rooms, bath and laundry. All modern improvements, range, gas, electric lights shades and screens. Large piazzas and lawn. To private family only. Apply at 41 Spear street or of Miss Prescott at Ledger Office, Quincy. June 2-tf L. P. O

TO LET

Tenement—22 B Granite Street. $10.00 per month.

Greenleaf Hall—Greenleaf Block Large Furnished Hall with various anterooms—to let by the evening or permanently.

City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 fee and 20 feet high. Splendid light, low rent

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)
Music Hall Block, Quincy.

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 26 No. 152 | QUINCY, MASS., WEDNESDAY EVENING, JULY 5, 1911 | PRICE TWO CENTS

QUINCY'S GREAT CELEBRATION OF INDEPENDENCE DAY

ATLANTIC HAS GREAT HOLIDAY

Starting With a Mammoth Bonfire the Night Before the Day Is Royally Spent

Refreshments After Parade--Prizes Awarded

Starting with a mammoth bonfire on the night before and followed by a parade, ball games, band concers, land and water sports, engine playouts and other features it was a case of something doing every minute at Atlantic on the holiday

There was with one exception, a marked absence of rowdyism and undesirable actions. This disturbance was occasioned by a band of Neponset roughs who invaded the playground and attempted to set off the bonfire before its time. Being thwarted in this they began depredation on neighboring property and the police were obliged to fire several shots in the air before they were routed.

Complications arising from the orders of Chief Williams having been adjusted the bonfire was lit on schedule time a few minutes before twelve.

The pile was well built and made a magnificient blaze. It was witnessed by over 1500 spectators. A curious incident of the fire were the eddies of smoke. These originating in the terrific heat of the fire swept with the speed and in the shape of a minature whirlwind several hundred feet across the field with one end on the ground and the other many feet in the air.

Atlantics one fire alarm was from box 617 at one o'clock and was for a fire in a temporary building near the Aviation field. It was evidently of incendiary origin.

The parade scheduled for 5.30 started an hour later. Forming at the junction of Squantum street, Hunt street and Newbury avenue the parade moved forward with William L. Buckley as chief marshall and the Misses Phebe and Gertrude Buckley as aids.

The line of march led from Squantum to Hancock street, Billings road, Faxon road, Edwin street, Clark street, Squantum street, Botolph street, Clive street, Walker street, Squantum street, Billings street, Newbury avenue, Atlantic street, countermarching to Hancock street, Walnut street, Oak street, Linden street, Hancock street, Madison street, Newbury avenue, Sagamore street to the playground where it was disbanded.

(Continued on Page Three.)

CARPETS

Oriental Domestic RUGS

Floor Coverings

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION

At Lowest Possible Prices

John H. Pray & Sons Co.

645-655 Washington St, Opposite Boylston St.

All Goods will be Delivered Free at Residences in Quincy

REPRESENTED IN QUINCY BY

Messrs. OTHO A. HAYWARD and WALTER J. WELLINGTON.

BY FRANK FESSENDEN CRANE

AUCTIONEER OFFICE, 19 TEMPLE ST., QUINCY, MASS

AUCTION SALE

—OF—

120 ACRES

Standing Grass

ON THE FAMOUS

LOTTA CRABTREE FARM

SQUANTUM, MASS.

Thursday, July 6th, at 1.30 P. M.

This grass comprises both upland and meadow and will be sold in medium sized lots. SALE POSITIVE, RAIN OR SHINE. June 28-7t

HEAT BLAST TERRIFIC

Vast Area Is Affected. Showers Will Bring Relief

SCORES PROSTRATED

The Fourth of July 1911, goes on record as the hottest day ever officially recorded in this section. Fortunately, the freedom from toil and activity probably averted a greater number of prostrations than the large number recorded. The heat wave was widespread, scores of prostrations being reported on every side.

Salem contributed the largest number of deaths, six. In Newburyport there were three and an equal number in Lowell. In other places the number were as follows: Barre, Vt., 1; Providence, 2; Lawrence, 2; Saco, Me., 1; Spencer, 1; Portland, Me., 1.

The South was relatively cool and except northermost parts the great lake regions were also as was the Pacific coast. Fourth of July heat records were broken in a number of cities, these including Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City and Cincinnati. Hundreds of deaths are reported from these cities and the number of heat protrations will run into the thousands.

In 1872 was recorded the highest previous July 4 temperature. On that day the thermometer reached 98. In 1909 Independence Day was celebrated at a temperature of 73 and last year 78. 1900 held the previous high mark, at 87.

The weather man would give out no promises of relief. By Thursday withthe expected thunder showers there is likely to be a clearing of the atmosphere. More than 125,000 people visited Revere in an effort to escape the heat 6,500 bathers being registered at the state bath house.

$100 NEEDED.

To the People of Quincy:

At the meeting of the Executive Committee of the Fourth of July celebration association, held this morning, the committee found that the expenditures were nearly $100 more than our collections.

This committee would be pleased to receive donations. The committee hopes to receive this without sending out collectors, and money will be received by any member of the committee and Clarence Burgin, treasurer.

At an early date an itemized account of all money received and all bills paid will be published in the daily papers.

Your assistance will be very much appreciated by the committee.

Yours truly,

Eugene R. Stone, President.
James F. Burke, Vice President.
Arthur W. Stetson, Secretary.
Clarence Burgin, Treasurer.
James H. Elcock, Finance.
Alfred N. LaBrecque, Publicity.
Capt. George A. Wardwell, Parade.
Albert L. Whitman, Music.
James E. Neary, Athletics.
Charles H. Johnson, Children Sports.
George F. Elcock, Fireworks.
Charles W. Hanscom, Balloon Ascension.
James L. Trainor, Decorations.

SUMMER HOURS

— AT —

PUBLIC LIBRARY

Beginning Monday, July 3, until further notice the main Library will be open from 10 o'clock A. M. to 6 o'clock P. M.; on Saturdays, from 10 A. M. to 9 P. M.

CHILDREN'S ROOM

From 1 P. M. to 6 P. M. Saturdays from 10 A. M. to 12 M. and from 1 P. M. to 6 P. M.

June 28-6t--July 1-1w

CROWDS ENJOY FIREWORKS

Preceded By Band Concert the Display Declared "Best Ever"

NOT ONE ACCIDENT

Quincy's population, according to the last census is over 32,000 and it seemed as though the entire population with their relatives and friends were present at the fireworks display at Merrymount park Tuesday evening. The crowd began to gather shortly after 7 o'clock and long before the hour for the show to start there were thousands present. Merrymount park was black with humanity, while in the street were hundreds of automobile parties as well as large decorated wagons containing sightseers.

At 7.30 o'clock there was a band concert. The band also played at intervals throughout the exhibition. One got a good idea of the crowd present when the sky would be illuminated for a few minutes by the fireworks and a look around would disclose the sea of humanity that was reclining on the grass.

It was exactly 8.30 when Chairman Elcock, of the fireworks display shouted through a megaphone that everything was in readiness. Then there came the explosion of two bombs that sounded like one of Uncle Sams twelve inch guns and the show was on. There were three expert firers in charge of the exhibition which meant no waiting minutes, for everything went off with clock like precision.

That the show was a good one, no one can deny. There was an unusual large number of set pieces, composed of many colors, that brought out exclamations of oh's from the crowd. Particularly good were the

(Continued on Page Five.)

BRIEFS

Owing tot he execffive heat all work on the public streets was suspended for the day this morning.

Mrs. John Foster of Winthrop, Me. is the guest of her sister Mrs. Mabel Keene on Washington street.

The jackies from the Chester were regaled with orangeade on the Adams Academy grounds after the parade.

Judge Avery who has been away for a week on a short vacation returned this morning and presided over today's session of the district court.

The proprietors of soda fountains in City Square did a land office business the Fourth, and in fact they have been doing a great business all the week.

Franz Marceau who won the mile run in Quincy in the afternoon, has taken first place in the same event in the Boston track meet, in the time of 4m. 34 2-5 s.

Mayor Shea and a number of citizens are attending the hearing before the Committee on Cities at the state house this morning in favor of the bill to allow the city to borrow $100,000 outside the debt limit to develop its water front.

It was the subject of considerable favorable remark the Fourth at the absence of men on the street under the influence of liquor. The arrests for drunkenness the night before and on the holiday were comparatively few. It speaks well for the safe and saner Fourth.

Edward B. Langley was overcome by the heat at his home on Hancock street the afternoon of the Fourth and is still in a precarious condition. Two physicians were in attendance with him all night. This noon he was reported as being in a more comfortagle condition.

PEOPLE WERE PLEASED WITH JULY 4TH PROGRAM

Entertainment Prepared By General Committee Appreciated By Hundreds

Magnificent Fireworks Display Was Preceded By Interesting Sports in Afternoon and Parade in Morning

The weather man said continued hot weather for Tuesday the Fourth and he hit the nail squarely on the head for if anything it was even hotter than Monday. The morning dawned bright and clear with slightly more breeze than on the day before, yet it was seen early that it would be a swelterer.

Long before 8 o'clock people begun to wend their way toward City Square Many had gone to Atlantic in the early morning to see the parade which started at 6 o'clock giving ample time to see all there was there and arrive in City Square in season for the general parade.

The street railway ran special cars to Atlantic leaving City Square at 5 o'clock and they were well patronized.

The parade was scheduled to start at 8.30 but owing to changes in the running time of trains it was delayed until 9 o'clock and it started promptly on that hour.

The wait for the parade was not at all tiresome for there was plenty to see in and about City Square as the floats and other features to take part in the parade were moving into position.

Just before the parade the Declaration of Independence was read by John O'Connor of West Quincy, a High School boy, who stood in front of the grand stand.

Shortly after 8 o'clock two special cars arrived from Houghs Neck with the jackies from the cruiser Chester. They were met by a band and aid and marched to their position near the head of Dimmock street. Then the Boston degree staff of the Eagles, in red and white costumes marched to a place in front of the grand stand and gave their drill. The staff went through a number of evolutions in fine manner and were given hearty applause.

In the mean time the guests who had tickets to the grand stand were beginning to arrive and although the stand would seat 350 there was no spare room. The front of the stand was decorated with the American and Argentina flags while the front and ends were decorated with red, white and blue bunting.

Mayor Shea chairman of the reception committee as well as President Stone of the general committee and judges occupied seats in the immediate front. Capt. Decker and Lieut. Abele, of the cruiser Chester his executive officer also occupied seats on the grand stand and among the others were many of the members of the City Council and city officials with their ladies. The air was quite cool on the grand stand when the parade started but after a time the sun got round toward the west and those who remained on the stand were baked.

As the parade went by, many regreted that they had to march in such a hot sun and it was thought that there would be many heat prostrations. Fortunately, however, Chief Marshall Wardwell called frequent halts along the line which gave the marchers a rest. Notwithstanding this there were three men who gave up on account of the heat. One of the first of these was Adjutant I. H. Johnson of the British Military and Naval Veterans. Shortly after A. Eugene Hallou leader of th e Emerson band and B Bugular Lavoie keeled over and were taken from the line. Then Capt. Albert Keating one of Chief Wardwells staff found that it was getting too hot for him and he dropped out. The others kept on however and there is no doubt but what they would have welcomed a shower bath after it was all over.

It was just 9 o'clock when Box 26 was sounded on the fire alarm as a signal for the parade to start. The head of the procession passed the grand stand at 9.06 and at 9.30 the last feature had gone by showing that it took the parade 24 minutes to pass a given point.

The formation of the parade was as follows:

Mounted Police
Charge of Lt. Daniel R. McKay
Chief Marshal
Captain George A. Wardwell
Chief of Staff
Major Fred E. Jones
Aids of Chief Marshal
Captain Albert Keating, Major Henry L. Dearing, Henry J. Mathews, Lt. Com. Theodore Hermanson, John Gillis, John F. Johnson, Bugler.
FIRST DIVISION.
Marshal
George E. Adams

(Continued on Page Four.)

R. E. FOY & CO.

Start the Day Right

COFFEE—If your morning cup doesn't taste right don't blame the coffee; sometimes it's the cook's fault, sometimes the coffee pot. If conditions are right, you won't make poor coffee with our which for strength, richness and aroma cannot be surpassed.

QUALITY BLEND

TEA—Test by taste. This is the sure way of detecting the good from the other kind of tea. Maybe your're hard to please. You will have no fault to find with any of our teas.

CHASE & SANBORN'S

--- AND ---

LIPTON'S TEAS

ARE LEADERS

R. E. FOY & CO.

Water cor. Quincy Street, Quincy Adams

We close Wednesdays at 1 o'clock

July 5-2t

Phones 117 and 183

QUALITY STORE

QUALITY STORE

P-h-e-w!

Some cold facts for these scorching days viz:

EDDY REFRIGERATORS

$6.50 to $35.

SUMMER GOODS

You Need at Prices You Can Afford

Porch Screens, Couch Hammocks, Cotton Weave Hammocks, Screen Doors, Window Screens, Ice Cream Freezers, Croquet Sets, Bicycles, Lawn Hose, Lawn Mowers, Carpet Sweepers, Wall Paper, Lawn Swings.

Cottage Furnishings

Gas Ranges, New Perfection Oil Stoves, Trunks, Valises, Suit Cases, Liquid Veneer, Baby Carriages, Bicycle Tires, Glenwood Ranges.

COMPLETE HOME OUTFITS

From $125 up

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.

1495 Hancock St., Quincy Open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

Established 1889

THE HOME NEWSPAPER

Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .

GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.

Incorporated.

BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
219 East 23d Street,
New York City

Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter.

Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50

Telephone, Quincy 425

Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

Next attraction—the circus.

Is it —— —— —— you?

At any rate we are proud of the July 4th celebration.

How would you like to be the iceman?

This would be a good time to have Mr. Peary tell us a little about his trip north.

Mr. and Mrs. George K. Nichols of Francis Court returned today from a few weeks trip to Maine.

A thousand postal savings banks indicates not only the success of the scheme but the need for them.

The progressive town of Brookline having practically eliminated the mosquito is now getting after the flies. Swat the fly.

The government is after the alleged magazine trust, and it proposes to stop this restraint of the trade in muck rakes.

Henry James got a Harvard degree and now they should give another to the man who shall get up a guide book by which one can understand Mr. James' writings.

John L. Sullivan is to retire from the stage, but if he keeps on contributing his classic gems of English prose to the newspapers, the cause of literature is still safe.

Nine hundred degrees were handed out at Harvard, but if we were hiring a new reporter, a man who had taken his degree in the School of Hard Knocks might do quite as well.

If it will make you any cooler just ponder over the fact that Quincy was next to the coolest of fifty odd New England towns on the Fourth. Revere was 97, Quincy 98 and most of the others were well over 100 degrees.

The alumni has been perspiring at college commencements in plug hats and frock coats, while the student athlete running around in a pair of cotton drawers evidently has a clearer preception of the needs of our climate.

COLLEGE GRADUATE IN BUSINESS.

The statistics of any of our college graduating classes show a remarkable change as respects choice of business and professions.

Take for instance, the Harvard class of 1911. Here are the figures of students choosing the so-called learned professions: Law, 78; medicine, 24; ministry, 8; teaching, 49; total, 159.

These are the total for business callings:—Business, 85; engineering, 46; banking, 22; manufacturing, 25; chemistry, 6; total, 184.

That is, the most famous American university, once almost exclusively a training school for the scholastic professions, is turning out more business than professional men today.

It is felt by many people that it is a mistake, as a business proposition, for a young man who is bent on a commercial career, to spend four years in college. The recently published figures of the Dartmouth college graduates of the year 1900, do not support that idea. The returns of that class so far as available showed that they are now averaging to earn $2,620 per year.

And yet everyone of us counts in his personal acquaintance college men who are grinding away at adding up columns of figures or tending ribbon counters, work for which six months in a commercial school would have given adequate preparation.

What is the mysterious influence of the classic shades of college, assuming due attention to work on the part of the student, that has this power to enlarge the scope of a man's life, even from the coarse and fleshly view point of business success?

It would indeed be hard to analyze. One great element must be the personality of the college faculty. The boy comes from a secondary school where methods of teaching are too often conventional and routine. He finds the teachers repeating facts and directing them how to do certain problems, after rules found in books.

The typical college professor is a more original worker. He is apt to proceed as if no book on the subject had ever been written, and as if professor and student were original explorers in an untried and undiscovered field.

This gives a student the habit of thinking out things for himself, and discovering and creating successes out of situations where others see only failures.

THE ALASKA COAL LANDS.

Amid the smoke of conflict and the tangle of opposing opinions regarding the Cunningham coal lands claims in Alaska, disallowed this week by secretary Fisher, it may be predicted that the American people will have at least two definite convictions.

First, these lands, one of the most valuable coal deposits in the world, shall be disposed of to the highest bidder. Stephen Birch, managing director of the Guggenheim interests in Alaska, said last year that the land controlled by the Cunningham claims, and held under option, as alleged, by the Morgan-Guggenheim syndicate, is worth $500,000,000, and that there is $100,000,000 profit for the party that operates them.

A private individual owning property estimated to offer a $100,000,000 profit would have a very widely advertised auction of the same before he let go his title.

Another principle which the American people would like to see realized in the handling of this vast treasure, is that profit of the nature of an unearned increment should be the heritage of our people. As civilization advances pushing ever back the barriers of barbarism, as population increases and transportation develops, all kinds of property become more valuable. A coal pile located far away in the Canadian rockies, remote from our steamships and railroads, with only a few miners cabins and wandering savages near by, is a very different business proposition today from what it will be in a few decades, with better transportation, and when the untold resources of the Canadian Northwest are developed and furnish a near-by local market for these black diamonds.

For that reason we imagine that nearly everyone will want these lands to be handled on the lease system, making possible at some future day a revalation.

Could our forefathers have taken the coal fields of the Eastern and Central states as public lands, their income would have paid the entire cost of administering the affairs of several commonwealths. In the same way, Uncle Sam has at some future time the prospect of an enormous revenue from the Alaska coal lands if he keep the title himself as they advance in value.

WESTERN METHODS.

Pastors of all the Methodist Episcopal churches in Spokane, Washington have accepted an invitation to don overalls and jumpers on July 11, to assist Rev. H. E. Greening, pastor of Minnehaha Methodist church, in building operations. The plan is to complete the structure before nightfall. Rev. Dr. Will A. Betts, pastor of First church, has been assigned to the position of superintendent of construction, and the ladies of the congregation will serve a workingman's dinner under the trees nearby.

"We have been requested to recruit a working force from among the ministers of the gospel to build the roof and lay the floor of Brother Greening's new church home," said Dr. Betts, "and we are determined to make good. The excavation for the structure has been completed and the basement walls of concrete are now being built, so our task will be to do the rest of the work. Several of our pastors already are getting saws, hammers and other tools of the craft in readiness and we expect to start bright and early the morning of July 11, prepared to finish the job in one day. It is likely we shall press other officials of the churches into service to carry materials to the pastor-workers.

One of the features of the day is to be a chicken dinner, prepared by the women of the Minnehaha congregation and served by girls and women of other Methodist churches in Spokane. A chicken dinner always reaches the right spot, and not only warms the cockles of the heart of the average minister, but also puts new vim and vigor into his frame and makes him do his very best.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

MAKING SURE—"Why did you pursue the elopers so far?" the parent was asked on returning from the chase.

"I wanted to drive them such a distance that their taxicab bill would not leave them enough to bring them back." he replied with a cruel leer.—Buffalo Express.

INAUDIBLE—Griggs—I suppose in your spats your wife always has the last word.

Briggs—Oh no; merely the last word that's spoken aloud.

DISGRACEFUL—"I don't think you ought to go to baseball games," said his young wife.

"Why not, my dear?" he asked.

"I was reading an account of a game today, and the paper said that the bases were full three times yesterday afternoon!"—Judge.

ACCLIMATED—"Don't the noise and bustle of the city confuse you?" asked the city chap.

"No, indeed," answered the man from a small village. "All of my neighbors have lawn mowers, chickens and babies."-Chicago News.

Papa—You have a little brother, Willie. You are not the youngest child any longer.

Willie-Oh, I suppose it's all right, but you might have given me a week's notice anyway.—Pittsbury Gazett. Times.

A HINT—The Bounder—"I say, old man, I wish you'd make a point of being in this evening. I—ah, want to see you about marrying one of your gals."

The Major—"With pleasure. Which do you want, the cook or the housemaid—what?"—London Opinion.

UP TO DATE—"Are you going to send your son to college?"

"Send him?" I should say not. I can't dictate to that young man; I'm merely hoping that he'll go to college of his own accord."—Toledo Blade.

A teacher asked her class in spelling to state the difference between the words "results" and "consequences."

A bright girl replied, "Results are what you expect, and consequences are what you get."—Harpers Bazar.

"Alas, for the vanishing subjunctive Mood!"—Boston Herald.

Would we could say the same of the potential cutworm, the indicative fly and the imperative skeeter!—(Yarmouth Register.)

ABSENT-MINDED—"What made you mutilate this handsome new book?" asked the physician's wife. "The first thing you did was to cut out a portion of it and throw it away!"

"Excecuse me, my dear," was the regretful answer. "It was professional instinct. The portion you refer to was labeled 'appendix.'" — Washington Star.

BEAUTY DISFIGURED.

Miss Vining in her editorial in last week's Hull Beacon has somethhng to say about modern styles and young women as follows:

Where are the sensible mothers, or is there no such thing as a mother who has control over her daughters? The young, pretty girls of this summer are objects of pity to so far let fashion run away with their good sense as to disfigure them. I see daily young women in the best years of their life with things in the shape of hats that entirely cover all but their eyes and nose, and the object lies upon their shoulder. Why such extreme taste? Every woman that has any common sense is ashamed to see mothers allow their daughters to make such objects of themselves. It does seem as if the last bit of common sense has left the women of this country strandd, with the very short dresses that can hardly be stepped in, and now this hideous headgear. One looks upon the young woman and congratulates herself that she has not that young woman to contend with. Fashions of this season are something fearful to behold and when the has are off, comes this tremendous broad band to tie the head up as if they had a headache. Oh! Oh! such fashions; and that one will accept them they have grown more hideous each season.

Be sensible girls, don't show yourselves so weak. Throw aside such raiment and wait for something sensible. It is your mind and health that counts, not clothes. When you are older you will look back and say: "Was I ever so foolish?"

☞Going away for the summer? If so don't forget to have the Daily Ledger sent to your address and keep posted on home news. If you have forgotten to send in your order in the rush of getting away drop us a postal and we will do the rest. tf

RUNS BY BLOCK SIGNAL

Motorman's Error Causes Serious Injuries to Many Passengers

Haverhill, Mass., July 5.—In a head-on collision between two cars on the Haverhill and Lawrence division of the New Hampshire Electric railway last night twenty-five people were injured, nine of them seriously.

From indications it would appear that one of the motormen, who, as near as can be learned, ran past a block signal set against him, was crazed by the intense heat.

The accident happened just beyond Haverhill Junction. A box car numbered 78 was proceeding toward Lawrence, and open car 95 was coming to this city. They were due to meet at the junction. Trolley throw block signals protect the entire line, and there is a dispatcher at the junction.

Instead of waiting at the junction, car 78, in charge of Conductor Hadley and Motorman Ferguson, both old men, started off the siding. When they had attained a good speed they rounded a sharp curve as 95, in charge of Motorman Lewis and Conductor McCarthy, crashed into them. The box car ploughed under the open car and was demolished several feet back.

CAR BUMPS INTO AUTO

Three of Its Occupants Are Killed and Two Badly Hurt

Warwick, R. I., July 5.—His view cut off by dense bushes growing on both sides of the crossing, Gustav Menzel drove his automobile directly in front of an open trolley car moving at the rate of forty miles an hour, and as a result three of the occupants of the automobile are dead and Menzel and the fifth occupant are badly injured.

The dead are Mrs. Eva Hartley, 50 years old, of Providence; Millie J. Hartley, 18, Mrs. Hartley's daughter; Mrs. Ella M. Bidwell, 25, of Providence.

The injured are Gustav Menzel of Riverside, 49 years old, and Raymond Hartley, 10-year-old son of Mrs. Hartley.

ZOROID
TRADE MARK
LENSES
FOUNDED 1883

For Your Convenience

And to enable us to have time for a thorough examination, we make appointments.

Instead of wasting from a half to a whole day you need only an hour or two for a thorough and scientific examination of your eyes.

When in need of glasses 'phone OXFORD 790 for an appointment.

Briggs S. Palmer President
Sanborns
3 Winter St.-Boston

REPRESENTED IN QUINCY BY
WILLIAM F. SIDELINGER
July--5-8

SAVING FISH OF NEW ENGLAND

Government Is Paying Special Attention to the Cod

ONCE BIG SUPPLY DWINDLED

Haddock, Lobsters, Flounders and Clams Also Receiving Attention at Three Stations Where Propagation and Protection of Sea Food Is Scientifically Treated—Fishermen Are Co-operating With Experts

Gloucester, Mass., July 5.—No longer is the mighty New England codfish able to take care of himself. He needs aid to continue his existence, and the United States government has given it.

Netters and seiners and beam trawlers for the past few years have been sounding the death knell of the fish that fill the waters of the North Atlantic.

The government has stepped in between man and the fish and is helping nature by propagating the famous cod and the equally well known haddock. Lobsters, flounders, clams and other fish are all coming in for attention, but the life of king cod is regarded as the most important, and especial efforts to preserve this fish from extinction are being made.

There are three stations where the government work is being carried on—at Woods' Hole and Gloucester, Mass., and Boothbay Harbor, Me. At all the places the work is similar, but perhaps more interest centres in the undertaking along the Maine coast, for the work is more varied than at any other station in that it takes up more lines of fish propagation.

While the government hatchery is located at Boothbay, it is at Portland where the men in charge of the fish propagation virtually make their headquarters while looking after the cod. Here the United States fisheries steamer Gannet may be seen almost any day, from here the majority of the fishing fleet which gather the eggs along the Maine coast sail, and it is here that the government men make their home while working with the fishermen.

It seems a strange circumstance, but the time when the eggs are ripe on the Maine coast is fully three months later than on the coast of Massachusetts, though the places are but 100 miles apart.

During the last of February and the early part of March the fishermen who are going after the cod and haddock that begin to school off the coast prepare for their trips.

Men in the government employ are placed aboard the fishing vessels and more are kept on the Gannet. When the nets are hauled all the fish that have been landed are examined by the government men, and if there are spawn fish among them, the eggs are at once extracted.

This is perhaps the most interesting process of the whole industry. A big female cod, ripe with spawn, is taken in the mittened hands of the government man and the belly of the fish rubbed much as a cow is milked. Then the eggs are seen to come out in a steady stream into a pail that has been provided for them. This season the average haul of the Gannet has been from 1,500,000 to 3,000,000 cod eggs a day.

The pail in which the eggs are placed is wet, but contains no water. As soon as the spawn has been extracted the eggs are at once fertilized by squirting the milk, or sperm, of the male codfish over them.

Revolver Shot Kills Girl

Providence, July 5.—Amelia Grecco, 18, was shot and killed Monday night by Michael Teano, who fired a revolver from his bedroom window in a premature Fourth of July celebration.

Faded Draperies Dyed

Your draperies can be dyed to look like new, send us yours and be convinced. Phone or write and our team will call.

WARSHAW'S
DYE HOUSE
EST. 1892
1503 HANCOCK STREET
QUINCY

May 12-tf

This Bank
FOR BUSINESS MEN

Keep your money in Quincy—here are some of the advantages of dealing with this bank.

Liberal Accommodations to depositors
Prompt Discounting of Business Notes
Convenient Banking Hours
Commodious Banking Quarters
Courteous attention on the part of bank's attaches

You, as a business man, will find this an ideal bank to serve your needs.

NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

NOTICE

If you have not ordered your Coal Do It NOW The Price is at Its Lowest Take advantage of it by placing your order NOW with

J. F. SHEPPARD & SONS

Tel. 232-L 27 Granite St., Quincy

BAREFOOT SANDALS

The best thing for the children to wear during the warm weather. They are light and comfortable and give good satisfaction.

CHILDS	5 to 8	45c
MISSES	8 to 11	50c

HEFFERNAN'S SHOE STORE
1375 Hancock Street, Quincy

Are You Going Away?

If so have the DAILY LEDGER sent to your vacation address. You cannot afford to be without your home paper.

FILL OUT THIS BLANK

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER:—

Send the Daily Ledger for _____ to address below.

_____

_____

_____

SEND YOUR ORDER AT ONCE

ENTERTAIN OFFICERS

Quincy Yacht Club Keeps Open House July Fourth

"JACKIES" A FINE LOT

The Quincy Yacht club kept open house all day the Fourth and many of the officers of the cruiser Chester were entertained. The club float was used as a landing place for the jackies and it made an ideal place. Early in the morning the cruiser fired the national salute and the ship was decked from stem to stern with many flags. In the evening the flags were replaced with hundreds of electric light bulbs which showed the outline of the ship.

In accordance with the wish of the Commander the jackies returned to ship for dinner, after the parade, their arrival back on board being a signal for many to get cooled off by a swim in the channel. Dinner over and the suits of white exchanged for the navy blue the jackies were given a shore leave for the afternoon and evening.

There were many of the jackies about City Square the night before and great credit is due them for the very orderly manner in which they conducted themselves during their entire visit in Quincy. They acted the part of gentlemen and it can be safely said that the crew of the Chester is a credit to the navy.

COMING EVENTS.

Under this heading The Ledger will print single line notices of future happenings of interest to Quincy people. Secretaries of clubs, societies and other organizations are requested to forward to The Ledger notices of their meetings, entertainments, etc.

If a report of the entertainment is desired send to this office tickets for the use of the reporters which will guarantee a full and accurate account in The Ledger the next day.

JULY.

5—Q. Y. C. Hop.
5—Jolly Sixteen.
6—Ward One playground opening.
6—Whist—Q. Y. C.
7—First Presbyterian Lawn Party.
8—Q. Y. C. race.
8—State golf tournament, Wollaston G. C.
11—Hop, Q. Y. C.
12—Lawn party, Hall place M. E. church.
12—Granite city club outing.
13—Whist, Q. Y. C.
15—Park and Downs lawn party.
15—Calvary Baptist Picnic.
15—Presbyterian Picnic, Nantasket Beach.
19—Ladies Day, Q. Y. C.
25—Hop, Q. Y. C.
27—Whist, Q. Y.C.
29—United Presbyterian picnic.

HELD FOR SELLING LIQUOR.

Christo Draco, who according to the police was looking for easy money, started into the retail liquir business at 541 South street Saturday and laying in a quantity of whiskey started in to do a good Fourth of July business. His venture was short lived however and unless he raises $50 he will spend the next few months of the summer in Dedham jail.

One of his early customers was Officer Phillips who made a purchase of two pints of whiskey, late Monday afternoon, paying at the rate of 75 cents per pint. When the officer made the purchase Draco first looked at the palm of his hand to see if he was a working man. The officers' palm apparently was all right. Monday evening a second visit was paid to Draco's place with Inspector Goodhue in the party, which went down in the police auto. This time Officer Phillips purchased one pint. This he delivered to Inspector Goodhue and a minute later the squad of blue coats entered and after seizing what liquor could be found placed him under arrest.

When arrested Draco lamented the fact that he had not made $5 since he had been in the business. This morning in court he denied selling liquor but the court thought different and imposed a fine of $50.

TODAY'S COURT.

Carl Jensen was fined $10, Charles Anderson, Axal Mens and Bestel Westerlock $5 each for drunkenness at Quincy.

Anton Koffoki was fined $15 for disorderly conduct on a steam train at Quincy.

Christo Diaco was arraigned for exposing liquor for sale at Quincy and was fined $50.

ATLANTIC HAS GREAT HOLIDAY

(Continued from Page One.)

It was reviewed on the lawn of Councilman Cherrington by the three judges G. Arthur Gray, Charles Letteney, Alfred W. Jelinek. Among the guests at this point were Mayor William T. Shea, Ex-Councilman Joseph L. Whiton Jr., Representative Louis F. R. Langelier, Warren W. Adams, chairman Board of Assessors, Councilman Edward P. Histen, John A. Duggan of the Assessors, City Engineer Ezekiel C. Sargent, Inspector of Buildings Warren S. Parker, Francis M. Curtis, Councilman William J. Leslie.

The parade was well arranged and for its kind would be hard to excel. Its number of varied and novel features were a source of congratulation.

Following the Chief Marshal and his aids were an escort composed of Gordon Spinney, Rufus Morton, Henry Budd in Rough Rider costumes and Corporal George G. Saylor of Troop A National Lancers.

City Band of Melrose.

Atlantic Signal Corps, Lieutenant C. W. Stocker commanding. First Sergeant Clarance Pendleton.

Barges of Civil War veterans. containing Paul W. Costain, A. H. Maxwell, Henry K. Ellis, John B. Simmonds, S. M. Bennett, C. W. Reed, J. H Chandler, Thomas Gurney

Hand engine Granite, S. H. Edwards commanding

Float of Timberlake and Small.

Team advertising R. H. Mellett.

Team of Maloney's Express.

Carey Keith driving trotter Cora Pay.

Float, Waiting for the Montclair schoolhouse.

Patriotic feature Columbia, with escort of Rough Rider girls and 40 Indians.

Pumpkin Centre Band, in costume, Edward Goodrich directing. Uncle Sam, B. Newell. John Bull, Samuel Woods, Sr.

Troop of 50 Mexican rebels, Allan White commanding.

General Bumpembombardero, C. M. Duggan.

Colonel Benshell Bangero, F. H. O'Brien.

Captain Blugo Bucaro, James Elgan. Asa Spades, John Quale.

Ancient and Horrible, Charles H. Kendall.

A stranger in town, J. C. Fuller.

Cris Cross Ambulance.

Poor Man's Auto.

Votes for Wimmin.

Suffragette demonstration under name "Suffering yet."

Globe man, Reginald Gay.

Gipsies, James and Annie Kennedy.

Clown, Alfred C. Hansen.

Topsy, G. H. Gross.

Squantum Car, with John Jepson, motorman; Carl Kohler, conductor; John Anderson, policeman and Edward Carlson as Squantum Joe.

Spirit of 1911, Frank Doring and Arthur Axberg. This showed a modern society damsel with husband trundling baby tied to her apron string.

Squantum Fire Department.

Junk Heap, Arthur Sullivan.

Suffragette Drum Corps.

Wagon advertising C. M. Conant.

Wagon advertising Harlow Spa.

The chiefs of division were: James Thomas, Edward Parlee, Ernest Sodergren, Charles E. Gill.

Composing the parade committee were Charles E. Gill, chairman, Chas. R. Safford, William Buckley, Louis F. R. Langelier, Cornelius M. Duggan, Ernest Sodergren, James Dolan, William Rice, Fred Kessler, Edward Keohane, Carl Stocker, John Bigelow, Fred E. Brown, James Morrison, Archie Briggs, Nat McCluer, Ryder Gay, Leo Goyette, Charles Tobin, Lawrence Bean, Frank Brown, E. Carlson, John A. Dugan, C. Austin Stearns, John Donovan.

Following the passing of the parade refreshments were served the guests of the day with Mrs. Charles E. Cherrington and Mrs. Frank E. Badger in charge.

The prizes to be awarded are as follows:

Special Prize, Grotesque musical feature—Pumpkin Centre Horn Band, Samuel Wood Jr., in charge.

Floats, first prize—Columbia and escort, Messrs Mosman and Gallagher in charge.

Second prize—Young America, James Duggan in charge.

Third prize—Waiting for the Montclair school house, Messrs Parlee and Stowers in charge.

Original individual features.

First prize—Suffragette Fife and Drum Corps, Messrs Schromberg and Towns.

Second prize—County Sweethearts, Florence Smith and Carrie Fitzgerald.

Original collective features.

First prize—Mexican Rebels, Cornelius N. Duggan in charge.

Second prize—"Suffering Yets," Edward Keohane and Thomas Fahey in charge.

Original Comic Feature.

First prize—Poor Man's Auto, William T. Sweet.

Second prize—Squantum Car, E. Carlson.

Grotesque Individual feature.

First prize—Strangers in town, and ancient and horrible, Messrs Fuller and Kendall.

Second prize—Votes for Wimmin, Edward Lovejoy.

In the morning a ball game played in masquerade Costumes between the fat and lean men found favor. With the "heavies" in charge of Joseph Clark and the "leans" under Charles E. Cherrington the game resulted in victory for the latter. Much fun was gotten out of the game which was umpired by Henry Cunningham.

In the hand engine playout between the Hydrant of Milton and the old Granite the decision went to Atlantic who made 206 feet against 200 for Milton.

The track and field sports were run off under charge of a committee consisting of Joseph P. Clarke, chairman, Harry B. Wilson, Archie Briggs, John McClure and Edward Keohane with the following results:

100 yard dash—Won by Edward Keohane, Harold Hill second Nat McClure third. Time 11sec.

50 yard dash, boys under 10—Won by George Clark, Percy Spinney second, Francis White third, 50 yard dash for girls—Won by Eleanor Phillips, Doris Harlow second.

220 yard run—Won by Edward Keohane, Harold Hill second, Nat. Mc Clure third.

75 yard dash, boys under 15—Won by Ralph Hadlock, Clifton Young second, Henry Dolan third.

16 lb. shot put—Won by John McClure, F. J. Mullen second, Nat McClure third, Distance 33 feet 2 inches.

Pony Race—Won by Gertrude Buckley, Phebe Buckley second.

Broad Jump—Won by Harold Hill, Edwin Poland second, Henry Welsh third. Distance 16 feet 9 1-2 inches.

Sack race—Awarded to Clifton Young by default.

Three-legged race—Won by J. McClure and Clifford Hill, Turner and Knapp second, Wilson and Robinson third.

Mile Run—Won by Archie Briggs, Henry Bake second, Paul DeEranio third. Time 6 minutes 19 1-5 sec.

High Jump— Won by Edwin Poland Norman Cook second. Height 5 feet 3 inches. (In an exhibition jump Poland cleared 5 feet 5 inches.)

220 yard hurdles—Won by Nat McClure, Norman Cook second, Ryder Gay third.

In the afternoon water sports were held at Sandy Beach with the following results:

50 yard race—Won by Ralph Knapp, Leo Goyette second, Lawrence Bean third.

50 yard race, boys under 16—Won by Ryder Gay, Clifford Young second, Willard Safford third.

Relay Race—Won by Ryder Gay and Ralph Knapp, Hayes and Goyette second.

Swimming under water—Won by Lawrence Bean, Rice second, Willard Safford third.

Diving Contest—Draw between Archie Briggs and Ryder Gay.

Girls Race—Won by Josie Allbach, Louise Wilson second, Lillian Allbach third.

Diving contest for girls—Won by Grace Burch, Josie Allbach second.

Riding Barrel—Won by Lawwrence Bean, Norman Cook second.

Band concerts were given at various sites during the day by the City Band of Melrose while two good ball games held the interest of Atlantic fans. In the forenoon free ice cream was issued to the children.

Composing the finance committee in charge of the celebration were: Josiah C. Fuller, chairman, E. F. Parlee, D. J. Nyan, John A. Duggan, Frank Brown, John Fuller C. Frank Johnson, F. E. Badger, Charles A. Hadlock, William Buckley, E. E. Sodergren, Clifton Young, James Smith, L. F. R. Langelier, Herbert G. Beeman, Ralph Hobbs, Miles Creamer, Gordon Sherwin, Chas. E. Gill, William Barry, James Dolan, James Fay.

Woman Hit by Stray Bullet

Boston, July 5.—A stray bullet fired by some person, struck and entered the left breast of Mrs. Bertha E. Goode of 24 Notre Dame street last night, as she was standing in the doorway of her home talking to a friend. Her condition is not regarded as serious.

Lightning Ruins Cathedral

Fredericton, N. B., July 5.—During an electrical storm the Church of England cathedral was struck by lightning and destroyed by the fire which followed. The loss is $140,000.

The Weather

Almanac, Thursday, July 6.
Sun rises—4:31; sets—7:30.
Moon sets—12:53 a. m.
High water—7:45 a. m.; 8 p. m.
Forecast for New England: Generally fair, except probable local thunder showers; not quite so warm; light, variable winds, mostly south.

If all the energy devoted by Banker Morse to getting out of jail had been previously devoted to keeping out, he might still be joyfully riding around on his ice carts.

MUCH FUN THE NIGHT BEFORE

Youth of City Enjoy Themselves In Quiet Manner

FIRE ALARMS

There was the usual amount of deviltry by Young America the night before, but it was not accompanied by the viciousness that usually characterized it, for which everybody was glad. The early part of the evening was unusually quiet all over the city and it was not until near midnight that the boys began to wake up. The sky then became illuminated in several directions by bonfires despite the ruling ofthe Chief Engineer. That at Atlantic and South Quincy were particularly bright and made a fine illumination.

Chief Burrell had a large force of specials out on duty in the several wards of the city, the regular officers having charge of a squad of specials, and they managed to keep things within bounds.

The first fire alarm of the night came in at 11.40 form Box 321 and was for a slight fire in the house of Michael Cunniff on Trafford street which was caused by a fire cracker. It was extinguished with slight loss.

At 12.05 Box 321 sounded again for the same fire which had broken out again.

Hardly had Box 321 done sounding when Box 75 came in . This was for a bonfire on Sumner street.

At 1.01 Box 617 located at Squantum sounded and sent the steamer and auto chemical on a long run. The auto chemical was at the Sumner street fire and the way it speeded toward Squantum was a caution. The recall sounded however before Norfolk Downs was reached. This was for a fire in a small refreshment booth near the aviation field.

At 1.05 the central station combination was called out on a still alarm for a fire in the dump heap on Valley street.

The last alarm of the night sounded at 3.40 from Box 46. This was for a fire in a small building at the corner of Grove street and Bates avenue which was destroyed. The building was owned by Joseph Flaherty. Loss about $200.

From midnight until early morning there was a crowd of young people on the street and they amused themselves by discharging firearms, and blowing of horns. As a general rule however the night before was devoid of excitement.

The police auto made but three runs the night before the Fourth. Two of these were for drunks and the third was at the liquor raid at Quincy Point.

About 3 o'clock on the morning of the Fourth a keg of powder was exploded in Furnace brook and as a result a number of windows were smashed. The powder was stolen from one of the quarries.

GLOVER SCORES A POINT

May Proceed With Suit to Ascertain Mrs. Eddy's Legal Domicile

Concord, N. H., July 5.—In the superior court Chief Justice Wallace denied the motion of the defense for an injunction restraining George W. Glover from proceeding with the suit brought to determine the legality of the residuary clauses of the will of the late Mary Baker G. Eddy.

An exception was taken which will be transferred to the supreme court, to which the suit is to go on the demurrer filed by the defense on Saturday, the case to be drawn by the chief justice.

DESERTS THE GROOM

Lady Constance Fails to Appear at Church to Marry Hawkins

London, July 5.—Lady Constance Foljambe, a half-sister of the Earl of Liverpool, controller of the king's household, astonished society by failing to appear at a fashionable church in London at the time appointed for her marriage to Rev. H. G. K. Hawkins.

The edifice was filled with society people who waited an hour, wondering what had occurred to delay the ceremony.

The Earl of Liverpool stated that he had received from Lady Constance a message to the effect that she had simply changed her mind and decided that she did not wish to be married.

Charley Taft Wins a Race

Gloucester, Mass., July 5.—Charley Taft, the president's son, had the helm on the racing 15-footer Swallow in a club race of the Annisquam Y. C. and won his race by a close finish. He beat the Tabasco, Jr., by 27 seconds.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

No Swollen Hands for Anty Drudge.

Mrs. Youngwife—"I'm in a peck of trouble. Some friends are coming to dinner to-night to celebrate Tom's birthday, and my hands are so swollen, I am sure they will be noticed."

Anty Drudge—"What caused your hands to swell like that?"

Mrs. Youngwife—"I had two big baskets full of clothes to boil today—baby does get his frocks so awfully dirty."

Anty Drudge—"If my hands were in the condition of yours, I'd be ashamed of them, too. Why I had four big baskets full, and my hands would do credit to a first class manicure. My dear, use Fels-Naptha soap, as directed on the wrapper, and you will never be worried with swollen hands."

If you hired a girl to do the washing, you wouldn't do it yourself while she sat in the parlor, would you? That would be ridiculous.

Then, when you get a cake of Fels-Naptha soap, use it the Fels-Naptha way and let it do the work. If you use Fels-Naptha as you would other soaps, you are like the woman who does the work herself while her hired girl plays the piano.

A woman who uses Fels-Naptha as if it were just soap, instead of a new way of washing, is misguided or foolish.

The directions on the wrapper are plain: Use Fels-Naptha in cold or lukewarm water, with no boiling and no hard rubbing. That's why Fels-Naptha was invented, to do away with boiling and hard rubbing, save fuel, save health, save time and save the clothes. Make Fels-Naptha do your work for you while you play the piano. Follow the directions on the red and green wrapper.

HUB HAS REAL SAFE AND SANE FOURTH

Not an Accident In Celebration of Independence Day

Boston, July 5.—In addition to its record as the hottest day in the year; besides its memorable list of six fatalities and more than 250 prostrations, the Fourth of July, 1911, has established for itself an enviable position in the minds of all parents and exponents of the safe and sane Fourth.

In all the hospitals in Greater Boston there was not a single case of anyone's being injured by firecrackers, powder burning, premature explosions or anything of the kind.

Physicians at all the hospitals were amazed. They had been wondering throughout the day, as the ambulances were being called out every few moments for heat prostrations, what they would do when the avalanche of unfortunates, who had been injured by different kinds of fireworks and explosives, began to pour in. The hours went by and there was not a single patient brought in suffering from such an accident.

AEROPLANE OVERTURNS

Aviator Witmer Has Unexpected Tumble of Seventy-Five Feet

Pittsfield, Mass., July 5.—The first attempt to have aeroplane flights in this city ended unsuccessfully and resulted in injuries to Charles Witmer, who fell seventy-five feet.

Witmer's injuries are serious, but not bad as was at first supposed.

Witmer's machine was caught in cross currents of air, which caused it to overturn.

DUPLIS IS ACQUITTED

Was Charged With Murdering Fiddler at Mountain Dance

Manchester, Vt., July 5.—Fred Duplis, who has been on trial on a charge of murdering Clarence Moffat for the past ten days, was found not guilty and discharged.

Moffatt, who was fiddling for a dance at a mountain dance hall, was killed during a free-for-all fight, in which Duplis was admittedly one of the participants.

The defense presented evidence to show that Duplis was not responsible for starting the fight, that there was some question as to whether or not Moffat died of injuries sustained in the encounter and finally that had he killed the fiddler he would have been justified, on the ground of self defense. The jury was out four hours.

MAKE YOUR DOLLAR GO FAR

was George Washington's theory when he threw a dollar away across the Potomac River. When you want your dollars to go a long way without giving you trouble invest them in a Hartford bicycle and then ride it any distance that you desire and they will go a long way without giving you any trouble when it is a Hartford wheel from Nelson's on Granite street.

SUNDRIES and REPAIRING
HUB CYCLE CO.
Thomas Nelson, 20 Granite Street, QUINCY
Agency for Hartford and Columbia Bicycles
May 15-2m

STORAGE
— FOR —
Furniture and Pianos
Storage Warehouse with Separate Rooms
Furniture and Piano Movers
HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy Tel. Con.

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER and GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER.
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

PATTERSON, "The Florist"
92 South Central Ave.
WOLLASTON, MASS.
Telephone 392 Quincy

The Quincy Co-operative Bank
Room 13, Adams Building
On and after Monday, May 22, 1911, the hours of the Bank will be as follows :
8.30 to 12. 1 30 to 4
Saturdays 8.30 to 12.
Evenings
7 to 9 on first Wednesday of the month and the preceding Saturday.
FRANK A. REED, Sec.
Telephone 353 M Quincy.
May 13-pol-tf

Quincy Savings Bank
BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.
SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.
CLARENCE BURGIN,
Treasurer.

M. T. SULLIVAN
Real Estate Insurance
Auctioneer Care of Property
Justice of the Peace
Corner School and Hancock Streets
QUINCY.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.
FIRE INSURANCE.
The Best Insurance. The Lowest Rates.
Insurance Department.
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Telephone, Quincy 97-3.

JAMES F. BURKE
Real Estate and Insurance
AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES
ustice of the Peace Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Tel. 385-3 Jan. 17-tf

UPHOLSTERING
My only ambition is to get the work and to show the people of Quincy Town that nobody can beat me with my good work. Low prices on all kinds of furniture, repairing, mattresses, and cushions. Can give references. M. Mirkin 67 Washington street, next to Y.M.C.A. Quincy. Tel. 1112W. April 10-3mo.

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock treet, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1173 M Nov. 3-tf

A. M. DEANE & CO.
MONUMENTS
MEMORIALS ERECTED
IN ANY
CEMETERY
IN THE
UNITED STATES
Aug. 1. 1y

PATENTS
TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 25 years experience.
Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.
READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.
D. SWIFT & CO.
PATENT LAWYERS,
303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

Quincy Daily Ledger

HIGH TIDE FOR WEEK.

Monday, July 3,	4.45	5.15
Tuesday,	5.45	6.15
Wednesday,	6.45	7.15
Thursday,	7.45	8.00
Friday,	8.45	8.45
Saturday,	9.30	9.45
Sunday,	10.15	10.15

1911 JULY 1911

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
						1
2	3	4	5	6	7	8
9	10	11	12	13	14	15
16	17	18	19	20	21	22
23	24	25	26	27	28	29
30	31

BRIEFS

Hop tonight at the Quincy Yacht club house.

The Ward One playground is to open tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Austin and daughter Mildred left today with a party of friends on a three days' yachting trip, cruising along the North shore.

The Old Colony Driving club had a gala day at South Weymouth on the Fourth, with music and a big crowd. The club offered prizes and Frank Drake's gray gelding, Frank D. won the first prize.

The last cottage prayer meeting of the season of the Wollaston Baptist church will be held this evening at quarter of eight at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Selden R. Nickerson, Ardell street, Montclair. The group will leave the corner of Farrington street and North Central avenue at 7.15.

ASKS $100,000 BALM

Mrs. Collard Says Merrill Broke His Promise to Wed Her

New York, July 5.—Mrs. Jane Collard has brought suit for $100,000 for breach of promise against Henry W. Merrill. She bases her action on the allegation that during August, 1910, Merrill asked her to marry him and that she consented. The date of the marriage, she says, was fixed for some time in June, this year. During February, she says, Merrill came to her and told her it would be impossible for him to marry her, as he had arranged to marry another woman.

Merrill's answer to the suit is that the plaintiff is still the wife of George A. Collard, and that he could not marry her even if he wanted to.

OFFER OF $20,000

Said to Have Been Made to Mrs. Jenkins to Go Abroad

New York, July 5.—Mrs. Helen Jenkins, who is to be the star witness for the government in the grand jury investigation of the smuggling cases recently exposed by Deputy Surveyor Parr, is said to have received an offer of $20,000 in the last few days to pay her expenses to Europe.

The source of the offer has not been disclosed, but it was coupled with an intimation that while abroad she was likely to meet Nathan Allen of Kenosha, Wis., a wealthy leather man against whom charges of smuggling have been made by Parr.

Child Killed by Auto

Rockland, Mass., July 5.—In crossing the street, near her home last night, Alfreda Fluett, 5 years old, ran directly in the path of an automobile operated by Lewis Radcliffe, and was so seriously injured that she died an hour later. No arrest was made.

—Smiling A. W. Donovan of Rockland, noted in shoe and leather circles for the smile that won't come off, has just been shedding some of the lustre of that smile on the blase inhabitants of New York. He has been attending a meeting of the styles committee of the National Shoe Manufacturers' Association, at the Astor House, and incidentally he will have done a great missionary service for the inhabitants of that benighted burg if he has established a style among them of smiling the way he does—that is, if anyone else can.—Boston Record.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, Lucas County, ss.

Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure. FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

A. W. GLEASON,
(Seal) Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

PEOPLE WERE PLEASED WITH JULY 4TH PROGRAM

(Continued from Page One.)

Aids.

Ajdt. John A. Phelan, six members of Troop A. National Lancers Quartermaster, George A. Saylor, Commissary Donald Young, Surgeon, C. F. Maine and F. O. B. Carlson, W. R. Claflin, George Healey.

Two companies (120 men) from Scout Cruiser Chester, company 1 commanded by Lt. Stewart and Ensign Jenkins; company 2, Lt. Manley and Ensign Sampson.

Company B. 5th Inf. M. V. M.; Captain Weier.

Company B. Mass. Naval Brigade; Lt. Dudley Pray.

Abner B. Packard camp, Sons of Veterans; Commander Gould.

British War Veterans; Major T. F. G. Day. With Major Edward Powers, 94 years old, veteran of the Crimean, Turkish, Fenian and Indian campaigns.

Paul Revere post, G. A. R., in barge

Women's Relief Corps in decorated barge.

Auxiliary, Sons of Veterans in decorated barge.

DIVISION TWO.

Marshal
Captain David Hanson.
Aids

Chester R. Brown, Lawrence McGrath (Cowboy;) Ben Hurlburt, (Big Chief.)

Quincy Lodge 413, L. O. O. M. headed by Holbrook band. Six mounted men in hunters' costumes, decorated barge followed by fifty members carrying red umbrellas.

Hodensaunee Tribe I. O. R. M. "Development of the flag" Boy riding pony attired in cowboy costume.

John Adams Aerie, F. of E. Decorated float and uniformed degree team with about fifty members in line.

DIVISION THREE.

Marshal
James H. Elcock
Aids

William Donahue and Arthur Leary
Neil Crowley, Carol Elcock.

Quincy Fife and Drum Corps.

Galahad of Christ church "Sir Galahad in search of the Holy grail."

Mercurio's Swinging float, representing a playground.

Abigail Adams, I. C. of A. in decorated barge.

Girl on Pony.

Decorated pony and cart.

Decorated horse and wagon driven by two young ladies.

Nimrod Elcock's return from a hunting trip. Wagon covered with skins and followed by hunting hounds.

Loyal Temperance league decorated barge filled with children.

DIVISION FOUR.

Marshal
Galen Vinton Bowditch, A.B., LLD., etc
No Aids

East Braintree Fife and Drum Corps
Young boys.

Pilgrim in Snowstorm.

Bone head band.

Jolly farmers in hay rack.

"Come from Geeseville"

"A Days Outing"

DIVISION FIVE

Marshal
Frederic E. Tupper
Aids

Mrs. Kitsen, Miss Dorothy Kitson, J. J. McAnarney (Mounted)

Rockland band.

R. E. Foy, decorated auto.

Remick Bros. Tally ho containing pretty girls.

Hom Bakery (wagon)
Quincy Marget (wagon)
Braintree Market (wagon)
John Heffernan, (wagon)
Warshaw Dyehouse (wagon)
Coughlan and Donovan (wagon)
Goodyear Shoe Repairing (wagon)
Boston Cash Market (two wagons)

H. L. Kincaide and Co., (three wagons showing display of furniture and auto.

Auditorium, (wagon)
G. W. Mitchell (three wagons)
City Gypsy Moth engine (wagon.)
Drake Poultry company, (3 wagons)
E. J. Sandberg (monster display "moving house")

Joel F. Sheppard and Sons (nine wagons)

W. G. Shaw (showing development of business since 1839 four teams and one auto.)

Victor Motor Car Co. (auto truck.)
Meyer Abrams (Cow in wagon)

John L. Miller (granite monumental display)

F. H. Crane and Sons (nine wagons)
Piercy (milk wagon)
B. F. Hodgkinson (four milk wagons)
G. W. Nightingale (seven wagons)
Shawmut Spring Co. (Wagon)

After the parade had passed the judges got busy to see to whom the various prizes should be awarded. These prizes consisted of banners, silver cups, umbrellas and rosettes for horses as special prizes.

Three judges were assigned to each division as follows:

Division 1—Maj. Warren E. Sweetser, James H. Webb and Dr. C. S. Adams.

Division 2—Hon. Albert E. Avery, Joseph P. Prout and Rufus B. Tobey.

Division 3—James F. Burke, William H. Teasdale and Joseph L. Whiton.

Division 4—James D. Howlett, Harry L. Rice and Rev. Charles P. Marshall.

Division 5—John L. Miller, Dr. Francis Abele Jr., and John A. Duggan.

There were so many good features it was a hard matter to decide who should get the prizes and several of the judges went over the line of march in automobiles so that they might see the different features at other places than the grand stand.

The parade returned to City Square at 10.40 and as they passed the grand stand they were halted and the prizes presented by Mayor Shea. This was one of the hottest parts of the day and His Honor and others that stood near the grand stand nearly gave in before the ordeal was over.

The prizes were awarded as follows:

FIRST DIVISION.

First prize to the sailors of the Chester.

Second prize, Co. B 5th M. V. M.

Third prize, Abner B. Packard camp, S. of V.

Special prizes, Grand Army Veterans, Co. B. of naval brigade, British Military and Naval veterans, Paul Revere Women's Relief corps and the Ladies auxiliary to the Sons of Veterans.

SECOND DIVISION.

First prize, Hodenosaunee tribe of Red Men. This prize was a silk flag.

Second prize, John Adams aerie of Eagles.

Third prize, Quincy lodge of Moose.

THIRD DIVISION

First prize, to Helen B. Elcock, representing Nimrod.

Second prize to Joe Mecurio's swinging girls.

Special prizes to Foy's decorated auto "keep smiling."

Abigail Adams lodge Companions of the Forest.

Pony cart driven by Bee Johnson and pony cart driven by Helen Kennedy. Galahad club, Christ church.

Pony boy, impersonated by Bud McGrane.

FOURTH DIVISION.

First, Jolly farmers, Quincy Point of yesterday.

Second prize, "The Day's Outing."

Third prize, Old man and his daughter, impersonated by Vernon Johnson and Theodore Montson.

Special prizes. Umbrella to Galen Vinton Bowditch, marshal, Pilgrim in a snow storm, Come from Geeseville, and Bone Head band.

FIFTH DIVISION.

First prize, to F. H. Crane & Sons.

Second prize to W. G. Shaw.

Special prizes to the following:

Remick Bros., Tally Ho.
H. L. Kincaide & Co.
W. A. Drake
E. J. Sandberg
J. F. Sheppard & Sons
Meyer Abrahams.
G. W. and C. W Nightingale
Gypsy Moth Sprayer

Parading with the British Military and Naval veterans was one of whom more than a passing notice should be made. That was Maj. Edward Powers who although 94 years of age marched over the whole route. Maj. Powers wore several interesting medals showing that he had taken part in the Crimean, Turkish, Indian and Fenian wars. Capt. G. W. Preston another of these veterans also wore medals of several wars

TRACT MEET.

The second annual track meet under the auspices of the Quincy Fourth of July association was one of the best things in a day of good things in this city. The entry list was large and some of the best athletes in New England were present and participated in the various contests. Quincy boys showed up well in all the races in which they were entered. J. Phelan won the 100, F. Marceau, the mile, E. T. Marceau, was a very close second in the 880 and George Sullivan took third in the 440 open. J. Davies, formerly of Quincy got third place in the 5 mile race.

In the 100 yard dash, Quincy was represented in the finals by Phelan, Thayer and E. Prout, Bannan of Lawrence and W. C. Prout of B. A. A. nosed out a victory overthe latter two but Phelan won handily.

In the 440 open W. C. Prout of B. A. A. was unable to overcome the lead of 15 yards given to Rioley of Brookline gym by the handicapper, but passed G. A. Sullivan of Quincy who had a handicap of 10 yards.

The 800 yard run had one of the most exciting finishes ofthe day, Robinson of Boston and E. T. Marceau of Wollaston were up with the leaders early in the race. Marceau lead during the greater part but was pressed by Robinson at the 300 yard mark. Robinson came up strong during the last few yards and won by less than a yard.

In the mile Franz Marceau had things all his own way and won easily in 4.50. The time was slow owing to the track, the heat and the fact thatthe winner was not forced to exert himself.

In the five mile race E. N. Fisher of North Weymouth had things well in hand all the way through. Corriveau who took second place ran well although he appeared to be pretty much fatigued during the last mile. Boveland of Quincy ran well and might have finished in second or third place had he not been drenched with water which made his clothes too heavy. J. Davies, formerly of Quincy and now of the Brockton Y. M. C. A. ran a good race finishing third. Fisher put up a splendid exhibition of running and on the last lap spurted as if he were finishing a mile instead of five. Corriveau who has won several races in southern Massachusetts lately came in a good second although some little distance behind Fisher.

The 440 yard run closed to Quincy and the 440 novice were among the most exciting races ofthe day owing to the fact that the interest was wholly local and there was greater rivalry among the contestants. In the closed race, George Sullivan running from scratch, put up a pretty exhibition passing Phelan on the home stretch. Trask and Tirrell of the Y. M. C. A. fought it out for third place in fine style and Trask's lead was not more than a few inches at the finish. The time in this race was better than that of the open race won by Riley of Brookline gym. and inthis Sullivan was running from scratch. Considering the track, the time of 5.2 was very good.

In the novice race all the contestants started from cratch and the scrap for places was very lively. Flynn won in good shape defeating Wood of the Y. M. C. A. by several yards, McLaughlin finished a good third.

In the jumps, J. O. Johnstone, national junior champion of the United States was the centre of attraction together with Joe Becker also of the B. A. A. Johnstone was unable to equal his performance of 6 ft. 6-10 in. made at Pittsburg but cleared 5 ft, 10 in., and might have gone higher had he not fouled on two jumps.

E. S. Chapman of the Boston Y. M. C. A. won the high jump going 5 ft. 10 1-2 in. counting his handicap of 5 1-2 inches. Johnstone was second and Bannan was third. Ross of Cambridge cleared 5.4 and with his handicap of 5 1-2 inches, 5.9 1-2 but the man with the smallest handicap was given the place and Bannan's was 4 inches. Hall of M. I. T. jumped well also clearing 5 ft. 5 in.

In the braod jump, Joe Becker jumping from scratch did over 21 feet and took first place. G. E. Read of English high school with a handicap of 6 inches was second going 21 feet, including the handicap. Johnstone, the champion high jumper, took third place in the broad event, going 20 feet, inches, including his handicap of 1 foot 3 inches.

Phelan was the highest individual point winner with 8 points getting first in the 100 and second in the 440 closed. George Sullivan was second with 6 points. Boston Athletic association was the leader in club scoring getting 18 points, South Boston A. C. was second with 6 and Brookline Gym. and Boston Y. M. C. A. were tied for third with 5 points each. Quincy Y. M. C. A. was next with 4 points.

The summary:

100 yard dash (open).—First heat won by J. Phelan (5) Quincy, Thayer (sc), Wollaston (2nd.) Time 10.1.

Second heat won by Bannan (2 1-2), Lawrence, J. Elcock (3), S. B. A. C. (2nd.) Time 10.2.

Third heat won by W. C. Prout (1), B. A. A., W. Robinson (3 1-2 2nd. Time 10.1.

Fourth heat won by Hargraves (1 1-2) Worcester, E. Prout 5) 2nd. Time 10.1.

Semi final won by Thayer, E. Prout 2nd. Time 10.1.

Final won by Phelan, Bannan 2nd, W. C. Prout, 3rd. Time 10.1.

440 yard run (open) won by G. E. Riley (15) Brookline gym.; W. C. Prout (sc) B. A. A. 2nd; G. A. Sullivan (10) S. B. A. C. 3rd. Time 54.3.

440 yard run (closed) won by G. A. Sullivan (10) S. B. A. C.; J. Phelan (16) Quincy, 2nd; R. H. Trask (13) Quincy Y. M. C. A., 3rd. Time 54.2.

440 yard run (novice) won by P. J. Flynn, West Quincy; P. S. Wood, Quincy Y. M. C. A., 2nd; T. J. McLaughlin, West Quincy, 3rd. Time 59 sec.

880 yard run (open) won by W. Robinson (36) Boston; E. T. Marceau (30) Wollaston, 2nd; S. A. Barrett (42) Roxbury, 3rd. Time 2.05 2-5.

1 mile run (open) won by F. Marceau (sc) Wollaston; S. C. McCargle (50) Dorchester H. S., 2nd; J. A. Graham (55) Boston, 3rd. Time 4.50.

5 mile run (open) won by E. N. Fisher (200) North Weymouth; P. A. Corriveau (220) East Bridgewater, 2nd; J. Davies (200) Brockton Y. M. C. A. 3rd. Time 30.22 2-5.

Running broad jump (open) won by J. Becker (sc) B. A. A.; G. E. Read (6) E. H. S. 2nd; J. O. Johnstone (1.3) B. A. A., 3rd. Distance 21 ft., 1-2 in.

Running high jump (open) won by E. S. Chapman (5 1-2) Boston Y. M. C. A.; J. O. Johnstone (sec) B. A. A., 2nd; F. B. Banan (4 1-2) Lawrence, 3rd. Height 5 ft. 10 1-2 in.

Officials—S. G. Young, referee; J. E. Neary, announcer; William Mullane, starter; James Brogan, marshal; clerk of course, Frank X. McGrath; Dan Driscoll, W. L. Elcock, assistant clerks; Leo Noonan, R. P. Stout, E. C. Tracy, judges at finish; William Flynn, William Butler, timers; Alden H. Blanchard, scorer.

CHILDREN'S ENTERTAINMENT.

Thousands of children enjoyed the excellent program prepared for their entertainment by the Fourth of July committee. The program was carried out as advertised in the Ledger and everywhere the entertainers were greeted with shouts of laughter by the children. It was a good show and many a child was made happy.

UNION RECOGNITION AND HIGHER WAGES

Strike of Seamen Results In Their Gaining Concessions

London, July 5.—The shipping strike, which, so far as its international character was concerned, was a failure from the first, has been brought to an end after dislocating commerce and trade in many directions.

The strikers have not gained all they demanded, but they have obtained substantial victories, including the recognition of their union, which proved the chief obstacle to a settlement in Liverpool, Glasgow and other ports, and led to the holding up of numerous Atlantic liners.

The agreement, which was signed by nearly forty ship owners, gives the seamen an advance of 60 cents weekly and the dockers an increase of about 1 cent an hour, with a weekly half-holiday to all, and other minor concessions.

SAVED BY SCHOOLMATES

Hundred Girls Contribute Cuticle to Friend Who Was Badly Burned

Los Angeles, Cal., July 5.—Miss Alice Holgate, a school girl, bears tokens of the love of her playmates in the form of skin taken from their bodies.

One hundred girls parted with bits of cuticle for their schoolmate, and the girl, whose life was despaired of for a while, as the result of a severe burn when her dress caught fire from the exhaust of a motorcycle, is now on the road to recovery. The skin grafting was concluded yesterday.

OHIO CITY SHAKEN UP

Nothing Remains of Nitro-Glycerine Plant Exploded by Heat

Marietta, O., July 5.—Where the Marietta Torpedo company's nitro-glycerine plant stood, three miles from this city, there is a hole in the ground big enough to hold a dwelling. Six hundred quarts of the explosive were set off by the excessive heat, and the plant was blown to atoms.

This city was considerably shaken, and many windows were shattered.

TO LAUNDER MONEY

Uncle Sam Finds That Bills Can Be Successfully Washed and Ironed

Washington, July 5.—A Philadelphia woman who washed and ironed a dirty dollar bill so neatly that many experts pronounced it a counterfeit was indirectly responsible for experiments which have convinced treasury officials that the government can wash paper money instead of always issuing new bills for the old. Quite a saving thus would be effected.

As one of the results of this woman's ingenuity contracts have been let for one laundering machine and the government will construct another in its own machine shops. The problem of laundering money long ago was almost given up as hopeless.

Insane Man Fights Police

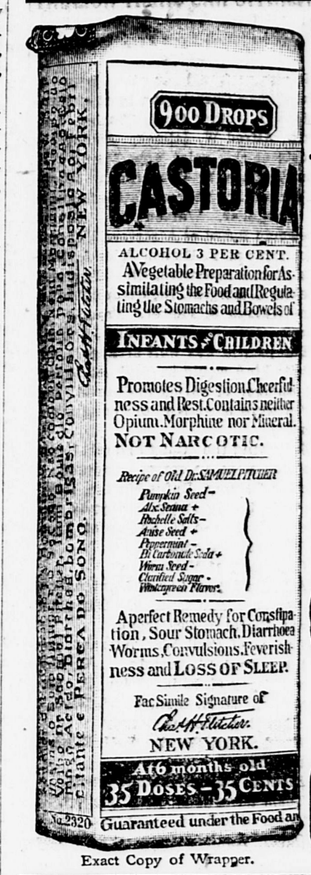
Newburyport, Mass., July 5.—Attacked by William Polinsky, an insane prisoner, City Marshal McLean and Officer Hayes were forced to fight a terrible battle before the man was subdued. Later it took five officers to put the man in a strait jacket. He was taken to the Danvers hospital.

(ADVERTISE.)

PATENTS

PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES. Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent. Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively. Write or come to us at 710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office, WASHINGTON, D. C.

CA·SNOW & CO.



Exact Copy of Wrapper.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.
In Use For Over Thirty Years
CASTORIA
THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

COMFORT AND COOKING

They Go Hand-in-Hand

In your household when you've a Gas Range in your kitchen, besides your fuel bill will be reduced and your home is not overheated.

That cooking is a comfort in the hottest weather we're demonstrating every day.

Come in and see and you'll cook in comfort

CITIZENS' GAS LIGHT CO.
11 Granite St., Quincy

E. E. GRAY CO.
QUINCY and WOLLASTON
1525 Hancock Street, Music Hall Block
Corner Newport Avenue and Brook Street

Cuts for Week Beginning July 3d

Flour, Golden Gate Brand	Bbl.	$5.79
	Bag	73c
Peanut Butter	per lb.	12c
Soups, Campbell's, all Varieties,	3 cans for	25c
Macaroni or Spaghetti	per pkg.	7c
Stringless Beans, Summer Brand	per can	10c
Soap, Oves family	per bar	3c
Corn, Standard	per can	8c
Salmon, Good Alaska	per can	13c
Beans, York State, Hand picked	per qt.	8c
Evaporated Milk (Van Camps or Peerless)	large can	8c
Corn Flakes, Toasted Quaker	per pkg.	6c
Crackers, Grandmother's Cookies	per lb.	8c

E M W

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.
A Clearance Sale
— OF —
Soiled Shirt Waists
A Specially good assortment of Large Sizes
THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

Mistakes MayHappen

to you,—as they do to everyone. If you eat too fast, do not masticate properly, or take food that does not agree with you, digestive derangements are almost sure to come, and indigestion generally leads to very serious physical troubles.

BEECHAM'S PILLS

relieve and cure indigestion. They have a quick and tonic action on the stomach and its nerves, and so they give direct aid to digestion. They carry away also the indigestible matter. With their use dyspepsia, hiccoughs, bad taste, unpleasant breath and flatulence disappear. You should be careful and remember Beecham's Pills

Will Right The Wrong

Sold everywhere.
In convenient boxes 10c. and 25c.

ADMINISTRATRIX NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administratrix of the estate of Howard N. Newell late of Quincy in the County of Norfolk, deceased, intestate, and has taken upon herself that trust by giving bond as the law directs.

All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to

ADELAIDE L. NEWELL, Admx.

(Address)
Quincy, Mass., June 26, 1911.
June 28-3t 28, 5, 12

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin and all other persons interested in the estate of Stephen N. Swain late of Quincy in said County, deceased:

Whereas, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for Probate, by Isabelle W. Swain of Quincy, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to her, the executrix therein named, without givin a surety on her official bond; You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy in said County of Norfolk, on the twelfth day of July A. D. 1911, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in Quincy the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing postpaid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this fourteenth day of June in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.
June 21-3t 21, 28, 5

A NEW CREATION
WEBSTER'S NEW INTERNATIONAL DICTIONARY
THE MERRIAM WEBSTER
The Only New unabridged dictionary in many years.
Contains the pith and essence of an authoritative library. Covers every field of knowledge. An Encyclopedia in a single book.
The Only Dictionary with the New Divided Page.
400,000 Words. 2700 Pages. 6000 Illustrations. Cost nearly half a million dollars.
Let us tell you about this most remarkable single volume.

Write for sample pages, full particulars, etc.
Name this paper and we will send free a set of Pocket Maps
G. & C. Merriam Co.
Springfield, Mass.

HOUSEKEEPERS
TELL YOUR TROUBLES
HOLMES & HALL
We make a business of repairing the things about the house that get out of order such as DOORS, LOCKS, SHADES, BELLS and FURNITURE.
96 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 974 L

THE DANGER TRAIL

By
JAMES OLIVER CURWOOD

Copyright, 1910, by Bobbs-Merrill Company.

(Continued from last issue)

For perhaps no more than five seconds their eyes met. Yet in that time there was painted on his memory a picture that Howland knew he would never forget. His was a nature because of the ambition imposed on it that had never taken more than a casual interest in the form and feature of women. He had looked on beautiful faces and had admired them in a cool, dispassionate way, judging them, when he judged at all, as he might have judged the more material workmanship of his own hands. But this face that was framed for a few brief moments in the door reached out to him and stirred an interest within him which was as new as it was pleasurable. It was a beautiful face. He knew that in a fraction of the first second.

The girl turned from his gaze and seated herself at a table so that he caught only her profile. The change delighted him. From the flush in her cheeks his eyes traveled critically to the rich glow of the light in her shining brown hair, which swept half over her ears in thick, soft waves, caught in a heavy coil low on her neck. Then for the first time he noticed her dress. It puzzled him. Her turban and muff were of deep gray lynx fur. Around her shoulders was a collarette of the same material. Her hands were immaculately gloved. In every feature of her lovely face, in every point of her dress, she bore the indisputable mark of refinement. The quizzical smile left his lips. The thoughts which at first had filled his mind as quickly disappeared. Who was she? Why was she here?

With catlike quietness the young Chinaman entered between the screens and stood beside her. On a small tablet which Howland had not before observed she wrote her order. It was for tea.

He poured his last half cup of tea and when he lifted his eyes he was surprised to find that the girl was looking at him. For a brief interval her gaze was steady and clear, then the flush deepened in her cheeks, her long lashes drooped as the cold gray of Howland's eyes met hers in unflinching challenge, and she turned to her tea. Howland noted that the hand which lifted the little Japanese pot was trembling slightly. He leaned forward and, as if impelled by the movement, the girl turned her face to him again, the tea urn poised above her cup. In her dark eyes was an expression which half brought him to his feet, a wistful glow, a pathetic and yet half frightened appeal to him. He rose and she nodded to the opposite side of her table.

"I beg your pardon," he said, seating himself. "May I give you my card?"

The girl read his name, smiled across the table at him and, with a pretty gesture, motioned him to bring his cup and share her tea with her. He returned to his table, and when he came back with the cup in his hand she was writing on one of the pages of the tablet, which she passed across to him.

"You must pardon me for not talking," he read. "I can hear you very well, but I, unfortunately, am a mute."

"I saw you from the hotel window tonight," he began, "and something in your face led me to believe that you were in trouble. That is why I have ventured to be so bold. I am the engineer in charge of the new Hudson Bay railroad, just on my way to Le Pas from Chicago. I'm a stranger in town. I've never been in this—this place before. It's a very nice tearoom, an admirable blind for the opium stalls behind those walls."

The girl's eyes traveled swiftly about her.

"I didn't know," she wrote quickly and hesitated. "I am a stranger, too," she added. "I have never been in this place before. I came because"—

She stopped, and the catching breath in her throat was almost a sob as she looked at Howland.

"I came because you came."

"Why?" he asked. "Tell me—why?"

He read her words as she wrote them, leaning half across the table in his eagerness.

"I am a stranger," she repeated. "I want some one to help me. Accidentally I learned who you were and made up my mind to see you at the hotel, but when I got there I was afraid to go in. Then I saw you in the window. After a little you came out and I saw you enter here. I didn't know what kind of place it was and I followed you. Won't you please go with me to where I am staying, and I will tell you"—

She left the sentence unfinished, her eyes pleading with him. Without a word he rose and seized his hat.

"I will go, Miss"— He laughed frankly into her face, inviting her to write her name. For a moment she smiled back at him, the color brightening her cheeks. Then she turned and hurried down the stair.

Outside Howland gave her his arm.

"It's a glorious night!" he exclaimed.

The girl nodded, and smiled up at him. Her face was very near to his shoulder, ever more beautiful in the white light of the stars.

They did not look behind them. Neither heard the quiet fall of moccasined feet a dozen yards away. Neither saw the gleaming eyes and the thin, dark face of Jean Croisset, the half-breed, as they walked swiftly in the direction of the Saskatchewan.

CHAPTER II.

THE MYSTERIOUS ATTACK.

HOWLAND was glad for a time there was an excuse for his silence. It began to dawn on him that this was an extraordinary adventure for a man on whose shoulders rested the responsibilities of one of the greatest engineering tasks on the continent and who was due to take a train for the seat of his operations at 8 o'clock in the morning.

He looked down at his companion, saw the sheen of her hair as it rippled out from under her fur turban, studied the soft contour of her cheek and chin without himself being observed and noticed incidentally that the top of the bewitching head beside him came just about to a level with the cigar which he was smoking. He wondered if he were making a fool of himself.

Where the river ferry was half drawn up on the shore, its stern frozen in the ice, he paused and looked down at the girl in quiet surprise. She nodded, smiling, and motioned across the river.

"I was over there once tonight," said Howland aloud. "Didn't see any houses and heard nothing but wolves. Is that where we're going?"

Her white teeth gleamed at him, and he was conscious of a warm pressure against his arm as the girl signified that they were to cross. His perplexity increased. On the farther shore the forest came down to the river's edge in a black wall of spruce and balsam. Beyond that edge of the wilderness he knew that no part of Prince Albert intruded. It was possible that across from them was a squatter's cabin, and yet if this were so and the girl was going to it why had she told him that she was a stranger in the town? And why had she come to him for the assistance she promised to request of him instead of seeking it of those whom she knew?

NEITHER HEARD THE QUIET FALL OF MOCCASINED FEET.

"You told me you were a stranger," he said. "You seem pretty well acquainted over here. Where are we going?"

This time she responded with an emphatic negative shake of her head, at the same time pointing with her free hand to the well defined trail that wound up from the ferry landing into the forest. Earlier in the day Howland had been told that this was the Great North trail that led into the vast wildernesses beyond the Saskatchewan. Two days before the factor from Lac Bain, the Chippewayan and the Crees had come in over it. Its hard crust bore the marks of the sledges of Jean Croisset and the men from the Lac la Ronge country. Since the big snow, which had fallen four feet deep ten days before, a forest man had now and then used this trail on his way down to the edge of civilization, but none from Prince Albert had traveled it in the other direction. Howland had been told this at the hotel, and he shrugged his shoulders in candid bewilderment as he stared down into the girl's face. She seemed to understand his thoughts, and again her mouth rounded itself into that bewitching red O, which gave to her face an expression of tender entreaty, of pathetic grief that the soft lips were powerless to voice the words which she wished to speak. Then suddenly she darted a few steps from Howland and with the toe of her shoe formed a single word in the surface of the snow. She rested her hand lightly on Howland's shoulder as he bent over to make it out in the elusive starlight.

"Camp!" he cried, straightening himself. "Do you mean to say you're camping out here?"

She nodded again and again, delighted that he understood her. There was something so childishly sweet in her face, in the gladness of her eyes, that Howland stretched out both his hands to her, laughing aloud. "You!" he exclaimed. "You, camping out here!" With a quick little movement she came to him, still laughing with her eyes and lips, and for an instant he held both her hands tight in his own. Her lovely face was dangerously near to him. He felt the touch of her breath on his face; for an instant caught the sweet scent of her hair. Never had he seen eyes like those that glowed up at him softly, filled with the gentle starlight; never in his life had he dreamed of a face like this, so near to him that it sent the blood leaping through his veins in strange excitement. He held the hands tighter, and the movement drew the girl closer to him until for no more than a breath he felt her against his breast. In that moment he forgot all sense of time and place; forgot his old self—Jack Howland—practical, unromantic, master builder of railroads; forgot everything but this presence of the girl, the warm pressure against his breast, the lure of the great brown eyes that had come so unexpectedly into his life. In another moment he had recovered himself. He drew a step back, freeing the girl's hands.

"I beg your pardon," he said softly. His cheeks burned hotly at what he had done, and, turning squarely about, he strode up the trail. He had not taken a dozen paces when far ahead of him he saw the red glow of a fire. Then a hand caught his arm, clutching at it almost fiercely, and he turned to meet the girl's face, white now with a strange terror.

"What is it?" he cried. "Tell me"—

He caught her hands again, startled by the look in her eyes. Quickly she pulled herself away. A dozen feet behind her in the thick shadows of the forest trees something took shape and movement. In a flash Howland saw a huge form leap from the gloom and caught the gleam of an uplifted knife. There was no time for him to leap aside, no time for him to reach for the revolver which he carried in his pocket. In such a crisis one's actions are involuntary, machinelike, as if life, hovering by a thread, preserves itself in its own manner and without thought or reasoning on the part of the creature it animates.

(To be Continued.)

FRANK'S BIG SHOW.

The approaching "show day" and the big show now proclaiming in all red majesty of billboard type that it is "The Biggest Real Wild West Show on Earth," it is of interest to find out just how big an affair this big new show really is when you bring it down to actual figures and facts.

To begin with, and allowing for the opulent imagination of the press agent, he discovered that each year an estimated total of $60,000 is spent before one cent is taken in, that 317 people are employed during circus season, and that the average daily expense is $2,000. The salaries paid run from $40 to $1,500 a month. To feed this army of employees requires the services of a chef, eight assistants, twenty-two waiters and five water boys.

In one day there are consumed 150 dozen of eggs, 400 pounds of meat, nine barrels of potatoes, 200 pounds of vegetables, 400 loaves of bread, 150 gallons of coffee, 100 pounds of butter, 50 gallons of milk; other foodstuffs, such as deserts, biscuits, condiments, etc., are consumed in proportion.

The "White Village," as it is termed by the employees, is governed much the same as any well- regulated village, the only exception being that it has no state charter. Here may be found a chief of detectives, to whom is reported all violations of the rules, a chief of the fire department, barbers, doctors, veterinarians, butchers, bakers, mechanicians and others, all under the direction of one of the brothers.

To light the "village" the show carries its own power plant, which supplies the power for 2,000 lights, including specially built powerful searchlights originally designed to combat big Chicago fires, with over 500,000 candle power capacity. A force of blacksmiths, wheelwrights, builders and riggers accompanies the show.

To move the circus from town to town, a special train of 20 railroad cars, are required, all owned by the company.

ISLES OF SHOALS MEETINGS.

Many Unitarians are looking forward to the Isles of Shoals summer meetings, which begin July 9 and extend, together with the Sunday School Institute, to July 22. Both the Appledore and the Oceanic are to be manged by H. W. Morse, and this means easy and regular communication between the islands as well as from Portsmouth. Steamers leave Portsmouth from the foot of Deer street daily at 11.40 A. M. and 5.20 P. M. An hour's sail brings the passenger to the islands. The music this summer will be under the direction of Louis P. Nash, and there will be a quartet of singers.

The Sunday School Institute will be in session from Monday, July 17, until July 21. Rev. Franklin D. Elmer will give a course of five lectures on The Master-Teacher in the School of the Church." Professor Nathaniel Schmidt will give three lectures on Biblical subjects, "Isaiah," "Job" and The Fourth Gospel." Rev. W. I. Lawrance will give two Bible readings in the Book of Genesis. He will also conduct a series of conferences on Sunday school methods. Mrs. Clara B. Beatley will conduct a conference on "The Graded Sunday School." Mrs. Clara T. Guild will conduct a conference on "The Adaptation of Kindergarten and other Public School Methods to Religious Education." Mrs. Caroline B. Lawrance will conduct a Bible-Marking Hour.

CROWDS ENJOY FIREWORKS

(Continued from Page One.)

pieces representing a fight between two battleships, Bunker Hill monument and a large American flag. There was a little incident connected with the discharge of the set piece representing the flag that probably few of the thousands saw.

When all was ready for this piece to be fired, Mayor Shea and Capt. Decker of the cruiser Chester, walked near the piece and the torch was applied to the fuse by Capt. Decker. As the outline of the flag appeared off came his cap which was a signal for the crowd to do likewise and the band played the Star Spangled Banner.

Another good piece was that representing Niagara Falls. In fact they were all good and the National Fireworks Co. of Hanover, Mass., is to be congratulated.

The exhibition was over, without a mishap of any kind, at 9.40 and then came the rush for home. Many walked rather than to get aboard the cars which were crowded, but considering the immense crowd present the field was cleared in a remarkably short time. As the crowd thinned out a large automobile came upon the field and Mayor Shea and Capt. Decker were taken to Houghs Neck.

SQUANTUM.

Parade and Sports in Afternoon—Vaudeville at Night.

An enjoyable celebration was held at Squantum under the auspices of the Squantum Improvement association. The fun started at 2 o'clock by a parade of antiques and horribles.

This was followed by a series of sports on Callahan's field. Refreshments were served to everyone and in the evening a grand vaudeville show was given on the broad piazzas of the Squantum Inn by local talent.

The result of the sports was as follows:

Boys' race, 50 yards—Martin Swanson won, Francis Callan second.

Girls' race, 50 yards—Jennie Swanson won, Mary Dillon second.

Men's race—Charles Linehan won, John Ryan second.

Three-legged race—Edward Callan and Martin Swanson won, Roy and Oscar Hanson second.

Shoe race—George espar won, Edward Callan, second.

Pipe race—Edward Landry won, Edward Cousens second.

Ball throw for women—Edna Kelso won, Mary Landry second.

MANY OVERCOME AT ROXBURY.

The Intercolonial club at Roxbury was converted into a temporary hospital on the 4th when at least 250 of the 2,000 who participated in the parade were overcome by the heat. Every one of the six members of the committee on arrangements was prostrated at one time or another. The Governor, who had promised to view the parade, informed the committee that he had himself been overcome by the heat on Monday and would be unable to be present.

UNCLAIMED LETTERS.

Letters remain in the Quincy Post office uncalled for, for John W. Bennett, A. J. Conlan, E. R. Dodd, D. Gold, Uno H. Hjelm, Miss Bessie Miller, W. E. Savage, G. S. Smith, Mrs. Stacey, Mrs. William Taber, James White and Mr. White.

CHURCH SILVER EXHIBIT.

The Boston Museum of Fine Arts is much occupied with the installation of the exhibition of American church silver, which will open with a private view to the annual subscribers on July 7. The cases will be placed in the rotunda and the galleries radiating from it.

The catalogue will list and describe about 1,000 pieces, mostly belonging to New England churches. The marks of the makers will be described and dates of gifts noted and the initials on domestic pieces verified when possible. The catalogue will be illustrated by 20 plates showing the work of Hull & Sanderson, John Coney, Andrew Tyler, Edward Winslow, the Edwardses, Burts, Hurds, Reveres and others. An illustrated glossary will be appended to the catalogue giving the names of ecclesiastical and domestic pieces and explaining the terms used in describing them.

In the exhibit are several old pieces from First church, Quincy.

ATWOOD AT ATLANTIC CITY.

Harry N. Atwood thrilled the great holiday crowd at Atlantic City, N. J., when he flew over there yesterday. After fighting heavy winds throughout his flight from New York, he terminated the third leg of his proposed journey from Boston to Washington.

"The Best in the World"

As the bride led her friends into her cool, spotless kitchen, they broke into a chorus of approval.

"Well, I am proud of it," she said, "and proudest of all of my stove. It's a New Perfection Oil Cook-stove, and I think they are the best in the world. They toast, roast, broil and bake equally well—really to perfection—and the kitchen stays much cooler and cleaner than with any other range. This stove cuts my kitchen work almost in half."

There is no wood or coal to carry for a New Perfection; no ashes to clean up. It is ready for use as soon as lit; out at a touch of the fingers—economical as well as quick and convenient.

New Perfection
WICK BLUE FLAME
Oil Cook-stove

Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners, with long, turquoise blue enameled chimneys. Handsomely finished throughout. The 2- and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without a cabinet top, which is fitted with drop shelves, towel racks, etc.

Dealers everywhere; or write for descriptive circular to the nearest agency of the Standard Oil Company

(Incorporated)

NEW PERFECTION OIL COO-KSTOVES
ARE SOLD BY
HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
AT PRICES THAT ARE THE LOWEST IN NEW ENGLAND

WE ARE NOT THE
LOWEST PRICED
STORE IN QUINCY BUT WE POSITIVELY ARE THE
LOWEST PRICED STORE
IN MASS., CONSIDERING THE QUALITY OF MEATS WE SELL
HIGHEST QUALITY, LOW PRICES OUR STANDARD
RESPECTFULLY,
JOHNSON BROS.
June 1-tf

Business and Pleasure Combined

"That word 'hot' doesn't begin to express the torrid truth, my dear. . . . A breeze from the water, eh? Well, I wish we had a breeze from somewhere. . . . No, I don't believe I can go down until Friday night; too much to do. . . . Do it by telephone? Oh, pshaw!

"By George! I don't know but there's something in that, after all. You women do occasionally think up some pretty good ideas, don't you? I don't know but I can arrange to handle a lot of the office detail by telephone. Seems to me I read somewhere about a scheme for leasing a toll line for half an hour a day at pretty low rates. I'll look into that at once. If I can arrange it, then I can dictate my letters and direct the work just as well down where the sea breezes are blowing as I can in this sweltering office. Maybe I can get there tonight instead of Friday, after all."

New England Telephone & Telegraph Co.

LLOYD'S
EYEGLASSES AND SPECTACLES
KRYPTOK BIFOCAL GLASSES
Far and Near Glasses in a Single Pair.
THEY have all the advantages of separate Far and Near Glasses, and none of the disadvantages.
Any of our stores will be glad to show them.
315 Washington St.
310 Boylston St.
75 Summer St.
} BOSTON
1252 Massachusetts Ave. CAMBRIDGE.
ANDREW J. LLOYD CO.

When You Buy

You want the best value you can get for your money, don't you? Most folks come here for that. People expect more from us than they do of others. They know we can give more and they know we have been in the habit of doing it ever since we started in business. They know we are determined to give them always the biggest possible value for the least money and we do it.

FOR THESE SCORCHING DAYS

Cool Underwear, Soft Shirts, Oxford Shoes
Straw Hats. Light Weight Clothing.
Four-in-hand Wash Ties. Soft Collars.
Everything for the Man or Boy.

GEORGE W. JONES

1 Granite St., "Just Around the Corner" Quincy

July 3-3t

Special Range COAL

Stove or Nut

$7.00 Cash

Price Published in MERCHANTS' WEEK PAPER

Incorrect

C. PATCH & SON, Inc.

Office, 1422 Hancock Street, Quincy

WHEELER'S

The Store for Ladies' Furnishings

We will continue our Sale of Shirt Waists and Long Gloves

See what we offer in Shirt Waists for 79c and 98c and Long Gloves for 50c and 75c

We are also showing a new line of Children's Parasols, all colors, for 25c and 29c

WE GIVE CASH DISCOUNT SLIPS

City Square G. W. WHEELER Quincy

GET THE HELP QUINCY GROW HABIT

Quincy Daily Ledger

FOR SALE AT

BOSTON—At South Station after 3.30 P. M.
QUINCY—Ledger Office 1424 Hancock Street.
L. A. Chapin, 1395 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, oppo. Depot.
Thompson's Waiting Room, City Sq.
H. F. Kittredge, City Square.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
Mrs. Madden, 16 Quincy ave.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's News Stand.
PARK&DOWNS—Branschied & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
QUINCY NECK—Stetson Pierce, Newcomb Square.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith, Washington Street.
Gragg's Pharmacy.
L. A. Cook, Washington Street.
E. O. Godfrey, 538 Washington St.
E. H. Lowe, Washington Street.
George E. Sprague Cor. River St.
SOUTH QUINCY—Litchfield, Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Miss C. Booth, Brooks Avenue.
BREWER'S CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
Mrs. F. H. Stanley.
WEST QUINCY—F. A. Skinner.
John G. Belanger.
HOUGHS NECK—Capt. Fosdick's.

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	100 degrees
July 5, 1910,	89 degrees
July 5, 1909,	77 degrees
July Noon Maximum, 14 years,	101
July Noon Minimum, 14 years.	60

BRIEFS

G. H. Eggleton and wife spent the holiday season with Mrs. Eggleton's parents on Quincy street.

Frederick Blanchard of Sherborn spent the holiday in Quincy with friends.

The Jolly Sixteen hold their last meeting of the season tonight at the home of A. C. Merritt, 13 Elm place.

The Eagles and Moose were served with a lunch and ice cream in Protection and Electa halls after the parade.

Usually the basement of City Hall is nice and cool but today it is almost as hot there as in the offices on the other floors.

Work removing the grand stand was started this morning but the weather was so hot that work was suspended until later in the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Penniman of Revere road have been entertaining Rev. Jefferson Ford and family of Glenhaven, Jamaica. Rev. Mr. Ford is the delegate of the Y. P. C. E. of Jamaica to the convention at Atlantic City for which place he left today.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert M. Parker of Presidents Hill celebrated their 16th wedding anniversary on Monday evening by giving a neighborhood party at their home on Dixwell avenue. The evening passed pleasantly in singing and dancing. Refreshments were served during the evening.

As will be seen by the letter in another column the celebration committee found itself about $100 short this morning, and an appeal for funds was issued. Later in the morning a party who desired to be known as a friend gave his check for $50 to Treasurer Clarence Burgin to help along the good cause.

LYCEUM DEDICATED.

The new hall of the Houghs Neck Catholic lyceum was formally dedicated on the afternoon of the Fourth in the presence of a large crowd. The new lyceum is located near St. Francis church by the sea and includes one large room and a smaller room.

The dedicatory exercises included tor of the church and Mayor Shea. Addresses by Rev. John J. Coan, pastor the exercises a large American flag was unfurled over the building.

Then followed an entertainment and refreshments for the children and general dancing in the late afternoon and evening.

BUILT BY QUINCY MAN.

One of the features of the Fourth of July celebration in Wellesley was the unveiling of a handsome tablet in memory of the West Needham Minute men the gift of Mrs. Henry F. Durant widow of the founder of Wellesley college. The tablet which is of Quincy granite was built by J. White & Sons of West Quincy. It is 11 feet high and 7 1-2 feet wide at the base.

Hitchcock Is Temporary Boss

Washington, July 5.—Postmaster General Hitchcock held down the government "lid" yesterday. President Taft is away and all of the other members of the official family spent the Fourth out of the capital.

Established 1870 Telephone
JOHN HALL
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
Carriage and Ambulance Service
1485 Hancock Street, Quincy Mass.

LIVE SPORTING EVENTS

MAKARIA WINS BOTH.

Makaria had a big day on the Fourth winning both morning and afternoon games. In the morning a double header was scheduled but West Quincy was unable to get a team together so Makaria and South Quincy A. A. battled for the prize. Owing to the extreme heat there was not very much star playing but occasional signs of brilliancy were apparent. Packers played a great game at third base for South Quincy getting some difficult fly balls. Eggleton made a pretty catch of a fly running in close to second from deep left field. Jenkins played a fine game at first picking up some bad throws in great style.

South Quincy outbatted the Makarias but also made more errors at critical points. Rice was touched up for eight hits while the winners only got four off Hawkes.

The score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Makaria	2	0	0	4	0	2	0	0	0	— 8
South Quincy	1	0	0	0	0	3	1	0	0	— 5

Batteries: Rice and Chapman, Hawkes and Barry.

AFTERNOON GAME.

In the afternoon Makaria went to Atlantic and gave the Ward Six team a second drubbing this time by a score of 10 to 8. In the second inning Makaria got seven hits for a total of 7 runs off Canavan and McKenna went in as slab artist.

During the remainder of the game the teams played good ball and the pitchers were well matched.

McKenn allowed 5 hits in 7 innings and Penley alowed eight in nine innings. H. Chapman caught a fine game, catching five men trying to steal and supporting his pitcher well behind the bat. Nicoll played a strong game at second and Penley pitched well. For Atlantic, Fay and Falvey did some fine playing. The score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Makaria	0	7	2	0	1	0	0	0	0	—10
Atlantic	1	0	0	0	2	0	5	0	0	— 8

Batteries—Penley and H. Chapman. Canavan and McKenna, Falvey.

WOLLASTON DEFEATED NORFOLK

The Wollaston defeated the Norfolks at Garfield park, South Weymouth on the holiday by a score of 9 to 5. It was a pitchers battle between Skilton and Bills all the way through with the former getting a little the best of it.

OTHER GAMES.

The Mohawks defeated the Orients on the lower field at Merrymount park by a score of 21 to 10.

At the Ward Two playgrounds, the Bigelows failed to show up and the game went to the Fore River Apprentices by default, 9 to 0.

At the Ward Three playgrounds, neither the Adams A. A. nor the West Quincy All Stars put in an appearance so the money offered for the prize will revert to the treasury.

At Ward Four, the Colonials defeated the St. Marys in a fast and exciting 11 inning game by a score of 11 to 10.

QUINCY TENNIS CLUB TOURNAMENT

A tournament in doubles for the Quincy Tennis club challenge cup was played to the finals on the Whitney road courts the Fourth, the finals will and be played Saturday between Conant and Tunis and Carleton and Rockwell. The summary:

First Round

E. R. Speare and G. F. Wales beat E. D. Page and W. Rice, 6—2, 6—1.

S. R. Beals and H. D. Scott beat W. W. Gallagher and R. M. Currier, 6—4 6—2.

E. I. Beal and J. McArdie beat G. E. Pfaffmann and Ralph Hall, 6—4, 6—1.

S. F. Rockwell and P. R. Carleton beat H. H. Albee and C. W. Bates, 6—0, 6—4.

James H. Slade and J. S. Pfaffmann beat Allan Claflin and Chandler Gifford, 6—3, 5—7, 6—0.

R. W. Conant and R. Tunis beat D. F. Niles and L. H. Martin by default.

J. B. Keyes and J. R. Trowbridge beat F. H. Hinchcliffe and T. R. Lillie by default.

H. Stewart and E. E. Saunia beat W. S. Sampson and R. Crane, 6—0, 6—2.

Second Round

Beals and Scott beat Spear and Wales, 5—7, 6—2, 6—4.

Carleton and Rockwell beat Beal and McArdie, 6—3, 6—1.

Conant and Tunis beat Slade and Pfaffmann, 6—2, 6—4.

Stewart and Saunia beat Keyes and Trowbridge, 5—7, 6—4, 6—0.

Semifinals

Conant and Tunis beat Stewart and Saunia, 2—6, 6—4, 6—4.

Carleton and Rockwell beat Beals Scott, 2—6, 6—3, 6—3.

WOLLASTON GOLF CLUB.

A members handicap tournament was held on the links oft he Wollaston golf club on the holiday. J. J. Gallagher won the prize for low gross going the 18 holes in 75. H. L. Doten won the low net with 67. The summary:

H. L. Doten	81	14	67
J. J. Gallagher	75	4	71
G. F. Kelley	84	10	74
Morton Alden	89	15	74
E. W. Wade	94	20	74
C. M. Hart	79	4	75
J. R. Hamner	81	6	75
S. H. Lawton	83	8	75
H. S. Bloomfield	83	8	75
D. H. Goodspeed	92	6	76
George Wright	87	10	77
R. R. Freeman	82	4	78
F. G. Thayer	90	12	78
G. A. Tyler	87	8	79
J. S. Phelps	90	10	80
S. B. Reed	92	12	80
J. Mulcahy	89	8	81
H. B. Driver	91	10	81
W. G. Kendall	105	24	81
P. H. Sherwin	97	12	85

QUINCY BOATS COMPETE.

All of the Quincy Yacht club cat boats took part in the race under the auspices of the City of Boston off Marine park the afternoon of the Fourth. The sailing conditions were fine a good west south, southwest breeze prevailing.

The race in class was won by the Iris which led the Busy Bee by nearly one minute

The order of finish was Iris, Busy Bee, Mudjekewis, Emeline, Arrawak, Dartwell and Dolly III.

MILE IN 48.72 SECONDS.

NEW YORK, July 4—"Bob" Burman, driving his 200-horsepower "Blitzen" Benz, set a new world's record for the mile this afternoon. With a flying start he covered the mile track at Brighton Beach in 48.72 seconds. The previous record was 48.92 seconds, made last year by Ralph De Palma at Syracuse, N. Y., in a Fiat.

WOLGAST WINS FROM MORAN.

At San Francisco yesterday, Ad Wolgast retained his title of lightweight champion by defeating the Englishman, Owen Moran. The end came in the 13th round and was a clean knockout and was earned by the rugged strength and punishing power of the Champion.

"Some fight for the Fourth of July," said Wolgast asthe photographers fought through the crowd to get his picture.

Moran's seconds entered a claim of foul, but the blows in question were plainly seen from the ringside and the protest was disallowed.

Never for a moment during the battle did the terrific pace slacken. The American carried the fight to his opponent from the first tap of the gong, as Moran was never able to keep him at long range.

RODNEY J. DIEGEL

Sergeant-at-Arms of Ohio Senate Convicted by Jury

DIEGEL IS CONVICTED

Sergeant-at-Arms of Ohio Senate Found Guilty of Bribery

Columbus, O., July 5.—The jury in the case of Rodney J. Diegel, sergeant-at-arms of the state senate, who has been on trial charged with aiding and abetting in the alleged bribery of State Senator Andrews, returned a verdict of guilty. The jury had been out three days, establishing a record in this country.

The specific charge against Diegel was that he aided and abetted in the solicitation of a bribe of $200 offered Andrews in connection with the Centone-Wittemore Mutual Fire insurance bill.

HOME TRADE WILL HELP QUINCY AND EVERYONE IN QUINCY.

Cremo 5¢ CIGAR
You try one!

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents. Three consecutive insertions 50 cents, 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.

No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

WANTED

WANTED—A girl for general house work. Apply to Mrs. C. F. Pettengill, 53 Revere road. July 5-tf

WANTED—A good cook. 45 Goffe street. July 5-1t

WANTED—Young man to act as clerk in shoe store. Good salary to right party. The Corcoran Sample Shoe Co., 11 Cottage avenue. July5 -3t

WANTED— Position by Swedish woman with baby 4 weeks old. Will take position as cook or general house work. Mrs. D. 171 Billings road, Atlantic. July 3-3t

WANTED—Boy, good and stout to tend store. Apply at 750 Washington street, Quincy Point. June 30-6t

WANTED Salesman. Earn $300 per month. Sell dealers highly advertised article. Exclusively or side line. No samples to carry.
Berlame, 215 West 125th street, New York, N. Y.
June 29 6t

WANTED—Engagements for manicuring, shampooing, face and scalp treatment. Please address by letter Miss S. Torola, 332 Granite street. June 28-6t

WANTED—Experienced girl for general housework. References required. Apply 118 Merrymount road. June 26 tf

Just Sick Enough.

Caller (to man on the door)—I am sorry to hear that Mrs. Lobson is not well. Is she very sick?

"Oi don't know, mum. She jest said if ye called to say she was sick, but she didn't tell me to say how sick."

Commonwealth of Massachusetts

MASSACHUSETTS HIGHWAY COMMISSION.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

Sealed proposals for building a section of State highway about 2400 feet in length in the town of Plainville will be received by the Massachusetts Highway Commission at its office, 15 Ashburton Place, Boston, Mass., until 12 M. on Tuesday, July 11, 1911, at which time and place they will be publicly opened and read.

Bids must be made upon blanks to be furnished by the Commission.

A pamphlet containing the necessary information and blanks will be furnished on application, upon receipt of a deposit of $2.00, said amount to be returned if the person taking the pamphlet makes a bid for the work on the form provided in said pamphlet, or returns the pamphlet at or before the time of the opening of the bids.

No bids will be received unless accompanied by a certified check for the sum of $250, payable to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts

The Commission reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

HAROLD PARKER,
WILLIAM D. SOHIER,
FRANK D. KEMP,
Mass. Highway Commission.
Boston, July 3, 1911.
July 5-1t

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
Norfolk, ss Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin and all other persons interested in the estate of Anna Rausch late of Quincy in said County, deceased:

Whereas, two certain instruments purporting to be the last will and testament—and one codicil of said deceased have been presented to said Court for Probate, by Gertrude A. Jewell of Quincy, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to her the executrix therein named, without giving a surety on her official bond;

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Dedham in said County of Norfolk, on the nineteenth day of July 4. D. 1911, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in Quincy the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, postpaid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire. Judge of said Court, this third day of July in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.
July 5-3t 5, 12, 17

FOR SALE

FOR SALE or TO LET—Before you buy or rent, consult me. Houses for sale or to rent in the finest residential section in Quincy. All improvements. Close to school, churches, stores and depot. C. A. ERICSON, Builder 117 Glendale Road. Tel. Quincy 586 M.
W and Sat. May 22-tf

FOR SALE—New house, 6 rooms, bath, improvements 5,400 feet land. Apply to Frank Leben, 76 Howard st., East Braintree. July 3-6t O 8-2w

FOR SALE—An up-to-date grocery and provision store at a reasonable price. Good reason for selling. Apply to J. A. Weeden 23 Cranch street. Quincy July 3-6t

TO LET

TO LET—Tenement of 5 rooms on Euclid avenue. All latest improvements. C. A. Ericson, 177 Glendale road Quincy. Tel 586 M.
July 5-6t

TO LET—Furnished rooms in fine location near bathing beach, light housekeeping near Fore River works also storage room. 80 Baxter avenue, opposite North street. July 5-6t

TO LET—Nicely furnished rooms, with excellent table board. Central location. Address P. O. box 346, Quincy. June 29-tf

TO LET—Desirable house on Edison street. Apply to J. Peterson & Co., 394 Washington street.
June 28-6t

TO LET—On Spear street, tenement of 4 rooms and bath. All modern improvements. Apply to C. A. Ericson, 117 Glendale road. Tel 586 M.
June 27-tf

TO LET—Upper flat of five rooms, all modern improvements, gas and coal range, at 56 Euclid avenue. Apply at 84 Quarry street.
June 27-6t

TO LET—Tenement with 9 rooms and bath at Quincy Point, also rooms to let and table board at 55 Washington street, Quincy, Mrs. Margaret S. MacDonnell. June 23-1mo.

TO LET—House 12 rooms, all improvements. Ideal location, 5 minutes to center. Apply to James F. Burke, Real Estate Agent, Room 4 Savings Bank Building. June 9-tf

FOR RENT—Quincy, Centre, opposite Adams Academy, house of 8 rooms and bath, also garage, 3 minutes to R. R. Station. Dr. E. S. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263L, Weymouth. May 10-tf

TO LET
Half House No. 44 Bigelow street, 7 rooms and bath. Shades, screens, electric lights, set tubs, range, etc. Rent $25. per month. Apply to Miss Prescott, Ledger Office. Quincy.
July 3-tf

FOR RENT
On Spear street, very desirable house of 8 rooms, bath and laundry. All modern improvements, range, gas, electric lights shades and screens. Large piazzas and lawn. To private family only. Apply at 41 Spear street or of Miss Prescott at Ledger Office, Quincy.
June 2-tf L. P. O

TO LET

Tenement—22 B Granite Street. $10.00 per month.

Greenleaf Hall—Greenleaf Block Large Furnished Hall with various anterooms—to let by the evening or permanently.

City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 20 feet high. Splendid light, low rent

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)
Music Hall Block, Quincy.

MAKE YOUR PURCHASES FROM LEDGER ADVERTISERS.

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 26 No. 153 QUINCY, MASS., THURSDAY EVENING, JULY 6, 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

DEVELOPMENT OF CITY'S WATER FRONT

Hearing On Wednesday Before Committee on Cities Of the Legislature

Arguments In Favor of Loan Bill. The Opposition

The city was well represented, Wednesday morning at the hearing before the Committee on Cities of the legislature, who are considering the bill to allow the city to borrow $100,000 outside the debt limit for the development of its water front.

Among those present were Mayor Shea, Dock and Water Front Commissioner F. F. Crane, John C. Murray, president of the Granite Manufacturers association, Eugene R. Stone, president of the Board of Trade, James Joss, Arthur W. Stetson, William H. Teasdale, John Lavers, John L. Miller, Miles McGuinnis, Joseph Walker, Andrew Milne, and Andrew Milne, Jr., James Clark, Peter T. Fallon, Henry M. Faxon, John Q. A. Field and John Cashman.

Representative Langelier opened the hearing. He said that the Committee on Rules of the Senate and House had deemed this bill of sufficient importance to be admitted. This bill only admits of the expenditure of money by vote of the City Council. It does not in any way effect the nine million dollar appropriation bill for Boston harbor improvements. There was no general plan at present approved by the Mayor and City Council. He then introduced Mayor Shea who conducted the hearing.

MAYOR SHEA.

Mayor Shea said that the city was not committed to any plan, and that the development of our water front is being worked out by different committees of the Board of Trade and Granite Manufacturers association. He believed the city should be in a position to cooperate with the state or the City of Boston in any development that should be advisable or ordered by the Harbor and Land Commissioners. He believed the city as a whole is desirous of developing its water front and that it should be done now and that the city should have the opportunity to improve it now.

JOHN C. MURRAY

endorsed all that His Honor had said he believed that the improvement should be allowed. The granite manufacturers do not now ship by water, because there are no facilities. He felt that if we had a good water front we could compete successfully with other states. He believed a location near the centre should be considered.

ENGENE R. STONE.

said there were no docks in the city at present. We can not now ship stone to the Cape Cod canal because of that fact and the city is therefore handicapped. We should have authority to go ahead and do this work.

JOHN L. MILLER.

Said that as a granite manufacturer he was in favor of the proposition of granting permission to borrow this money to develop a dock system. Manufacturers are willing to take all of our grout if it can be shipped. Rockport now gets the business. We could ship to Charlestown, and other places and it would be a great help to

(Continued on Page Three.)

COMFORT AND COOK-ING

They Go Hand-in-Hand

In your household when you've a Gas Range in your kitchen, besides your fuel bill will be reduced and your home is not overheated.

That cooking is a comfort in the hottest weather we're demonstrating every day.

Come in and see and you'll cook in comfort

CITIZENS' GAS LIGHT CO.

11 Granite St., Quincy

BAREFOOT SANDALS

The best thing for the children to wear during the warm weather. They are light and comfortable and give good satisfaction.

CHILDS	5 to 8	45c
MISSES	8 to 11	50c

HEFFERNAN'S SHOE STORE

1375 Hancock Street, Quincy

OPENING OF SUMMER SCHOOL

Took Place On Wednesday Morning

HEAT REDUCES ATTENDANCE

The opening of the Summer school at the Women's clubhouse took place Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock. Although there were not as many as last year at this first session there was a very good attendance and the extreme heat was accredited with keeping many away. Mrs. Charles Safford, chairman of the Educational committee, greeted the scholars and then introduced Mrs. Eben W. Sheppard, president of the Club. Mrs. Sheppard congratulated the scholars on their courage and their show of ambition in that they did not intend to spend the summer in idleness and in killing time, looking merely for selfish pleasures, but were planning to use some of the time at least profitably in order to make themselves more valuable members of society. She then told a story of a young girl whose training in a hospital in a nearby city was twice interrupted, once by the sickness of her father and a second time by that of another member of her family, but she persevered after they were restored to health, and not only acquired proficiency as a nurse, but in the meantime had rendered invaluable service to her family. Mrs. Sheppard urged the members of the summer school classes to take this example to heart and to show the same spirit in their work as did the young girl in the story.

All joined in singing "America" at the conclusion of the address by Mrs. Sheppard, with Mrs. Charles Sampson, the accompanist for the summer, playing the accompaniment.

Miss Clara Thayer of Wollaston then gave a talk on "Famous Women" telling of the beautiful lives of such women as Harriet Beecher Stowe, Julia Ward Howe, Florence Nightingale, Mary Livermore, Mother Bickerdyke, Mary Morris Husband and Eva Booth.

Miss Murray of Wollaston who is to conduct the classes in physical culture during the summer was then introduced and spoke a few words to the pupils. She asked that the girls who had sneakers to wear them when they go to the class Friday morning, and those who did not possess sneakers were asked to wear low shoes or shoes with low heel. It is the desire of the instructor to start in with the regular work on Friday morning at the regular hour, 9 o'clock so all the girls are urged to have their bloomers and sneakers with them when they go to class Friday.

The boys who are to take the Sloyd course at the Y. M. C. A. under the direction of Charles Sampson reported Wednesday morning in good numbers. The classes will be organized and the hours arranged so that the regular routine may be started very soon.

LIBRARY TRUSTEES.

A meeting of the Thomas Crane Library trustees was held Wednesday evening, James F. Burke presiding in the absence of Rev. E. C. Butler the chairman and Charles R. Safford was temporary secretary.

Henry B. Sheahan who was appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Harrison A. Keith was present for the first time.

Miss Mabel Baxter was appointed as librarian during the absence of Miss Alice White who sailed for Europe this week on her vacation trip.

Mr. Safford and Mr. Sheahan were appointed a committee to draft resolutions on the death of Harrison A. Keith.

SCARCITY OF WATER.

Attention of users of water is called to the notice of Commissioner Bainbridge limiting the use of lawn hose to the hours between 7and 8 o'clock. The long dry spell coupled with the hot wave has caused the consumption of water to be greatly increased and the pressure has been considerably reduced.

Quincy Stores

offer you right prices and save the time spent in travelling. There is one way to find out. Visit the stores and compare the goods with those you have purchased elsewhere.

ORDINATION TONIGHT.

Henry Strong Huntington, Jr., son of Rev. Henry S. Huntington, pastor emeritus of the first Evangelical Congregational Church of Milton, is to be ordained this evening at his father's church. The examination by the ecclesiastical council will take place at four o'clock and the ordination at 7.30 o'clock. Professor Herbert A. Youtz of the Auburn Theological Seminary faculty will preach the sermon, and Rev. Charles Ray Palmer, D. D., of New Haven will offer the ordaining prayer.

Mr. Huntington, Sr., has been pastor for many years at this church and the family has long been identified with Milton so that there is more than usual interest in this evening's program.

ENGAGEMENT.

Coming as a happy culmination of the celebration at Atlantic on the holiday was the announcement of the engagement of Miss Elsie Badger of Clive street to Byron A. Miller of Botolph street. Mr. Miller holds a responsible position as foreman of the engraving department of Smith Patterson Co., of Boston and is a member of the Squantum yacht club being the owner of a yacht. Miss Badger is the daughter of Frank E. Badger of Clive street, well known in Atlantic and a prominent member of the Fourth of July committee. She is in the employ of the Boston office of the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance company. Both of the young people are great yachting enthusiasts and may often be seen enjoying the sport on the waters of Quincy bay.

HOUGHS NECK.

W. E. Wallace and family of Boston have taken the Homestead cottage for the season.

Miss Anna M. Grady and Miss Anna MacLean of Melrose spent the holidays with friends at Houghs Neck.

Several of the Q. Y. C. boats cruised down the North shore over Sunday.

During the past few days the beach has been lined with bathers.

James Reilly and family of Massachusetts avenue, Boston, have taken the Sea Gem cottage in Oregon Terrace for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. William K. Vincent and son William of Guantanamo bay, Cuba, are spending a few days at the Oregon house.

The men Associates hold their whist party in Associates hall Friday evening.

The guests at the Midland are Misses Annie and Florence Nelson of Brockton; Miss Nellie Mitchell of Brockton and George E. Bailey of North Easton, George Benson and family have taken apartments at the Midland for the season.

Fred Benoit of the Samoset entertained over the holidays Miss Virginia Hill and William Simpson of Worcester, Miss Grace Reilly of Brockton and Misses Mildred and Josephine Hanson of North Easton.

Miss Lillian Smith of Brockton is spending a few weeks with relatives at Houghs Neck.

Guests at the Oregon house over the holidays were Mrs. F. E. Staples, Mr. and Mrs. George Silva of Brockton and George W illiams of the South Boston Yacht club.

—The Delaware peach crop—well, never mind about that; Connecticut's is going to be a record-breaker, some growers prophesying two or three times the output of last year. Glastonbury alone expects to ship 150 carloads.—Boston Transcript.

TORTURED HUMANITY

Many Victims of Terrible Heat In Greater Boston

TWO DEAD IN QUINCY

The thermometer went up to 103 shortly after noon yesterday and the wind remained south all day. So great were the heat waves caused by the sun's rays on the thousands of tons of steel in the Fore River shipyards that the men were compelled to stop work. The city laborers were dismissed from work during the morning hours and the terrific heat in the quarry holes drove the workmen there away from their work

The fatalities:

Edward B. Langley
Angela Raymond

Prostrations

George W. Rockwell
Turvo Merzioertu
Daniel E. Driscoll
Miss Nellie Mahoney

Mr. Langley was one of the best-known young men of Quincy, a son of Ex-Police Chief Langley. He was taken sick on Monday.

Angela Raymond, the 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Raymond of 71 Water street, who has been sick for a week, collapsed from the heat today and died from the effects.

George W. Rockwell, 56 years old of 8 Franklin street, collapsed on Wednesday on School street in front of St. John's Catholic church and was taken to his home, reviving soon afterward.

Turvo Merzioertu, 14 years old, of 63 Arthur street, collapsed while riding a bycycle in Merrymount park and when the police auto ambulance got him he was unconscious.He was removed to the Quincy city hospital. He is in a serious condition tonight.

Daniel H.Driscoll, 23 years old, of 22 Franklin street, a member of the Iroquois club, collapsed from the heat at the office of the Boston & Northern street railway company. Mr. Driscoll was one of the runners in the athletic events at Merry Mount park Tuesday afternoon and it is supposed his physical condition was somewhat weakened by the strain.

Miss Nellie Mahoney of Atlantic was overcome at the Tubular rivet works in Wollaston and had to be taken to her home.

Twenty nine deaths and nearly 100 prostrations in greater Boston were the direct result of the terrible heat. Of these 21 deaths and 70 prostrations were in Boston proper, and practically every city had deaths or prostrations. A very peculiar feature of yesterdays conditions was that, though Holyoke was drenched by a tremendous rain storm late in the afternoon Boston remained dry. The extraordinary amount of 5.65 inches of water was precipitated which is as much as is usually dropped in two months' time.

The heat wave will be memorable in weather annals for its wide extent its long duration, its record-breaking temperatures in certain places and the long list of fatalities which it caused.

The hundreds of news despatches which cities from the North Atlantic seaboard west to the plains states have exchanged during the past four days account, according to a careful review tonight for the deaths of 431 persons from the heat and 80 from drowning—a total of 511.

Incomplete as the record is from the failure of many points to report specifically the number of such deaths, it is as serious a showing as is remembered for many years, if not a record.

The number of prostrations is still more difficult to compute, but from the review of the dispatches it easily appears that thousands have been seriously overcome by the heat in the various big cities.

"Pardon me," said the new boarder after the others had left the table, "but I'm not up in table etiquette and don't know just how oranges should be eaten."

"Very sparingly, sir, very sparingly at this time of the year," answered the thrifty landlady.—Detroit Free Press.

PLAYGROUND OPENED

At the Corner Of Faxon and Woodward Avenues

AN IDEAL LOCATION

The Ward One playground is in an ideal location this year and should prove to be a bigger boon to the children of the district than a year ago. The playground is situated on the lot owned by Mr. Faxon on the corner of Faxon avenue and Woodward avenue, which has been used as a playground for the Coddington school children during the past year. In a shady nook near the entrance to the grounds a dozen or more swings of different sizes have been erected and nearby sandboxes and benches will be placed. There will be benches under other trees on the hill also. See saws and the Giant Stride or Flying Dutchman will be placed under the big maples and elms near the swings. The location is ideal with its acre of land for romping and the cool and shady places for rest. A bubbler is to be placed outside the Coddington school just above the entrance to the playground The apparatus is being erected by a force of men under the direction of George E. Thomas, builder, and everything will be the best that can be had. The playground is intended for children of Ward One under fifteen years of age who have no suitable place to play in at home. The location is the best that could be obtained, is easy of access with approaches from three streets and is centrally located in the Ward, L. F. LaRose, physical director of the Y. M. C. A. will be in charge with Miss Ruth Bass, who graduated from Dr. Sargent's Gymnasium school this year as assistant.

The popularity of the playground last year would seem to indicate that with better facilities and a better location this year, all records of attendance and good results will be broken. Delcevare King who is chairman of the playground committee is sparing neither time nor effort to have things in the best possible shape for the all round enjoyment of those who will use the playground and there can be no doubt but that this year will be one of the most successful in the history of the movement.

JOLLY SIXTEEN

The last meeting of the season for the Jolly Sixteen was held at the home of Arthur C. Merritt, Elm place Wednesday evening. Whist was enjoyed during the greater part of the evening and prizes were won by Mrs. George W. Gragg, Herbert Johnson and Thomas Smith. Candy and cold drinks were served during the course of the evening and ice cream and cake served after the whist playing was finished. Each member received a handsome souvenir of the occasion. There will be an outing of the club the latter part ofthis month or the first of next and the fall season will start up early in October. The members had such a good time Wednesday evening that the party did not break up until midnight.

—There are now about 2,155,000 miles of highway in the United States and about 9 p. c. are"improved" in some way. Most motorists believe they are well acquainted with the remaining 91 p. c.—Boston Record.

BRIEFS

The opening whist of the season at the Quincy Yacht club will be held this evening.

George Thomas of Portland, Maine, is making a visit with his parents on Elm street.

A state golf tournament will be held on the links of the Wollaston golf club on Saturday.

A club race will be held on the course of the Quincy Yacht club Saturday afternoon.

Reports from Camp Quincy in Rindge, N. H. say that it is pretty hot but all are having a good time.

Roy L. Sidelinger of Presidents hill has gone to Sherborn, Mass. for a visit with Frederick Blanchard.

Excessive heat kept the Board of Trade from having a quorum on Wednesday evening and for that reason no meeting was held.

The lawn party of the First Presbyterian C. E. society will be held next Monday evening at the home of Francis Morrison, 98 Goddard street.

At the Norfilk probate court administrations were granted on the estates of Henry Newman of Quincy and Caroline Wild of Quincy.

There will be a band concert in front of Alpha hall Saturday evening to make up for the one scheduled for Saturday night of Merchant's week.

N. B. Furnald, Esq., of Washington street seems to be pretty busy these days marrying people, several couples calling upon him lately to tie the knot.

A party of fourteen young men of Wollaston are to take a week end trip to Portland going down on the boat Friday night and returning on the Sunday night boat from Portland.

There have been quite a few contributions to the Fourth of July fund which have not been acknowledged through the public press as yet. This list is being made ready by the secretary and will be published in the Ledger Friday.

Lee Brooks of Upland road left Monday on his vacation for Norfolk, Washington and Baltimore by the S. S. Howard of the Merchants and Miners line. He will return in time to resume his work at the Boylston National bank of Boston on the 17th.

Much favorable comment has been heard on the W. R. C. float in the Fourth of July parade. It was designed and decorated entirely by the ladies and was a credit to Mrs. Anna J. Gould and her aids. The float represented the thirteen colonies and the 40 characters: Goddess of liberty; the army and navy; the north and south; east and west; fraternity; charity; and loyalty.

QUINCY LODGE, No. 413

Loyal Order of Moose

Brothers are requested to meet at the lodge room, Saturday, July 8, at 1 o'clock, to attend, in a body, the funeral of our late brother Edward B. Langley, who died Wednesday, July 5.

L. B. CLAFLIN, Secretary.

July 6-1t

To Members of Court John Adams No. 144, F. of A.

The funeral of our late brother Edwin B. Langley, will take place on Saturday, July 8, at 2 o'clock P. M. from his residence, 1135 Hancock Street.

ALEX W. RUSSELL, Sec.

July 6-1t

MAKE YOUR DOLLAR GO FAR

was George Washington's theory when he threw a dollar away across the Potomac River. When you want your dollars to go a long way without giving you trouble invest them in a Hartford bicycle and then ride it any distance that you desire and they will go a long way without giving you any trouble when it is a Hartford wheel from Nelson's on Granite street.

SUNDRIES and REPAIRING

HUB CYCLE CO.

Thomas Nelson, 20 Granite Street, QUINCY

Agency for Hartford and Columbia Bicycles

May 15-2m

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1889
THE HOME NEWSPAPER
Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.
BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
219 East 23d Street,
New York City
Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter.
Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50
Telephone, Quincy 425
Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

Yes, I think it is thank you.

By all means, let us have the improved water front.

Just imagine Shakespearian tragedy this kind of weather.

Wonder if the powder of the old fashioned fourth would have landed the usual afternoon shower.

Our envoys and the British are exchanging no end of sugar candy in public, but in private our English cousins keep on saying that Miss America has no manners.

Aviator Sopwith has delivered a package by aeroplane to the steamer Olympic. How a red blooded baggage handler would enjoy delivering trunks in that manner.

An expert figures that there are 7,226,433 plays possible on the base ball diamond. The bleachers should think of this, and not get grouchy because a fielder takes time to ponder on these alternatives.

It is gradually dawning on the American people, that the great majority of them get little or no benefit from tariff taxes. How many of our readers can tell of any benefit that they get from artificially raised prices?

When it comes to torrid spots the Enterprise stereotype room is in line for mention. It was about 120 degrees there during the hottest part of Monday afternoon.—Brockton Enterprise.

Oh! the idea. Just think ye men of Brockton that right here in Quincy on July 5th the temperature was only 65, but it was in 1902.

PROTECT THE MILK SUPPLY

It is estimated that approximately 2000 young lives will be saved annually by the passage of the so-called Ellis bill. This does not incude the reduction which it will produce in the deaths and sickness due to milk-borne epidemics among adults. Much has been done to reduce the general mortality, butvery little to reduce the infant mortality until now. If the Senate passes the bill, as the House did it will be the beginning of a new epoch in this respect, and Massachusetts may claim the credit of leading in another great humanitarian movement.

The local boards will be encouraged to appoint milk inspectors and inaugurate milk and dairy inspection. The State Milk Regulation Board will set the minimum standard of regulations but local powers are carefully preserved, and there is nothing in the bill to prevent cities like Springfield and Brockton, who already have well developed systems of inspection, from maintaining a higher standard than that insisted upon by the State as a whole. As the greater part of the State as is now maintained in a few will be impossible to establish as high a standard at the outset for the whole State as is now maintained in a few cities in which the work has been progressing for two or three years.

The constitutional difficulties, due to the interstate character of the milk business, have been avoided by requiring a permit of the dealer only and by authorizing the passage of a regulation providing that the milk of any producer inside or out of the State, whose dairy is not approved by the State Board of Health, shall not be sold by any dealer in the State.

Thus the Massachusetts producers are protected from the present unfair competition with uninspected out-of-the-State dairies.

The Special Recess Milk Committee, consisting of Chairman Charles M. Gardner, H. A. Parsons, George W. Trull, Dr. Milton J. Rosenau and George H.Ellis, in the Report for 1911, said, "It is the finding of your committee, that while several cities and towns in Massachusetts have adopted systems for improving their milk supply, yet these are by no means general throughout the State," and that "milk inspection is primarily a health problem." The first three recommend a bill providing for State inspection under a new separate administrative board. Mr. Ellis and Dr. Rosenau, while agreeing with the other members in their general conclusions, felt that it would be dangerous to isolate the administration of milk health work from the other health work of the State, and that two administrative State health boards would only result in confusion and inefficiency, especially as the State Board of Health would have jurisdiction in case of epidemics in any event. Obviously, it would be futile to give the State Board of Health power over the effect and deny them jurisdiction over the cause. The work for the prevention of disease must be unified if results are to be obtained. It will be seen that the Ellis bill is a natural evolution, which is the result of a series of investigations accompanied by the strong dissatisfaction of the three millions or more of consumers, with existing conditions expressed from time to time in the news papers and elsewhere.

THE RULE OF THE ROWDY.

There is a certain type of human creature, which considers that it can duly impress its intellect on the world only by public rough-house, consisting of loud and profane talk in public places, the offering of low remarks to women, and general display of more or less drunken savagery.

Ordinarily one looks for that kind of thing in country towns and small cities, where the police have too many friends. The present campaign to check that nuisance in New York city is an illustration that the rowdy is always and ever with us, wherever we happen to live.

In many places he acquires such a dominating force ,that it is practically impossible for decent people to travel in peace by train or trolley after 11 o'clock. Trainmen and trolleymen dislike a fight. They would much rather let a rowdy discharge his loud and lewd talk at the passengers than receive the blows of a man who is drunk enough to be soiling for a fight.

The real trouble is that the offence known to the law as "disturbance of the peace" is too lightly regarded. In many courts it gets off easily with a $5 and costs sentence. The rowdy considers that the pleasure of exhibiting his hideous soul naked in public places, is worth that and a good deal more.

Tradition places slight condemnation on this offence, because in the old days when our laws were made, people used to go armed, and they were given to personal combat. If a man insulted you or your woman friends in those days, you would pull a pistol on him or remove your coat and deposit him in a mud puddle.

This custom of securing your own personal satisfaction for brutal insults has largely gone by. Public sentiment discourages "gun-toting," as the cause of endless friction and often serious blood shed. The good citizen has abandoned his rights and habit of personal self defence to the police and the courts.

The officials should realize the full measure of this responsibility, and that the terrorizing of public streets and conveyances by roughs is a serious damage to any town. Stiff jail sentences and heavy fines should be imposed.

OTHER EDITORS ARE SAYING

Time passes. We observe in the marriage license list that the boys who were named for Grover Cleveland are now marrying. It seems only yesterday that their fathers were occupying the post offices that our party enjoyed during those halcyon days—Houston Post.

More than seventy members of the House at Boston are on record as believing that each legislator should be paid salary for an extra month because of the long session. It would be more like business to take a month's pay away from each of them, that hereafter it may be remembered that the people of this State are not to be fooled with so long.—Worcester Telegram.

A loss of nearly thirty thousand population in one hundred and twenty-three farm towns in Massachusetts since the last census does not indicate a strong return to the soil as yet. But it is coming, and coming soon—New Bedford Standard.

It is the Hartford Courant which reminds the State and people beyond that Connecticut is acting about as usual in rejecting the latest proposed amendment to the Federal Constitution. Connecticut never has seemed to be very well satisfied with the National Constitution or with a National Government which has to be supported at some expense to Connecticut people of wealth. Is the time not nearly ripe to revive the old Hartford convention movement? — Springfield Republican.

Spring lamb, according to a dispatch from Chicago, "jumped 65 cents a hundred pounds at the stock yards." Now it is in order for the retail dealer who pays an advance of a trifle over a half cent to reimburse himself by adding four cents to the price paid by the consumer and say that the "meat trust" should be prosecuted for extortion.—Providence Journal.

Our distinguished expatriated patriot, William Waldorf Astor, now a British subject has been buying more real estate in New York city. His aggregate real estate possessions in the metropolis figure up to $300,000,000. He may be the richest man in the world within ten years, and perhaps he is already.—Republican.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

SHE SPOKE OUT

Father (to his daughter whom he sees whispering to her mother)—Elsie how often have I told you not to do that? Speak out if you want anything.

Elsie—Well, father, I wanted to know why the lady near me has such a red nose. (Fliegende Blatter.

HIS GRIEF

"I 'ear yer missus is dead, Bill."

"Yes—pegged out on Derby day, unfortunately. Fust Derby I've missed for fifteen years!" (London Opinion.

TAKING A CHANCE

Kind old lady—Well, my boy, what is the matter?

Boy—Muvver sent me for tuppence worth of soap ,an' I've lost the tuppence.

Kind old lady—Well, never mind, there's twopence for you. How did you lose it?

Boy—Playing pitch an' toss. (Everybody's Weekly.

AT THE CENTRE OF THINGS

"Sitha, Mary, yon's t'Hall foaks off te t' station. Where'll they be goin', thinks tha?"

"Aw, wanderin' off te Lunnon or soomwheer, mebbe. But they'll be back for t' Coronation." (Punch.

HOW INDEED

The Reformer—Ah, friend, what we are striving for is fewer overcrowded slums, larger villages, more pleasure for the people and less drink.

The Uncoverted One——But 'ow are we going ter 'ave more pleasure if we 'as less beer? (Everybody's Weekly.

CLEVER WOMAN— Newed—There is no use talking, Singly, my wife is an unusually clever woman.

Singly—Indeed?

Newed—She sure is. Why, only this morning she showwed me how to fasten my suspender with a hairpin —Chicago News.

CONFIRMING—Mr. Morningcall the collector—Is Mr. Nopay in?

The Servant in the House—No, sir, He went downstairs a minute ago. I think he went out, sir. ,

Mr. Morningcall— Thank you. I heard that he was down and out, but I wished to see for myself.—Chicago News.

ANOTHER—Jones—I hear you are going to marry again, Jackson. Now when your late wife died, you told me that the light of your life had gone out.

Jackson—Ah, yes, old man; but now, you see, I am going to strike another match!—M. A. P.

MALLALIEU IS IMPROVING

Bishop Rallies From Condition Which Was Close to Death

Newton, Mass., July 6.—Bishop Willard F. Mallalieu, one of the oldest and most prominent officers of the Methodist Episcopal church in this state, is seriously ill at his home in Auburndale.

Bishop Mallalieu was taken ill a week ago last Friday and at first it was not supposed that his ailment was serious. His condition grew worse rapidly and last week he lapsed into unconsciousness. For two days there was deep anxiety, but the bishop now is reported as being very comfortable.

☞Going away for the summer? If so don't forget to have the Daily Ledger sent to your address and keep posted on home news. If you have forgotten to send in your order in the rush of getting away drop us a postal and we will do the rest. tf

MASSACHUSETTS PRESS ASSOCIATION

NANTUCKET, JUNE 24-27, 1911

CHAS. C. DOTEN, Historian.

Capt. C. C. Doten of Plymouth, historian of the Massachusetts Press Association, presented the following address at Nantucket at the annual outing. He modestly claimed that he borrowed it from the records of William Bradford:

ADDENDA

to ye History of ye Pilgrim Plantation, (William Bradford, Governor) first done by our hand and at present relating to doings in ye farther parts of ye Colonie, as Nantuckit, to wit: Anno Dom 1911.

There appeareth in these later dayes to be great attractiveness to ye iland caled Nantuckit, situate in ye sea beyond Cape Codd, where sundry good people now dwell in comfort and luxury, (not perhaps beyond their just deserts, but far more than we, in our troublous times and hard beginnings had at Plymouth, where we made our first planting in 1620). —Thitherward, to ye said iland, several and divers times, hath been congregations of ye men who make newspapers for to rest and recreate when affairs of ye publick in ye Royal Province, afterward ye Commonwealth of Massachusetts, (ye which Commonwealth did in 1692 swallow our planting at Plymouth, even as ye lyon and ye lam lyeth down together with ye lam inside of ye aforesaid lyon,) hath wearied ye poor and distraught brains of these scribes with great thoughts and much writings.—Not meaning to be understood, in speaking of their poor brains, that they be week or addle pated, for indeed some of ye scribes have knowledge and sharp wits, like unto ye sun in brightness, while others, may hap not so excelling, are content to give light by reflection even as doth ye luminary of night, and yield moonshine, yet of goodly and useful sort, so that they still be leaders among men and direct ye people in proper paths. And truly, as we observe and in spirit company with them, we find them all of rather good sort, prone to be pleased, one with another, and to journey forth in harmony and brotherly love, for merry making and view to restfulness from their arduous labors in moulding publick' opinion, which (with much kneading) they verily do. These, therefore do seek ye iland to cutt themselves off from care for a season, to cease contention with ye wicked and perverse agent which always contendeth for advantage, specifying for "top of ye colum next reading matter" and continually desiring ye best place for ye smallest possible compensation, and then, after obtaining, oftentimes beateth ye scribe of his hardly earned dues. Again they find it good to escape from ye representative of ye evil one which each hath in his office, who so exasperateth by his small sins of omission, (and more of commission,) that ye scribe's religious nature is outraged, and he is constrained to utter various forms of English speech, derived from ye Latin word "damno" meaning "to condemn." He leaveth also ye office catt, which doth endamage and eat up carefully prepared copy, such as ye present writing, causing much impatience and wear of temper, from ye which things it is well to turn for releaf. All these, and more ye which we will not specify, ye scribe fleeth, and at ye same time these children of Gutenberg, Schoeffer and Fust, and of Coster, of whom we knew in holland and ye low countries, do make a pleasant practis of taking with them their women folk, comly and fair to look upon, and withal very agreeable in manner, as was our Priscilla who flouted Captain Standish, much to his vexing, but sweetly and modestly encouraged ye bashful John Alden to speak for himself.—Our pen pauseth for it hath not need to write of those of whom it is said that by nature they are qualified to do much speaking on their own account, yet we would fain remark that these are so exceeding good a gift unto man, that it seemeth well fitting that ye scribe and fairisee should company togeather in pleasurings and companionship. Since ye fall of Adam no man hath been safe from sweet witcheries, and verily he that hath clean hands and pure heart enjoyeth them, and in this presence seeketh no refuge.

But lest we further wander in our account, here is where it hath fallen out, that assembling at ye towne of boston, on ye 24th daye of ye 6th month Anno Dom 1911 there is a glorious companie of five score and ten to set fourth for ye aforesaid Nantuckit, where ye breaking waves dash high and are more pleasant to look upon than when in our good shippe Mayflower we fell among ye treacherous sholes thereabout, and were so put upon that we gave up sayling for ye northern parts of virginia, and were fain to bear up for safe harbour at Cape Codd, and thereafter to make ye permanent planting at Plymouth, taking ye iland of ye sea to ye jurisdiction of ye Colonie, whereby our descendants have ye right to come as they list.

One Mellen, with his associates, doth in these dayes possess sundry vehicles of capacity and convenience, with a species of furnace by which to drag them over ways of iron at great speed, as a profane one hath said "like ye very devil," but which we in better likening, as we know ye journey will be ye sooner ended so we can keep ye next day which is ye sabbath, compare more to ye swiftness of ye eagel, so saving our concience from vileness of ye evil one, even in thought.—And whereas ye said Mellen hath given ye partie use of ye said vehicles, ("caput mortuum" as ye Latins might say) allowing with much curtesy a land viage to ye back side of ye Cape Codd, and saving ye going on foot thereto, which would be very tedious as we formerly knew to our cost and much weariness of body, ye companie cheerfully obeyeth ye sounding of ye great Tomtom, which is at ye head, and thereupon with much voyce and friendly greeting of those, who for long tyme have not met, they set out for ye land of ye Nantukits.—All goeth well and soon they come to ye river at Manomet, where in early yeares we older people had a trading house and a pinnace, and were much proffited in holding traffick with ye Conneticutts, and ye dutch of Manhatton, bringing our goods from Plymouth harbour to scussett crik in our shallup, and thence by a small land carry to ye waters of ye little river, where was our pinnace which floated ye things to ye trading house. So in ye olden dayes we did, and thereby avoyded ye great turbulent waves and very dangerous sholes about Cape Codd, and got along with safety and much convenience. And even as we planned and did in our small way, seeing ye usefulness of it, so do the marchants and navigators of this time appoint to dig a great ditch across ye land of Cape Codd, through ye river and ye crik, whereby their big shippes may go with dispatch and safety from one great water to another. Ye partie verily seeth ye huge machines doing this great task and digging mud with their noses, rooting it from ye bottom, as it were, and very much hath been compassed so it is said that two more yeares will see ye work all done. With these things we are rejoiced, that ye fathers showed ye way to ye sonnes, yet it hath been upwards of 200 yeares since, and many talkings about ye undertaking in that tyme have come to nought until this present. Yea this cross cut will be of great benefit to shippes and commerce by water, and save many lives, and we are glad that ye fathers so early showed their knowledg of best ways, as ye young man of these days hath often some conceit and boasteth, thinking that he knoweth more than ye olde man.

After this cometh ye little haven among ye rocks caled woods hole, situate on ye bay of buzzards which latter is so named, we opine, because thereat are none of that vulger and nauseous great bird which eateth caryon. Here a large shippe, yclept Gay Head, though it is not red, lyeth, and immediately receiveth ye companie. Ye vessel hath at ye sides big sweeps in form of wheels, such a shippe as we never saw in England, and when under way by ye use of these rolleth over ye waters very fast, not in ye manner in which our little mayflower rolled from side to side, making us sick at our stomachs, and grevously tormented with great retching, but steadily going with ye sharp end first, cleaving ye waters like a great knife.

Anon ye vessel reacheth Martha's vineyard, which to our mind Martha and her children have much improved since we last saw it, so it is now a very pleasant place. Some people are landed with goods and a small store of beere, ye sight of which last, in remembrance of many tankards of good old English ale, and ye stout beere with which ye Mayflower was stocked in ye stead of water, re-awakeneth ye old mortal sense of thirst, and our mouth verily yearneth for a drink, and we are fain to swallow much spiritual spittle, which gathereth upon our tung after ye manner of ye body while we inhabited it. Doubtless to punish us for cherishing an earthly appetite for near three centuries, some young men set

(Continued on Page Four.)

THE SAFEST PLACE
For Your Valuables
Legal documents, and private papers—is a safe deposit box in the Granite Bank. Our vaults are fire prcof, burglar proof and convenient. The expense is trifling, $5.00 a year for a box like those costing twice as much in Boston. Delays are dangerous and often costly. Private coupon rooms for your exclusive use free if you hire a safe deposit box.
NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

When You Buy
You want the best value you can get for your money, don't you? Most folks come here for that. People expect more from us than they do of others. They know we can give more and they know we have been in the habit of doing it ever since we started in business. They know we are determined to give them always the biggest possible value for the least money and we do it.
FOR THESE SCORCHING DAYS
Cool Underwear, Soft Shirts, Oxford Shoes
Straw Hats. Light Weight Clothing.
Four-in-hand Wash Ties. Soft Collars.
Everything for the Man or Boy.
GEORGE W. JONES
1 Granite St., "Just Around the Corner" Quincy
July 3-3t

R. E. FOY & CO.
Start the Day Right
COFFEE—If your morning cup doesn't taste right, don't blame the coffee; sometimes it's the cook's fault, sometimes the coffee pot. If conditions are right, you won't make poor coffee with our
QUALITY BLEND
which for strength, richness and aroma cannot be surpassed.
TEA—Test by taste. This is the sure way of detecting the good from the other kind of tea. Maybe your're hard to please. You will have no fault to find with any of our teas.
CHASE & SANBORN'S
--- AND --- LIPTON'S TEAS
ARE LEADERS
R. E. FOY & CO.
Water cor. Quincy Street, Quincy Adams
We close Wednesdays at 1 o'clock
July 5-2t
Phones 117 and 153
QUALITY STORE QUALITY STORE

WE ARE NOT THE
LOWEST PRICED
STORE IN QUINCY BUT WE POSITIVELY ARE THE
LOWEST PRICED STORE
IN MASS., CONSIDERING THE QUALITY OF MEATS WE SELL
HIGHEST QUALITY, LOW PRICES OUR STANDARD
RESPECTFULLY,
JOHNSON BROS.
June 16-tf

WHEELER'S
The Store for Ladies' Furnishings
We will continue our Sale of Shirt Waists and Long Gloves
See what we offer in Shirt Waists for 79c and 98c
and Long Gloves for 50c and 75c
We are also showing a new line of Children's Parasols, all colors, for 25c and 29c
WE GIVE CASH DISCOUNT SLIPS
City Square G. W. WHEELER Quincy

QUINCY MAN PASSES AWAY

Edward B. Langley A Heat Victim Died Wednesday

PROMINENT AND POPULAR

The many friends of Edward B. Langley will be pained to learn of his untimely death which took place Wednesday afternoon at his home on Hancock street after a brief illness due to the excessive heat.

Mr. Langley who had been employed by E. S. Beckford for a number of years was at work as usual Monday, although he did not feel particularly well owing to the heat. He had intended to turn out on the morning of the Fourth with one of the societies, of which he is a member, but on account of the heat deemed it unwise to do so. During the day he was overcome by the heat and soon become unconscious, in which condition he remained until Wednesday afternoon when he passed away.

Two physicians were in attendance all Tuesday night, but their treatment was of little avail.

Mr. Langely was a Quincy boy and was a son of George O. Langley, and has always made Quincy his home. He had been employed for a number of years by Beckford, the electrician. He was of a genial disposition and made many fast and firm friends. He was affiliated with a number of organizations among which were Maple lodge, K. and L. of H. Quincy lodge loyal Order of Moose, John Adams aerie of Eagles, Quincy nest of Owls, Foresters of America and local 189 International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers. He held office in several of these organizations.

His funeral will be held Saturday and will be attended by the several organizations of which he was a member.

FORMER QUINCY TEACHER DEAD.

Mrs. Wilfred Cuddeback (Elizabeth Poland) of New York, died July 3d at Point Jarvis, N. Y., after a short illness. She leaves a husband, and a son about four years old.

Mrs. Cuddeback was born and brought up at Round Pond, Maine. A teacher by profession she taught in her home town and later in Quincy at the Cranch school resigning eight years ago to be married and went to live in New York City, where her husband was engaged in business.

The deceased was a rare character. She was the personification of loveliness of disposition and evenness of temper. She was steadfast in her friendships. The writer was intimately acquainted with her and I do not expect to meet a nobler character a more steadfast friend until I cross the narrow sea.

She seemed to have learned the principle of living in acordance with correct thinking. Her disposition was not that of a person lacking individuality, but the result of honest thinking which reflected itself in a life which was full of sweetness.

Her child may not remember her example or her training but he has a rich heritage which cannot fail to disclose itself in the unfolding of his life later on. M. C. M.

July 5, 1911.

HOP AT YACHT CLUB.

The third weekly hop at the Quincy Yacht club was held Wednesday evening. The attendance was larger than usual and the hop was pronounced the best of the season thus far. Monk's orchestra furnished excellent music for the dancing and the cooling breezes from off the water furnished further inspiration to those who participated. During the intermission ices were served in the cafe.

HEAT HATCHES EGGS.

Gilbert Wright of Chelmsford, a suburb of Lowell reports that a setting of eggs which the hen had abandoned when almost ready to hatch, hatched out without the hen's assistance on Wednesday. The heat has been so intense that it drove the hen off the nest, but it was warm enough for the atmosphere to take the place of the hen. Up to tonight 10 chicks had been hatched and others are expected.

—A strange confession of incompetence is made by any minister who says that to report church news is to magnify his own work. This remark proceeds on the assumption that nothing happens in a parish worth recording excepting what is done by the minister.—Christian Register.

DEVELOPMENT OF CITY'S WATER FRONT

(Continued from Page One.)

ship granite to the south as it could be landed in four days while it now takes three weeks by rail. The Granite Manufacturers committee has not as yet decidede upon any particular location for the dock.

PETER T. FALLON

was very much interested. The Fore rire is much occupied by individual interests. Quincy river flows to within half a mile of City Hall. He thought that the individual interests control too much of our water front. Teaming prices have risen from $1 to $1.50 because of the delays at the railroad. The Granite Manufacturers employ about 3,000 men and if we had a municipal dock we could do a much larger business.

JOSEPH WALKER.

Endorsed all that had been said. He thought a dock a public necessity to compete with other places. He believed that the city should have the right to expend this money.

REPRESENTATIVE THOMAS.

Spoke of the granite business and said that the city was wholly at the mercy of the railroad. It is of the most vital importance that this bill should pass.

DOCK COMMISSIONER CRANE.

Said that the city officials had not committeed the city to any particular project or any particular location. That the system it was working on, was similar to that used by the City of Montreal. That if the right to borrow money on a 25 to 30 year bonds was granted that the city could be depended upon to use the money in a safe, sane and sensible way. That no money would be expended by the City Government for the dock improvement until the necessity of a certain type of dock was fully shown, and that in some way it would also show an income to the city or a benefit to its industries that would warrant the expenditure. He said that in his opinion $100,000 was ample to start the dock and harbor improvement of the City of Quincy. That it would be unwise to ask permission to borrow a larger sum and open the way for a larger expenditure than was absolutely necessary.

That the Granite industry shipped three million dollars worth of granite annually and the dock proposed would be a great help to the granite manufacturers. In closing he said that the city could be depended upon to expend the money in a proper manner.

HENRY M. FAXON

Mr. Faxon opposed. He thought that this is not a necessity. He would not shoulder the taxpayers with anything for the benefit of a single industry. He thought the city could not compete with Rockport and that grout would only be shipped. He was not prepared to say if any other granite would be shipped.

JOHN Q. A. FIELD.

Mr. Field also opposed. He had been in the granite business 55 years and believed that the government should dredge the Quincy river channel. He did not think the granite manufacturers should be able to control a wharf. That the granite manufacturers should control its own wharf. Maine he said was much cheaper and that Maine could beat Quincy out in prices.

JOHN CASHMAN

Opposed. He did not think the public required a dock. That this was an individual question and hoped the bill would not be granted.

Mayor Shea asked what he meant by this being an individual question.

Mr. Cashman, replying, said this will not meet the demands of the city.

Councilman Sandberg also asked the speaker several questions.

MAYOR SHEA.

In rebuttal said we have to dredge the river and a basin at the dock. The people opposed are interested in the water front at Quincy and have what they want and the city wants a chance to compete. He thought that public opinion is practically 9 to 1 in favor. All we ask is for permission to make this improvement. We have to have a vote by the council the approval of the Mayor and Harbor and Land Commissioners before any money can be expended.

ANDREW MILNE JR.,

Said that $250,000 worth of granite had come to Quincy the past year. It now costs $1 per ton to land granite in Quincy under the present conditions. At present it is impossible to unload granite by water at Quincy.

—Connecticut has a law which provides that owners or operators of airships shall be responsible for any damage done by them in connection with any aerial voyage. Aviators must be registered and hold a certificate of ability to operate the new vehicles for air transportation.—Milford Gazette.

STORM CAUSES GREAT HAVOC

Cloudburst Hits a Portion of Western Massachusetts

MANY TOWNS ARE FLOODED

Lightning, Rain, Hail and Wind Bring Sudden End to Heat Wave—Churches Burned, Houses Damaged and Trees Uprooted by Thousands—Springfield Telephone System Out of Use—Man Killed by Lightning

Springfield, Mass., July 6.—The heat wave in western Massachusetts ended suddenly yesterday afternoon in a terrific cloudburst and thunderstorm, which in a short space of time worked tremendous devastation.

Towns were flooded, in some places nearly six inches of rain fell, thousands of trees were uprooted by the gale, houses were unroofed, telephone and telegraph lines were torn down and communication cut off, streets were impassable by reason of washouts and fallen trees and houses were struck by lightning and damaged.

Railroad lines were tied up, telephone service paralyzed and roads rendered impassable by the storm.

Holyoke suffered the greatest damage. According to the weather bureau figures there was a rainfall of 5.65 inches in that city.

A bad washout on the lines of the Boston and Maine railroad just north of Holyoke tied up traffic and the city was practically isolated in so far as telephone communication was concerned, for hours.

In Wilbraham the old Congregational church was struck by lightning and destroyed by the resulting fire.

At Westfield an entire grove of pine trees was laid flat and houses unroofed.

There was some hail in parts of the storm district but present reports indicate that the tobacco district of Suffield on the south and Hatfield on the north escaped it and there will be no damage to the crop.

The wind blew a gale at Palmer and thousands of trees were uprooted.

The Catholic church of Our Lady of Hope in Springfield was struck twice. While firemen were fighting a blaze that leaped from its shivered steeple, a second bolt shot doyn through the roof not thirty feet from the firemen and buried itself in the basement, giving a second blaze upon which to work.

John Alecjoreyk, 25, of Indian Orchard, was struck by lightning and instantly killed. He was sitting on a trunk in his room placed against the chimney when the bolt came down the chimney and struck him, killing him instantly, burning his body and clothing. Alecjoreyk had been married but six months. The lightning, in passing down the chimney and striking Alecjoreyk, did no damage to the house.

Trees were blown over like tenpins all over the city, some fell across trolley tracks, tieing up an already crippled traffic, roads were washed out, in two cases cars being thrown from the tracks by sand bars across them. The telephone system was entirely out of use.

In West Springfield the noted "Old White Church," one of the landmarks of the Connecticut valley, was also struck, but the firemen were able to confine the blaze to the steeple and the structure was saved.

Chicopee had one house destroyed by fire due to the lightning and another was wrecked by the wind.

GOES ABROAD IN A HURRY

Charles Gates Summoned by Cable to Visit Sick Father

New York, July 6.—Charles G. Gates rushed aboard the Mauretania just before she backed out into the river, and took passage for the other side to join his father, John W. Gates, who is ill in Paris. There was not a stateroom left.

"But I simply won't leave the ship," said Gates. "My father is ill and I've been summoned by cable. Then turning to the reporters he added:

"Don't make it appear that my father is in danger. There is no cause for alarm." The purser got him an officer's cabin.

POWDER IN DAD'S TOBACCO

Children Cause Their Sire to Lose His Whiskers and Hair

Pittsburg, July 6.—The children of Charles Marlowe of North Versailles township removed the powder from firecrackers and put it in their father's smoking tobacco.

When Marlowe lighted his pipe the pipe was shattered, and his whiskers and what little hair he had on his head were burned off.

Packers Plead Not Guilty

Chicago, July 6.—Through counsel the Chicago packers indicted for violation of the Sherman anti-trust law pleaded not guilty. Their trial is set for Nov. 20.

HENRY FREES HIS MIND

Reed and Hammond Called "Proud and Over-Opulent Ambassadors"

Washington, July 6.—Taking as his text international marriages and the glitter of American diplomacy, Representative Henry of Texas, chairman of the house committee on rules, paid his respects in sharp terms in the house to American peeresses abroad and to "dollar diplomacy."

Declaring that the diplomacy of today has reached such a stage that American ambassadors and ministers abroad are compelled to spend many times their salaries in order to maintain a respectable appearance at foreign courts, Henry reviewed the simplicity of the brilliant diplomatic history of other days.

Mr. Henry characterized John H. Hammond and Whitelaw Reid as "two proud and over-opulent ambassadors," and deplored the vulgar display of wealth at the coronation exercises in London.

KILLED BY A LEFT-OVER

Boy Badly Mangled When He Digs Into Core of a Bomb

New York, July 6.—Joseph Sennelli, 16, was instantly killed and two companions were stunned and badly burned by a belated explosion of Fourth of July fireworks.

In Flatbush, Brooklyn, the three boys scouted to find overlooked explosives. Two heavy mortar bombs were their trove. Joseph dug into one with his jackknife. When he reached the core there was a terrific explosion.

The boy was blown twenty-five feet, his body was stripped of clothing, his face was shredded from the skull, he was partially scalped, his chest was crushed in and one hand was blown off. The explosion shook the entire neighborhood and brought the police, who found tne other two boys unconscious and badly burned from the flare.

TO SETTLE STATUS OF AFRICAN COUNTRY

Powers Agree to Hold "Conversations" Over Morocco

London, July 6.—Danger of international complications over the Agadir incident was removed, for the present at least, by an agreement reached by the powers to hold "conversations" over Morocco.

The powers concerned are France, Germany, Great Britain, Spain and Russia, and the proposal for pourparlers comes from Germany. There is no question for the moment of another Algeciras conference but it is recognized that the impending "conversations" are likely to settle definitely the status of the African country.

This, standing in the gateway of Europe, has been constantly regarded as possible cause of international difficulties. Any important decisions of the powers, such as plans for the partition of Morocco, naturally would have to be submitted to the signatories of the Algeciras act.

BOY SAVES FOUR LIVES

Collapses After Accomplishing Long and Dangerous Task

Westville, N. H., July 6.—Two women, a man and a boy were rescued from drowning in Peaslee's pond, by Paul Belanger, a 17-yeyar-old youth, who had to swim across the pond, and drag, one by one, the drowning people from the hole into which they had sunk.

Belanger dived for each person, and swam to shore, where his chum, Theodore N. Feateau, Jr., 21, stood up to his neck in the water, waiting to receive each form as Belanger passed it to him. When the last had been hauled ashore, Belanger collapsed, worn out by his long swim and his efforts in rescuing the others.

NEW PORTUGUESE PLOT

Troops Sent to the Frontier to Prevent Monarchial Outbreak

Tuy, Spain, July 6.—It was learned here that the Portuguese government has dispatched several thousand troops to the northern frontier following the discovery of a plot there to restore the monarchy.

The conspiracy is said to have originated among certain officers of the Portuguese army at Valencia Do Minho, a city of Portugal on the Spanish frontier, just across the border from Tuy.

Dismissed From the Marine Corps

Washington, July 6.—Captain Robert M. Gilson, United States marine corps, has been dismissed from the navy upon the recommendation of court martial on account of financial irregularities.

The Weather

Almanac, Friday, July 7.
Sun rises—4:33; sets—7:29.
Moon sets—1:51 a. m.
High water—8:45 a. m.; 8:45 p. m.
Forecast for New England: Generally fair, except probable local thunder showers; probably cooler in interior; moderate south and southwest winds.

STORMY LIFE COMES TO END

Death of Dowager Queen Maria Pia of Portugal

RULED WITH A HIGH HAND

Became Wife of Monarch at Age of Fifteen and Was Destined to See Brother, Son and Grandson Slain and Manuel Exiled—Woman Blamed For Portugal's Troubles Dies a Fugitive In Her Native Land

Turin, Italy, July 6.—Maria Pia, queen dowager of Portugal, died at the royal chateau at Stopinigi yesterday afternoon. She had suffered from uraemia. Recently she had been living in Italy with her sister, Princess Clotilde, widow of Prince Napoleon. The death of the princess several days ago left the sister prostrate.

Dowager Queen Maria Pia, the grandmother of Manuel, former king of Portugal, was the daughter of the great King Victor Emmanuel, and was surrounded in Italy, the land of her birth, by an aureole of romanticism and popularity.

To begin with, she was born at a time which, although only sixty-four years ago, seems already ancient history. It was in 1847. Pius IX had only been pope one year and was arousing in Italy and abroad the enthusiasm of all Liberals, as he had put himself at the head of the revolutionary movement in Italy and had sent his troops to fight Austria side by side with the Piedmontese soldiers of the house of Savoy.

Victor Emmanuel II had not yet conceived the idea of being himself one day the ruler of united Italy, his grandest ambition then being that of freeing Italy from all foreign dominion, so when his daughter was born on Oct. 16, he asked the supreme pontiff to be her godfather. The pope accepted with pleasure, wishing to add a new link to the ties which should united the kingdom of Sardinia to the papacy, and he insisted that his own name in the feminine form, Pia, should be given to the child.

Victor Emmanuel was already king of Italy when in 1862, when she was not quite 15 years old, the same princess, fairylike and gay, was married to King Louis of Portugal. After that time she returned to Italy whenever a great event, sad or happy, united her family. In 1868 she came for the marriage of her elder brother, the late King Humbert, to the then Princess Margherita. Ten years later, disregarding the papal prohibition of Catholic sovereigns being the guests of the Quirinal, she came again to nurse her father in his dying moments. Another visit, she imagined, was the saddest event which could happen in her life, as she came after the murder of her brother, Humbert, at Monza on July 29, 1900.

However, only eight years after, she was to see herself deprived of her son and grandson in a still more brutal manner, and then she, together with her husband's family, was a fugitive from the land of her adoration.

Queen Pia was the only one of the late King Victor Emmanuel's children who inherited his inconceivable recklessness and extravagance in money matters.

She played a very great role in Portugal during the forty-eight years that elapsed since she went to Lisbon, at the age of 15, as queen consort and wife of a monarch whom she had never seen in her life before, having wedded by proxy to him before leaving Italy. Her husband, King Louis, was easygoing, apathetic, never having entirely recovered from the effects of an attempt made to poison him some months prior to his accession, and was content to leave the reins of government almost wholly in her hands.

Quite as masterful and imperious in her way as her father, she ruled Portugal with a high hand, brooking no opposition, and even after her son's, the late Don Carlos, accession, managed to retain much of her influence, especially that of a social character.

Whether she used this power wisely or not is a matter on which great diversity of opinion exists, and there are many who insist that the economic difficulties which are at the root of all the trouble in Portugal are largely owing to her. Queen Pia was an excellent wife and a devoted mother, whose two failings were those which she inherited from her father—namely, impulsiveness and extravagance.

Death of Commander Pratt

Washington, July 6.—Commander Alfred A. Pratt, U. S. N., died at Mare Island hospital three days after having been retired by the "plucking board" of the navy department. He was born in Sycamore, Ills., thirty-eight years ago.

Egyptian Post For Kitchener

London, July 6.—The Daily Telegram says that Field Marshal Lord Kitchener will be offered the appointment of British agent to Egypt and the Soudan.

Danderine

GROWS HAIR and we can

PROVE IT!

A lady from Minnesota writes: "As a result of using Danderine, my hair is close to five feet in length."

Beautiful Hair at Small Cost

HAIR troubles, like many other diseases, have been wrongly diagnosed and altogether misunderstood. The hair itsel is not the thing to be treated, for the reason that it is simply a product of the scalp and wholly dependent upon its action. The scalp is the very soil in which the hair is produced, nurtured and grown, and it alone should receive the attention if results are to be expected. It would do no earthly good to treat the stem of a plant with a view of making it grow and become more beautiful—the soil in which the plant grows must be attended to. Therefore, the scalp in which the hair grows must receive the attention if you are to expect it to grow and become more beautiful.

Loss of hair is caused by the scalp drying up or losing its supply of moisture or nutriment; whe baldness occurs the scalp has simply lost all its nourishment, leaving nothing for the hair to feed upon (a plant or even a tree would die under similar conditions.)

The natural thing to do in either case, is to feed and replenish the soil or scalp as the case may be, and your crop will grow and multiply as nature intended it should.

Knowlton's Danderine has a most wonderful effect upon the hair glands and tissues of the scalp. It is the only remedy for the hair ever discovered that is similar to the natural hair foods or liquids of the scalp.

It penetrates the pores quickly and the hair soon shows the effects of its wonderfully exhilarating and life-producing qualities.

One 25-cent bottle is enough to convince you of its great worth as a hair growing and hair beautifying remedy—try it and see for yourself.

NOW at all druggists in three sizes, 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle.

Cut This Out

FREE To show how quickly Danderine acts, we will send a large sample free by return mail to anyone who sends this free coupon to the KNOWLTON DANDERINE CO., CHICAGO, ILL., with their name and address and 10c in silver or stamps to pay postage.

COMMISSION GOVERNMENT.

Three months' trial of the commission form of government in Spokane Washington has convinced many, including the severest critics of the plan, that the affairs of the municipality today are conducted with greater efficiency, economy and dispatch than under any administration, since the incorporation of the city in 1881. Many wastes have been stopped, numerous abuses have been corrected and modern methods are now employed in all the departments. The business of the city is conducted in the same manner that a successful merchant or manufacturer operates his store or factory plant. Robert Fairley, commissioner of finance, said today that, while there is nothing certain yet relative to a reduction in taxes he is prepared to show that the taxpayers have received 100 cents' worth of work for every dollar expended by the commission. Commissioner Fairley has received requests from more than 100 cities in various parts of the country for copies of the Spokane charter, which is declared to be the most advanced practical plan in America.

THE FREAK HORNS.

It is the man with the freak auto horn who enjoys making a nuisance of what should be a useful and perhaps life-saving instrument. The horn should be blown as a note of warning when passing a street or when a person who has not noted the approach of the auto car is in the way. But going through the streets with a freak horn, tooted for the purpose of scaring people, or to let them know what an independent taste the owner has, is something that very soon becomes unpopular. Most autoists use their horns in a sensible manner, and they have come to be recognized as one of the necessities of our everyday life, but there are others who seem to delight in racking the nerves of sensitive people, and their thoughtlessness or indifference gives more or less of needless pain. The unearthly shriek of the fire department auto is endured because everyone feels that an unusual sound should be given in order that a clear road may be open to the firemen. With private autos the case is different, and an application of the golden rule by the freak horn owners would be appreciated.—Lynn Item.

Children Cry
FOR FLETCHER'S
CASTORIA

Refrain of Old Song.

"Where the hair ought to grow."

TOGO TO VISIT US.

Famous Japanese Admiral Will Be Uncle Sam's Guest.

Admiral Togo, the famous Japanese naval officer, hero of the great naval battle of the Japan sea, who is now in London attending the coronation, to which he is accredited as the special representative of his government, will come to the United States shortly to be the honored guest of the United States government. Congress will appropriate $10,000 to defray the expense of entertaining the admiral while he is in this country.

The contemplated visit of the distinguished Japanese naval officer, who, according to critics, ranks with Nelson, Perry, Farragut and others on the roll of honor as a naval genius, was arranged after diplomatic exchanges between the Japanese foreign office in Tokyo and the state department in Washington. This government was asked if a visit from Admiral Togo immediately after the coronation in London would be acceptable and convenient, and the reply went back that this government would be delighted.

Admiral Togo will be received at the White House, where a formal dinner will be given in his honor, and he will be the guest at many other official functions in Washington and elsewhere.

He's Still Doing.

"What does your father do for a living, my son?" asked the kind old lady.

"Time just now," replied the younster, "but he used to do everybody."—New York Times.

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.

A Clearance Sale
— OF —
Soiled Shirt Waists

A Specially good assortment of Large Sizes

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

Quincy Daily Ledger

HIGH TIDE FOR WEEK.

Monday, July 3,	4.45	5.15
Tuesday,	5.45	6.15
Wednesday,	6.45	7.15
Thursday,	7.45	8.00
Friday,	8.45	8.45
Saturday,	9.30	9.45
Sunday,	10.15	10.15

1911 JULY 1911

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
						1
2	3	4	5	6	7	8
9	10	11	12	13	14	15
16	17	18	19	20	21	22
23	24	25	26	27	28	29
30	31

TROLLEY TRIPS

For the assistance of those who delight in visiting the various points of interest in eastern Massachusetts, southern New Hampshire and northern Rhode Island, by trolley the Boston & Northern St. Ry. Co. has issued this year some very attractive and helpful literature.

One especially attractive folder is entitled "Trolley Trips." This not only has a striking cover design but is filled with fine halftone cuts artistically arranged showing many of the scenes and interesting things along the trolley way. In this folder are a number of unique and original individual colored maps showing the trips described and a large Aero-View map which offers a pretty picture of the district covered by the trolleys and gives a clear idea of the lines and the chief points along them as well. Some of the principal trips are described.

There is also another booklet called "Trolley Facts." This contains a large map in three colors and more in detail, of all lines, trolley and steam in eastern Massachusetts east of Worcester and in southern New Hampshire and northern Rhode Isand. This folder also contains all the various points arranged alphabetically, telling the distance, fare and time and just what cars to take and where to change cars to reach them by trolley.

There are also a number of individual folders suggesting various trips from the principal centres. They may be secured free of charge upon application to the local division offices of this company or to the Free Trolley Information Bureau conducted by the Passenger Department at 309 Washington street, Boston.

ALDEN KINDRED

The annual meeting and eleventh reunion of the Alden Kindred of America is to be held at the old Alden homestead in Duxbury onWednesday, Aug. 2 at 10.30 A. M. A fine program has been prepared and a caterer will serve chowder, sandwiches, coffee, ice cream or a basket lunch may be taken. A special train will leave Boston at 8.40, Braintree at 9.02 and return at 5 P. M. Further details may be had of Mrs. Flora S. Matthewson, South Braintree, secretary.

ONE COUNTRY.

Frank Stanton.

After all,
One country, brethren! We must rise or fall
With the Supreme Republic. We must be
The makers of her immortality—
Her freedom, fame,
Her glory or her shame;
Liegemen to God and fathers of the free!

After all—
Hark! from the heights the clean, strong, clarion call,
And the command imperious: "Stand forth
Sons of the South and brothers of the North!
Stand forth and be
As on soil and sea—
Your country's honor more than empire's worth!"

After all
'Tis Freedom wears the loveliest coronal;
Her brow is to the morning; in the sod
She breathes the breath of patriots; every clod
Answer her call
And rises like a wall
Against the foes of liberty and God!

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, Lucas County, ss.
Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure. FRANK J. CHENEY.
Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.
A. W. GLEASON,
(Seal) Notary Public.
Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.
F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by all Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

MASSACHUSETTS PRESS ASSOCIATION

(Continued from Page two.)

up their voyces and sing "how dry I am! how dry I am!! Ye Lord only knows how dry I am," by which we confess we are aggravated and much put upon, although in spiritual state. So closely do ye two worlds associate!

After ye sun setting, and an agreeable viage over ye sea, ye shippe getteth to ye iland where is a congregation of ye Nantuckits with chariots and horses and men and small boys, and shouts and callings, one boy saying to another "hi! Jimmy them editor fellers have come agin," to which is made ye scornful reply "ah! g'wan, we haint got no show, they never have any money." Thereat we bethink us that we have no wampum, but presently rejoice in our spiritual esate, which is far better than real or personal estate, in that it doth not require either wampum or shekels and we are no further tribulated.

By pleasant wayes ye companie as driven to ye Sea Cliff Inn of one Folger, a masterful manager who with his very competent son as assistant well knoweth how to keep a publick in a very comfortable manner, and welcometh all in so kind and genial a way that each is at once perswaded with contentment. Ye hostelrie is beautiful for situation, purched on a hill whence ye land and great stretch of water may be seen on all sydes, and where pure breezes blow, its size much exceeding ye inns at Bawtry and Scrooby, from which towns and from Austerfield in olde England, we of ye first Pilgrim Companie did come, and with ye publicks thereat were familiar.

A great supper waiteth with all manner of goode things, fish from ye sea fresh caught, with roast fowles and meats, and fine wheaten bread and goode butter, together with tasteful varieties, exceeding in satisfaction when all is partaken. And we find this to be ye custom of ye hostelry, and usage which ye said Folger giveth to his guests throughout ye season of much warmness. He truly deserveth to profit well, as is likely, for through ye receiving of such generous treatment every scribe speaketh good words of Folger and his most excellent publick, so it becometh known from them in large degree.

With conscience void of offence, as are those of ye makers of newspapers, for their lyes are only misprints of ye types, and may therefore have forgiveness, they sleep ye sleep of just persons until a new daye awaketh them, and we hear certain of them talking of a bath, one yung woman averring that she hath not had one since she was here before, two years ago. Knowing her to be godly, one would have fore supposed ye accompanying virtue of cleanliness, in particular as her brite face hath ye appearance of having been washed within ye month. Yet she feeleth ye need of ye Atlantic ocean for a cleansing basin, and is setting off with companions of bothe sexes to ye shoar. "Curiosity, thy name is woman," hath been written by a great author, who might have added that man is strongly infected in like manner; for, being so seezed, we resolve to witness what improvement hath taken place over ye naturalness of early life when boys "went in swimming." Therefore ye chronicler followeth to ye beach, and observeth them coming from small closets of wood, clad in flannels of abbreviated dimensions, together with parts of ye native costume of our first parents modestly combined therewith. As becometh those of tender conscience whose desire to behold outrunneth ye ruling of ye inward monitor, we veil our face with our hand and look between ye fingers thereof, forgetting our spiritual state, so strong upon us is ye wordly observance that still pertaineth in like cases, and so difficult is habit to overcome. Entering, ye sea ye men swim about with short blowing breaths, like ye small porpus yclept puffing pigs, and doing divers tricks, like going under ye water so that ye women who can not see them and being frighted of lobsters do scream and scramble to ye shoar. Anon ye maids join hands, and up to their waists in water souse up and down with giggling and merriment. In this way it may be supposed that by friction of ye cloathing ye body is thereby cleansed, but how two years of neglect can be so shortly atoned for, ye narrator is not able to comprehend. Better that ye maid had a good English tubbing and rubbing, in ye old fashioned way. Yet ye beach partie appeareth refreshed and invigorated, and it is told that many sojourning at ye Sea Cliff Inn do likewise and much enjoy it and get good health by ye daily practis, from which it is deduced that baths two yeares apart are not frequent enough, which saying ye yung woman aforesaid should take to hart for her improvement.

On ye Sabbath many which are godly go to ye meeting house and behave seemly with worshipping after their faith, for not all have ye same likeness of faith, the which liberty of conscience we came out for, from our dear English homes, and firmly established in our Colonial planting at Plymouth, from which it spread so that ye present great nation doth boast of civil and religious liberty throughout its borders, and it rejoiceth our inmost soul to behold these great results and blessings. At evening singing and fine music doth much content.

There is great store of things which may be done in ye land of ye Nantuckits for diversion, when ye time is not desired to be passed in do nothingness and rest, and knowing of these ye companie in its sojurn from Saturday until ye following Tuesday doeth them. They ride to a quaint place called 'Sconset, which was formerly only a fishing village, and still containeth many of ye littel housen, some of which are so small that one can stand on ye ground beside them and yet reach ye roof with ye hand, but are now made into comfortable neasts of plesure. And withal there are great houses where rich people dwell in considerable state and with many appointments for their comfort.

At ye public hall caled ye "Casino," certain of ye inhabitants show to ye companie their good will and hospitalitie, by paying courteous attention and welcome, treating them with littel cakes and pleasant drinks, ye while holding agreeable converse. Several of ye colonie of actors which have their homes here, joyne in ye welcome, as doth one Hussey, a former member of ye newspaper craft, who with his good spouse and other gentlewomen, together with fair maids do much in ye way of entertainment.

On ye way to 'Sconset is ye "wireless," so caled, which verily savoureth of witchcraft, and had we not remembered our good pastor Robinson's injunction at parting from him in England to keep our minds constantly open for "more light," meaning thereby ye revealments both spiritual and temporal which should from time to time break forth, we should not have dared to listen to signals from ye very air, alleged to come many miles away from great shippes on ye ocean, bourne only, so far as appereth, on ye wings of ye wind, but really subject to a subtile force caled in these dayes electricity, of which men make great account, but of which we knew only as disastrous lightenings, doing naught but damage in their rendings. Yet one Franklin, whose surname was Benjamin, did, after our departure from earth, set a bait with a kyte in ye clouds and capture ye aforesaid litening, and now, in various wayes, it hath been tamed to do ye will of man so that he talketh with it, compelleth it to light his house and highways, to boil and to bake and to brew for him, be his beast of burden so that he driveth swiftly in chariots without use of a horse, and in this most wonderful and misterious waye to fly to ye ends of ye earth in a second with his messages of intelligence. Verily! "Great is ye Lord and greatly to be praised," when He giveth to men these great and goodly gifts, which he hath taught their minds to find out and guide for themselves.

Yea! we met on our return to earth for this little sojurnment, those who flew in ye air towards ye very heavens, yet not like angels, but riding straddle, as doth a witch, of machines which go speedily with great buzzing sounds, as if they were seeking to "take ye kingdom with violence," and not according to ye scripture. But unto this wildness of flight ye Nantuckits have not yet attained, wherefore their land is still one of quietness and rest which ye scribes and ye people all love.

Coming from 'sconset, they fetch a circuit about Sankaty, where there is a great light giving its rayes unto ye sea to far distance, and doing much goode to ye mariner, even as "a light unto ye gentiles," as ye scripture setteth forth. After this ye company, returneth to ye comfortable Inn for feasting and merry making, of which more anon.

Much may be written of ye hospitality of ye islanders, for their courteous natures impel them to offer to ye scribes and their women folk, various places of pastime and profit, so that they may be entertained with games, as tennis and golf, such as we never knew in England, but we behold lusty men swatting a kind of hard small pill, with violent blows, across ye fields with clubs of iron, causing ye said pill to alight in various small holes in ye ground. Therein must be much delight, for ye great ruler of ye nation, so at times indulgeth himself, and getteth much enjoyment therefrom, it is so said.

Ye Historic Societie of ye iland hath great store of olde and curious things to interest ye later generations, and this companie taketh much pleasure in beholding them. Ye pots and ye kittles and ye kitchen utensils of our own daye are there, and ye sight is goodly to us as the greeting of old friends. Even as our trusty Captain Myles Standish, though small in stature was mighty, a certain man of ye fraternity of scribes, one Starbuck surnamed Alexander, not of great body but large of heart and regardfulness, presideth over ye Historic Society, and instigateth ye curtesy wherewith ye brethren are received. A great admiral of ye English navy had his nativity on ye iland, and in remembrance thereof established a schoole thereat for ye teaching of learning and sundry useful arts, ye which school openeth to such as wish to see and experience ye kindliness of those who now carry into practis ye will of ye said admiral, whose patronimick is Coffin, a famous and well beloved name in ye old families of ye iland, as are many, such as Macy, Starbuck, Folger and ye like, who made many viages to far lands and uttermost parts in ye pursuit of ye great leviathans of ye deep, one of which it readeth in ye scripture did swallow Jonah, but was not able to keep him on its stomach, whether of bad taste we know not, but ye great fish was nauseated and cast him out of its mouth upon ye dry land, mercifully preserving ye life of ye said Jonah for he could not have swam that far distance.

A strange custom that we observe, is that without committing crime people sojourning among ye Nantuckits often get into ye jail, paying therefor a stipend or small bribe to ye jailer, we suppose to insure ye letting of them out again. Yet that last seemeth not necessary, for it is told that a solitary man put there for some misdemenour, did threaten ye constable that he would not stay, if ye people of ye country did not keep ye building in repair, for his health was endangered by such gross neglect. In our days of ye Colonie at Plymouth we punished by setting in ye stocks, or public pilloury, and no such lightness of language was allowed whereby our jurisdiction and authority were contemned, but great freedom of both tung and pen in these times obtaineth, and ye fellows of ye press and ye scribes with which we now company, do in their ready wrightings say what pleaseth them, and as we have seen among them at present, on this iland, have to spend good coin of ye realm to get into ye jail, esteeming it to be a privilege and entertainment of a sort.

Ye Nantuckits possess many stanch crafts in which to sail for pleasure or like ye good apostles of ye scripture to go a fishing, yet not like ye aforesaid godly men to take ye fish in draughts by net but with long lines trailing behind on which ye blue fish in its season is prone to hook himself and with much resistance constraineth ye fisherman laboriously to pull him to ye boat, this greatness of effort and ye joy of capture being esteemed much sport. Ye craft have one mast and a great sayle and are larger and more seaworthy than our shallop of ye Mayflower and are caled "Catts." Ye reason for ye name we cannot learn truly, ye only resemblance, which indeed goeth by contrariness, being that ye boat hath her mast at ye extreme forward part and ye feline animal hath her spar at ye hinder end, and is said to use it like a helm or rudder in ye quick turning of corners, or to twist over her body when falling from a hight so that she always alighteth on her feet, but perhaps this is but a tall. However ye boat is exceeding quick in going about or tacking from one course to another and in this may be likened unto ye catt for facility of turning.

None of ye contrivances yclept autos, buzz carts or devil wagons pertain to Nantuckit, for they are so speedy and careless oftentimes as to be dangerous, and ye ilanders will not own or allow them, but there is a little way of iron, with vehicles and small furnace for travel to a far part of ye iland, such as ye larger one on which ye company came to woods hole. Many, attracted by its smallness, ride thereon and some scribes aver that it may grow to size with years. We know not this saying, but in relation to ye iron track esteem it to be railery, while yet we have heard that a man owning a pair of pistols did raise a gun. This too seemeth to be idle talk as ye newspaper men say alledged things of humor, which we staid and slow witted people of ye olde country do not comprehend, until after lapse of tyme, by study, we get at ye hidden meaning. Yet we do not truly believe about ye gun, unless it be a blunder buss, like to a man kissing his wife, in ye dark thinking her to be ye maid.

It pleasureth all to wander at will in so charming a place, and, whether sitting at ye Inn on ye open air platforms, (ye men smoaking tobacco which now cometh from ye Connecticut plantations, as formerly only from Virginia and ye Indies, and probably as far as their knowledge goeth just as good.)—ye women folk retailing light conversation or listening to sweet musick which is caused to play for delectation of ye companie, it is altogether good and restful in great measure that ye daily grind of work is forsaken to take on newness of life by ease at this best of hostelries. Thus passeth ye days with exceeding and reasonable enjoyment. As ye end approacheth ye Tom tom again soundeth for a great feast, even like to ye thanksgiving for plentifulness which we as governor instituted at Plymouth in 1621, and hath since annually been kept, so that it hath spread throughout ye land. Ye présent companie gathereth at tables, laden with many good things, to enjoy ye eating thereof, and afterward to listen with profit and great pleasure to guests of distinction who honor ye occasion with their presence. First of these is ye honorable Lieut, Governor of ye Massachusetts, one Frothingham, whom many, for his exceeding fitness, agree shall be ye next full Governor. He speaketh excellent words, both of wisdom and entertainment, which proveth him goodly in heart and character, and as is said by ye godly in ye churches should "make his calling and election sure." After him cometh ye honorable ye secretary of state, one Langtry, who being of ye craft is with them as ancient Zerubbabel "one whom ye king delighteth to honor." Likewise one Cushing of ye honorable Council and others of ye great and general court, and ye kindly, genial and beloved minister one Snyder who liveth on ye iland and dearly regardeth it with its people.

All of these with facility of speech entertain greatly ye companie, which verily hath a joyous time, exceeding any that hath gone before.

After ye banquet those that have light harts and light heels merry make in ye lower hall with ye dance to lively musick the which hath not our disapproval, for did not David dance before ye ark in token of his joyfulness the like of which these do feel and herein express? Verily! were we mortal and Alice Carpenter by our side, we should be tempted also to join these fair, winsome maids, gentlewomen and their stout youths and goodmen in these rounds of pleasure, though we wonder why their heads do not swim with dizzyness, as they circle about with smiles on their faces which do not come off, even with ye moisture of ye sweat which is like that on ye countenance of ye great sachem Massasoit, when we gave him of ye strong waters to drink and whereof he took a great draught.

It is appointed on ye noon of Tuesday to again take shippe, the which is accordingly done, and ye main is safely reached, and ye companie bestowed forthwith in Mellen's vehickles, all satisfied with each other and ye good time they have had together. Truly, although they have not known that we have accompanied their going out and coming in, it hath been a joy to our hart and mutchly we like each and every one, for they are indeed very goodly people. At ye middle-borough, to which we have often journeyed on foot with weariness to see our friends ye salvages of ye tribe of Massasoit, one Doten with his retinue sayeth goodbye, meaning not to go to boston, but to take a shorter cutt through ye woods for his home at Plymouth, and so, minded that he is a kinsman of ye 7th generation, we company him to see that he restoreth this manuscript to ye place from which, without our knowledge and consent, he tooke it and hath made its contents known. How be it we are not really offended, for it is thus shown that wayes of communication between ye spiritual and ye mortal may yet be opened, when men have not such thick skulls and density of brain, so we may then look through and read their thoughts as from a booke, and write upon ye gray matter as on a fair page. May ye blessing of Mispah be with you all! and health and happiness with each abide.

Your Loving Friend,
William Bradford.

NOBEL'S HOME BURNED

Son and Daughter of Russian Oil Magnate Perish In Flames

Viborg, Finland, July 6.—The palatial country house here of Ludwig Nobel, the multi-millionaire oil magnate of St. Petersburg, was destroyed by fire.

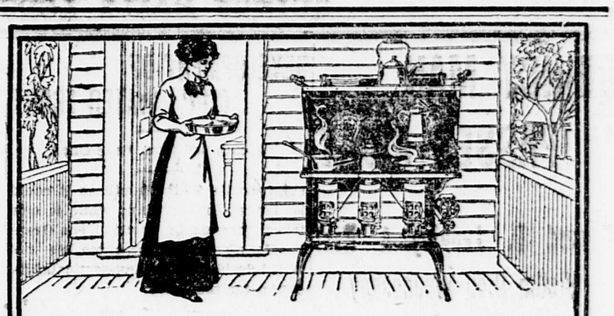
Nobel's son and daughter, aged 7 and 5 respectively, were burned to death. Their governess made heroic efforts to save her charges, and on failing went raving mad and attempted to commit suicide.

Novelist Kester Dead

Washington, July 6. —Vaughan Kester, the novelist, died at his home in Fairfax county, Va., after a long illness. He was 41 years old and a native of New Brunswick, N. J.

Piece of Ambergris Worth $150,000

Victoria, B. C., July 6.—A piece of ambergris said to be worth $150,000 was taken from a whale killed by the whaler Petriana, which arrived here.



Do Your Cooking in the Cool

A hot kitchen is little better than a prison in summer. But the range is there, so all the cooking and the washing must be done there, too.

What a relief it would be to move the range where you pleased. You can do this with a New Perfection Oil Cook-stove—cook your dinner out on the porch, if you like. It is the only range that is really portable—that works equally well in any place. There are no connections to be made, as in a gas range; no wiring, as with an electric stove; no sooty flues and ash-filled grates, as with coal or wood.

The long, enameled chimneys carry the heat directly up to saucepans, oven or boiler; you get full value from your fuel, without waste.

New Perfection WICK BLUE FLAME Oil Cook-stove

Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners, with long, turquoise blue enameled chimneys. Handsomely finished throughout. The 2- and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without a cabinet top, which is fitted with drop shelves, towel racks, etc.

Dealers everywhere; or write for descriptive circular to the nearest agency of the Standard Oil Company (Incorporated)

NEW PERFECTION OIL COO-KSTOVES
ARE SOLD BY
HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
AT PRICES THAT ARE THE LOWEST IN NEW ENGLAND

NOTICE

If you have not ordered your Coal Do It NOW

The Price is at Its Lowest

Take advantage of it by placing your order NOW with

J. F. SHEPPARD & SONS

Tel. 232-L 27 Granite St., Quincy

Are You Going Away?

If so have the DAILY LEDGER sent to your vacation address. You cannot afford to be without your home paper.

FILL OUT THIS BLANK

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER:—

Send the Daily Ledger for _____ ddress below.

_____

_____

SEND YOUR ORDER AT ONCE

THE PERFECT WAY

Scores of Quincy Citizens Have Learned It.

If you suffer from backache,
There is only one way to cure it.
The perfect way is to cure the kidneys.
A bad back means sick kidneys.
Neglect it, urinary troubles follow.
Doan's Kidney Pills are made for kidneys only.
Are endorsed by Quincy people.
W. Charlesworth, 33 Cranch Street, Quincy, Mass., says. "About five years ago I began to suffer from kidney trouble. I had pains in my back which were very severe at times and cold or damp weather aggravated my suffering. I knew that my kidneys were at fault and used everything I could think of in an effort to obtain relief, but to no avail. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills highly advertised, I finally decided to give them a trial and procured a supply at the Cox Drug Store. Before I had finished the contents of two boxes, the backache was a thing of the past and I felt better in every way. Doan's Kidney Pills have my highest endorsement."
For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.
Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Faded Draperies Dyed

Your draperies can be dyed to look like new, send us yours and be convinced. Phone or write and our team will call.

WARSHAW'S
DYE HOUSE
EST. 1892
1503 HANCOCK STREET
QUINCY
May 12-tf

WHY OWN WEBSTER'S NEW INTERNATIONAL DICTIONARY

THE MERRIAM WEBSTER?

Because it is a NEW CREATION, covering every field of the world's thought, action and culture. The only new unabridged dictionary in many years.

Because it defines over 400,000 Words; more than ever before appeared between two covers. 2700 Pages. 6000 Illustrations.

Because it is the only dictionary with the new divided page. A "Stroke of Genius."

Because it is an encyclopedia in a single volume.

Because it is accepted by the Courts, Schools and Press as the one supreme authority.

Because he who knows Wins Success. Let us tell you about this new work.

WRITE for specimen of new divided page.
G. & C. MERRIAM CO., Publishers, Springfield, Mass.
Mention this paper, receive FREE a set of pocket maps.

HOUSEKEEPERS
TELL YOUR TROUBLES
HOLMES & HALL
We make a business of repairing the things about the house that get out of order such as DOORS, LOCKS, SHADES, BELLS and FURNITURE.
96 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 974 L

PATENTS
TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 25 years experience. Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.
READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.
D. SWIFT & CO.
PATENT LAWYERS,
303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

THE DANGER TRAIL

By JAMES OLIVER CURWOOD

Copyright, 1910, by Bobbs-Merrill Company.

(Continued from last issue)

For an instant Howland neither thought nor reasoned. Had he done so he would probably have met his mysterious assailant, pitting his naked fists against the knife. But the very mainspring of his existence, which is self preservation, called on him to do otherwise. Before the startled cry on his lips found utterance he flung himself face downward in the snow. The move saved him, and as the other stumbled over his body, pitching headlong into the trail, he snatched forth his revolver. Before he could fire there came a roar like that of a beast from behind and a terrific blow fell on his head. Under the weight of a second assailant he was crushed to the snow. his pistol slipped from his grasp and two great hands choked a despairing cry from his throat. He saw a face over him, distorted with passion, a huge neck, eyes that flamed like angry garnets. He struggled to free his pinioned arms, to wrench off the death grip at his throat, but his efforts were like those of a child against a giant. In a last terrible attempt he drew up his knees inch by inch under the weight of his enemy. It was his only chance, his only hope. Even as he felt the fingers about his throat sinking like hot iron into his flesh and the breath slipping from his body, he remembered this murderous knee punch taught to him by the rough fighters of the inland seas, and with all the life that remained in him he sent it crushing into the other's abdomen.

It was a moment before he knew that it had been successful, before the film cleared from his eyes and he saw his assailant groveling in the snow. He rose to his feet, dazed and staggering from the effect of the blow on his head and the murderous grip at his throat. Half a pistol shot down the trail he saw indistinctly the twisting of black objects in the snow, and as he stared one of the objects came toward him.

HIS EFFORTS WERE LIKE THOSE OF A CHILD AGAINST A GIANT.

"Do not fire, M'seur Howland," he heard a voice call. "It ees I—Jean Croisset, a friend! Blessed saints, that was—what you call heem—close call?"

The half breed's thin dark face came up smiling out of the white gloom. For a moment Howland did not see him—scarcely heard his word. Wildly he looked about him for the girl. She was gone.

"I happened here—just in time—with a club," continued Croisset. "Come, we must go."

The smile had gone from his face and there was a commanding firmness in the grip that fell on the young engineer's arm. Howland was conscious that things were twisting about him and that there was a strange weakness in his limbs. Dumbly he raised his hands to his head, which hurt him until he felt as if he must cry out in his pain.

"The girl"— he gasped weakly.

Croisset's arm tightened about his waist.

"She ees gone!" Howland heard him say, and there was something in the half breed's low voice that caused him to turn unquestioningly and stagger along beside him in the direction of Prince Albert.

And yet as he went, only half conscious of what he was doing and leaning more and more heavily on his companion, he knew that it was more than the girl's disappearance that he wanted to understand, for as the blow had fallen on his head he was sure that he had heard a woman's scream, and as he lay in the snow, dazed and choking, spending his last effort in his struggle for life, there had come to him as if from an infinite distance a woman's voice, and the words that it had uttered pounded in his tortured brain now as his head dropped weakly against Croisset's shoulder.

"Mon Dieu, you are killing him—killing him!"

"I must carry you, M'seur Howland," Jean said. And as he staggered out on the ice with his inanimate burden he spoke softly to himself, "The saints preserve me, but what would the sweet Meleese say if she knew that Jean Croisset had come so near to losing the life of this m'seur le engineer?"

In only a subconscious sort of way was Howland cognizant of anything more that happened that night. When he came back into a full sense of his existence he found himself in his bed at the hotel. There was a dull, aching pain in his head and neck, and when he raised an inquiring hand it came in contact with a thick bandage.

Soon there came a sound at the door, and he twisted his head, grimacing with the pain it caused him. Jean was looking in at him.

"Ah, m'seur ees awake!" he said.

"Is it bad, Croisset?"

"So bad that you will be in bed for a day or so, m'seur. That is all."

"Impossible!" cried the young engineer. "I must take the 8 o'clock train in the morning. I must be in Le Pas"—

"It is 5 o'clock now," interrupted Jean softly. "Do you feel like going?"

Howland straightened himself and fell back suddenly with a sharp cry.

"The devil!" he exclaimed. After a moment he added, "There will be no other train for two days." As he raised a hand to his aching head his other closed tightly about Jean's lithe brown fingers. "I want to thank you for what you did, Croisset. I don't know what happened. I don't know who they were or why they tried to kill me. There was a girl. I was going with her"—

He dropped his hand in time to see the strange fire that had leaped into the half breed's eyes. In astonishment he half lifted himself again, his white face questioning Croisset.

"Do you know?" he whispered eagerly. "Who was she? Why did she lead me into that ambush? Why did they attempt to kill me?"

With a quick movement the half breed drew away his hand and moved toward the door. Halfway he paused and turned.

"M'seur, I have come to you with a warning. Do not go to Le Pas. Do not go to the big railroad camp on the Wekusko. Return into the south. Perhaps you will understand when I tell you this warning is sent to you by the little Meleese."

Before Howland could recover from his surprise Croisset had passed swiftly through the door. For a long time he lay with his eyes closed trying to clear for himself the mystery of the preceding night. The one thought which obsessed him was that he had been duped. His lovely acquaintance of the preceding evening had ensnared him completely with her gentle smile and her winsome mouth, and he gritted his teeth grimly as he reflected how easy he had been. Deliberately she had lured him into the ambush which would have proved fatal for him had it not been for Jean Croisset. And she was not a mute! He had heard her voice. When that death grip was tightest about his throat there had come to him that terrified cry, "Mon dieu, you are killing him—killing him!"

His breath came a little faster as he whispered the words to himself. They appealed to him now with a significance which he had not understood at first. He was sure that in that cry there had been real terror; almost, he fancied, as he lay with his eyes shut tight that he could still hear the shrill note of despair in the voice. If the girl had calmly led him into the ambush why in the last moment when success seemed about to crown her duplicity had she cried out in that agony of terror?

Was it possible that face and eyes like those could have led him into a death trap? Despite the evidence of what had happened he found himself filled with doubt. And yet, after all, she had lied to him, for she was not a mute.

Vainly as he watched and waited he racked his mind to find some reason for the murderous attack on himself. Who was "the little Meleese," whom Croisset declared had sent the warning? So far as he could remember he had never known a person by that name. And yet the half breed had uttered it as though it would carry a vital meaning to him. "Perhaps you will understand," he had said.

The first light of the day was falling faintly through the window when footsteps sounded outside the door again. It was not Croisset who appeared this time, but the proprietor himself, bearing with him a tray on which there was toast and a steaming pot of coffee.

"Bad fall you had," he greeted, drawing a small table close beside the bed. "Good thing Croisset was with you!"

"Yes—it—was—a—bad—fall," he replied at last, looking sharply at the other. "Where is Croisset?"

"Gone. He left an hour ago with his dogs. Funny fellow, that Croisset! Came in yesterday from the Lac la Ronge country a hundred miles north; goes back today. No apparent reason for his coming, none for his going that I can see."

"Do you know anything about him?" asked Howland a little eagerly.

"No. He comes in about once or twice a year."

(To be Continued.)

NO BROTH-SPOILING THESE DAYS

Mr. X.—Well did you get a cook that suited you at the employment agency.

Mrs. X.—No; I couldn't even get a cook that didn't suit me.

Children Cry
FOR FLETCHER'S
CASTORIA

SEVEN BOATS ARE DISABLED

British Sea-Going Torpedo Boat Destroyers a Failure

HULLS ARE BADLY STRAINED

Rivets of Plates Start In All Directions, Water Pouring Into Oil Bunkers and Rendering Fuel Useless While Trials at Twenty-Eight Knots Are Being Attempted—Expectations Are Not Realized

London, July 6.—Seven of Great Britain's newest ocean-going torpedo boat destroyers have been put out of action by over-straining their hulls while under full speed trials in the heavy sea of the English channel.

The destroyers Acorn, Alarm, Rifleman, Nemesis, Lyra, Nymphe and Larne reached Portland in such a leaky condition tha all available divers were requisitioned to close the gaps in their seams, pending docking.

The trouble was the result of the tremendous vibration of the powerful engines driving the little warships at a speed of twenty-eight knots through the rough water. The rivets of the plates were started in all directions, opening gaps which caused the water to pour into the oil bunkers and rendering the fuel useless.

When the plans were announced for the new destroyers, of the type which has been proven such poor sea-boats, there was an immediate protest. They were believed to be too slow, the contract speed being only twenty-seven knots, in contrast to the earlier type of a speed up to thirty-two and thirty-three knots.

Several vessels of this class were constructed, as follows: Fury, Hope, Sheldrake, Staunch, Nemesis, Nereide, Nymphe, Chameleon, Comet, Goldfinch, Acorn, Alarm, Brisk, Redpole, Rifleman, Ruby, Larne, Lyra, Martin and Minstrel.

The details of these vessels have never been made known; they are, however, of over 1000 tons each, with a speed of twenty-nine knots. It was expected that both in radius of action and in armament they would show an advance on all previous types.

YELL TO CONVINCE COURT

Policeman's Warning to Autoist Considered Satisfactory

Cambridge, Mass., July 6.—Healey and Horrigan, husky Cambridge "cops," yelled for Judge Walcott in Cambridge district court till the resultant air waves caused a cooling draught.

It was the case of Charles Kidd, charged with failing to stop his automobile, also with neglect to sound his horn at crosswalks.

His honor desired to be chown how loud Healey yelled. So Healey opened his mouth and unleashed a bellow that nigh stopped the court clock.

Judge Walcott then asked Horrigan how loud Healey yelled. Horrigan drew a couple of deep breaths, opened his mouth and roared like yells like that and fined Kidd $25.

Judge Walcott decided Kidd heard yells like that and fined Kidd $25.

VAIN HUNT BY POLICE

Seeking Fugitive to Find What He Knows of Double Murder

Natick, Mass., July 6.—After following up several supposed clues, the police have discovered no trace of Peter George, sought in connection with the murder of Phillip Fappa and Stilo Stoi on July 4.

Ralso Meti, the other man who was stabbed in the affray, is clinging to life by a thread. Though he was told that he could not live, Meti still refuses to disclose the name of his assailant. Members of the Albanian colony steadily refuse to acknowledge that they know anything about the affray or its causes.

APPLAUDS PEACE LEAD

Copy of Pope's Autograph Letter Is Sent to White House

Washington, July 6.—Pope Pius X, in an autograph letter received by the apostolic delegate to Washington, applauds the lead taken by the United States in the world-wide campaign for international peace.

Although the pontiff does not mention President Taft specifically by name, a copy of the letter was forwarded to the White House. It is expected the president, because of his well known peace views, will reply to the cordial sentiments of the pope.

Champ Clark Losing $1000 a Week

Washington, July 6.—Speaker Champ Clark is losing $1000 a week because congress is remaining in session. He had a contract with a Chicago lecture bureau to take the platform on July 1.

Kivel Stays on License Board

Concord, N. H., July 6.—John Kivel of Dover was reappointed as a member of the state license commission by Governor Bass last night, and the appointment was confirmed by the council.

SENATOR LUKE LEA

Youngest Member of Senate Made Sacrifice For Wife

THE LEAS QUIT HOSPITAL

Senator and His Wife on the Road to Complete Recovery

Washington, July 6.—Senator and Mrs. Luke Lea of Tennessee, who have been patients at a local hospital several weeks past, had so far recovered yesterday afternoon that they were able to leave the city for a nearby mountain resort.

Senator Lea, weakened by the transfusion of blood to save the life of his wife, is rapidly regaining strength, and expects soon to resume his active duties.

RECEPTION TO KING GEORGE IS BLOCKED

Nationalists In Dublin Council Start a Wrangle

Dublin, July 6.—Several municipal aldermen and councilors were mobbed and beaten just outside city hall, following a discussion of the reception for King George on his coming visit to this city.

The outbreak followed a meeting of the Nationalist members of the municipal council, when a resolution that a telegram be sent to King George requesting him not to receive Lord Mayor Farrell was adopted.

The objection to Farrell was based on charges of inconsistent conduct. Farrell declared he would defy the council in its decision not to tender a civic reception to the king until he comes to open the Irish parliament.

The lord mayor says he will welcome the king in person, despite the vote of the council.

MRS. HEATH LOSES SUIT

Asked $50,000 For Alleged Alienation of Husband's Affections

Cambridge, Mass., July 6.—Mrs. Emma F. Heath of Malden lost her suit against Mrs. Sarah F. Merriam, a wealthy widow, 74 years of age, of Malden, in which damages in $50,000 were claimed for the alleged alienation of the affections of Mrs. Heath's husband, Nathaniel P. Heath.

Judge Bell of the superior civil court, before whom the suit, teeming with sensational charges, was tried early this year, yesterday afternoon handed down a decision in Mrs. Merriam's favor. The suit was tried first in May of last year, when the jury failed to agree.

Heath was a real estate broker and at one time was manager for Mrs. Merriam's Hotel Evelyn in Malden.

THIRTY-SEVEN DEATHS

Day's Record of Heat Victims In Boston and Its Suburbs

Boston, July 6.—Residents of Boston and its suburbs underwent another day of stifling, prostrating heat yesterday. The death toll reached a total of thirty-seven and the prostrations numbered several hundred.

Two persons who had been driven crazy by the furnace-like atmosphere attempted suicide.

Heat sufferers crowded the bridges, parks and other open spots last night. The common was the sleeping place for a vast multitude who had temporarily deserted their homes, the parks being thrown open for sleeping by order of Acting Mayor Collins.

TWENTY-FOUR FATALITIES

Sane Fourth Has Wonderfully Reduced the Death List

Chicago, July 6.—The sane Fourth idea triumphed in the United States, and as a result only twenty-four persons paid their lives to the cause of patriotism, against many times that number in former years, according to the reports gathered by the Chicago Tribune.

Throughout the country 881 persons were seriously hurt.

Boston Tourists In Brussels

Brussels, July 6.—The delegation of Boston business men arrived here and was given a reception by the chamber of commerce. Later the party was received by the burgomaster at the city hall.

HOUSEHOLD RECIPES.

Cherries. Wash, stem and look over carefully, rejecting any that may be decayed or wormy, and remove the pits. To five quarts of fruit allow three pints of sugar. Put the sugar in the preserving kettle with just enough water to dissolve it, and when boiling hot add the fruit and cook slowly for ten minutes. Fill jars quickly and seal.

Golden Spice Cake. Cream half a cup of butter with one cup of brown sugar and add the yolks of four eggs and one whole egg beaten together. Stir in half a cup each of milk and molasses, two and one-half cups of sifted flour in which a level teaspoonful of soda has been mixed, half a teaspoonful of clove, one teaspoonful of cinnamon, one-fourth of a grated nutmeg, a few grains of cayenne and a little grated lemon peel. Bake in a square loaf, in a moderate oven, for an hour, and when cold invert and cover the bottom with a marshmallow frosting.

Clam Fritters. Take the largest clams you can procure, drain off the liquor and use one half cup of it for the batter. Stir in two tablespoonfuls of flour, one half teaspoonful of baking powder, one tablespoonful of minced green pepper and the well beaten yolk of one egg, then add the choppd clams, from eight to 12, according to the size, and when well mixed add the stiffly beaten whites. Fry in large cakes in a spider in plenty of hot lard.—Mary J. Lincoln.

Boiled Icing. Boil one cup of sugar and one-third of a cup of water together until it will thread. Pour this syrup slowly on to the white of a well-beaten egg. Beat thoroughly. Add one teaspoonful of vanila. Spread on the cake. Boil from 10 to 15 minutes in order to have the syrup "thread." In testing it, use cold spoon, as the syrup will not thread from a hot one until it is cooked too much. The melted sugar must be poured over the egg very slowly, one person beating the egg with an egg beater, while the other is adding the syrup.

CHICHESTER S PILLS
THE DIAMOND BRAND.
Ladies! Ask your Druggist for Chi-ches-ter's Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with Blue Ribbon. Take no other. Buy of your Druggist. Ask for CHI-CHESTER S DIAMOND BRAND PILLS, for 25 years known as Best, Safest, Always Reliable
SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

Boston & Northern St. Ry. Co.

QUINCY DIVISION
TIME TABLE

In effect June 24th, 1911.
Subject to Change Without Notice

Leave QUINCY for

Brockton, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M. then 9.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Brockton, 6.30, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 9.30 P. M Sundays, 8.00A. M. then same as week days.

Braintree, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Braintree, 6.25 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.25 P. M. Sundays, 7.55 A. M. then same as week days.

East Milton, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Milton, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M., and every 20 minutes to 11.45 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.15 midnight.) Sundays, 7.25, A. M. then same as week days.

East Weymouth, 6.00, 6.15, 6.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.42 P. M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Weymouth, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.45 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Holbrook, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M. then 9.50 and 10.20 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Holbrook, 5.55, 6.25, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.00 P. M. Sundays, 8.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Houghs Neck, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 5.20, 5.45, 6.10 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 4.10 P. M. then 4.25, 4.40, 4.55, 5.10, 5.25, 5.40, 5.55, 6.10, 6.25, 6.40, 6.55, 7.10 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 11.10 P. M. then 11.49 P. M. Saturdays and Holidays, 5.20, 5.45, 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, 10.10, 10.40, A. M. then every 15 minutes to 10.40 P. M. then 11.10 and 11.49 P. M. Sundays, 6.50, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, 10.10, 10.40 A. M. then every 15 minutes to 10.40 P. M. then 11.10 P. M. Return, leave Houghs Neck Mondays to Fridays, both inc. 5.45, 6.05, 6.35 A. M. and ever 30 minutes to 4.35 P. M. then 4.50, 5.05, 5.20, 5.35, 5.50, 6.05, 6.20, 6.35, 6.50, 7.05, 7.20, 7.35 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 12.05 midnight. Saturdays and Holidays, 5.45, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05, A. M. then every 15 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.35 and 12.05 P. M. Sundays, 7.20, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05 A. M. then every 15 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.35 P. M.

Nantasket 8.25 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 9.25 P. M. Sundays, 9.25 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Nantasket, 10.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.00 P. M. Sundays, 10.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Hancock Street, 5.45, 6.14, 6.44, 7.14, 7.44, 8.14, 8.35, A. M. then 5, 14, 35 and 44 minutes past each hour to 10.14 P. M. then 12.14 midnight. Sundays 7.14 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Neponset 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, 8.07, 8.35, 8.37, 9.05, 9.37 A. M. then 5, 7, 35 and 37 minutes past each hour to 11.07 P. M. then 12.37 midnight. Sundays, 7.37 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Wollaston, 5.59 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.59 P. M. then 11.14 and 11.44 P. M. Sundays, 6.59 A. M. then same as week days. Return leave Neponset, 6.22 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.22 P. M. then 11.37, 12.07 P. M. Sundays, 7.22 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Norfolk Downs, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 7.55, 8.25, 8.50, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 1.30 P. M. then 2.05, 2.35 P. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.05 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.00 P. M.) Sundays, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Neponset, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 1.35 P. M. then 2.00, 2.30 P. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M.) Sundays, 8.30, 9.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Weymouth Landing, 5.20, 6.00, 6.20, 6.55, 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.00 P. M. Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days. Return leave Weymouth Landing, 5.40, 6.15, A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.15 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Wollaston, 5.59 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.59 P. M. then 11.14 and 11.44 P. M. Sundays, 6.59 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Wollaston, 6.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.30 P. M. then 11.50 and 12.20 P. M. Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days.

West Quincy, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave West Quincy, 6.00, 6.20, 6.50, A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.50 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.20 midnight) Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days.

Leave NEPONSET BRIDGE for Squantum, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 3.30 P. M. then 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30 P. M. then every 60 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Saturdays, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Sundays, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. (Note—Week Days, cars will leave Atlantic Bridge for Squantum, 5.45 and 6.15 A. M.) Return leave Squantum, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 4.05 P. M. then 4.35, 5.05, 5.35, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05 P. M. then every 60 minutes to 11.05 P. M. Saturdays, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 10.05 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. Sundays, 8.05 9.05, 10.05, A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M.

THOMAS GAMMON,
Superintendent.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

In effect June 4, 1911

The letters in the same line as the figures below stand for different stations and indicate that trains stop as follows.

a Wollaston,	f Harrison Square
b Norfolk Downs	g Savin Hill
c Atlantic	h Crescent Avenue
d Neponset	i South Boston
e Pope's Hill	r Quincy Adams

Exp.—Express train.

TO BOSTON			FROM BOSTON
Leave	Stop	Arrive	Leave	Stop	Arrive
r 5 14 abcdefghi		5 41	5 45 ihgfedeba		6 14 r
r 6 16 abci		6 35	6 12 ihgfedeba		6 39 r
r 6 33 e		6 48	6 30 a		6 47
r 6 40 abcf		7 00	7 15 hgfedeba		7 41 r
r 7 08 abcd		7 39	7 41 a		7 58
r 7 25 d		7 42	7 45 e		8 03 r
r 7 33 Exp		7 48	8 35 eb		8 53
r 7 42 ab		8 00	8 42 a		8 59
7 57 a		8 13	9 10 fedba		9 32 r
r 8 09 abcd		8 31	9 45 a		10 11 r
r 8 30 Exp		8 45	10 15 ihgfedeba		10 41 r
r 8 53 ad		9 10	10 50 Exp		11 05
r 9 15 abc		9 33	11 15 hgfedeba		11 41 r
r 10 03 a		10 20	11 50 a		12 07
r 10 19 abcdefghi		10 45	12 15 hgfedeba		12 41 r
11 12 a		11 28	12 37 a		12 54 r
r 11 24 abcdefgh		11 50	12 50 Exp		1 05
12 04 a		12 20	1 11 fedeba		1 32 r
r 12 25 abcdefghi		12 52	1 45 a		2 02
1 22 a		1 40	2 15 ihgf		2 37 r
2 04 a		2 20	2 35 Exp		2 50
r 2 19 abcdefgh		2 45	3 15 hgfedeba		3 40 r
r 3 13 Exp		3 28	3 45 a		4 02
4 04 a		4 20	4 12 fedeba		4 34 r
r 4 25 abcdefgh		4 52	4 41 d		4 58
5 06 Exp		5 20	5 14 a		5 31 r
r 5 30 abcdefg		5 55	5 24 a		5 42
6 12 a		6 30	5 31 dcb		5 50 r
7 22 Exp		7 37	5 43 a		6 00 r
r 7 50 a		7 46	5 55 fedeba		6 21 r
r 8 07 abcdef		8 30	6 14 Exp		6 30 r
r 9 01 abc		9 29	6 30 eeba		6 51 r
10 04 a		10 20	7 00 fedeba		7 24 r
r 10 07 abcdef		10 30	7 12 a		7 29
r 11 25 abc		11 45	8 05 ba		8 32
			9 25 dba		9 46 r
			10 35 fedeba		11 02 r
			11 10 fedeba		11 35 r
			11 30 ba		11 49

SUNDAYS

r	7 43 abc	8 03	6 30 ba		6 48 r
	8 30 Exp	8 45	8 45 ihgfedeba		9 13 r
	8 34 abc	8 52	9 05 Exp		9 21
r	8 46 bcdefghi	9 13	10 15 ihgfedeba		10 42 r
r	9 13 abc	9 33	12 15 ihgfedeba		12 42 r
	9 31 a	9 47	12 45 Exp		1 01
	10 23 ac	10 40	1 30 ihgfedeba		1 57 r
	10 31 Exp	10 47	2 15 higfedeba		2 42 r
	11 00 Exp	11 17	2 45 a		3 02
r	11 16 abcdefghi	11 43	3 15 ihgfedeba		3 42 r
	1 02 Exp	1 17	4 27 eba		4 48 r
r	1 16 abcdefgh	1 43	5 15 ihgfedeba		5 42 r
r	3 10 abc	3 30	6 15 ihgfedeba		6 42 r
r	4 16 abcdefghi	4 43	7 00 eba		7 19 r
r	5 07 abc	5 27	8 15 ihgfedeba		8 41 r
r	6 16 abcdefghi	6 43	8 50 Exp		9 05
r	7 16 abcdefghi	7 42	9 30 ihgfedeba		9 57 r
r	8 11 abcdefghi	8 38	10 45 eba		11 04 r
r	9 05 a	9 22
r	10 46 abc	11 05
r	11 01 abc	11 20

West Quincy for Boston (stopping at East Milton)-6.23, 6.56, 7.17, 8.04, 8.11, 9.07 10.09, 11.01, A. M. 12.09, 1.23, 2.09, 3.18, 4.09, 5.13 6.06, 7.19, 9.09, 11.14 P. M. Sundays- 8.29, 9.20 A. M. 12.59, 5.15, 6.53, 11.02 P. M.

Boston for West Quincy (stopping at East Milton)-6.35, 7.27, 8.23, 9.35, 10.25 11.36 A. M. 12.25 1.25, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 5.47, 6.18 7.20, 9.10, 11.20 P. M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M.

Montclair for Boston 6.29, 7.2', 8 17, 10 15, A. M. 12.15, 1.29, 4.15, 5.20, 6.12, 7.2', 9.15, P. M. Sundays - 8.26, 9.26, A. M. 1.06, 5.21, 11.09 P. M.

Boston for Montclair 9.35, 10.25, 11.35, A. M. 12.25, 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 6.18, 11.20 P. M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M. 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M.

UPHOLSTERING

My only ambition is to get the work and to show the people of Quincy Town that nobody can beat me with my good work. Low prices on all kinds of furniture, repairing, mattresses, and cushions. Can give references. M. Mirkin 67 Washington street, next to Y.M.C.A. Quincy. Tel. 1112W. April 10-3mo.

M. T. SULLIVAN

Real Estate Insurance
Auctioneer Care of Property
Justice of the Peace
Corner School and Hancock Streets
QUINCY.

Quincy Savings Bank

BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.

SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.

CLARENCE BURGIN, Treasurer.

The Quincy Co-operative Bank

Room 13, Adams Building

On and after Monday, May 22, 1911. the hours of the Bank will be as follows :

8.30 to 12. 1 30 to 4
Saturdays 8.30 to 12.
Evenings

7 to 9 on first Wednesday of the month and the preceding Saturday.

FRANK A. REED, Sec.

Telephone 353 M Quincy.

May 13-pol-tf

HERBERT A. HAYDEN

Piano Tuner

Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock treet, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1153 M Nov. 3-tf

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

FIRE INSURANCE.

The Best Insurance. The Lowest Rates
Insurance Department.
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Telephone, Quincy 97-3.

PATTERSON, "The Florist"

92 South Central Ave.
WOLLASTON, MASS.
Telephone 392 Quincy

A. M. DEANE & CO.

MONUMENTS

MEMORIALS ERECTED
IN ANY
CEMETERY
IN THE
UNITED STATES

Aug. 1. 1y

JAMES F. BURKE

Real Estate and Insurance
AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES
Justice of the Peace Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Tel. 385-3 Jan. 17-tf

LEWIS N. CURTIS,

PAINTER and GLAZIER

LEADED STAINED GLASS.
DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

STORAGE
—FOR—
Furniture and Pianos
Storage Warehouse with Separate rooms.
Furniture and Piano Movers
HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy Tel. Con.

PATENTS

PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo for expert search and free report, free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES.
Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent.
Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively
Write or come to us at
716 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office,
WASHINGTON, D. C.

CASNOW & CO.

Quincy Daily Ledger

FOR SALE AT

BOSTON—At South Station after 3.30 P. M.
QUINCY—Ledger Office 1424 Hancock Street.
L. A. Chapin, 1395 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, oppo. Depot.
Thompson's Waiting Room, City Sq.
H. P. Kittredge, City Square.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
Mrs. Madden, 16 Quincy ave.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's News Stand.
PARK&DOWNS—Branschied & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
QUINCY NECK—Stetson Pierce, Newcomb Square.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith, Washington Street.
Gragg's Pharmacy.
L. A. Cook, Washington Street.
E. O. Godfrey, 538 Washington St.
E. H. Lowe, Washington Street.
George E. Sprague Cor. River St.
SOUTH QUINCY—Litchfield, Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Miss C. Booth, Brooks Avenue.
BREWER'S CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
Mrs. F. H. Stanley.
WEST QUINCY—F. A. Skinner.
John G. Belanger.
HOUGHS NECK—Capt. Fosdick's.

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	101 degrees
July 6, 1910,	93 degrees
July 6, 1909,	80 degrees
July Noon Maximum, 14 years,	101
July Noon Minimum, 14 years.	60

BRIEFS

John Morgan of Standish avenue spent the week end and holiday at Martha's Vineyard.

The telephone company commenced work this morning laying its underground conduits on Dimmock street.

In the absence of Clerk of the Court Lyons on his vacation George E. Adams is acting clerk at the district court.

Charles Veazie of Boston, brother of Francis Veazie of Granite street, this city, was found dead in bed Wednesday morning.

Cornelius Connors one of the letter carriers attached to the Quincy office was overcome by the heat Wednesday and had to give up work.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Curtis of Jersey City, New Jersey, are visiting Mrs. Curtis' mother Mrs. James Forrest of Hancock street, Wollaston, for a fortnight.

The Harbor and Land Commissioners have advertised for bids for dredging the anchorage and basin off the Quincy Yacht club house at Houghs Neck.

Lawrence W. Lyons, clerk of the district court is having his vacation. His place is being filled by George E. Adams of the District Attorneys office.

The alarm from Box 45 at 10.10 Wednesday night was for a slight fire in a pile of old sleepers in the Granite Railway yard. There was no loss.

Dan Driscoll, employed in the cashiers office at the street railway car barn was overcome by heat Wednesday afternoon. He was able to go to his home a little later however.

CANDIDATE FOR GENERAL SECRETARY.

F. E. Bardwell, who has been general secretary of the Northampton Y. M. C. A. for five years will meet with the executive committee of the local association today. Mr. Bardwell is one of the prominent candidates for the position of general secretary here. He comes highly recommended and it is said that he has been very successful in the work in Northampton. It is smaller than the Quincy association but has the reputation of being wide awake and of doing much good among the young men of the city. Northampton is a city of twelve or fifteen thousand inhabitants.

In a department store:

"I want something nice in oil for a diningroom."

"Yes, madam. A landscape or a box of sardines?"—N. Y. Life.

MARRIAGES

DRACO—ROMEO—In Quincy, July 3, by Napoleon B. Furnald, Esq., Christo Draco of Boston to Mary Romeo of 48 Phipps street, Quincy.

DEATHS

LANGLEY—In Quincy, July 5, Edward B. Langley, in his 35th year.
Funeral services at late home 1535 Hancock street Saturday, July 8 at 2 P. M. Relatives and friends invited. 2t

Established 1870 Telephone
JOHN HALL
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
Carriage and Ambulance Service
1485 Hancock Street, Quincy Mass.

LIVE SPORTING EVENTS

ON THE DIAMOND

American League

At Boston:	R	H	E
Washington	7	7	2
Boston	2	6	3

Batteries—Johnson and Henry; Pape, Moser, Collins and Williams.

At New York:	R	H	E
New York	9	19	3
Philadelphia	8	12	0

Batteries—Ford, Warhop, Caldwell, Sweeney and Blair; Plank, Bender, Krause, Leonard and Lapp.

At Detroit:	R	H	E
Detroit	8	12	1
Chicago	1	7	2

Batteries—Willett and Stanage; Young, Olmstead and Block.

At Cleveland:	R	H	E
Cleveland	11	14	2
St. Louis	7	9	2

Batteries—Krapp and Fisher; Mitchell, Hamilton, Pelty, Kritchell and Clarke.

National League

At Brooklyn:	R	H	E
Brooklyn	5	7	2
Boston	2	8	2

Batteries—Rucker and Bergen; Weaver, Tyler, Griffin and Kling.

At Philadelphia:	R	H	E
Philadelphia	6	14	3
New York	4	11	1

Batteries—Burns and Dooin; Myers, Mathewson and Wilson.

Second Game:	R	H	E
New York	10	11	2
Philadelphia	1	6	4

Batteries—Marquard and Wilson; Rowan, Chalmers, Stack, Humphries, Dooin and Madden.

At Pittsburg:	R	H	E
Pittsburg	6	8	2
St. Louis	3	9	1

Batteries—Liefield and Simon; Sallee, Geyer and Bliss.

New England League

At Lowell:	R	H	E
Lowell	8	11	1
New Bedford	6	12	3

Batteries—Yount and Lavigne; McDonald and Wheeler.

At Brockton:	R	H	E
Brockton	9	—	—
Fall River	0	—	—

Forfeited to Brockton for attempted assault on the umpire.

At Lynn:	R	H	E
Lynn	8	10	1
Haverhill	0	1	1

Batteries—Harrington and Daum; Graverson, Randolph, Milliman and Spring.

WITH THE AVIATORS.

Atwood at Atlantic City.

Atlantic City, N. J. With Harry N. Atwood, who made a flight on Tuesday from Governor's Island, N. Y., to this place, Miss Edna M. Stock of New York, thrilled thousands along the beach front.

Atwood has changed his plans for the continuance of his flight to Washington. Urged by the members of the Atlantic City aero club, the birdsman has decided to remain in Atlantic City until Friday or Saturday before completing the flight across the country. His route for the trip is still problematical, depending on the weather conditions.

Atwood headed toward the million dollar pier gradually making a higher altitude. He turned with dipping wing and shot back making a mile a minute.

After sundown Atwood took C. D. White, a member ofthe local aero club, for a 10-minute spin over the breakers. Later he circled around the entire resort, flying down Atlantic avenue and darting in above tall office buildings. He landed on the beach and then made another trip just before dark, making great speed over the same course used by Glenn Curtiss inestablishing a 40-mile record last year.

WITMER WOLD LIKE ANOTHER FLY.

The condition of Charles C. Witmer, the aviator who fell at Pittsfield, on July 4th, was encouraging on Wednesday afternoon. Unless something unexpected developes, he will recover.

After talking with Witmer and the mechanics, Lieut. Ellison who interviewed Witmer is inclined to believe that the steering wheel did not break and that nothing really gave way. The heavy wind which struck the machine as it was rising, stopped the machine, he believes ,swinging it to the right. The wind was strong enough, hitting the machine still on the ascent he argues, to make it stand still, producing a loss of control.

Witmer says he could not make the steering gear work after the gust of wind struck him. He says he realized that he was dropping and left his seat and pulled himself over the top of the plane as it was falling.

"I'm mighty glad I'm alive, but I'm sure to fly again," he said.

BRADY WILL COMPETE.

Entries and pairings for the Massachusetts open golf championship which started this forenoon at The Country Club disclose the names of 15 amateurs and 14 professionals, in all 29 prospective competitors, les than last year. The championship will be at 72 holes, medal play, 36 of which will be played today and 36 tomorrow. No amateur has ever won the state open, in fact the title has never gone out of the Ross family. There was some doubt of Donals J. Ross of Essex being a starter, but the first champion sent in his name. Alex Ross, his brother and present champion, will defend his title. The two home-bred "pros." Michael J. Brady, runner-up for the open champicnship of the United States, and to Tom McNamara, runner-up for the western championship, are entrants. John G. Anderson who finished second last year, is abroad. The first pair will leave the first tee today at 10 A. M., and others will follow at four-minute intervals.

ATHLETICS DEFEAT ALLSTON A. A

The Athletics defeated Allston A. A. of Dorchester Wednesday afternoon, 1-0, Swai allowing no one to reach first base and no runs. Send your challenges to A. Delenso, 52 Phipps street, Quincy.

SPORTING NOTES.

At Brighton Eng., the Harvard and Yale athlettes began practice Wednesday in earnest. After practice was indulged in also the sprinters and quarter-lmilers engaged in speed practice, while the distance men jogged several miles. All the visiting athletes are in excellent condition.

The team captains will confer Thursday at the Queen's Club, and the Harvard-Yale team will probably try the Queen's track Friday.

BRIEFS

Frank Fessenden Crane is holding an auction sale of land at Squantum today.

This weather may make those fellows on Beacon Hill hurry up and adjourn the legislature.

Owing to the excessive heat all of the jewelry stores in City Square closed at 1 o'clock today for the day.

Most of the girls employed at the Tubular Rivet & Stud Co. quit work this noon. Weather too hot.

And it was only a few weeks ago that people were finding fault because of the coldness of the season. Its hard work to please everybody all of the time.

St. Paul's Swedish M. E. church celebrates its silver anniversary tonight by special services at the church on Fort street. The anniversary exercises will continue for three days.

HOW TO CARE FOR TIRES.

Method of Removing Rust, Which Is an Enemy to Rubber.

Rust is an enemy of rubber. It will pay the motorist to inspect occasionally the condition of the rims on the wheels of his car, especially if the outer surfaces of the envelopes near the beads look rusty. This discoloration is rust caused by rusted rims. This rust if not arrested will gradually eat through the rubber, attacking the canvas of the envelope. In time the edges of the rusted rims will become more and more uneven, tearing and eventually destroying the beads. Furthermore, rust works in between the beads and the rims, leaving space for water, which also damages the rubber.

To remove rust from a rim, the tire should be taken off and the rusty parts rubbed clean with coarse emery paper. Then smooth the surface with finer emery paper and rejapan the rim, applying one coat to the outside and two to the inside, making sure first that the surface is smooth and free from rust. Roughness may be quickly detected by running the hand along the edge of the rim. When the edge of the rim is too uneven for the use of emery paper, first use a file, after which emery paper may be used for finishing.

How to Make Cheese Straws.

Take a quarter of a pound of puff paste, a tablespoonful of flour, a tablespoonful of grated cheese and a little paprika; roll the cheese into the paste as if in rolling in flour; roll it out thin and cut it in lengths of about four or five inches long and a quarter of an inch wide; twist each strip and press it on a well wetted baking tin and bake in a moderate oven for ten or twelve minutes. Have some rings made with the same paste to hold the straws and serve on a napkin

CITY OF QUINCY

NOTICE TO WATER TAKERS.

You are hereby notified that owing to the extremely large consumption of water in this city, the use of hose is restricted to one hour a day between 7 and 8 o'clock P. M. All are requested to comply strictly with this order.

RANDOLPH BAINBRIDGE.
Commissioner of Public Works.
July 6-3t

THE ADMIRAL FLED

An Incident of the Great Naval Battle Off Santiago.

SCARED BY THE FIRST SHOT

The Thundering Boom of the Oregon's Big Gun In Opening the Attack on Cervera's Fleet Proved Too Much For the Nerves of the Old Veteran.

"It's a remarkable thing," said the captain, "that almost always in any great event of exciting experience, even one in which human lives are involved, there is likely to be some little minor feature with a humorous side to it that will call forth a smile, if not a sudden burst of laughter. It seems as if in such trying moments one's feelngs seek a quick vent and seize upon any little incident as a safety valve."

This particular piece of philosophy was expressed by the grim old captain of our steamer as we were lazily churning along the lower coast of Florida.

"I never get down on these southern seas," continued the captain, "without thinking of that 3d of July, 1898, when our fellows pushed the Spanish fleet up on the shore after their attempt to steal out of Santiago harbor.

"I was first officer of the Dasher, one of the auxillary steamers that the government had chartered and rushed into service. We had been engaged in carrying provisions from Tampa down to the ships of the fleet, and it was ticklish business, too, because no one really knew up to the last few days just where the Spanish fleet actually was, and we expected to be overhauled and captured almost any time.

"This particular trip had been an eventful one, and after rounding Cape Maisi, on the eastern end of Cuba, we soon sighted our splendid fleet of fighters ranged in that fatal semicircle round the entrance of Santiago like a pack of hounds watching for a fox to come out of his hole. It was a great sight, I tell you! The smoke was lazily curling up out of each stack, showing that steam was up and everything ready for the spring from the leash the moment the fox showed his head.

"We had our orders and in a short time were close alongside the big old Oregon, which, you remember, had just made that wonderful trip round the Horn to take part in the fracas. I don't believe there ever was a hotter day even in the tropics than this Sunday, the 3d of July. Things were simply sizzling everywhere, and the ocean itself seemed to be steaming.

"After we had warped alongside and the crew had begun carrying aboard the consignment of bread, potatoes, onions and other stuff I stepped into the captain's room to see if I could get any comfort out of the electric fan which was working overtime. I had just spoken to old Admiral, the captain's pet tomcat—and a huge fellow he was—who was lying on the floor stretched out as wide as possible, fairly gasping for air, when, holy mackerel, there were a concussion and a deafening roar which sent me sprawling and nearly knocked my head off. All I remember seeing that instant was a big cat going almost to the ceiling, with a tail as big around as a grapefruit and every leg, claw and hair standing straight out. The Oregon had let go one of its big forward turret guns right alongside of us, for the Spanish fox had started out of its hole.

"In just one instant everything on earth in the way of activity seemed to be doing. I rushed to the door, and the thing that caught my eye was that old tomcat going aft on the upper deck like a streak of greased lightning, with every sail set to catch the wind and fairly clawing at the deck in his effort to make time.

"In almost less time than it has taken to tell you that one shot had grown into a deafening roar from almost every gun in the fleet that could bear on the fox. Our lashings had been cut loose, and away went the fleet in that dramatic rush to victory for us and death to the Spaniards.

"As my captain and I stood on the bridge and watched the sight he turned to me and said: 'Knight, I'm an old man and haven't but a few years more to live at best. I'll give the rest of my years to see this fight to the finish, and, by the gods, I'm going to follow 'em!' And he gave the signal for full speed ahead.

"Say, but that was a sight! No man who saw it will ever forget it. The race was all in front of us, the Spaniards running for cover and putting up the best fight they could in their half baked condition and our fellows plugging them fast and furiously.

"We followed until the fight was all over and then came about to return to Santiago. The captain gave orders to serve supper in the officers' mess, for neither of us in the excitement of the day had thought a thing about eating. As we sat down to our meal he turned to me and said: 'Knight, have you seen my old tomcat Admiral? I've hunted for him all over the ship.'

"'Well,' I replied, pulling out my watch and looking at it, 'if he has kept up the pace he was making when I saw him last going aft on the upper deck he's due in about six minutes now on his third lap around the world.'

"We never did see old Admiral again, and the captain mourned him till his dying day."—Frank Presbrey in Chicago Record Herald.

To fret and fume is undignified, suicidally foolish and theologically unpardonable.—Robert Louis Stevenson.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents. Three consecutive insertions 50 cents, 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.

No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

LOST

LOST—July 4th in afternoon a nice gold filled half length watch chain between Bryantville and Quincy Adams or on a way from Quincy Adams to Nightingale avenue. Finder please return the same and receive reward. Andrew Ovaska, 109 Nightingale avenue, Quincy, Mass. July 6-3t

LOST—Child's blue diagonal cloth coat with brass butons, on evening of July 4 at Merrymount park. Return to 50 Quincy avenue, City. July 6-3t

WANTED

WANTED—Girl to work in ice cream parlor. Apply to I. E. Nickerson, 6 Maple street. July 6-tf

WANTED—Clerk for groceries and provisions. Apply to J. P. Prout, Garfield street, Quincy. July 6-tf

WANTED—A girl for general house work. Apply to Mrs. C. F. Pettengill, 53 Revere road. July 5-tf

WANTED—Young man to act as clerk in shoe store. Good salary to right party. The Corcoran Sample Shoe Co., 11 Cottage avenue. July5 -3t

WANTED— Position by Swedish woman with baby 4 weeks old. Will take position as cook or general house work. Mrs. D. 171 Billings road, Atlantic. July 3-3t

WANTED—Boy, good and stout to tend store. Apply at 750 Washington street, Quincy Point. June 30-6t

WANTED Salesman. Earn $300 per month. Sell dealers highly advertised article. Exclusively or side line. No samples to carry.
Berlame, 215 West 125th street, New York, N. Y.
June 29 6t

WANTED—Engagements for manicuring, shampooing, face and scalp treatment. Please address by letter Miss S. Torola, 332 Granite street. June 28-6t

WANTED—Experienced girl for general housework. References required. Apply 118 Merrymount road. June 26 tf

HOW TO PLANT ROSES.

They Should Be Carefully Pruned to Get the Best Results.

In planting the rose the roots should be soaked in lukewarm water for several minutes and then clipped sparingly, each fibrous tendril being allowed to stretch out its full length when set in place.

Care should be taken to have the holes deep and partially filled with gravel to insure good drainage. A piece or two of broken crockery would not be amiss beneath the roots. Then, too, the hole must be large enough to allow freedom to the roots in every direction, for cramped or curled up roots will prove disastrous to the blooms.

At a distance of fifteen inches each way—and roses should never be planted any closer—dig a hole to the depth of twelve inches and deposit a cup of manure. The most weary, lifeless roots will reach out until they finally locate the fertilizer and will rejoice in the luxury which acts as a stimulant.

If roses are planted in clay soil, mix ashes freely with the well rotted manure in which the plants are set. If manure is fresh it will kill the roses, owing to the ammonia it contains, which is one reason for setting it so far away from the plants. The roots will literally burn up if this precaution is not observed.

Careful pruning is most essential in the culture of the rose. One rule to remember is to cut down all the sprouts to a height of eight inches. This will give your garden a uniformity and the results will be better. The stems which bear the flowers are not those which are even visible when the roses are set. The strength goes into the roots when the shoots are cut down, and new stems appear, growing straight and tall, with the blossoms larger and earlier than those which appear on the old stems. American Beauty roses may be planted either in spring or fall, but nothing is gained by fall planting, as the rose will bloom every month during the summer if planted in the spring.

Tea roses require careful covering in cold weather, but it is unnecessary to do more than scatter a few dry leaves over the American Beauties because of their hardiness. For this reason they are considered the most satisfactory bloomer in the rose family.

Natural Longing.

However old, humble, plain, desolate, afflicted, we may be, so long as our hearts preserve the feeblest spark of life they preserve also, shivering near that pale ember, a starved, ghostly ouging for appreciation and affection.

'Tis heaven alone that is given away; 'tis only God may be had for the asking.—Lowell.

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—A twelve passenger sea going power boat. A 1 condition, 5 horse power engine. Apply to janitor Quincy Yacht club house, Houghs Neck. July 6-6t

FOR SALE—New house, 6 rooms, bath, improvements 5.400 feet land. Apply to Frank Leben, 76 Howard st., East Braintree. July 3-6t O 8-2w

FOR SALE—An up-to-date grocery and provision store at a reasonable price. Good reason for selling. Apply to J. A. Weeden 23 Cranch street. Quincy July 3-6t

TO LET

TO LET—Kitchen and dining room unfurnished suitable for light housekeeping. Set range and hot and cold water. Apply 55 Washington street, corner Maple street. July 6-3t

TO LET—Flat of five rooms, all modern improvements, set range, gas, and electric lights 69 Goddard street. July 6-6t

TO LET—Tenement of 5 rooms on Euclid avenue. All latest improvements. C. A. Ericson, 177 Glendale road Quincy. Tel 586 M. July 5-6t

TO LET—Furnished rooms in fine location near bathing beach, light housekeeping near Fore River works also storage room. 80 Baxter avenue, opposite North street. July 5-6t

TO LET—Nicely furnished rooms, with excellent table board. Central location. Address P. O. box 346, Quincy. June 29-tf

TO LET—On Spear street, tenement of 4 rooms and bath. All modern improvements. Apply to C. A. Ericson, 117 Glendale road. Tel 586 M. June 27-tf

TO LET—Tenement with 9 rooms and bath at Quincy Point, also rooms to let and table board at 55 Washington street, Quincy, Mrs. Margaret S. MacDonnell. June 23-1mo.

TO LET—House 12 rooms, all improvements. Ideal location, 5 minutes to center. Apply to James F. Burke, Real Estate Agent, Room 4 Savings Bank Building. June 9-tf

FOR RENT—Quincy, Centre, opposite Adams Academy, house of 8 rooms and bath, also garage, 3 minutes to R. R. Station. Dr. E. S. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263L, Weymouth. May 10-tf

TO LET

Half House No. 44 Bigelow street, 7 rooms and bath. Shades, screens, electric lights, set tubs, range, etc. Rent $25. per month. Apply to Miss Prescott, Ledger Office. Quincy. July 3-tf

FOR RENT

On Spear street, very desirable house of 8 rooms, bath and laundry. All modern improvements, range, gas, electric lights shades and screens. Large piazzas and lawn. To private family only. Apply at 41 Spear street or of Miss Prescott at Ledger Office, Quincy.

June 2-tf L. P. O

TO LET

Tenement—22 B Granite Street. $10.00 per month.

Greenleaf Hall—Greenleaf Block Large Furnished Hall with various anterooms—to let by the evening or permanently.

City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 20 feet high. Splendid light, low rent

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)
Music Hall Block, Quincy.

MAKE YOUR PURCHASES FROM LEDGER ADVERTISERS.

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 26 No. 154 QUINCY, MASS., FRIDAY EVENING, JULY 7, 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

Keep Cool As a Cucumber

After your work you and the boy take a dip in old ocean. There's nothing like it, and it's strengthening, too. We have boy's and men's bathing suits that will fit you as well as your pocket book. Come in and pick yours.

We have the right kind of hats at the right kind of prices. The swellest straws of the season are here. Hats that will last through the whole summer, holding to the last their snappy, graceful lines and distinctive look of quality.

If you want the best money can buy, come here.

Yachting Shoes, Bathing Shoes, Tennis Shoes.
Golf Caps. Yachting Caps.
Belts, Sweaters, Outing Trousers, Wash Ties.
Soft Shirts, Soft Collars, Celluloid Collars.

GEORGE W. JONES

1 Granite St., "Just Around the Corner" Quincy

July 7-21--o-8-1w

BETTER Put in Your Winter's Supply

Direct from the mines to our yard comes the coal we have for sale—coal that's famous the country over for its free burning qualities, its low percentage of ash, its freedom from impurities.

It's "full value" fuel, and our method of taking and filling orders ensures satisfaction. Orders placed now save money for buyers.

TAKE A LOOK IN YOUR BIN then act.

SPECIAL RANGE COAL

Stove or Nut

$7.25 Cash

C. PATCH & SON, Inc.

Office, 1422 Hancock Street, Quincy

GET YOUR LEDGER AT

HOUGHS NECK

—OF—

CAPT. O. G. FOSDICK

—OR—

ARTHUR GOODWIN, Carrier

CITY WAS A FIERY FURNACE

Suffering Humanity Thankful For Last Night's Storm

RELIEF IN SIGHT

The worst electrical storm in New England this summer raised havoc last night with buildings, crops and electrical plants. Lightning struck in many places. In Haverhill a house was struck, the bolt just missing a casket containing the body of a man. In Amesbury a bolt of lightning paralyzed a man and rendered his wife unconscious.

Wakefield—The worst fire this town has had in recent years destroyed the big Cutler Block on Main and Water streets, the State Armory so that it is beyond repair, damaged the Town Hall, burned several other buildings, crippled the lighting and electric car service and resulted in calls for aid from several surrounding towns.

Thousands of cartridges in the armory exploded, as well as fifty gallons of gasoline. Two firemen were burned and three women struck by lightning. Two men were thrown through a door by a hot air explosion. The damage is estimated at about $80,000. The fire was caused by a flash of lightning.

The storm followed a day of intense heat which brought death to 47 persons in Greater Boston and prostrated over 100. Yesterday's temperature reaches 101 at three o'clock when this section was the hottest place in the Country.

IN QUINCY.

Long suffering humanity experienced a great relief Thursday evening about 6.30 when the wind, which has been from the westerly direction all the week wheeled round to the northeast and freshening considerably sent a breeze over the city that caused everybody to offer a sigh of relief, that at last the long ho t spell had been broken.

The wind continued to blow hard for an hour. In the meantime heavy dark clouds were seen to be gathering to the north of Quincy. Then it lightened up somewhat and for a few minutes it looked as though the storm would pass Quincy. At 7.40 however the storm broke. First there was a fall of drops that seemed almost as large as eggs. Then there came the heavy peal of thunder and sharp flashes of lightning. But what a relief it was. The sun baked earth was cooled off and the air was invigorating. The storm was heavy at times but it was very evident that other places were getting the heaft of the storm and that all Quincy got was the tail end.

Most people were thankful that it was so for while the rain was very welcome, people would rather do without the thunder and lightning.

The rain did an inestimable amount of good to gardens, for vegetation had suffered for five long days without a drop of water and crops were nearly ruined. The rain however revived them and gardens took on a new lease of life.

The storm lasted about an hour and then stopped. The air had been cooled however and it remained so. Later in the night the storm returned and passed over Quincy, but again it was of short duration and no damage was done, except possibly to wash out the street gutters in places.

Other sections of the state however were not as fortunate for in some places the storm did a great amount of damage.

This morning the weather was cleared and the air much cooler indicating that the spell of heat had been broken.

—The newspapers are filled from day to day with accounts of record-breaking events in aviation, racing, athletic sports and nearly every other happening imaginable, but a novelty in this line is reported from Idaho, when a man committed suicide by firing a revolver into a dress suit case containing nitro-glycerine. He is credited with having established the world's record for speed in making the journey to the hereafter.—Milford Gazette.

Quincy Merchants

do not base their business on transient traders but on those broad and solid lines that lead to permanent satisfaction.

ORGANIZED IN JUNE.

Ninety-nine new companies were organized under the Massachusetts laws during the month of June, as against 123 in May.

This showing is the smallest made for a single month since October, 1910. The capital authorized in June was $6,663,000, as against $6,362,000 in May, and nearly one-third of this—$2,000,000—represented the capital of a single corporation—the Strathmore Paper Company—while one other concern—the O'Bannon Corporation was capitalized for $1,750,000.

HEAT CAUSES HUSTLE.

The House had thirty-four matters in its calendar, Thursday morning, but it was only in session twenty-six minutes, disposing of all but two matters without debate. Appropriation bills aggregating more than $3,300,000 were ordered to a third reading without debate.

Ways and Means reported favorably on the workingmen's compensation bill, and adversely on the bill providing for depression of the tracks of the Boston & Maine through Lynn.

(ADVERTISE.)

DAY CHALLENGE CUP RACES

Inter-bay Cabin Cat Boat Ass'n Will Hold Races

START AUGUST 21ST

Circulars giving particulars of the series of races of the Inter-bay cabin cat boat association, to be held under the auspices of the Quincy Yacht club, for the Thomas Fleming Day challenge cup, have been issued. The races will be held on Aug. 21, 22, 23, 24 and 25 and will be open for inter-bay visiting cat boats.

Unusual interest is taken in these races for the reason that the cat boat is recognized the world over at the one distinctive type of American boat. The Day cup was raced for last year in Narragansett bay, and was won by the Dolly III, and Iris of the Quincy club, after a series of races in which the Narragansett bay boats failed to get even one of the series, although they were raced in their own waters, with which they were thoroughly familiar.

In addition to the Day cup special prizes will be given each day. On Monday the special prizes will be field glasses and ships clock; Tuesday compass and cabin lamp; Wednesday, a Thomas set and barometer; Thursday a ships log and Signal code; Friday, brass sailing lamps and Thermos bottle, and on Saturday, a ships clock and anchor light. In addition to these a championship pennant will be given the boat making the best individual record of the series.

The conditions are that boats built prior to 1910 may be 28 feet overall and boats built since 1910 must not exceed 27 feet overall. The allowances will be 7 seconds per foot pe r mile. The courtesies o fthe club house, including the use of dormitories and restaurant will be accorded visiting yachtsmen during the week and sleeping accommodations may be had at the club house for $1 per day.

During these same days there will be a series of special races for cat boats, to be sailed by boys not over 18 years of age, for a cup offered by the Rear Commodore.

In connection with the races under the auspices of the Quincy club, the Boston Yacht club is to hold a series of races for cat boats off its club house on Aug. 31, and Sept. 1 and 2. For these races the Boston club offer prizes of Chelsea ship bell clocks in bronze and gold stop watches presented by the Commodore, Vice Commodore and Rear Commodore and cash prizes in each race of $15, $12 and $10.

In these races the length overall shall not exceed 30 feet nor be less than 22 feet, the allowances to be 7 seconds per foot per mile.

DIED AT TUBERCULOSIS CAMP

Antonio Russo aged 18 years a patient at the tuberculosis camp went into convulsions Thursday on account of the heat and expired. His home was at 24 Water street. His case of tuberculosis was so far advanced that hope of his recovery from that had been given up.

HEAT VICTIM

Charles Nelson of Faxon lane was overcome by the heat on Thursday afternoon. His condition is critical.

TODAY'S COURT.

Thomas O'Neil, John Twommy, Michael O'Connell, and Michael Lehane were fined $3 each and Lewis Wright $5 for drunkenness at Quincy.

Mary Rogers was arraigned for assault at Quincy. Case placed on probation until Oct. 7.

William H. Vila was arraigned for assault on George McQueen at Quincy. Cast continued until Saturday.

George Wallace, Geiswold, Charles F. Hanson, William E. Waterman and John J. Mahoney were fined $15 each and Herbert A. Golden $10 for exceeding the automobile speed limit at the Blue Hills.

ACCUSED OF INSULTING WIFE

Purchase of Cigarettes Innocent Cause of Assault

PARTY IS FINED

An interesting case from Wollaston, was heard in the district court this morning, when William H. Vila was arraigned for assault on George McQueen a grocer. The alleged assault took place the day after the Fourth. According to Mr. McQueen, the little girl of Vila came into the store with a note for a box of cigarettes. This was delivered to his clerk who gave the child the cigarettes. Mr. McQueen then asked who the cigaretts were for.

A few minutes later according to the plaintiff Vila came into the store and asked what right he had to ask if the cigarettes were for his wife or himself, accompanying the remark by a blow in the face. At this McQueen grabbed Vila and put him out of the store. As he went out his arm went through the glass door and cut Vila's wrist.

Vila's story was that he went to the store and asked why McQueen had insulted his wife, at which McQueen grabbed him and run him out of the door and kicked him. Mrs. Vila said that she stood across the street 40 feet away and saw the whole transaction. She saw through the screen door and heard what was said. Her husband, she said did not strike McQueen. The court remarked that her story was improbable and imposed a fine of $10. Later sentence was suspended until Saturday morning.

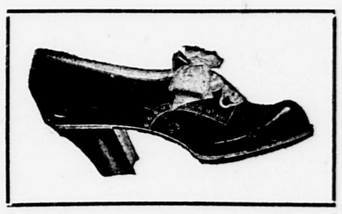
—Some people are so busy doing what they want to do that they have no time to do what they ought to do.

The Corcoran Sample Shoe Co.

11 COTTAGE AVENUE

Walk a few steps and Save a DOLLAR

FOOTWEAR BARGAINS



Everyone likes to buy the best; our shoes are the best and our prices are lower than the other fellow's—INVESTIGATE AND BE CONVINCED.

Our BROCKTON CO-OPERATIVE Shoes

Are sold on their merits only. Not by expensive advertising as all others are. They are made by workmen who own profit producing shares. Their common interest enables them to make shoes that are the recognized standard of quality and style wherever they are known. And some of the best manufacturers in the Country try to imitate them but fail. Our agreement with the Co-Operative People to take all the samples and countermanded lots enables us to buy them at a great reduction. That is the reason we are able to sell them so much below the regular prices.

Brockton Co-operative $4.00 Shoes
Price $3.00

Brockton Co-operative $4.50 and $5.00 Shoes
Price $3.25

Nesmith and O'Donnell $4.00 Shoes
Price $2.75

Ladies' Mayfair $3.00 Shoes
Price $2.50

LADIES' RICKARD & GREGORY $3.50 and $4.00 Shoes
Prices $2.50 and $2.75

SATISFACTION GUARANTEED WITH EVERY PAIR

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1889

THE HOME NEWSPAPER

Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.

BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
219 East 23d Street,
New York City

Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter.

Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50

Telephone, Quincy 425

Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

Thermometerlitis the latest disease—its catching.

Very little talk these days about running Gov. Dix for the Presidency.

Nominations in order for members of the Ananias club—Mr. Earle's will probably be written in plain English.

It is right and proper that Quincy's extensive water front should be developed.

With the thermometer soaring around 100 it certainly takes an effort to properly concentrate one's mind on schedule K.

From the pictures of the International polo games looking like King Richard of England thumping the Saracens with his battle axe, we have concluded to spend our vacation playing croquet instead.

Senator Heyburn says whatever we got from England we took with bayonets. Judging by the prices paid in the matrimonial market for titles, it would be slangy but accurate to say we took a good deal of it with rocks.

Cases are still pending against 14 trusts. It took six years to settle up Standard Oil and Tobacco, so the rest may be completed in 1953, if the lawyers will take cold lunches to the court house instead of going home to dinner.

THE HORSE'S PLEA.

A lesson may be learned from the cards issued by the Massachusetts S. P. C. A. to the men in charge of the eleven summer watering stations in Boston. On the cards are printed hints for the proper care of horses and other animals and is entitled, "The Horse's Point of View in Summer." Here it is:

"If a horse could talk he would have many things to say when summer comes.

"He would tell his driver that he feels the heat on a very warm day quite as much as if he could read a thermometer.

"He would say—'Give me a little water many times a day, when the heat is intense, but not much at a time if I am warm; if you want me to keep well don't water me for two hours after I have eaten.'

"He would say—'When the sun is hot and I am working let me breathe once in a while in the shade of some house or tree; if you have to leave me on the street leave me in the shade if possible. Anything upon my head, between my ears to keep off the sun is bad for me if the air cannot circulate freely underneath it.'

"He would talk of slippery streets and the sensations of falling on cruel city cobblestones—the pressure of the load pushing him to the fall, the bruised knees and wrenched joints, and the feel of the driver's lash.

"He would tell of the luxury of a fly net when at work and of a fly blanket when standing still in fly season, and of the boon to him of screens in the stable to keep out the insects that bite and sting.

"He would plead for as cool and comfortable a stable as possible in which to rest at night after a day's work under the hot sun.

"He would suggest that living through a warm night in a stall neither proper cleaned nor bedded is suffering for him and poor economy for the owner.

"He would say that turning the hose on him is altogether too risky a thing to do unless you are looking for a sick horse. Spraying the legs and feet when he is not too warm on a hot day he would find agreeable.

"He would say—'Please sponge out my eyes and nose and dock when I come in tired and dusty at night, and also sponge me with clean cool water under the collar and saddle of the harness.'"

PICKED UP IN PASSING

INCREDIBLE.

"Anything new in your wife's letter?"

"Yes; there was no postscript."

ONE AT LAST.

She—You are just like all men; you would not admit that you ever made a mistake to save your life.

He— As if I hadn't told you time and time again that the mistake of my life was in marrying you.

HIS ONLY HOPE.

The doctor stood by the bedside, and looked gravely down at the sick man.

"I cannot hide from you the fact that you are very ill," he said. "Is there anyone you would like to see?"

"Yes," said the sufferer faintly.

"Who is it?"

"Another doctor."—Judge.

CURIOUS—Mayme—Sure, I used to go with him. Did you tell him I was going to be married?

Grayce—I sure did.

Mayme—Did he ask "how soon?"

Grayce—No. He asked, "how long?"—Toledo Blade.

COULDN'T LOSE HIM.

Patience—And did her father follow them when they eloped?

Patrice—Sure! He's living with them yet!—Yonkers Statesman.

DECEITFUL APPEARANCE.

The Little Chap—We're getting up a tug-o'-war between the married and single men. You're married, aren't you?

The American—No, I've just been sea-sick, that's why I look that way!—London Opinion.

BEST AID—"I understand that your wife collaborated with you?"

"Yes; her word aids me immensely."

"I don't beleive I have ever seen any of her writtings."

"She doesn't write; she prepares my meals."—Philadelphia Times.

DISREGARDED—"I see you put up a sign 'no mosquitoes.'"

"Yep," replied Farmer Corntossel; "but the mosquitoes don't pay any more attention to it than gunners pay to the sign 'no trespassing.'"—Washington Star.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR.

Complains About Music.

To the Citizens of Quincy:

Regards the 4th of July celebration in Quincy, it was very good, but there was one thing that I don't think was right, namely hiring outside bands to furinsh music for said day, when we have three good bands in Quincy, namely the Quincy City band, the Finn band and the Quincy National band, which would have given better music then the three bands in line. I saw on many teams in the parade "Trade in Quincy," did the music committee do that when they hired two bands? I guess not, out of the three bands there were only about seven men that live in Quincy. It is a wonder that the committee hired the Quincy flute band. It should have hired an out of town drum corps to take its place just like the bands. The committee wanted the citizens of Quincy to give money freely to the celebration and trade in Quincy. Did the music committee do that? The committee should practice what they preach. You say trade at home but is that what you did? I think noa. The bands in Quincy pay taxes in Quincy, trade in Quincy and live in Quincy and they should have the first chance on a day like the Fourth of July. I don't think it right to send money out of Quincy when we have good bands here and if they had been hired they would have had that money and traded in Quincy with it.

Yours for justice and square deal,
Citizen of Quincy.

HOT WEATHER POETRY.

There was a maid in our town
And she was wonderous wise,
She jumped into the dining-room
And swatted all the flies.
Chicago Tribune.

And when the dining-room was cleaned
Of flies, she got to itchin'
To swat some more, and so she killed
All that were in the kitchen.
Los Angeles Express.

And when she'd cleaned the kitchen up
She felt quite acrobatic,
And with a mop she went atop
To swat 'em in the attic.
Schenectady Union.

And when she had the attic clear,
No one did have to tell 'er
That she should finish up the job
And swat 'em in the cellar.
Allentown Democrat.

The cellar cleared—without a word
Or hint from anybody,
This maiden took a heavy book
To swat them in the study.
Springfield Union.

This done, in turn, she swatted in
The blue room and the red room,
And finished there she climbed the stair
To swat 'em in her bedroom.
G. H. W.

One might suppose, from all this fuss,
She might have ceased her labors,
But May was still industrious
And swatted for her neighbors.
Brookline Chronicle

Her fame spread far; by motor car
And train folks came and got her;
And all agree in saying she Is America's Champion Swatter.
Boston Transcript.

But when she got to Hackensack
She knew they couldn't cheat her
She aimed at a fly, was stung in the eye
By a red faced Jersey Miskeeter.

A MOST COMPLETE DICTIONARY.

How any one can keep house without a dictionary is a puzzle to a newspaper man. A printing office could not live without several, for every one from the office devil, up through the reporters, proofreaders and editors are constantly thumbing the pages of this popular book so that new ones are frequently in demand

The Ledger office has just added to its working force one of G. & C. Merriam Co's new Webster International dictionaries, the latest edition, and it is a wonder. It is a real working dictionary embodying so much useful information, arranged conveniently for consultation that it seems indispensable in the home, school or office. It answers any questions that may arise in language, history, geography, biography, fiction, foreign words and phrases, also trades, arts and sciences. A new and desirable feature of Webster's new dictionary is its divided page separating the important from the less important matter. It is a dictionary to appeal to the student, the home or business house.

HOW TO SELECT CIGARS.

Many Ideas of Smokers Are Declared to Be Fallacious.

Do you know how to distinguish a good cigar from a bad one without smoking them? If you do you are laboring under a delusion, according to Sydney Brooks, an English writer, who has been studying the cigar, its manufacture and cigar fallacies at Havana for the London Times.

"The best of all my experiences in Havana," he writes, "has been to talk with the expert heads of the great factories and to find them poking a scornfully good humored finger through nearly all of the average smoker's most cherished theories. The average smoker believes that a dark wrapper means a strong cigar and a light wrapper a mild one, and he is absolutely wrong. There is no connection whatever beyond color and strength. Squeezing cigars and smelling them are equally fallacious as tests of quality. So, too, is the color and firmness of the ash; the notion that the whiter the ash and the longer it stays on the better the cigar is altogether erroneous. The best Havanas burn with a clear steel gray ash, and its duration and length are mainly determined by the size of the pieces used in the fillers.

"Then, again, the men in Havana, heedless of the club reputations they are shattering, insist that a spotted cigar means less than nothing so far as quality, whether good or bad, is concerned; that the barometer affects cigars far more than the thermometer; that the silky looking wrapper is as much to be avoided as the veiny one or the one that is oily in patches; that cigars should neither be so soft as to yield readily to the pressure of the fingers nor so dry as to crackle; that most of the talk about 'condition' is pure ignorance, the Americans being right in preferring a moist cigar and the English being equally right in preferring a dryer one, the vital point in each case being the proper period of recovery from the seasickness that cigars contract as easily as their smokers, a period that varies with the length of the voyage; that except for the expert, who has given his whole life to the business, there are virtually no outward indications that can be relied upon in choosing a cigar, and that for the average man, anxious to find out whether a given Havana is of good quality throughout and will burn well, the only real test is to smoke it."

☞Going away for the summer? If so don't forget to have the Daily Ledger sent to your address and keep posted on home news. If you have forgotten to send in your order in the rush of getting away drop us a postal and we will do the rest. tf

THE FEDERAL HEALTH BILL

Works Puts Up Argument Against It In Senate

DEFENDS CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Californian Tells What It Has Done For Him and Says Wife and Son Have Also Been Cured—Scientists Will Never Oppose Legislation Tending to Improve Medical Profession—Magazine Charges False

Washington, July 7.—Speaking as a Christian Scientist, Senator Works held a roasting senate quiet and silent for an hour, with the temperature at 95 degrees, while he told the story of how he, his wife and his son had been restored to health, the latter conquering the drink habit by means of the Christian Science treatment.

The recital could not have been wholly pleasant for the Californian, but he spoke with an earnestness and force that supplied its own evidence that he was performing what he regarded as a duty. He disclaimed, for himself and for Christian Scientists generally, any hostility to any school of medicine. He had tried them all, he said, and they had done the best they could. The medical profession is doing great work in the healing of disease, he said, and Christian Scientists never would be found opposing legislation that tends to improve the medical profession.

The remarks of Works were provoked by the bill of Senator Owen providing for the consolidation of existing government medical bureaus in a department of public health.

Senator Works first quoted the criticisms of the League of American Freedom, uttered by Owen and published in a leading periodical, and explained that although about half the membership of the league consisted of Christian Scientists, they had not acted as a body but as individuals. The senator quoted from the address of former Governor Bates of Massachusetts, in opposition to the bill, made before the committee on public health last winter, and incorporated the address as part of his remarks.

Senator Works read into the record, letters and documents of the American Medical association, the eclectics, the homeopaths, and others representing all phases of healing, discussing the Owen bill, the whole forming a fairly complete library on the subject.

Of the charges in Collier's against the League of Medical Freedom, the senator declared that they were false and malicious and knowingly so. He said he differentiated between the legitimate work of the medical profession, which is to bring about better conditions in its own body, and its illegitimate work in trying to secure legislation excluding all practitioners but its own. As to the attitude of Christian Scientists toward pure food and other health legislation, he said that while they might believe a better way to conserve health existed, these laws were proper and right.

Senator Works repeatedly referred to Dr. J. S. McCormick, whom he termed the "walking delegate of the American Medical association," and said that he was more interested in medical economics than in public health. In introducing a letter of McCormick's relative to fee-bills, the senator charged that as not all physicians would agree to a standard scale of prices, the association was trying to use the power of law to create a system which the physicians would not adopt voluntarily if left to themselves.

The senator spoke without notes, fluently and easily and, leaving out the character of his subject, appeared to much better advantage than in his maiden speech, which was a prepared defense of the bill admitting New Mexico and Arizona to statehood.

70 SURRENDER ROTHSTEIN

Russia Will Permit Burglar to Be Taken to Boston

Boston, July 7.—That the Russian government has agreed to surrender Harris Rothstein to the Boston officers who are now on their way to Russia is the information received at police headquarters. The Russian government will waive all question of Rothstein's nationality, and will surrender him. At present he is serving time in a Russian prison.

Rothstein, with Joseph and Jacob Goldberg, both of whom are now in an Austrian prison, is wanted for the theft in the jewelry store of Samuel Lilian in this city on Feb. 27, 1910.

Working on Cotton Tariff

Washington, July 7.—Revision of the cotton schedule has been begun by the Democratic members of the house ways and means committee. The work probably will last ten days.

Great Gold Output

Seattle, July 7.—Advices received by Seattle banks say that the season's gold output of the Tanana district Alaska, will be at least $5,000,000 and may reach $6,000,000.

ADMIRAL PEARY'S GIFTS ON EXHIBITION.

Collection Includes Model of Ship Used by Arctic Pioneers.

Admiral Peary has recently deposited in the United States National museum four pieces of silver, a notable addition to the Peary collection, which has for some months been on exhibition in the museum. The new pieces consist of a model of the type of ship used by Hudson, Davis and Baffin in their exploration of the northwest passage and three loving cups presented to Admiral Peary in recognition of his discovery of the north pole. Two of the cups were presented by the citizens of Bangor, Portland and South Portland, Me., and one by the members of the Delta Kappa Epsilon association of New York city, of which the explorer is a member.

The ship is an exact model in silver of the type of sailing vessel used by the pioneer arctic navigators of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries and was presented by the Royal Scottish Geographical society. On one of the sails is the following inscription in Latin:

This representation of a ship such as was used by John Davis, Henry Hudson and William Baffin, Illustrious Arctic Navigators of the Olden time, has been presented by THE ROYAL SCOTTISH GEOGRAPHICAL SOCIETY in token of congratulation, admiration and recognition to ROBERT EDWIN PEARY,
American citizen,
an explorer of the frozen arctic not less daring than his daring predecessors,
WHO WAS THE FIRST to attain that thrice noble goal so long sought by innumerable mariners,
THE NORTH POLE.
Edinburgh, 24th May, 1910.

The Peary collection also embraces the flags of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Navy league and the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity, which Admiral Peary carried with him on his dash for the pole, and sixteen gold and two silver medals presented to him in recognition of his arctic explorations by various geographic and exploration societies, including the great gold medal of the National Geographic Society of the United States and the gold medal of the Royal Geographic Society of Great Britain.

KEEP THE FLIES AWAY.

They Dislike Blue of Any Shade and Despise Hop Vines.

With the hot weather at hand more than one Kansan is trying out the recently advanced theories of Dr. S. J. Crumbine, secretary of the state board of health, who declares he has learned of two methods by which the common housefly can be kept away from kitchens and barns. One is to paint the barn and kitchen blue, almost any old shade, and the other is to grow hops around the doors.

The blue paint idea came from France, where two scientists, Marre and Fe, found that cow stables which were painted blue inside were avoided by flies. It was also observed that kitchens and dining rooms which were papered in blue or painted blue also seemed to keep the flies away.

A missionary from India told Dr. Crumbine that hops were used by the natives of India in the place of screens. The hop vines were allowed to grow all over the little huts, and the people were never bothered with flies. Dr. Crumbine and several of his assistants have set out hop vines around the back doors. The vines are growing all over the buildings, and Dr. Crumbine is watching the vines this summer to note whether or not the hops are really effective against the flies.

HOBBLED SCARECROW.

New Jersey Farmer's Idea Meets With Signal Success.

Amos Kidder, a New Jersey farmer, is boasting of a prosperous crop of sweet corn this season. Early in the spring he determined to try a new method of keeping birds from his field and erected in the middle of his five acre patch of newly planted corn a woman scarecrow—the first and only woman in a multitude of men scarecrows in these parts. He dressed her in bobble skirt style.

The crows, which are proving a veritable plague to other farmers, were evidently neither accustomed to Kidder's woman of fashion nor attracted by her, for with aesthetic eye and a fine sense of discrimination they passed Kidder's field by and favored the corn seed of his neighbors. Kidder has been roundly criticised by various women's clubs in this section for his irreverent and satirical use of feminine fashions.

LIMB HAS 125 PEARS.

While Thirty-eight Apples Cling to Twelve Inch Bough.

Never before in the memory of the oldest inhabitant have Washington fruit trees promised to bear such loads as are indicated this year.

To illustrate the heavy growths of young fruit on typical trees exhibits have been made from all parts of the fruit section.

A fourteen inch limb bears 125 pears, while on twelve inches of apple bough thirty-eight apples are clinging. The marvels are two fifteen-inch cherry limbs which are bearing 302 young Royal Anne cherries.

Mediterranean's Size.

The Mediterranean sea if placed across North America would make sea navigation from San Diego to Baltimore.

OUR USEFULNESS IN QUINCY

This bank is a public utility, just as the street railway and lighting systems are public utilities. We are here to accommodate the business men of Quincy and to make doing business easy for them. Our policy will be found as broad as sound banking principles will allow.

CONSULTATION INVITED

NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

E. E. GRAY CO.
QUINCY and WOLLASTON
1525 Hancock Street, Music Hall Block
Corner Newport Avenue and Brook Street

Cuts for Week Beginning July 3d

Flour, Golden Gate Brand	Bbl.	$5.79
	Bag	73c
Peanut Butter	per lb.	12c
Soups, Campbell's, all Varieties,	3 cans for	25c
Macaroni or Spaghetti	per pkg.	7c
Stringless Beans, Summer Brand	per can	10c
Soap, Oves family	per bar	3c
Corn, Standard	per can	8c
Salmon, Good Alaska	per can	13c
Beans, York State, Hand picked	per qt.	8c
Evaporated Milk (Van Camps or Peerless)	large can	8c
Corn Flakes, Toasted Quaker	per pkg.	6c
Crackers, Grandmother's Cookies	per lb.	8c

F M W

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.
A Clearance Sale
— OF —
Soiled Shirt Waists
A Specially good assortment of Large Sizes
THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

MAKE YOUR DOLLAR GO FAR

was George Washington's theory when he threw a dollar away across the Potomac River. When you want your dollars to go a long way without giving you trouble invest them in a Hartford bicycle and then ride it any distance that you desire and they will go a long way without giving you any trouble when it is a Hartford wheel from Nelson's on Granite street.

SUNDRIES and REPAIRING
HUB CYCLE CO.
Thomas Nelson, 20 Granite Street, QUINCY
Agency for Hartford and Columbia Bicycles
May 15-2m

BAREFOOT SANDALS

The best thing for the children to wear during the warm weather. They are light and comfortable and give good satisfaction.

CHILDS	5 to 8	45c
MISSES	8 to 11	50c

HEFFERNAN'S SHOE STORE
1375 Hancock Street, Quincy

GET THE HELP QUINCY GROW HABIT

CONTRIBUTIONS RECEIVED

Money Still Being Received For July 4th Fund

FULL REPORT TO COME

Additional donations are being received daily for the Fourth of July celebration. It is now thought a sufficient amount will be on hand to meet all bills. The committee has in preparation a detailed statement of receipts and expenditures, which will be published in the Ledger later. Owing to the heat, some delay was caused in sending the list below, to the office for publication.

A friend	$50.00
Thomas J. Dryer	2.00
E. P. Histen	2.00
A. Weeden	1.00
Judge Avery	1.00
Rev. Mr. Tobey for a friend	1.00
James Joss	1.00
Andrew Odom	1.00
Alex McEchern	.50
Charles Wilson	1.00
Mr. Emanuel	1.50
Edward Morton	1.00
George T. Follett	2.00
F. S. Baker	2.00
F. P. Horton	2.00
D. E. Bixby	2.00
C. Whorf	1.00
A friend	.25
H. C. Crocker	1.00
A friend	1.50
D. Agerine	1.00
O. Ternandy	.50
J. Q. Newcomb	1.00
Edward Parker	1.00
A friend	.25
J. J. O'Hara	2.00
Fred H. French	1.00
M. J. O'Hara	.50
A friend	.25
A friend	.25
Alfred Smith	.10
Michael Dewey	.10
A friend	.10
A friend	.10
Frank Hodgkinson	1.00
A friend	.50
Miller S. Wald	.25
A friend	.25
C. A. French	.50
Arthur B. Foster	1.00
Sherman Tribou	1.00
Budd	1.00
Percy Taber	1.00
George H. Turner	1.00
Henry M. Hughes	1.00
Charles E. Hill	1.00
Arthur Baxter	.50
G. M. Sargent	2.00
Emanuel Co. (additional)	2.00
Samuel Cohen	1.00
George Berry	1.00
Bernard Donohue	1.00
C. W. and G. E. Nightingale	2.00
Harry Studley	2.00
Daniel Schouler	1.00
Remick Bros.	10.00
Henry W. Tirrell	1.00
Mrs. W. C. A. Pattee	1.00
W. B. Hayward	1.00
John Hughes	.25
Eugene W. O'Connor	1.00
E. J. Kavanagh	.25
Jerry Mecurio	.25
Jerry Freburg	.25
F. Widderburn	.25
Timothy Murphy	.50
C. H. Tirrell	.25
T. Russell	.25
H. Saunders	.50
William T. Spargo	2.00
Ira Litchfield	1.00
T. A. March	.50
Richard Howard	.50
A. Sweeney	.50
W. G. Crowell	.50
George Gauthier	.50
W. S. Tutten	.25
James M. Cantfill	.50
G. Gioncardi	.25
Ernest Battiste	.25
P. L. Litchfield	.50
Charles H. Brooks	1.00
Athletic committee sale of programs	11.34
Francis M. Curtis	1.00

WANTS PARCELS POST.

In a letter to John M. Stahl, of Chicago, agent of the Farmers' National Congress, Secretary Hillis stated that President Taft in his next message to congress will recommend without qualification the establishment of a general parcels post.

Mr. Hillis said the President's views had been strengthed by further investigations by the post office department since he urged in his last annual message the adoption of the parcels post on rural delivery routes.

"I saw several cyclone cellars while I was out West," remarked the visitor.

"Dear me!" exclaimed young Mrs. Tucker, "who on earth would want to buy a cyclone?"—Washington Star.

MILTON.

The holiday was celebrated in a safe and sane way in Milton. During the morning athletic games were held at Cunningham field and a band concert was given by Rollin's Military band, in East Milton Square. In the afternoon there was the baseball game between the first and second teams connected with the gymnasium. The first team won by a score of 5 to 2 and will have the privilege of holding the handsome trophy for a year. In the evening there was another band concert at the Town hall in Milton centre.

Misses Laura and Hazel Patterson of Bryant avenue have gone to New Hampshire for the summer.

Mrs. Emma Hardy and Mrs. George B. Howe of Edgehill road have gone to Deer Island, Maine, for the summer.

Mrs. A. F. Cary has gone to Naushoa Mass., for the summer months.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Johnstone are in South Norwalk, Conn., where they will spend the summer.

Mrs. J. A. Lowry has moved to Concord Junction, Mass.

Misses Maud and Eleanor Peterson have gone to Egypt, Mass., for their summer vacation.

The East Milton reading room will be closed on Thursdays during July and August. On other days it will be open from 3 to 5 in the afternoon and from 6.30 to 9 in the evening.

The telephone poles in East Milton Square are being stripped and removed as soon as possible. The pole near the fountain is soon to be removed and then it will be possible to make the approach to the fountain for horses.

In the interscholastic golf tournament of Greater Boston, J. Reid and G. Reid of Milton qualified the former with a 79 and the latter with 83. J. Reid was defeated in the first round by Lyons of Newton and G. Reid won from Hilton of Winchester. In the second round G. Reid was defeated by A. C. Colombo who has reached the finals and will play J. H. Sullivan of Brighton today. J. Reid has reached the finals for the Presidents cup and will play O. W. Forte of Newton today.

SOOTHING EFFECT OF NEWS.

Asylum Will Be Supplied With Newspapers by the Government.

"Without newspapers prisoners in any institution are almost unmanageable. They get nervous and are always wondering what is going on in the outside world. They do not seem to keep their minds on the things they are doing and make poor workmen. Give them newspapers and they seem to feel that they are in touch with the world and are partially content."

This statement by Louis F. Zinkhan, superintendent of the Washington Insane asylum, has led to the comptroller of the currency authorizing the payment by the government of money for the purchase of newspapers for the inmates of the asylum.

Ever since he took charge of the Washington asylum Superintendent Zinkhan has noticed that the inmates make stronger efforts to have newspapers smuggled into them. Some of them could go without their tobacco and other things they were used to, but all made constant demands for the news from the outside world.

How to Make Summer Desserts.

Any simple summer dessert, such as cornstarch or Bavarian cream, fruit sponges or gelatin pudding, can be served in most attractive shape if it is well molded. Dip the mold in cold water, drain it, but do not dry. Fit a ring of candied cherries or of strawberries or any desired fruit round the base of the mold.

Then pour over carefully a small quantity of the dessert mixture. A second, third and fourth row of the fruit may be added, each being carefully covered or filled over with a layer of the mixture.

After the mold has "set" and been chilled it can be garnished with cream. A great variety of dessert mixtures can be treated in this way.

A Political Placard.

John B. Thompson of Kentucky, who served in both houses of congress, was a master of the art of ridicule. Here is his characterization of the contempt in which party platforms are held after elections:

"The two or three last platform presidents we have had when they got in the car of state and safely seated all around everywhere you could see, 'Do not stand on the platform when the cars are in motion.'"—McClure's Magazine.

CITY OF QUINCY

NOTICE TO WATER TAKERS.

You are hereby notified that owing to the extremely large consumption of water in this city, the use of hose is restricted to one hour a day between 7 and 8 o'clock P. M. All are requested to comply strictly with this order.

RANDOLPH BAINBRIDGE.
Commissioner of Public Works.
July 6-3t

ST. PAUL'S M. E. CHURCH JUBILEE

Twenty-fifth Anniversary Opened Thursday Evening

PASTOR RYDSTROM PRESIDED

The twenty-fifth anniversary jubilee of St. Paul's M. E. church, Fort street opened Thursday evening with a concert consisting of vocal and instrumental music and addresses by former pastors of the church. Pastor C. E. Rydstrom presided and gave the Bible reading and prayer.

The concert was fairly well attended in spite of the storm and every number on the program was good. The solos and duets were all well rendered and the addresses by the former pastors were greatly enjoyed.

The program:

PART ONE.

Orchestra—Castle Gate, Overture
Bible Reading and Prayer
Rev. Carl E. Rydstrom.
Male Chorus—Selected.
Solo—Selected.
Miss Olga Forsberg
Piano Solo—Toecatelle Dupont
Mr. Clarance Lundin
Duet—Peace to this Dwelling Smith
Miss Mary Witting and Fritz Swanson
Address
Rev. H. Hanson
Choir—Den forlorade sonen
(The Prodigal Son)

PART TWO.

Piano Solo—Spinning Song Wagner
Mr. Clarence Lundin
Male Chorus—Selected
Orchestra—Selected.
Solo—Selected
Miss Olga Forsberg
Address
Rev. Charles Pulson
Duet—(a) Kvallen Wibergh
(b) Lugn hvilar sjon Pfeil
Miss Mary Witting and Fritz Swanson
Orchestra—Selected.

St. Paul's M. E. church was founded in 1886 on the 6th day of July. D. A. Jordan, presiding elder of the Providence district, was the officer in charge of the incorporating of the church.

The site for the church was purchased early in 1887 the corner stone was laid in the spring of 1889. Just before Christmas of the same year, the dedication took place.

During the twenty-five years of the life of the church there have been seven pastors. Before the first resident pastor was called Pastor Olson of Boston conducted the services. The first regular pastor of the church was Rev. A. Z. Eryksell, who was followed by Pastor H. Hanson. Rev. Victor Wittling came in 1894 and spent two years with the parish after which Rev. S. Svenson took charge. Then Rev. H. Larson came to minister to the people and after him Rev. H. Hanson was recalled for a term. Rev. S. L. Carlander was pastor form 1905 to 1909 when Rev. C. E. Rydstrom, the present pastor, took up the work and began what has proved to be one of the most successful pastorates in the history of the church.

The church is valued at $8500 and a house and lot located on the corner of Fort and Granite streets, which is owned by the church, is valued at $1,300.

The church officers are as follows:

Pastor—Rev. C. E. Rydstrom.

Trustees—William Gelotte, chairman Andrew Anderson, secretary, Alfred Ohlson treasurer, A. Y. Anderson, Charles Carlson, Charles Edgren, Tage Kjellander, A. G. Nilson, L. Peterson.

Collectors—Alfred Olsen, George Edgren, B. Rosing, Mrs. Alide Lagergren, Mrs. Minnie Johnson.

Treasurer—Hjalmar Kjellander.

District collector— Richard Carlmark.

—DeWitt Clinton Jones was expelled from Ohio Wesleyan university 41 years ago for refusing to disclose the name of a friend involved in a prank. This year the college repaired its narrowness in the past, not only by granting him a degree, but by granting degrees to five men of the class of 1886 who were expelled for going to the theatre.

HOUSEKEEPERS
TELL YOUR TROUBLES
HOLMES & HALL
We make a business of repairing the things about the house that get out of order such as DOORS, LOCKS, SHADES, BELLS and FURNITURE.
96 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 974 L

SOFT DRINKS IN GREAT FAVOR

Great Quantity of Temperance Drinks Were Consumed

THERE WERE OTHERS, TOO

It is said that there is a bright side to every cloud and the bright side of the recent hot spell seems to be the harvest which dealers in refreshing drinks have reaped. Every soda fountain in the city has done a rushing business and the makers of tonics have been rushed to death to supply the demand for cooling drinks. The ice cream business was not as brisk as usual for the reason that the dealers who depended on the Boston Ice cream company for their supply did not get it on account of the scarcity of milk.

The dealers in soft drinks have been the most overworked class of people in the city and while they appreciated the harvest of coins that have flown into their coffers, they are doubtless glad that there is a little respite today.

Just how much in this line of refreshment has been dispensed in the city during the past few days is hard to determine but one dealer makes the following estimate and the general public is willing to let his estimate go for a fact. It is too hot to get into any argument over it. Here is what he says:

Ice cream	8,000 gallons
Soda water,	10,000 gallons
Orangeade,	200 gallons
Tonics of various kinds	1,000 gal.

If to this could be added the amount of lager beer and ale that was consumed in Quincy during these days, the amount would be amazing.

On the day before the Fourth and even as far back as last Saturday load after load of beer and ale was brought into Quincy to be distributed among its 32,000 inhabitants. People residing on Hancock street remarked about the number of one, two and four horse teams that came into the city loaded down to the axles with nothing but firewater, yet if they only realized it stimulants are the worst things a person could drink on a hot day and many of the prostrations of which the daily papers have been full of for the last few days have been due to its drinking.

A JACK OF ALL TRADES.

Monotony Will Never Kill England's Postmaster General.

The British postmaster general is what Londoners call a universal provider, a regular department store of public functions.

He will insure your life, give you a little bank to hoard your pennies in, take care of your savings, sell you an annuity, a postal order or a foreign draft, invest your spare capital in a nice little government bond and pay a weekly pension to your aged mother or aunt.

He carries letters and other mail matter, transmits telegrams, cablegrams and wireless messages, maintains an enormous staff of messenger boys and conducts an express company business for every sort of parcel, from a halfpenny packet up to shipments of eggs, dressed poultry and fresh fish.

He collects all the worn copper coins for the British treasury. He has factories for making his supplies and an electric central station of his own in London for lighting his offices, sending the current through his cable ducts. He will sell you a license for a dog, a carriage, a motorcar or a family coat of arms, or he will put in your telephone and take care of your hellos.

At a dinner the other night the postmaster general confessed that he sometimes doubted whether he had any human personality at all. When he thought of his own functions, he said, he was appalled by them. In his official capacity he is responsible for more property than anybody else in the United Kingdom, employs far more people than any individual or corporation, prosecutes more malefactors every day than the public prosecutor and sends out every week more apologies for himself and explanations of his actions than all the rest of the British population combined.—Telephone Review.

Casualties of the Cradle.

The burden of Prussia's military state, not spared even to the babes in their cradles, has proved too much for some of the younger members of the royal families. In "The House of Hohenzollern" Mr. Brayley Hodgetts mentions that the two sons whom the first crown princess of Prussia bore her husband (at the beginning of the eighteenth century) both died in their cradles, one from a nervous shock caused by the salute from heavy guns with which his arrival was heralded and the other from the burden of a golden crown which was placed on his head after baptism.

A QUICK TWIST.

Why the Watchful Owl Didn't Wring Its Own Head Off.

Boys who have tried to "put salt on a bird's tail" generally come to the conclusion that birds can "see behind them," and some may half believe that the heads of these little creatures are hung on pivots. How easily one could conceive such a notion is illustrated by the experience of a Maryland man who had read a story about an owl wringing its own neck by looking at a man who was walking around him. The Marylander decided to experiment along these lines and so procured a fine specimen of an owl and placed him on a post.

It was not difficult for the experimenter to secure the owl's attention, for the bird never diverted his gaze from the man while the latter was present. The man began walking rapidly around the post a few feet from it, keeping his eyes fixed upon the bird all the while.

The owl's body remained motionless, but his head turned exactly with the man's movements. When the man was halfway round the owl's head was directly behind. Three-quarters of a circle were completed, and still the same twist of the neck and the same stare followed the man.

One circle and no change. On the man went, twice around, and still that watchful stare and steady turn of the head. Three times the man went around, and he began to wonder why the owl's head did not drop off, when all at once the man discovered what he had failed to notice before.

When the man reached a distance halfway around from the front, which was as far as the owl could turn his head to follow the experimenter's movements with comfort, the owl whisked it back through the whole circle so instantaneously and brought it facing the man again with such precision that the latter failed to detect the movement, although he was looking intently all the while at the bird.

The Marylander repeated the experiment many times afterward on the same bird, and he had always to watch carefully to detect the movement of the readjustment of the owl's gaze.—Philadelphia Record.

Byron's Three Great Men of Europe.

Lord Byron said that Europe saw three great men in the early part of the nineteenth century. But no one now, in the early part of the twentieth century, could guess at the names of more than one of the three. It may be that Lord Byron was joking, but it is quite possible that he was serious when he named the curious trio.

Third in his little list he placed himself, the second person was Napoleon Bonaparte, and the first and foremost was George Bryan Brummel, Beau Brummel, "king of the beaux" and "Le Roi de Calais."—From Jerrold's "Beaux and Dandies."

Canada's Population Growing

Ottawa, July 7.—The total immigration into Canada for May was 61,475, as compared with 47,589 for May, 1910, an increase of 20 percent.

Kaiser Goes to Norway

Kiel, July 7.—The kaiser has sailed on the imperial yacht Hohenzollern for a trip to Norway.

Sheriff's Sale

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
Norfolk, ss.

Quincy, June 6th, A. D., 1911.

Seized on execution and will be sold at public auction on Saturday the 22nd day of July 1911 at 9 o'clock A. M., at my residence No. 163 Franklin Street in Quincy in said County, all the right, title and interest which Peter T. Fallon had (not exempt by law from attachment or levy on execution) on the 6th day of June, 1911 at 9 o'clock A. M. (being the time the same was seized on execution) in and to the following described real estate, to wit:—

Two parcels of land in said Quincy:

First parcel situated on the westerly side of Quarry Street, bounded and described as follows:

Easterly by Quarry Street, two hundred sixty-nine (269) feet, more or less and on land formerly of Richard Munn & Company, two hundred twenty-one (221) feet, more or less; Southerly, Five hundred twenty (520) feet, more or less; Southwesterly, Five hundred thirty-two (532) feet, more or less and Northerly, Seven hundred eighty (780) feet, more or less on land formerly of the heirs of Josiah Bass.

Second parcel situated on the Southwesterly side of Quarry street, bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at a point at the Northeasterly corner of land now or formerly owned by Eleazer Frederick and William Field as shown on a plan by H. T. Whitman and C. E. Breck, November 1871 and recorded with Norfolk Deeds, thence running Northwesterly along said Quarry Street; Three hundred seventy (370) feet, more or less to an iron bolt in a rock near the Northerly end of an old stone wall, said rock is marked with a letter "C" cut in the rock on the Easterly side of the bolt, and the letter "S" cut in the rock on the Westerly side of the bolt; thence turning and running in a Southwesterly direction along the line of land of Nathaniel M. Safford to an iron bolt in a rock; said rock being marked "C" on the East side and the letter "S" cut in the rock on the West side; thence continuing in a straight line to the Northerly line of land formerly owned by Eleazer Frederick and William Field, being a distance of Two hundred sixty (260) feet, more or less; thence turning and running in an Easterly direction along the line of land now or formerly owned by said Frederick and Field, Three hundred eighty-five (385) feet, more or less to the point of beginning on the southwesterly side of said Quarry Street.

GEORGE H. FIELD.
Deputy Sheriff.
July 7-3t 7, 14, 21

R. E. FOY & CO.

Be Careful What You Eat

PARTICULARLY this hot weather—as poor and impure foods in the warm season very quickly result in a seige of sickness. The safest plan is to have FOY'S Pure Food Mart supply all your food wants. You can order by 'phone just as well as in person—and we'll always assure you of the highest satisfaction—and too, guarantee to save you considerably.

Cool Suggestions for Hot Days

Hatchet Brand SCHRIMP 2 cans 25c
Japanese CRAB MEAT 35c can
Flag Brand SALMON 18c can
R. & R. CHICKEN 30c can

SALADS

Slade's SALAD CREAM 10c 18c
Durkee's SALAD CREAM 25c
Howard's MAYONNAISE 25c
French's Mustard Salad 10c

QUALITY STORE

COOKED MEATS
Premium Cooked Ham Machine sliced, lb. 35c
Squires' Cooked Corn Beef, lb. 22c
Luncheon Tongue, lb. 30c
German Bologna, lb. 15c

CONDENSED MILK
WILL KEEP FOREVER
Borden Peerless. 3 cans 25c
Van Camp's, can 10c
FRESH MILK WILL SOUR
Clover Hill, 6 cans 25c
Hires' Milk, can 10c

R. E. FOY & CO.
Phones 117 and 153

LITTLE SORREL.

The Favorite Battle Charger of Stonewall Jackson.

Among the many battle steeds ridden during the war between the states by the celebrated Confederate Corps Commander Stonewall Jackson of Lee's army his favorite was a charger affectionately named Little Sorrel by the Second corps of the Army of Virginia. He was about fifteen hands and, as General Longstreet said to the writer, strongly resembled, except in color, President Zachary Taylor's Old Whitey of the Mexican war. Jackson rode him at Bull Run, Winchester, Cedar Mountain, Manassas, Antietam, Harpers Ferry, Fredericksburg and on many other battlefields. He mounted Little Sorrel for the last time at Chancellorsville May 2, 1863, and in the battle was mortally wounded by his own men and died a week later.

General Bradley T. Johnson of Maryland in a letter to the present writer remarks: "Jackson was an ungainly horseman, and when he rode by the troops Little Sorrel would strike off on a run. The general would pull off his cap and ride bareheaded at full speed past miles of shouting Confederates. The saying was when you heard that yell before or behind you on the march, 'There goes old Jack on a rabbit.' When the soldiers started a rabbit they'd scare him to death with yelling."

Little Sorrel died at the Soldiers' home near Richmond at the age of thirty-six years and is now to be seen, like Sheridan's Winchester, carefully preserved in a glass case after being prepared by a skillful taxidermist at Lexington, Va.—James Grant Wilson in S. P. C. A. Bulletin.

Cupid In Caledonia.

An ancient Scotswoman rallied her daughter.

"Meg, for why canna ye encounter Sandy boy but ye must go red as red?" she asked.

"Mither," the girl shyly confessed, "he glares at me that fiercely I mann deem he's in loo' wi' me!"—Woman's Home Companion.

$250,000 HOME FOR JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER, JR.

Will Adjoin That of His Father—John D., Jr., Pays $100 For It.

John D. Rockefeller will build a home for his son on part of the plot which he accumulated as a possible site for the Fifth Avenue Baptist church, New York.

Trustees of the church decided recently not to build a new edifice. Mr. Rockefeller had paid $250,000 for the two houses 7 and 9 West Fifty-third street and $225,000 for 10 West Fifty-fourth street. The properties are next to the Rockefeller home on Fifty-fourth street.

The new home for John D., Jr., will be at 10 West Fifty-fourth street, covering a plot 20 by 100.5. Plans are being drawn for a structure to cost $250,000. The entire Rockefeller plot will be inclosed with a tall iron fence, and a small park will be laid out around the dwellings.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., according to a deed filed in the county clerk's office, received from his father for $100 "and other lawful considerations," the property at 10 West Fifty-fourth street. The only restrictions named in the deed are that the son is not to build within six feet of the easterly line as long as his father lives and owns the adjoining premises, and so long as his sister, Mrs. E. Parmalee Prentice, lives there no building shall be erected on that part lying south of the center line of the property.

Better In an Argument.

Blobbs—A woman can generally hit the nail on the head. Slobbs—Yes, but generally more successfully with an argument than with a hammer.—Philadelphia Record.

Quiet Resting Place.

Bertie—Do you know, Gertie, I'm regular run down. Where's the best place to go for a good long rest? Gertie—The cemetery.

WHEELER'S
The Store for Ladies' Furnishings
We will continue our Sale of Shirt Waists and Long Gloves
See what we offer in Shirt Waists for 79c and 98c
and Long Gloves for 50c and 75c
We are also showing a new line of Children's Parasols, all colors, for 25c and 29c
WE GIVE CASH DISCOUNT SLIPS
City Square G. W. WHEELER Quincy

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER and GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

STORAGE
—FOR—
Furniture and Pianos
Storage Warehouse with Separate Rooms
Furniture and Piano Movers
HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy Tel. Con.

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock treet, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1153 M Nov. 3-tf

A. M. DEANE & CO.
MONUMENTS
MEMORIALS ERECTED
IN ANY
CEMETERY
IN THE
UNITED STATES
Aug. 1.-1y

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.
FIRE INSURANCE.
The Best Insurance. The Lowest Rates.
Insurance Department.
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Telephone, Quincy 97-3.

PATTERSON, "The Florist"
92 South Central Ave.
WOLLASTON, MASS.
Telephone 382 Quincy

R. D. CHASE
QUINCY MASS.

Quincy Savings Bank
BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3. P. M.
SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.
CLARENCE BURGIN,
Treasurer.

JAMES F. BURKE
Real Estate and Insurance
AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES
Justice of the Peace Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Tel. 385-3 Jan. 17-tf

The Quincy Co-operative Bank
Room 13, Adams Building
On and after Monday, May 22, 1911, the hours of the Bank will be as follows:
8.30 to 12. 1 30 to 4
Saturdays 8.30 to 12.
Evenings
7 to 9 on first Wednesday of the month and the preceding Saturday.
FRANK A. REED, Sec.
Telephone 353 M Quincy.
May 13-pol-tf

UPHOLSTERING
My only ambition is to get the work and to show the people of Quincy Town that nobody can beat me with my good work. Low prices on all kinds of furniture, repairing, mattresses, and cushions. Can give references. M. Mirkin 67 Washington street, next to Y.M.C.A. Quincy. Tel. 1112W. April 10-3mo.

M. T. SULLIVAN
Real Estate Insurance
Auctioneer Care of Property
Justice of the Peace
Corner School and Hancock Streets
QUINCY.

PATENTS
PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc. IN ALL COUNTRIES.
Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent.
Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively.
Write or come to us at
710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office,
WASHINGTON, D. C.
CA SNOW & CO.

Quincy Daily Ledger

HIGH TIDE FOR WEEK.

Monday, July 3,	4.45	5.15
Tuesday,	5.45	6.15
Wednesday,	6.45	7.15
Thursday,	7.45	8.00
Friday,	8.45	8.45
Saturday,	9.30	9.45
Sunday,	10.15	10.15

1911 JULY 1911

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
						1
2	3	4	5	6	7	8
9	10	11	12	13	14	15
16	17	18	19	20	21	22
23	24	25	26	27	28	29
30	31

BRIEFS

John Maliar, Jr., of Lewiston, Maine, is visiting relatives in Quincy.

Fred Curtis of Quarry street returned yesterday, after spending a very pleasant Fourth with his mother in Lewiston, Maine.

Owing to the scarcity of milk the past few days stores which depended upon Boston for their supply of ice cream for their soda fountains have been without this cooling refreshment.

The past five days have been trying ones for the conductors and motormen on the street railway and Thursday Supt. Gammon reported that eighteen of his men were off sick owing to the heat. This made them short of men and it was difficult to get crews enough to run the regular cars.

BESSIE HISCOX.

Funeral services for Bessie Hiscox who died on June 30th were held from her home on Monday at 3.30 Rev. Frederick H. Steenstra of St. Chrysostom's church officiating. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hiscox of 159 Farrington street, Wollaston and for seven years has suffered from heart trouble. There were many beautiful floral pieces among them:

Pillow "Bessie"—family.

Wreath white sweet peas and oleander—Girls in Oxford Telephone Office.

Wreath, pinks, roses and white sweet peas—friends.

Spray pink carnations—Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Lapointe.

Bouquet pond lilies—Mrs. Sherman.

Spray white carnations—Miss Lillian Quaile.

Spray white carnations—Mrs. Guptill and family.

Spray white carnations and pink sweet peas Misses Margaret and Julia Dennehy.

Spray pink and white carnations—Miss Helen O'Brien.

Spray pink and white carnations Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bean.

Spray roses—Mrs. Annabelle McKay.

Spray white carnations and pink sweet peas Mr. and Mrs. Eben Sanborn.

Spray white carnations—Miss Mary Stanton.

Spray pink and white carnations Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Sanborn.

Spray white carnations Miss Mattie Dutton.

Spray pink carnations—Mr. and Mrs. George Rundlett.

Spray pink and white carnations—Mr. and Mrs. Philip Burns.

Spray pink and white carnations—Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Burmingham.

Spray pink and white carnations—Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hiscox.

Forty-eight pink and white carnations—Miss Vera Longley.

As she lay in her last sleep she held twenty pink carnations in her arms one for each year of her young life.

STEVENS—PETERSON.

Miss Charlotte M. Peterson, daughter of Andrew Peterson of Squantum, was married on the holiday to G. F. W. Stevens of Dorchester, the ceremony taking place at the home of the bride's parents, where it was performed by Rev. W. T. Beals of Dedham, formerly of Dorchester. Dr. A. M. Kenney of Dorchester was best man, while Mrs. Frank Driscoll was matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Misses Ruth, Alice and Charlotte Peterson, nieces of the bride, and the ushers were Andrew H. Peterson, Frank Driscoll, Joseph Calkins and John Wayland.

SPEAKER CLARK TO VISIT BOSTON

Speaker Champ Clark will visit Boston in August according to Representative Murray of Boston who has his promise to that effect. He asked the speaker to go to Boston and address a large gathering of Massachusetss Democrats on an occasion now being organized by Joseph Maynard and the city committee. The speaker said he would probably be able to come.

HILLES NAMED AS THE CULPRIT

Said to Be Engineering an Anti-Progressive Plot

CANDIDACY OF LA FOLLETTE

Norris of Nebraska Says It Is Being Hampered by President's Private Secretary—Taft Finds Himself Between Two Fires In Settling Political Conflict—Must Choose Between Hilles and Hitchcock

Washington, July 7.—Sensational charges to the effect that C. D. Hilles, private secretary to President Taft, is conducting a political news bureau for the purpose of hampering the presidential candidacy of Senator La Follette, and also to the effect that there is a newspaper conspiracy against progressive Republicans, are made in an open letter by Representative Norris of Nebraska.

Mr. Norris' letter was in answer to telegrams from the Nebraska progressives desiring their repudiation of Frank A. Shotwell, who, they said, had represented himself as an agent of the league, and, as such, had given out several statements favoring the renomination of President Taft. Norris charged that the progressives had been wronged by a "conspiracy of great newspapers" in suppressing news relating to the progressive movement. After referring to a series of articles printed, Norris' letter concluded:

"These various articles have earmarks that strongly indicate that they originated in the White House. I do not think that the president himself wrote them, or dictated them, and I do not know that he had knowledge of them, but it is generally understood that the information came from his private secretary, and almost without exception, these objectional articles contain items of information that must necessarily have come from someone closely connected with the White House.

"I am reluctantly led to believe that the president's private secretary is the head of a political news bureau that is making a determined effort to suppress any sentiment in favor of the candidacy of Senator La Follette and to do this by the suppression of truth and the publication of ungrounded and false reports.

A factional controversy over the selection of a Republican state chairman for Alabama boiled to the surface at the White House yesterday and put President Taft in the predicament of choosing between Postmaster General Hitchcock and Secretary Hilles as political adviser to the administration.

Mr. Hitchcock resigned as chairman of the Republican National committee before he entered the president's cabinet, but his connection with the appointment of postmasters has necessarily kept him in touch with political conditions, especially in the south. Hilles has interested himself in political conditions the country over. A possible clash between Hitchcock and Hilles had been predicted, but it was not looked for at this time.

The Alabama row started several months ago. P. D. Barker, Republican national committeeman and postmaster at Mobile, is backing Peter M. Long for state chairman, with the knowledge of Hitchcock. Hilles and Booker T. Washington, the negro educator, are understood to be backing J. O. Thompson, collector of internal revenue.

Alabamans, including many of the most prominent federal office-holders in the state, declared to President Taft yesterday that a majority of the Republican state committee is for Barker and asked that Alabama Republicans be allowed to settle their row themselves.

The president did not commit himself. He is in an embarrassing position, however, since an indorsement of Barker might be regarded as a turndown for Hilles and an indorsement for Thompson might look like a slap at the postmaster general.

RELATES TO MONEY CLAIM

United States and Britain Sign First Schedule of Peace Pact

Washington, July 7.—The principle of arbitration of international disputes, in so far as its application to the United States and Great Britain is concerned, received a pronounced impetus yesterday.

Secretary of State Knox and Ambassador Bryce signed the first schedule of certain pecuniary claims existing between the United States and Great Britain and the terms of their submission to arbitration in accordance with the special agreement signed Aug. 18 last.

The Weather

Almanac, Saturday, July 8.
Sun rises—4:33; sets—7:29.
Moon sets—2:29 a. m.
High water—9:30 a. m.; 9:45 p. m.
Forecast for New England: Probably fair; moderate north, shifting to east winds.

GEORGE W. NORRIS

Charges False Reports to Secretary of Taft

TURNED DOWN NOBLEMEN

Chicago's $200,000 Widow Is Not Looking For Foreign Title

Chicago, July 7.—Mrs. Ella W. Dean, Chicago's $200,000 widow, who wrested that sum out of her late husband's estate, returned to Chicago after a trip abroad, during which Russian, German, French and English coronas were thrown at her feet, the purchase price being the powerful American dollar.

But she would have none of it, she declared at her home. She stated, metaphorically speaking, that she kicked the tarnished crownlets out of her path and returned to Chicago unmarried, but with a lot of newly accumulated views of nobility of Europe.

HEAT WAVE PASSES FROM NEW ENGLAND

Fifty-One More Fatalities Reported In Greater Boston

Boston, July 7.—Wilted Boston, whose congested districts were fast approaching the point of desperation, after suffering five days under the highest temperature the city has known, was deluged last night by a cool and welcome rain. In one hour the temperature dropped twenty-three degrees as the rain storm swept over the city.

The deaths and prostrations in Greater Boston continued yesterday. Fifty-one people were killed in Greater Boston and thirty-three in New England, outside of the city, many of them dropping in their tracks, to be taken to hospitals.

Hundreds were prostrated. Almost all the big department stores either shut down altogether during the early afternoon or allowed all their staff with the exception of a few to go home.

FAILURE OF COAL STRIKE

Eighteen Lives Lost During Struggle of Sixteen Months' Duration

Pittsburg, July 7.—The miners' locals throughout the Irwin-Greensburg coal fields in Westmoreland county held meetings to vote on ending the strike that has been on for sixteen months.

In every instance the miners voted to give up the struggle, as the international executive board of the United Mine Workers in session in Indianapolis voted to discontinue paying strike benefits.

The board further directs President Feehan of the Pittsburg district to call the strike leaders together and to terminate the strike without recognition or concessions.

Eighteen lives have been lost in the strike and more than $1,000,000 has been spent, besides large donations from sympathizers.

A SIX-TON CHEESE

Wisconsin Man to Build One For National Dairy Show Association

Appleton, Wis., July 7.—N. Simon of this city has just obtained a contract for the National Dairy Show association to build a cheese weighing 12,000 pounds.

It will require all the milk from 6500 cows for one day, and it is estimated it will take sixty-five tons, or 130,000 pounds, of milk and cream. The work will be done by eighteen expert cheese makers and twenty-five helpers on a specially constructed flat car.

Gates' Illness Is Serious

Paris, July 7.—John W. Gates is seriously ill here. French doctors have lanced his throat three times. His friends are now consulting to secure best German specialists.

Place For Bay State Man

Washington, July 7.—President Taft nominated Francis M. Endicott of Massachusetts to be secretary of legation and consul general at Santo Domingo.

GIRLS ASKED FOR $25,000

Stokes Says They Told Him Refusal Meant Death

TELLS HIS STORY IN COURT

Called at Apartments of Misses Graham and Conrad to Get Letters He Had Written Many Years Ago—Admits Having Given Them Money—Defendants Appear Mirthful as Millionaire Gives His Testimony

New York, July 7.—W. E. D. Stokes, millionaire hotel owner and horseman, who was shot and seriously injured some weeks ago by Lillian Graham and Ethel Conrad, took the witness stand before Magistrate Freschi in the Tombs court and told the story of how he was lured to their apartments and then threatened with death, unless he would give them a check for $25,000.

Stokes declared that after he got into their apartment the girls told him that they had three men hidden behind a wall and then intimated that he would never get out of the room alive, and that as he had come in slyly no one would ever know what had become of him.

The much debated question of the existence of the letters was settled by Stokes. He declared that on the afternoon he was shot he called at the apartment of the Graham and Conrad girls to get eighteen letters which he had written to Miss Graham many years ago.

Stokes also told of giving money to both girls, and said that those sums and $200 for steamship tickets had been given on condition that the eighteen letters were returned to him.

Stokes testified that Miss Graham said: "There is one thing you can do. You can sign a check for $25,000."

"I said: 'Young woman, do you know what this means? This is plain blackmail and a state prison offense.'

"To that Miss Conrad said: 'It's death or $25,000.' I replied: 'If it's death or one cent I choose death."

Stokes declared that the shooting immediatey followed. He described at some length the assault by three Japanese in the hall after the girls had pummelled him. He said the Japs seemed to jump on him from every side and were all beating him at once.

While Stokes was telling his story the girls, who admit they shot him, but claim a very different motive from that advanced by the millionaire, sat smiling at the counsel table. They often whispered to their attorneys, and at times seemed almost on the point of bursting with mirth. The two defendants were dressed very much alike. Both wore blue suits, and judging from their facial decorations, might have been ready to step out behind the footlights.

Stokes told his story with great care to the most minute detail. He was energetic and nervous throughout the recital, and at times became melodramatic.

HEAVY ELECTRICAL STORM

Much Damage In Many Sections of Eastern New England

Boston, July 7.—A severe electrical storm, winding up the heat spell, started in Burlington, Vt., and circled New England last night, doing thousands of dollars' worth of damage and leaving a trail of devastation in every town along its path.

Lightning set fire to scores of dwellings and barns and cut down telegraph wires. Then a gale that followed, accompanied now and then by hail, added to the devastation. Lightning did $30,000 damage when it set fire to business blocks in Wakefield.

The electrical display in the heavens was of the kind rarely seen in New England. At times it seemed to rain lightning, big balls of fire falling with great frequency.

NEW STATE AUDITOR

White Chosen to Fill Bay State Vacancy Caused by Death

Boston, July 7.—Senator John E. White of Tisbury was elected state auditor by the legislature yesterday afternoon, defeating Representative Lincoln Breckenridge of North Adams, the Democratic nominee, by a vote of 132 to 105.

The caucuses were short and harmonious. In the Republican caucus the names of three candidates were presented. White succeeds the late Auditor Turner, who died last week.

Aged Woman Hangs Herself

Houlton, Me., July 7.—Despondency caused by continued ill health was responsible for the death of Mrs. Ellen Hogan, aged 70, who hanged herself at her farm.

Stimson Off For Panama

New York, July 7.—For the purpose of inspecting the work on the Panama canal, Secretary of War Stimson sailed on the Santa Marta for Colon.

TO ENFORCE CLAUSE ON COMMODITIES

Government Begins New Campaign Against Coal Trust

Washington, July 7.—The government has renewed the fight to dissociate the great coal-carrying railroads from their virtual control of mines and thus vitalize the commodities clause of the interstate commerce law.

A test case against the Lehigh Valley railroad was filed in the United States court in Philadelphia. That the Lehigh Valley Coal company, Coxe Bros., Incorporated, the New York and Middlefield Railroad and Coal company and the Locust Mountain Coal and Iron company are not bona fide coal companies, but merely adjuncts to the Lehigh Valley railroad, and are "devices for evading the commodities clause," is the government's principal complaint.

It is also alleged that the Lehigh Valley Coal company, with the object of removing competition, has caused the Lehigh Valley Coal company to contract at a loss for the output of other anthracite operators, has transported the coal over its own lines and through the coal company fixed the price in New York and other markets.

The government charges that although the buying of coal from other operators has been done at a loss to the coal company, it has enabled the Lehigh Valley railroad to transport the coal over its lines and profit from the freight charges.

BABY KILLS FATHER

Three-Year-Old Boy Sends a Bullet Into Brain of Doctor

McAlesteer, Okla., July 7.—At Ashland, Dr. L. O. Pickins was shot and instantly killed by his 3-year-old baby boy.

Dr. Pickins was visiting at the home of R. H. Hall, a banker, and was lying on the floor reading. The child got hold of a target rifle and while playing with it discharged the gun, the bullet entering the base of the doctor's brain.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

In effect June 4, 1911

The letters in the same line as the figures below stand for different stations and indicate that trains stop as follows.

a	Wollaston,	f	Harrison Square
b	Norfolk Downs	g	Savin Hill
c	Atlantic	h	Crescent Avenue
d	Neponset	i	South Boston
e	Pope's Hill	r	Quincy Adams

Exp.—Express train.

TO BOSTON			FROM BOSTON
Leave	Stop	Arrive	Leave	Stop	Arrive
r	5 14	abcdefghi 5 41		5 45	ihgfedcba 6 14 r
r	6 16	abci 6 35		6 12	ihgfedcba 6 39 r
r	6 33	e 6 48		6 30	a 6 47
r	6 40	abcf 7 00		7 15	hgfedcba 7 41 r
r	7 08	abcd 7 30		7 41	a 7 58
r	7 25	d 7 42		7 45	c 8 03 r
r	7 33	Exp 7 48		8 35	cb 8 53
r	7 42	ab 8 00		8 42	a 8 59
	7 57	a 8 13		9 10	fedba 9 32 r
r	8 09	abcd 8 31		9 45	a 10 11 r
r	8 30	Exp 8 45		10 15	ihgfedcba 10 41 r
r	8 53	ad 9 10		10 50	Exp 11 05
r	9 15	abe 9 33		11 15	hgfedcba 11 41 r
r	10 03	a 10 20		11 50	a 12 07
r	10 19	abcdefghi 10 45		12 15	hgfedcba 12 41 r
	11 12	a 11 28		12 37	a 12 54 r
r	11 24	abcdefgh 11 50		12 50	Exp 1 05
r	12 25	abcdefghi 12 52		1 11	fedcba 1 32 r
	1 22	a 1 40		1 45	a 2 02
	2 04	a 2 20		2 15	ihgf 2 37 r
r	2 19	abcdefgh 2 45		2 35	Exp 2 50
r	3 13	Exp 3 28		3 15	hgfedcba 3 40 r
	4 01	a 4 20		3 45	a 4 02
r	4 25	abcdefgh 4 52		4 12	fedcba 4 34 r
	5 06	Exp 5 10		4 41	d 4 58
r	5 30	abcdefg 5 55		5 14	a 5 31 r
	6 12	a 6 30		5 24	a 5 42
	7 22	Exp 7 37		5 31	deb 5 50 r
r	7 30	a 7 46		5 43	a 6 00 r
r	8 07	abcdef 8 30		5 55	iedcba 6 21 r
r	9 01	abc 9 20		6 14	Exp 6 30 r
	10 01	a 10 20		6 30	ecba 6 51 r
r	10 07	abcdef 10 30		7 00	fedcba 7 24 r
r	11 25	abe 11 45		7 12	a 7 29
				8 05	ba 8 32
				9 25	dba 9 46 r
				10 35	fedcba 11 02 r
				11 10	fedcba 11 35 r
				11 30	ba 11 49

SUNDAYS

r	7 43	abc 8 03		6 30	ba 6 48 r
	8 30	Exp 8 45		8 45	ihgfedcba 9 13 r
	8 34	abc 8 52		9 05	Exp 9 21
r	8 46	bcdefghi 9 13		10 15	ihgfedcba 10 -2 r
r	9 13	abc 9 33		12 15	ihgfedcba 12 42 r
	9 31	a 9 47		12 45	Exp 1 01
	10 23	ac 10 40		1 30	ihgfedcba 1 57 r
	10 31	Exp 10 47		2 15	hgfedcba 2 42 r
	11 00	Exp 11 17		2 45	a 3 02
r	11 16	abcdefghi 11 43		3 15	ihgfedcba 3 42 r
	1 02	Exp 1 17		4 27	cba 4 48 r
r	1 16	abcdefgh 1 43		5 15	ihgfedcba 5 42 r
r	3 10	abc 3 30		6 15	ihgfedcba 6 42 r
r	4 16	abcdefghi 4 43		7 00	cba 7 19 r
r	5 07	abe 5 27		8 15	ihgfedcba 8 41 r
r	6 16	abcdefghi 6 43		8 50	Exp 9 05
r	7 16	abcdefghi 7 42		9 30	ihgfedcba 9 57 r
r	8 11	abcdefghi 8 38		10 45	cba 11 04 r
r	9 07	a 9 22
r	10 46	abe 11 05
r	11 01	abc 11 20

West Quincy for Boston (stopping at East Milton)-6.23, 6.56, 7.17, 8.04, 8.11, 9.07 10.09, 11.01, A. M. 12.09, 1.23, 2.09, 3.18, 4.09, 5.13 6.05, 7.19, 9.09, 11.14 P. M. Sundays- 8.20, 9.20 A. M. 12.50, 5.15, 6.50, 11.02 P. M.

Boston for West Quincy (stopping at East Milton)-6.35, 7.27, 8.23, 9.35, 10.25, 11.35 A. M. 12.25, 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 5.47, 6.18 7.20, 9.10, 11.20 P. M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M. 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M.

Montclair for Boston 6.29, 7.27, 8.17, 10.15, A. M. 12.15, 1.29, 4.15, 5.20, 6.12, 7.24, 9.15, P. M. Sundays- 8.26, 9.26, A. M. 1.06, 5.21, 11.09 P. M.

Boston for Montclair 9.35, 10.25, 11.35, A. M. 12.25, 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 6.18, 11.20 P. M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M. 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M.

Boston & Northern St. Ry. Co.

QUINCY DIVISION

TIME TABLE

In effect June 24th, 1911.

Subject to Change Without Notice

Leave QUINCY for

Brockton, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M. then 9.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Brockton, 6.30, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 9.30 P. M Sundays, 8.00A. M. then same as week days.

Braintree, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Braintree, 6.25 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.25 P. M. Sundays, 7.55 A. M. then same as week days.

East Milton, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Milton, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M., and every 20 minutes to 11.45 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.15 midnight.) Sundays, 7.25, A. M. then same as week days.

East Weymouth, 6.00, 6.15, 6.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.42 P. M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Weymouth, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.45 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Holbrook, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M. then 9.50 and 10.20 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Holbrook, 5.55, 6.25, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.00 P. M. Sundays, 8.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Houghs Neck, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 5.20, 5.45, 6.10 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 4.10 P. M. then 4.25, 4.40, 4.55, 5.10, 5.25, 5.40, 5.55, 6.10, 6.25, 6.40, 6.55, 7.10 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 11.10 P. M. then 11.49 P. M. Saturdays and Holidays, 5.20, 5.45, 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, 10.10, 10.40, A. M. then every 15 minutes to 10.40 P. M. then 11.10 and 11.49 P. M. Sundays, 6.50, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, 10.10, 10.40 A. M. then every 15 minutes to 10.40 P. M. then 11.10 P. M. Return, leave Houghs Neck Mondays to Fridays, both inc. 5.45, 6.05, 6.35 A. M. and ever 30 minutes to 4.35 P. M. then 4.50, 5.05, 5.20, 5.35, 5.50, 6.05, 6.20, 6.35, 6.50, 7.05, 7.20, 7.35 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 12.05 midnight. Saturdays and Holidays, 5.45, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05, A. M. then every 15 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.35 and 12.05 P. M. Sundays, 7.20, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05 A. M. then every 15 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.35 P. M.

Nantasket 8.25 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 9.25 P. M. Sundays, 9.25 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Nantasket, 10.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.00 P. M. Sundays, 10.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Hancock Street, 5.45, 6.14, 6.44, 7.14, 7.44, 8.14, 8.35, A. M. then 5, 14, 35 and 44 minutes past each hour to 10.44 P. M. then 12.14 midnight. Sundays 7.14 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Neponset 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, 8.07, 8.35, 8.37, 9.05, 9.37 A. M. then 5, 7, 35 and 37 minutes past each hour to 11.07 P. M. then 12.37 midnight. Sundays, 7.37 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Wollaston. 5.59 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.59 P. M. then 11.14 and 11.44 P. M. Sundays, 6.59 A. M. then same as week days. Return leave Neponset, 6.22 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.22 P. M. then 11.37, 12.07 P. M. Sundays, 7.22 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Norfolk Downs, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 7.55, 8.25, 8.50, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 1.30 P. M. then 2.05, 2.35 P. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.05 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.00 P. M.) Sundays, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Neponset, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 1.35 P. M. then 2.00, 2.30 P. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M.) Sundays, 8.30, 9.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Weymouth Landing, 5.20, 6.00, 6.20, 6.55, 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.00 P. M. Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days. Return leave Weymouth Landing, 5.40, 6.15, A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.15 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Wollaston, 5.59 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.59 P. M. then 11.14 and 11.44 P. M. Sundays, 6.59 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Wollaston, 6.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.30 P. M. then 11.50 and 12.20 P. M. Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days.

West Quincy, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave West Quincy, 6.00, 6.20, 6.50, A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.50 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.20 midnight) Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days.

Leave NEPONSET BRIDGE for Squantum, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 3.30 P. M. then 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30 P. M. then every 60 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Saturdays, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Sundays, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. (Note—Week Days, cars will leave Atlantic Bridge for Squantum, 5.45 and 6.15 A. M.) Return leave Squantum, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 4.05 P. M. then 4.35, 5.05, 5.35, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05 P. M. then every 60 minutes to 11.05 P. M. Saturdays, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 10.05 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. Sundays, 8.05 9.05, 10.05, A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M.

THOMAS GAMMON,
Superintendent.

AMUSEMENTS

DOINGS ON THE STAGE OF

LOCAL AND BOSTON THEATRES

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE.

What promises to be the biggest summer vaudeville bill ever presented in Boston is announced for B. F. Keith's Theatre next week, for beside "The Meistersingers" in "Swept By Ocean Breezes," giving a programme of "The Songs of Ireland," there is a long list of favorites in the vaudeville department. One of the most important features will be Edwin Holt & Co. in one of the greatest George Ade comedies ever written, called "The Mayor and the Manicure." Ethel MacDonough, who became famous as the drummer girl of the Fadettes orchestra and later as the Divine Myrma, will be seen in an entirely new specialty in which she will introduce drumming, songs, and some novel bathing effects. Especially engaged for this week is Bert Fitzgibbon, the singing monologuist, who made one of the biggest hits of the year when he appeared at this house a few months ago. In fact, so great was his success that a return engagement was immediately booked, and this was the first week available. Other features will be Patty & Desparado, the wonderful upside down men of Ringling Brothers Circus; the Majestic Musical Four; the Field Brothers; and Rembrandt, a cartoonist who introduces something new.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

The quaint figure of Hiram Perkins gives "Mary Jane's Pa" its comedy, its emotion and its farce. Hiram Perkins is Mary Jane's pa himself, and just before her birth he betakes himself to fresh fields and pastures new, not returning home to the bosom of his family till after many years. During that period his wife has become a power in the Indian town where she lives, and she has no use for Hiram except as a household drudge. He becomes cook, general servant and man of all work in the Perkins household, and the humor that arises out of his peculiar situation, his good nature and determination to make the best of everything and to atone for his folly in deserting his wife years ago gives the play a continuous comic action and dialogue that has made it extremely popular. When "Mary Jane's Pa" was first produced, the title role was played by Henry E. Dixey. Later it was assumed by Max Figman, and now in Mr. Craig's production at the Castle Square it will find no less efficient a representative in Donald Meek, whose skill as a comedian is unquestioned. Mary Jane herself will be played by Henrietta McDannel, who has been so constantly associated with boy's parts at the Castle Square that her appearance in feminine garb will be a surprise and a novelty. The rest of the cast will include Gertrude Binley, Mabel Colcord, W. P. Carleton and the entire strength of Mr. Craig's stock company.

HIGHLAND PARK.

The big, free attraction at Highland Park every afternoon and evening of next week will be The Marriott Twins & Co. This is one of the most original and unique acts appearing on the vaudeville stage. Included in the company in Dick Ford, who for years has been known as the greatest of the world's great clowns. He but recently left the Barnum & Bailey circus where he was at the head of the clowns of that aggregation for a long time. There are also three men and one woman. All are expert acrobats and jugglers and introduce many novelties in the way of handling bicycles, carriages, automobiles and other vehicles. The act is full of funny situations and clever comedy as well as moments which are really thrilling. The performance scheduled for the theatre during the week is very laughable musical comedy "Our Summer Boarders." This has snappy, up-to-date music, is well costumed and has a bevy of pretty girls who can not only look well but can sing and enter into the spirit of the performance. On Sunday evening there will be moving pictures as usual.

PARAGON PARK.

The hot weather of the past few days has proved conclusively what an ideal place the Palm Garden and the new added roof garden is for dining and enjoying the refreshments that may be selected from the wine list. When the weather is the hottest the average person begins to think the hardest about a cool spot for escaping the heat of the city, and a beach resort naturally comes to mind. Nantasket beach is more popularly thought of in this connection because it is pretty sure to be swept by sea breezes, and as it is practically an island there are no annoying warm land breezes. But having decided upon a seashore resort for finding cool comfort and relief from city heat one must needs think of the opportunity for enjoying a comfortable meal. The first thought is pretty sure to turn to the Palm Garden at Paragon Park where it is a well recognized fact that Manager George A. Dodge maintains a superb menu and ideal service. It is nearer like dining in the open than any other place on the New England coast, and if it ever happens that the supply of sea breezes runs out at any time and the forest of palm trees are not bending to the sea breezes the giant fans are ever ready to supply the deficiency. The whole idea of the place is to make people absolutely comfortable and contented while eating and drinking on a hot day.

SINKING OF THE MAINE

Naval Officers Think It Was Caused by Torpedo or Mine

Washington, July 7.—A board of naval officers, experts in explosives, is being selected by the navy department to study the hull of the battleship Maine in Havana harbor as the water is pumped from the cofferdam now surrounding the wreck.

The navy department officers are convinced that the examination will prove the accuracy of the findings of the Sampson board, namely, that the destructive explosive which sank the Maine was caused by a torpedo or mine, and that the explosion of the ship's magazines followed.

Ivernia Steams Into Port

Queenstown, July 7.—The Cunard steamer Ivernia, temporarily patched up, sailed for Liverpool under her own steam, but escorted by five tugs and salvage steamers. The Ivernia has been laid up since she struck near Daunt Rock on May 24.

Troops Rout Dutch Rioters

Amsterdam, July 7.—There was hot fighting in the harbor district here between rioters and the police and troops. The strikers stoned the police and the troops replied with their rifles.

HOME TRADE WILL HELP QUINCY AND EVERYONE IN QUINCY.

15 Cents is the Cost of the one soap so perfect that you ought to have it in daily use. It beautifies, cleanses, economizes. There is no waste in

Pears' SOAP

15c. a Cake for the Unscented

A NEW CREATION
WEBSTER'S NEW INTERNATIONAL DICTIONARY
THE MERRIAM WEBSTER

The Only New unabridged dictionary in many years.
Contains the pith and essence of an authoritative library.
Covers every field of knowledge. An Encyclopedia in a single book.
The Only Dictionary with the New Divided Page.
400,000 Words. 2700 Pages. 6000 Illustrations. Cost nearly half a million dollars.
Let us tell you about this most remarkable single volume.

Write for sample pages, full particulars, etc. Name this paper and we will send free a set of Pocket Maps

G. & C. Merriam Co.
Springfield, Mass.

Faded Draperies Dyed

Your draperies can be dyed to look like new, send us yours and be convinced. Phone or write and our team will call.

WARSHAW'S DYE HOUSE
EST. 1892
1503 HANCOCK STREET
QUINCY

May 12-tf

PATENTS

TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 26 years experience.
Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.
READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.

D. SWIFT & CO.
PATENT LAWYERS,
303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

THE DANGER TRAIL

By JAMES OLIVER CURWOOD

Copyright, 1910, by Bobbs-Merrill Company.

SYNOPSIS

Jack Howland, engineer, sent to build the Hudson Bay railroad, is appealed to for help by a beautiful girl who writes that she is a mute and invites him to accompany her. They are followed by Jean Croisset, half breed.

They go to her camp. He is attacked and nearly killed by a huge stranger. The girl disappears. Howland hears her speak. Croisset gives him the little Meleese's warning not to go north. He goes.

(Continued from last issue)

CHAPTER III.

THAT FACE AGAIN.

SEVERAL hours later Howland crawled from his bed and bathed his head in cold water. After that he felt better, dressed himself and went below.

It was rather with a sense of disappointment than pleasure that he learned the work train was to leave for Le Pas late that night instead of the next day. After a quiet hour's rest in his room, however, his old enthusiasm returned to him. He found himself feverishly anxious to reach Le Pas and the big camp on the Wekusko. Croisset's warning for him to turn back into the south instead of deterring him urged him on. He was born a fighter. It was by fighting that he had forced his way round by round up the ladder of success. And now the fact that his life was in danger, that some mysterious peril awaited him in the depths of the wilderness, but added a new and thrilling fascination to the tremendous task which was ahead of him. He wondered if this same peril had beset Gregson and Thorne and if it was the cause of their failure, of their anxiety to return to civilization. He assured himself that he would know when he met them at Le Pas. He would discover more when he became a part of the camp on the Wekusko—that is, if the half breed's warning held any significance at all, and he believed that it did. Anyway, he would prepare for developments. So he went to a gunshop, bought a long barreled six shooter and a holster and added to it a hunting knife like that he had seen carried by Croisset.

It was near midnight when he boarded the work train, and dawn was just beginning to break over the wilderness when it stopped at Etomami, from which point he was to travel by handcar over the sixty miles of new road that had been constructed as far north as Le Pas. For three days the car had been waiting for the new chief of the road, but neither Gregson nor Thorne was with it.

"Mr. Gregson is waiting for you at Le Pas," said one of the men who had come with it. "Thorne is at Wekusko."

For the first time in his life Howland now plunged into the heart of the wilderness. Everywhere lay white winter. The rocks, the trees and the great ridges, which in this north country are called mountains, were covered with four feet of snow, and on it the sun shone with dazzling brilliancy.

The short northern day was nearing an end when once more they saw the broad Saskatchewan twisting through a plain below them, and on its southern shore the few log buildings of Le Pas hemmed in on three sides by the black forests of balsam and spruce. Lights were burning in the cabins and in the Hudson Bay post's store when the car was brought to a halt half a hundred paces from a squat, log built structure, which was more brilliantly illuminated than any of the others.

"That's the hotel," said one of the men. "Gregson's there."

A tall, fur clad figure hurried forth to meet Howland as he walked briskly across the open. It was Gregson. As the two men gripped hands the young engineer stared at the other in astonishment. This was not the Gregson he had known in the Chicago office—round faced, full of life, as active as a cricket.

"Never so glad to see any one in my life, Howland!" he cried, shaking the other's hand again and again. "Another month and I'd be dead. Isn't this a h— of a country?"

"I'm falling more in love with it at every breath, Gregson. What's the matter? Have you been sick?"

"Sick? Yes, sick of the job! If the old man hadn't sent us relief Thorne and I would have thrown up the whole thing in another four weeks. I'd warrant you'll get your everlasting fill of log shanties and half breeds and moose meat and this infernal snow and ice before spring comes. But I don't want to discourage you."

"Can't discourage me," laughed Howland cheerfully. "You know I never cared much for theaters and girls," he added slyly, giving Gregson a good natured nudge. "How about 'em up here?"

"Nothing—not a cursed thing." Suddenly his eyes lighted up. "By George, Howland, but I did see the prettiest girl I ever laid my eyes on today! I'd give a box of pure Havanas—and we haven't had one for a month—if I could know who she is!"

"A tall girl, with a fur hat and muff?" queried Howland eagerly.

"Nothing of the sort. She was a typical northerner if there ever was one—straight as a birch, dressed in fur cap and coat, short caribou skin skirt and moccasins, and with a braid hanging down her back as long as my arm. Lord, but she was pretty!"

"Isn't there a girl somewhere up around our camp named Meleese?" asked Howland casually.

"Never heard of her," said Gregson.

"Or a man named Croisset?"

"Never heard of him."

"The deuce, but you're interesting," laughed the young engineer, sniffing at the odors of cooking supper. "I'm as hungry as a bear!"

From outside there came the sharp cracking of a sledge driver's whip and Gregson went to one of the small windows looking out upon the clearing. In another instant he sprang toward the door, crying out to Howland.

"By the god of love, there she is, old man! Quick, if you want to get a glimpse of her!"

He flung the door open, and Howland hurried to his side. There came another crack of the whip, a loud shout, and a sledge drawn by six dogs sped past them into the gathering gloom of the early night.

From Howland's lips, too, there fell a sudden cry, for one of the two faces that were turned toward him for an instant was that of Croisset, and the other—white and staring as he had seen it that first night in Prince Albert—was the face of the beautiful girl who had lured him into the ambush on the Great North trail!

For a moment after the swift passing of the sledge it was on Howland's lips to shout Croisset's name. As he thrust Gregson aside and leaped out into the night he was impelled with a desire to give chase. It was Gregson who recalled him to his senses.

"I thought you didn't care for theaters—and girls, Howland!" he exclaimed banteringly. "A pretty face affects you a little differently up here, eh?"

Howland interrupted him sharply.

"Did you ever see either of them before, Gregson?"

"Never until today. But there's hope, old man. Surely we can find some one in the place who knows them. Would not it be jolly good fun if Jack Howland, Esq., who has never been interested in theaters and girls, should come up into these God forsaken regions and develop a case of love at first sight? If I had only seen her sooner"—

"Shut up!" growled Howland. "Let's go in to supper."

"Good. And I move that we investigate these people while we are smoking our after supper cigars. It will pass our time away at least."

"Your taste is good, Gregson," said Howland, recovering his good humor as they seated themselves at one of the rough board tables in the dining room. Inwardly he was convinced it would be best to keep to himself the incidents of the past two days and nights. "It was a beautiful face."

"And the eyes!" added Gregson, his own gleaming with enthusiasm. "She looked at me squarely this afternoon when she and that dark fellow passed and I swear they're the most beautiful eyes I ever saw. And her hair"—

"Do you think that she knew you?" asked Howland quietly.

Gregson hunched his shoulders.

"How the deuce could she know me?"

"Then why did she look at you so squarely? Trying to flirt, do you suppose?"

Surprise shot into Gregson's face.

"By thunder, no, she wasn't flirting!" he exclaimed. "I'd stake my life on that. A man never got a clearer, more sinless look than she gave me, and yet— Why, deuce take it, she stared at me! I didn't see her again after that, but the dark fellow was in here half of the afternoon, and now that I come to think of it he did show some interest in me. Why do you ask?"

"Just curiosity," replied Howland. "I don't like flirts."

"Neither do I," said Gregson musingly.

It was not until they were about to leave the table that Howland's eyes accidentally fell on Gregson's right hand. He gave an exclamation of astonishment when he saw that the little finger was missing. Gregson jerked the hand to his side.

"A little accident," he explained. "You'll meet 'em up here, Howland."

Before he could move the young engineer had caught his arm and was looking closely at the hand.

"A curious wound," he remarked without looking up. "Funny I didn't notice it before. Your finger was cut off lengthwise, and here's the scar running halfway to your wrist. How did you do it?"

He dropped the hand in time to see a nervous flush in the other's face.

"Why—er—fact is, Howland, it was shot off several months ago—in an accident, of course." He hurried through the door.

As they passed from the dining room into that part of the inn which was half bar and half lounging room, already filled with smoke and a dozen or so picturesque citizens of Le Pas, the rough jowled proprietor of the place motioned to Howland and held out a letter.

"This came while you was at supper, Mr. Howland," he explained.

There was no name at the bottom of what he read. It was not necessary, for a glance had told him that the writing was that of the girl whose face he had seen again that night:

"Forgive me for what I have done," the note ran. "Believe me now. Your life is in danger, and you must go back to Etomami tomorrow. If you go to the Wekusko camp you will not live to come back."

"The devil!" he exclaimed.

"What's that?" asked Gregson, edging around him curiously.

Howland crushed the note in his hand and thrust it into one of his pockets.

"A little private affair," he laughed. "Come, Gregson, let's see what we can discover."

In the gloom outside one of his hands slipped under his coat and rested on the butt of his revolver. Until 10 o'clock they mixed casually among the populace of Le Pas. Half a hundred people had seen Croisset and his beautiful companion, but no one knew anything about them. They had come that forenoon on a sledge, had eaten their dinner and supper at the cabin of a Scotch tie cutter and had left on a sledge.

"A CURIOUS WOUND. HOW DID YOU DO IT?"

"She was the sweetest thing I ever saw," exclaimed the tie cutter's wife rapturously. "Only she couldn't talk. Two or three times she wrote things to me on a slip of paper."

"Couldn't talk!" repeated Gregson as the two men walked leisurely back to the boarding house. "What the deuce do you suppose that means, Jack?"

"I'm not supposing," replied Howland indifferently. "We've had enough of this pretty face, Gregson. I'm going to bed. What time do we start in the morning?"

"As soon as we've had breakfast, if you're anxious."

"I am. Good night."

Howland went to his room, but it was not to sleep. He was satisfied that a mysterious peril of some kind awaited him at the camp on the Wekusko, but he gave up trying to fathom the reason for this peril, accepting in his businesslike way the fact that it did exist and that in a short time it would probably explain itself. The one puzzling factor which he could not drive out of his thoughts was the girl. Her sweet face haunted him.

He went to bed, but it was a long time before he fell asleep. It seemed to him that he had scarcely closed his eyes when a pounding on the door aroused him, and he awoke to find the early light of dawn creeping through the narrow window of his room. A few minutes later he joined Gregson, who was ready for breakfast.

"The sledge and dogs are waiting," he greeted. As they seated themselves at the table he added: "I've changed my mind since last night, Howland. I'm not going back with you. It's absolutely unnecessary, for Thorne can put you on to everything at the camp, and I'd rather lose six months' salary than take that sledge ride again. You won't mind, will you?"

"To be honest, Gregson, I don't believe you'd be particularly cheerful company. What sort of fellow is the driver?"

"We call him Jackpine, a Cree Indian, and he's the one faithful slave of Thorne and myself at Wekusko. Hunts for us, cooks for us and watches after things generally. You'll like him all right."

(To be Continued.)

EARLY LEGISLATION ASKED

Report From Monetary Commission Is Wanted In December

Washington, July 7.—Currency legislation promises to be expedited through the action of Senator Cummins in demanding of the finance committee to know when that committee would take action on his resolution directing the national monetary commission to report the first Monday in December and also providing for the dissolution of the committee the day after.

Senator Penrose, chairman of the finance committee, replied that he would call a meeting of the finance committee next week to consider the Cummins resolution.

This action is interesting in connection with the recent organization by banking men of a National Citizens' league, for the purpose of conferring with the monetary commission and framing a bill that will have for one purpose the safeguarding of the interests of state banks and trust companies.

MAINE'S CHIEF JUSTICE

Whitehouse Is Named by Plaisted to Succeed Emery

Augusta, Me., July 7.—Associate Justice William P. Whitehouse of the Maine supreme court was appointed chief justice by Governor Plaisted last night. Whitehouse's home is in Augusta.

The appointment is to take effect July 26, 1911. He was judge of the Kennebec superior court from 1878 to 1890 and has since been an associate justice of the supreme court.

George M. Hanson of Calais was appointed associate justice. He is interested in several publications.

WE ARE NOT THE
LOWEST PRICED
STORE IN QUINCY BUT WE POSITIVELY ARE THE
LOWEST PRICED STORE
IN MASS., CONSIDERING THE QUALITY OF MEATS WE SELL
HIGHEST QUALITY, LOW PRICES OUR STANDARD
RESPECTFULLY,
JOHNSON BROS.

June 16-tf

COMFORT AND COOKING

They Go Hand-in-Hand

In your household when you've a Gas Range in your kitchen, besides your fuel bill will be reduced and your home is not overheated.

That cooking is a comfort in the hottest weather we're demonstrating every day.

Come in and see and you'll cook in comfort

CITIZENS' GAS LIGHT CO.
11 Granite St., Quincy

YOUR VACATION
WON'T BE COMPLETE
UNLESS YOU LEAVE
AN ORDER FOR THE
QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
TO BE FORWARDED TO YOU

NEWS FROM HOME EVERY DAY
FOR ONLY TWO CENTS

BURGLAR KEPT BUSY

Well Educated Man Prospered In Career of Crime

New York, July 7.—Satisfied that they had the man who has been robbing houses on the Heights, Brooklyn, the police arrested at his home Carl M. Meyer, who said he was formerly a lieutenant in the Norwegian army.

Twenty-five pawn tickets, aggregating $5000, were found in his apartment. The police said he was responsible for the theft of jewelry, silverware and apparel valued at about $15,000. At police headquarters he broke down and confessed. He said his thefts began in April, and figured that in all he had committed eighteen burglaries.

Prior to starting in the burglary business, Meyer said, he had been employed by Manhattan brokers, and later in the foreign department of the Adams Express company. The prisoner was a graduate of the University of Heidelberg, he said, and of the Norway Medical college, and a master of five languages. He added that his father was the head of several banking houses.

JONES IS SENTENCED

Confesses That He Secured Over $500,000 on Fraudulent Paper

Grand Rapids, Mich., July 7.—Judge Stuart of the superior court sentenced President Frank G. Jones, of the bankrupt American Electric Fuse company of Muskegon, to Ionia prison on an indeterminate sentence of from four to fourteen years, with a recommendation of ten years.

Jones, who confessed that he had secured between $500,000 and $720,000 on fraudulent paper, was arrested on complaint of the old National bank of this city for forging a check for $5482.64, purporting to have been signed by R. Williamson of Chicago. He pleaded guilty and the sentence followed.

AGRICULTURAL AND DAIRY INTERESTS

Discussed In Foss' Sixty-Ninth Message to Legislature

Boston, July 7.—Governor Foss would stop at once any further extension of the park system of the state and devote the money saved to the advancement of the agricultural interests. He would also have the state board of agriculture co-operate with the owners of dairies so as to put the milk business on a more profitable basis and prevent the annual decrease of 3500 cows in the state.

These recommendations are contained in his sixty-ninth message to the legislature, transmitting the report of Expert Harpham on the state board of agriculture.

—It rather looks as if all vehicles using the highways at night would have to carry some sort of light. How about the baby carriages? asks the Medford Mercury. They should be indoors where they belong after dark and the youngster backed away in its crib.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, Lucas County, ss.
Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure. FRANK J. CHENEY.
Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.
A. W. GLEASON,
(Seal) Notary Public.
Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.
F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by all Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

HISTORIC QUINCY.

City of Presidents Has Much Of Interest

Old historic Quincy settled in 1625 has much of interest to visitors. When Braintree was incorporated in 1640, the territory now known as Quincy, was a part. In 1792 Quincy became an independent town, and in 1888 was incorporated as a city.

Quincy was named in honor of Col. John Quincy, descendant in the third generation from Edmund, 2d, who settled in Quincy, in 1634; grand-father of Abigail (Smith) Adams, the wife and mother of a President of the United States.

The city includes Wollaston, Atlantic, Quincy Point, South Quincy, West Quincy, Montclair, Norfolk Downs, Wollaston Park, Squantum, Houghs Neck, Adams Shore, Germantown and Quincy Neck, comprising in all over 16 square miles, of which 2,530 acres are in public parks.

Birthplaces of Presidents.

Birthplace of John Adams, the first Vice President and second President of the United States, Franklin street, Quincy Adams house built in 1681 and restored in 1897 by Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution. Open to public. Admission charged.

Birthplace of John Quincy Adams the sixth President of the United States, junction of Franklin street Presidents road and Independence avenue. Built 1716, restored 1896 by the Quincy Historical Society. Open to public afternoons from 2 to 5. Admission charged.

Abigail Adams Cairn.

Penns Hill, erecteld June 17, 1896, by Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, to the memory of Abigail Adams, who with her son, John Quincy, from the spot watched the smoke of battle at Bunker Hill. Cairn composed of many historic stones, the corner stone being part of the old sleeper of first railroad in United States which ran from Quincy quarries to tide water, Neponset river.

Burial Place of Presidents.

First Congregational Church (Unitarian) at Quincy centre. In auditorium each side of high pulpit, are mural monuments, to the memory of John Adams, the second president, and John Quincy Adams, the sixth president of the United States, and their wives. The funeral of John Quincy Adams was held in this church. Beneath the entrance is the Adams tomb reached by stairways from the vestibule. Near the tomb is the box in which was brought from Washington the body of John Quincy Adams, also the old town hearse. Admission may be secured on application to W. E Dewhurst, sexton, 3 Maple street. A fee is asked for attendance, etc.

Hancock Cemetery.

Hancock cemetery across the street from First church contains many old stones. Among the old graves are those of Henry Adams founder of the Adams family who died Oct. 5, 1646; Rev. William Thompson, 1st pastor over the Braintree church who died Dec. 10, 1666; Rev. Henry Flint who died Oct. 11, 1668; Rev. John Hancock father of the Patriot who died May 7 1744, and many other notable people.

John Hancock Birthplace.

Adams street, junction of Dimmick and Hancock streets. A bronze tablet has been placed by the City of Quincy on Adams Academy to mark the place where the house stood in which the patriot John Hancock, the bold signer of the Declaration of Independence was born.

Presidents Adams Mansion.

Adams street, corner Newport avenue, Quincy. Residence of President John Adams and contains many family relics. Occupied by descendants Not open to public.

Presidents Lane.

Now Goffe street, leading from Adams street, near Mansion. Opened by John Adams to drive his cows to pasture.

Dorothy Q. House.

Hancock street, corner Butler road, Quincy. Old Quincy homestead in which Dorothy Q was born. Owned by the Massachusetts Society of Colonial Dames. Has quaint old paper on parlor put on for wedding of John Hancock and Dorothy Quincy; also secret chamber and other interesting features. Open free to the public on Saturdays, from 11 A. M., until 4 P. M Other days admission charged.

Myles Standish Cairn.

Squantum heights, erected in 1895 by the Daughters of the Revolution of Massachusetts, in memory of Captain Myles Standish and his men of Plymouth Colony, who landed here Sept 30, 1621, guided by the Indian Tisquantum.

Myles Standish Spring.

On the beach to the left and back of Squantum Inn. Spring of fresh cold water, where Standish and his party breakfasted and thence started to explore the country around Boston Bay.

Squaw Rock.

Pile of rock, on which is a perfect head of a squaw, frequently mentioned in early Squantum history. Near by is also Sachem's Knoll.

Quincy Daily Ledger

FOR SALE AT

BOSTON—At South Station after 3.30 P. M.
QUINCY—Ledger Office 1424 Hancock Street.
L. A. Chapin, 1395 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, oppo. Depot.
Thompson's Waiting Room, City Sq.
H. P. Kittredge, City Square.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
Mrs. Madden, 16 Quincy ave.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's News Stand.
PARK&DOWNS—Branschied & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
QUINCY NECK—Stetson Pierce, Newcomb Square.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith, Washington Street.
Gragg's Pharmacy.
L. A. Cook, Washington Street.
E. O. Godfrey, 538 Washington St.
E. H. Lowe, Washington Street.
George E. Sprague Cor. River St.
SOUTH QUINCY—Litchfield, Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Miss C. Booth, Brooks Avenue.
BREWER'S CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
Mrs. F. H. Stanley.
WEST QUINCY—F. A. Skinner.
John G. Belanger.
HOUGHS NECK—Capt. Fosdick's.

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	82 degrees
July 7, 1910,	91 degrees
July 7, 1909,	77 degrees
July Noon Maximum, 14 years,	101
July Noon Minimum, 14 years.	60

BRIEFS

The whist parties at the Quincy Yacht club house begin next week.

It is reported that ex-Mayor Charles H. Porter is seriously ill again.

Quincy's ice companies are employing extra men to keep pace with the call for ice.

A regular meeting of Quincy Council Knights of Columbus was held Thursday evening.

Col. Edward Anderson and daughter, Mrs. Dexter Wadsworth of Presidents hill sail for Europe on Saturday.

W. Cain, clerk at R. E. Foy's market was prostrated with the heat Thursday afternoon while at work in the store.

Dick Williams was prostrated with the heat in Boston Thursday afternoon while driving Murphy's express auto truck.

Walter H. Cobb the local Herald correspondent is quite seriously ill at his home on Elm street. His illness however is not due to the heat but to a long standing trouble.

All of the orders for new streets as well as the order for permanent sidewalks passed at the last meeting of the City Council have been approved by the Mayor.

Mr. and Mrs. John Knowles of Washington, D. C., nee Katherine Laing) of this city are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son John William.

All members of Local Union, No. 189, I. D. of E. W., are requested to meet at the Johnson building Saturday at 1.30 to attend the funeral of our late brother, Edward B. Langely.

R. E. Foy's clerks are planning another outing for next Wednesday. They will all get into the big truck as on the previous trip and this time will go to Nantasket instead of Revere.

Town Clerk J. V. Broderick of Cumberland, Rhode Island, and Mrs. Broderick have returned home after spending the week with Mrs. Margaret Hyland and daughters Misses Eva and May Hyland of Walnut avenue, Weymouth.

R. E. Foy is to be congratulated on his success in the parade on the holiday for it was not until the night before that he decided to put his auto truck into the parade and the decorating was done in a big hurry. With what success it was accomplished may be judged by the fact that he secured a third prize and a special.

DEATHS

DONOVAN—In Quincy, July 7, Ellen Donovan aged 71 years.
Funeral from residence of her daughter Mrs. Thompson, 47 Main street. Time of funeral later.

CARROLL—In Quincy, July 6. Julia A. Carroll of 25 Carroll's Lane aged 64 years.
Funeral Saturday July 8 at 8.15 A. M. High mass of requiem at St. Mary's church, West Quincy at 9.00. Relatives and friends invited.

LANGLEY—In Quincy, July 5, Edward B. Langley, in his 35th year.
Funeral services at late home 1535 Hancock street Saturday, July 8 at 2 P. M. Relatives and friends invited. 2t

Established 1870 Telephone
JOHN HALL
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
Carriage and Ambulance Service
1485 Hancock Street, Quincy Mass.

LIVE SPORTING EVENTS

ON THE DIAMOND

American League

At Cleveland:

	R	H	E
Cleveland	4	12	1
Philadelphia	0	4	2

Batteries—Gregg and Fisher; Morgan, Long and Thomas.

At Chicago:

	R	H	E
St. Louis	8	9	2
Chicago	1	3	4

Batteries—Nelson and Stephens; Baker, Olmstead, Scott and Sullivan.

National League

At Boston:

	R	H	E
Cincinnati	12	19	4
Boston	11	15	3

Batteries—Gaspar, Fromme, Smith, McLean and Severoid; Mattern, Ferguson, Brown, Weaver and Kling.

At New York:

	R	H	E
Chicago	6	11	1
New York	2	8	3

Batteries—Richie, Brown and Archer; Wiltse, Crandall and Myers.

At Brooklyn:

	R	H	E
Pittsburg	10	19	1
Brooklyn	1	5	2

Batteries—Camnitz and Simon; Barger, Ragan and Erwin.

At Philadelphia:

	R	H	E
St. Louis	13	14	1
Philadelphia	9	8	1

Batteries—Harmon, Sallee, Steele and Bliss; Moore, Alexander, Moran and Dooin.

New England League

At Lynn:

	R	H	E
Lynn	11	16	4
Lawrence	8	10	3

Batteries—Swormstedt, Case and Monahan; Howard and Breymaier.

At Lowell:

	R	H	E
Lowell	8	11	2
New Bedford	4	6	3

Batteries—Busick and Lavigne; Griffiths and Rufiange.

At Brockton:

	R	H	E
Fall River	8	10	1
Brockton	7	12	1

Batteries—Reiger, Blume and Perkins; Foley, Ward, Reardon, Wadleigh and Tevlin.

DAHLEM SUSPENDED.

Manager Dahlen of the Brooklyn National club has been suspended for three days and Pitcher Scanlon fined $25 for protesting decisions too vehemently during Monday's game with Boston.

BACK IN THE GAME.

Vincent Campbell, who played with the Pittsburg National league team last year and who retired to enter private business, departed today to join the Pittsburg team.

WOLGAST AT HIS BEST.

Four days before his fight with Owen Moran Ad Wolgast weighed 126 pounds. It was a matter of putting on the weight with Wolgast. Around 130 pounds Wolgast is at his best. The lightweight championship looks good to stay in Cardillac, Mich., for some time to come. They turn out good ones in the Wolverine state, remembering the days of the wonderful Kid Lavigne. The latter was something like Wolgast in the matter of weight; he had to concede pounds in order to secure matches and then whipped his men.

SHERIDAN'S GREAT THROW.

Martin Sheridan made a record throw with the discus yesterday at the athletic carnival held by the city at McCarren Park in Brooklyn. He hurled the saucer shaped missile 141 feet 1 1-2 inches, but as it was not made according to all the A. A. U. rules, it will probably not be accepted. In this event B. Gist of the Seattle A. C. finished second. The Irish-American A. C. champion outclassed his field and won by nearly 40 feet.

WILL FIGHT WOLGAST.

Packey McFarland arrived home today from the East, where he knocked out a man named Ahern Monday night. The first thing he said on his arrival was: "I haven't changed my views about Ad Wolgast one particle. Even though he beat Owen Moran in a great battle, I am sure I can defeat him."

Packey found awaiting him here a telegram from James Coffroth, the San Francisco fight promoter, offering him a guarantee of $8000, with the privilige of 30 per cent. of the gross receipts for a twenty-round battle with Wolgast on Labor day at Colma, Cal., the weight to be 133 pounds five hours before entering the ring. McFarland showed his eagerness to fight Wolgast by immediately wiring his acceptance.

BAY STATE CRICKETERS WIN.

The eleventh annual interstate cricket game between Massachusetts and Rhode Island was played at Needham yesterday, and the Rhode Islanders were utterly routed by the Bay Staters. Rhode Island won the toss and batted first, but were all out for 23, Dewhurst of Brockton taking seven of their wickets for six runs, and Fox of Beverly three for 11. Massachusetts replied with 134 runs, of which Page of Beverly made 31 and W. H. Walton of the Needham Club, scored 51. On their second innings Rhode Island made 36 runs, leaving Massachusetts the winner by an inning and 75 runs. Of the 11 games played, each State has won five and one was drawn

SATURDAY'S SPORTS.

Baseball: Makaria vs. Plymouth Cordage at Plymouth.

Tennis: Finals in Open Doubles, Quincy Tennis club.

Golf: State Tournament at Wollaston Golf club.

Yachting: Club Race at Quincy Yacht club.

South Quincy Ex. Club vs Glover A. C. at Ward Six.

Y. M. C. A. Intermediates vs Lynn E. B. at Lower field, Merrymount park.

St. Mary's vs Station Outing club at Ward 4.

Mohawks vs Bigelows at Ward 2.

Fore River Apprentices vs Sodality A. C. at Merrymount park, upper field

Orients vs Page class at Ward 3.

SPORTING NOTES

In the Massachusetts open golf tournament started at Country cub, Brookline, Thursday, M. J. Brady, instructor ot the Wollaston Golf club finished sixth in the opening thirty six holes. In the morning round Brady took 86 to do the course but in the afternoon he handed in the best card of the day for 18 holes, namely 74. Donald Ross of Essex Country club was first with 155, H. H. Wilder with 167 was the first of the amateurs. R. R. Freeman of Wollaston was entered but withdrew from competition. baseball

BRIEFS

There is still a scarcity of milk.

The sporting calender for Saturday is quite slim.

The program for the second day of the 25th anniversary jubilee of the Swedish Methodist church will be in charge of the Epworth League and the Sunday school. A concert will be given this evening at 8 o'clock. Addresses will be made by William Gelotte, superintendent of the Sunday school and by Frank Broman, superintendent of the Boston district of Swedish Methodist churches.

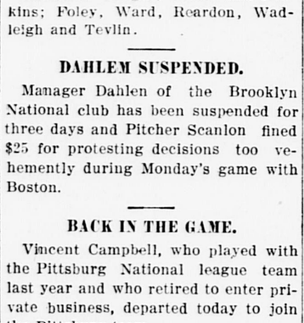
One of the biggest turtles seen for a long while appeared on Willard street this morning. Some workmen found him in the pool opposite the engine house and tied a rope on to one of his hind legs. His captivity seemed to annoy the big fellow and he was struggling to free himself. The shell was about a foot long and eight or nine inches across and with feet and head extended presented quite a specimen.

ICE CREAM SCARCE.

An ice cream famine has prevailed in the local stores which depended on Boston ice cream companies for their supply. For the past few days there has been almost an absolute scarcity. In some sections of the city a scarcity of milk was also reported because of the inability of the milk dealers to keep the milk fresh for any great length of time, owing to the terrific heat.

Teacher—"Give me a sentence in which the term hook-and-eye is used."
Willie—"Me an' pa went fishin'. Pa told me t' bait m' hook an' I did."—Baltimore American.

QUINCY MARKET
Friday and Saturday



A PICTURE FOR AN ARTIST.

to paint is the porter house or rib roast of beef or perfect leg of spring lamb or fowl that comes from Lasante's. The connoisseur who knows what prime meats and fresh poultry is is always enthusiastic over the rich coloring and juicy tender appearance of our prime meats. And eating them—yum-yum—it's a treat for the epicure who thinks they would be cheap at any price when purchased at Lasante's Market.

Rib Beef to roast	10 to 12 1-2c lb
1st cut Rib Roast	12 1-2 to 15c lb
Undercuts	12 and 15c lb
Rolls	10c lb
Boneless Beef, Lean	10c lb
Lean Corn Beef	6 to 10c lb
Fancy Brisket Corn Beef	12 1-2c lb
Sirloin Steak	15 to 20c lb
Rib Steak	12 1-2c lb. up

LASANTE BROS.
Next to Woolworth's 5 and 10c Store
July 7-2t

FOREIGN BATHS CALLED QUACKS

Much Criticism of Their Diagnosis, Says American Medicine.

THEIR "CURES" RIDICULOUS.

Patients From This Country Should Go Abroad Properly Labeled — Foolish Literature Sent Out From Certain Famous Health Resorts.

The intimation is made in an editorial article in American Medicine that many of the world famous physicians practicing at baths in Europe are "quacks." It is declared that there is a good deal of criticism concerning methods of diagnosis at these health resorts. The baths are called "ridiculous," and finally it is urged that patients be "properly labeled" before they leave these shores.

"Diagnosis at health resorts," says the writer, "is periodically criticised in severe language, and where there is so much smoke there must be fire. The worst culprits seem to be those whom we would presume to be impeccable, if not infallible, the centuries old 'cure-alls' of Europe.

"They have hordes of physicians who have specialized on diagnosis, and the methods are presumed to be the results of centuries of experience backed up with all modern means of examination. Yet we still hear bitter complaints that cases are wrongly diagnosed. Of course the patients come with strange infections from every part of the world, and it is impossible for any one physician to keep in touch with the local peculiarities of every nook and corner of the globe. Some oversights are inevitable; but, granting all that, there are accusations that universal diseases are not recognized and that the patient goes away with a very false idea of his condition and prospects of life. If all these are facts they must throw considerable doubt upon the statistics published as to the results in certain diseases.

Benefits Not Doubted.

"The benefit of health resorts cannot well be doubted, but the reasons given by local physicians cannot be reasonably accepted if they do not know what they are treating. A patient with unrecognized cancer may improve in his general condition while the disease is progressing. So many such cases have come to light there is a growing opinion that suggestion plays a large part and that a vocation with plenty of distractions would accomplish as much without suggestion. Certainly these two alone are sufficient to account for the improvement called 'cures' without calling in the alleged effects of the waters and baths.

"The literature put out from certain famous resorts imputes such ridiculous efficacy to the waters as to raise amazement that reputable physicians would sign it, and now that we know the mistakes in diagnosis the whole mass of literature loses scientific value. Scarcely a word is said of the effect that the climatic conditions in certain mountain resorts are exactly what many a man needs after years of injury in the cities of the lowlands, even without the change, rest, recreation and suggestion. The subject should be put on a solid scientific foundation, for many a patient spends too much money on these trips for health he could get at home.

Doctors Only Attendants.

"It has become fashionable to go abroad, and as long as that is the case science cuts no figure in it at all. We seem destined to send a flood of gold abroad every 'season,' and certain parts of Europe actually depend upon the money of 'fool Americans,' who are openly ridiculed for gullibility. In addition to all this, the reports received from returning patients as to the mannerisms of many of the world famous practitioners of special methods—good for about everything—raise a grave suspicion that there is quackery differing in no respects from the methods of every advertising charlatan in America, who, by the way, secures the same kind of lay indorsement as that given to the 'cures' of the old world.

"An esteemed contemporary has remarked that the continental physicians have so lauded their local baths that an impression has gone out among laymen that a doctor is only a high grade bath attendant. It is high time that patients should be properly labeled before they go away and that they should be given distinctly to understand that they need rest, change, recreation, distraction and fun when seeking a proper climate and that these can be obtained in many places without the ridiculous baths.

"'Cures' should be for cases in which suggestion is really necessary or in which 'water' inside or out is scientifically proved to be beneficial. There is much room for reform in present methods of sending these cases away from home."

Catch Gophers For Reward.

At this season of the year Iowa boys avail themselves of the opportunity that is offered to earn Fourth of July money. A state law provides a bounty of 10 cents each for every pocket gopher. The country lad is now right after them, and it is quite a science to catch this particular variety of the rodent family. But, once understood, it is not a hard task.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents. Three consecutive insertions 50 cents, 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.

No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

LOST

LOST—July 4th in afternoon a nice gold filled half length watch chain between Bryantville and Quincy Adams or on a way from Quincy Adams to Nightingale avenue. Finder please return the same and receive reward Andrew Ovaska, 109 Nightingale avenue, Quincy, Mass. July 6-3t

LOST—Child's blue diagonal cloth coat with brass butons, on evening of July 4 at Merrymount park. Return to 50 Quincy avenue, City. July 6-3t

FOUND

FOUND—Ticket book from Quincy to Boston. Owner have same by proving property. Apply H. T. Gallagher 1465 Hancock street, Quincy. July 7-1t

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—A twelve passenger sea going power boat. A 1 condition, 5 horse power engine. Apply to janitor Quincy Yacht club, house, Houghs Neck. July 6-6t

FOR SALE—New house, 6 rooms, bath, improvements 5,400 feet land Apply to Frank Leben, 76 Howard st. East Braintree. July 3-6t O 8-2w

FOR SALE—An up-to-date grocery and provision store at a reasonable price. Good reason for selling. Apply to J. A. Weeden 23 Cranch street Quincy July 3-6t

WANTED

TEAMSTERS—who have no return load from Boston can get a load of brick or lumber for Quincy by calling at Silver street near Dorchester avenue, South Boston. July 7-3t

WANTED— Mesh purse makers. Home work. Call at 135 Babcock street Houghs Neck. July 7-1t

WANTED—Girl to work in ice cream parlor. Apply to I. E. Nickerson, 6 Maple street. July 6-tf

WANTED—Clerk for groceries and provisions. Apply to J. P. Prout, Garfield street, Quincy. July 6-tf

WANTED—A girl for general house work. Apply to Mrs. C. F. Pettengill, 53 Revere road. July 5-tf

WANTED—Young man to act as clerk in shoe store. Good salary to right party. The Corcoran Sample Shoe Co., 11 Cottage avenue. July5 -3t

WANTED—Boy, good and stout to tend store. Apply at 750 Washington street, Quincy Point. June 30-6t

WANTED—Experienced girl for general housework. References required. Apply 118 Merrymount road. June 26 tf

DOCTORS' TRUST.

Uniform Schedule Adopted For Births and Amputations.

The schedule of rates of the doctors' trust of Manchester, Conn., which will become effective on July 1, has been made public.

For officiating at the birth of a child the fee will be $15, but if the lady cares anything about bargains she will be interested to know that twins will cost her only $5 more. There are no rates fixed so far for triplets. Boys will cost as much as girls.

As Manchester is a silk manufacturing center the schedule includes amputations. There will be a charge of $10 for cutting off one finger or one toe, but if the victim is economical he might have either two toes or two fingers amputated, for it will cost only $5 extra for a pair.

Examinations of insane persons will cost only $5 each. Telephone calls for advice will cost 50 cents, trolley and railroad cases at least $5, and when the physician finds two patients in one home he will treat the second one for 75 cents.

How to Freeze Ice Cream.

Ice cream may be frozen in five minutes, and at only an expense of 2 or 3 cents, if the mixture to be frozen be placed in a tin bucket or other vessel and this set in a pail containing weak solution of sulphuric acid and water Into this stir a handful of common salt, and the cold is so intense that a bottle of wine immersed in the mixture will be frozen in a few minutes. This is an easy way of freezing small quantities of sherbert for luncheon in hot weather.

Cremo 5¢
CIGAR
QUALITY PLUS

TO LET

TO LET—Flat of 5 rooms and bath. Furnace, near Norfolk Downs Depot. Rent $16. H. O. Cassidy, 9 Edwin street, Atlantic. July 7-6t PS-1w

TO LET—A five room flat on second floor. All improvements. Apply 146 Glendale road. Tel. 621-4 Quincy. July 7-6t

TO LET—Kitchen and dining room unfurnished suitable for light housekeeping. Set range and hot and cold water. Apply 55 Washington street, corner Maple street. July 6-3t

TO LET—Flat of five rooms, all modern improvements, set range, gas, and electric lights 69 Goddard street. July 6-6t

TO LET—Tenement of 5 rooms on Euclid avenue. All latest improvements. C. A. Ericson, 177 Glendale road Quincy. Tel 586 M. July 5-6t

TO LET—Furnished rooms in fine location near bathing beach, light housekeeping near Fore River works also storage room. 80 Baxter avenue, opposite North street. July 5-6t

TO LET—Nicely furnished rooms, with excellent table board. Central location. Address P. O. box 346, Quincy. June 29-tf

TO LET—On Spear street, tenement of 4 rooms and bath. All modern improvements. Apply to C. A. Ericson, 117 Glendale road. Tel 586 M. June 27-tf

TO LET—Tenement with 9 rooms and bath at Quincy Point, also rooms to let and table board at 55 Washington street, Quincy, Mrs. Margaret S. MacDonnell. June 23-1mo.

TO LET—House 12 rooms, all improvements. Ideal location, 5 minutes to center. Apply to James F. Burke, Real Estate Agent, Room 4 Savings Bank Building. June 9-tf

FOR RENT—Quincy, Centre, opposite Adams Academy, house of 8 rooms and bath, also garage, 3 minutes to R. R. Station. Dr. E. S. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263L, Weymouth. May 10-tf

TO LET
in
QUINCY CENTRE
Several desirable houses 7, 8 and 10 rooms. Every convenience and very desirable locations. Rent $25 to $40 according to house. Apply to Miss Prescott, Ledger Office.
Quincy, July 7 tf L P O

TO LET
Half House No. 44 Bigelow street, 7 rooms and bath. Shades, screens, electric lights, set tubs, range, etc. Rent $25. per month. Apply to Miss Prescott, Ledger Office. Quincy. July 3-tf

FOR RENT
On Spear street, very desirable house of 8 rooms, bath and laundry. All modern improvements, range, gas, electric lights shades and screens. Large piazzas and lawn. To private family only. Apply at 41 Spear street or of Miss Prescott at Ledger Office, Quincy. June 2-tf L. P. O

TO LET

Tenement—22 B Granite Street. $10.00 per month.

Greenleaf Hall—Greenleaf Block Large Furnished Hall with various anterooms—to let by the evening or permanently.

City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 20 feet high. Splendid light, low rent

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)
Music Hall Block, Quincy.

MAKE YOUR PURCHASES FROM LEDGER ADVERTISERS.

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 26 No. 155 QUINCY, MASS., SATURDAY EVENING JULY 8, 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

SERIOUS ACCIDENT ON QUARRY RAILROAD

Two Men Hurt When Engine Fails To Take Switch And Jumps Track

May Be Necessary To Have Leg Amputated

There was quite a serious accident on the Quarry railroad late Friday afternoon, which resulted in two freight brakemen being seriously injured. The injured men are W. L. Gorham of West 2d street South Boston and N. C. Tower of North Abington.

The two men were riding on the front of the locomotive, which had mounted the hill and was taking the switch to enter the Lyon's quarry, now occupied by Robert Cantley, when for some unknown reason the locomotive left the iron. Both men were thrown off and injured about the legs. Dr. Sargent and Dr. Dion who were notified, made a hasty run to the scene of the accident but had some difficulty in reaching the place.

It was found that Gorham was the more seriously injured of the two, his left leg was in bad shape and was bleeding profusely. A turnquit was applied and a hurry call sent for the police ambulance. The ambulance in charge of Officer Phillips, reached the quarry with difficulty and hurried the injured man to the City Hospital. It was at first thought that his leg would have to be amputated but at the hospital the surgeons were in hopes that that would not be necessary.

Towers leg was quite badly bruised at the ankle, but no bones were broken, and after receiving treatment he was taken to the West Quincy station and sent home on a train.

The Quarry railroad leaves the Granite branch of the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. near the Granite Railway plant and runs up a steep grade to numerous quarries on the hill. Once on top of the hill, there are a number of switch back tracks to the different quarries. The road was built some years ago by the Quincy Quarries Company but was operated by the New Haven road.

There was a regular crew assigned to this branch of the road and it has been the custom of the crew to ride on the cow catcher of the locomotive at times. It was here that the two men were riding Friday when the engine left the iron. The rails used on this road are of the heaviest kind and the locomotive one of the most powerful on the road.

Although it has been in operation for a number of years this is the first serious accident on the line.

CARPETS
Oriental Domestic RUGS
Floor Coverings
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION
At Lowest Possible Prices

Established 1862
John H. Pray & Sons Co.
645-658 Washington St, Opposite Boylston St

All Goods will be Delivered Free at Residences in Quincy
REPRESENTED IN QUINCY BY
Messrs. OTHO A. HAYWARD and WALTER J. WELLINGTON.

International Bible Students Association
CLASS EXTENSION COURSE HOPE

SUNDAY, JULY 9, 3 P. M.
LECTURE BY
H. P. GLEASON OF BOSTON
TOPIC
"Hope for the World Through the New Covenant"
COLONIAL HALL, QUINCY, MASS.
Seats Free All Welcome No Collection

BOSTON FLOATING HOSPITAL.

An appeal for old or worn linen is being made by the trustees of the Boston floating hospital, which began last week carrying the babies of the slums, out into the harbor to enjoy the ocean breeze. Dr. E. P. Knowlton is in charge. Old sheets, table cloths, etc., may be sent to the Boston floating hospital, North pier, between Battery street and the North station.

The boat makes two trips daily down the harbor. At 9 A. M. it starts from the pier, and sails about as far as Boston light. There it anchors and is rocked gently and wind-swept through the day, returning at 4.30 P. M. At 7 P. M. the boat goes out again this time to stay all night. There are about 70 permanent babies which with transients, make an average of about 250 children aboard daily.

Contributors may have certain days or nights named after them. The charge for one day is $150 and one night $100. The days have all been subscribed for through the season but there are nights left to be cared for.

QUINCY ELKS AT ATLANTIC CITY.

Quincy lodge of Elks will be represented at the annual convention of the grand lodge at Atlantic City next week by about a dozen of its members who are looking forward to the time of their lives. The Quincy party will leave Boston Sunday afternoon and the trip will consume all of next week. In addition to the many entertainments that have been provided for the visiting hosts there are many side trips which the Quincy brothers will doubtless take in.

It is probable that during the grand parade that the Quincy members will turn out with Boston lodge which will be represented by several hundred members.

JOHN A. PACKARD.

Mr. John A. Packard formerly of Quincy passed away at his home on Warren avenue, Brockton, Friday in his 76 year. When in Quincy he resided on Edwards street but he has resided in Brockton for the past thirty years.

TODAY'S COURT.

William Shea and Edward Sampson were fined $10 each and Joseph Garroty $15 for drunkenness at Quincy.

A large number of cases of drunkenness that were continued to enable the defendants to raise the fine imposed were called and disposed of.

Sharts Tarsel a tramp from Weymouth was allowed to go his way as he was seeking work when gathered in.

—A newspaper photographer has a right to take a picture of anyone on the street, according to a decision of Justice Stearns in the Superior court, says a news dispatch dated Newport, R. I. He so instructed a jury which returned a verdict of $400 to Richard W. Sears, a Boston newspaper photographer, who alleged assault and personal injury against Henry P. Walker of this city, while Sears was taking a photograph of a wedding scene. This being the first direct decision on the rights of a newspaper photographer, lawyers here says that the chances are very strong that it will be followed in most other states.

SWEDISH CHURCH CELEBRATION

Second Day Program In Charge Of Epworth League

THE OFFICERS

The program for the second day of the 25th anniversary jubilee of St. Paul's M. E. church was in the hands of the Epworth league and the Sunday school. There were declamations, songs and instrumental music by the young people and addresses by William Gelotte, who has served as Sunday school superintendent for many years, and by Frank E. Broman, superintendent of the Boston district of Swedish M. E. churches.

The speeches were a source of great help and enjoyment to those who were present and the selections by the young people were well rendered and well received.

The program:

Song by the Congregation
Bible Reading and Prayer
A. F. Gustafson
Piano Duet—Selected.
Miss Valborg Peterson and
Mr. Elmer Carlmark
Address Mr. William Gelotte
Song—Trio Abt
Misses Ida and Edith Olson and Wahlborg Peterson.
Declamation—Selected
Miss Elsie Mortenson
Piano Solo—Selected
Miss Evelyn Ellason
Address
Frank E. Broman
Song—"Happy Summer" Metzler
Misses Bertl, Doris and Phillis Johnson
The Daisies Eleven Girls

The officers of the Epworth League are:

President—Carl E. Rydstrom.
First Vice President—David Wollander.
Second Vice President—Greta Anderson.
Third Vice President—Walborg Peterson.
Fourth Vice President—Mrs. Alida Lagergren.
Secretary—Hjalmar Kjellander.
Financial Secretary—Edla Mattson.
Treasurer—Edith Ohlson.
Organist—John Herbert.

The Sunday school officers are:

Superintendent—William Gelotte.
Vice Superintendent—David Wollander.
Secretary—Hjalman Kjellander.
Treasurer—L. Peterson.
Organist—Mrs. Walborg Peterson.

The Ladies Aid societ y will have charge of the meeting this evening. There will be a concert given by members of the society and an address by Rev. Charles Paulson, who served as pastor of the church from 1891 to 1894 and had one of the most successful pastorates during the twenty-five years of the church's existence.

Refreshments will be served at the close of the exercises.

The Charleston Courier thinks $1,000 is cheap for appendicitis. It could get lots of people's cases for less than that.

A Cool Veranda

On a hot day is indeed a luxury, and the person who can retire to one, and there enjoy a book or do some fascinating fancy work is fortunate. You'll find that any veranda can be made comfortable if the boiling rays of the sun can be excluded. A split bamboo screen will do it and at the same time admit any stirring breeze. These screens come in long rolls; you can see them in our store. . . . . .

PIAZZA CHAIRS, HAMMOCKS, LAWN SWINGS
OIL, GAS and GASOLENE STOVES REFRIGERATORS

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1495 Hancock St., Quincy Open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings
July 8—L & O

ENTHUSIASM SHOWN AT SUMMER SCHOOL

Work Is Started Most Successfully This Year With Large Attendance

A Few Vacancies In Physical Culture Classes

There was much enthusiasm shown by the pupils at the second session of the Summer school at the Quincy Women's clubhouse Friday morning. A delightful breeze was blowing through the various rooms and the girls were already for the work and pleasure of the morning. Miss Blanche Thayer gave to the Nursing class a talk on the care of the sick beginning with the making of beds, giving baths, making poultices, treatment of different ills such as headaches, abrasions, cuts, boils, coldsores and sore throats, perparing a tray for the sick person. Miss Thayer was folowed closely throughout and those who heard it cannot fail to have received much instruction from the talk which no doubt will be found useful in the various homes represented.

Dr. Gordon gave a splendid talk on "Hygiene" emphasizing especially the need of cleanliness of the body, the food and the clothing. He also talked somewhat extensively on the importance of keeping the house clean with special reference to the kitchen and bedrooms. The need of sunlight and fresh air and the importance of cleanliness in the yards where children play.

Folk dancing and games, as in the Sargent's course, under the direction of Miss Murray were much enjoyed both by the onlookers as well as by the girls. The Danish dance was especially attractive.

Mrs. Stanley Bone, Mrs. Christianson and Mrs. Jelinek had a most interesting class in sewing and embroidery. Belts and bags, doilies and centerpieces were started and were taken home so that more rapid progress should be made than if work were done only at the school. The Misses West who are summering at Great Hill are kindly assisting the committee.

At 11 o'clock all the classes came together in the assembly room to listen to Miss Lillian Waterhouse who presented in a most charming manner the story of Silas Mariner. She spoke of the author, the time in which it was written, the country and setting. Miss Waterhouse made it all very real and those listening seemed to see Silas and Epple and the lovely garden given to Eppie for a wedding present. The hearty applause at the close showed how much the hour had been enjoyed and appreciated.

The work has been started most successfully this year and the various women who are to carry it on may be depended upon to bring it to a successful conclusion. Mrs. Safford, chairman of the Educational committee has shown rare executive ability and she has been ably supported by the teachers and a corps of members of the club including Miss Eliza Sheahan, Miss Helen O'Reilly and Mrs. A. M. Parker.

The hours of meeting have been changed somewhat from last year so a complete schedule might not be out of place.

Cooking class at Quincy High school Monday and Thursdays 9-11.30.

Sloyd class— Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday 9 to 11 at Y. M. C. A.

Instructor—Mrs. Swindt of Wollaston.

Physical Instruction. Clubhouse, Tuesday and Friday 9 to 11.

Instructor—Miss Murray of Wollaston.

Assistant—Miss West of Great Hill.

Home Nursing. Clubhouse. Tuesday and Friday 9 to 11.

Sewing class. Clubhouse. Tuesday and Friday 9 to 11.

Supervisor—Mrs. Stanley Bone.

Assistants—Mrs. Christianson, Mrs. Jelinek, Mrs. Litchfield and Miss West.

Miss Mackay will have charge of the Home Nursing class next week. Dr. Curtis of Wollaston will speak on Tuesday and Dr. Adams on Friday. The speaker from 11 to 11.30 on Tuesday will be Miss Clara Thayer who will take as her subject "Books for Children." Miss Georgianna Lane wil speak on Friday on the subject of "Art."

The cooking class is full so that no new members will be taken but there is room for a few more in the Physical culture and Home Nursing classes and applications may be made before 9 o'clock on Tuesday.

FAVORABLY REPORTED.

The dock bill proposed by Senator Brown, providing for the spending of $9,000,000 in three yearly instalments was reported favorably yesterday by the committee on ways and means with several amendments which perfect the bill. The principal amendment gives the Harbor and Land Commission the power to approve plans until the members of the Dock Board are appointed.

Your Clothes Need Attention!

Keep them in a sanitary condition by our modern cleansing process.

Just phone 594 M or write and our team will call.

WARSHAW'S DYE HOUSE
"The House of Cleanliness"
1503 HANCOCK STREET
QUINCY
July 8-tf

MR. BARDWELL WILL NOT COME.

T. I. Bardwell, secretary of the Northampton Y. M. C. A. will not come to Quincy to take the general secretary's position in the local association. As soon as the people in Northampton found out that he was considering another place they at once raised his salary so that he would stay there. Twice before he has been offered an increase in salary but has refused it believing that at the time the association could not afford it.

CLUBHOUSE BURGLARIZED.

The Quincy Tennis clubhouse was broken into last evening and a quantity of clothing was taken. Entrance was obtained through a hole made by cutting a panel from the door. Once inside the burglars broke into several lockers but as far as has been learned did not take any tennis supplies but confiined themselves to confiscating clothing, shoes etc. The culprits had not been caught at last reports.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

QUINCY
FRI., JULY 14
Water Street Grounds, Quincy

QUINCY MARKET
Friday and Saturday

A PICTURE FOR AN ARTIST.

to paint is the porter house or rib roast of beef or perfect leg of spring lamb or fowl that comes from Lasante's. The connoisseur who knows what prime meats and fresh poultry is is always enthusiastic over the rich coloring and juicy tender appearance of our prime meats. And eating them—yum-yum—it's a treat for the epicure who thinks they would be cheap at any price when purchased at Lasante's Market.

Rib Beef to roast	10 to 12 1-2c lb
1st cut Rib Roast	12 1-2 to 15c lb
Undercuts	12 and 15c lb
Rolls	10c lb
Boneless Beef, Lean	10c lb
Lean Corn Beef	6 to 10c lb
Fancy Brisket Corn Beef	12 1-2c lb
Sirloin Steak	15 to 20c lb
Rib Steak	12 1-2c lb. up

LASANTE BROS.
Next to Woolworth's 5 and 10c Store
July 7-2t

Reserved Seats on sale at Murphy's Drug Store
July 1-3t--1-8-13--po-8-1w

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1889

THE HOME NEWSPAPER

Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.

BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
219 East 23d Street,
New York City

Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second Class Matter.

Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50

Telephone, Quincy 425

Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

Many of the church-goers have begun to take their annual vacations.

It is no wonder Berger likes his job. It is quite a change from $30 a week as a newspaper man to $7,500 with "extras."

Some one says that there are just as many germs on a dollar bill as on a fly. Well, we swat the dollar bill, too, whenever we can reach it.

Judge Gary of the steel trust likes the Sherman anti-trust law regulations so well that he would have another law passed to take its place.

Now that there is comparative peace in other portions of the globe, the Balkan war cloud comes back refreshed from its vacation.

A South Carolina minister prayed before proposing to a young lady. She never heard his prayer, but the probability is she was the one who answered it.

Vice is a monster of so frightful a mien that to be hated needs but to be seen, but seen too oft, where license runs unchecked, police endure, then pity, then protect.

Rodman Wanamaker had his life insured for $4,500,000. Probably he knows his own business, but that seems to be more money than a man can use after he is dead.

Iron and steel manufacturers are to meet in Belgium and discuss a world wide agreement for making prices stable, but not necessarily lower.

It would be the joke of the season if Castro by hook or by crook should manage to get back into Venezuela and then a burly copper should tap him on the shoulder as he walked up from the wharf and should say, "Come with me."

ROSENHEIMER IS FREED

He Ran Away From Accident In Which Woman Was Killed

New York, July 8.—The appellate division of the supreme court held blameless of crime Edward T. Rosenheimer, the wealthy manufacturer, for running away from the scene of the automobile collision in which Miss Grace Hough was killed and two persons injured.

Rosenheimer had already been acquitted by a jury at his trial on a charge of causing Miss Hough's death, and was under indictment charging felony in running away from the accident.

His demurrer to the indictment was sustained, and the indictment ordered dismissed.

GULF STREAM SHIFTS

Now Flowing Nearer Coast and Showing High Temperature

New Orleans, July 8.—A phenomenon which is engaging the attention of the hydrographic office of the navy department is a sudden switch in the course of the Gulf Stream, accompanied by decidedly higher temperature of the water.

The stream is now flowng nearer the coast and sending its waters up the Mississippi with the in-going tide. For the last week the temperature of the Gulf Stream has been at the unprecedented high average of 81.4, with a maximum of 84.

IN ROYAL BURIAL CHURCH

Remains of Queen Dowager of Portugal Laid Away In Italy

Turin, July 8.—The body of Maria Pia, queen dowager of Portugal, was interred today in the basilica of the royal church, which stands to the east of Turin.

King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Helena attended, while J. M. L. Pinto, the Portuguese envoy at Rome, was ordered to Turin to represent the Portguese government and people.

OTHER EDITORS ARE SAYING

Vardsman is belching fire every day. LaFollette is finishing the longest speech made since speech began. Josephus Daniels is boiling up to the extent of five columns and a half a day. No wonder there is no cold left in the world (New York Sun.)

Doubtless a majority of the deaths from heat have been unavoidable. But in the case of the Worcester man who started to run a mile and a half to catch a trolley car, it might be classed as suicide rather than accident (Transcript.)

The insurgents in congress are hearing in no uncertain tones from some of their best newspaper friends. And their enemies, of course, are rejoicing over their methods. (Boston Journal.)

Champ Clark avers that he will not run for the presidency if nominated. We take advantage of this opportunity to announce that we shall not accept $247,385,963.15 if Hetty Green offers it to us. (Milwaukee Sentinal.)

"Governor Foss's luck never deserts him," says the Boston Transcript. Such unbroken success argues something besides luck. Possibly it is due in part to Governor Foss himself (Portland Argus.)

A man who operates a flying machine is an aviator. A female aviator is an aviatress or aviatrix. The wife of an aviator eventually becomes his executrix (Waterbury Republican.)

Even people who are not good conversationalists have had something to talk about this week. In fact the poorer conversationalists they are, the more they have talked about it (Globe.)

PICKED UP IN PASSING

NO NET GAIN—Seymour—"Is your new cook saving you any money?"

Ashley—"Well, my grocer and my butcher bills are not so high as they used to be, but I find I can't help running up a big account at the druggist's every month for appetizers."—Chicago News.

JUST SO—"He doesn't really love you. He's after your money."

"But if his love were not genuine, how could he put so much fervor into his wooing?"

"Oh, a man can dig up considerable fervor when he has to marry money or go to work."—Washington Herald.

DIFFERENT.—"Come, Howard, and take your powder like a little man," said the elder sister to the small invalid. "You never hear me make any complaint about a little thing like that."

"Neither would I if I could daub it on my face like you do." replied the youngster. "It's swallowing the stuff that I object to."—Chicago News.

JUST A DODGE—"I hear one of the guests got ptomaine poisoning at your wedding."

"I hired a man to simulate the symptoms. It's a good way to dampen the ardor of rice-throwing guests."

SAFE—"Sometimes," said Pete. "I'm tempted to map out a route that'll take me to them there Ar'tic regions." "The climate's no good." ventured Meandering Mike. "No. But your nerves git a rest. 'None o' them Eskimos is looking fur farm hands."—Washington Star.

WITH A PURPOSE—Mrs. Buttin—"I hate to mention it, but I've seen your husband kissing the cook every day."

Mrs. Subbubs—"Isn't it thoughtful of him? He does it every morning and the poor woman appreciates it so much that we've had her two weeks."—Philadelphia Times.

A SECRET—"What's the reason my son-in-law doesn't speak to me?" asked Mr. Cumrox.

"The duke is very angry," replied his daughter. "He has discovered that you ordered your bookkeeper to charge the money you paid for him to the profit and loss account."—Washington Star.

DECEITFUL—The Little Chap—"We're getting up a tug-of-war between the married and the single men. You're married, aren't you?"

The American—"No, I've just been seasick that's why I look that way."—London Opinion.

ABSENT-MINDED—"What made you mutilate this handsome new book?" asked the physician's wife. "The first thing you did was to cut out a portion of it and throw it away."

"Excuse me, my dear," was the regretful answer. "It was professional instinct. The portion you refer to was labelled appendix."—Washington Star.

A POSSIBILITY—Mazie (at the concert)—"Wonder why those violinists wear their hair so long?"

Dazie—"Why, I suppose they make their bows out of it."—Judge.

COCHATO CONCERT.

A delightful concert was given on the verandas of the Cochato club from seven to ten o'clock last Tuesday evening. The music was rendered by Teel's band of Boston and that is equivalent to saying that it was most excellent.

There was a fine program of classic and popular airs and patriotic selections which were enjoyed by the club members and their guests and by a large number of people from all parts of the town who came to enjoy the music. The club house was decorated with colored lanterns, flags and bunting, and the hall was tarown open for dancing. As was the case last year the concert was given in place of the usual fireworks exhibition of other years and was in keeping with the spirit of a safe and sane Fourth, an idea which the club has been foremost in encouraging in this town. The affair was in charge of Messrs. George O. Wales and George E. Williams.

BLUE HILL BAND CONCERT.

The first of the Sunday state band concerts will be given tomorrow afternoon from 4 until 6 o'clock at the foot of Blue hill by Post 68 band, Harry Bettoney, director with the following program:

March—Calvary Commandery H. Clark
Overture—Hungarian Comedy Keler Bela
Cornet Solo—Mr. Roy Whitehouse
Descriptive—Cavalry Charge Ludas
Concert Waltz—Golden Sunset J. T. Hall
Selection—Spring Maid Reinhardt
a Two Step—The Arcadians Monckton
b Schottische—Madam Sherry Hoschna
Popular Airs—a. Alma; b. Childhood Days; c. Kiss me my love Remick
War Songs Laurendau
March—Burlington Commandery Sherman

HOME TRADE WILL HELP QUINCY AND EVERYONE IN QUINCY.

EAST BRAINTREE.

Mrs. Mary Macgregor of Liberty street has returned from a few weeks' visit in Maine.

Miss Daisy Balch, of Quincy avenue is spending a few weeks with friends in Worcester.

Mr. Harold South of Amherst college, is spending the summer vacation with his parents on Shaw street.

Herbert Morse, formerly of East Braintree but now of Camden, N. J., was renewing old acquaintances in town over the holiday.

The house owned and occupied by J. Charles Steever and family on Union street was struck by lightning in the severe storm of Thursday evening. Fortunately only slight damages were done.

The largest hen we have ever seen was exhibited by William R. Drake, the hen man, in the Quincy Fourth of July parade. It was as large as a horse, featherless and required no feeding. Mr. Drake also had two teams in the parade and a colored boy in the rear headed for Johnson's market for a pair of Drake's chickens.

Wednesday morning just before daylight a barn belonging to Gabriel Bowers of Hobart street was destroyed by fire. The fire had gained much headway before it was noticed. Much credit is due William Brooks for his prompt and decisive manner in arousing and rescuing the members of the Bowers family whose rooms were fast filling with smoke. Through the efforts of Chief Whitmarsh, the house which adjoins the barn was only partially burned.

Mrs. Susan Mulligan of Union street passed quietly away at her home Wednesday evening July 5. Mrs. Mulligan was one of the oldest and most beloved residents of East Braintree. She lived the greater part of her life in this town. For the past few years she has been confined to her home with ill health. She is survived by a husband and three sons who have the sympathy of the town. Funeral services were held at the church of the Sacred Heart, Weymouth. Burial at the St. Xavier cemetery, Weymouth.

BIRDMEN IN MERCY OF WIND

Battle For Their Lives After Falling Into the Sea

PROPELLER BROKEN BY DOG

Atwood and Hamilton Attempt Flight After Splicing Break and Immediately Have Trouble With Machine, Which Gets Into Grip of Near Gale and Is Finally Disabled—Crowd Awed by the Spectacle

Atlantic City, N. J., July 8.—The curiosity of a bulldog and a high wind forced Harry N. Atwood and Charles K. Hamilton to twice battle for their lives shortly after leaving the beach off Ohio avenue yesterday afternoon for their flight to Washington.

They were finally plunged into the breakers at Kentucky avenue, their machine badly damaged, and both had narrow escapes from drowning before they were secued from the network of tangled wires, after a thrilling battle against a strong northeast wind, hampered by a damaged propeller.

Atwood appeared on the beach with Hamilton at 3 o'clock. The machine was wheeled up the beach to get a good take off against the wind. At 3:10 the propellers were set whirling, with Atwood at the wheel. Hamilton had just started to climb into the seat next to the engine when a bulldog, running across the beach, poked his nose into one of the whirling propellers.

There was a bump and a grind and the canine was whirled into the crowd, killed instantly. Atwood stopped the engine and when the propellers came to a standstill it was discovered the dog's body had split the blade for a half foot. Atwood was anxious to be off, but he had no other propellers here. Hamilton spliced the break with wire.

At 3.45 they left the beach again. They mounted but 100 feet in the air before the throng saw that something was wrong. The machine dipped on one side and veered with each puff of wind. Atwood headed straight up the beach and then started out over the ocean.

The machine seemed to have lost its lifting power on the left side. It plunged this way and that way, seemingly at the mercy of the wind. After sailing out for a square over the water, Atwood, at an altitude of about 200 feet, atempted to fly in toward shore. Down went the machine. Its planes barely skimmed the top of the wave crests before he lifted into the air again. The craft jumped and hopped as the full sweep of the wind struck it.

The plucky driver could be seen fighting gamely to edge in toward the shore, but the force of the wind drove the machine back over the ocean again. Atwood tilted his lifting plane to reach a higher level in hope of losing the force of the near gale.

When he failed to accomplish this, he turned up the beach and ran for a while before the wind. The crowd, awed by the spectacle of the man and wind battle directly over their heads, scampered for cover.

Atwood, coached by Hamilton, older at the game, seemed to have won his fight. The biplane levelled on an even keel and seemed to obey his every move. Off Kentucky avenue the wind was shunted down between the hotels and again took the machine in its grip.

It hovered over the breaker line, then plunged down. Atwood managed to coast into water about ten feet deep before the plane struck. The crowd gave a collective gasp as the machine and birdmen were hidden in a cloud of spray. Life guards headed the rush toward the spot.

Buried by tons of water, cast down on them by the breakers, Atwood and Hamilton were battling for their lives, fastened in by the network of wires used to hold the standards taut. Atwood had presence of mind enough to shut down his engine as he hit the water.

The life guards assisted the half drowned pair to get free from their strenuous fight in the surf. Before they could salvage the machine it was damaged beyond immediate repair. It was pulled from the water and taken back to its station on the ocean pier, where Hamilton and Atwood will try to get it in readiness for another attempt today. The damaged propeller, caused by the dog, was responsible for the near tragedy.

SENATOR IS THRASHED,

Railroad Claim Agent Resents Alleged Impeachment of Character

Starkville, Miss., July 8.—State Senator Theodore Bilbo, candidate for lieutenant governor of Mississippi, was attacked and severely beaten here by J. J. Henry, a railroad claim agent and former penitentiary warden.

The encounter was a direct sequel to a campaign speech delivered by Bilbo recently, in which he is credited with having impeached Henry's character.

SUNDAY SERVICES

FOURTH SUNDAY AFTER TRINITY

Church services inserted in this paper without charge, but none will be accepted to run until further order. A notice should be sent each week though it is but a renewal. Give subject and special services when possible. Let all churches be represented.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST—Quincy, Alpha Hall, cor. Hancock street and Cottage ave. Morning service and Sunday school at 10.45. Subject, "Sacrament." Golden Text: "Let us keep the feast, not with old leaven, neither with the leaven of malice and wickedness; but with the unleavened bread of sincerity and truth." I Corinthians 5:8. Wednesday 7.45 P. M. a testimony and experience meeting. Reading rooms open from 3 to 5 P. M., weekdays, Holidays excepted. All are welcome.

CHRIST CHURCH, EPISCOPAL—Quincy, corner Elm street and Quincy avenue. Rev Richard E. Armstrong, rector. Holy Communion at 8.00 A. M. 10.30 Morning Prayer and Sermon. The Evening service is discontinued until September.

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH, Franklin street—Rev. R. J. Davis, pastor, residence 266 Franklin street. Preaching service at 10.30 A. M. Sunday school at 11.45 A. M. Y. P. S. C. E. at 6 P. M. Praise and preaching service at 7.00 P. M. These services are open to all. Be sure and Come. A cordial welcome awaits you.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH — Corner Quincy and Water streets. Rev. James A. Matheson, minister. Morning worship at 10.20 Bible School and Men's Bible Class at 11.45. C. E. service at 6.15. Evening worship at 7.00. Prayer service Thursday at 7.30.

FIRST UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH—Fort Square. Rev. A M. Thompson, pastor. Residence 182 Glendale road Quincy. Morning service at 10.30. Sabbath school and Men's League at 11.45. Y. P. S. C. E. at 6:30. Topic; "Lessons from great lives." "David" 1st Sam. 17:32-51. Evening service at 7.30. All welcome.

HALL PLACE M. E. CHURCH—West Quincy Rev. T. C. Martin, pastor. Residence, 12 Hall place. Morning worship at 10.30 A. M. Sunday school at 12.00 M. Evening Praise and Gospel service at 7 o'clock. Prayer meeting Friday at 7.30 P.M.

PEOPLE'S UNION CHURCH—Bay View avenue Houghs Neck. Rev. W. J. Sayre, pastor. Morning worship 10.45. Subject, "The three factors which have the greatest influence upon every life." Sunday school 12 M. Y. P. S. C. E. 6.45 P. M. Evening worship 7.30. Theme, "Watch." Bible Study Every Thursday evening at 8.

ST. CHRYSOSTOM'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH—Hancock street, Wollaston—Rev. Frederick H. Steenstra, rector, residence, the rectory, 523 Hancock street. Holy Communion at 8 A. M. Morning Prayer and sermon at 10.30.

WOLLASTON BAPTIST CHURCH—Rev. Joseph Walther, pastor. Residence 81 Prospect avenue. Tel. 311-4 Morning service at 10.45. Sermon by the minister. No Sunday School during July and August. Y. P. S. C. E. Meeting at 7 P. M. Subject, "Lessons from Great Lives" VII David. Leader, Mr. Kenneth Albee. Everyone invited.

WOLLASTON M. E. CHURCH—Corner Beale and Safford streets. Rev. Wesley Wiggin, pastor. Residence 52 Brook street, Telephone Quincy 378-2. Morning worship and sermon at 10.45. Rev. T. C. Martin will preach. Sunday School at 12 A. M. Special program. Epworth League at 7 P. M.

MEMORIAL CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH—Atlantic. Rev. Thomas W. Davison, pastor. Morning service at 10.45. Subject: "The growth of Humanitarianism." Music by Male quartet. Sunday School at 12 M.

Makaria
Fraternity
SUNDAY 12 TO 1—SHARP
Bethany Church, City Square

If YOU are a young man, and not associated with any other Quincy church, YOU are most cordially invited to come to our meeting.
A warm welcome—Hearty singing—A helpful hour together.

BIBLE STUDENTS' ASSOCIATION.

(Undenominational)

Divine service every Sunday in Colonial hall at 3 P. M.

On Sunday, July 9th, Mr. H. P. Gleason of Boston will deliver a lecture entitled "The Blessing of the World under the New Covenant." Mr. Gleason was heard for the first time in Quincy last Sunday and the interest in these remarkable meetings still continues, many being greatly blessed by the wonderful harmony and beauty of God's Word and Plan as portrayed by the various speakers.

The present lecture will treat of the "New Covenant"—Jeremiah the prophet tells of a New Covenant that God will make with Israel under which all the families of the Earth are to have a blessing. (Jer. 31:31-34). Just when this New Covenant will be inaugurated, The character of the blessings.

The removal of Sin, Sickness, Sorrow, etc. And just how the death of Jesus is the basis or guarantee of the fulfillment of all the wonderful blessings which that New Covenant will bring to mankind will be fully explained by Mr. Gleason in his interesting lecture. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Seats free. No collection.

☞Going away for the summer? If so don't forget to have the Daily Ledger sent to your address and keep posted on home news. If you have forgotten to send in your order in the rush of getting away drop us a postal and we will do the rest. tf

THE LOGICAL YOUNG MAN'S BANK

The Young man's bank should be the bank that will, by its sturdy character and solidity, dignify his relations with it and his standing in the business world. Young men who habitually bank their earnings and surround their incomes with banking safe-guards will find their habits of thrift improving steadily. If you don't see why, call and talk it over.

NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

ZOROID
TRADE MARK
LENSES
FOUNDED 1883

For Your Convenience

And to enable us to have time for a thorough examination, we make appointments.

Instead of wasting from a half to a whole day you need only an hour or two for a thorough and scientific examination of your eyes.

When in need of glasses 'phone OXFORD 790 for an appointment.

Briggs S. Palmer President
Sanborns
3 Winter St.-Boston

REPRESENTED IN QUINCY BY
WILLIAM F. SIDELINGER
July--5-8

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.
A Clearance Sale
--- OF ---
Soiled Shirt Waists
A Specially good assortment of Large Sizes
THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

MURDER INDICTMENTS.

A Sample of the Idiotic Style In Which They Are Written.

Murder has been written of as a fine art, but it remained for the United States to treat it as a sport. In many of the states an indictment for murder contains nearly enough words to fill a column and sounds like the conversation of an idiot. Here is a sample:

"That the said J. F. G., a certain pistol then and there charged with gunpowder and leaden bullets, which said pistol he, the said J. F. G., then and there in his right hand had and held, then and there unlawfully, purposely and of deliberate and premeditated malice, did discharge and shoot off to, against and upon the said F. M., with the intent aforesaid, and that the said J. F. G., with the leaden bullets aforesaid, out of the pistol aforesaid, by the force of the gunpowder aforesaid, by the said J. F. G., then and there discharged and shot off as aforesaid, him, the said F. M., in and upon the upper right side of the back of him, the said F. M., then and there"—

This isn't as idiotic as it looks, however. It is part of our sporting theory of justice, which makes a murder trial a game of skill and finesse between opposing counsel. By the slightest deviation from statutory form one side may lose the game. Convictions for the most abhorrent crimes have repentedly been set aside because of trivial verbal omissions in the indictment.

Had the murder referred to in the above quotation occurred in Canada the indictment would have read simply: "The jurors of our lord the king present that J. F. G. on the 6th day of August, one thousand nine hundred and eight, at the city of Winnipeg, in the province of Manitoba, murdered F. M." Canadian procedure concerns itself with the murder. Ours in many jurisdictions concerns itself with the legal sport, whether the murderer is punished or not being a secondary consideration.—Saturday Evening Post.

DENOUNCES HIGH HEELS.

Judge Tells Nurses They Are as Bad as Rum or Opium.

"High heels are as heathenish as rings in the nose or tattooing," declared Supreme Court Justice Howard to the graduating nurses of Troy (N. Y.) hospital.

"Such shoes," said the justice, "are as barbarous, as torturing and as destructive of health as the Chinese wooden shoes. Both breed ungainly and deformed feet. China is proud of one kind of deformed feet, we of the other. Each kind results only in walking monstrosities.

"Will you not advocate normal feet, such feet as God gave? Have you the courage to speak out against this silly fashion—a fashion as destructive as rum, as deadly as opium—or are you to be counted among its devotees?

"Hospitals," continued Justice Howard, "are as necessary for public health as parks. The lying-in ward should no more be the birthplace of the millionaire's scion than of the plebeian offspring. The whim of the rich woman is no more entitled to recognition at hospitals than the caprice of the peasant housewife."

How to Keep Cabbage Fresh.

Frequently one-half a cabbage is required at a time. To keep the remainder fresh wrap it in some of the loose leaves and afterward in damp paper. Put it in a cool place, and it will keep fresh and crisp for a day or two. Half a cut cucumber may be kept fresh by standing it in a tumbler of water.

The Social Realm

Colonel Edward Anderson and daughter Mrs. Dexter E. Wadsworth of Presidents hill sail from New York on Wednesday for Europe for a tour of Wales. They were to have sailed from Boston on the Ivernia but owing to that steamer being out of commission they had to change to New York.

• • •

Principal Charles L. Curtis of the Milton High school and family are closing their home in East Milton preparatory to spending the summer in the White mountains.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Osgood and son of Montello are visiting Alexander Rose of Centre street.

• • •

Charles E. Gill, chairman of the Park Commission is spending a month at Madison, N. H.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. Albert R. Moulton Master Richard and Miss Helen Moulton of Safford street are at North Sutton, New Hampshire for the rest of the summer.

• • •

The Harry L. Rices of Adams street are at their farm in Peterboro, New Hampshire.

• • •

Charles Davis and daughter Miss Davis of Pleasant street, East Milton, are at Bar Harbor for the season, occupying the Parker cottage.

• • •

A. C. Marnock of Newcomb street is to spend the coming week at Ponemah, New Hampshire.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. Donna Caswell and two children of Lawrence are spending ten days with Mrs. Kolb of Clive street.

• • •

Miss Ruth C. Farmer of Granite street, has gone to New London, Conn., to spend her vacation.

• • •

The W. H. Dobles of South street left town this week for their summer home at West Harwich on the Cape.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. Issac Goddard and daughter of Hancock street, Wollaston have gone to Yarmouth, Maine for a six weeks' sojourn.

• • •

Mrs. George A. Ryder and daughter Beth of Johnson avenue left this week for Argyle, Nova Scotia, for a visit.

• • •

Rev. and Mrs. Henry Strong Huntington of Milton have issued invitations to the marriage of their daughter Miss Cornelia Strong Huntington and Mr. Theron Johnson Damon on Thursday July 20 at the First Congregational church in Milton.

• • •

Alexander Rose, Jr., and Mr. Barrett of Albany, New York, spent the Fourth with Alex Rose of Centre street. They made the trip from Albany by automobile starting Saturday night and arriving Sunday morning. They returned Wednesday morning.

• • •

Mrs. John D. Mackay of Merrymount road and young son have gone to Provincetown for a visit to her mother Mrs. Sarah C. Kincaide, formerly of this city.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. Louis W. Vaupel of Post Island have returned from a week's trip to the White Mountains visiting Bethlehem. Fabyans and Intervale.

• • •

Miss Gladys W. Glover of Lincoln avenue is the guest for a months of the Arthur Homers of Grand View avenue at their summer home at Crawford Island, Maine.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Perkins of Allston, Mass., welcomed a little daughter Dorothy Jane to their home on Sunday July second. Mrs. Perkins will be remembered as Miss Vesta L. Pawsey of this city.

• • •

Miss Emma C. Low and friends came on from Brooklyn, New York, on Thursday and left Friday for the Isles of Shoals to attend the Unitarian summer meetings. Owing to the warm weather the Unitarians in this vicinity are glad ofthe opportunity of enjoying the sea breezes on an island far from land.

• • •

Miss Belle Harley of Pawtucket, R. I., who has made many friends in Quincy on her visits here, is preparing to leave the first of August for Harpoot, Turkey where she goes as a missionary and expects to be away seven years. She has been the recipient of several gift showers and cordial messages.

Mrs. Stacy Southworth nee Saunders and daughter Dorothy of West Roxbury are visiting Miss Mabel Drew for a few days.

• • •

Miss Mabel Hodge of Town Hill is spending a two weeks' vacation with relatives at Billerica, Mass.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. Carl R. Derby are leaving on Monday for South Harpswell, Maine where they will stop at hotel Germania for a few weeks.

• • •

Letters received from Mrs. James H. Stetson from her summer home at West Harwich tell of cool breezes and comfortable weather. They have for neighbors this season friends from Wilmington, Delaware, with whom they go south each winter and the summer is passing most pleasantly with veranda and automobile parties.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. George B. Powers, nee Sullivan, who were married at Dorchester on June 28 are expected home today from their wedding trip. Part of the summer they will pass at North Weymouth and at their home on Hancock street, Wollaston.

• • •

Harry W. Read and family of Squantum street made an over the Fourth visit home returning Thursday to Camp Kitnalta, Pembroke.

• • •

Miss Marjorie Penniman of Revere road is spending the week end with friends in New Bedford.

• • •

George Deans returned for the Fourth from Emporia, Kansas, where he reports that the temperature stood at 123 degrees.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. H. Gerrish Smith of Presidents hill returned Tuesday from a trip to the White mountains.

• • •

Mrs. Wiliam J. Croucher and Miss Helen Croucher of Beach street left Thursday for a month's stay at Summerside, Prince Edward Island.

• • •

Miss Eva Weymouth of Glover avenue starts tomorrow for a two weeks vacation to be spent with friends in Meredith and Farmington, New Hampshire.

• • •

Mrs. Mackay and family of South street have gone to Prince Edward Island for a month.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred J. Gaffney of Elm avenue left Friday for Prince Edward Island for a month's stay with relatives.

• • •

Miss Annie Wardman of Smith street left Thursday for New York where she will spend a few weeks with friends.

• • •

Mrs. Lyndon Gurney and two children and Miss Bertha Shultz started Thursday for a two weeks' outing at Islesboro, Maine.

• • •

William Patterson and daughter Miss Elsie Patterson of South Central avenue left today for North Woodstock, N. H., where they are to enjoy the mountain breezes for a few weeks.

• • •

Miss Clare Jones of Elmwood avenue is at Camp Wyonogic Denmark, Maine for the rest of the summer.

• • •

Mrs. Ida Waterhouse of Squantum street is entertaining her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Theron Houghton and Miss Gladys Houghton of Arkansas City, Kansas.

• • •

Miss Ethel Osborne of Bigelow street leaves tonight by boat for Maine where she is to enjoy life on one of the small islands near Augusta.

• • •

Miss Emily Bartlett of Brooklyn, N. Y., is spending two weeks with her friend Mrs. Habberton of Appleton street.

• • •

Mrs. William J. Collagan and children, Louise, Paul and Ruth of Gilmore street left Wednesday for Birchton, Montreal, Canada where she will visit her parents Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wheeler until October.

• • •

Miss Winifred Norton formerly of Newtonville has been spending the week with her aunt Mrs. A. W. Jelinek of Botolph street before joining her family who have recently moved to East Orange, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. John Clements and son Chester of Moscoe street, leave today for Farmington, N. H. where they will spend two weeks vacation.

• • •

Miss Anna L. Woodward of Brooklyn is the guest of her cousin Miss Helen T. O'Reilly of Brook street for the rest of the month.

• • •

At the home of Rev. T. W. Davison 123 Billings street, Mr. William T. Hayden of Norwell was married on Thursday, July 6, to Miss Lydia P. Appleton, formerly of Atlantic. Mr. and Mrs. Hayden will make their home in Norwell.

• • •

Miss Martha Jenkins has returned from a two weeks' visit in Wilton, N. H.

(Continued on Page Six.)

BAND CONCERT TONIGHT.

The Quincy National band will render the following program tonight from 7.30 to 8.30 at the junction of Hancock street and Cottage avenue:

March—New Colonial Hall
Overture—New York, Southwell
Waltz—Daughter of Love Bennett
Selection from Norma ar. by McCosh
Overture—North Western Band Carnival, Southwell Uncle Tom's Cabin, a dream picture of the old South Lampe March—Walchmere Sosey
The Star Spangled Banner.

EAR NEARLY CUT OFF.

Stephen Eaton, the 11 year old son of Mrs. Ida Eaton, had a narrow escape from a serious accident on Washington street near the corner of Canal street Friday afternoon. The boy was riding down the hill on his bicycle when intrying to avoid an automobile he was thrown through the window of a Chinese laundry. He was quite badly cut about the face and hands by glass and his right ear was nearly severed. He was taken to the City Hospital. It is thought that in trying to avoid the automobile he struck the street curbing, head on, and was thrown forward.

MOONLIGHT SAIL.

The first moonlight sail of the Wollaston Yacht club, was held Friday evening in a fine sailing breeze from the southwest. About thirty yachts participated in the sail, the fleet being headed by the Corneta with Commodore Crosscup and party of ladies on board. Following was the Leda with Vice Commodore Taylor. After sailing about Quincy bay and the lower harbor a return was made to the club house. Those who did not care to sail, enjoyed dancing at the club house, the floor being in charge of George Sherman chairman of the entertainment committee. Refreshments were served at midnight.

Among the boats and skippers taking out parties were the following:

Eleanor—W. L. Jefferson.
Thordis—Dr. Dawes.
Leader—F. F. Taylor.
Critonia—Frank Lombard.
Pochahontas—Dr. Fred C. Merrill.
Busy Bee—Walter Coombs.
Terror—Clifton H. Sass.
Stuart Co.—John Stuart.
Elizabeth—F. Leverett Brown.
M. L. R.—M. L. Roberts.
Sequish—A. M. Podbury.
Peacock—Frank Gardner.
Ursula—J. F. Merrill.
Gertrude—Thomas Raishe.
Aspinquid—Ralph Crocker.
Juanita—Guy Sass.
Skip—George Sherman.
Louise—Charles Richardson.
Eagle—I. L. Blossom.

HAS SENATORS AS HIS GUEST

Bi-Partisan Party on the Mayflower With President

SENATE QUORUM IS BROKEN

Body Adjourns to Give Four Republican and Four Democratic Leaders Opportunity to Discuss Question of Putting Reciprocity Through—Discussion Will Involve Whole Tariff Situation as It Now Stands

Washington, July 8.—The personnel of the party of senators which is to accompany the president on the yacht Mayflower on the trip from Philadelphia back to Washington today and Sunday was given out here. Back of this trip there is an interesting story.

The president proposes to discuss with the senators, who include four Democrats and four Republicans, the question of putting reciprocity through the senate. More than this, there will be discussed the question of what the administration ought to do about the special traiff bills, which it is now threatened will be put through congress after reciprocity is passed. It is not improbable that the decision whether the president should veto or sign these bills will be reached on this trip or as a result of what passes upon it.

The party includes Senators Penrose, Briggs, Brown and Root, Republicans, and Bacon, Taylor, Foster and Overman, Democrats. In order to enable these senators to go, the senate adjourned over from yesterday until Monday.

The nominal purpose is to discuss reciprocity. The president is said to be much concerned over the delay and uncertainty about getting a vote thereon. But about the senate it was said the discussion would undoubtedly take a wider range and that it would involve the whole tariff situation as it now stands in the senate.

The importance of this need not be dwelt on in view of the strong and growing feeling in many quarters that the senate will not leave Washington until it has agreed to pass a wool bill and perhaps a free list bill.

It is true there is much scepticism expressed by some on the ability of the insurgents and Democrats to agree on a wool bill, but some of the insurgent leaders insist strongly there will be an agreement and that it is going to be "up to the president" to sign or veto a wool bill and possibly other bills for revision of separate schedules.

Senators were reluctant to join the party until they found there would be adjournment over Saturday. Absence of eight will break a quorum, as there are only about fifty senators in Washington. The president by having the party will cause the senate to lose a day, but the White House apparently hopes to more than make this up by threshing over with Republicans and Democrats the differences and difficulties in the present tangled situation.

SWEDISH CHURCH PICNIC.

Several carloads of children and grown people started from Brewers corner this morning for Bethel beach to attend the annual Sunday school picnic of the Swedish Baptist church. There will be splendid opportunities for bathing and boating and since the colony there is owned by the Swedish Baptist people everything will be at the disposal of the picnickers. Lemonade and ice cream will be furnished by the Sunday school.

Keep Cool As a Cucumber

After your work you and the boy take a dip in old ocean. There's nothing like it, and it's strengthening, too. We have boy's and men's bathing suits that will fit you as well as your pocket book. Come in and pick yours.

We have the right kind of hats at the right kind of prices. The swellest straws of the season are here. Hats that will last through the whole summer, holding to the last their snappy, graceful lines and distinctive look of quality.

If you want the best money can buy, come here.

Yachting Shoes, Bathing Shoes, Tennis Shoes.
Golf Caps. Yachting Caps.
Belts, Sweaters, Outing Trousers, Wash Ties.
Soft Shirts, Soft Collars, Celluloid Collars.

GEORGE W. JONES
1 Granite St., "Just Around the Corner" Quincy
July 7-2t--o-8-1w

Anty Drudge Goes to the Theatre Even on Monday Nights.

Anty Drudge—"Won't you go to the theatre with me to-night, Mrs. Hardwork?"

Mrs. Hardwork—"No, thank you. I never go anywhere on Monday night. I'm always tired out with washing all day."

Anty Drudge—"Why don't you use Fels-Naptha soap as Mrs. Nuway does? Then you wouldn't be tired and your wash would be drying on the line before noon."

You wrong Fels-Naptha, and do an injustice to yourself, if you use Fels-Naptha as an ordinary soap with hot water. It is deadly to dirt, and grease, and germs in cold or lukewarm water. You don't know what snow-white clothes are till you see them washed with Fels-Naptha.

Lots of other ways Fels-Naptha will save you work and time. Directions for all its uses on the red and green wrapper.

TO ATLANTIC CITY BY AUTO.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. McCabe of Squantum will attend the Elks convention at Atlantic City N. J., next week. They will make the trip by auto.

LOOK OUT FOR GYPSIES.

Chief of Police Kendall of Somerville, Friday afternoon, ordered the band of gypsies who have been camping there for the past week to quit the city.

Since the advent of the gypsies complaints have reached police headquarters that some of the gypsy women were charging exorbitant fees for telling fortunes.

A resident of Sycamore street paid $5 the other day, and yesterday one of the women gave back $13 to a Union square bootblack when he threatened her with arrest. The men of the camp refunded the $5 to the chief of police this afternoon.

TO LET
IN QUINCY CENTER
SEVERAL DESIRABLE HOUSES
7, 8 and 10 Rooms
Every convenience and very desirable locations.
RENT $25 TO $40. according to house
APPLY TO
MISS PRESCOTT,
Ledger Office
Quincy, July 7. LPOtf

CITY OF QUINCY

NOTICE TO WATER TAKERS.

You are hereby notified that owing to the extremely large consumption of water in this city, the use of hose is restricted to one hour a day between 7 and 8 o'clock P. M. All are requested to comply strictly with this order.

RANDOLPH BAINBRIDGE.
Commissioner of Public Works.
July 6-3t

The Quincy Co-operative Bank
Room 13, Adams Building
On and after Monday, May 22, 1911, the hours of the Bank will be as follows:
8.30 to 12. 1 30 to 4
Saturdays 8.30 to 12.
Evenings
7 to 9 on first Wednesday of the month and the preceding Saturday.
FRANK A. REED, Sec.
Telephone 353 M Quincy.
May 13-pol-tf

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

In effect June 4, 1911

The letters in the same line as the figures below stand for different stations and indicate that trains stop as follows.

a Wollaston, b Norfolk Downs, c Atlantic, d Neponset, e Pope's Hill, f Harrison Square, g Savin Hill, h Cresent Avenue, i South Boston, r Quincy Adams. Exp—Express train.

TO BOSTON			FROM BOSTON
Leave	Stop	Arrive	Leave	Stop	Arrive
r 5 14 abcdefghi		5 41	5 45 ihgfedeba		6 14 r
r 6 16 abci		6 35	6 12 ihgfedeba		6 39 r
r 6 33 e		6 48	6 30 a		6 47
r 6 40 abcf		7 00	7 15 hgfedeba		7 41 r
r 7 08 abcd		7 30	7 44 a		7 58
r 7 25 d		7 42	7 45 e		8 03 r
r 7 33 Exp		7 48	8 35 cb		8 53
r 7 42 ab		8 00	8 42 a		8 59
7 57 a		8 13	9 10 fedba		9 32 r
r 8 19 abcd		8 31	9 45 a		10 11 r
r 8 30 Exp		8 45	10 15 ihgfedeba		10 41 r
r 8 53 ad		9 10	10 50 Exp		11 05
r 9 15 abc		9 33	11 15 hgfedeba		11 41 r
r 10 03 a		10 20	11 50 a		12 07
r 10 19 abcdefghi		10 45	12 15 hgfedeba		12 41 r
11 12 a		11 28	12 37 a		12 54 r
r 11 24 abcdefgh		11 50	12 50 Exp		1 05
12 04 a		12 20	1 11 fedeba		1 32 r
r 12 25 abcdefghi		12 52	1 45 a		2 02
1 22 a		1 40	2 15 ihgf		2 37 r
2 04 a		2 20	2 35 Exp		2 50
r 2 19 abcdefgh		2 45	3 15 hgfedeba		3 40 r
r 3 13 Exp		3 28	3 45 a		4 02
4 04 a		4 20	4 12 fedeba		4 24 r
r 4 25 abcdefgh		4 52	4 41 d		4 58
5 01 Exp		5 20	5 14 a		5 31 r
r 5 20 abcdefg		5 55	5 24 a		5 42
6 12 a		6 30	5 31 dcb		5 50 r
7 22 Exp		7 37	5 43 a		6 00 r
r 7 30 a		7 46	5 55 fedeba		6 21 r
r 8 07 abcdef		8 30	6 14 Exp		6 30 r
r 9 01 abc		9 20	6 30 eeba		6 51 r
10 04 a		10 20	7 00 fedeba		7 24 r
r 10 07 abcdef		10 30	7 12 a		7 29
r 11 25 abc		11 45	8 05 ba		8 32
			9 25 dba		9 46 r
			10 35 fedeba		11 02 r
			11 10 fedeba		11 35 r
			11 30 ba		11 49

SUNDAYS

r 7 43 abc		8 03	6 30 ba		6 48 r
8 30 Exp		8 45	8 45 ihgfedeba		9 13 r
8 34 abc		8 52	9 05 Exp		9 21
r 8 46 bcdefghi		9 13	10 05 ihgfedeba		10 2 r
r 9 13 abc		9 33	12 15 ihgfedeba		12 42 r
9 31 a		9 47	12 45 Exp		1 01
10 23 ac		10 40	1 30 ihgfedeba		1 57 r
10 31 Exp		10 47	2 15 hgfedeba		2 42 r
11 00 Exp		11 17	2 45 a		3 02
r 11 16 abcdefghi		11 43	3 15 ihgfedeba		3 42 r
1 02 Exp		1 17	4 27 eba		4 48 r
r 1 16 abcdefgh		1 43	5 15 ihgfedeba		5 42 r
r 3 10 abc		3 30	6 15 ihgfedeba		6 42 r
r 4 16 abcdefghi		4 43	7 00 eba		7 19 r
r 5 07 abc		5 27	8 15 ihgfedeba		8 41 r
r 6 16 abcdefghi		6 43	8 50 Exp		9 05
r 7 16 abcdefghi		7 42	9 30 ihgfedeba		9 57 r
r 8 11 abcdefghi		8 38	10 45 eba		11 04 r
r 9 0 a		9 22
r 10 16 abc		11 05
r 11 01 abc		11 20

West Quincy for Boston (stopping at East Milton)—6.23, 6.56, 7.17, 8.04, 8.31, 9.07 10.09, 11.01, A. M. 12.09, 1.23, 2.09, 3.18, 4.09, 5.13 6.06, 7.19, 9.09, 11.14 P. M. Sundays—8.20, 9.20 A. M. 12.50, 5.15, 6.50, 11.02 P. M.

Boston for West Quincy (stopping at East Milton)—6.35, 7.27, 8.23, 9.35, 10.25, 11.35 A. M. 12.25 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.25, 5.22, 5.47, 6.18 7.20, 9.10, 11.20 P. M. Sundays—8.58 A. M 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M.

Montclair for Boston 6.29, 7.2', 8.17, 10.15, A. M. 12.15, 1.29, 4.15, 5.20, 6.12, 7.2', 9.15, P. M. Sundays—8.26, 9.26, A. M. 1.06, 5.21, 11.09 P. M.

Boston for Montclair 9.35, 10.25, 11.35, A. M. 12.25, 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 6.18, 11.20 P. M. Sundays—8.58 A. M. 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M.

Boston & Northern St. Ry. Co.

QUINCY DIVISION

TIME TABLE

In effect June 24th, 1911.

Subject to Change Without Notice

Leave QUINCY for

Brockton, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M. then 9.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Brockton, 6.30, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 9.30 P. M. Sundays, 8.00A. M. then same as week days.

Braintree, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Braintree, 6.25 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.25 P. M. Sundays, 7.55 A. M. then same as week days.

East Milton, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Milton, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M., and every 20 minutes to 11.45 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.15 midnight.) Sundays, 7.25, A. M. then same as week days.

East Weymouth, 6.00, 6.15, 6.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.42 P. M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Weymouth, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.45 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Holbrook, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M. then 9.50 and 10.20 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Holbrook, 5.55, 6.25, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.00 P. M. Sundays, 8.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Houghs Neck, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 5.20, 5.45, 6.10 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 4.10 P. M. then 4.25, 4.40, 4.55, 5.10, 5.25, 5.40, 5.55, 6.10, 6.25, 6.40, 6.55, 7.10 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 11.10 P. M. then 11.49 P. M. Saturdays and Holidays, 5.20, 5.45, 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, 10.10, 10.40, A. M. then every 15 minutes to 10.40 P. M. then 11.10 and 11.49 P. M. Sundays, 6.50, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, 10.10, 10.40 A. M. then every 15 minutes to 10.40 P. M. then 11.10 P. M. Return, leave Houghs Neck Mondays to Fridays, both inc. 5.45, 6.05, 6.35 A. M. and ever 30 minutes to 4.35 P. M. then 4.50, 5.05, 5.20, 5.35, 5.50, 6.05, 6.20, 6.35, 6.50, 7.05, 7.20, 7.35 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 12.05 midnight. Saturdays and Holidays, 5.45, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05, A. M. then every 15 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.35 and 12.05 P. M. Sundays, 7.20, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05 A. M. then every 15 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.35 P. M.

Nantasket 8.25 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 9.25 P. M. Sundays, 9.25 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Nantasket, 10.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.00 P. M. Sundays, 10.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Hancock Street, 5.45, 6.14, 6.44, 7.14, 7.44, 8.14, 8.35, A. M. then 5, 14, 35 and 44 minutes past each hour to 10.44 P. M. then 12.14 midnight. Sundays 7.14 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Neponset 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, 8.07, 8.35, 8.37, 9.05, 9.37 A. M. then 5, 7, 35 and 37 minutes past each hour to 11.07 P. M. then 12.37 midnight. Sundays, 7.37 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Wollaston. 5.59 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.59 P. M. then 11.14 and 11.44 P. M. Sundays, 6.59 A. M. then same as week days. Return leave Neponset, 6.22 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.22 P. M. then 11.37, 12.07 P. M. Sundays, 7.22 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Norfolk Downs, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 7.55, 8.25, 8.50, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 1.30 P. M. then 2.05, 2.35 P. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.05 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.00 P. M.) Sundays, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Neponset, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 1.35 P. M. then 2.00, 2.30 P. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M.) Sundays, 8.30, 9.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Weymouth Landing, 5.20, 6.00, 6.20, 6.55, 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.00 P. M. Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days. Return leave Weymouth Landing, 5.40, 6.15, A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.15 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Wollaston, 5.59 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.59 P. M. then 11.14 and 11.44 P. M. Sundays, 6.59 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Wollaston, 6.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.30 P. M. then 11.50 and 12.20 P. M. Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days.

West Quincy, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave West Quincy, 6.00, 6.20, 6.50, A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.50 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.20 midnight) Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days.

Leave NEPONSET BRIDGE for Squantum, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 3.30 P. M. then 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30 P. M. then every 60 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Saturdays, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Sundays, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. (Note—Week Days, cars will leave Atlantic Bridge for Squantum, 5.45 and 6.15 A. M.) Return leave Squantum, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 4.05 P. M. then 4.35, 5.05, 5.35, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05 P. M. then every 60 minutes to 11.05 P. M. Saturdays, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 10.05 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. Sundays, 8.05 9.05, 10.05, A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M.

THOMAS GAMMON,
Superintendent.

Be Good to Yourself and the world will be good to you. The way is to keep your stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels right. And you'll find great help in

BEECHAM'S PILLS

Sold Everywhere. In boxes 10c. and 25c.

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER and GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

STORAGE
— FOR —
Furniture and Pianos
Storage Warehouse with Separate Rooms
Furniture and Piano Movers
HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy Tel. Con.

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock treet, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point
Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1153 M Nov. 3-tf

A. M. DEANE & CO.
MONUMENTS
MEMORIALS ERECTED
IN ANY
CEMETERY
IN THE
UNITED STATES
Aug. 1.-1y

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.
FIRE INSURANCE.
The Best Insurance. The Lowest Rates
Insurance Department,
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Telephone, Quincy 97-3.

PATTERSON, "The Florist"
92 South Central Ave.
WOLLASTON, MASS.
Telephone 392 Quincy

Quincy Savings Bank

BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.
SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.
CLARENCE BURGIN,
Treasurer.

JAMES F. BURKE
Real Estate and Insurance
AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES
Justice of the Peace Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Tel. 385-3 Jan. 17-tf

UPHOLSTERING
My only ambition is to get the work and to show the people of Quincy Town that nobody can beat me with my good work. Low prices on all kinds of furniture, repairing, mat tresses, and cushions. Can give references. M. Mirkin 67 Washington street, next to Y.M.C.A. Quincy. Tel. 1112W. April 10-3mo.

M. T. SULLIVAN
Real Estate Insurance
Auctioneer Care of Property
Justice of the Peace
Corner School and Ha cock Streets
QUINCY.

PATENTS
PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES.
Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent.
Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively.
Write or come to us at
710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office,
WASHINGTON, D. C.
CA·SNOW &Co.

Quincy Daily Ledger

HIGH TIDE FOR WEEK.

Monday, July 3,	4.45	5.15
Tuesday,	5.45	6.15
Wednesday,	6.45	7.15
Thursday,	7.45	8.00
Friday,	8.45	8.45
Saturday,	9.30	9.45
Sunday,	10.15	10.15

1911 JULY 1911

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
						1
2	3	4	5	6	7	8
9	10	11	12	13	14	15
16	17	18	19	20	21	22
23	24	25	26	27	28	29
30	31

BRIEFS

The semi-annual water bills went out in Friday nights mail.

One of the most interesting features of the Fourth of July parade in Atlantic were carriages containing the Atlantic G. A. R. veterans. Long may they live to celebrate the day with us!

The automobile and dinner party of the Granite City club to have been held next Wednesday evening has been postponed until the following week, Wednesday evening, July 19. The party will leave the club rooms at 6.30 and after an automobile trip through the south shore will stop at the Pequot Inn for dinner. Ladies will be the guests of the club on this occasion.

The postponed meeting of the Unity Circle of King's Daughters, will be held Tuesday, July 11th, at 7.30 P. M. Opportunity Ten will have charge of the entertainment.

The weather predictions are that another hot wave is on the way and may be expected to arrive by Sunday or Monday. People are thankful however for the two days of milder weather.

Rev. E. C. Butler of First church has been seriously ill since June 26 at his home on Russell park of apoplexy and paralysis of the entire right side. Dr. Gordon and two trained nurses are in attendance.

A large force of clerks will be put at work Monday making out the real and personal estate tax bills.

Atlantic people were glad to see Mr. and Mrs. Daniel McGrath who came over Tuesday from Beverly to visit Atlantic friends. Mr. McGrath was always interested in the good of Atlantic.

The annual Sunday school picnic of the Hall Place M. E. church will be held at Highland park, Wednesday, July 19th.

City Treasurer Curtis has sold the $27,733 four per cent street loan bonds to Curtis & Sanger at $100.933. The bonds mature as follows:—$7,733 on June 1, 1912, $6,000 on June 1, 1913 and 1914, $2,000 in 1915 and $1,000 in 1916 to 1921 inclusive.

On Sunday Rev. T. W. Davison will begin regular religious services at Squantum similar to those held last summer.

These warm sultry days have attracted large crowds to Sandy beach who have found the bathing most attractive. On Wednesday at high tide a young lady who was able to swim a little, finding herself beyond her depth, became frightened and would have drowned if efforts had not been made to rescue her. One of the men on the raft swam to her asistance but another who had discovered her distress from the shore plunged in and was the first to reach her. On reaching the shore she soon revived in the fresh air.

The contract for building the under water coffer dam at the Fore River bridge has been awarded to the Fore River Shipbuilding Co., the lowest bidders by the special commission.

Man In Bag Found In Canal

Phoenix, N. Y., July 8.—The decomposed body of a man, tied securely in a heavy burlap bag, was found floating in the Oswego canal here. He appeared to have been about 50 years old.

Cholera at Italian Seaports

Vienna, July 8.—Censored telegrams from Italy report cholera throughout the southern seaports of Italy. In Palermo there are 100 cases daily. Conditions at Messina are also very bad.

Started Fire With Kerosene

Rumford, Me., July 8.—When Mrs. Mabel Nash, aged 29, lighted her kitchen fire with kerosene there was a quick explosion and the flames caused her death a few hours later.

FEDERAL FOOD EXPERT.

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, Who Knows All About "Grub."

© 1910, by American Press Association.

JOLT FROM DR. WILEY

Will Be No Tobacco Used In Public Fifteen Years Hence

Washington, July 8.—Dr. Harvey W. Wiley yesterday afternoon made the prediction that within fifteen years smoking and chewing tobacco in public will be abandoned.

Dr. Wiley has established a reputation as an advocate of pure food. He gives strength to any reform with which he aligns himself. Tobacco users trembled when they learned that he had joined the crusade against the public use of tobacco.

"A man has a perfect right to drink, chew or dip snuff in his private sanctorum," he said, "but he has not the shadow of a right to inflict unwholesome smoke and his vile breath on the community at large. There should be a law, strictly enforced by the authorities, prohibiting smoking and chewing in public places or on the cars, where other persons are obliged to be."

GETS $320,000 FROM MEXICAN TREASURY

Gustavo Madero Is Reimbursed For His War Expenses

Mexico City, July 8.—Following a conference between President de la Barra and Minister of Finance Madero, an order was issued to the national treasury to pay to Gustavo Madero $320,000 gold to reimburse him for expenses incurred during the revolution. Gustavo Madero, a brother of Francisco I. Madero, Jr., contributed liberally to the revolutionary fund.

Another interesting order issued is that sent to San Luis Potosi, to return to Francisco I. Madero, Jr., $5000 deposited as a bond during the time of his imprisonment in that city before the revolution. It is returned under the terms of the general amnesty.

ROYALTY IN IRELAND

King and Queen and Children Are Welcomed to Dublin

Dublin, July 8.—King George and Queen Mary and the Prince of Wales and Princess Mary arrived here this morning and were accorded a most hearty reception.

When they came ashore they were received by the lord lieutenant of Ireland and driven in state carriages to the castle, where they are to reside during their stay. A number of brilliant state functions are to take place in the royal residence during the next few days.

In the presence chamber, where the court receptions will be held, stands the king's throne of gilt carved work under a canopy of rich crimson velvet beautifully ornamented with gold lace.

PREPARING FOR PRACTICE

Large Number of Naval Vessels Steam Into Cape Cod Bay

Provincetown, Mass., July 8.—The first preliminary step to the war maneuvers of the United States naval fleet next week was taken yesterday afternoon when all the war vessels that have assembled here steamed out of the harbor and into the bay, where ranges are to be established prior to target practice.

The vessels in line were the battleships Connecticut, Virginia, Vermont, Michigan, Ohio, Minnesota and Nebraska, the scout ship Salem, seven submarines, eleven destroyers and four auxilfaries.

Four Held on Murder Charge

Boston, July 8.—Salvatore Accombre, Valentine De Lorenso, Pasqualle Susi and Luigi Accombre were arraigned before Judge Murray, charged with the murder of Antonio Schappa. They were held for the grand jury without bail after pleading not guilty.

Seal Treaty Is Signed

Washington, July 8.—By the terms of the seal treaty signed yesterday pelagic sealing is prohibited in the seas of Behring, Okhotsk, Kamchatka and Japan. The United States, England, Russia and Japan are parties to the agreement.

LETTERS ARE READ IN COURT

Stokes' Trouble With Miss Graham Arose Over Them

CONTAINED FATHERLY ADVICE

One Enclosed Check For $200 "to Blow In on Something"—Clubman Does Not Think It Showed Evidence of Affection—Actuated In Promising Money by Desire to Recover Letters—His Evidence Concluded

New York, July 8.—W. E. D. Stokes' testimony was still unfinished when court convened yesterday for further examination of the charge that an attempt to murder Stokes was made a montn ago by Miss Lillian Graham and Miss Ethel Conrad.

The purpose of these proceedings is to determine whether the evidence is sufficient to warrant sending the case to the grand jury, but the examination and cross examination is conducted with such thoroughness that it amounts practically to a trial.

Eight letters and two telegrams, identified by Stokes as having been sent by him to Miss Graham, were introduced in evidence and read in court. It was testified that it was in quest of these letters that Stokes went to the aparments of Miss Graham and Miss Conrad on June 7 last.

In them Stokes, who said on the stand that he was 57 years old, for the most part adopted toward the girl an attitude of fatherly counsel, advising her against the stage, against intoxicating liquors and about life in general.

Although he was under cross-examination by Attorney Moore for the defense, Stokes voluntarily launched forth into a lengthy history of his acquaintance with Miss Conrad.

Stokes reiterated he had never had any affection for Miss Graham and had never pretended that he had. Asked what his intentions had been toward her during the time he corresponded with her and entertained her, he replied: "I tried to be polite to her."

Attorney Moore produced a letter written by Stokes to Miss Graham when the latter was in Paris in 1910, which inclosed a check for $200, "to blow in on something."

Asked if he did not think that fairly good evidence of affection, he retorted: "I thought enough of her to send her $200 when I heard she was on her uppers in Paris."

Direct questions intended to show that Miss Graham deservedly had an unsavory reputation were ruled out by the court.

Stokes concluded his testimony with the story of the call Miss Conrad made on him at the Ansonia when arrangements were made to send Miss Graham abroad. He said he was actuated in promising the money by a desire to recover his letters and to get Miss Graham out of the country.

Stokes made it plain from the start that he intended to show no mercy to the young women who peppered his legs with bullets. He said that they shot him because he refused to give them a check for $25,000 and declared they informed him that they proposed to do away with him and hide his body, preparations for which had already been made.

Andrew J. Tully, the policeman who arrested the girls, testified after Stokes was excused. He said both Miss Graham and Miss Conrad had claimed they had shot Stokes.

MRS. COLT WANTS DIVORCE

Actress Married to Multi-Millionaire Less Than Two Years Ago

Los Angeles, Cal., July 8.—Ethel Barrymore, the actress, who is playing here, has taken steps to sue for divorce in New York from Russell G. Colt, a young multi-millionaire, to whom she was married less than two years ago.

The papers were taken east by a special agent, presumably from her lawyer's offices, and are to be filed immediately upon his arrival in Gotham.

The grounds alleged are statutory. It is understood that she asks a property settlement from her husband of $250,000 on behalf of herself and 3-year-old child.

NEW INSURANCE COMPANY

Offers Special Inducements to Those Who Abstain From Liquor

Austin, Tex., July 8.—The National Temperance Life Insurance company has secured its permit while the temperance campaign is on. The capital stock is $100,000, and the surplus $100,000. The principal office is at Dallas.

It is to be a legal reserve company and will write preferred class at sightly lower rates. The preferred class will be total abstainers. Among the incorporators are ex-Governor Campbell and other prominent Texans.

Kaiser Arrives In Norway

Christiana, July 8.—The kaiser has arrived at Stavanger. The imperial yacht Hohenzollern was escorted by two cruisers and torpedo boats.

ALABAMA ROW SETTLED

Leaders of the Warring Republican Factions Will Resign

Washington, July 8.—After a conference in which President Taft, Postmaster General Hitchcock, Secretary Hilles and members of the two warring factions of Alabama Republicans participated, it became known that Republican Chairman Thompson, leader of one faction, and Republican National Committeeman Barker both will resign.

Their successors are to be elected at the Republican state convention on Aug. 31, and it is understood that whatever faction wins in that convention will be recognized in the dispensing of patronage from Washington.

It was over this controversy that a rupture had been predicted between Hitchcock and Hilles. Both Hitchcock and Hilles denied, however, that there was any friction between them.

LOOT IS RECOVERED

Pacific Mail Line Agent Heads Attack on Chinese Pirates

Tokio, July 8.—The story of a successful battle with the pirates who looted the wreck of the Pacific Mail liner Asia near the Taichow islands and the recovery of much stolen silk has reached here.

The agent of the Pacific Mail line was given the use of a small Chinese warship and a complement of soldiers. When the gunboat approached the retreat of the looters the pirates put out and began an attack.

A volley from the soldiers killed several of the pirates and the battle soon ended with the flight of the pirates. They were pursued and their retreats uncovered. Much of the stolen silk and electrical equipment taken from the Asia was recovered.

ELUDES VIGILANCE OF ALL THE NATIONS

Castro Found to Have Again Landed on Venezuelan Soil

Washington, July 8.—Cipriano Castro, the exiled president of Venezuela, has eluded the vigilance of the nations of the world and has landed in his native country at Catilletas, on Goajira peninsula, according to a report to the state department from Caracas, confirming a rumor from there.

The Venezuelan government is making strenuous efforts to cope with the situation and frustrate any revolutionary designs of the former president. General Hello, a friend of Castro, has been arrested at Maracaibo, and others of his followers are said to have been imprisoned. His family is reported to be at Cucuta.

It is supposed that the elusive Venevuelan reached Catilletas in a launch from Santa Marta, Colombia, where he arrived from Colon. It is not known how he reached Colon.

DICTATOR DRIVEN OUT

Jara Continued President of Paraguay Only Since January

Buenos Ayres, July 8.—The local newspapers report another bloodless revolution in Paraguay. The garrison at Asuncion revolted and made a prisoner of President Jara, who forthwith resigned. Congress then selected Liberato Rojas, president of the senate, for provisional president, pending new elections.

Colonel Alberto Jara was minister of war up to last January, when he forced President Gondra and Vice President Gaena, elected in September, 1910, to resign, and assumed the presidency himself. Since that time Paraguay has been in a constant state of turmoil and disorder.

GORED BY MAD BULL

Farm Hand Succumbs to Repeated Thrusts From Animal's Horns

Dover, N. H., July 8.—Gored by a maddened bull owned by Damon Guptill, Horace Luce, a farm hand, died in a local hospital last night. Guptill had an encounter with the animal two days ago and was seriously injured. The bull, which until lately had been very gentle, was shot last night by City Marshal Adams.

Luce had led the bull down to a brook on the farm late yesterday for a drink when the animal turned upon him, knocked him down and sank his horns into his body again and again. Luce managed to crawl through a nearby fence. He died a short time after he was taken to the hospital.

Senate Passes Deficiency Bill

Washington, July 8.—The deficiency appropriation bill, carrying $213,031 for necessary expenses of congress and the government departments, passed the senate. As the bill passed the house it carried only $31,650. The senate added $181,381. The measure now goes to conference.

The Weather

Almanac, Sunday, July 9.
Sun rises—4:34; sets—7:29.
Moon sets—3:14 a. m.
High water—10:15 a. m.; 10:15 p. m.
Forecast for New England: Increasing cloudiness; moderate temperature; light variable winds.

LLOYD'S
EYEGLASSES AND SPECTACLES
KRYPTOK BIFOCAL GLASSES
Far and Near Glasses in a Single Pair.
Two piece bifocals will cloud, spot. make rainbows, chip, and come apart. KRYPTOKS will not.
At any of our stores.
315 Washington St.
310 Boylston St. } BOSTON
75 Summer St.
1252 Massachusetts Ave. CAMBRIDGE.
ANDREW J. LLOYD CO.

WHEELER'S
The Store for Ladies' Furnishings
We will continue our Sale of Shirt Waists and Long Gloves
See what we offer in Shirt Waists for 79c and 98c
and Long Gloves for 50c and 75c
We are also showing a new line of Children's Parasols, all colors, for 25c and 29c
WE GIVE CASH DISCOUNT SLIPS
City Square G. W. WHEELER Quincy

WE ARE NOT THE
LOWEST PRICED
STORE IN QUINCY BUT WE POSITIVELY ARE THE
LOWEST PRICED STORE
IN MASS., CONSIDERING THE QUALITY OF MEATS WE SELL
HIGHEST QUALITY, LOW PRICES OUR STANDARD
RESPECTFULLY,
JOHNSON BROS.
June 16-tf

They Go Hand-in-Hand
COMFORT AND COOKING
In your household when you've a Gas Range in your kitchen, besides your fuel bill will be reduced and your home is not overheated.
That cooking is a comfort in the hottest weather we're demonstrating every day.

Come in and see and you'll cook in comfort
CITIZENS' GAS LIGHT CO.
11 Granite St., Quincy

YOUR VACATION
WON'T BE COMPLETE
UNLESS YOU LEAVE
AN ORDER FOR THE
QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
TO BE FORWARDED TO YOU
NEWS FROM HOME EVERY DAY
FOR ONLY TWO CENTS

HIDDEN DANGERS

Nature Gives Timely Warnings That No Quincy Citizen Can Afford to Ignore.

DANGER SIGNAL NO. 1 comes from the kidney secretions. They will warn you when the kidneys are sick. Well kidneys excrete a clear, amber fluid. Sick kidneys send out a thin, pale and foamy, or a thick, red, ill-smelling urine, full of sediment and irregular of passage.

DANGER SIGNAL NO. 2 comes from the back. Back pains, dull and heavy, or sharp and acute, tell you of sick kidneys and warn you of the coming of dropsy, diabetes and Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys and cure them permanently. Here's Quincy proof:

H. A. Vinton, 1266 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills completely cured me of kidney trouble which had been in my system for at least ten years. I had pains in my back and loins and I believed my trouble to be rheumatism. I consulted a doctor and tried many remedies but found only temporary relief. Being advised to take Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a box and began their use. They quickly drove away the pains in my back and my health is better today than it has been for a long time."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Administratrix Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administratrix of the estate of Jacob Waisanen late of Quincy in the County of Norfolk, deceased, intestate, and has taken upon herself that trust by giving bond as the law directs.

All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to

(Address)
MIMMI WAISANEN,
Adm.

June 16, 1911.
July 1-3t 1, 8, 15

WHY OWN
WEBSTER'S NEW INTERNATIONAL DICTIONARY
THE MERRIAM WEBSTER?
Because it is a NEW CREATION, covering every field of the world's thought, action and culture. The only new unabridged dictionary in many years.
Because it defines over 400,000 Words; more than ever before appeared between two covers. 2700 Pages. 6000 Illustrations.
Because it is the only dictionary with the new divided page. A "Stroke of Genius."
Because it is an encyclopedia in a single volume.
Because it is accepted by the Courts, Schools and Press as the one supreme authority.
Because he who knows Wins Success. Let us tell you about this new work.
WRITE for specimen of new divided page.
G. & C. MERRIAM CO., Publishers, Springfield, Mass.
Mention this paper, receive FREE a set of pocket maps.

HOUSEKEEPERS
TELL YOUR TROUBLES
HOLMES & HALL
We make a business of repairing the things about the house that get out of order such as DOORS, LOCKS, SHADES, BELLS and FURNITURE.
96 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 974 L

PATENTS
TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 25 years experience. Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.
READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.
D. SWIFT & CO.
PATENT LAWYERS,
303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

MAKE YOUR PURCHASES FROM LEDGER ADVERTISERS. BE SURE TO READ THE ADVERTISEMENTS IN TODAY'S LEDGER.

THE DANGER TRAIL

By JAMES OLIVER CURWOOD

Copyright, 1910, by Bobbs-Merrill Company.

SYNOPSIS

Jack Howland, engineer, sent to build the Hudson Bay railroad, is appealed to for help by a beautiful girl who writes that she is a mute and invites him to accompany her. They are followed by Jean Croisset, half breed.

They go to her camp. He is attacked and nearly killed by a huge stranger. The girl disappears. Howland hears her speak. Croisset gives him the little Meleese's warning not to go north. He goes.

(Continued from last issue)

CHAPTER IV.

HOWLAND'S MIDNIGHT VISITOR.

HOWLAND did. When they went out to the sledge after their breakfast he gave Jackpine a hearty grip of the hand and the Cree's dark face lighted up with something like pleasure when he saw the enthusiasm in the young engineer's eyes. When the moment for parting came Gregson pulled his companion a little to one side. His eyes shifted nervously and Howland saw that he was making a strong effort to assume an indifference which was not at all Gregson's natural self.

"Just a word, Howland," he said. "You know this is a pretty rough country up here—some tough people in it, who wouldn't mind cutting a man's throat or sending a bullet through him for a good team of dogs and a rifle. I'm just telling you this so you'll be on your guard. Have Jackpine watch your camp nights."

He spoke in a low voice and cut himself short when the Indian approached. Howland seated himself in the middle of the six foot toboggan, waved his hand to Gregson, then with a wild halloo and a snapping of his long caribou gut whip Jackpine started his dogs on a trot down the street, running close beside the sledge.

Howland was tired when night came. He helped to build their balsam shelter for the night, ate a huge supper of moose meat, hot stone biscuits, beans and coffee, and then, just as he had stretched himself out in his furs for the night, he remembered Gregson's warning. He sat up and called to Jackpine, who was putting a fresh log on the big fire in front of the shelter.

"Gregson told me to be sure and have the camp guarded at night, Jackpine. What do you think about it?"

"Gregson—heem ver' much 'fraid," he replied. "No bad man here—all down there and in camp. We kep' watch evr' night. Heem 'fraid—I guess so, mebby."

"Afraid of what?"

Jackpine held out his left hand, with the little finger doubled out of sight, and pointed to it with his other hand.

"Mebby heem finger ax'dent—mebby not," he said.

A dozen eager questions brought no further suggestions from Jackpine. In fact, no sooner had the words fallen from the driver's lips than Howland saw that the Indian was sorry he had spoken then. What he had said strengthened the conviction which was slowly growing within him. He had wondered at Gregson's strange demeanor, his evident anxiety to get out of the country, and lastly at his desire not to return to the camp on the Wekusko with him. There was but one solution that came to him. In some way which he could not fathom Gregson was associated with the mystery which enveloped him, and adding the senior engineer's nervousness to the significance of Jackpine's words he was confident that the missing finger had become a factor in the enigma. How should he find Thorne? Surely he would give him an explanation—if there was any explanation to give. Or was it possible that they would leave him without warning to face a situation which was driving them back to civilization?

He went to sleep, giving no further thought to the guarding of the camp. A piping hot breakfast was ready when Jackpine awakened him, and once more the exhilarating excitement of their swift race through the forests relieved him of the uncomfortable mental tension under which he began to find himself. During the whole of the day Jackpine urged the dogs almost to the limit of their endurance and early in the afternoon assured his companion that they would reach the Wekusko by nightfall. It was already dark when they came out of the forest into a broad stretch of cutting, beyond which Howland caught the glimmer of scattered lights. At the farther edge of the clearing the Cree brought his dogs to a halt close to a large log built cabin half sheltered among the trees. It was situated several hundred yards from the nearest of the lights ahead, and the unbroken snow about it showed that it had not been used as a habitation for some time. Jackpine drew a key from his pocket and without a word unlocked and swung open the heavy door.

Damp, cold air swept into the faces of the two as they stood for a moment peering into the gloom. Howland could hear the Cree chuckling in his inimitable way as he struck a match, and as a big hanging oil lamp flared slowly into light he turned a grinning face to the engineer.

"Gregson um Thorne—heem mak' thees cabin when first kam to camp," he said softly. "No be near much noise—fine place in woods where be quiet nights. Live here time, then Gregson um Thorne go live in camp. Say too far 'way from man. But that not so. Thorne 'fraid; Gregson 'fraid."

He hunched his shoulders again as he opened the door of the big box stove which stood in the room.

Howland asked no questions, but stared about him. Everywhere he saw evidences of the taste and one time tenancies of the two senior engineers.

"Afraid, eh? And am I to stay here?"

"Gregson um Thorne say yes."

"Well, Jackpine, you just hustle over to the camp and tell Thorne I'm here, will you?"

For a moment the Indian hesitated, then went out and closed the door after him.

Howland lighted a small lamp and opened the door leading into the other room. It was, as he had surmised, the sleeping chamber. The bed, a single chair and a mirror and stand were its sole furnishing.

Returning to the larger room, he threw off his coat and hat and seated himself comfortably before the fire. Ten minutes later the door opened again and Jackpine entered. He was supporting another figure by the arm, and as Howland stared into the bloodless face of the man who came with him he could not repress the exclamation of astonishment which rose to his lips. Three months before he had last seen Thorne in Chicago, a man in the prime of life, powerfully built, as straight as a tree, the most efficient and highest paid man in the company's employ. How often had he envied Thorne! For years he had been his ideal of a great engineer. And now—

He stood speechless. Slowly, as if the movement gave him pain, Thorne slipped off the great fur coat from about his shoulders. One of his arms was suspended in a sling. His huge shoulders were bent, his eyes wild and haggard. The smile that came to his lips as he held out a hand to Howland gave to his death white face an appearance even more ghastly.

"WHAT'S THE MATTER, MAN? DO I LOOK LIKE A GHOST?"

"Hello, Jack!" he greeted. "What's the matter, man? Do I look like a ghost?"

"What is the matter, Thorne? I found Gregson half dying at Le Pas, and now you"—

"It's a wonder you're not reading my name on a little board slab instead of seeing yours truly in flesh and blood, Jack," laughed Thorne nervously. "A ton of rock, man—a ton of rock, and I was under it!"

Over Thorne's shoulder the young engineer caught a glimpse of the Cree's face. A dark flash had shot into his eyes. His teeth gleamed for an instant between his tense lips in something that might have been a sneer.

Thorne sat down, rubbing his hands before the fire.

"We've been unfortunate, Jack," he said slowly. "Gregson and I have had the worst kind of luck since the day we struck this camp, and we're no longer fit for the job. It will take us six months to get on our feet again. You'll find everything here in good condition. The line is blazed straight to the bay. We've got 300 good men, plenty of supplies, and so far as I know you'll not find a disaffected hand on the Wekusko. Probably Gregson and I will take hold of the Le Pas end of the line in the spring. It's certainly up to you to build the roadway to the bay."

"I'm sorry things have gone badly," replied Howland. He leaned forward until his face was close to his companion's. "Thorne, is there a man up here named Croisset or a girl called Meleese?"

He watched the senior engineer closely. Nothing to confirm his suspicions came into Thorne's face. Thorne looked up, a little surprised at the tone of the other's voice.

"Not that I know of, Jack. Anything particular?"

"Just a word I've got for them—if they're here," replied Howland carelessly. "Are these my quarters?"

"If you like them. When I got hurt we moved up among the men. Brought us into closer touch with the working end, you know."

"You and Gregson must have been laid up about the same time," said the young engineer. "That was a painful wound of Gregson's. I wonder who the deuce it was who shot him? Funny that a man like Gregson should have an enemy!"

Thorne sat up with a jerk. There came the rattle of a pan from the stove, and Howland turned his head in time to see Jackpine staring at him as though he had exploded a mine under his feet.

"Who shot him?" gasped the senior engineer. "Why—er—didn't Gregson tell you that it was an accident?"

"Why should he lie, Thorne?"

A faint flush swept into the other's pallid face. For a moment there was a penetrating glare in his eyes as he looked at Howland. Jackpine still stood silent and motionless beside the stove.

"He told me that it was an accident," said Thorne at last.

"Funny," was all that Howland said.

For the first time Howland noticed that the thin muslin curtain, which he thought had screened a window, concealed, in place of a window, a carefully fitted barricade of plank. A sudden thrill shot through him as he rose to examine it. With his back toward Thorne he said, half laughing, "Perhaps Gregson was afraid that the fellow who clipped off his finger would get him through the window, eh?"

It was 10 o'clock when Thorne and Jackpine left the cabin. No sooner had they gone than Howland closed and barred the door, lighted another cigar and began pacing rapidly up and down the room. Already there were developments. Gregson had lied to him about his finger. Thorne had lied to him about his own injuries, whatever they were. He was certain of these two things—and of more. The two senior engineers were not leaving the Wekusko because of mere dissatisfaction with the work and country. They were fleeing. And for some reason they were keeping from him the real motive for their flight. Was it possible that they were deliberately sacrificing him in order to save themselves? He could not bring himself to believe this, notwithstanding the evidence against them. Both were men of irreproachable honor.

He was tired from his long day's travel, but little inclination to sleep came to him, and, stretching himself out on the lounge with his head and shoulders bolstered up with furs, he continued to smoke and think. He was surprised when a little clock tinkled the hour of eleven. He had not seen the clock before. He was almost asleep when it struck again—softly and yet with sufficient loudness to arouse him. It had struck twelve.

With an effort Howland overcame his drowsiness and dragged himself to a sitting posture, knowing that he should undress and go to bed. The lamp was still burning brightly, and he arose to turn down the wick. Suddenly he stopped. To his dulled senses there came distinctly the sound of a knock at the door. For a few moments he waited, silent and motionless. It came again, louder than before.

Who could be his midnight visitor? Softly Howland went back to his heavy coat and slipped his small revolver into his hip pocket. The knock came again. Then he walked to the door, shot back the bolt and, with his right hand gripping the butt of his pistol, flung it wide open.

For a moment he stood transfixed, staring speechlessly at a white, startled face lighted up by the glow of the oil lamp. Bewildered to the point of numbness, he backed slowly, holding the door open, and there entered the one person in all the world whom he wished most to see—she who had become so strangely a part of his life since that first night at Prince Albert and whose sweet face was holding a deeper meaning for him with every hour that he lived. He closed the door and turned, still without speaking; and, impelled by a sudden spirit that sent the blood thrilling through his veins, he held out both hands to the girl for whom he now knew that he was willing to face all the perils that might await him between civilization and the bay.

(To be Continued.)

FORCE THREATENED BY THE GOVERNOR

Reports of Gambling Lead to Row In Rhode Island

Cranston, R. I., July 8.—Persistent reports that gambling flourishes in Rhode Island and particularly in this city, led Governor Pothier to address a communication to Mayor Sullivan, calling upon Sullivan to investigate the reports and if found true to take steps to close such resorts at once.

"If you are not ready to comply," wrote the governor, "I shall act myself and use the machinery I command and such information as I have to wipe out any such places."

In his reply to the governor Sullivan remarks: "Permit me to say that I do not recognize the necessity or propriety of challenging these reports to which your excellency refers, in so far as they concern the administration of the city government of Cranston, which does not protect or tolerate gambling resorts or gambling in any manner or form, otherwise than by the prosecution of those circulating such reports."

The outcome of the controversy is being awaited with interest.

—Forty-nine automobiles, valued at more than $125,000, have been stolen in Chicago since June 1, according to the police records. Under the new law, all automobile thefts will be classed as felonies, with penitentiary sentences as punishment. This is expected to have a tendency to decrease the thefts.

A BOSTON GIRL'S BUDGET.

"Conquer the Weather" is a Scientist's Slogan—Mere Man Now Knows What to Wear—Frederick Rice, Jr., Describes the "University of the Fenway"— Witter Bynner Works Suffrage Lecture into Phi Beta Kappa Poem.

"Conquer the weather instead of cursing it," explained a young Tech man after listening to some complaint's of discomfort during July's terrible heat wave. "Science has about reached the point, if the public would furnish the means, where artificial refrigeration of houses might be as common and, considering the benefits derived, as economical as piping for gas or wiring for electric light. If half the money that is annually wasted in Boston on the most trivial and worthless kinds of amusement could be applied to this problem of making the house habitable in all climatic conditions, the saving of human energy and life would be incalculable." Such a sentiment seemed to the Boston girl to contain an important prediction; but, alas, we are so slow in becoming civilized.

Mere man now knows what he is expected to wear for the next year or two. The National Clothing Designers' Association during its convention in Boston last week decided that man's clothing shall conform rigidly to "naturalness" and "standardization," therefore no more padded shoulders, the flaring hip and elongated coat, no more the four-button coat sleeve and a cuff. Blue is to be the color—"blueberry blue" which is at least more euphonious than "Helen pink"—and the shades in brown, verging to green, with stripes and quiet plaids. The Harvard student may still wear a two-inch cuff on his trousers, but the belt to match his suit must be laid away. There will doubtless be some changes in shoulder widths which will be quite as startling as the perambuating waist line of the feminine form.

Describing the nation's greatest "great white way of melody, medicine and the manual arts" Frederick Rice, Jr., a writer for a weekly publication tells, under the caption of "Boston of the Music Students," how "in a single section of the city colleges, schools, hospitals, museums, libraries and musical auditoria representing permanent investments of more than fifty million dollars have either been built, are building or will shortly be built." This means, of course, in the great Fenway district where so wonderful an educational plant is being created. Besides indicating in detail what extraordinary building operations are now under way in the neighborhood of the Opera House Mr. Rice gives the following description of the formation of the present music centre:

"The trek to the Fenway is something recent. The earliest of the 'big schools to move to this uptown quarter, which to an earlier generation of Bostonians seemed out of town, was the New England Conservatory of Music, long housed in a brownstone building in Franklin Square at the South End. Nine years only have passed since the vans containing the movables of the oldest and most famous of American music schools stopped in front of the capacious and well equipped structure on Huntington avenue at the point where it turns to run parallel with the Fenway. Music education is important in Boston, where there are said to be 10,000 or more music students. The removal of the historic Conservatory, which Dr. Eben Tourjee founded in 1853, to a site just beyond that already occupied by Symphony hall, the scene of the Boston Symphony Orchestra's concerts, meant the establishment of a definite musical quarter in the New England city. Three dormitories for Conservatory students were built on a side street overlooking the Fenway. Music studios began to appear in nearby business buildings and private residences. In less than a decade the New England conservatory has outgrown its accommodations, the number of students having increased from about 1800 to nearly 3,000. Boston now draws prospective professional musicians from every American state and many foreign countries. And, just as the music school was the earliest to settle in the Fenway neighborhood, it was the first to announce an expansion. This spring the Conservatory has been given an adjacent lot of land by Eben D. Jordan, the Boston millionaire, for some years past a leading benefactor of the school and now the chief supporter of the Boston Opera Company. An addition is thus made possible to the present building, already the world's largest and best equipped conservatory of music. Either more dormitories for music students or enlargement of the present dormitories is also reported to be under consideration, as part of a general campaign to induce well to do Americans to appreciate the needs of musical education."

Pulling off a woman suffrage argument before the assembled solons and high brows of Harvard's Phi Beta Kappa was Witter Bynner's stunt at this year's scholarly powwow in Sanders' Theatre. Young Mr. Bynner, of a recent Harvard class, is some poet, as everybody knows who has read his "Ode to Harvard," written a few years back, just for the fun of the thing, as he has since confessed. The Ode has continued to ring at Harvard gatherings and its fame, together with that of other odes and lyrics by the same rhymester, led to his being chosen Phit Beta Kappa poet for 1911, an honor that comes only when a literary man is believed by his contemporaries to have arrived. Certainly any "antis" present must have been filled with consternation as, in the course of his poem on "Democracy" Mr. Bynner reached these stirring and impressive lines:

"Though Woman has but lately understood
The burden of democracy,
The daily irony of strife
In which her saving sense is overdue,
She watches now and grow aware—
Holding a child more dear than property—
That the many perish to empower the few,—
That homeless politics have split apart
The common country of the human heart.
We have been too long reluctant to equip
With opportunity
Her waking will to strip
From us accustomed profit and corrupt increase,
Gifts of a war that masquerades as peace.
We have been in awe
Too long of garments and of beds
We are in need
Not merely of the lips that kiss and hands that feed,
But of the hearts that heed,
And of the minds that speed
Like rain.
The woman we have loved as mother or as wife,
We need her counsel early and again
No more in Colorado than in Maine,
And not her counsel only, but her law
The very life of life
These changes make democracy.
And, like a whisper from the shore
Which we are ever nearer than before,
The citizen in whom I most have seen
The old and new unite to teach
The final common let,
Is a woman, mystical, serene."

Ethel Angier.

Children Cry for Fletcher's
CASTORIA
The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.
What is CASTORIA
Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is Pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. It destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. It cures Diarrhoea and Wind Colic. It relieves Teething Troubles, cures Constipation and Flatulency. It assimilates the Food, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.
GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS
Bears the Signature of
Chas. H. Fletcher.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
In Use For Over 30 Years
THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

MAKE YOUR DOLLAR GO FAR

was George Washington's theory when he threw a dollar away across the Potomac River. When you want your dollars to go a long way without giving you trouble invest them in a Hartford bicycle and then ride it any distance that you desire and they will go a long way without giving you any trouble when it is a Hartford wheel from Nelson's on Granite street.

SUNDRIES and REPAIRING
HUB CYCLE CO.
Thomas Nelson, 20 Granite Street, QUINCY
Agency for Hartford and Columbia Bicycles
May 15-2m

BAREFOOT SANDALS
The best thing for the children to wear during the warm weather. They are light and comfortable and give good satisfaction.
CHILDS 5 to 8 45c
MISSES 8 to 11 50c
HEFFERNAN'S SHOE STORE
1375 Hancock Street, Quincy

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, Lucas County, ss.
Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure. FRANK J. CHENEY.
Sworn to before me, and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.
A. W. GLEASON,
(Seal) Notary Public.
Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.
F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by all Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

CHICHESTER S PILLS
THE DIAMOND BRAND.
Ladies! Ask your Druggist for Chi-ches-ter's Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with Blue Ribbon.
Take no other. Buy of your Druggist. Ask for CHI-CHES-TER S DIAMOND BRAND PILLS, for 25 years known as Best, Safest, Always Reliable
SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

R. E. FOY & CO.

Be Careful What You Eat

PARTICULARLY this hot weather—as poor and impure foods in the warm season very quickly result in a seige of sickness. The safest plan is to have FOY'S Pure Food Mart supply all your food wants. You can order by 'phone just as well as in person—and we'll always assure you of the highest satisfaction—and too, guarantee to save you considerably.

Cool Suggestions for Hot Days

QUALITY STORE

Hatchet Brand SHRIMP 2 cans 25c

Japanese CRAB MEAT 35c can

Flag Brand SALMON 18c can

R. & R. CHICKEN 30c can

SALADS

Slade's SALAD CREAM 10c 18c

Durkee's SALAD CREAM 25c

Howard's MAYONNAISE 25c

French's Mustard Salad 10c

QUALITY STORE

COOKED MEATS

Premium Cooked Ham Squires' Cooked
Machine sliced, lb. 35c Corn Beef, lb. 22c

Luncheon Tongue, lb. 30c German Bologna, lb. 15c

CONDENSED MILK

WILL KEEP FOREVER — Borden Peerless. 3 cans 25c — Van Camp's, can 10c

FRESH MILK WILL SOUR — Clover Hill, 6 cans 25c — Hires' Milk, can 10c

R. E. FOY & CO.

Phones 117 and 153

BETTER Put in Your Winter's Supply

Direct from the mines to our yard comes the coal we have for sale—coal that's famous the country over for its free burning qualities, its low percentage of ash, its freedom from impurities.

It's "full value" fuel, and our method of taking and filling orders ensures satisfaction. Orders placed now save money for buyers.

TAKE A LOOK IN YOUR BIN then act.

SPECIAL RANGE COAL

Stove or Nut

$7.25 Cash

C. PATCH & SON, INC.

Office, 1422 Hancock Street, Quincy

Advertise in The Ledger

Quincy Daily Ledger

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	90 degrees
July 8, 1910,	86 degrees
July 8, 1909,	87 degrees
July Noon Maximum, 14 years,	101
July Noon Minimum, 14 years.	60

BRIEFS

Cards have been received from Geo. McDonald who is at Camp Quincy in Rindge, N. H. saying that he is having "a swell time."

The predicted hot wave is arriving all right. At noon when the Ledger went to press the temperature had climbed above the 90 degree mark.

On Monday evening there will be a big social meeting with addresses by all the pastors ofthe Boston district and the former pastors of the church.

Henry Cunningham who was to have been umpire at the game of the Fat Men vs. Lean Men has been ill for a few days and his place was filled by Benjamin Priest.

The sandboxes at the Ward One playground will be filled on Monday. The playground has already proved that it is very much appreciated for on Friday there were 120 children and a number of mothers on the grounds.

The Massachusetts Retail Grocers' and Provision Dealers' Association is to have an outing on Wednesday, July 26. Members of the association and friends will take the excursion from Boston to Plymouth on the steamer Betty Alden.

Rev. Charles Paulson of New York will preach tomorrow at the Swedish Methodist church at the 10.30 A. M. service. At 3.30 there will be a mass meeting with addresses by former pastors and pastors of neighboring churches.

Some handsome pictures of the Quincy prize winners in the Borden's baby contest are on exhibition in Kincaide's window. The babies are Mina Baylerian, Norman Shulz, Everett Warren Hayden and Ethel Dyer Hayden and Mary Kane.

A meeting was held Friday night of the Ward 6 Fourth of July organization to settle financial matters and to agree upon a time to present prizes. There has been some talk of turning the Fourth of July committee into an improvement organization, and to incorporate the same. A vote of thanks was passed to Chief Williams for his courtesy in allowing the old Granite hand tub to be used in the parade. Thanks are also extended to the owners of houses for the pretty and original decorations which were displayed, which added greatly to the festivities of the day.

There will be a special service at the Swedish Methodist church, Fort street, Sunday afternoon at 3.30 to which all will be welcomed. Former pastors ofthe church, pastors of neighboring Swedish churches and Rev. A. M. Thompson, pastor of the United Presbyterian church will speak. At 10.30 in the morning, Rev. Charles Paulson, the beloved pastor ofthe church in the early 90's will deliver the sermon and in the evening Rev. H. Hanson, second pastor of the church will preach. A Communion will be held at 7 o'clock just before the preaching service.

OVERCOME BY HEAT.

Mrs. Charles Hebert of 23 Summer street was overcome by the heat Friday and was removed to the City Hospital.

DEATHS

DONOVAN—In Quincy, July 7, Ellen Donovan aged 71 years.
Funeral from residence of her daughter Mrs. William Thompson, 47 Main street, Sunday July 9 at 2.15 P. M. Services at St. John's church at 3 P. M. Relatives and friends invited. 1t

CURTIS—In Quincy, July 8 Miss Susannah Curtis in her 77th year.
Funeral services at late home 92 Franklin street, Monday July 10 at 3 P. M. Relatives and friends invited. July 8-1t

PACKARD—In Brockton, Mass., July 7, John A. Packard, formerly of Quincy, in his 76th year.
Funeral service at late home 454 Warren avenue, Sunday July 9th at 2 P. M. Relatives and friends invited. Interment at Mt. Wollaston cemetery, Quincy, Monday July 10.

GARRELL—In Boston, —uly 7, Mrs. Joanna widow of Mr. Samuel Garrell aged 59 years.

BROWN—In North Weymouth, July 6, Mrs. Lydia B., widow of Mr. John F. Brown aged 80 years 5 months and 15 days.

NORTON—In Braintree, July 2, Alberta, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Norton.

Established 1870 Telephone
JOHN HALL
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
Carriage and Ambulance Service
1485 Hancock Street, Quincy Mass.

LIVE SPORTING EVENTS

ON THE DIAMOND

American League

At St. Louis:	R	H	E
Boston	6	12	1
St. Louis	1	1	1

Batteries—Wood, Nunamaker and Williams; Mitchell and Kritchell.

At Cleveland:	R	H	E
Philadelphia	7	10	1
Cleveland	1	6	7

Batteries—Coombs and Lapp; Mitchell and Fisher.

At Detroit:	R	H	E
Detroit	6	8	1
Washington	3	10	2

Batteries—Lafitte and Stanage; Gray and Henry.

At Chicago:	R	H	E
Chicago	5	9	2
New York	3	6	0

Batteries—Walsh and Sullivan; Caldwell and Sweeney.

National League

At Boston:	R	H	E
Boston	5	9	1
Cincinnati	4	9	4

Batteries—Purdue and Rariden; Suggs and Severoid.

New York:	R	H	E
New York	5	9	0
Chicago	0	5	3

Batteries—Ames and Wilson; Reulbach, Richter, Graham and Archer.

At Philadelphia:	R	H	E
St. Louis	9	12	0
Philadelphia	4	9	5

Batteries—Harmon and Bresnahan; Chalmers and Dooin.

At Brooklyn:	R	H	E
Brooklyn	7	13	2
Pittsburg	6	8	4

Batteries—Scanlon, Knetzer and Bergen; Steele, Hendrix, Ferry, Simon and Gibson.

New England League

At Fall River:	R	H	E
Fall River	2	9	3
Lowell	1	4	3

Batteries—Jensen and Haight; Maybohm and Lavigne.

At Lynn:	R	H	E
Brockton	7	9	1
Lynn	4	4	4

Batteries—Gaw and Wadleigh; Case and Daum.

At Lawrence:	R	H	E
Lawrence	5	10	5
Worcester	4	6	3

Batteries—O'Brien and Breymaier; Hale, McInerny and O'Neil.

At New Bedford:	R	H	E
New Bedford	7	10	5
Haverhill	6	9	2

Batteries—Pruitt and Wheeler; Wood, Ferris and Spragg.

FINALS POSTPONED.

The final match in the open doubles of the Quincy Tennis club has been postponed until next Saturday, July 15, on account of the Oakley tournament. Rookwell and Carleton will meet Conant and Tunis next Saturday afternoon and on the Saturday following the winners will play Barker and Hillman for the challenge cup. Mrs. Joseph S. Evans will be the hostess this afternoon at the clubhouse.

NOTES OF THE BIRDMEN.

Charles C. Witmer, the Curtis aviator who fell in his aeroplane at Pittsfield on the afternoon of July 4th has a fracture of the bones above the bridge of the nose which is considered most serious. If infection sets in it is feared the result will be fatal.

Four aviators, Bruno Burchner, Volimueller, Lartsch and Noells, completed the most difficult stage of the German circuit flight by crossing the Harz mountains, a distance of 50 miles. The first three carried passengers. The highest point of the mountain system passed is 3800 feet, but the elevation was a minor peril, the greatest danger being from the irregular winds.

Richter, the aviator, while attempting a flight at Hanlan's Point, Toronto, Friday afternoon fell with his machine into the bleachers of the baseball field. He sustained serious injuries, including broken leg bones and a badly marked face. His machine was totally wrecked.

Paris, July 7--Lieut. Conneau, whose racing name in Andre Beaumont, won the 1000 mile international circuit aviation race which ended at the aviation field at Vincennes today.

As he had already won the Paris to Rome contest, Conneau brings added glory to the French navy of which he is an officer. Garros was second and Vidart finished third.

He thus wins the $40,000 prize offered by Le Journal for the best time throughout the race, as well as $4000 on the Calais Vincennes stage.

BRADY IS SECOND.

Brookline, July 7.—Donald J. Ross, winner of the first Massachusetts open golf championship held six years ago today at the Country club, won the state title again today, leading Michael J. Brady, the local professional, by two strokes.

Ross' card for the 72 holes was 309.

Alex. Ross, his brother, and five times winner of the state championship, was third with 312, and two strokes back of him was Tom McNamara, runner-up in the western championship.

Brady was the winner of the special prize offered forthe best round of 36 holes made today.

prize offered for the best round of 36 open championship was the star performer of the final 36 holes of play with a card of 151, and if it were not forthe fact of his having missed three short putts the state title would have gone out of the Ross family for the first time in the history of these meetings.

PRES. LYNCH SUSTAINED.

NEW YORK,—The protested Chicago-Pittsburg National league game of the morning of May 30 will have to be played over. Announcement to this effect was made at National league headquarters tonight.

Chicago protested the game and President Lynch sustained the protest and ordered the game played over. Pittsburg appealed to the directors of the league and tonight it was announced the board has sustained the decision of President Lynch.

The game will be played off in Pittsburg on a date to be arranged later.

HOT GAME EXPECTED.

A good game may be expected this afternoon when the Clapp Memorial team will cross bats with the Norfolk club of South Weymouth. Both of these teams are playing fine ball at present and "something doing" may be expected today.

SATURDAY'S SPORTS.

Baseball: Makaria vs. Plymouth Cordage at Plymouth.

Manets vs. South Quincy at Ward Three.

Atlantic vs. North Woburn at Ward Six.

Glover A. C. vs. Roxbury A. A. at Roxbury.

Crescents vs. St. Pauls at Dorchester.

Golf: State Tournament at Wollaston Golf club.

Yachting: Club Race at Quincy Yacht club.

Social Realm

(Continued from Page Three.)

The George G. Roberts of Winthrop avenue returned Friday from a week's cruise along the North shore in their new 40-foot motor boat the "M. L. R." Over the Fourth they entertained the Francis F. O'Reillys of Brook street who met the boat at Marblehead.

• • •

The many freinds of William C. Moffat of Chestnut street, Atlantic, are pleased to learn of his engagement to Miss Alice Day of Sioux City, Iowa. Mr. Moffat whose business is in Chicago came home for a few days over the Fourth and has received hosts of congratulations. Miss Day has been a pupil at the Quincy Mansion school and made her home in Wollaston Park while studying music at the Conservatory of Music, Boston.

• • •

Miss Margaret Stevenson has returned to Yonkers, New York, taking with her her cousin Miss Minnie Miller of Liberty street with whom she has been visiting for two weeks. They were accompanied by Mrs. John McLellan, who is going to visit friends in the Bronx.

• • •

Mrs. Henry P. Furnald and daughter Elizabeth left this week for Digby, Nova Scotia, to be away three weeks. They will be joined next week by Mr. Furnald who will spend a two weeks' vacation there.

MEMBER OF NOTED FAMILY DEAD.

Early this morning there passed away one of the last representatives of one of the oldest families in Quincy, Miss Susannah Curtis of 92 Franklin street. Miss Curtis has been a lifelong resident of Quincy as was her father grandfather and great grandfather before her. The house on Franklin street was built by her father and Miss Curtis was born there 76 years ago. She has always been an attendant at the Unitarian church but did not care much for the social life of the church being very domestic in her tastes. Her greatest interest was in the welfare of her friends and those with whom she came in contact and her charity and kindness was without bounds. He greatest pleasure came when she had a chance to help someone else who was in trouble and she was never known to say an unkind thing to anybody. When others were decrying an act or a trait in others she would always say: "Yes, but we don't know," and that was the end of it. During her last illness Miss Curtis was a great sufferer but she bore up bravely and was cheerful even in the face of death. She is survived by a sister, Miss Eliza A. Curtis and a brother Captain Frank Curtis.

The funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the home and Rev. C. B. Ames is expecting to come on here to officiate.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents. Three consecutive insertions 50 cents, 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.

No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

LOST

LOST—Evening of July 6, Wollas Beach, black cocker Spaniel, name "Prince." Finder please notify 4 Berlin street, Wollaston. July 8-1t

LOST—On 5.14 train from Boston Friday night a small ebony box containing money. Finder will be rewarded by notifying Mrs. M. Ledge Office. July 8-1t

LOST—July 4th in afternoon a nice gold filled half length watch chain between Bryantville and Quincy Adams or on a way from Quincy Adams t Nightingale avenue. Finder please return the same and receive reward Andrew Ovaska, 109 Nightingal avenue, Quincy, Mass. July 6-3t

LOST—Child's blue diagonal clot coat with brass butons, on evening o July 4 at Merrymount park. Return to 50 Quincy avenue, City. July 6-3t

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Cement wash-trays 2 by 44 with sink and stand. Mad seamless. For sale cheap if taken a once. Apply J. W. Reid, 79 Lincol avenue, Wollaston. July 8-3t

FOR SALE—$200 Reo runabout i fine order. Has top and folding rea seat, full equipment, extra tire, tube etc. Will demonstrate. Call or ad dress T. F. Merrill 556 Washingto street, Quincy Point. July 8-3t 8, 10, 12

FOR SALE—New house, 6 rooms bath, improvements 5.400 feet land Apply to Frank Leben, 76 Howard st East Braintree. July 3-6t O 8-2w

FOR SALE or TO LET—Before yo buy or rent, consult me. Houses fo sale or to rent in the finest residentia section in Quincy. All improvements Close to school, churches, stores an depot. C. A. ERICSON, Builder 11 Glendale Road. Tel. Quincy 586 M. W and Sat. May 22-tf

FOR SALE—A twelve passenger se going power boat. A 1 condition, horse power engine. Apply to janito Quincy Yacht club house, Hough Neck. July 6-6t

FOR SALE—An up-to-date grocery and provision store at a reasonabl price. Good reason for selling. Apply to J. A. Weeden 23 Cranch street Quincy July 3-6t

WANTED

MEN and WOMEN, sell guaranteed hose. 70 per cent profit. Make $10 daily. Full or part time. Beginners investigate. Wear Proof, 3038 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, Pa. July 8-9w W. and S.

WANTED—A first class carpenter, Steady work. Apply 87 Merrymount road, Quincy. July 8-tf

WANTED—Boy to tend store. Apply at 750 Washington street. July8-6t

TEAMSTERS—who have no return load from Boston can get a load of brick or lumber for Quincy by calling at Silver street near Dorchester avenue, South Boston. July 7-3t

WANTED—Girl to work in ice cream parlor. Apply to I. E. Nickerson, 6 Maple street. July 6-tf

WANTED—Clerk for groceries and provisions. Apply to J. P. Prout, Garfield street, Quincy. July 6-tf

WANTED—A girl for general house work. Apply to Mrs. C. F. Pettengill, 53 Revere road. July 5-tf

WANTED—Experienced girl for general housework. References required. Apply 118 Merrymount road. June 26 tf

HOUGHS NECK

The Houghs Neck post office has been unable to supply the want for stamps the past week.

George Leonard of Brockton has returned home after a visit here with relatives.

Miss Mildred Hanson of North Easton has returned home after spending the week at the Samoset.

Miss Virginia Hill who has been spending the past weeks at the Samoset has returned to her home in Worcester.

Mrs. Fred W. Wade who was overcome from the intense heat is resting comfortably.

The Thursday evening service at Union church was postponed on account of the severe storm.

Registered at The Midland are Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lavers of Somerville, Miss Emma Longdin, Stoughton, Florence Nelson, Brockton, Minnie and Jennie Lawson, Brockton.

Miss Jennie Reiley of Bay View avenue is ill.

TO LET

TO LET—Nice six room tenement. eautiful bath, veranda, set tubs. All improvements, Washington street. Inquire 141 Upland road, Quincy. July 8-1t

TO LET—Flat of 5 rooms and bath. Furnace, near Norfolk Downs Depot. Rent $16. H. O. Cassidy, 9 Edwin street, Atlantic. July 7-6t PS-1w

TO LET—A five room flat on second floor. All improvements. Apply 146 Glendale road. Tel. 621-4 Quincy. July 7-6t

..TO LET—Kitchen and dining room unfurnished suitable for light housekeeping. Set range and hot and cold water. Apply 55 Washington street, corner Maple street. July 6-3t

TO LET—Flat of five rooms, all modern improvements, set range, gas, and electric lights 69 Goddard street. July 6-6t

TO LET—Tenement of 5 rooms on Euclid avenue. All latest improvements. C. A. Ericson, 177 Glendale road Quincy. Tel 586 M. July 5-6t

TO LET—Furnished rooms in fine location near bathing beach, light housekeeping near Fore River works also storage room. 80 Baxter avenue, opposite North street. July 5-6t

TO LET—Nicely furnished rooms, with excellent table board. Central location. Address P. O. box 346, Quincy. June 29-tf

TO LET—On Spear street, tenement of 4 rooms and bath. All modern improvements. Apply to C. A. Ericson, 117 Glendale road. Tel 586 M. June 27-tf

TO LET—Tenement with 9 rooms and bath at Quincy Point, also rooms to let and table board at 55 Washington street, Quincy, Mrs. Margaret S. MacDonnell. June 23-1mo.

TO LET—House 12 rooms, all improvements. Ideal location, 5 minutes to center. Apply to James F. Burke, Real Estate Agent, Room 4 Savings Bank Building. June 9-tf

FOR RENT—Quincy, Centre, apposite Adams Academy, house of 8 rooms and bath, also garage, 3 minutes to R. R. Station. Dr. E. S. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263L, Weymouth. May 10-tf

FOR RENT

On Spear street, very desirable house of 8 rooms, bath and laundry. All modern improvements, range, gas, electric lights shades and screens. Large piazzas and lawn. To private family only. Apply at 41 Spear street or of Miss Prescott at Ledger Office, Quincy. June 2-tf L. P. O

TO LET

Half House No. 44 Bigelow street, 7 rooms and bath. Shades, screens, electric lights, set tubs, range, etc. Rent $25. per month. Apply to Miss Prescott, Ledger Office. Quincy. July 3-tf

TO LET

Tenement—22 B Granite Street. $10.00 per month.

Greenleaf Hall—Greenleaf Block Large Furnished Hall with various anterooms—to let by the evening or permanently.

City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 20 feet high. Splendid light, low rent

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)
Music Hall Block, Quincy.

Read Ledger Advs.

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 26 No. 156 QUINCY, MASS., MONDAY EVENING JULY 10, 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

FOUND DEAD BODY OF ANDREW W. HOWLEY

Discovered By Constable Strako In Gravel Pit Near Water Street

Supposed To Have Been Overcome By the Heat

The dead body of Andrew W. Howley of 57 Phipps street, was found Sunday morning in a field back of the gravel pit near Water street. Mr. Howley who has long been a well known resident of South Quincy, had been missing for the past few days, but nothing strange was thought of his absence.

Sunday morning Constable Strako while searching about the gravel pit for some strayed chickens, came upon the body. The police were notified and Medical Examiner Jones after viewing the body had it removed to the receiving tomb at Mt. Wollaston cemetery.

Sunday afternoon several residents of the Mt. Pleasant district who knew Mr. Howley visited the cemetery and positively identified the body. Medical Examiner Jones said death was due to exposure.

It is thought that Mr. Howley was overcome by heat Thursday. It was his custom to cross this field on his way home on Phipps street and it is thought that he was on his way when he dropped. This short cut path is but little used which probably accounts for the body not being found before.

Mr. Howley was 47 years of age and a son of the late William Howley, and a brother of Miss Catherine Howley.

Recently Mr. Howley has been employed in the gypsy moth department of the city.

TRIES TO ENTER HOUSE.

Charles Blackstone was arrested shortly after 11 o'clock Sunday night for attempting to break and enter a house on Filbert street. It seems that the man formerly boarded in the house and it is claimed that he went there Sunday night for his trunk going in by the window route. He was captured by some other boarders and turned over to Officer Curtin. He was arraigned in court this morning and his case continued until Wednesday.

STRAW RIDE AND DANCE.

The people of the Francis church, South Braintree, are busy preparing for their coming field day and are planning different attractions from time to time to finance the project. Last Friday evening two barges conveyed a merry party to Houghs Neck and the various amusement resorts were visited. The excursion took the form of a straw ride and was much enjoyed. It was arranged by a committee with Mrs. Louis Brow of Braintree as chairman. The proceeds will be used for expenses of a table at the field day.

Last Saturday evening the Gaelic foot ball club of Braintree held a dance in the grove at French's common. A fine dance board was in readiness and the grove was brightly illuminated by electric lights. The hours were from 8 until 11.30 o'clock and lively music was furnished by the violinist, Joseph P. Mahar of Brockton. Ice cream and tonics were on sale and the receipts were good as there were over 200 tickets sold. The money will be used to defray the incidental expenses of the Gaelic table. The affair was in charge of Mrs. Daniel Reardon, Mrs. Daniel McCarthy, Miss Kate Neville, Miss Mary Cassidy, Miss Annie Keane, Miss Mary Burke, Thomas Gallahue, Dennis Regan, Thomas Burke, John Connors, James Dillon and Dennis Burke.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.

One of the most delightful occasions of the season was the twenty-fifth wedding anniversary celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Redfield H. Allen of Presidents Hill, Saturday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Allen received informally from five until seven o'clock and during those hours a large number of friends from Quincy and elsewhere came to extend their congratulations and best wishes to the host and hostess. While the reception was in progress, excellent music was rendered by the Misses Eva and Esther Kellogg of the New England Conservatory of Music, on violin and piano, and by Miss Elizabeth King, sister to Mrs. Allen who rendered several beautiful vocal solos. The rooms were profusely decorated with flowers of every description, roses, pinks, maiden hair fern, jilly flower, canterbury bells, holly hocks, sweet pease and other varieties all harmonizing beautifully. During the reception refreshments were served by Misses Gertrude Allen Olive Allen, Esther Sidelinger and Esther Wetherell. There were guests present from New York city, Hartford, and Windsor, Conn., Dorchester, Malden, Lynn, Braintree and Quincy.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

$5.00 REWARD

for return to Ledger Office of a Panama Hat which fell out of an auto Sunday between Quincy and Quincy Point.

July 10-3t

A Magnificent

HOOSIER KITCHEN CABINET

FREE

Next Week

400,000 women use Hoosier Kitchen Cabinets.

See our announcement in Thursday's Ledger

Special for Tuesday

A Solid Oak Cobble Seat Rocker.

Worth $2.50 for $1.69

KINCAIDE'S

We close Wednesdays at 1 o'clock

HOOSIER KITCHEN CABINETS

PATENTS

TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 26 years experience.

Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.

READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.

D. SWIFT & CO.

PATENT LAWYERS,

303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

FIRE HORSE RUNS TO LAST FIRE

Chief Williams' Pet Has Leg Broken on Sunday

A PLUCKY ANIMAL

The alarm from Box 26 a few minutes past 9 o'clock Sunday morning, was for a slight fire in the L of a building on Temple street occupied by Mrs. Michael Burns as a restaurant. The fire burnt up through the roof of the L but did but litle other ramage.

In responding to the alarm the little Arabian pony of Chief Williams had the misfortune to snap one of the small bones in his off hind leg while rounding the corner of School and Hancock street. The pony continued for some distance on three legs, before the Chief discovered that anything was wrong. He then sent the pony to the Central station and continued to the fire on foot.

The pony is one that was brought from Arabia some years ago as a polo pony at the Bradley farm in Hingham. It was here the Chief Williams got the pony that answered to the name of Watcheye. He was a plucky little animal and could run like a deer. While it will not be necessary to kill the pony it will be impossible for the Chief to again use him in responding to alarms of fire.

BRIEFS

Miss Eva Kimball of Carruth street has returned from Maine.

Mr. and Mrs. Theophilius King of Adams street start this week for Poland Springs, Me.

Mrs. Annie Thayer of 70 Columbia street, has gone to her home in Buctouche, N. B. for the summer.

Miss Grace Jones of Liberty Square is confined to her home with rheumatic fever.

Miss Celina Belliveau and her mother of Centre street have gone for a six weeks vacation in Canada.

Miss E. May Veale of Vernon street has gone to Barre, Vermont, to spend her annual vacation.

Miss Marie H. Orr of Pittsburg, Pa. is the guest of Mrs. P. H. Holman this week.

Alonzo G. Durgin of Winchenden, formerly of Quincy was in town this morning calling on friends.

Miss Minnie Miller is enjoying a two week's vacation with friends in Yonkers, N. Y.

Mrs. John McLennon of Liberty street, is spending a few days with friends in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Blanchard of Wellesley spent the week end with Lorenzo Wood of Upland road.

The Edward Starbucks of St. Louis are occupying T. B. Pollard's house on Edison street for the summer.

Mrs. Edward Tingley and little granddaughter of Granite street left Friday for several weeks' visit with her son at Cleveland, Ohio.

Mrs. Percy De Rouchmont of Upland road is entertaining her parents Mr. and Mrs. Maag of Philadelphia, Pa.

Misses Edith and Helen Elrick of Quincy street start tonight for Brookfield, P. E. I. where they will spend a month.

Miss Florence L. Blackwood and Miss Clara Mansfield of Norfolk Downs left Saturday, July 1st, for a two months' visit at Rye Beach, N. H.

Carl Sherburne who has been spending a week with his parents on South street returned to Montreal last evening.

The Eastern Star porch party will be held this week, at 213 Washington street, Thursday afternoon at two o'clock. Miss Mary Webb will be the hostess.

Farquhar Graham of Quincy Point who has been in the City Hospital for some weeks returned to his home on Saturday. Mr. Graham had both legs broken in an accident about six weeks ago.

Have You

a house for rent or for sale? Try a want ad in the Ledger. Quantity of circulation guarantees result. The Ledger is the leading "Want Ad" Medium in this section.

FALLS A VICTIM OF THE HEAT

Harry Johnson Is Overcome This Morning On Carruth Street

CONDITION CRITICAL

Harry Johnson aged about 22 years, a son of Neil Johnson of Bigelow Park was overcome by the heat on Carruth street this noon and is in a precarious condition. The young man was employed by his father building a new house on Carruth street. This morning, owing to the excessive heat the men did not attempt to work. Shortly before noon however, the young man said he thought he would try and do a little work. He went to the roof of the building but had not been there but a few minutes when he came down saying that he did not feel well. A few minutes later he became unconscious. Ice was applied to his head and Dr. Sargent called. After which he was removed to the City hospital. The young man is in a dangerous condition.

HIT BY FOUL BALL.

Miss Rena O'Rourke of 27 Crescent street, was hit on the back of the head by a foul ball at a baseball game on Saturday afternoon. She was watching the game between the South Quincy A. A. and the Manets, at the Ward Three playground, when a foul tip bounded off the fence hitting her with much force. At first a fracture of the scull was feared, but upon examination Dr. Sargent, who was called, pronounced nothing more serious than a bruise where the ball had struck.

FOUND DEAD IN BARN.

George Wheeler, aged 72 years, an emloyee at the cow barn at the city home was found dead Sunday noon in the barn. Wheeler came to the home from Wollaston about a year ago and had been employed in the cow barn. When he failed to show up for dinner Sunday a search was made and the body was found. Medical Examiner Jones who was called gave the cause of his death as artero clerosis. The body was taken to Halls morgue.

SCANDINAVIAN BROTHERHOOD.

There will be a meeting on Monday night, at eight o'clock, in the Johnson building hall, to consider the desirability of forming a lodge of the Scandinavian Brotherhood of America in Quincy. This lodge was founded in Warren, Penna., in 1894, and has a membership of 18,000. Anybody between the ages of 16 and 50 years who can understand the Scandinavian language is eligible for membership.

—Punishment should have three objects; the protection of society, the reform of the criminal, and making crime obnoxious by attaching to it the ideas of disgrace and retribution.—Christian Register.

TO CONVENTION IN HUNGARY

Noted Labor Leader Leaves On Wednesday For Europe

AN IMPORTANT TRIP

James Duncan, Secretary-Treasurer of the Granite Cutters' International union and Vice President of the American Federation of Labor, leaves for New York tonight, from which port he sails Wednesday afternoon for a trip that will take him through many of the important cities of the old country. His objective point however is Budapest, Hungary, where he will attend the International Trade convention as a delegate from the United States. This convention meets every two years and no nation is entitled to more than two delegates and Mr. Duncan will be the only delegate from the United States. This convention meets Aug. 10 and will probably last two or three days.

Aside from attending this convention the object of his trip is to study the emigration question in a general way as well as to secure more friendly relations between the trade organizations of Europe and the United States.

With this view in mind arrangements have been made with the British trade organizations and American Consuls for him to visit a number of the industrial cities of Great Britain.

Arriving at Liverpool he goes to Manchester, thence to Sheffield, York, New Castle, Edinborough, Aberdeen, Glasgow, Birmingham, London, Paris, Brussels, Antwerp, The Hague, Berlin, Vieena and Budapest. After the convention he goes to Venice, Milan, Florence, Rome, Naples, Genoa, Turin, Bern, Zurich, Frankfort, Mayence, down the Rhine to Cologne.

He will attend the British Trade convention at New Castle as a fraternal delegate and then go to Dublin, Belfast and possibly other cities in Ireland sailing for home Sept. 23.

He carries with him many letters of introduction, including one to Ernest Naphan, Mayor of Rome, who is a past Grand Master of the Masonic fraternity of Rome. These make it certain that his trip aside from being an enjoyable one will afford him exceptional opportunity to study trade unionism in Europe.

His many friends in Quincy wish him a bon voyage and a pleasant trip.

TODAY'S COURT.

Charles Blackstone was arraigned for attempting to break and enter at Quincy and was held under bonds until July 12 for hearing.

Michelo Coppola was arraigned for felonious assault at Quincy and held in $1,000 until July 12.

Charles E. Weeks formerly of Quincy is in town today for a few hours calling on friends. Mr. Weeks is now located in Spokane.

(ADVERTISE.)

WARNING

The Water Department has given proper notice to those who are using hose contrary to the rules of the Department. Any person persisting in so doing will have the water shut off immediately, without further notice.

RANDOLPH BAINBRIDGE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

July 10-2t

TO LET

IN QUINCY CENTER

SEVERAL DESIRABLE HOUSES

7, 8 and 10 Rooms

Every convenience and very desirable locations.

RENT $25 TO $40. according to house

APPLY TO

MISS PRESCOTT,

Ledger Office

Quincy, July 7. LPOM

AUTOMOBILE HITS YOUNG MAN

Lyman Morrison Of Braintree Probably Fatally Injured This Morning

Run Down Near Entrance to Hayward's Grove

Lyman Morrison aged 19 years a son of William Morrison of Braintree was seriously if not fatally injured this morning when he was run down by an automobile near the entrance to Hayward's grove, East Braintree.

The young man with two companions took the Quincy avenue car from Weymouth Landing, intending to go in swimming at Hayward's creek. When the car reached the entrance of the grove the three young men jumped off and without looking to see if the road was clear started to run across the street. Two of the boys got across all right, but the Morrison boy was run down by an automobile that came along behind the car.

It is down grade at this point and the automobile was going at a good clip. It struck the boy and threw him some distance.

The machine was owned by Dr. W. W. Gannett of 274 Marlboro street, Boston, who immediately stopped. Dr. Gannett who was in the car lifted the young man into his automobile and started for the Quincy City hospital.

Rev. John B. Holland of Weymouth Landing was a passenger on the car and saw the accident. He accompanyed Dr. Gannett to the hospital. When the car reached Quincy they picked up Officer Doran to show them the way to the hospital.

Arriving at the hospital the boy was immediately put on the operating table Dr. Gannett assisting Dr. Sargent in caring for the boys' injuries.

The physicians found that the young man in addition to internal injuries had suffered a fracture of the pelvic bone. He was also quite badly bruised and shaken up.

At the hospital this noon it was said that the seriousness of his injuries could not be told at present.

SHOULD HAVE MOVED ON.

Business houses near the head of Granite street were treated to a most disagreeable odor for a time this morning. The odor was traced to one of Wards teams on which there was a dead horse. The wagon hauled up in front of the Bethany church and was left standing without a driver for some time. It was too bad that Sanitary Inspector Lennon could not have happened along at that time. It is safe to say that Ed would have seen that the team was moved in short order.

NEW BLOCK.

George H. and Walter Wilson are developing their property on Hancock street and are to build a business block in front of the old Wilson homestead. W. R. Lofgren is the builder and the construction is to be heavy and of brick and iron.

At present the building will only be one story high but will be so built that one or two stories may be added at any time. One store will be occupied by the Boston Market and the rest will be one large or two small stores according to requirements of occupants.

Nervous Old Lady (on seventh floor of hotel)—"Do you know what precautions the proprietor of the hotel has taken against fire?"

Porter—"Yes, mum; he has the place inshoored for twice wot it's worth."—Home Herald.

$3.00 $3.50

Of course its easy enouth to find Oxfords at the same prices we offer them, but not so easy to find the same kind of Oxfords at such prices. For when you come here, we'll give you better leather, better workmanship, a little finer style, more comfort, more vital value than you've been accustomed to. And our skill in correct fitting is worth a great deal to you.

RALSTON'S for Men

George W. Jones

1 Granite St. "Just Around the Corner." Quincy

July 10, 11, 12. O- July 15

R. E. FOY & CO.

Hire's Root Beer

Make it yourself. You'll know then that it is all right for the kiddies to drink. Hire's Root Beer extract is made of the best herbs and roots that can be found and is absolutely pure. Root Beer is bracing, refreshing and cooling. It is a tonic that drives away that tired feeling and spruces you up.

Order a bottle today and make a boiler full.

HIRE'S ROOT BEER EXTRACT

15 cents

R. E. FOY & CO.

Water cor. Quincy Street, Quincy Adams

We close Wednesdays at 1 o'clock

July 10-2t

QUALITY STORE QUALITY STORE

Phones 117 and 153

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1869
THE HOME NEWSPAPER
Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.
BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
219 East 23d Street,
New York City
Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter.
Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50
Telephone, Quincy 425
Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

Keep on the showery side of the street.

Does Mr. Sabath propose an import duty on dukes and earls or an export duty on American heiresses?

Count that day lost whose low descending sun sees not some swatting of the fly pest done.

With his long locks shorn, Elbert Hubbard will be as big a hit on the vaudeville stage as the famed Cherry sisters.

FELL OFF CAR.

George Pawsey of the Rock Island farm fell from the running board of an electric car on Sea street Saturday evening and received a bad cut on the forehead, a cut over the eye and concussion of the left side. He was attended by Dr. John H. Ash and afterward removed to his home. It is thought that his injuries will not result seriously.

GENTLEMEN'S DRIVING CLUB.

Some exceptionally good races were held on the South Weymouth grounds Saturday afternoon under the auspices of the Old Colony Gentlemen's Driving club. The winners in the several races were as follows: Class G Fantan; Class J, Macena; Class L, Noma; Class A, Altro L; Class I, Bertha B; Class C. Budwiser; Class B. Young Bayard; Class F, Helen Dare Class H, Stormwood.

WILD WEST SHOW.

The genuinely wild horses are among the several hundred equines of the California Frank's Wild West, which will visit Quincy for performances on the Water street grounds, July 14. They were imported from Russia. There are, to be sure, the so-called wild horses of the Americas, but they are the descendants of horses that the Spaniards brought to the western world some centuries ago. Most naturalists believed that true wild horses with an unbroken line of wild ancestry were extinct until two years ago, when a Russian explorer discovered horses in the Gobi desert, to the west of Mongolia. A herd of fifty of the animals were taken to Russia whereby methods of comparative anatomy, it was proved that a valid and distinct species of the genus horse had been found.

California Frank secured possession of the brutes, several were bought by the Duke of Bedford, and the remainder are being kept for experimental purposes in Russia. Attempts to subdue the wild natures of the beasts have failed in all three centuries. They will not submit to man, hate and are afraid of him and cannot be rendered serviceable.

Beer Slang in Germany.

Even the serious Germans, it appears, have a rich and racy slang Here are some examples that a writer for the Baltimore Sun lately clawed out of a German dictionary: Bierfisch (beer fish), the little bits of cork that sometimes float in beer; bierrede (beer harangue), a speech made at a banquet; bierbass (beer bass), a heavy, unmelodious masculine voice; bierbruder (beer brother), a barroom acquaintance; biereifer (beer zeal), extraordinary and absurd enthusiasm.

Old Salts.

Another couple was about to be launched on the sea of matrimony.

"They don't seem a bit afraid," some one back in the crowd observed.

"And why should they?" asked the gentleman next. "They've both been across several times."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

No Swearing.

"Jim isn't drinking now."

"Honest? Did he swear off?"

"No; he really quit this time."—Toledo Blade.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

SURE WAY— Willis—"I wonder if there will ever be universal peace."

Gillis—"Sure. All they've got to do is to get the nations to agree that in case of war the winner pays the pensions."—Puck.

SLOW—"Sorry, but Miss Wombat has gone walking. She has been gone about half an hour."

"Too bad. I suppose I couldn't overtake her now."

"Oh, but you might. She was wearing a very extreme hobble gown." Washington Herald.

FRESHET—"Where are you from?"

"Plunkville."

"And what sort of a place is Plunkville?"

"Venice of America, sir. We have about four feet of water in the streets every spring."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

POOR WIFEY—Gloomy Party—"Give me a dime, sir. I am tired of life and wish to buy poison."

Newlywed—"Have supper with me. Today is baking day at my house." Toledo Blade.

"Why don't you pick out some nice girl in your set and marry her?" "You don't know the girls in our set—they do the pickingout."—New York Evening Telegram.

Manager—"What's the leading lady in such a tantrum about?" Press Agent—"She only got nine bouquets over the foot-lights tonight." Manager—"Great Scott! Ain't that enough?" P. A.—"Nope—she paid for ten."—Cleveland Leader.

ADVICE—First Deaf Mute—"What would you do, in a case like that?"

Second Deaf Mute—"I'd treat her with silent contempt; I wouldn't move a finger when I met her."—Judge.

TOO MUCH—Seymour—"What was the cause of Flaring's losing his job in the cold storage plant?"

Ashley—"His temper; he got hot so often that he melted the ice."—Chicago News.

"Do you think a secret ballot promotes honesty in elections?" "Can't say that it does," replied the painfully practical politician . "The secrecy of it tempts too many men whom you have paid to vote for you to go back on their words."—Washington Star.

Foreigner—"I don't exactly understand your system of government. For example, what are the powers of Congress?" Native—"Well, as a rule, there are two——the Speaker of the House and the chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means."—Chicago Tribune.

"Here's a girl," remarked the answers to correspondence editor, "Who wants to know how to acquire a swan-like neck." "Tell her not to make a goose of herself," growled the sporting editor.—Philadelphia Record.

First ticket speculator—"Say, Jimmy, I hear the seats down at the Stock Exchange are worth $60,000 apiece." Second ticket Speculator—"Well, what good does that do us? They won't let us sell 'em on the sidewalk."—Yonkers Statesman.

TWO AVIATORS DROP SEVENTY-FIVE FEET

Atwood and Hamilton Have Close Call at Atlantic City

Atlantic City, N. J., July 10.—Atwood and Hamilton, the aviators, had a close call for death and were forced to postpone their flight to Washington again yesterday. Engine trouble, which impaired the lifting power of Hamilton's biplane, dropped them to the meadows of Ventnor City, snapping off both propellers, twisting the standards and smashing the tail and landing shafts. Atwood and Hamilton was badly shaken up, but otherwise uninjured.

The machine was seventy-five feet in the air when the motor stopped dead still and the wind added further handicap. Atwood attempted vainly to coast the meadows, but the machine dropped like a plummet, hitting the soft mud with a crash.

The aeroplane struck the ground on the very tip of its rudder, tearing away the connecting rods to the planes, ripping away sections of the landing shafts and sending the propellers flying in small pieces.

IF SHE DIES CHILDLESS

Large Estate of New York Woman Will Go to Various Charities

New York, July 10.—About $500,000 worth of property will be eventually divided among a number of Catholic churches and charitable institutions, according to the will of Cornelius Callahan, formerly a prominent builder in this city, unless his daughter, Mrs. Edith M. Smith, has children.

The bulk of Callahan's estate is left to his daughter, and on her death to go to her issue, if any. If she has no children the money is to be divided among such Roman Catholic institutions as the archbishop of the diocese may elect.

MONEY BURIED IN GARDEN

Carpenter Unexpectedly Finds Himself $500 to the Good

Cannonsburg, Pa., July 10.—William J. Grier, a local carpenter, while engaged in making a garden, spaded up a roll of money, which, when patched together, turned out to contain ten $50 notes.

The money, in a torn and moldy state, was forwarded to the treasury department at Washington. Grier received ten crisp new $50 bills, the government having redeemed the tattered bits of paper. How the money came to be in the ground is a mystery.

—It has been discovered that the oldest known gravestone in the Village graveyard at Hull is 227 years old. It is that of a boy, John Whitman, son of Hull's first minister, Rev. Zachariah Whitman. The graveyard is the second oldest in New England, having been started a few years after the one at Plymouth. It is also the oldest in which interments may be made in any part, burials in the one at Plymouth now being restricted. Parts of many slabs, broken off by British troops when located here during the revolution may still be seen.

FOND OF ELECTIONS.

In Switzerland They Select Even Gravediggers by Ballot.

According to Professor F. F. Roget of Geneva, the Swiss have the greatest political intelligence in the world today.

"Every citizen of a canton is a Swiss citizen," says Professor Roget. "One must become a member of some local commune to become naturalized and in order to do so must be accepted by the local communal council.

"Every male Swiss citizen is an elector from the age of twenty, there being no property qualification. Every Swiss is a soldier and every soldier an elector. The federal elector may vote wherever he may happen to be, guarantees being taken that he votes only once.

"The cantons are the political units, and no elector may exercise political rights in more than one canton. On moving from one locality to another the Swiss must wait three months before he may exercise the franchise in his new neighborhood."

Professor Roget declares that "every collective authority in Switzerland is elected.

"The foreigner," he states, "is often surprised to see in a Swiss newspaper on a Monday the results of all kinds of elections on the Sunday. If he had gone into a polling booth on the Sunday he would have found in this corner a clerk at a desk, at which the elector would vote for the local schoolmaster.

"In another corner would be a desk at which he would vote for the local judge, in another part of the same room he would vote for the local gravedigger, and so on through a whole series of officials, all of whom are popularly elected.

"The result of this training is that the political intelligence of the Swiss is extremely developed, and that he thoroughly understands what he is voting about at home in his native country, and that when he goes abroad he finds it very easy to understand and to take part in any political movements among which he may find himself."—Exchange.

How to Stencil Rag Rugs.

Have you thought that rag rugs can be made things of beauty by stenciling them? Take a rug woven all over of white rags, for instance; stenciled in some conventional designs in a queer blue or green, it becomes a fit covering for your bedroom floor, a really charming and unique bit of furnishing.

Another pretty variety is the rag rug made of all sorts of bright colors, woven without respect to design and then finished with a stencil border of some solid harmonizing color.

Colors should be bought in the raw tint and then diluted to the shade desired with white lead or common white paint. The latter is better, as the linseed oil in it sets the color and makes the rug washable.

No Wedding Day Bargain.

The Husband (during the quarrel)—You're always making bargains. Was there ever a time when you didn't? The Wife—Yes, sir; on my wedding day.—Variety Life.

—It is said that Benj. Robinson of Gloucester Mass., discovered fish glue from the fish chowder served him at his home being a little sticker than usual. Wonder if the discovery of the rubber tire was due to somebody's finding his steak a little tougher than usual.—Athol Chronicle.

BIG ARMY WILL BACK CASTRO

Peace of Venezuela Is Threatened by His Success

AMPLE ARMS AND MONEY

Man Who Assumed Dictatorship With Army of Twenty-Three Ranchers Is Quite Different Proposition From Disturber of Today—Outwitted International Watchers In Returning to His Native Country

Caracas, July 10.—Men in high government councils here say that only foreign intervention or unexpected and unlawful action by the United States can prevent the success of Cipriano Castro in overthrowing the government in Venezuela.

General Castro, who several days ago was a myth, a Flying Dutchman, about whom half the world was guessing and laughing, has become vital and real. In an inaccessible point near the Colombian boundary line, where he can escape to Colombia in the event of unexpected reversals, he is gathering an army that already numbers several thousand.

These men, it is believed, are equipped with modern military rifles, presumably shipped to Cuba from Europe, and sent here from the island republic.

The newspapers are very conservative in the matter, but sentiment is at white heat. The whole country is ready for fight and federal troops are being recruited rapidly. The ex-dictator, it is asserted, is completely restored to health. In addition he has almost unlimited funds. In the Credit Lyonnaise, France, there is $7,000,000 to his name. A prominent Cuban banker, S. Silvera, is reported backing the revolution.

How different a proposition is Castro with his feet on Venezuelan soil and an army at his back from the solitary plotter in Europe, until recently supposed to have been isolated by common consent of the powers opposed to his return to the country from which he was an exile, is readily understood in the light of his earlier bold and triumphant career. Venezuelans themselves have not forgotten that he once overturned the government with an army that originally numbered but twenty-three men.

It was on May 23, 1899, that Castro, then a rancher in Los Andes, took offense at the governor of the province and General Andrade, president of the republic, and determined to unseat them both. He set out at the head of his handful of ranchmen, followed by the jeers of the populace.

Within a month he had an army of several thousand men and captured Valencia, the second city of the country. Advancing on the capital he defeated Andrade's troops, and when he reached Caracas the president had fled.

For ten years Castro ruled Venezuela with an iron hand, and it was not until, broken in health, he went to Europe that his enemies mustered the strength to depose him. He has boasted that he would return to Venezuela and resume power. The United States government and other governments made it their business to prevent his return if possible, but he appears to have outwitted the international watchers.

GETS TOO NEAR CHAIR

Prison Doctor Near Death at Kentucky's First Electrocution

Eddyville, Ky., July 10.—The first electrocution under the law abolishing hanging nearly caused two deaths instead of one in the state prison.

Prison Physician Moss stepped forward to feel the pulse of the first subject before the current had been turned off. He barely missed having several thousand volts pass through his body.

A negro, James Buckner, paid the death penalty for the murder of a policeman at Lebanon.

FORTY MARINES MISSING

Not Satisfied With Conditions at Brooklyn Navy Yard

New York, July 10.—Forty marines, about one-tenth of those quartered at the Brooklyn navy yard, have taken French leave. If they do not return to barracks before July 16 they will be officially proclaimed deserters.

The men are part of a batch brought back from Guantanamo about two weeks ago. They have complained of poor food, strict treatment and delay in paying them off.

Government Line of Ships For Canal

Washington, July 10.—The establishment of a line of steamers owned and controlled by the government, to sail the Pacific coast and through the Panama canal, is proposed in a bill introduced in the house.

Norwegian Miners Locked Out

Christiania, July 10.—The dispute of the mine owners and miners over wages and conditions of employment culminated in a lockout of 18,000 men at various points in Norway.

PLEAS FOR CLEMENCY

Tens of Thousands Ask That Mercy Be Shown Mudreress

Ottawa, July 10.—Three more sackfuls of petitions, praying for executive clemency in the case of Mrs. Nngelina Napolitana, under sentence to be hanged at Sault Ste Marie, Ont., next month for the murder of her husband, were received yesterday by the justice department. The petitioners are now numbered by the tens of thousands, representing all parts of the continent.

The case, because of its pecularly distressing conditions, the brutality of the husband and the present physical condition of the woman, has excited special interest in the United States.

It is thought here that the sentence will be commuted to life imprisonment, but meanwhile the matter has not yet been considered by the cabinet council.

ADOPTED MALE ATTIRE

California Woman Posed as Husband's Brother For Five Years

General Castro, who several days ago was a myth, a Flying Dutchman, about whom half the world was guessing and laughing, has become vital and real. In an inaccessible point near the Colombian boundary line, where he can escape to Colombia in the event of unexpected reversals, he is gathering an army that already numbers several thousand.

These men, it is believed, are equipped with modern military rifles, presumably shipped to Cuba from Europe, and sent here from the island republic.

The newspapers are very conservative in the matter, but sentiment is at white heat. The whole country is ready for fight and federal troops are being recruited rapidly. The ex-dictator, it is asserted, is completely restored to health. In addition he has almost unlimited funds. In the Credit Lyonnaise, France, there is $7,000,000 to his name. A prominent Cuban banker, S. Silvera, is reported backing the revolution.

How different a proposition is Castro with his feet on Venezuelan soil and an army at his back from the solitary plotter in Europe, until recently supposed to have been isolated by common consent of the powers opposed to his return to the country from which he was an exile, is readily understood in the light of his earlier bold and triumphant career. Venezuelans themselves have not forgotten that he once overturned the government with an army that originally numbered but twenty-three men.

It was on May 23, 1899, that Castro, then a rancher in Los Andes, took offense at the governor of the province and General Andrade, president of the republic, and determined to unseat them both. He set out at the head of his handful of ranchmen, followed by the jeers of the populace.

Within a month he had an army of several thousand men and captured Valencia, the second city of the country. Advancing on the capital he defeated Andrade's troops, and when he reached Caracas the president had fled.

For ten years Castro ruled Venezuela with an iron hand, and it was not until, broken in health, he went to Europe that his enemies mustered the strength to depose him. He has boasted that he would return to Venezuela and resume power. The United States government and other governments made it their business to prevent his return if possible, but he appears to have outwitted the international watchers.

MARRIED TWICE IN TWENTY-FOUR HOURS

Bride Would Have Otherwise Forfeited Substantial Bequest

Boston, July 10.—Eben Whiting of this city and Miss Dorothea Klemm, the daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Klemm of Eastern avenue, Dedham, were twice married within twenty-four hours.

They met in this city Friday afternoon, secured a license and were married by Rev. George W. King of People's temple. From there they went directly to the groom's home.

The next call was made at the home of the bride's mother, who informed the young couple that the bride had forfeited her right to a considerable amount of money left her by her father, with the proviso that it be given her upon her marriage if the ceremony was performed by a Catholic priest.

In order that the provisions of the will be carried out the couple were married again Saturday night by Rev. Fr. McNulty of Dedham.

LABOR LEADER ARRESTED

Head of Railroad Employes Charged With Misuse of the Mails

Boston, July 10.—Robert P. Neil, international president of the International Brotherhood of Railroad Employes, was arrested on a charge of using the United States mail in a scheme to defraud.

Neil is widely known in labor circles. The complainant against him was the International Silver company of Meriden, Conn. It is charged that he induced the company to give him an advertisement for a magazine, representing that it was for the benefit of the sick of the brotherhood, instead of which, it is alleged, he used the proceeds for himself.

Neil was held in $1000 bail, which was furnished by his wife.

STEAMER STUCK IN SAND

Passengers Remain Aboard While Tugs Are Sent to Release Ship

Chatham, Mass., July 10.—The iron steamer Kershaw of the Merchants and Miners' line, carrying freight and passengers from Boston to Baltimore, in working her way around the cape went ashore ashore in a fog shortly after midnight on Shovelful Shoal rip, and lies embedded in sand after several ineffectual attempts made to pull her off.

None of the passengers or crew was sent ashore and the work of lightering will be rushed, with the arrival of extra tugs and lighters from Boston, and it is believed the steamer can be moved easily today.

Parlor Car Jumps Track

Washington, Conn., July 10.—Eighteen passengers were well shaken up and one man suffered a secrious scalp wound when a parlor car jumped the track a mile below this place and rolled over on its side.

The Weather

Almanac, Tuesday, July 11.
Sun rises—4:35; sets—7:28.
Moon rises—8:26 p. m.
High water—11:30 a. m.; 11:45 p. m.
Forecast for New England: Unsettled; slightly lower temperature; moderate south and southwest winds.

USE OUR SAFE DEPOSIT FOR VALUABLES

It you have valuable papers in the drawer of some desk at home; if you have fine jewels that you do not wear except on special occasions; if you rely too much upon the honesty of your servants—rent one of our safety deposit boxes. They are made of steel, and enclosed in our big steel vault—proof against theft, fire and carelessness.

$5.00 a year

NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

LLOYD'S
EYEGLASSES AND SPECTACLES
KRYPTOK BIFOCAL GLASSES
Far and Near Glasses in a Single Pair.
THEY can be "set up" in any kind of a mounting desired, and any of our stores will be glad to show them to you.
315 Washington St.
310 Boylston St. } BOSTON
75 Summer St.
1252 Massachusetts Ave. CAMBRIDGE.
ANDREW J. LLOYD CO.

BAREFOOT SANDALS
The best thing for the children to wear during the warm weather. They are light and comfortable and give good satisfaction.
CHILDS 5 to 8 45c
MISSES 8 to 11 50c
HEFFERNAN'S SHOE STORE
1375 Hancock Street, Quincy

WE ARE NOT THE
LOWEST PRICED
STORE IN QUINCY BUT WE POSITIVELY ARE THE
LOWEST PRICED STORE
IN MASS., CONSIDERING THE QUALITY OF MEATS WE SELL
HIGHEST QUALITY, LOW PRICES OUR STANDARD
RESPECTFULLY,
JOHNSON BROS.
June 16-tf

WHEELER'S
The Store for Ladies' Furnishings
We will continue our Sale of Shirt Waists and Long Gloves
See what we offer in Shirt Waists for 79c and 98c
and Long Gloves for 50c and 75c
We are also showing a new line of Children's Parasols, all colors, for 25c and 29c
WE GIVE CASH DISCOUNT SLIPS
City Square G. W. WHEELER Quincy

GET THE HELP QUINCY GROW HABIT

INTERESTING PROGRAM AT CHURCH JUBILEE

Services On Sunday and Celebration On Saturday At Swedish Methodist Church

Preaching By Rev. Chas. Paulson Former Pastor

The best meeting of the anniversary jubilee was that held Saturday evening under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid society. The program consisting of music and speeches was greatly enjoyed by a large audience. All the numbers were good and were well received. The report of th secretary was a good one and showed that the society had aided the church very materially during the year. At the close of the program refreshments were served by the ladies.

The program:

Song No. 178. By the Congregation
Bible Reading
Mrs. Ingeborg Lindberg
Prayer
Mrs. Lovisa Carlmark
Song. Sunshine
The Ladies' Society
Word of Welcome
Mrs. Lotten Rydstrom
Duet for Piano and Organ. Allegro Brilliant Low
Misses Emma Witting and Walborg Peterson
Soprano Solo. The Everlasting Day Bevan
Mrs. Selma Johnson
Annual Report of the Secretary
Miss Anna Gronvall
Piano Solo. Selected
Miss Mary Rosing
Duet,
Mrs. Selma Johnson and Miss Mary Witting
Address
Rev. Charles Paulson
Collection
Song. "Ljuft i stilla aftonstunden"

Rev. Charles Paulson, a former pastor of the church, preached from I Peter 1:3-4 "The Great Promise of God" was the topic of his sermon. The meeting had a very good attendance. Mr. Paulson was one of the most popular pastors in Quincy when he was here in the early 90's and he has lost none of his virility and eloquence as a preacher during his fifteen years absence.

Mr. Paulson also spoke to the children in Sunday school.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon a mass meeting was held. Owing to the extreme heat the attendance was not as large as might have been desired but the meeting was very successful. Addresses were made by Rev. H. Hanson and Rev. Charles Paulson, former pastors of the church, Rev. A. M. Thompson pastor of the United Presbyterian church, Rev. G. W. Palmgren, pastor of the Swedish Congregational church and Rev. A. P. Hanson, pastor of the Swedish Baptist church. Special music was rendered by the male chorus.

A communion service was held at 7 o'clock in the evening with Rev. C. E. Rydstrom pastor of the church officiating assisted by Pastors Hanson and Paulson.

At 7.30, the evening service was held with an address by Rev. H. Hanson who had two terms as pastor of St. Paul's church. His text was from Is. 35:10 "Eternal Joys" was the subject.

Miss Edith Wennmark of Boston sang two splendid solos and the mixed choir and male choir sang one each. The church was well filled at the meeting.

The final meeting o fthe 25th anniversary jubilee will be held this evening. It will take the form of a big social meeting with singing speaking and refreshments. The addresses will be made by former pastors Hanson and Paulson and by Rev. Oscar Sundberg of Malden and Rev. John G. Hamilton of Lowell Charter members of the congregation will also speak briefly.

The regular prayer meeting will be held Thursday evening.

The Sunday school picnic will be held Saturday at Highland park, Brockton.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN.

At the Sunday morning service the pastor spoke on the theme "The sound of a still small voice." The thought brought out was the nearness of God in the quieter things of life. In the evening the sermon topic was, "the importance of the small things."

The Y.P.S.C.E. meeting was lead by George Wilson and had a fair attendance

The regular prayer meeting will be held Thursday evening at 7.30.

The annual picnic will be held on Saturday at Nantasket. Cars will leave the church at nine o'clock in the morning. Tickets may be procured at the church Tuesday evening from 7.30 to 8.30.

BETHANY CHURCH.

The Sunday morning sermon by Rev. Langley by Sears was on the topic "The Child Nature." The meeting was fairly well attended.

In the evening a very restful sermon was delivered by Mr. Sears on "The Message of the Mountains", the first of a series on "God in His World."

The attendance at Sunday school and Christian Endeavor continues to be very good for the hot weather.

The regular mid-week prayer meeting will be held Thursday evening at 7.45. The topic for this week is "Tranquility." This is the first of a series of topics on "Quiet Hours with Restful Truths."

QUINCY POINT CHURCH.

The pastor preached first of a series of sermons on "The Lord's Prayer" at the morning service. The audience was unusually large for the summer season and quite a number of summer visitors were present.

There will be two more sermons in this series and that will complete the season for the pastor who goes on his vacation the first of August.

The regular mid week prayer meeting will be held Friday evening at 7.45

PARK AND DOWNS CHURCH

The church was crowded yesterday morning at the Communion service. Four people united with the church.

The regular prayer meeting will be held Friday evening at the usual hour.

The church lawn party will be held on the Massachusetts Fields playground Saturday afternoon and evening. Ice cream, lemonade, candy etc will be on sale.

CHRIST CHURCH

At the service Sunday morning, the rector preached from Col. 3:17. "And whatsoever you do in word or deed, do all in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God and the Father by Him."

The Galahad Brotherhood meet on Tuesday evening at the home of Prof. Wrigley, Hancock street.

The rector will be with his parish two more Sundays before his vacation During the latter part of July and the month of August, Rev. James A. Thompson, rector of the Epiphany, Walpole will be the resident clergyman.

UNCLAIMED LETTERS.

Letters remain uncalled for at the Quincy Post office for: Arthur Bolton, Seneca Porter Brown, Guiseppe Conello, A. Duff, Mrs. Frank Fletcher, John Griffin, Wilson C. Hodden, Mrs. Eliza Lanionpa, Miss Mary McKenzie, Daniel McSterck, Mrs. Dalla McInnis, Ben Nelsen, C. B. Powers, James E. Taber, Alfred Taylor, E. Thompson, W. R. Thornton, Ralph A. Ward, Robert Willis.

BAND CONCERT WAS FINE.

There was an immense crowd present Saturday evening, at the band concert at the corner of Hancock street and Cottage avenue. The concert was given by the Quincy National band. The program rendered was a popular one and all of the numbers were loudly applauded, showing that they were appreciated. The crowd was very orderly and again showed the high favor in which these popular concerts are held.

BIDS FOR PAVING BLOCKS.

Bids were opened by Commissioner Bainbridge Saturday for furnishing about 15,000 paving blocks for the Intervale street job. There were but two bids and they were as follows:

Falconer & Co. $46.00 per 1,000
W. F. Loud & Son, $52.50 per 1,000

The bids were taken under advisement but will probably be an awarded to Falconer & Co. the lowest bidders.

—A graduation dress of white marquisette, that cost only $4, was proudly worn by 37 young girls when they graduated from the Girls Practical Arts high school, Roxbury. The girls made their own gowns under the direction of one of the teachers.

EXCITING YACHT RACES.

There was a good list of entries at the club race of the Quincy Yacht club Saturday afternoon. The race was for classes B and D and there was also a special race between The Waweenock and Dorchen II. The boats of the first two classes were sent over a twelve mile course. The wind was fresh from the southeast giving the boats a good sailing breeze. In Class D it was a pretty race between the Iris and Busy Bee. The Iris lead the fleet of six, over the whole course and won the race on actual time, beating the Busy Bee by nearly four minutes. The Iris has to allow the Busy Bee so much however that corrected time gave the race to the latter boat by a minute and eighteen seconds.

In class B the Niji won the race on actual time but surrendered to the Rutland on corrected time. The Niji was sailed Saturday by George B. Gavin one of the editors of the Boston Globe.

In the special class theWarweenock representing the Squantum club won the race beating the Dorchen by a little over three minutes.

The summary:

CLASS D

Name and owner	El time h m s	Cor time h m s
Busy Bee, W J Coombs	2:11:28	2:0 :10
Iris, F F Crane	2:07:34	2:07:28
Hush, Tupper and Hardwick	2:10:33	2:08:02
Madjekeewis, E W Emery	2:09:09	2:08:14
Arawak, H C Nickerson	2:12:28	2:10:28
Dartwell, I M Whittemore	2:11:19	2:11:19

CLASS B

Name and owner	El time h m s	Cor time h m s
Rutland, Debes Bros.	1:16:40	1:15:42
Niji, George W Gavin	1:15:43	1:15:43
Alpha, Edmund Whittemore	1:27:52	1: 5:8
Yarita, H Ayer	1:28:12	1:26:9
Polaris, W B Vose	1:20:48	*

SPECIAL CLASS

Waweenock, Sargent and Gearwar. 2:11:22
Dorchen, II. A W Finlay 2:14:25
*Not measured.

GOLF AT WOLLASTON.

In the open amateur handicap tournament at the Wollaston golf club on Saturday only four players handed in gross scores under 80 and of these all were visiting players. H. Schmidt of Worcester won the low gross with a 75 going out in 40 and coming home in 35. F. H. Hoyt of Allston was second with two 38's. The prize for low net went to G. N. Banan of Wollaston who did an 89 which with his handicap of 22 brought the net score down to 67. J. Conroy of Thorney Lea, who did the course in 78 was second net with 78-8-70.

G. N. Banan,	89	22	67
J. Conroy	78	8	70
J. A. Wheelery Jr.	80	10	70
F. A. Leahy	84	14	70
H. Schmidt,	75	3	72
A. M. Hyde	83	11	72
G. J. Murphy	81	8	73
H. H. Allen	91	18	73
D. W. Wade	93	20	73
F. H. Hoyt	76	2	74
A. J. Wellington	83	9	74
J. H. Churchill	84	10	74
R. W. Brown	78	3	75
H. J. Corwin	83	8	75
E. Herman	90	24	75
H. N. Raymond	81	5	76
J. F. Morrill	86	10	76
H. B. Driver	86	10	76
H. L. Boardman,	94	18	76
J. B. Hylan	81	4	77
R. R. Freeman	81	4	77
B. S. Permar	83	6	77
J. R. Hanmer	83	6	77
A. M. Crosby	84	7	77
G. F. Freeman	87	10	77
George Wright	89	12	77
A. Geiger, Jr.	90	13	77
A. H. Baker	91	14	77
W. L. Doten	93	16	77
F. Ouimet	81	3	78
S. H. Lawton	84	6	78
J. A. Campbell	88	10	78
G. Packard	90	12	78
F. E. Cobb	94	16	78
E. A. Burrill	95	17	78
D. E. Little	85	6	79
L. J. Hazelton	86	7	79
J. Mulcahy	87	8	79
W. G. Clarke	88	9	79
C. M. Hart	84	4	80
S. Churchill	90	10	80
J. S. Phelps	90	10	80
C. L. M. Holmberg	95	15	80
A. Wyman	96	16	80
M. H. Murrow	98	18	80
L. H. Gray	98	18	80
A. H. Johnson	87	6	81
H. P. Williams	93	12	81
C. P. Whort	93	12	81
D. A. Ogilive	88	6	82
E. E. Bird	98	16	82
H. S. Bloomfield	91	8	83
W. H. Cook	101	18	83
N. C. King	98	13	84
G. S. Dnham	98	13	85
John A. Lowell	102	16	86
W. N. Foss	97	10	87
F. C. Rodman	103	16	87
H. W. Flagg	99	11	88
W. Gray	104	14	90
G. D. Morse	111	17	94
F. W. Batcheldor	107	12	95

☞Going away for the summer? If so don't forget to have the Daily Ledger sent to your address and keep posted on home news. If you have forgotten to send in your order in the rush of getting away drop us a postal and we will do the rest. tf

SEEDS OF TEA THAT IS SACRED

Attempt to Grow Rare Variety In This Country.

ORIGINAL WAS HEAVEN SENT.

Attended by Priests For Especial Use of Emperor of Japan—Consul Made Long Journey That Americans Might Sip Royal Beverage.

Back in the country of the River of the Nine Windings, seven days' journey beyond the farthest outposts of the foreign devils, to the westward of Peking, there grow under the shadow of temples, especially erected to shelter them, the original tea plants that were sent down from heaven for the delectation of the emperor of China, the son of the sun.

Few barbarians of the white race have ever tasted the tea of these plants. Such squandering of the gift of the gods would be profanation, to be followed by dire punishment. There is not enough tea raised on these plants for the emperor himself and his immediate family. Even he has to eke out his supply of tea from the commoner crop that Americans cannot buy at any price.

Growing at Summerville.

But some of the seeds and seedlings of these sacred plants have been secured by the department of agriculture and are now being grown in an experimental tea garden of the department at Summerville, S. C. The chances are it will be two years longer before the tea is ready to pick and experiment with, and the chances also are, according to the experts of the department, that the American public will not like it. However, it is an interesting experiment in agriculture, and its progress is being watched by the department with interest.

Samuel L. Gracey, consul of the United States at Fuchau, was the profane iconoclast who secured the tea seeds. He sent them to Secretary of Agriculture Wilson with a report that reads like a romance of the dark ages. The department wanted to do the best it could for the imported plants and was afraid to trust them to the latitude of Washington, so they were sent for trial to Summerville, where there is already an extensive tea garden.

Gracey had heard of the wonderful original tea plants that were sent down from heaven for the comfort of the emperor. No white man had ever seen them and seemed not likely to, as the journey was long and arduous and the plants jealously guarded from profane eyes. However, a consul has to be a great many things, and Gracey developed into a good enough Buddhist to be taken partially at least into the confidence of the priests.

He started off on his long journey with such a retinue as was fitting for the progress of a distinguished traveler, for a man in the interior of China is judged in importance much by his manner of travel on the road.

Journey a Long One.

It was a long trip to the country of the River of the Nine Windings. This proves to be a stream much like some of those in the southwestern butte and mesa country, where, flowing with little falls through a region of friable rock, it had in the course of eons carved out for itself a sinuous canyon with nine turnings.

All the country and the people were strange. There was one butte 1,000 feet high to be reached only by a rope ladder. On the top of this were a tea garden and a palatial summer home. They were the property of a mandarin in the lower country who had been able enough to accumulate a large competence and a thriving flock of enemies. When his winter residence got too hot for him, either physically or politically, he retired to his butte, climbed the ladder and pulled the ladder up after him and left his subjects, from whom he collected taxes for the emperor and himself, to discuss his iniquities till they cooled off.

Under Shade of Temples.

But this was apart from the discovery of the sacred tea plants. They eventually were found growing under the shade of special temples and tended by priests raised for that vocation alone. There was not enough soil on the rocky ledge where the plants were growing to raise a dust, let alone a tea bush, and the earth for the plants had been packed in baskets from a distance and deposited a basketful at a time where it was most wanted.

The bureau of soils has been analyzing the earth and expresses the opinion that the sacred tea plants in South Carolina will develop into something rather different from their progenitors, as the soil, of which Consul Gracey sent them samples, is decidedly different from anything else of which the bureau has a specimen. It is a volcanic soil, and aside from its chemical constituents, its mechanical texture is different from any soil known in this country.

There were some seedlings growing under the parent tea bushes, and Consul Gracey got some of these as well as the seeds of the tea plants. They have all sprouted in the South Carolina field where they are being tried and will be raised under shade. The first samples will be sent for trial to Secretary of Agriculture Wilson.

E. E. GRAY CO.
QUINCY and WOLLASTON
1525 Hancock Street, Music Hall Block
Corner Newport Avenue and Brook Street

Cuts for Week Commencing July 10

Quaker Puffed Wheat	per pkg.	8c
Hire's Root Beer Extract	per bot.	13c
Grape Juice, Randall's	per bot.	16c
Corn, Fancy Maine	per can	9c
Tomatoes, Fancy Hand Packed	per can	9c
Salmon, Red Alaska	per can	17c
Sardines, Norwegian Smoked	per can	7c
Deviled Meat, Ham Flavor	per can small	4c
	per can large	8c
Condensed Milk, Rose	per can	9c
Olives, Plain or Stuffed	per bot.	9c
Jello, all flavors	per pkg.	8c
Soap, Good Will	6 bars for	21c
Crackers, Kennedy Graham	per lb.	8c

F M W

THE LADY WHO IRONS

SHE KNOWS

how important uniform heat in a stove is--knows, too, that gas supplies it without overheating the laundry in the hottest days or wasting fuel the coldest.

'Twill be well and pleasant for you to know how delightfully gas can serve you.

CITIZENS' GAS LIGHT CO.
11 Granite St., Quincy

THE BEST WHEEL WINS

and you can always count on the Hartford bicycle being the victor not only in speed heats, but at every point. Experience and skill have been so thoroughly applied in their construction that they have reached the highest degree in mechanical perfection.

NEW and SECOND-HAND BICYCLES
Sundries and Repairing

HUB CYCLE CO.
Thomas Nelson, 20 Granite Street, QUINCY
Agency for Hartford and Columbia Bicycles
May 15-2m

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.
A Clearance Sale
— OF —
Soiled Shirt Waists
A Specially good assortment of Large Sizes
THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

SUNDAY IN OUR CHURCHES

Topics and Announcements For Coming Week

UNITED PRESBYTERIAN.

The pastor preached at the Sunday morning service taking his text from Ps. 11:3. "If the foundations be destroyed what shall the righteous do." There was a good attendance at this meeting.

The attendance at Sunday school was fairly good. The Y. P. S. C. E. meeting was led by Miss Katie McKinnon.

In the evening the pastor preached upon the topic: "Placing the Soul in Christ's hands for safe-keeping." Text 2 Timothy 1-12. Henry Patterson sang "The Ninety and Nine" in a very acceptable manner.

There will be a lawn party on the church lawn Tuesday evening under the auspices of the Ladies Aid society. The party will begin at 7 o'clock.

There will be a meeting of the Session Thursday evening at 7 o'clock in the church followed by the regular mid-week prayer meeting. At 8.15 the Corporation of the Congregation will have a meeting.

A business meeting of the Ladies Aid society will be held in the church Friday evening at 7.30.

SWEDISH LUTHERAN.

Rev. N. G. Lundahl of Montello conducted both the morning and evening services on Sunday and both were fairly well attended. The pastor returned from Duluth the first of the week but owing to the excessive heat has been unable to attend to his pastoral duties.

The Dorcas society will meet at the home of Mrs. Adolf Nelson, 5 Nelson street, East Braintree, on Tuesday evening.

There will be a lawn social at the residence of August Viden, Penn's Hill on Saturday evening under the auspices of the Young People's Society.

SWEDISH CONGREGATIONAL.

Rev. H. Hanson, superintendent of the Emigrant's Home in New York City, gave a splendid address at the service Sunday morning. The Home is supported by the Swedish Methodist, Baptist and Congregational churches of Eastern United States and the local churches are naturally greatly interested in its welfare. Mr. Hanson is on here primarily to take part in the 25th annivresary jubilee of St. Paul's M. E. church.

In the evening the pastor preached from the text found in Rom. 14:7. In the afternoon, he spoke at the mass meeting in the Swedish Methodist church.

The Sunday school sessions have been discontinued for three weeks.

On Thursday evening the regular prayer meeting will take place.

There will be an outing of the Sunday school teachers and their families Saturday afternoon at Squantum beginning at 2 o'clock. A shore dinner will be served at 6 and the return will be made at 8 o'clock.

CALVARY BAPTIST.

The morning service was conducted by Deacon Pettee. Rev. Robert H. Cary of Weymouth, who is engaged in the work of the Anti-Saloon league gave the address. Mr. Cary also spoke in the evening.

The Y. P. S. C. E. meeting was held at 6 o'clock with Alex Mundie as leader.

A lawn party for members of the Junior C. E. society is taking place at the home of the pastor, 206 Franklin street, this afternoon . Mrs. Davis, who is superintending the work among the juniors is organizing the children into a regular society with officers and committees.

The Bible Study class will meet at the church Tuesday evening at the usual hour.

The regular mid week prayer meeting will be held Thursday evening at 7.30.

The Ladies Circle will meet on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Abbott, 8 Marsh street.

Your Clothes Need Attention!

Keep them in a sanitary condition by our modern cleansing process.

Just phone 594 M or write and our team will call.

WARSHAW'S DYE HOUSE
"The House of Cleanliness"
1503 HANCOCK STREET
QUINCY
July 8-tf

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.

To the heirs apparent or presumptive of Susan J. Lund of Weymouth in said County of Norfolk:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court, by Florence H. Adams of said Weymouth, alleging that said Susan J. Lund has become incapacitated by reason of advanced age or mental weakness to properly care for her property, and praying that she, said Florence H. Adams or some other suitable person, may be appointed conservator of her property, agreeably to the law in such case made and provided. You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy in said County of Norfolk, on the twelfth day of July A. D. 1911, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And the petitioner is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in said Quincy, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-sixth day of June in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.
June 27-3t 27, 3, 10

REVISED FIRE ALARM

The Ledger prints the complete list of boxes today. It is the only complete and authentic list of fire alarm boxes, and the arrangement is original with the Daily Ledger:

7 Corner Farnum and Edison Streets.
12 Palmer Street, near Whiten's.
13 Corner Shelton Road and Sea Sts.
14 Church turn-out, Manet Avenue.
15 Germantown, Sailors' Snug Harbor.
16 Sea Street, near Rock Island Road
17 Sea street, near Dunham's.
19 Rock Island.

21 Corner Whitwell and Granite Sts.
23 Hancock Street, near Hall's stable.
24 Whitwell Street, near Hospital.
25 Corner Newcomb and Canal Sts.
26 Hancock, opposite City Hall.
27 Corner Elm and Washington Sts
28 Corner Greenleaf and Hancock Sts.
29 Corner Butler Road and Putnam

31 Phipps Street, near Payne Street.
32 Independence Avenue and Franklin
34 Corner High and Franklin Streets.
35 Corner Hancock and School Streets.
36 Junction Pleasant and Quincy Sts
37 Corner Franklin and Water Sts.
38 Corner Liberty and Plain Sts.
39 Corner Penn and Liberty Streets.

41 Corner School and Granite Streets.
42 Corner Copeland and Granite Sts.
43 Corner Common and Copeland Sts.
45 Corner Crescent and Willard Sts.
46 Copeland and Furnace avenue.
47 Corner Bates Avenue and Grove
48 Corner Robertson and Willard Sts.
49 Corner Doble and Willard Streets.

51 Tubular Rivet Factory.
52 Elmwood Avenue and Farrington.
53 Winthrop and Warren Avenues.
54 Hancock Street, near Elm Avenue.
56 Beale, opposite Wollaston Hotel.
57 Corner Beach and Willow Streets.
58 Corner Beale and Adams Streets.
59 Beale Street and Central Avenue.

61 Squantum and Hancock Streets.
62 Corner Atlantic and Hancock Sts.
63 Hancock Street, near Atlantic depot.
64 Billings Street and Newbury Ave.
64 (D) Combination No. 2 House.
65 Faxon Road and Squantum Street.
66 Prospect and Billings.
67 Corner Atlantic and Squantum Sts
68 Squantum.
69 Montclair.

71 Corner Mill and Washington Sts.
72 Washington Street, corner South.
73 Corner Winter and Howard Sts.
74 Corner River and Washington Sts
75 Corner Main and Sumner Streets.
76 Washington corner Wharf.
76 (D) Power House, Q. & B. St. R'y.,
78 Fore River Ship Building Works.

112 Sea street near Willows.
113 Post Island.
114 Engine House, Houghs Neck.
116 Centre road and Darrow Street.
117 Great Hill, Hough's Neck.
119 Rockland and Rhoda, R. I.
121 President's Hill.
122 Chestnut Street and Revere Road.
123 Hancock Street, near Car Barn.
124 Corner Goffe and Adams Streets.
126 Russell Park.
136 Brook Road and Water Street.
138 Corner Brooks Avenue and Centre
143 Station Street.
147 Granite Railway Yard.
151 Billings Road and Beach Street.
152 Corner Billings and Rawson Roads.
153 Farrington near Wol. Foundry.
154 Wollaston Ave. near Sailors' Home.
155 Warren Avenue, near Newton St.
161 Newport avenue opp. Foundry.
171 Whicher's factory, Union Street.
172 Corner Glencoe place and New Rd.
173 Newcomb Square, Quincy Avenue.
174 Junction North and South Streets.
175 Quincy Avenue, near Mrs. Baxter's.

221 Glendale road and Beacon.
223 Washington and Foster.
226 Dimmock and Upland road.
242 (P) City Hospital.
272 Corner Washington and Pray Sts.
273 (P) Baker Basin.

321 Intervale Street and Brook Avenue.
324 Adams St., near Whitwell St.,
331 Franklin and School.
332 Federal and Independence aves.
412 Corner Willard and West Streets.
413 Buckley and Arthur
431 Rogers Street, off Hall place.
432 Willard and Furnace avenue.
441 Smith Street, rear C. H. Hardwick's
442 Quarry Street, near Hitchcock's.
443 Corner Hayden and West Streets.
445 Corner Quarry and Common Streets.
446 Opposite Willard School, Copeland.
512 Grand View and South Central Ave.
513 Foot Beach Street.
515 Quincy Mansion School.
524 Berlin and Woodbine.
552 Brook and Granger.
553 Belmont and Warren avenue.

612 Hancock Street and Billings Road.
613 Hayward opp. Gear Works.
614 Glover avenue and Newbury avenue
615 Oak and Walnut.
617 Squantum and Huckins avenue.

712 Broadway and Commonwealth ave.
718 (P) Johnson's Lumber Yard.
721 South and Chubbuck.
722 Washington and Union.
723 South and Clairmont Avenue.
725 South and Winthrop park.

D—Duplicate. P—Private.

For brush and grass fire, send word by telephone or otherwise, to the nearest Fire station.

SIGNALS—Fire Department.

Twelve (12) blows, followed by Box number—General Alarm
Ten (10) blows followed by Box number—Second alarm.
Four (4) blows—Special call for Hose No. 1.
Two (2) blows—Recall.
Three (3) blows—Chief Engineer's call.
One (1) blow, 7 A. M. and 5 P. M.—Fire Alarm test.
2-2 three times—No school.
4-4-4—Military call.
Seven (7) blows—Electric Light Co. to shut off current.
3-3-3—Police call.
Lost Child call. 5-5-5—then one round of the Box nearest to where the lost child lives.
Six (6) blows—Superintendent Water Works call.
Two (2) blows, 8.55 P. M.—Curfew Law.

132—Out of City Call, Braintree.
135— " " " Weymouth
158— " " " Milton.
162— " " " Boston.

Quincy Daily Ledger

HIGH TIDE FOR WEEK.

Monday, July 10,	11.00	11.00
Tuesday,	11.30	11.45
Wednesday,	1200	12.15
Thursday,	12.15	12.45
Friday,	1.00	1.30
Saturday,	1.45	2.00
Sunday,	2.15	2.45

1911 JULY 1911

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
						1
2	3	4	5	6	7	8
9	10	11	12	13	14	15
16	17	18	19	20	21	22
23	24	25	26	27	28	29
30	31

Heat Victims Buried

EDWARD B. LANGLEY.

The funeral of Edward B. Langley, one of Quincy's heat victims was held Saturday afternoon from his late home on Hancock street and were very largely attended. In addition to many friends the services were attended by the members of the Foresters of America, Quincy nest of Owls, Quincy lodge of Moose, and John Adams aerie of Eagles and a large delegation from Maple lodge Knights and Ladies of Honor each of which organizations sent floral offerings. There was also a delegation from the Electrical Workers union. The services were conducted by Rev. R. J. Davis of the Calvary Baptist church. After the services the orders escorted the remains as far as City Hall.

ANTONIO RUSSO.

The funeral of Antonio Russo another victim of the heat was held Saturday from St. John's church, mass being celebrated by Rev. Neil Paul Brennan. The burial was at St. Mary's cemetery.

BRIEFS

Mrs. S. N. Elvin of Euclid avenue is spending a few days in Centreville, R. I.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Marnock and daughter of Washington street are at Ponemah, N. M., for a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Jameson and son of Wolaston park are at Rye beach where they are registered at the Sea View hotel.

Rev. Axel Andrea, 180 Whitwell street, who was ordained at the national conference in Duluth, will preach his first sermon to his parish in Waltham next Sunday morning.

Miss Lucy Shunk of Wollaston starts Wednesday for Plainfield, Vt. to to make an extended visit with her sister Mrs. Charles C. Abbott. She will make most of the trip by auto, Mr. and Mrs. Abbott meeting her at Concord, N. H., with their new car. They will stop a few days at the White Mountains before going to Plainfield.

Rev. T. C. Martin of West Quincy preached at the Wollaston Methodist church at the morning service. At the Sunday school a special program was given, Mr. Martin speaking here. Mrs. Crothers led the Epworth League. A quartet of younger children sang, and Miss Crittenden and Miss Cleveland sang a duet. There will be the regular prayer meeting Friday at 7.45 o'clock.

NO BIDS FOR PEDIGREED DOGS.

The crow declared the weather was too hot to bid and thirty-five pedigreed dogs from Thomas W. Lawson's Dreamwold kennels found no bidders on Thursday.

One Boston terrier was sold for $16, a pup of the same breed brought $7 and a Scotch terrier bitch brought $5. If the weather is more favorable another attempt will be made Monday.

A few hours before the attempted sale of the dogs, William A. Barnett of Everett, kennel keeper for Lawson, was fined $50 in the Chelsea police court for practising medicine without a license. He pleaded guilty to the charge. The complaint alleged that Barnett prescribed for four King Charles spaniels owned by Mrs. E. B. Walbridge of Revere. The dogs died.

The lady in a hurry—Why didn't you stop at once conductor, when you saw me waving my hand?

The Nice Conductor—Gee! I thought you was throwin' kisses at me.—Harper's Weekly.

CHICHESTER S PILLS
THE DIAMOND BRAND.
Ladies! Ask your Druggist for Chi-ches-ter's Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with Blue Ribbon. Take no other. Buy of your Druggist. Ask for CHI-CHES-TER S DIAMOND BRAND PILLS, for 25 years known as Best, Safest, Always Reliable
SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

GETTING READY FOR WAR GAME

Great Fleet of Battleships In Provincetown Harbor

OTHERS ARE YET TO COME

Entire North Atlantic Squadron of Fifty-Two Vessels Will Participate In Maneuvers—Town's Population Will Be Swelled by Nearly Twenty-Five Thousand—Jackies Hospitably Entertained by Citizens

Provincetown, Mass., July 10.—The biggest fleet of American vessels of war ever assembled at a single time is stationed in Provincetown harbor awaiting the beginning of the war maneuvers along the Atlantic coast July 15.

The fleet already comprises thirty-five battleships, cruisers, torpedo boats, submarines, colliers, dispatch boats and flagships, and in a few days will be joined by seventeen other ships, including four dreadnoughts, the Delaware, Kansas, Louisiana and New Hampshire, which have been in European waters.

When all the ships arrive it will consist of the entire North Atantic squadron. With the fleet in its harbor Provincetown is the best protected town in the United States.

The town's population of 5000 people has been trebled by the arrival of the fleet and before the week end there will be nearly 25,000 officers, sailors and marines here. Sunday the bluejackets enjoyed shore leave and were hospitaby entertained by residents.

The war game will be waged over the stretch of water running between Gay Head and Montauk Point and the enemy will attempt to run by the defending fleet and enter Narragansett bay or Long Island sound.

Commodore Eberle will be in command of the defenders and Rear Admiral Osterhaus will command the invaders. In the attacking fleet will be more than a dozen battleships, scout cruisers and armored cruisers.

PERHAPS A SUICIDE PACT

Bodies of Engaged Couple Found Floating In Death Embrace

Worcester, Mass., July 10.—Last seen in a canoe as they were paddling about Lake Quinsigamond on the evening of June 18 singing the funeral hymns of their native Finland, the bodies of Olaf M. Wall, aged 30, and his fiancee, Ida Storsjo, 23, were found floating together in a death embrace on the waters of the lake.

The young woman was afflicted with tuberculosis and on the day after she went canoeing with Wall was to have gone to a sanatorium. It is believed the couple planned to end their lives, the young woman fearing there was no hope for her recovery.

Miss Storsjo was held tight in the embrace of her lover, her head resting upon his shoulder.

CAUGHT IN ICE BOX

Gregory Has His Ears and Fingers Frostbitten as a Result

Pittsfield, Mass., July 10.—Wolcott Gregory walked into the ice box in Frank Gilmore's market in Lenox and the door slammed behind him, shutting him securely in.

Gilmore had gone to luncheon and when he opened the ice chest an hour and a half later he discovered Gregory on the floor, unconscious from cold. The temperature inside the cooler was twenty degrees above zero, while in the market window the mercury stood at eigthy-five above.

Cold water was used in bringing Gregory to his senses. He was chilled through and his ears and several fingers were badly frostbitten.

LOSS OF $100,000

Biddeford's Big Fire May Have Been Started by Incendiary

Biddeford, Me., July 10.—It is thought that Biddeford's Saturday night blaze, which started in a lumber yard, causing a loss of $100,000, was the work of an incendiary.

Between forty and fifty families are homeless. Most of them lost everything. Many of them had no insurance. The fire was finally declared out at 4 o'clock Sunday morning. It is believed that all the owners will rebuild immediately and under the city ordinances new buildings must all be of brick.

HAS BOUGHT QUAY HOUSE

Duchess of Marlborough to Become Resident of Washington

Washington, July 10.—The Duchess of Marlborough, who is preparing to return to America, will not take up her abode in New York, but will seek the cosmopolitan society of Washington, according to statements here.

With all the secrecy possible under the circumstances, the old Quay home in K street has been transferred to the Vanderbilt family. Although the deal was closed several weeks ago the fact did not become known until yesterday.

MAXINE ELLIOTT

Actress Says Former Husband Was Unworthy

LAUGHS AT GOODWIN'S BOOK

Maxine Elliott Thinks Nat a Joke as a Matrimonial Authority

London, July 10.—Maxine Elliott was much amused when shown the dispatches concerning the references to herself in Nat Goodwin's book on his matrimonial experiences.

"Oh, this is too funny," she said several times while reading the cable. "Really," she continued, "I don't think anything Goodwin says will be taken seriously in America. As a matrimonial authority he is a joke. His various attempts and failures show that. As for his attack on me, referring to me as Cleopatra and Joan of Arc, I simply snap my fingers.

"As for my entering English society and he losing me, all I will say is—he was unworthy."

WOMAN RIDES 14,478 MILES ON HORSEBACK

Miss Aspinwall Completes Trip Across Continent

New York, July 10.—Miss Nan J. Aspinwall has completed her horseback ride from San Francisco to New York and was greeted at the city hall steps by Borough President McAneny, who acted in the absence of Mayor Gaynor.

The western girl delivered her message and then added that she would rather ride through the wilds of the west than along lower Broadway, for the rumble of the traffic frightened her horse.

Miss Aspinwall left San Francisco in September, 1910. Her diary shows she has travelled 14,478 miles without an escort.

HIGH COST OF LIVING

Of 257 Commodities, 148 Were Increased During the Year 1910

Washington, July 10.—The high cost of living is no myth. An investigation by the bureau of labor of the prices of 257 commodities during 1910 shows that wholesale prices in that year were 4 percent higher than in 1909.

Wholesale prices in 1910 were 19.1 percent higher than in 1900, 46.7 percent higher than in 1897 (which was the year of lowest prices between 1890 and 1910), 18.6 percent higher than in 1890 and 31.6 percent higher than the average high prices between 1890 and 1899.

Of the 257 commodities considered in the investigation 148 showed an average increase, 26 showed no changes and 83 showed decreases.

CROWDS SHOW LOYALTY

King and Queen Evidently Enjoying Their Visit to Dublin

Dublin, July 10.—The citizens of Dublin continue to give ample evidence of their affection and loyalty to King George. The king's movements are watched everywhere by enthusiastic crowds.

Sunday morning their majesties attended service in St. Patrick's cathedral. In the afternoon the royal party motored to Maynooth college, where they were received by the lord lieutenant of Ireland and others. Afterward they visited the Royal hospital and other institutions.

Rock Crushes Out Two Lives

Portsmouth, R. I., July 10.—Pinned beneath a huge boulder weighing nearly 2000 pounds, Joseph Murphy and Robert Shotten, working at the collieries of the Rhode Island Coal, were instantly killed.

Comedian Montgomery Dead

New York, July 10.—Harry Montgomery, the comedian, died at his home here after a short illness. He was born in St. Joseph, Mo., 42 years ago.

Dix Signs Loan Shark Bill

Albany, July 10.—A so-called "loan shark" bill, designed to prohibit the charge of exorbitant rates of interest, was signed by Governor Dix.

WALDO ENTERS STOKES CASE

Commissioner Orders Probe of Lost Letters

TAKEN BY ANSONIA EMPLOYE

Said to Have Been Removed From Room of Misses Graham and Conrad While Three City Detectives Were In Charge—Hearing of Accused Girls Postponed Because of Disappearance of Elevator Boy Wanted as Witness

New York, July 10.—The Stokes shooting case, in which Ethel Conrad and Lillian Graham are charged with trying to kill W. E. D. Stokes, the millionaire hotel owner, took a new and sensational turn when Police Commissioner Waldo ordered an investigation of the charge that three city detectives had allowed a package of letters to be taken from the girls' apartment by an agent of Stokes after the shooting.

The letters were those which Stokes says he was after when he went to the apartments of the defendants. Instead of giving him the letters, Stokes says the girls first attempted blackmail and then tried to shoot him to death.

Detectives Sullivan, McCormick and Welsh of the city force took charge of the girls' rooms after the shooting and allowed James Cummins, house detective at Stokes' hotel, the Ansonia, to carry off the letters under their very noses, it is said.

These letters were turned over to A. H. Gleason, Stokes' confidential secretary, it is claimed, and finally reached the office of the district attorney. They were eight in number. The defense claims that there were other letters in the package, and that these have been suppressed because they contained matter that would be detrimental to Stokes.

Cummins admitted on the stand that he had secreted the package of letters in his pocket while making an investigation of Miss Graham's apartment. He said he had found the letters in a basket behind the sofa. This package of letters, he says, he took while the three policemen were in the room with him.

The preliminary trial was halted by the disappearance of Wilfred Hart, the negro elevator boy in the Varuna apartment house. Hart was on duty in the Varuna on the evening of the Stokes shooting and it was said would contradict the version given by the millionaire of his visit to the young women in that apartment house.

When Hart failed to appear the proceedings were delayed while officers went in search of the missing witness. After waiting half an hour for the appearance of the witness, Magistrate Freschi adjourned the trial until Tuesday.

PRISONERS KEEP PROMISE

Return to Their Cells After Being Released to Fight Fire

Appleton, Wis., July 10.—"We promise not to run away if you will let us help put out the fire," chorused the dozen inmates at the Outagamie county workhouse when fire was discovered in the engine room at a quarry a short distance from the workhouse.

Superintendent Stammer took the men at their word and they rushed to the scene of the blaze, formed a bucket brigade and worked for two hours, finally extinguishing the fire and holding the property loss to less than $10,000. Every man returned to his cell after the fire.

Meantime the superintendent, relying on the pledge of the prisoners, did not put a single guard over them.

COP IN BATHING TRUNKS

Fools Offender at Revere Beach by Arresting Him In Ocean

Revere, Mass., July 10.—William Morrissey fled into the Atlantic ocean at Revere Beach to avoid arrest. He figured no cop would wade after him. But William Mason of the metropolitan park police is prepared for aquatic emergency. He wears bathing trunks under his official trousers.

Mason shed his trousers on the beach and plunged in, bringing Morrissey ashore. Morrissey was locked up on a charge of assault on a special officer in a flying horse pavilion.

Fire Kills 263 Horses

Chicago, July 10.—Fire destroyed the stables of the Arthur W. Dickson Transfer company, burned 263 horses to death and caused $500,000 damage. The cause of the fire is unknown.

Smuggled Arms In Wine Barrels

San Salvador, July 10.—Dr. Carlos F. Dardano, who was arrested for conspiracy against the government, has confessed that he brought arms into the country in wine barrels.

Vatican Rejects Spanish Envoy

Rome, July 10.—The Vatican has refused to accept Navarro Reverter as the new Spanish ambassador to the holy see, owing to his liberal views.

The Business you can get to-day by wire may be gone by the time that letter gets there to-morrow.

"Day Letters" should be on your selling force.

THE WESTERN UNION TELEGRAPH COMPANY

BETTER

Put in Your Winter's Supply

Direct from the mines to our yard comes the coal we have for sale—coal that's famous the country over for its free burning qualities, its low percentage of ash, its freedom from impurities.

It's "full value" fuel, and our method of taking and filling orders ensures satisfaction. Orders placed now save money for buyers.

TAKE A LOOK IN YOUR BIN then act.

SPECIAL RANGE COAL

Stove or Nut

$7.25 Cash

C. PATCH & SON, INC.

Office, 1422 Hancock Street, Quincy

Are You Going Away?

If so have the DAILY LEDGER sent to your vacation address. You cannot afford to be without your home paper.

FILL OUT THIS BLANK

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER:—

Send the Daily Ledger for _____ address below.

SEND YOUR ORDER AT ONCE

THE DANGER TRAIL

By JAMES OLIVER CURWOOD

Copyright, 1910, by Bobbs-Merrill Company.

SYNOPSIS

Jack Howland, engineer, sent to build the Hudson Bay railroad, is appealed to for help by a beautiful girl who writes that she is a mute and invites him to accompany her. They are followed by Jean Croisset, half breed.

They go to her camp. He is attacked and nearly killed by a huge stranger. The girl disappears. Howland hears her speak. Croisset gives him the little Meleese's warning not to go north. He goes.

(Continued from last issue)

CHAPTER V.

THE LOVE OF A MAN.

FOR a moment the girl hesitated, her ungloved hands clinched on her breast, her bloodless face tense with a strange grief, as she saw the outstretched arms of the man whom her treachery had almost lured to his death. Then, slowly, she approached, and once more Howland held her hands clasped to him and gazed questioningly down into the wild eyes that stared into his own.

"Why did you run away from me?" were the first words that he spoke. They came from him gently, as if he had known her for a long time. He repeated the question, bending his head until he felt the soft touch of her hair on his lips. "Why did you run away from me?"

She drew away from him, her eyes searching his face.

"I lied to you," she breathed, her words coming to him in a whisper. "I lied"—

The words caught in her throat. He saw her struggling to control herself, to stop the quivering of her lip, the tremble in her voice. In another moment she had broken down, and with a low sobbing cry sank in a chair beside the table and buried her head in her arms. As Howland saw the convulsive trembling of her shoulders his soul was flooded with a strange joy—not at this sight of her grief, but at the knowledge that she was sorry for what she had done. Softly he approached. The girl's fur cap had fallen off. Her long, shining braid was half undone and its silken strands fell over her shoulder and glistened in the lamp glow on the table. His hand hesitated and then fell gently on the bowed head.

"I BELIEVE THAT IT WAS NECESSARY FOR YOU TO—LIE."

"Sometimes the friend who lies is the only friend who's true," he said. "I believe that it was necessary for you to—lie."

Just once his hand stroked her soft hair, then, catching himself, he went to the opposite side of the narrow table and sat down. When the girl raised her head there was a bright flush in her cheeks.

"You believe that?" she questioned eagerly. "You believe that it was necessary for me to—lie?"

"Yes," said Howland. He spoke the one word with a finality that sent a soft gladness into the deep blue eyes across from him. "I believe that you had to lie to me."

His low voice was vibrant with unbounded faith. Other words were on his lips, but he forced them back. A part of what he might have said—a part of the strange, joyous tumult in his heart—betrayed itself in his face, and before that betrayal the girl drew back slowly, the color fading from her cheeks.

"And I believe you will not lie to me again," he said.

She rose to her feet and flung back her hair, looking down on him in the manner of one who had never before met this kind of man and knew not what to make of him.

"No; I will not lie to you again," she replied more firmly. "Do you believe me now?"

"Yes."

"Then go back into the south. I have come to tell you that again tonight—to make you believe me. You should have turned back at Le Pas. If you don't go—tomorrow"—

Her voice seemed to choke her, and she stood without finishing, leaving him to understand what she had meant to say. In an instant Howland was at her side. Once more his old, resolute fighting blood was up. Firmly he took her hands again, his eyes compelling her to look up at him.

"If I don't go tomorrow—they will kill me," he completed, repeating the words of her note to him. "Now, if you are going to be honest with me, tell me this—who is going to kill me, and why?"

He felt a convulsive shudder pass through her as she answered,

"I also said that I would not lie to you again. If I can not tell you the truth I will tell you nothing. It is impossible for me to say why your life is in danger."

"But you know?"

"Yes."

He seated her again in the chair beside the table and sat down opposite her.

"Will you tell me who you are?"

She hesitated, twisting her fingers nervously in a silken strand of her hair.

"Will you?" he persisted.

"If I tell you who I am," she said at last, "you will know who is threatening your life."

He stared at her in astonishment.

"The devil, you say!" The words slipped from his lips before he could stop them. For a second time the girl rose from her chair.

"You will go?" she entreated. "You will go tomorrow?"

Her hand was on the latch of the door.

"You will go?"

He had risen and was lighting a cigar over the chimney of the lamp. Laughing, he came toward her.

"Yes, surely I am going—to see you safely home." Suddenly he turned back to the lounge and belted on his revolver and holster. When he returned she barred his way defiantly, her back against the door.

"You cannot go."

"Why?"

"Because"—he caught the frightened flutter of her voice again—"because they will kill you."

The low laugh that he breathed in her hair was more of joy than fear.

"I am glad that you care," he whispered to her softly.

"You must go," she still persisted.

"With you, yes," he answered.

"No, no; tomorrow. You must go back to La Pas—back into the south. Will you promise me that?"

"Perhaps," he said. "I will tell you soon." She surrendered to the determination in his voice and allowed him to pass out into the night with her. Swiftly she led him along a path that ran into the deep gloom of the balsam and spruce. He could hear the throbbing of her heart and her quick, excited breathing as she stopped, one of her hands clasping him nervously by the arm.

"It is not very far from here," she whispered. "You must not go with me. If they saw me with you at this hour"— He felt her shuddering against him.

"Only a little farther," he begged.

She surrendered again hesitatingly, and they went on more slowly than before until they came to where a few faint lights in the camp were visible ahead of them.

"Now—now you must go."

Howland turned as if to obey. In an instant the girl was at his side.

"You have not promised," she entreated. "Will you go—tomorrow?"

In the luster of the eyes that were turned up to him in the gloom Howland saw again the strange sweet power that had taken possession of his soul. It did not occur to him in these moments that he had known this girl for only a few hours; that until tonight he had heard no word pass from her lips. He was conscious only that in the space of those few hours something had come into his life which he had never known before, and a deep longing to tell her this, to take her sweet face between his hands as they stood in the gloom of the forest and to confess to her that she had become more to him than a passing vision in a strange wilderness, filled him.

He crushed her hands once more to his breast as he had done on the Great North trail, holding her so close that he could feel the throbbing of her bosom against him. He spoke no word, and still her eyes pleaded with him to go. Suddenly he freed one of his hands and brushed back the thick hair from her brow and turned her face gently until what dim light came down from the stars above glowed in the beauty of her eyes. In his own face she saw that which he had not dared to speak, and from her lips there came a soft little sobbing cry.

"No, I have not promised, and I will not promise," he said, holding her face so that she could not look away from him. "Forgive me for—for—doing this"— And before she could move he caught her for a moment close in his arms, holding her so that he felt the quick beating of her heart against his own, the sweep of her hair and breath in his face. "This is why I will not go back," he cried softly. "It is because I love you—love you"—

He caught himself, choking back the words, and as she drew away from him her eyes shone with a glory that made him half reach out his arms to her.

"You will forgive me!" he begged. "I do not mean to do wrong. Only you must know why I shall not go back into the south."

From her distance she saw his arms stretched like shadows toward her. Her voice was low, so low that he could hardly hear the words she spoke, but its sweetness thrilled him.

"If you love me you will do this thing for me. You will go tomorrow."

"And you?"

"I?" He heard the tremulous quiver in her voice. "Very soon you will forget that you have—ever—seen—me."

From down the path there came the sound of low voices. Excitedly the girl ran to Howland, thrusting him back with her hands.

"Go! Go!" she cried tensely. "Hurry back to the cabin! Lock your door, and don't come out again tonight! Oh, please, if you love me, please, go"—

The voices were approaching. Howland fancied that he could distinguish dark shadows between the thinned walls of the forest. He laughed softly.

"I am not going to run, little girl," he whispered. "See?" He drew his revolver so that it gleamed in the light of the stars.

With a frightened gasp the girl pulled him into the thick bushes beside the path until they stood a dozen paces from where those who were coming down the trail would pass. There was a silence as Howland slipped his weapon back into its holster. Then the voices came again, very near, and at the sound of them his companion shrank close to him, her hands clutching his arms, her white, frightened face raised to him in piteous appeal. His blood leaped through him like fire. He knew that the girl had recognized the voices—that they who were about to pass him were the mysterious enemies against whom she had warned him. Perhaps one was the man who had attacked him on the Great North trail. His muscles grew tense. The girl could feel them straining under her hands, could feel his body grow rigid and alert. His hand fell again on his revolver. He made a step past her, his eyes flashing, his face as set as iron. Almost sobbing, she pressed herself against his breast, holding him back.

"Don't—don't—don't!" she whispered.

They could hear the cracking of brush under the feet of those who were approaching. Suddenly the sounds ceased not twenty paces away.

From his arms the girl's hands rose slowly to his shoulders, to his face, caressingly, pleadingly, her beautiful eyes glowing, half with terror, half with a prayer to him.

"Don't!" she breathed again, so close that her sweet breath fell warm on his face. "Don't—if you—if you care for me!"

Gently he drew her close in his arms, crushing her face to his breast, kissing her hair, her eyes, her mouth.

"I love you," he whispered again and again.

The steps were resumed, the voices died away. Then there came a pressure against his breast, a gentle resistance, and he opened his arms so that the girl drew back from him. Her lips were smiling at him, and in that smile there was gentle accusation, the sweetness of forgiveness, and he could see that with these there had come also a flush into her cheeks and a dazzling glow into her eyes.

"They are gone," she said tremblingly.

"Yes; they are gone."

He stood looking down into her glowing face in silence. Then, "They are gone," he repeated. "They were the men who tried to kill me at Prince Albert. I have let them go—for you. Will you tell me your name?"

"Yes—that much—now. It is Meleese."

"Meleese!"

The name fell from him sharply. In an instant there recurred to him all that Croisset had said, and there almost came from his lips the half breed's words, which had burned themselves in his memory, "Perhaps you will understand when I tell you this warning is sent to you by the little Meleese." What had Croisset meant?

She drew back from him slowly, the color fading from her cheeks, and as she saw the light in his eyes there burst from her a short, stifled cry.

"Now you understand—you understand why you must go back into the south," she almost sobbed. "Oh, I have sinned to tell you my name! But you will go, won't you? You will go—for me."

"For you I would go to the end of the earth!" interrupted Howland, his pale face near to her. "But you must tell me why. I don't understand you. I don't know why those men tried to kill me in Prince Albert. I don't know why my life is in danger here. Croisset told me that my warning back there came from a girl named Meleese. I didn't understand him. I don't understand you. It is all a mystery to me. So far as I know I have never had enemies. I never heard your name until Croisset spoke it. What did he mean? What do you mean? Why do you want to drive me from the Wekusko? Why is my life in danger? It is for you to tell me these things. I have been honest with you. I love you. I will fight for you if it is necessary, but you must tell me—tell me"—

His breath was hot in her face, and she stared at him as if what she heard robbed her of the power of speech.

"Won't you tell me?" he whispered, more softly. "Meleese"— She made no effort to resist him as he drew her once more in his arms, crushing her sweet lips to his own. "Meleese, won't you tell me?"

Suddenly she lifted her hands to his face and pushed back his head, looking squarely into his eyes.

"If I tell you," she said softly, "and in telling you I betray those whom I love, will you promise to bring harm to none of them, but go—go back into the south?"

"And leave you?"

"Yes, and leave me."

There was the faintest tremor of a sob in the voice which she was trying so hard to control. His arms tightened about her.

"I will swear to do what is best for you—and for me," he replied. "I will swear to bring harm to none whom you care to shield. But I will not promise to leave you!"

A soft glow came into the girl's eyes as she unclasped his arms and stood back from him.

"I will think—think"— she whispered quickly. "Perhaps I will tell you tomorrow night—here—if you will keep your oath and do what is best for you—and for me."

"I swear it!"

"Then I will meet you here—at this time—when the others are asleep. But tomorrow you will be careful—careful"— Unconsciously she half reached her arms out to him as she turned toward the path. "You will be careful tomorrow. Promise me that."

"I promise."

Like a shadow she was gone.

(To be Continued.)

EARLY SUMMER FROCKS.

A New Blouse—Color Combination—As Original Summer cloak—The Revival of Taffeta—Eyelet Embroidery in Many Rather Novel Uses.

At June weddings where everyone dons her newest and prettiest frock to do honor to the occasion, one sees smart toilets that foreshadow next season's getups and are therefore worthy of study.

TAFFETAS BACK AND COMING.

No one can doubt that taffeta will come generally into favor by Autumn for already it is greatly worn by women whose clothes are sure to be copied. Changeables and green-striped taffetas, as well as all green dresses of this silk are decidedly modish. The taffeta is however the soft, clinging weave with never a hint of stiffness or rustle in its folds, and with it come the pinked ruches, and velvet ribbon trimmings that always make their appearance simultaneously. Thin weaves of cotton with elaborate garnishments of taffeta are among the prettiest of the dresses at weddings and lawn affairs. Out door meets, horse-shows, dog-shows, garden parties, etc. lend quite an English air to the suburban places and make great demands for wraps and throw-overs that protect a dainty gown and lend a needed bit of warmth without detracting from style or becomingness.

4065

The above design is by The McCall Company, New York, Designers and Makers of McCall Patterns.

A NOVEL COAT.

A coat for warm days, to go with lingerie gowns is made of allover eyelet embroidery on white linen, with a loose lining of white satin and big collar and cuffs of black and white striped silk, or it is made with a colored lining, and the striped cuffs and collar repeat the color. Eyelet embroidery on muslin of quite ordinary quality becomes transformed when ipped in a solution of weak tea or coffee and takes on the fashionable ecru tint that is faddish for many uses. Lingerie frocks made of it are unlined and worn over a slip of muslin or messaline. These are finished with five inch hems of colored taffeta, and this is often headed with an upstanding frill of tea tinted lace. The Empire bodices are gathered into a plaited girdle of the silk often having a long sash end falling down just at the left of the centre front. The cuffs and collar are of matching taffeta or stitched bands of the silk can be used for neck and collar finishes, if preferred.

THE HAT.

The hats, worn with these are of wide garden shapes of taffeta to match, the upper part made of the ecru embroidery and finished with an inch wide plaiting of the lace at the edge. No other trimming than fancy hat pins is needed but a cluster of colored flowers can be worn if liked. A passe lingerie gown can be transformed into modishness by dyeing and taffeta trimmings.

THE NEW BLOUSE.

A new blouse about which the girls have gone crazy is cut in one piece like the kimono waist, but opens only a few inches down the front to slip over the head. A trim little pocket goes on the left side, a lace yoke in the neck and this is drawn up with a cord and tassel when the waist is on.

Lucy Carter.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, Lucas County, ss.

Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure. FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

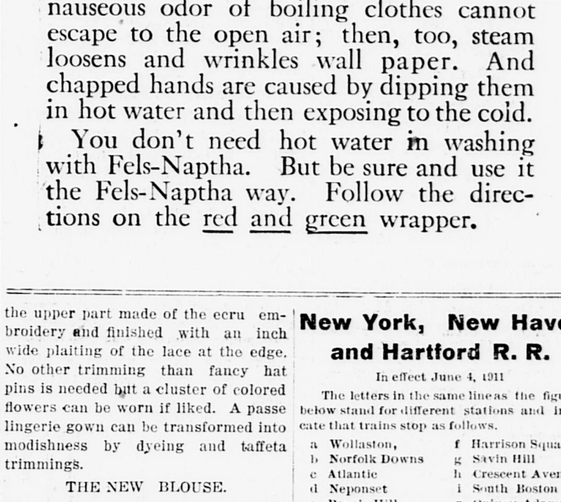
A. W. GLEASON, (Seal) Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.



Anty Drudge Changes Grocers.

Grocer Shortsight—"Madam, the whole secret is in the naphtha. Now here's a new naphtha soap—try it."

Anty Drudge—"Naphtha nothin'! Couldn't I get a little naphtha of my own, if it was only naphtha did it. I tell you these imitations don't have the combination that's in Fels-Naptha soap, and won't wash clothes the Fels-Naptha way. Here's where I quit trading with you."

We are sometimes asked by housewives if Fels-Naptha soap is as good for washing clothes in winter as in summer. Better, if that is possible.

The best thing about Fels-Naptha is that you don't have to boil the clothes either winter or summer. And because boiling is more disagreeable in winter, Fels-Naptha is a greater blessing then. In the winter doors and windows are closed, and the nauseous odor of boiling clothes cannot escape to the open air; then, too, steam loosens and wrinkles wall paper. And chapped hands are caused by dipping them in hot water and then exposing to the cold.

You don't need hot water in washing with Fels-Naptha. But be sure and use it the Fels-Naptha way. Follow the directions on the red and green wrapper.

A NEW CREATION

WEBSTER'S NEW INTERNATIONAL DICTIONARY

THE MERRIAM WEBSTER

The Only New unabridged dictionary in many years.

Contains the pith and essence of an authoritative library. Covers every field of knowledge. An Encyclopedia in a single book.

The Only Dictionary with the New Divided Page.

400,000 Words. 2700 Pages. 6000 Illustrations. Cost nearly half a million dollars.

Let us tell you about this most remarkable single volume.

Write for sample pages, full particulars, etc. Name this paper and we will send free a set of Pocket Maps

G. & C. Merriam Co. Springfield, Mass.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

In effect June 4, 1911

The letters in the same line as the figures below stand for different stations and indicate that trains stop as follows.

a Wollaston, b Norfolk Downs, c Atlantic, d Neponset, e Pope's Hill, f Harrison Square, g Savin Hill, h Crescent Avenue, i South Boston, r Quincy Adams. Exp.—Express train.

TO BOSTON			FROM BOSTON
Leave	Stop	Arrive	Leave	Stop	Arrive
r 5 14	abcdefghi	5 41	5 45	ihgfedcba	6 14 r
r 6 16	abci	6 35	6 12	ihgfedcba	6 39 r
r 6 33	e	6 48	6 30	a	6 47
r 6 40	abcf	7 00	7 15	hgfedcba	7 41 r
r 7 08	abcd	7 30	7 41	a	7 58
r 7 25	d	7 42	7 45	c	8 03 r
r 7 33	Exp	7 48	8 35	cb	8 53
r 7 42	ab	8 00	8 42	a	8 59
7 57	a	8 13	9 10	fedba	9 32 r
r 8 09	abcd	8 31	9 45	a	10 11 r
r 8 30	Exp	8 45	10 15	ihgfedcba	10 41 r
r 8 53	ad	9 10	10 50	Exp	11 05
r 9 15	abc	9 35	11 15	hgfedcba	11 41 r
r 10 03	a	10 20	11 50	a	12 07
r 10 19	abcdefghi	10 45	12 15	hgfedcba	12 41 r
11 12	a	11 28	12 37	a	12 54 r
r 11 24	abcdefgh	11 50	12 50	Exp	1 05
12 04	a	12 20	1 11	fedcba	1 32 r
r 12 25	abcdefghi	12 52	1 45	a	2 02
1 22	a	1 40	2 15	ihgf	2 37 r
2 04	a	2 20	2 35	Exp	2 50
r 2 19	abcdefgh	2 45	3 15	hgfedcba	3 40 r
r 3 13	Exp	3 28	3 45	a	4 02
4 04	a	4 20	4 12	fedcba	4 34 r
r 4 25	abcdefgh	4 52	4 41	d	4 58
5 06	Exp	5 20	5 14	a	5 31 r
r 5 20	abcdefg	5 55	5 21	a	5 42
6 12	a	6 30	5 31	deb	5 50 r
7 22	Exp	7 37	5 43	a	6 00 r
r 7 30	a	7 46	5 55	fedcba	6 21 r
r 8 07	abcdefgh	8 30	6 14	Exp	6 30 r
r 9 01	abc	9 20	6 30	ecba	6 51 r
10 04	a	10 20	7 00	fedcba	7 24 r
r 10 07	abcdef	10 30	7 12	a	7 29
r 11 25	abc	11 45	8 05	ba	8 32
			9 25	dba	9 46 r
			10 35	fedcba	11 02 r
			11 10	fedcba	11 35 r
			11 30	ba	11 49

SUNDAYS

r 7 43	abc	8 03	6 30	ba	6 48 r
8 30	Exp	8 45	8 45	ihgfedcba	9 13 r
8 34	abc	8 52	9 05	Exp	9 21
r 8 46	bcdefghi	9 13	10 05	ihgfedcba	10 -2 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	12 15	ihgfedcba	12 42 r
9 31	a	9 47	12 45	Exp	1 01
10 23	ac	10 40	1 30	ihgfedcba	1 57 r
10 31	Exp	10 47	2 15	hgfedcba	2 42 r
11 00	Exp	11 17	2 45	a	3 02
r 11 16	abcdefghi	11 43	3 15	ihgfedcba	3 42 r
1 02	Exp	1 17	4 27	cba	4 48 r
r 1 16	abcdefgh	1 43	5 15	ihgfedcba	5 42 r
r 3 10	abc	3 30	6 15	ihgfedcba	6 42 r
r 4 16	abcdefghi	4 43	7 00	cba	7 19 r
r 5 07	abc	5 27	8 15	ihgfedcba	8 41 r
r 6 16	abcdefghi	6 43	8 50	Exp.	9 05
r 7 16	abcdefghi	7 42	9 30	ihgfedcba	9 57 r
r 8 11	abcdefghi	8 38	10 45	cba	11 04 r
r 9 05	a	9 22
r 10 46	abc	11 05
r 11 01	abc	11 20

West Quincy for Boston (stopping at East Milton)-6.23, 6.56, 7.17, 8.04, 8.11, 9.07 10.09, 11.01, A. M. 12.09, 1.23, 2.09, 3.18, 4.09, 5.13 6.06, 7.19, 9.09, 11.14 P. M. Sundays- 8.20, 9.20 A. M. 12.20, 5.15, 6.59, 11.02 P. M.

Boston for West Quincy (stopping at East Milton)-6.35, 7.27, 8.23, 9.35, 10.25, 11.35 A. M. 12.25 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 5.47, 6.18 7.20, 9.10, 11.20 P. M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M 12.38, 4.57, 5.37, 10.15 P. M.

Boston & Northern St. Ry. Co.

QUINCY DIVISION

TIME TABLE

In effect June 24th, 1911.

Subject to Change Without Notice

Leave QUINCY for

Brockton, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M. then 9.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Brockton, 6.30, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 9.30 P. M Sundays, 8.00A. M. then same as week days.

Braintree, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Braintree, 6.25 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.25 P. M. Sundays, 7.55 A. M. then same as week days.

East Milton, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Milton, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M., and every 20 minutes to 11.45 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.15 midnight.) Sundays, 7.25, A. M. then same as week days.

East Weymouth, 6.00, 6.15, 6.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.42 P. M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Weymouth, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.45 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Holbrook, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M. then 9.50 and 10.20 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Holbrook, 5.55, 6.25, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.00 P. M. Sundays, 8.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Houghs Neck, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 5.20, 5.45, 6.10 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 4.10 P. M. then 4.25, 4.40, 4.55, 5.10, 5.25, 5.40, 5.55, 6.10, 6.25, 6.40, 6.55, 7.10 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 11.10 P. M. then 11.49 P. M. Saturdays and Holidays, 5.20, 5.45, 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, 10.10, 10.40, A. M. then every 15 minutes to 10.40 P. M. then 11.10 and 11.49 P. M. Sundays, 6.50, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, 10.10, 10.40 A. M. then every 15 minutes to 10.40 P. M. then 11.10 P. M. Return, leave Houghs Neck Mondays to Fridays, both inc. 5.45, 6.05, 6.35 A. M. and ever 30 minutes to 4.35 P. M. then 4.50, 5.05, 5.20, 5.35, 5.50, 6.05, 6.20, 6.35, 6.50, 7.05, 7.20, 7.35 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 12.05 midnight. Saturdays and Holidays, 5.45, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05, A. M. then every 15 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.35 and 12.05 P. M. Sundays, 7.20, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05 A. M. then every 15 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.35 P. M.

Nantasket 8.25 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 9.25 P. M. Sundays, 9.25 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Nantasket, 10.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.00 P. M. Sundays, 10.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Hancock Street, 5.45, 6.14, 6.44, 7.14, 7.44, 8.14, 8.35, A. M. then 5, 14, 35 and 44 minutes past each hour to 10.44 P. M. then 12.14 midnight. Sundays 7.14 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Neponset 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, 8.07, 8.35, 8.37, 9.05, 9.37 A. M. then 5, 7, 35 and 37 minutes past each hour to 11.07 P. M. then 12.37 midnight. Sundays, 7.37 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Wollaston, 5.59 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.59 P. M. then 11.14 and 11.44 P. M. Sundays, 6.59 A. M. then same as week days. Return leave Neponset, 6.22 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.22 P. M. then 11.37, 12.07 P. M. Sundays, 7.22 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Norfolk Downs, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 7.55, 8.25, 8.50, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 1.30 P. M. then 2.05, 2.35 P. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.05 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.00 P. M.) Sundays, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Neponset, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 1.35 P. M. then 2.00, 2.30 P. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M.) Sundays, 8.30, 9.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Weymouth Landing, 5.20, 6.00, 6.20, 6.55, 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.00 P. M. Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days. Return leave Weymouth Landing, 5.40, 6.15, A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.15 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Wollaston, 5.59 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.59 P. M. then 11.14 and 11.44 P. M. Sundays, 6.59 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Wollaston, 6.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.30 P. M. then 11.50 and 12.20 P. M. Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days.

West Quincy, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave West Quincy, 6.00, 6.20, 6.50, A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.50 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.20 midnight) Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days.

Leave NEPONSET BRIDGE for Squantum, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 3.30 P. M. then 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30 P. M. then every 60 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Saturdays, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Sundays, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. (Note—Week Days, cars will leave Atlantic Bridge for Squantum, 5.45 and 6.15 A. M.) Return leave Squantum, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 4.05 P. M. then 4.35, 5.05, 5.35, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05 P. M. then every 60 minutes to 11.05 P. M. Saturdays, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 10.05 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. Sundays, 8.05 9.05, 10.05, A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M.

THOMAS GAMMON, Superintendent.

HOUSEKEEPERS

TELL YOUR TROUBLES

HOLMES & HALL

We make a business of repairing the things about the house that get out of order such as DOORS, LOCKS, SHADES, BELLS and FURNITURE.

96 Washington St., Quincy

TELEPHONE 974 L

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

FIRE INSURANCE.

The Best Insurance. The Lowest Rates.

Insurance Department,

1495 Hancock Street, Quincy.

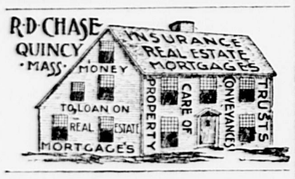
Telephone, Quincy 97-3.

PATTERSON, "The Florist"

92 South Central Ave.

WOLLASTON, MASS.

Telephone 322 Quincy



JAMES F. BURKE

Real Estate and Insurance

AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES

Justice of the Peace Notary Public

Room 4, Savings Bank Building

Tel. 385-3 Jan. 17-tf

UPHOLSTERING

My only ambition is to get the work and to show the people of Quincy Town that nobody can beat me with my good work. Low prices on all kinds of furniture, repairing, mattresses, and cushions. Can give references. M. Mirkin 67 Washington street, next to Y.M.C.A. Quincy. Tel. 1112W. April 10-4mo.

STORAGE

— FOR —

Furniture and Pianos

Storage Warehouse with Separate Rooms

Furniture and Piano Movers

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.

1495 Hancock Street, Quincy Tel. Con.

LEWIS N. CURTIS,

PAINTER and GLAZIER.

LEADED STAINED GLASS.

DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER

OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.

Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

M. T. SULLIVAN

Real Estate Insurance

Auctioneer Care of Property

Justice of the Peace

Corner School and Hancock Streets

QUINCY.

HERBERT A. HAYDEN

Piano Tuner

Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock treet, Quincy.

Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point

Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1173 M Nov. 3-tf

A. M. DEANE & CO.

MONUMENTS

MEMORIALS ERECTED

IN ANY

CEMETERY

IN THE

UNITED STATES

Aug. 1. 1y

Quincy Savings Bank

BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.

SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.

CLARENCE BURGIN,

Treasurer.

PATENTS

PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc. IN ALL COUNTRIES.

Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent.

Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively.

Write or come to us at

710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office,

WASHINGTON, D. C.

CA·SNOW & Co.

Quincy Daily Ledger

FOR SALE AT

BOSTON—At South Station after 3.30 P. M.
QUINCY—Ledger Office 1424 Hancock Street.
L. A. Chapin, 1395 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, oppo. Depot.
Thompson's Waiting Room, City Sq.
H. P. Kittredge, City Square.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
Mrs. Madden, 16 Quincy ave.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's News Stand.
PARK&DOWNS—Branschied & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
QUINCY NECK—Stetson Pierce, Newcomb Square.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith, Washington Street.
Gragg's Pharmacy.
L. A. Cook, Washington Street.
E. O. Godfrey, 538 Washington St.
E. H. Lowe, Washington Street.
George E. Sprague Cor. River St.
SOUTH QUINCY—Litchfield, Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Miss C. Booth, Brooks Avenue.
BREWER'S CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
Mrs. F. H. Stanley.
WEST QUINCY—F. A. Skinner.
John G. Belanger.
HOUGHS NECK—Capt. Fosdick's.

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	100 degrees
July 10, 1910,	90 degrees
July 10, 1909,	85 degrees
July Noon Maximum, 14 years,	101
July Noon Minimum, 14 years.	60

Hamlet's Soliloquy.

"Hiss, yes, hiss the great tragedian. What do you know about the drama? You're nothing but a lot of geese anyway!"

BRIEFS

H. R. Holmes of the firm of Holmes & Hall is confined to his home on Sea street, a victim of the heat.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Williams returned Sunday from a ten days' visit to New York. They report the heat as something terrific in that city.

Mrs. Frank A. Page and Mrs. Thomas Lacey of Grand View avenue are registered at the Atlantis, Kennebunk Beach, Maine.

Mr. Fred Lyman Wheeler of Lexington, Kentucky, a former organist of Christ church is the guest of Misses Sara and Gertrude Thomas at their summer home at Nantasket beach.

Mrs. Thomas Armstrong of Warren avenue accompanied Saturday her niece Miss Alice G. Thomas of Harvard, Mass,. to her home at Elmshade Farm for a week's visit.

B. H. Brown, 206 Franklin street returned this week from an extended trip through the West. His family who have been spending several weeks in Marblehead and Salem will return at the same time.

In the final round of the national golf championship of France, two young men from America had it out for thirty eight holes and "Chick" Evans of Chicago came out on top defeating J. G. Anderson of Newton, formerly of Wollaston by 1 up.

Chinamen For Sailors.

Chinamen or Lascars are said to be preferred by some captains to Britishers or Americans for sailors, not because they will work for lower wages, but because they do not forcibly resent physical ill treatment.

The Dear Girls.

Milly—You know, dear, we've been engaged for two years, and I think it's time we were getting married. Tilley—Oh, I don't know, dear. If you really love him you'll let him be happy for a little longer yet.

A Protection.

"Any man looks stupid when he wears a monocle," said the critical girl.

"That's why so many of us fellows wear 'em," replied the candid youth. "If we happen to look stupid we blame the monocle."—Washington Star.

CARD OF THANKS

Thomas Carroll and family desire to express their sincere thanks to friends and neighbors for kindnesses shown them in their recent bereavement and for the many beautiful floral tributes.

Quincy, July 10-1t

Established 1870 Telephone

JOHN HALL

FUNERAL DIRECTOR

Carriage and Ambulance Service

1485 Hancock Street, Quincy Mass.

LIVE SPORTING EVENTS

ON THE DIAMOND

American League

At St. Louis:	R	H	E
Boston	9	12	3
St. Louis	3	8	1

Batteries—Cicotte and Williams; Nelson, Hamilton, George and Stephens.

At Detroit:	R	H	E
Washington	7	10	1
Detroit	6	12	2

Batteries—Johnson and Henry; Mitchell, Willett and Stanage.

At Cleveland:	R	H	E
Cleveland	1	4	0
Philadelphia	0	4	0

Batteries—Krapp and Fisher; Morgan and Thomas.

At Chicago:	R	H	E
New York	5	11	3
Chicago	2	5	1

Batteries—Ford and Sweeney; Young, Walsh and Sullivan.

	Won.	Lost.	P. C.
Detroit	50	24	.676
Philadelphia	49	25	.662
Chicago	37	33	.529
Boston	38	35	.521
New York	38	35	.521
Cleveland	36	42	.462
Washington	27	48	.360
St. Louis	20	53	.274

National League

	Won.	Lost.	P. C.
New York	45	29	.608
Chicago	43	26	.606
Philadelphia	44	30	.595
St. Louis	42	31	.575
Pittsburg	41	31	.569
Cincinnati	31	40	.437
Brooklyn	27	45	.371
Boston	17	56	.233

New England League

	Won.	Lost.	P. C.
Lowell	39	25	.609
Worcester	35	28	.559
Lawrence	36	29	.554
Brockton	35	30	.538
Lynn	32	31	.508
Fall River	30	33	.476
New Bedford	24	36	.400
Haverhill	21	40	.314

MANETS DEFEATED.

The South Quincy A. A. defeated the Manets at the Ward Three playgrounds on Saturday by a score of 4 to 1. Both pitchers were effective but Kerr received ragged support and the errors counted heavily in the score. Hawkes was touched up for five hits but they were well scattered and the Manets were at no time dangerous.

T. Galvin and Barry were the stars for South Quincy. Gillis and Creswell each got an unassisted double play. McCarty and Gillis played a star game, each covering a great deal of ground.

SOUTH QUINCY.

	AB	R	BH	PO	A	E
Howley, 2b	4	0	0	1	0	0
McCarty, ss	4	0	2	0	3	1
Artis, c	3	0	0	10	0	1
Fallon, cf	3	0	0	2	0	2
Gillis, 3b	4	0	1	4	3	0
O'Rouke, rf	3	1	1	0	0	0
Conway, lf	1	0	0	0	0	1
Creswell, 1b	3	0	0	9	0	0
Kerr, p	2	0	1	1	2	0
Totals,	27	4	5	27	8	6

MANET B. B. C.

	AB	R	BH	PO	A	E
Dackers, 3b	4	1	1	2	0	1
W. Galvin, cf	3	2	2	0	0	0
Barry, c	4	1	1	9	2	0
T. Galvin, lf	4	0	0	2	9	0
Desmond, 1b	4	0	1	7	0	0
G. Erickson, ss	4	0	1	1	3	0
F. Erickson, 2b	4	0	0	3	3	0
Conley, rf	4	0	0	1	0	0
Hawkes, p	4	0	0	1	3	0
Totals,	35	4	6	27	11	1

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
South Quincy	1	0	2	0	0	0	1	0	0	— 4
Manet, B. B. C.	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	0	0	— 1

Sacrifice hits—Artis, Conway. Double plays—Gillis, unassisted, Creswell unassisted. Struck out—By Kerr 8, Hawkes 8. Bases on balls—By Kerr 2, Hawkes 3. Passed balls—By Artis. Umpires—Hollis. Time—1.30.

WARREN DEFEATS GLOVER.

The Glover A. C. was defeated by the Warren A. A. at Franklin Feld on Saturday by a score of 10 to 8. The game was quite well played despite the big score and the Warrens should have won by a much wider margin since they secured nearly three times as many hits as their opponents. Good fielding with men on bases kept the score down to where it was. It was nip and tuck all the way through on the scoring end with the teams sessawing back and forth first one in the lead and then the other. The Warrens played error less ball and the Glovers had but two errors marked against them. The fielding of McNaught was the feature of the game.

The score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Warrens	4	1	0	2	0	1	1	1	0	—10
Glovers	3	2	0	0	2	0	1	0	0	— 8

Batteries, Mulhall, Coughlin and Carroll; O'Connor and Stevens.

MAKARIA WIN GOOD GAME.

Makaria defeated the Plymouth Cordage Co. baseball team at Plymouth on Saturday by a score of 5 to 2. Makaria did all her scoring during the first four inning when the Quincy boys toubhed up Wheit for most of their nine hits. Mattie Nicoll was the star performer for Makaria getting three hits and accepting eight chances without an error. Rice was hit for a total of 12 bases but he kept the hits well scattered and received excellent support from the team. Wheit, the opposing pitcher struck out nine men and during the latter part of the game out pitched Rice. Rus Bates played a good fielding game at shortstop getting three asists and three putouts. Jenkins and McKenzie fielded well and did some good batting. For the home team Drew played well and contributed the sensational feature of the game making a pretty catch of a fly after running back from first base for some distance. Wheit, the pitcher, worked hard and did well in all departments, making a double play unassisted getting two hits and pitching a good game.

The score:

MAKARIA.

	A.B.	R.	B.H.	P.O.	A.
Curtis lf	4	1	1	4	0
Nicoll 2b	5	3	3	4	4
R. Ganzel rf	4	0	0	0	0
McKenzie 3b	3	0	2	1	0
Penley cf	5	0	0	0	0
Jenkins 1b	4	0	2	9	0
R. Bates ss	3	0	0	3	3
H. Chapman c	4	0	0	5	3
Rice p	4	1	1	1	1
	36	5	9	27	11

PLYMOUTH CORDAGE

	A.B.	R.	B.H.	P.O.	A.
Ford 2b	4	0	1	2	2
Drew 1b	2	0	0	7	1
Bunker cf	4	1	0	1	0
Johnson rf	4	0	1	0	0
Cash lf	3	0	2	1	0
Alden 3b	2	1	0	1	0
Vargus ss	4	0	2	1	3
Wheit p	4	0	2	2	1
Phillips c	3	0	1	10	0
Peck c	1	0	0	2	0
	31	2	9	27	7

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Makaria	2	0	1	3	0	0	0	0	0	—5
Plymouth Cor.	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	1	0	— 2

Errors—Jenkins, Drew, Vargus, Wheit. Two-base hits Vargus. Three base hits—Cash. Sacrifice hits—McKenzie, Ganzel, Alden. Double plays—Wheit, unassisted. Struck out by—Rice 4, Wheit 11. Bases on balls by—Rice 3, Wheit 3. Hit by pitched ball—Ford, Cash. Umpire Minnis.

TENNIS CLUB FINALS.

The finals of the lobster tournament held by the Wollaston Tennis club on the Fourth of July were played off at the courts on Saturday afternoon.

William Northrop was the winner defeating Justin Hill with a score of 6-1, 6-4.

The summary is as follows:

FIRST ROUND.

L. B. Ela beat G. E. Carr by default.

H. Green beat W. A. Cross 6-2, default.

W. Baker beat J. H. Hooper by default.

W. Northrop beat G. Brown 6-2, 6-1.

J. Emery beat A. S. Bryant 6-1, 6-1.

E. T. Brigham beat C. Hutton 6-2, 6-2.

N. G. Nickerson beat F. H. Bishop 2-6, 6-0, 9-7.

R. C. Baker beat E. W. Hart by default.

SECOND ROUND.

H. Green beat L. B. Ela 6-1,6-1.

W. Northrop beat W. Baker 6-2, 6-3.

J. Emery beat E. T. Brigham 6-3, 6-0.

N. G. Nickerson beat R. C. Baker 6-3, 6-2.

SEMI FINALS.

W. Northrop beat H. Green 6-3, 7-9, 6-1.

J. Emery beat N. G. Nickerson 6-0, 6-2.

FINALS.

W. Northrop beat J. Emery 6-1, 6-4.

The City of the Dove.

When mighty Amru went to conquer Egypt he camped on the east bank of the Nile opposite Memphis, that great twenty miles long capital of mud bricks whose western verge was the pyramids and whose mud brick houses have all vanished. Amru crushed the Egyptians and came back to get his camp to move over and occupy Memphis. A dove had built in the folds near the top of his tent. Blood bathed Amru, the ruthless, would not let her be disturbed. A new city started about his tents. It grew northward along the Nile. It is today Cairo. Memphis is only a name.

Electricity In Japan.

Japan has 879 electric works, using 600,000 kilowats of electric power, all the progress of only twenty years. The number of electric railways is thirty-one, with a trackage of 567 miles. Telephone subscribers number 109,787.

How to Keep Furnace From Rusting.

Flaked lime, placed loosely on a board inside a furnace during the summer, will take up moisture and thus prevent the metal from rusting.

SENATOR CLARK'S $120,000 ORGAN

Largest Instrument of the Kind In the World.

HIDDEN CHIMES RING OUT.

Vox Mystica of the Echo Organ Again Charms Its Hearers—Electric Device to Manipulate the Stops—Details of the Organ.

Senator W. A. Clark of Montana has formally opened his $120,000 organ, the largest chamber organ in the world. It is set up in the main picture gallery of his new mansion at Fifth avenue and Seventy-seventh street, New York. The house, which has been for nine years in the process of building, will not be completed until the fall, when there will be a regular house warming.

The instrument is not very large, one of its principal features, in fact, being its concentrated area. The chest and pipes are situated in the south wing of the main picture gallery on the second floor of the house and above the entrance to the gallery, and the pipes extend to the top of the lofty ceiling.

The console, or keyboard, is movable and when in use abuts the organ proper to the right. When not in use it is hidden in a niche of the marble corridor separating the main gallery from the rotunda and the conservatory of the copper tower.

Hidden behind the Caen stone grill of the ceiling in the north wing of the main gallery and totally invisible is the echo organ, considered the most remarkable feature of the organ. The chimes ringing out from the hidden source particularly delighted the critics present and with the vox mystica of the echo organ were declared to be the most perfect ever heard.

The Organ's Features.

The organ was built by the Murray Harris company of Los Angeles, makers of the giant organ at the Chicago exposition of 1893, and Senator Clark has secured as his organist Arthur Scott Brook, who was in charge of the Chicago organ and before 1893 was organist for Leland Stanford in the Memorial church of Los Angeles.

The case of the organ is of English oak selected by the senator himself from the Sherwood forest and harmonizes with the furniture and woodwork of the dining room, which is joined by a corridor to the picture gallery. All the wood on the console is plain, but that which incases the pipes and which makes up the greater part of the mural decoration of the south wing of the gallery is richly carved and liberally decorated with gold leaf. The carving, it was said, was all done abroad.

In the organ proper there are 4,000 pipes and sixty-one speaking stops, and there are four manuals and pedals. The front pipes are of pure English tin and are the only ones visible. The machinery is in the ceiling and above the highest point of the organ, the wind being generated by a three and a half horsepower electric motor. In the echo organ there are 600 pipes and ten speaking stops.

One feature on the console for the benefit of the player is an electrically controlled combination system for the quick manipulation of the stops. By simply pressing a button all the sixty-one stops on the main organ or any combination of them can be pulled out or pushed in. The Clark organ is said to be the first instrument to which the appliance has been attached.

150 MILES UNDETECTED.

Seven Navy Submarines Proved Their Value For Warfare.

The recent run of the little submarine fleet from Newport, R. I., to Gloucester, Mass., broke all records of length of submersion and distance traveled beneath the surface. All the way from Newport to Provincetown their voyage was made without detection by passing vessels, although the submarines passed under a large number of craft.

Navy department officials are highly gratified by the remarkable showing of the submarines. The boats making the cruise were the Grayling, Bonita, Narwhal, Salmon, Snapper, Stingray and Tarpon. They are the newest and largest submarines in the American navy.

One vessel made a considerable run at a depth of sixty feet. The course from Newport to Gloucester was 150 miles, and some of the boats made 120 miles of this run submerged. The longest time submerged was between eleven and twelve hours. There were no mishops, and officers and crews came in in fine condition on Saturday, after being out two days and nights. It was a splendid practice cruise, and the practicability of submerged cruising is proved by the fact that the entire run was made by all seven boats without a single one being discovered by a score of other ships in their immediate vicinity.

Following the success of this run, the flotilla probably will undertake a longer run, from New York to Annapolis, early in the fall, making most of the trip under water, with the purpose of arriving at their destination without being detected. The boats spent two nights in harbors without any of the harbor officials even knowing of their presence. At no time did any of them come entirely above water.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents. Three consecutive insertions 50 cents, 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.

No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Cement wash-trays 22 by 44 with sink and stand. Made seamless. For sale cheap if taken at once. Apply J. W. Reid, 79 Lincoln avenue, Wollaston. July 8-3t

FOR SALE—$200 Reo runabout in fine order. Has top and folding rear seat, full equipment, extra tire, tubes etc. Will demonstrate. Call or address T. F. Merrill 556 Washington street, Quincy Point.
July 8-3t 8, 10, 12

FOR SALE—New house, 6 rooms, bath, improvements 5,400 feet land. Apply to Frank Leben, 76 Howard st., East Braintree. July 3-6t O 8-2w

FOR SALE—A twelve passenger sea going power boat. A 1 condition, 5 horse power engine. Apply to janitor Quincy Yacht club house, Houghs Neck. July 6-6t

FOR SALE—An up-to-date grocery and provision store at a reasonable price. Good reason for selling. Apply to J. A. Weeden 23 Cranch street, Quincy July 3-6t

WANTED

WANTED—A first class carpenter, Steady work. Apply 87 Merrymount road, Quincy. July 8-tf

WANTED—Boy to tend store. Apply at 750 Washington street.
July8-6t

TEAMSTERS—who have no return load from Boston can get a load of brick or lumber for Quincy by calling at Silver street near Dorchester avenue, South Boston. July 7-3t

WANTED—Clerk for groceries and provisions. Apply to J. P. Prout, Garfield street, Quincy. July 6-tf

WANTED—A girl for general house work. Apply to Mrs. C. F. Pettengill, 53 Revere road. July 5-tf

WANTED—Experienced girl for general housework. References required. Apply 118 Merrymount road. June 26 tf

PEPYS, THE DIARIST.

Pronouncing the Name of the Garrulous Old Gossip.

Lovers of Pepys often dispute over the correct pronunciation of his name. The form Peeps is the one that has chief authority on its side, and it is according to analogy in other like spellings, such as Wemyss, pronounced Weems. Peeps still holds good at Cambridge and dates from its bearer's own time. It is also retained by the representatives of Samuel's sister, the Pepys Cockerell family, who are heirs to his fame and some of his property. The late Rev. J. W. Ebsworth, an indefatigable collector and editor of ballads, adopts this pronunciation in his pleasing stanzas on "A Gossip at Deptford."

For instance:

The state has no servant of all whom she keeps
Like my squab little friend, who no labor does shirk,
The pattern of quill driving clerks, Sam Pepys.

A disturbing element in the discussion is that the branch of the family represented by the Earl of Cottenham pronounce the name Peppis.

No bearer of the name has ever been known as Peps, though Ashby Sterry, a respected member of the Pepys club, follows this common but erroneous pronunciation in this excellent epigram, published in the London Graphic November, 1891:

There are people, I'm told—some say there are heaps—
Who speak of the talkative Samuel as Peeps,
And some, so precise and pedantic their step is,
Who call the delightful old diarist Pepys,
But those I think right, and I follow their steps,
Ever mention the garrulous gossip as Peps!

A Sinecure.

General Horatio C. King, on one occasion narrating some war memories, said:

"We suffered many hardships on both sides, but the poor, brave Confederates suffered most. I remember a grizzled old colored man who at the outbreak of the Spanish war applied for a place as an army cook.

"'What experience have you had?' the old fellow was asked.

"'I was cook, sah, fo' a Confederate regiment in sixty-fo',' he answered—'that is, sah, I had the position of cook, but, to tell the truth, I didn't work at it.'

"'Why not?'

"'There wasn't nothin' to cook, sah.'"

His Flag Was Up.

When the crowd assembled for their game of ball Johnnie, the pitcher, was missing. Jimmie was sent to investigate.

"Is Johnnie at home?" asked Jimmie of the sister who answered his knock.

"Course," answered the sister. "Don't you see his shirt on the line?"—Success Magazine.

TO LET

TO LET—Flat of 5 rooms and bath. Furnace, near Norfolk Downs Depot. Rent $16. H. O. Cassidy, 9 Edwin street, Atlantic. July 7-6t PS-1w

TO LET—A five room flat on second floor. All improvements. Apply 146 Glendale road. Tel. 621-4 Quincy.
July 7-6t

TO LET—Flat of five rooms, all modern improvements, set range, gas, and electric lights 69 Goddard street.
July 6-6t

TO LET—Tenement of 5 rooms on Euclid avenue. All latest improvements. C. A. Ericson, 177 Glendale road Quincy. Tel 586 M.
July 5-6t

TO LET—Furnished rooms in fine location near bathing beach, light housekeeping near Fore River works also storage room. 80 Baxter avenue, opposite North street. July 5-6t

TO LET—Nicely furnished rooms, with excellent table board. Central location. Address P. O. box 346, Quincy. June 29-tf

TO LET—On Spear street, tenement of 4 rooms and bath. All modern improvements. Apply to C. A. Ericson, 117 Glendale road. Tel 586 M.
June 27-tf

TO LET—Tenement with 9 rooms and bath at Quincy Point, also rooms to let and table board at 55 Washington street, Quincy, Mrs. Margaret S. MacDonnell. June 23-1mo.

TO LET—House 12 rooms, all improvements. Ideal location, 5 minutes to center. Apply to James F. Burke, Real Estate Agent, Room 4 Savings Bank Building. June 9-tf

FOR RENT—Quincy, Centre, apposite Adams Academy, house of 8 rooms and bath, also garage, 3 minutes to R. R. Station. Dr. E. S. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263L, Weymouth. May 10-tf

FOR RENT

On Spear street, very desirable house of 8 rooms, bath and laundry. All modern improvements, range, gas, electric lights shades and screens. Large piazzas and lawn. To private family only. Apply at 41 Spear street or of Miss Prescott at Ledger Office, Quincy.
June 2-tf L. P. O

TO LET

Half House No. 44 Bigelow street, 7 rooms and bath. Shades, screens, electric lights, set tubs, range, etc. Rent $25. per month. Apply to Miss Prescott, Ledger Office. Quincy.
July 3-tf

TO LET

Tenement—22 B Granite Street. $10.00 per month.

Greenleaf Hall—Greenleaf Block Large Furnished Hall with various anterooms—to let by the evening or permanently.

City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 20 feet high. Splendid light, low rent

Quincy Real Estate Trust,

(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)

Music Hall Block, Quincy.

MAKE YOUR PURCHASES FROM LEDGER ADVERTISERS. BE SURE TO READ THE ADVERTISEMENTS IN TODAY'S LEDGER

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 26 No. 157 QUINCY, MASS., TUESDAY EVENING JULY 11, 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

FRIGHTFUL DISASTER AT BRIDGEPORT, CONN.

Twenty Were Killed and Seventy Injured In Boston Express Wreck Horror Early This Morning

Wreckage Caught Fire Immediately. Worst Accident In History of the Road

Bridgeport, Ct., July 11.—A score of persons were dashed to their death and 75 or more were more or less injured early this morning when the Federal express, running at 50 miles an hour, plunged over a railroad trestle 25 feet to the street below.

The train left Washington last night for Boston over the New York, New Haven & Hartford. It was more than an hour behind time. It has just entered the city limits and was rushed at a tremendous speed across a viaduct over Fairfield avenue when the engine was derailed by an open switch The great locomotive plunged headlong to the street, dragging six Pullman cars, loaded with sleeping passengers after it.

The great mass of wreckage caught fire immediately after the accident. For a time it seemed as if the imprisoned scores, whose agonized shrieks filled the morning air, would be burned alive, but the prompt arrival of the Bridgeport fire department averted this horror.

Ambulances, doctors and policemen were rushed to the scene and the work of rescuing those who still lived was commenced.

The scene as dawn broke was horrible in the extreme. Dead and mangled bodies lay everywhere and above all rose continuously the screams of men and women in agony. Hundreds of eager volunteers worked feverishly to save those who were under the debris, but it was hours before some who were pinned beneath the wreck could be reached.

The train was due at Bridgeport at 2:19 o'clock, but was running an hour or more behind time. The derailment occured at a point well within the city limits and less than a mile and a half west of the Bridgeport station.

The wreck which followed was one of the most appaling in the history of the New Haven road. Mail car, baggage car, day coaches and Pullmans piled up in a tangled mass, making the work of extricating the passengers a long hard task. The locomotive, a twisted mass of hapless junk, was thrown 200 feet beyond the first of the cars and lay on its back across the curb of Fairfield avenue.

As fast as the ambulances came the injured were sent to the hospitals. In the wreckage was found the body of the engineer who went down at his post. A babe, about a year old, was found in one car by a policeman.

It was alive and had become separated from its mother, Mrs. W. V. Clephane, of Cherry Creek, Md., and its aunt, Miss Beatrice Clephane, both of whom escaped with minor injuries, chiefly wounds on the head.

The St. Louis National league baseball team, on its way to Boston, was in the last coach of the train, and all escaped injury.

At 11 o'clock the bodies of 15 dead persons had been taken from the wreck.

CONTRACT FOR COURT HOUSE.

The County Commissioners have awarded the contract for the new court house building to be erected in Quincy, to William Crane of Boston the lowest bidder. Mr. Cranes bid was $60,746. The other contracts have not been let as yet.

HEAT PATIENTS DOING WELL.

At the City Hospital this noon it was said that all of the heat patients at the hospital were resting comfortably and doing well.

It was also said that Lyman Morrison, the boy who was run over by the automobile at East Braintree Monday was a little more comfortable this morning. Dr. Gannett, whose auto struck the boy, has provided a private room for him and Monday afternoon summoned specialists from Boston to attend him. His injuries while serious are not necessarily fatal although dangerous. With good care it is hoped that his life may be spared.

A Great Exhibit

Of 25 famous Hoosier Special Kitchen Cabinets will be held in this store beginning Friday, this week.

The Hoosier is the most remarkable labor-saving device ever invented for the kitchen.

Read Thursday's Ledger for our wonderful plan for distributing these 25 cabinets.

ONE HOOSIER CABINET ABSOLUTELY FREE

Perfection Oil Stove
2 burner on Standards
Old Style
Regular Price $7.50
Special for this week

$5.39

KINCAIDE'S

We close Wednesdays at 1 o'clock

HOOSIER KITCHEN CABINETS

HEAT CAUSED BOY'S DEATH

And Not Blow on Head by Stone, Says Chief Burrell

WILL INVESTIGATE HOWEVER

Nicholas Samrah, aged 7 years a son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Samrah of Sumner street died at the City Hospital Monday his death being due to excessive heat. Some days ago the young boy was hit on the forehead with a stone thrown by another boy which cut quite a gash. This gave rise to the rumors that his death had been the result of the injury received at that time. This morning, Chief of Police Burrell said that there was not much evidence that the blow had anything to do with the boys death which was caused by heat. He said however that the body would be removed to Hall's morgue and that the attention of the Medical Examiner would be called to the case and he might possibly decide to hold an autopsy. Chief Burrell said that the wound made by the stone developed blood poisoning and that the police had ascertained who had thrown the stone but would make no further move until he heard from the Medical Examiner.

HURT BY FALL.

Harry Tracy and James Parnell of Dorchester, two men employed at the Fore River on the Argentina dreadnaught had a bad fall Monday. They were working on a plank that extended over the side of the ship when it suddenly overturned and they fell to the dock below. Fortunately their injuries were not of a serious nature. The two men were taken to the emergency hospital on the grounds where they were treated by Dr. Blanchard. They then went home.

PROSTRATIONS.

Aside from this, there were two heat prostrations at the yards Manday Ali Mane and Alex Cosgrove both of Quincy being overcome. They were treated at the emergency hospital and then sent home.

Michael Ryan aged 70 years, also employed at the yards was overcome by heat Monday evening while on his way home from work. He was crossing the field near the corner of Main and Summer street when he was seen to fall. He was taken up unconscious and taken to the City hospital.

BOAT CAPSIZED.

Henry Miller and Joseph Morse were out boating off Post island Sunday afternoon when a sudden puff almost capsized them. Their boat righted however only to strike another puff a few minutes later and over went the boat giving them an impromptu bath. They did not mind a little thing like that however.

SPICY CASE IN COURT.

The regular attendants at the district court were treated to a spicy case this morning when a hearing was held on the complaint of Inspector Goodhue against Mrs. Edith Haynes for keeping a disorderly house at Rock Island.

The heat in the court room kept many of the regular free list from being present. Nine witnesses were sworn for the government, all of whom were neighbors. Mrs. Haynes was represented by counsel who also came in for some notriety on the part of some of witnesses.

The witnesses testified to seeing women going about all day in men's bathing suits. The language frequently heard was anything but edifying. Then Mrs. Haynes had a number of dogs and they had become a nuisance. Men had frequently been seen coming from the house under the influence of liquor and men had been seen going to the house in the evening and going away in the early morning.

Their testimony was taken separately, while one witness wastestifying the others being excluded from court room.

JUBILEE ENDED LAST NIGHT

Splendid Addresses At Last Meeting Monday Evening

A Great Success

The final meeting of the Twenty-fifth anniversary jubilee of St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church was held Monday evening at the church on Fort street. The exercises were in charge of Frank E. Broman, superintendent of the Boston district of Swedish Methodist churches. Splendid addresses were given by Rev. H. Hanson Rev. Charles Paulson, former pastors of the church. Rev. Oscar Sundberg of Malden and Rev. J. G. Hamilton of Lowell, members of the Boston district also spoke with inspiration of the work of the church. Other speeches were made by charter members of the local church and by Rev. Carl E. Rydstrom, the pastor. At the conclusion of the program which was supplemented by good singing by the choirs refreshments were served in the vestry by members of the Ladies Aid society.

The jubilee has been a very fitting observance of the passing of the quarter century mark in the life of the church and will surely give momentum to the church as it starts upon the second twenty-five years of its existence. Pastor Rydstrom is doing much not only for his own congregation but is endeavoring to give unity to the Scandanavian forces of the city in church work is rendering invaluable service to the city at large. The church has had a past of which any community should be proud and some of the most able men in the work among the Swedish people have been sent out from this congregation. Among its former pastors are men who have risen high in the esteem of their contemporaries and have acquired a country wide reputation among Swedish people as preachers and scholars.

The outlook for the future is bright with the church in a fine condition financially and spiritually and possessing a remarkable degree of unanimity.

THREE TIMES HEAT VICTIM.

George W. Rockwell of 8 Franklin street was prostrated for the third time since the hot wave began, this morning. He was effected this morning near the Quincy Adams depot and the ambulance was called to take him to the hospital. On the two previous occasions he was prostrated in his own yard.

He was a attended by Dr. Reardon and Dr. Reynolds and then taken to his home. This morning it was all the police could do to hold him down in the ambulance while taking him home.

HOUGHS NECK

A sale is to be held at Union church Wednesday and Thursday afternoons followed by entertainments in the evening.

Miss Ethel Wentworth is spending a few days at The Midland.

Herbert C. Leonard of Bridgewater is spending the week at the Oregon house.

Lawrence Scott of Brockton is the guest of friends.

Several Quincy Yacht Club boats went on a moonlight sail Monday evening.

—In and around New Haven, Conn. there have been found 22 varieties of mosquitoes and perhaps if the search is c ontinued they may find 57 varieties. The people are fighting the insect with as much vigor as Jerseyites ever displayed and they are bound to have more comfort this summer in consequence. Everybody can and should do the same about his own premises. The breeding places of the pest should be destroyed, and if all unite in such a warfare there will be fewer insects to plague humanity.—Framingham News.

QUINCY IN GRASP OF FRIGHTFUL HEAT WAVE

Suffering Was Intense During the Night With Little Relief in Sight. All New England Suffers

Torrid Weather Claims More Victims in Greater Boston. Hosts Seek Relief at the Shore

Quincy and vicinity was visited with the second blast of heat within a week yesterday, adding to the suffering and swelling the list of deaths and prostrations. In Greater Boston twelve deaths were reported and over seventy five prostrations. This section was the hottest in the country, the mercury reaching 100 degrees at 1 P. M.

In one respect yesterday's high temperature attained record-breaking proportions. The day was about the most sticky, muggy, uncomfortable one of the hot spell, and the evening hours were the hottest of any of the nine preceding nights.

After six o'clock last evening, the mercury remained at a higher point than it did on either July 3 or 4th the record-breaking hot days.

Continued warm with fair weather, except for probable thunder showers today and tomorrow, was the forecast last night. Far to the northwest lies an area of low pressure which must soon start eastward. When it does the east wind will sweep in to meet it then will come real relief. Until then respites must be sought in thunder storms.

PROSTRATIONS.

Harvey Johnson, 22 years old, Bigelow Park; overcome while at work on Carruth street; Quincy Hospital.

Michael Ryan, 64 years old, address unknown; overcome in field at Summer and Maine streets; Quincy Hospital.

Ali Mane, of Summer street; overcome at Fore River shipyards; taken home.

Alexander Cosgrove. of Stetson road; overcome at Fore River shipyards; taken home.

William Curtin, of Quarry street; overcome on Robert street, South Quincy; taken home.

Boston health officials expressed belief yesterday that if returns since Saturday noon were any criterion the toll this week would be greater than that of last, which holds the record.

Trolley cars were heavily laden with human freight seeking recreation and coolness without the city, while the exodus beginning early in the morning to summer resorts was unusually great.

People like warm weather, but the kind that has been handed out during the past ten days suits most people too well. It is a question how long suffering humanity can stand the strain. It is bad enough to have it hot during the day time but the limit is reached when it comes to nights, when the air is so hot and suffocating that people can not sleep, but must sit up nearly all night gasping for breath.

Monday was the limit and according to the evening papers, Boston and vicinity was the hottest section in the country. A change in temperature for the better was promised for the evening but if there was a cold wave on its way here it got side-tracked somewhere, for Quincy had no part of it. If anything Monday evening was more unbearable than it was during the day, there was scarcely a breath of air during the whole night. Occasionally during the night there would be a little westerly breeze but even that felt like a draft from an oven. Sleep was impossible.

Usually Monday evening the stores in City Square remain open. Not so Monday evening however. With one or two exceptions all of the stores closed at 6 o'clock. City Hall is usually open Monday evening to accommodate tax payers, but this week Mayor Shea told the City Messenger to close the doors at 6 o'clock and lock them.

Some of the stores even closed their doors in the early afternoon. At the Ledger office orders were given to close at 3 o'clock as soon as the Ledger had gone to press. At the Fore River yards less than half the usual force of men were at work and in the granite cutting yards nearly everybody quit work long before noon. Down in the quarry holes the heat was worse than a stoke hole of an ocean liner and little or no work was done after the middle forenoon.

What it will be today is hard to tell. The early morning hours gave promise of the day being a repetition of Monday as at 8 o'clock the mercury had reached a mark above 85. There is one consolation, however, and that is that we shall have cool weather next December.

CAUSE OF MILK FAMINE.

The direct cause of the milk famine is not the heat as many people suppose but the lack of water. Of course the heat is partly responsible for the lack of water but heat alone does not affect the cows badly. As it is in many of the rural districts the farmers have to carry water for the cattle several miles and then are unable to give them as much as they want. The scarcity of water has cut down milk production by two thirds and in some cases the cows are so affected by thirst that they do not give any milk. Many of the farmers have to spend several weary hours each day drenching the animals with water to keep them alive. The drought is thus responsible for the scarcity of milk and although we do not like to think of water in connection with good rich milk, now is the time when we see that hydraulics in their natural form are necessary to the production of the first class lacteal fluid.

TODAY'S COURT.

George Durgin of Cohasset was fined $2, Ambrose Perovich, John Tominich and Bonefucio Usicich $3 each of Quincy for drunkenness.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

AT C. E. CONVENTION.

Several young people from Quincy are attending the International Convention of the Young Peoples society of Christian Endeavor which is being held this week in Atlantic City, New Jersey, on the new Million Dollar Pier Those of us who are sweltering up here in the Bay State hear with envy of the cooling sea breezes which they are enjoying. The convention is perhaps the greatest thing of its kind in the history of this worldwide movement and the marvellous success of the speakers in moving men and the splendid results of the preliminary campaigns which ended with this convention lead us to believe that Christian Endeavor is very much alive in this nation.

—Four hundred free scholarships at different colleges of the state, as proposed by the governor at $300 apiece, the least we suppose would be considered would be $120,000, or the interest on $3,000,000. Certainly as between setting up a state university and endowing these scholarships the latter is far simpler, as the revenue would go to existing institutions. These same institutions of our own commonwealth give today free scholarships of nearly $3,000,000 a year to students.—Boston Record.

SHE KNOWS

how important uniform heat in a stove is--knows, too, that gas supplies it without overheating the laundry in the hottest days or wasting fuel the coldest.

'Twill be well and pleasant for you to know how delightfully gas can serve you.

CITIZENS' GAS LIGHT CO.

11 Granite St., Quincy

DON'T FAIL TO READ THE GREAT SERIAL "THE DANGER TRAIL" NOW RUNNING IN THE LEDGER

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1889

THE HOME NEWSPAPER

Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.

BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
219 East 23d Street,
New York City

Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter.

Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50

Telephone, Quincy 425

Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

Troy got the altitude record. The mercury went through the top of the thermometer there on July 3.

President Taft did not help elect Lorimer. He had enough to do trying to manage senators whom others had elected.

A Chicago judge rules that if a hardworked husband wants early breakfast he should get up and cook it. Ruling unnecessary as to many cases, seeing that he is compelled to.

Mr. Hines secretary of the lumber trust said he never once thought about the lumber trade when he was helping to buy a senatorial seat for Lorimer. These lumber men are so self sacrificing.

The declaration of Independence was signed at Philadelphia, July 4, 1776. On July 4, 1911 the Philadelphia Baseball team in the National League reached first place pushing the New York team down and the Philadelphia American team also reached the top on that immortal day pushing the Detroit team off the apex. Philadelphia evidently bears a charmed life when July 4th comes around.

Congressman Weeks is to be commended and it is to be hoped his bill will receive the attention it deserves for present conditions are unreasonable. His bill permits, returning travelers from abroad to bring in with them free of duty purchases made to the extent of $200. The limit now is $100. The low limit has been regarded as a hardship by people bringing home souvenirs for relatives and friends at home and has been thought especially severe on those of rather limited means. There has been much complaint over the $100 limit.

SPEECH A TEST.

It is quite true that one of the best tests of true gentility is the manner of speech by telephone. The woman or man whose breeding entitles him or her to the rank of lady or gentleman never "barks." They speak with a courtesy that is instinctive and unchanging. They realize that so much depends upon the tone of the voice, it is necessary to be more punctilious in modulating it than would be the case were they in the presence of the person addressed. Along those lines the Philadelphia Public Ledger says:

"A test of whether gentility is a thin veneer or the solid substance is that of the telephone voice. Who has not heard some one rush to the telephone in a fine temper and bark out 'Hello! What do you want?' only to modulate suddenly into the soft and honeyed accents of amazing meekness upon learning who it is?

"Some people take advantage of the telephone to say rude things anonymously thatthey would never dare utter face to face. It is so easy to shout bad language into the little black cup of the transmitter; the tiny colander holes at the bottom seem to invite one to strain one's voice. This is especially true of heart-to-heart talks with 'Central'—which of course is not a pretty girl with her hair in puffs, but an impersonal switchboard dotted with plugs. So you can use heated language till the wires become incandescent, and nobody minds.

"It is a difficult art to project one's personality over the telephone—almost as difficult as it is for the musician to put himself into what he sings or plays and make it 'get over' the footlights. The telephone deprives the voice of the speaker of characteristic inflections and nuances and what was tenderly uttered may sound harsh and grating and be misconstrued.

"To some who have infrequent occasion to use the telephone it is a serious business, and their manners betray their sense of the solemnity of the performance. They talk in measured and steady phrases, and it seems to be something of an ordeal. Others wholly at their ease, indulge in jocose and familiar language quite as though it were a tete-a-tete conversation.

"This leaves out of consideration a large class of telephone users who seemingly respect the telephone too much to approach it closely, and appear to think they can throw their words at the instrument from afar off, like pitching quoits, and still be heard. These persons are almost as exasperating asthose who direct their office boys to summon you to your end of the line and then keep you awaiting their royal leisure. But the etiquette of the telephone would demand a separate chapter."

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION.

Not without foundation are Mr. John Weaver Sherman's apprehensions that the enemoes of the workmen's compensation bill may succeed in strangling the measure in the senate by asking the supreme court for an opinion on its constitutionality. Any excuse will serve their purpose. They will fight to the last ditch against any measure that seems to threaten privilege, that seems to infuse a little humanitarian spirit into business. The fate of the workmen's compensation law at the hands of the New York court of appeals has greatly encouraged them.

Mr. Sherman thus states the real issue in this state: "It is of tremendous importance to the worker that the idea of compensation for injury in the service of society should be substituted for the mere idea of damages because of the fault of an employer or his representative, and therefore it is exceedingly important that such a question as this should not be passed upon by the supreme court without full arguments being made and an opportunity offered to submit proper briefs upon this system, in the adoption of which we are so many years behind the rest of the civilized world."

It behooves all friends of the principle of workmen's compensation in Massachusetts to use their influence in preventing its opponents in the senate from resorting to subterfuge in order to postpone the inevitable.—(Boston Globe.)

CAUGHT IN THE ACT

Police Think They Have Man Who Has Robbed Many Houses

Boston, July 11.—Ferdinand C. Smith, 27 years old, was captured in the act of attempting to rob the suite of Jason Weiler, 1351 Commonwealth avenue, late yesterday afternoon by Officer Wyllie of the Brighton police.

It was not until after Smith had put up a lively fight on the third floor and caused great excitement in the neighborhood that Wyllie succeeded in subduing him.

By the arrest of Smith the police believe that they have captured the man who has been terrorizing the fashionable section of Brighton and Brookline as well as the Back Bay section of this city. The Brighton police charge Smith with seven breaks.

☞Going away for the summer? If so don't forget to have the Daily Ledger sent to your address and keep posted on home news. If you have forgotten to send in your order in the rush of getting away drop us a postal and we will do the rest. tf

PICKED UP IN PASSING

SPECIALIZED ON BUTTERFLIES.

"I woke up last night and found a burglar in my room."

"Catch him?"

"Certainly not! I am not making a collection of burglars."

HAD BEEN READING TENNYSON.

Subbubs.—"I say, Nexdore, those hens of yours belong to the Maud breed, don't they?"

Nextdore—"Never heard of the Maud breed. What gives youthat idea?"

Subbubs.—"Because they are all the time coming into my garden."

A HINT.

The Visitor—"And how is the poor sufferer?"

The Nurse (conscious ofthe "difficult" nature ofthe patient)—"I'm quite well, thank you!"—The Sketch.

KEEPING COOL.

Young Blood—"Er—what socks shall I wear today, Beamish?"

Valet—"I should venture to suggest the arctic blues, sir. It's so necessary, if I may say so, to keep the extremities cool, sir.

HE WANTED TO LEARN HOW.

Burglar—"Don't shoot me, Sir."

Householder—"On one condition, that you tell me how you got in without waking my wife."—Pele Mele.

NO.—"Was it pretty wedding?"

"Not very. We weren't invited to the reception."—Detroit Free Press.

CHEATED.

Figg—"I took Skinner at his own valuation."

Fogg—"Then you got a gold brick."

FOOLED.—"My baby cries all night. I don't know what to do with it."

"I'll tell you what I did. As soon as our baby commenced to cry I used to turn on all the gas. That fooled him. He thought it was broad daylight and went to sleep."—Tit-Bits.

LIFE AND HOPE.—"I'm a poor, struggling widow," pleaded the woman.

"Well, keep on struggling," replied the man; "you may land another husband before long!"—Yonkers Statesman.

WRINKLES.—"This beauty surgeon claims he can remove wrinkles."

"Going to give him a trial?"

"I shall, provided he makes a demonstration on my pet bulldog first."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

NATURAL.—Middle-aged graduates of an academy in Auburn, Me., were discussing school days.

"What became of that red-headed Goodwin boy who was so afraid of the girls?" asked one.

"He has just been divorced from his fourth wife," said the graduate who had kept up withthe times.—Chicago Post.

FINED FOR DUTY FRAUD

Rosenberg Pays $30,000 For Undervaluing Important Articles

New York, July 11.—Jules Rosenberg, who, with his brother Hugo, has been a fugitive from justice for over a year, came from Montreal and unexpectedly appeared in the criminal branch of the United States circuit court and pleaded guilty to undervaluing importations of millinery and dress goods.

Although District Attorney Wise made a strong plea for a prison sentence, the judge fined Rosenberg $25,000 and costs amounting to $5000.

Rosenberg fainted when he was taken to the marshal's office, but revived just before his counsel arrived and paid the fine.

WIRE MEN ALL TAKE UNIFORM ATTITUDE

Plead Not Guilty and Secure Delay In Government Suit

New York, July 11.—The eighty-three wire manufacturers indicted under the anti-trust law on charges of restraining trade in wire products began their fight against the government by entering pleas of not guilty, and securing a delay until Sept. 1 to enable them to file demurrers. Each man's bail was fixed at $1000.

Only thirty of those indicted made appearances in the United States circuit court, but District Attorney Wise said he had received assurances that the attitude of all would be practically uniform, and that the rest would file formal pleas in a day or two.

District Attorney Wise said that the demurrers would have to be argued, but that he hoped to have all preliminaries disposed of so that the case could go to trial before the end of the year.

COWBOY POSTERS BARRED

Will No Longee Be Exposed to View of Washington's Boys

Washington, July 11.—The bewhiskered cowboy and the befeathered Indian mounted on the mettlesome broncho and carrying Gattling guns in each hand will no longer be allowed to decorate the walls and fences of the captial in poster pictures.

From now on the police will efface all such daredevil portraits of life in the west. "The young men of the city," says the chief of police, "must be protected from the lure of the poster cowboy, and stirring ambition to slay countless Indians must be quelled in the bud."

The police mutilated many yards of posters on the walls of Washington.

JEWS ARE EXONERATED

Russian Government Arrests Stepfather of Murdered Boy

Kiev, Russia, July 11.—Prikhodko, stepfather of Yushchinsky, the boy whose body, horribly mutilated, was found in a cave near here on Feb. 28, has been arrested. The authorities have confiscated in various towns pamphlets in which the writers sought to inflame racial feeling by ascribing the murder to fanaticism.

The case of Yushchinsky was used by the "Black Hundred" to arouse hostility to the Jews and a Jewish massacre at Kiev was feared in consequence. It was intimated at the time that the boy's stepfather, who was an anti-Semite, was responsible for the crime.

ALL UP TO THE PROGRESSIVES

Adjournment of Extra Session Depends Upon Them

TEST OF TARIFF SENTIMENT

Plan to Appeal to Country to Learn Whether More Legislation Is Demanded at This Session—Distrust Regulars and Fear to Postpone Revision—Veto Awaits Farmers' Free List and Woolen Bills

Washington, July 11.—Regular Republicans in the senate are convinced that President Taft will veto the farmers' free list and woolen bills if they are sent to him. Since the return of the president from the yachting trip on which he was accompanied by four Republican and four Democratic senators, word of the president's intention has circulated through the Capitol and the desire for a vote and adjournment is stronger than ever.

"It's all up to the progressives," said a leading Republican regular. "We will reach a vote on the reciprocity bill probably next week, and then it will remain for the progressives to say whether we remain here until the fall or go home. Their purpose is to make an appeal to the country in behalf of their bills for revision, and if they do not change the plans already made they will not permit the adjournment of congress until they have thoroughly tested the sentiment of the country and learned whether more legislation is demanded at this session. Every regular Republican and every Democrat is ready to vote now on every tariff proposition before the senate. If we are held here longer it will be because the progressives insist upon speaking."

The regulars are sharper than usual in their criticisms of the progressives, as they point out that tariff revision must come up next winter anyway, following the reports of the tariff board, hence nothing can be gained by trying to force action now. The regulars feel the safer in demanding a vote because of the knowledge that all tariff bills except the reciprocity will be vetoed if they are sent along.

Senators returning to Washington from their homes are unanimously of the opinion that the country wants congress to act on the reciprocity bill and adjourn and that the progressives have lost ground in urging further action at the special session. Arguments in favor of general revision will apply with equal force next winter, they say, when action on the tariff cannot be avoided.

The progressives, on the other hand, are impelled to continue their campaign partly because they distrust the regulars and fear that if revision is postponed until winter the standpatters will not permit the tariff bills to come to a vote during the session. So far no evidence can be cited to show that the Democrats and the progressives have reached any basis for an understanding upon such farmers' free list and textile bills as each can support conscientiously. The house Democrats are expected at this session to pass a cotton bill making an average cut in the rates of 50 percent.

In view of the foregoing facts, it is clearly for the country to say whether congress shall remain in session or adjourn. Any measurable popular response to the progressives' appeal for immediate action probably would keep congress here till autumn.

The Canadian reciprocity bill emerged unscathed last night from the most serious ordeal it has yet experienced in the senate. The series of amendments offered by Senator Cummins and the two offered by Senator Simmons, all seeking to increase the number of Canadian manufactured articles which shall be admitted to the United States free of duty, were voted down by large majorities.

LEAVES OVER $50,000,000

Bulk of Abraham's Vast Estate Goes to His Four Children

New York, July 11.—The will of Abraham Abraham, the Brooklyn merchant and philanthropist, filed for probate yesterday afternoon, gives $50,000 to the Jewish hospital of Brooklyn, $25,000 to the Brooklyn Federation of Jewish Charities and $10,000 to the Brooklyn institute.

The rest of the estate, estimated in value at $50,000,000, is divided equally among his four children after provision is made for an annual income of $36,000 to the widow during her lifetime.

Military Posts Make Good Showing

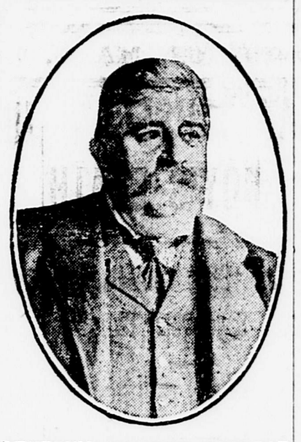
Washington, July 11.—General Wood, chief of staff of the army, returned to Wasington from a tour of inspection of the military posts at Portland, Me., and Portsmouth, N. H. He was much pleased with conditions found.

Baths Not Plentiful In Paris

Paris, July 11.—The heat wave has resuted in the discovery that the number of public and private baths in Paris is smaller than in any other city in the world.

WILLIAM S. DEVERY

Millionaire Appeals to Gaynor For a Pension



DEVERY'S MODEST REQUEST

Ex-Police Chief Wants $27,000 and Pension of $3000 a Year

New York, July 11.—Wiliam S. Devery, who during his term as chief of police, had furnished more newspaper paragraphs than any other incumbent of the office, called on Mayor Gaynor to ask him to sign the bill enabling Devery to draw pension money at one-half his former salary.

If the bill becomes a law the former chief will receive $27,000 back pay and $3000 a year. It was his first visit to city hall in many years. Devery is said to be a millionaire.

THOUSANDS OF ACRES DEVASTATED BY FIRE

Flames Still Raging In Woods Near Moosehead Lake

Bangor, Me., July 11.—The fierce forest fires, which haye been raging since July 3 in the vicinity of Moosehead lake, destroying thousands of acres of Maine's finest timber lands and causing losses of hundreds of thousands of dollars, are spreading rapidly, and only a downpour of rain for several days can stop the spread of the flames.

Since last Monday fourteen fires have broken out on the east side of Moosehead, and southwest of Jackman a fire rages which is considered one of the worst in Maine. Every effort is being made to prevent new fires. The fire patrols have been doubled in number, and the watchers on the mountains are in constant communication with headquarters.

AFFIDAVITS DELIVERED

Doubt as to Ethel Barrymore's Divorce Suit Is Dispelled

New York, July 11.—Confirmation of the report that Miss Ethel Barrymore, the actress, is to sue Russell G. Colt, her husband of two years, for divorce, and material from which Miss Barrymore's lawyers expect to prepare and file initial papers today in the action, reached New York last evening on a train from Los Angeles, Cal.

The suit will be formally contested. The summons and a copy of the complaint are awaited by Colt and his lawyers, who expect to receive them on Wednesday at the latest, possibly today.

NO CAUSE FOR ANXIETY

Both France and Germany Desire Agreement Over Morocco

Berlin, July 11.—The Moroccan situation was the subject of a conference between the French ambassador, Jules Cambon, and Baron von Kiderlen Waechter, secretary of state for foreign affairs.

According to a semi-official statement the exchange of views shows that no cause for anxiety exists, but that on the contrary, there is a sincere desire to reach an understanding regarding any differences between the two nations.

THE KERSHAW FLOATED

Most of Cargo Removed Before Vessel Is Dislodged

Chatham, Mass., July 11.—The steamer Kershaw, which went aground on Shovelful Shoals rip early Sunday, was pulled into deep water, apparently uninjured, just after 11 o'clock last night.

Wreckers had been working on her for more than twenty-four hours, but it was not until the greater part of her cargo had been removed that they were able to drag her from the sands, in which her keel was imbedded.

Lightning Kills Champion Bowler

Cleveland, July 11.—A. S. Lequesne, member of the five-man team which won the national championship in the bowling tournament at Buffalo last March, was struck and instantly killed by a bolt of lightning while sitting beside his wife in a hammock at Royalton. His wife was stunned, but not seriously hurt.

CHOOSE
THE HOME BANK

Quincy is a small city, but its banking facilities and accommodations are good. You need not go to Boston to do your banking or to rent a safety deposit box. This bank is right at home—it is convenient—its business hours are conveniently arranged so that you can bank here easily.

NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

$3.00 American Lady SHOE $3.50

Of course its easy enouth to find Oxfords at the same prices we offer them, but not so easy to find the same kind of Oxfords at such prices. For when you come here, we'll give you better leather, better workmanship, a little finer style, more comfort, more vital value than you've been accustomed to. And our skill in correct fitting is worth a great deal to you.

RALSTON'S for Men

George W. Jones

1 Granite St. "Just Around the Corner." Quincy

July 10, 11, 12. O-July 15

R. E. FOY & CO.

Hire's Root Beer

Make it yourself. You'll know then that it is all right for the kiddies to drink. Hire's Root Beer extract is made of the best herbs and roots that can be found and is absolutely pure. Root Beer is bracing, refreshing and cooling. It is a tonic that drives away that tired feeling and spruces you up.

Order a bottle today and make a boiler full.

HIRE'S ROOT BEER EXTRACT
15 cents

R. E. FOY & CO.
Water cor. Quincy Street, Quincy Adams
We close Wednesdays at 1 o'clock
July 10-2t
Phones 117 and 153

QUALITY STORE QUALITY STORE

THE BEST WHEEL WINS

and you can always count on the Hartford bicycle being the victor not only in speed heats, but at every point. Experience and skill have been so thoroughly applied in their construction that they have reached the highest degree in mechanical perfection.

NEW and SECOND-HAND BICYCLES
Sundries and Repairing

HUB CYCLE CO.
Thomas Nelson, 20 Granite Street, QUINCY
Agency for Hartford and Columbia Bicycles
May 15-2m

WHEELER'S
The Store for Ladies' Furnishings

We will continue our Sale of Shirt Waists and Long Gloves

See what we offer in Shirt Waists for 79c and 98c
and Long Gloves for 50c and 75c

We are also showing a new line of Children's Parasols, all colors, for 25c and 29c

WE GIVE CASH DISCOUNT SLIPS

City Square G. W. WHEELER Quincy

Advertise in The Ledger

16,000,000 Men Are In Uncle Sam's Army

Every Ablebodied Male Between 18 and 45 a Federal Militiaman

And Is Liable to Be Called Upon For Active Service In Time of War

WHEN President Taft ordered the unprecedented mobilization of the United States army along the Mexican frontier there were many who cried "militarism." Perhaps they did not know that under an unobtrusive enactment of congress every ablebodied citizen between eighteen and forty-five years of age is enrolled as a soldier of the United States, under compulsion to serve if called upon in time of war.

By the new system, copied partly from Prussia and partly from Great Britain, there are now approximately 16,000,000 men liable for field duty under control of the war department. These are divided by law into three "lines." The first line comprises about 78,000 regular soldiers, who may be increased by enlistment to 100,000. The second is the national guard, known under the acts of last year, 1908 and 1903 as the organized militia and now numbering 121,580, with no limit on its increase. The third, created by act of congress, is the reserve militia, including every citizen capable of bearing arms and estimated at 15,400,000 men. Most of these probably are unaware that they are officially troops in a legally constituted division of the United States army.

This vast body of reserve militiamen is not regarded by the war department as part of the militia of the states, but as "federal citizen soldiery," a supplement of the regular army. This view is taken to escape the provisions of the constitution which vest in the states a large control over their organized national guard. In the opinion of army experts this divided control operates against military efficiency. In a report made by the chief of the division of militia affairs this official conviction is frankly expressed as follows:

"The conclusion is reached that, while a federal citizen soldiery may be made really efficient for field service, a state militia under existing circumstances will always vary from very satisfactory to very unsatisfactory. It can hardly be expected to be uniformly efficient.

"A body of federal citizen soldiery, organized by federal law, would have to be organized under the power of congress granted by the constitution to raise and support armies. It could not be any part of the militia authorized by the constitution. Such a reserve force might well constitute a part of the regular army of the United States—a reserve branch to supplement and combine with the active regular army and the organized militia for national defense in time of emergency."

Situation Like Prussia's.

In theory the army situation in the United States as well as in England is now the same as that of Prussia—that is, all eligible citizens have been impressed in a body into the service of the war department. The same purpose has been served in the three countries—that in case of war the military would not be compelled to depend upon volunteers.

The difference is in the manner in which the various war departments exercise their powers. In Germany compulsory service means that every citizen fit to bear arms belongs for seven years to the regular army, for five more years to the landwehr (corresponding to our national guard) and then until his thirty-ninth year to a second levy of the landwehr. During this time from two to three years must be spent in actual service "under the colors without interruption."

In England it has been taken for granted that a ministry which attempted to enforce compulsory military service in time of peace would collapse. There is no doubt that still more formidable results would follow any attempt to Prussianize the United States in actual fact.

According to the terms of the law adopted by congress in 1903 and amended in 1908 and 1910, "the militia shall consist of every ablebodied male citizen and every ablebodied male of foreign birth who has declared his intention of becoming a citizen."

The service began theoretically from the passage of the act. There are no exemptions save federal officeholders and those who may be especially excepted by state laws. Peace advocates may escape if they can prove that they belong to "anti-war religious sects, churches or organizations well recognized at the time of the passage of this act." They cannot organize emergency "peace and good will" societies in order to evade military duty.

The reorganization of the military system of the United States was put into effect during the Roosevelt era and planned not only the formation of an immense reserve militia under federal instead of state command, but also the extension of federal control by different devices over the national guard.

Militia Only "Armed Mob."

At first West Point inspectors were sent out to investigate the condition of the state militia and found circumstances which deeply shocked them. One inspector reported of a volunteer regiment that it was "nothing but an armed mob of patriotic citizens." In Kentucky and Arkansas they were scandalized to find that "every militia private thinks he is as good as anybody, even a brigadier general." In Kansas, Missouri, Tennessee and Texas they declared militia colonels were selected because of their activity in their communities or because they came from "good old families." One company, it was charged, was guilty of having canteens without corks and dirty dishes.

These reports are said to have influenced the passage of the Dick bill, which went into effect on Jan. 21, 1910, and which was framed by Elihu Root, then secretary of war. It provided that "the organization, armament and discipline of the organized militia of the several states and territories and in the District of Columbia shall be the same as for the regular army of the United States, subject in time of peace to such exceptions as may be authorized by the secretary of war."

The law, however, modifies the power of the secretary of war over the national guard by several important checks. One of these is based upon the express declaration of the federal constitution, "reserving to the states respectively the appointment of the officers and the training of the militia according to the discipline prescribed by congress." This check applies only until war is declared and troops are called out by the president.

Militia Retains Civil Rights.

As prescribed by congress the discipline of the militia is that of the regular army, but may in time of peace be enforced by the war department only through state authority and state officers.

In addition, except during war or an insurrection, the members of the national guard retain their civil rights; hence, says one writer on the subject, "while they are being nationalized all is polite and pleasing. They are considered as members of the freshman class in a great university of war, the faculty of which is in Washington."

Among the methods already put into operation for converting the national guard as far as the constitution permits into an arm of the regular army are interstate maneuvers, federal pay for militiamen during encampment, correspondence schools in military tactics of volunteer officers and supervision of drills by West Point strategists.

Under the acts of the Roosevelt regime the members of the national guard, when on duty in camps or engaged in military exercises under control of the war department, are entitled to the pay of regular soldiers. A division of military affairs was created in the war department in 1908. Co-operating with the secretary of war and the general staff, this division controls the discipline and training of the national guard in each state.

The adjutant general of each state is theoretically an adjutant general in the United States army.

Laws were drafted for introduction in the state legislatures repeating the main provisions of the congressional enactments on the subject, and a board of state adjutant generals was appointed to act with the war department.

Official communications assert that war can today be prosecuted successfully only after a long and regular training in the science of armed conflict. Some of the more advanced military scientists hold that this education should begin in childhood. Major General Leonard Wood, head of the army, advocated in St. Louis recently military drill beginning at the age of thirteen years in the public schools and rifle ranges for the instruction of high school students in accurate marksmanship.

The war department is providing rifle ranges for the national guardsmen. They are inspected regularly by officers of the United States army. They draw uniforms, arms and equipments from the national government and in time of maneuvers in interstate camps receive the pay of regular troops from the war department.

Exists Only on Paper.

Each state is urged to assemble its militia once a year within its own territory for instruction in the "war game" as taught by the leading military experts of the world, especially in Germany. It is planned to hold interstate maneuvers every other year, both in the east and west, and to have regular troops participate side by side with the militia.

Despite the new allurements for service in the national guard, there has been no notable increase of enlistment, at least in the southern and western states.

Kansas and Oklahoma have fewer than 2,000 organized militiamen each, Missouri and Texas have between 2,000 and 3,000 each, and Georgia, Iowa and Virginia have each between 2,000 and 3,000 guardsmen.

The advocates of peace may find a certain consolation in the fact that the reserve militia of almost 16,000,000 men exists as yet only on paper and will in all present probability come into actual being only in the event of war.

BATH HOUSES INADEQUATE

Thousands Have Been Unable To Get Accommodation

STATE SHOULD ACT

In these days of intense heat, the best method found for geting relief is a dip in the ocean and according to statistics there have ben fully a million "dippers" a day during the last week on the shores of Boston harbor alone. And yet even those who get down to the beach and have the price of a bathing suit and towel are not sure of getting in the water if they have to depend upon the State bath houses. Eevey day thousands of people are turned away without a chance to get into the water because they cannot get suits. To be sure there is some excuse because this torrid wave is unprecedented and there has never been such a rush to the shore but be that as it may, the facilities are not by any means what they should be, especially for women and children. The City bath houses are taxed to the uttermost and a great need is felt for a new one on Faxon beach. There is a measure before the state legislature at the present time relative to erecting a state bath house at Wollaston beach and such a measure if it should pass would be a big thing for the residents of the northern part of the city The question of controlling bath houses has been waged back and forth between the individual and the state but now that the state has control it has been provided quite conclusively that she has not yet learned to handle the crowds which want to take a cooling plunge. One thing which can be said in her favor is that she runs things in a strictly sanitary way and as far as it is possible she cares for the people in the most approved manner. The inadequate accomodations could easily be enlarged if the State legislature deemed the need sufficient for an expenditure and an appropriation for maintenance.

FUNERALS ON MONDAY

SUSANNAH CURTIS.

The funeral of Miss Susannah Curtis was held Monday afternoon from her late home 92 Franklin street. The services in accordance with the wish of the family, were of a simple nature. Rev. Charles B. Ames of the First church officiated and the burial was at Mt. Wollaston cemetery.

JOHN A. PACKARD.

The body of John A. Packard formerly of Quincy, who died in Brockton, Friday, was brought to Quincy Monday for burial in Mt. Wollaston cemetery.

MRS. JOANNA GARRELL.

The body of Mrs. Joanna Garrell who died in Boston Friday was brought to Quincy Monday for burial in the Hall cemetery at West Quincy.

BATH HOUSE POULAR.

The city bath house is a popular resort this kind of weather and thousands enjoy a dip during high water. Jack Starr who has charge of the bath house is a most accommodating official and tries to make everybody feel at home. The new addition for women is completed and occupied and has filled a great want. This section is in charge of a matron. High water is a signal for thousands to take a dip.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

Washington, July 10, 1911.

The intense heat that has spread over the country this summer has had the effect of checking some of the debate in the Senate on the reciprocity bill. It is now believed that the bill will be finally passed by Aug. 1, which President Taft will promptly sign, and thus our trade with Canada will rapidly spread and develop, thus adding to the prosperity of both countries.

PARCEL POST AGAIN.

Congress has decided to make an investigation of the business of the great Express Companies with a view to establishing a parcel post in connection with the post office department. The Express Companies have filed new rates with the Interstate Commerce Commission, greatly reducing the former rates of transportation. This shows that they are afraid of a parcel post. Congressmen and Senators have been receiving many strong letters from their constituents from all parts of the country urging them to pass the parcel post bill, and it is not believed that it will be very much longer before such will be done. We are far behind European countries which have had parcel posts for many years.

ROOSEVELT AND RECALL SYSTEM

President Roosevelt has come out squarely in favor of admitting Arizona to state hood with her very radical constitution. When President Roosevelt was in the White House he was opposed even to the initative and the referendum as being too radical. The proposed constitution of Arizona has a provision which enables the people to recall a judge from office after he has proven unsatisfactory. Mr. Roosevelt says he does not favor the "recall" but that he does not see why Arizona should not enjoy that privilege if she desires to do so and recall her judges. This article by Mr. Roosevelt which appeared over his signature in the Outlook has attracted a great deal of attention, both among the Congressmen and Senators, and the people at large is showing that some of his opinions have undergone substantial changes since he left the White House.

Adams.

BUENOS AYRES FINDS AN ANARCHIST PLOT

Latest of Many Growing Out of Labor Disputes

Buenos Ayres, July 11.—What is believed to be an anarchistic plot has been uncovered by the police. Two Italian anarchists have been arrested. A raid on their house revealed a regular bomb factory.

There have been many clashes between anarchists and the police in Buenos Ayres, growing out of labor disputes. President Alcorta narrowly escaped death when a bomb was thrown at him as he was driving in the street on Feb. 28, 1908. Colonel Falcon, chief of police, and his secretary were killed by a bomb on Nov. 14, 1909. A bomb explosion occurred in the theatre in Buenos Ayres on June 28, 1910, and twenty persons were injured.

The senate and chamber of deputies then passed a bill for the suppression of anarchy, capital punishment being provided for those responsible for any anarchistic movement resulting in death.

EACH DAY.

Helen Woodward Pratt.

Counting the minutes, and counting the hours,
Counting the brambles, and counting the flowers,
Counting the sunshine, and counting the rain,
It is all in the work of a day.
For tomorrow's pleasures will banish its pain;
The flowers that have faded will bloom again,
The sunshine is sure to follow the rain.
It is wise old nature's way.

The pain from the world we jealously hid,
The daily duties we bravely did,
The hopes nailed down 'neath the coffin lid,
And the sorrowful tears that fall.
The secret we hide, in our bosom, deep,
The smiles that we know, or the tears that we weep,
In His tender care He will safely keep,
And God is over all.

THE BLANKET FISH.

This Dreaded Sea Monster Wraps Its Body Around Its Prey.

The manta, or blanket fish, is common to the warm parts of the Pacific. Around the Mexican penal colony on Tres Marias islands, not very far from Manzanillo, it is one of the most efficient guards for the prisoners incarcerated there. Not a man has ever been known to escape from this dreaded prison by swimming. No sooner does a human body strike the water than a school of these monsters appear, flying like giant bats through the sea. They throw themselves on the hapless swimmer, crushing him to the bed of the sea, and there suck the flesh from his bones with their powerful mouths.

The manta grows to mammoth dimensions, though the one which I saw, says a writer in the Wide World Magazine, was comparatively small, not weighing over two or three tons and not being more than fifteen feet across. The fish is nearly square in outline, the wings forming great right angles, which stretch out from the body, giving it a rectangular appearance. The fish swim by flapping these wings and are sometimes called "sea bats" on this account.

Mantas swim with incredible rapidity for what is apparently so ungainly a fish, and once they sight anything in the water, unless it be the speediest fish or shark, they overtake it and simply close it, wrapping the entire blanket-like body around the unfortunate victim. Even with a sharp knife it is almost impossible to reach a vital point in the manta's body. For this reason they are the most dreaded by divers of all the dwellers in the sea, and the diver's life is not without its perils, take my word for that.

(ADVERTISE.)

THE ROCK OF INCH CAPE.

In the North sea there is a great rock called the Inch Cape rock. It is twelve miles from any land and is covered most of the time with water.

Many boats and ships have been wrecked on that rock, for it is so near the top of the water that no vessel can sail over it without striking it.

More than a hundred years ago there lived not far away a kind hearted man who was called the abbot of Aberbrothock.

"It is a pity," he said, "that so many brave sailors should lose their lives on that hidden rock."

So the abbot caused a buoy to be fastened to the rock. The buoy floated back and forth in the shallow water. A strong chain kept it from floating away.

On the top of the buoy the abbot placed a bell, and when the waves dashed against it the bell would ring out loud and clear.

Sailors now were no longer afraid to cross the sea at that place. When they heard the bell ringing they knew just where the rock was, and they steered their vessels around it.

"God bless the good abbot of Aberbrothock!" they all said.

One calm summer day a ship with a black flag happened to sail not far from the Inch Cape rock. The ship belonged to a sea robber called Ralph the Rover, and she was a terror to all honest people.

There was but little wind that day, and the sea was as smooth as glass. The ship stood almost still. There was hardly a breath of air to fill her sails.

Ralph the Rover was walking on the deck. He looked out upon the glassy sea. He saw the buoy floating above the Inch Cape rock. It looked like a big black speck upon the water. But the bell was not ringing that day. There were no waves to set it in motion.

"Boys," cried Ralph the Rover, "put out the boat and row me to the Inch Cape rock. We will play a trick on the old abbot."

The boat was lowered. Strong arms soon rowed it to the Inch Cape rock. Then the robber with a heavy ax broke the chain that held the buoy.

He cut the fastenings of the bell. It fell into the water. There was a gurgling sound as it sank out of sight.

"The next one that comes this way will not bless the abbot," said Ralph the Rover.

Soon a breeze sprang up, and the black ship sailed away. The sea robber laughed as he looked back and saw that there was nothing to mark the place of the hidden rock.

For many days Ralph the Rover scoured the seas, and many were the ships that he plundered. At last he chanced to sail back toward the place from which he had started.

The wind had blown hard all day. The waves rolled high. The ship was moving swiftly. But in the evening the wind died away, and a thick fog came on.

Ralph the Rover walked the deck. He could not see where the ship was going. "If the fog would only clear away," he said.

"I thought I heard the roar of breakers," said the pilot. "We must be near the shore."

"I cannot tell," said Ralph the Rover, "but I think we are not far from the Inch Cape rock. I wish we could hear the good abbot's bell."

The next moment there was a great crash. "It is the Inch Cape rock!" the sailors cried as the ship gave a lurch to one side and began to sink.

"Oh, what a wretch am I!" cried Ralph the Rover. "This is what comes of the joke that I played on the good abbot!"

What was it that he heard as the waves rushed over him? Was it the abbot's bell, ringing for him far down at the bottom of the sea?

Five Geese In a Flock.

When your friends come to see you, play five geese in a flock. The children sit on the grass or on a bank or bench side by side. One stands as market woman opposite the row of players.

She walks along the row and touches each child, beginning where she pleases and saying one word of the following rhyme to each as she touches her:

Please—good—farmer—cut—the—corn;
Keep—the—wheat—and—burn—the—thorn;
Shut—your—gate—and—turn—the—lock;
Keep—the—five—geese—in—a—flock.

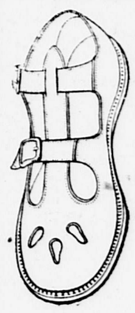
As soon as she says the word "flock" the one first touched jumps up and runs away. The market woman pursues her. But while she is catching her the other geese have fled, and she has to catch each player and reseat her in her place before the game can begin again. The one first caught becomes in her turn the market woman.

Independence.

The town of Palmer, Mass., is one of the communities that declared themselves independent of Great Britain before July 4, 1776, according to a historian who has been examining the old records of the town. This man found a document that shows that Palmer's citizens met in assembly June 16, 1776, and formally renounced all allegiance to the mother country.

A Great Scheme.

I wish I had a stick so high
That it would reach unto the sky,
And when there came a rainy day
I'd push the rain clouds right away.



BAREFOOT SANDALS

The best thing for the children to wear during the warm weather. They are light and comfortable and give good satisfaction.

CHILDS	5 to 8	45c
MISSES	8 to 11	50c

HEFFERNAN'S SHOE STORE
1375 Hancock Street, Quincy

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.

A Clearance Sale
— OF —
Soiled Shirt Waists

A Specially good assortment of Large Sizes

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

SUMMER RECIPES.

The first large apples begin to come to market about this time. They can be called upon now and then for an agreeable hot-weather dessert. Apples with ginger is one such hint, both wholesome and tasty.

Pare or core some good greenings or pippins. Fll the cavity in the centre of each piece of fruit with a spoonful of chopped preserved ginger. Stand them on an earthenware or enameled dish and pour over them a syrup made either of sugar and water flavored with a piece of dried ginger that has been cooked in it, or with the syrup from the preserved ginger, if this is left, with the addition of a little water. Bake until soft and transparent, but not broken, basting from time to time with the syrup. Serve hot or cold with whipped cream on top. Decorate the whipped cream with small strips of the preserved ginger.

Cold hominy that is left over from the breakfast supply can be used up promptly for luncheon under a disguies that will successfully conceal its identity from those who would be disposed to resent a reappearance.

The high presto, change! is into hominy drop cakes, made in this way:

Mix together one pint of cold cooked breakfast hominy, one tablespoonful of cold water, two eggs, which must be well beaten; a pinch of salt and a teaspoonful of baking powder, the latter sifted into enough flour to make a thin batter. Drop by spoonfuls on a buttered tin and bake quickly.

A pretty way to serve cucumbers, whether in salad or as an accompaniment to fish, etc., is in the form of ringlets. So prepared they make a very novel appearing dish—one which might be introduced at the next company luncheon for which some little extra touch is desired.

Peel the cucumbers and cut off the pithy ends as usual. Then slice them in pieces one-third of an inch thick. With a sharp vegetable cutter peel away the slices into little curls round and round. Then drop them into iced water for a short time before serving.

Dry and serve in beds of white lettuce leaves with French dressing or plain on individual little plates.

Floods Claim Hundreds of Lives

Vienna, July 11.—Hundreds of lives have been lost and many millions of dollars' damage done by terrific floods now raging in Moldavia.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, creditors and all other persons interested in the estate of Charles C. Nash late of Weymouth in said County, deceased, intestate:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased; to Juliett C. Nash of Weymouth without giving a surety on her bond. You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Brookline in said County of Norfolk, on the twenty-sixth day of July A. D. 1911, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And the petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in Quincy, Mass., the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this eighth day of July A. D. 1911.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.

July 11-3t 11, 17, 24

HOT WEATHER BRIEF.

You can benefit from this hot weather, just as you benefit from the coldest weather of winter. Extreme heat and extreme cold bear hard on the individual here and there, but a little of both is good for the average man.

Benefit may be had from these torrid days if you take their lesson. Their lesson is to work easily, to forego worry, to hurry about nothing, to put aside the unattainable and to postpone what is not immediate; in a word, to seek the shady side of the street. "Manana"—tomorrow— is the motto of lands bathed in sunshine, and although fatal as a steady doctrine, it is helpful, just as a vacation is helpful, in that it is seasonable relief from the sheer striving of the Anglo-Saxon. "Dolce far niente" is another motto of lands lying under the sun, and if you construe its "sweet doing nothing" as applying to the gratuitous struggles and fatuous flurries that make up a large part of existence, it is mighty good doctrine.

This weather, rightly taken, will reduce your bodily heat, remove your adipose tissue, if you have any; simplify your diet, eliminate various bodily humors, improve your complexion and clarify your mind. It will turn the fighter into the philospher—and is not the philosopher a higher type?—New York Mail.

$5.00 REWARD

for return to Ledger Office of a Panama Hat which fell out of an auto Sunday between Quincy and Quincy Point.

July 10-3t

WARNING

The Water Department has given proper notice to those who are using hose contrary to the rules of the Department. Any person persisting in so doing will have the water shut off immediately, without further notice.

RANDOLPH BAINBRIDGE,
Commissioner of Public Works.
July 10-2t

TO LET
IN QUINCY CENTER

SEVERAL DESIRABLE HOUSES
7, 8 and 10 Rooms

Every convenience and very desirable locations.

RENT $25 TO $40 according to house

APPLY TO
MISS PRESCOTT,
Ledger Office

Quincy, July 7. LPOtf

PATENTS

TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 25 years experience.

Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.

READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.

D. SWIFT & CO.
PATENT LAWYERS,
303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

HISTORIC QUINCY.

City of Presidents Has Much Of Interest

Old historic Quincy settled in 1625 has much of interest to visitors. When Braintree was incorporated in 1640, the territory now known as Quincy, was a part. In 1792 Quincy became an independent town, and in 1888 was incorporated as a city.

Quincy was named in honor of Col. John Quincy, descendant in the third generation from Edmund, 2d, who settled in Quincy, in 1634; grand-father of Abigail (Smith) Adams, the wife and mother of a President of the United States.

The city includes Wollaston, Atlantic, Quincy Point, South Quincy, West Quincy, Montclair, Norfolk Downs, Wollaston Park, Squantum, Houghs Neck, Adams Shore, Germantown and Quincy Neck, comprising in all over 16 square miles, of which 2,530 acres are in public parks.

Birthplaces of Presidents.

Birthplace of John Adams, the first Vice President and second President of the United States, Franklin street, Quincy Adams house built in 1681 and restored in 1897 by Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution. Open to public. Admission charged.

Birthplace of John Quincy Adams the sixth President of the United States, junction of Franklin street Presidents road and Independence avenue. Built 1716, restored 1896 by the Quincy Historical Society. Open to public afternoons from 2 to 5. Admission charged.

Abigail Adams Cairn.

Penns Hill, erecteld June 17, 1896, by Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, to the memory of Abigail Adams, who with her son, John Quincy, from the spot watched the smoke of battle at Bunker Hill. Cairn composed of many historic stones, the corner stone being part of the old sleeper of first railroad in United States which ran from Quincy quarries to tide water, Neponset river.

Burial Place of Presidents.

First Congregational Church (Unitarian) at Quincy centre. In auditorium each side of high pulpit, are mural monuments, to the memory of John Adams, the second president, and John Quincy Adams, the sixth president of the United States, and their wives. The funeral of John Quincy Adams was held in this church. Beneath the entrance is the Adams tomb, reached by stairways from the vestibule. Near the tomb is the box in which was brought from Washington the body of John Quincy Adams, also the old town hearse. Admission may be secured on application to W. E Dewhurst, sexton, 3 Maple street. A fee is asked for attendance, etc.

Hancock Cemetery.

Hancock cemetery across the street from First church contains many old stones. Among the old graves are those of Henry Adams founder of the Adams family who died Oct. 5, 1646; Rev. William Thompson, 1st pastor over the Braintree church who died Dec. 10, 1666; Rev. Henry Flint who died Oct. 11, 1668; Rev. John Hancock father of the Patriot who died May 7 1744, and many other notable people.

John Hancock Birthplace.

Adams street, junction of Dimmick and Hancock streets. A bronze tablet has been placed by the City of Quincy on Adams Academy to mark the place where the house stood in which the patriot John Hancock, the bold signer of the Declaration of Independence was born.

Presidents Adams Mansion.

Adams street, corner Newport avenue, Quincy. Residence of President John Adams and contains many family relics. Occupied by descendants Not open to public.

Presidents Lane.

Now Goffe street, leading from Adams street, near Mansion. Opened by John Adams to drive his cows to pasture.

Dorothy Q. House.

Hancock street, corner Butler road Quincy, Old Quincy homestead in which Dorothy Q was born. Owned by the Massachusetts Society of Colonial Dames. Has quaint old paper on parlor put on for wedding of John Hancock and Dorothy Quincy; also secret chamber and other interesting features. Open free to the public on Saturdays, from 11 A. M., until 4 P. M Other days admission charged.

Myles Standish Cairn.

Squantum heights, erected in 1895 by the Daughters of the Revolution of Massachusetts, in memory of Captain Myles Standish and his men of Plymouth Colony, who landed here Sept 30, 1621, guided by the Indian Tisquantum.

Myles Standish Spring.

On the beach to the left and back of Squantum Inn. Spring of fresh cold water, where Standish and his party breakfasted and thence started to explore the country around Boston Bay

Squaw Rock.

Pile of rock, on which is a perfect head of a squaw, frequently mentioned in early Squantum history. Near by is also Sachem's Knoll.

Quincy Daily Ledger

HIGH TIDE FOR WEEK.

Monday, July 10,	11.00	11.00
Tuesday,	11.30	11.45
Wednesday,	1200	12.15
Thursday,	12.15	12.45
Friday,	1.00	1.30
Saturday,	1.45	2.00
Sunday,	2.15	2.45

1911 JULY 1911

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
						1
2	3	4	5	6	7	8
9	10	11	12	13	14	15
16	17	18	19	20	21	22
23	24	25	26	27	28	29
30	31

BRIEFS

Master Whiting of Holliston is visiting H. O. Cassidy of Edwin street.

Henry P. Kittridge has gone to Atlantic City for a short stay. He will return next Thursday.

Pilgrim Union of the West Boston District of Epworth Leagues held a picnic at Houghton's pond Saturday.

Mr. Wheaton of Lindon was the speaker at the evening services at the Atlantic Methodist church on Sunday.

Mrs. Colin Goodwin and son Willie are leaving this week for Cherryville, Maine. They will not return until the first of September.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Stephenson of Arlington street, Wollaston, have gone on the Shriner's excursion to Rochester, N. Y., this week.

Mrs. George Burr of Billings street has gone to Framingham to spend a few weeks with her mother in hopes of making greater progress in regaining her health.

Miss Ethel Dicey substituted at the organ of the Atlantic Methodist Methodist church on Sunday in the absence of Miss Marguerite Louise Holbrook who was singing at the First Congregational church, Malden.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATION.

A competitive examination of applicants for detective and fire inspector will be held July 28. Applicants will be examined in letter-writing, training and experience, arithmetic, handwriting, and knowledge of criminal law and criminal procedure. The greatest weights will be given to experience in detective work and knowledge of criminal law and criminal procedure. Applicants must be not less than twenty-five nor over forty years of age, and not less than five feet, seven inches in height in bare feet, and must weigh not less than one hundred and thirty-five pounds without clothing.

Those who pass in the foregoing subjects wil be required to pass a physical examination. Only citizens of the United States, who have been residents of Massachusetts for the past year, have a right to apply. Men desiring to take this examination may secure application blanks by applying in person or by letter at the office of the Civil Service commission, Room 152, State House, Boston, Mass.

ABANDONING CATS.

A Ledger correspondent calls attention to the large number of cats that are abandoned each year by their owners who go away for the summer. She herself is caring for four of such animals which have been left to shift for themselves.

The Massachusetts Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, she says, offers a reward of $10 for information as to persons who thus abandon their cats, and heavy fines have been meted out by the courts.

One of the worst features of the abandonment of cats is that the hungry animals soon become hunters in the woods and orchards and eat hundreds of birds, especially the young that they find in the nests. All the ornithologists agree that the insect-eating birds suffer more from the stray cats than from any other source.

Gates Grows Weaker

Paris, July 11.—The condition of John W. Gates is unchanged except as the duration of his illness has weakened the patient and rendered the case more serious.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

MUST REPORT ACCIDENTS

Matter of Great Importance to Both Employer and Employee

BLANKS FURNISHED

The following is a brief story in regard to the work of the Commission on Compensation for Industrial Accident and the new law in regard to the making of reports of injuries by employers.

The Legislature may, before it adjourns, pass a compensation act which will go into effect July 1, 1912. If the act now before the Legislature is adopted it will require all of the statistics that can be obtained in order that the premium rates established by the employees' insurance association may be fair and equitable to all concerned.

Moreover, as you will note, the commission is instructed to report on May 1, 1912, such amendments as it may deem necessary to this act or any other which may be passed at this session. In order that the Commission may have the information upon which to base such amendments, it is necessary that every employer in the state shall cooperate in supplying full reports of all accidents.

The following resolve was approved by the Governor, June 30, 1911.

To extend the Powers of the Commission appointed to consider the Liability of Employers for injuries received by Employees in the Course of their Employment.

RESOLVED, That the commission which was appointed under chapter one hundred and twenty of the resolves of the year nineteen hundred and ten to determine upon a plan of compensating employes for injuries sustained in the course of their employment is hereby continued.

Said commission shall continue its studies and investigations, and shall collect and compile statistical data of all accidents and other pertinent information, and shall report to the general court on or before May one, nineteen hundred and twelve, such legislation as in their opinion may be desirable, and for said purposes is continued until July first, nineteen hundred and twelve.

Every employer shall hereafter until July first, nineteen hundred and twelve, keep a record of all injuries, fatal or otherwise, received by his employees in the course of their employment. Within forty-eight hours, not counting Sundays and legal holidays, after the occurrence of an accident resulting in personal injury a report thereof shall be made in writing to the commission on blanks furnished for the purpose.

Upon the termination of the disability of the injured employee or, if such disability extends beyond a period of sixty days, at the expiration of such period the employer shall make a supplemental report on blanks furnished by the commission for such purpose.

Such reports shall contain the name and nature of the business of the employer, location of establishment, the name, age, sex and occupation of the injured employee, and shall state the date and hour of the accident, the nature and cause of the injury and such other information as may be required by the commission.

Anyemployer who refuses or neglects to make a report required by this resolve shall be punished by a fine of not more than fifty dollers for each offence.

The total additional expense to be incurred under this resolve shall not exceed the sum of thirteen thousand dollars. (Resolves of 1911, Chap. 110.)

The Commission named in this resolve was appointed June 8, 1910, by Governor Draper under authority of a resolve (Chapter 120 of the resolves of 1910) and consists of James A. Lowell, Chairman, Amos T.Saunders, Secretary, Magnus W. Alexander, Henry Howard, and Joseph A. Parks.

After giving the subject committed to its charge most careful consideration the Commission reported January 11, 1911, to the effect that it had been unable to formulate a satisfactry bill to submit to the General Court and asked to have its time extended for one year for the purpose of making a more thorough investigation. The latter part of April, however, the Legislature by a resolve (Chapter 66) instructed the Commission to report a bill on or before May 20 and to continue its investigations to July 1, 1911. In accordance with these instructions the Commission presented drafts of three bills, one of which, House Bill No. 2038, is now under consideration by the Legislature. The Commission also sent out accident report blanks to most of the principal employers of the State, instructing them to make reports of all injuries to employees received in the course of their employment, which were sufficiently severe to come to the attention of the employer. The employers of the State have cooperated very heartily in this matter, and during the past two months the Commission has received several thousand such reports. The investigation, authorized by Chapter 110, quoted above, will continue along the same lines as those already undertaken.

It seems desirable, however, to limit the injuries reported somewhat, as the Commission has received a very large number of a very trivial character where no disability resulted. Hereafter the Commission desires to receive reports of all injuries which result in any loss of time whatever or which are sufficiently serious to require the services of a physician.

The Commission interprets the provisions of this resolve to cover every employer in the State, no matter what his line of business may be.

Blanks for making reports may be obtained by addressing a request to Carroll W. Doten, Chief Investigator of the Commission, room 227, State House, Boston.

QUINCY REAL ESTATE SALES.

Charles F. Adams 2d et al exs to Catherine L. Norcross, Utica street, Dorchester avenue.

Charles F. Adams et al trs to John J. Hallisey, Kendrick avenue, Madison avenue.

Annie N. Allen to Chester A. Cleveland, Safford street.

Frank C. Andrews to Myra H. Winegar, Hobart street.

Eva C. Bassett to John F. Maguire, Newport avenue.

William A. Bradford to Giovanni Di Salvo, Canal street.

Maria E. Drew to Harriet C. Clark, Botolph street.

Wilton A. Dunham to John H. Donahue, Houghs Neck.

Alex Falconer et al to George H. Field, Bennington street, Independence avenue.

Felix Favorite to Florence M. Clapp, Belmont street.

Catherine J. Fearer to Isabelle Merriam, Littlefield street, River street.

Nicholas G. Garbarino to Fred C. Gilpatric, Sea street, Bay View avenue.

Myra I. Harriman to Eva C. Kelley, Grove street, Beale street.

Michael C. Hayes to Charles E. Merrill, Allerton street.

Gertrude A. Jones to John Morgan, Beale street, Belmont street.

Alice F. Joss to Mary H. Miller, Cherry avenue.

Clara B. Kestner to William H. Ellis Herbert road.

Theo B. Munroe to Bridget Healey, Dundee street, Summit street.

James R. Murphy tr to Edith M. Bent, Park lane. Merrymount road.

Mary H. Robbins to Agnes M. Nichols, Beach street.

Harlow H. Rogers to George H. Field, Hancock stret.

Harlow H. Rogers to George H. Field, Hancock street.

Jessie Scoular to John McCulloch, Germain avenue.

John T. Sewell to Alice Murdock, Edison Park.

Charles S. Tuck to Eliza Pickering, Billings road, Felton street.

Emil Veit to Elizabeth F. Giesser, st fr Green street.

Royal S. Wentworth to Oscar J. Tomlinson et ux Arlington street, Beale street.

Herbert T. Whitman et al to Antonio Vissa, Quarry street.

Ruby A. Wilson to Horace W. Richmond, Fayette stret.

Hathron Woodworth et al to Jessie A. Tribou, Arlington street.

BORDEN ENDS CAMPAIGN

Canadian Opposition Leaders Is Fight-Hard Against Reciprocity

Winnipeg, Man., July 11.—R. L. Borden, the Conservative leader, and his party have closed their three weeks' campaign in the prairie provinces against the proposed reciprocity agreement and have left for Ottawa to attend the reassembling of parliament today, when debate on the measure will be resumed.

Borden addressed thirty-eight large public gatherings during his tour. He received resolutions favoring the pact from over a thousand branches of the Grain Growers' association of western Canada.

SURVIVES 13,000 VOLTS

Railway Man Receives Electric Shock While Using Telephone

Exeter, N. H., July 11.—Thirteen thousand volts of electricity passed through the body of C. H. McAdams and he still lives.

McAdams, who is superintendent of the Exeter, Hampton and Amesbury Street allway company, was telephoning when he received the shock.

He was painfully burned, but it is expected that he will live.

Judge Drops Dead

Auburn, N. Y., July 11.—Justice Frank A. Hooker of the Michigan supreme court dropped dead here as he was about to purchase a ticket to his home in Lancing, Mich. He was 62 years old.

LETTERS PLAY LEADING PART

New York Police Now Involved In Stokes Case

THEY MUST SOLVE MYSTERY

Three City Detectives Allowed Citizen to Remove Property From Room of Misses Graham and Conrad While They Were In Charge—Neglect of Duty and Other Charges Are to Be Made Against Them

New York, July 11.—The mystery of the eight or more missing letters written by W. E. D. Stokes, the millionaire, to Lillian Graham, the show girl, must be solved by the police and James Cummings, Stokes' private detective, to the satisfaction of Magistrate Freschi and Police Commissioner Waldo. Three central office detectives and a lieutenant of police face serious charges as the outgrowth of the investigation begun two days ago.

Meantime Cummings is under summons to testify before the magistrate and to shed further light upon the part he says he took in removing the letters from the girls' room.

The detectives who face charges are the three men who, according to Cummings, were in Miss Graham's apartment two days after the shooting of Stokes, when Cummings says he found the letters. The charges will be neglect of duty, failure to make a proper report concerning the finding of the letters and allowing a citizen to remain in the room when they were in charge.

Deputy Police Commissioner Dillon so announced last night and added that the charges would be made at once. He said he had not decided whether he would suspend the detectives until trial or not.

Acting District Attorney Buckley applied for the summons for Cummings. Miss Graham and her chum, Miss Ethel Conrad, phose preliminary examinationon a charge of attempting to kill Stokes was continued, insist that the absence of the letters in question greatly handicaps their case, because they relied on the missives to justify their shaooting Stokes.

SINGS AS END COMES

Noted Welsh Composer Has an Unusual Death-Bed Scene

Chicago, July 11.—John P. Jones, a noted Welsh composer, died here at the age of 88 years, under rather unusual conditions. Realizing that the end was near, the aged music writer sang from his own compositions.

His 17-year-old granddaughter was at the piano to play the accompaniments, and gathered around the dying man were his four maiden daughters, all teachers in the public schools of Chicago. They have kept house for their venerable father for many years. A few relatives also were present.

He sang clearly and unfalteringly for some time, and after a few words of good-bye to his family, died peacefully.

COTTON MILLS OPEN

Many In New England Resume Operations After Curtailment

Boston, July 11.—Operations were resumed yesterday in many New England mills which curtailed their output by closing plants ten days or two weeks. Following are the mills which started again:

Amoskeag Manufacturing company, Manchester, N. H.; York and Pepperill cotton mills and Saco-Pettee machine shops, Biddeford, Me.; Lancaster Gingham mills, Clinton, Mass.; Dwight and the Chicopee Manufacturing companies, Chicopee, Mass.; Otis company, cotton and hosiery mills, Ware, Mass.; Atlantic mills, Providence.

HORSE RACES CALLED OFF

Governor Forbids Pool Selling on the Woonsocket Track

Woonsocket, R. I., July 11.—Because Governor Pothier ordered pool selling on the horse races at the local track stopped the five days' meet scheduled to start yesterday has been called off. There were 160 entries.

Acting on orders from the governor, Sheriff Wilcox of Providence county sent the deputy sheriffs to this city to stop pool selling, which usually has been conducted in connection with the Woonsocket races. Pothier also has ordered Wilcox to close an alleged gambling resort at North Providence.

Alleged Plotters Arrested

Paris, July 11.—Prominent Unionists, Messrs. Vran, Drumont and Baritand, have been arrested on the charge of organizing an anti-militarist propaganda in the army.

The Weather

Almanac, Wednesday, July 12.
Sun rises—4:36; sets—7:27.
Moon rises—8:56 p. m.
High water—12 m.; 12:15 p. m.
Forecast for New England: Local thunder showers; somewhat lower temperatures, except in southeast Maine; moderate south winds.

BOSTON SWELTERS

No Immediate Relief From Intense Heat Appears In Sight

Boston, July 11.—The hottest July 10 in thirty-one years passed into history last night, with thirty-three deaths and fifty-four prostrations charged up to the blistering heat the sun poured upon sweltering Boston.

From other parts of New England nine deaths and thirteen prostrations were reported. Except for the possibility of thunder showers there is no relief in sight for Boston.

Boston Lawyer Sent to Prison

Boston, July 11.—Louis F. Gates, a Boston attorney charged with larceny and utttering a forged check, was given three years in the house of correction after he had pleaded guilty to all charges in the indictment.

MAKES WORK EASIER

Quincy People Pleased to Learn How It Is Done.

It's pretty hard to attend to duties
With a constantly aching back;
With annoying urinary disorders.
Doan's Kidney Pills make work easier.
They cure backache.
They cure kidney ills.

James P. Daugherty, Hammond Place Quincy, Mass. says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and am glad to let other sufferers know what they have done for me. I was bothered a great deal by backache and had but little strength or energy to get through with my day's work. I took many so-called kidney cures, but did not succeed in finding relief until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, which I procured at the Cox Drug Store. I was surprised and gratified by the prompt way in which they relieved me. My back was soon strong and free from pain and I felt better in every respect. I would go to considerable trouble to get anyone to use Doan's Kidney Pills, as I have so much confidence in their merit."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

In effect June 4, 1911

The letters in the same lineas the figures below stand for different stations and indicate that trains stop as follows.

a Wollaston,	f Harrison Square
b Norfolk Downs	g Savin Hill
c Atlantic	h Crescent Avenue
d Neponset	i South Boston
e Pope's Hill	r Quincy Adams

Exp.—Express train.

TO BOSTON			FROM BOSTON
Leave	Stop	Arrive	Leave	Stop	Arrive
r 5 14 abcdefghi	5 41		5 45 ihgfedeba	6 14 r
r 6 16 abcl	6 35		6 12 ihgfedeba	6 39 r
r 6 33 e	6 48		6 30 a	6 47
r 6 40 abcf	7 00		7 15 hgfedeba	7 41 r
r 7 08 abcd	7 30		7 41 a	7 58
r 7 25 d	7 42		7 45 c	8 03 r
r 7 33 Exp	7 48		8 35 cb	8 53
r 7 42 ab	8 00		8 42 a	8 59
7 57 a	8 13		9 10 fedba	9 32 r
r 8 09 abcd	8 31		9 45 a	10 11 r
r 8 30 Exp	8 45		10 15 ihgfedeba	10 41 r
r 8 53 ad	9 10		10 50 Exp	11 05
r 9 15 abc	9 33		11 15 hgfedeba	11 41 r
r 10 03 a	10 20		11 50 a	12 07
r 10 19 abcdefghi	10 45		12 15 hgfedeba	12 41 r
11 12 a	11 28		12 37 a	12 54 r
r 11 24 abcdefgh	11 50		12 50 Exp	1 05
12 04 a	12 20		1 11 fedeba	1 32 r
r 12 25 abcdefghi	12 52		1 45 a	2 02
1 22 a	1 40		2 15 ihgf	2 37 r
2 04 a	2 20		2 35 Exp	2 50
r 2 19 abcdefgh	2 45		3 15 hgfedeba	3 40 r
r 3 13 Exp	3 28		3 45 a	4 02
4 04 a	4 20		4 12 fedeba	4 34 r
r 4 25 abcdefgh	4 52		4 41 d	4 58
5 05 Exp	5 10		5 14 a	5 31 r
r 5 30 abcdefg	5 55		5 21 a	5 42
6 12 a	6 30		5 31 dcb	5 50 r
7 22 Exp	7 37		5 43 a	6 06 r
r 7 30 a	7 46		5 55 fedeba	6 21 r
r 8 07 abcdef	8 30		6 14 Exp	6 30 r
r 9 01 abc	9 20		6 30 ceba	6 51 r
10 04 a	10 20		7 00 fedeba	7 24 r
r 10 07 abcdef	10 30		7 12 a	7 29
r 11 25 abc	11 45		8 05 ba	8 32
			9 25 dba	9 46 r
			10 35 fedeba	11 02 r
			11 10 fedeba	11 35 r
			11 30 ba	11 49

SUNDAYS

r 7 43 abc	8 03		6 30 ba	6 48 r
8 30 Exp	8 45		45 ihgfedeba	9 13 r
8 34 abc	8 52		9 05 Exp	9 21
r 8 46 bcdefghi	9 13		10 15 ihgfedeba	10 42 r
r 9 13 abc	9 33		12 15 ihgfedeba	12 42 r
9 31 a	9 47		12 45 Exp	1 01
10 23 ac	10 40		1 30 ihgfedeba	1 57 r
10 31 Exp	10 47		2 15 hgfeedeba	2 42 r
11 00 Exp	11 17		2 45 a	3 02
r 11 16 abcdefghi	11 43		3 15 ihgfedeba	3 42 r
1 02 Exp	1 17		4 27 eba	4 48 r
r 1 16 abcdefgh	1 43		5 15 ihgfedeba	5 42 r
r 3 10 abc	3 30		6 15 ihgfedeba	6 42 r
r 4 16 abcdefghi	4 43		7 00 eba	7 19 r
r 5 07 abc	5 27		8 15 ihgfedeba	8 41 r
r 6 16 abcdefghi	6 43		8 50 Exp	9 05
r 7 16 abcdefghi	7 42		9 30 ihgfedeba	9 57 r
r 8 11 abcdefghi	8 38		10 45 eba	11 04 r
r 9 05 a	9 22
r 10 46 abc	11 05
r 11 01 abc	11 20

West Quincy for Boston (stopping at East Milton)-6.23, 6.56, 7.17, 8.04, 8.11, 9.07 10.09, 11.01, A. M. 12.09, 1.23, 2.09, 3.18, 4.09, 5.13 6.06, 7.19, 9.09, 11.14 P. M. Sundays- 8.20, 9.20 A. M. 12.59, 5.15, 6.59, 11.02 P. M.

Boston for West Quincy (stopping at East Milton)-6.35, 7.27, 8.23, 9.35, 10.25, 11.35 A. M. 12.25 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 5.47, 6.18 7.20, 9.10, 11.20 P. M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M.

Montclair for Boston 6.29, 7.27, 8.17, 10.15, A. M. 12.15, 1.29, 4.15, 5.20, 6.12, 7.24, 9.15, P. M. Sundays - 8.26, 9.26, A. M. 1.06, 5.21, 11.09 P. M.

Boston for Montclair 9.35, 10.25, 11.35, A. M. 12.25, 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 6.18, 11.20 P. M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M. 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M.

Boston & Northern St. Ry. Co.

QUINCY DIVISION

TIME TABLE

In effect June 24th, 1911.

Subject to Change Without Notice

Leave QUINCY for

Brockton, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M. then 9.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Brockton, 6.30, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 9.30 P. M Sundays, 8.00A. M. then same as week days.

Braintree, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Braintree, 6.25 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.25 P. M. Sundays, 7.55 A. M. then same as week days.

East Milton, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 8.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Milton, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M., and every 20 minutes to 11.45 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.15 midnight.) Sundays, 7.25, A. M. then same as week days.

East Weymouth, 6.00, 6.15, 6.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.42 P. M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Weymouth, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.45 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Holbrook, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M. then 9.50 and 10.20 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Holbrook, 5.55, 6.25, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.00 P. M. Sundays, 8.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Houghs Neck, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 5.20, 5.45, 6.10 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 4.10 P. M. then 4.25, 4.40, 4.55, 5.10, 5.25, 5.40, 5.55, 6.10, 6.25, 6.40, 6.55, 7.10 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 11.10 P. M. then 11.49 P. M. Saturdays and Holidays, 5.20, 5.45, 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, 10.10, 10.40, A. M. then every 15 minutes to 10.40 P. M. then 11.10 and 11.49 P. M. Sundays, 6.50, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, 10.10, 10.40 A. M. then every 15 minutes to 10.40 P. M. then 11.10 P. M. Return, leave Houghs Neck Mondays to Fridays, both inc. 5.45, 6.05, 6.35 A. M. and ever 30 minutes to 4.35 P. M. then 4.50, 5.05, 5.20, 5.35, 5.50, 6.05, 6.20, 6.35, 6.50, 7.05, 7.20, 7.35 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 12.05 midnight. Saturdays and Holidays, 5.45, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05, A. M. then every 15 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.35 and 12.05 P. M. Sundays, 7.20, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05 A. M. then every 15 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.35 P. M.

Nantasket 8.25 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 9.25 P. M. Sundays, 9.25 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Nantasket, 10.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.00 P. M. Sundays, 10.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Hancock Street, 5.45, 6.14, 6.44, 7.14, 7.44, 8.14, 8.35, A. M. then 5, 14, 35 and 44 minutes past each hour to 10.44 P. M. then 12.14 midnight. Sundays 7.14 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Neponset 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, 8.07, 8.35, 8.37, 9.05, 9.37 A. M. then 5, 7, 35 and 37 minutes past each hour to 11.07 P. M. then 12.37 midnight. Sundays, 7.37 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Wollaston. 5.59 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.59 P. M. then 11.14 and 11.44 P. M. Sundays, 6.59 A. M. then same as week days. Return leave Neponset, 6.22 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.22 P. M. then 11.37, 12.07 P. M. Sundays, 7.22 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Norfolk Downs, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 7.55, 8.25, 8.50, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 1.30 P. M. then 2.05, 2.35 P. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.05 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.00 P. M.) Sundays, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Neponset, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 1.35 P. M. then 2.00, 2.30 P. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M.) Sundays, 8.30, 9.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Weymouth Landing, 5.20, 6.00, 6.20, 6.55, 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.00 P. M. Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days. Return leave Weymouth Landing, 5.40, 6.15, A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.15 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Wollaston, 5.59 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.59 P. M. then 11.14 and 11.44 P. M. Sundays, 6.59 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Wollaston, 6.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.30 P. M. then 11.50 and 12.20 P. M. Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days.

West Quincy, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave West Quincy, 6.00, 6.20, 6.50, A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.50 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.20 midnight) Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days.

Leave NEPONSET BRIDGE for Squantum, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 3.30 P. M. then 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30 P. M. then every 60 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Saturdays, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Sundays, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. (Note—Week Days, cars will leave Atlantic Bridge for Squantum, 5.45 and 6.15 A. M.) Return leave Squantum, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 4.05 P. M. then 4.35, 5.05, 5.35, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05 P. M. then every 60 minutes to 11.05 P. M. Saturdays, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 10.05 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. Sundays, 8.05 9.05, 10.05, A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M.

THOMAS GAMMON,
Superintendent.

Northern St. Ry. Co.
CY DIVISION
ME TABLE
June 24th, 1911.
hange Without Notice
e QUINCY for
20 A. M. and every 30
0 P. M. then 9.50 P. M.
A. M. then same as eturn, leave Brockton,
L. and every 30 minutes
Sundays, 8.00A. M. then
days.
20 A. M. and every 30
50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50
e as week days. Re-aintree, 6.25 A. M. and es to 10.25 P. M. Sun-
M. then same as week
5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M. and es to 11.10 P. M. (Wed-aturdays, 11.50 P. M.)
A. M. then same as week
leave East Milton, 5.55,
, and every 20 minutes
(Wednesdays and Satidnight.) Sundays, 7.25,
e as week days.
nth, 6.00, 6.15, 6.35 A. M.
minutes to 11.05 P. M.
Sundays, 7.35 A. M.
week days. Return,
ymouth, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45
30 minutes to 11.45 P.
45 A. M. then same as
0 A. M. and every 30
P. M. then 9.50 and ndays, 7.50 A. M. then days. Return, leave
6.25, 7.00 A. M. and s to 10.00 P. M. Sunthen same as week
Mondays to Fridays,
5.45, 6.10 A. M. and
s to 4.10 P. M. then
10, 5.25, 5.40, 5.55, 6.10,
10 P. M. then every 30
P. M. then 11.49 P. M.
Holidays, 5.20, 5.45,
7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10,
A. M. then every 15
P. M. then 11.10 and ndays, 6.50, 7.40, 8.10,
10.10, 10.40 A. M. then
s to 10.40 P. M. then rn, leave Houghs Neck days, both inc. 5.45, and ever 30 minutes to 4.50, 5.05, 5.20, 5.35,
6.35, 6.50, 7.05, 7.20,
very 30 minutes to Saturdays and Holi-
6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05,
0.05, 10.35, 11.05, A. M. inutes to 11.05 P. M.
12.05 P. M. Sundays,
9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35,
every 15 minutes to 11.35 P. M.
A. M. and every 30
P. M. Sundays, 9.25 A.
week days. Return,
10.00 A. M. and every
.00 P. M. Sundays,
same as week days.
Hancock Street, 5.45,
7.44, 8.14, 8.35, A. M.
d 44 minutes past each
M. then 12.14 mid-
7.14 A. M. then same
Return, leave Neponset
8.07, 8.35, 8.37, 9.05,
, 7, 35 and 37 minutes
o 11.07 P. M. then
Sundays, 7.37 A. M.
ek days.
Wollaston, 5.59 A. M.
nutes to 10.59 P. M.
1.44 P. M. Sundays,
same as week days.
Neponset, 6.22 A. M. and
s to 11.22 P. M. then
Sundays, 7.22 A. M.
ek days.
Norfolk Downs, 6.25,
.25, 8.50, 9.30 A. M.
nutes to 1.30 P. M.
M. and every 30 min-
M. (Wednesdays and
P. M.) Sundays, 8.00, hen same as week
leave Neponset, 7.00,
.00, 9.35 A. M. and to 1.35 P. M. then d every 30 minutes to dnesdays and Satur-
Sundays, 8.30, 9.00
as week days.
nding, 5.20, 6.00, 6.20,
nd every 30 minutes
ndays, 7.30 A. M. then
ays. Return leave ng, 5.40, 6.15, A. M.
utes to 11.15 P. M.
M. then same as week
A. M. and every 30
P. M. then 11.14 and days, 6.59 A. M. then
ys. Return, leave
M. and every 30
P. M. then 11.50 and days, 7.30 A. M. then ys.
30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M.
utes to 11.10 P. M.
Saturdays 11.50 P.
0 A. M. then same as rn, leave West Quin-
A. M. and every 20
P. M. (Wednesdays
2.20 midnight) Sun-
hen same as week
SET BRIDGE for days to Fridays, both
20, 8.00, 8.20 A. M.
utes to 3.30 P. M.
00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30 P.
minutes to 10.30 P.
30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00,
nd every 30 minutes
ndays, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30
0 minutes to 10.30 P.
Days, cars will leave for Squantum, 5.45
Return leave Squan-
Fridays, both inc.,
35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05 A.
minutes to 4.05 P. M.
35, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05 P.
minutes to 11.05 P.
, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05,
M. and every 30
P. M. Sundays, 8.05
nd every 30 minutes
MAS GAMMON,
Superintendent.

THE DANGER TRAIL

By
JAMES OLIVER CURWOOD

Copyright, 1910, by Bobbs-Merrill Company.

SYNOPSIS

Jack Howland, engineer, sent to build the Hudson Bay railroad, is appealed to for help by a beautiful girl who writes that she is a mute and invites him to accompany her. They are followed by Jean Croisset, half breed.

They go to her camp. He is attacked and nearly killed by a huge stranger. The girl disappears. Howland hears her speak. Croisset gives him the little Meleese's warning not to go north. He goes.

Howland again sees the girl, who tells him by note his life is in danger. She asks his forgiveness. Gregson and Thorne are mere wrecks of their former selves.

Mysterious perils threaten Howland. The girl visits him and confesses that she had lied to him. She entreats him to return south.

He tells her he loves her. Her name is Meleese. She partly promises to tell him why enemies seek his life.

(Continued from last issue)

CHAPTER VI.

THE BLOWING OF THE COYOTE.

In the new excitement that pulsated with every fiber of his being Howland forgot his own danger, forgot his old caution and the fears that gave birth to it, forgot everything in these moments but Meleese and his own great happiness, for he was happy, happier than he had ever been in his life, happier than he had ever expected to be. He was conscious of no madness in this strange, new joy that swept through his being like a fire. He did not stop to weigh with himself the unreasoning impulses that filled him. He had held Meleese in his arms, he had told her of his love, and, though she had accepted it with gentle unresponsiveness, he was thrilled by the memory of that last look in her eyes, which had spoken faith, confidence and perhaps even more. And his faith in her had become as limitless as the blue space above him. He had known her for but a few hours, and yet in that time it seemed to him that he had lived longer than in all of the years that had gone before. She had lied to him, had divulged only a part of her identity, and yet he knew that there were reasons for these things.

Tomorrow night he would see her again, and then—

What would she tell him? Whatever it was, it was to be a reward for his own love. He knew that by the half fearing tremble of her voice, the sobbing catch of her breath, the soft glow in her eyes. Impelled by that love, would she confide in him? And then—would he go back into the south?

He laughed softly, joyfully.

Yes, he would go back into the south. He would go to the other end of the earth if she would go with him. What was the building of this railroad now to that other great thing that had come into his life? For the first time he saw duty in another light. There were others who could build the road. Success, fortune, ambition—in the old way he had seen them—were overshadowed now by this love of a girl.

He stopped and lighted his pipe. The fragrant odor of the tobacco, the flavor of the warm smoke in his mouth, helped to readjust him, to cool his heated brain. The old fighting instincts leaped into life again. Go into the south? He asked himself the question once more, and in the gloomy silence of the forest his low laugh fell again as he clenched his hands in anticipation of what was ahead of him. No, he would build the road! And in building it he would win this girl, if it was given for him to possess her.

THE ENGINEER CAUGHT A GLIMPSE OF HIS DARK, GRINNING FACE.

His saner thoughts brought back his caution. He went more slowly toward the cabin, keeping in the deep shadows and stopping now and then to listen. At the edge of the clearing he paused for a long time. There was no sign of life about the cabin abandoned by Gregson and Thorne. It was probable that the two men who had passed along the path had returned to the camp by another trail, and still keeping as much within the shadows as possible he went to the door and entered.

With his feet propped in front of the big box stove sat Jackpine.

"Any one been here, Jackpine?"

"Thorne," he grunted, pointing to a paper on the table. Howland spread out the paper in the light of the lamp and read:

My Dear Howland—I forgot to tell you that our mail sledge starts for Le Pas tomorrow at noon, and as I'm planning on going down with it I want you to get over as early as you can in the morning. Can put you on to everything in the camp between 8 and 12. THORNE.

A whistle of astonishment escaped Howland's lips.

Jackpine had half opened the door, and for a moment the engineer caught a glimpse of his dark, grinning face looking back over his shoulder. He hesitated, as if about to speak, and then with a mouthful of his inimitable chuckles, he went out.

After bolting the door Howland lighted a small table lamp, entered the sleeping room and prepared for bed.

"Got to have a little sleep no matter if things are going off like a Fourth of July celebration," he grumbled and rolled between the sheets.

In spite of his old habit of rising with the breaking of dawn it was Jackpine who awakened him a few hours later. The camp was hardly astir when he followed the Indian down among the log cabins to Thorne's quarters. The senior engineer was already dressed.

"Sorry to hustle you so, Howland," he greeted, "but I've got to go down with the mail. Just between you and me I don't believe the camp doctor is much on his job. I've got a deuced bad shoulder and a worse arm, and I'm going down to a good surgeon as fast as I can."

For an hour after breakfast the two men were busy with papers, maps and drawings relative to the camp work. Before that hour had passed he was certain of at least one other thing—that it was not incompetency that was taking the two senior engineers back to the home office. He had half expected to find the working end in the same disorganized condition as its chiefs. But if Gregson and Thorne had been laboring under a tremendous strain of some kind it was not reflected in the company's work, as shown in the office records which the latter had spread out before him.

"That's a big six months' work," said Thorne when they had finished. "Good Lord, man, when we first came up here a jack rabbit couldn't hop through this place where you're sitting, and now see what we've got—fifty cabins, four mess halls, two of the biggest warehouses north of Winnipeg, a post-office, a hospital, three blacksmith shops and—a shipyard!"

"A shipyard!" exclaimed Howland in genuine surprise.

"Sure, with a fifty ton ship half built and frozen stiff in the ice. You can finish her in the spring, and you'll find her mighty useful for bringing supplies from the head of the Wekusko. We're using horses on the ice now. Had a deuced hard time in getting fifty or 'em up from Le Pas. And, besides all this, we've got six miles of roadbed built to the south and three to the north. We've got a sub-camp at each working end, but most of the men still prefer to come in at night." He dragged himself slowly and painfully to his feet as a knock sounded at the door. "That's MacDonald, our camp superintendent," he explained. "Told him to be here at 8. He's a corker for taking hold of things."

A little, wiry, red headed man hopped in as Thorne threw open the door. The moment his eyes fell on Howland he sprang forward with outstretched hand, smiling and bobbing his head.

"Howland, of course!" he cried. "Glad to see you! Five minutes late—awful sorry—but they're having the devil's own time over at a coyote we're going to blow this morning, and that's what kept me."

From Howland he whirled on the senior with the sudden movement of a cricket.

"How's the arm, Thorne? And if there's any mercy in your corpus tell me if Jackpine brought me the cigarettes from Le Pas. If he forgot them, as the mail did, I'll have his life as sure"—

"He brought them," said Thorne. "But how about this coyote, Mac? I thought it was ready to fire."

"So it is—now. The south ridge is scheduled to go up at 10 o'clock. We'll blow up the big north mountains some time tonight. It'll make a glorious fireworks—125 barrels of powder and four fifty-pound cases of dynamite—and if you can't walk that far, Thorne, we'll take you up on a sledge. Mustn't allow you to miss it!"

"Sorry, but I'll have to, Mac. I'm going south with the mail."

MacDonald seemed to be the life and law of the camp, and he wondered more and more at Thorne's demeanor. He began to note that there was a strange nervousness about Thorne when they were among the men, an uneasy alertness in his eyes, as though he were looking for some particular face among those they encountered.

"I want Howland to see this south coyote go up," said MacDonald. "Can you spare him? We'll be back before noon."

"Certainly," replied Thorne. "Come and take dinner with me at 12."

Howland fancied that there was a certain tone of relief in the senior's voice, but he made no mention of it to the superintendent as they walked swiftly to the scene of the "blowout." The coyote was ready for firing when they arrived. The coyote itself—a tunnel of fifty feet dug into the solid rock of the mountain and terminating in a chamber packed with explosives—was closed by masses of broken rock, rammed tight, and MacDonald showed his companion where the electric wire passed to the fuse within.

"It's a confounded mystery to me why Thorne doesn't care to see this ridge blown up!" he exclaimed after they had finished the inspection. "We've been at work for three months drilling this coyote and the bigger one to the north. There are 4,000 square yards of rock to come out of there and 6,000 out of the other. You don't see shots like those three times in a lifetime, and there'll not be another for us between here and the bay. What's the matter with Thorne?"

Without waiting for a reply MacDonald walked swiftly in the direction of a ridge to the right. Already guards had been thrown out on all sides of the mountain and their thrilling warnings of "Fire, fire, fire!" shouted through megaphones of birch bark, echoed with ominous meaning through the still wilderness, where for the time all work had ceased. On the top of the ridge half a hundred of the workmen had already assembled, and as Howland and the superintendent came among them they fell back from around a big, flat bowlder on which was stationed the electric battery. MacDonald's face was flushed and his eyes snapped like dragon flies as he pointed to a tiny button.

"God, but I can't understand why Thorne doesn't care to see this!" he said again. "Think of it, man—7,500 pounds of powder and 200 of dynamite!

AN EXPLOSION LIKE THAT OF A THOUSAND GREAT GUNS RENT THE AIR.

A touch of this button, a flash along the wire and the fuse is struck. Then four or five minutes and up goes a mountain that has stood here since the world began. Isn't it glorious?" He straightened himself and took off his hat. "Mr. Howland, will you press the button?"

With a strange thrill Howland bent over the battery, his eyes turned to the mass of rock looming sullen and black half a mile away, as if bidding defiance in the face of impending fate. Tremblingly his finger pressed on the little white knob, and a silence like that of death fell on those who watched. One minute—two—three—five passed, while in the bowels of the mountain the fuse was sizzling to its end. Then there came a puff, something like a cloud of dust rising skyward, but without sound, and before its upward belching had ceased a tongue of flame spurted out of its crest, and after that, perhaps two seconds later, came the explosion. There was a rumbling and a jarring, as if the earth were convulsed under foot. Volumes of dense black smoke shot upward, shutting the mountain in an impenetrable pall of gloom, and in an instant these rolling, twisting volumes of black smoke became lurid, and an explosion like that of a thousand great guns rent the air. As fast as the eye could follow sheets of flame shot out of the sea of smoke, climbing higher and higher in lightning flashes until the lurid tongues licked the air a quarter of a mile above the startled wilderness. Explosion followed explosion, some of them coming in hollow, reverberating booms, others sounding as if in midair. The heavens were filled with hurtling rocks; solid masses of granite ten feet square were thrown a hundred feet away; rocks weighing a ton were hurled still farther, as if they were no more than stones flung by the hand of a giant; chunks that would have crashed from the roof to the basement of a skyscraper dropped a third and nearly a half a mile away. For three minutes the frightful convulsions continued. Then the lurid lights died out of the pall of smoke, and the pall itself began to settle. Howland felt a grip on his arm. Dumbly he turned and looked into the white, staring face of the superintendent. His ears tingled, every fiber in him seemed unstrung. MacDonald's voice came to him strange and weird.

"What do you think of that, Howland?"

The two men gripped hands, and when they looked again they saw dimly through dust and smoke only torn and shattered masses of rock where had been the giant ridge that barred the path of the new road to the bay.

Howland talked but little on their way back to camp. The scene that he had just witnessed affected him strangely. It stirred once more within him all of his old ambition, all of his old enthusiasm, and yet neither found voice in words. He was glad when the dinner was over at Thorne's, and, with the going of the mail sledge and the senior engineer, there came over him a still deeper sense of joy. Now he was in charge. It was his road from that hour on. He was in charge—in charge of the greatest railroad building job on earth—he, Jack Howland, who less than twenty years ago was a barefooted, half starved urchin peddling papers in the streets where he was now famous! And now what was this black thing that had come up to threaten his chances just as he had about won his great fight? He clinched his hands as he thought again of what had already happened—the cowardly attempt on his life, the warnings, and his blood boiled to fever heat. That night, after he had seen Meleese, he would know what to do. But he would not be driven away as Gregson and Thorne had been driven. He was determined on that.

The gloom of night falls early in the great northern midwinter, and it was already growing dusk when there came the sound of a voice outside Howland's cabin, followed a moment later by a loud knock at the door. At Howland's invitation the door opened, and the head and shoulders of a man appeared.

"Something has gone wrong out at the north coyote, sir, and Mr. MacDonald wants you just as fast as you can get out there," he said. "He sent me down for you with a sledge."

"MacDonald told me the thing was ready for firing," said Howland, putting on his hat and coat. "What's the matter?"

"Bad packing, I guess. Heard him swearing about it. He's in a terrible sweat to see you."

Half an hour later the sledge drew up close to the place where Howland had seen a score of men packing bags of powder and dynamite earlier in the day. Half a dozen lanterns were burning among the rocks, but there was no sign of movement or life. The engineer's companion gave a sudden sharp crack of his long whip, and in response to it there came a muffled "Hello!" from out of the gloom.

"That's MacDonald, sir. You'll find him right up there near that second light, where the coyote opens up. He's grilling the life out of half a dozen men in the chamber, where he found the dynamite on top of the powder instead of under it."

"All right!" called back Howland, starting up among the rocks. Hardly had he taken a dozen steps when a dark object shot out behind him and fell with crushing force on his head. With a groaning cry he fell forward on his face. For a few moments he was conscious of voices about him. He knew that he was being lifted in the arms of men and that after a time they were carrying him so that his feet dragged on the ground. After that he seemed to be sinking down—down—down—until he lost all sense of existence in a chaos of inky blackness.

(To be Continued.)

Marquis Second Best In Duel

Paris, July 11.—Paul Tissandier and Marquis Kergarion, The Journal's aviation circuit race commissioners, fought a duel at Liege. The duel was the outcome of a dispute over weather conditions when the aviators were at Liege on June 21. Kergarion received a wound an inch deep in his right forearm.

Your Clothes Need Attention!

Keep them in a sanitary condition by our modern cleansing process.

Just phone 594 M or write and our team will call.

WARSHAW'S
DYE HOUSE
"The House of Cleanliness"
1503 HANCOCK STREET
QUINCY
July 8-tf

WHY OWN
WEBSTER'S NEW INTERNATIONAL DICTIONARY
THE MERRIAM WEBSTER?
Because it is a NEW CREATION, covering every field of the world's thought, action and culture. The only new unabridged dictionary in many years.
Because it defines over 400,000 Words; more than ever before appeared between two covers. 2700 Pages. 6000 Illustrations.
Because it is the only dictionary with the new divided page. A "Stroke of Genius."
Because it is an encyclopedia in a single volume.
Because it is accepted by the Courts, Schools and Press as the one supreme authority.
Because he who knows Wins Success. Let us tell you about this new work.
WRITE for specimen of new divided page.
G. & C. MERRIAM CO., Publishers, Springfield, Mass.
Mention this paper, receive FREE a set of pocket maps.

DENNET GIVES HIS TESTIMONY

Head of Land Office Tells of Opening of Controller Bay

TAFT GAVE "SECRET" ORDER

Ryan Brothers Immediately Secured Control of Terminal, Being Made Possible by Elimination of Original Sixty-Day Pubic Notice of Contemplated Restoration to Public Entry—Survey at Once Begun by Them

Washington, July 11.—President Taft's executive order restoring Controller bay to public entry was a secret order and gave a great advantage to the men who knew it had been issued and served to handicap all who depended on the customary publication of such orders.

This was admitted by Fred Dennet, commissioner of the general land office, who was called before the house committee on expenditures in the interior department. As the order reached the land office, Dennet testified, it contained the usual clause to the effect that there be sixty days' public notice of the contemplated restoration. As the order was finally promulgated this clause was eliminated. The public generally did not learn of the order for six months.

The significance of this testimony is to be found in the fact that on the day the order was signed by President Taft, Richard Ryan telegraphed his brother, J. J. Ryan, notifying him that the order was out. J. J. Ryan immediately filed on the land which will give the Ryan brothers control of a terminal on Controller bay, and two days later had an engineer at work making a survey of the newly restored land.

The examination of Dennet was conducted by W. P. Fennell, counsel for the committee. Fennell at the outset endeavored to show that Controller bay is the only natural outlet for the coal of Alaska, but Dennet said he had no personal or detailed knowledge on the subject.

The witness admitted that a railroad coud get control of the land contiguous to Controller bay and thereby monopolize the situation only by executive order, other than a regular right of way. He also admitted that there was general knowledge of the attempt of the Cunningham claimants to control the coal lands prior to President Taft's executive order.

"The situation," Dennet said, "was entirely in the control of the president." Dennet said that all executive orders reating to public lands are promulgated through his office.

Dennet said he did not know who struck out the sixty day clause from the order. The witness said that even those who might have private knowledge of the promulgation of the order could not make entry on the restored land at Controller bay because there had been no survey approved by the government.

Apart from fraud, said Dennet, if entry is made on land in Controller bay in accordance with the regulations and the law, even congress cannot divest the entry men of their property.

Dennet said the first knowledge he had of the now famous "Dick to Dick" letter from Richard Ryan to Secretary Richard Ballinger concerning Controller bay was when he read the letters in the newspapers.

Questioned by Chairman Graham, Dennet said that if the restored land at Controller bay had been surveyed it would have been possible to make an entry on the land there the moment the president's executive order was officially promulgated.

Graham asked Dennet if, as charged, a survey made by Richard Ryan prior to the issue of the executive order would be valid. Dennet said that question is now under consideration in the land office.

GIVES BROCKTON $20.000

Ex-Governor Douglas Shows Loyalty to His Home City

Brockton, Mass., July 11.—Ex-Governor William L. Douglas sent a check to the Bigger Brockton committee for $20,000, to be invested in stock of the Brockton Factory association, citizens and business men organized to build up the business of the world's greatest shoe centre.

The first step was the new factory movement and already $93,000 has been subscribed of the needed $100,000. Work will begin at once on the structure made possible by the ex-governor's check.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, Lucas County, ss.
Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure. FRANK J. CHENEY.
Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.
A. W. GLEASON,
(Seal) Notary Public.
Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.
F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by all Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Other Soaps Counterfeit that most famous of soaps—Pears.
But counterfeits do not possess the delightful emollient qualities of the original—qualities which preserve the skin in a condition of perfect health and insure a lovely complexion. Why bother with counterfeits that Never Equal in quality and results the genuine Pears' Soap? Pears has unapproachable merit. Yet its price is as low as that of ordinary soaps. Pears' Soap is absolutely pure, low in cost and much more lasting. Ask today and always for
Pears' Soap
15 cents a cake for the unscented

BETTER
Put in Your
Winter's Supply

Direct from the mines to our yard comes the coal we have for sale—coal that's famous the country over for its free burning qualities, its low percentage of ash, its freedom from impurities.

It's "full value" fuel, and our method of taking and filling orders ensures satisfaction. Orders placed now save money for buyers.

TAKE A LOOK IN YOUR BIN
then act.

SPECIAL RANGE COAL
Stove or Nut
$7.25 Cash

C. PATCH & SON, Inc.
Office, 1422 Hancock Street, Quincy

WE ARE NOT THE
LOWEST PRICED
STORE IN QUINCY BUT WE POSITIVELY ARE THE
LOWEST PRICED STORE
IN MASS., CONSIDERING THE QUALITY OF MEATS WE SELL
HIGHEST QUALITY, LOW PRICES OUR STANDARD
RESPECTFULLY,
JOHNSON BROS.
June16-tf

YOUR VACATION
WON'T BE COMPLETE
UNLESS YOU LEAVE
AN ORDER FOR THE
QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
TO BE FORWARDED TO YOU
NEWS FROM HOME EVERY DAY
FOR ONLY TWO CENTS

UPHOLSTERING

My only ambition is to get the work and to show the people of Quincy Town that nobody can beat me with my good work. Low prices on all kinds of furniture, repairing, mat tresses, and cushions. Can give references. M. Mirkin 67 Washington street, next to Y.M.C.A. Quincy. Tel. 1112W. April 10-4mo.

Quincy Savings Bank

BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.

SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.

CLARENCE BURGIN, Treasurer.

M. T. SULLIVAN

Real Estate Insurance
Auctioneer Care of Property
Justice of the Peace
Corner School and Hancock Streets QUINCY.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.
FIRE INSURANCE.
The Best Insurance. The Lowest Rates.
Insurance Department,
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Telephone, Quincy 97-3.

JAMES F. BURKE
Real Estate and Insurance
AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES
Justice of the Peace Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Tel. 385-3 Jan. 17-tf

HOUSEKEEPERS
TELL YOUR TROUBLES
HOLMES & HALL
We make a business of repairing the things about the house that get out of order such as DOORS, LOCKS, SHADES, BELLS and FURNITURE.
96 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 974 L

PATTERSON, "The Florist"
92 South Central Ave.
WOLLASTON, MASS.
Telephone 332 Quincy

A. M. DEANE & CO.
MONUMENTS
MEMORIALS ERECTED
IN ANY
CEMETERY
IN THE
UNITED STATES
Aug. 1. 1y

STORAGE
—FOR—
Furniture and Pianos
Storage Warehouse with Separate Rooms
Furniture and Piano Movers
HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1485 Hancock Street, Quincy Tel. Con.

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER and GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1351 Hancock treet, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point
Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1173 M Nov. 3-tf

PATENTS
PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc. IN ALL COUNTRIES.
Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent.
Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively
Write or come to us at
710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office,
WASHINGTON, D. C.
C.A.SNOW & CO.

Quincy Daily Ledger

FOR SALE AT

BOSTON—At South Station after 3.30 P. M.
QUINCY—Ledger Office 1424 Hancock Street.
L. A. Chapin, 1395 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, oppo. Depot.
Thompson's Waiting Room, City Sq.
H. P. Kittredge, City Square.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
Mrs. Madden, 16 Quincy ave.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's News Stand.
PARK&DOWNS—Branschied & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
QUINCY NECK—Stetson Pierce, Newcomb Square.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith, Washington Street.
Gragg's Pharmacy.
L. A. Cook, Washington Street.
E. O. Godfrey, 538 Washington St.
E. H. Lowe, Washington Street.
George E. Sprague Cor. River St.
SOUTH QUINCY—Litchfield, Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Miss C. Booth, Brooks Avenue.
BREWER'S CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
Mrs. F. H. Stanley.
WEST QUINCY—F. A. Skinner.
John G. Belanger.
HOUGHS NECK—Capt. Fosdick's.

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	103 degrees
July 11, 1910,	96 degrees
July 11, 1909,	83 degrees
July Noon Maximum, 14 years,	101
July Noon Minimum, 14 years.	60

A Popular Bell.

BRIEFS

The Union chapel fair at Houghs Neck opens tomorrow and continues through Thursday evening.

The Calvary Baptist Y. P. S. C. E. is planning to have a lawn party on Wednesday, July 19 at the home of Miss Minnie Trask, Pleasant street.

The annual ladies days event of the Quincy Yacht club takes place next Wednesday off the club house at Houghs Neck.

The forty-fifth annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic is to be held the week of Aug. 21-27 at Rochester, N. Y., and already plans are well underway to entertain the veterans.

B. F. Hodgekinson lost a cow this morning on account of the heat. The animal has refused to eat anything since Monday morning. It has been necessary to keep all the cows drenched with water continually to keep them alive.

In order to make ample provision for all who care to use them, seven new swings have been erected at the Ward One playground. The popularity of this recreation ground is increasing each day and both children and parents are finding it altogether good.

Owing to the excessive heat this morning all work in the street, water and sewer departments of the city was suspended at 9 o'clock and the men were told to go home. It would be dangerous to any man's life to attempt to work in a sewer or water trench in weather like this.

YOURS WILL COME.

The assessors have a large force of clerks at work this week making out real and personal estate tax bills. Do not be impatient, however, if you do not receive yours, for you will get it all right.

HOME TRADE WILL HELP QUINCY AND EVERYONE IN QUINCY.

DEATHS

ALMY—National Sailors Home, July 9, George B. Almy in his 85th year.

WHEELER—In Quincy, July 9, George H. Wheeler in his 73rd year.

BERRY—In East Milton, John F., son of George P. and Joana L. Berry aged 1 year, 6 days.

Established 1870 Telephone
JOHN HALL
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
Carriage and Ambulance Service
1485 Hancock Street, Quincy Mass.

LIVE SPORTING EVENTS

ON THE DIAMOND

American League

At St. Louis:	R	H	E
Boston	8	13	1
St. Louis	5	10	2

Batteries—Moser, Collins and Williams; Pelty, George, Mitchell and Clarke.

At Detroit:	R	H	E
Detroit	4	8	1
Washington	3	7	0

Batteries—Willett, Summers and Stanage; Groom, Gray and Henry.

At Chicago:	R	H	E
New York	5	12	0
Chicago	2	7	0

Batteries—Vaughan and Sweeney; Walsh and Sullivan.

National League

At Boston:	R	H	E
Boston	6	6	2
Cincinnati	2	6	4

Batteries—Weaver and Kling; Gaspar and McLean.

At New York:	R	H	E
Chicago	3	9	1
New York	2	6	4

Batteries—Richie and Archer; Matthewson and Myers.

At Philadelphia:	R	H	E
Philadelphia	4	8	0
St. Louis	2	8	0

Batteries—Alexander and Dooin; Golden, Geyer and Bresnahan.

At Brooklyn:	R	H	E
Pittsburg	2	6	1
Brooklyn	0	5	3

Batteries—Adams and Gibson; Rucker, Bergen and Erwin.

New England League

At Worcester:	R	H	E
Worcester	8	10	1
Lynn	1	6	2

Batteries—Van Dyke and O'Neil; Swormstedt, Case and Daum.

At New Bedford:	R	H	E
Lowell	6	11	2
New Bedford	2	7	2

Batteries—Busick and Huston; Griffith and Rufiange.

At Brockton:	R	H	E
Brockton	8	14	1
Lawrence	1	4	0

Batteries—Gaw and Wadleigh; Howard and Ulrich.

At Fall River:	R	H	E
Fall River	8	14	3
Haverhill	5	10	2

Batteries—Wormwood and Perkins; McIntyre and Milliman.

FINALS NEXT SATURDAY.

The final in the open doubles match at the Quincy Tennis club will be held next Saturday afternoon. The contestants are Rockwell and Carleton against Conant and Tunis. The hostesses of the day will be Mrs. Elliot Remick and Mrs. George E. Pfaffmann. It is the desire of the executive committee that not only members but all those interested in tennis playing will feel free to witness the match and to join in with the club members in having a pleasant afternoon.

SPORTING NOTES.

"Sid" Patterson, the well known baseball pitcher returned from Barre, Vt., this morning. He has been pitching for the I. A. A. C. of that place for the past five weeks and has made a good record winning five out of seven games. "Sid" will spend a few days in Quincy before going on to Bluffton, Indiana, where he was last summer.

Flynn, Wes Ganzel, Harry Stevens and "Link" Elcock are playing with the Whitehall, Vt., team.

Knight is pitching great ball for the Westville, N. S. team. When last heard from he had just finished a game in which the opponents got but one scratch hit and Knight struck out 16 men.

"Billie" Duggan and Sam Nowell are playing with the Millers of Wakefield.

He—"Are you not afraid some one may marry you for your money?"

She—"Oh, dear, no. Such an idea never entered my head."

He—"Ah, in your sweet innocence, you do not know how coldly, cruelly mercenary some men are."

She—"Perhaps not."

He—"I would not for the world have such a terrible fate happen to you. The man who wins you should love you for yourself alone."

She—"He'll have to. It's my cousin Jennie who has the money, not I. You've got us mixed. I haven't a cent."

He—"Er—very pleasant weather we're having."—New York Weekly.

G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT.

The 45th annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic will be held in Rochester, N. Y. August 21 to 27.

The Massachusetts department has arranged for a special train for the accommodation of department officers, representatives of the national encampment, members of the G. A. R., W. R. C., Ladies of the G. A. R., Daughters and Sons of Veterans and friends, to leave Boston, Monday, Aug. 21, at 9.15 A. M., from the North station, via. the Fitchburg division, stopping at Ayer, Fitchburg, Gardner, Athol, Orange and Greenfield. Lunch at Greenfield. Leave Greenfield at 12.25 P. M.; North Adams, 1.25 P. M., arriving in Rochester 7.50 P. M.

The parade will be on Wednesday, Aug. 23, and will move at 10 A. M.

All communications in relation to the encampment or for the securing of rooms, should be addressed to Henry S. Redman, 143 Powers building, Rochester, N. Y. Comrades or posts desiring free quarters should address William S. Foster, room 143, Powers building, Rochester, N. Y.

The Young Idea.

In a certain school a schoolboy of tender years is said to have produced the following essay on the camel: "The cannibal is a sheep of the desert. It is called a backteria because it has a hump on its back. The cannimal is very patient and will lie down and die without a groan, but when it is angry it gets its back up, which is called the hump. The shepherds of cannimals is called Arabs. When they live in towns they are called street Arabs. When the cannimal goes on a journey it drinks as much as it can to last for many days. Such animals are called acquiducks. Those that cannot carry enough are called inebriates."

To Meet an Emergency.

"Madam, have you any old clothes to give away?"

"I have a suit belonging to my husband, but I fear it is too big for you."

"Oh, that will be all right. You just set me out a square meal and watch me eat enough so that I can fill it."—Washington Times.

See here, Weary, what is this scandal I hear about you.

I trust, Dusty, that the gossips are not maligning me.

Well, Weary, they say that you asked for a pass on a railroad.

Hum, Dusty, are all our dissipations to be charged against us!

Cremo 5¢ CIGAR
You try one!

OLD NEW ENGLAND WAYS.

Curfew Still Rings, and District Schools Still Flourish.

Everywhere, even in the midst of the most flourishing and progressive cities and towns, there are examples of the work and evidences of the lives of the fathers—old houses, rows of stately elm trees, old business buildings with their queer gable ends to the street—while ever and anon there are still to be encountered men who adhere to the dress and fashion of life current two or three generations ago. There are everywhere reminders of the glory that was. There are many households that are conducted almost as in the colonial times. Supper is yet the evening meal throughout rural New England and in a goodly proportion of the city homes as well, and it is not only supper in name, but the same foods are served in the same manner.

What are called primitive customs survive. The curfew rings from many church steeples, though leniency is practiced with respect to the ordering of lights out at the same time. The district school exists everywhere in the more remote and smaller sections. The town academy has not wholly surrendered to the modern high school. A majority of the farms are still worked as great-grandfather worked his, though this is cited solely as a pictorial element of charm, not as an industrial fact to flaunt.

The New England style of architecture gives way to more modern conceptions with stubborn slowness. Most of the country churches are redolent with suggestion of the storied past, and the echoes from the pulpits often serve to strengthen the illusion. The old fashioned gentleman and lady are present at every church service and at every village function. We cling to the memories and the habits of the past, and by so doing we exasperate the more progressive among our younger people.—Boston Chamber of Commerce Publication.

Doctors In Russia.

Dr. Ralph Thompson, in Medical Europe, states that "in Russia nobody ever asks a physician the amount of his bill. It is universally understood that a gentleman pays his doctor a fair sum—such a sum as he can afford to pay within the limits of his income and his sense of generosity. The Russian mind cannot conceive how a man engaged in the holy pursuit of saving life and alleviating suffering can put a price on his services." After this it is not surprising to learn from the same authority that Russia is the only European country of importance where the medical profession is not overcrowded.

Just Like His Dad.

"Bliggins says he has one of the smartest and handsomest youngsters in the country."

"Yes," replied Mr. Growcher: "that's what comes of so many people thinking it necessary to tell a man that his children take after him."—Washington Star.

HOW TO SAVE MINERS' LIVES.

Public Demonstration to Be Held at Pittsburg.

PRESIDENT WILL BE THERE.

Twenty to Thirty Thousand Miners Expected to Be Present—Exhibition by Trained First Aid and Rescue Corps.

In line with its effort to reduce the number of deaths in the coal mines of the United States, the bureau of mines will hold a national miners' life saving demonstration on Sept. 16 in Arsenal park, Pittsburg. President Taft, Secretary of the Interior Fisher and Dr. Joseph A. Holmes, director of the bureau of mines, will attend and speak to the miners. The bureau of mines will have the co-operation of the Pittsburg Coal Operators' association and the American Red Cross. It is expected that between 20,000 and 30,000 miners will attend and that many of the important coal companies will send their trained first aid and rescue corps to take part in the exhibition. Already a number of teams have entered and are in training for the event, which promises to be the most important gathering of miners ever assembled.

Arsenal park is the site of the testing station of the bureau of mines, and the experts of the bureau are busy arranging for a unique program. The arrangements for the first demonstration are in the hands of H. M. Wilson, engineer in charge of the bureau of mines, Pittsburg. Major Charles Lynch, medical corps, U. S. A., in charge of the first aid department of the Red Cross, and Dr. M. E. Shields of Scranton, Pa., both of whom are pioneers in this movement, are assisting. The first aid to the injured work will be one of the features of the entire day. The teams from the various coal mines will not contest, but will give exhibitions of their skill in bringing injured miners from the mines and binding the wounds and fractures. Many of these teams have been instructed in first aid by the surgeons of the American Red Cross and also by the rescue corps of the bureau of mines

Thousands Injured Yearly.

Between 5,000 to 8,000 miners are injured each year in the United States, some so seriously that they die perhaps months afterward, and others are so maimed that they are cripples for life. The work of the first aid to the injured teams is to give the proper emergency treatment so that injuries will be lessened in seriousness and some of the fatalities perhaps avoided. In the anthracite region of Pennsylvania the first aid work has been highly developed through the good work of the American Red Cross, and many lives have been saved through the prompt and efficient work of the members of the various corps. This movement has become so popular in the anthracite region that annual field contests between the teams are held each year in the presence of thousands of spectators. Prizes are given to the winners by the American Red Cross, and the operators join in with contributions of badges and cups. Following the example of the anthracite region and directly as the result of the instructions in first aid to the injured and in the helmet rescue work being introduced in all parts of the United States by the rescue cars and stations of the bureau of mines, teams have recently been organized in the bituminous mining districts throughout the country. The members of these teams are eager to show their skill and will take part in the exhibition.

Real Explosions.

In addition to the exhibition by the first aid teams the miners will witness gas and coal dust explosions in miniature, which will be staged in the great explosives gallery of the bureau of mines. In Arsenal park there will also be a temporary gallery, which will resemble a coal mine. This will be placed at the bottom of a natural amphitheater, giving a clear view to thousands of persons. There will be a gas explosion in this play mine. Miners will be entombed, and one of the government rescue corps in oxygen helmet will enter and save the men. One side of the miniature mine will be open its entire length in order that the onlookers may witness everything that happens in an underground horror except the loss of life. The famous oxygen helmets that members of the rescue corps of the bureau wear and which have been instrumental in saving a number of lives will be on exhibition and explained to the miners. The oxygen reviving apparatus, which automatically takes the poisonous gases from the lungs of an asphyxiated miner and fills them with oxygen, will also be demonstrated. This apparatus has already brought back to consciousness a number of miners given up as dead.

Servants In China.

In China you can have a dozen servants for a total of less than $100 a month. And they won't steal anything, they will do their work well, and they will stay after they have learned. In the Celestial empire there is no servant problem to vex the housewife's soul, but there are enough other problems to make up for it. Good water is one; sanitary arrangements are about forty-one.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents. Three consecutive insertions 50 cents, 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.
No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

WANTED

WANTED—Places to do washing and ironing by the day. Address Mary Ladhe, 84 West street, Quincy. July 11-3t

WANTED—Boy to tend store. Apply at 750 Washington street. July8-6t

WANTED—Clerk for groceries and provisions. Apply to J. P. Prout, Garfield street, Quincy. July 6-tf

WANTED—A girl for general housework. Apply to Mrs. C. F. Pettengill 53 Revere road. July 5-tf

WANTED—Experienced girl for general housework. References required. Apply 118 Merrymount road. June 26 tf

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Cement wash-trays 22 by 44 with sink and stand. Made seamless. For sale cheap if taken at once. Apply J. W. Reid, 79 Lincoln avenue, Wollaston. July 8-3t

FOR SALE—A twelve passenger sea going power boat. A 1 condition, 5 horse power engine. Apply to janitor Quincy Yacht club house, Houghs Neck. July 6-6t

TO LET

TO LET—Flat of 5 rooms and bath. Furnace, near Norfolk Downs Depot. Rent $16. H. O. Cassidy, 9 Edwin street, Atlantic. July 7-6t P8-1w

TO LET—A five room flat on second floor. All improvements. Apply 146 Glendale road. Tel. 621-4 Quincy. July 7-6t

TO LET—Flat of five rooms, all modern improvements, set range, gas, and electric lights 69 Goddard street. July 6-6t

TO LET—Tenement of 5 rooms on Euclid avenue. All latest improvements. C. A. Ericson, 177 Glendale road Quincy. Tel 586 M. July 5-6t

TO LET—Furnished rooms in fine location near bathing beach, light housekeeping near Fore River works also storage room. 80 Baxter avenue, opposite North street. July 5-6t

TO LET—Nicely furnished rooms, with excellent table board. Central location. Address P. O. box 346, Quincy. June 29-tf

TO LET—On Spear street, tenement of 4 rooms and bath. All modern improvements. Apply to C. A. Ericson, 117 Glendale road. Tel 586 M. June 27-tf

TO LET—Tenement with 9 rooms and bath at Quincy Point, also rooms to let and table board at 55 Washington street, Quincy, Mrs. Margaret S. MacDonnell. June 23-1mo.

TO LET—House 12 rooms, all improvements. Ideal location, 5 minutes to center. Apply to James F. Burke, Real Estate Agent, Room 4 Savings Bank Building. June 9-tf

FOR RENT—Quincy, Centre, opposite Adams Academy, house of 8 rooms and bath, also garage, 3 minutes to R. R. Station. Dr. E. S. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263L, Weymouth. May 10-tf

FOR RENT

On Spear street, very desirable house of 8 rooms, bath and laundry. All modern improvements, range, gas, electric lights shades and screens. Large piazzas and lawn. To private family only. Apply at 41 Spear street or of Miss Prescott at Ledger Office, Quincy. June 2-tf L. P. O

TO LET

Half House No. 44 Bigelow street, 7 rooms and bath. Shades, screens, electric lights, set tubs, range, etc. Rent $25. per month. Apply to Miss Prescott, Ledger Office. Quincy. July 3-tf

THE SPIRAL NEBULAE.

One of the Terrifying and Mysterious Forces of Space.

The most stupendous manifestations of force of which we have any knowledge are presented by the spiral nebulae, whose mysterious and terrifying forms were first clearly revealed by the Lick observatory photographs made in 1898-1900 by the late Professor James E. Keeler. The heavens are full of them—they exist by thousands—and as astronomical photography is brought to greater perfection their amazing shapes tend more and more to upset all former ideas concerning the processes of creation and destruction going on in the interstellar spaces. They affect in an equal degree all theories about the origin and ultimate fate of our own solar system.

Who would imagine on looking up at the starry heavens some quiet night that the earth is like a person lost in the midst of the whirring wheels and spinning shafts of some enormous mill or machine room, where running bolts, whirling spindles, champing pistons, grinding cogs, gyrating governors, dizzying flywheels and leaping rods confuse the eye and the mind and paralyze the limbs with the terror of impending annihilation? We are not aware of this startling situation because, while we see the stars, we do not see what is among the stars. The spinning machinery of the universe is revealed only in photographs, and as far as our senses are concerned it performs its functions with a silence which to the imagination becomes a part of the horror of space.

These cosmic wheels spin with incalculable velocity, but the span of human life is but a second of time in comparison with their periods. If we could magnify time so that a second would become as a century, then an hour would be equivalent to 360,000 years, and the true aspect of the spiral nebulae would burst upon our astonished senses.—Garrett P. Serviss in New York American.

A RISE IN MUTTON.

Only the Leg Went Up, and Then There Came a Drop.

In the "good old days" at the Haymarket theater there was being played a musical farce in which was required a real boiled leg of mutton every night. This, according to the law of "property," or, rather, the "property man's" law, went after the performance almost untouched to the official named. But the "flymen" perched up aloft did not like this, for they, too, had wives and families, to whom a boiled leg of mutton would have been a thing to be remembered.

So they hit upon a plan, and one night William Farren, who had the carving of the joint, was asked to fix a hook that would be let down from the flies into the mutton and "leave the rest to them." Farren, always ready for a practical joke, consented and as the scene was coming to a termination fastened the hook into the leg of mutton. As scene shifters were preparing to "close in" and the property man stood in the wings ready to seize on his perquisite the leg of mutton was seen slowly to ascend.

The audience laughed. Henry Compton, who was watching the maneuver, laughed, too, and the employees all gave vent to their feelings in ill suppressed merriment, all except the property man, who remained miserably serious and gazed at the fast departing supper with a woebegone countenance. Suddenly as the scene was almost closed in the hook, which Farren had unfortunately fastened only in the fat, gave way, and down came the coveted mutton with a terrific splash upon the dish.

The audience now roared, the employees roared, both Farren and Compton roared, and as the "flats" hid the unrehearsed tableau from view the now delighted property man rushed upon the stage and secured his ill treated supper. — London Family Herald.

Progressive Saloniki.

Saloniki is the most progressive city of Turkey, as is shown by the enterprise of its inhabitants and the industrial schemes under way and proposed. In the papers American advertisements are beginning to appear.

TO LET

Tenement—22 B Granite Street. $10.00 per month.

Greenleaf Hall—Greenleaf Block Large Furnished Hall with various anterooms—to let by the evening or permanently.

City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 20 feet high. Splendid light, low rent

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)
Music Hall Block, Quincy.

Read Ledger Advs.

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 26 No. 158 QUINCY, MASS., WEDNESDAY EVENING JULY 12, 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

EDITOR ROBBINS DROWNED OFF ADAMS SHORE

While Bathing On Tuesday Evening is Drawn To His Death By Eel Grass

Plucky Girl Tried In Vain to Save Drowning Victim

Edgar L. Robbins, aged 28, of Cliftondale, a member of the staff of the Boston Traveler was drowned late yesterday afternoon off Adams shore. An heroic attempt was made to save him by Miss Elizabeth Torrey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Torrey, but just before she reached Mr. Robbins, the latter sank from sight and did not come to the surface again.

Mr. Robbins went in swimming off an old pier that was connected with hotel Shelton before that structure was burned several years ago. Two companions went in swimming with him, but soon came out of the water, while Mr. Robbins continued to swim out toward a float moored quite a distance from the shore. The tide was low at the time and eel grass could be seen in quantities.

Miss Torrey was out on the float, having swum there some time before Mr. Robbins went in bathing, and she watched Mr. Robbins as he swam toward her. When he was about 150 feet away she noticed him thrashing about, but at first thought he was sporting in the water. In a few minutes she realized he was in trouble and immediately she dived from the raft and swam toward him. Just before she reached him he sank from sight and was not seen again. Hastily swimming to shore, Miss Torrey spread the news and a telephone message was sent to police headquarters.

Chief Burrell despatched the auto ambulance equipped with grappling irons and sent Officers Goodhue, Phillips and G. A. McKay with it. The police succeeded in recovering the body in 10 minutes from the time Mr. Robbins sank. The officers sent word to Dr. Fred E. Jones medical examiner, and set to work to produce artificial respiration. The officers were hard at work when Dr. Jones joined them. He assisted in the operation and after an hour's work he made an examination of the body and pronounced Mr. Robbins dead. The body was removed to an undertaker's room on Hancock street.

(Continued on Page Three.)

CARPETS
Oriental Domestic RUGS
Floor Coverings
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION
At Lowest Possible Prices
Established 1857
John H. Pray & Sons Co.
845-858 Washington St, Opposite Boylston St

All Goods will be Delivered Free at Residences in Quincy
REPRESENTED IN QUINCY BY
Messrs. OTHO A. HAYWARD and WALTER J. WELLINGTON.

R. E. FOY & CO.
BAKED BEANS
are a treat good enough for the best.
Whole, mealy, hand-picked beans, baked with a sweet and dainty bit of pork jowl, renders them luscious and nourishing—a perfect food for particular people. Heat up a can in a jiffy—they're ready—with or without tomato sauce.
Try a can Saturday for supper.

HEINZ - - - -	15c	20c
VAN CAMP'S - -	15c	20c
CAMPBELL'S - -		10c
DYER'S - - - -	5c	15c

R. E. FOY & CO.
Water cor. Quincy Street, Quincy Adams
We close Wednesdays at 1 o'clock
July 12-2t
Phones 117 and 153
QUALITY STORE QUALITY STORE

SPOKE ABOUT HOME NURSING

Interesting Talk At Summer School By Mrs. M. V. Safford

FACTS ABOUT GERM LIFE

At the Summer school session on Tuesday, Mrs. M. Victor Safford, wife of Dr. Safford, the physician in charge of Emigration in the Port of Boston, spoke to the class in Home Nursing. Miss Mackay who was scheduled to speak was unable to be present and Mrs. Safford who is related to Mrs. Charles Safford, chairman of the Educational committee, very kindly agreed to speak. She gave a most able talk on the care of the sick, their beds, bandages and bandaging, treatment in emergencies, fainting, its causes and treatment, the effects of heat, the differentiation between sun stroke and heat exhaustion, the symptoms and treatment of both these and finally poisoning and its antidotes. The class was very much impressed with the lecture which was indeed a splendid one.

Dr. Curtis gave a fine black-board talk on "Germ Life" explaining how germs are carried, how cleanliness eliminates disease and emphasizing the importance of caring for the food, clothing etc.

Miss Clara Thayer of Wollaston easily held the attention of the girls during her talk on "Books for Young People." Miss Thayer spoke of the purpose of many books to right a wrong or to create an interest in some cause as Uncle Tom's Cabin or Black Beauty. Books, she claimed were for good companionship and for the purpose of teaching the use of the best language. Books are much better company and are able to create a much more elevating influence than many of the friends and companions among whom one is sometimes thrown. People are judged first by their conversation and then by the books that are found in their homes. She read extracts from Henry Van Dyke's "Blue Flower" and from stories by Robert Louis Stevenson and Ernest Seton Thompson in closing a most delightful half hour. Miss Thayer is much loved by the girls who find pleasure in her company and always have something good to carry away with them after being with her.

A number of new students registered at the session Tuesday morning but there is still room for more. Those boys who sent in their names to Mr. Clee or Mr. Sampson and have not registered yet are advised to do so Thursday morning at the Y. M. C. A. for there are many boys who wish to take the course and alternates will be put in the places of those already registered if they do not appear at the next session.

Miss West and Miss Laura West, pupils of the Dorchester Latin school who are summering at Great Hill, are of great assistance to the Summer school, one of them in the Physical culture class and the other in the Sewing class.

The Sloyd classes are taking hold of the work in great shape and Mr. Sampson says he has never known boys to be so much interested in their work or so ambitious to get ahead as those who are in his classes this year.

FIRE ALARM THIS MORNING.

The alarm from Box 46 at 7.37 this morning was for a slight fire on the cupolo of A. W. Woodward's blacksmith shop on Copeland street. The fire was caused by a spark from the blacksmith forge and the loss was confined to a few shingles.

SUCCESSFUL LAWN PARTY.

The Ladies' Aid society of the United Presbyterian church held a very successful lawn party on the church lawn Tuesday evening. The attendance was large and the various booths well patronized especially the ice cream and lemonade booths. The young people enjoyed themselves greatly with games of various kinds.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

NEW BRIDGE OVER RIVER

Committee on Ways and Means Report On $80,000 Bill

SEVERAL TOWNS OBJECT

Several matters of interest to Quincy came up in the legislature Tuesday, chief among them was the report of the Committee on Ways and Means on the new draft of the bill for $80,000 for the building of the new bridge over Weymouth back river, with a draw fifty feet wide. The widening of this bridge is made necessary by an order of the Secretary of War which has ordered it done before a certain time. There was a great deal of kicking on the part of the cities and towns of Norfolk and Plymouth counties, who must bear the burden of this seemingly unecessary expense, as the new bridge, with its wide draw is almost solely for the use of the government, that it may reach by water, the immense magazine which is in process of construction in Hingham.

The original bill called for an appropriation of $100,000 but as stated above the bill as now reported fixes the amount at $80,000. The bill also makes the three harbor commissioners, the chairman of the Norfolk county commisioners, and the chairman of the Plymouth county commissioners the commission to construct the bridge.

The bill also apportions the cost of the bridge. The Commonwealth is to be assessed 45 per cent, Norfolk county 20 per cent, Plymouth county 20 per cent and the street railway 15 per cent.

It was also announced at the state house Tuesday that Gov. Foss had promised Representative Wolcott of Dorchester that he would destroy the veto which he had written on the appropriation bill of $100,000 for the purification of Neponset river. This is the veto which the Governor read to some of the newspaper representatives Saturday.

OUTSTANDING BILLS.

Secretary Stetson of the 4th of July Association requests that all outstanding bills be presented without delay. It is the desire of the Committee to close affairs as soon as possible and a compliance with above will facilitate matters.

Additional Contributions.

E. J. Sandberg	$5.00
R. C. Drinker	2.00
Dr. C. T. Sherman (additional)	.50
E. J. Erkholm	.50
J. Hermanson	.50
A. Kantola	.50
N. Nelson	.10
O. Nelson	.50
William Kelly	1.00
A. Karlson	.20
A friend	.10
Robert Fredrikson	.10
Oaskar Bjerf	.10
A. Williams	.25
A friend	.50
Andrew Nelson	.50
O. Erickson	.25
Daniel Fitzgerald	2.00
William E. Shea	3.75

EPWORTH LEAGUE MEETING.

The July meeting of the Epworth League of the Hall Place M. E. church was held in the vestry Monday evening and was called to order by the first vice president in the absence of the president who also conducted devotional exercises after which reports of the secretary, treasurer and four vice presidents were received and accepted. At the close of the business session a social hour was enjoyed. Orangeade and cake were served by the Fourth vice president. The meeting adjourned at 9.45.

LAWN PARTY THIS EVENING.

A lawn party is to be held by the Ladies Aid of the Hall Place M. E. church on the lawn at 7 Hall place, this evening. A band concert will be one of the features of the entertainment and a good time is promised.

HEAT CLAIMED ANOTHER VICTIM

Joseph Rogers Overcome While At Work. Died Last Night

OTHER PROSTRATIONS

Four heat prostrations were reported in Quincy Tuesday, George W. Rockwell, Joseph Rogers, Petro Maro, and Campo DiTullio.

Rockwell who was overcome near Crane's grain elevator, was taken to his home. Joseph Rogers who is 60 years of age was employed at the Fore River as a painter. He was overcome while at work late in the afternoon. He was first treated by Dr. E. H. Bushnell and afterwards taken to the hospital where he died. Mr. Rogers was a native of Paterson, N. J. He was employed as a painter and boarded at 484 South street.

The police are very anxious to learn the whereabouts of Roger's relatives. Chief Burrell says that it is known that he has a son and daughter. His daughter is believed to be in Providence and the son somewhere in Massachusetts but where no one seems to know. Mr. Rogers has been in this vicinity for upwards of twenty years, having resided in Braintree.

Petro Maro aged 65 years of West Quincy was also overcome at the Fore River yards. It was his first days work in America. He was overcome shortly after noon and received first aid treatment at the emergency hospital. He was in very bad shape and Dr. Blanchard and Medical Examiner Jones worked over him for several hours before he was revived. He was then sent to the City Hospital.

Campo Di Tullio aged 25 years residing at 125 South Walnut street was also overcome at the Fore River yards. His case however was not as serious as the others. After receiving treatment at the emergency hospital he was taken home.

The weather this morning differed but little from what it has been for nearly ten days. People as a rule however are becoming worn out with the long hot spell and at the same time are learning how to take better care of themselves during the hot spell. The result is that as a rule only necessary work is being performed by any one. Practically all large factory industries are at a stand still for it is just like entering an oven to enter one of these buildings.

At the granite yards practically nothing is being done, and the stores, if those in City Square can be taken a criterion, are doing no business at all. Customers are few and far between and all the clerks have to do is to try and keep cool which is no mean job.

A PARADOX.—"How was the new play?"

"Plot was too thick."

"How so?"

"The story was too thin."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

$5.00 REWARD
for return to Ledger Office of a Panama Hat which fell out of an auto Sunday between Quincy and Quincy Point.
July 10-3t

ENGINEER'S MISTAKE WAS CAUSE OF WRECK

Running Sixty Miles an Hour Forgot Orders To Stop At Bridgeport

Train Entered Cross-Over Switch and Jumped Track

Bridgeport, Conn., July 12.—As a result of the fatal carelessness of the engineer of the Federal express in taking a "cross-over" switch at sixty miles an hour there are twelve dead in the morgues and forty-nine injured passengers in the hospitals.

Several witnesses have been found who will swear that the train had been throttled down and was slowing when the switch was approached, but Clarence Hemingway, the towerman, asserts that Engineer Curtis was bringing the express across the viaduct at a full sixty miles an hour and had made no effort to stop.

The railroad officials admit that the train was going at this rate, and the mute but powerful evidence to be found in the shattered engine bears out the statement that no attempt was made to slow down. The throttle was found to be wide open.

The Federal express, known officially in railroad circles as the Boston and Washington express, passed the switch points at Fairfield avenue crossing, a mile and a half west of Bridgeport station, and instantly the locomotive, a day coach, four sleepers and two baggage cars plunged off the viaduct at the crossing to the street, fifteen feet below, some of the cars turning completely over, while the day coach was smashed into a heap of splintered wood and twisted iron.

Two sleeprs, in which, among other passengers, were the twenty-two members of the St. Louis baseball team, remained on the rails, while a third left the rails and shot half way over the edge of the viaduct, where it hung suspended so delicately that a slight shove might have sent it toppling over upon the sleeper that lay beneath.

Eleven Killed Instantly

Of those now dead eleven were killed instantly, judging from the frightful manner in which they were mangled. Of the forty-nine in the hospitals four, at least, cannot possibly live.

The full responsibility for the accident is laid upon A. M. Curtis, the engineer, by the railroad officials. Curtis was instantly killed and his side of the story can never be known, but the officials of the railroad assert that at the inquest it will be clearly shown that the wreck was due to a direct violation of one of the most rigidly enforced rules of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad—that no cross-over shall be taken at a higher rate than fifteen miles an hour.

Division Superintendent Woodward stated that Curtis had been on this run for eight years on a passenger train and that during the greater part of that time he had been in charge of the engine drawing the Federal express.

The accident was due to an order to leave a baggage car belonging to the United States fish commission at Bridgeport. Thirty cans of young trout had been put off at Stamford, and the car with the remaining cans was to have been sidetracked at Bridgeport. The Federal express on its regular schedule makes no stop at Bridgeport, but the request had come from Washington to have this car dropped at this point and orders had been given to this effect.

It is thought that Curtis forgot his orders to stop at Bridgeport, and having been accustomed to passing there along the straight track, made no attempt to slow down.

A Terrible Crash

The locomotive was of the type known officially as "Type 800," but known to railroad men generally as a "grasshopper," an enormous ten-wheeler. It came dashing from the west and Clarence Hemingway, in the tower, glanced anxiously at his signals, saw that they were properly set

(Continued on Page Four.)

Tomorrow We Tell About The Free
Hoosier Cabinet

OUR store next week will be a revelation to women seeking Kitchen economy and convenience.

¶ It will show the most magnificent array of labor-saving Hoosier Kitchen Cabinets ever held in this country.

¶ We have a remarkably interesting plan for distributing these 25 splendid Cabinets.

¶ It will be told complete in tomorrow's Ledger.

SPECIAL
for blance of week.
A $22.00 White Enameled Lined Hardwood Refrigerator for $16.98

KINCAIDE'S
1495 Hancock Street
WALK A LITTLE AND SAVE A LOT
HOOSIER KITCHEN CABINETS

BAREFOOT SANDALS
The best thing for the children to wear during the warm weather. They are light and comfortable and give good satisfaction.

CHILDS	5 to 8	45c
MISSES	8 to 11	50c

HEFFERNAN'S SHOE STORE
1375 Hancock Street, Quincy

DON'T FAIL TO READ THE GREAT SERIAL "THE DANGER TRAIL" NOW RUNNING IN THE LEDGER

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1889

THE HOME NEWSPAPER

Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.

BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
210 East 23d Street,
New York City

Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter.

Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50

Telephone, Quincy 425

Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

In the meanwhile, swat the mosquito.

Congressman Hobson should volunteer as a special detective to watch Admiral, Togo.

It's not so hard to be reasonably sick if you don't have to be nursed by any of your relatives.

What's become of the old fashioned boy that always went around with his sore toe tied up in a rag?

Poker playing has been discovered in the Census office. Which probably accounts for the bluff in the census figures.

Suggestion for French duelists who are fighting about aeroplanes; Let each go up in a machine, and the one who comes down safely wins.

A woman is reported to have sat on her fiance's lap and to have written on his shirt bosom, "I love you." Writing on a man's shirt bosom, with the laundries merged for higher prices is very severe test of love.

SUMMER IN THE CHURCHES.

To the prevailing sight of closed church doors during hot weather, with the parsons mostly summering at cool resorts, it is commonly remarked and with much force, that the devil never takes a vacation.

At the same time, when the youngsters are driven up to Sunday school right through the summer, at a period which the day school recognize as rest time, it takes a good many picnics and Christmas trees to wipe out inner resentment at conservative religious high brows.

When the small boy remarked that "We have a very kind minister at our church, who preaches short sermons on hot Sundays," the old folks laughed, but he had really hit on a profound truth.

The Episcopal, Roman Catholic, and many individual churches in other denominations, are apt to keep open through the summer, without nagging people into the pews if they don't feel like going. Thereby the constant readiness of the church to serve without officiousness is made apparent. And to many the cool silence of a worshipful service is more restful than the speed of the motor or the jangling tumult of the bleachers.

GUINEA-PIG LAWN-MOWERS.

A cheap and successful method has been tried in Kent, England, for keeping the grass of the golf grounds close and free from weeds. This has been achieved by nothing less than the substitution of the guinea pig for the mowing machine and weed killer.

Round the lawn is arranged a low wire barrier, and into the inclosure are turned a number of guinea pigs; or better, a passage is made from their hutch to the lawn. The animals at once attack all the worst weeds— the plantains first, then the dandelions and daisies. These broad-leaved plants, which no mowing machine will touch, are killed by the persistent cutting of the guinea pigs' teeth.

When they have finished the weeds, which are broad-leaved and succulent, they proceed to the grass. In a very short time the lawn looks as if it had been cut by the very closest machine. No harm is done to the grass.

In the neighborhood of Kent it was found that the guinea pigs did not suffer at all by being left to the work in winter as well as in summer. Indeed they were healthier than under the usual treatment of those who keep them as pets. An astonishing demand for the animals has grown up in the neighborhood, and if the inland golf clubs, which have great difficulty with plantains, take to the new method, the guinea pig population is likely to go up in the ratio that the natural fertility of the animal suggests.—New York Times.

A MOTHER'S CREED.

I believe in the eternal importance of the home as the fundamental institution of society.

I believe in the immeasurable possibilities of every boy and girl.

I believe in the imagination, the trust, the hopes, and the ideals which dwell in the hearts of all children.

I believe in the beauty of nature, of art, of books and of friendship.

I believe in the satisfaction of duty.

I believe in the little homely joys of every-day life.

I believe in the goodness of the great design which lies behind our complex world.

I believe in the safety and peace which surround us all through the over-brooding love of God.—Mrs. Ozora S. Davis, in Zion's Herald.

MANY WILL NOT PULL TEETH.

Out of 162 applicants who took the examination of the State dental board on Saturday last, only 86 passed and will be permitted to practice dentistry. This is an unusually small percentage of graduates in dentistry to pass the State board examination.

State's Forests Destroyed by Existing Laws, Says Aggrieved Forest Owner

BY T. D. QUINCY.

To the Editor of The Ledger:

The forestry interests of Massachusetts are now facing the most critical situation in their history. It has been said before in print that it is a waste to appropriate additional state's money for reforestration while fires and insect pests continue to destroy the forests. Ten trees are now cut down, owing to the oppressive tree moth-cleaning laws, to one that will ever be planted.

This state's supply of wood for all purposes is in her woods, and not in her shade or ornamental or roadside trees. Consequently the oppressive and so obnoxious tree-moth cleaning laws must be at once modified to bear less heavily on the forest owners, or they will be forced to cut down their trees, for, as the average value of the standing wood as it is in this state is from $20 to $35 per acre (and the cost of cleaning it the first year is over $81 per acre by this state forester's report for 1910) the value of the wood is practically absorbed in the first year's cost of cleaning it. Therefore, the woodland owner must spend his money in destroying his forest before cleaning it at all, to prevent his being robbed of its whole value.

The government's representative of the bureau of entymology in Boston says in his last report, issued Aug. 13, 1910: "In eastern Massachusetts and southern New Hampshire there are large areas of forest lands which are covered with an inferior growth of trees and which are badly infested. In most cases the cost of cleaning up such areas would be more than the value of the property." This statement practically shows that it does not pay to clean forest lands of tree-moth insects, and corresponds with the statement said to have been made by this state's former superintendent of gypsy and brown-tail moth cleaning work. Mr. Kirkland, who was a great expert in that direction, said that he "could do prctically nothing about properly cleaning forest lands."

Mr. D. M. Rogers, special government field agent, is reported to have said of forest lands that "they are a loss to the owner practically in any event; for if he holds on to and cares for them, the expense is as much as the standing wood on them is worth. If he doesn't take care of them the moths will surely kill them." This proves that the sooner a forest owner eats down all of his woods the more money he will make or save. Mr. Rogers is also reported to have said that $31 per acre for the first cleaning was as cheaply as it could be done.

The average woodland owner does not care a particle about scientific reforestration nd ordinarily has no time or inclination to carry it on under the existing oppressive tree-moth cleaning laws and the constant meddling of moth cleaning officials with the trees on his lands.

All the woodland owner has in mind is the cash value of his standing wood, and so he wants to have his trees and his property let alone by the officials and the laws. The more rigidly the cleaning laws are enforced and the more personal and sectional favoritism there is shown, the faster the woods will be cut down by their angry owners, and more fires must result; for as it does not pay the owner of the woodland to clean the standing wood, it surely will not pay him to clean the moths off the bushes, and so he must burn such brushland over every six months to kill these bushes to prevent the leaves from growing at all in order to stop the moths nesting, and therefore greater forest fires must result from such burnings in the future than in the past.

It is estimated that it would cost from five to ten million dollars annually to clean up at all thoroughly the whole of the forest brush, and new-growth land in this state.

It is ridiculous to try and keep up the arbor day practice of planting new trees, with the destruction of old trees to new plantings going on in the ratio of 10 or more to one.

Destruction of the forests by their oppressed owners means a rapid loss of the wood pulp supply for newspaper use and the wood supply for all kinds of commercial and domestic purposes, with the resultant drought, with no fish in the streams, as there will be but little water in them; and no game in the woods, because there will be not forest for the game to hide in.

There must be no discrimination in favor of country as against city woodlands, or else woods in the cities, where they are the most necessary and appreciated, will all be destroyed before those in the country are cut down. Right here in Boston prominent people are refusing to plant shade trees about their residences because they will be obliged to clean them of tree-moths. This, of course, greatly injuries the tree nursery business, as the woodland owner cannot afford to clean his trees and doesn't care whether the moths kill them or not; for if he is saved the, to him, wasteful expense of cleaning them, he can still use them for firewood at least, and perhaps other purposes just as well as if they were alive, and so the argument that if he doesn't clean his trees they will be killed, has not the slightest effect to cause him to clean them, as it has been previously clearly shown that it will not pay him to do so.

Therefore, no further appropriations of any sums of public's money for reforestration or for tree-moth cleaning should be made in this state until the tree-moth cleaning laws are so modified as to prevent the owners from being forced to cut down their woodlands, owing to the legal right of the authorities to force upon them the cost of any such cleaning.

All the woodland owners, together with the farm owners throughout every state, should at once join together in an active campaign before the coming primary elections and oblige each candidate of every party to publicly declare whether or not he will use all his efforts to have the present tree-moth laws so modified that the tree-owners will no longer be oppressed or forced to clean their trees, or any tax or other charge at all for any cleaning be forced upon them.

OTHER EDITORS ARE SAYING

The dispatches say that the people of Missouri are praying for rain. We know of no state where genuine prayer is calculated to do the people more good. They may not immediately get the rain they want, but they will find that praying is good exercise for them (Biddeford Journal.)

A London paper estimates that if there were but one potato in the world a careful cultivator might product 10,000,000,000 potatoes from it in 10 years. From which it appears that in some respects the potato is like the fly, the main difference being that the fly crop never fails (Kansas City Journal.)

A fire which started in the factory of a company which makes fireproof doors in New York causes a loss of $100,000. But there is no good chance in that incident to class that factory with the shingle mill with an asbestos roof. The factory was not all doors (Worcester Telegram.)

What a farcical thing the slogan of "Home rule for Boston" has become! There is no city in the commonwealth, and we believe that there is none in the country, which raises the home rule slogan with greater frequency, and there is no city in the world where it is more frequently ignored by those who profess to be its custodians.—Boston Journal.

Genuine honor is the finest thing in the world. But the bogus honor which is so often appealed to by the bully is beneath contempt. President Taft's attitude is that of a civilized man. He does not expect the millennium at once, but he is convinced that the "making and confirming of these treaties" will be "a very long step toward the securing of peace in the world." And he is right. If we can agree with Great Britain, France and Germany to settle differences in a civilized and rational way we shall do much to make war offensive to the public opinion of mankind.—Indianapolis News.

The experience of Charles W. Morse shows that while it may be hard to get rich malefactors into prison, it is even harder to get them out. The lesson ought to carry its own moral so that he who runs may read.—Balti. American.

A SIGN OF FRIENDSHIP

Japan Ready to Modify Pact at Suggestion of Great Britain

Tokio, July 12.—A revision of the Anglo-Japanese alliance is regarded as the inevitable outcome of the Anglo-American arbitration treaty. There is reason to believe that negotiations for such revision have been going on for several weeks.

Great Britain proposed to modify the clause providing for mutual assistance in the event of war, making the provision inapplicable in the event that either party to the alliance is fighting a nation with whom the other has concluded a general arbitration treaty.

Japan readily agreed to this proposition and the readiness of the Japanese government to accept the suggestion was due to its entire confidence that Japan would never be at war with either the United States or England.

Deserving of Pity.

"There goes Roxham. Every time I think of that man's financial embarrassment it makes me yearn to help him."

"Financial embarrassment?"

"Yes. He's got so much money he doesn't know what to do with it."—Catholic Standard and Times.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

SIX VETO MESSAGES SUBMITTED BY FOSS

Bay State Senate Promptly Overrides Two of Them

Boston, July 12.—Governor Foss broke his own veto record yesterday, vetoing six bills. He sent to the house four messages vetoing these bills: For the establishment and maintenance of an independent agricultural school for the county of Essex; to establish minimum salaries for judges and registers of probate and insolvency; to provide for pensioning the members of the district police; relative to the compensation for the members of the general court.

Later the governor sent two veto messages to the senate disapproving the bill to establish the salaries of the assistant clerks of the senate and house and a bill providing for the retiring and pensioning of prison officers and instructors.

The senate showed what it thought of the vetoes by overriding them immediately. Usually action on veto messages is postponed.

KEEPING TABS ON CASTRO

Venezuelan Government Does Not Want to Be Caught Napping

Caracas, July 12.—Although the Venezuelan government makes the official announcement that it has no authentic news concerning the revolutionists landing on the coast in the states of Zulia and Falson, it has taken the precaution to send the gunboat Margarita to Maracaibo.

This warship will be placed at the disposition of the authorities in Zulia and every preparation will be made to concentrate troops wherever trouble occurs.

The government also has sent out a large number of men from various points to watch the coast line, so that the appearance of revolutionists may be promptly reported.

NEW PLACE FOR BINGHAM

Gets $7500 Job a Day After Resigning His Old Position

New York, July 12.—General Theodore A. Bingham, who on Monday night resigned his position as chief engineer in the bureau of highways under Borough President McAneny, was yesterday appointed consulting engineer of the department of bridges by Bridge Commissioner O'Keefe.

In his new position Bingham gets a salary of $7500. He says he resigned from the bureau of highways because his methods did not fit in with those of McAneny.

LORD KITCHENER

He Has Changed His Mind Concerning the Fair Sex

KITCHENER SURRENDERS

Soldier Regarded as a Woman Hater Is Engaged to Marry

London, July 12.—Lord Kitchener is going to be married. At last the grim soldier, "the man of ice and iron," who has always been regarded as a woman hater, has been conquered by the charms of a member of the fair sex.

Society and military circles of London were never more amazed than they were when it was announced that the famous British soldier is engaged to Leonora Matilda, the youngest daughter of Lionel D. Mearsey of Kheri-Oudh, India.

Kitchener is now 61 years old. His future bride is reported to be between 25 and 30. He has always declared that he had little use for a soldier who loved a woman.

UNITED STATES IN MOROCCAN MUDDLE

Would Help Prevent Location of German Naval Station

Washington, July 12.—The United Sttes has taken a hand in the international muddle caused by Germany's threat of aggressive action in Morocco.

According to semi-official information this country has allied herself with England and France to prevent the location of a German naval station on Moroccan soil.

It is said that the department has already made strong representations to Germany on the subject.

NO RELIEF IN SIGNT

Many Prostrations and Deaths From Heat In New England

Boston, July 12.—Another day of torturing heat and a sultry, sweltering night are indicated by the forecast sent out from the observatory on the federal building.

Death stalked through the city yesterday and took his grim toll of twenty-four persons in the hospitals and public streets alone. Many others died in private houses, and their deaths will not be reported to the board of health until today.

The mercury soared to 100 degrees at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and seventy-six men, women and children were prostrated by the sun's blistering heat in Boston alone.

From other parts of New England where Old Sol reigns supreme come reports of thirty-three deaths and fifty-four prostrations.

HELD FOR GRAND JURY

Misses Graham and Conrad Charged With Felonious Assault

New York, July 12.—Lillitn Graham and Ethel Conrad, who shot W. E. D. Stokes, millionaire proprietor of the Hotel Ansonia, were held for the grand jury on the charge of felonious assault.

Commissiner Waldo has suspended four policemen because of their connection with the missing letters in the case against Miss Graham and Miss Conrad.

The four men suspended are Lieutenant William F. Sullivan, who had charge of the investigation into the case, and Detectives Michael F. Walsh, Thomas J. Devery and William J. Flynn, who worked on the case under Sullivan.

No Date For Reciprocity

Washington, July 12.—An attempt to secure an agreement to vote on the Canadian reciprocity bill July 19; the free list bill July 20 and the wool tariff bill July 21, was made in the senate by Senator Watson. The motion was lost on objection by Senator Cummings.

Jamaica Wants Lower Postage

Kingston, Jam., July 12.—The Merchants' exchange adopted a resolution asking the local government to communicate with the United States government for the establishment of penny postage between Jamaica and the Canal Zone.

WE MAKE
BUSINESS LOANS

We are here to help along the prosperity of Quincy. Legitimate loans on approved security lubricate the wheels of business. We should be glad to explain to you the limits within which our rules permit us to use our funds for your accommodation as a business man.

ASK US ABOUT THIS.

NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

LLOYDS
EYEGLASSES AND SPECTACLES

KRYPTOK BIFOCAL GLASSES
Far and Near Glasses in a Single Pair.

Separate Glasses for Far and Near are unnecessary, for Kryptoks give you both in a handsome, durable, single pair. Ask to see them at any of our stores.

315 Washington St.
310 Boylston St. } BOSTON
75 Summer St.
1252 Massachusetts Ave, CAMBRIDGE.
ANDREW J. LLOYD CO.

BETTER
Put in Your
Winter's Supply

Direct from the mines to our yard comes the coal we have for sale—coal that's famous the country over for its free burning qualities, its low percentage of ash, its freedom from impurities.

It's "full value" fuel, and our method of taking and filling orders ensures satisfaction. Orders placed now save money for buyers.

TAKE A LOOK IN YOUR BIN
then act.

SPECIAL RANGE COAL
Stove or Nut
$7.25 Cash

C. PATCH & SON, INC.
Office, 1422 Hancock Street, Quincy

Advertise in The Ledger

NOW RUN BY ELECTRICITY

"Electrified" Hoosac Tunnel Formally Opened on Tuesday

"THE PRESS" PRESENT

The "electrified" Hoosac Tunnel, which bores the Hoosac Mountain in Massachusetts for a distance of nearly five miles on the line of the Fitchburg Division of the Boston & Maine railroad was formally opened as an electriclly operated line Tuesday.

By invitation of the Boston & Maine Railroad one hundred and fifty-four gentlemen, nearly all of whom were newspaper men, left Boston by special train at 8.30 in the morning and were back in the North station at 8.20 P. M. Those who were of the party from this section were Fred F. Green, Frank F. Prescott, Eben Prescott and Stillman F. Pratt.

It is the only railroad tunnel of its size in the world through which both passenger and freight trains run under electrical power, with the resultant absence of all disagreeable sensations, and it typifies a new triumph in modern American engineering and transportation service.

The Hoosac Tunnel was first operated under electrical conditions in May, 1911 after a record-breaking feat in installation, and about thirty-five years after it had been opened to traffic. The substitution of the more modern motive power has been brought about at immense expense, but in view of the important benefits to the traveling public and the increase in operating efficiency, the Company considers that the investment was wholly justified.

Within seven months of the actual commencement of the work, the task of installing the necessary equipment in this famous "bore," of bidding and equipping a big power-house, arranging the necessary overhead approaches to the east and west portals, providing a proper water supply and otherwise reorganizing its motive power, was succesfully carried out, and a world record for such a piece of work established.

The Hoosac Tunnel, born of human and financial tragedy, has always been an object of deep interest to the American traveling public, which has never failed to be impressed by the fact that a trip through four and three-quarters of a mile of solid rock cannot be enjoyed by the patrons of every railroad.

Indeed, the Tunnel has no prototype in this country, and one is obliged to go to the Alps to find its equal. And even there the traveler will look in vain for a twentieth century electrical motive power installation such as has just been added to this seventh wonder of the world.

This summer the thousands of passengers who are to travel east and west over the Fitchburg Division of the Boston & Maine railroad will enjoy the novelty of being whirled, through the heart of a fairly high and decidedly solid mountain with no more atmospheric discomfort than if they were traveling over the western prairies.

For the first twenty-five years or so after it was opened to traffic, the trains running through the tunnel were pulled by the ordinary coal-burning locomotives. A few years ago these were replaced, in part, by oil-burning locomotives, which to some extent an improvement over the former type. The modern American

(Continued on Page Five.)

EDITOR ROBBINS DROWNED OFF ADAMS SHORE

(Continued from Page One.)

Mr. Robbins was passing the summer with his father-in-law, J. E. Whitcomb, on Shelton road. Mr. Robbins' wife is in a maternity hospital in Boston and efforts will be made to keep the news of her husband's tragic death from reaching her.

Dr. Jones said tonight that Mr. Robbins undoubtedly was caught in the long eel grass, which exhausted his strength. Dr. Jones said he was told Mr. Robbins was not an expert swimmer and that the eel grass that grows abundantly along the shore is sufficient to tire out even the strongest swimmers.

Mr. Robbins, who was the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Robbins of 53 Western avenue, Cliftondale, was born in Rockland, Me., where his father founded the Rockland Opinion. He was educated in Rockland and accompanied his family to Cliftondale, to which town they moved 10 years ago.

He had been in the newspaper business about seven years and worked as a reporter and desk man on Boston papers before he became assistant city editor of the Traveler.

Mr. Robbins was married Dec. 10, 1910, to Miss Ruth E. Whitcomb of Milton and lived in Cliftondale until March 1, when he engaged a cottage in Quincy. He is survived by his parents, his wife and two brothers, Archie M. and Walter Robbins of Cliftondale.

CASE CONTINUED.

It was late Tuesday afternoon before the hearing on the case of Edith Haynes for keeping a disorderly house at Rock Island was concluded. The court then continued the case for judgment until Aug. 11.

In continuing the case, the court said that the evidence showed that the great trouble in this case was with the inmates of the house, rather than with the woman, who was the defendant. It must cease he said. While the court did not say what the final disposition of the case would be, it was intimated that when called Aug. 11, if there was no further complaint the case would be dismissed.

The lawyer whom a witness testified he had been seen coming from the house in question, was not the Quincy member of the bar who was junior counsel in the case at the hearing, but the counsel from Boston.

The Boston Globe says:

Representative William R. Thomas of Quincy, one of the near-republican insurgents of this year's legislature, suggested at the meeting of the republican members of the house, called for the purpose of organizing for next fall's campaign to save the legislature from falling into the hands of the democrats, that if the policy of last year's committee of sending out scouts all over the state was adopted it would be an excellent idea to get into touch with the boy scouts.

"Maybe," he added, "the state committee scouts might benefit by getting close to the boy scouts. If the scouts this year don't accomplish more than the paid scouts of last year did, they will hardly be worth their hire."

☞Going away for the summer? If so don't forget to have the Daily Ledger sent to your address and keep posted on home news. If you have forgotten to send in your order in the rush of getting away drop us a postal and we will do the rest. tf

$3.00 $3.50

Of course its easy enough to find Oxfords at the same prices we offer them, but not so easy to find the same kind of Oxfords at such prices. For when you come here, we'll give you better leather, better workmanship, a little finer style, more comfort, more vital value than you've been accustomed to. And our skill in correct fitting is worth a great deal to you.

RALSTON'S for Men

George W. Jones

1 Granite St. "Just Around the Corner." Quincy

July 10, 11, 12. O- July 15

NORFOLK COUNTY PROBATE COURT

Business Transacted At Quincy Session This Morning

NEXT SESSION SEPTEMBER

Judge Flint held probate court for Norfolk County at Quincy this morning and transacted the following business:

WILLS ALLOWED.

Of Stephen N. Swain late of Quincy. Isabelle W. Swain executrix. Bond $3,000.

Of Royal F. Howland late of Avon, Susan A. Howland executrix. Bond $5000.

Of Sarah B. Stevens late of Hyde Park, Frank L. George executor.

Of Helen M. Nelson late of Walpole James A. Hartshorne, executor. Bond $5000.

ADMINISTRATIONS.

Mary A. Hanson on estate of Bertha F. Clifford late of Quincy. Bond $600.

Jeremiah J. McCarthy on estate of Joseph Meir late of Quincy. Bond $2000.

Clement B. Nash on estate of Sadie B. Nash late of Quincy. Bond $2000.

Benjamin P. Howes on estate of Silas Howes late of Avon. Bond $500.

ACCOUNTS ALLOWED.

First and final of Philip H. Sullivan and Lydia A. Tupper executors of will of Ann M. Penniman late of Braintree for $7,586.33.

First and final of Julia Meaney administration of estate of Jeremiah Meaney late of Quincy for $2,614.33.

First and final of Henrietta E. Polk executrix of will of Henry Turner late of Quincy, for $13,306.76.

GUARDIANS.

Mary A. Gavin and Mary E. Garrity were appointed guardians of Hannah E. Callahan an insane person of Quincy. Bond $1400.

Dennis Donahue was appointed guardian of Mary E. Donahue a minor of Stoughton. Bond $1,500.

John L. McLaughlin was appointed guardian of James McLaughlin a minor of Quincy. Bond $200.

MEETING OF GALAHAD BROTHERHOOD.

The regular meeting of the Galahad Brotherhood of Christ church was held at the home of Prof. Frank Wrigley, Hancock street, Tuesday evening. Music was furnished by Prof. Wrigley, John Grant, Harry Nicholson and Roy Prout, after which all sat down to a "fine young" banquet. The table decorations were amplified by the prize ribbons received in the Fourth of July parade. The evening passed so pleasantly that the score of young men present forgot all about the thermometer and the party did not break up until midnight.

QUEEN OF NAVY.

Majestically riding at anchor, the United States battleship Delaware, the largest and most powerful fighting machine afloat, which arrived recently from Spithead, Eng., where she represented this nation in the coronation review, is proving an object of much interest.

With her two fighting masts and her decks swarmed with sailors in white ducks, the Delaware looked like a floating town. She has a crew of 960.

The full complement were bronzed and in excellent health. Sister ship of the North Dakota, the Delaware has an actual displacement of 22,000 tons, although officially rated at 20,000. She is 510 feet long, and has a battery of 10 13-inch guns each 50 feet in length, with a secondary battery of 14 five-inch rapid-fire guns.

—As part of the swat-the-fly campaign at Chicago trained frogs are being put on the job. The Lincoln Park Zoo claims the champion is Jumbo, who devoured 268 disease spreaders in one hour.

EXECUTOR'S NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed executor of the will of Joseph A. McCrory late of Quincy in the County of Norfolk, deceased, testate, and has taken upon himself that trust by giving bond, as the law directs. All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased, are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to the subscriber.

WILLIAM P. THOMPSON.
Executor.

(Address)
25 Equitable Bldg., Boston, Mass.
July 10, 1911.
July 11-3t 11, 18, 25

BATHING AT NIGHT IDEAL

High Water Tuesday Night Took Crowd to Wollaston

BATH HOUSE NEEDED

One of the most delightful spots to visit, on a hot night such as Quincy has been having for the past ten days is Wollaston beach along the boulevard. On a night like those at present, when the moon and tide are just right for evening bathing, the beach for its entire length presents an inspiring scene.

It was high water Tuesday night at 11.45 but as early as 9.30 people began to arrive for bathing. At 10.30 there was a string of automobiles that extended from the Squantum Yacht club house on the north to the brow of the hill toward the National Sailors Home. These automobiles were used in a large number of cases as temporary bath houses, and they were ideal.

Added to this were the hundreds of residents at Norfolk Downs, Wollaston and Atlantic beaches who put on their bathing suits at home and walked to the water and the many who were fortunate enough to own bath houses along the shore front.

The water itself was fine and invigorating and the beach for its entire length was one mass of humanity sporting in the water and the merry shouts of laughter of the bathers could be heard for miles. Then the bright moon cast a beautiful shadow over the water making the sight an animated one. This is the scene that continued from early evening until midnight for even at that hour there were still some bathers. The air along the boulevard was invigorating and after a swim it was a pleasure to sit upon the beach and watch the crowd sporting in the water. It made one forget that the day had been a hot one. It put new life into one and acting as a tonic made it possible to throw off the worry of the day and sleep when once the bed was sought.

There is no state bath house along the beach, although an effort was made this year to get the Metropolitan Commission to build one. Such a bath house would meet a long felt want, and be something that would be appreciated by thousands in the immediate vicinity. Although there must have been several thousand people along the beach Tuesday night it was a perfectly orderly crowd and the Metropolitan officer who rode back and forth on his motor cycle, had little more to do than to watch the good time the bathers were having.

—A case had just been reported of a man who has fallen a helpless victim to the chattel-mortgage sharks. He borrowed, it seems, $242; has paid more than $300 in principal and interest, and still owes over $100. This is pitiable enough, but the most pathetic feature of the transaction is the purpose for which the forced loan was made. The whole amount was spent upon a single funeral. Think of a man so poor that he is obliged to borrow money, at ruinous rates of interest, practically spending about $400 for one mortuary display!

CITY OF QUINCY
Massachusetts
Department of Poor
Quincy, July 12, 1911

Proposals for Coal

Proposals to furnish coal for the Poor Department, City of Quincy, will be received at the office of the Overseer of the Poor, City Hall, up to 10 o'clock on the morning of July 19, 1911.

To deliver at Almshouse
35 tons of White Ash Egg for Heater
15 tons of White Ash Stove.

To deliver in 1-2 ton lots to Outside Poor between October 1 1911 and April 1, 1912 upon orders of the Overseer
125 tons of White Ash Stove.

The conditions of this contract are that first quality coal shall be furnished and all orders shall be promptly filled. Failure to comply with these conditions shall be sufficient cause for immediate cancellation of contract.

The right is reserved to increase or diminish the above quantities and all coal is to be delivered at such times and in such quantities as the Overseer shall order.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids or to accept the bid deemed best for the interest of the city of Quincy.

JAMES H. ELCOCK,
Overseer of the Poor
City of Quincy.
July 12-2t

Better Than Talcum Powder, Says Anty Drudge.

Druggist—"What can I do for you, Madam?"

Mrs. Tiredout—"Give me some violet water or any other perfume that will rid me of this odor of scalding suds. I've stood in that steaming laundry till it's sickened me."

Anty Drudge—"Now, after you've paid for these things, buy a cake of Fels-Naptha and wash with it next Monday, and you won't need to boil your clothes. Be up-to-date and try the new way of washing."

Have you ever seen a stick of dynamite? You wonder how so much explosive force can be stored in so small a space.

Not less marvelous is the great cleansing power stored in a cake of Fels-Naptha soap. An electric spark explodes the dynamite. To make Fels-Naptha do its marvelous work you need only have cold or lukewarm water and some soiled clothes.

Fels-Naptha is made to dissolve dirt. Fels-Naptha separates it into atoms and they are carried away in the rinsing water. And it does this in cold or lukewarm water, without boiling or hard rubbing. Follow the simple directions on the red and green wrapper, and Fels-Naptha will do your washing better than it was ever done in any other way.

THE KING CAN DO NO WRONG.

Neither Can He Ever Die, According to British Law.

It is a curious point of British law that the king never dies, or, to put it in another way, it would be useless for any barrister to argue that the ruler's predecessors have really died, since the utmost the law will admit is that there may be a "demise of the crown," meaning, of course, simply that there has been a transfer of the royal authority from one person to another.

It is a maxim that "the king can do no wrong," and under the law he would not be held personally responsible for any crime or "tort" that he chose to commit at any time. At any rate, we are assured by high constitutional authorities that the law should actually and literally be so construed and that the statutes hold that any injury his majesty might inflict upon a subject must be ascribed to the king's advisers. One thing seems to be certain, and that is that his majesty can under no circumstances whatsoever be arrested. Nor, moreover, could his goods be distrained or taken in execution should he fail to meet his liabilities.

A quaint feature of British law is that in theory the king is present at the law court at every sitting, though he might in point of fact actually be on the continent or elsewhere. It follows, therefore, that it is impossible to nonsuit him as plaintiff should he not put in an appearance when his case is called, since the law specifically states that the king is there. In a similar sense the king is always constructively present in parliament, though he be in fact thousands of miles from his shores.

His majesty is under the law the nominal guardian of all infants, idiots and lunatics, and to him is granted the sole right to print the Bible, the Book of Common Prayer and all acts of parliament in the United Kingdom. It has been stated, furthermore, that should he so desire the king could forbid the printing of any or all of them anywhere within his dominions. —Harper's.

TO LET

IN QUINCY CENTER

SEVERAL DESIRABLE HOUSES
7, 8 and 10 Rooms

Every convenience and very desirable locations.

RENT $25 TO $40 according to house

APPLY TO
MISS PRESCOTT,
Ledger Office

Quincy, July 7. L P O tf

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

In effect June 4, 1911

The letters in the same line as the figures below stand for different stations and indicate that trains stop as follows.

a Wollaston,	f Harrison Square
b Norfolk Downs	g Savin Hill
c Atlantic	h Crescent Avenue
d Neponset	i South Boston
e Pope's Hill	r Quincy Adams

Exp—Express train.

TO BOSTON			FROM BOSTON
Leave	Stop	Arrive	Leave	Stop	Arrive
r 5 14	abedefghi	5 41	5 45	ihgfedeba	6 14 r
r 6 16	abci	6 35	6 12	ihgfedeba	6 39 r
r 6 33	e	6 48	6 30	a	6 47
r 6 40	abef	7 00	7 15	hgfedeba	7 41 r
r 7 08	abed	7 30	7 41	a	7 58
r 7 25	d	7 42	7 45	e	8 03 r
r 7 33	Exp	7 48	8 35	eb	8 53
r 7 42	ab	8 00	8 42	a	8 59
r 7 57	a	8 13	9 10	fedba	9 32 r
r 8 09	abed	8 31	9 45	a	10 11 r
r 8 30	Exp	8 45	10 15	ihgfedeba	10 41 r
r 8 55	ad	9 10	10 50	Exp	11 05
r 9 15	abe	9 33	11 15	hgfedeba	11 41 r
r 10 03	a	10 20	11 50	a	12 07
r 10 19	abedefghi	10 45	12 15	hgfedeba	12 41 r
11 12	a	11 28	12 37	a	12 54 r
r 11 24	abedefgh	11 50	12 50	Exp	1 05
12 04	a	12 20	1 11	fedeba	1 32 r
r 12 25	abedefghi	12 52	1 45	a	2 02
1 22	a	1 40	2 15	ihgf	2 37 r
2 04	a	2 20	2 35	Exp	2 50
r 2 19	abedefgh	2 45	3 15	hgfedeba	3 40 r
r 3 13	Exp	3 28	3 45	a	4 02
4 04	a	4 20	4 12	fedeba	4 34 r
r 4 25	abedefgh	4 51	4 41	d	4 58
5 03	Exp	5 10	5 14	a	5 31 r
r 5 30	abedefg	5 55	5 24	a	5 42
6 12	a	6 30	5 31	dcb	5 50 r
7 22	Exp	7 37	5 43	a	6 00 r
r 7 30	a	7 46	5 55	fedeba	6 21 r
r 8 07	abedef	8 30	6 14	Exp	6 30 r
r 9 01	abe	9 20	6 30	ecba	6 51 r
10 04	a	10 20	7 00	fedeba	7 24 r
r 10 07	abedef	10 30	7 12	a	7 20
r 11 2	abe	11 45	8 05	ba	8 32
			9 25	dba	9 46 r
			10 35	fedeba	11 02 r
			11 10	fedeba	11 35 r
			11 30	ba	11 49

SUNDAYS

r	7 43	abe	8 03	6 30	ba	6 48 r
	8 30	Exp	8 45	45	ihgfedeba	9 13 r
	8 34	abe	8 52	9 05	Exp	9 21
r	8 46	bedefghi	9 13	10 5	ihgfedeba	10 2 r
r	9 13	abe	9 33	12 15	ihgfedeba	12 42 r
	9 31	a	9 47	12 45	Exp	1 01
	10 23	ae	10 40	1 30	ihgfedeba	1 57 r
	10 31	Exp	10 47	2 15	hgfedeba	2 42 r
	11 00	Exp	11 17	2 45	a	3 02
r	11 16	abedefghi	11 43	3 15	ihgfedeba	3 42 r
	1 02	Exp	1 17	4 27	eba	4 48 r
r	1 16	abedefgh	1 43	5 15	ihgfedeba	5 42 r
r	3 10	abe	3 30	6 15	ihgfedeba	6 42 r
r	4 16	abedefghi	4 43	7 00	eba	7 19 r
r	5 07	abe	5 27	8 15	ihgfedeba	8 41 r
r	6 16	abedefghi	6 43	8 50	Exp	9 05
r	7 16	abedefghi	7 42	9 30	ihgfedeba	9 57 r
r	8 11	abedefghi	8 38	10 45	eba	11 04 r
r	9 07	a	9 22
r	10 46	abe	11 05
r	11 01	abe	11 20

Boston & Northern St. Ry. Co.

QUINCY DIVISION

TIME TABLE

In effect June 24th, 1911.

Subject to Change Without Notice

Leave QUINCY for

Brockton, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M. then 9.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Brockton, 6.30, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 9.30 P. M Sundays, 8.00A. M. then same as week days.

Braintree, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Braintree, 6.25 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.25 P. M. Sundays, 7.55 A. M. then same as week days.

East Milton, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Milton, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M., and every 20 minutes to 11.45 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.15 midnight.) Sundays, 7.25, A. M. then same as week days.

East Weymouth, 6.00, 6.15, 6.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.42 P. M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Weymouth, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.45 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Holbrook, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M. then 9.50 and 10.20 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Holbrook, 5.55, 6.25, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.00 P. M. Sundays, 8.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Houghs Neck, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 5.20, 5.45, 6.10 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 4.10 P. M. then 4.25, 4.40, 4.55, 5.10, 5.25, 5.40, 5.55, 6.10, 6.25, 6.40, 6.55, 7.10 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 11.10 P. M. then 11.49 P. M. Saturdays and Holidays, 5.20, 5.45, 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, 10.10, 10.40, A. M. then every 15 minutes to 10.40 P. M. then 11.10 and 11.49 P. M. Sundays, 6.50, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, 10.10, 10.40, A. M. then every 15 minutes to 10.40 P. M. then 11.10 P. M. Return, leave Houghs Neck Mondays to Fridays, both inc. 5.45, 6.05, 6.35 A. M. and ever 30 minutes to 4.35 P. M. then 4.50, 5.05, 5.20, 5.35, 5.50, 6.05, 6.20, 6.35, 6.50, 7.05, 7.20, 7.35 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 12.05 midnight. Saturdays and Holidays, 5.45, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05, A. M. then every 15 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.35 and 12.05 P. M. Sundays, 7.20, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05 A. M. then every 15 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.35 P. M.

Nantasket 8.25 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 9.25 P. M. Sundays, 9.25 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Nantasket, 10.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.00 P. M. Sundays, 10.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Hancock Street, 5.45, 6.14, 6.44, 7.14, 7.44, 8.14, 8.35, A. M. then 5, 14, 35 and 44 minutes past each hour to 10.44 P. M. then 12.14 midnight. Sundays 7.14 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Neponset 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, 8.07, 8.35, 8.37, 9.05, 9.37 A. M. then 5, 7, 35 and 37 minutes past each hour to 11.07 P. M. then 12.37 midnight. Sundays, 7.37 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Wollaston. 5.59 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.59 P. M. then 11.14 and 11.44 P. M. Sundays, 6.59 A. M. then same as week days. Return leave Neponset, 6.22 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.22 P. M. then 11.37, 12.07 P. M. Sundays, 7.22 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Norfolk Downs, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 7.55, 8.25, 8.50, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 1.30 P. M. then 2.05, 2.35 P. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.05 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.00 P. M.) Sundays, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Neponset, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 1.35 P. M. then 2.00, 2.30 P. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M.) Sundays, 8.30, 9.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Weymouth Landing, 5.20, 6.00, 6.20, 6.55, 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.00 P. M. Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days. Return leave Weymouth Landing, 5.40, 6.15, A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.15 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Wollaston, 5.59 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.59 P. M. then 11.14 and 11.44 P. M. Sundays, 6.59 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Wollaston, 6.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.30 P. M. then 11.50 and 12.20 P. M. Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days.

West Quincy, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave West Quincy, 6.00, 6.20, 6.50, A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.50 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.20 midnight) Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days.

Leave NEPONSET BRIDGE for Squantum, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 3.30 P. M. then 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30 P. M. then every 60 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Saturdays, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Sundays, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. (Note—Week Days, cars will leave Atlantic Bridge for Squantum, 5.45 and 6.15 A. M.) Return leave Squantum, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 4.05 P. M. then 4.35, 5.05, 5.35, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05 P. M. then every 60 minutes to 11.05 P. M. Saturdays, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 10.05 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. Sundays, 8.05 9.05, 10.05, A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M.

THOMAS GAMMON,
Superintendent.

Woman's Safe Step to Better Looks is not hard to find. If your eyes are dull—if your skin is sallow, or your complexion muddy; if you have no roses in your cheeks, do not bother with cosmetics. Don't risk harmful drugs. Get good, rich blood in your veins, and then you will have the bright looks and charm of perfect health.

BEECHAM'S PILLS

are wonderful aids to women and women's looks. If your blood is poor—if you are pale, weak and not up to the mark—your stomach and organs of digestion and elimination are the cause.

Beecham's Pills correct faults. They will help you to good digestion and active kidneys and regular bowels—to freedom from troubles—to purer life-making, beauty-creating blood. In all truth and seriousness, you will find that for good health and good looks, Beecham's Pills

Will Show the Right Way

In boxes with full directions, 10c. and 25c.

"The Old Folks at Home."

This is the sequel to an installation made in a Maine town, at the home of his wife's parents, by a young man residing in the suburbs of Boston. It was related by him during a second call at our Milk Street Office, made for the purpose of expressing gratification for the promptness with which the telephone was installed, and also for the pleasurable results already enjoyed.

"Haven't had so much real, downright pleasure in years! The old folks are as tickled as children, and my wife is as happy as a lark. We've been married only a little while, and I suppose she has been pretty lonesome at times. We have a telephone at our own home, but the old folks didn't have one, and the thought came to me that if they did have one, it wouldn't seem quite so 'far from the old folks at home,' so to speak. And that's just what's happened. You ought to have seen my wife's face this morning just as I was leaving home. She was just putting in a call for her mother. I tell you the telephone makes happy days for all of us, now."

There are no worrisome preliminaries to a telephone visit. Take the receiver off the hook, ask for the Toll Operator, give her the name and address of the person you want—and there you are! If the person wanted lives within 15 miles of your exchange, give the order direct to the Local Operator.

SHE KNOWS

how important uniform heat in a stove is--knows, too, that gas supplies it without overheating the laundry in the hottest days or wasting fuel the coldest.

'Twill be well and pleasant for you to know how delightfully gas can serve you.

CITIZENS' GAS LIGHT CO.

11 Granite St., Quincy

WHEELER'S

The Store for Ladies' Furnishings

We will continue our Sale of Shirt Waists and Long Gloves

See what we offer in Shirt Waists for 79c and 98c and Long Gloves for 50c and 75c

We are also showing a new line of Children's Parasols, all colors, for 25c and 29c

WE GIVE CASH DISCOUNT SLIPS

City Square G. W. WHEELER Quincy

GET YOUR LEDGER AT

HOUGHS NECK

—OF—

CAPT. O. G. FOSDICK

—OR—

ARTHUR GOODWIN, Carrier

Quincy Daily Ledger

HIGH TIDE FOR WEEK.

Monday, July 10,	11.00	11.00
Tuesday,	11.30	11.45
Wednesday,	1200	12.15
Thursday,	12.15	12.45
Friday,	1.00	1.30
Saturday,	1.45	2.00
Sunday,	2.15	2.45

1911 JULY 1911

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
						1
2	3	4	5	6	7	8
9	10	11	12	13	14	15
16	17	18	19	20	21	22
23	24	25	26	27	28	29
30	31

REPUBLICANS TO CO-OPERATE.

Speaker Walker presided at a meeting of about 50 of the Republican members of the legislature on Monday, called to take steps to organize the legislative Republicans and to co-operate with the Republican State Committee in the coming campaign.

It was voted that there should be a general committee of 80, to consist of the chairman and secretary chosen by each of the legislative delegations, in the 40 senatorial districts of the commonwealth.

Speaker Walker was obliged to leave before the meeting adjourned, and Representative Cox of Boston was called to the chair. On motion of Representative Saunders of Clinton it was voted that the committee of 80 should choose a committee of 10 to act as a steering committee to co-operate directly with the Republican state committee.

FIRST BIG SEA FIGHT OFF PROVINCETOWN

Two Warships Said to Have Been Sunk by Torpedo Fleet

Provincetown, Mass., July 12.—Right from the battleground, showing no sign of rough usage at the hands of the enemy, Admiral Osterhaus' battleship squadron sailed into harbor and anchored well east of the line of minor ships that throng the harbor.

But scathless as they appeared, it is rumored ashore that two of the battleships had been sunk by the torpedo fleet according to the rules of the war game played off the cape.

That the enemy did not go unpunished is revealed by further stories of how some of their number were picked up by the battleships' searchlights and theoretically wiped out of existence, while in the act of sneaking up on their giant opponents

The Weather

Almanac, Thursday, July 13.
Sun rises—4:37; sets—7:27.
Moon rises—9:26 p. m.
High water—12:15 a. m.; 12:45 p. m.
Forecast for New England: Fair, with moderate temperatures; moderate west and northwest winds.

Woes of Translators.

The way of translators is hard, especially where African native languages are concerned. Favorite English hymns, translated for the benefit of the natives, sometimes contain renderings not altogether faultless. "Go labor on, spend and be spent," was given as "Go blunder on," etc. The most extravagant instance, however, was the hymn, "Lord, Dismiss Us With Thy Blessing," which the natives were exhorted to join fervently in singing. Months later the missionaries discovered that what they really had been singing was, "Lord, kick us out, softly, softly."—Glasgow Herald.

—Joseph Lee, in his talk on playgrounds for children, discusses a child's imaginative qualities and says that the child enjoys a plaything on which he must necessarily use his imagination more than a modern mechanical toy which demands no imagination from the youngster. Lee says the other day he found his child playing with a piece of hose. "This isn't hose, papa, it is a skunk," said the child. Lee remonstrated that his offspring was wrong, but the child insisted. "Why?" asked Lee. "It's a skunk, papa," said the child, "because it squirts."—Boston Record.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, Lucas County, ss.
Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure. FRANK J. CHENEY.
Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.
A. W. GLEASON,
(Seal) Notary Public.
Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.
F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by all Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

THE POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT.

Frank Hitchcock continues to run the steam roller over the defenseless clerks in the Post Office Department as monchalantly as if they were mere insurgent white trash at a packed Standpat Republican National Convention. There is plenty of money to spend on fancy decorations in the Boston Post Office. But Uncle Sam is so desperately determined to abolish the postal deficit without trenching further on the railroads' profits or developing a worth-while parcels post that there is no money to engage substitutes for clerks when the latter are in need of vacations, but on the contrary the overworked force is being steadily thinned out. Elbow room for grafters but the gag or the axe for faithful service about expresses how the Hitchcock regime looks to the postal clerks' next of kin. It probably isn't all Hitchcock's fault—though he gets the cussing. But in any event it is a striking illustration of how, in at least our opinion the Post Office Department ought not to be run.—Boston Common.

WHEN MIKEY BATHED.

There is a charming article in a recent Suburban Life relating the experiences of a number of suburban people who took a company of city waifs into the country for an outing. First they assembled at the home of one of the ladies, where there occurred an incident which the author, Juliet Everts Robb, relates as follows: "Before starting, the children were sent, girls and then boys, to the bathroom. The girls came back promptly, but the boys kept us waiting so long that even the 'teachers'—they called us all 'teacher'— grew impatient. Three or four little boys were leaning out of the window, chatering and laughing as if t hey liked it and meant to stay there.

" 'Johnny,' a teacher called, 'why don't you come down? You've been three times as long as the girls, now.'

" 'W'y, Mikey ain't done his bath, yet.'

" 'His what?'

" 'You don't mean Mikey's taking a bath—in the tub!'

" 'Yes, ma'am—he's in it now.'

" 'We looked at each other and our tired faces broke into joyous smiles. Remembering how kindly we all take to luxuries, we forgave Mike, merely ordering the others to tell him to hurry, and warning them that there was not time for tub baths."

JIM'S WIFE.

After the report had been current for a week that Jim's wife, whom Jim had met and married and was still secluding in Chicago, was ugly as sin, a friend who had Jim's interests at heart ran down the author of the rumor with the intention of making her retract.

"How do you know she is ugly?" he asked. "Have you ever seen her?"

"No," said the experienced gossip, "I never have, neither have I seen her picture, nor anybody who has seen either her or her picture, but I know she is ugly, because I had it straight from a person who lives in Chicago that when she ordered a dozen pictures taken just a while before the wedding the photographer made her pay in advance, and a photographer never does that unless the subject is so ugly that she is apt to be discouraged when she sees the pictures and refuse to pay for them on the ground that he hasn't done good work. If you don't believe me ask any photographer."

But Jim's champion let the matter drop.—New York Times.

NOT THE HATS FAULT.

Pittsfield, in the Berkshire Hills, had in the old days, like many another New England town, a number of men and women who were called "characters." One of these was Bill Brown, a man unfortunately addicted to drink and frequently intoxicated for days at a time.

On one occasion he went into the shop of the local hater, Mr. Smith, and asked for the best beaver in the store. Mr. Smith produced the desired article, saying as he took the money: "That beaver will last a man a lifetime."

Bill went proudly down the main street with his fine beave r on his head and immediately celebrated the event with a protracted debauch.

When he recovered he returned to the shop with a most disreputable hat.

"Look here, I thought you said this here beaver would last me a lifetime."

"So it would," growled Mr. Smith, "if you had died when you ought to."—Youth's Companion.

The Main Thing.

Political Leader—How does Bump stand? Henchman—All right, I guess. He belongs to the same political party as we do. Political Leader—Confound it! That's no sign. Is he with us or against us?—Puck.

About the Same Thing.

Scribbler—Can you suggest a simile for giving advice? Scrawler—How would pouring water on a duck's back do?—Philadelphia Record.

EXTENSION OF REFERENDUM

Takes Away Power of Compromise In Making Laws

THE ARIZONA CONSTITUTION

Sutherland Points Out What Appear to Him as Serious Defects—Sees Great Danger In Recall of Judiciary—Tribunal Where Everybody Decides and Nobody Is Responsible—Scandal Takes Place of Evidence

Washington, July 12.—To an "amiable band of insurgents and soothsayers," all efforts in behalf of the initiative, referendum and recall provisions in the Arizona constitution were traced by Senator Sutherland of Utah in an address to the senate in opposition to the approval of that instrument. He was especially severe in his denunciation of the inclusion of the judiciary in the recall.

Accepting the application of the referendum principle as wise where it applies to such general enactments as a state constitution, Sutherland contending that the general public never would give sufficient time to general legislation to pass intelligently upon it. What he objected to in the referendum was not its historical application, but its hysterical extension.

"The people as a whole," he said, "have neither the inclination, the specialized training, nor the time requisite to enable them to master the thousand and one details necessary to qualify them to wisely discharge the functions of ordinary legislation."

Applying to the initiative all the objections attaching to the referendum he declared the proposed Arizona system especially objectionable. "Under the initiative as thus provided, proposed laws," said the senator, "will, of course, frequently be drafted by a coterie or clique of interested, perhaps all of one way of thinking.

"It will not be considered and debated in public as legislative enactments are; there will be little, if any, opportunity for the consideration of opposing views in framing the law. The power of compromise, which is a necessity in the making of laws, will be wholly absent. The chances are altogether in favor of the adoption of more unwise laws than ever get through our legislature."

Mr. Sutherland's main opposition to the recall principle was with reference to the judiciary, included in the Arizona constitution. "The recall," he said, "put into the scale, upon one side or the other, in every case where strong public feeling exists, the artificially induced anxiety of the judge for the retention of his place.

"The recall institutes a tribunal where everybody decides and nobody is responsible; where at least 25 percent of the membership have already, as the judge's accusers, prejudged his case, and from whose arbitrary and unjust findings there is no appeal.

"In such a forum idle gossip and village scandals stand in the place of evidence; assertion takes the place of sworn testimony; and the foulest lie goes unchallenged by the touch-stone of cross examination."

TO CUT JUDICIARY RECALL

Smith Will Offer Amendment to the Arizona Constitution

Washington, July 12.—Chairman Smith of the senate territories committee gtve notice of an amendment to eliminate the judiciary recall provision in the Arizona constitution and said that if the resolution is adopted as it passed the house it would be vetoed.

Senator Smith's idea is to make it possible to admit the states at the earliest possible date, and after a conference with the president he stated that statehood might stand "in grave danger," if a bill failing to eliminate the recall of judges from the Arizona constitution should be passed by congress.

GONG TO QUIT LAW

Darrow Will Retire When Los Angeles Bomb Cases Are Disposed Of

Chicago, July 12.—Clarence S. Darrow, for years one of the best known lawyers and radical thinkers of Chicago, who is now in charge of the defense in the Los Angeles Times bomb cases, has given up his Chicago apartment, dissolved his law partnership and resolved on the completion of his present case to retire from practice.

The dissolution is due to Darrow's ill-health, advanced years and desire to devote the rest of his life to study and literary work rather than to the drudgery of the law.

Priests Must Keep Out of Politics

Guadalajara, July 12.—Archbishop Ortiz of this diocese has instructed all Catholic priests within his jurisdiction to refrain from interesting themselves in political affairs.

Hoke Smith to Be Senator

Atlanta, July 12.—The election of Governor Hoke Smith as United States senator to succeed Joseph M. Terrell is assured.

THE BEST WHEEL WINS

and you can always count on the Hartford bicycle being the victor not only in speed heats, but at every point. Experience and skill have been so thoroughly applied in their construction that they have reached the highest degree in mechanical perfection.

NEW and SECOND-HAND BICYCLES

Sundries and Repairing

HUB CYCLE CO.

Thomas Nelson, 20 Granite Street, QUINCY

Agency for Hartford and Columbia Bicycles

May 15-2m

WE ARE NOT THE

LOWEST PRICED

STORE IN QUINCY BUT WE POSITIVELY ARE THE

LOWEST PRICED STORE

IN MASS., CONSIDERING THE QUALITY OF MEATS WE SELL

HIGHEST QUALITY, LOW PRICES OUR STANDARD

RESPECTFULLY,

JOHNSON BROS.

June 19-tf

ENGINEER'S MISTAKE WAS CAUSE OF WRECK

(Continued from Page One.)

and then watched, fascinated and terrified, the onward rush of the express.

He saw the huge engine swerve at the curve and felt the tower shake and rock as though it had been struck by the flying engine, and he at once plunged through the window to the viaduct platform, ten feet below, and ran down the opposite side of the embankment.

From the cars came the wild shrieks of crushed and mangled men and women and the roar of escaping steam, which clouded all the forward end of the train and made it impossible for him to see the engine.

Hemingway climed back into his tower and after setting the proper signals to stop any train that might get past Stamford or Fairfield, rushed down the embankment to the assistance of those imprisoned in the coaches.

Baseball Men's Good Service

The first men to rush to the assistance of the passengers in the wrecked coaches were the men of the St. Louis ball team. All were in pajamas and bare feet, but Roger Bresnahan and his men paid no heed to these trifles.

The ball players were worth a thousand ordinary helpers in an affair of this sort. Bresnahan led them and with a few curt words directed them what to do and they did it as though on the ball field for a pennant. When the firemen and police and the first squad of physicians arrived they found the ball players working like Trojans and undoubtedly many lives were saved by them.

From every section of the city physicians, nearly all of them connected with the Emergency hospital of the city, were hurrying to the viaduct and as the bodies were brought up to the top of the embankment the most seriously injured were whirled away to the hospitals.

The less seriously injured were taken across the viaduct to the lawn of Mrs. James C. Horan, only a short distance away, where every possible arrangement for caring for the victims had been made.

Train Looks Like Hospital

At least 100 were cared for here who did not go to the hospitals and who continued eastward in a train especially made up for them. This train in fact looked like a hospital train with its bandaged passengers huddled in the seats. The names of these were not taken by the physicians, although some of them were as badly hurt as those taken to the hospitals.

Coroner Wilson spent a large part of the day at the scene of the wreck gathering at first hand the information he may need when the inquest into the affair is begun. The inquest will not be begun until tomorrow at the earliest, as there will be much to be done in the way of work. Wilson will bring out at the inquest the exact orders handed to Engineer Curtis directing him to stop at Bridgeport. It is believed to be fully established, however, that full responsibility for the accident rests upon the dead engineer.

Pandemonium.

"Nature knew what she was doing when she deprived fishes of a voice."

"How do you make that out?"

"What if a fish had to cackle over every egg it laid?"—Exchange.

Fame can never make us lie down contentedly on a deathbed.—Pope.

Your Clothes Need Attention!

Keep them in a sanitary condition by our modern cleansing process.

Just phone 594 M or write and our team will call.

WARSHAW'S DYE HOUSE

"The House of Cleanliness"

1503 HANCOCK STREET

QUINCY

July 8-tf

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
Norfolk, ss Probate Court.
To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin and all other persons interested in the estate of Anna Rausch late of Quincy in said County, deceased:

Whereas, two certain instruments purporting to be the last will and testament—and one codicil of said deceased have been presented to said Court for Probate, by Gertrude A. Jewell of Quincy, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to her the executrix therein named, without giving a surety on her official bond:

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Dedham in said County of Norfolk, on the nineteenth day of July 4. D. 1911, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in Quincy the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, postpaid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this third day of July in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.
July 5-3t 5, 12, 17

ADMINISTRATRIX NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administratrix of the estate of Howard N. Newell late of Quincy in the County of Norfolk, deceased, intestate, and has taken upon herself that trust by giving bond as the law directs.

All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to

ADELAIDE L. NEWELL, Admx.
(Address)
Quincy, Mass., June 26, 1911.
June 28-3t 28, 5, 12

PATENTS

TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 26 years experience.

Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.

READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.

D. SWIFT & CO.
PATENT LAWYERS,
303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

T WHEEL WINS
lways count on the being the victor not heats, but at every nce and skill have hly applied in their at they have reached ee in mechanical per-

OND-HAND BICYCLES and Repairing

nite Street, QUINCY
cles
May 15-2m

ED
Y ARE THE TORE
ALITY TANDARD
ROS.
June,15-tf.

Clothes
Attention!

a sanitary condition
cleansing process.
594 M or write and ll.

SHAW'S HOUSE of Cleanliness"
COCK STREET
INCY
July 8-tf

of Massachusetts.
Probate Court.
aw, next-of-kin and s interested in the Rausch late of Quinty, deceased:
certain instruments
the last will and e codicil of said de-presented to said
, by Gertrude A.
who prays that let-may be issued to her ein named, without n her official bond;
ted to appear at a
be held at Dedham
f Norfolk, on the July 4. D. 1911, at forenoon, to show have, why the same nted. And said peti-directed to give pub-by publishing this ach week, for three in the Quincy Daily aper published in ublication to be one e said Court, and by
, or delivering a on to all known per-the estate, seven
re said Court.
H. Flint, Esquire,
rt, this third day of one thousand nine
ven.
. COBB, Register.
July 5-3t 5, 12, 17

TRIX NOTICE.

given that the sub-duly appointed Ad-
e estate of Howard Quincy in the County
sed, intestate, and rself that trust by e law directs.
ing demands upon deceased are required
e; and all persons state are called up-nt to DE L. NEWELL,
Admx.
June 26, 1911.
e 28-3t 28, 5, 12

ENTS
Copyrights obtained or no ches or photos and brief
SEARCH and report on s experience.
or NEW BOOKLET, mation. It will help you to d and 12 before applying day.
FT & CO.
LAWYERS,
Washington, D. C.

THE DANGER TRAIL

By JAMES OLIVER CURWOOD

Copyright, 1910, by Bobbs-Merrill Company.

SYNOPSIS

Jack Howland, engineer, sent to build the Hudson Bay railroad, is appealed to for help by a beautiful girl who writes that she is a mute and invites him to accompany her. They are followed by Jean Croisset, half breed.

They go to her camp. He is attacked and nearly killed by a huge stranger. The girl disappears. Howland hears her speak. Croisset gives him the little Meleese's warning not to go north. He goes.

Howland again sees the girl, who tells him by note his life is in danger. She asks his forgiveness. Gregson and Thorne are mere wrecks of their former selves.

Mysterious perils threaten Howland. The girl visits him and confesses that she had lied to him. She entreats him to return south.

He tells her he loves her. Her name is Meleese. She partly promises to tell him why enemies seek his life.

(Continued from last issue)

CHAPTER VII.

THE HOUR OF DEATH.

A RED, unwinking eye staring at him fixedly from out of impenetrable gloom, an ogreish, gleaming thing that brought life back into him with a thrill of horror, was Howland's first vision of returning consciousness. It was dead in front of him, on a level with his face—a ball of yellow fire that seemed to burn into his very soul. He tried to cry out, but no sound fell from his lips. He strove to move, to fight himself away, but there was no power of movement in his limbs. The eye grew larger. He saw that it was so bright it cast a halo, and the halo widened before his own staring eyes until the dense gloom about it seemed to be melting away. Then he knew. It was a lantern in front of him, not more than ten feet away. Consciousness flooded him, and he made another effort to cry out, to free his arms from an invisible clutch that held him powerless. At first he thought this was the clutch of human hands. Then as the lantern light revealed more clearly the things about him and the outlines of his own figure he saw that it was a rope, and he knew that he was unable to cry out because of something tight and suffocating about his mouth.

The truth came to him swiftly. He had come up to the coyote on a sledge. Some one had struck him. He remembered that men had half dragged him over the rocks, and these men had bound and gagged him and left him here with the lantern staring him in the face. But where was he? He shifted his eyes, straining to penetrate the gloom. Ahead of him just beyond the light there was a black wall. He could not move his head, but he saw where that same wall closed in on the left. He turned his gaze upward, and it ended with that same imprisoning barrier of rock. Then he looked down, and the cry of horror that rose in his throat died in a muffled groan. The light fell dimly on a sack—two of them—three—a tightly packed wall of them.

He knew now what had happened. He was imprisoned in the coyote, and the sacks about him were filled with powder. He was sitting on something hard—a box—fifty pounds of dynamite. The cold sweat stood out in beads on his face, glistening in the lantern glow. From between his feet a thin, white, ghostly line ran out until it lost itself in the blackness under the lantern. It was the fuse, leading to the box of dynamite on which he was sitting.

Madly he struggled at the thongs that bound him until he sank exhausted against the row of powder sacks at his back. Like words of fire the last warning of Meleese burned in his brain. "You must go tomorrow—tomorrow—or they will kill you!" And this was the way in which he was to die. There flamed before his eyes the terrible spectacle which he had witnessed a few hours before—the holocaust of fire and smoke and thunder that had disrupted a mountain, a chaos of writhing, twisting fury, and in that moment his heart seemed to cease its beating.

He closed his eyes and tried to calm himself. Was it possible that there lived men so fiendish as to condemn him to this sort of death? Why had not his enemies killed him out among the rocks? That would have been easier, quicker, less troublesome. Why did they wish to torture him? What terrible thing had he done? Was he mad, mad, and this all a terrible nightmare, a raving and unreal contortion of things in his brain? In this hour of death question after question raced through his head, and he answered no one of them. He sat still for a time, scarcely breathing. There was no sound save the beating of his own heart. Then there came another, almost unheard at first, faint, thrilling, maddening.

Tick, tick, tick!

It was the beating of his watch. A spasm of horror seized him.

What time was it?

The coyote was to be fired at 9 o'clock. It was 4 when he left his cabin. How long had he been unconscious? Was it time now—now? Was MacDonald's finger already reaching out to that little white button which would send him into eternity?

He struggled again, gnashing furiously at the thing which covered his mouth, tearing the flesh of his wrists as he twisted at the ropes which bound him, choking himself with his efforts to loosen the thong about his neck. Exhausted again, he sank back, panting, half dead. As he lay with closed eyes a little of his reason asserted itself. After all was he such a coward as to go mad?

Tick, tick, tick!

His watch was beating at a furious rate. Was something wrong with it? Was it going too fast? He tried to count the seconds, but they raced away from him. When he looked again his gaze fell on the little yellow tongue of flame in the lantern globe. It was not the steady, unwinking eye of a few minutes before. There was a sputtering weakness about it now, and as he watched the light grew fainter and fainter. The flame was going out. A few minutes more and he would be in darkness. At first the significance of it did not come to him. Then he straightened himself with a jerk that tightened the thong about his neck until it choked him. Hours must have passed since the lantern had been placed on that rock, else the oil would not be burned out of it now.

MADLY HE STRUGGLED AT THE THONGS THAT BOUND HIM.

For the first time Howland realized that it was becoming more and more difficult for him to get breath. The thing about his neck was tightening slowly, inexorably, like a hot band of steel, and suddenly, because of this tightening, he found that he had recovered his voice.

"This rawhide is pinching my Adam's apple"—

Whatever had been about his mouth had slipped down, and his words sounded hollow and choking in the rock bound chamber. He tried to raise his voice in a shout, though he knew how futile his loudest shrieks would be. The effort choked him more. His suffering was becoming excruciating. Sharp pains darted like redhot needles through his limbs, his back tortured him, and his head ached as thought a knife had cleft the base of his skull. The strength of his limbs was leaving him. He no longer felt any sensation in his cramped feet. He measured the paralysis creeping up his legs inch by inch, driving the sharp pains before it, and then a groan of horror rose to his lips.

The light had gone out.

As if that dying of the little yellow flame were the signal for his death, there came to his ears a sharp hissing sound; a spark leaped up into the blackness before his eyes, and a slow, creeping glow came toward him over the rock at his feet.

The hour, the minute, the second, had come, and MacDonald had pressed the little white button that was to send him into eternity. He did not cry out now. He knew that the end was very near, and in its nearness he found new strength. Once he had seen a man walk to his death on the scaffold, and as the condemned had spoken his last farewell, with the noose about his neck, he had marveled at the clearness of his voice, at the fearlessness of this creature in his last moment on earth.

Now he understood. Inch by inch the fuse burned toward him—a fifth of the distance, a quarter, now a third. At last it reached a half—was almost under his feet. Two minutes more of life. He put his whole strength once again in an attempt to free his hands. This time his attempt was cool, steady, masterful, with death 100 seconds away. His heart gave a sudden bursting leap into his throat when he felt something give. Another effort, and in the powder choked vault there rang out a thrilling cry of triumph. His hands were free! He reached forward to the fuse, and this time a moaning, wordless sob fell from him, faint, terrifying, with all the horror that might fill a human soul in its inarticulate note. He could not reach the fuse because of the thong about his neck.

He felt for his knife. He had left it in his room. Sixty seconds, more—forty—thirty! He could see the fiery end of the fuse almost at his feet. Suddenly his groping fingers came in contact with the cold steel of his pocket revolver, and with a last hope he snatched it forth, stretching down his pistol arm until the muzzle of the weapon was within a dozen inches of the deadly spark. At his first shot the spark leaped, but did not go out. After the second there was no longer the fiery, creeping thing on the floor, and crushing his head back against the sacks, Howland sat for many minutes as if death had in reality come to him in the moment of his deliverance. After a time, with tedious slowness, he worked a hand into his trousers pocket, where he carried a penknife. It took him a long time to saw through the rawhide thong about his neck. After that he cut the rope that bound his ankles.

He made an effort to rise, but no sooner had he gained his feet than his paralyzed limbs gave way under him and he dropped in a heap on the floor. Very slowly the blood began finding its way through his choked veins again, and with the change there came over him a feeling of infinite restfulness. He stretched himself out, with his face turned to the black wall above, realizing only that he was saved, that he had outwitted his mysterious enemies again and that he was comfortable. He made no effort to think—to scheme out his further deliverance. He was with the powder and the dynamite, and the powder and dynamite could not be exploded until human hands came to attach a new fuse. MacDonald would attend to that very soon, so he went off into a doze that was almost sleep. In his half consciousness there came to him but one sound—that dreadful ticking of his watch. He seemed to have listened to it for hours when there arose another sound—the ticking of another watch.

He sat up, startled, wondering, and then he laughed happily as he heard the sound more distinctly. It was the beating of picks on the rock outside. Already MacDonald's men were at work clearing the mouth of the coyote. In half an hour he would be out in the big, breathing world again.

The thought brought him to his feet. The numbness was gone from his limbs and he could walk about. His first move was to strike a match and look at his watch.

"Half past 10!"

He spoke the words aloud, thinking of Meleese. In an hour and a half he was to meet her on the trail. Would he be released in time to keep the tryst? How should he explain his imprisonment in the coyote so that he could leave MacDonald without further loss of time? As the sound of the picks came nearer his brain began working faster. If he could only evade explanations until morning and then reveal the whole dastardly business to MacDonald! There would be time then for those explanations, for the running down of his murderous assailants, and meanwhile he would be able to keep his appointment with Meleese.

He was not long in finding a way in which this scheme could be worked, and, gathering up the severed ropes and rawhide, he concealed them between two of the powder sacks so that those who entered the coyote would discover no signs of his terrible imprisonment. Close to the mouth of the tunnel there was a black rent in the wall of rock made by a bursting charge of dynamite in which he could conceal himself. When the men were busy examining the broken fuse he would step out and join them. It would look as though he had crawled through the tunnel after them.

Half an hour later a mass of rock rolled down close to his feet, and a few moments after he saw a shadowy human form crawling through the hole it had left. A second followed, and then a third, and the first voice he heard was that of MacDonald.

"Give us the lantern, Bucky," he called back, and a gleam of light shot into the black chamber. The men walked cautiously toward the fuse, and Howland saw the little superintendent fall on his knees. As quietly as a cat Howland worked himself to the entrance and made a clatter among the rocks. It was he who responded to the voice.

"What's up, MacDonald?"

He coolly joined the little group. MacDonald looked up, and when he saw the new chief bending over him his eyes stared in unbounded wonder.

"Howland!" he gasped.

It was all he said, but in that one word and in the strange excitement in the superintendent's face Howland read that which made him turn quickly to the men, giving them his first command as general in chief of the road that was going to the bay.

"Get out of the coyote, boys," he said. "We won't do anything more until morning."

To MacDonald as the men went out ahead of them he added in a low voice:

"Guard the entrance to this tunnel with half a dozen of your best men tonight, MacDonald. I know things which will lead me to investigate this tomorrow. I'm going to leave you as soon as I get outside. Spread the report that it was simply a bad fuse. Understand?"

He crawled out ahead of the superintendent, and before MacDonald had emerged from the coyote he had already lost himself in the starlit gloom of the night and was hastening to his tryst with the beautiful girl, who, he believed, would reveal to him at least a part of one of the strangest and most diabolical plots that had ever originated in the brain of man.

(To be Continued.)

DEATH OF MRS. WINSLOW

Was on the Stage Many Years In America and England

Boston, July 12.—Catherine M. Winslow died at her home at Concord following a case of heat prostration with which she was stricken. Mrs. Winslow, who was born in England, was in her 75th year, and is survived by her husband, Erving Winslow, merchant, author, editor and reformer.

Mrs. Winslow was on the stage for many years, in this country and England, beginning her career with the Boston Museum company and later starring in many plays on two continents. Upon her retirement from the stage she became a public reader.

PASS KEY HAS DISAPPEARED

It Fits Every Door In the House Office Building

CONCLUSION OF THE POLICE

May Be a Move to Check One of the House Investigations, and Fear of Removal of Evidence Causes Consternation—Double Guards Stationed at Door of Every Investigating Committee Room

Washington, July 12.—Congressional policeben are conducting a search for a master key which was stolen from the police headquarters in the house office building.

The discovery that the key had been stolen caused consternation among the employes in the office building. There are only two such and they open every door in the building. Police officers immediately jumped to the conclusion that someone was engaged in a desperate attempt to steal evidence in the possession of one of the house investigating committees.

The Hardwick committee is investigating the sugar trust; the Stanley committee is looking into the affairs of the steel trust; the Graham committee is trying to find out what connection the administration has with the disposal of lands on Controller bay, Alaska.

Each committee has been collecting evidence from various sources and the police feared that the master key had been stolen by someone interested in one of the investigations. As a result double guards were stationed at the door of every investigating committee room and guards also were stationed at each of the numerous entrances to the office building with instructions to refuse admittance to all persons who could not positively identify themselves.

As a result of this order many members of the house found it impossible to go to their offices. Many of the police guards are new and are not acquainted with the veteran members of the house. There are so many new members that even the old guards do not know all of them.

When a member sought entrance to the building, therefore, he could not get in unless he could positively identify himself. Many members who had planned to attend to their correspondence in the evening instead of during the heat of the day were compelled to postpone their efforts.

That the Capitol police are seriously alarmed by the loss of the master key is indicated in an advertisement placed in the Washington papers. It reads:

Lost—The party who took the pass key to the rooms in the house of representatives office building will save trouble by returning it to the lieutenant of police of that building. No questions asked if same is returned by Thursday, July 13.

George White, Lieutenant.

Until the key is found special guards will continue to spend their nights pacing back and forth before the doors of the investigating committee rooms.

TO KEEP UP SUPPLY

Boston Board of Health May Try Plan of Freezing Milk

Boston, July 12.—To meet the milk shortage caused by heat spells such as Boston is sweltering under at present the board of health will shortly undertake experiments for the freezing of milk in hugh blocks similar to ice, which will be stored for emergency purposes.

"We are watching the outcome of similar experiments in New York," said Dr. Mullowney of the board, "and if they are successful, we will take it up here."

Dr. Mullowney says that despite the endeavors of the big milk contractors and railroads, a serious milk shortage exists in Boston today.

LOSE BY ONE POINT

Yale and Harvard Athletes Beaten by British Collegians

London, July 12.—The British lion roared supreme at New Kensington, for the athletes wearing the "C. and O." of Cambridge and Oxford scored a well earned victory over those of Harvard and Yale.

Triumph did not come to the Englishmen easy, however, for the American invaders fought in each event for every inch of ground.

By only a single point did the united forces of Harvard and Yale go down in defeat. The final score was 5 to 4.

Sentenced For Forgery

Burlington, Vt., July 12.—Pleading guilty to a charge of forging checks, Fred Johnson was sentenced to from two to three years' imprisonment. Johnson passed bad checks on a local bank.

German Steamer Founders

Hamburg, July 12.—The German steamer Elbing foundered off the island of Borkum in the North sea. Nine persons were drowned.

NOW RUN BY ELECTRICITY

(Continued from Page Three.)

railroad, however, not only tries to keep up with the procession, but often is a little in advance of it; and so it was decided by the management that both coal and oil must take a back seat and be superseded by electricity, as far as the operation of the Hoosac bore was concerned.

In order to fully understand the magnitude of the operations it will be necessary to consider for a moment the physical characteristics of the great bore. The eastern end of the tunnel is 136 miles west of Boston, and the western end is 50 miles east of Troy, N. Y.

Its total length is 25,081 feet, or approximately 4 3-4 miles and although its construction commenced from each end and the centre, the sections came almost exactly together, so accurately were the engineers lines run.

The rock through which the tunnel runs is composed principally of mica, schist and quartz. When the tunnel was constructed two vertical ventilating shafts were cut, one of these being a short distance from the west end, 318 feet deep. The central, or principal shaft, is nearly midway of the bore and descends 1028 feet from the top of the mountain. The highest part of the mountain is near the west portal, where it rises to a height of 1718 feet. Between the higher and the lower summits of the range two streams run, so that the passage is really subaqueous as well as subterranean.

Two tracks run through the tunnel and furnish accommodations for the enormous passenger and freight business that moves over the Fitchburg Division in ever-increasing volume. For the safe movement of this traffic a complete system of telephone and signals was long ago installed.

The grade at the portals is 766 feet above tide water, and in moving from either end to the central shaft trains rise 26.40 feet per mile. The dimensions of the west shaft are 10x14 feet, and those of the central shaft, which performs the chief duty of keeping the nearly five miles of tunnel ventilated, are 15x27 feet. The width of the tunnel arch is 26 feet.

The average power required at the tunnel for trains will be in the vicinity of 5000 kilowatts. The electric locomotives used are of the well-known Westinghouse type, and each is capable of developing 1400 horse-power. There powerful locomotives will be able to accelerate a 2000-ton train.

They receive 11,000 volts on their overhead pantagraph collector, and it is passed through an oil switch to the lowering tranformation in the cab which in turn converts it into 600 volts and at that pressure it is distributed to the motors. The locomotives have their motors superimposed upon the geared to the wheel axles, and all of the electrical apparatus inside the cab is centrally located, affording a roomy arangement and offering a god facility for general inspection. Passage aisles are provided on both sides of the cab.

The locomotives are designed to handle all trains coming to the east and west portal of the tunnel, and will couple directly onto the steam locomotive, hauling it with its train over the electric zone.

There is no other tunnel in the world where the situation is just that of the Hoosac, and there is no other place in tunnel construction where the factors of safety are so large in the way of insulating the wires, in order to cut down to a strict minimum the electrical failure of the line.

The surveys were made and the present tunnel line established by Thomas Doane, the well-known civil engineer of Boston, and the chief engineer in charge of the work was B. S. Frost, his assistants being F. D. Fisher, A. W. Locke and W. W. Wederginch. Loammi Baldwin, son of the Massachusetts farmer of Baldwin apple fame, was one of the engineers interested in the tunnel project during its early stages.

The section of Massachusetts in which the tunnel is located is one of the most attractive in all New England. From the presence of the mountain and tunnel it takes the name of the Hoosac Country. The western end of the great "bore" is guarded by Greylock Mountain, rising 3500 feet above the sea and the highest eminence in Massachusetts. Nearby is the attractive seat of Williams College, Williamstown, and the prosperous manufacturing communities North Adams and Adams.

All around the billowy hills with altitude of 1200 to 1500 feet. East of the tunnel, and forming the approach to it from the seaboard, is the picturesque and historic Deerfield Valley, with Shelburne Falls, Conway and other attractive villages in it—a country in which Nathaniel Hawthorne, Charles Dudley Warner and other great American writers enjoy many a delightful summer vacation.

HOME TRADE WILL HELP QUINCY AND EVERYONE IN QUINCY.

900 DROPS
CASTORIA
ALCOHOL 3 PER CENT.
A Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomachs and Bowels of INFANTS & CHILDREN
Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest. Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral.
NOT NARCOTIC.
Recipe of Old Dr. SAMUEL PITCHER
Pumpkin Seed
Alx. Senna
Rochelle Salts
Anise Seed
Peppermint
Bi Carbonate Soda
Worm Seed
Clarified Sugar
Wintergreen Flavor.
A perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and LOSS OF SLEEP.
Fac Simile Signature of
Chas. H. Fletcher.
NEW YORK.
At 6 months old
35 DOSES—35 CENTS
Guaranteed under the Food an
NEW YORK
Exact Copy of Wrapper.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.
In Use For Over Thirty Years
CASTORIA
THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

ZOROID
TRADE MARK
LENSES
FOUNDED 1883
For Your Convenience
And to enable us to have time for a thorough examination, we make appointments.
Instead of wasting from a half to a whole day you need only an hour or two for a thorough and scientific examination of your eyes.
When in need of glasses 'phone OXFORD 790 for an appointment.
Briggs S. Palmer President
Sanborns
3 Winter St.-Boston
REPRESENTED IN QUINCY BY
WILLIAM F. SIDELINGER
July--3-8

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.
A Clearance Sale
— OF —
Soiled Shirt Waists
A Specially good assortment of Large Sizes
THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

Are You Going Away?
If so have the DAILY LEDGER sent to your vacation address. You cannot afford to be without your home paper.
FILL OUT THIS BLANK
QUINCY DAILY LEDGER:—
Send the Daily Ledger for ddress below.
SEND YOUR ORDER AT ONCE

PATTERSON, "The Florist"
92 South Central Ave.
WOLLASTON, MASS.
Telephone 392 Quincy

A. M. DEANE & CO.
MONUMENTS
MEMORIALS ERECTED
IN ANY
CEMETERY
IN THE
UNITED STATES
Aug. 1.-1y

JAMES F. BURKE
Real Estate and Insurance
AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES
Justice of the Peace Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Tel. 385-3 Jan. 17-tf

UPHOLSTERING
My only ambition is to get the work and to show the people of Quincy Town that nobody can beat me with my good work. Low prices on all kinds of furniture, repairing, mattresses, and cushions. Can give references. M. Mirkin 67 Washington street, next to Y.M.C.A. Quincy. Tel. 1112W. April 10-1mo.

R. D. CHASE
QUINCY MASS.

STORAGE
— FOR —
Furniture and Pianos
Storage Warehouse with Separate Rooms
Furniture and Piano Movers
HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy Tel. Con.

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER and GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

Quincy Savings Bank
BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.
SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.
CLARENCE BURGIN,
Treasurer.

HOUSEKEEPERS
TELL YOUR TROUBLES
HOLMES & HALL
We make a business of repairing the things about the house that get out of order such as DOORS, LOCKS, SHADES, BELLS and FURNITURE.
96 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 974 L

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock treet, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point
Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1153 M Nov. 3-tf

M. T. SULLIVAN
Real Estate Insurance
Auctioneer Care of Property
Justice of the Peace
Corner School and Hancock Streets
QUINCY.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.
FIRE INSURANCE.
The Best Insurance. The Lowest Rates.
Insurance Department,
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Telephone, Quincy 87-3.

PATENTS
PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc. IN ALL COUNTRIES.
Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent.
Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively.
Write or come to us at
710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office,
WASHINGTON, D. C.
C. A. SNOW & CO.

Quincy Daily Ledger

FOR SALE AT

BOSTON—At South Station after 3.30 P. M.
QUINCY—Ledger Office 1424 Hancock Street.
L. A. Chapin, 1395 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, oppo. Depot.
Thompson's Waiting Room, City Sq.
H. P. Kittredge, City Square.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
Mrs. Madden, 16 Quincy ave.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's News Stand.
PARK&DOWNS—Branschied & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
QUINCY NECK—Stetson Pierce, Newcomb Square.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith, Washington Street.
Gragg's Pharmacy.
L. A. Cook, Washington Street.
E. O. Godfrey, 538 Washington St.
E. H. Lowe, Washington Street.
George E. Sprague Cor. River St.
SOUTH QUINCY—Litchfield, Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Miss C. Booth, Brooks Avenue.
BREWER'S CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
Mrs. F. H. Stanley.
WEST QUINCY—F. A. Skinner.
John G. Belanger.
HOUGHS NECK—Capt. Fosdick's.

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	100 degrees
July 12, 1910,	94 degrees
July 12, 1909,	83 degrees
July Noon Maximum, 14 years,	101
July Noon Minimum, 14 years.	60

"Looking With Favor on His Suit."

BRIEFS

Superintendent of Schools Albert L. Barbour and family of Russell park are at Georgetown, Maine.

The second weekly whist will take place at the Quincy Yacht club Thursday evening.

A number of the Quincy Yacht club members will enter their boats in the interclub race of the Columbia Yacht club on Saturday.

Two car loads of children from the Congregational church at Holbrook passed through Quincy this morning ontheir way to Nantasket beach.

Ralph Poulin of Weymouth, chauffeur for Johnson Bros., is enjoying a two weeks' vacation with his sisterf at Skowhegan, Maine.

The Dorcas society of the Swedish Lutheran church held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Adolf Nelson, 5 Nelson street, East Braintree, on Tuesday evening.

The fourth weekly hop was held at the Quincy Yacht club Tuesday evening and the usual large number attended. Music was furnished by Monk's orchestra.

Miss Ada Williams of 14 Barry street has accepted a position as teacher in the seventh grade at Upton, Mass. Miss Williams graduated with honors from the Quincy High in the class of 1909 and from Bridgewater Normal in June. Her many friends wish for her a most successful career.

MARRIAGES

WILKENDORF — SHARROTT — In Quincy July 8, by Rev. Wesley Wiggin, Mr. Hugo E. T. Wilkendorf of the Argentine Naval Commission and Miss Adeline J. Sharrott of Quincy.

DEATHS

MITCHELL—In Quincy, July 11, Arthur L. Mitchell in his 60th year. Funeral services at late home 35 Newbury avenue, Thursday, July 13, at 2.30 P. M. Relatives and friends invited. 12-1t

SAMARAH—IN Quincy, July 10, Nicholas, son of Alexander and Annie Samarah aged 6 years, 3 months.

ROGERS—In Quincy City Hospital, July 10, Joseph Rogers of 494 South street.

ROBBINS—In Quincy, July 11, Edgar L. Robbins of Saugus in his 28th year.

Established 1870 Telephone
JOHN HALL
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
Carriage and Ambulance Service
1485 Hancock Street, Quincy Mass.

LIVE SPORTING EVENTS

ON THE DIAMOND

American League

At Chicago:	R	H	E
Chicago	4	5	0
Boston	0	3	3

Batteries—White and Sullivan; Wood and Carrigan.

Second Game:	R	H	E
Boston	6	9	2
Chicago	4	6	1

Batteries—Pape and Williams; Baker and Payne.

At Cleveland:	R	H	E
Cleveland	2	9	2
Washington	1	5	1

Batteries—Falkenberg and Fisher; Hughes, Walker and Henry.

At St. Louis:	R	H	E
New York	8	9	1
St. Louis	3	9	2

Batteries—Warhop and Blair; Powell, Lake and Clarke.

At Detroit:	R	H	E
Detroit	14	15	1
Philadelphia	8	9	1

Batteries—Summers, Covington, Lafitte and Stanage; Plank, Lapp and Coombs.

National League

At Brooklyn:	R	H	E
Chicago	6	9	1
Brooklyn	2	8	1

Batteries—Brown and Archer; Barger and Erwin.

At Philadelphia:	R	H	E
Philadelphia	12	17	3
Cincinnati	6	11	2

Batteries—Chalmers and Dooin; Smith, Juul and McLean.

At New York:	R	H	E
Pittsburg	13	18	1
New York	4	9	3

Batteries—Camnitz, Ferry and Gibson; Wiltse, Ames, Crandall, Myers and Wilson.

New England League

At Worcester:	R	H	E
Lynn	14	15	1
Worcester	12	15	0

Batteries—Case, Harrington, Monahan and Daum; McInerny, McCune and Wilson.

At New Bedford:	R	H	E
New Bedford	3	9	2
Lowell	1	5	1

Batteries—Bushelman and Rufiange; Maybohm and Lavigne.

At Brockton:	R	H	E
Lawrence	4	6	2
Brockton	3	10	0

Batteries—Duffy and Breymaier; Foley, Tevlin and Wadleigh.

SPORTING NOTES.

Makaria goes to Hyannis next Saturday to play the strong team of that town. The Pilgrims, a team composed of former college players, mostly Harvard stars, defeated the Hyannis team last Saturday in a close and exciting contest. The Makaria are playing great baseball these days and should make the home team hustle next Saturday. This Hyannis team is supported by the summer colony and several of its members are well known college players.

It is rumored that a strong All Quincy baseball team will begin operations a week from this coming Saturday on the Old Colony league grounds. Mike Shea's team has disbanded and an attempt will be made to get together a team composed of the best players in Quincy so that the local fans will find sufficient interests in the games to support the team.

The finals in the open doubles tournament at the Quincy Tennis club to be played Saturday afternoon should bring out some of the best tennis playing seen in Quincy this year. Rockwell and Carleton will meet Conant and Tunis in this final match. Handsome individual cups will be given the winners. The match between the winners of the tournament and Barker and Hillman, the present holders of the Challenge cups will be played on Saturday, July 22.

The rules governing the possession of these challenge cups are as follows: (1) The team first winning the challenge cups three times shall be their legal owners. (2) The team winning the Quincy Tennis club annual open doubles tournament shall have the privilege of challenging the holders of the cups, the match to be played on the club courts on a Saturday afternoon not later than three weeks after the completion of the Tournament. (3) The holders of the cups shall not be allowed to enter the annual open doubles tournament of the club. (4) The names of all holders shall be engraved on the cups at the expense of the club.

These challenge cups as well as the individual cups for the tournament winners are on exhibition in the club house.

South Quincy A. A. plays the Boston Independents at Ward Three playgrounds Saturday afternoon. This team has appeared in Quincy several times before and has left behind it a good reputation.

The Atlantics meet the Roxbury A. A. at Ward Six playground on Saturday. Grethe and Falvey will be the battery for the home team.

The return game between the Manets and South Quincy A. A. on July 29 should attract a large crowd. The former will endeavor to "get back" at their opponents for that defeat of last Saturday and with cleaner fielding should stand a good show of winning.

There will be a good attraction at the Ward Four playgrounds on Saturday when the hard hitting Colonials line up against the strong Belamont Independants of Malden.

Theodore Galvin one of Quincy's well known ball tossers the star left fielder for South Quincys, has received an offer from the manager of a ball team at Digby, N. S., to play on that team for the balance of the season. He will accept and will go to Digby immeditely.

The Fore River Apprentices play the Braintree Hillsides at Merrymount park on Saturday afternoon. The visiting team is made up of Thayer academy players who get together in the summer with practically the same team that represented the school in the spring.

The Boston Press club golf tournament will open at the links of the Wollaston Golf club a week from Monday.

BRIEFS

The weather this noon looked very much as if there would be a shower this afternoon. Here's hoping that the shower comes.

Some of the stores in City Square have signs displayed announcing that they will be closed Wednesday afternoons during the month of July and August.

The street railway has commenced the erection of a freight terminal for its trolley express business near the Neponset car barn. The new freight terminal will be located on the southerly side of the present car barn and will extend over the water. Work on the freight house on Washington street, is also progressing rapidly and the concreters are putting up the walls. It is understood, that under the right granted by the railroad commissioners, the trolley express must be in actual operation before January 1, 1912. It is too bad that it is not in operation now as it would relieve the horses considerable during the hot spell.

NEW FIREARMS LAW.

The new law enacted by the present legislature relative to the carrying of firearms puts a heavier penalty upon persons convicted of carrying firearms. Under the old law the usual fine was $25 for carrying a loaded revolver. Under the new law the word loaded is stricken out so that the law as it now reads makes the fine $50 for carrying a pistol without authority, or a dagger, stiletto, dirk knife, sling shot or metalic knuckles. That is the fine shall not be less than $10 nor more than $100 or by imprisonment for not less than one month nor more than one year. The law as now constituted also provides that any person arrested for a crime on a warrant is found to have a revolver, stiletto or other similar weapon on his person without a permit for the same shall be punished by imprisonment for not less than three months nor more than three years.

This amendment to the old law is an important one for the law can not deal to severely with a person who in committing a crime has a dangerous weapon on his person for it is a well known fact that such a person when cornered, will not hesitate to use the weapon to avoid arrest, Quincy has had too many shooting and stabbing cases in the past and the law will be a great assistance to the police in preserving order.

SHOULD BE SEVERLY PUNISHED

The alarm from Box 39 shortly after 1.30 this noon was a false alarm and was probably pulled by some boys going down swimming. Anyone who would ring a false alarm of fire on such a hot day should be severely dealt with and every effort should be made to apprehend the party.'

A Bit of a Brag.

Lawyer—Are you acquainted with any of the men on the jury? Witness—Yes, sir; more than half of them. Lawyer—Are you willing to swear that you know more than half of them? Witness—Say, if it comes to that, I'm willing to swear that I know more than all of them put together.—Milwaukee Journal.

There is no pressing need says the Boston Record for the appointment of new judges just now, and if appointed they could be of little service until the weather comes a little cooler, and the present indications are that none will be appointed until fall. Hot weather candidates may be entirely ignored when the appointments come to be made. The governor might easily disappoint some more democratic politicians by selecting for the new judgeships four first-class lawyers, never identified with any party machine.

UMPIRES AND GRIT

Courageous Acts of the Men In the Iron Masks.

A FINE DISPLAY OF NERVE.

When Billy Evans Braved the Onslaught of a Chicago Mob and Won Out—A Notable Decision by O'Day. An Umpire Who Saved Baseball.

"Umpires are brave men—at least the great majority of them. One of the bravest things I ever saw was the act of Billy Evans on the old White Sox grounds in Chicago," writes Hugh Fullerton in the American Magazine. "On that park there was a tier of seats known as the 'stockyards,' in which gathered one of the most dangerous crowds (for umpires) in the country. They were regulars who occupied the same seats almost every day and who fought for them. The seats, of course, were not reserved, but hundreds claimed a title to certain places. They paid their quarters, and if any one was in the place and refused to move he was tossed out and thrown over the heads of the crowd to the bottom. That crowd started after Evans, who had given a close decision at third base against Chicago. Evans walked over on to foul ground back of first base, and a shower of bottles fell around him. It looked as if a hundred men were throwing bottles at the umpire. One bottle touched his cap, several bounded and struck him, one hit him on the arm. During this bombardment Evans did not turn his head. He stood watching the batter. For at least three minutes the bottles whistled around his head. The people in the grand stand shouted for him to run, fearing he would be killed. The players begged him to move into the diamond out of range. He stood still with back to his foes until the batter made a base hit, then trotted down near second base to watch for a play there. As the opposing team took the field a few moments later Evans walked to the same position back of first base, and the crowd that had tried to kill him stood up and cheered him. They recognized a brave man. One fellow threw a bottle, and the crowd pitched him down the steep steps, passing him along until he hit the fence.

"The nerviest decision and one of the most important ever made was that of Umpire O'Day in the world's championship game between Chicago and Detroit on Oct. 8, 1907, the first game of the series which finally ended in a tie in twelve innings. In the eleventh inning Chicago actually scored the winning run only to lose it through the decision of O'Day, a Chicago man and a National leaguer. Slagle was on third base and started home with the ball back of third in left field. The ball was thrown home and arrived after Slagle had crossed the plate and was nearly to the bench. Steinfeldt, who had been batting, was excited, and when the ball was thrown to the plate, wild and wide, he jumped and let it hit his shoulder and prevented Schmidt from catching it. O'Day, in spite of the fact that Slagle had crossed the plate and that there wasn't a chance to put him out, called him out because of Steinfeldt's interference.

"There was a close decision at Cleveland one day when Tim Hurst, widely known as the 'scrappy ump,' was officiating. Burkett was trying to score from second on a hit. The catcher failed to touch his foot, but touched his knee, and Cleveland claimed the foot reached the rubber before the ball reached the knee.' Hurst called him out, and in the wrangle that followed expelled Pat Tebeau, O'Connor and Burkett from the game. Then he put them off the grounds. They left the playing inclosure, but all three had their heads over a gate shouting at Hurst and urging the other players to avenge them. Tebeau shouted to good old Deacon Maguire, who was catching, 'Get after him, Jim!' Hurst heard, but was not in position to reply. Maguire heard and waited until he thought Hurst miscalled a strike. Then he rushed at the umpire at top speed. Hurst stood still. When Maguire came near enough Hurst kicked him on the shins and poked his mask into his face. Maguire fell back, astonished. 'If you don't like it, Jim,' said Hurst softly, 'give it to Pat. I merely punched you vicariously.'

"They are 'square men,' these umpires, forced to be a bit gruff and to fight, but their devotion to their work and their honest effort to discharge their duties mark them as men of high integrity. And they are 'game.' I saw Bob Emslie once when a foul ball struck him over the heart. The pain was excruciating. His face grew white, and he set his teeth together and resumed work. Three balls were pitched after he was hit. He called them all clearly. Then he collapsed, falling as if dead, and was carried off the field unconscious.

"One night I saw politicians, wealthy men, club owners, argue for hours with an umpire. All they wanted him to say was 'I didn't see it.' Upon those words hung the fate of a championship, the future of a major league and the honesty of baseball. The umpire replied, 'But, —— it, I did see it!' And he saved baseball."

Gentle Hint.

"You want to go back to your husband, do you? How did you tell him?"

"I bought myself a new hat and sent him the bill."—Fliegende Blatter.

When the heart is won the understanding is easily convinced. — Simmons.

TREE TRUNK CANNON.

Wonderful Wooden Hide Wound Guns of the Antilles.

The mention of wooden guns suggests a company of boy soldiers commanded by a captain who wears a tin sword. The revolutionary soldiers of Cuba, Haiti and the Dominican Republic, however, have from time to time made cannon from trees and applied them to practical purposes. In the Antilles there grows a peculiar tree with a winding grain, so tenacious of fiber that to split it by ordinary means is almost an impossibility.

When wanted for artillery purposes the tree is felled, a section some five feet in length and one foot in diameter is selected and cut, the bark is removed, and uneven places on the surface are dressed down.

The embryo cannon is then placed on rude trusses and a bore burned in it, a process that serves further still to harden the wood. While the bore is being burned green ox hides are cut into long strips by beginning in the center and working toward the outer edge as one would peel an apple.

When all is in readiness one end of this rawhide band, which is about three inches in width, is spiked to the wooden cannon near the breech. A lever or bar is attached to the butt. Two or three negroes grasp the arms of the bar and slowly turn the hollowed log on its supports. The band of green hide is kept under a strain, and in this way the core of the cannon is wound with one of the toughest materials, wire excepted, in the world.

The first layer of hide is tightly wound to the muzzle of the growing gun and back toward the breech again until a number of layers have thus been wound on and the promising piece of artillery has grown several inches in diameter.

It is then placed in a draft of dry, hot air and allowed to harden. When the hardening and curing process is complete the persevering inhabitants have a really serviceable weapon.

One of these homemade wood and rawhide cannon used during the last Cuban insurrection is said to have withstood 104 charges of powder before becoming useless. The projectiles for it were made of scrap iron, broken stone and fire hardened clay balls.—St. Louis Republic.

MINED THE ROAD.

The Volunteers Wiped Out the Foe, but It Was a Sad Story.

"I can tell you the saddest thing that happened during the whole war," said an old negro to a group of listeners. The story was this. One night it was reported that the town was in peril of attack from the enemy, and the fighting forces were quickly mustered. One of the volunteers conceived the idea of mining the road and touching the fuse in time to annihilate the foe. There was plenty of powder, and the scheme was adopted. The rest of the defenders stood some on one side of the road, some on the other, ready to discharge their rifles into what might be left of the assailants.

The day passed without incident, but as the night wore on the strain of the situation began to tell on the nerves of the defenders. Presently, however, there was the sound of hoofs on the highway, approaching rapidly. Such was the state of mind of the defenders that the sounds appeared to indicate the coming of a mighty cavalry force. It was a terrifying moment. A vivid flash lighting up the scene as the first horseman reached the spot told that the mine had been exploded and it had done its work. There was not a vestige of an army to be seen when the smoke cleared away excepting the scattered fragments of a big black mule.

The party laughed as the old man concluded his tale. "That's a good enough story," said one of them, "but what was there so sad about it?"

"It was my mule, sah!" was the old negro's pathetic reply.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents. Three consecutive insertions 50 cents, 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.

No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—1909 Overland car, red, thoroughly overhauled, tires nearly new, full equipment including gas tank, wind shield, extra tire, tire case, clock, speedometer, magneto. Carries 4 or 5 passengers can also be used as runabout with single top. Price $550. S. C. Hardwick, 159 Elm street, Quincy. July 12-6t

FOR SALE—$200 Reo runabout in fine order. Has top and folding rear seat, full equipment, extra tire, tubes etc. Will demonstrate. Call or address T. F. Merrill 556 Washington street, Quincy Point. July 8-3t 8, 10, 12

FOR SALE or TO LET—Before you buy or rent, consult me. Houses for sale or to rent in the finest residential section in Quincy. All improvements. Close to school, churches, stores and depot. C. A. ERICSON, Builder 117 Glendale Road. Tel. Quincy 586 M. W and Sat. May 22-tf

FOR SALE—A twelve passenger sea going power boat. A 1 condition, 5 horse power engine. Apply to janitor Quincy Yacht club house, Houghs Neck July 6-6t

WANTED

WANTED — Furnished house or apartment, by small family. A 1 references. Address H. Ledger Office. July 12-1t

MEN and WOMEN, sell guaranteed hose. 70 per cent profit. Make $10 daily. Full or part time. Beginners investigate. Wear Proof, 3038 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, Pa. July 8-9w W. and S.

WANTED—Places to do washing and ironing by the day. Address Mary Ladhe, 84 West street, Quincy. July 11-3t

WANTED—Boy to tend store. Apply at 750 Washington street. July8-6t

WANTED—A girl for general house work. Apply to Mrs. C. F. Pettengill, 53 Revere road. July 5-tf

WANTED—Experienced girl for general housework. References required. Apply 118 Merrymount road. June 26 tf

TO LET

TO LET—Flat of 5 rooms and bath. Furnace, near Norfolk Downs Depot. Rent $16. H. O. Cassidy, 9 Edwin street, Atlantic. July 7-6t P8-1w

TO LET—A five room flat on second floor. All improvements. Apply 146 Glendale road. Tel. 621-4 Quincy. July 7-6t

TO LET—Flat of five rooms, all modern improvements, set range, gas, and electric lights 69 Goddard street. July 6-6t

TO LET—Nicely furnished rooms, with excellent table board. Central location. Address P. O. box 346, Quincy. June 29-tf

TO LET—On Spear street, tenement of 4 rooms and bath. All modern improvements. Apply to C. A. Ericson, 117 Glendale road. Tel 586 M. June 27-tf

TO LET—Tenement with 9 rooms and bath at Quincy Point, also rooms to let and table board at 55 Washington street, Quincy, Mrs. Margaret S. MacDonnell. June 23-1mo.

TO LET—House 12 rooms, all improvements. Ideal location, 5 minutes to center. Apply to James F. Burke, Real Estate Agent, Room 4 Savings Bank Building. June 9-tf

FOR RENT—Quincy, Centre, apposite Adams Academy, house of 8 rooms and bath, also garage, 3 minutes to R. R. Station. Dr. E. S. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263L, Weymouth. May 10-tf

FOR RENT

On Spear street, very desirable house of 8 rooms, bath and laundry. All modern improvements, range, gas, electric lights shades and screens. Large piazzas and lawn. To private family only. Apply at 41 Spear street or of Miss Prescott at Ledger Office, Quincy. June 2-tf L. P. O

TO LET

Half House No. 44 Bigelow street, 7 rooms and bath. Shades, screens, electric lights, set tubs, range, etc. Rent $25. per month. Apply to Miss Prescott, Ledger Office. Quincy. July 3-tf

TO LET

Tenement—22 B Granite Street. $10.00 per month.

Greenleaf Hall — Greenleaf Block Large Furnished Hall with various anterooms—to let by the evening or permanently.

City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 20 feet high. Splendid light, low rent

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)
Music Hall Block, Quincy.

EMENTS

he time 25 cents.
ertions 75 cents.
d by mail or at the

NTED

urnished house or all family. A 1 ref-
H. Ledger Office.
July 12-1t

EN, sell guaranteed
t profit. Make $10 rt time. Beginners
r Proof, 3038 Chestlphia, Pa.
uly 8-9w W. and S.

es to do washing
the day. Address
est street, Quincy.
July 11-3t

to tend store. Apgton street.
July8-6t

rl for general house
Mrs. C. F. Pettengill,
July 5-tf

rienced girl for
. References re-
Merrymount road.
June 26 tf

LET

5 rooms and bath.
rfolk Downs Depot.
Cassidy, 9 Edwin
July 7-6t PS-1w

room flat on sec-provements. Apply
Tel. 621-4 Quincy.
July 7-6t

f five rooms, all
nts, set range, gas,
69 Goddard street.
July 6-6t

furnished rooms, le board. Central
P. O. box 346,
June 29-tf

ar street, tenement
n. All modern im-
to C. A. Ericson,
Tel 586 M.
June 27-tf

nt with 9 rooms
Point, also rooms
rd at 55 Washing-
Mrs. Margaret S.
June 23-1mo.

12 rooms, all im-location, 5 minutes
o James F. Burke,
Room 4 Savings
June 9-tf

ncy, Centre, appo-
y, house of 8 rooms
ge, 3 minutes to R.
S. Taylor, 527 Main
mouth. Tel. 263L,
May 10-tf

RENT

very desirable
bath and laundry.
ments, range, gas,
les and screens.
lawn. To private dly at 41 Spear
Prescott at Ledger

ne 2-tf L. P. O

LET

4 Bigelow street,
Shades, screens,
tubs, range, etc.
h. Apply to Miss fice. Quincy.
July 3-tf

LET

anite Street. $10.00

Greenleaf Block
with various ante-evening or perma-

Office or Shop—flights up, 28x43 feet
endid light, low rent

Estate Trust,
Mr. Kribs.)
ock, Quincy.

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 26 No. 159 QUINCY, MASS., THURSDAY EVENING JULY 13, 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

VILLAGE OF WATERBORO WIPED OUT BY FLAMES

Business Centre of Town Is Completely Gone Hundred Persons Homeless

Great Damage By Fires At Other Places

Sanford, Me., July 13.—One hundred people are homeless and thirty-six buildings, including the Baptist church, two stores, the only ones in town, Enterprise hotel, two blacksmith shops, Odd Fellows' home, postoffice, and the railroad station of the Boston and Maine railroad, are in ruins as the result of a fire which swept through the heart of the village of South Waterboro in the town of Waterboro, yesterday afternoon. The fire started at 2 o'clock and burned for three hours.

It started on the extreme westerly side of the village in the stable of Clyde F. McKenney, and raced through a strip 200 yards wide and a half mile long, sweeping everything in its path, and has gone off into thousands of acres of woodland to the east of the village with great rapidity.

The loss is estimated at $250,000.

The main street of the village is lined with household goods and clothing of every description, as many families moved out of their homes in fear that the fire would spread either way on the main street and utterly destroy the entire hamlet.

The village is entirely without fire fighting apparatus and help was summoned from Sanford, Biddeford and Portland. A special train was sent from Portland, as was one from Rochester, N. H., with sixty men. Telephone and telegraph service was crippled for hours.

Hurriedly formed bucket brigades made little impression on the flames. An hour after the fire started twenty buildings were in ruins and people were fleeing for their lives on every side. Few had time to save any of their personal effects.

Goodwin's Mills, another village a few miles from South Waterboro, is in the direct line of the flames and residents are preparing to leave their homes and flee to places of safety. Several farm building along the line of the fire have been destroyed and others are doomed.

York Beach In Danger

Portsmouth, N. H., July 13.—The summer colony of York Beach, Me., is surrounded by fire on all sides and there is much fear for that seacoast resort. At one time three fires were raging.

The blaze is fast eating its way toward the Passaconway Inn and the people in their summer homes are packing up and getting out what they possibly can. The fire department at

(Continued on Page Four.)

BURIED TODAY.

The body of Edgar L. Robbins, City Editor of the Boston Traveller, who was drowned at Adams Shore Tuesday while bathing will be taken to Cliftondale today for burial.

(ADVERTISE.)

ROOSTER COAL BRIQUETS

THE NEW ANTHRACITE COAL

ROOSTER BRIQUETS are made from the choicest small Scranton Anthracite coal, mined in Pennsylvania, called TWENTIETH CENTURY CHESTNUT size.

Just consider for a moment what we offer here in this 20th CENTURY CHESTNUT.

First, 200 pounds of clean, pure, hard coal without a rock or a piece of slate.

Second, fuel that cannot form into a clinker, by any known method of firing, consequently the linings and grates last indefinitely.

Third, they are made in nut size, being equally convenient for furnace heaters, open grates, as well as stoves; therefore, only one storage bin is necessary.

Fourth, and very IMPORTANT, the quality of this fuel is the SAME EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR, not a good ton today, and nothing like it the next time, in other words, when you once learn how to regulate your drafts you have nothing more to learn about burning BRIQUETS.

Fifth, no more sifting ashes these Briquets burn out clean. They require less wood to kindle.

Be sure to ask for "ROOSTERS" and get the Briquet made from pure Scranton Coal, from the largest Briquet plant in the country. They are better than coal, will last as long and cost less.

J. F. SHEPPARD & SONS, AGENTS

CLOSE CALL FOR AUTO CHEMICAL

James Dillon chauffeur of the auto chemical got a bad scare this morning and incidentally came near having a bad accident while responding to the alarm from Box 46. He started for the box via, Water street which took him across the crossing at the Quincy Adams station. As he approached the gate crossing, he noticed that the gates were down for an approaching inward freight train. On his approach however the gate tender sent a man up the track to flag the train at the same time raising the gates so that the apparatus might pass. The engineer of the freight paid no attention to the flagman, however, but kept on coming and at the same time increasing his speed.

Quite a few people stood about the crossing and for a minute it looked as if a bad accident was about to happen, as Driver Dillon had started up his car when the gates were raised. Some of the men ran toward the on coming auto and waved it back and the gate tender hastily dropped the gates.

Realizing that prompt action only would prevent an accident Driver Dillon jammed down the emergency brake and brought his machine to a stop close to the then lowered gates. It was nevertheless a narrow escape and almost unnerved Driver Dillon.

MISS WETHERELL ENTERTAINS.

A luncheon party was given at the Quincy Yacht club house on Wednesday by Miss Esther Wetherell of 141 Whitwell street. A dainty lunch was served at noon and the afternoon was spent in the enjoyment of music and varied amusements. Among those present were college friends of the hostess and friends from different parts of this city.

WORK ON NEW SCHOOL BUILDING.

The foundations for the new school buildings at Wollaston and Montclair are all in and work has been commenced on the brick walls. The weather has been such for the past ten days, however, that it has been impossible for the brick layers to work. Although this has caused some delay, both contractors expect to complete the buildings on time.

LARCENY OF BICYCLE.

John N. Delory and Michael J. O'Brien, two Weymouth young men were arranged in court this morning for the larceny of a bicycle at the Fore River yards. O'Brien who is employed at the Fore River yards, is alleged to have taken the bicycle and taken it to a repair shop in East Braintree. The larceny was reported to the police and Lieut. McKay traced his disappearance to the two young men Delory claimed he knew nothing about it, but that O'Brien told him he had purchased the wheel in Newcomb Square and asked him to take it to the repair shop.

The young men were arrested by Chief Fitzgerald at Weymouth Wednesday night and turned over to Lieut. McKay. The court found both guilty and imposed a fine of $25 each. Delory took an appeal.

WIDENING SCHOOL STREET.

Work has been commenced by Commissioner Bainbridge widening School street at the corner of Franklin street. The widening takes off a small corner and makes a much better turn as it was rather narrow at this spot. Work will also be commenced immediately widening Garfield street.

TODAY'S COURT.

John N. Delory and Michael J. O'Brien were fined $25 each for the larceny of a bicycle at Quincy.

Frank H. Browneiggal was sentenced to three months in the House of correction for drunkenness at Quincy. Setnence suspended until Nov. 1.

The continued case of Michael O. Copola for fellonious assault at Braintree was heard. The court found probable cause to believe him guilty and held him in $500 for the grand jury.

—Cleveland is said to have a surplus of $9,000,000 lying idle. Hasn't it got any city council?—Reporter Journal.

MIDSUMMER WEDDING

Miss Madge Lillian Hatfield Bride of Chester F. Barlow

POPULAR IN WOLLASTON

At the Wollaston Baptist church on Wednesday evening there were united in marriage two well known young people, Miss Madge Lillian Hatfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Hatfield of 106 North Central avenue, Wollaston and Chester Franklin Barlow son of Mr. and Mrs. Elisha Barlow of 135 Norfolk street.

A pretty feature was the ushering of the guests by young women instead of men—a charming group gowned in white. They were Ethel Hatfield sister of the bride, Gertrude Barlow, sister of the groom, Mildred and Elizabeth Sayward of Wollaston, Loraine Anderson of Nashua, N. H. and Madeline Nesbitt of Wollaston. Mrs. Chandler W. Smith presided at the organ.

To the strains of the wedding march the bridal party entered the church the bride and her father being preceded by her sister Miss Olive R. Hatfield, as maid of honor, and the ushers. At the altar they were met by the groom and his best man J. James Floyd of New London, Connecticut, and the officiating minister Rev. Joseph Walther, pastor of the church who impressively performed the ceremony.

The bride's gown was of white satin and she carried a shower bouquet of white sweet peas. The maid of honor was in pale blue silk carrying a bouquet of pink sweet peas. She wore a pearl necklace a gift from the bride. The best man received a handsome scarf pin from the groom.

Following the church ceremony at eight there was a reception from half past eight until ten o'clock at the home of the bride, whose father and mother and the groom's mother assisted them in receiving. A wedding supper was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Barlow started on their wedding trip to New Hampshire amid showers of confetti and good wishes. On their return they are to reside at 121 Beale street, Wollaston, receiving their friends after September first.

CURRIER—HUNT.

A quiet home wedding was solemnized at 18 Bigelow street Wednesday evening, when Miss Mary L. Hunt, daughter of Mrs. Mary E. Hunt, became the bride of Mr. Ralph P. Currier master of the Holbrook High school and a former teacher at the Quincy High school. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock in the presence of the immediate family friends and was followed by a reception from 8 to 10 o'clock. The officiating clergyman being Rev. Henry C. Alvord of the Old South Congregational church South Weymouth.

Mrs. George W. Abele, a sister of the bride was the matron of honor and George W. Abele the best man. Miss Gladys and Miss Margaret Hunt, neices of the bride were ribbon bearers.

Mrs. Jennie Hocking Hunt presided at piano and played the Lohengren march as the bridal party entered and Mendelshoms march at the conclusion of the ceremony.

The bride looked charming in a white satin gown with lace trimmings, her bridal veil being caught up with lilies of the valley. She also carried a bouquet of the same flowers.

The matron of honor wore her wedding gown of white satin and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The two little ribbon girls were gowned in pink and blue.

The house was prettily decorated with palms and cut flowers making a charming setting for the ceremony.

At the reception which followed immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Currier were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Mary E. Hunt, mother of the bride and Mrs. Emma B. Currier mother of the groom. The reception was largely attended and Mr. and Mrs. Currier received many handsome and costly gifts.

At 10 o'clock they left in an automobile, in a shower of confetti and old shoes for a wedding trip, their destination being kept a secret. They will make their future home in Holbrook where they will be at home after Sept. 1.

HOUGHS NECK

The Men Associates hold a whist party in Associate hall Friday evening.

Mrs. Fred Brown and daughters Myrtle and Helen of Dorchester are guests at the Oregon house.

Arthur Holmes, Fred Rogers, Geo. Lewis and Arthur Lewis of Brockton will be week end guests of friends here.

George Cook and F. Waite of Medford are to spend their vacations here with friends

Wednesday night was amateur night at The Palms. Those to receive honors were Fredie Harris 1st, Roscoe Collins 2d., Billy Mack 3d and others who participated were Mabel Perry, Scott Bros., Archie Shanon and Walter Williams.

Herbert Leonard who has been spending the past few days with relatives here has returned to his home in Bridgewater.

The regular Thursday evening service will be held at the Union church this evening.

Mrs. George Cushing entertained friends from Dorchester this week.

Arthur Deane and Charles Wilcox of Taunton have been visiting friends here.

Everett Cook of Boston is spending July and August with Alfred Boll of Rock Island.

Mrs. Harry Kennedy and daughter Mildred of Framingham will spend the week end here.

Chester Leonard of Brockton has returned home after a brief stop at the Oregon house.

BILL BY SENATOR LODGE.

Senator Lodge today introduced a bill for the construction of the Weymouth back river bridge along the lines of the measure that passed Congress last session, but in some mysterious fashion failed to reach the President in time for signature It provides for an appropriation of $50,000 by the federal government and the payment of a similar sum by the local authorities.

FUND FOR C. E. BUILDING.

The twenty-fifth international Christian Endeavor convention, after a most successful week, came to an end at Atlantic City, N. J., Wednesday evening. The last work done by the convention was pledging the balance of the $25,000 needed to complete the fund for building the international headquarters at Boston in honor of President Clark.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

BREEZE WAS REFRESHING

Welcome Change In Weather Conditions Last Night

HEAT WAVE OVER

It was a very welcome change in the weather conditions that took place Wednesday evening. A cool refreshing breeze prevailed all of the evening, but it was not until late in the night that the decided change came. The sun set Wednesday evening looked as if the weather today would again be hot for the sun was like a great ball of fire. Knowing ones shook their heads and said that although the forecast was for cooler weather, the sun did not have that appearance, and they were fearful that another hot day was to come. As stated above, however, the change came during the night and this morning found the weather much milder. A cool breeze prevailed and conditions during the early morning hours were much improved. It is a very welcome relief, for if conditions such as have been for the past ten days had continued much longer, business would have been suspended. As it was practically no business was being done in the local stores, and all building operations had ceased. It was impossible for men working outside in the sun to continue and anyone that did so took his life in his hands.

According to the weather man, seasonable weather may be expected from now on, for a time at least. This will give the long suffering public an opportunity to recover from the baking it has had.

At 8 o'clock this morning the temperature was 80 degrees, however, which was an indication that the day would be a hot one. A cool breeze was prevailing, however, and the day gave promise of being much more comfortable than Wednesday.

HOW ABOUT THE WATER FRONT.

The state legislature expects to wind up its business this week but as yet nothing has been heard of the bill of the City of Quincy relative to the improvement of its water front and the establishment of public docks. There is time enough however if the legislature gets a move on.

Representative Thomas when seen this morning said that the bill was going through all right. He said that the bill had already gone through the house and was now before the senate and the chances were that it would be enacted today.

BALL PLAYER INJURED.

Raymond Denbroeder of South Braintree, a member of the Quincy Y. M. C. A. was injured yesterday while at work in the New Haven shop at South Braintree. His assistant was swinging a sledge from which a sliver of steel flew piercing Denbroeder's leg to the bone. He was sent by Dr. Frank W. Brett to the Massachusetts General hospital where the piece of steel was removed. The wound will heal all right.

Denbroeder was a member of the Braintree White Sox being an especially good catcher. He was to have played on the Quincy Y M. C. A. first team this summer had that organization started its team.

—Chicago broke the record for fire alarms on the Fourth of July, 164 having been turned in. Nearly all of the fires were due to fireworks and the total loss was not over $5000.

QUINCY

FRI., JULY 14

Water Street Grounds, Quincy

Reserved Seats on sale at Murphy's Drug Store

July 1-3t--1-8-13--10-8-1w

ALL SORTS

Of Vacation Footwear

Shoes that are cool and comfortable for hot days. White Shoes and Pumps in canvas and suede.

Bathing Shoes and Walking Shoes. Shoes for Tennis, Golf, Yachting, Camping, Mountain Climbing.

For the Children—Play Shoes with flexible Soles. Barefoot Sandals and those new Brown Tennis or "Sneakers" with white rubber soles.

Everything for the Man or Boy that is right and comfortable.

GEORGE W. JONES

1 Granite St., "Just Around the Corner" Quincy

July 13-3t

DON'T FAIL TO READ THE GREAT SERIAL "THE DANGER TRAIL" NOW RUNNING IN THE LEDGER

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1889
THE HOME NEWSPAPER
Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.
BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
219 East 23d Street,
New York City
Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter.
Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50
Telephone, Quincy 425
Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

Everybody goes trecking, but father, he'd rather stay at home.

Will some one give directions for making the fly stand still while it is being swatted?

A review of last month will show that there has been no curtailment in the June Bride industry.

Catching a Chicago man who was falling twenty stories is a feat to make baseball experts envious.

Wisconsin has just had a heavy frost. It was careless of Senator La-Follette to let that happen.

Was that raid on the Evanston sun parlor inspired by some coal man who wouldn't tolerate a rival??

Perhaps they hope to put enough detectives on the job to prove that Lorimer is the only honest man in the Senate.

While bemoaning his fate, it being so hard to get out of prison, Iceman Morse should remember what a hard time the government had putting him in.

Havemyer's son says that his father formed the first sugar trust from philanthropic motives. On the principal that philanthropy, like charity, begins at home it seems.

It has been discovered that frogs and toads are the greatest fly eaters in the world. And in addition to their daily work the frogs do not object to giving nightly concerts.

FOR A PARCELS POST.

It is common knowledge that while you cannot in one package, mail to exceed four pounds of merchandise from post office to post office within the United States, and must pay as postage at the rate of 16 cents a pound, you may send up to 11 pounds to 29 foreign countries at the rate of only 12 cents a pound. President Taft therefore, does well to announce that he intends pretty soon to tell Congress what he thinks of this gross discrimination against home institutions and to ask it to do something worth while in the direction of establishing a parcels post. Heretofore, the Standpatters into whose meshes he unhappily fell and was contented during the first half of his curious Administration have tried to protect the express monopoly (which is really merely an illegitimate child of privilege in railroading) by recommending homeopathic doses of parcels post and to district attention, by crying lustily for penny letter postage. We trust that our President has now progressed to a point where he will deliver to the mammon of unrighteousness as typified in the express holdup a smashing blow straight between the eyes.—Boston Common.

SUMMER FIELD MEETING.

The State Board of Agriculture will hold its summer field meeting at Concord, on Tuesday, July 25. Leaving the Colonial Inn at 9 o'clock A. M. the board, and others attending the meeting, will view the points of historic interest in the town, arriving at the asparagus experiment station at 10.30. Here a careful examination of the experiments in progress will be made, and they will be thoroughly explained by those in charge. This will form the agricultural feature of the forenoon and will be well worth attendance at the meeting.

At 1.30 P. M. Dr. H. J. Wheeler, Director of the Rhode Island Agricultural Experiment Station, at Kingston, R. I., will lecture on "Alfalfa Growing," at the Town Hall. This crop is one that is attracting a great deal of attention at present. If it can be profitably grown in New England it will do much to settle our dairy problems. Dr. Wheeler has given the subject careful attention and is prepared to present some interesting conclusions.

The public is cordially invited to attend the exercises of the day. These meetings form a yearly feature of the work of the Board and are second only in interest and profit to the public winter meeting, for lectures and discussions, held yearly the first week in December.

Concord is situated on the Fitchburg Division of the Boston and Maine Railroad. Trains leave Boston at 7.41 and 8.54 A. M., reaching Concord at 8.21 and 9.47 A. M. respectively.

RECORD SKIN GRAFTING

Woman's Health Restored by Two Hundred Pieces of Cuticle

London, July 13.—What is perhaps the biggest skin grafting case on record has resulted in the restoration to health of the wife of a farmer of the name of Hawkey, after many years of suffering from burns.

Twenty relatives vied with one another in contributing a portion of their skins. Two hundred pieces have been grafted from time to time upon her body.

The Weather

Almanac, Friday, July 14.
Sun rises—4:38; sets—7:26.
Moon rises—9:52 p. m.
High water: 1 a. m.; 1:30 p. m.
Forecast for New England: Fair; moderate temperature; light to moderate west winds.

—Non-residents in haste to marry can compass all legal steps within an hour in Maine, thanks to the act of an unenlightened legislature. It is thus posible for the foolish to select a husband or wife with less care than would be exercised in getting a bonnet or a pair of boots.—Boston Record.

Children Cry
FOR FLETCHER'S
CASTORIA

OTHER EDITORS ARE SAYING

The guest who is welcomed back is he who doesn't accept the invitation to "stay a day or two longer."—(Harrisburg Telegraph.)

Kansas City Journal: Boston people are making merry because the local coal dealers raised rates on the hottest day of the year. The coal men don't mind the merriment, however. As long as raising rates causes a laugh they are well satisfied. Doubtless they will crack some more good jokes before the season is over.—(Boston Globe.)

The movement to have a fathers' day is being seriously considered. According to the unions fathers' day would be easy to celebrate, as it would have to be over in eight hours. But we are in favor of it. Father should have some recognition besides paying the bills.—(New London Telegraph.)

That Brooklyn preacher declared that if St. Peter were alive today he would be a baseball "fan" and attend all the games on the home ground has little authority for his statement. Peter didn't belong to the leisure class.—(Dallas News.)

The Carnegie Fund Commissioners want a definition of a hero. Why not this—a city employe who works overtime in summer; the person who says nothing about the weather; the man who goes shopping for his wife; the senators who stay in the chamber on insurgency days.—(Boston Herald.)

A woman nine feet in height has felt obliged to consult a specialist in diseases ofthe heart. Can you picture that specialist, with a stethoscope in hand, going up a step-ladder.—(Plain Dealer.)

PICKED UP IN PASSING

TIME—A chicago firm, finding that there were 12 letters in their names erected a clock over their door with letters instead of numerals. One day a passerby gazed at the dial, deeply puzzled.

"Say, fellers," he said, poking his head in at the door, "is it half past Morgan or a quarter to Walter?"—Success.

WHICH?—"I'd rather be a live rabbit than a dead lion," he said, after they had been sitting a long time where the silence was almost oppressive.

"Well," she replied, "you get your wish."—Chicago Record-Herald.

TEMPTED.—"I notice that your garden doesn't look very promising this year."

"No every time my husband got to digging in it he found a lot of worms, and they reminded him of fishing tackle."—Philadelphia Times.

SATISFIED.—"Well," said Mr. Cliff-dweller, as he took off his overcoat, "you look happy, my dear. What have you been doing today?"

"Looking for a new flat," responded Mrs. C. radiantly.

"And you found one that suited you?

"No, no. But I feel good because we don't have to live in any of the ones I saw."—Toledo Blade.

SURE CURE—"Yes, Phaker used to be a small druggist and poor as poverty, but now he's manufacturing and selling a sure cure," said Towne.

"A sure cure for what?" asked Browne.

"Why a sure cure for his poverty. I guess that's about all."—Catholic Times.

DIVED—"Clumsy of you to fall overboard," said the critical friend.

"I didn't fall overboard," replied the man who never confesses to a mistake "The biggest fish I ever saw swam alongside and I couldn't resist the temptation to dive for him."—Washington Star.

SHREWD.—Howard—I can't get my wife to pay her bills by check.

Edward—Why not?

Howard—She says that she won't have the horrid bank people know what everything costs her.—Judge.

RESPONSIBILITIES.—"Why can't you pay your wife more alimony?" demanded the judge. "You have nobody but yourself now."

"On the contrary, your honor, I have an automobile to take care of."—Washington Herald.

FOLLOWING.—The doctor—Did you give your husband those sleeping powders that I prescribed?

Mrs. Fusseley—Yes, I did, and each time I had quite a trouble to wake him up to give them to him.—Philadelphia Times.

JUST A DODGE—"I hear one of the guests got ptomaine poisoning at your wedding."

"I hired a man to simulate the symptoms. It's a good way to dampen the ardor of the rice-throwing guests."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

SHE KNEW.—"And you allowed that young man to kiss you?"

"Yes."

"That was very indiscreet."

"Not at all. I had looked at his financial standing."—Toledo Blade.

BECOMES BRIDE OF EMILIO DE GOGORZA

Emma Eames In Double Wedding Ceremony In Paris

Paris, July 13.—Mme. Eames was married to Emilio De Gogorza, the baritone, at noon yesterday in the mayor's office in the Rue d'Anjou.

The attorney general of France granted them a special dispensation from the law requiring bans to be posted at the mayor's office ten days before the ceremony. Still more remarkable, the pope granted a special dispensation permitting Mme. Eames, a Protestant, to be married in a Roman Catholic church.

The religious ceremony took place this morning at the church of St. Pierre de Chaillet.

Mme. Eames and De Gogorza have been betrothed for more than two years. During that time they have found the paths of love rocky. Every legal difficulty was put in the way of the marriage by Mrs. De Gogorza, who accused Mme. Eames of having won away her husband's love.

RECORDED ON A FILM

Real Tragedy as Expert Swimmer Drowns Is Reproduced

New York, July 13.—A real tragedy was recorded on the film of a moving picture machine here.

As Albert Breyton, actor and expert swimmer and diver, leaped from a boat on a Staten Island pond the machine was set in operation to record his aquatic feats, its lens focused on the bubbling surface of the water where he dived. The moments passed and the widening circles from the impact of his dive touched shore.

The diver's last feat had been caught on the film.

Morgan Gets "Beauty of Bath"

London, July 13.—J. P. Morgan has added another famous painting to his collection. This is Gainsborough's portrait of Miss Linton, known as "The Beauty of Bath."

PROFIT BY THEIR VISIT

King and Queen Enthusiastic Over Their Trip to Ireland

Dublin, July 13.—King George and Queen Mary have completed their four days' whirlwind Irish trip and have left Dublin enthusiastic.

All shades of opinion unite in speaking of the effect of the royal visit. The tact of the king and the graciousness of the queen have immeasurably strengthened the throne in Ireland.

The king says in a message to the Irish people:

"I cannot leave Ireland without at once giving expression to the feelings of joy and affection inspired by the wonderful reception which the people of Dublin have given to the queen and myself."

The king declares that the spontaneous and universal loyalty has greatly touched their hearts and will never be forgotten. He concludes:

"Our best wishes will ever be for increased prosperity for your ancient capital and contentment and happiness for our Irish people."

HEAT WAVE PASSES ON

Leaves Long Trail of New England Victims In Its Wake

Boston, July 13.—The scorching heat that has slain hundreds, and burned the vitality out of everyone since the hot wave settled its torrid grip upon New England twelve days ago, expired last night.

Cooler weather is indicated by the reports that come in from the observatories all over the country.

Yesterday, though the mercury climbed only to 96, several degrees below the record of the past few days, many were so weakened by the long siege of sleepless night and heat-torturing days that they fell easy victims to Old Sol's last caloric blast.

The records show that nine died yesterday and thirty-nine were overcome by the heat in Boston alone. From the suburbs and other parts of New England come reports of fifty-eight deaths and many prostrations.

MESSAGE FROM FOSS HISSED BY SOLONS

First Time It Has Ever Occured on Beacon Hill

Boston, July 13.—The first time that an official message from the governor of the commonwealth ever was hissed on the floor of the legislature came yesterday when Governor Foss surprised the house in the midst of overriding his veto of the salary bill.

The legislature did not know what the message was at the time, but when Clerk Hamlin made the announcement that he was a messenger from the governor entrusted with a message in writing to the legislature there was a chorus of hisses. They were checked by a blow from the speaker's gavel.

The message reminded the legislature of its "deplorable failure" to pass income tax legislation and demanded that legislation be enacted to compel every property holder to make a statement under oath.

The message called forth unprecedented action both on the part of the house and senate. The house overrode three vetoes and one was overridden by the senate.

LIFE PRISONER PARDONED

Had Served Seventeen Years of Sentence For Killing Woman

Boston, July 13.—John Mackie was released from Charlestown state prison yesterday afternoon upon a pardon from Governor Foss, which was approved by the executive council. He was a life prisoner and committed to the institution on April 23, 1894, for second degree murder of Mrs. Mercy L. Randall in Boston on Nov. 21, 1893.

He has been a model prisoner for a little more than seventeen years. He has an aged mother who needs his support and a sister who is a singer and artists' model. Mackie is 40 years old.

BREAK IN COFFERDAM

Leak Is Discovered and Quickly Mended by the Maine Engineers

Havana, July 13.—A serious leak in one of the twenty cylinders of the cofferdam surrounding the Maine, which has given anxiety to the engineers for some weeks, was discovered and effectively stopped.

The pumping will be continued at an early date, and from present indications the berth deck, on which probably the greater number of fatalities occurred, will be completely exposed by July 20.

Duchess Not Coming to America

London, July 13.—The Duchess of Marlborough says there is no truth in the rumor that she planned to either buy or rent a house in Washington, or that she intended to go to America soon.

Income Tax Bill Killed

Hartford, July 13.—The house of representatives voted to reject the resolution to give congress power to levy an income tax. The senate had previously rejected it.

ENCOURAGING ENLISTED MEN

Ancient Regulations of the Army Are Being Modified

PLAN TO CHECK DESERTIONS

Many of Them Are Unintentional and Offenders Are Not Severely Punished—Were Formerly Sent to Jail and Herded With Criminals—Military Prison Used Only For Hardened Criminals

Washington, July 13.—Army regulations are being changed for the benefit of the enlisted man. The old rules of the service which have added to the hardships of the common soldier are being modified to keep pace with modern ideas of humanity and justice, and in the course of a short time it is hoped that conditions will be so far improved that desertions will be practically unknown and reinlistment will be the rule.

General Wood, chief of staff, is bringing the changes to pass, and he is inspired in his efforts by President Taft. As long as the ancient regulations continue in force, both the president and Wood agree, little real amelioration of the soldier's condition could be brought about. As long as young soldiers were sent to jail and herded with criminals for trivial offenses, they believed, the army would continue to be shunned by a large class of desirable young men who might otherwise be inclined to enter the service.

One of the first reforms to be instituted was that of the sentences administered for slight infractions of army law. The most common of these offenses is desertion; and most of the desertions are unintentional.

To state a typical case, a party of young soldiers are allowed eighteen or twenty-four hours' leave from their post. At the expiration of the time allotted two or three of them fail to return and a detail of men is sent after them. They are rounded up and are haled before a courtmartial, spending the time previous to their trial in the guardhouse on short rations.

The courtmartial proceeds in due time to try them and all the machinery of the court is set to work to prove their guilt. Upon conviction the culprits are sentenced to three or six months in military prison, not because their offense merited such punishment but because the ancient regulations prescribed that punishment.

Nowadays the punishment for mild cases of desertion is merely deprivation of leave, extra work or the cutting off of special allowances. The guard house is only to be used for real offenders and the military prison for hardened criminals.

The president and Wood both are said to be opposed to the Hay bill, which would change the term of enlistment from three to five years. This measure, fathered by the chairman of the house committee on military affairs, is to be pushed by its author on the ground of economy. The man who will pay for this economy is the common soldier, who will be deprived of the extra allowance and pay granted him now for re-enlistment every three years.

As the inducements offered under the present three-year term are frequently the means of bringing recruits to the army, Wood is convinced that a longer term will have the effect of discouraging many a good "regular" from enlisting under his country's colors.

UNCLE SAM NOT MIXING IN

State Department Is Adhering to the Act of Algeciras

Washington, July 13.—The state department denies that any representations have been made to Germany in regard to that country's activity in Morocco.

The United States is still holding aloof from the present imbroglio, adhering strictly to the reservation with which this country signed the Algeciras convention, in which it was stated that America was not concerned with the policy of the African empire.

Pope Gave $2,000,000 to Messina

Rome, July 13.—The official report of the pope's assistance to Messina shows that about $2,000,000 was donated. There were built 218 churches, 158 houses, twenty-six colleges and six monasteries. There was distributed $1,000,000 to survivors.

TO LET
IN QUINCY CENTER
SEVERAL DESIRABLE HOUSES
7, 8 and 10 Rooms
Every convenience and very desirable locations.
RENT $25 TO $40 according to house
APPLY TO
MISS PRESCOTT,
Ledger Office
Quincy, July 7. LPOtf

THESE MEN
Are Known To You
Here are the business men who direct the affairs and policy of the National Granite Bank:
President, Theophilus King
Cashier, Rupert F. Claflin
BOARD OF DIRECTORS
Theophilus King — Rupert F. Claflin
Clarence Burgin — Russell A. Sears
Joseph H. Vogel — Delcevare King
Henry L. Kincaide — H. Gerrish Smith
William T. Shea — Herbert T. Whitman
Every one of these men is keenly alive to the interests of the bank and its patrons. Your funds are safe in their hands. Open an account at this strong bank.
NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

QUALITY STORE
R. E. FOY & CO.
BAKED BEANS
are a treat good enough for the best.
Whole, mealy, hand-picked beans, baked with a sweet and dainty bit of pork jowl, renders them luscious and nourishing—a perfect food for particular people. Heat up a can in a jiffy—they're ready—with or without tomato sauce.
Try a can Saturday for supper.
HEINZ - - - - 15c 20c
VAN CAMP'S - - 15c 20c
CAMPBELL'S - - 10c
DYER'S - - - - 5c 15c
R. E. FOY & CO.
Water cor. Quincy Street, Quincy Adams
We close Wednesdays at 1 o'clock
July 12-2t
Phones 117 and 153
QUALITY STORE

BETTER
Put in Your
Winter's Supply
Direct from the mines to our yard comes the coal we have for sale—coal that's famous the country over for its free burning qualities, its low percentage of ash, its freedom from impurities.
It's "full value" fuel, and our method of taking and filling orders ensures satisfaction. Orders placed now save money for buyers.
TAKE A LOOK IN YOUR BIN
then act.
SPECIAL RANGE COAL
Stove or Nut
$7.25 Cash
C. PATCH & SON, INC.
Office, 1422 Hancock Street, Quincy

Advertise in The Ledger

MUTATIONS IN CABINETS OF PRESIDENTS OF UNITED STATES

Taft More Fortunate Than Most of His Predecessors

Pierce's Council Remained Unbroken During His Term

ALTHOUGH Mr. Taft has made two changes in his cabinet, Fisher succeeding Ballinger and Stimson taking the place of Dickinson, this number is not unusual enough to arouse the surprise which is expressed in some quarters. The president, indeed, is more fortunate than most of his predecessors have been in retaining the services of his political family. In his four years of service it is to be presumed that he did not expect to equal the record of Pierce, whose council remained unbroken to the end of the term. In fact, some presidents have had more changes in the ranks of their official advisers in a single year than the present executive has had in two years and a quarter. On this score Mr. Taft has fared well.

While the term cabinet is not mentioned in the constitution, this has become a very important part of the executive machinery. Although the federal charter does not mention this body by name, it assumes that such a council will be created and refers to it in article 2, section 2, which authorizes the president to "require the opinion in writing of the principal officer in each of the executive departments upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices." More than once the first president called for such opinions. He did this in a historic exigency, that which was created by the passage through congress of the bill to create the first United States bank, that which was chartered in 1791. Hamilton, the secretary of the treasury, was the author of that measure, which many of the state rights advocates opposed as an unconstitutional stretch of power by congress. Washington asked the views in writing of all his advisers. Jefferson, the secretary of state, opposed the bank, but Hamilton's argument prevailed with Washington, and he signed the bill. In later days the custom for the president has been to have regular consultations with the cabinet, before whom all matters of large importance are laid. This has been the practice within the recollection of everybody now alive.

Cabinet Acquires Prestige.

But the cabinet in recent times has had a dignity and a prestige which it did not possess at first. In certain contingencies the presidency may devolve upon some of its members. Along until 1886, if there were no president or vice president, the presidency would be obtained by the president pro tempore of the senate or the speaker of the house, in this order, but the assassination of Garfield in 1881, when there was no president pro tempore and no speaker of the house, for congress had not met at that time, impelled house and senate to provide for a crisis of this sort. Thus a bill was passed, which was signed by Cleveland on Jan. 19, 1886, which placed the members of the cabinet in the line of succession, the order being the secretary of state, the secretary of the treasury, and so on. Of course the cabinet officer in order to be eligible would have to meet the requirements of birth and age which are demanded in presidents. The act of 1886 gives the cabinet a certain importance which it lacked up to that time. In the accidents and mischances of the future it is altogether possible that the big office may descend to one of the president's appointees.

Only four members were in the cabinet in Washington's time. These were the heads of the state, the treasury and the war departments and the attorney general. It was said that Washington selected members from each party impartially in framing his cabinet. In the sense in which this assertion is commonly made it is not quite correct. Hamilton and Jefferson, the two most prominent members of the first president's council, did indeed belong to different schools of political thought. It is probable, however, that this circumstance did not have any influence with Washington in making the selections. When he entered office party lines had not been drawn. Two elements were in the convention which framed the constitution, and Washington presided over that body. The advocates of the constitution as framed were called Federalists, and its opponents were named Antifederalists. This division appeared in a much more decisive form in the state conventions which were held to ratify or reject that charter. The Federalists triumphed.

In the earlier congresses the same political terms were used. In the sense, however, of defending the constitution Jefferson and Hamilton were Federalists, but soon after it went into operation the term Federalists was restricted to the men who wanted to give congress large powers, led by Hamilton, while those who would confine its powers to the rigid letter of the instrument began under Jefferson's lead to call themselves Republicans. Most of the Antifederalists were in the Republican party, the progenitor of the present Democratic party.

Additions began to be made to the circle of members of the president's council in 1798, when the office of secretary of the navy was created. John Adams was the president at that time. Previously the duties of that post were in charge of the secretary of war. In 1829 Jackson called the postmaster general into his council. The office of secretary of the interior dates from 1849, when Taylor entered the presidency. At that time and for forty years afterward the cabinet consisted of seven members. These comprised its number through the civil war period. The secretary of agriculture appeared in the closing days of Cleveland's first term, and Norman J. Colman of Missouri was the first person who held that title. Early in Roosevelt's service and largely through his influence the department of commerce and labor was created, with its chief a member of the cabinet. To that post Roosevelt appointed his private secretary, Cortelyou.

Adams Made Few Changes.

Next to Pierce, the president who made the fewest changes in his cabinet was John Quincy Adams. He made only one. Near the end of the term Peter B. Porter of New York succeeded James Barbour of Virginia as secretary of war. And Adams, like Pierce, was fairly well served by his official advisers. All were men of high standing in their day. Those who are best known to readers of history are Henry Clay, who was secretary of state; Richard Rush, secretary of the treasury; John McLean, postmaster general, and William Wirt, attorney general. Pierce's cabinet's best known members were William L. Marcy, secretary of state; James Guthrie, secretary of the treasury; Jefferson Davis, secretary of war, and Caleb Cushing, attorney general. Marcy is the man who, as a senator from New York, made use of the pharse, "To the victor belong the spoils of the enemy," meaning to the victor in politics. This was during Jackson's administration and was in justification of Jackson's course in turning his party enemies out of the federal appointive offices and putting his friends in. This was the spoils system, so called, which raged until mitigated by the civil service act of 1883, signed by President Arthur. Guthrie was mentioned early in 1861 as being one of the southern enemies of his party whom Lincoln was considering as possible selections for his cabinet. Lincoln found it necessary or expedient, however, to give all the places to Republicans.

An upheaval occurred in Jackson's cabinet in 1831, in the troubles in which Jackson and Calhoun found themselves in hostile camps in the Democratic party. These were due to two issues. One was the fight which the wives and daughters of Vice President Calhoun and some of the members of the cabinet made against the wife of Secretary of War Eaton, and the other came through the nullification movement in South Carolina, which was led by Calhoun and Hayne. The first was facetiously styled the "Peggy O'Neil war." Mrs. Eaton was the daughter of a Washington tavern keeper named O'Neil, who married a naval officer named Timberlake. Gossip, especially by women, made rather free with the name of Timberlake's wife, and he committed suicide. Then she married General John H. Eaton, a neighbor and friend of Jackson, whom Jackson, when entering office in 1829, appointed secretary of war. The women of the court circle refused to receive Mrs. Eaton, while Jackson, who had long been acquainted with her and who admired her, took her side. As the husbands of these women were either unwilling or unable to constrain their wives to tender the ordinary courtesies to Mrs. Eaton the matter became an issue in Democratic factional politics. The result was the resignation of some of the members of the cabinet, led by Jackson's friend, Van Buren, who was a widower and who was free to extend all the conventional courtesies to Mrs. Eaton. With Van Buren and Eaton out of the cabinet Jackson forced the friends of Calhoun out, and a new council was the result. This cabinet squabble thrust Calhoun out of the line for the succession to the presidency and put Van Buren in his place. Nullification, however, and the knowledge that Calhoun as secretary of war under Monroe had favored a court martial for Jackson for his too exuberant activity in the Crook war did more even than the Eaton imbroglio toward turning "Old Hickory" against the South Carolinian.

Along until Jackson's day, except in the case of Hamilton and Jefferson in Washington's cabinet and a few of the members of the council of John Adams, fairly harmonious relations existed among the official advisers of the presidents, broken in the case of Monroe and Crawford, the secretary of the treasury. It was said that for a time there were strained relations between these two, although in the campaign of 1824 the gossip of the day said that Monroe would have preferred Crawford for president to any of the other competitors—John Quincy Adams, Andrew Jackson and Henry Clay.

In Tyler's case there was almost a complete reorganization of the cabinet very early. At Harrison's death a month after the inauguration Tyler "took over" all the members of his cabinet. In the extra session which was called by Harrison, but which Harrison did not live to see, an issue came up which split the Whig party, which had elected Harrison and Tyler. This was the United States bank. Clay attempted to restore the bank, which had been killed by Jackson long before that time. Tyler vetoed the bank bill. Another bill with the same purpose in view, but modified with the hope of meeting Tyler's objections, was also vetoed. Then all of his cabinet as a rebuke resigned—all except Webster, the secretary of state, who was engaged in an important negotiation with England and who retained office until that measure was consummated. This was the Webster-Ashburton treaty of 1842. Afterward he, too, stepped down. The Whigs went through the form of reading Tyler out of their party, and for the latter part of his service he was a president without any recognized political supporters of any consequence. He drifted back to the Democratic party and was a member in good standing in that organization during the latter years of his life.

Lincoln held similar relations to his cabinet that Jefferson did to his official advisers. He was one of them and submitted most of his propositions to them freely and fully. According to Jefferson's own testimony, there was a fraternal feeling between him and every member of his council. All had his confidence, and all were loyal to him. One of his cabinet, Madison, the secretary of state, became his political heir and was his successor in the White House. Chase, the secretary of the treasury, was a rival of Lincoln for the presidential nomination in 1864, but when the Republican members of the legislature of his own state, Ohio, early in that year declared in favor of Lincoln's renomination Chase directed his boomers to desist. Lincoln retained his regard to the end for his finance minister, and after Chase's resignation Lincoln appointed him chief justice of the supreme court. Several changes, some through death and others through resignation, took place in the cabinet during Lincoln's four years and six weeks in the presidency, but considering the importance of the issues and the laborious character of the work which president and cabinet were compelled to do the harmony in the war executive's political family was remarkable.

Attacks on Johnson and Tyler.

Johnson inherited all of Lincoln's cabinet, and some of the members—Seward, secretary of state; McCulloch, secretary of the treasury, and Welles, secretary of the navy—remained with him to the end. With one of the members—Stanton, secretary of war—Johnson had a serious breach, and this had some influence toward precipitating the feud with the Republican congress in which the house impeached Johnson and in which, by a narrow margin, he escaped conviction by the senate as the trial jury and consequent removal from office. The attacks on Johnson by the party which elected him were fiercer than were made on Tyler a quarter of a century earlier by the Whigs. There was an important difference, however, in the two cases. While Tyler was a Whig at the time of his election as vice president on the Harrison ticket, Johnson when he was selected as running mate with Lincoln was not a Republican. He was a war Democrat.

Nobody who voted for Johnson in the national convention supposed that he was a Republican. The convention itself was a Union convention and not a Republican gathering. While most of his delegates had voted the Republican ticket in 1860 and voted it in 1868, some of the delegates to the convention of 1864 were Democrats in those years. The issue in 1864 was the preservation of the Union by vigorous and unrelenting war. The partisan status of Johnson needs to be kept in mind in judging him because of the rupture between him and the Republican congress.

Grant, who had no political experience when first elected, chose the members of his cabinet by personal preference. As a consequence he made many mistakes, although he had made very few in his selections and recommendations of generals in the civil war era. Many changes took place in the cabinet during Grant's eight years in office. More alterings of the cabinet roll took place in Roosevelt's seven and a half years in the White House, however, than had ever been made previously. He did more shifting from one post to another in his political family than any other president had done. The persons who wanted to familiarize themselves with the cabinet roster during the career of the twenty-fifth president needed to maintain eternal vigilance. Every post except that of secretary of agriculture had its incumbent changed more than once, and some of them were altered many times. Roosevelt inherited James Wilson, the head of the department of agriculture, from McKinley and handed him over to Taft, and thus Wilson's service in the cabinet is longer than that of any other man who ever sat down to the council table of a president of the United States.

Interesting Expedition.

One of the most interesting scientific expeditions to be undertaken during the present summer is that of Dr. L. Siegert, the German geologist, who will shortly undertake to cross the Libyan desert in an airship. He expects, with the aid of the prevailing winds, to make the journey from the Mediterranean to the Nile in about thirty hours, passing over a region that is at present almost entirely unknown to geographers.

"DOC" KENDALL.

The following bright writeup in The American Stock-Keeper will interest friends of Dr. Kendall of Atlantic:

"Doc" Kendall whose excellent presentment we have the delight to publish is one of the real old timers and one of the very, very first breeders of the all-consuming Boston terrier. The Lord knows what they then (1877) called the little beastie that has cut such a swath through the American fancy and carved a niche for itself in the stoniest hearted dogman. When we came into the game and swore by all the holies that the Boston was a mongrel (we hadn't hit the delicacy of a hybrid then) and that was the first of the nineties, they called it the round head, Providence terrier and what not. And here we many as well make our claim to have named the Boston terrier. In the files of the "Forest and Stream" this will be found, and though we cannot at this moment lay our hand on the identical issue when this name was first suggested by us, our friend Charlie Leland, we believe, has copies of all that transpired at that sizzling epoch in the history of the Boston terrier. We note that since then Mr. Vredenburgh has claimed more than once that he, in the course of the applications for recognition, suggested the name. He may have spoken of it, but he first got his name from "Forest and Stream," and we wrote it when the discussion waxed hot about calling the breed "The American Bull Terrier." At this we gave another column of hot shot as to what a muddle it would make with the existing bull terrier and—here it is—"It's a Boston fad why not call it the Boston Terrier." And so it was called. But what has this bit of history to do with Dr. Kendall? Just this. While he was in it he was not of it. And it was not till the breed was recognized by the A. K. C., that he first came out as a real public owner of the Boston, and he showed it under Mr. Mortimer who at that time had about as much love for the breed as a sprig of royalty has for an anarchist. But times have changed and so has the dog and so have the people, so that there are few, very few, left who were fighting for the breed against strong odds in the early nineties. Dr. Kendall is one of them and he has seen a heap of history in type and winnings and judgings, but like the proverbial bird, he does more thinking than talking, though he can speak right out in meeting when he wants to emphasize a point.

If we were to describe "Doc" Kendall in the vernacular of the Englishman, we should call him a hard bitten sport. He's as keen on anything that savors of a stirring of the red corpuscles, as a mosquito in such weather as we have had the last few days. He likes a scrap. The first—at least we believe it was the first—time we spent an evening with the genial doctor was on the occasion of some amateur bouts at the B. A. A. and while it doesn't take much in this line to set us going, the still, deep Doctor only chewed his mustache a bit harder when he got real excited.

It's funny how you don't know all about a man though you may have known him sixteen years, as we have done, but we 'clare to goodness we didn't know he was a Mason, and a veteran of the Mass. Militia, having won his corporal stripes and his sergeant's chevrons in competitive drill in the manual of arms in the old Fourth Battalion, at the time the crack organization of the State. There are lots of other things we did not know either. One of the oldest golf clubs in the country is the Wollaston Golf club, and the Doctor is one of the charter members, is an enthusiast and has played on links from the Atlantic to the Pacific. At one time he was an ardent bicyclist and in the early days when they rode the high wheels he was a leader at the sport and for years and years he has been Captain of the old Boston Bicycle club, which thirty-three years ago initiated the "Wheel About the Hub," a three days trip which has been kept up ever since and which the Doctor usually leads. Of course he is a member of the B. A. A. and values very highly a gold medal he won in 1900 inthe distance bicycle competition showing that he covered 5,155 miles in the few remaining summer months allowed for the contest, a feat that required his riding a hundred miles or more on some days.

We used to go out to the Doctor's pretty old place at Atlantic on a Sunday sometimes in the late nineties. We would arrive, but the house would be empty though wide open, the Doctor and his wife would be off riding a wheel somewhere, but whatever the visitor would like to drink or smoke was there for the helping oneself. A wheelman would drop in, give a holloa then walk into the dining room, get one of those steins, go down cellar and draw it to a foam, rest himself and things, and then jump awheel again. Such is the open door hospitality of this curious man. As a sportsman he has shot sheep in the Rockies, moose in Canada, rattlers on the Mojave desert, and the arid islands off the Catalina coast, struggled four hours with a 125 pound tuna on a 16 oz. rod at Catalina, and took the trifling journey of a thousand miles to see Jeffries and Fitz settle things. He is a member of course of all the clubs that shelter his favorities, including pigeons and more seriously the Mass. Fish and Game club and is one of the vice presidents of the Megantic, the largest sportsman's club in the world, with 250 square miles of preserve in Maine and Canada.

Dr. Kendall is a dentist and graduated from the Boston Dental College with the highest honors and is one of the few who have been made a Fellow of that institution; is an instructor at Tufts College and a prolific writer on dental subjects. The Doctor considers the price paid for his Squanto the highest bona-fide ever paid for an American bred dog—$2,000. Several have been sold for $1,000 each. The Doctor is also one of the pioneers in the French bulldog fancy winning in '99 with Diavolo, Paulus, Joli and Melba, while later he bought from George N. Phelps the great dog Ch. Rico, the first French bull in America to become a champion. It woul not be strange if there was not another side to all this strenuousness and this Dr. Kendall finds in cultivating all sorts of fruits on the "intense" method, and received last year the Mass. Horticultural Society's medal for the best fruit garden. What next?

ST. JOHN, N. B., WEATHER.

The following table of maximum temperatures in five cities from July 2 to 6 inclusive, explains why trains and steamers for St. John have been crowded with people:

	2d.	3d	4th	5th	6th
St. John	67	64	68	80	75
Montreal	88	94	94	90	86
Toronto	101	103	97	95	92
Boston	96	102	104	94	100
New York	94	98	92	92	92

The cool breezes of the Bay of Fundy protect St. John from extremes of heat. The highest temperature in forty years was 89, and that was twenty-four years ago. Some day shrewd capitalists will erect a great summer hotel at St. John, conduct a proper publicity campaign and convert the city's delightful summer climate into coin ofthe realm. The present large volume of summer travel to the city would be increased many fold if a proper system of exploitation were adopted.

—A decision comes from a New York judge that swearing over the telephone does not constitute a breach of the peace. It constitutes an entire breach of courtesy and is as useless and fruitless an effort as anybody can well have made.—Boston Record.

A Splendid Treat for the Women

THE HOOSIER SPECIAL SAVES MILES OF STEPS FOR TIRED FEET

One Entire Week to be Given Over to a Kitchen Economy Exhibit

GREAT HOOSIER CLUB

NOW FORMING 25 MEMBERS TO BE SELECTED

Remarkable Display of the Celebrated

Hoosier Cabinets

Every Woman in Greater Quincy Invited

ONE CABINET ABSOLUTELY FREE

Beginning tomorrow and continuing until July 24th, 25 women may join this Hoosier Club, and have a Hoosier Cabinet for the cash price of $25, by merely paying $1 at the time of entering her name and for a few weeks.

One Dollar a Week

On July 24th, one of these celebrated Hoosier Cabinets will be given to some woman who visits this store on or before the above date. No one will be asked to buy anything, but we want you to come in and find out about our plan. Someone will get the Cabinet absolutely Free.

The Hoosier saves you

Millions of Steps to and from the Kitchen table. It saves you reaching up to high shelves. It saves you from back-breaking strain of bending over bins and barrels. It is a wonderful labor-saving device worthy of your kitchen.

You can't afford to miss seeing this great exhibit of Hoosiers, whether you care for one or not.

Hoosier Cabinet Free

The free Cabinet will be given to some woman at the close of the club. No one pays anything to get it. We give the Cabinet to one of the women who visits this store before July 24th.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.

LICENSED AGENTS FOR HOOSIER KITCHEN CABINETS

FLOOR PRIVILEGE

Congress Guards It Jealously In Both Houses.

RARELY USED IN THE SENATE

Former Members of That Body, While Free to Attend Its Sessions, Prefer to Shun the Scene of Their Solonic Efforts—A Story of Evarts.

What is known as "the privilege of the floor" in congress is the right to go upon the floor of the senate or house when either body is in session.

Although the right to go upon the floor of a legislative body is not so exclusive a privilege in some of the state legislatures, it is a great privilege and an exclusive one in congress. The doors are carefully guarded while congress is in session, and it is sometimes exceedingly difficult to have access to senators or representatives when public business is being done.

Senators and representatives have no regular or rigid rule on the subject, but it is known in Washington that the statesmen feel that their constituents or others who desire to see them privately should endeavor to do so in their offices, their committee rooms or at their residences.

To former members of the senate and house "the privilege of the floor" is given, but they do not often avail themselves of that right. This, however, is in strong contrast to the customs of twenty years ago and longer, when it was not uncommon to see former members moving about on the floor of the house when it was notoriously known that they were lobbying for some private claim or public graft.

Speaker Reed found this condition so obnoxious that he issued orders that no ex-members should be permitted to pass the doorkeepers without written authority from the speaker. Subsequent speakers have not found it necessary to draw the lines so rigidly, because the abuse has almost entirely ceased.

There is an unwritten law, however, governing the privilege of the floor of the senate, and it is the unwritten law of good breeding, good manners and common sense. Every ex-senator has the privilege of the floor, but it is so seldom exercised that its abuse has never occurred, nor is it ever likely to occur.

Former members of the senate are never seen there unless it is well known that they have proper business calling them to Washington, such as appearing before the supreme court as attorneys for clients in great cases, and even then it seldom happens that an ex-senator thus engaged ever enters upon the senate floor, although in going to and from the room of the supreme court they are obliged to pass by its doors.

After James G. Blaine ceased to be a senator he avoided the senate chamber forever. After resigning from that body Senator Roscoe Conkling of New York never entered the senate chamber, although he was often in the capitol on business before the supreme court. There was an exception, however, in one instance. By invitation he was one of the pallbearers of Senator Logan of Illinois, who was buried with obsequies from the senate chamber, and on that occasion Senator Conkling was present. Senator Benjamin Harrison upon leaving the senate never crossed its threshold until he went there to be inaugurated as president. Senator Dawes of Massachusetts, Senator Blair of New Hampshire, Senator Don Cameron of Pennsylvania, Senator Thurman of Ohio and Senator McDonald of Indiana are examples of distinguished senators who remained away from the senate after their terms expired. During the period of four years when he was in retirement Senator Gorman of Maryland never availed himself of the privilege of the floor, and during the two years he was without election Senator Quay of Pennsylvania absented himself from the senate chamber.

From a veteran employee of the senate there is gleaned an unusually interesting story concerning the late Senator Evarts of New York. This senator was one of the greatest intellects in public life for many years, but he was absentminded in small things. On one occasion he overlooked the rule about the privilege of the floor. He was entertaining Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes at his Washington home and invited his guest to accompany him to the capitol. Together they walked along the capitol corridor, and when they came to the door of the senate they entered together.

There was a copy of the senate rules on each side of the doors, but Senator Evarts did not look at them, nor, of course, did his guest. The doorkeepers did not interfere or ask any questions.

Well, Senator Evarts gave Dr. Holmes a seat in the rear of the desks of the members and proceeded to bring Senators Hoar, Quay, Hawley and others to introduce to him. Quite a levee was held there, and Dr. Holmes was gratified with his reception.

After awhile Senator Hoar went to Senator Evarts and, calling his attention to the rule concerning the privilege of the floor, asked, "How did you get him in?"

"He is my private secretary," said Senator Evarts quickly, with a boyish twinkle in his serious eyes. At that time private secretaries of members were allowed the floor privilege.—Smith D. Fry in Washington Star.

Too Much For Him.

Voltaire could not speak much English. The reason why he refused to study the language is this: It was drilled into him that "plague" was pronounced "plaig," which he thought very pretty and acceptable. But right on top of it he was introduced to "ague," which his teacher said must be called "a-gue." Finding it impossible to reconcile the difference, he went off into a philosophical tantrum and dropped the study.

☞Going away for the summer? If so don't forget to have the Daily Ledger sent to your address and keep posted on home news. If you have forgotten to send in your order in the rush of getting away drop us a postal and we will do the rest. tf

HOUSEKEEPERS
TELL YOUR TROUBLES
HOLMES & HALL
We make a business of repairing the things about the house that get out of order such as DOORS, LOCKS, SHADES, BELLS and FURNITURE.
96 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 974 L

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.
FIRE INSURANCE.
The Best Insurance. The Lowest Rates.
Insurance Department,
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Telephone, Quincy 97-3.

Quincy Savings Bank
BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.
SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.
CLARENCE BURGIN,
Treasurer.

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock treet, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point
Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1173 M Nov. 3-tf

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER and GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

M. T. SULLIVAN
Real Estate Insurance
Auctioneer Care of Property
Justice of the Peace
Corner School and Hancock Streets
QUINCY.

A. M. DEANE & CO.
MONUMENTS
MEMORIALS ERECTED
IN ANY
CEMETERY
IN THE
UNITED STATES
Aug. 1.-1y

STORAGE
—FOR—
Furniture and Pianos
Storage Warehouse with Separate Rooms
Furniture and Piano Movers
HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy Tel. Con.

JAMES F. BURKE
Real Estate and Insurance
AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES
Justice of the Peace Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Tel. 386-3 Jan. 17-tf

PATTERSON, "The Florist"
92 South Central Ave.
WOLLASTON, MASS.
Telephone 392 Quincy

UPHOLSTERING
My only ambition is to get the work and to show the people of Quincy Town that nobody can beat me with my good work. Low prices on all kinds of furniture, repairing, mat tresses, and cushions. Can give references. M. Mirkin 67 Washington street, next to Y.M.C.A. Quincy. Tel. 1112W. April 10-4mo.

PATENTS
PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES.
Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent.
Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively.
Write or come to us at
710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office,
WASHINGTON, D. C.
CASNOW & Co.

Quincy Daily Ledger

HIGH TIDE FOR WEEK.

Monday, July 10,	11.00	11.00
Tuesday,	11.30	11.45
Wednesday,	1200	12.15
Thursday,	12.15	12.45
Friday,	1.00	1.30
Saturday,	1.45	2.00
Sunday,	2.15	2.45

1911 JULY 1911

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
						1
2	3	4	5	6	7	8
9	10	11	12	13	14	15
16	17	18	19	20	21	22
23	24	25	26	27	28	29
30	31

BRIEFS

Inspector of Buildings Parker reports many applications for building permits.

Rev. A. F. Roche of Watertown formerly a pastor of St. Mary's church was in town Wednesday.

Miss Esther Beckford of Washington street starts today for Pawtucket, R. I., where she will spend a week.

The drawings of the several articles sold on books at the recent lawn party of St. Mary's church will be made Friday evening.

The boys who go to the Ward One playground daily will be given a swim in the Y. M. C. A. pool every Thursday beginning with Thursday of next week.

The boys who have been spending their vacation at Camp Quincy in Rindge, N. H., will return on Saturday afternoon after two weeks of all kinds of fun.

There was another large crowd of evening bathers at Wollaston beach Wednesday evening. The tide is getting so late however that one will have to sit up after bed time in order to enjoy night bathing for a time.

The session of the Probate court Wednesday is the last that will be held in Quincy until the second Wednesday in September. No sessions of the Probate court in Norfolk county will be held during the month of August.

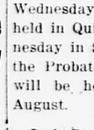
Jack Starr who has charge of the city bath house in Ward Two, says that this spot has been an unusually popular one during the past ten days. Crowds have been present at every tide, and although fifty additional lockers have been added by the new addition, there were not enough lockers to accommodate the crowd during the rush hours.

TOO HOT FOR CAPT. LEVINE.

Oh! this is a little too hot for me, remarked Capt. Fred J. Levine of Hyannis as he left yesterday ahead of time for his home town. Capt. Levine is publisher of the Patriot at that place and has been visiting friends here. What I have been trying to figure, said the captain, is how we could arrange to store some of this "heatness" in our town to be used next winter, for believe me, we could certainly use it then.

—We are accustomed to think of Japan as being extremely remote from this country, but the distance does not seem so great when we read that six carloads of raw silk was recently put on sale in New York only 17 days from the date of its shipment at Yokohama. Trade conditions have expedited traffic to such an extent that all the great business centers of the world are now within easy and rapid communication.—Milford Gazette.

Children Cry
FOR FLETCHER'S
CASTORIA

CHICHESTER S PILLS


THE DIAMOND BRAND.
Ladies! Ask your Druggist for Chichester's Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with Blue Ribbon. Take no other. Buy of your Druggist. Ask for CHI-CHES-TER DIAMOND BRAND PILLS, for 25 years known as Best, Safest, Always Reliable
SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

PATENTS
TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 26 years experience.
Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.
READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.
D. SWIFT & CO.
PATENT LAWYERS,
303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

NOT AFRAID OF HORSE.

Driver Faxon Billings of the Atlantic combination company, Quincy, relates an interesting story about his little boy and one of the fire horses. The horse is somewhat wild, and even Faxon himself has to be very careful when he goes near him. The other day Faxon's little 4-year-old boy went to the station to visit, and in wandering around disappeared suddenly. Faxon called for the boy, and hearing the little voice traced the sound to the horse stalls. There in the front of the stall in which the wild horse was standing sat the little fellow with a measure of oats in his lap and the horse was eating away peacefully. Faxon immediately took the boy out and warned him to keep away from the stalls in general and that one in particular.

SKILL WITH LARIAT.

Remarkable demonstrations of skill with the lariat are promised when California Frank's Wild West spreads its tents at the Water street grounds, Quincy, July 14. Without the lariat, the cowboy would be a useless ranch adjunct. It is as necessary to his picturesque avocation as the horse which knows his every move and mood. In round-up and branding, in corral or on range, the spinning rope is called into service.

The proficiency which the cowboys attain in the manipulation of their coils is born of long, stern practice. In the chase of unruly horses and wild cattle, they learn to cast with sure aim and certain result. No four-footed animal is too agile or too swift to escape the hurtling noose.

The cowboy seldom remains content, however, with the accomplishment of the routine duties of the lariat. He becomes fascinated with its manifold possibilities. Thus, far out on the lonesome prairie with only the grazing cattle as his audience, he may be often found practicing tricks to dumbfound his companions of the saddle. In his experienced hands, the lariat seems to become a thing of life and reason, as it twists and curls and turns and circles in mid-air.

ROCKLAND SCHOOLS NEW HEAD.

George Gammons of South Braintree has been elected principal of the Rockland high school to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of James W. Dyson who has accepted a position in the Boston schools.

HARD ON THE BIRDS.

At one time an enterprising canvasser smuggled his way into the study of the celebrated scientist, Prof. Agassiz, of Harvard. The canvasser produced a chromo which he enthusiastically termed a "Bird's-Eye View of Cambridge."

The professor contemplated it for a moment, lifted his eyes, looked at the vender, and said, with his characteristic accent:

"Well, I thank my God zat I am not a bird."

LIMITED.

A visiting gentleman had submitted for some time to the attentions of the 3-year-old boy of his hostess, but at last grew a little tired of having his whiskers pulled and his corns trodden upon.

"Madam," said he, "there is one thing about your charming boy which especially pleases me."

"And what is that?" asked the smiling mother.

"That he isn't a twin."

Corpse Rings.

The sailor of the old fashioned, shellback class always wears a corpse ring. This is a plain band of silver or gold, inscribed within with the sailor's name and port. Corpse rings are worn for the purpose of identification in case of death by drowning through shipwreck, etc. The shellback sailor can never swim, and he looks forward calmly to dying suddenly beneath the sea. Indeed, he usually prefers such a death to a lingering one in hospital.—Buffalo Express.

Getting Back.

"Gee, no!" exclaimed the pretty cash girl. "I don't want nothin' to do with you. I wouldn't marry you if you was the last man on earth. Is that plain enough English for you?"

"It is certainly plain enough," said the mortified bookkeeper, "but it isn't English."—Chicago Tribune.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, Lucas County, ss.
Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure. FRANK J. CHENEY.
Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.
A. W. GLEASON,
(Seal) Notary Public.
Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.
F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by all Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

LEADERS GOING CAUTIOUSLY

Not Inclined to Hurry on Revision of the Tariff

SOME CRITICISM IS HEARD

One Wing of Democrats In Favor of Immediate Action—House May Hesitate About Voting to Adjourn Until Cotton Bill Is Disposed Of—Mass of Information to Be Mastered Before It Is Presented

Washington, July 13.—Some friction over the tariff has developed among the Democrats of the house of representatives. A good many of the members think the house ought to be plugging away on the tariff instead of loafing. The members who are sounding this note of criticism have been out among their constituents, who, they say, are expressing some surprise that the Democrats in the house are making such slow progress with the tariff revision program.

It is realized that if the Democratic members of the ways and means committee had planned to do it they could have had two or three other bills revising schedules of the Aldrich-Payne law through the house by this time.

Chairman Underwood has maintained that it would be well to go slow, and he has had the support of nearly all the members of his committee. The original plan of the committee was to put through the house at this session the Canadian reciprocity agreement, the farmers' free list bill, the wool revision bill and the cotton revision bill.

This program has already been carried out except as to revision of the cotton schedule. The cotton bill, according to the present program, will be ready for presentation to a Democratic caucus in about two weeks, and Chairman Underwood plans to have the house pass it at this session unless the senate shall take a notion to agree to adjourn within the next two or three weeks.

Some of the influential Democratic house members say that there is a bare possibility that the house might hesitate about voting to adjourn until the cotton bill is passed by that body and rejected or accepted by the senate. There are a goodly number of Democratic members who go further and insist that the house ought to revise the sugar schedule and the steel schedule at this session.

One of the members of the Democratic majority of the ways and means committee, commenting on the slight friction that has arisen, said:

"It is true that some of our members are inclined to criticise because we have, seemingly, not pushed our tariff program as rapidly as we might. As a matter of fact, the ways and means committee has not wasted any time. I think there will be general agreement to the statement that we have made no mistakes so far. This is due to the fact that we have gone about our work cautiously.

"Preparing a cotton revision bill is a larger task than some persons imagine it to be. We have a mass of information before us and we are trying to master it before the bill is presented to the house. The Democratic house intends to revise every one of the schedules of the present law, but it will not be driven to do this work hurriedly and imperfectly."

RECLUSE LEAVES $50,000

Lived Very Frugally In Shabby Room In Stable of Employers

Cambridge, Mass., July 13.—Presumably a victim of the heat, Alexander Garland, a unique character of Cambridge for many years, was found dead in his home, a shabby room in a stable at 124 Hampshire street. The man left behind him an estate valued at $50,000, saved from the earnings of his trade of harness maker.

He was 60 years old and had led the life of a recluse, keeping always to himself and living very frugally. He was employed as a harness maker with the Cambridge Ice company, and for a number of years his only claim of a home was the little room on the second floor of the stable on Hampshire street, one of the properties of the ice company.

CLUBBED TO DEATH

Motive For Murder of Vermont Quarryman Is Not Known

Barre, Vt., July 13.—Lying face down in a pool of blood with his head battered in, workmen found the body of John McAuley, a quarryman, near the Wells, Lamson company quarry in Websterville. A short distance away lay a long club and two heavy stones covered with blood.

No motive for the crime is known and as yet the authorities have found no clue to the murderer.

Young Girl In Holdup Game

Akron, O., July 13.—Edna Doble, a 13-year-old Akron girl, is under arrest charged with attempting to hold up the Cuyahoga Falls, O., bank in the western style.

GOV. FOSS WILL ATTEND UNVEILING.

The handsome granite monument erected by the state of Massachusetts on the Crater battlefield in Prince George county, a short distance from Petersburg, has just been completed at a cost of $5,000.

On the base stands a granite shaft 22 feet high, surmounted by a bronze eagle bearing in its beak an olive branch, emblematic of peace. A bronze tablet bears the coat of arms of Massachusetts and another tablet contains the inscription: "To the memory of the soldiers and sailors who gave their lives in the army of the Potomac and the James in the various battles of Virginia. This monument is erected by the commonwealth of Massachusetts."

The monument will be unveiled Nov. 10. Gov. Foss of Massachusetts will attend the ceremony. By special request of the Massachusetts battlefield commissioners Miss Otelia Mahone McGill, a granddaughter of Gen. William Mahone, will unveil the monument.

THE NATION'S DRINK BILL.

The total consumption of all spirituous and malt liquor has been remarkably steady, almost stationary for the five years, 1906-1910, inclusive. The per capita in 1910 was 21.86 gallons, against a yearly average for five years of 21.89 gallons and 21.71 gallons as the annual average for three years, 1908-1910. Certainly the liquor traffic is being held in check for there has been no increase during the past five years.

The following estimate of the retail cost of beverages, used as stimulants, has been compiled yearly by the American Grocer since 1882. The quantities entering into consumption are those reported by the U. S. Bureau of Statistics.

The following tables are based on the yearly average for three years, 1908-10, as it more fairly represents the quantity annually consumed and the cost than would the figures for any one year. Consumption of alcoholic beverages:

Malt liquor,	$909,072,257
Spirituous liquors,	573,206,487
Wines,	116,642,672
Total,	$1,598,921,416

It is generally conceded that alcoholic liquor is a good servant, but a bad master; that it is the parent of innumerable crimes, destroys homes, injures the physical condition of the people. For these reasons a constant campaign is waged against the use of spirits. Is it not a source of congratulation that for the past five years any increase in the consumption of liquor has been checked, thus giving encouragement to the foes of the spirituous drink habit and warranting further continued effort to decrease the use of such beverages as debauch humanity and add enormously to the cost of government.

REAL JAVA COFFEE.

You May Get a Cup Almost Any Place Except In Java.

It seems strange that in the far east, where tea and coffee come from, it is very difficult for the traveler in nearly all places in India, the Straits Settlements and elsewhere in the orient to procure a cup of really good tea or coffee. This, says Sir Frederic S. Isham, the novelist, although seemingly paradoxical, is only on a par with conditions in so many of our little American hamlets and villages where good butter, rich cream and good chickens for the residents are practically nonobtainable, all of them having been "sent to town."

In Calcutta I heard an American in the best hotel there say to the waiter: "If this," indicating the contents of a cup before him, "is tea, bring me coffee. If it is coffee, bring me tea." And the waiter (an Eurasian), who had no sense of humor, took away the drink and phlegmatically brought something else—equally bad, no doubt.

So after India, Burma and the Malay peninsula we waited with bated breath for the coffee of Java. "Java coffee!" The excellence of it was a childhood tradition. The coffee "mother used to make" was compounded of real Java. In Java surely we should find a nectar of the gods. What did we discover? An extract of coffee served in little casters! It would have made the gods ill. Another illusion gone!

Don't go to Java for real Java coffee. You may find it in Ypsilanti, Mich., or Paris, O., but you won't unearth it in Java—not for money.

A Battle of Languages.

Three or four languages strove for mastery in ancient Gaul, which is now France. German was spoken by the 12,000 Frank invaders. Popular Latin was spoken by 6,000,000 Gallo-Romans. Literary Latin was the language of the church and of literature. Low Latin was afterward the language of the administration. German was the first to succumb. In four centuries it ceased to be understood by the soldiers, and in seventy years more it had become an object of ridicule. But it survives in more than 900 words, expressing the things of government, law and war, and thus forms no insignificant part of the French language.

MAINE VILLAGE WIPED OUT BY FLAMES

(Continued from Page One.)

York village is unable to check the blaze, which started on the post road and so far has covered nearly 100 acres in all.

The selectmen appealed to Captain Wilner, commandant at Portsmouth navy yard, for aid, and he immediately sent out several hundred sailors from the ships armed with fire fighting equipment.

Late last night the fire at Long Beach, which threatened the Boston and Maine railroad station and many valuable cottages, was under control. Hundreds of summer visitors, railroad men, sailors and the local fire brigade are still battling the flames at Bald Head Cliff.

Michigan Villages Wiped Out

Detroit, July 13.—Forest fires have destroyed the twin villages of Au Sable and Oscoda. Alpena had a $500,000 fire which was not due to forest fires.

Six towns between Alpena and Cheboygan suffered serious property losses from the fires.

At Millersburg the Gardner Peterman mill and thirty-one houses were destroyed.

At Onaway the section of the village known as Frenchtown was razed.

At Tower the Detroit and Mackinaw freight house, twenty houses and thirty freight cars were burned.

La Roque and Posen are reported to have sustained severe losses.

Quartermaster General Rogers of the state militia has made preparations at Lansing to forward a supply of tents to Oscoda to shelter the homeless people there. Many of the Au Sable and Oscoda refugees, however, were taken to a relief train and to Port Huron on a steamer.

Thirty Lives Lost In Ontario

Northbay, Ont., July 13.—Thirty lives are known to have been lost and hundreds more are cut off and believed to have perished as the result of forest fires which are sweeping North Ontario. The town of Porcupine has been wiped out. Every train reaching this point brings reports of the most terrible devastation in the history of the province. Hospital and relief trains are being rushed north as fast as they can be equipped.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

In effect June 4, 1911

The letters in the same line as the figures below stand for different stations and indicate that trains stop as follows.

a Wollaston,	f Harrison Square
b Norfolk Downs	g Savin Hill
c Atlantic	h Crescent Avenue
d Neponset	i South Boston
e Pope's Hill	r Quincy Adams

Exp.—Express train.

TO BOSTON			FROM BOSTON
Leave	Stop	Arrive	Leave	Stop	Arrive
r 5 14	abcdefghi	5 41	5 45	ihgfedeba	6 14 r
r 6 16	abcl	6 35	6 12	ihgfedeba	6 39 r
r 6 33	e	6 48	6 30	a	6 47
r 6 40	abcf	7 00	7 15	hgfedeba	7 41 r
r 7 08	abcd	7 30	7 41	a	7 58
r 7 25	d	7 42	7 45	c	8 03 r
r 7 33	Exp	7 48	8 35	cb	8 53
r 7 42	ab	8 00	8 42	a	8 50
7 57	a	8 13	9 10	fedba	9 32 r
r 8 09	abcd	8 31	9 45	a	10 11 r
r 8 30	Exp	8 45	10 15	ihgfedeba	10 41 r
r 8 53	ad	9 10	10 50	Exp	11 05
r 9 15	abc	9 33	11 15	hgfedeba	11 41 r
r 10 03	a	10 20	11 50	a	12 07
r 10 19	abcdefghi	10 45	12 15	hgfedeba	12 41 r
11 12	a	11 28	12 37	a	12 54 r
r 11 24	abcdefgh	11 50	12 50	Exp	1 05
12 04	a	12 20	1 11	fedeba	1 32 r
r 12 25	abcdefghi	12 52	1 45	a	2 02
1 22	a	1 40	2 15	ihgf	2 37 r
2 04	a	2 20	2 35	Exp	2 50
r 2 19	abcdefgh	2 45	3 15	hgfedeba	3 40 r
r 3 18	Exp	3 28	3 45	a	4 02
4 01	a	4 20	4 12	fedeba	4 34 r
r 4 25	abcdefgh	4 52	4 41	d	4 58
5 06	Exp	5 10	5 14	a	5 31 r
r 5 30	abcdefg	5 55	5 24	a	5 42
6 12	a	6 30	5 31	dcb	5 50 r
7 22	Exp	7 37	5 43	a	6 00 r
r 7 30	a	7 46	5 55	fedeba	6 21 r
r 8 07	abcdef	8 30	6 14	Exp	6 30 r
r 9 01	abc	9 20	6 30	ecba	6 51 r
10 04	a	10 20	7 00	fedeba	7 24 r
r 10 07	abcdef	10 30	7 12	a	7 29
r 11 25	abc	11 45	8 05	ba	8 32
			9 25	dba	9 46 r
			10 35	fedeba	11 02 r
			11 10	fedeba	11 35 r
			11 30	ba	11 49

SUNDAYS

r 7 43	abc	8 03	6 30	ba	6 48 r
8 30	Exp	8 45	45	ihgfedeba	9 13 r
8 34	abc	8 52	9 05	Exp	9 21
r 8 46	bcdefghi	9 13	10 15	ihgfedeba	10 42 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	12 15	ihgfedeba	12 42 r
9 31	a	9 47	12 45	Exp	1 01
10 23	ac	10 40	1 30	ihgfedeba	1 57 r
10 31	Exp	10 47	2 15	hgfedeba	2 42 r
11 00	Exp	11 17	2 45	a	3 02
r 11 16	abcdefghi	11 43	3 15	ihgfedeba	3 42 r
1 02	Exp	1 17	4 27	eba	4 48 r
r 1 16	abcdefgh	1 43	5 15	ihgfedeba	5 42 r
r 3 10	abc	3 30	6 15	ihgfedeba	6 42 r
r 4 16	abcdefghi	4 43	7 00	eba	7 19 r
r 5 07	abc	5 27	8 15	ihgfedeba	8 41 r
r 6 16	abcdefghi	6 43	8 50	Exp	9 05
r 7 16	abcdefghi	7 42	9 30	ihgfedeba	9 57 r
r 8 11	abcdefghi	8 38	10 45	eba	11 04 r
r 9 07	a	9 22
r 10 46	abc	11 05
r 11 01	abc	11 20

West Quincy for Boston (stopping at East Milton)-6.23, 6.56, 7.17, 8.04, 8.11, 9.07 10.09, 11.01, A. M. 12.09, 1.23, 2.09, 3.18, 4.09, 5.13 6.06, 7.19, 9.09, 11.14 P. M. Sundays- 8.20, 9.20 A. M. 12.59, 5.15, 6.59, 11.02 P. M.

Boston for West Quincy (stopping at East Milton)-6.35, 7.27, 8.23, 9.35, 10.25, 11.35 A. M. 12.25 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 5.47, 6.18 7.20, 9.10, 11.20 P. M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M.

Montclair for Boston 6.29, 7.27, 8.17, 10.15, A. M. 12.15, 1.29, 4.15, 5.20, 6.12, 7.26, 9.15, P. M. Sundays - 8.26, 9.26, A. M. 1.06, 5.21, 11.09 P. M.

Boston for Montclair 9.35, 10.25, 11.35, A. M. 12.25, 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 6.18, 11.20 P. M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M. 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M.

Boston & Northern St. Ry. Co.

QUINCY DIVISION

TIME TABLE

In effect June 24th, 1911.

Subject to Change Without Notice

Leave QUINCY for

Brockton, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M. then 9.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Brockton, 6.30, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 9.30 P. M Sundays, 8.00A. M. then same as week days.

Braintree, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Braintree, 6.25 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.25 P. M. Sundays, 7.55 A. M. then same as week days.

East Milton, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Milton, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M., and every 20 minutes to 11.45 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.15 midnight.) Sundays, 7.25, A. M. then same as week days.

East Weymouth, 6.00, 6.15, 6.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.42 P. M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Weymouth, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.45 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Holbrook, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M. then 9.50 and 10.20 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Holbrook, 5.55, 6.25, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.00 P. M. Sundays, 8.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Houghs Neck, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 5.20, 5.45, 6.10 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 4.10 P. M. then 4.25, 4.40, 4.55, 5.10, 5.25, 5.40, 5.55, 6.10, 6.25, 6.40, 6.55, 7.10 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 11.10 P. M. then 11.49 P. M. Saturdays and Holidays, 5.20, 5.45, 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, 10.10, 10.40, A. M. then every 15 minutes to 10.40 P. M. then 11.10 P. M. Return, leave Houghs Neck Mondays to Fridays, both inc. 5.45, 6.05, 6.35 A. M. and ever 30 minutes to 4.35 P. M. then 4.50, 5.05, 5.20, 5.35, 5.50, 6.05, 6.20, 6.35, 6.50, 7.05, 7.20, 7.35 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 12.05 midnight. Saturdays and Holidays, 5.45, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05, A. M. then every 15 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.35 and 12.05 P. M. Sundays, 7.20, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05 A. M. then every 15 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.35 P. M.

Nantasket 8.25 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 9.25 P. M. Sundays, 9.25 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Nantasket, 10.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.00 P. M. Sundays, 10.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Hancock Street, 5.45, 6.14, 6.44, 7.14, 7.44, 8.14, 8.35, A. M. then 5, 14, 35 and 44 minutes past each hour to 10.44 P. M. then 12.14 midnight. Sundays 7.14 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Neponset 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, 8.07, 8.35, 8.37, 9.05, 9.37 A. M. then 5, 7, 35 and 37 minutes past each hour to 11.07 P. M. then 12.37 midnight. Sundays, 7.37 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Wollaston. 5.59 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.59 P. M. then 11.14 and 11.44 P. M. Sundays, 6.59 A. M. then same as week days. Return leave Neponset, 6.22 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.22 P. M. then 11.37, 12.07 P. M. Sundays, 7.22 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Norfolk Downs, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 7.55, 8.25, 8.50, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 1.30 P. M. then 2.05, 2.35 P. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.05 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.00 P. M.) Sundays, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Neponset, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 1.35 P. M. then 2.00, 2.30 P. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M.) Sundays, 8.30, 9.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Weymouth Landing, 5.20, 6.00, 6.20, 6.55, 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.00 P. M. Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days. Return leave Weymouth Landing, 5.40, 6.15, A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.15 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Wollaston, 5.59 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.59 P. M. then 11.14 and 11.44 P. M. Sundays, 6.59 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Wollaston, 6.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.30 P. M. then 11.50 and 12.20 P. M. Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days.

West Quincy, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave West Quincy, 6.00, 6.20, 6.50, A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.50 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.20 midnight) Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days.

Leave NEPONSET BRIDGE for

Squantum, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 3.30 P. M. then 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30 P. M. then every 60 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Saturdays, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Sundays, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. (Note—Week Days, cars will leave Atlantic Bridge for Squantum, 5.45 and 6.15 A. M.) Return leave Squantum, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 4.05 P. M. then 4.35, 5.05, 5.35, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05 P. M. then every 60 minutes to 11.05 P. M. Saturdays, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 10.05 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. Sundays, 8.05 9.05, 10.05, A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M.

THOMAS GAMMON,
Superintendent.

THE DANGER TRAIL

By JAMES OLIVER CURWOOD

Copyright, 1910, by Bobbs-Merrill Company.

SYNOPSIS

Jack Howland, engineer, sent to build the Hudson Bay railroad, is appealed to for help by a beautiful girl who writes that she is a mute and invites him to accompany her. They are followed by Jean Croisset, half breed.

They go to her camp. He is attacked and nearly killed by a huge stranger. The girl disappears. Howland hears her speak. Croisset gives him the little Meleese's warning not to go north. He goes.

Howland again sees the girl, who tells him by note his life is in danger. She asks his forgiveness. Gregson and Thorne are mere wrecks of their former selves.

Mysterious perils threaten Howland. The girl visits him and confesses that she had lied to him. She entreats him to return south.

He tells her he loves her. Her name is Meleese. She partly promises to tell him why enemies seek his life.

(Continued from last issue)

CHAPTER VIII.

THE TRYST.

It still lacked nearly an hour of the appointed time when Howland came to the secluded spot in the trail where he was to meet Meleese. Concealed in the deep shadows of the bushes he seated himself on the end of a fallen spruce and loaded his pipe, taking care to light it with the flare of the match hidden in the hollow of his hands.

His blood was tingling at fever heat in his desire for vengeance for the punishment of the human fiends who had attempted to blow him to atoms, and yet at the same time there was no bitterness in him toward the girl. He was sure that she was an unwilling factor in the plot and that she was doing all in her power to save him. At the same time he began to realize that he should no longer be influenced by her pleading. He had promised—in return for her confidence this night—to leave unpunished those whom she wished to shield. He would take back that promise. Before she revealed anything to him he would warn her that he was determined to discover those who had twice sought to kill him.

It was nearly midnight when he looked at his watch again. Was it possible that Meleese would not come? He could not bring himself to believe that she knew of his imprisonment in the coyote—of this second attempt on his life. And yet if she did—

Suddenly he heard a step, a light running step, and with a recognizing cry he sprang out into the starlight to meet the slim, panting, white faced figure that ran to him from between the thick walls of forest trees.

"Meleese!" he exclaimed softly.

He held out his arms and the girl ran straight into them, thrusting her hands against his breast, throwing back her head so that she looked up into his face with great, staring, horror filled eyes.

"Now—now," she sobbed, "now will you go?"

Her hands left his breast and crept to his shoulders. Slowly they slipped over them, and as Howland pressed her closer, his lips silent, she gave an agonized cry and dropped her head against his shoulder, her whole body torn in a convulsion of grief and terror that startled him.

"You will go?" she sobbed again and again. "You will go—you will go"—

He ran his fingers through her soft hair, crushing his face close to hers.

"No; I am not going, dear," he replied in a low, firm voice, "not after what happened tonight."

She drew away from him as quickly as if he had struck her, freeing herself even from the touch of his hands.

"I heard what happened an hour ago," she said, her voice choking her. "I overheard them talking." She struggled hard to control herself. "You must leave the camp tonight."

In the gloom she saw Howland's teeth gleaming. There was no fear in his smile. He laughed gently down into her eyes as he took her face between his hands again.

"I want to take back the promise that I gave you last night, Meleese. I want to give you a chance to warn any whom you may wish to warn. I shall not return into the south. From this hour begins the hunt for the cowardly devils who have tried to murder me. Before dawn every man on the Wekusko will be in the search, and if we find them there shall be no mercy. Will you help me, or"—

She struck his hands from her face, springing back before he had finished. He saw a sudden change of expression. Her lips grew tense and firm. From the death whiteness of her face there faded slowly away the look of soft pleading, the quivering lines of fear. There was a strangeness in her voice when she spoke—something of the hard determination which Howland had put in his own, and yet the tone of it lacked his gentleness and love.

"Will you please tell me the time?"

The question was almost startling. Howland held the dial of his watch to the light of the stars.

"It is a quarter past midnight."

The faintest shadow of a smile passed over the girl's lips.

"Are you certain that your watch is not fast?" she asked.

In speechless bewilderment Howland stared at her.

"Because it will mean a great deal to you and to me if it is not a quarter past midnight," continued Meleese, a growing glow in her eyes. Suddenly she approached him and put both of her warm hands to his face, holding down his arms with her own. "Listen," she whispered. "Is there nothing—nothing that will make you change your purpose, that will take you back into the south—tonight?"

The nearness of the sweet face, the gentle touch of the girl's hands, the soft breath of her lips, sent a maddening impulse through Howland to surrender everything to her. For an instant he wavered.

"There might be one, just one, thing that would take me away tonight," he replied, his voice trembling with the great love that thrilled him. "For you, Meleese, I would give up everything—ambition, fortune, the building of this road. If I go tonight will you go with me? Will you promise to be my wife when we reach Le Pas?"

A look of ineffable tenderness came into the beautiful eyes so near to his own.

"That is impossible. You will not love me when you know what I am what I have done"—

He stopped her.

"Have you done wrong, a great wrong?"

For a moment her eyes faltered, then hesitatingly there fell from her lips: "I—don't—know. I believe I have. But it's not that—it's not that."

"Do you mean that—that I have no right to tell you I love you?" he asked. "Do you mean that it is wrong for you to listen to me? I—I—took it for granted that you were a girl—that"— "No, no; it is not that!" she cried quickly, catching his meaning. "It is not wrong for you to love me." Suddenly she asked again, "Will you please tell me what time it is—now?"

He looked again.

"Twenty-five minutes after midnight."

"Let us go farther up the trail," she whispered. "I am afraid here."

She led the way, passing swiftly beyond the path that branched out to his cabin. Two hundred yards beyond this a tree had fallen on the edge of the trail, and, seating herself on it, Meleese motioned for him to sit down beside her. Howland's back was to the thick bushes behind them. He looked at the girl, but she had turned away her face. Suddenly she sprang from the log and stood in front of him.

"Now," she cried; "now!" And at that signal Howland's arms were seized from behind, and in another instant he was struggling feebly in the grip of powerful arms which had fastened themselves about him like wire cable, and the cry that rose to his lips was throttled by a hand over his mouth. For an instant he caught a glimpse of the girl's white face as she stood in the trail; then strong hands pulled him back, while others bound his wrists and still others held his legs. Everything had passed in a few seconds. Helplessly bound and gagged, he lay on his back in the snow, listening to the low voices that came faintly to him from beyond the bushes. He could understand nothing that they said, and yet he was sure that he recognized among them the voice of Meleese.

The voices became fainter. He heard retreating footsteps, and at last they died away entirely.

In these moments that he lay on his back in the freezing snow a million demons were born in his blood. The girl had betrayed him again. This time he could find no excuse—no pardon for her. She had accepted his love, had allowed him to kiss her, to hold her in his arms, while beneath that hypocrisy she had plotted his downfall a second time. Deliberately she had given the signal for attack, and now—

"GOODBY," HE HEARD HER BREATHE. "GOODBY, GOODBY."

He heard again the quick, running step that he had recognized on the trail. The bushes behind him parted, and in the white starlight Meleese fell on her knees at his side, her glorious face bending over him in a grief that he had never seen in it before, her eyes shining on him with a great love. Without speaking she lifted his head in the hollow of her arm and crushed her own down against it, kissing him and softly sobbing his name.

"Goodby," he heard her breathe. "Goodby, goodby"—

He struggled to cry out as she lowered his head back on the snow, to free his hands, to hold her with him, but he saw her face only once more bending over him, felt the warm pressure of her lips to his forehead, and then again he could hear her footsteps hurrying away through the forest.

That Meleese loved him, that she had taken his head in her arms and had kissed him, was the one consuming thought in Howland's brain for many minutes after she had left him bound and gagged on the snow. That she had made no effort to free him did not at first strike him as significant. He still felt the sweet, warm touch of her lips, the pressure of her arms, the smothering softness of her hair. It was not until he again heard approaching sounds that he returned once more to a full consciousness of the mysterious thing that had happened. He heard first of all the creaking of a toboggan on the hard crust, then the pattering of dogs' feet and after that the voices of men. The sounds stopped on the trail a dozen feet away from him.

With a strange thrill he recognized Croisset's voice.

"You must be sure that you make no mistake," he heard the half breed say. "Go to the waterfall at the head of the lake and heave down a big rock where the ice is open and the water boiling. Track up the snow with a pair of M'seur Howland's high heeled boots and leave his hat tangled in the bushes. Then tell the superintendent that he stepped on the stone and that it rolled down and toppled him into the chasm. They could never find his body, and they will send down for a new engineer in place of the lost monsieur."

Stupefied with horror, Howland strained his ears to catch the rest of the cold blooded scheme which he was overhearing, but the voices grew lower, and he understood no more that was said until Croisset, coming nearer, called out:

"Help me with the monsieur before you go, Jackpine. He is a dead weight with all those rawhides about him."

As coolly as though he were not more than a chunk of stovewood Croisset and the Indian came through the bushes, seized him by the head and feet, carried him out into the trail and laid him lengthwise on the sledge.

"I hope you have not caught cold lying in the snow, m'seur," said Croisset, bolstering up the engineer's head and shoulders and covering him with heavy furs. "We should have been back sooner, but it was impossible. Hoo-la, Woonga!" he called softly to his lead dog. "Get up there, you wolfhound!"

As the sledge started, with Croisset running close to the leader, Howland heard the low snapping of a whip behind him and another voice urging on other dogs. With an effort that almost dislocated his neck he twisted himself so he could look back to him. A hundred yards away he discerned a second team following in his trail; he saw a shadowy figure running at the head of the dogs, but what there was on the sledge, or what it meant, he could not see or surmise. Mile after mile the two sledges continued without a stop. Croisset did not turn his head; no word fell from his lips, except an occasional signal to the dogs. The trail had turned now straight into the north, and soon Howland could make out no sign of it, but knew only that they were twisting through the most open places in the forests, and that the play of the polar lights was never over his left shoulder or his right, but always in his face.

They had traveled for several hours when Croisset gave a sudden shrill shout to the rearmost sledge and halted his own. The dogs fell in a panting group on the snow, and while they were resting the half breed relieved his prisoner of the soft buckskin that had been used as a gag.

"It will be perfectly safe for you to talk now, m'seur, and to shout as loudly as you please," he said. "After I have looked into your pockets I will free your hands so that you can smoke. Are you comfortable?"

"Comfortable—be cursed!" were the first words that fell from Howland's lips, and his blood boiled at the sociable way in which Croisset grinned down into his face. "So you're in it, too, eh? And that lying girl"—

The smile left Croisset's face.

"Do you mean Meleese, M'seur Howland?"

"Yes."

Croisset leaned down with his black eyes gleaming like coals.

"Do you know what I would do if I was her, m'seur?" he said in a low voice and yet one filled with a threat which stilled the words of passion which the engineer was on the point of uttering. "Do you know what I would do? I would kill you—kill you inch by inch—torture you. That is what I would do."

"For God's sake, Croisset, tell me why—why"—

Croisset had found Howland's pistol and freed his hands, and the engineer stretched them out entreatingly.

"I would give my life for that girl, Croisset. I told her so back there, and she came to me when I was in the snow and"— He caught himself, adding to what he had left incomplete. "There is a mistake, Croisset. I am not the man they want to kill."

Croisset was smiling at him again.

"Smoke—and think, m'seur. It is impossible for me to tell you why you should be dead, but you ought to know unless your memory is shorter than a child's."

(To be Continued.)

Chicken All Right.

A Camden lawyer walked into a restaurant the other day prepared to order himself a chicken dinner.

The waitress approached him. He looked at her and said:

"How's chicken?"

"I'm all right," she answered cheerfully. "How's yourself?"—Philadelphia Times.

THE NEW HAVEN WRECK

Where Victims of Horror Met Death In Coaches

© 1911, by American Press Association.

DEATH LIST OF FOURTEEN

Two More Bodies Found In Wreck of the Federal Express

New Haven, July 13.—The investigation of the Bridgeport wreck by the New Haven road officials was taken up under the direction of General Superintendent Woodward and General Manager Higgins.

The body of Brakeman Gough was taken out of the wreckage yesterday afternoon. This made the thirteenth victim. A fourteenth body was discovered later in the wreckage. It is believed to be that of a negro girl.

A statement given out by the railroad company says Engineer Curtis, who was killed, was familiar with the New York division. It says, too, that he knew the line and its crossovers as well as anyone, and there was absolutely no sane reason of his running by the distance and home signals and trying to take a crossover at the high speed of sixty miles an hour.

AUTO PLUNGES OVER FORTY-FOOT CLIFF

Son of Senator Gallinger Meets Instant Death

Concord, N. H., July 13.—Dr. Ralph E. Gallinger, 38, physician at the New Hampshire state prison here, and the son of United States Senator Gallinger, was killed, and a companion named Davis was seriously injured, in an automobile accident just before midnight between Pembroke and Concord.

The two men were returning to Concord in the automobile, and were running along the road which on one side has a clear drop of nearly forty feet, when the heavy machine left the road and plunged over the embankment, rolling and turning, until it came to a stop at the bottom.

Dr. Gallinger was pinned under the heavy car, when it came to a stop and the life crushed out of him. Davis received multiple injuries, broken ribs, bruises and probably internal injuries.

ENGAGEMENT LIST IS FULL

President Can Make No More "Dates" For September or October

Washington, July 13.—"Engagement list for September and October full," was the substance of the reply returned by President Taft to the invitation of the committee having in charge the celebration of the 150th anniversary of the incorporation of the town of Ware, Mass., to attend that event Sept. 2 to 4.

The president also has declined to address the annual convention of the American Bar association, which will be held in Boston Aug. 29-31.

The president has accepted an invitation to address the National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic at Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 23.

ELECTED TO THE SENATE

Hoke Smith Wins on First Ballot Cast by Georgia Legislature

Atlanta, Ga., July 13.—Governor Hoke Smith was elected United States senator from Georgia on the first ballot taken by the house and senate in joint session.

He succeeds Joseph M. Terrell, who was appointed by Governor Brown to fill the unexpired term of the late A. S. Clay.

Embezzled From Battleship

Jamestown, N. Y., July 13.—Edward V. Lee, the former paymaster's clerk on the battleship Georgia, from which he absconded at Havana with $46,000, pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny and was sentenced to serve five years in the federal prison at Atlanta and to pay a fine of $5000.

LACE NECK PIECES.

The collarless blouse blossomed out with the leaves and the tulips and we are in the midst of regiments of women going without collars and finding it a most comfortable and convenient fashion. So it is. It should never be abandoned as long as one has a good neck. Age makes no difference. The world of women has laid aside that bogey.

The one thing that discounts the charm of the low-necked blouse o nthe street is the fact that it looks its worst under the severe collar of a coat. There is just something about a half-low neck on the public streets of an American city that one cannot approve. No matter how well a woman may look in a turn-over collar she cannot wear it to advantage on the public streets with or without a coat, but especially with a coat.

The Englishwomen, who have been the most inconsistent exponents of the collarless neck, have the good taste to wear a scarf or ruche between the coat collar and the ears when they go out in the street. It is this touch, which the American girl omits, that at once commonizes her appearance when she is bare necked in the street.

On a hot Summer's day in town or in the country it is quite permissible for a young girl who is without a coat to wear a low turn-over collar that runs to a point for an inch or two below the base of her neck, but this is the only time and the only age which justifies the fashion.

It is purely for the house and the open country. It was never intended for the street in the middle of the day or on suburban trains in the morning.

It is at its ugliest under the coat collar, for the latter is rarely redeemed with lace or muslin, and whether it is of linen or cloth it does not make an attractive line against the bare skin.

This should not deter a woman from wearing a low-necked blouse, for there is no doubt that she should cling to such a comfortable and becoming fashion, especially in warm weather. It has been proved that tight stocks interfere with the circulation and the digestion, besides discoloring the neck, and no matter how slight the fabric of which it is made it adds a degree of discomfort on a hot day.

It is so easy to fashion a simple light scarf to put under the coat when one is in the street or on the train and remove it with the coat when one is in the house. There is also the universal net or chiffon cloth yoke which is used by many girls as an adjunct to a collarless blouse in the open.

These small yokes need not be basted in. They can be pined at front and back and the sides in a few moments and taken out as quickly. The scarf, however, is much simpler and is the European method of hiding the neck. All one needs is a yard of lace about three inches wide.

Charming patterns can be picked up in short lengths at slight cost and a girl can provide herself with two or three without putting a burden upon her purse. No lining is needed, although the French ones have thirteen inches at the neck of rather heavy pink net. This gives a flesh tone to the lace, throws a pink shade under the chin which is becoming and helps to support the featherbones.

The latter are placed as in a stock. It is best to put in five, two at each side and one at the back, in order that a trim, straight look will be given to the lace.—New York Times.

The Cynic.

"Married yet, old man?"

"No, but I'm engaged, and that's as good as married."

"It's better, if you only knew it."

Suffering is part of the divine idea.—Beecher.

WEAK KIDNEYS MAKE WEAK BODIES

Kidney Diseases Cause Half the Common Aches and Ills of Quincy People.

As one weak link weakens a chain, so weak kidneys weaken the whole body and hasten the final breaking down.

Overwork, strains, colds and other causes injure the kidneys, and when their activity is lessened the whole body suffers from the excess of uric poison circulated in the blood.

Aches and pains and languor and urinary ills come, and there is an ever-increasing tendency towards diabetes and fatal Bright's disease. There is no real help for the sufferer except kidney help.

Doan's Kidney Pills act directly on the kidneys and cure every kidney ill. Quincy cures are the proof.

Mrs. J. Boyle, 8 Marsh St., Quincy, Mass., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and can say they are unequaled for curing kidney disorders. They built up my system and in six weeks, freed me from kidney complaint from which I had suffered for a long time."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster—Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name--Doan's-- and take no other.

WHEELER'S

The Store for Ladies' Furnishings

We will continue our Sale of Shirt Waists and Long Gloves

See what we offer in Shirt Waists for 79c and 98c and Long Gloves for 50c and 75c

We are also showing a new line of Children's Parasols, all colors, for 25c and 29c

WE GIVE CASH DISCOUNT SLIPS

City Square G. W. WHEELER Quincy

E. E. GRAY CO.

QUINCY and WOLLASTON

1525 Hancock Street, Music Hall Block — Corner Newport Avenue and Brook Street

Cuts for Week Commencing July 10

Quaker Puffed Wheat	per pkg.	8c
Hire's Root Beer Extract	per bot.	13c
Grape Juice, Randall's	per bot.	16c
Corn, Fancy Maine	per can	9c
Tomatoes, Fancy Hand Packed	per can	9c
Salmon, Red Alaska	per can	17c
Sardines, Norwegian Smoked	per can	7c
Deviled Meat, Ham Flavor	per can small	4c
	per can large	8c
Condensed Milk, Rose	per can	9c
Olives, Plain or Stuffed	per bot.	9c
Jello, all flavors	per pkg.	8c
Soap, Good Will	6 bars for	21c
Crackers, Kennedy Graham	per lb.	8c

F M W

SHE KNOWS

how important uniform heat in a stove is--knows, too, that gas supplies it without overheating the laundry in the hottest days or wasting fuel the coldest.

'Twill be well and pleasant for you to know how delightfully gas can serve you.

CITIZENS' GAS LIGHT CO.

11 Granite St., Quincy

WE ARE NOT THE LOWEST PRICED STORE IN QUINCY BUT WE POSITIVELY ARE THE LOWEST PRICED STORE IN MASS., CONSIDERING THE QUALITY OF MEATS WE SELL

HIGHEST QUALITY, LOW PRICES OUR STANDARD

RESPECTFULLY,

JOHNSON BROS.

June 16-tf

Are You Going Away?

If so have the DAILY LEDGER sent to your vacation address. You cannot afford to be without your home paper.

FILL OUT THIS BLANK

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER:—

Send the Daily Ledger for _____ address below.

_____

_____

_____

SEND YOUR ORDER AT ONCE

CITY OF QUINCY
Massachusetts
Department of Poor
Quincy, July 12, 1911

Proposals for Coal

Proposals to furnish coal for the Poor Department, City of Quincy, will be received at the office of the Overseer of the Poor, City Hall, up to 10 o'clock on the morning of July 19, 1911.

To deliver at Almshouse
35 tons of White Ash Egg for Heater
15 tons of White Ash Stove.

To deliver in 1-2 ton lots to Outside Poor between October 1 1911 and April 1, 1912 upon orders of the Overseer
125 tons of White Ash Stove.

The conditions of this contract are that first quality coal shall be furnished and all orders shall be promptly filled. Failure to comply with these conditions shall be sufficient cause for immediate cancellation of contract.

The right is reserved to increase or diminish the above quantities and all coal is to be delivered at such times and in such quantities as the Overseer shall order.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids or to accept the bid deemed best for the interest of the city of Quincy.

JAMES H. ELCOCK,
Overseer of the Poor
City of Quincy.
July 12-2t

Your Clothes Need Attention!

Keep them in a sanitary condition by our modern cleansing process.

Just phone 594 M or write and our team will call.

WARSHAW'S
DYE HOUSE
"The House of Cleanliness"
1503 HANCOCK STREET
QUINCY
July 8-tf

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.

BATHING SUITS

Caps and Water Wings

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

BAREFOOT SANDALS

The best thing for the children to wear during the warm weather. They are light and comfortable and give good satisfaction.

CHILDS	5 to 8	45c
MISSES	8 to 11	50c

HEFFERNAN'S SHOE STORE
1375 Hancock Street, Quincy

THE BEST WHEEL WINS

and you can always count on the Hartford bicycle being the victor not only in speed heats, but at every point. Experience and skill have been so thoroughly applied in their construction that they have reached the highest degree in mechanical perfection.

NEW and SECOND-HAND BICYCLES
Sundries and Repairing

HUB CYCLE CO.
Thomas Nelson, 20 Granite Street, QUINCY
Agency for Hartford and Columbia Bicycles
May 15-2m

Quincy Daily Ledger

FOR SALE AT

BOSTON—At South Station after 3.30 P. M.
QUINCY—Ledger Office 1424 Hancock Street.
L. A. Chapin, 1395 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, oppo. Depot.
Thompson's Waiting Room, City Sq.
H. P. Kittredge, City Square.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
Mrs. Madden, 16 Quincy ave.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's News Stand.
PARK&DOWNS—Branschied & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
QUINCY NECK—Stetson Pierce, Newcomb Square.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith, Washington Street.
Gragg's Pharmacy.
L. A. Cook, Washington Street.
E. O. Godfrey, 538 Washington St.
E. H. Lowe, Washington Street.
George E. Sprague Cor. River St.
SOUTH QUINCY—Litchfield, Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Miss C. Booth, Brooks Avenue.
BREWER'S CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
Mrs. F. H. Stanley.
WEST QUINCY—F. A. Skinner.
John G. Belanger.
HOUGHS NECK—Capt. Fosdick's.

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	90 degrees
July 13, 1910,	86 degrees
July 13, 1909,	89 degrees
July Noon Maximum, 14 years,	101
July Noon Minimum, 14 years.	60

Nearsighted.

Jones—George, I hear you were discharged from the marine band. What was the trouble?

George (the cornet player)—Vell, I told you how it vas. De band vas playing sweet and low, und I saw a big note und played it loud, und, by gosh, it was a horsefly!

BRIEFS

Edward Barrett of Mechanic street has purchased a new runabout.

Dr. George H. Ryder and family have gone to Digby, N. S., for the summer vacation.

Charles Nightingale of the firm of C. W. and G. W. Nightingale has purchased a new Ford car.

All the fountains of the city are being changed back to the old system with water running all the time.

Albert M. Jones, brother of Dr. F. E. Jones has secured a position as civil engineer in Bangor, Maine.

Miss Mildred Estes of Saville avenue left this morning for a few days visit to Gloucester.

The Pellervo Cooperative association building a new block at Brewers corner which will be occupied in the near future.

Moonlight bathing parties at Quincy Point and along the shores of Quincy Bay have been quite popular during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Bergfors of 29 Pleasant street left this morning on a two weeks' vacation to be spent at South Ryegate, Vermont.

Charles Gamache, a patient at the tuberculosis camp died Wednesday aged 62 years His home was at 45 Copeland street, and he had been ill for sometime.

Emil Vendret and wife, Charles Nightingale and Miss Ella Peterson start for a three weeks' vacation on Mount Desert Island, Maine, on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward King of Springfield who have been spending a few days with R H. Allen of Presidents hill returned to their home Wednesday.

Several persons, who did not heed the warning of Commissioner Brainbridge, but used lawn hose during the day have had their supply of water shut off The Commissioner is determined to enforce the rule.

The two Quincy L. O. L. lodges and the ladies' auxiliary lodges were largely represented Wednesday at the annual outing of the State Orangemen lodges at Wrentham. The lodges marched from Copley square to the South station in the morning.

Letters received from members of Quincy lodge of Elks who are attending the annual convention at Atlantic City are to the effect that they are having the time of their lives perambulating along the broad walk, and incidentally taking in the side shows.

An inquest was held before Judge Avery this morning on the death of the infant child of Elizabeth Savoy, who it is alleged strangled the infant at birth in her room at Norfolk Downs, July 1 The result of the inquest was not made public The Savoy woman is still at the City Hospital and the case against her for murder will be heard later.

The funeral of Nicholas Samarah the 12 year old son of Alexander Samarah was held Wednesday afternoon from his home on Sumner street. Alexander Samarah, who is being held at Dedham jail on a charge of violation of the liquor law, was enabled to attend the funeral of his son through the kindness of Chief Burrell. Chief Burrell made arrangements with the warden at the Dedham jail, and Wednesday noon Samarah came to Quincy in charge of a deputy. He was met at the depot by the police auto and taken to his home on Sumner street. After the services, he accompanied the body Mt. Wollaston cemetery, after which he was returned to jail and his wife went home alone. The ilttle fellow died at the City Hospital from a strange disease that caused blood poisoning to set in.

HOME TRADE WILL HELP QUINCY AND EVERYONE IN QUINCY.

DEATHS

BARRY—In Quincy, July 12, Mrs. Frances S. Barry in her 71st year. Funeral services at late home 466 Washington street, Saturday, July 15 at 2.30 P. M. Relatives and friends invited. 13-2t

WILLIAMS—In North Reading, Mass., Ernest C. Williams formerly of Quincy in his 31st year. Funeral service at 1485 Hancock street, Quincy, Friday, July 14 at 3 P. M. Relatives and friends invited. July 13-1t

JOHNSON—In Quincy, July 13, Harold C. son of Cesar M. and Rose Johnson, aged 2 years, 10 months, 17 days, formerly of Randolph.

Established 1870 Telephone
JOHN HALL
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
Carriage and Ambulance Service
1485 Hancock Street, Quincy Mass.

"PUCKERLESS" LIME JUICE

Said to Hold First Place In List of Thirst Quenchers

SUMMER DRINKS

"Give us a coffee soda," said the fat man as he threw himself into a chair in the drug store and continued the usual operation of mopping his brow. When the clerk has mixed the drink for him and he has drained it down almost at a gulp, he starts out again believing that his thirst is quenched but he finds much to his sorrow that the sun's rays have not been beating on the back of his neck very long before he is forced to enter another drug store and repeat the operation.

The ordinary unthinking person believes that anything which tastes cold and tickles the palate will quench the thirst. It is needless to tell many who look into the subject that this is not so and that but few of the popular drinks which may be obtained in all of our drugstores, are really good quenchers of thirst although they may give temporary relief. Sodas, milkshakes, the well known patent beverages, root beer, birch beer and the like are not to be especially recommended as thirst quenchers. Even lemonade is not non pareil. Iced tea and coffee are fair but not the best cure for parched throats.

The beverages which are calculated to give the best results, are orange and lime. Either one is healthful and just tart enough to give the desired results. Orangeade or lime juice made very sweet are little better than any of the others mentioned above, but with just enough sugar to take off the "pucker," either orangeade or lime juice or a combination of the two will give the best results.

As a general thing the prepared orangeade, etc., such as may be secured in the drugstore are too sweet and serve only to whet the thirst, which is of course just what the store keepers want. On the other hand the regular orangeade which is mostly plain soda is not especially beneficial for the highly carbonized water, is not good for the stomach. Lime juice is perhaps the most healthful beverage of all but many of the bottled preparations are not to be recommended. By getting the limes themselves and making one's own limeade, the most satisfactory results are to be obtained.

These few hints, while not as inclusive or explicit as might be expected or desired will perhaps throw some light on the subject to those who oftentimes find themselves in a quandary as to what it is best to give the children or to take themselves. It might be said right here for the sake of many men who pride themselves on a still better solution of the cooling off process, that beer or ale or any alcoholic beverage is the poorest kind of a thirst quencher and "he who partaketh thereof is not wise."

LOST AN ALLIGATOR.

BROCKTON, July 13—Miss Margaret Hickey of Holbrook, who recently purchased a pet alligator, is mourning its loss, and has organized a searching party, which is scouring the woods between here and Holbrook.

Some time ago Walter O. Crooker attempted to send the alligator to Miss Hickey, by express, but it escaped and gave the express company no end of trouble. Miss Hickey thought the best place to keep her pet was in the back yard, and she tied it to a post with a rope. This morning she found that the alligator had bitten the rope and made its escape.

The most sublime psalm that can be heard on this earth is the lisping of a human soul from the lips of childhood —Victor Hugo.

LIVE SPORTING EVENTS

ON THE DIAMOND

American League

At Chicago:	R	H	E
Chicago	6	6	1
Boston	3	6	1

Batteries—Lange and Sullivan; Karger, Hall and Carrigan.

Second Game:	R	H	E
Chicago	2	9	2
Boston	1	6	2

Batteries—Young and Payne; Cicotte and Carrigan.

At Detroit:	R	H	E
Detroit	9	10	0
Philadelphia	0	4	5

Batteries—Donovan and Stanage; Krause, Martin, Thomas and Livingstone.

At Cleveland:	R	H	E
Cleveland	4	10	3
Washington	3	7	1

Batteries—Gregg and Fisher; Groom and Henry.

At St. Louis:	R	H	E
New York	12	15	1
St. Louis	2	3	5

Batteries—Caldwell and Blair; Pelty and Kritchell.

National League

At Boston:	R	H	E
St. Louis	13	17	5
Boston	6	9	2

Batteries—Sallee and Bresnahan; Purdue and Kling.

Second Game:	R	H	E
Boston	6	14	3
St. Louis	6	7	4

Batteries—McTigue, Griffin, Mattern and Kling; Harmon, Geyer and Bliss. Ten innings. Called on account of darkness.

At Pittsburg:	R	H	E
New York	4	9	1
Pittsburg	3	9	1

Batteries—Marquard and Meyers; Hendrix, Steele, Ferry and Gibson.

At Brooklyn:	R	H	E
Brooklyn	5	11	0
Chicago	3	9	3

Batteries—Knetzer and Bergen; Reulbach and Archer.

At Philadelphia:	R	H	E
Cincinnati	6	12	0
Philadelphia	4	10	0

Batteries—Suggs and McLean; Burns, Beebe and Moran.

New England League

At Lynn:	R	H	E
Lynn	13	19	1
New Bedford	2	6	3

Batteries—Abbott and Monahan; McDonald, Rufiange and Wheeler.

At Lowell:	R	H	E
Lowell	10	16	2
Worcester	1	8	2

Batteries—Wolfgang and Huston; Hale and O'Neil.

At Brockton:	R	H	E
Brockton	11	17	3
Haverhill	1	5	1

Batteries—Ward and Wadleigh; Graverson, Ferris and Milliman.

At Lawrence:	R	H	E
Lawrence	5	8	4
Fall River	4	9	2

Batteries—O'Brien and Ulrich; Blum and Perkins.

DUBURROW IN LONG SWIM.

NEW YORK—Charles Duburrow of Philadelphia, American long distance swimming champion, will start on a 32-mile swim from the Battery to Sandy Hook Sunday morning. He will take the water about 7 o'clock, taking advantage of the ebb tide and expects to make the Hook by midafternoon. If he succeeds in covering the distance, Duburrow will attempt to swim the English channel.

ANNUAL LAWN PARTY.

The annual lawn party of the Ladies' Aid society of the Hall Place M. E. church was held on the lawn at 7 Hall Place, Wednesday evening.

Music was furnished by the Finish band, and songs by a quartet, composed of Wesley Williams, Lawrence Martin, Enoch D. Fuller and Camile Fuller, also by Miss Helen Martin.

The tables were very prettily decorated with colors, and many Japanese lanterns added to the brilliancy of the well lighted grounds. The following committees were in charge: Ice cream—Mrs. Badger, Mrs. Thomas, Miss Olive Grant; pop corn—Mrs. Merrill and Mrs. Allen; grab bag—Mrs Pearce, Mrs. Stuart; peanuts—Mr. Jose; candy—Mrs. James McCormick, Mrs. Hayden, Mrs. Wentzell, Mrs. Trask and fancy table—Mrs. Hawes, Mrs. William McCormick.

TOO HOT FOR CITY LABORERS.

It is not often that city laborers take a voluntary lay off when there is work to do, but the heat has got the best of them, and even those who attempted to keep at work could not accomplish much so that it was decided to suspend operations. With the several new streets that have been accepted, the permanent sidewalks to be built and the surface drainage to be put in there is plenty to do. These three matters alone call for the expenditure of something like $50,000 that for new streets being $20,000; permanent sidewalks $19,530 and surface drainage $10,750. Then in addition to this large sums are being expended in the extension of the water and sewer systems so that there should be no lack of work for city laborers for some months to come.

Cremo 5¢
CIGAR
QUALITY PLUS

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents. Three consecutive insertions 50 cents, 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.
No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—1909 Overland car, red, thoroughly overhauled, tires nearly new, full equipment including gas tank, wind shield, extra tire, tire case, clock, speedometer, magneto. Carries 4 or 5 passengers can also be used as runabout with single top. Price $550. S. C. Hardwick, 159 Elm street, Quincy. July 12-6t

SUBMARINE SHIPS

Life Aboard These War Craft Is a Sequence of Discomforts.

TORTURE FOR THE NOVICE.

Between Choking For Air and Suffocating From the Fumes of Gasoline the Agony Is Excruciating—Added Terrors When Caught In a Storm.

Submarine boats have been developed to the point where they can cover on their own power a radius of 800 miles in effective fighting trim. In storm and calm the submarines are capable of navigating the seas with credit to their inventors and constructors. With a fleet of these vessels stationed in the vicinity of any of our large coast cities it would be difficult for battleships to get within effective striking distance.

The first impressions received on descending into the hold of a submarine are those of discomfort and suffocation. The accommodations for a crew of thirteen seem about right for half a dozen. One is in too close proximity to whirring machinery, too, to enjoy the sensation.

On all sides are arranged electrical devices and machinery to operate the craft and the torpedoes. A thin shell of steel separates the visitor from the torpedoes, and the outside water is so close that one can almost feel its moisture.

When under way on the surface the submarine hums and trembles. The fumes of gasoline are almost suffocating. There is no escaping from them. Some of the men contract what is called "gasoline heart." If under water too long the fumes make one sick and dizzy.

A novice cannot remain in a submarine under water for any great length of time without suffering excruciating torture. In time, however, one gets used to it, and a trip may be one of enjoyment.

But it is when the submarine dives that the most unpleasant symptoms come. There are ten compressed air tanks supplied, and these furnish sufficient air to keep the crew alive a good many hours.

But did you ever live on compressed air? If not it will be a new sensation, especially if you are fifty feet below the surface of the water. There is a tingling sensation all over the body, a pounding of the eardrums and possibly a sense of nausea.

As the air is automatically regulated from the compressed air tanks one gets his share of the oxygen, but sometimes the supply may vary. It certainly does in different parts of the ship. One may be choking for lack of good air in one part and be exhilarated by a too abundant supply in another.

Sometimes when the engines are running to charge the batteries the fumes of the gasoline become so strong that men are rendered unconscious. They must be taken up on deck then to get a whiff of fresh air.

For this reason the batteries are only charged when above the water. But in time of war it might be necessary to charge them while running below. Then, indeed, the man aboard the submarine might envy the aerial navigator flying above the sea with his abundance of fresh air to breathe.

Cooking under water is a pretty uncertain and disagreeable work. The only appliance for this purpose is a small electric heater. This is just about big enough to heat water to make a cup of coffee and nothing else. The crew have their food cooked aboard the tender.

The submarine is built on the principle of economizing space in everything. There is no room for anything except the actual necessities. Every inch of space is given over to machinery. This is everywhere compact and efficient, but multiplied so often that one wonders what it is all for.

There is machinery for running the boat, for guiding it under water, for controlling it when it dives, for compressing the air tanks, for operating the torpedoes and even for regulating the power of vision above and below water.

When caught in a storm in a submarine life is really not worth living. It consists of a series of intense struggles to prevent death by being battered against steel walls or to keep from becoming involved in whirring wheels and dynamos. If you survive the ordeal you conclude that it is not necessary to wait for war to find hades. It is with you all the time.—Harper's Weekly.

WANTED

WANTED—Places to do washing and ironing by the day. Address Mary Ladhe, 84 West street, Quincy. July 11-3t

WANTED—Boy to tend store. Apply at 750 Washington street. July8-6t

WANTED—Experienced girl for general housework. References required. Apply 118 Merrymount road. June 26 tf

TO LET

TO LET—Lower flat of 5 rooms and bath. Electric lights and gas. Rent $16. 5 Parsons street. Apply 7 Parson street, South Quincy. July 13-tf

TO LET—Flat of 5 rooms and bath. Furnace, near Norfolk Downs Depot. Rent $16. H. O. Cassidy, 9 Edwin street, Atlantic. July 7-6t PS-1w

TO LET—A five room flat on second floor. All improvements. Apply 46 Glendale road. Tel. 621-4 Quincy. July 7-6t

TO LET—Nicely furnished rooms, with excellent table board. Central location. Address P. O. box 346, Quincy. June 29-tf

TO LET—On Spear street, tenement of 4 rooms and bath. All modern improvements. Apply to C. A. Ericson, 17 Glendale road. Tel 586 M. June 27-tf

TO LET—Tenement with 9 rooms and bath at Quincy Point, also rooms to let and table board at 55 Washington street, Quincy, Mrs. Margaret S. MacDonnell. June 23-1mo.

TO LET—House 12 rooms, all improvements. Ideal location, 5 minutes to center. Apply to James F. Burke, Real Estate Agent, Room 4 Savings Bank Building. June 9-tf

FOR RENT—Quincy, Centre, opposite Adams Academy, house of 8 rooms and bath, also garage, 3 minutes to R. R. Station. Dr. E. S. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263L, Weymouth. May 10-tf

FOR RENT

On Spear street, very desirable house of 8 rooms, bath and laundry. All modern improvements, range, gas, electric lights shades and screens. Large piazzas and lawn. To private family only. Apply at 41 Spear street or of Miss Prescott at Ledger Office, Quincy. June 2-tf L. P. O

TO LET

Half House No. 44 Bigelow street, 7 rooms and bath. Shades, screens, electric lights, set tubs, range, etc. Rent $25. per month. Apply to Miss Prescott, Ledger Office. Quincy. July 3-tf

TO LET

Tenement—22 B Granite Street. $16.00 per month.

Greenleaf Hall—Greenleaf Block Large Furnished Hall with various anterooms—to let by the evening or permanently.

City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 20 feet high. Splendid light, low rent

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)
Music Hall Block, Quincy.

BE SURE TO READ THE ADVERTISEMENTS IN TODAY'S LEDGER

EMENTS

one time 25 cents.
nsertions 75 cents.
ed by mail or at the

NTED

aces to do washing
the day. Address
West street, Quincy.
July 11-3t

y to tend store. Apnington street.
July8-6t

perienced girl for ork. References re-
118 Merrymount road.
June 26 tf

LET

er flat of 5 rooms and ights and gas. Rent street. Apply 7 Par-n Quincy.
July 13-tf

of 5 rooms and bath.
Norfolk Downs Depot.
Cassidy, 9 Edwin
July 7-6t PS-1w

e room flat on sec-mprovements. Apply
l. Tel. 621-4 Quincy.
July 7-6t

ly furnished rooms, able board. Central ss P. O. box 346,
June 29-tf

pear street, tenement
ath. All modern im-
ly to C. A. Ericson,
l. Tel 586 M.
June 27-tf

ment with 9 rooms
cy Point, also rooms board at 55 Washing-y, Mrs. Margaret S.
June 23-1mo.

e 12 rooms, all im-
d location, 5 minutes to James F. Burke,
st. Room 4 Savings
June 9-tf

uincy, Centre, appo-
my, house of 8 rooms
rage, 3 minutes to R.
S. Taylor, 527 Main
eymouth. Tel. 263L,
May 10-tf

RENT

et, very desirable
bath and laundry.
vements, range, gas,
ades and screens.
d lawn. To private pply at 41 Spear
Prescott at Ledger

June 2-tf L. P. O

LET

44 Bigelow street,
Shades, screens,
tubs, range, etc.
uth. Apply to Miss
Office, Quincy.
July 3-tf

LET

Granite Street. $10.00

—Greenleaf Block
all with various ante-
he evening or perma-

ll, Office or Shop—
2 flights up, 28x43 feet
dendid light, low rent

Estate Trust,
Mr. Kribs.)
Block, Quincy.

O READ THE ISEMENTS
ODAY'S
DGER

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 26 No. 160 QUINCY, MASS. FRIDAY EVENING JULY 14, 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

FLAMES STILL RAGE AT YORK

Summer Resort in Great Danger of Devastation

LOSS VERY HEAVY

Portsmouth, N. H., July 14.—The fire which started at Phillips Beach on Wednesday morning is still raging and has spread to the Bald Head Cliff district, York Beach, until it has covered 400 acres, with heavy loss. All night Wednesday hundreds of men battled the flames, and at daylight it was reported under control.

Late yesterday afternoon a shift of wind to the southeast fanned the blaze and in less than half an hour the flames could be heard roaring for half a mile and could be seen shooting 100 feet into the air. Chief Engineer Ellis found that his crew could not handle the work and ordered assistance from out of town.

Alarms were sounded in Dover and Portsmouth, and Chief Engineers Randall of this city and Smith of Dover with one company each were sent to the scene. The commandant of the navy yard, for the second time, sent help in a detachment of 200 sailors.

The boys of Uncle Sam were none too soon and began in back firing as soon as they got on the scene, while the regular firemen, summer boarders and hotel help fought the flames from crossing the highway.

The fire since Wednesday has covered nearly five miles of ground and is now in the town of Cape Neddick, where the residents fear churches and other buildings will go. In all the fires surrounding York in the last two days the loss is very heavy.

(Continued on Page Four.)

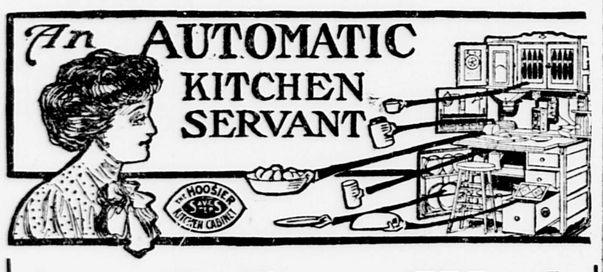
SLOGAN OF C. E.

The slogan of the International Convention of Christian Endeavor as voiced at the meeting of Tuesday is "A Saloonless Nation on July 4, 1920." The saloon is considered the greatest American Curse by thousands of people in public life and the Christian Endeavorers are determined to get more in to public life and politics themselves and to endeavor to get legislature to prohibit the saloon in the United States. It is a significant fact that the National Bartenders convention which is in progress at the same time, while rejoicing that the saloon is apparently holding its own in many states yet finds that in many localities the decrease in the number of saloons is startling. The young people of Christian Endeavor are sworn enemies of the liquor forces and will do all they can to oust the saloon from the country altogether.

THOMPSON—JONES.

Mr. W. A. Thompson and Mrs. A. T. Jones, both of Wollaston, but formerly of Winterport, Me., were united in the holy bonds of matrimony on July 9th by the Rev. William R. Lord of Dover, Mass., formerly pastor of the Wollaston Congregational church. Upon arriving at their home on Beale street they were pleasantly surprised by friends and relatives who got into the house during the'r absence and planned many kinds of surprises for the newly wedded pair, including a finely spread table of delectable viands. After congratulations and felicitations had been extended, and the wedding feast was over, the "intruders" bade the couple good night and departed for their several homes. Mrs. Thompson is well known in Wollaston having lived there for thirty-three years. She is a past noble grand of George L. Gill, Rebekah Lodge of Quincy.

HOME TRADE WILL HELP QUINCY AND EVERYONE IN QUINCY.



One Dollar a Week

There isn't a woman in Greater Quincy that wouldn't like to own one of these great labor saving devices, because they reduce greatly the time spent in the kitchen.

As one woman said "Why it fairly seems to hand things to you just when you want them."

The Hoosier Kitchen Cabinet is a genuine automatic servant that works without wages. It saves hundreds of steps and many times its trifling cost.

So when we announced we would start a Hoosier Club, thereby affording every housewife in Greater Quincy an opportunity to buy one of these famous cabinets at the club rate of One Dollar at the time of purchase and for a few weeks, it was only natural that women should be eager to join the Hoosier Club.

ONE DOLLAR A WEEK

The Club is open to membership until July 21, only, and is limited to 25 members.

You can have all this Kitchen help in hot Weather when you need it most by installing your Hoosier Now. You, like many others, doubtless intend to get a Hoosier some day. Why delay?

A Hoosier Absolutely FREE

LICENSED AGENTS FOR HOOSIER KITCHEN CABINETS

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.

1495 Hancock St., Quincy. Open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings

HUSTLE IN THE GRANITE TRADE

South Quincy Merchants All Enjoying Good Business

THE WATER FRONT

A trip through the granite cutting district at South Quincy brings out the fact that business is exceptionally good in this industry. Just after Memorial Day business was decidedly dull, but during the last week in June beusiness began to pick up and all of the firms report a good business. The past ten days have been trying ones for this business, however, for although the several firms have had plenty of work for the men, the weather has been so hot that but little or no work has been done. Thursday the weather was a little more seasonable and most of the cutters returned to work.

A call at a number of the yards about South Quincy, Thursday, found all of the manufacturers feeling good for all reported having plenty of orders on hand. As a rule the orders are for what is known as medium sized memorials, although there are several large jobs being cut.

W. T. Spargo are cutting a very handsome spire job and several good sized sarcophagus jobs. Alexander Mundie has several good sized jobs on hand, including some large round caps that are being cut for a public building.

Milne & Hector have a yard full of large work. In fact, probably some of the largest work being cut in the city at the present time is at this yard. They had several semi-public jobs on hand as well as a very large tomb job the cap pieces of which are over 25 feet long.

Forbes Craig & Co., also have a good supply of orders on hand, including an all polished extra dark Quincy stock sarcophagus job. Besides this they have a large number of smaller jobs and are so rushed that they have found it has been necessary for them to put on more cutters.

It is understood that the Quincy Quarries Co., have the contract to furnish the stock for the granite trimmings for the new court house building to be erected in Quincy and that they also have the Boston custom house job which will keep the Hitchcock quarry busy for some months.

J. S. Swingle, known all over the country as the Extra Dark man says that business in the quarry line is rushing. Orders for his extra dark stock are coming fast and he is having all he can do to get the stock off as fast as wanted.

The Merry Mount Co., report that business is good with them both at their quarry and at their cutting plant and that it now looks as though business would be rushing for the balance of the year.

Joss Bros. Co., have been receiving many complimentary letters on the handsome soldiers monument which they recently cut for the town of Sandwich. It was certainly a handsome job and reflects great credit on this firm.

A letter received from Rolland Hughes of Hughes & Johnson who left two weeks ago for a trip to Wales reports a fine trip over and that he is looking forward to a pleasant summer. He expects to return to Quincy the later part of September.

(Continued on Page Four.)

—"Heat breaks no bones," says the Russian proverb. But it often does worse; it breaks the spirit. Winter and the falling thermometer have never been so closely connected with mental conditions and moral moods as summer and high temperatures. It is probably due to the fact that any man, unless he be poverty-stricken, can keep warm in winter, whereas it is next to impossible to keep even approximately cool at the time of a hot wave. The whole nervous system suffers, and the moral fibre is stretched from its normal smoothness.—New York Evening Post.

PRIZES ARE PRESENTED

Atlantic Residents See Award of July 4th Prizes, Last Night

ALL EXPENSES COVERED

Thursday night on the lawn of Councilman Cherrington, many Atlantic people gathered to see the presentation of the prizes to the Fourth of July, Ward six contestants.

Frank E. Badger, president of the committee of organization opened the program with some extremely interesting remarks, thanking the people in general for their enthusiasm and help, explaining that although the people had given a great deal of money, the committee had tried to return it many times over. He also thanked all those who took part in the parade, for helping to interest the people so successfully. He said that the athletic contestants had also done their part, and they were to be sincerely thanked. Mr. Badger was well cheered, showing that his remarks were greatly appreciated.

G. Arthur Gray, chairman of the judges of the parade, in an interesting speech, presented the following prizes which are all in money:

Special—Grotesque musical feature, Pumpkin Center Horn Band, Samuel Wood, Jr., in charge.

Floats—1st—Columbia and escort, Messrs. Mosman and Gallagher in charge.

2d—Young America, T. Duggan in charge.

3d—Waiting for the Montclair schoolhouse, Messrs Parlee and Stowers in charge.

Original Individual—1st — Suffragetts Fife and Drum Corps. Messrs. Schromberg and Towns.

2d—Country Sweethearts, Florence Smith and Carrie Fitzgerald.

Original Collective Features—1st—Mexican Rebels, C. M. Duggan in charge.

2d "Suffering Yets", E. Keohane and T. Fahey in charge.

Original Comic Features—1st—Poor Man's auto, Wm. T. Sweet.

2d—Squantum Car, E. Carlson.

Grotesque individual features—1st. Strangers in town, and Ancient and horrible, Messrs Fuller and Kendall.

2d.—Votes for Wimmin, E. Lovejoy.

Each prize winner was well cheered and each felt well repaid for his effort for the parade.

Joseph P. Clarke, chairman of the athletic committee after making a short speech, presented prizes of silver engraved cups, knives and fishpoles to the boys, and cups, toilet sets, and boxes of candy to the girls who competed in the athletic events. The list of winners and events were published last week.

After awarding the prizes ice cream cake and punch were served and the rest of the evening was spent in speeches and conversation. Votes of thanks were extended from the public to each committee for their earnest work in making the Ward Six Fourth of July a successful one.

Charles E. Cherrington, treasurer of the committee of organization is pleased to report that the money obtained is sufficient to cover all expenses, with a slight nest egg left over.

UNNERVED BY DEED.

Miss Lena P. Ahern, who rescued Mrs. A. L. Fernald of Omaha, Neb., at Bay View beach, No. Weymouth, when the latter went beyond her depth while in swimming with a patent swimming appliance about her body which failed to keep her afloat, is on the verge of a nervous breakdown.

Miss Ahern, seeing that the woman could not swim after the appliance had slipped from under her arms, dashed into water and brought her safely ashore. The excitement of her heroic act, followed by the gossip in the summer colony at the beach, has completely unnerved the young woman and she is now confined to her room.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

LADIES' DAY AT YACHT CLUB

Program For Ladies' Day Quincy Yacht Club Issued

DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR

The announcement of the program for the annual Ladies' day of the Quincy Yacht club, was issued Thursday by Commodore Whittemore and Fleet Captain Wilkins.

The Ladies' day event of the Quincy Yacht club is one that is always looked forward to with thoughts of pleasure and this year's event will be equally as enjoyable as those of the past.

The date of the event is next Wednesday, July 19. Should that day prove stormy, it will be held on the following day.

The program includes a review and sail about the harbor from 3 to 5 o'clock. The preparatory gun will be sounded at 2.45 from the flag ship and the number denoting the course to be sailed will be displayed. The second gun at 3 o'clock is for the yachts and their guests to get under way and pass in review of the flagship. Launches have been engaged so that all who desire may participate in the review and sail.

While this is in progress Monk's orchestra will give a concert on the club piazza for those who from choice prefer to watch the scene from the club house

The return from the sail will be at 5.30 at which time lunch will be served in the club house by C. C. Whittemore. In the evening the broad piazzas will be illuminated with hundreds of Japanese lanterns and there will be dancing in the club house until 10 o'clock.

Arrangements have been made for special cars to leave City Square at 1.50 P. M. for the club house and special cars will leave the club house for Quincy at 10.15 P. M.

Club members desiring extra tickets may obtain them at the stores of T. L. Williams, C. F. Pettingill and Sandberg Bros. in City Square, or of T. E. Furnald at the club house. Tickets will be necessary to gain admission to the club house and floats and these have been forwarded to all club members by the secretary.

The reputation of the Quincy Yacht club as royal entertainers has been long established and while the club house has been considerably enlarged it will be none too large on this occasions to accommodate those sure to be present.

Kind Old Gentleman—Are you good so as to go to the Sunday-school picnic?

Johnny—Naw, firecrackers.

NEXT CONVENTION IN LOS ANGELES

The International convention of the Young Peoples Society of Christian Endeavor came to an end Wednesday evening amid the greatest enthusiasm among the young people to get out and work for the principles upheld in the convention. The two great ideas of the convention were first "a saloonless nation in 1920" and second the uniting of all young peoples organizations. Many of the Endeavorers will go to their homes immediately and others will take special trips arranged in connection with the convention. A large party will take the trip to the battlefield of Gettysburg.

The great campaigns which ended with this convention were altogether successful. The battle cry was 10,000 new societies and 1, 000,000 new members. The results of the campaign were 10,601 new societies and 1,009,200 new members.

The next international convention will be in Los Angeles, California.

YOUNG WOMEN'S CONFERENCE.

The Young Women's Conference which has been is session at East Northfield broke up Thursday. Over 400 girls from boarding schools and various churches attended. The largest representation was that of the Misses Masters' school at Dobbs Ferry with 70 delegates. Boston, Hartford and Rochester churches also sent large delegations. A girls' field day, baseball games, and a good tennis tournament were the program of the afternoons.

The morning and evening meetings were addressed by Dr. John McDowell of Newark, Dr. W. H. Griffith-Thomas of Toronto, Dr. Robert E. Speer of New York, Dr. Arthur J. Brown, President of the Presbyterian Board, and Dr. Charles R. Erdman of Princeton Theological Seminary.

The corner stone of Gould Dormitory, recently given to Northfield seminary by Miss Helen Gould, was laid in the presence of the delegates last Sunday, M. W. R. Moody officiating.

The other Conferences continue immediately ending with the General Conference for Christian Workers, Aug. 4-20.

HEAT VICTIMS IMPROVED

The victims of heat prostration who were taken to the City Hospital are recovering nicely and all but one have been sent home. The last one is getting along all right and will be able to go home in a few days.

TODAY'S COURT.

James H. Barry of Milton, charged with disturbance of the peace. Bound to keep the peace for three months.

Jeremiah McCarthy of Milton charged with threatening Agnes McAndrew. Dismissed if no further trouble is made. Continued to Oct. 5.

John Lane, Quincy, charged with drunkenness. Fined $15, suspended till Oct. 5.

Don't Forget To Look Don't Forget

BEAUTY AND THE BEAST.

are more closely allied than one might think. Good prime beef, mutton, lamb, etc., give health and strength which are the foundation of beauty. They paint your cheek with the hue of health and give brightness to the eye and vivacity to the body when your table is furnished with high grade tender and juicy meats from the Quincy Market.

ONLY FEW OF THE PRICES HERE

Leg Loins of Spring Lamb, the Best from 9 to 12 lbs.	12 1-2c lb
4-4 Lamb, Spring Lamb	6c lb
Lamb Chops, Lean	15c lb
Lean Corned Beef (sweet, nice, tender, fresh corned)	10c tb
Fancy Rib Roast	from 10 to 12 1-2c lb
Good Roll Roast Beef, clear meat	10c lb
Good Rib Staak	from 12 1-2 to 18c lb
Lamb for Stew	5c lb

Don't forget your present on every dollar's worth on two we pay your fare home

QUINCY MARKET

Next to Woolworth's 5 and 10c Store July 14-2t

WERE PLAYING WITH MATCHES

And Start Blaze At Residence of Councilman Nowland

LOSS $150

The auto chemical made a quick run to Edgemere road, Thursday afternoon, a few minutes after 4 o'clock in answer to a telephone call for a fire in the house of Councilman James M. Nowland. The fire was in a closet in the maids room and is said to have been caused by one of the children playing with matches. The firemen confined the fire to the closet where it started. The loss was $150. Chief Williams was at the Central station when the call came and rode to the fire on the auto chemical

SUBMARINES

FORE RIVER YARD HAS STARTED TO BUILD TWO MORE SUBMARINES.

Four new submarine boats have just been begun for the U. S. Navy, two of them by the Fore River shipbuilding company. The boats will be named the Haddock and Cachalot, both named after deep sea fish. Fighting vessels now building at the Quincy yard for the U. S. Navy are as follows:

TORPEDO BOAT DESTROYERS.

Walke—98.70 per cent completed.
Henley—11.90 per cent completed.

SUBMARINES.

Skipjack—92.40 per cent completed.
Sturgeon—92.40 per cent completed.

SHOE MEN AT BROCKTON.

A considerable number of the salesmen and customers attending the National shoe and leather market fair took a trip to Brockton yesterday as the guests of the shoe and leather manufacturers in that city. They left Boston on the 11.35 train and at Brockton were taken in automobiles to the Cobmmercial club for dinner. They passed the afternoon inspecting the shoe factories.

The attendance at the fair in Mechanics hall was large. It was said yesterday that the attendance the first day and evening was far in excess of that at the New York shoe and leather fair for the four days the exposition has been open. In the Boston show there are about 200 exhibitors and in New York there are only 50.

Already men have appeared at the fair in Mechanics hall from France, England, Austria, Germany, Canada, Argentina and Cuba while nearly every state in the union is well represented by men and in many cases by exhibits as well.

Everyone who has attended the show is enthusiastic over the character of the decorations and the excellence and variety of the exhibits.

Your Clothes Need Attention!

Keep them in a sanitary condition by our modern cleansing process.

Just phone 594 M or write and our team will call.

WARSHAW'S DYE HOUSE

"The House of Cleanliness"

1503 HANCOCK STREET QUINCY

July 8-tf

DON'T FAIL TO READ THE GREAT SERIAL "THE DANGER TRAIL" NOW RUNNING IN THE LEDGER

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1889

THE HOME NEWSPAPER

Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.

BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
219 East 23d Street,
New York City

Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter.

Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50

Telephone, Quincy 425

Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

The railroad tracks through Lynn are to be depressed the House on Thursday passed the bill to be engrossed 160 to 40. Good for Lynn. Quincy Next.

A GOOD SUGGESTION.

The wide spread dissatisfaction with the shore bathhouse accommodations afforded by the state seems to be well grounded. There should be some easy way out of the difficulty and the following letter from a Harvard man to the editor of the Boston Globe seems to fill the bill, at least to some extent. He says: It would seem that a very simple solution of the bathhouse problem at Revere and Nantasket could be found by copying the boat houses and athletic buildings of any large college, Harvard for instance. Buildings to accommodate hundreds of dressers are made to occupy comparatively small areas by the simple expedient of employing common dressing space, and substituting clothes lockers for separate dressing rooms.

Emergency buildings of this type could be erected at the state beaches at relatively small cost; the lockers could be rented more cheaply than entire rooms, and for those who desired privacy the present rooms would be available.

P. A. Hutchinson, Harvard '98.
Cambridge.

ANOTHER HEAT VICTIM.

One of the saddest occurances which has taken place since the hot wave started, was the death of little Harold Johnson, aged three years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Caesar Johnson of 136 River road, Houghs Neck. The little fellow was in bathing in front of his home and appeared to be having the best of good times frisking about in the water with a number of little companions. Suddenly he fell and sank in the shallow water and his cousin, Gustave Uhlan, who saw the incident, pulled him out and carried him into the house. Dr. John Ash, who is summering at Houghs Neck was summoned and he pronounced it a case of heat prostration. The litle fellow lingered between life and death during the night but passed away at dawn. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson lived in Randolph formerly but recently moved to Houghs Neck.

DEATH OF MRS. BARRY.

The death of Mrs. Frances S. Barry of Washington street, Quincy Point, on Wednesday removed one of the oldest residents of the district. Mrs. Barry was the daughter of the late John Federhean, who was formerly one of Boston's best known diamond merchants and one of the most influential men in Quincy, owning a great deal of property at the Point. Mrs. Barry was the widow of William Barry, and sister to the late Herbert M. Federhean, first president of the Quincy city council. She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Luther Hersey and a brother Henry Federhean both of whom lived with her. The funeral services will be held at the home, 466 Washington street on Saturday afternoon at 2.30. Relatives and friends are invited.

Committeeman Ryan Drops Dead

Waukesha, Wis., July 14.—Timothy E. Ryan, national Democratic committeeman of Wisconsin, died of heart failure while attending a business meeting of a corporation. He was 52 years old.

Killed by Falling Block

Portsmouth, N. H., July 14.—James Bilbrick, a stevedore, aged 60, was killed when a block from the rigging of a coal barge fell, crushing his head.

OTHER EDITORS ARE SAYING

A dealer arrested for selling milk twenty-seven per cent water pleads that it was his first offence. As a hardened offender he would have eliminated the cow altogether in about ten days.—St. Louis Globe.

Weymann's victory in the race for the international aviation trophy and Atwood's Boston New York flight have redeemed the American aviation record this year. Recent comparisons of the progress of aviation in Europe and in this country have not been pleasant for Americans. Europe has had great interurban races which have developed superb feats of speed, endurance, skill and daring.—New York World.

The keeper of the light on the tip of the Mississippi delta says that he has found the skeleton of a fish that must have at least been sister-in-law of a real mermaid. He found the affair in a lump of mud, but the skull was rather the worse for wear. The skeleton is very small, but the torso is like that of a human woman only that the lower end of the pelvis is joined and evidently extended into a tail. Should this hot wave continue someome down on Cape Cod may find the bones of the jabberwock.—Sprinkfield Republican.

"Be polite, it costs nothing," is the motto of the 100 employees of the Norfolk & Portsmouth Traction Company. It is all kinds of an asset however. Politeness gets business for a business man while the man with the cold stare and the nickel clutch is the chief obstacle to the growth of his business. Polite, affable people in a city give it the reputation of being a "clever city." An aggregation of pickle-faced individuals breed a harvest of knocks for their town. Wear a smile and look like you are clothed in your right mind.—Welmington Star.

It is contended in some quarters that it is unjust to send a woman to jail for smoking a cigarette in the street when men who do the same thing are not interfered with, but it should be remembered that a woman is free to wear a hoble skirt in the street, while a man who appeared in one would quickly find himself behind the bars, if not in an insane asylum.—Rochester Democrat.

What if John Hays Hammond did touch the king on the elbow! He did not offend nearly so much by his action as he did by his accompanying bromide: "I should think, sir, you would be gratified that everything pased off without a hitch." What he ought to have said in order really to impress himself upon the king's mind is something like this: "Too bad, isn't it, George, that you are not so popular as your father or grandmother!"—Transcript.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

TWO RIVALS OF BARON M.

First dentist—My work is so painless that my patients often fall asleep while I am at their teeth.

Second dentist— That's nothing. Mine all want to have their pictures taken to catch the expression of delight on their faces.

THAT MIGHT DO.

Customer—What's this, waiter?

Waiter—That's sole, sir.

Customer—Well, just take it away and bring me a bit of the upper with the eyelets removed!—London Opinion.

A FANTASTIC THEARIST.

"Why do you think that extremely rich people are likely to go to a place of fiery torment?"

"Because," replied the cynical person, "only they could afford the fuel necessary to keep it going."—Washington Star.

OBJECT — "Johnny," said Mrs. Bobbs severely, "I am going to punish you. Please open the windows."

"What for?" said Johnny, beginning to cry.

"I heard our next-door neighbor say that I had no authority over you and I want her to hear you getting a spanking. Come here sir.—Toledo Blade.

NO IDEA—State's Attorney (to prospective juror)—"Have you formed an opinion on this case?"

Mr. Henpack—"No, sir, I don't think my wife has read anything about it yet."—Philadelphia Times.

NEARER—"If I were younger," said the rich old man, "I believe I might win you for my wife."

"Yes," replied the cold beauty, dreamily considering his 65 years; "or, say, 15 years older."—Catholic Standard and Times.

THE POET'S FAMILY.

"Dad, you're poor, aint you?

"No, son—I'm rich. I own you and the baby, and you're worth a million dollars apiece to me."

"Dad, couldn't you hypothecate the baby an' get me a new pair of shoes?"—Toledo Blade.

WHY THE ICE FORMED.

Old Gent—'Pon my word, madam, I should hardly have known you, you have altered su much.

Lady—For better or for the worse?

Old Gent—Ah, madam, you could only change for the better.—Judge.

THEIR FIRST—"Didn't it give you a thrill to realize that you were exercising the glorious privilege of the franchise?"

"Yes, wasn't it just lovely? You know Tom is on the ticket, and I just had to giggle when I put that kiss after his name."—Judge.

CAN'T STOP—"You say his wife loves him devotedly?"

"I should say so! I have heard her a dozen times tell him that she would rather he wouldn't work so hard even if they never got an automobile."—Houston Post.

EASY—Mrs. Dorcas—"This is a harder world for women than it is for men."

Dorcas—Don't you believe it. A woman can find relief any time by merely taking off her shoes and unlacing her corsets."—Puck.

THE LITTLEST — Figg — "Talk about green servant girls; my wife told ours to put a little nutmeg in the custard she was making this afternoon."

Fogg—"And she didn't do it?"

Figg—"Oh, yes, she put a little nutmeg in, all right. I came near choking over the blame thing."

PRANKS IN MIDAIR

Atwood Performs a Series of Stunts at the National Capital

Washington, July 14.—Harry N. Atwood, the Boston aviator, flew over the city in his aeroplane, played aerial pranks with the Washington monument, circled tall buildings and had fun with an army of automobiles, bicycles, pedestrians and police by pretending to land at various points in Potomac park.

Finally, after a series of swooping circles near the Capitol, he soared in the gathering dusk to the army aviation field at College Park, Md., whence he had come.

Falls Seventy-Five Feet

D'Orsay and His Tailor.

"D'Orsay, the Complete Dandy," as Mr. Tiegnmouth Shore calls him in his biography, was fully aware of the value of his patronage to the tailors. When clothes arrived for him, in the most mysterious manner banknotes had found their way into the pockets. Once, when this accident had not happened, D'Orsay bade his valet return the garments with the message that "the lining of the pockets had been forgotten."

Others Like Her.

Business Man (explaining) — When they say "money is easy" they mean simply that supply is greater than the demand. His Wife — Goodness! I shouldn't think such a thing possible.—Boston Transcript.

MARY GARDEN MUST SETTLE

Cyclist Who Was Knocked About Wanted $2200, but Gets $140

Paris, July 14.—The suits of the cyclist, Robin, who claimed damages from Mary Garden, the singer, and Duc de Talleyrand, husband of Anna Gould, for injuries received in an accident on June 19, have been disposed of.

Robin alleged that while dodging a milk cart he was run down by Miss Garden's automobile, which was driven by her chauffeur, Jack Curtis. On the rebound he was knocked down by Duc de Talleyrand's car.

Duc de Talleyrand was acquitted. Curtis was fined $20, and the singer was condemned to pay $140 damages. Robin wanted $2200 damages.

ANSWERING LAST CALL

Civil War Veterans Are Fast Decreasing In New England

Boston, July 14.—Veterans of the Civil war and their dependents are fast dying in New England. This is shown by the report of Pension Agent Hoitt for the year ending June 30.

His pension roll was decreased by the elimination of 4748 names, and the owners of 3523 of them died. There were 56,658 on the New England rolls a year ago. Now there are 54,538. In the last fiscal year New England pensioners drew $9,167,139.14.

(ADVERTISE.)

MURDER AND SUICIDE

New Hampshire Man Kills a Woman and Himself

Exeter, N. H., July 14.—An investigation of the death of William J. Mullen here, believed to have been caused indirectly by the heat, resulted in the disclosure of a double tragedy.

Mullen was found dead in a three-foot spring of water, and while the body was being examined two bullet holes were discovered in the back. A revolver was later found in the spring.

It then became known that Mrs. Nellie Durant, with whom it was alleged Mullen had been intimate, was missing and a search was instituted. Her body was found in an open field 300 yards from the spring in which Mullen met his death.

The local police are of the opinion that Mullen shot and killed Mrs. Durant and then shot himself at the edge of the spring.

INSURGENTS' FIELD DAY

La Follette and Bristow Attack the Reciprocity Measure

Washington, July 14.—Two insurgent speeches against the Canadian reciprocity bill were made when Senators La Follette and Bristow introduced their amendments to that measure, and spoke in favor of them and against the specific features of the pending bill.

Senator La Follette excoriated President Taft's administration, not only with reference to tariff legislation proposed, but also in his conservation policies. Bristow renewed his fight against the present sugar tariff, and urged the repeal of the "sixteen Dutch standard" test on imported sugar, which he declared operates entirely in the interests of the American Sugar Refining company.

TRUSTS DAMNED BY A NEWARK MINISTER

Says He Is Justified In Using Good Scriptural Word

Newark, N. J., July 14.—Rev. L. E. Osborne, pastor of the Trinity Episcopal church, whose congregation is composed of many of the wealthiest and most fashionable families in this city, wrote this letter to a Newark newspaper:

"I have been taught that 'damn' is a good scriptural word; not, however, to be used unadvisedly or lightly, but reverently, discreetly and advisedly, soberly and in the fear of God, like matrimony or a blue pill; and so I say advisedly and soberly: 'Damn the ice trust and the milk trust and the farmers and the cows and everybody and everything that is making this hot weather an excuse for boosting the price of ice and milk.'

"So here's $10 more for your ice fund direct, and to help alleviate the poverty of the indigent milkmen and impecunious iceman.

"I hope they'll repent in time to escape that place where they'd give their moral souls for a drink of iced water."

DENEEN GVES TESTIIMONY

Says He Fought Against Election of Lorimer to the Senate

Washington, July 14.—Governor Deneen of Illinois furnished a field day in the Lorimer election investigation by the senate special committee. He declared that he did not assist in the election of Senator Lorimer, as some of the senator's friends claimed, but fought against it to the last.

He flatly contradicted the version which Edward Hines, a Chicago lumberman, who is charged with having asked for a Lorimer election fund contribution, gave of the famous telephone conversation between the two on the day Lorimer was elected, May 26, 1909.

DUCKED IN TROUGH

Son of Vice President Sherman "Congratulated" In Novel Manner

Bretton Woods, N. H., July 14.—A new kind of congratulation was given to T. M. Sherman, son of the Vice President of the United States, when he returned from the links after having won a gold medal for the lowest score, in the advertising men's tournament.

His friends gathered around to congratulate him and as they said "treat him to a drink," and before he could suspect anything, he was seized and thrown into a trough.

Woman Bank Treasurer Drowned

New Boston, N. H., July 14.—Miss Mary E. Gould, aged 50, for twenty years treasurer of the Florence Savings bank, and holding other posts of trust in Northampton, Mass., was drowned here, where she was spending her vacation.

The Weather

Almanac, Saturday, July 15.
Sun rises—4:38; sets—7:26.
Moon rises—10:15 p. m.
High Water—1:45 a. m.; 2 p. m.
Forecast for New England: Fair; not much change in temperature; light west winds.

PROBE KELLOGG'S EXPENSE ACCOUNT

Trust Buster Drew $30 a Day For Personal Expenditures.

DREW A TOTAL OF $23,311

While on Standard Oil and Harriman Merger Cases—In Addition He Was Paid $59,000 For His Work In Prosecuting the Rockefeller Combine.

An average expense account of nearly $30 for every day of a period of more than two years, in the eyes of Chairman Beall of the house committee on expenditures in the department of justice, even if the expenses are incurred in the prosecution of the Standard Oil company and the Harriman merger of the Pacific railroads, is something worthy of investigation.

Frank B. Kellogg, special assistant to the attorney general and Roosevelt's chief trust buster, drew from the treasury $23,311.67 on expense vouchers. He made the drafts from Dec. 23, 1907, to Feb. 11, 1910. The last mentioned day is about the time the reargument of the Standard Oil case was completed.

Mr. Beall and his committee will begin an investigation of the Kellogg accounts when the committee assembles again, probably in the near future. T. C. Spelling, one time assistant attorney in the department of justice, who declared the Harriman merger case was bungled, has been employed by the committee to delve into the matter. He said that the vouchers setting forth the items of expense incurred by Kellogg will be produced before the committee.

Put Limit on McReynolds.

The expense accounts of J. C. McReynolds, the special assistant to the attorney general in charge of the tobacco trust case, are also to be scrutinized by the committee. So far as can be learned, there was no limit on Kellogg. There was one on McReynolds. His limit was $10 a day for subsistence, which was exclusive of railroad fares and telegrams. His meals and lodging while absent from New York city on official business might not exceed that limit.

The committee is expected to find out whether Mr. Kellogg was away from home every day during the time he was engaged upon the Standard Oil and Union Pacific cases. Members of the committee have an idea that the actual daily average expense will be shown to be something over $40 a day instead of $30. From Sept. 30, 1908, to April 1, 1909, the expense accounts amounted to $13,081.81, or something like $71 a day.

The ordinary employee of the government is limited to an expenditure of $5 a day for meals and lodging. It is not uncommon, however, for the head of an executive department to increase the limit to $10 or $15 a day for a trip to New York or some other big city where it is manifest that $5 a day would be a low allowance, but Kellogg is the only one thus far discovered whose own discretion set the limit. During the political campaign in 1908 he went frequently to Hot Springs to consult with Mr. Taft. The vouchers will show whether these trips were made at government expense.

Kellogg's Expense Accounts.

The amounts drawn by Kellogg are as follows:

Dec. 23, 1907, Standard Oil case...	$3,282.86
April 7, 1908, Standard Oil case...	1,695.97
June 29, 1908, Standard Oil case...	805.00
Sept. 30, 1908, Standard Oil case...	1,904.69
Sept. 30, 1909, Union Pacific case..	3,129.04
Jan. 2, 1909, Standard Oil case....	2,709.22
Jan. 2, 1909, Union Pacific case....	1,896.85
April 1, 1909, Standard Oil case...	2,185.43
April 1, 1909, Union Pacific case...	2,056.75
June 30, 1909, Standard Oil case..	817.59
April 2, 1910, Standard Oil case...	2,149.42
Feb. 11, 1910, Standard Oil case...	727.94
Total	$23,311.67

These sums are all in addition to the $59,000 in fees paid to Kellogg for his work in the prosecution of the Standard Oil suit.

MAN-BEAST FOUND.

Texas Discovery Has Feathered Wings and Monkey Face.

The strangest freak ever found in Texas and which baffles ornithologists was captured in a cave in Bexar county. It appears to be partly human, partly monkey and partly owl and jabbers in a tongue as though speaking an unknown language.

Part of the body is covered with feathers and part with hair, and its face is like a monkey's, almost human. The freak is about three feet two inches, and its two legs are covered with hair. It has two short wings with feathers.

The cave had not been explored for many years, and the freak appears to be perhaps ten or more years of age and is believed to have been imported from some foreign country.

☞Going away for the summer? If so don't forget to have the Daily Ledger sent to your address and keep posted on home news. If you have forgotten to send in your order in the rush of getting away drop us a postal and we will do the rest. tf

BANKING
MADE EASY

The Granite Bank is convenient for business men and others—and it's as solid as the granite hills from whence it derives its name. Its assets are over a million dollars. Courteous, considerate treatment to all. We maintain the strictest confidence about your private banking affairs and we are pleased at all times, if you wish, to advise you on financial matters. Open for business from 8 A. M. to 3 P. M.—Saturdays, 8 A. M. to 12 M.

Travellers Checks — Cashiers Checks
SAFETY DEPOSIT BOXES

NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.

BATHING SUITS
Caps and Water Wings
THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

WE ARE NOT THE
LOWEST PRICED
STORE IN QUINCY BUT WE POSITIVELY ARE THE
LOWEST PRICED STORE
IN MASS., CONSIDERING THE QUALITY OF MEATS WE SELL
HIGHEST QUALITY, LOW PRICES OUR STANDARD
RESPECTFULLY,
JOHNSON BROS.
June 16-tf

ALL SORTS
Of Vacation Footwear

Shoes that are cool and comfortable for hot days. White Shoes and Pumps in canvas and suede.

Bathing Shoes and Walking Shoes. Shoes for Tennis, Golf, Yachting, Camping, Mountain Climbing.

For the Children—Play Shoes with flexible Soles. Barefoot Sandals and those new Brown Tennis or "Sneakers" with white rubber soles.

Everything for the Man or Boy that is right and comfortable.

GEORGE W. JONES
1 Granite St., "Just Around the Corner" Quincy
July 13-3t

E. E. GRAY CO.
QUINCY and WOLLASTON
1525 Hancock Street, Music Hall Block
Corner Newport Avenue and Brook Street

Cuts for Week Commencing July 10

Quaker Puffed Wheat	per pkg.	8c
Hire's Root Beer Extract	per bot.	13c
Grape Juice, Randall's	per bot.	16c
Corn, Fancy Maine	per can	9c
Tomatoes, Fancy Hand Packed	per can	9c
Salmon, Red Alaska	per can	17c
Sardines, Norwegian Smoked	per can	7c
Deviled Meat, Ham Flavor	per can small	4c
	per can large	8c
Condensed Milk, Rose	per can	9c
Olives, Plain or Stuffed	per bot.	9c
Jello, all flavors	per pkg.	8c
Soap, Good Will	6 bars for	21c
Crackers, Kennedy Graham	per lb.	8c

F M W

COWBOYS AND INDIANS GALORE

Wild West Show Arrived This Morning. Fine Parade

TROUBLE AT BRIDGE

The arrival of the circus in town created quite a furore especially among the young people. Many alarm clocks were set at 5 o'clock so that the youths of the house might be sure to wake up and see the circus trains arrive. As early as nine o'clock this morning, the crowd began to gather to witness the parade and after two hours of patient waiting on the part of the first arrivals, it came and proved to be up to expectations. Cow Boys and Cow Girls, real Indians and Squaws all mounted on mettlesome steeds furnished a pleasing spectacle for all. There were two bands and a pair of Turks who furnished wierd music. One of the attractions which pleased the children the most was the little girls mounted on a small horse and leading a cute little pony. Another thing was an old fashioned Wells Fargo stage coach such as was used in crossing the prairies in the old days. This contained a whole Indian family, father, mother and two children and the clowns who amused everybody with their talk and actions. Two of the squaws rode Indian ponies which dragged litters showing the usual mode of travel of the Indian tribes. Several of the Indian chiefs looked as if they had seen battle and their chiselled features surely gave them a look of nobility. The parade came down Water street to Franklin, then to School and Hancock. Rounding the Stone Temple, they countermarched and went down Granite street where the first real trouble was experienced. The band wagons were so high that it was feared they would be unable to get under the Granite street bridge. It was found however that by taking down the seats and having the men duck the thing could be accomplished all right. When the first wagon was going under, the man who operated the bass drum left it on the rear seat and when the rear portion of the wagon reached the bridge, the drum was swept off and smashed to pieces by the fall. The others learned their lesson from this and got by in safety. At the conclusion of the parade, a free open air show was given at the circus grounds consisting of feats of horsemanship and stunts by the clowns. The afternoon performance started at 3 o'clock and the one this evening will begin at 8.

IN THE POLITICAL FIELD

Although it may seem to be the off season for politics it will not be long before we will be in the midst of gubernatorial matters again. On August 26, nomination papers will have to be filed by candidates for positions in the Massachusetts House. Representative Thomas is in the midst of his third term and it is doubtful if he will run again although he says that if the people insist upon it he will consent to having his name used. Before Mr. Thomas entered the House, Eugene C. Hultman of Ward Two has the position for three years. Mr. Thomas is a resident in Ward One. Now that the time for a change is at hand it looks to many as if Ward Three should have a show. Of the candidates who have declared themselves the most likely is George W. Bolster who received such a flattering vote for Councilman at large at the last election. Mr. Bolster is well known throughout the city as a man who is scrupulously honest and non partisan. He is popular with Republicans and Democrats alike and should stand a good chance of getting the position in the House.

—A wealthy Long Island woman who went up in an aeroplane 500 feet above her handsome home declared that "it looked so tiny, just like a dog kennel," but if any one on the ground would say that she'd be madder than sin.

TO LET

IN QUINCY CENTER

SEVERAL DESIRABLE HOUSES

7, 8 and 10 Rooms

Every convenience and very desirable locations.

RENT $25 TO $40 according to house

APPLY TO

MISS PRESCOTT,

Ledger Office

Quincy, July 7. LPOtf

FASHIONS AT LENOX.

This beautiful Berkshire village is looking its prettiest this year. The rains of last month have kept the greens at their freshest, and the lovely country shows fields white with daisies and gay with Black-eyed Susans and nodding clover heads. House parties are everywhere and gay informal visiting and impromptu entertaining keeps up the hospitality for which this resort is famous, while an occasional wedding or dance draws out all the fashionable contingent.

The above designs are by The McCall Company, New York, Designers and Makers of McCall Patterns.

CONSERVATIVE DRESS.

Nowhere can one form a better idea than here, of the styles that find favor with the elect of the social world. Spectacular fashions, and spectacular people would be very much out of place in this atmostphere of gentle conservatism but there is nothing dowdy about the dress of the Lenox set—on the contrary, nothing smarter can be seen anywhere than the summer attire here. Materials are of the finest and lines and details show the prefection only attained where skill and taste dominated the making. These two qualities come high when they must be paid for, but many a girl whose pocket book is rather flat than rotund can turn out perfect copies of the best models that will pass muster anywhere at the cost only of the materials and that's the smallest item.

LINES REMAIN STRAIGHT.

Notwithstanding all reports to the contrary the silhouette remains very straight, though more fullness is constantly creeping in, and flounces are decidedly modish. There is not the slightest tendency toward any flare at the bottom of the skirt, nor toward the tapering waist line that usually goes with spreading flounces.

THE FLOATING PANEL.

A feature that has been taken up with enthusiasm is the floating panel which is made of various lengths and is seen nearly as much on the front as on the back of dresses. The latest ones are often double, particularly in the black, and are frequently tucked near the bottom and ornamented with buttons and fringe. For remodelling a plain skirt and relieving the strained look that a narrow fitted skirt usually has when worn by anyone but the slenderest young girl, these hanging panels are invaluable. Where a dress has the inverted pleat in the back that gives it away as last year's gown, the loose panel transforms it at once into modish smartness.

NEW SASHES AND BOWS.

Pump bows and panel sashes are other fashionable touches that smarten up simple frocks. The pump bows are straight across and stiff like the familiar shoe ornaments and are frequently made double with four loops instead of two, but they are kept flat and stiff in any case, and when they are used at the back of the waist, a single wide strap of the ribbon falls down below them, panel fashion especially when they are made of the black velvet ribbon that is such a popular garnishment with all sorts of dresses.

FRINGES POPULAR.

Fringes are very much in evidence but they are used with discretion. Nothing is worse than the effect produced when this type of trimming is overdone. Little ball fringes weight the bottoms of panels and over dresses, and long silk fringes are similarly used on handsome gowns both for the skirt and the one sided waist trimmings that are just as much in the running as ever.

COAT DRESSES.

The coat dresses that have been bidding for favor off and on for several seasons without gaining much headway, are a veritable craze with the younger set this summer, and are made up in many materials, but are best liked in linen and serges. Nothing more practical and becoming than these dresses has been exploited, and the most generally worn model is simplicity itself, just a peasant shirt waist with round neck and short sleeves finished with contrasting wide collar and cuffs in linen, black and white striped silk, or black satin, and with the skirt opened at one side in the front. The top of the skirt joined by a cording of the dress materials, or of the trimming stuff just above the waist line. There are all sorts of plays on this model and the smartest ones have floating panels introduced at the back, or are given long and becoming lines by trimmings that run down at either side of the back from the shoulder line to the bottom, or which come together below the hip line and are frequently accentuated by buttons at this point.

Rosaline May.

Soft Toned Bells of China.

The natives of China use large bells of their own make in many of their temples and monasteries. I have noticed all through Japan and China that the tone of the monastery and temple bells is very soft and smooth, due to the superior quality of the material used in their manufacture and to the absence of iron clappers, the result being a marvelous softness and mellowness of tone. The bells are never swung, being always suspended in a fixed frame, and the sound is produced by striking them on the outer edge with a wooden mallet. This makes the soft tones which are so delightfully melodious.—Consular Reports.

Quicker.

"How are you makin' out?" asked one Pullman porter.

"Well, I used to think I was doin' pretty good," replied the other, "but after seein' a train held up by a road agent the other day I feel a good deal like throwin' this old whiskbroom away and gettin' a revolver."—Washington Star.

Modern Children.

"How old are you, Elsie?"

"Nine years."

"And you, Erna?"

"I am twelve."

"Really twelve? You are wonderfully well preserved!"—Fliegende Blatter.

AMERICA'S FOOD SUPPLY IS BEST

Finest In the World, Says Government Investigator.

PLENTIFUL AND BALANCED.

This Country's Success Is the Result, Declares C. F. Langworthy, Chief of Nutrition Investigations—Food Supply of Prehistoric Man and Nations.

That America has the finest food supply of any country in the world and that the plentiful and well balanced ration is responsible for much of the success of the United States as a nation is the conclusion drawn by C. F. Langworthy, chief of the nutrition investigations, in a pamphlet issued by the department of agriculture.

Mr. Langworthy goes into the food supply of prehistoric man and of nations of which we know but little except through popular writings and states that many of the impressions that these writers give are erroneous. He says, for instance, that the idea that the Chinese and Japanese are nations of rice eaters is false. It is true that both these people eat large quantities of rice compared with western nations, but that it is merely their chief starchy food and that it would be just as accurate to refer to the United States as a nation of wheat eaters or to say that beans and brown bread were the exclusive diet in New England. He says it is surprising to see what a well balanced ration is common among all nations, though some take their food in one form and some in another.

The writer says that prehistoric man probably took his food from any source it could be obtained, just as the modern family is governed largely by circumstances and convenience in the makeup of its dietary. The early people who lived close to the water ate largely of shellfish and other sea foods, and those farther inland lived on game animals, birds and their eggs and such grains and fruits as grew wild.

Australian Bushmen Examples.

In the cave dwellings of ancient Europe there have been found charred and cracked marrow bones, and in the prehistoric lake dwellings of Europe have been found the grains from which were made the bread of that remote period. If the primitive people of the present day are taken to show how the earlier races lived, the Australian bushmen are an example of how seeds, fruits, insects and animals and roots are readily used.

Of the food used by the American Indians before they were modified by contact with the whites much information is available. It is known that they extensively cultivated grain, pumpkins, beans, maize and sunflowers, besides hunting and fishing. Animals and fish were extensively eaten, and large quantities of these were dried and smoked for the winter. Special arrangements were made to secure fat, according to the early chroniclers, and bear fat and other animal fats were collected, as well as oil from sunflower seed.

The diet of the Indians seems to have been extensive and well balanced. The remoter Indian tribes of Mexico show the same conditions today, modified somewhat by surroundings and circumstances.

Racial custom does not persist among human beings. It has been found among immigrants to the United States that while old people, as a rule, cling to food customs they brought with them, the second generation usually takes to the more varied diet of the modern community in which it lives.

Diets Suited to Climates.

Turning to the Eskimos, they are taken as the nearest representatives of glacial man on the earth today, and their diet, consisting largely of meat, fat and heat producing food, is suited to their environment, as is the easily obtained vegetable diet to the inhabitants of the tropics.

In speaking of the peasants of Europe and Ireland, Mr. Langworthy says that popular writers who speak of their "almost exclusive potato diet" fall, as a rule, to observe the skimmilk and bacon that go with the ration. In the same way, while rice takes the place of wheat in the diet of the Japanese and Chinese, they do not perform severe manual labor on a handful of rice, as has been frequently alleged. They always use a large variety of vegetables, fresh and preserved fruits, fish and beans and other legumes. Both races use as large amounts of pork and poultry as their means will allow.

Attention is called also to the fact that the amount of energy and heat forming food depends largely on the size of the person nourished. In this way studies of the dietary of twenty American professional men and a similar number of Japanese show that the Japanese get along with much fewer "calories" of energy making material. The fact was, however, that the Americans averaged 150 pounds in weight and the Japanese 105 pounds. When this difference in size was considered it brought the food figures much closer together.

The popular idea of the natives of India never eating meat is also said to be erroneous, as little account is taken of the large quantities of milk, butter and "ghee" they consume.

R. E. FOY & CO.

Are You Looking

— FOR —

Better Groceries?

This model food store helps you to better things to eat, and no more to pay. The natural instinct of folk is for good things to eat. This Model Food Store teaches a lesson to the economical housewife. It shows her how edibles are rightly kept to maintain perfect sanitation and health properties. It brings to her larder the best things to eat—at no added cost. On a good many things all this betterness brings her a saving.

Labor Saving Hot Weather Food

COOKED HAM, lb. 35c

Note—Most cooked hams offered for sale are not smoked—only the raw ham boiled,

Ours is the genuine cooked

SMOKED HAM—Sliced by machine.

COOKED CORNED BEEF.

Not the canned kind, but the real corned beef, cooked especially for us every day

A Pound 22c.

LUNCHEON TONGUE

Not canned—but the best tongue we can buy and cooked to our order.

A Pound 30c

GERMAN BOLOGNA	15c
PRESSED HAM	18c
GER. FRANKFORTS	15c

CANNED GOODS

R & R Chicken, can	30c
Veal Loaf, large can	15c
P & C Sardines	28c
Norway Sardines	10c

.. CONDENSED MILK

Never mind the milk shortage—our line of canned milk is the best in the city.

BORDEN'S EVAP. CREAM

3 large cans 25c

HIRE'S COND. MILK 10c

FOR LUNCH

Equal Lunch Crackers, 3 lb.	25c
Pearson's Pilot, lb.	10c
Kennedy's Grahams, 3 pkg.	25c

BEVERAGES

Cliquot Club Ginger Ale. Apollinaris, Orangeade, Dole's Pineapple Juice. Orange Sugar. Zip, Grape Juice. Lime Juice.

R. E. FOY & CO.

Water cor. Quincy Street

July 14-2t

QUALITY STORE

Phones 117 and 153

DEMOCRATS ON TRAIL OF GOVERNOR FOSS

Two More Vetoes Overridden In Massachusetts House

Boston, July 14.—The bitter feeling which exists between the legislature and Governor Foss was further accentuated yesterday when the house overrode two more of the governor's vetoes and came within one vote of overriding a third.

The scene in the house was unprecedented. The gallery was treated to the spectacle of two of the Democratic leaders of the house asking for an unanimous vote against the governor, to pass over his veto the bill increasing the compensation of the assistant clerks of the house and senate from $2200 to $2500 a year.

The speeches of the two Democratic leaders were loudly applauded. The vote was 170 to 3, the most decisive vote yet cast against the governor.

Battleships For Turkey.

The porte and the Armstrongs of England have entered into a contract for the immediate construction of an up to date battleship with engines and armament complete. They have also signed a contract for a second battleship if and when the parliament provides funds.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next-of kin and all other persons interested in the estate of Susannah Curtis late of Quincy in said County, deceased:

Whereas, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for Probate, by Henry F. Tilden of Quincy who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, without giving a surety on his official bond; You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Brookline in said County of Norfolk, on the twenty-sixth day of July A. D. 1911, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in Quincy the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, postpaid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this thirteenth day of July in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.

July 14-3t 14, 17, 24

New ork, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

In effect June 4, 1911

The letters in the same line as the figures below stand for different stations and indicate that trains stop as follows.

a	Wollaston,	f	Harrison Square
b	Norfolk Downs	g	Savin Hill
c	Atlantic	h	Crescent Avenue
d	Neponset	i	South Boston
e	Pope's Hill	r	Quincy Adams

Exp—Express train.

TO BOSTON			FROM BOSTON
Leave	Stop	Arrive	Leave	Stop	Arrive
r 5 14	abcdefghi	5 41	5 45	ihgfedcba	6 14 r
r 6 16	abci	6 35	6 12	ihgfedcba	6 39 r
r 6 33	e	6 48	6 30	a	6 47
r 6 40	abcf	7 00	7 15	hgfedcba	7 41 r
r 7 08	abcd	7 30	7 41	a	7 58
r 7 25	d	7 42	7 45	c	8 03 r
r 7 33	Exp	7 48	8 35	cb	8 53
r 7 42	ab	8 00	8 42	a	8 59
7 57	a	8 13	9 10	fedba	9 32 r
r 8 09	abcd	8 31	9 45	a	10 11 r
r 8 30	Exp	8 45	10 15	ihgfedcba	10 41 r
r 8 53	ad	9 10	10 50	Exp	11 05
r 9 15	abc	9 33	11 15	hgfedcba	11 41 r
r 10 03	a	10 20	11 50	a	12 07
r 10 19	abcdefghi	10 45	12 15	hgfedcba	12 41 r
11 12	a	11 28	12 37	a	12 54 r
r 11 24	abcdefgh	11 50	12 50	Exp	1 05
12 04	a	12 20	1 11	fedcba	1 32 r
r 12 25	abcdefghi	12 52	1 45	a	2 02
1 22	a	1 40	2 15	ihgf	2 37 r
2 04	a	2 20	2 35	Exp	2 50
r 2 19	abcdefgh	2 45	3 15	hgfedcba	3 40 r
r 3 13	Exp	3 28	3 45	a	4 02
4 04	a	4 20	4 12	fedcba	4 34 r
r 4 25	abcdefgh	4 51	4 41	d	4 58
5 05	Exp	5 0	5 14	a	5 31 r
r 5 30	abcdefg	5 55	5 21	a	5 42
6 12	a	6 30	5 51	dcb	5 59 r
7 22	Exp	7 37	5 43	a	6 00 r
r 7 30	a	7 46	5 55	fedcba	6 21 r
r 8 07	abcdef	8 30	6 14	Exp	6 30 r
r 9 01	abc	9 20	6 30	ecba	6 51 r
10 04	a	10 20	7 00	fedcba	7 24 r
r 10 07	abcdef	10 30	7 12	a	7 29
r 11 27	abc	11 45	8 05	ba	8 32
			9 25	dba	9 46 r
			10 35	fedcba	11 02 r
			11 10	fedcba	11 35 r
			11 30	ba	11 49

SUNDAYS

r	7 43	abc	8 03	6 30	ba	6 48 r
	8 30	Exp	8 45	45	ihgfedcba	9 13 r
	8 34	abc	8 52	9 05	Exp	9 21
r	8 46	bcdefghi	9 13	10 5	ihgfedcba	10 2 r
r	9 13	abc	9 33	12 15	ihgfedcba	12 42 r
	9 31	a	9 47	12 45	Exp	1 01
	10 23	ac	10 40	1 30	ihgfedcba	1 57 r
	10 31	Exp	10 47	2 15	hgfedcba	2 42 r
	11 00	Exp	11 17	2 45	a	3 02
r	11 16	abcdefghi	11 43	3 15	ihgfedcba	3 42 r
	1 02	Exp	1 17	4 27	cba	4 48 r
r	1 16	abcdefgh	1 43	5 15	ihgfedcba	5 42 r
r	2 10	abc	3 30	6 15	ihgfedcba	6 42 r
r	4 16	abcdefghi	4 43	7 00	cba	7 19 r
r	5 07	abc	5 27	8 15	ihgfedcba	8 41 r
r	6 16	abcdefghi	6 43	8 50	Exp	9 05
r	7 16	abcdefghi	7 42	9 30	ihgfedcba	9 57 r
r	8 11	abcdefghi	8 38	10 45	cba	11 04 r
r	9 07	a	9 22
r	10 46	abc	11 05
r	11 01	abc	11 20

West Quincy for Boston (stopping at East Milton)-6.23, 6.56, 7.17, 8.08, 8.11, 9.07 10.09, 11.01, A. M. 12.09, 1.23, 2.09, 3.18, 4.09, 5.13 6.06, 7.19, 9.09, 11.14 P. M. Sundays- 8.20, 9.20 A. M. 12.59, 5.15, 6.59, 11.02 P. M.

Boston for West Quincy (stopping at East Milton)-6.35, 7.27, 8.23, 9.35, 10.25, 11.35 A. M. 12.25 1.25, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 5.47, 6.18 7.20, 9.10, 11.20 P. M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M.

Boston & Northern St. Ry. Co.

QUINCY DIVISION

TIME TABLE

In effect June 24th, 1911.

Subject to Change Without Notice

Leave QUINCY for

Brockton, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M. then 9.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Brockton, 6.30, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 9.30 P. M Sundays, 8.00A. M. then same as week days.

Braintree, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Braintree, 6.25 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.25 P. M. Sundays, 7.55 A. M. then same as week days.

East Milton, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Milton, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M., and every 20 minutes to 11.45 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.15 midnight.) Sundays, 7.25, A. M. then same as week days.

East Weymouth, 6.00, 6.15, 6.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.42 P. M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Weymouth, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.45 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Holbrook, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M. then 9.50 and 10.20 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Holbrook, 5.55, 6.25, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.00 P. M. Sundays, 8.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Houghs Neck, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 5.20, 5.45, 6.10 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 4.10 P. M. then 4.25, 4.40, 4.55, 5.10, 5.25, 5.40, 5.55, 6.10, 6.25, 6.40, 6.55, 7.10 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 11.10 P. M. then 11.49 P. M. Saturdays and Holidays, 5.20, 5.45, 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, 10.10, 10.40, A. M. then every 15 minutes to 10.40 P. M. then 11.10 and 11.49 P. M. Sundays, 6.50, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, 10.10, 10.40 A. M. then every 15 minutes to 10.40 P. M. then 11.10 P. M. Return, leave Houghs Neck Mondays to Fridays, both inc. 5.45, 6.05, 6.35 A. M. and ever 30 minutes to 4.35 P. M. then 4.50, 5.05, 5.20, 5.35, 5.50, 6.05, 6.20, 6.35, 6.50, 7.05, 7.20, 7.35 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 12.05 midnight. Saturdays and Holidays, 5.45, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05, A. M. then every 15 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.35 and 12.05 P. M. Sundays, 7.20, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05 A. M. then every 15 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.35 P. M.

Nantasket 8.25 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 9.25 P. M. Sundays, 9.25 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Nantasket, 10.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.00 P. M. Sundays, 10.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Hancock Street, 5.45, 6.14, 6.44, 7.14, 7.44, 8.14, 8.35, A. M. then 5, 14, 35 and 44 minutes past each hour to 10.44 P. M. then 12.14 midnight. Sundays 7.14 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Neponset 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, 8.07, 8.35, 8.37, 9.05, 9.37 A. M. then 5, 7, 35 and 37 minutes past each hour to 11.07 P. M. then 12.37 midnight. Sundays, 7.37 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Wollaston, 5.59 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.59 P. M. then 11.14 and 11.44 P. M. Sundays, 6.59 A. M. then same as week days. Return leave Neponset, 6.22 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.22 P. M. then 11.37, 12.07 P. M. Sundays, 7.22 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Norfolk Downs, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 7.55, 8.25, 8.50, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 1.30 P. M. then 2.05, 2.35 P. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.05 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.00 P. M.) Sundays, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Neponset, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 1.35 P. M. then 2.00, 2.30 P. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M.) Sundays, 8.30, 9.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Weymouth Landing, 5.20, 6.00, 6.20, 6.55, 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.00 P. M. Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days. Return leave Weymouth Landing, 5.40, 6.15, A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.15 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Wollaston, 5.59 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.59 P. M. then 11.14 and 11.44 P. M. Sundays, 6.59 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Wollaston, 6.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.30 P. M. then 11.50 and 12.20 P. M. Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days.

West Quincy, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave West Quincy, 6.00, 6.20, 6.50, A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.50 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.20 midnight) Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days.

Leave NEPONSET BRIDGE for Squantum, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 3.30 P. M. then 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30 P. M. then every 60 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Saturdays, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Sundays, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. (Note—Week Days, cars will leave Atlantic Bridge for Squantum, 5.45 and 6.15 A. M.) Return leave Squantum, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 4.05 P. M. then 4.35, 5.05, 5.35, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05 P. M. then every 60 minutes to 11.05 P. M. Saturdays, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 10.05 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. Sundays, 8.05 9.05, 10.05, A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M.

THOMAS GAMMON,
Superintendent.

BETTER Put in Your Winter's Supply

Direct from the mines to our yard comes the coal we have for sale—coal that's famous the country over for its free burning qualities, its low percentage of ash, its freedom from impurities.

It's "full value" fuel, and our method of taking and filling orders ensures satisfaction. Orders placed now save money for buyers.

TAKE A LOOK IN YOUR BIN then act.

SPECIAL RANGE COAL

Stove or Nut

$7.25 Cash

C. PATCH & SON, Inc.

Office, 1422 Hancock Street, Quincy

SHE KNOWS

how important uniform heat in a stove is--knows, too, that gas supplies it without overheating the laundry in the hottest days or wasting fuel the coldest.

'Twill be well and pleasant for you to know how delightfully gas can serve you.

CITIZENS' GAS LIGHT CO.

11 Granite St., Quincy

WHEELER'S

The Store for Ladies' Furnishings

We will continue our Sale of Shirt Waists and Long Gloves

See what we offer in Shirt Waists for 79c and 98c and Long Gloves for 50c and 75c

We are also showing a new line of Children's Parasols, all colors, for 25c and 29c

WE GIVE CASH DISCOUNT SLIPS

City Square G. W. WHEELER Quincy

GET THE HELP QUINCY GROW HABIT

Quincy Daily Ledger

HIGH TIDE FOR WEEK.

Monday, July 10,	11.00	11.00
Tuesday,	11.30	11.45
Wednesday,	1200	12.15
Thursday,	12.15	12.45
Friday,	1.00	1.30
Saturday,	1.45	2.00
Sunday,	2.15	2.45

1911 JULY 1911

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
						1
2	3	4	5	6	7	8
9	10	11	12	13	14	15
16	17	18	19	20	21	22
23	24	25	26	27	28	29
30	31

BRIEFS

The northerly side of School street is being resurfaced. It is a much needed job.

The Calvary Baptist Sunday school picnic will be held at Highland park, Brockton tomorrow.

Have you got your water and tax bill yet? If not do not worry for they will come all too soon.

The Young Peoples society of the Swedish Lutheran church will hold a lawn party at the home of August Viden, Penn's hill, on Saturday evening.

A bill introduced in the legislature Thursday, obliges the registrars of voters to meet at least once a week during August to certify names on nomination papers.

The legislature is expected to wind up its business today, although it may be late this afternoon. The closing of the legislature is usually marked with a mock session.

Miss Eleanor Willingmyer, who has been spending a month with her aunt Mrs. George A. Sidelinger of Presidents hill, returned to her home in Middleport, N. Y. Wednesday evening.

Today is the day of the wild west show and the streets were full of young people this morning to see the parade and Indians. They are exhibiting on the Water street ball grounds.

A horse attached to one of Blacker & Sheppards lunmber wagons was overcome with heat on Hancock street near the car barn Thursday evening He was taken into a near by field where he died.

The picnic of the First Presbyterian Bible school will take place tomorrow at Nantasket beach. Cars will leave the church at 9 o'clock in the morning and the return will be made at about 5.30.

The cool evening Thursday was a very welcome change. People who have been sleeping on the floors and out of doors in hammocks during the hot spell found the sleeping rooms comfortable and the beds much easier than hard floors.

How happy the members of the City Council must feel that they did not have to be in session the hot nights we have been experiencing. They succeeded in clearing up the calendar pretty well so that there will not be much to do in the fall when they meet again.

ARTHUR MITCHELL.

The funeral of Arthur Mitchell was held Thursday afternoon from his late residence at Atlantic. The services were conducted by Rev. Edward Norton and were largely attended. During the services music was furnished by a quartette. The burial was at Mt. Wollaston cemetery.

Mr. Mitchell was widely known about South Quincy where he had been identified with the granite business ever since a young men. His particular branch of the business was tool sharpening and for years he was connected with the Mitchell Granite Co.

ORDER ABOUT USING WATER.

The police have been notified to take notice of any persons using lawn hose, other than between the hours of 7 and 8 P. M. and report the same to the chief. One or two examples will make people learn that when there is a shortage of water and the order goes out not to waste water that the order must be obeyed.

"I hear," stated the real estate dealer, "that many farms in this vicinity have recently changed hands."

"Yep," responded old Farmer Coboss. "Hired men like to move about."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

HUSTLE IN THE GRANITE TRADE

(Continued from Page One.)

Many granite men at South Quincy heard with regret of the death of Arthur Mitchell. Mr. Mitchell was a tool sharpener and he has been a familiar figure about South Quincy for many years.

Henry McGrath of McGrath Bros., who has been seriously ill has so far recovered from his illness that he is able to go away for a rest and he is now convalescing at the Weirs, N. H. His many friends wish him a pleasant trip and a rapid recovery.

Alexander Falconer & Co. have been awarded the contract for the 15,000 paving blocks for the paving of a part of Intervale street. Owing to the action of the City Council in stipulating what the size of the blocks shall be, there will probably not be any municipal campaign material in this job, next December.

Granite men are deeply interested in the prospect of the development of Quincy's superb water front. Today there are thousands of tons of what is known as grout lying about the different quarries and stone sheds for which there is a good market but which the Quincy men are unable to enter into on account of lack of proper facilities for shipping. Of course it could be shipped by rail but the tariff would be so great that other granite centres can bid way below Quincy.

The Granite Manufacturers association continue to hold monthly meetings but owing to the warm weather not much business is transacted. Just as the present time the members are thinking about their annual summer outing. For the past two years this has been held at Bass Point and the manufacturers have been more than pleased with the way the hotels there have taken care of them. It is safe to say therefore that this year will see them at this same resort.

FLAMES STILL RAGE AT YORK

(Continued from Page One.)

Waterboro Fire Checked

South Waterboro, Me., July 14.—With the dropping of the wind at sundown last night the 600 or more fire fighters, battling with the smoke and cinders and flames in the woods between here and East Waterboro, sent back word that the forest fire was apparently under control and had stopped spreading.

Altogether more than 500 acres of timber growth has been burned over by the fires which, after wiping out nearly the entire village, swept on into the woods.

The total fire loss, including the forty buildings burned in the village and the timber growth destroyed outside, it is conservatively estimated, will be in the vicinity of $100,000.

HUNDREDS ARE KILLED

Flames Sweep Porcupine District of Canada With Terrible Effect

Toronto, July 14.—Reports from the fire zone at Porcupine are hourly growing worse and in addition to fifty coffins previously shipped, a carload of caskets was sent in yesterday. It is estimated that the death toll will be hundreds, while thousands of men are straggling into the settlements severely burned and wearied to the limit of human endurance. Everyone brings reports of many dead bodies lying along trails and at the edge of small lakes where the fire overcame them.

The wind was blowing with a velocity of sixty miles an hour and Porcupine lake was lashed into fury of mountainous waves, preventing boats engaged in work of rescue, although women and children were taken from South Porcupine to Golden City, braving boldly the danger of drowning to take the helpless from the greater danger of burning.

Everything, including the wharf, burned to the water's edge at South Porcupine, forcing people to wade into the water up to their necks.

The greatest catastrophe appears to have occurred at South Porcupine, where 600 people sought refuge in the lake. Of these 200 lost their lives, according to a private message received here from a prospector, who was in the lake when the fire was at its height. Boats and canoes in which they had put off from the furnace-like shore were upset by squalls.

Timber Loss Is $1,500,000

Detroit, July 14.—Reports from both the Lake Huron shore and the Michigan Central districts of northern Michigan indicate that for the present the greatest peril of the forest fires is over.

The situation at Oscoda and Au Sable is relieved. Scarcely 300 people remain at the sites of the stricken towns, and all are being housed in military tents and have a plentiful supply of food for the present. The principal demand for relief is at the Tewases, where at least 500 refugees are quartered.

Lumber losses in Otsego, Montmorency, Crawford, Oseoda and Cheboygan counties will total more than $1,000,000.

INVESTITURE OF KING'S SON

Carnarvon In Festal Attire For Historical Ceremony

ANCIENT CASTLE THE SCENE

Two Processions Witnessed by Thousands of Welshmen From Surrounding Country—King Invests Prince of Wales With Coronet, Golden Verge and Ring of Gold, Each Emblem Having Particular Significance

Carnarvon, Wales, July 14.—In the old and well-preserved castle of Carnarvon the young Prince of Wales was invested with the insignia of his high office. The quaint town in festal attire made a holiday and drew within its borders thousands of Welshmen from the surrounding country.

The weather was matchless, and two hours before the arrival of their majesties with the prince great crowds had gathered along the route from Griffith's Crossing, where the royal party alighted, to the castle.

The scene within the castle was picturesque, the vast enclosure within the towers and battlement walls forming an ideal setting for the ceremonial. The outer and inner baileys were lined with stands enabling several thousand persons to obtain an excellent view. Their majesties and the prince received an enthusiastic reception.

King George and Queen Mary with the prince came on the royal yacht Victoria and Albert from Ireland to Holy Head. A special train brought them from Holy Head to Griffith's Crossing. Carnarvon was entered by the north road and the party proceeded through the main street to the great castle square. There, on a platform in the centre of the square, the mayor and corporation received the royal visitors and presented addresses.

From the castle square to the first entrance into the castle there were two processions, that of the Prince of Wales preceding that of their majesties by a few minutes.

In the towers near the entrance two suites of royal apartments had been prepared for their majesties and the prince, and to these they retired and were robed for the ceremonial. When they again appeared the processions were reversed, the king and queen with their suites preceding the prince and his supporters.

The party proceeded to a raised platform in the centre of the great inner courtyard where the investure took place. As the king and queen appeared in the open air, the choir sang "God Save the King." This was followed by the singing of "God Bless the Prince of Wales," as the prince appeared and approached his parents, who had taken their places on the dais.

The prince in his surcoat, cloak and mantle of crimson velvet, presented himself before the king, who placed a crimson velvet cap ornamented with ermine and a coronet on the head of his son as a token of principality. In the hand of the prince his majesty placed a golden verge, as the emblem of government, and on his middle finger a ring of gold signifying that he must be a husband to his country and a father to his people.

While his majesty was investing his son with the insignia, the letters patent authorizing the prince to hold the principality of Wales in trust for the King of England were read and later handed to him.

The service of consecration followed, the bishops of St. Asaph and Bangor officiating, being assisted by two Welsh Nonconformist ministers. The processions then reformed and moved to the queen's gate of the castle, where the king presented the Prince of Wales to the people. The prince addressed a few words in Cymric to the cheering thousands.

FEDERAL EXPRESS WRECK

Government Inspectors Detailed to Make Investigation

Bridgeport, Conn., July 14.—Three inspectors from Washington will investigate the wrecking of the Federal express. After they have reported upon the wreck and its cause, the interstate commerce commission will conduct an investigation.

With fourteen bodies of the victims of the wreck recovered and identified, Coroner Wilson announced that his investigation would be begun today. An independent investigation of some features of the wreck is under consideration.

FALLS SEVENTY-FIVE FEET

Amateur Aviator Killed While Taking Tests For Pilot's License

Chicago, July 14.—D. A. Kreamer, an amateur aviator, fell seventy-five feet with his biplane and was killed. His engine fell on his back, crushing him.

Kreamer had gone 1½ of the five kilometres required by the test. Then in making a left hand turn he banked his machine too steeply and it turned over and dived to earth.

PRINCE OF WALES

King's Son Formally Invested With Title

© 1911, by American Press Association.

INTERNAL REVENUE MEN ARE INDICTED

Charged With Accepting Bribes In Butterine Frauds

Chicago, July 14.—Two revenue officers and former government officials are charged with accepting bribes in indictments returned by a federal grand jury.

Twenty-one officers and employes of butterine manufacturers are charged with conspiracy to defraud the government out of the butterine tax, the bribery of government officials, it is charged, being a part of the conspiracy.

The government is said to have lost hundreds of thousands of dollars by the alleged frauds.

The grand jury also returned a special report, charging three revenue department employes with giving the secrets of the jury room to interested persons and these men have been summoned before Judge Landis to show cause why they should not be punished for contempt.

VETERAN WAS "HARD UP"

Man Nearly Ninety Years Old Gives Policeman a Long Chase

Boston, July 14.—William Dunn, a Civil war veteran, was before Judge Bennett, in the municipal court, for the larceny of a coat and vest. He was sentenced to the house of correction for six months.

Dunn is 88 years old and recently came to Boston from the Soldiers' Home at Togus, Me. He wandered into a lodging house at 1084 Washington streeet and stole a coat and vest. He was seen by the landlady, who chased him through several streets.

Despite his age Dunn traveled fast and was finally run down by a patrolman on Castle street. Dunn told the court that he was "hard up."

AIMED AT "LOAN SHARKS"

Bill Goes Through Bay State Legislature In Record Time

Boston, July 14.—The anti-loan shark bill was passed unanimously to be engrossed by the Masasachusetts senate late yesterday afternoon. It is known as the Tinkham-Cavanaugh bill and will curb the money lenders who prey upon borrowers.

The bill was unanimously passed by the house a week ago. It went through the legislature in record time. Its speedy progress has been one of the wonders of this year's legislature.

The measure now goes to the secretary of state to be placed on parchment and next it will be enacted by both branches and sent to Governor Foss to sign.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, Lucas County, ss.

Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure. FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

(Seal) A. W. GLEASON, Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

HOME TRADE WILL HELP QUINCY AND EVERYONE IN QUINCY.

UPHOLSTERING

My only ambition is to get the work and to show the people of Quincy Town that nobody can beat me with my good work. Low prices on all kinds of furniture, repairing, mattresses, and cushions. Can give references. M. Mirkin 67 Washington street, next to Y.M.C.A. Quincy. Tel. 1112W. April 10-4mo.

JAMES F. BURKE

Real Estate and Insurance

AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES

ustice of the Peace Notary Public

Room 4, Savings Bank Building

Tel. 385-3 Jan. 17-tf

A. M. DEANE & CO.

MONUMENTS

MEMORIALS ERECTED IN ANY CEMETERY IN THE UNITED STATES

Aug. 1, 1y

LEWIS N. CURTIS,

PAINTER and GLAZIER.

LEADED STAINED GLASS.

DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER!

OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.

Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

R. D. CHASE

QUINCY MASS.

HOUSEKEEPERS

TELL YOUR TROUBLES

HOLMES & HALL

We make a business of repairing the things about the house that get out of order such as DOORS, LOCKS, SHADES, BELLS and FURNITURE.

96 Washington St., Quincy

TELEPHONE 974 L

PATTERSON, "The Florist"

92 South Central Ave.

WOLLASTON, MASS.

Telephone 392 Quincy

STORAGE

— FOR —

Furniture and Pianos

Storage Warehouse with Separate Rooms

Furniture and Piano Movers

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.

1495 Hancock Street, Quincy Tel. Con.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

FIRE INSURANCE.

The Best Insurance. The Lowest Rates.

Insurance Department,

1495 Hancock Street, Quincy.

Telephone, Quincy 97-3.

Quincy Savings Bank

BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.

SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.

CLARENCE BURGIN, Treasurer.

HERBERT A. HAYDEN

Piano Tuner

Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock treet, Quincy.

Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point

Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1133 M Nov. 3-tf

M. T. SULLIVAN

Real Estate Insurance

Auctioneer Care of Property

Justice of the Peace

Corner School and Hancock Streets

QUINCY.

PATENTS

PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES. Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent. Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively. Write or come to us at 710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office, WASHINGTON, D. C.

CA·SNOW &C

PHOLSTERING

ambition is to get the work ow the people of Quincy nobody can beat me with ork. Low prices on all furniture, repairing, mat
d cushions. Can give refer-
. Mirkin 67 Washington
t to Y.M.C.A. Quincy. Tel.
April 10-4mo.

ES F. BURKE
state and Insurance
NVEYER MORTGAGES
e Peace Notary Public
4, Savings Bank Building
Jan. 17-tf

. DEANE & CO.
NUMENTS
MORIALS ERECTED
IN ANY
CEMETERY
IN THE
UNITED STATES
Aug. 1-1y

S N. CURTIS,
ER and GLAZIER.
ED STAINED GLASS.
R and PAPER HANGER!
URNITURE REFINISHED.
Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

USEKEEPERS
OUR TROUBLES
MES & HALL
a business of repairing about the house that get der such as DOORS,
SHADES, BELLS and RE.
hington St., Quincy
EPHONE 974 L

SON, "The Florist"
uth Central Ave.
ASTON, MASS.
32 Quincy

TORAGE
— FOR — re and Pianos
House with Separate Rooms
re and Piano Movers
L. KINCAIDE & CO.
Street, Quincy Tel. Con.

KINCAIDE & CO.
INSURANCE.
rance. The Lowest Rates.
nce Department,
rfock Street, Quincy.
phone, Quincy 97-3.

Savings Bank
URS: Every Business
Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 8
Y—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.
LARENCE BURGIN,
Treasurer.

RT A. HAYDEN
no Tuner
Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock
Cleverly Court, Quincy Point
ey. 1135 M Nov. 3-tf

SULLIVAN
Insurance
Care of Property
e of the Peace
ol and Hancock Streets
QUINCY.

TENTS
ND DEFENDED. Send model, free expert search and free report to obtain patents, trade marks,
IN ALL COUNTRIES.
with Washington saves time,
the patent.
ngement Practice Exclusively.
Patents
Near United States Patent Office,
SHINGTON, D. C.
SNOW &

AMUSEMENTS

DOINGS ON THE STAGE OF

LOCAL AND BOSTON THEATRES

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE.

Unquestionably the biggest event in vaudeville in recent years is announced for B. F. Keith's Theatre next week in "The Meistersinger All-Star Minstrels," which will be put on in the style for which Mr. Keith has become famous, with the greatest organization of soloists, minstrel endmen, and musicians, that has ever been brought together. In "The Meistersingers" who have been for four weeks the leading feature at B. F. Keith's, there is the greatest combination of male voices that has ever been in a minstrel circle, and the end men will number four, whose names are known the width and breadth of the land. They will be George Thatcher, of Thatcher, Primrose & West's Minstrels, the famous Lew Benedict, Hughie Dougherty, the great Philadelphia minstrel, and John Healy, who has been specially engaged from Al G. Fields' Western Minstrels, for this occasion. The interlocutor will be Hary W. Morse, late of Cohan & Harris' and Lew Dockstader's Minstrels. There will be over fifty people on the stage, the biggest circle ever shown. The boys and girls of the present generation, who have never seen a real old style minstrel show, should be brought to see these famous artists and company of great singers. Outside of the minstrels, there will be a typical B. F. Keith program of all-star vaudeville. It will include the wonderful Ergotti Lilliputians, in acrobatic feats; the Great Howard Scotch ventriloquist; Farnum & Clark Sisters, in songs and dances; the Grazers, dancing musicians; Clemens & Dean, the English entertainers; and others.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

"My Friend from India" has always proved irresistible, and its production at the Castle Square next week is certain to be welcomed. Its plot is brief and simple as well as comical and laughable. In New York lives a wealthy pork packer from Kansas City, and like many others he has social ambitions that they wish, but find had work, to gratify. By chance the son of the family comes across a little man who looks like an East Indian, and he is instructed to play the role of a strange and wise theosophist and be dragged about as a celebrity. Then come the complications and the rapid progress of the plot through them. Droll dialogue and funny episodes—best of all the mirror scene which inevitably sets the audience in a roar of laughter—keep the fun going till the curtain falls. The cast selected by Mr. Craig will do full justice to the play. The title character will be played by Donald Meek, and with all the other favorite Castle Square players assisting there can be no doubt as to the warmth of its reception. It will be given for one week only.

MAJESTIC THEATRE.

The biggest laughing hit in several seasons, "Boys of Co. B," will be the offering of the Lindsay Morison Stock Company, at the Majestic Theatre the coming week, every afternoon and evening. The comedy is from the able pen of Rida Johnson Young, whose other comedy contributions to the stage, "Brown of Harvard," and "The Lottery Man," are recognized from one end of the country to the other as the greatest laugh producers of a decade. When Mr. Morison presented the stock company at the Boston Theatre in this comedy it continued for three weeks, such a popular appeal did its merriment and capital production make; and the receipts were larger than for any other play in the entire repertoire that season. With a new and more elaborate production and the full strength of the Morison Stock Company utilized to ideally cast the leading roles, an interpretation of "Boys of Co. B" even more popular than before is sincerely expected. Mr. Wilson Melrose is capitally cast as Tony Allen; Miss Eleanor Gordon has a delightful part well suited to her personality in Eileen MacLane; Mrs. Hibbard will be seen to splendid advantage in the role of Mrs. MacLane, and Rose Morison is well cast as Madge Blake.

HIGHLAND PARK.

Next week, there will be at Highland Park, every afternoon and evening, one of the most sensational of the free attractions which will appear there this season. The attraction will be Rollo the Limit, who Loops the Loop without a Loop, and who justly earned his title by his thorough defiance of danger. He starts down a high narrow incline on roller skates, dashing down at high speed. When he reaches the foot of the incline the slight curve throws him in swift summersault in the air, in which he describes a perfect loop. He lands upon a continuation of the incline beyond the gap and finished his descent to the ground. At the theatre the lively musical comedy "The Elopers," will be presented by an extremely fine company under the management of Joseph J. Flint. It will be brilliantly costumed and is full of fun and catchy music. On Sunday evening there will be a new program of moving pictures. Many new attractions have been added to the regular park attractions this year and there is something to interest and amuse every moment.

PARAGON PARK.

The question was raise d the other day among a party of newspaper men as to whether it was possible that there was anyone able to read a newspaper in England who did not know about that 7th epicurean wonder of the world, now in its seventh season, the Palm garden at Paragon Park. Admitting that of course there were a few people who never knew anything that was going on in the world, and therefore would not be interested at all in such a novel place to dine, the general concensus of opinion seemed to be that at least everybody knew of it. But it must be admitted that only those who have known the pleasure and unique joy of supping and wining at its tables can appreciate it to its fullest measure. It may not be generally realized that even New York with its wonderful variety of attractions, beach and summer resorts, has not a place like the Palm Garden and roof garden, seating 1500 people at one time at dinner, commanding a fine view of a brilliantly illuminated park and its thousands of people parading the broad walk about the lagoon, where one may linger over the wine list or the menu while watching the long list of free circus acts, the fireworks displays, and listen to the concerts of the band, the orchestra, a grand opera trio of singers, a quartette of singers and a soloist.

The Cost of Beauty of a clear, fresh skin and of a matchless complexion, is the low price of the soap, famous for its purity and good results—

Pears' SOAP

15c. a Cake for the Unscented

Sheriff's Sale

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
Norfolk, ss.

Quincy, June 6th, A. D., 1911.

Seized on execution and will be sold at public auction on Saturday the 22nd day of July 1911 at 9 o'clock A. M., at my residence No. 163 Franklin Street in Quincy in said County, all the right, title and interest which Peter T. Fallon had (not exempt by law from attachment or levy on execution) on the 6th day of June, 1911 at 9 o'clock A. M. (being the time the same was seized on execution) in and to the following described real estate, to wit:—

Two parcels of land in said Quincy:

First parcel situated on the westerly side of Quarry Street, bounded and described as follows:

Easterly by Quarry Street, two hundred sixty-nine (269) feet, more or less and on land formerly of Richard Mann & Company, two hundred twenty-one (221) feet, more or less; Southerly, Five hundred twenty (520) feet, more or less; Southwesterly, Five hundred thirty-two (532) feet, more or less and Northerly, Seven hundred eighty (780) feet, more or less on land formerly of the heirs of Josiah Bass.

Second parcel situated on the Southwesterly side of Quarry street, bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at a point at the Northeasterly corner of land now or formerly owned by Eleazer Frederick and William Field as shown on a plan by H. T. Whitman and C. E. Breck, November 1871 and recorded with Norfolk Deeds, thence running Northwesterly along said Quarry Street; Three hundred seventy (370) feet, more or less to an iron bolt in a rock near the Northerly end of an old stone wall, said rock is marked with a letter "C" cut in the rock on the Easterly side of the bolt, and the letter "S" cut in the rock on the Westerly side of the bolt; thence turning and running in a Southwesterly direction along the line of land of Nathaniel M. Safford to an iron bolt in a rock; said rock being marked "C" on the East side and the letter "S" cut in the rock on the West side; thence continuing in a straight line to the Northerly line of land formerly owned by Eleazer Frederick and William Field, being a distance of Two hundred sixty (260) feet, more or less; thence turning and running in an Easterly direction along the line of land now or formerly owned by said Frederick and Field, Three hundred eighty-five (385) feet, more or less to the point of beginning on the southwesterly side of said Quarry Street.

GEORGE H. FIELD.
Deputy Sheriff.
July 7-3t 7, 14, 21

PATENTS

TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 36 years experience.
Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.
READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.

D. SWIFT & CO.
PATENT LAWYERS,
303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

BODY FOUND IN LAKE

Fears That Young Woman May Have Met With Foul Play

Boston, July 14.—Two stickpins, a Burdett college and a Ninth regiment, have been secured by the police of Greater Boston as aids in establishing the identity of a young woman whose body was found in Crystal lake, Newton, yesterday afternoon.

Although Medical Examiner West, who examined the body, and Chief Mitchell of the Newton police department have said that they are of the opinion that the young woman is a suicide, there are marks on the girl's face that might have resulted from blows.

Insurgents Head Educators

San Francisco, July 14.—Carroll G. Pearse of Milwaukee was elected president and Miss Catherine Blake of New York was elected treasurer by the National Educational association convention. Both are "insurgents."

THE DANGER TRAIL

By JAMES OLIVER CURWOOD

Copyright, 1910, by Bobbs-Merrill Company.

SYNOPSIS

Jack Howland, engineer, sent to build the Hudson Bay railroad, is appealed to for help by a beautiful girl who writes that she is a mute and invites him to accompany her. They are followed by Jean Croisset, half breed.

They go to her camp. He is attacked and nearly killed by a huge stranger. The girl disappears. Howland hears her speak. Croisset gives him the little Meleese's warning not to go north. He goes.

Howland again sees the girl, who tells him by note his life is in danger. She asks his forgiveness. Gregson and Thorne are mere wrecks of their former selves.

Mysterious perils threaten Howland. The girl visits him and confesses that she had lied to him. She entreats him to return south.

He tells her he loves her. Her name is Meleese. She partly promises to tell him why enemies seek his life.

Howland is lured to a mine, taken prisoner and bound to a box of dynamite which is soon to be exploded.

He frees himself and prevents the explosion. Meleese meets him again, refuses to marry him and again lures him into the hands of enemies.

(Continued from last issue)

CHAPTER IX.

A RACE INTO THE NORTH.

He went to the dogs, stirring them up with the cracking of his whip, and when Howland turned to look back he saw a bright flare of light where the other sledge had stopped. A man's voice came from the farther gloom, calling to Croisset in French.

"He tells me I am to take you on alone," said Croisset after he had replied to the words spoken in a patois which Howland could not understand.

"They will join us again very soon."

"They!" exclaimed Howland. "How many will it take to kill me, my dear Croisset?"

The half breed smiled down into his face again.

"You may thank the blessed Virgin that they are with us," he replied softly. "If you have any hope outside of heaven, m'seur, it is on that sledge behind."

As he went again to the dogs, straightening the leader in his traces, Howland stared back at the fire lit space in the forest gloom. He could see a man adding fuel to the blaze and beyond him, shrouded in the deep shadows of the trees, an indistinct tangle of dogs and sledge. As he strained his eyes to discover more there was a movement beyond the figure over the fire, and the young engineer's heart leaped with a sudden thrill. Croisset's voice sounded in a shrill shout behind him, and at that warning cry in French the second figure sprang back into the gloom. But Howland had recognized it, and the chilled blood in his veins leaped into warm life again at the knowledge that it was Meleese who was trailing behind them on the second sledge.

"When you yell like that give me a little warning if you please, Jean," he said, speaking as coolly as though he had not recognized the figure that had come for an instant into the firelight. "It is enough to startle the life out of one."

"It is our way of saying goodby, m'seur," replied Croisset, with a fierce snap of his whip. "Hoo-la, get along there!" he cried to the dogs, and in half a dozen breaths the fire was lost to view.

Dawn comes at about 8 o'clock in the northern midwinter. Beyond the fiftieth degree the first ruddy haze of the sun begins to warm the southeastern skies at 9, and its glow had already risen above the forests before Croisset stopped his team again. For two hours he had not spoken a word to his prisoner, and after several unavailing efforts to break the other's taciturnity Howland lapsed into a silence of his own. When he had brought his tired dogs to a halt Croisset spoke for the first time.

"We are going to camp here for a few hours," he explained. "If you will pledge me your word of honor that you will make no attempt to escape I will give you the use of your legs until after breakfast, m'seur. What do you say?"

"Have you a Bible, Croisset?"

"No, m'seur, but I have the cross of our Virgin, given to me by the missioner at York factory."

"Then I will swear by it. I will swear by all the crosses and all the Bibles in the world that I will make no effort to escape. I am paralyzed, Croisset. I couldn't run for a week."

Croisset was searching in his pockets.

"Mon Dieu," he cried excitedly, "I have lost it! Ah, come to think, m'seur, I gave the cross to my Mariane before I went into the south. But I will take your word."

"And who is Mariane, Jean? Will she also be in at the 'kill?'"

"Mariane is my wife, m'seur. Ah, ma belle Mariane, ma cheri, the daughter of an Indian princess and the granddaughter of a chef de bataillon, m'seur! Could there be better than that? And she is be-e-e-utiful, m'seur, with hair like the top side of a raven's wing with the sun shining on it, and"—

"You love her a great deal, Jean."

"Next to the Virgin—and—it may be a little better."

Croisset had severed the rope about the engineer's legs, and as he raised his glowing eyes Howland reached out and put both hands on his shoulders.

"And in just that way I love Meleese," he said softly. "Jean, won't you be my friend? I don't want to escape. I'm not a coward. Won't you think of what your Mariane might do and be a friend to me? You would die for Mariane if it were necessary. And I would die for the girl back on that sledge."

He had staggered to his feet and pointed into the forests through which they had come.

"I saw her in the firelight, Jean. Why is she following us? Why do they want to kill me? If you would only give me a chance to prove that it is all a mistake—that I"—

Croisset reached out and took his hand.

"M'seur, I would like to help you," he interrupted. "I liked you that night we came in together from the fight on the trail. I have liked you since. And yet, if I was in their place, I would kill you even though I like you. It is a great duty to kill you. They did not do wrong when they tied you in the coyote. They did not do wrong when they tried to kill you on the trail. But I have taken a solemn oath to tell you nothing, nothing beyond this—that so long as you are with me and that sledge is behind us your life is not in danger. I will tell you nothing more. Are you hungry, m'seur?"

"Starved!" said Howland.

He stumbled a few steps out into the snow, the numbness in his limbs forcing him to catch at trees and saplings to save himself from falling. He was astonished at Croisset's words and more confused than ever at the half breed's assurance that his life was no longer in immediate peril. To him this meant that Meleese had not only warned him, but was now playing an active part in preserving his life, and this conclusion added to his perplexity. Who was this girl who a few hours before had deliberately lured him among his enemies and who was now fighting to save him? The question held a deeper significance for him than when he had asked himself this same thing at Prince Albert, and when Croisset called for him to return to the campfire and breakfast he touched once more more the forbidden subject.

"Jean, I don't want to hurt your feelings," he said, seating himself on the sledge, "but I've got to get a few things out of my system. I believe this Meleese of yours is a bad woman."

Like a flash Croisset struck at the bait which Howland threw out to him. He leaned a little forward, a hand quivering on his knife, his eyes flashing fire. Involuntarily the engineer recoiled from that animal-like crouch, from the black rage which was growing each instant in the half breed's face. Yet Croisset spoke softly and without excitement, even while his shoulders and arms were twitching like a forest cat about to spring.

"M'seur, no one in the world must say that about my Mariane, and next to her they must not say it about Meleese. Up there," and he pointed still farther into the north, "I know of a hundred men between the Athabasca and the bay who would kill you for what you have said. And it is not for Jean Croisset to listen to it here. I will kill you unless you take it back!"

"God!" breathed Howland. He looked straight into Croisset's face. "I'm glad—it's so—Jean," he added slowly. "Don't you understand, man? I love her. I didn't mean what I said. I would kill for her, too, Jean. I said that to find out—what you would do."

Slowly Croisset relaxed, a faint smile curling his thin lips.

"If it was a joke, m'seur, it was a bad one."

"It wasn't a joke," cried Howland. "It was a serious effort to make you tell me something about Meleese. Listen, Jean. She told me back there that it was not wrong for me to love her, and when I lay bound and gagged in the snow she came to me and—and kissed me. I don't understand"—

Croisset interrupted him.

"Did she do that, m'seur?"

"I swear it."

"Then you are fortunate," smiled Jean softly, "for I will stake my hope in the blessed hereafter that she has never done that to another man, m'seur. But it will never happen again."

HE LEANED A LITTLE FORWARD, A HAND QUIVERING ON HIS KNIFE.

"I believe that it will—unless you kill me."

"And I shall not hesitate to kill you if I think that it is likely to happen again. There are others who would kill you knowing that it has happened but once. But you must stop this talk, m'seur. If you persist I shall put the rawhide over your mouth again."

"And if I object—fight?"

"You have given me your word of honor. Up here in the big snows the keeping of that word is our first law. If you break it I will kill you."

"Good Lord, but you're a cheerful companion," exclaimed Howland, laughing in spite of himself. "Do you know, Croisset, this whole situation has a good deal of humor as well as tragedy about it. I must be a most important cuss, whoever I am. Ask me who I am, Croisset."

"And who are you, m'seur?"

"I don't know, Jean. Fact, I don't. I used to think that I was a most ambitious young cub in a big engineering establishment down in Chicago. But I guess I was dreaming. Funny dream, wasn't it? Thought I came up here to build a road somewhere through these infernal—no, I mean these beautiful snows—but my mind must have been wandering again. Hello! Are you going to start so soon?"

"Right away, m'seur," said Croisset, who was stirring up the dogs. "Will you walk and run or ride?"

"Walk and run, with your permission."

"You have it, m'seur, but if you attempt to escape I must shoot you. Run on the right of the dogs, even with me I will take this side."

(To be Continued.)

AGAIN AFTER WILEY'S SCALP

President Is Advised to Oust Him on a Technicality

DOCTOR IS NOT DISTURBED

Payment of Illegal Salary to Expert Is Charged Against Man Who Has Been Long Pursued by Adulterators of Food—No Resignation Is Expected, Nor Is President Likely to Approve Recommendations

Washington, July 14.—After having failed in many vigorous efforts to separate Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, the pure food expert, from his place at the head of the bureau of chemistry in the department of agriculture, his opponents think they see a way to succeed in their desire, and to carry with his retirement the reduction of L. F. Kebler, chief of the division of drugs, and the dismissal of Dr. H. H. Rusby, head of the New York college of pharmacy at Columbia university, employed by the drug division as an expert pharmacognocist.

There are strong intimations at the White House that the president has no thought of approving the recommendations of the committee on personnel. It is admitted on all sides that the question involves a technicality only.

It is well known that the members of the committee who recommended Wiley's dismissal, or rather that he be permitted to resign, have long been hostile to him. It is not the first time some of the members of that board have attempted to create a situation that would embarrass Wiley. Of course, the enemies of Wiley among the food manufacturers, and there are plenty of them, are elated over the recommendation of the committee that he be asked by the president to resign.

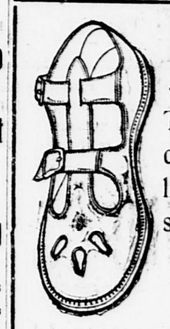
All the papers in the case have been referred to Wiley and no action whatever will be taken by the administration pending receipt of reply from the doctor. These papers, including Attorney General Wickersham's analysis of the circumstances under which Rusby was engaged as pharmacognocist in the bureau of chemistry, and Wickersham's conclusion that the alleged payment of an illegal salary to the expert "certainly merits condign punishment," were received at the White House three days ago and immediatey forwarded to Wiley for his perusal.

Secretary Hilles knows little about the merits of the case and it cannot be learned that President Taft has shown any excited interest in what general opinion in Washington regards as another attempt of the would-be adulterators of foods and drugs to rid the government service of a man who has made the food and drugs act a living statute. No resignation from Wiley has been received, nor is any expected. It never has been Wiley's custom to resign under fire, although he has been given innumerable opportunities in the course of his twenty-eight years of service in the department.

A careful reading of the papers in the case indicates that Wiley has been guilty, if of anything unlawful, of nothing more than an attempt to get around the rigid prohibitions of the law and secure for the government the services of one of the most distinguished drug experts in the country. His guilt, if it exists, is purely technical.

Berlin Is Baking

Berlin, July 14.—A fierce heat wave prevails here. The price of ice has been raised and the streets are deserted.



BAREFOOT SANDALS

The best thing for the children to wear during the warm weather. They are light and comfortable and give good satisfaction.

CHILDS 5 to 8 45c
MISSES 8 to 11 50c

HEFFERNAN'S SHOE STORE
1375 Hancock Street, Quincy

ROOSTER COAL BRIQUETS

THE NEW ANTHRACITE COAL

ROOSTER BRIQUETS are made from the choicest small Scranton Anthracite coal, mined in Pennsylvania, called TWENTIETH CENTURY CHESTNUT size.

Just consider for a moment what we offer here in this 20th CENTURY CHESTNUT.

First, 200 pounds of clean, pure, hard coal without a rock or a piece of slate.

Second, fuel that cannot form into a clinker, by any known method of firing, consequently the linings and grates last indefinitely.

Third, they are made in nut size, being equally convenient for furnace heaters, open grates, as well as stoves; therefore, only one storage bin is necessary.

Fourth, and very IMPORTANT, the quality of this fuel is the SAME EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR, not a good ton today, and nothing like it the next time, in other words, when you once learn how to regulate your drafts you have nothing more to learn about burning BRIQUETS.

Fifth, no more sifting ashes these Briquets burn out clean. They require less wood to kindle.

Be sure to ask for "ROOSTERS" and get the Briquet made from pure Scranton Coal, from the largest Briquet plant in the country. They are better than coal, will last as long and cost less.

J. F. SHEPPARD & SONS,
AGENTS

THE BEST WHEEL WINS

and you can always count on the Hartford bicycle being the victor not only in speed heats, but at every point. Experience and skill have been so thoroughly applied in their construction that they have reached the highest degree in mechanical perfection.

NEW and SECOND-HAND BICYCLES
Sundries and Repairing

HUB CYCLE CO.
Thomas Nelson, 20 Granite Street, QUINCY
Agency for Hartford and Columbia Bicycles
May 15-2m

YOUR VACATION
WON'T BE COMPLETE
UNLESS YOU LEAVE
AN ORDER FOR THE
QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
TO BE FORWARDED TO YOU
NEWS FROM HOME EVERY DAY
FOR ONLY TWO CENTS

Quincy Daily Ledger

FOR SALE AT

BOSTON—At South Station after 3.30 P. M.
QUINCY—Ledger Office 1424 Hancock Street.
L. A. Chapin, 1395 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, oppo. Depot.
Thompson's Waiting Room, City Sq.
H. P. Kittredge, City Square.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
Mrs. Madden, 16 Quincy ave.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's News Stand.
PARK&DOWNS—Branschled & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschled & Marten.
QUINCY NECK—Stetson Pierce, Newcomb Square.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith, Washington Street.
Gragg's Pharmacy.
L. A. Cook, Washington Street.
E. O. Godfrey, 538 Washington St.
E. H. Lowe, Washington Street.
George E. Sprague Cor. River St.
SOUTH QUINCY—Litchfield, Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Miss C. Booth, Brooks Avenue.
BREWER'S CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
Mrs. F. H. Stanley.
WEST QUINCY—F. A. Skinner.
John G. Belanger.
HOUGHS NECK—Capt. Fosdick's.

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	84 degrees
July 14, 1910,	88 degrees
July 14, 1909,	90 degrees
July Noon Maximum, 14 years,	101
July Noon Minimum, 14 years.	60

Where Most of It Went.

Poet—You say you love poetry?
She—I adore it. I read it in the very fire.
Poet—Ah! Then no doubt you have read mine there.

BRIEFS

Miss Cynthia Curtis of the Ledger force is enjoying a weeks' vacation.

The lawn party of the Park and Downs church will be held Saturday afternoon and evening on the Massachusetts Felds playground.

"Jim" Murray, the popular officer on the City Square beat will be back at work tomorrow after several weeks absence.

Mrs. Margaret Bradley of Worcester is spending a few weeks with her daughter Mrs. Margaret Hyland of Walnut avenue, Weymouth.

Mrs. W. I. Arnold of Braintree, who is spending the summer with her family at Germantown, is entertaining today the 1910 Bridge club of Braintree on an all day outing.

The West Boston district of Epworth leagues will have a picnic at Houghton's pond, Milton tomorrow. The Wollaston and West Quincy Methodist churches are in this district and a large number of the young people of the Epworth leagues are planning to attend.

The building at the corner of Chubbuck and Washington streets which is under construction will contain three stores of good size. Mrs. Stevens is having the building erected and it is rumored that the occupants for the three stores have been secured and will move in as soon as the building is completed. It will be a one story wooden structure facing on Washington street.

MARRIAGES

HALL—NUTTALL—In Cambridge, July 12, Arthur Hall of Cambridge to Katherine Wilhelmina Nuttall of 72 Sumner street, Quincy by Rev. Ranson M. Church.

DEATHS

BARRY—In Quincy, July 12, Mrs. Frances S. Barry in her 71st year. Funeral services at late home 466 Washington street, Saturday, July 15 at 2.30 P. M. Relatives and friends invited. 13-2t

Established 1870 Telephone
JOHN HALL
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
Carriage and Ambulance Service
1485 Hancock Street, Quincy Mass.

AMONG THE GRANITE WORKERS

Since the present agreement has been made between the employees and the Granite manufacturers there has not been a single case to come before the adjustment committee, which speaks well for the new scale.

The majority of the manufacturers report that rade is better than it was two weeks ago.

It is reported that the Barre Granite Manufacturers association has started a new scheme which is working very well. The secretary of the association, Charles Wishart, writes to members of the association, asking about certain other members, about whose financial standing or bill paying habits there is some uncertainty. That is, if it is found that a man renews his notes a little too often the matter is looked into by the association, or if there are other reasons to doubt his ability to pay his bills the creditors of course begin to get uneasy and call on the association for that member's standing. It is the Bradstreet idea carried out in a local way. According to the members of the association it is working well and is proving to be a great help to the trade in general.

The large shaft which Robert Cantley is turning will be ready for shipment in a few days and local dealers are watching with considerable interest to see how Mr. Cantley will contrive to get the massive stone to the railroad. It will be quite an achievement in teaming if it is done without a lot of delays. The stone was quarried in the old Hitchcock quarry. Mr. Skinner has declared his intention of photographing the shaft before it is shipped for it is said to be one of the largest contracts ever taken by a local concern and it is considered worthy of special note.

LEGION OF HONOR.

The Order That Was Founded by the Great Napoleon.

THRIVED DESPITE RIDICULE.

The Despotic Corsican Proved by the Inauguration of the Decoration That He Was a Keen Student of French Human Nature.

France owes the Legion of Honor to Napoleon. All orders of chivalry had been abolished by the revolution and had left a gap which it was not easy to fill. "They are mere geegaws," said Monge, the chemist, who had taught the revolutionists how to make gun powder out of plaster of paris. "Gee gaws, if you will," the first consul answered, "but people like them. Let us approach the question frankly. All men are enamored of decorations the French more than any. They positively hunger for them, and they have always done so."

This was at Malmaison in 1802. In May the conseil d'etat was invited to consider the project of the institution of the Legion of Honor. It was ridiculed by many, notably by Moreau who as victor of Hohenlinden was bitterly jealous of the victor of Marengo. At a dinner party he sent for his cook and said to him in the presence of his guests: "Michel, I am pleased with your dinner. You have indeed distinguished yourself. I will award you a saucepan of honor." Mme. de Stael was also satirical upon the subject. "Ah, one of the decorated?" she used to ask each guest who was shown into her salon.

But Napoleon had gauged human nature correctly. His Legion of Honor did meet a felt want, and it was definitely inaugurated on July 14, 1804. Among the eminent men of science and men of letters on whom it was then bestowed were included Laplace, the mathematician; Lalande, the astronomer; Cuvier, the naturalist, and Legouve, the poet. The most notable name omitted was that of Bernardin de St. Pierre, just then in disgrace for championing Mme. de Stael, whom Napoleon had banished, but he got the decoration later on the entreaty of Queen Hortense.

After Napoleon's downfall the question of suppressing the Legion of Honor arose. Chateaubriand, whom Napoleon had not decorated, strongly urged its abolition. So did Puzzo di Borgo. Marshals Victor, Marmont and Macdonald opposed. After debate it was decided to recognize and retain the order, not on any high moral or patriotic grounds, but because Louis XVIII. could not afford to make himself more unpopular than he was already by stripping people of their decorations. Chateaubriand and Lamartine consented to accept the red ribbon, but it was also conferred upon a great number of worthless personages and so brought into contempt.

There have been many Legion of Honor scandals since those days, but one of them surpasses all the others in magnitude. This is, of course, the Wilson scandal, the history of which, though intricate, is worth recalling.

The trouble may be said to have begun on the day on which Mlle. Allee Grevy fell in love with an opera singer who need not be mentioned here. He wanted to marry her, and she wanted to marry him, and the papers were beginning to couple the two names in a manner most embarrassing to the president of the republic. The president, however, sent the opera singer about his business and found his daughter another husband, not a very good husband, but the best husband he could procure on the spur of the moment. His choice fell upon M. Daniel Wilson, who had long been one of M. Grevy's political supporters and was a financier of some mark.

No sooner was M. Wilson established at the Elysee than he proceeded to enrich himself by various means. Among other things he founded a paper called Le Moniteur de l'Exposition Universelle, which really covered a traffic in decorations. The whole story came out in a state trial toward the end of 1887. It was proved that Wilson had made a regular practice of selling the Legion of Honor, or, rather, of inviting people who wanted it to bribe him to use his influence to obtain it for them. His overtures were presented through his jackals, Generals d'Audlan and Cafferel and Mmes. Limousin and Ratazzi, and the whole party had to stand in the dock together.

Wilson was sentenced to two years imprisonment, a fine of 3,000 francs and five years' deprivation of civil rights. He appealed, and the court of cassation annulled the judgment. The accused said the judges, was obviously guilty of everything that he was charged with, but as his offenses were not anticipated by any punitive law he could not be punished. So he retired to the country and tried to live down his bad name. As he ultimately got himself elected conseiller general one must suppose that he succeeded in this object.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Wanted to Unload.

Employer—I hope you save something out of your salary, James! Office Boy—Yes, sir; most all of it, sir. Employer (eagerly)—Do you want to buy an automobile cheap?—Puck.

Leisure is time for doing something useful. This leisure the diligent man will obtain, but the lazy man never.—Franklin.

ESKIMO WIDOWERS.

Six Weeks Is the Limit They Will Wait Before Remarrying.

In civilization it is said that a wife does not always add to her husband's ease or render his life more supportable, but up on the barren grounds the worst of wives would be better than none.

There, among the heathen tribes, if a man's wife dies—provided he is not a polygamist, in which case, says the Wide World, there is less need for hurry—he often marries again within the week.

Even the Christian Eskimo widowers are with difficulty persuaded by the Moravian missionaries to allow six weeks to elapse between the death and remarriage. On the very day after the six weeks have lapsed the hunter presents himself with a new bride and asks that the marriage service may be speedily read.

The reason is not far to seek. It is said in civilization that "a woman's work is never done," and far more is that true of the helpmate of the savage and the semi-savage, the woman of the barren grounds or of the ice edge. She makes and breaks camp, cooks, cuts up and carries to camp her husband's kill. She dresses the skins of deer and seal.

She is responsible for the fashioning of footgear and clothes. On a journey she often paddles the canoe, and on portage she carries a heavy load. In fact, it is easier to write down the duties not expected of a squaw than those which by immemorial custom she must perform.

A Turkish Love Story.

A Turk knocked at his beloved's door, and a voice answered from within, "Who is there?"

Then he answered, "It is I."

Then the voice said, "This house will not hold thee and me."

And the door was not opened.

Then went the lover into the desert, where there is nothing but Allah, and fasted and prayed in solitude.

And after a year he returned and knocked again at the door.

And again the voice asked, "Who is there?"

And he said, "It is thyself."

And the door was opened to him.

How to Keep a Bed From Damp.

The best way to keep a bed from damp, if left for a week or two, is to leave a blanket on the top after it is made. Take the blanket off before using, and you will then find it quite safe.

YOUNG MORRISON WILL RECOVER

Lyman Morrison who was seriously injured in the automobile accident last week is getting along very well and the physician in charge, Dr. Sargent, believes that he will recover in due time.

Miss Marion Bolster of Verchild street starts today for Rock Island where she will spend a week with relatives.

LIVE SPORTING EVENTS

ON THE DIAMOND

American League

At Chicago:	R	H	E
Boston	2	5	1
Chicago	1	5	0

Batteries—Collins and Carrigan; Walsh, Sullivan and Payne.

At Detroit:	R	H	E
Detroit	8	12	3
Philadelphia	7	7	1

Batteries—Lafitte, Summers and Stanage; Morgan, Bender and Thomas.

At Cleveland:	R	H	E
Cleveland	7	11	1
Washington	5	7	2

Batteries—Krapp and Fisher; Johnson and Henry.

At St. Louis:	R	H	E
St. Louis	6	2	3
New York	1	5	4

Batteries—Nelson and Stephens; Ford, Brockett and Sweeney.

National League

At Boston:	R	H	E
St. Louis	8	11	3
Boston	6	9	3

Batteries—Steele and Bresnahan; Weaver, Mattern and Kling.

At New York:	R	H	E
New York	9	13	3
Pittsburg	4	10	1

Batteries—Drucke, Myers and Wilson; Leifield, Gardner and Gibson.

At Brooklyn:	R	H	E
Brooklyn	6	7	2
Chicago	5	12	2

Batteries—Scanlon, Bell, Schardt, Rucker and Erwin; Cole, Richie, Brown and Archer.

At Philadelphia:	R	H	E
Philadelphia	1	4	0
Cincinnati	0	7	2

Batteries—Moore and Dooin; Keefe and McLean.

New England League

At Lowell:	R	H	E
Lowell	7	14	0
Worcester	6	16	3

Batteries—Busick, Lavign and Huston; Van Dyke and McCune.

Second Game:	R	H	E
Lowell	11	17	2
Worcester	2	4	3

Batteries—Maybohm and Huston; Wilson and O'Neil.

At Lynn:	R	H	E
Lynn	5	2	0
Brockton	3	7	1

Batteries—Case and Monahan; Gaw and Wadleigh.

At Haverhill:	R	H	E
New Bedford	15	18	2
Haverhill	2	12	7

Batteries—Pruitt and Rufiange; McIntyre and Milliman.

At Lawrence:	R	H	E
Lawrence	4	9	3
Fall River	2	7	0

Batteries—Luyster and Breymaier; Jensen and Haight.

SATURDAY'S BASEBALL.

South Quincy vs Boston Independents at Ward Three.

Fore River Apprentices vs. Braintree Hillsides at Merrymount park.

Colonials vs. Belmont Independents at Ward Four.

Makaria vs. Hyannis at Hyannis.

Atlantic vs. Roxbury A. A. at Ward Six.

SPORTING NOTES.

Finals in the Quincy Tennis Club Open Doubles will be played on the courts at Whitney road Saturday afternoon. Rockwell and Carleton will play Conant and Tunis, the best three out of five sets. Mrs. Eliot Remick and Mrs. George E. Pfaffmann will be the hostesses of the afternoon. All interested in tennis are invited to be present whether club members or not.

Reports from "Stan" Bates assure us that he is pitching winning ball for the Fredericton, N. B., baseball team. He has been up against such pitchers as George Winter, formerly of the Boston Americans, and has won out in all but one game. In that one he was not put in until the seventh inning after two pitchers had been knocked out of the box and he held the opponents to one hit and got four strikeouts. The Fredericton team is tied for first place in the Maine-New Brunswick league with Calais.

It is said that "Lefty" Ford has given up his position with the St. John, N. B. baseball team.

The Makarias have a nice little trip to Hyannis tomorrow when they go down there to play the Summer Colony team of that town. The boys will have to stay over night at the seashore resort and all of them are looking forward to the refreshing breezes and the swims etc which go with the trip. The game should be one of the best on the Makaria schdule and the local lads will have to work hard to win.

At the open amateur tournament of the Maplewood, N. H., Country club, T. R. Fuller of Wollaston qualified third with an 80. In the first round of match play he defeated A. G. Tenney of Framingham who also qualified at 80, by a score of 3 and 2.

In the Metropolitan open championship tournament played on the links of the Englewood Country club, M. J. Brady of Wollaston and Tom McNamara, formerly of Wollaston were tied with J. R. Johnson of Philadelphia for third prize, each of the three receiving $55. Gilbert Nichols of Wilmington, Del., won the first prize and in doing it broke the world's record for 72 holes by three strokes going the four rounds in 281. J. J. McDermott of Atlantic City, National open champion was two strokes behind Brady and McNamara who did 293.

THE LAND OF PUZZLEDOM.

No. 1363.—Riddles.

I.

Every man on earth has one
And many folk a pair.
One stays at home unless you roam;
You take one everywhere.

There is a certain monstrous beast
That always carries two,
And one of his round one of yours
Would be the last of you.

II.

Slender and frail, cold and pale,
She regularly comes to call,
But as her visit lengthens out
She waxes fat as butter ball.

So fair she grows, such looks she throws,
That many a fancy sweet she stirs,
Yet not a human being knows
The secret of that heart of hers.
—Youth's Companion.

No. 1364.—Charades.

1. My first is a useful farm animal. My second is useful schoolroom articles. The whole is the name of a famous battle.

2. My first is an animal that becomes infuriated by seeing red. My second is what cowards do. The whole is the name of a well known battle.

No. 1365.—Hidden Things on a Party Table.

The lilac and yellow flowers looked well on May's hat.

The fleet alpaca kept the hunter busy.

I planted a bulb on Boniface's grave.

During the panic reams of paper were trampled on.

No. 1366.—Charades.

I.

Found in the battle, feared by every foe,
A terrifying thing, as all must know,
This is my first.
A house of wealth my second is, and mar
May try to imitate, but never can.
It oft has cursed.
But one and two, when rightly they're combined,
Within the bloom of gardens we may find

II.

My first will leap and spring in air
And comes to hearts when freed of care,
And yet invincible it stands
To mark the length and breadth of lands
My second—always first and always leads
A small but useful army—he who reads
Will see my first in middle of the day,
Early in the battle and the fray.
My third—a multitude in fields
And is the last of whole that never yields
But holds its own, quite safe intact,
And must in law be a convincing fact.
—Youth's Companion.

No. 1367.—Eight Buried Flowers.

1. Bring me a hammer or chisel, Ellen
2. When put in the sun flowering plants usually thrive.
3. See the tear; O see the tear that I must mend!
4. From such a maglignant fever few ever recover.
5. "Tell me another story about the sly old fox," a listening child implored
6. In hunting an opossum a child was first to spy it.
7. See what that child has done with his treacle, ma. 'Tis all over his apron
8. Let us each buy some of these delicious sweet pears at the fruiterer's.

No. 1368.—Curtailment.

In and out and swiftly flying,
See their steely glitter flash;
Busy fingers deftly flying,
Earning daily bread and cash.

'Tis ONE to sew without the TWO
Chaos in the world would rise.
But they'll stay with us to pursue
Duties with unseeing eyes.

No. 1369.—Riddle.

A sign of bondage I must be,
And union oft is made by me.
I'm kept within a prison cell,
But people like me very well.
If kept too long I cause you woe.
You beat me when you let me go.

No. 1370.—Defective Proverb.

Replace the stars by the proper letters and a familiar saying will be revealed.

ee hing o eve ear n *o ll in se o he.

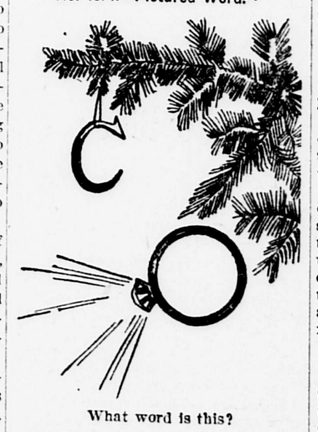
No. 1371.—Pictured Word.



What word is this?

Nature knows no pause in progress and development and attaches her curse on all inaction.—Goethe.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents. Three consecutive insertions 50 cents, 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.

No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—1909 Overland car, red, thoroughly overhauled, tires nearly new, full equipment including gas tank, wind shield, extra tire, tire case, clock, speedometer, magneto. Carries 4 or 5 passengers can also be used as runabout with single top. Price $550. S. C. Hardwick, 159 Elm street, Quincy. July 12-6t

WATERPROOF CONCRETE.

How to Prepare Mixture So It Is Impervious to Moisture.

Concrete is very largely employed in many building constructions, and in some situations it is very important that it should be at least practically waterproof. There are several methods of rendering concrete more or less impermeable to water, some simple and free to anyone, and some involving the use of secret of patented compounds. Of the former the simplest method is to mix hydrated lime or finely divided clay with the concrete, thus at least partially filling the volds or interstices in the concrete and decreasing the percolation of water.

Another simple method is to mix powdered alum with the cement and dissolve ordinary soap in the water to be used in mixing the concrete. Although the latter materials have been used for more than sixty years as a wash for rendering masonry impervious to water, and although in recent years they have frequently been employed as ingredients of concrete to make the entire mass impermeable, the proportions to be employed and the reason for the effect seem to have had little or no scientific consideration; at least the proportions used in practice vary very widely.

To use the alum and soap method of decreasing the permeability of mortar or concrete the alum in powdered form may be mixed with the dry cement or the sand, and the soap may be dissolved in the water employed in mixing the concrete, or both the alum and the soap may be dissolved in the water. The former is probably the safer method in practice, since with the latter method the water must be thoroughly stirred while the two are being mixed, or the precipitate may form in large masses, which it is practically impossible to break up; and further, the water must be kept stirred to prevent the compound from accumulating on the surface. These are conditions that it is not always easy to be certain of securing. However, the alum is more easily dissolved than the soap, and hence the alum may be dissolved in, say, one-fifth of the water, and the soap in the remaining four-fifths, and then the two portions may be mixed together, being careful to stir them as the mixing progresses. The alum and the soap combine and form a finely divided, flocculent, insoluble, water repelling compound, which fills the pores of the concrete and decreases its permeability.

The best proportions are, alum one part and hard soap two parts, both by weight. Soap varies in its chemical composition, and hence a single proportion cannot be stated which will be chemically exact for all cases. The above proportion is in round numbers, the relative combining weights of alum and average hard soap, and hence it is the best proportion to use, although widely different proportions have been used in practice with success. Any reasonably pure soap will do, but if soft soap is employed a greater amount should be used in proportion to the amount of water in it.

It is difficult to dissolve more than about 3 per cent of hard soap in cold water, and hence this practically limits the amount of alum to 1.5 per cent and of the soap to 3 per cent. These amounts will give a precipitate equal to about 3 per cent of the weight of the total water. The amount of precipitate formed in the pores of the mortar or concrete will depend upon the amount of water used in the mixing. Of course, if it be dissolved in a smaller quantity of soap and alum the soap could be first dissolved in a smaller quantity of hot water, which is afterward mixed with the water used in making the mortar, but this is hardly practicable or necessary.

How to Make Fly Exterminators.

The following methods of keeping ahead of flies now that summer is here are recommended:

First Method.—Brush over your windows with a little oil of sassafras, provide a way of escape for the flies, and they will leave.

Second Method.—Take 5 cents' worth of oil of lavender, mix it with the same quantity of water, put in a common glass atomizer and spray it around the rooms where the flies are. In the dining room spray it lavishly, even on the table linen. The odor is very disagreeable to flies, but refreshing to most people.

Helping Things Along.

"The family in the next flat has three phonographs and four boys with toy express wagons," said Mr. Growcher's wife. "What on earth shall we do?"

"Send for the piano tuner and ask him how much he'll take to work by the day."—Washington Star.

LOST

LOST—A gray Tiger Kitten. Return to 11 Russell Park and receive reward. July 14-1t

WANTED

WANTED—Boy to tend store. Apply at 750 Washington street. July8-6t

WANTED—Experienced girl for general housework. References required. Apply 118 Merrymount road. June 26 tf

TO LET

TO LET—Lower flat of 5 rooms and bath. Electric lights and gas. Rent $16. 5 Parsons street. Apply 7 Parson street, South Quincy. July 13-tf

TO LET—Nicely furnished rooms, with excellent table board. Central location. Address P. O. box 346, Quincy. June 29-tf

TO LET—On Spear street, tenement of 4 rooms and bath. All modern improvements. Apply to C. A. Ericson, 117 Glendale road. Tel 586 M. June 27-tf

TO LET—Tenement with 9 rooms and bath at Quincy Point, also rooms to let and table board at 55 Washington street, Quincy, Mrs. Margaret S. MacDonnell. June 23-1mo.

TO LET—House 12 rooms, all improvements. Ideal location, 5 minutes to center. Apply to James F. Burke, Real Estate Agent, Room 4 Savings Bank Building. June 9-tf

FOR RENT—Quincy, Centre, apposite Adams Academy, house of 8 rooms and bath, also garage, 3 minutes to R. R. Station. Dr. E. S. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263L, Weymouth. May 10-tf

FOR RENT

On Spear street, very desirable house of 8 rooms, bath and laundry. All modern improvements, range, gas, electric lights shades and screens. Large piazzas and lawn. To private family only. Apply at 41 Spear street or of Miss Prescott at Ledger Office, Quincy. June 2-tf L. P. O

TO LET

Half House No. 44 Bigelow street, 7 rooms and bath. Shades, screens, electric lights, set tubs, range, etc. Rent $25. per month. Apply to Miss Prescott, Ledger Office, Quincy. July 3-tf

TO LET

Tenement—22 B Granite Street. $10.00 per month.

Greenleaf Hall—Greenleaf Block Large Furnished Hall with various anterooms—to let by the evening or permanently.

City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 20 feet high. Splendid light, low rent

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)
Music Hall Block, Quincy.

MAKE YOUR PURCHASES FROM LEDGER ADVERTISERS. BE SURE TO READ THE ADVERTISEMENTS IN TODAY'S LEDGER

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 26 No. 161 QUINCY, MASS. SATURDAY EVENING JULY 15, 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

CARPETS
Oriental
Domestic RUGS
Floor Coverings
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION
At Lowest Possible Prices
John H. Pray & Sons Co.
Established 1852
646-658 Washington St, Opposite Boylston St

All Goods will be Delivered Free at Residences in Quincy
REPRESENTED IN QUINCY BY
Messrs. OTHO A. HAYWARD and WALTER J. WELLINGTON.

International Bible Students Association
CLASS EXTENSION COURSE PEACE

SUNDAY, JULY 16, 3 P. M.
LECTURE BY
H. P. GLEASON OF BOSTON
TOPIC
"PEACE WITH GOD"
COLONIAL HALL, QUINCY, MASS.
Seats Free All Welcome No Collection

You May WIN

the $27.50 Hoosier Special Kitchen Cabinet which we are going to give away absolutely during the Hoosier demonstration and sale which commences today. Every housekeeper who visits this store before July 24th, will have an opportunity to win one absolutely free. Just leave your name on a Hoosier coupon.

FREE

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
New England's Lowest Priced Home Furnishers
1495 Hancock St., Quincy Open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings

NEWS ITEMS FROM MILTON

Interesting Budget of Personals and Society Notes

HEAT VICTIMS

Miss Elsie Keegan of Bryant avenue has gone for a month's visit at Pleasant Lake, Mass.

Roland Frethie was prostrated with the heat on Tuesday while working with the gypsy moth spraying machine.

Miss Estelle Childs of Centreville, Mass., who has been visiting Mr. Simpson of Cunningham park has returned to her home.

Richard Pierce of Pierce street returned to East Milton on Friday after a two weeks' vacation.

"Bill" Clark was overcome by the heat Wednesday evening and was carried to his home where Dr. Rowe attended him.

A. J. Jacoby, superintendent of schools in Milton, starts for Virginia today.

William W. Watson of Denver, Colorado, is spending a few days with Mrs. Weatherbee of Maple street.

D. J. Brown is building a new house on Edgehill road. The foundations are about half in at the present time.

Grace Van Ham, daughter of Cornelius Van Ham, carrier of the East Milton post office, returned home Wednesday after eleven months in the hospital as a result of burns received from an overturned lamp.

Frank H. Richardson, who has been absent from his mail route for several months is in greatly improved health and will return to his work before very long.

Henry E. Sheldon is planning to build an addition to the store occupied by Hammers the druggist.

The electric sign in front of Hodges' drugstore which was broken by small boys who were playing ball has been renewed.

The Milton fire department was called upon to cover the big Dorchester fire on Tuesday. Of the two alarms on Thursday one number 172 was for a Quincy freight car in Mattapan and the other, 432 was false. It is said that every time there is a band concert in Mattapan there is a false alarm. This time there was no exception to rule but one unusual thing about it was that the fellow who rang it in, a man by the name of Oakes was caught.

The Milton department was notified of the big Campello fire Friday afternoon and had it continued to make headway, some of the apparatus might have been pressed into service.

A special meeting of the Citizenship committee of the Milton Education Society will be held at the Milton Public Library on Wednesday evening, July 19, at 7.45 to consider what action if any the committee will take towards the elimination of the house fly.

The summer schools opened Monday with about seventy boys and girls present. Woodworking is taught at the Tucker and Belcher schools and millinery at the High school.

Miss Ella Smith of Granite place is convalescing from her serious illness.

Supt. A. J. Jacoby of the Milton school accompanied by Mrs. Jacoby left today for Pennsylvania and later will visit in Virginia.

Grace the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Van Ham of East Milton who was seriously burned about a year ago has so far recovered as to be able to return Wednesday from the Children's hospital.

HOT WEATHER

and dirt breed germs. Germs bring diseases and are a menace to your health. Our sanitary dyeing and cleaning processes render your clothes free from germs.

Get The Sanitary Habit!

We call for and deliver the work

WARSHAW'S DYE HOUSE
"The Home of Cleanliness"
1503 HANCOCK STREET
QUINCY
July 15-tf

DEPRESSION OF TRACKS.

In another column we publish a letter, well worth reading, regarding the depression of the railroad tracks through Quincy as superior to that of elevation. Just now, so soon after the catastrophe on the elevation at Bridgeport, the consideration of the matter is opportune. Undoubtedly the people of Quincy desire the tracks depressed and the natural advantages, here, are greatly in its favor. No better time than the present could be found by the Special Commission for a renewed activity in considering the matter and bringing it to a satisfactory consummation.

HOW ABOUT THE NEXT MAYOR.

Parallel with the announcement by Governor Foss that he will be a candidate for re-election a little gossip about the mayoralty situation in Quincy might not be amiss. The big question in the minds of many citizens is "Will Mayor Shea run again?" Opinions differ on this point and of course there is no definite information to be given. The Mayor's family declare that he will not be allowed to enter into the mayoralty contest again for they have had enough of politics. That will of course bear considerable weight with His Honor. Many think that the time is not ripe yet for a decided change in the city government because things are running well and the Mayor is doing as well as anyone could, having as many friends among the Republicans as in his own party. No other candidates are in sight among the Democrates but rumors of possibilities among the Republicans have been frequent. In any event if Mayor Shea should run for reelection it is fairly safe to predict that he would stand a good show of getting the office.

FOSS WILL FIGHT

Gov. Eugene N. Foss states in an interview given to the Boston Globe that he is prepared to battle with the legislature to carry out certain measures which were incoporated in his Campaign platform and his answer to criticisms is embodied in nomonation papers for reelection which he has taken out.

The statement is in part as follows:

"I said before I went into the governor's chair that if I had any differences with the legislature I should appeal to the people. I have not changed my plan. If the members of the legislature want to fight me they can have all the fight they want. If the legislature of Massachusetts wants to go before the people of the state on its record and mine, I'm ready. Let them start at once and they'll find me on the job all the time. I was elected on a platform that promised certain specific things to the people of the State and I propose so far as I am personally able, assisted by the powers conferred upon me by the constitution, to see to it that those pledges made on every platform from which I spoke are redeemed.

"My nomination papers have been taken out. I am a candidate for reelection. That's my answer to the legislature."

FOR SALE

The cozy home, situated No. 24 Marsh Street, consisting of a six room house, city water, 4400 square feet of land, fruit trees. Price reasonable.

Call and see,
JAMES F. BURKE,
REAL ESTATE AGENT,
Room 4, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, Mass.
July 15-tf

RECIPROCITY VOTE JULY 22

Dates for Disposing of Other Legislation

ADJOURNMENT AUG. 15

Washington, July 15.—The first step looking to an early adjournment of congress was taken in the senate when an agreement was reached and adopted providing for votes on practically all of the important legislation now pending in that body.

The agreement fixes a vote on the reciprocity bill on July 22, the house wool revision bill on July 27, free list bill Aug. 1, reapportionment bill Aug. 3 and statehood on the legislative day of Aug. 7. It is expected that the adjournment of congress will immediately follow the statehood vote. Senator Martin, Democratic leader, said Democrats favored the agreement because of the desire throughout the country to see the present session terminate.

Aug. 7 is the day fixed for the last vote embraced in the agreement. It is now the general opinion that unless something unforeseen happens congress will adjourn not later than a week from that date. The Democratic leaders in the house were not consulted in connection with the agreement reached in the senate, and they have it in their power to indefinitely delay adjournment by refusing to agree to a resolution of adjournment from the senate.

A cotton bill is now being prepared by the ways and means committee of the house. Whether the senate agreement will put a stop to this work is a matter of speculation. Chairman Underwood of the ways and means committee has been hopeful that he could get this bill through the house the first week in August. In view of the agreement reached yesterday, it is doubtful if the cotton bill will be reported out of the senate finance committee at this session.

Another element of speculation entering into the date of adjournment is to be found in the conference committees of the house and the senate. At the present time there is a sharp disagreement between the two houses on the bill providing for the direct election of senators, the house being overwhelmingly opposed to the Bristow amendment to that bill.

There will, of necessity, be conferences on several other bills, and a deadlock in conference on any one of them would keep congress in session much longer than now appears probable.

However, there seems to be a general desire on the part of members of both houses to get away from Washington as early as possible and for this reason close observers are allowing one week for the conference committees to compose their differences. This would bring about an adjournment in the vicinity of Aug. 15.

TODAY'S COURT.

Lizzie Randall was arraigned for disturbing the peace at Weymouth. Case continued until Sept. 8.

Walter Sinclair was arraigned on two complaints for violation of the automobile laws at Cohasset. The cases were placed on file on the payment of $3.20 costs on each.

Grover C. Lasson was arraigned for assault on his wife at Weymouth. Case continued until July 21.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts

Office of the Board of Harbor and Land Commissioners

State House, Boston, July 13, 1911

Notice is hereby given that the Boston and Houghs Neck Steamboat Company has made application to this Board for license to build a pile wharf on Weymouth Fore River, at Houghs Neck, in the city of Quincy, as per plans filed with said application; and Wednesday, the 26th day of July, 1911, at 11 o'clock, A. M., and this office, have been assigned as the time and place for hearing all parties interested therein.

For the Board,
GEORGE E. SMITH,
Chairman.

July 15-1t.

BRIEFS

Mayor Shea has given Chief Burrell a warrant to kill all dogs unlicensed. Owners of pets will do well to see the City Clerk.

Four carloads of happy children from the Water Street Presbyterian church, as well as some of the older members of the church and school left this morning for Nantasket beach on their annual picnic.

Rev. Andrew J. O'Brien of West Quincy who has just returned from the American college in Rome will say his first mass in America at St. Mary's church, West Quincy, tomorrow, at 10.30. Rev. Francis Walsh of Charlestown, a native of West Quincy, will preach the sermon.

Ralph Winslow of Foster street, returned yesterday from a week's cruise to Bridgeport, Conn. This afternoon he starts for Bar Harbor, Maine, on the Boston Yacht club cruise. He will sail with Hollis Burgess, on the Kit togehter with his brother, Wadsworth Winslow, Robert Sibley and Mr. Briggs of Wollaston. The fleet will sail first to Boothbay in a long run, after which it will go by easy stages to the end of the route.

HELD WITHOUT BAIL.

A few minutes before court adjourned, Friday the Inspector came in an automobile from the City Hospital having with him the girl, Elizabeth Savoy, who is charged with having strangled her newly born infant at her home in Norfolk Downs, July 1. The inquest on the death of the child was held Thursday before Judge Avery and it was decided to arraign the girl as soon as possible. She entered a plea of not guilty through her counsel J. J. McAnarney, the government being represented by District Attorney Katzman.

After being arraigned, there was a consultation of counsel after which the case was continued for hearing until July 29. She was held without bail and was taken to Dedham jail.

TURBINES TO BE SHIPPED SOON

Three Improved Curtis Turbines for Italian Navy

PART OF ORDER

Three of 6 Curtis turbine marine engines, being built by the Fore River Ship Building Co. for the Italian navy will be shipped to Italy July 22, via the steamship Commissioner of the American-Chapman Derrick and Wrecking Co.

These three turbines are for the Italian scout cruiser Nino Vixie, now building at the navy yard in Italy. The aggregate horse power of the engines is 22,500 and they are designed to drive the cruisers at a speed of 28 knots or several knots faster than the cruiser Salem or Chester, the fastest ships in the United States navy. The cost of the three turbines is approximately $500,000. They weigh about 200 tons each.

The other three turbines of the Curtis type building at the Fore River yards are for the Italian cruiser Marcella, a sister ship of the Nino Vixie.

These two vessels are much the same type as the United States cruisers Salem and Chester. The Chester however has the Parsons English turbines. The Birmingham which was also built at Quincy has the reciprocating engines.

The two Italian cruisers are each about 450 feet long and are approximately 30 feet longer than the Salem and Chester. Recent improvements to the Curtis turbine make then capable of developing more power and of being faster than those in the American ships.

R. E. FOY & CO.

Are You Looking
— FOR —
Better Groceries?

This model food store helps you to better things to eat, and no more to pay. The natural instinct of folk is for good things to eat. This Model Food Store teaches a lesson to the economical housewife. It shows her how edibles are rightly kept to maintain perfect sanitation and health properties. It brings to her larder the best things to eat—at no added cost. On a good many things all this betterness brings her a saving.

Labor Saving Hot Weather Food

COOKED HAM, lb. 35c
Note—Most cooked hams offered for sale are not smoked—only the raw ham boiled, Ours is the genuine cooked SMOKED HAM—Sliced by machine.

COOKED CORNED BEEF.
Not the canned kind, but the real corned beef, cooked especially for us every day
A Pound 22c.

LUNCHEON TONGUE
Not canned—but the best tongue we can buy and cooked to our order.
A Pound 30c

GERMAN BOLOGNA	15c
PRESSED HAM	18c
GER. FRANKFORTS	15c

CANNED GOODS

R & R Chicken, can	30c
Veal Loaf, large can	15c
P & C Sardines	28c
Norway Sardines	10c

.. CONDENSED MILK
Never mind the milk shortage—our line of canned milk is the best in the city.

BORDEN'S EVAP. CREAM
3 large cans 25c
HIRE'S COND. MILK 10c

FOR LUNCH

Equal Lunch Crackers, 3 lb.	25c
Pearson's Pilot, lb.	10c
Kennedy's Grahams, 3 pkg.	25c

QUALITY STORE QUALITY STORE

BEVERAGES
Cliquot Club Ginger Ale. Apollinaris, Orangeade, Dole's Pineapple Juice. Orange Sugar. Zip, Grape Juice. Lime Juice.

R. E. FOY & CO.
Water cor. Quincy Street
July 14-2t
Phones 117 and 153

DON'T FAIL TO READ THE GREAT SERIAL "THE DANGER TRAIL" NOW RUNNING IN THE LEDGER

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1869
THE HOME NEWSPAPER
Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.
BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
219 East 23d Street,
New York City
Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter.
Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50
Telephone, Quincy 425
Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

Boston was full of news Friday, 75 editors, members of the Pennsylvania State Editorial Association, arrived bright and early and proceeded to enjoy themselves taking especial delight in the cool reception given them by the Hub.

The movement to observe Oct. 19 as Yorktown day is gaining in favor. It has already found adherents in 20 different states. The day would be a fitting one to observe in Quincy "the city of presidents" as it is also the birthday of John Adams, who was the first vice-president, as well as the second president of the United States.

FLOWER DAY NEXT TUESDAY.

The third annual Flower day for poor children of Boston and vicinity will be held by the Boston Journal on Tuesday, July 18th.

Last year over 100,000 bouquets found their way into tenement homes, into little hands which had never clutched a posy before, into hospitals and into the wretched abode of the little shut-in.

There were fifty automobile loads in all, and when the day was done a fragrance prevaded those squalid localities that had never been known before.

Already the express companies have co-operated. So have the railroads, the merchants and the florists. Every thing points to a bigger day than ever this year.

The people of this locality have an opportunity to do their share. Every blossom counts.

ELECTION OF JUDGE LINDSEY

"All of which I saw, and one vote of which I was!"

Election day dawned bright and beautiful in the fair city of Denver. All good citizens were urged to go early to the polls. Acting upon this advice, I started in season, accompanied by my tall daughter, who was brimming over with excitment at the thought of casting her first vote. As we were strolling leisurely aong to the quiet little polling place of Ward 9, Precinct 7, I suddenly felt a small warm, rough hand slip into mine. Turning in surprise, I found at my side a merry, bright-faced lad, with rosy cheeks and shinning eyes, wear- a Lindsey button almost as big as his own radiant face.

"Is you a-goin' to vote for the Jedge?" he asked, with a fascinating smile.

"Oh, yes, of course."

"Is she a-goin' to?" pointing to the new voter.

"Yes, indeed, I never could resist you, young man!"

Being curious as to the motive of this small solicitor, I asked: "Why do you want us to vote for the Judge? Has he been good to you?"

Taking a firmer grasp of my hand with his little warm finger, and with words coming thick and fast, "It ain't only me," he said. "Ye see, my ma, she's awful small and sick-like, and my pa, he's dead, and she had it hard 'tel she knew the Jedge. You know," and the little lad's eyes filled up for a moment, "you know, once I was bad and went to the court, but the Jedge he came to see my ma, and he just kinder took hold on us all. He got some work for her and he cheered her up, and he told me I was the man of the house,"—the little chap grew tall when he said that,—"and you know my ma she haint cried any since, and onct I heard her sing! We just love the Jedge. You will vote for him sure won't ye?"

And this was the mighty force back of the election of Judge Ben B. Lindsey as Mrs. Sarah Platt Decker tells the story.—The Living Church.

Sherman Wins Golf Tourney

Bretton Woods, N. H., July 15.—Thomas M. Sherman, son of the vice president, won the annual tournament of the American Golf association of Advertising Interests.

OTHER EDITORS ARE SAYING

They say there is honor among thieves, but—well, a Standard Oil tank ship has been attacked by Chinese pirates (Manchester Union.)

Germany being a commercial nation, desires to join the ranks of the Morocco-dressers (Boston Journal.)

If the Boy Scout movement could be used in some way to accelerate the anti-gypsy moth movement, it would be a good thing for the trees, but a mighty poor thing for those who thrive on gypsy moth appropriations.—Boston Journal.

If the governor is as anxious as he professes to be to aid the agricultural interests of Massachusetts, he should have shown larger hospitality toward the needs of the State college. This is the head center of advanced agriculture in this commonwealth (Boston Transcript.)

The Washington mention of Ambassador Guild as Republican candidate for the vice-presidency recalls the talk to the same effect in 1908, when some westerners were supposed to favor him, but his Masachusetts friends did not support him. His real friends will be careful how they permit fun to be made of his candidacy. Better be serious or nothing (Fitchburg Sentinel.)

A little volume on "Success"—and a great many industrial crimes are committed in this name—tells us to be methodical and persistant.

And yet we once knew a man who spent two hours methodically revolving a roller towel, persistently endeavoring to find a clean spot large enough to wipe his face on.—Plain Dealer.

Denver would like to entertain the Republican National Convention next year, and so would Philadelphia; and Baltimore is bidding for the Democratic convention. These cities would measure up to the standard of heat all right, and no hot wave needed.—Springfield Republican.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

SUNNY SIDE TO EVERYTHING

The fact that we cannot take our money with us when we die is one of the consolations of the legal profession.

STRENUOUS ACTION.

Tailor—Has Mr. Owens taken any action on that bill of his yet?

Collector—Yes; he kicked me out the last time I called to collect it.

HIS PA'S IN CONGRESS.

Caller—That is an odd nickname your brother has.

Dicky—Yes; pa calls him "Appropriation Bill" because he's stealin' pie and preserves all the time.

THE FRINGE.—Mrs. Knicker—"They say Paris is crazy over fringe.

KNICKER—Well, I'll wear it on my trousers, and don't you get any more dresses—Sun.

HE DIDN'T—"So you don't want no huckleberries?"

"No I have changed my mind. I see your cat is asleep in those huckleberries."

"That's all right mum, I don't mind waking the cat up."—Louisville Courier- Journal.

REMARKABLE—Irate Visitor— "I call that a down-right fraud! You advertise on your bills, "The Most Remarkable Dwarf in the World,' and he turns out to be 5ft. 5 in. high."

Bland Showman—"Exactly so, sir. That's just what's so remarkable about him. He's the tallest dwarf on record.

LUCK JIM.

Dick—How are you getting along with the Sweetleigh girls, Jim?

Jim—Oh, I'm holding my own.

GENERALLY ABOUT 1 A. M.

Rownder (with magazine)—It says here that the Japanese invariably take off their shoes on entering a house.

Mrs. Rownder (significantly)—All of them? In this country it is only done by burglars and clubmen.

CONTRAST—"There is one time of year when I really enjoy work"

"And when is that?"

"For two or three weeks after coming back from vacation."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

DIFFERENT—"I stopped a week at their summer cottage. They're different from most people."

"That so?"

"Yes, they never once said, 'You know out here we do a lot of things that we wouldn't think of doing in the city.' "—Detroit Free Press.

Swelled—Wifey (with magazine)—"It says here that a statute mile is 5280 feet and a nautical mile 6080 feet. Now, why are they different, John."

Hub—"Why-er-you know, my dear, that things swell when in the water."

NOTICE WANTED—Papa — "You have a little brother, Willie. You are not the youngest child any longer."

Willie—O, I suppose it's all right, but you might have given me a week's notice, anyway."—Pluck.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor Daily Ledger:

The recent shocking railroad horror, at Bridgeport, Conn., on the N. Y. N. H. & H. R. R., when more than one hundred people, were killed and injured, by the Federal Express train, jumping the elevated tracks tearing and tumbling down a 20 foot embankment to the streets below, has alarmed the people of Quincy, to an awakening for we have a grave railroad problem to solve, whether it is done right or whether it is done wrong and the public of Quincy are seriously wondering and anxiously waiting for the report (which is by no means final) of the special commission to determine the best way of abolishing the grade crossings at Saville street and Water street. It is nearly 4 years since this commission was appointed by the Superior Court, at the request of the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. A patient public during these four years have heard nothing official from this special commission, neither has it learned anything from our city authorities, notwithstanding $2500 has been appropriated and spent. Is their still another nigger under the wood pile? Will this special commission take heed and profit by that terrible railroad disaster, at Bridgeport, and refuse to adopt the railroad plan, of elevation, through our city, which makes, at Granite street and Water street a duplicate of the existing railroad conditions at Bridgeport. The city of Quincy has in every way possible seasonably, reasonably and unanimously asked for, and voted for, the depression of the railroad tracks through our city.

Will this commission heed our pleading and grant our prayer, or will the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. have their way and the murder go on, sacrificing our lives. No one can tell whose turn is next and who will be responsible for this condition of criminal negligence.

Will this special commission take notice of the prompt action of our legislature recently, voting for depression of the railroad tracks through Lynn, by a vote 123 to 68, notwithstanding elevation of the tracks had been started and several hundred thousand dollars had already been spent and wasted.

The people of Lynn found that elevation of the tracks in Lynn was dead wrong, and an everlasting nuisance, and appealed to the legislature for depression and got it for it means safe and sane conditions in that city. So too, the citizens of Quincy know what they want and have made plain to the world and this commission that depression of the railroad tracks through Quincy according to city plans is safe and sane and reasonable and just. If the special commission should, in the face of a united public opinion, refuse the adoption of depression in our city but approved the railroad plan of elevation such a public calamity would not be tolerated for a moment but immediately appeal to the court for a reopening of the case and if necessary to the legislature. Yours for Depression

G. B. Bates.

TO LET
IN QUINCY CENTER
SEVERAL DESIRABLE HOUSES
7, 8 and 10 Rooms
Every convenience and very desirable locations.
RENT $25 TO $40 according to house
APPLY TO
MISS PRESCOTT,
Ledger Office
Quincy, July 7. LPOtf

GRAND JURY LEAK FOUND

Defendants In Butterine Case Given Advance Information

Chicago, July 15.—Members of the United States grand jury which returned indictments charging three internal revenue collectors with receiving bribes and twenty-one officers and employes of butterine manufacturies with conspiracy to defraud the government, are facing complications and possibly prosecutions as the result of an investigation of a grand jury "leak."

The three internal revenue collectors indicted are said to have received advance information of their indictments. James Dahl, a member of the grand jury, who had been seen making a list of the indictments, and Harry Coyne, a revenue officer, said to have warned the indicted men that their names were on the true bills, were questioned by Judge Landis.

Dahl declared he had made the list for his own convenience, and Coyne denied that Dahl had given him the list.

SHOCK TO ENGLISHMEN

Might Be Forced to Take Up Arms Against America

London, July 15.—The Daily Graphic, in alluding to the proposed modifications in the Anglo-Japanese treaty alliance, thinks it will come as a shock to the average Englishman to learn that by the treaty England is bound to join Japan in the event of her being involved in war with the United States.

"It is true," The Graphic adds, "that the text of the treaty clearly contemplates this contingency, but no one hitherto has had the courage to avow it in so many words. Whatever the circumstances of war between Japan and the United States, it would be profoundly distatsteful to the English people to find themselves fighting their American kinsmen in the cause of another race."

DENEEN IS QUIZZED ABOUT JACKPOTS

Fertile Field For Corruption In Illinois Legislature

Washington, July 15.—Evidence about "jackpots" or general corruption funds for the benefit of recalcitrant legislators was sought from Governor Deneen of Illinois, when he resumed the witness stand before the senate Lorimer committeee. The governor entered into an analysis of the Illinois legislature with a view of demonstrating the existence of a fertile field there for corruption.

He was then turned over for cross examination to Elbridge Hanecy, counsel for Lorimer. Hanecy sought to show that Lorimer was instrumental in making Deneen state's attorney of Cook county, Ills., a position from which, the witness testified, he procured in salary and fees in the eight years of his occupancy, about $300,000.

Governor Deneen said Lorimer supported him for state's attorney, but declined to give the senator all the credit for his nomination either for the first or second term.

SAVED FROM THE GALLOWS

Mrs. Neapolitano's Sentence Commuted to Life Imprisonment

Ottawa, July 15.—The cabinet commuted to life imprisonment the sentence of death passed upon the Italian woman, Angelino Neapolitano, for the murder of her husband at Sault Ste. Marie.

Mrs. Neapolitano alleged at her trial that her husband was on the point of forcing her to lead an immoral life for his financial benefit when, to protect her name and the honor of her four children, she killed him.

She was sentenced to be hanged Aug. 9 next, about twelve days after she expected to become a mother for the fifth time.

ABOUT ONE HUNDRED DEAD

Relief Being Sent to Survivors of the Porcupine Fire

Toronto, July 15.—Various relief expeditions which cover the greater portion of the burned Porcupine district definitely place the number of lives lost at about 100.

Latest advices received say the fires are out. Three carloads of provisions reached Porcupine yesterday and more are on the way. Shelter tents and materials for houses are also being sent. The work of rebuilding the mine structures has also begun.

Farmer Held In Death Case

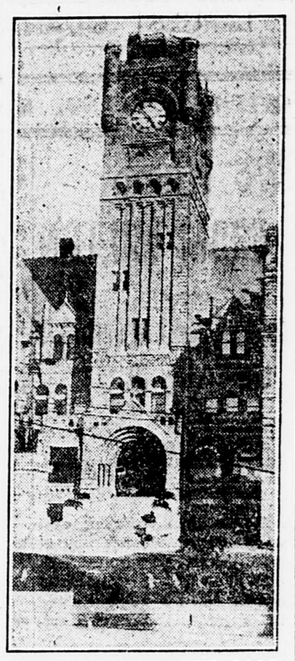
Shaftsbury, Vt., July 15.—George B. Niles, a farmer, is under arrest in connection with the death of his father-in-law, Charles Barton. It is said that Niles struck Barton, who died a few minutes later.

The Weather

Almanac, Sunday, July 16.
Sun rises—4:39; sets—7:25.
Moon rises—10:35 p. m.
High water—2:15 a. m.; 2:45 p. m.
Forecast for New England: Generally fair; moderate temperature; light variable winds.

LOS ANGELES COURTHOUSE

This Is the Building In Which Dynamite Cases Will Be Tried.



TRIAL OF DYNAMITE CASE

Set For Oct. 10, Despite Objections by Counsel For McNamaras

Los Angeles, Cal., July 15.—Judge Bordwell set Oct. 10 as the date for the trial of John and James McNamara, accused of dynamiting the Los Angeles Times and killing twenty-one persons.

Clarence S. Darrow, counsel for the labor leader and his brother, was opposed to having the trial set for any time before Dec. 1, asserting that the evidence they wished to produce required a long period for preparation.

FOREST FIRES ARE QUENCHED BY RAIN

Dying Down of Wind Also Helps to Bring Relief

Portsmouth, N. H., July 15.—Rain and the dying down of the wind brought relief from the forest fires which have been doing untold damage in northern New England.

The great blaze, which on Wednesday practically destroyed the village of South Waterboro, Me., was still smouldering last night when the clouds opened and the rain descended.

In the Moosehead lake section of Maine it was the dying down of the wind that saved further ravages by fire.

The New Hampshire fires at Gorham, Concord and Mount Moriah have practically burned themselves out and there is believed to be no further danger from them.

MARK TWAIN LEFT $471,136

Value of Securities and Real Estate Left to His Daughter

New York, July 15.—Mark Twain left actual property worth $471,136. An appraisal of his estate filed with the surrogate places this value on securities and real estate the humorist bequeathed to his only surviving child, Mrs. Gabrilowitsch, when he died on April 21, 1910.

Mr. Clement left no real estate in New York. The value of his personal estate here was $296,746. This does not include a trunk full of manuscripts, to which no value is assigned in the appraisal.

A relic of the dead author's many unfortunate business ventures is a schedule of shares in several corporations noted as "no value." The will was made on Aug. 7, 1909.

GABY DESLYS COMING HERE

Dethroned King of Portugal Is Also Likely to Cross the Ocean

London, July 15.—Gaby Deslys, the Parisian beauty, who was responsible in a degree for the downfall and banishment of former King Manuel of Portugal, has signed to play at the New York winter garden at a reputed salary of $4000 a week.

Coincident with her appearance there, New York probably will have its first sight of the dethroned king, who will doubtless embrace the opportunity to see America.

Steamship Pool Continued

London, July 15.—At the conference of the North Atlantic passenger steamship lines, no new pool or rate agreement was framed. The old pooling arrangements will continue in force until Oct. 31.

Airship Falls Among Crowd

Amsterdam, July 15.—Aviator Alleslagers, while flying at Leeuwarden, fell among a crowd that was looking on. Four of the spectators were badly hurt and the aeroplane was wrecked.

STEEL vs. WOOD

Your old black-walnut desk may be a good looking piece of furniture but it isn't the modern place to keep your valuable papers, your jewelry, or money. It can burn readily, its lock is easy to pick or break, its concealment is insufficient. A steel box in our burglar-proof, fire-defying vault will cost you $5 a year—(only half the cost of a similar box in Boston). Use one and stop worrying.

NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

BAREFOOT SANDALS

The best thing for the children to wear during the warm weather. They are light and comfortable and give good satisfaction.

CHILDS 5 to 8 45c
MISSES 8 to 11 50c

HEFFERNAN'S SHOE STORE
1375 Hancock Street, Quincy

THE BEST WHEEL WINS

and you can always count on the Hartford bicycle being the victor not only in speed heats, but at every point. Experience and skill have been so thoroughly applied in their construction that they have reached the highest degree in mechanical perfection.

NEW and SECOND-HAND BICYCLES
Sundries and Repairing

HUB CYCLE CO.
Thomas Nelson, 20 Granite Street, QUINCY
Agency for Hartford and Columbia Bicycles
May 15-2m

SHE KNOWS

how important uniform heat in a stove is--knows, too, that gas supplies it without overheating the laundry in the hottest days or wasting fuel the coldest.

'Twill be well and pleasant for you to know how delightfully gas can serve you.

CITIZENS' GAS LIGHT CO.
11 Granite St., Quincy

WHEELER'S
The Store for Ladies' Furnishings

We will continue our Sale of Shirt Waists and Long Gloves

See what we offer in Shirt Waists for 79c and 98c
and Long Gloves for 50c and 75c

We are also showing a new line of Children's Parasols, all colors, for 25c and 29c

WE GIVE CASH DISCOUNT SLIPS

City Square G. W. WHEELER Quincy

Advertise in The Ledger

The Social Realm

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph L. Currier (Mary L. Hunt) who were married on Wednesday evening are spending their honeymoon in the White mountains. Their future home will be in Holbrook where Mr. Currier is headmaster of the High school.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. William Quincy Baxter of Adams street, East Milton, leave next week for Greenville, Me., where they are to spend the rest of the summer near Moosehead lake with Mrs. Baxter's sister Mrs. Vrooman. Miss Orissa Baxter and Mrs. Stephen Hurd join them in August.

• • •

Miss Julia Barber of Webster street, has been spending a few days of her vacation in Rhode Island.

• • •

Miss Hope Robinson of Sharon is the guest of Miss Ruth Jones of Elmwood avenue for a fortnight.

• • •

Miss Ethel School of Centre street left July seventh for Craigville, Mass., where she will spend the summer.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. Alden Sherwin, who have been visiting relatives in this city for the past two weeks returned to their home in West Townsend today. They were accompanied by Mrs. Sherwin's father, Mr. S. Troupe, who will enjoy a short vacation with them.

• • •

Miss Marion L. White of North Weymouth went to Waltham today to visit her cousin Miss Alice Pierce for two weeks.

• • •

Mrs. H. G. Beeman of Botolph street, accompanied by Ruth and Earl is spending a few weeks in Rhode Island. Mr. Beeman joins them the latter part of the week.

• • •

Hugo E. T. Wilkendorf of the Argentine Naval Commission and Miss Adeline J. Sharrott of this city were married Saturday evening at 219 Farrington street by the Rev. Wesley Wiggin of the Wollaston M. E. church.

• • •

Mrs. Stephen Hurd, nee Emily Baxter, goes to Keene, N. H., next week to visit Mr. Hurd's aunts for the rest of the month and in August with Mr. Hurd will pass a few weeks in Maine.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred J. Gaffney of Elm avenue are guests for the rest of the month of relatives at Summerside, Prince Edward Island.

• • •

Miss Ruth A. Winslow formerly of Quincy arrived at her home in Brockton from Hackensack, New Jersey, Monday where she has been visiting her aunt Mrs. C. E. Lichtenhein for the past five weeks.

• • •

Miss Annie Rose of Centre street left Saturday for Green Harbor where she is to spend her vacation.

• • •

Miss Louise Mandigo of Dysart street left Wednesday night for her home in Quebec, Canada, where she will spend a two weeks' vacation

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Marble and son Carleton of Squantum street, start today for a two weeks' stay at Mainstream, Maine.

• • •

Miss Ella Mayberry of Lynn returned home today after a week's visit with her aunt Mrs. Rachel Winship of East Elm avenue.

• • •

Miss Martha Hanson and Miss Mildred Estes are at Marblehead for a few days' visit.

• • •

Miss Lucy Whittier has come from Salem for a week's visit with Mrs. Robert Harding of Botolph street.

• • •

Dr. Charles E. Munroe of Wollaston sailed on the Canopic Saturday for a trip through Italy, France and England. Dr. Harold F. Curtis of Upland road will have charge of his practice during his absence which will be until about the middle of September.

• • •

The basket lunch party which Mrs. Alfred Jelinek had planned to hold at her home on Botolph street, Tuesday, was postponed on account of the heat and will be held the first of next week.

• • •

Miss Harriet Waldron of Granite street is at Hyannis attending a summer school for five weeks.

Harold Hill and the Chapman brothers, Q. H. S. 11' returned Friday from Langleys Island where they have been camping the past week.

• • •

Miss Gertrude M. Thorne of Clive street, starts today for Lake Sunapee, N. H. It is expected that she will remain there until the last of August.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Harmon Blunt nee Irene M. Bradbury of Nashua, N. H., are on an extended trip through the Canadian North West

• • •

Mrs. Frank Emery of Billings street returned Monday from a week end visit with friends in Bay View. She reports the temperature higher there than at home.

• • •

Miss Hazel Linnekin of Roxbury is spending a few weeks with her cousin Miss Edna Burke of Willard street.

• • •

Miss Lilly C. Jacobsen of Kendrick avenue and friend Miss Jennie Mamberg of Belmont are at York beach, Maine, for a week.

• • •

Mrs. L. J. Hayford of Squantum street started this week for a short visit with friends in Nashua, N. H.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. Laurance H. Sturtevant of Adams street are leaving today for Atlantic City, New Jersey, where Mr. Sturtevant goes to attend a convention.

• • •

Mrs. Albert B. Muir and children Warren and Florence have gone to visit her sister, Mrs. Ralph Mailman of Bridgewater, Nova Scotia for the rest of the summer

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. David Thomas and daughter of Washington, D. C., are visiting relatives in West Quincy.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. H. Clifford Gallagher of Milton announce the engagement of their daughter Miss Ruth Gallagher to Frederick Chase, also of Milton, Dartmouth '05.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Richards of Billings street ,returned this week from a six weeks' outing at Newton, N. H.

• • •

Miss Amy L. Fuge of Centre street who has been visiting friends at Madison, Maine returned Monday.

• • •

Mrs. P. Warren Cameron and Miss Ruth Cameron of Tewksbury came Thursday to be guests of their cousin Miss Ella F. Winship of Billings road for a few days.

• • •

Mrs. J. Peterson has gone to Canoe Cove, Prince Edwards island to stay until the first of September.

• • •

Mrs. Lewis A. Shay of Beach street is spending the summer with relatives at Bear River, Nova Scotia.

• • •

Mrs. Ralph W. Hobbs and children have gone to New Hampshire, while Mr. Hobbs is taking a cruise to Nova Scotia.

• • •

William E. Francis of Centre street has gone to Randolph, Vt., for a month.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. James B. Geddes and Miss Mildred E. Geddes of Standish avenue went Saturday to The Elm, Silver Lake, Wilmington to remain until the first of September.

• • •

Mrs. Stephen Perkins Hurd of Swampscott has been the guest for a week of Miss Etta M. Prescott of Spear street, being joined over Sunday by Mr. Hurd.

• • •

Will S. Torrey of North Weymouth, is registered at The Colonial, Centre Harbor, N. H., for the remainder of the month and is enjoying the cool breezes of Lake Winnepesaukee.

• • •

Mrs. Charles Hill and daughter Gladys of Rutland formerly of Atlantic, spent the week end with Mrs. George Hill of Walker street.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. H. Johnson, nee Leila Miller, and children of Central avenue, Milton are at their summer cottage in Edgartown for the rest of the season.

(Continued on Page Six.)

SUNDAY SERVICES

FIFTH SUNDAY AFTER TRINITY

Church services inserted in this paper without charge, but none will be accepted to run until further order. A notice should be sent each week though it is but a renewal. Give subject and special services when possible. Let all churches be represented.

BETHANY CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.—Junction Hancock and Chestnut streets Morning Service at 10.30. Preaching by the the Rev. Langley B. Sears. Evening service at 7.30. Christian Endeavor meeting at 6.15.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST—Quincy. Alpha Hall, cor. Hancock street and Cottage ave. Morning service and Sunday school at 10.45. Subject, "Life." Golden Text; "If thou will enter into life, keep the commandments." Matthew 19:17. Wednesday 7.45 P. M. a testimony and experience meeting. Reading rooms open from 3 to 5 P. M., weekdays, Holidays excepted. All are welcome.

CHRIST CHURCH, EPISCOPAL—Quincy, corner Elm street and Quincy avenue. Rev. Richard E. Armstrong, rector. Holy Communion at 8.00 A. M. 10.30 Morning Prayer and Sermon. The Evening service is discontinued until September.

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH, Franklin—street—Rev. R. J. Davis, pastor, residence 206 Franklin street. Preaching service at 10.30 A. M. Subject, "Wonderful Love." Sunday school at 11.45 A. M. Y. P. S. C. E. at 6 P. M. Praise and preaching service at 7.00 P. M. Theme: "A Question and Its Answer." These services are open to all. "Come thou with us and we will do thee good." Good singing. Seats free.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH — Corner Quincy and Water streets. Rev. James A Matheson, minister. Morning worship at 10.30 Bible School and Men's Bible Class at 11.45, C. E. service at 6.15. Evening worship and praise at 7.00. Home Department visitors at the manse Tuesday 7.30. Prayer service Thursday at 7.30.

SWEDISH BAPTIST CHURCH—Brewers Cor. A. P. Hanson, pastor. Services; 9.30 A. M. Sunday school. 10.45 A. M. Preaching by Rev. Axel Soderberg of Noovkoping, Sweden. 7.30 P. M. Preaching by the pastor. All are welcome.

HALL PLACE M. E. CHURCH—West Quincy Rev. T. C. Martin, pastor. Residence, 12 Hall place. Morning worship at 10.30 A. M. Subject of sermon; "The Silence of Jesus." Sunday school at 12.00 M. Evening Praise and Gospel service at 7 o'clock. Prayer meeting Friday at 7.30 P.M.

PEOPLE'S UNION CHURCH—Bay View avenue Houghs Neck. Rev. W. J. Sayre, pastor. Morning worship 10.45. Subject, "Searching the Scriptures." Sunday school 12 M. Y. P. S. C. E. 6.45 P. M. Evening worship 7.30. Theme, "Sowing and Reaping." Bible Study Every Thursday evening at 8.

WOLLASTON M. E. CHURCH—Corner Beale and Safford streets. Rev. Wesley Wiggin, pastor. Residence 52 Brook street, Telephone Quincy 378-2. Morning worship and sermon at 10. 5 by the pastor. Sunday School at 12 M. Epworth League at 7 P. M. Devotional meeting, Leader Mr. S. A. Kay. Special music. Everybody invited. Friday 7.45 P. M. Prayer service.

WOLLASTON BAPTIST CHURCH—Rev. Joseph Walther, pastor. Residence 81 Prospect avenue. Tel. 341-4 Morning service at 10.45. Sermon by the minister. No Sunday School and no evening preaching service during July and August. Y. P. S. C. E. Meeting at 7 P. M in the chapel. Prayer and conference meeting at 7.45 Friday evening led by the minister. Everyone cordially invited to services.

ST. CHRYSOSTOM'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH—Hancock street, Wollaston—Rev. Frederick H. Steenstra, rector, residence, the rectory, 523 Hancock street. Holy Communion at 8 A. M. Morning Prayer and sermon at 10.30.

MEMORIAL CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH—Atlantic. Rev. Thomas W. Davison, pastor. Morning service at 10.45. Subject: "The right use of vacation." Music by Ladies quartet. Sunday School at 12 M.

Makaria
Fraternity
SUNDAY 12 TO 1—SHARP
Bethany Church, City Square
If YOU are a young man, and not associated with any other Quincy church, YOU are most cordially invited to come to our meeting.
A warm welcome—Hearty singing—A helpful hour together.

A LACK OF EVIDENCE

Relatives of Boy Mysteriously Murdered Will Be Freed

Kiev, Russia, July 15.—An uncle of the boy Yuschinsky, the mysterious murder of whom caused considerable excitement, has been released from custody and other relatives of the victim, including the stepfather, who have been held as suspects, probably will be freed because of a lack of evidence against them.

Recent developments leave the police as much in the dark as ever. One of the many theories advanced is that the youth was killed by gypsies.

MISTAKEN WAS MISTAKEN

His Blunder In Spitting on Station Floor Costs Him $3

Boston, July 15.—James B. Mistaken thought he could spit in the waiting room at the North station, but he found he was indeed mistaken when Policeman Clancy of station 3 arrested him.

Judge Bennett fined the mistaken one $3, which he paid.

—The soldiers are coming out of Texas. It is getting too hot for comfort. And they are coming out in good health. Only one of them was attacked by typhoid—a wonderful showing of good medical treatment and of the value of anti-toxin. There were 28,000 cases in the army in the South in 1898. The Texas mobilization was a remarkable success in many ways.—Lowell Courier-Citizen.

LIKES SUNDAY BALL

Archdeacon Quits Presidency of a Ministerial Association

Pensacola, Fla., July 15.—Archdeacon William H. Allen of St. Catherine's Episcopal church has tendered his resignation as a member of the Pensacola Ministerial association, of which he was president, as a result of the action of the organization in prosecuting baseball players for playing ball on Sunday.

The archdeacon, who is one of the most prominent ministers in Florida, in an interview is quoted as saying that baseball is a matter of conscience solely.

WOMAN IS SUPPLIED WITH NEW SHINBONE

Unique Surgical Operation In a New York Hospital

New York, July 15.—An operation, unique in surgical history, one which heretofore has been confined to experimental work on animals, was performed in the hospital for deformities and joint diseases by Dr. Henry W. Frauenthal, who grafted the shinbone of a man onto Katherine Neary, 35 years old, a sufferer from necrosis.

Dr. Frauenthal cut away all the flesh around the bone for a space of ten inches, cut away the perisosteum, the membrane protecting the bone, and chiselled out eight inches of the bone.

The top and bottom of the tiba were sawed through and the new bone inserted. It was hammered heavily to make it secure. The wound was covered with rubber or tissue, the periosteum sewn together and the edges of the flesh drawn together by stitches. Later skin from the patient will be grafted over the leg, which is now raw from the ankle to the knee. Miss Neary shows no ill effects from the operation.

"LET IT BE FORGOTTEN"

Lady Constance Gives No Reason For Jilting Her Fiance

London, July 15.—Lady Constance Foljambe, a half-sister of the Earl of Liverpool, comptroller of the king's household, who astonished London ten days ago by failing to appear at the church where she was to have been married to Rev. A. H. K. Hawkins and who since has been reported to be with her brother in Brittany, presented herself in the little village of Malton in Yorkshire.

When asked for an explanation of her having jilted her fiance, she said appealingly: "Oh, don't ask me anything. Let it be forgotten."

GUNBOAT SENT TO HAYTI

Washington Hears of a Serious Revolutionary Movement

Washington, July 15.—Because of the serious revolutionary movement in northern Hayti, which is jeopardizing American interests, the United States gunboat Petrel was ordered from Guantanamo to Cape Haytien.

The action was taken in response to a request from American Consul Livingstone at Cape Haytien. That port and Port Libette are threatened with attack by the revolutionists, and many interests are exposed to danger.

Aviator Probably Fatally Hurt

Erie, Pa., July 15.—"Bud" Mars, the aviator, was probably fatally injured in this city when he lost control of his machine and fell from a height of several hundred feet to the ground.

Taft to Address Bankers

Washington, July 15.—President Taft accepted an invitation to attend the banquet of the New York State Bankers' association in New York city Jan. 2.

CAUSE OF HEAT

Edwin Fairfax Naulty of New York, in a lecture at the Atlantic House, Nantasket, last night declared that the remarkable weather of this spring and summer and of the last three years was due to the presence of a comet in the solar system. Mr. Naulty discovered the presence of the Kiess comet in the eastern sky on July 1 by notation of the cometic rays of light in the northeast quadrant of the heavens.

His explanation of the effect on weather conditions was that the heads of comets, acting as spherical lenses divert and concentrate the solar force, according to their positions in the solar system and their relative position with regard to the earth and sun. He denied that physical contact between the head of a comet and the earth was possible on account of the effect of gravitation, but said that comets did affect the earth through their action in the dispersion of solar force and by the effect of their dispersion on the atmosphere of the earth.

CONTRADICTION DESIRED

A tramp called at the house of a gentleman and said:

"I've walked many miles to see you, sir, because people told me that you was very kind to poor chaps like me."

"Oh, they said so, did they?"

"Yes, sir; that's why I came."

"And are you going back the same way?"

"Yes, sir."

"Then, in that case will you be good enough to contradict this rumor?"—Cleveland Leader.

MAKES A CLEAN BREAST

Boy Arrested In Boston Admits Uttering Five Forged Checks

Boston, July 15.—Russell S. Hubley, 16 years old, whose father is a wealthy grocer in Halifax, was arrested, charged with forging seven checks and uttering five of them.

Young Hubley, it is claimed, forged the name of Frank M. Fuller, a lawyer, to the checks and made them payable to himself. The amount of money secured on the five checks which he had cashed totals $250.

When brought to headquarters Hubley made a clean breast of the forgeries, the police state, but gave no explanation as to why he committed the forgeries.

GOLD MEDAL FOR ATWOOD

Aero Club Honors Aviator For His Long Distance Flight

Washington, July 15.—Harry N. Atwood, the daring young Boston birdman, flew from College Park, Md., to Washington to get luncheon and receive a gold medal from President Taft, on behalf of the Aero club of Washington, for his aerial voyage from Boston to Washington.

The feat of making a safe landing in the White ouse grounds is considered remarkable by aviation experts.

Going After World Steel Trust

Washington, July 15.—An investigation of the Brussels conference of steel men, which may bring about an international combination to control the steel trade of the world, will be undertken by the department of justice.

Shakeup In Wheat Market

Chicago, July 15.—The wheat market was broken and thrown into wild excitement by the sale of 1,500,000 bushels by Clement, Curtis & Co. The pit charges the selling to Armour interests.

Reign of Terror In Spanish City

Saragossa, Spain, July 15.—Thirty persons were wounded during encounters between the strikers and civil guards and the city was thrown into a state of terror. A state of siege will probably be proclaimed.

Don't Forget Don't Forget To Look

BEAUTY AND THE BEAST.

are more closely allied than one might think. Good prime beef, mutton, lamb, etc., give health and strength which are the foundation of beauty. They paint your cheek with the hue of health and give brightness to the eye and vivacity to the body when your table is furnished with high grade tender and juicy meats from the Quincy Market.

ONLY FEW OF THE PRICES HERE

Leg Loins of Spring Lamb, the Best	from 9 to 12 lbs. 12 1-2c lb
4-4 Lamb, Spring Lamb	6c lb
Lamb Chops, Lean	15c lb
Lean Corned Beef (sweet, nice, tender, fresh corned)	10c lb
Fancy Rib Roast	from 10 to 12 1-2c lb
Good Roll Roast Beef, clear meat	10c lb
Good Rib Staak	from 12 1-2 to 18c lb
Lamb for Stew	5c lb

Don't forget your present on every dollar's worth on two we pay your fare home

QUINCY MARKET
Next to Woolworth's 5 and 10c Store
July 11-2t

Anty Drudge Visits the School.

Schoolteacher—"Why are you late, Theodora?"

Theodora—"Please, Miss Brown, my mother was so busy stirring the boiling clothes in the washboiler that she couldn't get us our breakfast and dress us in time."

Anty Drudge—"Theodora, you tell your mother to use Fels-Naptha next Monday, and I'll guarantee you'll never be late for school on account of the washing."

The old-fashioned boiling is uncertain in its action on disease germs. Epidemics of typhoid fever have been traced to the mingling of clothes in a washing, done in the old, boiling manner.

Fels-Naptha soap, while it is fatal to germs, contains no substance which will harm clothes in the slightest manner. This is a scientifically-proven fact. Be sure and get the genuine Fels-Naptha. It has a red and green wrapper, with directions which you should follow carefully.

ALL SORTS
Of Vacation Footwear

Shoes that are cool and comfortable for hot days. White Shoes and Pumps in canvas and suede.

Bathing Shoes and Walking Shoes. Shoes for Tennis, Golf, Yachting, Camping, Mountain Climbing.

For the Children—Play Shoes with flexible Soles. Barefoot Sandals and those new Brown Tennis or "Sneakers" with white rubber soles.

Everything for the Man or Boy that is Light and comfortable.

GEORGE W. JONES
1 Granite St., "Just Around the Corner" Quincy
July 13-3t

ZOROID
TRADE MARK
LENSES
FOUNDED 1883

For Your Convenience

And to enable us to have time for a thorough examination, we make appointments.

Instead of wasting from a half to a whole day you need only an hour or two for a thorough and scientific examination of your eyes.

When in need of glasses 'phone OXFORD 790 for an appointment.

Briggs S. Palmer President
Sanborns
3 Winter St.-Boston

REPRESENTED IN QUINCY BY
WILLIAM F. SIDELINGER
July-12-15

LLOYD'S
EYEGLASSES AND SPECTACLES

KRYPTOK BIFOCAL GLASSES
Far and Near Glasses in a Single Pair.

Kryptoks are handsome, young-looking, and seamless. Two-piece bifocals are nowhere near as good.
Ask for Kryptoks at any of our stores.

315 Washington St.
310 Boylston St. } BOSTON
75 Summer St.
1252 Massachusetts Ave. CAMBRIDGE.

ANDREW J. LLOYD CO.

ROOSTER COAL BRIQUETS

THE NEW ANTHRACITE COAL

ROOSTER BRIQUETS are made from the choicest small Scranton Anthracite coal, mined in Pennsylvania, called TWENTIETH CENTURY CHESTNUT size.

Just consider for a moment what we offer here in this 20th CENTURY CHESTNUT.

First, 200 pounds of clean, pure, hard coal without a rock or a piece of slate.

Second, fuel that cannot form into a clinker, by any known method of firing, consequently the linings and grates last indefinitely.

Third, they are made in nut size, being equally convenient for furnace heaters, open grates, as well as stoves; therefore, only one storage bin is necessary.

Fourth, and very IMPORTANT, the quality of this fuel is the SAME EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR, not a good ton today, and nothing like it the next time, in other words, when you once learn how to regulate your drafts you have nothing more to learn about burning BRIQUETS.

Fifth, no more sifting ashes these Briquets burn out clean. They require less wood to kindle.

Be sure to ask for "ROOSTERS" and get the Briquet made from pure Scranton Coal, from the largest Briquet plant in the country. They are better than coal, will last as long and cost less.

J. F. SHEPPARD & SONS,
AGENTS

WE ARE NOT THE
LOWEST PRICED
STORE IN QUINCY BUT WE POSITIVELY ARE THE
LOWEST PRICED STORE
IN MASS., CONSIDERING THE QUALITY OF MEATS WE SELL
HIGHEST QUALITY, LOW PRICES OUR STANDARD
RESPECTFULLY.

JOHNSON BROS.
June 16-tf

YOUR VACATION
WON'T BE COMPLETE
UNLESS YOU LEAVE
AN ORDER FOR THE
QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
TO BE FORWARDED TO YOU

NEWS FROM HOME EVERY DAY
FOR ONLY TWO CENTS

Quincy Daily Ledger

HIGH TIDE FOR WEEK.

Monday, July 10,	11.00	11.00
Tuesday,	11.30	11.45
Wednesday,	1200	12.15
Thursday,	12.15	12.45
Friday,	1.00	1.30
Saturday,	1.45	2.00
Sunday,	2.15	2.45

1911 JULY 1911

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
						1
2	3	4	5	6	7	8
9	10	11	12	13	14	15
16	17	18	19	20	21	22
23	24	25	26	27	28	29
30	31

BRIEFS

The house on Foster street occupied for several years by Dr. E. N. Hardy has been sold by its owner Harry D. Flint to Mary A. Deacon.

There were a few drops of rain Friday afternoon and again at midnight but not enough rain fell to lay the dust in the streets.

The annual picnic of the Hall Place M. E. Sunday school will be held at Highand park, Wednesday July 19th. All kinds of sports will be held during the day.

Chief Williams was requested to have his apparatus ready to send to Campello in case their services should be needed as a fire was raging there which threatened to destroy the business section of the city.

One gentleman who has sought comfort at the beach during these hot days was heard to exclaim that "clam bakes were entirely unnecessary, since it was possible to dig them up all baked."

TOTAL KILLED 1,219,000.

Worcester, July 13—More than 10 barrels of flies were gathered by the 232 contestants in an antifly crusade in this city, which came to an end tonight. The winner, who gets a prize of $100 turned in 95 quarts or a total of 1,219,000 flies captured in traps of his own construction.

He is Earl C. Bousquet, 12 years old. The contest began on June 22.

Bousquet claims the world's championship as a fly catcher. The flies will be placed on exhibition in Clark university.

OBSERVED NATION'S BIRTHDAY.

One of the most pleasant observances of the Fourth of July was by Capt. Charles T. Derry who entertained some 30 people at his home on Washington place, Sharon. The spacious lawns were decorated with flags and bunting; forty small flags bordered the walks with three large flags in the background. Dinner was served and in the evening there was also a spread. Japanese lanterns, colored fire and fireworks added to the beauty of the scene as well as to the enjoyment.

VISITING NURSING.

Miss E. H. McEwan, a graduate of the Training School of the Massachusetts General Hospital has been secured by the visiting nurse committee of the Quincy Women's club, to fill the position of Visiting nurse, for the summer months. A new departure has been made in this work by obtaining the co-operation of a druggist in each district where calls may be left for services of a nurse. Cards fully explaining the details of this good work can be found at the following drug stores:

Walsh's, 63 Franklin street, South Quincy.

Walsh's, Copeland street West Quincy.

L. G. Murray, Brewer's Corner.

L. A. Cook & C., Washington street, Quincy Point.

Charles H. Brooks, Hancock street, Wollaston.

Sterling's, Hancock street, Norfolk Downs.

Brawn's, Hancock street, Atlantic.

BEWILDERING

Aunt Martha laid down her weekly newspaper and, assuming a pensive attitude, addressed her husband:—

"Josh," said she, "I don't see how it is some folks git paid a lot of money for not liftin' a hand. As an example this paper tells how a certain celebrated tenor was paid $1000 fer appearin' at a concert in Chicago!"

"I've read sech things afore, and they keep me a-scratchin' my head, too!" replied Uncle Josh, with a sigh "Why, only a couple o' weeks ago I read where a well known prizefighter was offered $10,000 simply to meet an other fighter in his own town!"—Lippincott's.

MOVEMENT IS PROGRESSING

"Men and Religion Forward Movement" Around Boston

STARTS IN SEPTEMBER

Reports received at local headquarters of the Men and Religion Forward movement, which is beginning to engage earnest attention in all parts of the country, indicate that the work of organizing Boston and its vicinity for the undertaking is well under way. The "Man and Religion" movement is the name under which for six months, beginning next September, the United States and Canada are to be swept by a campaign to bring together, as the name signifies, men and religion, with a view to establishing closer relations between men and active church work and bringing about a recognition of the true relation of men to the religion of Jesus Christ.

Under the plan adopted by the national committee, "The committee of ninety-seven," to use its official title, which heads the movement, ninety cities of the United States and Canada are to be centers for carrying on the fall and winter campaign. Boston, as one of these centres, already has organized its local committee, with Rev. George E. Briggs, of Lexington, as chairman and a full list of members and sub-committees representing 100 leading business and church men. Francis B. Sears, of Boston, is chairman of the local committee and Edwin W. Pierce, of 4 Ashburton Place, Boston is executive secretary.

Within the past few weeks more than 50 public meetings, addressed by Boston and New York speakers agitating the Movement, have been held.

The Boston Campaign will be carried on in the district within a radius of 10 miles from the State House and it will extend as far north as Wakefield, as far west as Waltham and as far south of Readville. At least 10 meeting centres will be selected in this district at which, beginning in September, District Meetings will be held at various times in the interest of Bible study, Boys' Work, Evangelism, Missionary effort and Social Service. The meetings, which will be interdenominational in character and held in towns easily accessible by trolley to all the people of the District.

Beginning at about the middle of January, 1912, what are known as "The Eight-Day Campaign meetings" will be held at the centres in each district. During this period speakers who are recognized experts in the various branches of work embraced by the campaign, will be in Boston and each of them will speak in these 10 points during the 8 days, thus making the meetings of equal benefit to all the people of the entire Campaign District.

The Auxiliary Town committee, a sub-committee of the Boston Campaign committee of 100, has invited the following cities in Eastern Massachusetts to become Auxiliary Centres to conduct a year's Campaign in that city and in the district immediately surrounding it; Lynn, Beverly, Gloucester, Newburyport, Haverhill, Lawrence, Lowell, Nashua, N. H., Manchester, N. H., Concord, N. H., Fitchburg, So. Framingham, Norwood Brockton, Taunton, Middleborough, Plymouth. Of these cities the following 5 are actively at work on their organization and preliminary agitation; Lynn, Lawrence, Lowell, So. Framingham and Brockton. In the following places several meetings have been held and it is expected that they will soon show permanent activity; Beverly, Gloucester, Fitchburg, Taunton and Middleborough.

The Bible Study Committees have organized themselves to promote the following types of work; Boys' Bible Study, Teacher Training, Bible Class Efficiency, Organization of New Classes, Extension Classes, that is, outside of churches. They will co-operate with the Greater Boston Bible Class Council in the annual men's class parade, and, as far as possible, with any other organization interested in Bible Study among men and boys.

The Boys' Work Committee has conducted a very successful Conference in Ford Hall, attended by 75 adult leaders and 125 older boys. The committee definitely plans to organize training groups of both adults and older boys to provide trained leaders for churches, Christian Association, settlements, etc.

☞Going away for the summer? If so don't forget to have the Daily Ledger sent to your address and keep posted on home news. If you have forgotten to send in your order in the rush of getting away drop us a postal and we will do the rest. tf

BIBLE STUDENT'S ASSOCIATION.

(Undenominational)

Divine service every Sunday in Colonial hall at 3 P. M.

On Sunday, July 16th, Mr. H. P. Gleason will deliver a lecture entitled "Peace with God." All the world knows that there is no peace with God. If there were peace and God was favorable to mankind, why should there be sorrow, sighing, pain, sickness, death and evil conditions generally? The very fact that these conditions prevail is indisputable evidence that Peace does not exist between God and His creatures but as the Apostle says "The Wrath of God is revealed from Heaven."

The Scriptures speaking of the church declare "Ye were the children of wrath even as others," but we have escaped from the wrath and being justified by faith, "We have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ." Not only do we Christians now have peace but the Scripture also declares that the Kingdom of God will bring "Peace on earth, good will to men," that the wrath of God will be past and peace will be re-established bewteen God and mankind on the basis of the ransom sacrifice of Christ Jesus. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Seats free. No collection.

HOOSAC TUNNEL ELECTRIFIED.

A body of newspaper men were shown through the Hoosac tunnel, on Tuesday, for the purpose of testing the electrical equipment recently installed there. They report greatly improved conditions. The former method under the steam locomotive scheme was to close the windows, doors and ventilators during the five mile ride through the tunnel, but smoke would leak through the crevices and the ride in summer was very disagreeable and in some cases painful. Now the air is clear and cool and the eight-minute ride is a pleasure. The only lights in the tunnel are those used for signals but it is not improbable that at some time in the near future the tunnel will be lighted as an attraction for the tourists. The installation of an electric plant for the movement of railroad trains is expensive, but electricity must in time supercede all other means of power and be universally applied to the railroads of the country. The electrification of the Hoosac tunnel is said to have doubled the capacity of the Fitchburg division of the Boston & Maine, for the traffic on the division depended on the capacity of the "bore," which can now handle two trains where formerly only one could be passed. The clear air of the tunnel is the advantage which the tourists will most appreciate.—Lynn Item.

QUINCY REAL ESTATE SALES

Charles J. Anderson to George A. Brackett.

Charles J. Anderson to George A. Brackett, Oakland avenue.

Minnie I. Atkins to Fred E. Churchill et al, Ocean street.

Robert H. Barham ex & tr to Robert H. Barham, Broadway.

William H. Bliss to Henry M. Greer Staunton street and Huntington square.

William W. Burke to Samuel Hirvimaki.

Carl A. Carlson to Augusta M. Sandeen, Glendale road.

Sarah H. Cone to Ede T. Plaisted et al trs, Channing street.

Henry F. Corbett to Myra E. Lester, Scotch Pond place.

George W. Earle to Eugene V. Earle Washington street.

Eugene V. Earle to Louis J. Smith, Washington street.

Abbie F. Fenno to Flora O. West, Berlin street and Woodbine streets.

Harry D. Flint to Mary A. Deacon, Foster street.

John L. Hodgson to Clara M. Pearson, Glendale road.

Gertie Katz to Gibian Handy, Cyril street.

Clara B. Kestner to Minnie I. Atkins Ocean street.

Myra E. Lester to Annie F. Corbett, Scotch pond.

Minnie E. Lowe to Mary E. Gerrior, street from Washington street.

Francesco Madanna to Panteleone Ventrice, Madison avenue, Fifth avenue

Jessie McLeod to Murdock A. Campbell et al trs. Liberty square.

Lysander W. Nash to Charles J. Anderson, Cedar street.

Albert Nelson et al to Annie P. Sheriff, Broadway.

Catherine H. Passmore to Josephine M. Zottoli, Sagamore avenue.

Fred A. Perkins to Clair L. Baker, Standish avenue.

Quincy Mutual Fire Ins. Co., to Harry W. Conant, Franklin street, School street.

Charles R. Sherman to Felix Favorite, No. Central avenue, Granger street, Everett street, Lyndon road.

Thomas Swithin, et al trs to Chester C. Foster, Masachusetts avenue.

Fanny E. Taylor to Sarah O. Weaver Metropolitan parkway, Chick street.

Fred W. Wood to John F. Smart et al, Greene street.

REACHES INTO EVERY HOME

Whole Country Roused Over Agitation Against Wiley

TAFT GREATLY EMBARRASSED

Dismissal of Pure Food Expert Would Be Considered Political Error, While If He Is Retained Wickersham Is Ignored—Powerful Opposition to Wiley, Despite the Warmth of Popular Feeling Among the People

Washington, July 15.—Excitement over the Ballinger-Pinchot affair was only a ripple when compared to the commotion caused by the attempt of the committee on personnel of the department of agriculture, aided by Attorney General Wickersham, to oust Dr. Wiley, chief of the bureau of chemistry.

Washinigton rarely concerns itself with even the most important of government proceedings, but this case reaches into every home in the country. The more the documents are studied the more confirmed is the belief that a flimsy "frame-up" has been perpetrated in the hope that President Taft, with his known respect for legal technicalities, would try to check the controversy by dismissing Wiley and reorganizing the bureau of chemistry.

Letters and telegrams expressing confidence in Wiley, and urging President Taft to consider most carefully the charges made against him came pouring into the White House from all over the country. Many of the messages were from commercial organizations, others from personal friends of the president and of Wiley, and still others from organizations especially interested in Wiley's work.

President Taft's friends realize that a campaign waged on the Wiley issue will be more effective even than that carried on in the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy, because it would involve a question which affects every man's stomach.

The president is in an embarrassing position. His attorney general has recommended that Wiley's resignation be called for. This recommendation by Wickersham has been made public, and the president, if he condones Wiley's action and allows him to remain, will in effect be repudiating the views of his chief legal adviser.

Attorney General Wickersham has astounded his friends by his participation in the attempt to remove Wiley and his letter calling for the punishment of the doctor is regarded as the culminating blunder of a series of political mistakes made by this cabinet officer.

Notwithstanding the warmth of popular feeling, it will not do to minimize the power of the opposition to Wiley. The great controversial cases in which he has played a leading part are those relating to whisky, benzoate of soda, bleached flour, fake medicines, saccharin, sulphur and copper salt.

The interests making use or misuse of the articles named represent a capitalization of hundreds of millions and a mercantile and political power which should not be underestimated.

Eager for a chance to investigate something promising a sensation, the house committee on expenditures in the department of agriculture yesterday took hold of the case of Wiley with undisguised enthusiasm.

The committee decided not only to inquire into the Wiley-Wickersham case, but to go further back and find out all about the board of referees appointed during the Roosevelt administration with authority to overrule Wiley on questions involving the enforcement of the pure food and drugs act.

WHEN HER BACK ACHES.

A Woman Finds All Her Energy and Ambition Slipping Away.

Quincy women know how the aches and pains that come when the kidneys fail make life a burden Bachache, hip pains, headaches, dizzy spells, distressing urinary troubles, all tell of sick kidneys and warn you of he stealthy approach of diabetes, dropsy and Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills permanently cure all these disorders. Here's proof of it in a Quincy woman's words:

Mrs. Deborah Prouty, 39 Quincy avenue, Quincy, Mass., says: "I am in a position to speak in the highest terms of Doan's Kidney Pills. My back ached nearly all the time and caused me considerable trouble. Any sudden movement or an attempt to stoop, sent sharp pains through my loins. My health was much run down and I had but little strength or energy. I was very much alarmed about my condition. When Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended to me, I procured a supply at the Cox Drug Store, as I knew of many other people who had used them with success. The contents of three boxes convinced me that they were the best kidney remedy to be had. I am now in good health."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

UPHOLSTERING

My only ambition is to get the work and to show the people of Quincy Town that nobody can beat me with my good work. Low prices on all kinds of furniture, repairing, mattresses, and cushions. Can give references. M. Mirkin 67 Washington street, next to Y.M.C.A. Quincy. Tel. 1112W. April 10-4mo.

JAMES F. BURKE
Real Estate and Insurance
AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES
ustice of the Peace Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Tel. 385-3 Jan. 17-tf

A. M. DEANE & CO.
MONUMENTS
MEMORIALS ERECTED
IN ANY
CEMETERY
IN THE
UNITED STATES
Aug. 1-1y

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER and GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER!
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

HOUSEKEEPERS
TELL YOUR TROUBLES
HOLMES & HALL
We make a business of repairing the things about the house that get out of order such as DOORS, LOCKS, SHADES, BELLS and FURNITURE.
96 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 974 L

PATTERSON, "The Florist"
92 South Central Ave.
WOLLASTON, MASS.
Telephone 392 Quincy

STORAGE
— FOR —
Furniture and Pianos
Storage Warehouse with Separate Rooms
Furniture and Piano Movers
HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy Tel. Con.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.
FIRE INSURANCE.
The Best Insurance. The Lowest Rates.
Insurance Department,
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Telephone, Quincy 97-3.

Quincy Savings Bank
BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.
SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.
CLARENCE BURGIN,
Treasurer.

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock treet, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point
Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1153 M Nov. 3-tf

M. T. SULLIVAN
Real Estate Insurance
Auctioneer Care of Property
Justice of the Peace
Corner School and Hancock Streets
QUINCY.

PATENTS
PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES. Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent.
Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively
Write or come to see us at
710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office,
WASHINGTON, D. C.
CASNOW &

PHOLSTERING

ambition is to get the work w the people of Quincy nobody can beat me with ork. Low prices on all urniture, repairing, mat cushions. Can give refer- Mirkin 67 Washington to Y.M.C.A. Quincy. Tel. April 10-4mo.

ES F. BURKE

tate and Insurance

NEER MORTGAGES Peace Notary Public Savings Bank Building Jan. 17-tf

DEANE & CO.

NUMENTS

ORIALS ERECTED IN ANY CEMETERY IN THE NITED STATES Aug. 1.-1y

S N. CURTIS,

R and GLAZIER.

D STAINED GLASS. and PAPER HANGER! RNITURE REFINISHED. ace, off Spear Street, Quincy.

SEKEEPERS

UR TROUBLES

MES & HALL

a business of repairing bout the house that get r such as DOORS, HADES, BELLS and E. ington St., Quincy PHONE 974 L

ON, "The Florist"

th Central Ave.

STON, MASS.

Quincy

ORAGE

FOR e and Pianos

ouse with Separate Rooms and Piano Movers KINCAIDE & CO. treet, Quincy Tel. Con.

NCAIDE & CO.

INSURANCE.

nce. The Lowest Rates. nce Department, ock Street, Quincy. one, Quincy 97-3.

Savings Bank

RS: Every Business urday, 8.30 A. M. to 3

8.30 A. M. to 12 M.

ARENCE BURGIN, Treasurer.

T A. HAYDEN

o Tuner

Vetengill's, 1391 Hancock verly Court, Quincy Point 11:30 M Nov. 3-tf

SULLIVAN

Insurance

Care of Property

of the Peace and Hancock Streets UINCY.

ENTS

D DEFENDED. Send model, expert search and free report, obtain patents, trade marks, ALL COUNTRIES. Washington saves time, & patent. ement Practice Exclusively. ear United States Patent Office, NGTON, D. C.

NOW &

THE DANGER TRAIL

By JAMES OLIVER CURWOOD

Copyright, 1910, by Bobbs-Merrill Company.

SYNOPSIS

Jack Howland, engineer, sent to build the Hudson Bay railroad, is appealed to for help by a beautiful girl who writes that she is a mute and invites him to accompany her. They are followed by Jean Croisset, half breed.

They go to her camp. He is attacked and nearly killed by a huge stranger. The girl disappears. Howland hears her speak. Croisset gives him the little Meleese's warning not to go north. He goes.

Howland again sees the girl, who tells him by note his life is in danger. She asks his forgiveness. Gregson and Thorne are mere wrecks of their former selves.

Mysterious perils threaten Howland. The girl visits him and confesses that she had lied to him. She entreats him to return south.

He tells her he loves her. Her name is Meleese. She partly promises to tell him why enemies seek his life.

Howland is lured to a mine, taken prisoner and bound to a box of dynamite which is soon to be exploded.

He frees himself and prevents the explosion. Meleese meets him again, refuses to marry him and again lures him into the hands of enemies.

(Continued from last issue)

Croisset stopped again in the middle of the afternoon Howland watched the backward trail for the appearance of the second sledge, but there was no sign of it. After their second meal the journey was resumed, and by referring occasionally to his compass Howland observed that the trail was swinging gradually to the eastward. Long before dusk exhaustion compelled him to ride once more on the sledge. Croisset seemed tireless, and under the early glow of the stars and the red moon he still led on the worn pack until at last it stopped on the summit of a mountainous ridge, with a vast plain stretching into the north as far as the eye could see through the white gloom. The half breed came back to where Howland was seated on the sledge.

"We are going but a little farther, m'seur," he said. "I must replace the rawhide over your mouth and the thongs about your wrists. I am sorry, but I will leave your legs free."

"Thanks," said Howland. "But really it is unnecessary, Croisset. I am properly subdued to the fact that fate is determined to play out this interesting game of ball with me, and, no longer knowing where I am, I promise you to do nothing more exciting than smoke my pipe if you will allow me to go along peaceably at your side."

Croisset hesitated.

"You will not attempt to escape and you will hold your tongue?" he asked

"Yes."

Jean drew forth his revolver and deliberately cocked it.

"Bear in mind, m'seur, that I will kill you if you break your word. You may go ahead."

And he pointed down the side of the mountain.

CHAPTER X.

THE HOUSE OF THE RED DEATH

HALFWAY down the ridge a low word from Croisset stopped the engineer. Jean had toggled his team with a stout length of babeesh on the mountain top, and he was looking back when Howland turned toward him. The sharp edge of the part of the mountain from which they were descending stood out in a clear cut line against the sky, and on this edge the six dogs of the team sat squat on their haunches, silent and motionless, like strangely carved gargoyles placed there to guard the limitless plains below. Howland took his pipe from his mouth as he watched the staring interest of Croisset. From the man he looked up again at the dogs. There was something in their sphinxlike attitude, in the moveless reaching of their muzzles out into the wonderful starlit mystery of the still night, that filled him with an indefinable sense of awe. Then there came to his ears the sound that had stopped Croisset—a low, moaning whine which seemed to have neither beginning nor end, but which was borne in on his senses as though it were a part of the soft movement of the air he breathed—a note of infinite sadness, which held him startled and without movement, as it held Jean Croisset. And just as he thought that the thing had died away the wailing came again, rising higher and higher, until at last there rose over him a single long howl that chilled the blood to his very marrow. It was like the wolf howl of that first night he had looked on the wilderness, and yet unlike it. In the first it had been the cry of the savage, of hunger, of the unending desolation of life that had thrilled him. In this it was death. He stood shivering as Croisset came down to him, his thin face shining white in the starlight. There was no other sound save the excited beating of life in their own bodies when Jean spoke.

"M'seur, our dogs howl like that only when some one is dead or about to die," he whispered. "It was Woonga who gave the cry. He has lived for eleven years, and I have never known him to fail."

There was an uneasy gleam in his eyes.

"I must tie your hands, m'seur."

"But I have given you my word, Jean."

"Your hands, m'seur. There is already death below us in the plain, or it is to come very soon, I must tie your hands."

Howland thrust his wrists behind him, and about them Jean twisted a thong of babeesh.

"I believe I understand," he spoke softly, listening again for the chilling wail from the mountain top. "You are afraid that I will kill you."

"It is a warning, m'seur. You might try. But I should probably kill you. As it is"—he shrugged his shoulders as he led the way down the ridge—"as it is, there is small chance of Jean Croisset answering the call."

"May those saints of yours preserve me, Jean, but this is all very cheerful!" grunted Howland, half laughing in spite of himself. "Now that I'm tied up again, who the devil is there to die—but me?"

"That is a hard question, m'seur," replied the half breed, with grim seriousness. "Perhaps it is your turn. I half believe that it is."

Scarcely were the words out of his mouth when there came again the moaning howl from the top of the ridge.

"You're getting on my nerves, Jean—you and that accursed dog!"

"Silence, m'seur!"

Out of the grim loneliness at the foot of the mountain there loomed a shadow, which at first Howland took to be a huge mass of rock. A few steps farther and he saw that it was a building. Croisset gripped him firmly by the arm.

"Stay here," he commanded. "I will return soon."

For a quarter of an hour Howland waited. Twice in that interval the dog howled above him. He was glad when Croisset appeared out of the gloom.

"It is as I thought, m'seur. There is death down here. Come with me."

The shadow of the big building shrouded them as they approached. Howland could make out that it was built of massive logs and that there seemed to be neither door nor window on their side. And yet when Jean hesitated for an instant before a blotch of gloom that was deeper than the others he knew that they had come to an entrance.

Howland could feel the half breed's hand clutch him nervously by the arm as they went step by step into the black and silent mystery of the place. Soon there came a fumbling of Croisset's hand at a latch, and they passed through a second door. Then Jean struck a match.

Half a dozen steps away was a table and on the table a lamp. Croisset lighted it and with a quiet laugh faced the engineer. They were in a low, dungeon-like chamber without a window and with but the one door through which they had entered. The table, two chairs, a stove and a bunk built against one of the log walls were all that Howland could see. But it was not the barrenness of what he imagined was to be his new prison that held his eyes in staring inquiry on Croisset. It was the look in his companion's face, the yellow pallor of fear—a horror—that had taken possession of it. The half breed closed and bolted the door and then sat down beside the table, his thin face peering up through the sickly lamp glow at the engineer.

"M'seur, it would be hard for you to guess where you are."

Howland waited.

"If you had lived in this country long, m'seur, you would have heard of la Maison de Mort Rouge—the house of the Red Death, as you would call it. That is where we are—in the dungeon room. It is a Hudson Bay post, abandoned almost since I can remember. When I was a child the smallpox plague came this way and killed all the people. Nineteen years ago the red plague came again, and not one lived through it in this Poste de Mort Rouge. Since then it has been left to the weasels and the owls. It is shunned by every living soul between the Athabasca and the bay. That is why you are safe here."

"Ye gods!" breathed Howland. "Is there anything more, Croisset? Safe from what, man? Safe from what?"

"From those who wish to kill you, m'seur. You would not go into the south, so la belle Meleese has compelled you to go into the north. Comprenez vous? You would have died last night, m'seur, had it not been for Meleese. You escaped from the coyote, but you would not have escaped from the other. That is all I can tell you. But you will be safe here. Those who seek your life will soon believe that you are dead, and then we will let you go back. Is that not a kind fate for one who deserves to be cut into bits and fed to the ravens?"

"You will tell me nothing more, Jean?" the engineer asked.

"Nothing, except that while I would like to kill you I have sympathy for you. That perhaps is because I once lived in the south. For six years I was with the company in Montreal, where I went to school."

Then he unbolted and opened the door. Faintly there came to them, as if from a great distance, the wailing grief of Woonga, the dog.

"You said there was death here," whispered Howland, leaning close to his shoulder.

"There is one who has lived here since the last plague," replied Croisset under his breath. "He lost his wife and children, and it drove him mad. That is why we came down so quietly. He lived in a little cabin out there on the edge of the clearing, and when I went to it tonight there was a sapling over the house with a flag at the end of it. When the plague comes to us we hang out a red flag as a warning to others. That is one of our laws. The flag is blown to tatters by the winds. He is dead."

Howland shuddered.

"Of the smallpox?"

"Yes."

For a few moments they stood in silence. Then Croisset added. "You will remain here, m'seur, until I return."

He went out, closing and barring the door from the other side, and Howland seated himself again in the chair beside the table. Fifteen minutes later the half breed returned, bearing with him a good sized pack and a two gallon jug.

"There is wood back of the stove, m'seur. Here are food and water for a week and furs for your bed. Now I will cut those thongs about your wrists."

"Do you mean to say you're going to leave me here alone—in this wretched prison?" cried Howland.

"Mon Dieu, is it not better than a grave, m'seur? I will be back at the end of a week."

The door was partly open, and for the last time there came to Howland's ears the mourning howl of the old dog on the mountain top. Almost threateningly he gripped Croisset's arm.

"Jean, if you don't come back what will happen?"

He heard the half breed chuckling.

"You will die, m'seur, pleasantly and taking your own time at it, which is much better than dying over a case of dynamite. But I will come back, m'seur. Goodby!"

Again the door was closed and bolted, and the sound of Croisset's footsteps quickly died away beyond the log walls. Many minutes passed before Howland thought of his pipe or a fire. Then shiveringly he went to seek the fuel which Jean had told him was behind the stove. The old bay stove was soon roaring with the fire which he built, and as the soothing fumes of his pipe impregnated the damp air of the room he experienced a sensation of comfort which was in strange contrast to the exciting happenings of the past few days.

THE HALF BREED CLOSED AND BOLTED THE DOOR.

He laughed aloud and began pacing back and forth across the rotted floor of his prison. And then a flush burned in his face and his eyes glowed as he thought of Meleese. In spite of himself she had saved him from his enemies, and he blessed Croisset for having told him the meaning of this flight into the north. Once again she had betrayed him, but this time it was to save his life, and his heart leaped in joyous faith at this proof of her love for him. He believed that he understood the whole scheme now. Even his enemies would think him dead. They would leave the Wekusko, and after a time, when it was safe for him to return, he would be given his freedom.

(To be Continued.)

A BOSTON GIRL'S BUDGET.

Hub "Fly Cop" Patiently Swats 390,625,000,000,000,000 of "Mankind's Deadliest Enemy"—Soldier Boys Fail to Enjoy Sizzling Shower Bath—Church Silver at Boston Art Museum Charms Thousands of Church Sons and Others—Ice Cream Tastes Good but Contains Billion of Bacteria.

The "fly cop" really exists in Boston now, an order from headquarters having been issued instructing every police officer to "swat the fly" at every possible opportunity. One officer has already attained the record of 2,000 killings, having to his credit according to statistics the extinction of a possible aggregate of 390,625,000,000,000,000 of the pest. This crusade is a result of a letter received by Police Commissioner Stephen O'Meara from the Women's Municiapl League of Boston, asking his cooperation for the destruction of the flies which are flourishing in millions in Boston. The letter enclosed sixteen circulars, one for each police station in the city, and the Commissioner ordered the superintendents to instruct their men to do all possible to aid in the war on the domestic pest. So, when a patrolman viciously slaps at space, it doesn't signify that he's crazy with the heat—he is simply obeying orders.

The Bay State's brave defenders have closed their desks, locked their offices and hiked for the forts of Massachusetts Bay, where they will defend the Puritan settlement from invasion by the enemy. Fortunately the seriousness of the invasion was not such as to make it necessary for the soldiers to man the guns on the first days of their encampment for the guns were too hot to be handled. Another discomfort of the heated term was the inability of the officers to enjoy their newly installed shower bath, owing to the pipes having been laid on top of the ground and the shower assuming the temperature of a scalding pot. The rigors of war are not to be laughed at, and if any of the men were looking forward to a respite from the heat during their encampment at the harbor forts, they suffered swift disillusionment. Nevertheless, the band plays on, and the guns boom gaily—after sunset—and Boston sleeps in peace, secure from the foe.

Visitors to the national shoe and leather convention are enjoying the beach resorts and such cooling off places as Boston is blessed with while conducting their business and participating in the various observances incident to the big fair which opened the 12th for a week. Representatives from many foreign countries, including Australia, England, Canada and Cuba, are domiciled in the Hub and the fair promises to be a very successful one. It is being held this year in the Mechanics building, and the attendance is surprisingly large considering the weather conditions.

An exhibition of church and colonial silver is attracting much attention at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, where it will be on view throughout the summer and fall seasons. The greater part of the pieces have been lent by churches and private owners in New England communities. Eighteen cases of the fascinating works by colonial silversmiths arouse the wonder of the layman, who realizes, perhaps for the first time, that the hand wrought pieces of our ancestors' time had much more of grace and beauty and taste than the productions of the factories of today. Historically, of course, great attraction lies in the works by Paul Revere, of which there are a number in the present exhibition. Notable among them is a punch bowl made by the artist-patriot at the order of the Sons of Liberty in honor of 92 members of the House of Representatives of 1768, "who undaunted by the insolent menaces of the villians in power, from a strict regard to conscience and the liberties of their constituents, on the 30th of June, 1768, voted not to rescind." Four alms basins, two baptismal basins, and other works give a good idea of Revere's handicraft, while the numerous brother artisans of his period are also well represented. The exhibition is unique, and has been under contemplation for a number of years, during which time Francis H. Bigelow and his associates have succeeded in bringing together a very remarkable collection of the best examples of silversmithing of the colonial days.

Ice cream made of four-day-old cream, shipped, from long distances, is under disapproval by Mrs. W. L. Putnam, chairman of the executive committee of the Massachusetts Milk Consumers' Association. Mrs. Putnam complains that the ice cream distributed by many of the small dealers and street venders in Boston and other communities in the state is not up to the mark, and that the conditions of handling it are far from satisfactory. Owing to the age of the cream from which the iced delicacy is made the number of bacteria contained is considerably more than normal, and the committee is enlisting the cooperation of the dealers toward improving conditions. With the present large demand for ice cream the temptation is great to make it of cheap and unhealthy materials, and resultant illness is sure. Butter, also, is under suspicion, and Mrs. Putnam and her committee are making a vigorous effort to get at the bottom of the difficulty.

Ethel Angier.

Your Health

is your most precious possession. Your first aid to health should be the reliable and proved family remedy

BEECHAM'S PILLS

Sold Everywhere. In boxes 10c. and 25c.

Administratrix Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administratrix of the estate of Jacob Waisanen late of Quincy in the County of Norfolk, deceased, intestate, and has taken upon herself that trust by giving bond as the law directs.

All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to

(Address)

MIMMI WAISANEN, Adm.

June 16, 1911.

July 1-3t 1, 8, 15

(ADVERTISE.)

INTENDED TO SCARE VICTIM

Claim of Men Who Made an Attempt at Kidnapping

SEQUEL TO DOMESTIC ROWS

Man Who Is Lured to Lonely Cross-Road In Vermont Is Attacked by Three Masked Men, but Escapes and Gives Alarm After Putting Up a Furious Fight—Four Men Arrested and Held For Trial

St. Johnsbury, Vt., July 15.—Harry Munsey was lured from the house of his employer, Charles Harvey of Passumpsic, to a lonely cross-road and assaulted by three masked men.

Following an investigation by the authorities, four men, two them the wealthiest citizens of Orleans county, were arrested by Deputy Sheriff M. C. Garfield.

The account of the assault reads like the tar and feather days, and was an attempt to kidnap Munsey, who, it is alleged, has caused trouble between Nelson Stevens, a wealthy real estate dealer of Barton, and his wife.

Ray Stiles of New Britain, Conn., a brother of Mrs. Stevens, calling himself a representative of a detective agency of Boston, called on Munsey for so-called information against Stevens, and asked him to drive with him so they could talk privately.

They drove to a lonely cross-road where three masked men, said to be Stevens, William Hanson of Barton and Edward Thompson of Danville, sprang out of the woods, seized Munsey and attempted to gag him and tie his hands. He fought furiously, and, bruised and bleeding, escaped from them, giving the alarm.

State Attorney Simonds and Sheriff Worthen of St. Johnsbury, with his deputies, investigated and the men were traced by their automobile tracks to Barton. All four pleaded guilty, and are held in $800 bail for the present term of Caledonia county court.

The men claim that they intended no harm to Munsey other than to tie and gag him and carry him to the southern part of the state, frightening him so he would never return.

The matrimonial trouble of the Stevenses began a year ago, when Munsey and his wife were working for Stevens. The latter was jealous of Munsey and the double separation followed, Stevens' wife going to East Burke to live and Munsey's wife leaving for parts unknown.

GOOD WORK BY FIREMEN

Prevent Dangerous Blaze at Brockton From Spreading

Brockton, Mass., July 15.—By a remarkable feat of fire fighting the $30,000 fire which utterly destroyed the carriage building and the better part of the big J. C. Keith stables was prevented from spreading to several buildings which surrounded the burning property.

The fire caught the shoe factory of the Churchill Alden company, which was within six feet of the blazing buildings, but was stayed before more than the outside of the factory had beeen scorched, and the other buildings, most of them within ten feet of the stables, were saved intact.

Miss Carroll a Suicide

Newton, Mass., July 15.—Miss Elsie Carroll, aged 17, whose body was found in Crystal lake, committed suicide, according to Medical Examiner West, who performed an autopsy upon the body.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, Lucas County, ss.

Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure. FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

A. W. GLEASON, (Seal) Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

CHICHESTER S PILLS

THE DIAMOND BRAND. Ladies! Ask your Druggist for Chi-ches-ter's Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with Blue Ribbon. Take no other. Buy of your Druggist. Ask for CHI-CHES-TER S DIAMOND BRAND PILLS, for 25 years known as Best, Safest, Always Reliable SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

PATENTS

TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 25 years experience. Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune. READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.

D. SWIFT & CO.

PATENT LAWYERS, 303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is Pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. It destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. It cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. It relieves Teething Troubles, cures Constipation and Flatulency. It assimilates the Food, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS

Bears the Signature of

Chas. H. Fletcher

The Kind You Have Always Bought

In Use For Over 30 Years

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

BETTER Put in Your Winter's Supply

Direct from the mines to our yard comes the coal we have for sale—coal that's famous the country over for its free burning qualities, its low percentage of ash, its freedom from impurities.

It's "full value" fuel, and our method of taking and filling orders ensures satisfaction. Orders placed now save money for buyers.

TAKE A LOOK IN YOUR BIN

then act.

SPECIAL RANGE COAL

Stove or Nut

$7.25 Cash

C. PATCH & SON, Inc.

Office, 1422 Hancock Street, Quincy

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.

BATHING SUITS

Caps and Water Wings

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

Quincy Daily Ledger

FOR SALE AT

BOSTON—At South Station after 3.30 P. M.
QUINCY—Ledger Office 1424 Hancock Street.
L. A. Chapin, 1395 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, oppo. Depot.
Thompson's Waiting Room, City Sq.
H. P. Kittredge, City Square.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
Mrs. Madden, 16 Quincy ave.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's News Stand.
PARK&DOWNS—Branschied & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
QUINCY NECK—Stetson Pierce, Newcomb Square.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith, Washington Street.
Gragg's Pharmacy.
L. A. Cook, Washington Street.
E. O. Godfrey, 538 Washington St.
E. H. Lowe, Washington Street.
George E. Sprague Cor. River St.
SOUTH QUINCY—Litchfield, Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Miss C. Booth, Brooks Avenue.
BREWER'S CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
Mrs. F. H. Stanley.
WEST QUINCY—F. A. Skinner.
John G. Belanger.
HOUGHS NECK—Capt. Fosdick's.

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	91 degrees
July 15, 1910,	91 degrees
July 15, 1909,	89 degrees
July Noon Maximum, 14 years,	101
July Noon Minimum, 14 years.	60

BRIEFS

The fire hydrants are receiving their annual coats of black and alluminum paint.

The cape cat boats of the Quincy club will take part this afternoon in the races of the Columbia Yacht club at South Boston.

The temperature this noon reached the 91 degree mark but as there was a good breeze blowing the weather is not uncomfortable.

M. T. Perry, manager of S. K. Ames' store in Quincy square has gone to Rockland, Maine, his native town for a two weeks' vacation.

T. R. Fuller of Wollaston meets A. R. Shiland of Oakland in the finals of the Maplewood, N. H. Country Club tournament today.

Henry Cook, son of L. A. Cook the Quincy Point druggist, has gone to the wilds of northern Vermont on a hunting and fishing trip.

Walter H. Cobb, local correspondent of the Herald who has been confined to his home by illness for the past two weeks is reported as being some better.

Work has been commenced on the foundation of the new court house building on Coddington street. Work on the structure is to be rushed. All overhead telephone wires on Coddington street that ran along poles in front of the operation are being put under ground.

At the Summer school session Friday morning Rr. Adams gave a lecture on the "Heart and the Circulation". Miss Robinson, the visiting nurse, spoke on "The duties of a visiting nurse"" and Mis Georgianna Lane gave a lecture on "The beginning of Art." All of these were of rare interest and deserve further mention. They will be reported in Monday's paper.

RACE ENDS IN LIMP

That race to the White House between Judy, the big Luna Park elephant, and Jenny 11., the donkey, which started from Coney Island one week ago, as a result of a wager between Frederic Thompson and "Uncle Joe" Cannon, as to which of the two political parties, will win the presidency in 1912, has been called off.

Judy has a nail in one of her fore feet, and Jenny 11, is suffering from lameness. The two animals reached Darby, Penn., Friday and John Evans the keeper of the elephant, telegraphed to Mr. Thompson that neither of the animals could hold out to reach the goal. They will be sent back to New York.

NEW POSTAL CARD.

Postmaster Sherman informs us that the government is soon to issue a postal card of new design, printed on cream-colored stock in red ink. While the postoffice department makes an annual profit of $8,000,000 on the sale of cards, it is hoped that by making the cards more attractive their increased use will materially increase this profit. Postal cards have grown steadily in popular favor for many commercial and other uses where the communication is not of a private nature, and until we come to one-cent postage for first-class mail matter, they will retain their present popularity.—Franklin Sentinel.

Established 1870 Telephone
JOHN HALL
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
Carriage and Ambulance Service
1485 Hancock Street, Quincy Mass.

SKELETON NOT FOUND

Quincy Officials Do Not Think It is Hadad's

TRY AGAIN TODAY

Quincy police officials do not place much reliance on the theory that the skeleton which two West Quincy girls reported to have seen, while huckleberrying, in the woods near the Braintree line, was Aisah Hadad, who is wanted by the police for the murder of Mrs. Lisa Farfss at Quincy April 12.

Yesterday, 2 little girls, Helen Sullivan of 3 Wilson street and Annie Dunn of 15 Wilson street came to police headquarters and reported that while picking berries in the woods near the quarry, known as the Red granite quarry near the Braintree line that they came across a human skeleton. The girls said that they found the ribs in one place and the head some distance away.

Chief Amos Loring was notified and with a squad of officers made a diligent search all day Friday but was unable to find any trace of the bones. They were accompanied by the two girls, who while being sincere in their story were unable to locate the place. The wood was first entered from the Braintree side and then thinking that perhaps this may have caused confusion the party came to Quincy and entered from the West Quincy side but with no better results. It is not surprising, however, that the girls were unable to locate the place, for they would naturally wander about in an aimless way and be apt to lose the place. Officer Hinchon also went into the woods with no better result.

The story of the girls gave rise to the rumor that the hones were those of Hadad, who has not been seen or heard from since the afternoon of the murder, when he was headed toward Braintree. The story that was circulated was to the effect that he had followed the example of Restelli, who, finding himself unable to escape had committed suicide.

The police point to the fact however that the girls story, if true would place the head some distance from the rest of the remains and therefore it could not well be a suicide. On the other hand they say that the chances are that the bones seen were those of a large Newfoundland dog, and that the finding of the bones naturally caused the girls to imagine them human bones.

The girls are certainly sincere in their story, however, and the officials believe that they did see some bones. The Quincy police have not moved much in the case as the place where the skeleton is supposed to be is in Braintree.

Chief Loring of Braintree is out again today with a party of searchers and the section of woods will be thoroughly gone over. The two girls are with the officers in hopes that they may be able to locate the spot.

BRAINTREE

Mrs. M. L. Merritt spent Wednesday with friends in Milton.

Miss Boxer of Washington, D. C., is the guest of Mrs. E. W. Chamberlin, 202 Middle street.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Lane of of Vine street returned Monday from Mare Point, Maine.

Mr. and Mrs. George G. Ellsworth and family left last Saturday for Boothbay, Maine.

Mrs. Frances Arnold of Washington street, is visiting relatives in Framingham.

Ralph W. Arnold of Washington street is enjoying a two weeks' vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Clark and family of Middle street go to Haverhill today for two weeks.

Elmer Goodspeed is clerking at South's store during the vacation season.

Thomas Patterson clerk at J. M. Arnold's general store is spending a week's vacation at Franklin.

Harold C. Myers of Cleveland avenue, has been spending several weeks at Stockbridge.

Miss Ethel Littlefield of West street has gone to McGill University, Montreal, for three weeks.

Miss Barbara Higgins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry D. Higgins of Washington street, celebrated her third birthday, July 12th, by entertaining a dozen or more of her little friends with their mammas. The children with their colored balloons made a pretty picture playing upon the lawn.

AFTERNOON CLOSING

Merchants Desire Afternoon Each Week During Summer

CO-OPERATION NEEDED

Cooperation is conceived to be one of the most fundamental principles of business and the more it is carried into the commercial life of a city the more practicable will the business be. One question which has been "chewed over" till many are all out of patience is the question of closing an afternoon each week. Many of the store do this and a great many want to but owing to "a dog in the manger" are unable to carry out their desires. Among those who do close are H. L. Kincaide and Co., J. A. Keating, R. E. Foy & Co., E. H. Doble, Folsom Tea Co., Remick Bros., H. H. I. Smith, Thomas Gurney, Rogers market, Riley market, Petersons, Brown and Crowell, C. Patch and Son, and others. J. F. Sheppard and Sons, the Ledger office and several others close Saturday afternoons. Most of the grocery, furnishing goods shoe and jewelry stores in the city want to close, but there is one merchant in each line who stands out against the others and refuses to cooperate. If there could only be some unanimity of opinion regarding the best time for closing a satisfactory adjustment could be made but as things stand it is rather a forlorn hope. If the merchants got together and said, "We're going to close Wednesday afternoons" that would settle the matter. The customers would plan to do their shopping before noon and the merchants would get just as much business and the clerks would have decent hours. Perhaps Wednesday afternoon is not the best time for closing and if so another time would do just as well. Most clerks dislike evening work and especially that of oMnday evening when they are having a little reaction from the hard grind at the end of the week. All the merchants should be willing to consider closing Monday evening and many of the clerks would like it better than Wednesday afternoon. It is unfortunate that in each line of trade in the city, there is one "sticker" who profits but little by his selfishness and forces all the others who would gladly give their clerks a little rest, to keep open. Let all the merchants of the city get tigether and decide upon one special time for closing. In the long run, "the dog in the manger" will be the loser if he does not come to terms for public opinion is a mighty factor in life today and the man who has the reputation for meanness or unfairness is bound to lose. If in a city the size of Boston it is found that the merchants can give their clerks a half holiday without any visible loss of business, the Quincy merchants should be able to come to a decision regarding a half holiday during the summer. There is no need of mentioning the names of those who are holding up the scheme for everyone knows who they are but if someone should "put a flea intheir ear" and encourage them to listen to reason much could be accomplished toward gaining the desired end.

YOUNG ARTIST BURIED

July 14—The funeral of Ariel Grant the young artist who died in Bellevue hospital, N. Y. from typhoid fever and appendicitis after a short illness, took place this afternoon at the home of his father, Rev. George A. Grant, of the Methodist church, 10 Shawmut street East Weymouth.

The service was conducted by Rev. Walter H. Commons of the East Weymouth Congregational church and the interment was in the cemetery at Stoneham.

Ariel Grant was born in West Dennis, August 1884, and graduated from the Taunton high school with honors. He then took a three-years' course at the Boston University and he also took a two years' course at the Eric Pape art school.

His work attracted much attention and was accepted by the New York academy of design. He was engaged five years ago to Miss Anna M. Wilcomb an artist. For the past two years, Miss Wilcomb has made her home in New York and was with him during his sickness and death.

THE NOON ALARM

The alarm from Box 221 at11.47 this noon was for a slight fire on the roof of John C. Murray's granite sheds Loss $5.

(ADVERTISE.)

WAR WHOOPS WERE EXCITING

California Frank's Wild West Show Was Real Thing

RIDING FINE

The afternoon performance of California Frank's wild west show yesterday at the Water street grounds was very well attended and mostly by children. In the evening there was an attendance of about eight hundred people . The show was not as large as the one given here last year by the 101 Ranch, of which this is a part, but every feature showed the great skill of the cow boys and cow girls upon their mettlesome horses. The horses are an exceptionally handsome and intelligent lot, especially those ridden by the cow girls. They could dance with perfect time to the music rendered by the circus band.

Great skill was exhibited in rounding up wild steers and the riding of one of them, also the unbroken horse. The wild horses could kick and buck better than the mules the circus cop was offered five dollars to ride.

It is a mystery at shows of this kind that several of the performers are not killed or deformed for life at every exhibit. California Frank is a prominent horseman and showed his skill throughout the performance. He gives excellent shows and those who attended received their money's worth.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT

The Atlantic friends of Mrs. Frank Dawman are sympathizing with her in the painful accident which occured to her at her home on Walker street yesterday. She fell down the steps and fractured the left knee cap in several places. Dr. Johnson was called and found it necessary to take her to the Homoepathic Hospital, Boston where she is now resting comfortably.

ICE FAMINE BROKEN

Investigation of Knickerbocker Company of New York Has Begun

New York, July 15.—Tweelve big ice barges discharged their cargoes here and, thanks partly to the cooler weather, relieved the ice famine and indirectly stimulated the present investigation of the Knickerbocker Ice company.

An official report of actual conditions during the hot wave will be issued by the police department.

Social Realm

(Continued from Page Three.)

John D. Mackay has gone to Provincetown to join Mrs. Mackay and son over the week end.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hart were suddenly called away Tuesday to attend the funeral of the latter's sister, who resided in Nova Scotia.

• • •

Misses Gertrude and Lillian Hason have been guests this week of friends in South Weymouth.

• • •

Walter Barnard has had as guests this week Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Hollis of South Weymouth. Mrs. Hollis is his sister.

• • •

Miss F. Adelaide McCarthy was given a linen shower at her home on front street, Weymouth on Wednesday evening by about thirty friends. It was her birthday and besides handsome gifts of linen there were several pieces of silver. There was a musical program and a lunch was served by Weymouth friends and Miss Norma Lowe of Quincy.

• • •

Guests at the ladies' day sail of the Quincy yacht club on Wednesday afternoon are assured a good time for the reception committee on board the steamer Houghs Neck is made up of four well known ex-commodores, H. M. Faxon, Eben W. Sheppard, Fred B. Rice and C. F. Pettingill and four assistants.

WILL ENTER INTER-BAY RACES

Word has been received from W. Louis Frost, secretary of the Narraganset Bay Yacht club to the effect that there will be two boats from that association entered for the Inter-Bay series of races to be held in Quincy waters Aug. 21, 22, 23,24 and 25. For the Thomas Fleming Day challenge cup which was won last year at Narraganset Bay by the yachts Iris and Dolly 111 of the Quincy Yacht club. Local yachtsmen are looking forward to these races for there will be a large list of entries and some interesting racs are assured.

—Rural free delivery now costs $40,000,000 a year and yields in revenue $15,000,000; yet Postmaster General Hitchcock announces that he intends to use the discretionary power voted to him by Congress to increase the pay of rural mail carriers $4,000,000 a year as a means of reconciling them to the proposed limited parcels post. Meanwhile the city postal clerks are being trimmed whenever and wherever possible.—Boston Common.

LIVE SPORTING EVENTS

ON THE DIAMOND

American League

At Chicago:	R	H	E
Boston	2	9	0
Chicago	0	4	2

Batteries—Pape and Williams; Sullivan, White and Payne.

At Detroit:	R	H	E
Detroit	6	9	1
Philadelphia	1	5	1

Batteries—Mullin and Stanage; Coombs and Lapp.

At St. Louis:	R	H	E
St. Louis	4	10	0
New York	3	8	2

Batteries—Lake, Hamilton and Stephens; Caldwell, Vaughan, Quinn and Blair.

At Cleveland:	R	H	E
Cleveland	4	7	2
Washington	1	7	2

Batteries — Young and Fisher; Walker and Henry.

National League

At Boston:	R	H	E
Boston	7	7	2
St. Louis	5	7	3

Batteries—Tyler and Kling; Golden, Geyer, Laudermilk and Bresnahan.

At Philadelphia:	R	H	E
Philadelphia	5	8	5
Cincinnati	4	10	1

Batteries—Alexander and Doolin; Fromme, Smith and McLean.

New England League

At Lowell:	R	H	E
Lowell	8	11	1
Lynn	4	7	1

Batteries—Yount and Lavigne; Reiger and Monahan.

At Worcester:	R	H	E
Worcester	9	12	0
New Bedford	0	6	1

Batteries—Hale and O'Neil; Griffith and Wheeler.

At Haverhill:	R	H	E
Haverhill	10	14	4
Fall River	9	13	4

Batteries—Hogg and Milliman. Wormwood and Haight.

At Lawrence:	R	H	E
Lawrence	10	11	2
Brockton	2	6	4

Bateries—Pearson and Ulrich; Foley, Smythe, Wadleigh and Teslin.

BASEBALL GAMES TODAY.

South Quincy vs. Boston Independents at Ward Three.

Fore River Apprentices vs. Braintree Hillsides at Merrymount park.

Colonials vs. Belmont Independents at Ward Four.

Makaria vs. Hyannis at Hyannis.

Atlantic vs. Roxbury A. A. at Ward Six.

Wollaston vs. Clapp Memorial at Weymouth.

Manets vs. Braintree White Sox at Braintree.

Mohawks vs. Lincoln A. C. at Everett.

Glover A. C. vs. Romar A. C. at Roxbury.

TENNIS FINALS

The finalists in the Quincy Tennis club open doubles tournament will have quite a gallery of witnesses of their match this afternoon and there should be some first class tennis playing. Rockwell and Carleton meet Conant and Tunis. The winners of the best three out of five sets have the privilege of challenging Barker and Hillman for the Challenge cups.

SHOE FACTORIES IN PERIL

BROCKTON, July 14—Fears that large shoe factories in the Campello district of this city would be destroped by fire which started in a blacksmith shop Friday afternoon created excitement, but the loss did not exceed $20,000.

Five firemen fell when a wall against which their ladder was leaning gave away, but none was seriously hurt. Seven hundred employes of a factory to which flames spread showed familiarity with the fire drill by filing out in an orderly manner.

Cremo 5¢
CIGAR
You try one!

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents. Three consecutive insertions 50 cents, 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.

No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

LOST

LOST—A Gentleman's silver watch in Quincy depot. July 10. Finder will receive reward by returning to Quincy depot or 74 Garfield street, Quincy.
July 15-1t

THE THIRTEENTH INTERNATIONAL S. S. CONVENTION.

During the week just past thousands of delegates have been coming east from San Francisco where this mighty convention was held. 20,000,000 pupils scattered over the world owe allegiance to the Bible school and were represented here. Twenty-three special trains carried the 4,300 deelgates who were greeted in the vast Coliseum by a motto bearing the legend: "Westward the star of Bethlehem takes its way; we have seen his star in the East and have come to worship him."

Noted men and women from all parts of the world were present. A curious fact worthy of note is that the special trains carrying the delegates did not run on Sunday.

The eight day convention held during the last week of June began with a grand concert in which 1,000 voices participated. The first day was devoted to Home Missions. The second day was devoted to department work. Three days were devoted by leading Bible School workers in formulating lessons for 174,000 Sunday schools.

On the third day twelve conferences were held devoted to the Home Department and Home Visitation. It is worthy of note that at this time William N. Hartshom of Boston was elected President of this International Association for the next three years.

The fourth day was devoted to the elementary, intermediate and senior departments. At 5.30 o'clock in the afternoon the Men's Bible class parade was the great event. There were 10,000 men in line and all carried Bibles the gift of the Gideons, a traveling man's Christian Association, who intend that these Bibles shall finally be placed in the bed rooms of all California hotels for the use of the travelling public.

The fifth day was notable as the gift and recreation day. At this time $125,000.00 was raised, this amount being one-half the budget required for the next three years.

On Sunday the sixth day of the convention big Hearst Greek theatre was filled with over 12,000 delegates and their friends for an open air meeting. Prof. E. O. Exall lead the singing. A conference for superintendents was held during the day.

During the closing days of the convention a Michigan millionaire launched a "Character Factory" the same being a moral and mental school. A special session was devoted to personal purity.

Chicago was chosen for the next Triennial convention to be held in 1914. At the final session this great interdenominational international convention placed itself on record as advocating an amendment to the United States constitution giving Congress power to enact uniform marriage and divorce laws for all states and territories; placing the Bible in the public schools of North America; and bringing about a world wide agreement to arbitrate all international disputes.

It was a wonderful convention. Twenty-five or more denominations were represented. Perhaps the mightiest single force in the organization is the Bible lesson committee, which is composed of sixteen picked leaders from the largest denominations. They held their annual meeting during the time of the convention on Mt. Tamalpais. They select the topic, the text, and golden text of each lesson. This is done fully two years in advance, and the various denominations elect their own editors who interpret the scripture text and with the notes.

The general theme of the convention was "The Open Bible and the Uplifted Cross." The presence of Rev. J. Wilbur Chapman and his message on "Soul Winning and Christian Culture" in each morning and afternoon session of the convention served a supreme purpose.

—Congressman Lewis of Maryland has introduced a measure providing for the condemnation and purchase of the express business and for its addition to the business of the postoffice department. Considering the kind of service that the people are getting from the postoffice department they would undoubtedly be "tickled to death" to have the express business under the same management.—Chelsea Record.

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Cottage on Winthrop street, Houghs Neck. Apply Holden Vinthrop street, Houghs Neck.
July 15-3t

FOR SALE—At a great sacrifice income property paying 12 per cent on investment in Quincy. Owner going to N. H. No letters answered. Call 41 Upland road, city.
July 15-6t

FOR SALE or TO LET—Before you buy or rent, consult me. Houses for sale or to rent in the finest residential section in Quincy. All improvements. Close to school, churches, stores and depot. C. A. ERICSON, Builder 117 Glendale Road. Tel. Quincy 586 M.
W and Sat. May 22-tf

FOR SALE—1909 Overland car, red, thoroughly overhauled, tires nearly new, full equipment including gas tank, wind shield, extra tire, tire case, lock, speedometer, magneto. Carries 4 or 5 passengers can also be used as runabout with single top. Price $550. S. C. Hardwick, 159 Elm street, Quincy.
July 12-6t

WANTED

MEN and WOMEN, sell guaranteed hose. 70 per cent profit. Make $10 daily. Full or part time. Beginners investigate. Wear Proof, 3038 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, Pa.
July 8-9w W. and S.

TO LET

TO LET—Lower flat of 5 rooms and bath. Electric lights and gas. Rent $16. 5 Parsons street. Apply 7 Parson street, South Quincy.
July 13-tf

TO LET—Nicely furnished rooms, with excellent table board. Central location. Address P. O. box 346, Quincy.
June 29-tf

TO LET—On Spear street, tenement of 4 rooms and bath. All modern improvements. Apply to C. A. Ericson, 17 Glendale road. Tel 586 M.
June 27-tf

TO LET—Tenement with 9 rooms and bath at Quincy Point, also rooms to let and table board at 55 Washington street, Quincy, Mrs. Margaret S. MacDonnell. June 23-1mo.

FOR RENT—Quincy, Centre, opposite Adams Academy, house of 8 rooms and bath, also garage, 3 minutes to R. R. Station. Dr. E. S. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263L, Weymouth. May 10-tf

TO LET
Half House No. 44 Bigelow street, 7 rooms and bath. Shades, screens, electric lights, set tubs, range, etc. Rent $25. per month. Apply to Miss Prescott, Ledger Office. Quincy.
July 3-tf

FOR RENT
On Spear street, very desirable house of 8 rooms, bath and laundry. All modern improvements, range, gas, electric lights shades and screens. Large piazzas and lawn. To private family only. Apply at 41 Spear street or of Miss Prescott at Ledger Office, Quincy.
June 2-tf L. P. O

TO LET

Tenement—22 B Granite Street. $10.00 per month.

Greenleaf Hall—Greenleaf Block Large Furnished Hall with various anterooms—to let by the evening or permanently.

City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Babcock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 20 feet high. Splendid light, low rent

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)
Music Hall Block, Quincy.

HOME TRADE WILL HELP QUINCY AND EVERYONE IN QUINCY.

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 26 No. 162 QUINCY, MASS. MONDAY EVENING JULY 17, 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

JESSE POMEROY WILL GET MORE LIBERTY

Governor Impressed With Present Deportment of Prisoner Grants Request

Has Been In Solitary Confinement Many Years

Boston, July 17.—Jesse Pomeroy, characterized for nearly four decades as Massachusetts' greatest criminal, is soon to leave his solitary cell in the state prison at Charlestown, which he has occupied for thirty-seven years.

Jesse Pomeroy, now a gray-haired man, whose atrocious crimes when a boy marked him as an exemplar of perverted mentality; whose name has been held in abhorrence and fear by thousands for more than a generation for the first time in many years will soon see God's own sunshine and breathe the fresh air denied him since that dreadful yesterday when his lower instincts conquered his noble qualities.

For Governor Foss, impressed by the wonderful change for the better in Pomeroy's make-up, and believing the years of solitary confinement should be discontinued, although a full pardon will not be granted, and that no governor will ever recommend such action, has decided that the most wonderful prisoner ever caged in a cell in a Massachusetts prison will soon enjoy a little of the full liberty that would have been his had he not fallen.

And thus it will come to pass that the oft-repeated prayers of a sweet, sad-faced mother will be partially fulfilled. For Jesse Pomeroy's best friend has been the one that gave him birth. In a Christian, kindly manner, that won his sympathy, even if no results, she has labored for years for her Jesse, her wild, reckless boy. And now, as the span of her life is rapidly drawing to a close, and the lad of her dreams is a weary, middle-aged man, she sees, through the kindness of a great state's chief executive, the partial granting of her prayers for aid.

Governor Foss' determination to act is contained in the answer to a letter

(Continued on Page Five.)

DID NOT MIND DUCKING.

The sailing dory Oaxaca of the Wollaston Yacht club, was capsized off the club house Saturday afternoon by a sudden puff of wind and her passengers, Harold Winslow and Miss Lillian Aulbach, were soon floundering in the water. Both are good swimmers, however, and started for shore. They were picked up by R. B. Packard and Albert S. Fuller in the yacht Sinbad, which put out from the club house float after them. It was a warm afternoon and the two did not mind a little ducking.

IMPERSONATED POLICE.

Richard Robinson, aged 26 years, who gave his residence as 147 Elm street was arrested in City Square Saturday night by Officer Bishop on a warrant for Officer White of the railroad police. It is alleged that Robinson has been impersonating himself as a railroad officer and among his effects, carried a loaded revolver. This he had in his pocket when arrested by Officer Bishop. He was arraigned in court this morning for carrying a loaded revolver and was held until Wednesday for a hearing.

BONES OF HORSE.

Saturday afternoon the police found a lot of bones of a dead horse in the vicinity of the spot where the two West Quincy girls claim to have seen the bones of a man.

WIDGER—CARPENTER.

Howard DeForest Widger and Miss Ruby Lois Carpenter both of Wollaston were married in the presence of a few relatives at the Baptist parsonage by Rev. Joseph Walther, Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. The double ring service was used. Mr. and Mrs. Widger will live at 85 North Central avenue, Wollaston.

—Some patriotic citizens of Chicago started a movement for a new national anthem and for fear that too many laurels would be showered on Chicago or for some other reason, New York has fallen into line with an effort in the same direction. Poets may sing the glory of our land in many a verse but good old "America," the "Star Spangled Banner" and "Mine Eyes have Seen the Glory of the Coming of the Lord" can never be paled by new products.—Weymouth Gazette.

BRIEFS

The Misses Alicia and Grace Elcock of Copeland street are spending the week's end at Providence, R. I.

Miss Mabell F. Billings of Great hill, Houghs Neck has gone for a vacation to Altoona, Pa.

Walter Manhire of Albertina street returned Saturday from Sunapee, N. H., where he has been spending a two weeks' vacation.

Officer Murray, who has been confined to his home for the past few weeks with rheumatism, is on duty again.

Masters Harold and Robert McCormick of Hall Place are spending a few weeks with their aunt, Mrs. Joseph Ginns of Gloucester, Mass.

Inspector Goodhue and Officer Farrell were at Houghs Neck, Saturday, night looking for possible trouble but everything was very quiet and they found nothing to do but enjoy themselves.

The annual picnic of the Hall Place M. E. Sunday school will be held Wednesday at Highland park. Cars will leave West Quincy depot at 9 A. M., returning at 6.30. If stormy the picnic will be held Thursday.

There was a large crowd of bathers at Wollaston beach Sunday afternoon. There were also many who would have liked to have taken a dip had there been the accommodations of a state bath house offered at that place.

Quincy people who happened to take the 10.45 train for home Sunday night, had a hard time reaching their destination. Just before the train reached Savin Hill a Mattapan train ahead was derailed, blocking the outward track. It was necessary for the trains following, to back to South Boston and cross over to the inward rail all of which caused considerable delay so that the train did not reach Quincy until 12.25 thsi morning.

Harry B. McCormick of Emden, Ill., and Miss Hazel Montgomery were married at Bloomington, Ill., July 2d. They came to Boston July 3d and are now visiting relatives in West Quincy. Later they will visit relatives at Randolph for a few days and then go to Brooklyn, N. Y. to visit friends, returning to Quincy for another visit before leaving for Illinois. Mr. McCormick is the fourth son of Mr. John B. McCormick, a former resident of Quincy but now of Emden, Ill.

LADIES DAY AT YACHT CLUB

Annual Affair Of Squantum Club Was Greatly Enjoyed

YACHTS IN SAIL

The annual ladies' day of the Squantum Yacht club was held Saturday afternoon, at the club house, on Wollaston beach and was the most successful of any similar event held by this club. There was a very large attendance of ladies and a good sailing breeze from the west, the two elements that are needed to make an affair of this kind a success.

Shortly after 2 o'clock the yachts of the club, with their fair guests passed in review of Commodore George W. Hinkley in the flagship Louise S., each boat dipping its colors as it passed and receiving a gun in reply from the flagship. While the sail was in progress, an orchestra rendered a pleasing musical program on the club piazza and on the return from the sail refreshments were served by the House Committee.

In the evening the club house was brilliantly illuminated with many Japanese lanterns and there was dancing until 10.30. The committee in charge to whom the credit for the success is due, were Commodore George W. Hinkley, E. S. Drew, W. E. Kimball, P. C. Rogers and Herbert D. Gearwar.

The yachts to participate in the sail and their guests were as follows:

Louise—Com. Geofge W. Hinkley, Mrs. G. W. Hinkley, Miss Mary L. Hinkley, Miss Daisy and Bessie Brooks.

Stuart Co.—Capt. John Stuart, Mrs. John Stuart, Robert Stuart, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dodd, Alfred Rosser, Eleanor, Francis and Alice Stuart.

Kickimuit—Capt. George Parkinson, Fred Hull, Winnifred Cole, Helena O'Toole, Mabel Shoecraft, Mrs. William Hartley and Nathaniel McClure.

Louisa—Vice Com. E. F. Drew, Capt. Hugh McDonald, Mrs. Sidney Baker, Mrs. G. A. Fuller, Mrs. E. F. Drew, Mrs. M. R. Fowler, Herbert and Arnold Atkins, Sally Baker and Edith Atkins.

Sinbad—Capt. R. B. Packard, Norman L. Cooke, Corinne T. Ratcliffe, Mrs. F. C. Butman, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Capen, Maude Alletzhausser, Mrs. C. Gardner, F L. Bailey, Mrs. E. E. Smith, A. E. Ogden, J. Beardwood, J. B. Atkins, Mr and Mrs. H. U. Locke, Mrs. Henry B. Mallock, H. B. Johnson.

Thelma—Capt George A. Well, Thomas Burch, Normal Well, Mrs. G. A. Well, Elsie Well, Mrs. George H. Bean, Ruth, Mildred and Catherine Bean, Charles F. Stinson, Mrs. Roger Wilde, Mrs. C. F. Mosman, Mrs. Alice Keller.

Agilia—Capt. Frank Badger, Walter Burrell, Dorothy Bean, Emily Talbot, Cecile Currier, Reginald Gay, May Knapp, Meta Miller, Elsie Badger, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Little, Margaret Little, Mrs. Samuel Davis, Albert Rank, Mrs. A. L. Marr, Mr. and Mrs. George Broadbent, Ruth Broadbent, Robert Knapp.

Eleanor S.—Capt. Harry W. Hinckley, Louise Newell, Elsie Gogenheimer, Louise Hinkley, Ray Walton, Robert Newell, Leon Ward.

Nellie I.—Capt. John Connors, Daisy Bradford, Gwendolyn Worth, Albert M. Rank, Mrs. William Hartley, Rose and Margaret Higgins, Louise and Katherine Marker, Louis Marker, Madeline Marker, Mrs. A. S. Whiystal, Helen McCarthy, Mrs. Perley C. Rogers, Sadie Wheeler, Mrs. J. M. Flander.

UNCLAIMED LETTERS.

Letters remain uncalled for at the Quincy Post Office for: Will Armstrong, Wm. Campbell, Mrs. G. H. Caperton, Mrs. Wm. Cassidy, Mrs. Jno. Cayting, Mary Coolin, Antonio Cristafaro, Allan J. Finlayson, Thomas Henly, Miss C. A. MacDonald, Robert De. Megee, Mrs. Merta Morden, Jos. Palleen, Frank Pryor, Elbert Robertson, Jo Smith, Rosto O. Wood, R. O. Wood (two letters) Owen Young.

ENJOYABLE LAWN PARTY

Of Park and Downs Congregational Church Saturday Afternoon

RESULTS OF SPORTS

The annual lawn party of the Park and Downs Congregational church was held on grounds near the church on Saturday afternoon and evening.

Under a committee composed of W. A. Boynton, Mr. Perkins, Artemus Dingwell, Carlton Merrill, Horace Matchner, Mrs. James A. Macdonald and Mrs. George A. Smith, sports were run off in the afternoon with the following results:

100 yard dash—Won by Westley Browne, Michael Aronberg second.

220 yard run—Won by Westley Brown, Harold Wheeler second.

Ball throw—Won by William Pletsch Walter Hunter second.

Girls Race—Won by Ella Axberg, Doris Bissett second.

Nail Hammering Contest—Won by Mrs. B. A. Banks, Freda Klingenhagen second.

Peanut Race—Won by Gladys Keith.

The decorations of the grounds were attractive the color scheme being red, white and blue. The various booths were placed under awnings around the grounds. In the evening many Japanese lanterns hung in strings from a high centre pole made a very effective scene.

In charge of the affair was a committee consisting of: Mrs. B. A. Banks, Mrs. Irving, Mrs. Reginald Shaw, Mrs. James A. Macdonald, Miss Fannie Fraser.

The sub committees were as follows:

Supper— Mrs. Clarence Hunter, Mrs. Norman Northrop, Mrs. H. L. Forsyth, Mrs. Edward S. Lyons, Mrs. Fred M. Torrey, Mrs. T. W. Lindsay, Mrs. William Bissett, Misses Martha and Mary Tobey.

Ice Cream—James A. Macdonald, Mrs. T. H. Irving, W. S. Kershaw, Mrs. J. L. Barney, H. M. Watts.

Candy—Mrs. Charles Richardson, Mrs. George A. Smith, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Musgrave.

Aprons—Madame Knowlton, Mrs. Herbert Tucker.

Dodgers— Eugene Smith, Walter Hunter.

REV. ELVIN RESIGNS.

Another name is added to the list of resigning pastors in Quincy. Rev. S. N. Elvin, pastor of the Swedish Lutheran church, has handed in his resignation to take effect October 1. Mr. Elvin has been here for four years and has served his people faithfully and with efficiency. In his own denomination, he is known throughout the country and is looked upon as one of the strongest of the younger ministers among the Swedish Lutherans. He has been called upon to deliver the principal addresses at most of the big denominational conventions in New England and has served the church and Sunday school organizations as an officer during the past two years. Mr. Elvin has not definitely decided where he will go, although he has received calls from several parishes.

KEARNEY—JOSS.

A quiet home wedding was solemnized Saturday evening, at the residence of James Joss, 24 Garfield street, when his daughter Miss Mary Margaret Joss became the bride of Mr. Harold Wood Kearney, a rising young business man of Chapleau, Ont. The bride was attended by her sister Miss Jeannie I. Joss and Mr. Edwin Kearney, a brother of the groom was best man.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. C. Martin of the Hall place M. E. church, and Rev. A. J. Van Page of Chicago, Ill.

A reception followed the ceremony which took place at 7 o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Kearney will make their home in Chapleau, Ont., where they will be at home after Aug. 1.

FIFTY YACHTS WERE IN RACES

Columbia Yacht Club Had Interesting Contests

CLASS D BOATS

The annual open race of the Columbia Yacht club was held Saturday afternoon in Dorchester bay. Over fifty yachts participated. The entries included about all of the Class D boats of the Quincy Yacht club, as well as the boats of Class S and the Class I boats of the Wollaston club. Much interest was taken in the Class D boats, in view of the cup races of that class to be held in Quincy waters in August. All the old rivals were out. The race however was between the Iris and Busy Bee. The Iris has to allow the Busy Bee so much, that in order to win she must finish with a long lead. In Saturday's race, the Iris finished with a lead of over two minutes, actual time, but on corrected time the race went to the Busy Bee by a minute and a half. The Dolly III finished third and the old Mudjekeewis fourth.

In Class S, the Warwenock of the Wollaston club, had an easy win defeating the Alarm, the second boat by over ten minutes corrected time. In Class I the Moslen won by over three minutes. The summary of Classes D and S.

CLASS D

Name and owner	Elapsed time h m s	Corrected time h m s
Busy Bee, W J Coombs	1:29:46	1:21:14
Iris, F F Crane	1:27:44	1:27:40
Dolly III, W W Arnold	1:28:51	1:28:34
Mudjekeewis, E W Emery	1:30:00	1:29:18
Hush, Tupper and Hardwick	1:31:55	1:30:17
Arawak, H C Nickerson	1:32:13	1:30:47
Dartwell, I M Whittemore	1:32:56	1:32:56
Emeline, H W Robinson	disabled

CLASS S.

Name and owner.	Actual time. h m s	Corrected time. h m s
Wawenock, Gearwar and Sargent	1:07:14	1:05:31
Alarm M A Potter	1:35:00	1:14:32
Maritza, C H. Porter	1:18:18	1:22:31
I X L, T Edgar Smith	1:52:27	1:25:57
Zoe, F. J. Stewart	1:51:26	1:26:08

SQUANTUM RACE.

A club race was sailed Sunday afternoon off Wollaston beach under the auspices of the Squantum Yacht club. Two classes participated F and I. The Zoe won in the former and the Rena in the latter class. The summary

CLASS F

Name and owner	Actual time h m s	Corrected time h m s
Zoe, F J Stewart	1:08:01	1:02:01
Eleanor S, Harry Hinckley	1:09:42	1:03:42
Baracuta, George Glover	1:06:57	1:06:57
Wawenock, Gearwar & Sargent	1:07:74	1:07:74

CLASS I

Name and owner	Elapsed time h m s	Corrected time h m s
Rena, S Ferguson		1:14:04
Cheroot, Ralph Hendrie		1:15:33

VISITING NURSE APPRECIATED.

On Saturday Miss Estelle Robinson terminated a five years' term of work as Visiting Nurse in our city, during which time she has rendered faithful service in this most practical charity. Miss Robinson took the position shortly after its institution by the Women's club, and her duties have carried her to homes when her presence and help have brought comfort to the sick ones.

The Visiting Nurse committee is grateful for what she has accomplished. The work has developed since she occupied this position ,and at the present time the committee having the matter in charge are planning a campaign that will bring the object of the visiting nurse work to the knowledge of all our people.

The population of Quincy is sufficiently large to keep several nurses employed, and the committee's plan of making the drug stores stations where calls may be left for a nurse, is sure to extend the work.

The support of this work comes from a generous contribution of the Women's club, from fees of patients who are able to pay, and from contributions of those, who are interested in the Visiting Nurses work.

POLICE CORNER SIXTEEN IN RAID ALONG MARSHES

Chief Burrell Determined That Sunday Gambling Must Stop

Plan Laid Yesterday Rounded Up First Lot

Many complaints have been received of late, by the police about a gang of young men who have been in the habit of gathering along the marshes between the Atlantic and Montclair depots and making nuisance of themselves by bathing without the proper attire as well as gambling. Chief Burrell has tried several times to capture the crowd, but in every instance they would run and managed to get away at the approach of an officer. Sunday afternoon a new scheme was tried, and as a result sixteen were given a ride to the police station.

Soon after reports reached the station on Sunday that the gang were present, Chief Burrell summoned a squad of officers and laid his plans to capture the crowd. In the squad besides the Chief, were Lieut. McKay, Inspector Goodhue, Officers Reiley, Larkin, Duane, Duffy, Donovan and Malone.

The officers separated into two squads. One approached the crowd from Montclair and the other from Atlantic. This caused the gang, which numbered sixty or more, to enter a narrow space between the advancing columns.

After the alarm was given there was a great scattering on the part of the gang at the approach of the officers and many of them succeeded in getting away. Those who were not as fortunate, however, numbering sixteen were scooped in by the police. The patrol wagon was near at hand, the crowd loaded into it, and taken to the police station. One of the young men, was in swimming in a sluceway under the railroad tracks and he was locked up for bathing without proper clothing. Daniel J. Coughlin and James J. Gaughan were charged with bathing without clothing and the rest of the bunch for being present at a game on the Lord's day. All of the young men claimed Roxbury as their home. They were arraigned in court this morning before Judge Pratt.

THE SUMMER SCHOOL.

At the last session of the summer school, Dr. C. S. Adams gave a splendid blackboard talk on "The heart and lungs." He gave the anatomy of the heart and compared it to a pump in a well. He then gave the scheme of circulation, epaining the arterial blood what the lungs do and how the venous blood is returned to the heart. An explanation was also given of reasons why the heart is the victim of disease how delicate it is and yet how much work it has to do. He explained how to take the pulse and what it means. He showed how to control arterial hemorrhage. The difference between the real faint and the nervous faint was also explained.

Miss Georgianna Lane gave a fine talk on "The beginning of Art." The signs and symbols of Egyptian Art were explained. Miss Lane gave a fine exposition of her subject and her blackboard illustrations made it all very plain to the girls. And the adults who had the pleasure of hearing her found that many of the pleasing and familiar designs and forms in architecture originated in the far away land of Egypt. The talk which Miss Lane gave a year ago to the summer school and this one might be well worth hearing at a Club afternoon.

Mrs. Jelinek, Mrs. Christianson and Miss West conducted the sewing class.

The Swedish and Danish folk dances with their songs accompanied by Mrs. Charles Sampson are a recreation as well as an education.

Miss Murray is a most winning and graceful teacher and the girls are advancing under her instruction. Miss West is a splendid and most capable assistant.

Miss Robinson, who has so nobly done the work of visiting nurse for some years, was listened to with much interest and pleasure as she told the needs of such a person to go to those unable to bear the expense of a trained nurse and to those who need a nurse only for a short time each day. For instance one of the educational committee members was down and out with rheumatism following an attack of tonsilities. She felt that if she could have some one for an hour each morning, while her arm had to repose in a sling and while she was unable to leave her bed, that it would be indeed a great help.

Not only a help did Miss Robinson prove but a great comfort handling the lame arm and shoulder with care and encouraging her patient at the beginning of each day during the week And many who have been thus helped and those who know of her ministering are sorry to lose Miss Robinson.

After describing the care given the patient, making one clean and comfortable etc., Miss Robinson spoke of the choice of a room for the patient as regards air and sunlight and the trouble in getting some patients to remove unnecessary clothing, teaching them to take care of themselves to prevent a return of the ill, the insistence of keeping flies out of the room etc. Then, too, it falls to the nurse to get help of all kinds for the very poor, clothing, bedding etc., in all of which work the King's Daughters are of such great help. It would seem that the District nurse must combine the qualities of doctor, nurse, King's Daughter, cook and maid and the ability to teach domestic science. That Miss Robinson may have an abundance of strength and health given her with which to go on with her good work is the wish of her many friends in Quincy.

It was announced to the girls, that no applications for membership in the classes would be accepted after Tuesday of this week, so that if any have been thinking of joining any of the classes and still desire to do so it will be necessary for them to appear at the clubhouse before 9 o'clock tomorrow morning.

CARD OF THANKS.

I desire to express my sincere thanks to all neighbors and friends who, by their kind words of sympathy and floral tributes helped to lighten the sorrow of my recent bereavement.

Mrs. Edwin B. Langley,
130 High street,
East Weymouth.

Quincy, July 17—1t

CARD OF THANKS.

To the members of the following Social and Fraternal orders:

Knights and Ladies of Honor
Foresters of America
Aerie of Eagles
Loyal Order of Moose and Owls, also members of Electrical Workers Union and Central Labor Union.

I desire to thank the members of the above named orders for the beautiful floral tributes and the kind words of sympathy extended to me in my recent bereavement.

Mrs. Edwin B. Langley,
130 High st., East Weymouth.

Quincy, July 17—1t

HOME TRADE WILL HELP QUINCY AND EVERYONE IN QUINCY.

DON'T FAIL TO READ THE GREAT SERIAL "THE DANGER TRAIL" NOW RUNNING IN THE LEDGER

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1889
THE HOME NEWSPAPER
Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.
BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
219 East 23d Street,
New York City
Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter.
Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50
Telephone, Quincy 425
Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

ONE-CENT LETTER NEXT.

For the first time in 30 years, according to Postoffice Department figures, the Postoffice Department is self-sustaining and Postmaster-General Hitchcock has returned to the Treasury $3,000,000 that had been set aside from the public funds to defray the expenses of the department for the current year. The department has a surplus of $1,000,000, gained from its own earnings and a handsome surplus is looked for at the end of the fiscal year.

The postal deficit at the end of the last fiscal year was $17,500,000. To change this into a surplus is a remarkable piece of executive and administrative work, of which President Taft and Postmaster-General Hitchcock have reason to be proud. It is not a promise, but a performance, and as such it puts all other Government experts in economy and efficiency upon their mettle.

Now that the postal service is paying its own way, why should not 1-cent postage be introduced? The department makes money on first-class mail carriage, and the immense increase of business following 1-cent postage would go far to keep first-class carriage profitable. At any rate, the deficit would be insignificant in comparison with the benefits derived by the public.

Postmaster-General Hitchcock has already earned enduring credit for his administration of his department, but it would be a crowning achievement if 1-cent postage could be established during his incumbency. At the rate he is now saving, this great improvement could be made during this administration without causing a deficit.

NEWSPAPER PATRONAGE.

The following is yellow with age and the man who wrote it slumbers in dust, but the article is as good as it ever was:

"Many long and dreary years in the publishing business has forced the conviction upon us that newspaper patronage is a word of many definitions, and a great majority of mankind are either ignorant of the correct definition, or are dishonest in a strict, Biblical sense of the word. Newspaper patronage has as many colors as the rainbow, and is as changeable as a chameleon.

One man comes in, subscribes for a paper, pays for it in advance, and goes home and reads it with a proud satisfaction that it is his. He hands in his advertisement, and the advantages thereof. This is patronage.

Another man asks you to send him the paper, and goes off without saying a word about the pay. Time flies on; you are in need of the money, and you ask him to pay the sum he owes you. He flies into a passion, perhaps pays, perhaps not, and orders his paper stopped. This is called patronage.

One man brings in a fifty cent advertisement a two dollar puff thrown in, and when you decline, he goes off mad. Even this is called patronage.

One man don't take your paper. It is too high priced; but he borrows and reads it regularly. And that could be called newspaper patronage.

One man likes your paper; he takes a copy, pays for it, and gets his friends to do the same; he is not always grumbling to you or to others, but has a friendly word. If an accident occurs in his section he informs the editor. This is newspaper patronage.

One hands you a marriage or other notice, and asks for extra copies containing it; and when you ask him for pay for the papers, he looks surprised: "You surely don't take any pay for such small matters!" This is called newspaper patronage.

One (it is good to see such) comes in and says: "The year for which I paid is about to expire; I want to pay for another." He does so and retires. This is newspaper patronage.

It will be seen from the above that while certain kinds of patronage are the very life of the newspaper, there ae other kinds more fatal to its health and circulation than the coils of a boa constrictor are to the luckless prey he patronizes.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

NO FOOD—"Lady," began Hughy Higgins, "I'd thank ye fur a meal—"

"Ah!" exclaimed the bright housekeeper, "you're one of these after-dinner speakers."

"Not exactly, lady, or I wouldn't be so hungry. I ain't got so much as a chestnut about me."—Catholic Standard and Times.

NOTE—"Why the limp?"

"Asked Papa Plunks for his daughter. Wrote out the request in my best style and handed it to him."

"Well?"

"He read it over."

"And then?"

"And then he handed it back with a foot note."—Philadelphia Times.

PUZZLE—"How are you at picture puzzles?"

"Pretty fair."

"Maybe you can put together these forty-odd parts I have taken out of my automobile."—Pittsburg Post.

RAPID—"Isn't this taxicab going rather slowly?" asked the impatient man.

"You're looking at the wrong place," replied the driver. "You want to quit observing the passing scenery and keep your eye on the fare register."—Washington Star.

MODERN—"Yes; I was once engaged to a duke."

"And what cruel obstacle came between two loving hearts?"

"Oh, nothing in particular. We just let the option expire."—Washington Herald.

SELF-DEFENSE—"Have you seen what Al Smith is doing? Plowing up his lawn and planting potatoes. The neighbors are kicking like the dickens, and saying he's spoiling the appearance of all their properties."

Ashley—"Well, the neighbors can thank themselves for the eyesore. When Smith had his lawn they raised a holler whenever he wanted to borrow their lawn mower."—Chicago News.

ONCE—Miss Passay—"So she's 25 today? I guess it would surprise her if I should tell her I was the same age."

Miss Wise—"O! no; she knows that, of course."

Miss Passay—"That I am 25?"

Miss Wise—"No; that you were."—Catholic Standard and Times.

STRIKER OUT—Kicker—"Our second baseman would make an excellent swimmer."

Snicker—"Why so?"

Kicker—"He strikes out so boldly."—Judge.

DIFFERENT—Willie—"Did the doctor make you take nasty medicine when you were sick?"

Freddie—"No; it was father who made me take it."—Judge.

ANYTIME—"Well we can get married now at any time. Papa says he has got enough spare cash to give me a nice wedding."

"Yes; he won it from me at poker last night, and now I haven't enough for our weddin gtrip."—Houston Post.

SCALED PENITENTARY WALLS

Convict Shot at Four Times and Killed by an Officer

Minneapolis, Minn., July 17.—Jerry McCarthy, a convict who scaled the walls of the Minnesota penitentiary last March, was shot four times and killed yesterday by Patrolman Ollinger, who died later of four bullets inflicted by McCarthy.

Ollinger saw McCarthy go to the rear entrance of a drug store. He went in the front door himself, and rushed to the rear where a desperate encounter took place, little of which is known except from the rapid succession of revolver shots which the store propreitor heard and the fatally wounded men he found when he rushed out.

Killed by Fall

Paris, July 17.—Aviator Saton, while making a flight at the Issy aviation field, fell 150 feet to earth and was instantly killed.

Killed by Voltage Wires

Nantasket, Mass., July 17.—Walter Anderson, a lineman employed by the Weymouth Electric Light company, was killed instantly by falling across two high voltage wires near the state park here. He was about 30 years old and lived in Lowell. He was working with other linemen on Nantasket avenue repairing broken wires.

Shortage of Water Causes Shutdown

Exeter, N. H., July 17.—The Exeter Manufacturing company's cotton mills, employing 200 persons, were obliged to close on account of insufficient water to run the bleacheries.

CANNOT TELL "FIBS"

A Young Consulting Engineer Perfecting "Truth-Telling" Machine

Los Angeles, Cal., July 17.—Oscar Schwimmer, a young consulting engineeer, is perfecting what he calls a "truth-telling" machine. The contrivance is operated by a storage battery and is intended to register human emotions.

Schwimmer claims he will have his machine perfected in a short time so that a novice can operate it. He will then introduce it to the public in general and the police departments in particular.

BIG INCREASE IN SERVICE

Showing of Boston Postal District For Past Fiscal Year

Boston, July 17.—The receipts of the Boston postal district for the year ending June 30, amounted to $6,643,785.47, an increase of $524,972.92 over the preceding year. This year's increase was the largest in the history of the district, for the increase at the close of the fiscal year in 1910 was only $370,714.40.

The receipts of the district have more than doubled in ten years, the income for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1901, haying been $3,317,274.29.

—We may not know a great deal about politics, but will hazard the guess that the political machines of both great parties will not be in innocuous desetude next fall when the candidates—from governor down—are being picked for the running for office. The political committees—in sate, city, town or district—may be somewhat disturbed by the direct nominations law, but they are not disrupted as yet. If they may not "control" the nominations, it is easy to believe the bosses will put in some most effective work by way of "influence."—Brookline Press.

(ADVERTISE.)

LADIES' DAY
QUINCY YACHT CLUB
July 19

You'll be there. Everybody will. Now is the time to look over your equipment and see what you need. Perhaps you want a

Regulation Quincy Yacht Club Cap
Outing Trousers
Yachting Shoes
Wash Ties
Soft Shirts

If you do, step "JUST AROUND THE CORNER" and save money

GEORGE W. JONES
1 GRANITE STREET

WILD RIDE IN A MOTORCAR.

It was Saturday morning, May 27, 1911—a good time for adventure. Jerry arose promptly at six and one-ninth o'clock, put a navy blue stocking on one foot and seal brown stocking on the other foot, washed 3 per cent of his face, looked out of his window seventeen times, broke a shoe string, lost three buttons, worked the kinks out of his suspenders six times, yawned fifty-nine times and was dressed as the clock struck 7. Then he slammed his door, fell downstairs, swallowed some breakfast, coaxed 15 cents from his mother and was off.

His plan was to get on the car that would take him farthest for one fare, have adventures all day, spending a nickel for lunch of some kind and reserve the remaining 5 cents for the return trip.

It was a beautiful plan, but the adventures would not wait; they began as soon as he got on the car, which was crowded. He was no sooner on the platform than a lot of big fellows jumped on, jamming him against the rear rail. A big, brass bound, hoarse voiced automobile crossed behind just as the car game a tremendous lurch forward. Jerry was jerked over into the auto with such force that he knocked the chauffeur into the street and sat in his place. Jerry opened his eyes wide, sat up straight, gave a prolonged whistle and looked around.

On the back seat were two little girls with yellow curls and a Skye terrier with a pink bow.

"Stop! Stop!" cried the little girls.

"Hup! Hup!" barked the terrier.

"I wish I could stop," said Jerry.

"Toot! Toot!" roared the horn.

Jerry wanted to oblige, and he tried to stop; he pressed something—whiz! The machine gave a spring. They were tearing through the air, puff, puff, puff, clatter, clatter, rattle, rattle, rattle! Trees and houses rushed by, sand and stones flew, teams got out of the way, people shouted! The wind roared through Jerry's ears, the sand flew in his eyes, he was dizzy, he wanted to cry, he forgot to steer, he forgot to toot, shut his eyes and thought of home, wondered if he would ever see his fantail pigeons again, and mother—mother—mother!

That magic word braced him up.

"I must do something," he said, and so he tooted his horn.

Straight ahead, where the road curved, was a big barn, with front and back doors open wide, and Jerry could see a gigantic haystack on the other side.

With the inspiration of an automobile genius he steered straight for that haystack—whisk—up the yard—clatter-clat, through the barn, kerchunk into the hay!

Farmer Jones was coming from the garden. As he approached the back of the barn he gazed with pride upon his noble stack of hay—why suddenly it whisked, whirled and tumbled about as if struck by a cyclone and then settled down into two or three miserable little heaps. On two heaps sat little girls with yellow curls and a Skye terrier. On another heap sat a pale and frightened little boy.

Something that looked like an automobile was sitting in the pigsty with a pig in its lap. As it happened, Jerry had done the right thing. No one was hurt, not even the pig.

JERRY PRESSED SOMETHING AND THE CAR GAVE A SPRING.

Even Jerry laughed. Farmer Jones was just going to ask some questions, when another automobile came into the yard, and the little girls with yellow curls jumped up and cried "Papa! Papa!"

Then Jerry was pleased to find that the man he had knocked out was not hurt either and that he had followed as soon as he could get another machine.

Farmer Jones treated them all to milk, and Mrs. Jones brought out some gingersnaps and cheese. Jerry got a ride back home to his door and an invitation to ride some other day. He returned the 15 cents to his mother, having had a long ride, a lunch and plenty of adventure, all free.

At night, when he took off his shoes, he discovered that one stocking was seal brown and the other was navy blue.

"Oh," said Jerry, "that accounts for everything!"

LORD KITCHENER

Has Been Appointed British Agent to Egypt

OFFICIALLY ANNOUNCED

Lord Kitchener Has Been Appointed British Agent to Egypt

London, July 17.—Official announcement has been made that Field Marshal Lord Kitchener has been appointed British agent to Egypt. He succeeds Sir Eldon Gorst, who died on July 12.

The appointment of Lord Kitchener to the post in Egypt at last settles the problem which has for some time puzzled the British government. Naturally, of course, it would have been expected that a man of Lord Kitchener's abilities would have been utilized to clear out some of the dark corners in the British army, which has, ever since the Boer war, been a subject of bitter criticism.

This was far from the idea of those in authority, however, who feared that the genius and patriotism of the great commander would cut through the petty political snarls which now involve the British war office.

In fact, several attempts have already been made to shelve him. One of these was his appointment to the Mediterranean command, which the Duke of Connaught had resigned in disgust, owing to the interference of the politicians and the lack of opportunity for real work.

UNION WAR VETERAN HELD ON SUSPICION

Fought For Union and Citzenship Is Questioned

New York, July 17.—Although Hugh Sweeney fought for the Union during the Civil war and has lived in this country ever since, when he reached New York Sunday on the steamer Caledonia on his way from his birthplace in Ireland, where he had been visiting, to his home in Indianapolis, he was sent to Ellis island and may be deported.

Sweeney is 83 years old. He told the authorities here that he had failed to take out naturalization papers because he believed that fighting for his adopted country was sufficient proof of his loyalty and citizenship. The immigration authorities are investigating his story.

BEACH BUGS BITING

Species of Beetle Annoying Revere Beach Bathers

Revere, Mass., July 17.—Several bathers at Revere Beach were bitten by a mysterious insect and had to seek medical attendance at the Boston hospitals.

It is feared that the bug may multiply in such numbers as to become an actual menace to the thousands of patrons of the great bathing resort. All that is known of the nature of the insect is that it is a species of water beetle and attaches itself to the exposed parts of the body, inflicting a painful bite.

It is described as a small, black insect with flat body and metallic colored back and is found floating near shore. The sole of the foot seems to be a favorite location for attachment of the beetle.

Its victims say that there is no sensation of pain at first, but merely a little irritation. After leaving the salt water the pain begins and is almost unendurable for several hours.

BURNING BRIDGE FALLS

And Completely Blocks Passenger Trains on the Pennsylvania

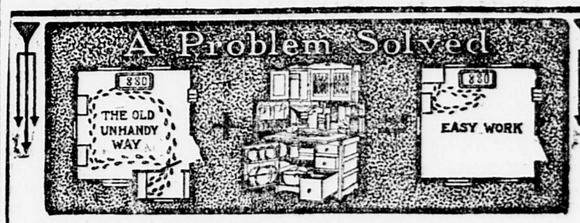
Lancaster, Pa., July 17.—The Pennsylvania railroad's main line over which all through passenger trains run between the east and west was completely blocked for hours by a burning bridge falling on the four tracks. The structure, a big wooden affair used for wagons, spanned the railroad near Gap, seventeen miles east of here. It caught fire about 7 o'clock last night, supposedly from sparks from a locomotive.

All through trains last night were run over the Pennsylvania freight line from Parkersburg, twenty-five miles east of here, to Columbia and Harrisburg.

BANK DIGNITY

It looks well to use checks. Buying a money order or sending a registered letter to pay a bill is expensive, and it doesn't create the impression that you are particularly prosperous. Paying your bills by check helps give you standing. Don't forget, appearances do count for something in this world. For your pride's sake, open a bank account and pay by check.

NATIONAL GRANITE BANK



HOOSIER KITCHEN CABINETS SIMPLIFY KITCHEN WORK

7 of The Hoosiers Are Taken

Only 18 more women can join the Hoosier Club and have one of these famous Cabinets delivered immediately at the Club rate of

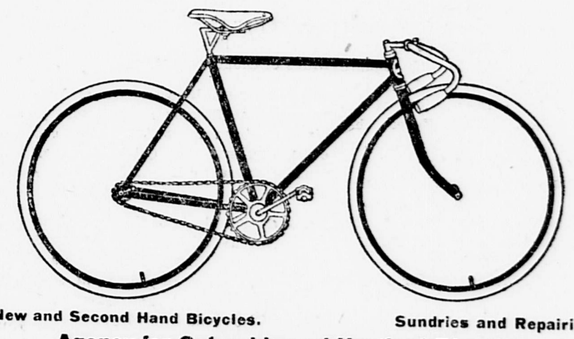
One Dollar a Week

Will cut the work almost in two—groups everything needed in the kitchen work in one complete combination pantry, cupboard and kitchen table, so the work can all be done in one place, thus cutting out an endless chain of steps back and forth.

Absolutely FREE

Every housekeeper who visits this furniture store this week will have an opportunity to win a Cabinet absolutely FREE. Just leave your name on a Hoosier Coupon.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1495 Hancock St., Quincy



New and Second Hand Bicycles. Sundries and Repairing
Agency for Columbia and Hartford Bicycles
HUB CYCLE CO.
Thomas Nelson, 20 Granite Street, QUINCY
May 17-3m

LLOYD'S
EYEGLASSES AND SPECTACLES
KRYPTOK BIFOCAL GLASSES
Far and Near Glasses in a Single Pair.

We sell great numbers of KRYPTOKS, simply because they are handsome, durable, and easy to wear.
At any of our stores.

315 Washington St.
310 Boylston St.
75 Summer St.
} BOSTON
1252 Massachusetts Ave. CAMBRIDGE.
ANDREW J. LLOYD CO.

SUNDAY IN OUR CHURCHES

Topics and Announcements For Coming Week

MASS. AT ST. MARY'S

Rev. Fr. Andrew J. O'Brien, DD, who returned from Rome a few days ago to assume his new duties as teacher of dogmatic theology at St. John's seminary, to which position he was appointed by Archbishop O'Connell, celebrated his first public mass Sunday morning in St. Mary's church, West Quincy, where he was baptized and served as an altar boy.

Assisting Rev. Fr. O'Brien was Rev. Dr. Joseph G. McGlinchy of the cathedral of the Holy Cross, Boston, as deacon, Rev. Dr. Francis Murphy of St. Francis de Sales church, Roxbury, subdeacon, and Thomas W. Buckley of West Quincy, a seminarian from St. John's seminary at Brighton, as master of ceremonies.

Seated in the sanctuary were Rev. Fr. Henry T. Grady, pastor of St. Mary's church; Rev. Fr. John P. Cuffe, pastor of the Sacred Heart church, Atlantic, and Rev. Fr. Francis Walsh of Reading, a native of West Quincy, and a cousin of Rev. Fr. O'Brien. The sermon was preached by Rev. Fr. Walsh. "This is a day of special rejoicing for the people of this parish," said Rev. Fr. Walsh, "because Rev. Fr. O'Brien comes back to us from a residence in the Eternal city, a doctor and a teacher in his church and brings with him, by special dispensation, the Apostolic benediction which the holy father, Pope Plux X, has commissioned him to bestow upon you."

The mass was sung by the regular choir under the direction of Miss Mary E. McKay. At the sermon Richard Hussey sang the "Veni Creator" and at the offertory Miss Esther Dasha, a cousin of Rev. Fr. O'Brien, sang the "Ave Maria." The "Juravit Dominus" composed by Archbishop O'Connell, was sung at the end of the mass by Peter Morissette. At the conclusion of the mass Rev. Fr. O'Brien ascended the high altar and bestowed the papal benediction on all present by reason of a special indult of the holy father.

Rev. Fr. O'Brien is a native of West Quincy, where he was born 27 years ago. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael F. O'Brien of Bates avenue. His early education was received at the Gridley Bryant school in West Quincy, and after being graduated from there he entered Adams academy in the fall of 1898 and finished his course in 1902. At the academy he was one of the most popular students and led his class each of the four years he attended. Nearly every medal and prize offered by the academy was taken by Rev. Fr. O'Brien, including the alumni prize for the best original oration.

Nor was he less prominent in the athletic life of the school, for he was a star member of the basket-ball team the football eleven and the baseball nine and always prominent in the track athletics held on each succeeding Founder's day. He entered Boston college after leaving Adams academy and led his classes during his four years at Boston college and was valedictorian of his class at graduation. During his senior year he was president of the Fulton debating society and won the gold medal offered by the society and a special prize for the best original oration.

After being graduated from Boston college he was selected by Archbishop O'Connell to attend the American college in Rome and a year ago was ordained to the priesthood there. For the past year he has been taking a special course in dogmatic theology. When, a few months ago, Archbishop O'Connell decided on a new teaching staff at the Brighton seminary, Rev. Fr. O'Brien was one of the first selected.

Sunday afternoon an informal reception was held at the home of his parents, which was attended by a number of relatives and intimate friends. Among those who were present at his mass were a number of non-Catholic friends and several members of the alumni and former nongraduating members of Boston college.

UNITED PRESBYTERIAN.

At the Sunday morning service the pastor preached from Isiah 3:10. "Say unto the righteous it shall be well with him." A very pleasing duet was sung by Mrs. Charles Campbell and Miss Arabella MacDougall. The meeting was quite well attended.

There was a good representation of the membership at the Sunday school session.

The Y. P. S. C. E. meeting was led by Miss Marion Russell.

In the evening, the pastor took his thought from Joshua 7:21. "Achan's sin and punishment" was the theme. The choir rendered an anthem with a bass solo by Wesley McLean. The meeting was fairly well attended.

There will be a meeting of the officers and teachers of the Sunday school on Tuesday evening at 7.30.

A business meeting of the Ladies' Aid society will be held Wednesday evening at 7.30 in the church. All members are requested to be present.

A special meeting of session will be held Thursday evening at 7.15.

The regular prayer meeting will be held Thursday evening at 7.30.

During the month of August, the Sunday morning services will be omitted. The Sunday school will meet as usual and the regular evening services will take place. The pastor has agreed to take charge of two of these although he is to have the month of August for a vacation.

SWEDISH CONGREGATIONAL.

At the Sunday morning service the pastor preached an expository sermon on John 1:35-50. The male choir rendered a selection.

An open air meeting of the Young People's society was held in the afternoon at the home of Mr. Ekstrand, Quarry street. The pastor had charge of the service.

In the evening the theme of the pastors sermon was "The dangers of the summer season for Christians." The text was taken from 2 Peter 1:10. Miss Signe Wilbas sang a solo which was very well rendered.

There will be a special meeting of the church on Tuesday evening.

The regular prayer meeting will be held Thursday evening at 7.30.

HALL PLACE M. E. CHURCH.

Services at the Hall Place M. E. church were held as usual. In the morning Miss Helen Martin was the soloist with William Williams at the organ. Sunday school was held at 12 M. In the evening the pastor took for his text Isaiah 32-2 "And a man shall be as the shadow of a great rock in a weary land." Prayer meeting will be held Friday at 7.30 P. M.

SWEDISH LUTHERAN.

At the Sunday morning service the pastor preached from the text "Behold the Lamb of God."

In the evening the subject of his discourse was the word "Grow."

There will be a meeting of the Ladies' Aid society Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Nordin, Cranch street.

A special meeting of the church is called for Thursday evening to act upon the resignation of the pastor.

CALVARY BAPTIST.

Rev. R. J. Davis, the pastor preached a fine sermon at the morning service taking his thought from John 3:16. "For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son that whosoever should believe on Him should not perish but should have eternal life." The keynote of our religion and of the most fundamental Christian principles are to be found in that one verse alone.

The Sunday school was well attended. The Y. P. S. C. E. meeting was led by Mr. Davis.

In the evening the pastor preached on the theme: "A question and its answer" taking the thought from Peter's questioning of his Lord. "Following Jesus" was the main thought of the discourse.

The Bible Study class will meet on Tuesday evening. There will be a lawn party under the auspices of the Y. P. S. C. E. on Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Minnie Trask, Pleasant street.

The regular mid-week prayer meeting will be held Thursday evening.

The Ladies' circle has closed for this season but will open in the fall with a roll call and a special address by a speaker from Boston.

CHRIST CHURCH.

At the 10.30 service Sunday morning, the rector preached on the theme "Contentment."

The Sunday school and evening service were omitted.

The rector will conduct the service next Sunday and then will start on his vacation. Two visiting clergymen will take charge of the service on the two Sundays following that and then the church will close for repairs.

(Continued on Page Six.)

Senator Crane on Wool Tariff

Washington, July 17.—Senators Crane and Smoot told President Taft that the senate is sure to pass a bill reducing the wool tariff at this session.

The Weather

Almanac, Tuesday, July 18.
Sun rises—4:41; sets—7:24.
Moon rises—11:17.
High water—4 a. m.; 4:15 p. m.
Fofecast for New England: Unsettled; moderate south winds, becoming variable.

ONE CENT LETTER POSTAGE.

One cent letter postage will probably be inaugurated by the United States Postoffice Department as its next important reform.

This prediction, made by prominent business men who have banded together to demand a new and fairer rate than that now existing, is based upon developments in the postal department during the past two or three months.

Early in May Postmaster General Hitchcock announced that the annual deficit, which was as high at $17,000,000 last year, had been wiped out and that the department this year would show a surplus of at least $1,000,000. Accompanying the announcement came the information that Mr. Hitchcock's determined efforts to run the department in a business like manner and the cutting out of unnecessary expenses had been rewarded by the wiping out of the balance from the wrong side of the sheet.

Co-incident with the announcement that there would be no deficit this year, facts were given out by the department which tend to show that an even greater saving will be affected during the coming year. For the past ten weeks, ending July 1 the department heads have been conducting an exhaustive series of experiments and tests at various important postal centers regarding second class mail matter. At St. Louis, for instance, it was demonstrated beyond argument that the government could effect a great saving by shipping the larger part of its second class matter on freight cars rather than in mail cars, as has been the practice heretofore. It is intended to begin this month (July) on semi-monthly and monthly publications in the eastern states and bring them to six main distributing points in freight cars. The six points are Cincinnati, Chicago, Kansas City, St. Louis, St. Paul and Omaha.

It is claimed by St. Louis postoffice officials that it costs 9 cents a pound to carry mail matter from New York to St. Louis by the present methods. Under the new system it is expected to reduce this to one-half cent a pound with only one or two days delay. At St. Louis alone, according to B. R. Billings, the clerk in charge of the railway mail service, the saving to be affected will exceed $500,000.

Near the end of May, Charles Wm. Burrows, President and George T. McIntosh, Secretary of the National One Cent Letter Postage Association, which has its headquarters in Cleveland held a conference with President Taft and later with Postmaster General Hitchcock at Washington and were given cordial assurances of support. Mr. Hitchcock declared that no single change appealed to him as of more importance than the lowering of the present rate on letter postage Mr. Hitchcock assured Mr. Burrows and Mr. McIntosh of his earnest approval of the campaign they were engaged in.

Washington, during the winter session of congress will, in all probability, be the battleground on which will be fought out a campaign for one cent postage. It is expected that much light on the general situation in the postoffice department will be furnished by the postal commission appointed to investigate rates and methods now prevailing.

Officers of the National One Cent Letter Postage Association claim, and are ready to prove, that first class mail matter is producing a profit for the government of $60,000,000 a year. year.

With the wiping out of a portion of the loss incident to the carrying of second class matter, by the new plan being worked out by postoffice officials there will be a huge surplus in the department's coffers. Business men who have banded themselves together in this association vigorously claim that this should be used for lowering existing rates on letters.

"Business men have been entitled to one cent postage for many years" declares George T. McIntosh, Secretary and Treasurer of the National One Cent Letter Postage Association.

In a recent address of third assistant Postmaster General James J. Britt this gentleman stated: A proper equalization of postal laws would easily make it possible to reduce letter postage from two cents to one cent an ounce. Mr. Brett in answering the charge that the Post Master General was atacking Muckraking Periodicals further stated.

"No honest publisher has anything to fear from the Postoffice Department."

"No dishonest publisher has anything to hope for."

President Taft and Postmaster General Hitchcock are heartily in favor for one cent postage and it is understood will assist to bring it about.

"Business houses throughout this country are the ones who will be directly benefitted and in large measure by a lowering of the present rate. By the same token, they should be the ones to support this association in its present movement."

"The National One Cent Leter Postage Association is not a Cleveland organization, but a national association, composed of large business houses scattered all over the country. Its offices are located in Cleveland simply because the President and Secretary-Treasurer were residents of that city."

"They will be very glad to supply information concerning the campaign and will furnish literature to all who are interested by addressing the Headquarters of National One Cent Letter Postage Association, 506 Chamber of Commerce Building, Cleveland, O."

FINALS IN TENNIS.

Rockwell and Carleton defeated Conant and Tunis in the final match of the open doubles tournament of the Quincy Tennis Club, Saturday. Conant and Tunis took the first set easily, 6-1. Rockwell and Carleton came back in the second set and outclassed their opponents with 6-0. The third set was perhaps the most interesting of the match. Conant and Tunis started out strong and took the first five games. The other pair then braced and by fine playing took the next seven games straight. Conant and Tunis were not given a chance to score more than one or two points a game during these seven. The fourth set was closer than any one of the preceding three. Conant and Tunis took the first two games and after considerable see sawing it was brought to five all by the ultimate winners. Their opponents got the odd bame twice only to be evened up by the winners. The final score was 9-7. At the outset the more brilliant playing of Conant and Tunis marked them for the probable winners but Rockwell and Carleton warmed to their task and won out by steady playing. Tunis had the best assortment of strokes but was erratic in their execution. Rockwell played well and showed signs of smashing and in volleying at the net. Conant played especially well in the middle of the court and Tunis covered a great deal of grounds getting some brilliant shots after a hard run to the back line. Carleton, with his stiff arm stroke was the steadiest player of the four and did much toward winning the victory. The challenge match will be played on July 29 since Rockwell and Carleton play at Longwood next Saturday.

FOR SALE

The cozy home, situated No. 24 Marsh Street, consisting of a six room house, city water, 4400 square feet of land, fruit trees. Price reasonable.

Call and see,

JAMES F. BURKE,
REAL ESTATE AGENT,
Room 4, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, Mass.
July 15-tf

E. E. GRAY CO.
QUINCY and WOLLASTON
1525 Hancock Street, Music Hall Block — Corner Newport Avenue and Brook Street

Cuts for Week Beginning July 17

Eggs, Fancy Large Brown	per doz.	21c
Beans, York State, Hand Picked	per qt.	8c
Hire's Root Beer Extract	per bot.	13c
Salmon, Columbia River	large can	17c
Evaporated Milk, Peerless or Van Camps	large can	8c
Corn Flakes, Quaker	per pkg.	6c
Corn, Fancy Standard, Hunter Brand	per can	9c
Campbell's Soup, all flavors	3 cans for	25c
Extracts, Gray's Concentrated Strictly Pure Vanilla	per bot.	17c
Orange and Lemon	per bot.	13c
Queen Olives	large bot.	20c
Jelly Powder, Golden Gate, all flavors	per pkg.	7c
Peanut Butter	per lb.	12c
Crackers, Fancy Soda	per lb.	6c

F M W

Can't Fool Anty Drudge.

Glib Soap Canvasser—"I'm representing a new naphtha soap. Let me leave you a cake for trial. It's the best laundry soap you can try, and far ahead of what you're using."

Anty Drudge—"Is that so! See here young fellow. There are no substitutes for Fels-Naptha soap, no more'n there is for an honest dollar. You can't bunco me with a worthless imitation of the genuine Fels-Naptha."

Four million hours at least of hard disagreeable work are saved the women of this nation every week by Fels-Naptha soap. That is 208 million hours, or 26 million working days of 8 hours each every year.

Isn't that a record for Fels-Naptha to be proud of? Then there's the saving in health, in the wear of clothes, and in lots of other ways as well. More than a million women are using Fels-Naptha every wash-day.

It takes Fels-Naptha in cold or lukewarm water about half the time it would take by the old-fashioned hot-water way. Try it next wash-day yourself. Soap your white clothes with Fels-Naptha, roll them and let them soak for 30 minutes. Then give a light rub, rinse thoroughly, and hang on the line.

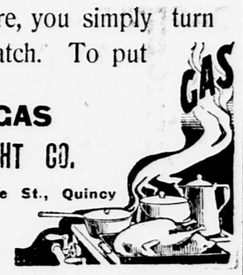
No hot fire to blister your face, no steaming suds to scald your hands, no nauseating smell about the house, no back-breaking work over the washboard. Isn't it worth trying?

Directions for washing all kinds of clothes, and many other uses of Fels-Naptha, on inside of the red and green wrapper. Follow them carefully.

A WELL COOKED DINNER

If you have a good cook is assured when you use a gas stove or gas range. The heat is steady and uniform, which is not the case with a wood or coal stove, and you can raise or lower the flame as you please—which of course, is impossible on any other kind of cook-stove. To make a fire, you simply turn on the gas and apply a match. To put it out, turn off the gas.

COOK WITH GAS
CITIZENS' GAS LIGHT CO.
11 Granite St., Quincy



QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
After 3.30 at
SHUNK'S AGENCY
WOLLASTON
Leave an order and have delivered at your door

CHICHESTER S PILLS
THE DIAMOND BRAND.
Ladies! Ask your Druggist for Chi-ches-ter's Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with Blue Ribbon. Take no other. Buy of your Druggist. Ask for CHI-CHES-TER'S DIAMOND BRAND PILLS, for 25 years known as Best, Safest, Always Reliable
SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

Commonwealth of Massachusetts

Norfolk, ss. Superior Court.

To the Honorable the Justices of the Superior Court next to be holden at Dedham within and for the County of Norfolk:

Respectfully libels and represents Alina Matilda Rinne of Quincy in said County that she was lawfully married to August Rinne now at Iron River, Michigan at Iisalmi, Finland on the twenty-fourth day of March A. D. 1902, and thereafterwards your libellant and the said August Rinne lived together as husband and wife in this Commonwealth to wit, at said City of Quincy since January 1904, that your libellant has always been faithful to her marriage vows and obligations but the said August Rinne being wholly regardless of the same at said Quincy in the County of Norfolk. That the libellee is guilty of gross and confirmed habits of intoxication caused by the voluntary and excessive use of intoxicating liquors; that on divers occasions he has cruelly and abusively treated her, and that being of sufficient ability he grossly and wantonly and cruelly refuses and neglects to provide a suitable maintenance for her; that the libellee is guilty of adultery with persons unknown to your libellant.

Wherefore your libellant prays that a divorce from the bonds of matrimony may be decreed between your libellant and the said August Rinne, and that she may have the custody of their child Armas Einari.

Dated the third day of June A. D. 1911.

ALINA MATILDA RINNE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
Norfolk, ss Superior Court.

On the foregoing Libel, it is ordered that the Libellant give notice to the said August Rinne the Libellee, to appear before the Justices of this Court to be holden at Dedham, within and for said County, on the first Monday of September next, by causing an attested copy of said Libel, and of this order thereon, to be published once in a week for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper printed at Quincy in the County of Norfolk, the last publication to be fourteen days at least before the said first Monday of September next, and further, by sending through the mail, as soon as may be, by a registered letter addressed to the last known residence of the said August Rinne an attested copy of said Libel and of this order thereon that the said August Rinne may then and there show cause why the prayer of said Libel should not be granted.

By the Court,
LOUIS A. COOK, Clerk.
July 13, A. D. 1911.
A true copy of said Libel, and of Order thereon.
Attest,
R. B. WORTHINGTON,
Assistant Clerk.
July 17-3t 17, 24, 31

Commonweal h of Massachusetts

Superior Court. Norfolk ss.

To the Honorable the Justices of the Superior Court next to be holden at Dedham within and for the County of Norfolk.

Respectfully libels and represents Emil Saastamoinen of the City of Quincy in said County that he was lawfully married to Adolfiina Saastamoinen now of Finland in some parts unknown to your libellant at said Quincy on the ninth day of July A. D. 1904, and thereafterwards your libellant and the said Adolfiina Saastamoinen lived together as husband and wife in this Commonwealth to wit, at said City of Quincy; that your libellant has always been faithful to his marriage vows and obligations but the said Adolfiina Saastamoinen being wholly regardless of the same at said Quincy and on or about the tenth day of August A. D. 1907, she utterly deserted him and has continued such desertion from that day to the date hereof being more than three consecutive years next prior to the filing of this libel.

Wherefore your libellant prays that a divorce from the bonds of matrimony may be decreed between your libellant and the said Adolfiina Saastamoinen.

Dated the eighth day of July A. D. 1911.

EMIL SAASTAMOINEN.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
Norfolk, ss. Superior Court.

On the foregoing Libel, it is ordered that the Libellant give notice to the said Adolfiina Saastamoinen, the Libellee, to appear before the Justices of this Court, to be holden at Dedham within and for said County, on the first Monday of September next, by causing an attested copy of said Libel, and of this order thereon, to be published once in a week for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper printed at Quincy in the County of Norfolk, the last publication to be fourteen days at least before the said first Monday of September next, and further, by sending through the mail, as soon as may be, by a registered letter addressed to the last known residence of the said Adolfiina Saastamoinen an attested copy of said Libel and of this order thereon that the said Adolfiina Saastamoinen may then and there show cause why the prayer of said Libel should not be granted.

By the Court,
LOUIS A. COOK, Clerk.
July 13, A. D. 1911.
A true copy of said Libel, and of Order thereon.
Attest,
R. B. WORTHINGTON,
Assistant Clerk.
July 17-3t 17, 24, 31

BETTER Put in Your Winter's Supply

Direct from the mines to our yard comes the coal we have for sale—coal that's famous the country over for its free burning qualities, its low percentage of ash, its freedom from impurities.

It's "full value" fuel, and our method of taking and filling orders ensures satisfaction. Orders placed now save money for buyers.

TAKE A LOOK IN YOUR BIN then act.

SPECIAL RANGE COAL

Stove or Nut

$7.25 Cash

C. PATCH & SON, Inc.

Office, 1422 Hancock Street, Quincy

WHEELER'S

The Store for Ladies' Furnishings

We will continue our Sale of Shirt Waists and Long Gloves

See what we offer in Shirt Waists for 79c and 98c and Long Gloves for 50c and 75c

We are also showing a new line of Children's Parasols, all colors, for 25c and 29c

WE GIVE CASH DISCOUNT SLIPS

City Square G. W. WHEELER Quincy

WE ARE NOT THE
LOWEST PRICED
STORE IN QUINCY BUT WE POSITIVELY ARE THE
LOWEST PRICED STORE
IN MASS., CONSIDERING THE QUALITY OF MEATS WE SELL
HIGHEST QUALITY, LOW PRICES OUR STANDARD
RESPECTFULLY.
JOHNSON BROS.
June 16-tf

Are You Going Away?

If so have the DAILY LEDGER sent to your vacation address. You cannot afford to be without your home paper.

FILL OUT THIS BLANK

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER:—

Send the Daily Ledger for ..... address below.

SEND YOUR ORDER AT ONCE

Quincy Daily Ledger

HIGH TIDE FOR WEEK.

Monday, July 17,	3.00	3.30
Tuesday,	4.00	4.30
Wednesday,	4.45	5.15
Thursday,	5.45	6.15
Friday,	6.45	7.15
Saturday,	7.45	8.15
Sunday,	8.45	9.15

1911 JULY 1911

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
						1
2	3	4	5	6	7	8
9	10	11	12	13	14	15
16	17	18	19	20	21	22
23	24	25	26	27	28	29
30	31

BRIEFS

Mr. and Mrs. William Howard of Wollaston are located at Cottage 3, Massasoit road, North Weymouth.

Dr. W. G. Kendall of Atlantic was a prize winner at the exhibition at Horticultural hall, Boston, being awarded two prizes on Saturday, a second for red currants and a first for white currants.

Senator Powers, of Boston entertained a large number of children from his district, Saturday afternoon at Squantum. The youngsters had a grand time playing games and enjoying the refreshments prepared for them.

The body of the man found in a field at North Weymouth July 8, was identified Sunday as John T. Clinton of Cambridge. The identification was made by his brother who said that the man had been missing since July 4. It is supposed that while on his way home from Nantasket the man was overcome by the heat and wandered into the field to rest. There was a man with him at the time who continued on to Cambridge. When it was found that Clinton did not turn up, he told of leaving him in the field at Weymouth.

MOUNTAIN CLIMBING POPULAR.

A correspondent to a Boston paper, from Crawford Notch, says Burro-riding and mountain climbing is proving a most popular diversion. One day the past week four Wollaston girls made the trip on Colorado burros. The item says:

Equipped with plenty of lump sugar, four Wollaston (Mass.) girls, chaperoned by Mrs. G. W. Jones, made a trip on Colorado burros this week. While sugar is not necessary to a successful climb, it is the customary "blarney" for the little easy-going, long-cared animals, who are jogging over the trails here. The party comprised Miss Gertrude Jones, Abby K. Wilde, Miss Marion E. West, Miss Eva S. Sheldon and Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Jones. They rode up Mt. Willard late in the afternoon and enjoyed the sunset from the summit.

FIND FLOATING BODY.

The body of a man supposed to be Cornelius Griffin, of Cambridge, was found Saturday floating in Weymouth Back river near the Bradleys wharf. The man who was about 50 years of age had been employed at the American Fertilizer works and it is supposed that he must have fallen overboard while trying to cool off on the wharf.

CAR AND AUTO COLLIDE.

An automobile owned and driven by H. G. Rand of Central avenue, South Braintree was in collision with an electric car near the corner of Hancock and Granite streets about 8.30 o'clock Sunday evening. Both the car and automobile were moving slowly at the time or a serious accident would have resulted. As it was, the forward wheel of the automobile was sprung and one of the lamps put out of commission. Mr. Rand however, was able to drive his car home.

WICKERSHAM'S DECISION

Declares Government Can Legally Deal With the Big Combinations

Washington, July 17.—Attorney General Wickersham has decided that it is not unlawful for the United States to deal with the corporations recently declared by the supreme court of the United States to be illegal combinations.

The question came up in connection with contracts awarded to the Standard Oil company for a year's supply of oil and gasolene for the military department of the east. The attorney general holds that the corporations declared illegal combinations are so only in restriction of trade. The sale of materials by these corporations is not in itself illegal.

NEW ENGLAND FRUIT SHOW.

It was announced today that negotiations have been completed whereby the New England Fruit Show will be conducted in direct connection with the great New England Industrial and Educational Exposition to be held in Mechanics hall, Boston, during the month of October.

The Boston Chamber of Commerce, which is in charge of the Industrial Exposition, will assume the responsibility for the fruit show, and Chester I. Campbell will manage both. At the same time, the officers of the fruit show will continue in direct charge of that feature. These are J. Lewis Ellsworth, President; Wilfrid Wheeler, Secretary, and A. Warren Patch, Treasurer. These gentlemen will issue the premium list, arrange for the exhibits and award of prizes, and attend to the other details, as they did with the highly successful fruit show conducted by them two years ago. The Trade Extension and Agriculture Committees of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, however, through Manager Campbell will be in close touch and make cooperative arrangements whereby the fruit show and the Industrial Exposition may be conducted in cooperation each with the other. The big exposition is to be in Mechanics Building during the entire month of October. The fruit show will be in Horticultural Hall October 23-28. During that week one admission will admite to both shows.

Those interested in the promotion of agriculture in New England are greatly pleased that this coalition is to be made. They recall the valuable aid which the Chamber of Commerce gave to the first New England Fruit Show a year ago last October. It is generally conceded that the present reawakening of interest in agriculture in this section may definitely be traced back to that show and the work done by the Chamber of Commerce at the time.

The Chamber arranged a great dinner in Ford hall, to which it invited as its guests all the farmers, orchardists and others who were exhibiting at the Show. It also invited men all over New England who were known to be interested in agriculture, and then turned out itself with several hundred of the active business men of Boston.

Farmers, fruit growers and business men sat down together and ate a dinner of New England products. After dinner a number of well known experts on agriculture made stirring speeches about the opportunity for making money out of New England soil.

That dinner, and the pamphlet entitled "The Future of the New England Farm" which the Chamber published simultaneously attracted the attention of the entire United States. Since then the tide has steadily turned toward New England; farms are being bought up, old orchards renovated, new trees set out. The coming Fruit Show, two years after the awakening will be a taking account of stock. It is expected to show a remarkable advance in the quantity and quality of fruit grown in New England.

The linking up of this exhibition with the Industrial, demonstrates the broad scope of the exposition. The exposition itself, in fact, will include a notable agricultural display, showing model methods of keeping stock, dairying, equipping the farm, etc.

UNEARNED INCREMENT.

A lively-looking porter stood on the rear platform of a sleeping car in the Grand Central station, when a fussy and choleric old man clambered up the steps. He stopped at the door, puffed for a minute and then turned to the man in uniform.

"Porter," he said. "I'm going to Chicago. I want to be well taken care of. I pay for it. Do you understand?"

"Yes, sir; but—"

"Never mind any 'but.' You listen to what I say. Keep the train boys away from me. Dust me off when ever I want you to. Give me an extra blanket, and if there is any one in the berth over me slide him into another. I want you to—"

"But, say, boss, I—"

"Young men, when I give instructions I prefer to do the taking myself. You do as I say. Here is a $2 bill. I want to get the good of it. Not a word, sir."

The train was starting. The porter pocketed the bill with a grin and swung himself to the ground.

"All right, boss!" he shouted. "You can do th' talking if you want to. I'm powerful sorry you wouldn't let me tell you—but I ain't goin' out on that train."—Lippincott's.

"So you quit smoking because she asked you to?" said the youth with the clamshell cap.

"Yes," answered the lad with the turned-up trousers.

"And then?"

"Then she went walking with a man who smoked a pipe, because she said it kept away mosquitoes."—Washington Star.

HIS DEATH ENDS A BUSY CAREER

Death of Col. Albert Clarke of Home Market Club

SUFFERED PARALYTIC SHOCK

But a Few Dasy' Illness When End Came at His Home at Highgate Centre, Vt.—Deceased Was Particularly Prominent as an Editor and Reformer—His Career Briefly Sketched

Boston, Jul 17.—Colonel Albert Clarke of Boston, secretary of the Home Market club, died at Highgate Centre, Vt., Sunday in his 71st year from the effects of a shock of paralysis sustained last Tuesday while attending a reunion of the Thirteenth Vermont Regiment association. At his bedside when he passed away were his daughter, Mrs. Samuel Williams of Fitchburg, and his sister-in-law, Mrs. E. L. Pierce of Rochester, Vt.

He will be buried at Rochester, Vt., on Wednesday, but it has not yet been decided whether the body will first be brought to Boston for funeral services. Colonel Clarke, following three years of brilliant service in the Civil war with the Thirteenth Vermont volunteers, became prominent in the public affairs of two states, Massachusetts and Vermont.

Albert Clarke was born in Granville, Vt., Oct. 13, 1840. He spent his boyhood on a farm in Rochester, Vt., graduated at Barre academy, Vt., in 1859, and studied and practised law in Montpelier, Vt., from 1859 to 1865. In August, 1865, he enlisted in the Thirteenth regiment, Vermont volunteer infantry, was thrice promoted, commanding his company at the battle of Gettysburg, and captured cannon and prisoners. He was colonel on the staff of Governor Dillingham of Vermont in 1865, and member of the Vermont senate in 1874.

He was president of the Vermont and Canada Railroad company, just before its consolidation with the Central Vermont, about 1883, and while in St. Albans bore a leading part in the most noted railroad and political controversy that ever occurred in that state, and which lasted more than ten years.

He was a member of the Massachusetts house of representatives in 1896, '97 and '98, and chairman of the committee on ways and means; a delegate to the national Republican convention in 1892, and judge advocate general, G. A. R., in 1897.

He was in 1904 chosen vice president of the Society of the Army of the Potomac. He was a member of the United States industrial commission in 1899 and 1900 and its chairman in 1901 and 1902.

He was author of many lectures and addresses on economic and kindred subjects. He received the honorary degree of master of arts from Dartmouth college in 1888. For the past fifteen years he has beeen secretary and manager of the Home Market club of Boston, the largest protective tariff organization in the United States.

He resided in Brookline, and in January, 1909, was chosen president of the Vermont association, the largest of the state societies in Boston. Colonel Clarke was married in Rochester, Vt., Jan. 21, 1864, to Josephine Briggs, youngest daughter of the late Hon. E. D. Briggs. Besides a son, who died an infant in 1867, they have had two children—Josie Caroline, who died in 1879, and Mary Elizabeth, now Mrs. Samuel Williams of Fitchburg.

PUFFS, RATS, CURLS, ETC.

Duty on Feminine Coiffure Agitating Treasury Department

Washington, July 17.—The high cost of puffs, rats, curls, switches and other appurtenances of the modern feminine coiffure depends upon a decision now impending in the treasury department. One section of the treasury offices looks like an Indian camp after the visit of a scalping party. Assistant Secretary Curtis, who has charge of the customs, is wrestling with the problem of duty on hair.

The law provides that "raw" hair shall come in free and puts a duty of 20 percent upon "drawn" hair. Several of the best-known hair dressers have raiseed a technical debate over "When is hair raw and when is it drawn?" Scalp locks from China, Germany, France and Russia are in the exhibits sent to the government.

No Pension Legislation

Washington, Jul 17.—All hope of pension legislation at this session of congress was dashed when Democratic Leader Underwood served notice that such legislation would be taken up at the proper time at the regular session in December.

Killed by Auto

Rocky Point, R. I., July 17.—H. P. Bangs, a Providence man, was asleep in the tall grass outside the baseball park when he was run over and killed by an automobile driven by William E. Hunter, negro, of Boston.

DEATH ON RAILWAY

Fatal Results of Attempt to Steal Ride on Freight Train

Newton, Mass., July 17.—As a result of an attempt to steal a ride from Springfield to Boston on a Boston and Albany freight train, James Rolihan, 24, of Springfield, is dead, while James M. Coughlin, 23, also of Springfield, is locked up at Newton police headquarters charged with violation of the railroad law.

The two young men who have good family connections in Springfield, boarded the freight train intending to visit a brother of Rolihan at Newton Centre. As the train shot under the Borune street bridge at Auburndale, Coughlan lowered his head and escaped the overhead steel work. Rolihan, not understand the danger, failed to follow suit, and his head struck the bridge with force enough to fracture his skull.

At Newton the train slowed down and Coughlin jumped off to seek aid for his chum, being arrested a few minutes later. The train continued on to Brighton, where it was flagged. Railroad hands found the unconscious form of Rolihan on a car top. An ambulance was called, but Rolihan died on the way to the hospital.

Coughlin, who has been deeply affected over the tragedy, will be arraigned in Newton court today.

THE MEXICAN AFFAIR

Prominent Men to Be Arrested and Punished For Their Acts

Puebla, Mex., July 17.—It is regarded as probably that a number of men formerly prominent in Puebla affairs, will be arrested charged with responsibility for the recent clashes betweeen the federal troops and the Maderists.

The total dead in this city and near places where fighting occurred is placed at 135. Sixty-one persons are reported killed at the Covadonga textile factory, ten at San Juan Hill, fourteen in the city proper and ten more in minor skirmishes in the outskirts. The Covadonga fight started between the rurales and Maderists near the factory. The striking factory hands seized the opportunity to enter private houses which they pillaged. They killed four Germans, three men and one woman. Later they joined the Maderists.

The fighting stopped after Raulo Madero, a brother of Francisco I. Madero, had gone to the scene and induced the Maderists to leave.

BRYAN CENSURED BY OMAHA DEMOCRATS

Douglas Convention Condemn Him For Boiting Last Year

Omaha, July 17.—William J. Bryan came in for deep censure at the Douglas county Democratic convention. It was the first meeting of Democrats of Omaha since Mr. Bryan bolted the state ticket and platform last year, and, therefore, the first opportunity the local Democrats had of "going after" the erstwhile candidate. The convention also indorsed Governor Harmon of Ohio as the Democratic standard bearer for 1912.

Of the 600 delegates but two spoke against the resolutions and but three voted against them.

ALONE IN HIS HOME

Noted Beef Packer Is Found Dead at Sagamore

Sagamore, Mass., Jul 17.—Noble D. Swift, one of the brothers of the family of packers, died at his home here at the age of 81 years, alone in the big house he has been occupying in solitary state.

Until a few months ago, when taken ill, he remained alone in his big house here, although reputed to be worth more than a million dollars.

He has been one of the best known men in Barnstable county. To him is ascribed the idea of first making a business of dressing meats on the scale in which it is now done in Chicago.

Years ago he started by driving cattle on foot from points on Cape Cod to Brighton. He is survived by two daughters, Miss Alice Swift of Jersey City and Mrs. Sarah Morand.

☞Going away for the summer? If so don't forget to have the Daily Ledger sent to your address and keep posted on home news. If you have forgotten to send in your order in the rush of getting away drop us a postal and we will do the rest. tf

PATENTS

TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 25 years experience.
Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.
READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.

D. SWIFT & CO.
PATENT LAWYERS,
303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

(ADVERTISE.)

TO LET

IN QUINCY CENTER

SEVERAL DESIRABLE HOUSES
7, 8 and 10 Rooms
Every convenience and very desirable locations.
RENT $25 TO $40 according to house

APPLY TO
MISS PRESCOTT,
Ledger Office
Quincy, July 7. LPOff

HOT WEATHER

and dirt breed germs. Germs bring diseases and are a menace to your health. Our sanitary dyeing and cleaning processes render your clothes free from germs.

Get The Sanitary Habit!

We call for and deliver the work

WARSHAW'S DYE HOUSE

"The Home of Cleanliness"
1503 HANCOCK STREET
QUINCY
July 15-tf

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next-of kin and all other persons interested in the estate of Susannah Curtis late of Quincy in said County, deceased:

Whereas, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for Probate, by Henry F. Tilden of Quincy who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, without giving a surety on his official bond; You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Brookline in said County of Norfolk, on the twenty-sixth day of July A. D. 1911, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in Quincy the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, postpaid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this thirteenth day of July in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.
July 14-3t 14, 17, 24

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, creditors and all other persons interested in the estate of Charles C. Nash late of Weymouth in said County, deceased, intestate:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, to Juliett C. Nash of Weymouth without giving a surety on her bond. You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Brookline in said County of Norfolk, on the twenty-sixth day of July A. D. 1911, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And the petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in Quincy, Mass., the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this eighth day of July A. D. 1911.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.
July 11-3t 11, 17, 24

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Norfolk, ss Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin and all other persons interested in the estate of Anna Rausch late of Quincy in said County, deceased:

Whereas, two certain instruments purporting to be the last will and testament—and one codicil of said deceased have been presented to said Court for Probate, by Gertrude A. Jewell of Quincy, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to her the executrix therein named, without giving a surety on her official bond; You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Dedham in said County of Norfolk, on the nineteenth day of July 4. D. 1911, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in Quincy the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, postpaid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this third day of July in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.
July 5-3t 5, 12, 17

HOUSEKEEPERS
TELL YOUR TROUBLES
HOLMES & HALL
We make a business of repairing the things about the house that get out of order such as DOORS, LOCKS, SHADES, BELLS and FURNITURE.
96 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 974 L

M. T. SULLIVAN
Real Estate Insurance
Auctioneer Care of Property
Justice of the Peace
Corner School and Hancock Streets
QUINCY.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.
FIRE INSURANCE.
The Best Insurance. The Lowest Rates.
Insurance Department,
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Telephone, Quincy 97-3.

JAMES F. BURKE
Real Estate and Insurance
AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES
Justice of the Peace Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Tel. 385-3 Jan. 17-tf

Quincy Savings Bank
BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.
SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.
CLARENCE BURGIN,
Treasurer.

UPHOLSTERING
My only ambition is to get the work and to show the people of Quincy Town that nobody can beat me with my good work. Low prices on all kinds of furniture, repairing, mattresses, and cushions. Can give references. M. Mirkin 67 Washington street, next to Y.M.C.A. Quincy. Tel. 1112W. April 10-4mo.

PATTERSON, "The Florist"
92 South Central Ave.
WOLLASTON, MASS.
Telephone 332 Quincy

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER and GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER!
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock treet, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1173 M Nov. 3-tf

A. M. DEANE & CO.
MONUMENTS
MEMORIALS ERECTED
IN ANY
CEMETERY
IN THE
UNITED STATES
Aug. 1.-1y

STORAGE
—FOR—
Furniture and Pianos
Storage Warehouse with Separate Rooms
Furniture and Piano Movers
HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1435 Hancock Street, Quincy Tel. Con.

PATENTS
PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo. for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES.
Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent.
Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively.
Write or come to us at
710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office,
WASHINGTON, D. C.
CA·SNOW & Co.

THE DANGER TRAIL

By
JAMES OLIVER CURWOOD

Copyright, 1910, by Bobbs-Merrill Company.

SYNOPSIS

Jack Howland, engineer, sent to build the Hudson Bay railroad, is appealed to for help by a beautiful girl who writes that she is a mute and invites him to accompany her. They are followed by Jean Croisset, half breed.

They go to her camp. He is attacked and nearly killed by a huge stranger. The girl disappears. Howland hears her speak. Croisset gives him the little Meleese's warning not to go north. He goes.

Howland again sees the girl, who tells him by note his life is in danger. She asks his forgiveness. Gregson and Thorne are mere wrecks of their former selves.

Mysterious perils threaten Howland. The girl visits him and confesses that she had lied to him. She entreats him to return south.

He tells her he loves her. Her name is Meleese. She partly promises to tell him why enemies seek his life.

Howland is lured to a mine, taken prisoner and bound to a box of dynamite which is soon to be exploded.

He frees himself and prevents the explosion. Meleese meets him again, refuses to marry him and again lures him into the hands of enemies.

(Continued from last issue)

With the passing of the hours gloomier thoughts shadowed these anticipations. In some mysterious way Meleese was closely associated with those who sought his life, and if they disappeared she would disappear with them. He was convinced of that. And then—could he find her again? Would she go into the south—to civilization—or deeper into the untraveled wildernesses of the north? In answer to his question there flashed through his mind the words of Jean Croisset, "M'seur, I know of a hundred men between Athabasca and the bay who would kill you for what you have said." Yes, she would go into the north. Somewhere in that vast desolation of which Jean had spoken he would find her, even though he spent half of his life in the search!

It was past midnight when he spread out the furs and undressed for bed. With the breaking of day the hours seemed of interminable length. For a time he amused himself by searching every corner and crevice of his prison room, but he found nothing of interest beyond what he had already discovered. He examined the door which Croisset had barred on him and gave up all hope of escape in that direction. He could barely thrust his arm through the aperture that opened out on the plague stricken cabin.

In no situation had he displayed the white feather; at no time had he felt a thrill of fear. His courage and recklessness had terrified Meleese, had astonished Croisset. And yet what had he done? From the beginning, from the moment he first placed his foot in the Chinese cafe, his enemies had held the whiphand. He had been compelled to play a passive part. Up to the point of the ambush on the Wekusko trail he might have found some vindication for himself. But this experience with Jean Croisset—it was enough to madden him, now that he was alone, to think about it. Why had he not taken advantage of Jean, as Jackpine and the Frenchman had taken advantage of him?

He saw now what he might have done. Somewhere, not very far back, the sledge carrying Meleese and Jackpine had turned into the unknown. They two were alone. Why had he not made Croisset a prisoner, instead of allowing himself to be caged up like a weakling? He swore aloud as there dawned on him more and more a realization of the opportunity he had lost. At the point of a gun he could have forced Croisset to overtake the other sledge. He could have surprised Jackpine, as they had surprised him on the trail. And then? He smiled, but there was no humor in the smile. He at last would have held the whip hand. And what would Meleese have done?

Meleese loved him. He would have staked his life on that. His blood leaped as he felt again the thrill of her kisses when she had come to him as he lay bound and gagged beside the trail. She had taken his head in her arms, and through the grief of her face he had seen shining the light of a great love that had glorified it for all time for him. She loved him! And he had let her slip away from him, had weakly surrendered himself at a moment when everything that he dreamed of might have been within his grasp. With Jackpine and Croisset in his power—

He went no further. Was it too late to do these things now? Croisset would return. With a sort of satisfaction it occurred to him that his actions had disarmed the Frenchman of suspicion. He believed that it would be easy to overcome Croisset, to force him to follow in the trail of Meleese and Jackpine. And that trail? It would probably lead to the very stronghold of his enemies. But what of that? He loaded his pipe again, puffing out clouds of smoke until the room was thick with it. That trail would take him to Meleese—wherever she was. Heretofore his enemies had come to him; now he would go to them. With Croisset in his power and with none of his enemies aware of his presence, everything would be in his favor. He laughed aloud as a sudden thrilling thought flashed into his mind. As a last resort he would use Jean as a decoy.

He foresaw how easy it would be to bring Meleese to him—to see Croisset. His own presence would be like the dropping of a bomb at her feet. In that moment, when she saw what he was risking for her, that he was determined to possess her, would she not surrender to the pleading of his love? If not he would do the other thing—that which had brought the joyous laugh to his lips. All was fair in war and love, and theirs was a game of love. Because of her love for him Meleese had kidnaped him from his post of duty, had sent him a prisoner to this death house in the wilderness. Love had exculpated her. That same love would exculpate him. He would make her a prisoner, and Jean should drive them back to the Wekusko. Meleese herself had set the pace, and he would follow it. And what woman, if she loved a man, would not surrender after this? In their sledge trip he would have her to himself, for not only an hour or two, but for days. Surely in that time he could win. There would be pursuit perhaps; he might have to fight, but he was willing and a trifle anxious to fight.

He went to bed that night and dreamed of things that were to happen. A second day, a third night and a third day came. With each hour grew his anxiety for Jean's return. At times he was almost feverish to have the affair over with. He was confident of the outcome, and yet he did not fail to take the Frenchman's true measurement. He knew that Jean was like live wire and steel, as agile as a cat, more than a match with himself in open fight despite his own superior weight and size.

He devised a dozen schemes for Jean's undoing. One was to leap on him while he was eating, another to spring on him and choke him into partial insensibility as he knelt beside his pack or fed the fire, a third to strike a blow from behind that would render him powerless. But there was something in this last that was repugnant to him. He remembered that Jean had saved his life; that in no instance had he given him physical pain. He would watch for an opportunity, take advantage of the Frenchman, as Croisset had taken advantage of him, but he would not hurt him seriously. It should be as fair a struggle as Jean had offered him, and with the handicap in his favor the best man would win.

On the morning of the fourth day Howland was awakened by a sound that came through the aperture in the wall. It was the sharp yelping bark of a dog, followed an instant later by the sharper crack of a whip and a familiar voice.

Jean Croisset had returned.

With a single leap he was out of his bunk. Half dressed he darted to the door and crouched there, the muscles of his arms tightening, his body tense with the gathering forces within him.

The spur of the moment had driven him to quick decision. His opportunity would come when Jean Croisset passed through that door.

CHAPTER XI.

THE FIGHT.

BEYOND the door Howland heard Jean pause. There followed a few moments' silence, as though the other were listening for sound within. Then there came a fumbling at the bar and the door swung inward.

"Bon jour, m'seur!" called Jean's cheerful voice as he stepped inside. "Is it possible you are not up, with all this dog barking and"—

His eyes had gone to the empty bunk. Despite his cheerful greeting Howland saw that the Frenchman's face was haggard and pale as he turned quickly toward him. He observed no further than that, but flung his whole weight on the unprepared Croisset, and together they crashed to the floor. There was scarce a struggle and Jean lay still. He was flat on his back, his arms pinioned to his sides, and bringing himself astride the Frenchman's body so that each knee imprisoned an arm Howland coolly began looping the babeesh thongs that he had snatched from the table as he sprang to the door. Behind Howland's back Jean's legs shot suddenly upward. In a quick choking clutch of steel-like muscle they gripped about his neck like powerful arms, and in another instant he was twisted backward with a force that sent him half neck broken to the opposite wall. He staggered to his feet, dazed for a moment, and Jean Croisset stood in the middle of the floor, his caribou skin coat thrown off, his hands clinched, his eyes darkening with a dangerous fire. As quickly as it had come the fire died away, and as he advanced slowly his shoulders hunched over, his white teeth gleaming in a smile. Howland smiled back and advanced to meet him. There was no humor, no friendliness, in the smiles. Both had seen that flash of teeth and deadly scintillation of eyes at other times, and both knew what it meant.

"I believe that I will kill you, m'seur," said Jean softly. There was no excitement, no tremble of passion, in his voice. "I have been thinking that I ought to kill you. I had almost made up my mind to kill you when I came back to this Maison de Mort Rouge. It is the justice of God that I kill you!"

The two men circled like beasts in a pit, Howland in the attitude of a boxer, Jean with his shoulders bent, his arms slightly curved at his side, the toes of his moccasined feet bearing his weight. Suddenly he launched himself at the other's throat.

In a flash Howland stepped a little to one side and shot out a crushing blow that caught Jean on the side of the head and sent him flat on his back. Half stunned, Croisset came to his feet. It was the first time that he had ever come into contact with science. He was puzzled. His head rang, and for a few moments he was dizzy. He darted in again in his old, quick, catlike way and received a blow that dazed him. This time he kept his feet.

"I am sure now that I am going to kill you, m'seur," he said as coolly as before.

There was something terribly calm and decisive in his voice. He was not excited. He was not afraid. His fingers did not go near the weapons in his belt, and slowly the smile faded from Howland's lips as Jean circled about him. He had never fought a man of this kind; never had he looked on the appalling confidence that was in his antagonist's eyes. From those eyes rather than from the man he found himself slowly retreating. They followed him, never taking themselves from his face. In them the fire returned and grew deeper. The dull red spots began to glow in Croisset's cheeks, and he laughed softly when he suddenly leaped in so that Howland struck at him—and missed. He knew what to expect now. And Howland knew what to expect.

It was the science of one world pitted against that of another—the science of civilization against that of the wilderness. Howland was trained in his art. For sport Jean had played with wounded lynx. His was the quickness of sight, of instinct—the quickness of the great north loon that had often played this same game with his rifle fire, of the sledge dog whose ripping fangs carried death so quickly that eyes could not follow. A third and a fourth time he came within distance, and Howland struck and missed.

"I am going to kill you," he said again.

To this point Howland had remained cool. Self possession in his science he knew to be half the battle. But he felt in him now a slow, swelling anger. The smiling flash in Jean's eyes began to irritate him; the fearless, taunting gleam of his teeth, his audacious confidence put him on edge. Twice again he struck out swiftly, but Jean had come and gone like a dart. His lithe body, fifty pounds lighter than Howland's, seemed to be that of a boy dodging him in some tantalizing sport. The Frenchman made no effort at attack. His were the tactics of the wolf at the heels of the bull moose, of the lynx before the prongs of a cornered buck—tiring, worrying, ceaseless.

Howland's striking muscles began to ache, and his breath was growing shorter with the exertions which seemed to have no effect on Croisset. For a few moments he took the aggressive, rushing Jean to the stove, behind the table, twice around the room, striving vainly to drive him into a corner, to reach him with one of the sweeping blows which Croisset evaded with the lightning quickness of a hell diver. When he stopped his breath came in wind broken gasps. Jean drew nearer, smiling, ferociously cool.

"I am going to kill you, m'seur," he repeated again.

Howland dropped his arms, his fingers relaxed, and he forced his breath between his lips as if he were on the point of exhaustion. There were still a few tricks in his science, and these he knew were about his last cards. He backed into a corner, and Jean followed, his eyes flashing a steely light, his body growing more and more tense.

"Now, m'seur, I am going to kill you," he said in the same low voice. "I am going to break your neck."

(To be Continued.)

HOUSES CLOSED AND FUMIGATED

Fear the Spread of Cholera Throughout New York

THE SITUATION IS SERIOUS

New York, July 17.—The death of Patrick Cuching, a resident American and the day watchman at Hofman island quarantine station, of Asiatic cholera has aroused some apprehension in New York of the spread of the scourge beyond the limitations of quarantine, and vigorous steps were taken to stamp out any possible sources of infection which may have become contaminated by the solitary victim. Health Officer Doty himself says there is no cause for alarm.

The ward in St. Vincent's hospital on Staten Island, where Cushing lay for twenty-four hours, supposedly ill of ptomaine poisoning, has been closed and fumigated. Strict quarantine has been established at the home of his wife and four children. The vicinities of both the hospital at Livingston and the house at Clifton are shunned by pedestrians and residents of the community.

In the opinion of Dr. Doty, Cushing contracted the disease from a so-called cholera carrier, as there had been no recognized case of cholera on Hofman island at the time of his leaving there for seventeen days.

While Cushing's death reveals the first native case of cholera in the present epidemic three deaths from the disease have occurred at Swinburne island during the last three days. There are also at present, according to Dr. Doty, six other cases of cholera among immigrants and steamship crews detained at quarantine. Two of these are serious.

Three of the six were brought in by the steamer Perugia, which arrived from Naples. The Perugia is still at quarantine. The other three were among passengers and crew of the steamer Moltke, which arrived from Naples on July 5. There are now under observation at quarantine 205 steerage passengers and forty-three of the crew of the Moltke.

In addition to these six pronounced cases there is one case of a highly suspicious nature, Dr. Doty says, and one case that has not proven so far to be true cholera.

This tally does not agree, however, with that of Charles Dushkind, counsel for immigrants, whose charges against Dr. Doty are being investigated by a special commission.

At a session of the inquiry, Dushkind tried to prove by Charles Leavitt, a carpenter at Hofman island, that there are ten new cases on the island. Leavitt, however, said that he had heard such a report, but did not know how authentic it was.

But Leavitt said on the stand that he disregarded the cholera quarantine and came to his home on the East Side here. He wore his ordinary working clothes while in transit, he said, and spent the night at his home. His clothing had not been fumigated, he added.

Since Thursday, Leavitt said, five persons have come from Hofman Island to testify at the inquiry being conducted here.

The contagious diseases, Leavitt declared, were separated from other immigrants detained on the island, only by a rope.

JESSE POMEROY WILL GET MORE LIBERTY

(Continued from Page One.)

from John E. Warren, librarian of the American Dramatists' club of New York, formerly a playmate of Pomeroy.

This letter, with the improvement in Pomeroy's condition—for he is now an intelligent, quiet, well-read man—as well as the mother's many earnest appeals, caused the governor to decide he would insist that the solitary man in Charlestown be given at least some of the privileges granted other prisoners.

Jesse Pomeroy was but a boy of 12 when first taken into custody, charged with torturing and mutilating boys of 4 to 6 years of age. Pomeroy confessed and on Sept. 20, 1873, was sent to the reform school in Westboro, from which he was pardoned Feb. 6, 1874. Shortly afterwards he killed a 5-year-old girl, burying her body in the cellar of his father's store in South Boston. This murder he confessed in the following April, when he was arrested on the charge of killing a 5-year-old boy in South Boston. He was convicted and sentenced in September to be hanged, but on Aug. 31, 1876, Governor Alexander H. Rice commuted his sentence to solitary imprisonment at hard labor for the remainder of his life.

To a little cell in what is known as Cherry Hill, a small building on the east side of the Charlestown prison, Pomeroy was led. It was the last one in the row of punishment cells used for unruly prisoners.

Pomeroy's life has been one of study, broken only by the monthly visits of his faithful mother and, in the summer, by short hours of exercise in a private, secluded garden. He has developed an almost perfect handwriting, and has a reading knowledge of French, German, Spanish, Italian, Latin and Arabic.

In early years he made several attempts to escape, his most desperate one being in 1887, when in an attempt to wreck his cell by the explosion of illuminating gas, he was nearly killed himself by the force of the explosion.

DEATH OF AN OLD VETERAN

Survivor of the Old Monitor Passes Away at Soldiers' Home

Sawtelle, Cal., Juli 17.—Michael Mooney, said to be one of the two survivors of the crew which manned the Monitor when it fought the confederate steamer Merrimac, is dead here at the national soldiers' home.

On the last anniversary of the battle Mooney sent a letter recalling the events of the day to the other survivor, who lives in Philadelphia. Among his papers was found a complete list of the vessel's officers and men.

—Who will say that the people of the United States have not made real progress when they have created a legal process or method by which certain citizens cannot increase the amount of their business? The application of that principle or idea, or whatever you may call it, may be carried far unless it shall be absolutely repressed at the very beginning of its enforcement. One thing is quite sure, either the right to do business will be maintained, without any limit on the amount of business which any one man or concern may do, or else nobody's right to do anything whatever will long be worth very much in this country.—Hartford Times.

LUCKY ESCAPE

A motor car came pelting down the high street of a little country town the other day, and in turning a corner at bottom it collided with and knocked down a pedestrian who was carrying a basket of potatoes on his shoulder.

When he had recovered somewhat a spectator said to him:

"That was a lucky get-off."

"Yes, so 'twas," replied the victim, groping for his potatoes. "S'pose I'd been carryin' eggs!"—Tit-Bits.

A FINE TALKER

"I like the looks of this parrot," said the lady who had stepped into the bird store. "Is he a good talker?" The proprietor replied that the bird was an excellent talker and it was evident the customer was favorably impressed.

"What is your price for him?" she asked.

"The man had noticed the rich apparel worn by his customer, and he judged that there was a chance to make a little "easy money" at the expense of one who would never miss it.

"Ten dollars," he said, with just the slightest possible hesitation.

"Five dollars, madame," instantly croaked the parret

"The lady looked at the proprietor, who had turned red.

"He certainly is a fine talker," she said, "and he also seems to have good sense. I am willing to take him at his own valuation. Do I get him for that?"

"You do," answered the bird man sadly.—Youths Companion.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, Lucas County, ss.

Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure. FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

A. W. GLEASON,
(Seal) Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

In effect June 4, 1911

The letters in the same line as the figures below stand for different stations and indicate that trains stop as follows.

a Wollaston
b Norfolk Downs
c Atlantic
d Neponset
e Pope's Hill
f Harrison Square
g Savin Hill
h Crescent Avenue
i South Boston
r Quincy Adams
Exp.—Express train.

TO BOSTON

Leave	Stop	Arrive
r 5 14	abcdefghi	5 41
r 6 16	abcd	6 35
r 6 33	e	6 48
r 6 40	abcf	7 00
r 7 08	abcd	7 30
r 7 25	d	7 42
r 7 33	Exp	7 48
r 7 42	ab	8 00
7 57	a	8 13
r 8 09	abcd	8 31
r 8 30	Exp	8 45
r 8 53	ad	9 10
r 9 15	abe	9 33
r 10 03	a	10 20
r 10 19	abcdefghi	10 45
11 12	a	11 28
r 11 24	abcdefghi	11 50
12 04	a	12 20
r 12 25	abcdefghi	12 52
1 22	a	1 40
2 04	a	2 20
r 2 19	abcdefgh	2 45
r 3 13	Exp	3 28
4 01	a	4 20
r 4 25	abcdefgh	4 52
5 03	Exp	5 20
r 5 30	abcdefg	5 55
6 12	a	6 30
7 22	Exp	7 37
r 7 30	a	7 46
r 8 07	abcdef	8 30
r 9 01	abc	9 20
10 04	a	10 20
r 10 07	abcdef	10 30
r 11 25	abc	11 45

FROM BOSTON

Leave	Stop	Arrive
5 45	hgfedcba	6 14 r
6 12	hgfedcba	6 39 r
6 30	a	6 47
7 15	hgfedcba	7 41 r
7 41	a	7 58
7 45	c	8 03 r
8 35	cb	8 53
8 42	a	8 59
9 10	fedba	9 32 r
9 45	a	10 11 r
10 15	hgfedcba	10 41 r
10 50	Exp	11 05
11 15	hgfedcba	11 41 r
11 50	a	12 07
12 15	hgfedcba	12 41 r
12 37	a	12 54 r
12 50	Exp	1 05
1 11	fedcba	1 32 r
1 45	a	2 02
2 15	hgf	2 37 r
2 35	Exp	2 50
3 15	hgfedcba	3 40 r
3 45	a	4 02
4 12	fedcba	4 34 r
4 41	d	4 78
5 14	a	5 31 r
5 24	a	5 42
5 31	dcb	5 50 r
5 43	a	6 00 r
5 55	fedcba	6 21 r
6 14	Exp	6 30 r
6 30	ecba	6 51 r
7 00	fedcba	7 24 r
7 12	a	7 29
8 05	ba	8 32
9 25	dba	9 46 r
10 35	fedcba	11 02 r
11 10	fedcba	11 35 r
11 30	ba	11 49

SUNDAYS

r 7 43	abc	8 03
8 30	Exp	8 45
8 34	abc	8 52
r 8 46	bcdefghi	9 13
r 9 13	abc	9 33
9 31	a	9 47
10 23	ac	10 40
10 31	Exp	10 47
11 00	Exp	11 17
r 11 16	abcdefghi	11 43
1 02	Exp	1 17
r 1 16	abcdefgh	1 43
r 3 10	abc	3 30
r 4 16	abcdefghi	4 43
r 5 07	abc	5 27
r 6 16	abcdefghi	6 43
r 7 16	abcdefghi	7 42
r 8 11	abcdefghi	8 38
r 9 07	a	9 22
r 10 46	abc	11 05
r 11 01	abc	11 20

6 30	ba	6 48 r
45	fhgfedcba	9 13 r
9 05	Exp	9 21
10 15	hgfedcba	10 32 r
12 15	hgfedcba	12 42 r
12 45	Exp	1 01
1 30	hgfedcba	1 57 r
2 15	hgfedcba	2 42 r
2 45	a	3 02
3 15	hgfedcba	3 42 r
4 27	cba	4 48 r
5 15	hgfedcba	5 42 r
6 15	hgfedcba	6 42 r
7 00	cba	7 19 r
8 50	Exp	9 05
9 30	hgfedcba	9 57 r
10 45	cba	11 04 r

West Quincy for Boston (stopping at East Milton)-6.23, 6.56, 7.17, 8.04, 8.11, 9.07 10.09, 11.01, A. M. 12.09, 1.23, 2.09, 3.18, 4.09, 5.13 6.06, 7.19, 9.09, 11.14 P. M. Sundays- 8.20, 9.20 A. M. 12.59, 5.15, 6.59, 11.02 P. M.

Boston for West Quincy (stopping at East Milton)-6.35, 7.27, 8.23, 9.35, 10.25, 11.35 A. M. 12.25 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 5.47, 6.18 7.20, 9.10, 11.20 P. M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M.

Montclair for Boston 6.29, 7.2', 8.17, 10.15, A. M. 12.15, 1.29, 4.15, 5.20, 6.12, 7.24, 9.15, P. M. Sundays - 8.26, 9.26, A. M. 1.06, 5.21, 11.09 P. M.

Boston for Montclair 9.35, 10.25, 11.35, A. M. 12.25, 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 6.18, 11.20 P. M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M. 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M.

Boston & Northern St. Ry. Co.

QUINCY DIVISION

TIME TABLE

In effect June 24th, 1911.

Subject to Change Without Notice

Leave QUINCY for

Brockton, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M. then 9.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Brockton, 6.30, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 9.30 P. M Sundays, 8.00A. M. then same as week days.

Braintree, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Braintree, 6.25 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.25 P. M. Sundays, 7.55 A. M. then same as week days.

East Milton, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Milton, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M., and every 20 minutes to 11.45 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.15 midnight.) Sundays, 7.25, A. M. then same as week days.

East Weymouth, 6.00, 6.15, 6.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.42 P. M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Weymouth, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.45 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Holbrook, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M. then 9.50 and 10.20 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Holbrook, 5.55, 6.25, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.00 P. M. Sundays, 8.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Houghs Neck, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 5.20, 5.45, 6.10 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 4.10 P. M. then 4.25, 4.40, 4.55, 5.10, 5.25, 5.40, 5.55, 6.10, 6.25, 6.40, 6.55, 7.10 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 11.10 P. M. then 11.49 P. M. Saturdays and Holidays, 5.20, 5.45, 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, 10.10, 10.40, A. M. then every 15 minutes to 10.40 P. M. then 11.10 and 11.49 P. M. Sundays, 6.50, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, 10.10, 10.40 A. M. then every 15 minutes to 10.40 P. M. then 11.10 P. M. Return, leave Houghs Neck Mondays to Fridays, both inc. 5.45, 6.05, 6.35 A. M. and ever 30 minutes to 4.35 P. M. then 4.50, 5.05, 5.20, 5.35, 5.50, 6.05, 6.20, 6.35, 6.50, 7.05, 7.20, 7.35 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 12.05 midnight. Saturdays and Holidays, 5.45, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05, A. M. then every 15 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.35 and 12.05 P. M. Sundays, 7.20, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05 A. M. then every 15 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.35 P. M.

Nantasket 8.25 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 9.25 P. M. Sundays, 9.25 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Nantasket, 10.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.00 P. M. Sundays, 10.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Hancock Street, 5.45, 6.14, 6.44, 7.14, 7.44, 8.14, 8.35, A. M. then 5, 14, 35 and 44 minutes past each hour to 10.44 P. M. then 12.14 midnight. Sundays 7.14 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Neponset 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, 8.07, 8.35, 8.37, 9.05, 9.37 A. M. then 5, 7, 35 and 37 minutes past each hour to 11.07 P. M. then 12.37 midnight. Sundays, 7.37 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Wollaston. 5.59 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.59 P. M. then 11.14 and 11.44 P. M. Sundays, 6.59 A. M. then same as week days. Return leave Neponset, 6.22 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.22 P. M. then 11.37, 12.07 P. M. Sundays, 7.22 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Norfolk Downs, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 7.55, 8.25, 8.50, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 1.30 P. M. then 2.05, 2.35 P. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.05 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.00 P. M.) Sundays, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Neponset, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 1.35 P. M. then 2.00, 2.30 P. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M.) Sundays, 8.30, 9.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Weymouth Landing, 5.20, 6.00, 6.20, 6.55, 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.00 P. M. Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days. Return leave Weymouth Landing, 5.40, 6.15, A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.15 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Wollaston, 5.59 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.59 P. M. then 11.14 and 11.44 P. M. Sundays, 6.59 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Wollaston, 6.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.30 P. M. then 11.50 and 12.20 P. M. Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days.

West Quincy, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave West Quincy, 6.00, 6.20, 6.50, A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.50 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.20 midnight) Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days.

Leave NEPONSET BRIDGE for Squantum, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 3.30 P. M. then 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30 P. M. then every 60 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Saturdays, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Sundays, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. (Note—Week Days, cars will leave Atlantic Bridge for Squantum, *5.45 and 6.15 A. M.) Return leave Squantum, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 4.05 P. M. then 4.35, 5.05, 5.35, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05 P. M. then every 60 minutes to 11.05 P. M. Saturdays, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 10.05 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. Sundays, 8.05 9.05, 10.05, A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M.

THOMAS GAMMON,
Superintendent.

Now Madam!

What Is the Real Reason Why You Bake at Home? Is It Quality, Economy or Just Custom?

IT would be absurd to think that you bake at home simply for the enjoyment you get out of it, especially when the weather is hot and there are so many other things to do which are pleasanter.

Fresh Baked Goods Every Morning

Most housewives bake at home for one of three reasons. To insure quality, to practice economy or on account of custom, simply because they always have baked at home. Our bakers' goods are received fresh every morning, right from the ovens and are on sale at 7 o'clock.

All the leading brands of Bread, Rolls, Cakes, Pies, etc.

R. E. FOY & CO.

WE CLOSE WEDNESDAYS AT ONE O'CLOCK 17-2t

ROOSTER COAL BRIQUETS

THE NEW ANTHRACITE COAL

ROOSTER BRIQUETS are made from the choicest small Scranton Anthracite coal, mined in Pennsylvania, called TWENTIETH CENTURY CHESTNUT size.

Just consider for a moment what we offer here in this 20th CENTURY CHESTNUT.

First, 200 pounds of clean, pure, hard coal without a rock or a piece of slate.

Second, fuel that cannot form into a clinker, by any known method of firing, consequently the linings and grates last indefinitely.

Third, they are made in nut size, being equally convenient for furnace heaters, open grates, as well as stoves; therefore, only one storage bin is necessary.

Fourth, and very IMPORTANT, the quality of this fuel is the SAME EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR, not a good ton today, and nothing like it the next time, in other words, when you once learn how to regulate your drafts you have nothing more to learn about burning BRIQUETS.

Fifth, no more sifting ashes these Briquets burn out clean. They require less wood to kindle.

Be sure to ask for "ROOSTERS" and get the Briquet made from pure Scranton Coal, from the largest Briquet plant in the country. They are better than coal, will last as long and cost less.

J. F. SHEPPARD & SONS,

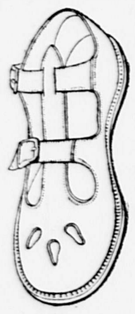
AGENTS

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.

BATHING SUITS

Caps and Water Wings

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE



BAREFOOT SANDALS

The best thing for the children to wear during the warm weather. They are light and comfortable and give good satisfaction.

CHILDS	5 to 8	45c
MISSES	8 to 11	50c

HEFFERNAN'S SHOE STORE

1375 Hancock Street, Quincy

Advertise in The Ledger

Quincy Daily Ledger

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	85 degrees
July 16, 1910,	85 degrees
July 16, 1909,	88 degrees
July Noon Maximum, 14 years,	101
July Noon Minimum, 14 years.	60

BRIEFS

Chester K. Allen starts for Windsor, Conn., tomorrow for a month's vacation.

Master Frank Turner of Brighton is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Edric F. Young of Eliot avenue, Bellevue Park.

Maurice E. Bumpus goes to Windsor, Mass., tomorrow to stay until college opens in the fall.

Mrs. Daniel Ross started today for Cape Breton Island where she will spend the remainder of the summer.

H. B. Tourtellot of Glendale road started on his vacation Saturday afternoon. He will spend two weeks camping in Auburn, N. H.

Miss Helen Sherburne and Miss Bertha Smith of South street, Quincy Point, are spending a two weeks' vacation in Harpswell Centre, Me.

Miss Belle Michael writes that she arrived in Liverpool in safety after a very enjoyable trip on the Franconia.

Mrs. Belle Beals of Euclid avenue entertained Mrs. Rhoda Moore and Miss Bertha Martin of Goffstown, N. H., over the week end.

The boys who returned from Camp Quincy after two weeks of roughing it look, like a tribe of Indians, they are so much tanned.

The auto chemical was called out on a still alarm Saturday evening for a slight fire in a freight car on the Granite branch off Centre street.

Mr. and Hrs. William N. Walker of Lowell spent the week end with the latter's sister Mrs. William D. Purdom of Highland avenue.

Miss Helen Lincoln of Washington street, Quincy Point, is spending two weeks' vacation with Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Pollard at their summer home at Round Pond, Maine.

Miss Catherine McLeod of Quincy street and Mrs. Lemuel Tinney of Eliot street started for Nova Scotia this morning for a visit of a month and a half.

A. M. Parker and son, Albert started last evening for a week's trip along the Maine coast, taking in Old Orchard beach, Bath, Rockland, etc., going as far as Eastport.

William Patterson and daughter, Miss Elsie Patterson of South Central avenue returned on Saturday from North Woodstock, N. H., after a week's rest.

Miss Julia Arnold Barber of Webster street, Atlantic, motored to Providence, Rhode Island, last week. She will spend the most of her two weeks' vacation automobiling.

Miss Susanna E. Ross returned on Saturday to Fall River, after spending a few days with her mother, Mrs. Emma de F. Ross of Phillips street. Previously Miss Ross had been at the New Sea View house, Oak Bluffs for two weeks.

Mr. and rMs. George W. Roberts, Miss Eleanor S. Roberts and George Roberts of Winthrop avenue are having a delightful cruise on the "M. L. R." along the North Shore and Maine coast. They are planning to go as far as Bar Harbor before returning the last of the month.

George W. Glover of Lincoln avenue was a winner in Class B Interclub, at the annual regatta of the Columbia Yacht club held off City Point, South Boston, Saturday. The "Barracouta" lost her wind on the line, got in irons and was held up nearly a minute with scarcely any headway, but she did splendid sailing after once getting a move and was an easy winner.

DEATHS

MCDEVITT—In Wollaston, July 15, Mrs. Annie widow of Mr. Demenic McDevitt, of 103 Elm avenue.

CROWLEY—In Boston, July 15, Helen Gertrude, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Crowley of 57 Murdock avenue, aged 3 years and 8 months.

HARLOW—In Milton, July 14, Mr. Edwin Harlow aged 72 years and 2 months.

DELORY—In North Weymouth, July 16, Mrs. Mary, wife of Mr. Joseph Delory.

Established 1870 Telephone

JOHN HALL

FUNERAL DIRECTOR

Carriage and Ambulance Service

1485 Hancock Street, Quincy Mass.

LIVE SPORTING EVENTS

WHITE SOX WON GREAT GAME.

In one of the most exciting contests of the year, the Manets were defeated by the Braintree White Sox, at Braintree, on Saturday by a score of 8 to 7. The game was witnessed by the biggest crowd ofthe season and enthusiasm ran high throughout, but the rooters of the home team broke loose when in the last of the ninth the White Sox pulled the game out of the fire after the Manets had apparently won. At the end of the eighth inning the score stood 6 to 5 in favor of the Sox. The Manets got in two runs and should have clinched the victory but loose playing combined with a couple of hits lost it. Howley played a strong game at second base for the Manets accepting five chances without an error. Creswell played a good fielding game and led in batting with a single and a two bagger. McCarthy accepted six out of seven chances and landed on the ball for a timely hit. Kerr and Morallis were quite evenly matched as pitchers with the honors slightly in favor of the latter. Davenport was the star for the White Sox playing a good fielding game and getting a slashing three bagger. Dennehy in left field played a fine game also both at the bat and in the field.

The score:

BRAINTREE.

	BH	PO	A	E
Davenport 1b	1	10	0	0
Crocker, 2b	0	1	4	1
Riley, 3b	0	0	3	1
Morallis, p	1	1	2	0
DeYoung, ss	0	1	3	1
Dennehy, lf	2	2	1	0
Levangie, cf	0	2	0	0
Drinkwater rf	0	0	0	0
DeLorey, c	2	10	1	1
King, rf	1	0	0	0
Totals	7	27	14	4

MANETS.

	BH	PO	A	E
Howley, 2b	1	2	3	0
McCarthy, ss	1	2	4	1
Artis, cf	0	1	0	1
Creswell, 1b	2	12	1	0
O'Rourke, lf	1	0	0	0
Gillis, 3b	0	2	2	2
Conway, rf	1	0	0	0
Duggan, c	0	8	2	2
Kerr, p	0	0	2	1
Totals	6	27	14	7

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Braintree W. S.	0	4	1	0	1	0	0	0	2	—8
Manet	2	0	0	2	0	0	1	0	2	—7

Runs made, by Davenport, Crocker, King, Levangie, Drinkwater, Delorey, Riley, DeYoung, Hawley 2, McCarty, O'Rourke, Conway, Duggan, Gillis. Two-base hit, King. Three-base hits, Davenport, De Lorey, Creswell. Stolen bases, Artis, Crocker, Riley. Base on balls, by Morallis 3, by Kerr 2. Struck out by Morallis 9, by Kerr 6. Sacrifice hits, Artis, Duggan, De Young. Double play, Hawley to Creswell to McCarty. Hit by pitched ball, De Lorey. Wild pitches, Morallis, Kerr. Passed ball, De Lorey. Umpires, Flynn and McLaughlin. Time 2h, 10m.

APPRENTICES WON.

In one of the most exciting games seen in Quincy this season, the Fore River Apprentices defeated the Braintree Hillsides by a score of 2 to 0 at Merrymount park on Saturday. Williamson, pitcher for the Apprentices did not allow a hit during the game and not a man of the opposing team crossed home plate. The home team got 7 hits off the opposing pitchers delivery but good fielding kept the score down. The Apprentices got their runs in the first two innings and during the rest of the contest although there were many exciting moments when it looked as if a run were inevitable the fine team work of first one side and then the other prevented the runner from crossing the plate.

The score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Apprentices	1	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	—2
Hillsides	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	—0

Batteries: Williamson and Boyle. Wetherall and Muller.

SOUTH QUINCY WON.

South Quincy defeated the Boston Independents at Ward Three playgrounds on Saturday by a score of 4 to 3. The game was one of the most interesting of the season, for up to the end of the fifth inning the visitors led, 1 to 0. The home team scored its runs in the sixth and seventh and the Boston team had a batting rally in the ninth which threatened to make an extra inning necessary. The feature of the game was the fine pitching of Hawkes who struck out 15 men The South Quincys got a total of nine hits off Trottner and the visitors found Hawkes for seven. The home team made more errors than their opponents but pulled out the victory on account of the splendid work of Hawkes.

The score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
South Quincy	0	0	0	0	0	0	2	2	0	—4
Boston Ind.	0	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	2	—3

Batteries: Hawkes and Barry, Trottner and H. Manning.

Cremo 5¢ CIGAR QUALITY PLUS

MAKARIA DEFEATED.

Makaria was defeated by Hyannis at Hyannis on Saturday by a score of 6 to 0. The home team got four runs in the first inning, owing to bunched hits and the wildness of Rice and Makaria was unable to find Sherman's delivery to any extent. The Makarias played a good fielding game but their inability to hit lost the contest. Sherman was touched up for four hits but they were well scattered. The Hyannis team got only seven hits off Rice but they all counted in the scoring. The Hyannis team is composed of college men who are summering at that resort. There were men from Yale, Harvard, Tufts, Amherst and one or two other colleges playing in Saturday's game. Makarias all played well in the field and Mil Chapmn was especially good getting seven flies. Next Saturday the game is at home on the upper field at Merrymount park. The Miah Murray team of Dorchester will be the oponet.

The score of Saturday's game:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Hyannis	0	1	4	0	1	0	0	0	0	—6
Makaria	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	—0

Batteries: Sherman and Thompson, Rice and Chapman.

FATAL SECOND INNING.

The Wollastons were defeated by the Clapp Memorial association team at Weymouth on Saturday by a score of 9 to 3. In the second inning the Wollaston pitcher went up in the air and the home team piled up 6 runs. After that the playing and scoring was very even, but the visitors were unable to overcome the big lead. Colson who pitched for the Clapp Memorial team allowed but 2 hits while his team got 14 hits off Sininton. The Wollaston team made a total of four errors while the home team got marked against them.

The score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Clapp Memorial	0	6	0	1	0	1	1	0	0	—9
Wollaston	0	0	0	1	1	1	0	0	3	—3

Batteries: Colson and Ahlsterdt, Sinonton and Smith.

GOOD RACING AT SO. WEYMOUTH.

There was the usual amount of good racing at South Weymouth park Saturday afternoon under the auspices of the Old Colony Gentlemen's Driving club. The winners in the several events were as follows: Class C, Thistle; Class E, Jefferson McKerron; Class H, Willard Boy; Class D, Willie J; Class I, Stella; Class F, May Boy; Class G, Starling.

SPORTING NOTES.

Stanley Bates continues to pitch winning ball for the Fredericton, N. B. baseball team. At last reports he had pitched a tie game against the Moncton, N. B., team and the Moncton paper stated that he was the best pitcher they had seen in that city. A very amusing cartoon of Stan's windup accompanied the account of the game. He allowed the opponents but four hits and got two hits off the opposing pitcher himself.

FUNERAL OF MRS. BARRY.

The funeral service of Mrs. Frances S. Barry was held at the late home, 466 Washington street, Saturday afternoon. The room was filled with beautiful floral tributes from friends and relatives and a large number were present at the services. Rev. Charles P. Marshall pastor of the Quincy Point church conducted simple but beautiful services over the body. The Temple quartet of Boston sang two selections.

TWO ENJOYABLE PICNICS.

The Calvary Baptist Sunday school picnic took place at Highland park, Brockton, Saturday and was the most enjoyable one ever held by the school. One large special car went down in the morning and many of the young people who work in town went down in the afternoon.

The annual picnic of the First Presbyterian Bible school was held at Nantasket beach on Saturday. Four carloads of young people went down in the morning and many more went down by trolley or by boat in the afternoon. The day was spent in games, bathing, visiting Paragon park and so on. Ice cream was served to all. The majority of the picnickers returned on the special cars but some who arrived late stayed over into the evening and came back by boat.

(ADVERTISE.)

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents. Three consecutive insertions 50 cents, 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.

No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

WANTED

WANTED—Young man clerk in Wet Wash Laundry. Must be good scholar, willing to work. Pay $1.50 day, 4 days each week. H. Bryan, 63 Madison street, Atlantic.
July 17-3t

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Cottage on Winthrop street, Houghs Neck. Apply Holden Winthrop street, Houghs Neck.
July 15-3t

FOR SALE—At a great sacrifice income property paying 12 per cent on investment in Quincy. Owner going to N. H. No letters answered. Call 141 Upland road, city.
July 15-6t

FOR SALE—1909 Overland car, red, thoroughly overhauled, tires nearly new, full equipment including gas tank, wind shield, extra tire, tire case, clock, speedometer, magneto. Carries 4 or 5 passengers can also be used as runabout with single top. Price $550. S. C. Hardwick, 159 Elm street, Quincy. July 12-6t

TO LET

TO LET—Lower flat of 5 rooms and bath. Electric lights and gas. Rent $16. 5 Parsons street. Apply 7 Parson street, South Quincy.
July 13-tf

TO LET—On Spear street, tenement of 4 rooms and bath. All modern improvements. Apply to C. A. Ericson, 117 Glendale road. Tel 586 M.
June 27-tf

TO LET—Tenement with 9 rooms and bath at Quincy Point, also rooms to let and table board at 55 Washington street, Quincy, Mrs. Margaret S. MacDonnell. June 23-1mo.

FOR RENT—Quincy, Centre, opposite Adams Academy, house of 8 rooms and bath, also garage, 3 minutes to R. R. Station. Dr. E. S. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263L, Weymouth. May 10-tf

TO LET

Half House No. 44 Bigelow street, 7 rooms and bath. Shades, screens, electric lights, set tubs, range, etc. Rent $25. per month. Apply to Miss Prescott, Ledger Office. Quincy.
July 3-tf

FOR RENT

On Spear street, very desirable house of 8 rooms, bath and laundry. All modern improvements, range, gas, electric lights shades and screens. Large piazzas and lawn. To private family only. Apply at 41 Spear street or of Miss Prescott at Ledger Office, Quincy.
June 2-tf L. P. O

SUNDAY SERVICES

(Continued from Page Three.)

BETHANY CHURCH.

At the Sunday morning service Rev. L. B. Sears, who is acting pastor of the church, gave a splendid discourse on "The dreams of youth." The Sunday school had a good attendance. At the Y. P. S. C. E. meeting although the attendance was small there was a good spirit manifested and a very helpful meeting it proved to be. Carle R. Hayward was the leader and he gave some of his impressions of the convention in Atlantic City.

In the evening Mr. Sears preached another very able sermon on the "Ministry of the Sea."

The mid-week prayer meeting will be held Thursday evening at the usual hour. "Refreshment" will be the topic for the evening.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN.

At the Sunday morning service the pastor preached from the topic "Man, the conscious object of God's favors." The thought of the sermon was taken from the episode of the healing of the lame man at the gate of the temple.

In the evening he spoke on the incident of the crossing of the Red sea by the Israelties and the swallowing up of the Egyptians by the sea. The enemies of right coming to wrong was the main thought of the sermon and of course its opposite, the victory of righteousness was emphasized.

The Y. P. S. C. E. meeting was led by the pastor in the absence of the regular leader. It was a very good meeting.

The Home department visitors will meet on Tuesday evening.

The regular prayer meeting will be held on Thursday evening.

QUINCY POINT CHURCH.

The pastor preached the second of his series of sermons on the Lord's Prayer at the Sunday morning service. "Give us this day our daily bread" was the text of the sermon.

The usual praise service with a short address was held in the evening.

The prayer meeting will be held Friday evening at the usual hour.

The church will be closed during the month of August, during the absence of the pastor on his vacation.

WOLLASTON METHODIST.

At the Wollaston Methodist church the pastor preached on the "Christians duty towards his fellowman." At the close of the "One hour Sunday School" Mr. J. A. Sedgwick the superintendent summed up the lesson, making his three points "Preparation, Descision, Character." Mr. S. A. Kay led the Epworth League in the evening. Miss Chistchley played the piano and Mr. Chritchley rendered two cornet solos. The regular prayer meeting will be held Friday night at 7.45.

Gates Improves

Paris, July 17.—A slight improvement was noted in the condition of John W. Gates. According to the attending physician he was distinctly better. The congestion of the kidneys had diminished considerably, and the attention of the physicians is now being directed to the heart. It has not been necessary, except on occasion, to resort to heart stimulants.

TO LET

Tenement—22 B Granite Street. $10.00 per month.

Greenleaf Hall—Greenleaf Block Large Furnished Hall with various anterooms—to let by the evening or permanently.

City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 26 feet high. Splendid light, low rent

Quincy Real Estate Trust,

(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)

Music Hall Block, Quincy.

TODAY'S COURT.

Judge Pratt was on the bench at the district court this morning and a busy session he had, there being a large number of cases.

James A. Mellon of Holbrook was sentenced to three months in the house of correction for assault on his wife.

Edward F. Cahill was fined $5 for violation of the Metropolitan park rules at Quincy.

Joseph DeCoste was fined $5 for drunkenness at Weymouth.

Jeremiah Cullinan was arraigned for being a vagrant at Quincy. Case continued until July 28.

Richard Robinson was arraigned for carrying a loaded revolver at Quincy. Case continued until Wednesday.

John J. O'Brien, Lawrence F. Kenney, Timothy Scannell, Owen J. King, Ray Campbell and Francis J. Scott pleaded nolo on a complaint for being present at a game on the Lord's day at Quincy and their cases were placed on file on payment of $1.

James Fallon, William J. Sullivan, Daniel J. O'Brien, James J. Hart, Thomas Regan, Matthew J. Finn, Henry Fallon and Daniel J. Coughlin were fined $3 each for being present at a game on the Lord's day at Quincy. Joseph Monahan arraigned for the same offense was discharged.

James J. Gaughan was fined $5 for bathing without proper clothing at Quincy.

Edward J. Clish arraigned for assault at Weymouth was put on probation for three months.

John H. Johnson and John Peterson was fined $5 each for disturbing the peace at Weymouth.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 26 No. 163 QUINCY, MASS. TUESDAY EVENING JULY 18, 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

THERE WERE SOME GREAT "DOINGS" AT CAMP QUINCY

Y. M. C. A. Boys Who Have Just Returned From Rindge, N. H. Report Great Time

Most Successful Camp In History of Association

Brown as berries, healthy, strong and happy are the forty boys who have just returned from Camp Quincy conducted by the Quincy Young Men's Christian Association at Rindge, N. H. During the two weeks, something was doing at all times. Baseball was a strong feature of camp life, a league of four teams playing throughout the fortnight, the winners being the Red Sox, captained by William Michael. Boating was an enjoyable sport and there were very few minutes during the day when all the boats were not busy. The program for the day was one round of activities. The "getting up" time was at 6.30 and after a setting up drill, every boy dipped into the lake. Breakfast was served at 7.30 after which camp duties were in line. Sports of all kinds were in order during the forenoon and afternoon. Dinner was served at 12.30 and supper came at 6. The program each evening was of unusual interest and served to make the camp most helpful and interesting. Two mock trials were held during camp, one for murder of Mr. Mosquito and one for breach of promise. To the last detail these were carried out, the verdict in the first being seven and one half duckings in the lake, the second a disagreement of the jury. The camp fires were a big feature an dthe talks were most helpful, many boys determining to live better and stronger lives. Two athletic meets and two acquatic meets were held and almost every boy in camp entered the different events. During the stay there, the appetites of the campers were at their best. Five hundred quarts of milk, three barrels of potatoes, fifty pounds of butter, one hundred and fifty pounds of sugar, give a small idea of the amount consumed. All the cooking for camp was done by the camp cook and the food was of the best. J. A. Sedgewick, E. H. Ewertz and Robert Cantley contributed to the enjoyment of camp by sending peanuts, plums, cherries and oranges.

The trip to Mount Monadnock, a distance of thirty miles, was the most enjoyable event during the camp. The trip was made in twenty-eight hours and the boys will never forget the scenery and the inspirations received at the summit of the mountain. Each boy carried his own rations and camped in the regulation style. The program for the last night in camp was unique, helpful and interesting. A large bonfire was built, with a dummy on top, and after the dummy had gone to the great beyond in the flames, the boys were elected by the camp as follows:

Biggest Eater—Dick Ford.
Smallest Eater—Allen Stearns.
Best Swimmer—James Jenkins.
Poorest Swimmer—Karl Sidelinger.
Best Athletic—Howard Cantley.
Most Cheerful—Pete Williams.
Least Cheerful—Harry Brundage.
Biggest Talker—George MacDonald.
The Least to Say—Alex Laing.
The Poorest Worker—Ted DuPlessis
The Longest Fellow—Lawrence Butler.
The Fattest Boy—William Torrey.
The Slimest—William Michael.
The Most Help to Camp—Frederick Torrey.

Camp Quincy of 1911 was indeed the biggest, best and busiest ever held by the local association and is one of the best 'stunts" conducted by it.

NEW BIDS ASKED.

The County Commissioners advertise today for bids for plumbing, wiring, heating, ventilating new court house building in Quincy. This means that the bids received for this work, last month, have for some reason all been rejected. Bids will be received until Tuesday, Aug. 1, at 12 o'clock, at the office of the County Commissioners at Dedham.

—The Wilkes-Barre board of health rules that more than one cat in a household constitutes a nuisance. What of the owner who leaves the one cat to shift for itself during the summer?

Lee's Inn
SQUANTUM, MASS.
Fish, Chicken, and Lobster Dinners
Also A la Carte bill
11 A. M. to 11 P. M.
Tel. 3646 M Dor.
5 cent fare (if transfer) direct to Lee's Boardwalk.
July 18-3t eod

Now Madam!

What Is the Real Reason Why You Bake at Home? Is It Quality, Economy or Just Custom?

IT would be absurd to think that you bake at home simply for the enjoyment you get out of it, especially when the weather is hot and there are so many other things to do which are pleasanter.

Fresh Baked Goods Every Morning

Most housewives bake at home for one of three reasons. To insure quality, to practice economy or on account of custom, simply because they always have baked at home. Our bakers' goods are received fresh every morning, right from the ovens and are on sale at 7 o'clock.

All the leading brands of Bread, Rolls, Cakes, Pies, etc.

R. E. FOY & CO.
WE CLOSE WEDNESDAYS AT ONE O'CLOCK 17-21

"ALL ABOARD" FOR NANTASKET

Granite City Club Will Dine Fair Friends At Pequot Inn

AUTO RIDE FIRST

A grand, good time is assured the members of the Granite City club who will participate, Wednesday evening, in the auto ride and dinner complimentary to the fair friends of the members. The party plans to leave the club rooms at 6.30 o'clock and take a ride through the Weymouths and South Shore after which they will to to the Pequot Inn, Nantasket where supper will be served.

The Pequot Inn is one of the best places at the beach to get a good dinner and the menu arranged for this affair is one that will please the most exacting. After dinner, an opportunity will be given to visit Paragon Park and the Palm Garden following which the return home will be made.

Some 25 or 30 automobiles are owned by members of the club who have offered them to be used on this occasion.

The outing is in charge of the entertainment committee composed of Thomas G. Smith, Charles C. Hearn and John H. Johnson.

LIST ASSESSED POLLS.

One of the handiest publications that is gotten out by any city government, is the list of assessed polls, issued by the Assessors. One of these phamplets is issued for each precinct and shows the name of every person assessed, street and number of their residence, occupation ,age and residence last year. These books were printed at the Ledger office and were delivered this morning. It is shown that the total number of persons assessed a poll tax was 10,586.

This number will be greatly increased in the fall by registration, so that the grand total of assessed polls will not be far from 11,000. This will be quite a large increase over the year 1910, for the total number of polls returned by the assistant assessors and those registered during the year amounted to 9,814, all of which shows that Quincy is growing fast.

For the purpose of comparison, the figures for each precinct are given for the years 1910 and 1911. It will be seen by these that at the present time, Ward Two has stepped into the first place with a total of 2121. Ward Three has gone over Ward One and is now the second largest ward with a total of 1971. Then comes Ward One with a total of 1910, Ward Four with a total of 1709, Ward Five with a total of 1579, and Ward Six continues to hold its place at the bottom of the list with a total of 1296.

These figures also show that the largest gain during the year was made by Ward Two with 385, while Ward Three is a good second with a gain of 226. Ward Four gains 77, Ward Five 87 and Ward Six 53. Ward One which usually makes the largest gain, this year is at the bottom of the list, with a total gain of only 15.

The following table gives the number of assessed polls for 1911, as returned by the assistant assessors, in comparison with the number of polls returned by the assessors and those assessed by the registrars for 1910.

Ward 1, pre. 1	832	811
Ward 1, pre. 2	1078	1085
Ward 2, pre. 1	1061	873
Ward 2, pre 2	1060	863
Ward 3, pre. 1	986	890
Ward 3, pre. 2	985	905
Ward 4, pre. 1	725	724
Ward 4, pre. 2	984	908
Ward 5, pre. 1	827	794
Ward 5, pre. 2	752	698
Ward 6, pre. 1	712	710
Ward 6, pre. 2	584	533
	10586	9814

Church—"They tell me they will not allow intoxicated men to ride on the cars in New York."

Gotham—"That's right. You see, if a man's not in condition to stand up, there's no place for him in a New York car."—Yonkers Statesman.

BOLD THIEVES AT WOLLASTON

Steal Two Bicycles From Tubular Rivet Co's. Plant

SEEN BY A SCORE

There is no accounting for the boldness of some thieves. This was shown this morning, when two young men visited the Tubular Rivet & Stud Co's. plant at Wollaston and helped themselves to two bicycles, which they mounted and rode away before the eyes of a score of workmen.

Many of the men employed at this factory, ride bicycles to work, which are left in an enclosure outside of the building. There are more than one hundred wheels stored in this enclosure.

This morning, two young men walked down to the building from Hancock street, and after looking over the array of wheels, each selected one and hastily made an escape. A number of workmen looked out of the windows and saw the two men, but none thought of making an effort to check them. One of the men then thought he would look and see if his wheel was all right. It so happened that his was one of the wheels taken. He then got excited and with several others mounted wheels and started on a scouting expedition to see if they could round the men up.

Sometime later the police station was notified and the patrol wagon was sent out to join in the search. The two thieves had a great start, however, and had been able to put a good distance between themselves and the factory before their pursuers got started.

But little hopes are entertained of catching the thieves or securing the wheels.

BRIEFS

George Sullivan and George Reinhalter of West Quincy go to Georges Mills, N. H., for their vacation in the near future.

For digging clams without a permit from the Board of Health Horace J. Craig was fined $5 in the district court this morning.

Misses Annie McGilvray and Lillian Lyons of West Quincy are spending a short vacation at the Mizpah cottage, Nantasket beach.

Lawrence Lyons, William Carey, George Berry, Manuel Perry and Thomas Bannon of West Quincy start for Bermuda the first of the month for a vacation trip.

The Eastern Star porch party is to be held, Thursday afternoon at two o'clock with Mrs. William Patterson, of 92 South Central avenue, Wollaston.

The assessors are about ready to announce the tax rate for the year, but are being held up until it is known what the state tax is to be. This will not be known until the legislature adjourns.

City Clerk Charles J. McGilvray, Thomas Shortle and Charles McGilvray, the popular clerk at Walsh's, West Quincy drug store spend their vacation at Georges Mills, N. H., starting the first of the month.

Work on the concrete trolley freight building, on Washington street, is propressing rapidly. When completed it will make quite an imposing addition to that section of the city. The concrete work is being done by the street railway company's own men.

The young toughs from Roxbury gathered in by the police, Sunday, got off easily. There has been too much of the hoodlum element from Boston, sporting in Quincy on Sundays and making a nuisance of themselves. If a few of these fellows were given heavy fines it would act as a check to others. It was this heavy fine business that nipped the nuisance at Houghs Neck in the bud and made it a place pleasant to live in.

IN READINESS FOR LADIES' DAY

Quincy Yacht Club Entertains Wednesday Afternoon

DEMAND FOR TICKETS

Tomorrow, Wednesday, is the day set for the annual ladies' day of the Quincy Yacht club and from the number of extra tickets that have been issued to members, this year's event promises to eclipse, in point of attendance, any previous affair. The program includes a review and sail in the bay, followed by lunch and dancing in the club house.

In addition to the large fleet of yachts belonging to the club, the committee have secured the steamer Houghs Neck and several launches, so that all who desire are assured of a sail.

Special cars will leave City Square for the club house at 1.50 P. M. and return in the evening at the close of the dancing. The review and sail takes place between 3 and 5.30 and at the latter hour, lunch will be served. There will also be a promenade concert by Monk's orchestra in the club house, from 3 to 7 o'clock and dancing from 7 to 10.15. Should Wednesday prove stormy the event will be held the following day.

OFFICERS INSTALLED.

The following officers of Fore River lodge, I. O. O. F. M. U., have been installed by Deputy Grand Master George J. Poch of Montello:

Noble Grand—William McLay.
Vice Grand—George S. Wilson.
Grand Master—John Davidson.
Chaplain—A. Hamilton.
Guard—H. Petrie.
Secretary—Hugh McLaughlin.
Permanent Secretary—George Poch.
Treasurer—John Phillips.
Warden—Charles Wedelien.

After the installation ceremonies, there were brief addresses by the visiting officers. Refreshments were also served. The lodge has several candidates for initiation at its next meeting.

HOUGHS NECK

R. G. Crosby and family of Dorchester have opened their summer residence on Sea street.

Mrs. E. E. J. Barsotti and daughter from Jersey City, N. J., are visiting Mrs. F. L. West of Great Hill.

Mrs. J. S. Woodbury and Master Roswell Furman of Milford, Conn., are visiting Mrs. Roswell Y. Woodbury of Great Hill.

W. B. North is ill at his home, suffering from heart trouble.

The Quincy Yacht club have had their pool table recovered for the convenience of the members.

Miss Ann Dunham and Mrs. Frank Bailey are visiting on Bell street. They came from Battleboro, Conn.

Mrs. W. H. Mayforth and family from Springfield, Mass., are staying at the Rhoda cottage.

Miss Alice Coughlan of Rogers street is visiting Miss Hazel Watson of Dorchester.

Miss Harriet Baird of Great Hill has been entertaining Miss Mildred Taylor of Dorchester.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

Sealed bids for Plumbing, Wiring, etc., Heating and Ventilation of a building for a District Court, Quincy, Norfolk County, Massachusetts, will be received by the County Commissioners at their office at the Court House, Dedham, Norfolk County, Massachusetts, until 12 o'clock A. M. Tuesday, August 1st, 1911. Plans and Specifications may be seen at the office of William Chapman, 15 Ashburton Place, on and after Tuesday July 18th, or can be obtained at Spaulding Print Paper Co., 44 Federal Street, Boston.

The Commissioners reserve the right to reject any and all bids.

JOHN F. MERRILL,
EVAN F. RICHARDSON,
SILAS A. STONE,
Norfolk County Commissioners.
July 18-3t eod

"What a Blessing to Sit Down to My Kitchen Work"

ONE DOLLAR A WEEK

THE HOOSIER SPECIAL SAVES MILES OF STEPS FOR TIRED FEET

ONE HOOSIER GIVEN AWAY

This was the exclamation of one owner of the famous kitchen cabinet, when we asked her what she most appreciated in it.

It is a fact that you can sit comfortably at your Hoosier Cabinet and do most of the work that formerly meant trips here and there to the Kitchen table—to the pantry—to the cupboard, etc., etc.

And the relief from bending over bins and barrels, and stretching up to shelves!

You may see the new Hoosier Cabinets now—every detail inside and out is open to your inspection.

No one is ever asked to buy a Hoosier unless she wants it. Feel free to ask any questions you like when you come in to see this cabinet.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.

LICENSED AGENTS FOR HOOSIER KITCHEN CABINETS

BETTER Put in Your Winter's Supply

Direct from the mines to our yard comes the coal we have for sale—coal that's famous the country over for its free burning qualities, its low percentage of ash, its freedom from impurities.

It's "full value" fuel, and our method of taking and filling orders ensures satisfaction. Orders placed now save money for buyers.

TAKE A LOOK IN YOUR BIN then act.

SPECIAL RANGE COAL
Stove or Nut
$7.25 Cash

C. PATCH & SON, INC.
Office, 1422 Hancock Street, Quincy

DON'T FAIL TO READ THE GREAT SERIAL "THE DANGER TRAIL" NOW RUNNING IN THE LEDGER

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1889
THE HOME NEWSPAPER
Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.
BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
219 East 23d Street,
New York City
Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter.
Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50
Telephone, Quincy 425
Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

The profession of "telling fortunes" of gullible people has become so profitable in Chicago, and the fortune tellers so numerous that Mayor Harrison has ordered the police and law departments to clean the city of them. Most of them work under the guise of clairvoyants. They pretend to reveal the future, reunite sweethearts and untangle all love and domestic and business difficulties, find lost treasure, sell all sorts of mines at fabulous prices, anything in fact that the dupe wants done. The crusade followed an exposure of their methods by the Chicago Tribune, after a reporter had visited a number of the seers. Their methods are all the same. By trickery they answer a few questions to gain the confidence of the victim. Then they say they can make everything come out just right but that the dupe lacks "magnetism" and if that lack is supplied success will be much surer, quicker and greater. Of course they agree to supply the needed "magnetism" by a "course of treatments" at from $25 to $100, depending upon the apparent prosperity of the dupe. Several seers have been arrested and the police are hunting evidence against the others.

When one reads between the lines the gain in the Boston Post Office is not so wonderful as some of the Boston newspapers would have us believe. In ten years the receipts have doubled but why shouldn't they when 39 postal stations have been added, taking in big ones like Quincy. Figures tell the story.—The receipts of the central office for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1911, amounted to $3,308,228.53, and branch stations figured up to $3,335,556.94.

The registry business for the year ending June 30, 1911, at the main office was as follows: Letters and parcels registered, 466,999; for 1910, [illegible]898 pieces, showing a decrease of 27,899. At the stations and branches in 1911, 699,577 registered pieces were mailed, and 659,985 in 1910, an increase of 39,592.

From these figures it would seem that Boston to make a good showing is dependent on the towns and cities of Greater Boston. Now what do these towns get in return for being a part of the Boston system? Little or nothing and no where near as good service as when they were independent. The service in Quincy throughout its various wards is slow. It is often quicker to get a letter to western Massachusetts than to Wollaston or Atlantic. The business men do not receive adequate service; three deliveries a day and in summer only two and those so late as to be of little use. In some sections of the city were three deliveries have been customary—at about eight, one, and four or a little later, there are now only two deliveries, one at eleven in the morning and six or after at night. The reason given for this poor service is vacations for the over worked carriers, and too much economy to provide substitutes. This complaint is general throughout the Greater Boston district and some places are said to be worse than Quincy.

District postmasters and carriers are not able to relieve the situation as economy seems to be the watchword of the postal system no matter what happens to the service.

Talk about trust and monopoly it isn't in it with the Hitchcock regime and the post office is one thing that should be run for the people.

—After all, says the Boston Transcript it appears that the "disinclination of American youth for army life" has been exaggerated, for while there are fifty-two vacancies at West Point, twenty-three are expected to be filled at the July examination. Then there will remain but twenty-nine appointments to be filled by senators and representatives. The battalion will have very full ranks in the Autumn, and the impression to the contrary seems to have derived from a misunderstanding of the terminology in use at the Military Academy.

OTHER EDITORS ARE SAYING

"Billinger strikes me as being an unusually mild and tolerant person." "Mild and tolerant! Why, say, just because our centre fielder couldn't get a fly that went over the fence, Billinger was so insanely mad at him that he almost threw a fit."—Plain Dealer.

The virtuous purpose of the world's steel king to observe the golden rule may be proclaimed by having that rule printed on the Steel Trust's stock certificates and bonds. Above might be inscribed the cross (not the double cross,) with the motto: "In hoc signo vinces." As a beginning in observance of the golden rule, the trust might squeeze out the water.—Oregonian.

Instead of reading a dozen chapters a day in the Encyclopedia Britannica, memorizing Whittier's "Snowbound" these hot days would be a deal wittier thing to do (Indianapolis Star))

Ouch! Swat him! (Transcript.)

About fifty vetoes stand to the credit of Governor Dix. No executive should consent to lumbering the statute books with unjust or unnecessary legislation. Notwithstanding all of these vetoes, let us hope in the words of the old hymn: "And still there's more to follow."—Troy Press.

By defeating Governor Foss's admirable taxation scheme the Great and General Court of Massachusetts enters into strong rivalry with the General Assembly of Rhode Island for the record of inefficiency and indifference to the public welfare.—Providence Journal.

The quarrels of the Lynn woman suffragists are melancholy, of course. But who is so hardy as to suggest that internal organization dissensions are an argument against the free use of the ballot? It would be suicidal for men to do so.—Advertiser.

On the whole I believe that international rivalry in sport does not lead to amity between nations. Given cantankerous types who grumble at decisions then a sore is created which rankles.—London Sphere.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

PINING.

He—I go from here to Norway through the pine forests.

She—How splendid; I love pineapple. (Throne and Country.)

ECONOMY.

Wife—I've just bought such a nice piece of silk for a tie for you; if there is anything left over, I can make a skirt for myself out of it. (Pele Mele.)

A CHEERFUL HINT.

Elderly Lady (who has been retailing at some length her domestic troubles)—And now, Mr. Jones, I've worried you about my domestic affairs, let's turn to a more cheerful topic—when are you really going away? (The Tatler.)

THE ONLY REASON

Boatman—Peter an' me'll not be able to take ye out fishin' tonight, M'am; but Peter's nephew will be afther takin' ye av ye like?

Lady—Well, I hope Peter's nephew is cleaner than Peter is?

Boatman—He is, M'am, he's younger. (Punch.)

AFTER THE CORONATION.

First American Belle—What did you think of the show?

Second American Belle—Oh, I was very disappointed in my seat.

First American Belle—But why? I thought you were in the best stand on the route.

Second American Belle—Yes, but I reckoned to be in the Abbey, only his lordship didn't propose in time. (London Opinion.)

HOT WEATHER SHOTS

A social lion is frequently a good deal of an ass.

A man's deeds live after him—so do his mortgages.

Matrimony is the destroyer of a good many delightful engagements.

The sculptor is generally fishing for fame when he makes a cast.

The only trouble with the "long green" is that it doesn't remain long.

We don't mind being overrated by anybody except the tax assessor.

A shady reputation won't take the place of a parasol in hot weather.

It is tough to have to beat the carpet when you want to whip the stream.

STICKERS.

She (with newspaper) —Another cyclone out West. It has swept dozens of farms clear of everything.

He—I'll bet the mortgages didn't budge an inch.

OBJECT UNOBJECTED TO.

Doctor—You are now convalescent and all you need is exercise. You should walk ten or twenty miles a day, sir; but your walking should have an object.

Patient—All right, doctor. I'll travel around trying to borrow enough to pay your bill.

He watched his wife doing up her hair and his face was stern. "Why do you put the hair of another woman on your head?" he asked severely.

"Why do you," she replied sweetly, "put the skin of another calf on your feet?"—Suburban Life.

BALANCED TO A CENT

Admirable Financial Showing at Office of New York Sub-Treasury

New York, July 18.—One of the largest receipts on record was signed yesterday by Charles S. Millington, the new assistant United States treasurer. It certifies that when Mr. Millington assumed charge of the New York sub-treasury on June 17, the vaults here held $133,471,617 in cash, all of which was formally put in his care by United States Treasurer McClung. The count took a month and balanced to a cent. Since June 17 payments from Panama bonds and other sources have raised the total until today it stands close to $180,000,000. In the sum receipted for by Mr. Millington, $36,651,265 was in gold.

Flies and Filth.

The fly is born in, lives and thrives upon filth. If no filth is allowed to accumulate in a house or its neighborhood it will not be troubled by flies, for they do not ordinarily stray far from their breeding places and their sources of food. In a thoroughly clean neighborhood they cannot live in the face of screens preventing their access to food and to the absence of manure heaps and other receptacles for filth in which to deposit their eggs.—Survey.

FOG BLANKETS THE BAY

Portland Fishing Schooner Runs Ashore at Point Allerton

Boston, July 18.—The fog which blanketed the bay here was the worst of this season, and it was also responsible for the grounding of the fishing schooner Fanny Reed, which went ashore on Point Allerton. The Fanny Reed hails from Portland, Me., and was inward-bound with swordfish.

While inward-bound from Georges banks the fishing schooner Robert and Arthur, Captain Julius Anderson, ran on Nix's Mate. She was aground an hour when pulled off by a tug.

Big Grant For Port of Boston

Boston, July 18.—The house ways and means committee has reported favorably on the $9,000,000 bill for the development of the port of Boston. The report of the committeee was unanimous.

Didn't Have To.

"Did you hear the rain in the night?"

"Yes."

"Pleasant music, wasn't it?"

"I didn't notice the music. I was too busy hustling around closing the windows. Didn't it keep you busy too?"

"Oh, no! We rent a furnished house, you know."—Cleveland Plain Dealer

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.
BATHING SUITS
Caps and Water Wings
THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

WORKING ON NEW BASIS

New Treaty Between United States and Japan Now In Operation

Washington, July 18.—The new treaty of commerce and navigation between the United States and Japan has gone into operation, replacing the old treaty negotiated in Secretary Gresham's administration.

The important point of difference between the two conventions lies in the omission from the new convention of the paragraph in the old one relating to immigration restrictions, which was objectionable to the Japanese, the United States relying upon the honor of Japan to carry out the spirit of existing undertakings which prevent the departure of Japanese coolies to America.

There is also provision for the substitution of the new Japanese customs tariff for the existing general conventional rates. It happens that a similar treaty which Japan has negotiated with France does not become effective until Aug. 4, and in conformity with an agreement between the United States and Japan, the new tariff rates will not apply to goods imported into Japan from America until that date.

TRIBUTE TO COLONEL CLARKE

Prayers Over Remains Previous to Removal to Burial Place

Highgate, Vt., July 18.—A brief service of prayer over the remains of Colonel Albert Clarke of Boston, secretary of the Home Market club, who died here, was held at the home of H. G. Carman of Highgate Centre yesterday. Two clergymen, Rev. J. H. Bennett, pastor of the Highgate Centre Methodist Episcopal church, and Rev. N. O. Bowlby, pastor of the Congregational church at Swanton, officiated.

Following this service, the funeral party was driven to Swanton, and a train was taken to Rochester, Vt., where the funeral services were held today. Rev. E. J. Ranslow of Swanton, an honorary member of the Thirteenth Vermont Regiment association, of which Colonel Clarke was a member, conducted the service.

CHOLERA SITUATION DILIGENTLY GUARDED

Government to Combat Invasion From European Ports

Washington, July 18.—The entire public health machinery of the government has been put in motion to fight off the cholera invasion from Europe. All consular reports from Europe bearing on cases at any points are being carefully studied by officials here and the public health officer at Naples has been instructed to cable a report every five days as to developments in the epidemic that is ravaging Italy. All ships are being watched here and abroad and special instructions have been issued throughout the service to safeguard this country from the disease. A public health service expert, hurried to New York, is expected to work in cooperation with Dr. Doty and other health authorities there in a vigorous handling of the cases already brought in and to guard against further cholera inroads. Surgeon General Wyman says there is no change in the situation and that he is awaiting further advices from Italy. These are expected within a day or two.

IN STATE OF SIEGE

Managua Prisons Filled With Prisoners Loaded With Chains

Panama, July 18.—Mail advices from Rivas, Nic., describe the capital, Managua, as in a state of siege. The prisons are filled with political prisoners loaded with chains.

Many are not charged wth specific offenses but are suspected of disloyalty to the government of President Diaz. The wife of one such prisoner obtained his liberty, it is said, by paying those in authority 50,000 pesos. A peso is equivalent to about 50 cents in the money of the United States.

The advices further state that telegrams, cablegrams and even private correspondence is rigorously censored. The government suddenly prohibited the circulation of $5 and $50 bills printed in Managua by former Presidents Zelaya and Madriz, alleging that many spurious notes were in circulation. This action has caused much inconvenience.

Novel Texan Trust

Bonham, Tex., July 18.—The city council has passed an ordinance providing that no one may sell peanuts on the streets of Bonham until he has suffered the amputation of both legs. The purpose of the ordinance is to permit an aged negro who has lost both legs to "freeze out" all able-bodied competitors in the peanut selling line.

Sum Raised For Bowdoin Gymnasium

Brunswick, Me., July 18.—President Hyde of Bowdoin college announces that the college will have a new gymnasium, the subscriptions to the $100,000 fund having been overpledged. The entire amount raised for the new gymnasium is $104,958.

SAD CONDITION IN CITY AFFAIRS

Financial Conditions of Lawrence Cause Alarm

BANKRUPTCY IS THREATENED

City Draft Held Up, City Treasury Bare and No Money In Sight—Overdrawn Appropriations—Situation Is a Desperate One—Citizens Generally Anxiously Awaiting the End to Come

Lawrence, Mass., July 18.—The city of Lawrence is on the verge of bankruptcy.

Unless some money is immediately secured by City Treasurer William A. Keleher, the policemen and firemen may have to go without their week's pay.

Upon written orders from Mayor John T. Cahill, A. M., M. D., the street department was shut down with the exception of the street cleaning department.

The public property, water and health departments are expected to be shut down this week. The city draft, due last Wednesday, amounting to $76,658.19, which represented bills for goods purchased and work performed for the city during June, was held up because there was only enough money in the city safes to pay the city employes.

The schools are closed during the summer vacation and luckily the teachers do not have to be paid. The police and fire departments will remain in service at all costs.

The city treasury is so depleted that Mayor Cahill went to Boston and succeeded in getting the American Woolen company officials to pay a tax bill on their local holdings of $50,000 three months ahead of time.

This money has been spent and there is no more forthcoming.

There is continual grumbling heard from the merchants and artisans who have bills held up in city hall because the treasury is empty. The statement made last Saturday by Mayor Cahill that he had a firm grip on the financial situation was received with derision.

Mayor Cahill has been in Boston several times of late, presumably in an effort to get some of the other big mill corporation treasurers to pay their taxes ahead of time, but his efforts have been unavailing.

One hundred and twenty-five men have been laid off the street department by Superintendent Lyons, important work being left unfinished.

The crisis in the situation seems at hand. With the city treasury empty, no money being on hand to pay next week's pay roll of those who must work, and with no money coming in, the situation is a desperate one.

Merchants are refusing department heads credit for city supplies. The various city departments have long overdrawn their appropriations. The borrowing capacity has long since been exhausted. Citizens are anxiously awaiting the end.

SUICIDE INDICATED

Body of Ryan Found Weighted Down by Sand Bag

Boston, July 18.—The body of Bartholomew J. Ryan, 28 years old, who disappeared last Thursday, was found in the Charles river. A fifty-pound sand bag, tied to one leg, indicated that he had committed suicide. He had been married only three months, but ill health had preyed upon his mind.

Ryan was employed at the Norumbega boat house, and last Thursday afternoon started down the river to deliver a consignment of tonic to one of the refreshment stands. In the bow of the canoe was a fifty-pound sand bag for ballast. An hour later the canoe, with his coat and pop bottles, was found floating in the "Cuts" near Norumbega tower. Near the canoe floated his pocketbook with all his money.

Since that time the river has been dragged repeatedly by the police and by friends, but no trace of the body was found. Jeremiah Coleman, a friend of Ryan's saw the body afloat in the water.

Rosen Will Not Return

St. Petersburg, July 18.—The foreign office has confirmed the report that Baron Rosen would not return to his post as Russian ambassador at Washington. George Bakhmetieff is the nominee now in view for the American mission, but this appointment, like other diplomatic changes, will await the return in the fall of Foreign Minister Sazanof, who is now in the Vosges region in search of renewed health.

Mrs. Henrietta Bailey Dead

Boston, July 18.—Mrs. Henrietta Bailey, widow of George G. Bailey, who was associated with his brother, Edwin C. Bailey, in the proprietorship and editorship of the Boston Herald during the period of the Civil war., is dead at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Luther S. Lord, in Malden.

THE BANK
And Your Accounting
The bank's books are right. When you keep your money with us subject to check, you are getting an expert book-keeper without paying a salary. Your accounts are taken care of rigidly, your checks give you a uniform voucher system, your monthly balance and check-stub records keep you accurately posted at all times. The other advantages of modern banking would fill a big book. Come in and ask questions.
NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

DEACON GOT EVEN.

There was a farmer who sold butter to the village storekeeper, taking sugar in exchange. It seemed to the farmer after a while that the sugar he was getting was short weight. Accordingly he made a complaint.

" 'Look here, deacon,' he said, 'It seems to me you're giving me short weight sugar.'

" 'No,' said the deacon, a religious old man, in a dry voice; 'no, that can't be, for in measuring out that sugar of yours I always use a pound of your butter as a weight.' "—Record Herald.

TROUBLE WITH TOWER.

Among the engravings that adorned the walls of a Toledo woman's home was one big one of the leaning tower of Pisa.

One morning, shortly after the advent of a new maid, the mistress of the house noticed that the picture of the tower hung crooked. She straightened it and said nothing of the matter to the new servant, who had evidently shifted it while dusting.

The next day the picture was again crooked; the same thing happened the next day, and the next. Finally one morning, chancing to be on the room where the picture was, the mistress said to the maid as she dusted:

Mary, you've hung that picture of the tower crooked. Just look at it!"

"That's what I say, mum," returned the domestic; "look at it! The only way I can git that blamed tower to hang straight is to hang the picture crooked."—Lippincott's.

—A glorious Fourth without lockjaw, a suitable celebration of a great historical event of surpassing importance without calling out the ambulance, and a development of the Old Fourth into something very much better and more worthy of the occasion and of the country are the underlying ideas in the general movement for a new and greater Fourth of July which shall be safe, sane, interesting, educational and altogether enjoyable.—Philadelphia Press.

NO HOPE FOR HIM.

At a recent trial in Scotland an elderly spinster was called to the witness box to be examined.

"What is you age, madam?" inquired the counsel.

"Sir," answered the witness, "I am an unmarrit woman, and dinna think it right to answer that question."

The judge interposed and told her she should answer.

"Oh, weel, then," she said reluctantly, "I am 50."

"Not more than 50?" questioned the counsel sternly.

"Well, dinna fash yersel'," she replied. "I am 60."

The inquisitive lawyer still further asked if she had any hopes of getting married, to which Miss Jane answered

"Well, sir, I wanna tell a lie. I hinna lost hope yet;" scornfully adding: "but I widna marry you, for I'm sick and tired o' your palaver already."—Tit-bits.

Sensitive Meredith.

The house at 17 Red Lion square, W. C., London, was once occupied by William Morris, Burne-Jones and Dante Gabriel Rossetti. George Meredith in the days of his extremest penury joined with those other three young men in their bachelor establishment. The state of his boots, we are told by one of the biographers, at length aroused the solicitude of his fellow tenants, who one night stealthily replaced them by a new pair. But Meredith was so much piqued by what was meant in all kindness that he withdrew from the fellowship the next day.—London News.

Dr. Holmes' Wit.

One of the best repartees ever credited to a habitual maker of happy phrases was that made by the beloved "Autocrat of the Breakfast Table" on a certain social occasion.

Going to dine with a Boston neighbor, Dr. Holmes was met by her with an apology:

"I could not get another man. We are four women, and you will have to take us all in."

"Forewarned is fourarmed," he said with a bow

WE ARE NOT THE
LOWEST PRICED
STORE IN QUINCY BUT WE POSITIVELY ARE THE
LOWEST PRICED STORE
IN MASS., CONSIDERING THE QUALITY OF MEATS WE SELL
HIGHEST QUALITY, LOW PRICES OUR STANDARD
RESPECTFULLY,
JOHNSON BROS.
June 16-tf

Are You Going Away?
If so have the DAILY LEDGER sent to your vacation address. You cannot afford to be without your home paper.
FILL OUT THIS BLANK
QUINCY DAILY LEDGER:—
Send the Daily Ledger for _____
Address below. _____
SEND YOUR ORDER AT ONCE

FIRE LADDIES WERE IN TIME

Serious Blaze Monday Night Averted By Quick Action

LOSS ABOUT $300

Prompt work on the part of the fire department, prevented a serious fire Monday evening, in the hay shed of A. J. Richards & Son adjoining their grain store, near the Quincy depot. When the fire was discovered, great clouds of smoke were pouring from the building and an alarm was sounded from Box 26 at 6.37, which brought the apparatus from the Central, Wollaston and Quincy Point stations.

The hay barn adjoins the stable, where several horses are kept. One of the employes of the company, who was early on the scene, hastened to get the animals out. As he entered the hay barn, he saw two empty beer and an empty whiskey bottle setting on one of the bales of hay. It is thought that parties entered the building to partake of these liquid refreshments and while smoking set the hay on fire.

There were about twenty tons of baled hay in the building, which probably prevented the fire from being more serious, as baled hay burns slowly. When the department arrived, no time was lost in throwing the burning bundles into the yard where a stream of water soon put the fire out. The fire did not reach the main pile of hay, although it as thoroughly saturated with smoke. At no time did the flames break through the roof.

The alarm from this box, at this time of the evening, served to attract thousands to the scene and had the fire been a serious one, the firemen would have been badly handicapped, if the street had not been roped off.

Chief Williams estimated the loss, which was confined to the hay at $300. He said he believed the fire to have been caused by parties smoking in the barn.

LEE'S INN.

The Joseph Lee fish, lobster and chicken dinners have made Lee's Inn at Squantum a favorite resort for years. The house makes a specialty of Maryland style chicken and broiled live lobsters. The inn is on the hill overlooking the bay and the aviation field, and may be reached by train and trolley cars from Quincy and adjacent towns of Norfolk county. It is visited by many automobilists. There are private dining-rooms. It has a garage, a stable and the coolest large veranda in New England. G. Lee is the manager.

THE MORNING FIRE.

The alarm from Box 25 at 8.40 this morning, was for a slight fire on the roof of the old almshouse building, on Canal street, owned by Peter McConarty. The loss was confined to a few shingles.

CAUGHT RED HANDED.

Officer Ford captured two boys about 10.30 Monday night, trying to break into McConnell's fruit store, adjoining the Daily Ledger office. The officer went to the rear of the building and saw the two boys trying to open the window. He grabbed one in each hand and sent them to the station, where their parents were notified. They will be brought before the delinquent court later. There were three boys in the attempted break, the third fellow, however, saw the officer coming and made haste to get away. He is known however.

OLD PRINTED LEAF.

Found Concealed In Cover of Edition of Augustinian Sermons.

In looking over an edition of Augustinian sermons printed in Basel by Johann Auerbach in 1496 Professor P. D. Sherman of the English department of Oberlin college discovered on the inside of one of the oak boards what looked like a printed vellum sheet.

By carefully removing the paper fly leaf and soaking off the vellum a folio leaf 12 by 16 inches, printed in two fonts, with illuminated paragraph marks, headings and capitals in red, was uncovered.

Unable to identify the sheet with the aid of special monographs on early printed books in the Oberlin college library, Professor Sherman sent it to the British museum.

Word has just been received from Alfred W. Pollard, expert in the department of printed books in that institution, that the printed fragment is folio 40 of the Clementine constitution, done by Peter Schoefer at Mayence in 1467, and dates back to within one decade of the Gutenberg Bible.

WAITING FOR THE LEGISLATURE.

Up to the present time, none of the cities and towns of the commonwealth have announced their tax rates for the current year, which is somewhat remarkable, for in other years the tax rates have begun to be given out early in July. Practically every city is about ready to announce the rate, but can not do so until the legislature ends its session. Usually the legislature winds up its business the latter part of June.

In relation to this delay the Transcript says:

Unless the Legislature ends its session before long the cities and towns of the Commonwealth will be seriously inconvenienced financially, if not actually embarrassed. This is because they are being delayed in getting out their tax bills. An important item in the liabilities of the municipalities, to be provided for in the tax levies, is the State tax. Until it is known the rates cannot be fixed or the tax bills sent out. It is especially uncertain this year because of the probability of an increase in the tax. As the Legislature cannot settle the amount of the State tax until it has determined upon practically every appropriation, the bill is one of the last to be passed.

It has been customary for the cities and towns to get out their tax rates early in July, and in the course of a month or so to begin the distribution of the bills. As many property owners pay early, the municipalities are provided with money for running expenses in the late summer and early autumn. This year they already have been delayed from two to three weeks beyond the usual time and it may be another week before the State tax bill is passd. Consequently it will be late in August before the tax bills can be sent out. The delay will result in putting back a month or so the ordinary income from tax money, and the cities and towns will be obliged to borrow much heavier than in other years to pay the current expenses.

HERE AND THERE.

—Last week's death roll in Boston was the largest in the history of the city.

—Vocational guidance, a new course included in this year's work at the Harvard summer school, has opened with an enrollment of 50, slightly more than half the students being men. Meyer Bloomfield, director of the vocation bureau of Boston, is conducting the course.

—On Saturday New York City had its first native case of Asiatic cholera in the death of Patrick Bushing, night watchman at the Surnburne island quarantine station.

—For ringing a false alarm George A. Oches, of Dorchester, was fined $25, by Judge Churchill, in the Dorchester court last week. Oches rang an alarm from a box near Pierce square and the engines were forced to drive through crowds that were returning from a band concert.

—The bill changing the name of the port of Boston and Charlestown to Boston was passed unanimously by the senate July 14 at the instance of Senator Lodge, who made a poll of the finance committee on the floor of the senate for a favorable report. The change is asked by the Boston Chamber of Commerce. The bill now goes to the house.

—Ellen T. Green a Marblehead teacher who recently died has left an estate of $45,000, most of it made by investments in real estate on Marblehead neck.

—Prominent Republican speakers will be the guests of the Plymouth County Republican Campaign Committee and club at the annual outing to be held at Nantasket Aug. 29. Charles S. Groves, executive secretary of the Republican State Committee is chairman of the committee on invited guests and Cleveland A. Chandler is chairman of the committee on the dinner.

—Albert Bowman Wiggin, a member of the class of 1843, Colby College, and until now the oldest living graduate of that institution, died July 14 at his home in North Pepperell. Mr. Wiggin was in his ninety-second year. He was born in Vassalborough, Me., and after graduation from college taught school for fifty years, chiefly in Maine and New York.

—The movement to secure one-cent letter postage is taking on definite form, and headquarters have been opened in New York, and Chicago, from which a vigorous campaign is to be carried on. An effort will be made to bring about an advance in the rates on magazines, which are now handled in the mails at a heavy loss. If this service can be made to pay for itself, it is believed that one-cent letter post age can easily be adopted, and the promoters of the movement believe it can be brought about within a year.

PAPUAN SAVAGES

The Most Treacherous of All the South Sea Natives.

A TRIBE OF HEAD HUNTERS.

The Solomon Islanders Kill and Eat Their Enemies as an Incident of Their Weird Religious Rites—Storming a House In a Treetop.

The name Papuan is that given to the dark skinned people who inhabit the greater number of islands in the part of the Pacific ocean known as Polynesia and Melanesia and whose headquarters, as it were, are in the great island of Papua or New Guinea. Under this description come the inhabitants of the Solomon islands.

So evil has been the reputation of the Solomon islanders that until quite recently they were carefully avoided, and very little was known about them. They have the name of being the most treacherous of all the south sea natives, yet, considering the treatment they have received in the past at the hands of white men, this is not to be wondered at. Indeed, the wonder is that they allow any white man at all in their country. But now that they have had a chance of seeing some more favorable specimens than the dregs of humanity who formerly drifted to the south seas they are much improved, and a man who treats them fairly may, as a rule, go among them without fear.

Still, even now there is a beautiful uncertainty about the life of a south sea trader. One day he may be surrounded by cringing natives who obey his every word. But some night, if he has cheated the Papuan too grossly, there is murder in the moonlight, and the trader is never heard of more. Often, however, there seems to be no reason for the natives turning against the whites. It is simply that they object to having a trader in their midst. So they burn his goods and end by killing him.

The Solomon islanders are as keen head hunters as the Borneans and every year, except where they are held in check by the British government, set out on head hunting raids pure and simple. Although cannibalism is still practiced in the wilder parts of the group, it is nowadays mostly a religious ceremony and not a matter of diet. The islanders do not generally kill and eat people for enjoyment, but either because their religion demands a human sacrifice or because a head is needed for some ceremony.

In Ysabel, one of the largest islands in the Solomon group, the natives build houses in the highest trees to escape from the attacks of head hunting parties, who sometimes come as far as 200 miles in their search for skulls. One of these houses was built in a tree 150 feet high. All the lower branches had been cut off, so that the stem was quite bare until the platform, some eighty feet from the ground, was reached. Access was had to the house by a rickety ladder composed of rungs lashed to a stout pole with rope of twisted cane. When an attack is expected the women and children take refuge in these houses, while the men keep watch. They warn each other of the approach of a fleet by a curious cry which once heard is never to be forgotten. These houses are substantially built, as often the inhabitants have to withstand a long siege in them. The floor is made of plaited bamboo laid on a layer of bark which rests upon the platform. The walls are of bamboo, and the roof is thatched with sage palm. The particular house to which I have referred measured 30 by 15 feet, and forty persons had been known to take refuge in it. If the attacking party land and the men cannot resist them successfully they, too, ascend to the tree house. A pile of large stones is always kept ready for emergencies outside the door of the platform, and these the men hurl down on their foes. Sometimes, however, the enemy construct a shelter beneath which they can work away and cut the tree down, and they have even been known to ascend the tree while the inhabitants were off their guard and set fire to the house.

Nowadays, however, head hunting is indulged in only on special occasions. Often, indeed, when a head is required the chief gives notice of the fact to the different tribes and offers a reward for one. The chiefs of the villages look around, and if in any of them there is a native who has made himself objectionable for any reason they decide that his head shall come off and the reward be earned. The victim is not told of his impending fate, but is carefully watched by a man who has been told to secure his head. He watches every movement of his victim and when a favorable opportunity presents itself quickly and remorselessly kills him, cuts off his head and carries it to the chief, who pays for it in shell money. This even happens to white men if they have made themselves unpopular. Money is paid over for the skull, which goes to join the chief's collection.—John Foster Fraser in New York Tribune.

The Old, Old Story.

"What did you do when your husband told you the old, old story?"

"I told him to shut up before he was half through."

"Why, what a funny way to reply to a confession of love!"

"Oh, is that what you mean? I thought you meant the story he told last night when he came home from a time with the boys."—Houston Post.

BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA.

Vacation is here. The boys who have been reading the manual and getting ready for the summer are now in camp or engaging in various other activities outlined for boys. It is estimated that two or three hundred thousand boys who are scouts will go into camp this summer. The encampments vary from a troop of eighteen to twenty-four boys to many troops including thousands of boys. Thousands of boys have been taking tests to qualify as second class scouts in anticipation of the camping and hiking expeditions. Many young men have obtained certificates as scout masters to be prepared to take boys into the woods. The reports sent into the national headquarters of the Boy Scouts of America indicate that the boy scout movement is spreading rapidly to every village and city in the country.

Judge Lindsey Back of Boy Scouts.

Ben B. Lindsey, judge of the juvenile court of Denver, who has become famous the country over because of his enthusiastic work in behalf of boys, sees great possibilities for good in the boy scout movement. He is closely in touch with the boy scout activities in Denver and is advising the scout masters there as to the methods of handling the boys. He has observed the appeal that the activities have for the boys and has perceived how, through the spirit of fun and play, the characters of the boys can be molded. He likes the boy scout organization because it does not preach to the boy. It unobtrusively appeals to the boy's sense of honor.

Photo by American Press Association.

GROUP OF BOY SCOUTS.

For these reasons Lindsey, who is a member of the national council of the Boy Scouts of America, is convinced that still greater things can be accomplished through the organization. "I am enthusiastic," he writes, "about the boy scout movement. It is doing tremendous good all over the country and is just the thing that we have needed and bids fair to fulfill a dream I have had for a long time—namely, a practical scheme through which we can impart ethics and rules of moral conduct that differ from our methods of preaching that have never taken and never will take with boys. I only wish I had the time to write an article upon what I mean and how the boy scouts are taking care of the idea and, I hope, can do even more than they are doing in that direction."

One Scout Helps Another In Need.

Monroe G. Kelly of 179 Marcy avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., scout master of the Boy Scouts of America, has reported to headquarters that a tenderfoot badge was the means of doing a service to an orphan. One of the scouts in Kelly's troop was going home one evening when he saw a little fellow, ragged and tired, wearing a tenderfoot badge. He instantly took an interest in him, and the lad's condition aroused his sympathy. He followed the boy for several blocks and saw him slip into a hallway, curl up and try to go to sleep. Then the scout went up to the tenderfoot, explained who he was and asked if he could help him in any way. The tenderfoot proved to be an orphan from Philadelphia who had come to New York in the hope of getting a job and making his own way. The scout led the tenderfoot to a boys' lodging and, although he himself is getting only $3 a week, he advanced money for a week's lodging for the little fellow. He related the instance to Mr. Kelly, and the boy was returned to relatives in Philadelphia.

Scouts Visit Cliff Dwellers.

The boy scouts in East Las Vegas, N. M., have been doing some real scouting among the Indians in the state. Under George Fitzsimmons, their scout master, twenty-three boy scouts, led by an Indian chief, took a trip of eleven days to visit isolated Indian pueblos and the Puye cliff dwellings. The boys camped out on their hike and spent several days among the Indians. They watched the men make pottery, grind corn, weave baskets and make necklaces. They ate with the Indians and sat around the campfire with them, smoking the pipe of peace. The Indians did various dances for them and also showed them the different cliff dwellings and told them much of the law and the condition of their tribe. The experience was thoroughly novel and proved helpful to the boys.

MADNESS COMES FROM REMEDIES

Dr. Wiley Cites Dangers That Lie In Disguised Drugs.

HE SEES DEFECT IN THE LAW

Expert Declares Packages Should Be Labeled With Names of Poisons They Contain—Insanity and Heart Disease Due to Medicines.

Seeds of insanity lurk in certain headache powders and other chemical preparations still being sold daily throughout the United States despite the pure food and drug act, according to a statement made by Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, chief of the bureau of chemistry, department of agriculture.

The defect in that law, as pointed out first by Chief Justice Clabaugh of the district supreme court, Washington, was deplored by the renowned food expert. The necessity of further legislation to correct the law so as to protect the public from manufacturers of such preparations was strongly emphasized by him.

Permitting manufacturers to sell their products, derived from the most deadly drugs, without informing the consumers in plain, certain terms of the exact nature of the preparations was the burden of the lament of Dr. Wiley.

Menace to Consumers.

Headache powders and other remedies containing morphine and cocaine were especially referred to by Dr. Wiley as productive of insanity. There are said to be numerous patent medicines on sale throughout the land containing more or less of these drugs, and, according to the government expert, each and every one is a menace to consumers. The effect of such preparations on the mind was declared by Dr. Wiley to be entirely unsuspected by their users. This unfortunate ignorance was attributed by the expert mainly to the alleged suppression by proprietors of the name of the parent drugs from which they are derived with the willful design of deceiving the public.

Have Effect on Mind.

"Drugs containing morphine and cocaine have a decided tendency to destroy the mind, and many doubtless have been destroyed by their consumption," declared Dr. Wiley.

Nor is this the full extent of the chemist's strictures against patent medicines. Heart disease also is chargeable to the use of drugs, he said. Among the harmful ingredients mentioned by Dr. Wiley were acetanilide, phenacetin and caffeine. Each of these acts specifically upon the heart, according to Dr. Wiley, and is therefore dangerous.

DUTY ON A HAREM SKIRT.

Customs Official at First Said $200, Then Raised It.

To Miss Catherine Cameron, who arrived in New York on board the Minnehaha of the Atlantic Transport line, it seems as though Uncle Sam had invented and perfected the United States customs appraisers for the sole purpose of reducing feminine nerves to a frazzle. It all came about in this manner:

Miss Cameron spent the winter in Scotland and London and in the latter place appeared in a harem skirt. On the customs declaration Miss Cameron listed this precious dress as personal property and not as a stage costume, and that is how it started. When the garment was spread out before the calculating gaze of one of the appraisers he said: "Um! You will have to pay duty on that." Two hundred dollars was the figure he named, and it didn't get a very warm reception from Miss Cameron. So she protested, and to cover his confusion at seeing beauty in such a distress the appraiser just sort of mauled the gown until he had it upside down, and there all around the bottom were embroidered little pink roses.

"My," murmured the appraiser, "I didn't see these before. I will have to raise the price to $225." Then there were more objections, and in covering his confusion the appraiser discovered another row of little pink roses. Again he raised the appraised value of the gown and Miss Cameron's indignation. After she had paid the duty Miss Cameron thought it over.

"Those little roses," she said, "cost me just about $2.50 apiece."

USED HIS VACATIONS.

Little Rock Merchant, Unaided, Erected Stone House In the Ozarks.

A. L. Hazelton, a merchant of Little Rock, Ark., has a paradise in the Ozark mountains, in northern Arkansas.

"Four years ago I bought ten acres of the roughest land I could find near Bergman," he said. "The price was $50 an acre. Every summer for four years I have spent a month on the place working at a stone chateau, which is now finished by my own labor.

"I dug the rock out of the hills myself and built the place. My wife was the architect. The house has five rooms and a porch of hewn logs. This year I am going to work on the grounds. The work gives me strength for business, and, besides, I am making a cozy country home."

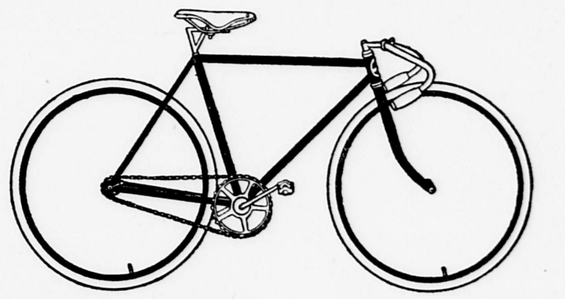
LADIES' DAY
QUINCY YACHT CLUB
July 19

You'll be there. Everybody will. Now is the time to look over your equipment and see what you need. Perhaps you want a

Regulation Quincy Yacht Club Cap
Outing Trousers
Yachting Shoes
Wash Ties
Soft Shirts

If you do, step "JUST AROUND THE CORNER" and save money

GEORGE W. JONES
1 GRANITE STREET



New and Second Hand Bicycles. Sundries and Repairing
Agency for Columbia and Hartford Bicycles
HUB CYCLE CO.
Thomas Nelson, 20 Granite Street, QUINCY
May 15-3m

WHEELER'S
The Store for Ladies' Furnishings

We will continue our Sale of Shirt Waists and Long Gloves

See what we offer in Shirt Waists for 79c and 98c
and Long Gloves for 50c and 75c

We are also showing a new line of Children's Parasols, all colors, for 25c and 29c

WE GIVE CASH DISCOUNT SLIPS

City Square G. W. WHEELER Quincy

YIELDED TO EDMUNDS.

Cleveland's Political Foe Won After His Friends Had Failed.

Soon after Mr. Cleveland entered the White House in 1885 Vice President Hendricks died at his home in Indianapolis, and the president made arrangements to attend the funeral. Many of his social intimates and all his official advisers united in an effort to dissuade him from making this twenty hour journey, enlarging on the manifold risks of rail travel at all times and the special opportunity this would offer some fanatic to assassinate him. But he remained immovable until within a few hours of the time set for closing up his business he received an unexpected call from Senator Edmunds of Vermont.

Mr. Edmunds was the leader of the Republican side of the senate and was understood to have in preparation several measures of opposition to the announced policies of the new administration. But he was also and above all else an American citizen and a patriot, and his visit to his political foe was made in that character. In a conversation of less than half an hour, in which he drew the curtain over all differences and disregarded all empty formalities of intercourse, he laid before the president in the clear terms and logical order in which he knew so well how to express himself the larger aspects of the situation.

As the presidential succession law then stood the speaker of the house of representatives stood next in line to the vice president, and next to him came the president pro tempore of the senate. The house not having organized since the inauguration, no speaker had been elected, and, the senate having failed at its special session to choose a president pro tempore to serve during the recess, only one life—that of the president himself—stood between the nation and administrative anarchy; hence, argued Mr. Edmunds, it was Mr. Cleveland's duty to forego every other consideration and invite no chances of throwing upon the country they both loved a strain such as it had never been subjected to before.

The writer of these lines was seated in the next room while this visit was in progress, and he will never forget the president's expression of satisfaction on coming out of his office after the senator had gone. He gave orders at once that all preparations for his journey should be suspended and declared that nothing that had occurred since he entered the White House had so touched him as the kind solicitude shown by Mr. Edmunds about his exposing himself to any peril now. The others who had reasoned with him on the subject were men who were presumptively friendly and whose chief anxiety seemed to be lest he should suffer some injury to his individual person or fortunes. But here was a man who, as far as politics was concerned, was a hostile of hostiles, yet who appealed to him in behalf of the American people and their government.

"That settled it," Mr. Cleveland concluded as he turned to go back to his office. "After what Edmunds said there can be no further question of where my highest obligation lies."—F. E. L. in New York Post.

NEW SOCIETY FAD.

Boston Girl Can Fell a Tree Like a Lumberjack.

Woodchopping is the hobby of a young Boston society girl, Isabel P. Curtis, who prefers making the chips fly in the woods to attending the fashionable entertainments of the Back Bay. She is a guest of Charles H. Willis of Stockbridge, Mass., and has passed her time there wielding an ax or walking between the village and Lenox, which is twelve miles away.

Miss Curtis has been so active in her favorite pastime she had to buy a new ax the other day and told the storekeeper she can fell a tree almost as quickly as a lumberjack. She also has sawed several cords of hard wood, to the delight of her host, who confesses he doesn't enjoy exercise at the wood pile.

☞Going away for the summer? If so don't forget to have the Daily Ledger sent to your address and keep posted on home news. If you have forgotten to send in your order in the rush of getting away drop us a postal and we will do the rest. tf

JUST IN TIME

Some Quincy People May Wait Till It's Too Late .

Don't wait until too late.
Be sure to be in time.
Just in time with kidney ills.
Means curing the back.
Before backache becomes chronic;
Before serious urinary troubles set in.
Doan's Kidney Pills will do his.
Here is Quincy testimony to prove it.

Nicholas Albanese, 16 Gilmore St., Quincy, Mass., says: "I was annoyed by attacks of backache for some time. Often while at work, sharp, shooting pains darted through my loins, causing me great misery. I also had dizzy spells and my sight seemed to be affected. I tried many remedies, but did not receive relief and as a last resort, I decided to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I procured a box at the Coa Drug Store and in a short time after using them, I was helped. I have no hesitation in giving Doan's Kidney Pills the credit for my cure."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

EXECUTOR'S NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed executor of the will of Joseph A. McCrory late of Quincy in the County of Norfolk, deceased, testate, and has taken upon himself that trust by giving bond, as the law directs. All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased, are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to the subscriber.

WILLIAM P. THOMPSON.
Executor.

(Address)
25 Equitable Bldg., Boston, Mass.
July 10, 1911.
July 11-3t 11, 18, 25

TO LET

IN QUINCY CENTER

SEVERAL DESIRABLE HOUSES
7, 8 and 10 Rooms
Every convenience and very desirable locations.
RENT $25 To $40 according to house

APPLY TO
MISS PRESCOTT,
Ledger Office
Quincy, July LFOtf

HOT WEATHER

and dirt breed germs. Germs bring diseases and are a menace to your health. Our sanitary dyeing and cleaning processes render your clothes free from germs.

Get The Sanitary Habit!

We call for and deliver the work

WARSHAW'S
DYE HOUSE
"The Home of Cleanliness"
1503 HANCOCK STREET
QUINCY
July 15-tf

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

As a FAMILY DAILY PAPER has no equal and is appreciated by ADVERTISERS

Quincy Daily Ledger

HIGH TIDE FOR WEEK.

Monday, July 17,	3.00	3.30
Tuesday,	4.00	4.30
Wednesday,	4.45	5.15
Thursday,	5.45	6.15
Friday,	6.45	7.15
Saturday,	7.45	8.15
Sunday,	8.45	9.15

1911 JULY 1911

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
						1
2	3	4	5	6	7	8
9	10	11	12	13	14	15
16	17	18	19	20	21	22
23	24	25	26	27	28	29
30	31

BRIEFS

Work is now under way rebuilding Merrymount road and repairing the bridge.

George K. Drew, 38 South Central avenue, Wollaston, left yesterday for a trip to Jackson, N. H.

A handsome new flag flies from the pole in front of the Coddington school each day. This is the property of the Playground committee and is the gift of Mr. Delcevare King.

The showers and cold wave, predicted for Monday evening, did not materalize. Rain is needed badly by vegetation and unless it comes soon gardens will be ruined.

Congratulations are being extended to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Moore, nee Helen Curtin of Atlantic street on the birth, on Monday of a little boy. Mother and son are doing nicely.

Roger Allen, Frank Fulton, Herbert Atkins and Elsmere Smith after spending a week at West Gloucester under the kind and watchful care of Mr. Archibald Briggs have returned badly tanned but happy.

Bartlett Spooner of Revere road left Saturday with a party of friends including Messrs. Newcomb, Lord, Foss and Kresewetter for two weeks camping in Marion. They made the trip down by automobile.

Cards have been received in Quincy from Mr. and Mrs. Henry N. Willoby of Weymouth announcing the marriage on Feb. 26 of their daughter Marietta Ella and Chester James Purtell of Salem. The announcement came as a surprise but they are receiving the sincere congratulations of their friends. Mrs. Purtell was for several years a compositor at the Ledger office.

GRANITE SHIPMENTS.

Returns from the two railroad shipping terminals for the month of June, show quite a falling off from the amount shipped during the month of May, the total for June being 14,802,362 pounds as against 18,327,766 pounds for May. Of the June shipments 9,532,980 pounds were forwarded from West Quincy and 5,269,382 pounds from Quincy Adams.

ANNUAL OUTING.

The annual summer outing of the Granite Manufacturers association is to be held Saturday, July 29, at Bass Point, the same place that the manufacturers have visited for the past three years. The members of the Association like the point as well as the dinner that is served them. They will go down during the early morning and after a series of field sports, will enjoy one of the shore dinners for which this resort is famous.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, Lucas County, ss.
Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure. FRANK J. CHENEY.
Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.
A. W. GLEASON,
(Seal) Notary Public.
Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.
F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by all Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

PATENTS

TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 26 years experience.
Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.
READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.

D. SWIFT & CO.
PATENT LAWYERS,
303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

WILL DR. WILEY BE RETAINED?

Washington, D. C. July 18th. Will President Taft lend himself to the machinations of the "doped food" interests and separate Dr. Harvey W. Wiley Chief of the Bureau of Chemistry, from the Department of Agriculture? is the question agitating Washington at this time. The friends of the administration do not believe that he will on the flimsy pretext advanced by Wiley's enemi es in and out of the Department of a technical violation of the law in the case of the salary of Dr. H. H. Rusby as Pharmacognocist. For years his enemies have searched his record of 29 years in the government service in an effort to find a basis for charges which would result in his dismissal, but in vain. The combination against him is very powerful. It is headed by those who use benzoate of soda as a preservative. Notwithstanding its use is permitted the agents of the Departments are seizing ketchup in all parts of the country made from filthy, putrid and decomposed vegetable substance and preserved with benzoate of soda. With Wiley out of the way these seizures would doubtless cease. The prime mover in the anti-Wiley crusade is Solicitor George P. McCabe, who packed the Denver convention of the National and State Dairy and Food Commissioners in the interest of benzoate of soda. He is the right hand man of the aged Secretary Wilson, who will be 76 next month, and who relies on McCabe implicitly. Allied with the benzoaters are the users of saccharin, in some instances identical; the sugar trust, which is based on the Dutch standard condemned by Wiley and which uses sulphurous acid for the bleaching of sugar and molasses; the whiskey trust, and the borax trust, which still hopes to get borax permitted as a preservative for meats to say nothing of the fake medicine men. Embarrassing as the Pinchot case was to the administration, it was nothing compared to the Wiley case. Senator LaFollette has already bitterly attacked the President on the charge of subservience to the "interests." His friends feel confident he will not be led to give color to the charge by dismissing the government's pure food expert on a technical charge of no importance even if sustained.

WAS SHE FROM CLEVELAND.

The death of Dave Moffatt calls to mind a story we heard about him in Denver 10 years ago. He went to Chicago. He was alone, and when he stepped from the Pullman into the crowd on the platform a sweet fluffy young thing threw herself into his arms.

"Oh, dad!" she cried, with a series of ecstatic hugs. "Oh, papa dear, I'm so glad to—oh!"

She perceived her error and blushed painfully but gloriously. "I—I beg your pardon," she stammered. I—t-th-thought you were my papa. I——" And she tried to escape into the throng where she could hide her confusion. But the gallant empire builder would have none of such. He still held her firmly in a quasipaternal embrace.

"I am not your papa, it is true," he whispered, tenderly, "but I am going to play that I am for a while. Don't try to get away from me, my dear. I'm going to play papa to you until the police come."

When the police came they restored Mr. Moffatt's watch and diamond scarf pin to him and led the struggling broiler away.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

DURING HARD TIMES.

It was at a country hotel. The single stranger who sat down to dinner was amazed when the waiter handed him a printed bill of fare, which began with oyster soup and ran down to four kinds of fruit tart and chocolate ice cream.

"I'll have oyster soup," said the guest.

"Y-e-s, but we haven't got any," replied the waiter.

"Very well, give me some baked cod."

"We are out of that too."

"Then bring me roast fowl and baked potatoes."

"We haven't got any of 'em, sir. All we've got is cold beef, biled taters, asparagus and bread."

At that moment the landlord entered the room and the guest called out:

"Look here, landlord; what sort of a trick do you call this?"

"What? Oh, that bill of fare. My dear sir let me explain. My uncle kept a seaside hotel, and he failed. He had 30,000 bills of fare on hand, and I bought them at a private sale for six shillings. These are hard times—very hard— and we must utilize everything, and keep up style at the same time, you know."

—Mr. Clinton Scollard, poet, is to teach at Hamilton College. Mr. Frank Dempster Sherman, poet, teaches at Columbia. It is thus seen that sweet singers harp best with two strings to their lyres; and are much more sure of a dinner.—Boston Transcript.

COLLISION DUE TO A HEAVY MIST

Two Steamers In Crash and Other Boats Dangerously Near

HALIFAX AND PRINCE ARTHUR

Exciting Scenes as They Come Together In Boston Harbor—Plates on Both Steamers Badly Dented—Passengers Maintain an Air of Coolness and Are Safely Landed at Commercial Wharf

Boston, July 18.—Steamer Halifax, Captain Alfred Ellis, of the Plant line, which ran ashore on Georges island in Boston harbor, was floated again. While on her way up the harbor, in a dense fog, she ran into the Dominion Atlantic liner Prince Arthur, outward bound. Both steamers were proceeding very cautiously, owing to the almost impenetrable mist, and the government revenue cutter Winnisimmet was alongside the Halifax, when the Prince Arthur suddenly loomed up almost directly ahead.

The Winnisimmet had just time to get out of the way before the two steamers bumped. To add to the mix-up, the steamer George A. Hibbar poked up close behind the Halifax and a torpedo boat destroyer and the South Shore of the Nantasket line also came near hitting one of the other boats.

The Prince Arthur, bound for Yarmouth, had a large number of passengers on board, but they were not badly frightened, for the ships were proceeding at slow speed and the impact was not very violent. The vessels struck nearly bow on.

The Halifax had some of her plates indented and a small piece of the deck railing was broken.

The Prince Artur also was slightly damaged. Both proceeded on their way without further trouble.

The Halifax had grounded while inward bound during a thick fog. A number of passengers on board were taken off by tugs and brought to Commercial wharf. The skipper of the fishing steamer Spray, on arriving at T wharf, reported that the bow of the Halifax appeared to be about two feet out of water and that her stern was apparently floating.

At the company's office it was said that the 150 tons of miscellaneous cargo, largely fish, will be unloaded as fast as possible and then, if the ship proves to have no serious strain or other injury, the steamer will load, take on passengers and sail at the usual time.

The steamer left Halifax at midnight Saturday and was due here Monday morning. Fog was encountered and upon entering the bay she proceeded slowly. The mist prevented observation for more than a few feet and in addition to blowing her whistle, the sounding lead was being used.

Without the slightest warning the steamer struck the island. Owing to the comparatively slight headway she was under the shock was not great and as she slid up on the rocks she grated heavily, and keeled sharply to starboard. The tide was ebbing and the angle to which she listed was perceptible, making it almost impossible to walk without holding on to something for support.

Many of the passengers were dressing, for they were aware that the steamer was nearing port. Those who were sleeping were awakened; some of the women fainted and there were startled cries from all sides as the passengers came on deck.

Lieutenant J. W. Powell of the Brookline fire department, who was one of the passengers, said that almost immediately Captain Ellis used the wireless to send a message to Boston that his steamer was aground. There was difficulty in getting Boston and it was some time before there was any response. Upon receipt of the message tugs were sent down to the distressed steamer to take off the passengers. With the exception of hand baggage all belongings were left on board, and the passengers reached Commercial wharf in safety.

The Halifax is a vessel of 1078 tons net and 1875 gross; 250.3 feet long, 35 feet beam and 25.5 depth of hold. She was built in 1888 at Glasgow.

Appendicitis Operation In Mid-Ocean

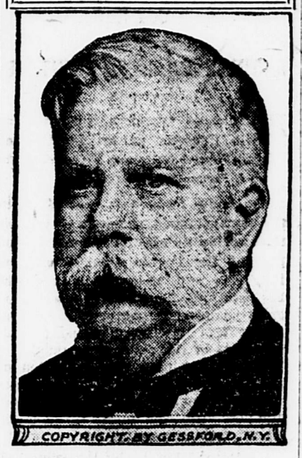
London, July 18.—Surgeon McMaster of the White Star steamship Celtic, aided by Dr. Roberts of New York and Dr. Rininger of Seattle, performed operations for appendicitis on two men passengers while the Celtic was in mid-ocean. The ship was slowed down while the surgeons were at work. The patients arrived in England safely.

Wanted Liberty or Death

Boston, July 18.—Patrick Henry, a South Boston shoemaker, sentenced to a two-year term for robbery, made a daring escape from the house of correction at Deer island early this morning. The keepers say that his daring indicates that he was influenced by the epigram of his revolutionary namesake: "Give me liberty or give me death."

GEORGE WESTINGHOUSE

Man Widely Known In the Business World



COPYRIGHT BY GESSFORD, N.Y.

CAMPAIGN AGAINST ELECTRIC COMPANY

Present Conduct of Westinghouse Company Scored

New York, July 18.—An active campaign against the present conduct of the affairs of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company has been begun by Charles J. Canda, a large stockholder of the company, who has addressed letters to all the stockholders, asking them to send their proxies to George Westinghouse of Pittsburg.

Mr. Canda asserts that the company is earning sufficient sums to pay dividends, and that they should not be withheld from the stockholders. Four new directors to the board will be chosen at an election on July 28.

STRIVING FOR PAPERS

Plans to Settle Controversy Involving Wiley and Wickersham

Washington, July 18.—Announcement was made at the White House that if President Taft can get, at once, the papers incorporating the defense of Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, the government's pure food expert, he will settle the controversy involving Dr. Wiley and Attorney General Wickersham. The president wants the matter immediately cleared up.

Secretary Wilson has been requested to send the papers to the president. The cabinet will go over the papers. After this is done it is probable that a statement will be issued which will settle Dr. Wiley's fate and will probably determine the length of time Attorney General Wickersham and Secretary Wilson will remain in the cabinet. Should Wiley be kept in the government service, it is said that the attorney general will be unable to continue in office. It is even said that Secretary Wilson will likely retire also.

Mr. Wilson had passed no judgment upon the charges against the chief chemist. It will be impossible, it is now said, for the secretary to make a recommendation to the president. Friends of the secretary declared that he will undoubtedly back up his department and the attorney general in the recommendation that Wiley be permitted to resign.

DELIGHTED TO GO HOME

Self-Confessed Burglar's Choice Between Sing Sing and Norway

New York, July 18.—Carl von Metz-Meyer, former army officer in Norway, where his father is rated a wealthy man, will not have to serve time for his robberies in Brooklyn. The Norwegian confessed to a score of burglaries. Judge Dike gave the choice of five years in Sing Sing or immediate departure for his home in Norway.

Metz-Meyer, who has been called the "gentleman burglar," was delighted to go home. Judge Dike said it was better to have Metz-Meyer out of the country than have the people paying for his keep in prison.

NEW AID TO SUFFRAGE

Women of New York Forego Pleasures and Fast For the Cause

New York, July 18.—To aid the women of California, who hope to win the vote when the issue of suffrage for women is presented to the people there, Oct. 10, New York women suffragists will observe a week's fast next month.

During the seven days beginning Aug. 15, the women are expected to forego many pleasures, including ice cream, cooling drinks, roof garden parties and week-end visits.

A long list of well known women have subscribed to the plan. The money saved will be turned over to the Californian cause.

Pay the Penalty

Ossining, N. Y., July 18.—Giuseppe Serimarco, who killed two men during his twenty-seven years of life, paid the penalty for one of his deeds at Sing Sing prison.

HOUSEHOLD RECIPES.

Coffee Parfait. Make a syrup with one half cup of sugar and one cup of strong coffee, pour this slowly over the beaten yolks of two eggs, cook in double boiler until it thickens like custard. Cool and combine with one pint of cream, beaten stiff, fill moulds and pack in ice and salt for three or four hours.

To serve Muskmelons. Muskmelons or cantaloupes should be served on a bed of ice; not filled with chipped ice. The ice against the pulp takes away the flavor and sweetness of the fruit.

Ice Cream Cake. Take one and one-half cups of sugar, three-quarters of a cup of butter, two-thirds of cup of milk, whites of four eggs, three cups of flour, one-half teaspoonful of soda, one teaspoonful of cream of tarter and one teaspoonful of cream.

Lobster Salad. Serve this salad in the small earthenware dishes lined with white which are usually used for cooking eggs. Line the dishes with small, dainty, crisp lettuce leaves. Have a freshly-boiled lobster if possible, but in case such a one cannot be secured, then a good standard brand of canned may be used as a substitute. Cut the lobster into small pieces and sprinkle with lemon juice, and keep in a cool place until wanted to dress for the table. Never place lobster meat where it will freeze. Put a tablespoonful of this lobster meat in the lettuce cups and then cover with mayonnaise.

Jellied Salmon. Removes skin and bones from one can of salmon, then add the juice of one large lemon, saltspoon of salt, good big dash of red pepper, two hard boiled eggs chopped fine, two tablespoonfuls of cooked green peas; mix this all together, then pour two teacups of boiling water over one envelope of plain one minute gelatin, then add one tablespoonful of olive oil; pour this over the salmon, put into a mold, set on ice to get good and cold; when ready for use, unmold, garnish dish with crisp lettuce leaves and lemon quarters.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

In effect June 4, 1911

The letters in the same line as the figures below stand for different stations and indicate that trains stop as follows.

a Wollaston — f Harrison Square
b Norfolk Downs — g Savin Hill
c Atlantic — h Crescent Avenue
d Neponset — i South Boston
e Pope's Hill — r Quincy Adams
Exp.—Express train.

TO BOSTON			FROM BOSTON
Leave	Stop	Arrive	Leave	Stop	Arrive
r 5 14	abcdefghi	5 41	5 45	ihgfedcba	6 14 r
r 6 16	abci	6 35	6 12	ihgfedcba	6 39 r
r 6 33	e	6 48	6 30	a	6 47
r 6 40	abcf	7 00	7 15	hgfedcba	7 41 r
r 7 08	abcd	7 30	7 41	a	7 58
r 7 25	d	7 42	7 45	e	8 03 r
r 7 33	Exp	7 48	8 35	cb	8 53
r 7 42	ab	8 00	8 42	a	8 59
7 57	a	8 13	9 10	fedba	9 22 r
r 8 09	abcd	8 31	9 45	a	10 11 r
r 8 30	Exp	8 45	10 15	ihgfedcba	10 41 r
r 8 53	ad	9 10	10 50	Exp	11 05
r 9 15	abc	9 33	11 15	hgfedcba	11 41 r
r 10 03	a	10 20	11 50	a	12 07
r 10 19	abcdefghi	10 45	12 15	hgfedcba	12 41 r
11 12	a	11 28	12 37	a	12 54 r
r 11 24	abcdefghi	11 50	12 50	Exp	1 05
12 01	a	12 20	1 11	fedcba	1 32 r
r 12 25	abcdefghi	12 52	1 45	a	2 02
1 22	a	1 40	2 15	ihgf	2 37 r
2 04	a	2 20	2 35	Exp	2 50
r 2 19	abcdefgh	2 45	3 15	hgfedcba	3 40 r
r 3 13	Exp	3 28	3 45	a	4 02
4 04	a	4 20	4 12	fedcba	4 34 r
r 4 25	abcdefgh	4 52	4 41	d	4 58
5 06	Exp	5 20	5 14	a	5 31 r
r 5 30	abcdefg	5 55	5 24	a	5 42
6 12	a	6 30	5 31	dcb	5 50 r
7 22	Exp	7 37	5 43	a	6 00 r
r 7 30	a	7 46	5 55	fedcba	6 21 r
r 8 07	abcdef	8 30	6 14	Exp	6 30 r
r 9 01	abc	9 20	6 30	ecba	6 51 r
10 04	a	10 20	7 00	fedcba	7 24 r
r 10 07	abcdef	10 30	7 12	a	7 29
r 11 25	abc	11 45	8 05	ba	8 32
			9 25	dba	9 46 r
			10 35	fedcba	11 02 r
			11 10	fedcba	11 35 r
			11 30	ba	11 49

SUNDAYS

r 7 43	abc	8 03	6 30	ba	6 48 r
8 30	Exp	8 45	45	ihgfedcba	9 13 r
8 34	abc	8 52	9 05	Exp	9 21
r 8 46	bcdefghi	9 13	10 15	ihgfedcba	10 42 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	12 15	ihgfedcba	12 42 r
9 31	a	9 47	12 45	Exp	1 01
10 23	ac	10 40	1 30	ihgfedcba	1 57 r
10 31	Exp	10 47	2 15	hgfedcba	2 42 r
11 00	Exp	11 17	2 45	a	3 02
r 11 16	abcdefghi	11 43	3 15	ihgfedcba	3 42 r
1 02	Exp	1 17	4 27	cba	4 48 r
r 1 16	abcdefgh	1 43	5 15	ihgfedcba	5 42 r
r 3 10	abc	3 30	6 15	ihgfedcba	6 42 r
r 4 16	abcdefghi	4 43	7 00	cba	7 19 r
r 5 07	abc	5 27	8 15	ihgfedcba	8 41 r
r 6 16	abcdefghi	6 43	8 50	Exp	9 05
r 7 16	abcdefghi	7 42	9 30	ihgfedcba	9 57 r
r 8 11	abcdefghi	8 38	10 45	cba	11 04 r
r 9 05	a	9 22
r 10 46	abc	11 05
r 11 01	abc	11 20

West Quincy for Boston (stopping at East Milton)-6.23, 6.56, 7.17, 8.04, 8.11, 9.07 10.09, 11.01, A. M. 12.09, 1.23, 2.09, 3.18, 4.09, 5.13 6.06, 7.19, 9.09, 11.14 P. M. Sundays- 8.20, 9.20 A. M. 12.59, 5.15, 6.59, 11.02 P. M.

Boston for West Quincy (stopping at East Milton)-6.35, 7.27, 8.23, 9.35, 10.25, 11.35 A. M. 12.25 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 5.47, 6.18 7.21, 9.10, 11.20 P. M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M.

Montclair for Boston 6.29, 7.2', 8.17, 10.15, A. M. 12.15, 1.29, 4.15, 5.20, 6.12, 7.26, 9.15, P. M. Sundays - 8.26, 9.26, A. M. 1.06, 5.21, 11.09 P. M.

Boston for Montclair 9.35, 10.25, 11.35, A. M. 12.25, 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 6.18, 11.20 P. M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M. 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M.

Boston & Northern St. Ry. Co.

QUINCY DIVISION

TIME TABLE

In effect June 24th, 1911.

Subject to Change Without Notice

Leave QUINCY for

Brockton, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M. then 9.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Brockton, 6.30, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 9.30 P. M Sundays, 8.00A. M. then same as week days.

Braintree, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Braintree, 6.25 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.25 P. M. Sundays, 7.55 A. M. then same as week days.

East Milton, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Milton, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M., and every 20 minutes to 11.45 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.15 midnight.) Sundays, 7.25, A. M. then same as week days.

East Weymouth, 6.00, 6.15, 6.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.42 P. M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Weymouth, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.45 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Holbrook, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M. then 9.50 and 10.20 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Holbrook, 5.55, 6.25, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.00 P. M. Sundays, 8.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Houghs Neck, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 5.20, 5.45, 6.10 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 4.10 P. M. then 4.25, 4.40, 4.55, 5.10, 5.25, 5.40, 5.55, 6.10, 6.25, 6.40, 6.55, 7.10 P. M. then every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. then 11.49 P. M. Saturdays and Holidays, 5.20, 5.45, 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, 10.10, 10.40, A. M. then every 15 minutes to 10.40 P. M. then 11.10 and 11.49 P. M. Sundays, 6.50, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, 10.10, 10.40 A. M. then every 15 minutes to 10.40 P. M. then 11.10 P. M. Return, leave Houghs Neck Mondays to Fridays, both inc. 5.45, 6.05, 6.35 A. M. and ever 30 minutes to 4.35 P. M. then 4.50, 5.05, 5.20, 5.35, 5.50, 6.05, 6.20, 6.35, 6.50, 7.05, 7.20, 7.35 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 12.05 midnight. Saturdays and Holidays, 5.45, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05, A. M. then every 15 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.35 and 12.05 P. M. Sundays, 7.20, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05 A. M. then every 15 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.35 P. M.

Nantasket 8.25 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 9.25 P. M. Sundays, 9.25 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Nantasket, 10.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.00 P. M. Sundays, 10.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Hancock Street, 5.45, 6.14, 6.44, 7.14, 7.44, 8.14, 8.35, A. M. then 5, 14, 35 and 44 minutes past each hour to 10.44 P. M. then 12.14 midnight. Sundays 7.14 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Neponset 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, 8.07, 8.35, 8.37, 9.05, 9.37 A. M. then 5, 7, 35 and 37 minutes past each hour to 11.07 P. M. then 12.37 midnight. Sundays, 7.37 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Wollaston. 5.59 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.59 P. M. then 11.14 and 11.44 P. M. Sundays, 6.59 A. M. then same as week days. Return leave Neponset, 6.22 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.22 P. M. then 11.37, 12.07 P. M. Sundays, 7.22 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Norfolk Downs, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 7.55, 8.25, 8.50, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 1.30 P. M. then 2.05, 2.35 P. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.05 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.00 P. M.) Sundays, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Neponset, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 1.35 P. M. then 2.00, 2.30 P. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M.) Sundays, 8.30, 9.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Weymouth Landing, 5.20, 6.00, 6.20, 6.55, 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.00 P. M. Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days. Return leave Weymouth Landing, 5.40, 6.15, A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.15 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Wollaston, 5.59 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.59 P. M. then 11.14 and 11.44 P. M. Sundays, 6.59 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Wollaston, 6.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.30 P. M. then 11.50 and 12.20 P. M. Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days.

West Quincy, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave West Quincy, 6.00, 6.20, 6.50, A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.50 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.20 midnight) Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days.

Leave NEPONSET BRIDGE for Squantum, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 3.30 P. M. then 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30 P. M. then every 60 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Saturdays, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Sundays, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. (Note—Week Days, cars will leave Atlantic Bridge for Squantum, 5.45 and 6.15 A. M.) Return leave Squantum, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 4.05 P. M. then 4.35, 5.05, 5.35, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05 P. M. then every 60 minutes to 11.05 P. M. Saturdays, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 10.05 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. Sundays, 8.05 9.05, 10.05, A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M.

THOMAS GAMMON,
Superintendent.

REVISED FIRE ALARM

The Ledger prints the complete list of boxes today. It is the only complete and authentic list of fire alarm boxes, and the arrangement is original with the Daily Ledger:

7 Corner Farnum and Edison Streets.
12 Palmer Street, near Whiten's.
13 Corner Shelton Road and Sea Sts.
14 Church turn-out, Manet Avenue.
15 Germantown, Sailors' Snug Harbor.
16 Sea Street, near Rock Island Road
17 Sea street, near Dunham's.
19 Rock Island.

21 Corner Whitwell and Granite Sts.
23 Hancock Street, near Hall's stable.
24 Whitwell Street, near Hospital.
25 Corner Newcomb and Canal Sts.
26 Hancock, opposite City Hall.
27 Corner Elm and Washington Sts
28 Corner Greenleaf and Hancock Sts.
29 Corner Butler Road and Putnam

31 Phipps Street, near Payne Street.
32 Independence Avenue and Franklin
34 Corner High and Franklin Streets.
35 Corner Hancock and School Streets.
36 Junction Pleasant and Quincy Sts
37 Corner Franklin and Water Sts.
38 Corner Liberty and Plain Sts.
39 Corner Penn and Liberty Streets.

41 Corner School and Granite Streets.
42 Corner Copeland and Granite Sts.
43 Corner Common and Copeland Sts.
45 Corner Crescent and Willard Sts.
46 Copeland and Furnace avenue.
47 Corner Bates Avenue and Grove
48 Corner Robertson and Willard Sts.
49 Corner Doble and Willard Streets.

51 Tubular Rivet Factory.
52 Elmwood Avenue and Farrington.
53 Winthrop and Warren Avenues.
54 Hancock Street,. near Elm Avenue.
56 Beale, opposite Wollaston Hotel.
57 Corner Beach and Willow Streets.
58 Corner Beale and Adams Streets.
59 Beale Street and Central Avenue.

61 Squantum and Hancock Streets.
62 Corner Atlantic and Hancock Sts.
63 Hancock Street, near Atlantic depot.
64 Billings Street and Newbury Ave.
64 (D) Combination No. 2 House.
65 Faxon Road and Squantum Street.
66 Prospect and Billings.
67 Corner Atlantic and Squantum Sts
68 Squantum.
69 Montclair.

71 Corner Mill and Washington Sts.
72 Washington Street, corner South.
73 Corner Winter and Howard Sts.
74 Corner River and Washington Sts.
75 Corner Main and Sumner Streets.
76 Washington corner Wharf.
76 (D) Power House, Q. & B. St. R'y.,
78 Fore River Ship Building Works.

112 Sea street near Willows.
113 Post Island.
114 Engine House, Houghs Neck.
116 Centre road and Darrow Street.
117 Great Hill, Hough's Neck.
119 Rockland and Rhoda, R. I.
121 President's Hill.
122 Chestnut Street and Revere Road.
123 Hancock Street, near Car Barn.
124 Corner Goffe and Adams Streets.
126 Russell Park.
136 Brook Road and Water Street.
138 Corner Brooks Avenue and Centre
143 Station Street.
147 Granite Railway Yard.
151 Billings Road and Beach Street.
152 Corner Billings and Rawson Roads.
153 Farrington near Wol. Foundry.
154 Wollaston Ave. near Sailors' Home.
155 Warren Avenue, near Newton St.
161 Newport avenue opp. Foundry.
171 Whicher's factory, Union Street.
172 Corner Glencoe place and New Rd.
173 Newcomb Square, Quincy Avenue.
174 Junction North and South Streets.
175 Quincy Avenue, near Mrs. Baxter's.

221 Glendale road and Beacon.
223 Washington and Foster.
226 Dimmock and Upland road.
242 (P) City Hospital.
272 Corner Washington and Pray Sts.
273 (P) Baker Basin.

321 Intervale Street and Brook Avenue.
324 Adams St., near Whitwell St.,
331 Franklin and School.
332 Federal and Independence aves.
412 Corner Willard and West Streets.
413 Buckley and Arthur
431 Rogers Street, off Hall place.
432 Willard and Furnace avenue.
441 Smith Street, rear C. H. Hardwick's
442 Quarry Street, near Hitchcock's.
443 Corner Hayden and West Streets.
445 Corner Quarry and Common Streets.
446 Opposite Willard School, Copeland.

512 Grand View and South Central Ave.
513 Foot Beach Street.
515 Quincy Mansion School.
524 Berlin and Woodbine.
552 Brook and Granger.
553 Belmont and Warren avenue.

612 Hancock Street and Billings Road.
613 Hayward opp. Gear Works.
614 Glover avenue and Newbury avenue
615 Oak and Walnut.
617 Squantum and Huckins avenue.

712 Broadway and Commonwealth ave.
718 (P) Johnson's Lumber Yard.
721 South and Chubbuck.
722 Washington and Union.
723 South and Clairmont Avenue.
725 South and Winthrop park.

D—Duplicate. P—Private.

For brush and grass fire, send word by telephone or otherwise, to the nearest Fire station.

SIGNALS—Fire Department.

Twelve (12) blows, followed by Box number—General Alarm
Ten (10) blows followed by Box number—Second alarm.
Four (4) blows—Special call for Hose No. 1.
Two (2) blows—Recall.
Three (3) blows—Chief Engineer's call.
One (1) blow, 7 A. M. and 5 P. M.—Fire Alarm test.
2-2 three times—No school.
4-4-4—Military call.
Seven (7) blows—Electric Light Co. to shut off current.
3-3-3—Police call.
Lost Child call. 5-5-5—then one round of the Box nearest to where the lost child lives.
Six (6) blows—Superintendent Water Works call.
Two (2) blows, 8.55 P. M.—Curfew Law.

132—Out of City Call, Braintree.
135— " " " Weymouth
158— " " " Milton.
162— " " " Boston.

THE DANGER TRAIL

By JAMES OLIVER CURWOOD

Copyright, 1910, by Bobbs-Merrill Company.

SYNOPSIS

Jack Howland, engineer, sent to build the Hudson Bay railroad, is appealed to for help by a beautiful girl who writes that she is a mute and invites him to accompany her. They are followed by Jean Croisset, half breed.

They go to her camp. He is attacked and nearly killed by a huge stranger. The girl disappears. Howland hears her speak. Croisset gives him the little Meleese's warning not to go north. He goes.

Howland again sees the girl, who tells him by note his life is in danger. She asks his forgiveness. Gregson and Thorne are mere wrecks of their former selves.

Mysterious perils threaten Howland. The girl visits him and confesses that she had lied to him. She entreats him to return south.

He tells her he loves her. Her name is Meleese. She partly promises to tell him why enemies seek his life.

Howland is lured to a mine, taken prisoner and bound to a box of dynamite which is soon to be exploded.

He frees himself and prevents the explosion. Meleese meets him again, refuses to marry him and again lures him into the hands of enemies.

Croisset takes Howland, his prisoner, into the wilderness. They are followed by Meleese. Howland promises not to attempt to escape.

They reach the house of the Red Death, a deserted Hudson Bay post. Then Croisset departs for several days. Howland plans to capture him upon his return.

Howland and Croisset fight. Croisset tells Howland he intends to kill him.

(Continued from last issue)

Howland backed against the wall, partly turned as if fearing the other's attack and yet without strength to repel it. There was a contemptuous smile on Croisset's lips as he poised himself for an instant. Then he leaped in, and as his fingers gripped at the other's throat Howland's right arm shot upward in a deadly short arm punch that caught his antagonist under the jaw. Without a sound Jean staggered back, tottered for a moment on his feet and fell to the floor. Fifty seconds later he opened his eyes to find his hands bound behind his back and Howland standing at his feet.

HOWLAND'S RIGHT ARM SHOT UPWARD IN A DEADLY SHORT ARM PUNCH.

"Mon Dieu, but that was a good one!" he gasped after he had taken a long breath or two. "Will you teach it to me, m'seur?"

"Get up!" commanded Howland. "I have no time to waste, Croisset." He caught the Frenchman by the shoulders and helped him to a chair near the table. Then he took possession of the other's weapons, including the revolver which Jean had taken from him, and began to dress. He spoke no word until he was done.

"Do you understand what is going to happen, Croisset?" he cried then, his eyes blazing hotly. "Do you understand that what you have done will put you behind prison bars for ten years or more? Does it dawn on you that I'm going to take you back to the authorities and that as soon as we reach the Wekusko I'll have twenty men back on the trail of these friends of yours?"

A gray pallor spread itself over Jean's thin face.

"The great God, m'seur, you cannot do that!"

"Cannot!" Howland's fingers dug into the edge of the table. "By this great God of yours, Croisset, but I will! And why not? Is it because Meleese is among this gang of cutthroats and murderers? Pish, my dear Jean, you must be a fool. They tried to kill me on the trail, tried it again in the coyote, and you came back here determined to kill me. You've held the whiphand from the first. Now it's mine. I swear that if I take you back to the Wekusko we'll get you all."

"If, m'seur?"

"Yes, if."

"And that 'if'"— Jean was straining against the table.

"It rests with you, Croisset. I will bargain with you. Either I shall take you back to the Wekusko, hand you over to the authorities and send a force after the others or you shall take me to Meleese. Which shall it be?"

"And if I take you to Meleese, m'seur?"

Howland straightened, his voice trembling a little with excitement.

"If you take me to Meleese and swear to do as I say I shall bring no harm to you or your friends."

"And Meleese"— Jean's eyes darkened again. "You will not harm her, m'seur?"

"Harm her!" There was a laughing tremor in Howland's voice. "Good God, man, are you so blind that you can't see that I am doing this because of her? I tell you that I love her and that I am willing to die in fighting for her. Until now I haven't had the chance. You and your friends have played a cowardly underhand game, Croisset. You have taken me from behind at every move, and now it's up to you to square yourself a little. Understand? You take me to Meleese or there'll be a cleanup that will put you and the whole bunch out of business. Harm her!" Again Howland laughed, leaning his white face toward Jean. "Come, which shall it be, Croisset?"

"You are mistaken in some things, m'seur," Croisset said quietly. "Until today I have fought for you and not against you. But now you have left me but one choice. I will take you to Meleese, and that means"—

"Good!" cried Howland.

"La, la, m'seur, not so good as you think. It means that as surely as the dogs carry us there you will never come back. Mon Dieu, your death is certain!"

Howland turned briskly to the stove.

"Hungry, Jean?" he asked more companionably. "Let's not quarrel, man. You've had your fun, and now I'm going to have mine. Have you had breakfast?"

"I was anticipating that pleasure with you, m'seur," replied Jean, with grim humor.

"And then, after I had fed you, you were going to kill me, my dear Jean," laughed Howland, flopping a huge caribou steak on the naked top of the sheet iron stove. "Real nice fellow you are, eh?"

"You ought to be killed, m'seur."

"So you've said before. When I see Meleese I'm going to know the reason why or"—

"Or what, m'seur?"

"Kill you, Jean. I've just about made up my mind that you ought to be killed. If any one dies up where we're going, Croisset, it will be you first of all."

Jean remained silent. A few minutes later Howland brought the caribou steak, a dish of flour cakes and a big pot of coffee to the table. Then he went behind Jean and untied his hands. When he sat down at his own side of the table he cocked his revolver and placed it beside his tin plate. Jean grimaced and shrugged his shoulders.

"It means business," said his captor warningly. "If at any time I think you deserve it I shall shoot you in your tracks, Croisset, so don't arouse my suspicions."

"I took your word of honor," said Jean sarcastically.

"And I will take yours to an extent," replied Howland, pouring the coffee. Suddenly he picked up the revolver. "You never saw me shoot, did you? See that cup over there?" He pointed to a small tin pack cup hanging to a nail on the wall a dozen paces from them. Three times without missing he drove bullets through it and smiled across at Croisset.

"I am going to give you the use of your arms and legs except at night," he said.

"Mon Dieu, it is safe!" grunted Jean. "I give you my word that I will be good, m'seur."

The sun was up when Croisset led the way outside. His dogs and sledge were a hundred yards from the building, and Howland's first move was to take possession of the Frenchman's rifle and eject the cartridges while Jean tossed chunks of caribou flesh to the huskies. When they were ready to start Jean turned slowly and half reached out a mittened hand to the engineer.

"M'seur," he said softly, "I cannot help liking you, though I know that I should have killed you long ago. I tell you again that if you go into the north there is only one chance in a hundred that you will come back alive. Great God, m'seur, up where you wish to go the very trees will fall on you and the carrion ravens pick out your eyes! And that chance—that one chance in a hundred, m'seur"—

"I will take," interrupted Howland decisively.

"I was going to say, m'seur," finished Jean quietly, "that unless accident has befallen those who left Wekusko yesterday that one chance is gone. If you go south you are safe. If you go into the north you are no better than a dead man."

"There will at least be a little fun at the finish," laughed the young engineer. "Come, Jean, hit up the dogs!"

"Mon Dieu, I say you are a fool—and a brave man," said Croisset, and his whip twisted sinuously in midair and cracked in sharp command over the yellow backs of the huskies.

CHAPTER XII.

THE PURSUIT.

BEHIND the sledge ran Howland; to the right of the team ran Jean. Once or twice when Croisset glanced back his eyes met those of the engineer. He cracked his whip and smiled, and Howland's teeth gleamed back coldly in reply. A mutual understanding flashed between them in these glances. In a sudden spurt Howland knew that the Frenchman could quickly put distance between them, but not a distance that his bullets could not cover in the space of a breath. He had made up his mind to fire, deliberately and with his greatest skill, if Croisset made the slightest movement toward escape. If he was compelled to kill or wound his companion he could still go on alone with the dogs, for the trail of Meleese and Jackpine would be as plain as their own, which they were following back into the south.

"Mon Dieu, but you are a strange man!" exclaimed the Frenchman when he brought the dogs down to a walk after a half mile run. "Blessed saints, m'seur, you are laugning, and I swear it's no laughing matter."

"Shouldn't a man be happy when he is going to his wedding, Jean?" puffed Howland, gasping to get back the breath he had lost.

"But not when he's going to his funeral, m'seur."

"If I were one of your blessed saints I'd hit you over the head with a thunderbolt, Croisset. Good Lord, what sort of a heart have you got inside of your jacket, man? Up there where we're going is the sweetest little girl in the whole world. I love her. She loves me. Why shouldn't I be happy now that I know I'm going to see her again very soon—and take her back into the south with me?"

"The devil!" grunted Jean.

"Perhaps you're jealous, Croisset," suggested Howland. "Great Scott! I hadn't thought of that!"

"I've got one of my own to love, m'seur, and I wouldn't trade her for all else in the world."

"I can't understand you," cried the engineer. "You appear to be half human; you say you're in love, and yet you'd rather risk your life than help out Meleese and me. What the deuce does it mean?"

"That's what I'm doing, m'seur—helping Meleese. I would have done her a greater service if I had killed you back there on the trail and stripped your body for those things that would be foul enough to eat it. I have told you a dozen times that it is God's justice that you die, and you are going to die very soon, m'seur."

"No, I'm not going to die, Jean. I'm going to see Meleese, and she's going back into the south with me, and if you're real good you may have the pleasure of driving us back to the Wekusko, Croisset, and you can be my best man at the wedding. What do you say to that?"

"That you are mad or a fool," retorted Jean, cracking his whip viciously.

The dogs swung sharply from the trail, heading from their southerly course into the northwest.

"We will save a day by doing this," explained Croisset at the other's sharp word of inquiry. "We will hit the other trail twenty miles west of here, while by following back to where they turned we would travel sixty miles to reach the same point. That one chance in a hundred which you have depends on this, m'seur. If the other sledge has passed"—

He shrugged his shoulders and started the dogs into a trot.

"Look here!" cried Howland, running beside him. "Who is with this other sledge?"

"Those who tried to kill you on the trail and at the coyote, m'seur," he answered quickly.

Howland fell half a dozen paces behind. His heart leaped with joyous hope, and he leaned forward on the sledge to examine Croisset's empty gun. It was an automatic, and Croisset, glancing back over the loping backs of the huskies, caught him smiling. He ran more frequently now, and longer distances, and with the passing of each mile his determination to strike a decisive blow increased. If they reached the trail of Meleese and Jackpine before the crossing of the second sledge he would lie in wait for his old enemies. If they had preceded them he would pursue and surprise them in camp. In either case he would possess an overwhelming advantage.

(To be Continued.)

CONTEMPLATED TRIP BY PRINCE OF WALES

To Go Around the World to Get Ideas of Vast Territory

Washington, July 18.—With a view to giving him closer knowledge of British possessions and a better idea of the vast territory over which some day he will rule, the British admiralty is about to arrange the itinerary of a voyage around the world for the young Prince of Wales. The trip, which has been decided upon by his father, King George, was suggested by King Edward. As it is deemed unlikely that any diplomatic or political cause will arise to prevent the trip, it is assumed that it begins in the fall.

This information is of especial interest to the United States, because the voyage will be westward. It is understood that the itinerary to be accepted by the king will bring the young prince to the United States within a few weeks after the start. A precedent to the visit was established by King Edward, who as the Prince of Wales came to the United States more than fifty years ago, at a time when travel was more tedious and the relations between England and the United States were not quite so pleasant as now.

It was always the wish of King Edward, a British official said, that his grandson should set foot on each of the separate possessions of the kingdom, just as he had George do when he was Prince of Wales.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

DEFENSE MOVES FOR DISMISSAL

Overruled and New Papers Served In the Gomper Case

CURT RETORT BY THE COURT

Case Will Again Come Up on Monday Next—Protests Are Entered Against Further Hearing by Judge Wright but Prove Futile—Defense Demand More Specific Charges—Defendants Not Given Chance to Apologize

Washington, July 18.—Protests against further hearings before Justice Wright on the ground that he already had formed and expressed an opinion against the defendants and attempts to stop the hearing by technical objections having proved futile, Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison, the labor leaders, will appear in the District supreme court again next Monday to insist that the latest contempt charges against them in connection with the Bucks Stove and Range case, be made more specific. Continuance for a week was agreed upon after the prosecutors had demanded the two days allowed by law to answer a motion for a bill of particulars. The American Federation officials showed no disposition to offer the apology which the report of the committee of lawyers suggested might end the proceedings. In fact, the order of the court citing them to appear and show cause why they should not be punished for contempt was interpreted as affording them no opportunity to apologize even had they been so disposed. With the motion for a bill of particulars, the last of a series of technical moves, the defendants filed affidavits denying certain specific charges contained in the committee's report.

A motion to dismiss, on the ground that the service of the order was incomplete, was sustained, but when Justice Wright directed the marshal to serve new papers forthwith the point was waived. Next the defendants moved to dismiss because the report of the committee of lawyers submitted to the court in the case was not a proper one, in that the members of the committee did not and could not exercise the judicial qualities required in the order. It was contended that the members of the committee were counsel for the National Anti-Boycott association and that the conclusion of the Bucks Stove and Range company's case did not stop "their persecution of these defendants and therefore they were not qualified to pass judgment upon the acts of the defendants."

This motion was overruled, the courts holding that the members of the committee were prosecutors and not called upon to exercise judicial functions. In ruling the court remarked that even had the committee reported that there were no reasonable grounds for contempt charges, such a report would not have been received. Gompers' attorneys at once protested that in view of this expression by the court they should not be compelled to proceed, but that Justice Wright should certify the cause to some other justice for trial. Justice Wright curtly dismissed the protest with "You may proceed." An exception was noted. The motion to strike out the names of Messrs. Davenport, Darlington and Beck as prosecutors and substitute that of the district attorney was overruled in so far as the members of the committee were concerned. The court asked District Attorney Wilson if he would be willing to have his name added to the committee as prosecutor and gave him time to consider the question. A motion for a bill of particulars was then filed, and the hearing was adjourned till Monday without action. Technically the defendants appeared by counsel only. Judge Alton B. Parker of New York and the local law firm of Ralston, Siddon & Richardson, representing them. But in reality all three were on hand before court convened, conferring with their lawyers and friends. J. J. Darlington and Daniel Davenport, members of the committee of lawyers, appeared as prosecutors. J. M. Black, the third member of the committee, is in Europe.

High Priced Ice Due to Greed

New York, July 18.—From an investigation by Police Commissioner Waldo , "it would appear that the present high price of ice is largely due to the greed of the ice companies in refusing to take necessary measures to supply the city's wants."

Maine Hotel Burns

Norway, Me., July 18.—Eighty guests, mostly summer visitors, were driven from their sleeping rooms in the Elm house when the place was discovered to be on fire.

The Weather

Almanac, Wednesday, July 19.
Sun rises—4:42; sets—7:23.
Moon rises—11:42 p. m.
High water—4:45 a. m.; 5:15 p. m.
Forecast for New England: Probably fair; moderate temperatures; moderate south, shifting to west, winds.

The Best of all Toilet Soaps made in the world is Pears' Soap. It is pure soap—all soap—and its famous unapproachable quality has never varied. Yet, with all its excellence and positive results Pears' Soap

Costs No More Than Ordinary, Injurious Soaps

Pears' Soap keeps the skin in a condition of perfect health and repairs the harm so often done by common soaps. It is matchless for the complexion. Its low price—and the fact that it lasts much longer—makes it doubly economical to use

Pears' Soap
15 cents a cake for the unscented

ROOSTER COAL BRIQUETS — NO SLATE — NO CLINKERS

ROOSTER COAL BRIQUETS

THE NEW ANTHRACITE COAL

ROOSTER BRIQUETS are made from the choicest small Scranton Anthracite coal, mined in Pennsylvania, called TWENTIETH CENTURY CHESTNUT size.

Just consider for a moment what we offer here in this 20th CENTURY CHESTNUT.

First, 200 pounds of clean, pure, hard coal without a rock or a piece of slate.

Second, fuel that cannot form into a clinker, by any known method of firing, consequently the linings and grates last indefinitely.

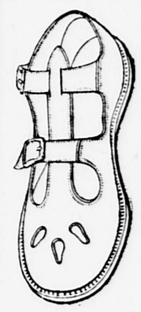
Third, they are made in nut size, being equally convenient for furnace heaters, open grates, as well as stoves; therefore, only one storage bin is necessary.

Fourth, and very IMPORTANT, the quality of this fuel is the SAME EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR, not a good ton today, and nothing like it the next time, in other words, when you once learn how to regulate your drafts you have nothing more to learn about burning BRIQUETS.

Fifth, no more sifting ashes these Briquets burn out clean. They require less wood to kindle.

Be sure to ask for "ROOSTERS" and get the Briquet made from pure Scranton Coal, from the largest Briquet plant in the country. They are better than coal, will last as long and cost less.

J. F. SHEPPARD & SONS,
AGENTS



BAREFOOT SANDALS

The best thing for the children to wear during the warm weather. They are light and comfortable and give good satisfaction.

CHILDS 5 to 8 45c
MISSES 8 to 11 50c

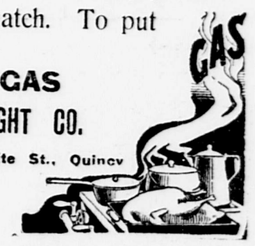
HEFFERNAN'S SHOE STORE
1375 Hancock Street, Quincy

A WELL COOKED DINNER

If you have a good cook is assured when you use a gas stove or gas range. The heat is steady and uniform, which is not the case with a wood or coal stove, and you can raise or lower the flame as you please—which of course, is impossible on any other kind of cook-stove. To make a fire, you simply turn on the gas and apply a match. To put it out, turn off the gas.

COOK WITH GAS
CITIZENS' GAS LIGHT CO.
11 Granite St., Quincy



STORAGE
— FOR —
Furniture and Pianos
Storage Warehouse with Separate Rooms
Furniture and Piano Movers
HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy Tel. Con.

PATTERSON, "The Florist"
92 South Central Ave.
WOLLASTON, MASS.
Telephone 392 Quincy

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock treet, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point
Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1153 M Nov. 3-tf

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.
FIRE INSURANCE.
The Best Insurance. The Lowest Rates
Insurance Department,
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Telephone, Quincy 97-3.

M. T. SULLIVAN
Real Estate Insurance
Auctioneer Care of Property
Justice of the Peace
Corner School and Hancock Streets
QUINCY.

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER and GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

UPHOLSTERING
My only ambition is to get the work and to show the people of Quincy Town that nobody can beat me with my good work. Low prices on all kinds of furniture, repairing, mattresses, and cushions. Can give references. M. Mirkin 67 Washington street, next to Y.M.C.A. Quincy. Tel. 1112W. April 10-4mo.

R.D. CHASE
QUINCY MASS

A. M. DEANE & CO.
MONUMENTS
MEMORIALS ERECTED
IN ANY
CEMETERY
IN THE
UNITED STATES
Aug. 1. 1y

Quincy Savings Bank
BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.
SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.
CLARENCE BURGIN,
Treasurer.

JAMES F. BURKE
Real Estate and Insurance
AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES
ustice of the Peace Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Tel. 385-3 Jan. 17-tf

HOUSEKEEPERS
TELL YOUR TROUBLES
HOLMES & HALL
We make a business of repairing the things about the house that get out of order such as DOORS, LOCKS, SHADES, BELLS and FURNITURE.
93 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 974 L

PATENTS
PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES.
Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent.
Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively.
Write or come to us at
710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office,
WASHINGTON, D. C.
CA·SNOW & CO.

Quincy Daily Ledger
FOR SALE AT
BOSTON—At South Station after 3.30 P. M.
QUINCY—Ledger Office 1424 Hancock Street.
L. A. Chapin, 1395 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, oppo. Depot.
Thompson's Waiting Room, City Sq.
H. P. Kittredge, City Square.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
Mrs. Madden, 16 Quincy ave.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's News Stand.
PARK&DOWNS—Branschied & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
QUINCY NECK—Stetson Pierce, Newcomb Square.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith, Washington Street.
Gragg's Pharmacy.
L. A. Cook, Washington Street.
E. O. Godfrey, 538 Washington St.
E. H. Lowe, Washington Street.
George E. Sprague Cor. River St.
SOUTH QUINCY—Litchfield, Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Miss C. Booth, Brooks Avenue.
BREWER'S CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
Mrs. F. H. Stanley.
WEST QUINCY—F. A. Skinner.
John G. Belanger.
HOUGHS NECK—Capt. Fosdick's.

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	88 degrees
July 18, 1910,	76 degrees
July 18, 1909,	90 degrees
July Noon Maximum, 14 years,	101
July Noon Minimum, 14 years.	60

"Self Help," by Sunny Smiles.

BRIEFS

Miss Mary Conley of Barry street is enjoying a two weeks vacation.

Neil McDonnell of West street has returned from a trip to Nova Scotia.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hebert are in New Hampshire for two weeks.

James L. McDonald assistant clerk at the district court is is New York on his vacation trip.

Mrs. Lydia W. Hall, widow of Mr. John Hall, who for many years carried on the undertaking business in this city passed away Monday in her sixtieth year. The funeral services will be private.

Mrs. James F. Burke of Cross street who underwent a surgical operation some weeks ago at the City Hospital, is convalescing at her home. She is able to enjoy an automobile ride nearly every afternoon and is fast recovering her health.

UP HOME.

Gertrude Louise Small.

Up home—the birds are gaily singing
A song of joy from bush and waving bough;
And all the apple trees are blooming,
And every day is one of gladness now.

Up home—the soft green grass is growing
Across the fields, these sunny springtime days;
And 'round the little pond at evening
The white mist rises, like a summer haze.

Up home—the heart a song is singing
A wee, sweet Flower bloomed, some days ago—
Her tiny hands reach out a welcome—
The fairest, too, of all the flowers I know.

HOME TRADE WILL HELP QUINCY AND EVERYONE IN QUINCY.

DEATHS

DUFFY—In Quincy, July 17, Laura E. wife of John R. Duffy in her 37th year.
Funeral services at late home 20 Copeland street, Wednesday, July 19 at 2.30 P. M. Relatives and friends invited.

HALL—In Quincy, July 17, Lydia W. widow of John Hall in her 60th year.
Funeral private.

Established 1870 Telephone
JOHN HALL
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
Carriage and Ambulance Service
1485 Hancock Street, Quincy Mass.

STATISTICS SHOW A DECREASE IN SUICIDES.

Percentage In Western Cities Greater Than In the Eastern.

One out of every 5,000 persons living in the cities of this country last year committed suicide, or, to be exact, 19.7 persons out of every 100,000. These figures are based on statistics from 100 cities and are taken from an article by Frederick L. Hoffman in the Spectator. In the preceding year the rate was 21 out of every 100,000.

Although the data show that the percentage of suicides is far greater in large than in small cities, New York is a startling exception. In New York last year the rate was only 18.9 to the 100,000, whereas from 1900 to 1909 San Francisco averaged 52, nearly three times as many.

Mr. Hoffman finds that the western cities have heavier rates than the eastern and awards San Francisco the doubtful honor of leading all other cities in the percentage of suicides. This is strikingly brought out in statistics for the last year, which show that San Francisco had 42.2 suicides to every 100,000 persons, while Sacramento was second with 33.6. Oakland and Los Angeles were third and fourth respectively. And even San Diego was well in the first ten, giving California five cities out of that number.

A comparison of suicide statistics with those of business conditions and business failures leads to the conclusion that the two are closely related. When financial conditions are bad suicides are generally the heaviest. Thus in the panic year of 1907 and the following year when the effect of the depression was still widespread the number of suicides was exceptionally large. In 1908 the average was 21.8, the highest attained in twenty years, and the actual number of suicides in the cities upon which the figures are based was 4,582.

From available statistics in Germany it is found that the rate there for the year 1909 was 22.3, and it is also shown that the rate has slowly but surely increased. Particularly noticeable is the increase of suicides among women, the average in 1909 being 10.1 to the 100,000.

"The German data," says Mr. Hoffman, "would seem to warrant the conclusion that the general suicide rate of a well developed, commercially prosperous country reaches a maximum point which will rarely exceed 25 to the 100,000 of population."

In the area covered in the United States for the five years ended with 1908, which includes about 55 per cent of the total population, the suicide rate for men was 24.2 to the 100,000 and the rate for women 6.6 and for both sexes combined 16.1. These figures offer the conclusion that the suicide tendency among both men and women in this country is much less than in Germany.

FISH PICKS BERRIES.

Angler Saw Carp Thus Engaged and Caught Him.

Fred Vosen, fishing in the Lee (Mass.) reservoir, heard on shore a noise that he at first supposed was made by a muskrat, but on investigation it proved to be a big carp.

He watched the fish for some minutes and says that along the shore strawberries hung over the water a distance from four to ten inches from the surface, and he was surprised to see the big fish bobbing its head out of the water and grabbing the berries. He watched the carp repeat the operation half a dozen times. He then tried his bait and succeeded in hooking the fish, but had to shoot it before he could land it. The carp weighed thirty-two pounds.

PAYS $1,000 FOR GRASS.

Noted Horticulturist Buys Small Strip For Experiments.

A strip of grass sod 350 feet long and 8 feet wide has been purchased by Frederick W. Taylor of Philadelphia from the estate of the late James B. Olcott of South Manchester, Conn. Mr. Taylor paid $1,000 for the strip.

Mr. Olcott was a traveler and lecturer and collected during his travels many specimens of grass from all parts of the world. The samples were planted and cared for on his estate. The sod is to be taken up this fall and shipped to Mr. Taylor's Philadelphia home. He is a noted horticulturist and will use the grass in experimental work. Mr. Taylor is best known as an exponent of scientific management.

ACCUSED OF OLD MURDER.

Byers, Now Seventy-nine, Charged With Crime Done Fifty Years Ago.

Daniel W. Byers, a farmer of Greenville, was brought to Bonham, Tex., under arrest by Sheriff W. E. Leeman, charged with murdering L. L. Harris at Bonham fifty years ago.

Byers is seventy-nine years old. There is only one witness living, George W. Donohoe of Fort Smith, Ark. Since the killing, which was the result of an impromptu duel in the courthouse square, Byers has been at large. His whereabouts were only recently learned by the sheriff. He was for many years a resident of south Texas. He has reared a family since the killing and become one of the leading men of his community.

Night Parcel Delivery.

A night parcel delivery motor service is to be instituted between the English cities of Leeds and Manchester next October.

FOILED THE TURKS

Vienna Bakers Saved Europe From the Grip of the Moslems.

CAUSE OF SOLYMAN'S DEFEAT.

A Momentous Incident In History That Carries With It an Explanation of Why Vienna Rolls Are Molded In the Form of a Crescent.

Do you know why Vienna rolls are shaped like crescents? The story forms one of the great "ifs" of history. Solyman the Magnificent, sultan of Turkey, planned to overrun Europe, even as he and his Moslem predecessors had seized the countries of the orient. With a mighty army he captured the fortified island of Rhodes and invaded Hungary, annihilating the Magyar forces at Mohacs (in 1526) and slaying the Hungarian king.

So successful was the first expedition that he planned a second and more far-reaching raid in 1529. Moving onward almost unchecked and carrying all before him, he captured Buda and advanced against the city of Vienna.

All Europe stood aghast. Nothing had been able to stem the wave of Moslem conquest. Men remembered how one eastern land after another had been seized by the Mohammedan hordes and forced to adopt Mohammedanism as their religion. People trembled for the fate of Christendom. It seemed for a moment almost possible that the whole eastern section of the European continent might fall victim to the Turk and become part of the Moslem possessions.

To hope for clemency from Solyman was to rely upon the mercy of the merciless. Conquering one Christian army and stronghold after another, the sultan's all powerful army threatened to carry destruction and Mohammedanism throughout the continent. It was one of fate's big movements.

On moved the Turks. Vienna (then capital of the German empire) stood in their path, a seemingly frail obstacle between such a host and the rest of Europe. Should Vienna fall before the Moslem onset the progress of the sultan's army would be made far easier and other lesser cities would lose heart.

The inhabitants of Vienna were at that time more renowned for culture and thrift than for warfare. Yet under Nicholas von Salm they gallantly proposed to defend their city against the foe and to fight to the last gasp for their imperiled homes. The Turks drew near, destroying Vienna's suburbs, and encamped close to the town itself.

It was on Sept. 27, 1529, that the enormous Turkish host laid siege to Vienna, Solyman conducting the affair in person. Before risking useless loss of life in a general assault the sultan tried to make an entrance into the city by means of tunnels. His soldiers were set to work with pick and spade to dig a secret underground way into Vienna by which a body of men might later pour into the place and thus catch the defenders "between two fires."

The cleverness of the Turkish engineers and the countless workers at their command made the task a swift one. Here it was that an "if" intervened to save the threatened capital and perhaps Europe as well.

Some Vienna bakers were at work one night—so the story runs—in a cellar, making bread for the garrison. During a pause in their conversation one of the bakers happened to hear the muffled sound of digging. It seemed to come from a spot not far beyond one of the cellar walls. Guessing at once that the enemy was tunneling a way into the city, the bakers rushed out and gave the alarm. The garrison, aroused, was able to baffle Solyman's plan.

The sultan, failing at strategy, next tried force. He hurled his army against the city in one fierce assault after another. The Viennese fought like heroes. Each attack was repulsed with terrific loss to the Turks. For four entire days the Moslems assailed the city, fresh detachments ever taking the places of those who reeled back defeated. On the fifth day of the assault, Oct. 14, Solyman gave up the attempt to crush Vienna. He withdrew sullenly from the scene of his defeat, leaving 80,000 dead Turks on the field. The price of conquest was for once too high for him.

Vienna was saved, and not only Vienna, but Europe. Vienna had been Europe's barrier against the Turks' farther advance, and the barrier held firm. The northern limit of Europe's Turkish raids was reached.

Once more, in later years, Vienna was besieged by the Moslems, and she again beat them off. The high tide of such invasion had come and receded. Europe at large was now forever secure from this long dreaded foe.

In the moment of victory, according to the account, the bakers who had given the alarm were not forgotten. To commemorate the event they and their descendants thenceforth molded their rolls into the shape of a crescent (the sacred emblem of Turkey). The custom prevails to this day.

Few Americans who are used to seeing crescent shaped Vienna rolls have any idea how such rolls first came to be thus twisted nor what great deed the crescent form commemorates.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

A Washless Washboard.

"Women haven't the artistic temperament," complained the orchestra musician to the Cleveland Plain Dealer. "That's why I am unmarried. Oh, yes, I was married once. I thought to acquire a woman who could take care of my home, make a little domestic place of refuge for me and all that, but the dream soon fled.

"A few days after I was married my bride came to me and said: 'Dear, that new washboard you got for me is no good at all. I can't wash your socks on it.'

"'Washboard!' says I. 'Why, I never bought you a washboard.' But she led me out into the kitchen and showed me what she'd been scrubbing away on all the morning. Great heavens! It was my new xylophone."

A President's Private Car.

Argentina has provided for its president, Dr. Jose F. Alcorta, one of the most elegant and sumptuous private cars in the western hemisphere. This car was built in Birmingham, England. It is seventy-eight feet long and is mounted on two six-wheeled trucks. It contains a handsome observation room with a bay window effect at the end and is furnished in mahogany and equipped with a marble fireplace. There are three bedrooms and baths en suite and servants' quarters. The exterior is of steel, painted a cream white with gold trimmings. The entrances are in the middle of the car, and the ends are rounded.

LIVE SPORTING EVENTS

ON THE DIAMOND

American League

At Detroit:	R	H	E
Detroit	3	7	1
Boston	2	9	1

Batteries—Lafitte and Stanage; Collins and Carrigan.

At St. Louis:	R	H	E
Philadelphia	8	14	2
St. Louis	6	17	4

Batteries—Krause, Martin, Long, Coombs and Lapp; Mitchell, Hamilton, Georgee, Powell Stephens.

At Cleveland:	R	H	E
Cleveland	2	5	1
New York	1	4	3

Batteries—Falkenberg and Fisher; Ford and Sweeney.

At Chicago:	R	H	E
Washington	3	5	0
Chicago	0	6	1

Batteries—Johnson and Ainsmith; Lange, Payne and Sullivan.

National League

At Boston:	R	H	E
Chicago	5	6	0
Boston	1	5	1

Batteries—Reulbach and Archer; Brown, Kling and McTighe.

Second Game:	R	H	E
Chicago	7	16	1
Boston	6	9	2

Batteries—Cole and Archer; Griffin, Pfeffer and Rariden.

New England League

At Lowell:	R	H	E
Lowell	10	13	4
Fall River	4	13	7

Batteries—Yount and Huston; Gilroy and Haight.

At Worcester:	R	H	E
Worcester	7	14	3
Lawrence	6	8	2

Batteries—Hale and McCune; Pierson, O'Brien and Breymaier.

At Lynn:	R	H	E
Haverhill	2	8	6
Lynn	1	7	1

Batteries—McIntyre and Millman; Abbott and Daum.

SPORTING NOTES.

"Sid" Patterson, the star twirler; has gone to Bluffton, Indiana, to join the Bluffton team for which he pitched last summer.

Gillis has left the Manets to join the Quincy Independents.

The Glover A. C. of Atlantic has disbanded and the Atlantic semi-pro. team has likewise cancelled the remainder of its schedule.

Ed Hoyt who has played with several of the teams about town and recently appeared as second base for the Adams A. A., has joined the Manets for a tryout in the outfield.

George Sullivan will run in the A. O. H. track meet at Hyde Park next Saturday.

Tte sloop Kit, owned by Holis Burgess of Boston and sailed by Ralph Winslow of Quincy, is among the leaders in Class A in the contest for the prize on the Boston Yacht club cruise. The fleet was fog bound in Boothbay harbor at last reports.

How to Renovate Carpets.

To one pail of warm water add one pint of ox gall; dip a soaped flannel into the mixture and rub well the surface of the carpet, piece by piece, rinsing it as you proceed in clean cold water, taking care not to make the carpet too wet, and finish off by rubbing with a dry coarse cloth. The carpet, of course, must be well beaten before it is operated upon. This process is simple and surprisingly effective in renovating the colors. The only drawback is the effluvium given off by the gall, but this is soon remedied by exposure to the air or by opening the windows if the carpet be laid down.

Her Strong Chin.

Dawson—The facial features plainly indicate character and disposition. In selecting your wife were you governed by her chin? Spenlow—No, but I have been ever since we were married.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents. Three consecutive insertions 50 cents, 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.
No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

WANTED

WANTED—Young man clerk in Wet Wash Laundry. Must be good scholar, willing to work. Pay $1.50 day, 4 days each week. H. Bryan, 63 Madison street, Atlantic.
July 17-3t

FOR SALE

The cozy home, situated No. 24 Marsh Street, consisting of a six room house, city water, 4400 square feet of land, fruit trees. Price reasonable.
Call and see,
JAMES F. BURKE,
REAL ESTATE AGENT,
Room 4, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, Mass.
July 15-tf

CLOTH IN THE MAKING.

The Way the Uncouth Product of the Loom Is Finished.

Every woven fabric is made by crossing or interlacing two distinct series of threads together. When the yarn comes from the spinner it is mounted upon the loom in spools, writes Rupert Bowers in Harper's Weekly. So wonderfully automatic are these modern looms that when a bobbin is emptied it is forced out and a full spool is put in its place without stopping the loom. There are all classes of looms for all classes of material, from the thinnest fabrics up to the thickest felts. To attempt to describe one of them or the principles on which they are constructed would involve the reader in a wilderness of technicalities. The power loom is one of the most remarkable and complex of mechanical products, the growth of many years of experience and ingenuity and the crystallization of the inventive genius of many minds.

The cloth in the shop window resembles the cloth as it comes from the loom so remotely that there would seem to be no relationship between them. The first product of the loom is usually uncouth, harsh and anything but inviting in appearance. It has to pass through many processes before it is finished and made ready for the market. It is first mended so as to correct weaving faults as far as possible. Then it is scoured and thoroughly cleansed. Again it is looked over and mended before it passes to the fulling or milling machine which, with soap and fuller's earth, produces the finish that is required. Then it is scoured again.

Tentering is the next process. This sets the cloth at a satisfactory width and straightens it for the operations that follow, the first of which is called raising. The millions of tiny hooks on the gigging machine raise up the fibers on the surface of the cloth and leave them in an upright position. The pile or nap is the result. This produces a remarkable change in the appearance and condition of the fabric. Shearing is the next thing. This cuts off all the raised fibers, leaving them of a uniform length. The required gloss and solidity are obtained by the pressing which follows.

A JOLLY TIME AT HOME.

Advice to the Man Whose Wife Is Away on a Vacation.

During any time when your wife is on an extended visit with her relatives you can save money from your board allowance by keeping house for yourself. You may find the following suggestions helpful:

If you forget to order ice you can render the butter serviceable in the following manner: Take a cut glass finger bowl and fill it with cool water. Scrape the butter into the finger bowl. When ready to spread your bread extract your butter in quantities as needed with the cucumber lifter. That's that flat silver spoon with holes in it.

If you smell smoke you will doubtless find the lamp is smoking and the room is covered with soot. First turn the wick down to save oil, then get a damp cloth and go over everything carefully, rinsing out the cloth from time to time. When cleaning the walls use only a downward motion, so that the streaks will all run vertically.

Not having your wife's social charm, you will doubtless be given tough steak by your butcher. One way to make steak tender is to run it repeatedly through the sewing machine. Use a coarse needle, but no thread. The bobbin trough will catch the juice, which can be used later for gravy. If you take out the bobbin first you will have more room for the juice.—Walter A. Dyer in Delineator.

Proud of It.

Collector—I'm going to print a book of deadbeats' pictures, and you're going to be on the front page. Egotistical Nopat—Say, how much would I have to owe to get on the cover?—Chicago News.

Happiness grows at our own firesides and is not to be picked up in strangers' galleries.—Douglas Jerrold.

FOR SALE

$125.00 Buys horse, harness and light wagon. Horse 7 years old 1000 lbs. all in good condition. A bargain. Apply Barnard's Bakery, 1587 Hancock street, Quincy. Tele. 913 M Quincy. July 18-1t

FOR SALE—Cottage on Winthrop street, Houghs Neck. Apply Holden Winthrop street, Houghs Neck.
July 15-3t

FOR SALE—At a great sacrifice income property paying 12 per cent on investment in Quincy. Owner going to N. H. No letters answered. Call 141 Upland road, city.
July 15-6t

FOR SALE—1909 Overland car, red, thoroughly overhauled, tires nearly new, full equipment including gas tank, wind shield, extra tire, tire case, clock, speedometer, magneto. Carries 4 or 5 passengers can also be used as runabout with single top. Price $550. S. C. Hardwick, 159 Elm street, Quincy. July 12-6t

TO LET

TO LET—Several well located and very desirable tenements. Apply to C. H. Hardwick, 104 Revere road, Quincy at once. Tel. Quincy 85-2 or 391-2. July 18-3t

TO LET—Large front room furnished suitable for man and wife or two men. Call at 26 School street.
July 18-6t

TO LET—Tenement of 5 rooms at 42 Euclid avenue. All latest improvements. Apply to C. A. Ericson 177 Glendale road or P. Curry 94 Federal avenue, Quincy Adams. July 18-6t

TO LET—Half house on Miller Stile road, 7 rooms, all improvements Apply to E. V. Fitts, 19 Miller Stile road, Quincy. July 18-L-P-tf

TO LET—Lower flat of 5 rooms and bath. Electric lights and gas. Rent $16. 5 Parsons street. Apply 7 Parson street, South Quincy.
July 13-tf

TO LET—On Spear street, tenement of 4 rooms and bath. All modern improvements. Apply to C. A. Ericson, 117 Glendale road. Tel 586 M.
June 27-tf

TO LET—Tenement with 9 rooms and bath at Quincy Point, also rooms to let and table board at 55 Washington street, Quincy, Mrs. Margaret S. MacDonnell. June 23-1mo.

FOR RENT—Quincy, Centre, opposite Adams Academy, house of 8 rooms and bath, also garage, 3 minutes to R. R. Station. Dr. E. S. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263L, Weymouth. May 10-tf

TO LET
Half House No. 44 Bigelow street, 7 rooms and bath. Shades, screens, electric lights, set tubs, range, etc. Rent $25. per month. Apply to Miss Prescott, Ledger Office, Quincy.
July 3-tf

FOR RENT
On Spear street, very desirable house of 8 rooms, bath and laundry. All modern improvements, range, gas, electric lights shades and screens. Large piazzas and lawn. To private family only. Apply at 41 Spear street or of Miss Prescott at Ledger Office, Quincy.
June 2-tf L. P. O

TO LET

Tenement—22 B Granite Street. $10.00 per month.

Greenleaf Hall—Greenleaf Block Large Furnished Hall with various anterooms—to let by the evening or permanently.

City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 20 feet high. Splendid light, low rent

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)
Music Hall Block, Quincy.

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 26 No. 164 QUINCY, MASS. WEDNESDAY EVENING JULY 19, 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

PETER CLAIMED HE WAS A "BIRDMAN"

Caused a Disturbance In South Station and Went Up In Court

Claimed He Drew Knife On Gateman

Peter Connoly, said to hail from Quincy, spent Tuesday night at Station 4, Boston as the guest of Lieut. Gallavin. According to a morning paper, Peter fell into the hands of the police at the South Station. When asked what his business was, Peter replied that he was an aviator and that he was going up in the morning. But whether he meant going up in an air ship, or up to court he did not say, although it turned out that the latter was the case.

There was a disturbance at the South Station and Peter was blamed for it, and it was claimed that during the trouble he drew a knife.

His explanation was that he had asked the gate man what time the next train left for Quincy, and that he was told to get out, pushed away, and farther threatened by the trainman, who said he would stand him on his head if he did not move on. It is said that Peter admitted that he took a knife from his pocket, but did not use it, simply telling the gentleman that he would be obliged to defend himself, if he was attacked again.

According to the gateman's story, several rough looking men had asked him about the train to Quincy and he had told them 8.20, from track 22, but they would have to hurry if they did not want to get left.

The gateman then said that Peter became ugly and talked in an abusive manner. He then told him he had better move along before he got into trouble. Thereupon, according to the gateman Peter drew a knife and made threats. A crowd gathered and the other Quincy bound men disappeared. Another officer came along and placed him under arrest. He resisted and is said to have kicked the officer, and it took three men to load him into the patrol wagon.

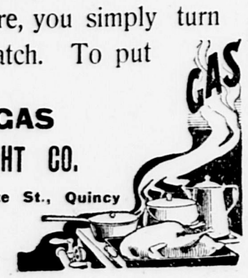
He was put to bed for the night and as he lay down to sleep asked to be let out in the morning that he might go to his hangar at Squantum to make a flight. The chances are however that Peter did not make his intended flight this morning.

CARPETS
Oriental Domestic RUGS
Floor Coverings
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION
At Lowest Possible Prices
Established 1862
John H. Pray & Sons Co.
646-658 Washington St., Opposite Boylston St.

All Goods will be Delivered Free at Residences in Quincy
REPRESENTED IN QUINCY BY
Messrs. OTHO A. HAYWARD and WALTER J. WELLINGTON.

A WELL COOKED DINNER

If you have a good cook is assured when you use a gas stove or gas range. The heat is steady and uniform, which is not the case with a wood or coal stove, and you can raise or lower the flame as you please—which of course, is impossible on any other kind of cook-stove. To make a fire, you simply turn on the gas and apply a match. To put it out, turn off the gas.



COOK WITH GAS
CITIZENS' GAS LIGHT CO.
11 Granite St., Quincy

PEARY'S DOGS ATTACKED GIRL

Set Upon By One Of the Most Ferocious Of Eskimo Pack

RESCUED WITH DIFFICULTY

South Harpswell, Me., July 19.—Attacked by old King, one of the largest and most ferocious of Commander Peary's pack of Eskimo dogs at Eagle island, Margaret, the 10-year-old daughter of Professor Herbert V. Neal of Tufts college, who is summering here, was horribly bitten about the feet and legs. The keeper of the island, who has charge of the dogs, had great difficulty in rescuing the child.

With her father and younger sister the child visited the island on a sight-seeing trip. The party had strolled over the island and about the rocks for a time, the elder of the Neal children removing her shoes and stockings and began wading in the water, while her sister and father found amusement in another part of the island.

Suddenly old King, the leader of the Peary pack of dogs, dashed down over the rocks and attacked the girl, biting her bare feet and literally tearing the flesh from her plump little legs. Her cries for help seemed to incite greater fury in the brute, whose snarling and growling attracted the other dogs of the pack, twelve in all.

By this time the child was being dragged about by the feet by King and was in a helpless position, entirely at the mercy of the dogs. The screams of the child mingled with the yelping of the pack brought the keeper of the island to the horrifying scene.

When he arrived the little girl was surrounded by the savage brutes, each pushing and snapping at the others in a mad attempt to reach the victim and tear her away from old King.

With much difficulty the dogs were finally driven back and the little girl, semi-conscious and her legs terribly lacerated and bleeding, was picked up and carried to a place of safety.

Later she was taken to the Tufts laboratory at South Harpswell and the wounds were dressed. In the legs and feet there are twelve ragged gashes, some of which extend nearly to the bone.

The child is resting comfortably, although she has not fully recovered from the nervous shock caused by the severe fright and pain.

The Peary dogs have always been considered clever, are usually playful, and have never before been known to attack anyone. It is said to be one of their instincts to catch fish in shoal water for food, and the only explanation of the attack on the Neal girl is that to them her feet paddling in the water resembled fish.

Professor Neal and family are well known here, where they have spent their summers for many years.

BICYCLES NOT RECOVERED.

The police were unable Tuesday, to overtake the two men who stole the bicycles from the shed in front of the factory of the Tubular Rivet and Stud Co. It is believed however that the wheels will be recovered. It seems that after taking the wheels, they were ridden over the boulevard, where inquiry was made for the nearest depot. They were directed first to the Wollaston depot, but said they did not want to go there. Then they were directed to the Atlantic depot and it is believed that he wheels were shipped to Boston from that station.

Recently Providence, R. I. had an epidemic of bicycle tsieving, a large number of wheels being stolen by what was thought to be an organized gang. The police made it so hot for them, however, that they left Providence and it is believed that the two men who visited Wollaston, Tuesday, were a part of this gang who have transferred their field of action to this section of the country.

EASY—"My girl wants me to teach her to swim."

"Well, why don't you?"

"I don't know how to swim."

"She won't care about that if you are the right fellow."—Houston Post.

NARROW ESCAPE.

What might have proved a serious accident was narrowly averted on Washington street, near the Y. M. C. A. building at noon on Tuesday, by the prompt action of Charles Barron, of the Quincy Post Office. Two tiny children were crossing the street, on their way home from the playground; at the same instant, a horse close by frightened at a passing auto truck belonging to Abbot and Miller, became unmanageable and for an instant it looked as if the children would surely be run over. Mr. Barron, in the library yard a short distance away, took in the situation at a glance; hastening to the spot, grabbed the tiny tots almost from beneath the hoofs of the frightened horse and the wheels ofthe truck and carried them to a place of safety. The children were too young to be on the street unattended, and perhaps did not realize their danger or appreciate their timely rescue by Mr. Barron.

OUR ROADS THE BEST.

M. O. Eldridge, chief of the Bureau of Good Roads of the Department of Agriculture, left Washington on Tuesday for a tour of Eastern States, including an inspection of the highway system of Massachusetts.

Mr. Eldridge will go first to New Jersey, thence to Connecticut, arriving in Boston July 25. The highway commission will accompany him over the roads of the Bay state.

Before leaving Mr. Eldridge said that the Massachusetts roads were models of the improved highways of the country, and that he wanted first aand information concerning them for the department's roads publications.

He will take a large number of photographs while on this trip to use in his article.

ADVERTISING CARS.

The advertising cars of the Quaker Oats Co., passed through City Square this morning and aroused considerable interest especially among the scientifically inclined. Each car was equipped with a machine in a large glass case and while the cars were in motion the processes of making puffed wheat and puffed rice were demonstrated. The finished products popped out of the machines which resembled brass cannons in an upright position and presented a very unique picture to the people in the Square. The floor of the glass cases inclosing the machines were covered with the puffed grains. The process is very much the same as that of popping corn although the wheat and rice have more retiring dispositions and do not pop so hard that they turn inside out.

BRIEFS

The janitors of the Quincy schoolhouses are taking an excursion to Peddock's Island today.

L. F. LaRose, physical director of the Y. M. C. A. started on a two weeks' vacation this week.

Dr. Ada S. Nutting is recovering from her operation which took place at the City Hospital on Tuesday.

The flag which flys from the Coddington school pole is 12-22 feet in dimensions. It is the gift of Theophilus King to the playground.

Miss Agnes Fisher of Euclid avenue is spending a week in Jamacia Plain and at its conclusion will go to Maine for the remainder of the summer.

The weather this morning gave promise of being an ideal day for the ladies' day event of the Quincy Yacht club.

The Wollaston Yacht club announces its ladies' day event for next Saturday. The program includes a sail in the bay, refreshments and dancing at the club house on the return.

Photo Engravers' Union No. 3, will have an outing and field day at New Downers Landing Saturday afternoon. There will be a track meet with the usual list of events, which are open to all.

The Salvation Army will have a lawn party in the lot next to their headquarters on Granite street, Thursday evening. If it rains, there will be a social in the hall. Major Christopherson of Boston will conduct the program.

SPLENDID TALK ON EMERGENCIES

Dr. Sheahan's Lecture Was Interesting and Helpful

CLASSES SUCCESSFUL

Over 150 girls and about 75 boys, are receiving instruction each week, in something which will be of great use to them in life, at the Summer schools of the Quincy Women's club. The classes are all full now and fine work is being accomplished in all departments.

At the session on Tuesday, Dr. George M. Sheahan gave a splendid talk on "Emergencies." The point which he emphasized most forcibly was the need of keeping cool, of doing something to the point and being sure that it was the right thing to do. In the case of emergencies an ounce of prevention is worth a ton of cure.

Dr. Sheahan first spoke of the emergencies caused by the temperature, heat exhaustion, heat fever or sunstroke, frost bites, etc., telling what to do in each case and the great need of care in undertaking the cure in each case. He spoke of drowning accidents, breaks, sprains, cuts, choking, getting articles in the ear or nose fainting spells, convulsions, epileptic fits and heart attacks. In speaking of sprains he spoke of the need of padding before bandaging. Cuts should be allowed to bleed for a few moments to allay the possibility of poisoning. When a child swallows an article there is no great need of alarm. The last emergencies he spoke of were called the medical emergencies, convulsions, fits, heart attacks, etc.

In speaking of the treatment of burns Dr. Sheahan emphasized the importance of making small applications of the remedies at first. A great nervous shock results from a burn and what would soothe the wound on one person would irritate that of another. Molasses which is so often applied is not good. Lime water, olive oil, linseed oil, vaseline and the like are all right.

The great thing in treating emergencies is keeping cool and having some system in the treatment. If you are sure that you can do the right thing, do it as quickly as possible. If not call the doctor.

The nurse who was to speak to the class in Home Nursing did not appear so Miss Esther Sidelinger kindly agreed to give the girls an informal talk on "The staging of a play at Radcliffe." She spoke of the Idler club which gives all the plays and the great interest in dramtics shown in the college. Prof. Baker's work was mentioned and Miss Sidelinger spoke in appreciation of his helpfulness in encouraging the girls who were writing plays. The prize offered by John Craig of the Castle Square theatre was mentioned and the play "The End of the Bridge" written by a Radcliffe girl, which won the prize this spring.

A very comprehensive view of the staging processes, making up and the actual performances was given and photographs of the cast of "The Merchant of Venice" were shown. The delightful informality of the talk made it all the more enjoyable to the girls.

Delcevare King came up from the playground to conduct a series of games during the last half hour of the morning. The time passed all too quickly for the girls who played and sang and enjoyed themselves in general to their hearts content. Mr. King gave each one souvenirs of the occasion consisting of a chantecleer hat and a pair of clappers. When the closing song "America" was sung these clappers served very well as time-keepers.

The physical culture class is enjoying its instruction in the Swedish folk-songs and dances under Miss Murray.

Mrs. Tylee of Wollaston joined the band of instructors in sewing yesterday and was welcomed most heartily.

At the next session on Friday, Dr. Walter Sargent and Dr. D. B. Reardon will speak to the girls.

BIG DAMAGES.

One of the largest verdicts in a civil case ever given in the district court, was handed down by Judge Pratt in the case of Gertrude Goldner against David Lubarsky and Mrs. Lubarsky for slander. J. J. McAnarney represented the plaintiff and Edward J. Parker the defendants.

The plaintiff claimed that the defendants slandered her character. The court awarded her damages in the sum of $700 against David Lubarsky and $100 in the case of Mrs. Lubarsky.

CARD FROM GERMANY.

Among the mail that arrived at the Quincy post office this morning was a postal addressed to "The Extra Dark Man" Quincy, Mass., U. S. A. Of course there is but one Extra Dark man and the postal was promptly dropped into the box of J. S. Swingle.

The card from Col. Henry L. Kincaide who is one of the party of the Boston Chamber of Commerce who are now doing Europe. The postal was mailed at Dusseldorf, Germany, and reads.

"Greetings from Germany. Our delegation are being royally entertained by the people of all nations. Sorry you are not with us."

Henry L. Kincaide.

Phones 117 and 153

RANDALL'S GRAPE JUICE

Is the juice of the grape — pure and undefiled, without chemicals or other deleterious preservatives.

It is made from the most carefully selected Lake Erie Concord Grapes, thoroughly sterilized, and fresh, sweet and delicious.

It possesses strengthening and tonic qualities, it is harmless and easily digested; and makes therefore an admirable drink for invalids.

Its rare flavor also makes it a most palatable Summer beverage, to be taken either in full strength or diluted with plain or carbonated water, and served with cracked ice and perhaps a dash of lemon.

Pint Bottles 20c
Half Pints 12 1-2c

R. E. FOY & CO.
Water, Corner Quincy Sts.
'Phones 117 and 153

AN OUTING OF INTEREST

Plans Announced For Grocers And Provision Dealers

THE FIRST JULY 26TH

The first annual outing of the Massachusetts Retail Grocers' and Provision Dealers' association will be held at Plymouth Wednesday July 26.

The party will make the trip to Plymouth by the steamer Betty Alden, which will leave Rowe's wharf at 10 A. M. and is due to arrive in Plymouth at 12.45. This is one of the most beautiful sails of the many in Boston harbor. Headquarters for the party have been secured at the Plymouth Rock house, which is but two minutes' walk from the wharf and overlooks the harbor. Dinner will be served here at 75 cents per plate. If desired, the party may bring their lunch with them and there are many nooks and corners on the boat, where it may be partaken while enjoying the sail.

The party will have until 3.30 at Plymouth in which to visit the many places of historic interest, including the famous Plymouth rock. Through the courtesy of W. S. Quimby, producers of the famous LaTouraine coffee, badges will be furnished the party and an entertainment will be furnished by the committee.

Special tickets have been prepared for the grocers and their friends which may be had of the committee on the wharf at 9 o'clock for ninety cents for the round trip. The committee in charge are F. W. Mendum of Roxbury, Frederick Humphrey of East Weymouth and H. W. Mansfield of South Braintree.

READING'S TAX.

Reading is the first town in the state to announce its tax rate which was given out by the selectmen, Tuesday. The rate this year will be $18.40 a reduction of $1.30 over last year. The reduction is due to a real estate boom. The total valuation is $6,338,731 a gain of $469,531. The total value of land and buildings is $5,204,880 a gain of $330,650. The total value of personal estate is $1,137,851, a gain of $138,881. The number of polls is 1756, a gain of 49.

The City Engineers force begun work this morning staking out on the west side of Hancock street between Saville and Dimmock streets for the widening the order for which was passed by the City Council some weeks ago.

LADIES' DAY
QUINCY YACHT CLUB
July 19

You'll be there. Everybody will. Now is the time to look over your equipment and see what you need.
Perhaps you want a

Regulation Quincy Yacht Club Cap
Outing Trousers
Yachting Shoes
Wash Ties
Soft Shirts

If you do, step "JUST AROUND THE CORNER" and save money

GEORGE W. JONES
1 GRANITE STREET

DON'T FAIL TO READ THE GREAT SERIAL "THE DANGER TRAIL" NOW RUNNING IN THE LEDGER

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1889
THE HOME NEWSPAPER
Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.
BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
219 East 23d Street,
New York City
Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter.
Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50
Telephone, Quincy 425
Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

BOSTON'S GREAT GAIN.

An increase of more than 5 per cent since last year in the population of Boston is shown by the new edition of the Boston city directory, now being delivered. The number of names in this faithful record of the inhabitants and business of the city always bears a direct relation to the population. The census enumerator takes men, women and children, but the directory only gives men and employed women, so its figures have to be multiplied by a constant factor to give the population. In most cities in the country the census gives from 2.5 to 3 times as many names as the directory, but in Boston the directory has alays been so carefully and completely complied that the factor has never been over 2.4. Comparing with the last census, it was 2.17, so the increase of 16,826 names this year would give an increase in population of 36,500, making present figures for Boston 707,000.

An astonishing fact is shown in the table of changes. There are changes in 70 per cent, or more than two-thirds of the names from one year to another; 73,374 names were added, 56,548 names taken out, and changes in address or occupation in 88,994, or a total of 218,916 changes out of 309,170 names that made up the directory of 1910. It will occur to business men that of so great a total there must be many among those they do or might do business with, and the mistake of using anything but latest information is apparent. The directory classification of the advertising section, for quick reference, under alis much the same in appearance as in former years, the most prominent change or improvement being the phabetically arranged running headings. This adds materially to the convenience in using this department.

ADVERTISING CONVENTION.

The Pilgrim Publicity Association, which is planning a programme of "Advertising Advertising" for the National Convention of Advertising Men in Boston the first week in August, has arranged for a monster meeting, open to the public, in the Boston Opera House August 3, which will be of great interest. After this meeting, fifty special cars will carry the delegates and their friends to Rowe's Wharf, and a special train will convey them to Point of Pines where a monster clambake will be held and a fireworks display which represents an out-lay of over a thousand dollars. A special delegation of advertising men from England sails July 22 from London on the Celtic, and will be met by a tug in New York harbor with a delegation from the reception committee of the Pilgrim Publicity Association, under whose auspices the convention is being held. This convention will bring together the largest attendance of advertising men ever assembled in any country.

INVESTIGATION CALLED FOR

Suspicious Circumstances Attending Deaths In Fall River Family

Fall River, Mass., July 19.—Following an inquest held on the body of Francelina Sousa, 5-months-old child of Antone Sousa, who died last Saturday, the stomach of the infant has been sent to Professor Whitney of Harvard for analysis of its contents.

Francelina is the fourth child of Sousa to die since March 22. The other deaths were Belmina, 8 years, March 22; Lermelina S., 4 years, March 24, and Glolinda, 2 years, July 6.

Dr. T. P. Cristo, who attended the first two, gave causes of death as bronchial pneumonia in each case. Dr. LeBoeuf, who attended the third child, gave cholera infantum as the cause of death. This was also assigned as the cause of the infant's death (the fourth child).

The inquest on Francelina was held by Medical Examiner Gunning. Each child was insured for $100 in a philanthropic burial society.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor Daily Ledger:

In Tuesday's issue you intimate that the boys from Atlantic who were convicted in the local court yesterday were treated rather leniently.

The fact of the matter is, they were fined within two dollars of the maximum fine prescribed by law, which is five dollars. There was nothing about the cases in question to call imperatively for the imposition of five dollar fines rather than fines of three dollars. The judges must be guided by the statute rather than their own opinions of what might be adequate punishment.

I write this word of explanation in justice to the court, but I embrace the opportunity to say that when you express your opinion concerning a sentence or judgment of the court, whether your comment be friendly or critical, you are doing what you have a perfect right to do; and more, rather than less, of that kind of journalism is what is needed. To argue against the exercise of this right is absurd and un-American. In this country no divinity hedges the Bench, much though we respect it. It does our judges no harm to have the white light of intelligent and respectful journalism turned upon their work. More of it, Mr. Editor, but be sure you know all the facts and circumstances before making adverse comment. Barrister.

Editor of the Ledger:

Dear Sir:—In fairness to all concerned as to the score between the Braintree White Sox and the Manet Baseball club of Quincy on last Saturday at French's Common, I wish to state that the box score given by the Braintree White Sox to the Boston and Quincy papers is badly erroneous as can be seen by the following:

They had no score up to the fourth inning as I had to keep their men posted as to their time at bat. In the fourth their man who was selling the score cards came up to me and asked for the batting order so that he could take down the score.

Braintree score, Davenport 1b, received 10 putouts, only got 8, Crocker was given 4 assists, he got none. They gave Riley only 3 assists, he should have 5, he got no putouts, he should have received 2. Morales received only 3 out of his 5 assists. De Young got a single they failed to give. He had one putout, he got two more assists than was coming to him. Dennehey made three putouts and received credit for two. They failed to give Levangie three putouts instead of 2. They gave Delory 10 putouts when he should have only 8. King received one putout which the Braintree scorer failed to see.

It is the same with Manets score only worse as, Morales was credited with 9 strikeouts when he should have only 4. Kerr was given 6 when he made 9. Duggan who got 3 hits didn't receive credit for one, one being a three base hit. Gillis got a three base hit and didn't get mentioned. Creswell got credit for a triple, which was only a double. He was made a present of a single which he never touched. Conway received a hit instead of an error. They even got mixed on sacrifice hits. Gave Artis and Duggan when McCarty and O'Rourke should have received them. Duggan was at bat 4 times, he got 3 hits and was fielded out for the first out in the 9th. Artis never had a chance to sacrifice.

Stolen Bases—They gave the Manets credit for only one when they made a total of 10, Howley 2, Artis 2, McCarty 3, O'Rourke2 and Duggan 1. They made 3; Crocker 2 and DeYoung 1.

Runs—McCarty was given one run instead of 2, the scorer giving the other to Gillis, who was put out at the plate on a questionable decision by the umpire.

The Manets received worse treatment by the umpires erroneous decisions than at any time they can remember and that umpire has a reputation of being so. In the 7th inning Howley got a smashing single 5 feet inside of third base, the umpire called it foul. Mr. Drinkwater said he wasn't really to blame, because he couldn't see it soon enough, as I said it was going some. But there was no one on French's Common that would have called it foul.

If there had been an umpire that knew his business at game, the Braintree White Sox would have had only 2 runs.

The game was held up three different times on account of his poor work andthat is why the game went 2 hours and 20 minutes.

They were outplayed, outhit and were not in on the bases, and it is not to their credit to publish such a score.

M. C. Burton, Manager.

CHOLERA IS SUBSIDING REPORT THE OFFICIALS

No New Cases at Hoffman Island, No Deaths at Swinburne

New York, July 19.—The test tubes of the health officer's staff of physicians at quarantine have saved New York from possible invasion of Asiatic cholera by five carriers of the dread disease. Their presence was made manifest as the result of the individual bacteriological examinations instituted in the case of every person detained at Hoffman island—an extraordinary precaution. Their discovery causes Health Officer Doty to regard the outlook as brighter than at any time within the past week.

In the ordinary precautions taken against an invasion of the cholera all persons not developing the disease within a certain period of detention would have been released.

These five cases were at once isolated. No further cases of cholera have developed at Hoffman Island says an official statement regarding the situation, issued last night. At Swinburne island hospital no deaths from cholera have occurred in the last two days.

NOTED RABBI DEAD

Was Head of the United Hebrew Congregations of British Empire

London, July 19.—Dr. Hermann Adler, chief rabbi of the United Hebrew Congregations of the British empire, is dead. He was ordained in 1862 and became chief rabbi in 1891. For many years he had played a notably conspicuous part in the history of his people in Great Britain.

Dr. Adler was born in Hanover on May 30, 1839, the son of Chief Rabbi Nathan M. Adler. He was literally born in the rabbiate. His grandfather, Marcus Adler, was chief rabbi of Hanover; and his earlier ancestors, scions of a mediaeval Frankfort family renowned for piety and scholarship, filled the rabbinical office in many congregations on the continent.

FOUND DEAD IN BED

Unidentified Artist Suicides at Portland Boarding House

Portland, Me., July 19.—Lying across a bed and fully dressed, the body of an unidentified man who had committed suicide by inhaling illuminating gas was found in a room in a Pearl street lodging house here. Both windows had been tightly closed and a sheet had been placed over the door to prevent the escape of gas from the room.

The suicide was about 25 years old and was evidently an artist. His hands were stained with colors, and brushes and bits of canvas were found among his effects.

CHARGES AT THE DURBAR.

$40 a Day For a Cot—Reservations Must Be Made Early.

Forty dollars a day for a cot in a temporary shack or $21 a day for a blanket in a tent is what visitors will have to pay and put up with if they go to Delhi next winter to see King George and his wife crowned emperor and empress of India.

The strangers at the durbar are to be accommodated in two camps, where tents and temporary buildings are to be erected. The officers and nobility have got all the hotels.

The minimum period for which accommodation can be reserved is twenty days, and the registration fee, which is one-third of the total liability, must be paid before Aug. 1. The charges cover board, lodging, firing and water. European servants will be accommodated at from $5.50 to $10 a day, and two native servants will be allowed free.

Spaces with lights and water will be provided on which visitors can pitch their own tents.

Youthful Matrimonial Ventures

Shelbyville, Ind., July 19.—Though only 17 years old, Mrs. Mary L. Smith, the bride of Cary Smith, has been one of the principles three times in wedding festivities. She was divorced last week from Andrew Luther.

More About the Maine

Buffalo, July 19.—Rear Admiral Schroeder declared that he is convinced the destruction of the battleship Maine in Havana harbor was caused by some outside agency and not by an internal explosion.

How He Got Out.

"No," said Woodby, "I don't see Wiseman at all any more. He has dropped out of our social set."

"He tells a different story," remarked Sinnickson.

"Indeed?"

"Yes; he claims he has climbed out."—Catholic Standard

☞Going away for the summer? If so don't forget to have the Daily Ledger sent to your address and keep posted on home news. If you have forgotten to send in your order in the rush of getting away drop us a postal and we will do the rest. tf

HIGH OFFICIALS TO BE SUMMONED

By the Stanley Steel Investigating Committee of the House

MUCH SECRECY IS MAINTAINED

Corporation and All Its Subsidiaries to Be Handled In a Manner Never Heretofore Attempted—Roosevelt, Morgan and Others May Be Brought Forward to Testify—Freigt Rates to Be Considered

Washington, July 19.—Unable to get from the bureau of corporations any of the data upon which Herbert K. Smith, commissioner of corporations, based his report on the United States Steel corporation, recently made public, the Stanley steel investigation committee of the house is going to disregard that report entirely. It will delve into the books of the corporation and all of its subsidiaries to an extent heretofore never attempted. This was the statement of Representative Stanley after a secret meeting of the committee called by him upon his return from New York.

Representative Stanley and his associates on the committee adopted a resolution calling upon Mr. Smith for information which would show why he made certain statements about the trust. He replied that the documents had been returned to the steel companies and no copies had beeen kept. The investigators had a similar experience when they tried to get the cost sheets of the steel concerns. That no records were kept seemed strange to the committee members. They quickly decided that Smith, after years of work, had nothing that would throw any real light on the situation and so they voted to forget all about him.

After hearing Smith, who will be a witness, the committee will adjourn its Washington hearings and go to New York. The Stanley committee will leave here for New York on July 27, and although much secrecy is maintained as to the witnesses to be heard there, it is understood that the testimony of J. P. Morgan, George W. Perkins and members of the firm of Moore & Schley is particularly desired. The committee will first resume its investigation of the absorption of the Tennessee Coal and Iron company by the United States Steel corporation, but a member of the committee declared that the name of ex-President Roosevelt had not beeen mentioned in connection with the trip to New York.

It would not be surprising, however, if the former president is asked to appear before th ecommittee, as Chairman Stanley announced during a recent hearing that "this committee proposes to learn all about the Tennessee merger if it has to summon the former president, J. P. Morgan and all the rest of them."

The committee adopted a resolution instructing its expert accountant, F. H. McRae, to proceed immediately to Pittsburg, where he is to demand the production of the minute books of the United States Steel corporation, the Carnegie Steel company and all the subsidiaries of the so-called trust. If McRae encounters any difficulty he is to wire the committee.

It is also significantly pointed out that McRae is to gather information as to the freight rates charged by the "trust" roads from the Mesaba Range. The committee hears that the steel trust has competitors in the Mesaba Range at its mercy, and that its roads have been steadily paying dividends of 150 percent because it charges nearly seven times the customary rates on ore shipments.

DECLINE IN COTTON PRICES

Rains In Southwest and Increasing Confidence Responsible

New York, July 19.—The cotton market had a more active and exciting opening than for months past, and there was a sensational break in prices.

First prices were at a decline of from 25 to 29 points and while a rally of from 10 to 12 points occurred from this level, liquidation of long cotton continued. The south was a big seller and before midday August contracts had sold at 13.24, or $2.50 per bale lower, while new crop months were from $1.50 to $1.70 per bale net lower, with December selling at 12.17 against 13.78, the recent high point.

Continued rains in the southwest and increasing confidence in the big estimates of the coming crop seemed to be responsible for a general selling movement in connection with the fear that after two years of almost uninterrupted success the bull leaders had at last found themselves on the wrong side of the market.

The Weather

Almanac, Thursday, July 20.
Sun rises—4:43; sets—7:23.
Moon rises—12:12 a. m.
High water—5:45 a. m.; 6:15 p. m.

Forecast for New England: Increasing cloudiness; probably showers in southwest portion; moderate temperature; light, variable winds.

PRESIDENT IN CONFERENCE

Probable Postponement of Disposition of the Wiley Case

Washington, July 19.—While Dr. Harvey W. Wiley's answer to the charges against him were discussed informally by President Taft and Secretary of Agriculture Wilson and later by the cabinet, no decision was reached about the disposition of the case. Secretary Wilson took the papers back with him to his department after the cabinet session, and promised to make his recommendation as soon as possible.

It is well known in Washington that Secretary Wilson takes the position that Dr. Wiley has assured more authority in the department than he is entitled to take. In spite of this fact, it was predicted that Wilson, aware of the popular sentiment in favor of Wiley, will not concur with Attorney General Wickersham in suggesting that Wiley's resignation would be acceptable.

Whatever action President Taft may take in the case of Dr. Wiley, the house committee on expenditures in the department of agriculture doubtless will conduct its investigation into the charges against Dr. Wiley. A member of the committee "should try to find out what interests were using their influencee to get Wiley out of the service."

MAKE THEIR ESCAPE FROM STATE PRISON

Posse Hunting For Two Huskies In the Woods of Maine

Augusta, Me., July 19.—Frederick Reynolds, a murderer, and Clarence A. Conant, a robber, escaped from the criminal insane ward of the Maine insane hospital here before daylight Monday morning and are still at large. The fugitives were seen on the outskirts of the city early yesterday and a hastily formed posse has been pursuing them.

The whole countryside is in a panic, for both are known as bad men. It was thought that they were surrounded in a woodlot north of the city, and guards will watch the locality.

DUE TO EXCITEMENT

Mrs. Olea Bull Vaughan Dead at Home of Friend In Maine

Biddeford, Me., July 19.—Mrs. Olea Bull Vaughan, daughter of the late Ole Bull, the famous violinist, and whose contest of her mother's will in Maine within the past few months attracted the attention of the whole country, died at West Lebanon, Me., at the home of Mrs. Abbie C. Shapleigh, an old friend of the Bull family.

A pathetic and tragic feature of the woman's death was that it occurred on the day on which the whole legal controversy over the will, which left an estate of nearly $500,000, was to be settled in favor of Mrs. Vaughan.

The stipulation of the attorneys upon which the will case was settled was presented to Judge Hobbs and he agreed to it at once. A petition was filed asking that Lawyer Ralph S. Bartlett be appointed special administrator of the estate of Mrs. Vaughan and Judge Hobbs made the appointment.

The lawyers were gathered in the probate court at Biddeford Tuesday ready to affix their signatures to the settlement—and they really expected Mrs. Vaughan to be able to be present—when they learned the startling news that she died in the night.

"She died of a broken heart," said Lawyer Bartlett, who, with Sherman L. Whipple, represented Mrs. Vaughan during the will fight. "She had a tubercular affection, but the trouble over her mother's will, the excitement, the notoriety—all this broke her heart."

Women Need

sympathy and help when they are attacked by weakness and suffering. At times when Nature seems cruel and very hard—when depressions and derangements come — kind womanly friends may give sympathy. When ailments occur, the best natural help and correction is the safe and well-tried family remedy

BEECHAM'S PILLS

They correct the result of errors and remove the cause of suffering. They have tonic, helpful action on the whole system. They relieve nervousness, headache, backache, dispel depression and suffering.

Beecham's Pills give the organs strength, improve bodily conditions and may be relied upon.

For Sure Relief

For females, Beecham's Pills are specially suitable. See instructions with each box.

Sold Everywhere. In boxes 10c. and 25c.

THE QUINCY BANK
Of Greatest Strength

A condensed Statement of the National Granite Bank as reported to the Comptroller of Currency March 7, 1911.

ASSETS	$1,119,540.75
CAPITAL STOCK	150,000.00
UNDIVIDED PROFITS	195,441.41

Dividends paid to stockholders since organization as a National Bank, $487,500.00.

A Strong Endorsement

The Treasurer of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts carries a part of the state's money in our institution, and has done so for years.

NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

ZOROID
TRADE MARK
LENSES
FOUNDED 1883

For Your Convenience

And to enable us to have time for a thorough examination, we make appointments.

Instead of wasting from a half to a whole day you need only an hour or two for a thorough and scientific examination of your eyes.

When in need of glasses 'phone OXFORD 790 for an appointment.

Briggs S. Palmer President
Sanborns
3 Winter St.-Boston

REPRESENTED IN QUINCY BY
WILLIAM F. SIDELINGER
July-19-22

BETTER
Put in Your
Winter's Supply

Direct from the mines to our yard comes the coal we have for sale—coal that's famous the country over for its free burning qualities, its low percentage of ash, its freedom from impurities.

It's "full value" fuel, and our method of taking and filling orders ensures satisfaction. Orders placed now save money for buyers.

TAKE A LOOK IN YOUR BIN
then act.

SPECIAL RANGE COAL
Stove or Nut
$7.25 Cash

C. PATCH & SON, INC.
Office, 1422 Hancock Street, Quincy

HOUSEKEEPERS
TELL YOUR TROUBLES
HOLMES & HALL
We make a business of repairing the things about the house that get out of order such as DOORS, LOCKS, SHADES, BELLS and FURNITURE.
96 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 974 L

A. M. DEANE & CO.
MONUMENTS
MEMORIALS ERECTED IN ANY CEMETERY IN THE UNITED STATES
Aug. 1, 1y

UPHOLSTERING
My only ambition is to get the work and to show the people of Quincy Town that nobody can beat me with my good work. Low prices on all kinds of furniture, repairing, mat tresses, and cushions. Can give references. M. Mirkin 67 Washington street, next to Y.M.C.A. Quincy. Tel. 1112W. April 10-4mo.

M. T. SULLIVAN
Real Estate Insurance
Auctioneer Care of Property
Justice of the Peace
Corner School and Hancock Streets
QUINCY.

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock treet, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point
Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1153 M Nov. 3-tf

STORAGE
— FOR —
Furniture and Pianos
Storage Warehouse with Separate Rooms
Furniture and Piano Movers
HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy Tel. Con.

JAMES F. BURKE
Real Estate and Insurance
AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES
Justice of the Peace Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Tel. 385-3 Jan. 17-tf

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.
FIRE INSURANCE.
The Best Insurance. The Lowest Rates.
Insurance Department,
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Telephone, Quincy 87-3.

PATTERSON, "The Florist"
92 South Central Ave.
WOLLASTON, MASS.
Telephone 332 Quincy

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER and GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

Quincy Savings Bank
BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.
SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.
CLARENCE BURGIN,
Treasurer.

PATENTS
PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES.
Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent.
Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively.
Write or come to us at
710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office,
WASHINGTON, D. C.
CA·SNOW & Co.

BATHING AT REVERE BEACH

New Plan Will Go Into Effect Next Saturday

MODERATE CHARGE

Beginning next Saturday, a bath at Revere beach for five cents, is the answer of the Metropolitan Park Commissioners to the demand for more and cheaper bathing accommodations at the great shore resort.

Last Saturday the commissioners announced that there would be changes made this week in the bathing arrangements. That there would be such concessions as to admit of bathing by adults for five cents, however, was more than was hoped for by most readers of the commissioners' announcement. The price is one-half that charged in the boys' department of the regular bathhouse, where the patrons meet in one large dressing room.

BIG TENT ON THE BEACH.

In furtherance of their plans the commissioners have decided to erect a large tent on the beach, to be used as an extra bath house.

Ever since the commissioners reached the decision last Saturday to open an extra room of some kind Supt. Herbert W. West has been looking for a suitable place to inaugurate the new experiment. Rooms of sufficient size to accommodate any kind of a crowd are hard to find, and there is no time to erect a building and have it ready for use this season.

Finally the tent idea was hit upon and the park commissioners indorsed the idea. The next thing to be decided was where to put it.

PATRONS MUST PROVIDE SUITS.

All the difficulties seem to be overcome in the plan to place the tent on the open beach. The place selected is opposite the state's lot on the north corner of Revere street and near the Revere street shelter and bandstand. There is a broad hard stretch of sand at this point of ample size to allow of the tent being placed above the high-water mark.

Supt. West today secured a tent 112 feet long by 50 feet wide and he believes that within that space he can make accommodations for 1,000 men and boys. Nothing additional is to be provided for the women in the new arrangement.

Patrons of the bathing tent must bring their own bathing suits. None will be supplied by the attendants. Neither will there be any shower baths, checks for valuables or other luxuries. The price for a bath, however, being only five cents nobody will have reason to look for fine appointments.

The arrangements for the bathers will be similar to those now in operation in the boys' department Upon entering the patrons will find a long counter, behind which will be tiers of boxes like large pigeon holes. He will be given a towel and after he has donned his bathing suit he will be expected to fold his street clothes and wrap them in the towel, giving the package to an attendant behind the counter.

It will be quite an undertaking for the beach officials to get the tent and its appointments in readiness by Saturday afternoon, but they believe they will have everything completed by that time. Supt. West had a number of carpenters at work today building the counters, benches and boxes, and it is his intention to have the bathing tent put up in good style even to the erection of a flagpole from which will fly the white banner of the commonwealth.

If there should come another extreme hot wave such as the metropolitan district suffered last week, the tent will practically double the number of men and boys accommodated, and those who own suits can bathe for 5 cents instead of 25 cents.

BURGLARIES IN LAWRENCE.

Lawrence, Mass., July 19.—The residents of the best residential district of the city are sleeping with rifles and revolvers at their sides.

A series of bold burglaries, thought to be by a Boston gang coming here in an auto, continued even under the eyes of extra police patrols, have stirred the people to much alarm.

Despite the fact that the police patrol has been increased, the burglaries have continued. All the burglaries have occurred at night while the occupants were asleep. Large sums of money and considerable silverware and other valuables have beeen taken.

HOME TRADE WILL HELP QUINCY AND EVERYONE IN QUINCY.

AMONG THE GRANITE WORKERS

New members recently admitted to the International Granite Cutters' association are Bernard Flanney, Stanley Collins, Antonio De Candia, Rocco Galli, Victor Coletti, Matti Heikkila, Beniamini Jacobucci.

James F. Reid, branch secretary of the G. C. I. A., in his article in the July issue of the Granite Cutters' Journal speaks very favorably of the Bates brothers, seam faced granite as the material best suited for building the new court house on Coddington street. This stone according to Prof. Crosby of Massachusetts Institute of Technology "has resisted a crushing power of thirty thousand pounds to the square inch" and is thus much more durable than brick which has not nearly as great a resisting power. The stone has a beautiful brownish variegated tint which would make the building far more sightly than brick. The Congregational church in East Weymouth which is well known to many of us is made of Bates brothers granite.

The cost of furnishing the granite for the building would be no more than for brick and all things considered it would look as if the Bates brothers should get the contract.

PILGRIMS GET BATTLESHIPS.

Word has just been received from the Navy Department at Washington that three first class battle-ships will be detailed in Boston Harbor Aug. 1, 2, 3 and 4, in response to a request made by the Pilgrim Publicity Association, so that the delegates to the National Convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America may have an opportunity to view some of the finest examples of Uncle Sam's navy. The Rhode Island, New Jersey, and the Georgia, sister ships, will be opened for inspection, and will be objects of interest to many people at that time.

An additional feature of interest, is the fact that all three of these great fighting machines were built in New England ship-yards, the Rhode Island and New Jersey having been launched from the Fore River Works, Quincy, Mass., and the Georgia from the Bath Iron Works, being the first battle-ship ever built in Maine, and the largest vessel to receive a launching in that state.

Each ship carries 1900 tons of coal and cost $3,590,000. It is a curious fact that although of the same design, the only difference between them being in minor equipment, each of the three successively developed greater speed in her official trial than her predecessor. The history of these battle-ships has not been without incident. The Rhode Island ran aground in Chesapeake Bay May 5, 1906, but was successfully pulled off by four great tugs. A fire developed on the New Jersey in February of this year while she was in dry dock at the Charlestown Navy Yard, after having seen service practically all over the world, but was quickly extinguished by prompt action on the part of officers and men. The Georgia had the distinction of being the first battleship to be launched with steam up, and was able to respond to the whistles of salute as she slid into the water.

These three battle-ships, with their sister ships, the Virginia, and Nebraska, have occasioned a great deal of favorable comment among naval experts the world over, as they were the largest and most powerful battleships afloat until the new dreadnought type came into existence.

How to Bleach White Waists.

White waists or dresses that have turned yellow from lying too long should be dipped in boiling water in which a tablespoonful of cream of tar tar has been dissolved, rubbing or "sousing" about for a few minutes, then rinsed thoroughly. Another method of bleaching is to add a tablespoonful of coal oil to each pail of water in the boiler, put the articles in and let boil for twenty minutes, then remove from boiler into very hot water and rinse, hanging in the sun to dry.

How to Clean Aluminum.

When your aluminium pans or kettles have become so blackened that you feel it is almost hopeless to try to clean them put them in the baker when the range is hot and keep them there with a hot fire for a couple of hours, when they will look like new. If any dark spots remain they can be easily washed away with soap and water.

First Thought Gold Mine Sold

London, July 19.—Patrick Burns, the Calgary meat packer, has sold his First Thought gold mine to an English syndicate for $8,000,000.

Glad He Left.

Actor—There was a thunder of applause when I left the stage. Bored Friend—Serves you right! Youshouldn't stay on so long!

What the stars are to the firmament kind deeds are to the earth.

TO LET
IN QUINCY CENTER
SEVERAL DESIRABLE HOUSES
7, 8 and 10 Rooms
Every convenience and very desirable locations.
RENT $25 TO $40 according to house
APPLY TO
MISS PRESCOTT,
Ledger Office
Quincy, July LP Otf

LAWRENCE TANGLES PUZZLING OFFICIALS

City Financially Embarrassed and Seeking State Aid

Lawrence, Mass,. July 19.—The city of Lawrence confessed that she was absolutely broke and asked the state to help her out.

This remarkable proceeding was made known when a Lawrence banker called on Governor Foss and requested hm to seek financial help for Lawrence from the legislature.

Lawrence wants $500,000. She knows no way of getting it unless Massachusetts, through the legislature, will advance the money. That is what the Lawrence banker asked the governor to request the legislature to do.

This request came as a result of the fact that the treasury in Lawrence is bankrupt—that it has not even the proverbial shoestring, and that city employes must be discharged, public work be held up and, in fact, the whole business of the city practically suspended until they get some money.

So they asked the state to please lend them half a million.

One hundred and twenty-five men out of the 160 nn the payroll of the street department were laid off by Patrick Lyons, superintendent of streets, by order of Mayor Cahill.

122 POUND BABY IS BIGGEST IN WORLD.

Is Two Years and Three Months Old. Eats Four Times a Day.

In James Adolph Cody, two years and three months old, Mount Airy, Ga., boasts the biggest baby in the world. James Adolph now weighs 122 pounds and is growing every day.

With the first indication of the abnormal growth his parents consulted a physician, and James Adolph was put under his care. All efforts to keep the baby on a diet suitable for one of his age proved unsuccessful to keep him normal.

The baby's measurements are: Height, 39 inches, barefoot; around head, 24½ inches; neck, 14 inches; bust, 33 inches; waist, 36 inches; around arm, above elbow, 12 inches; wrist, 8 inches; across hand, above thumb, 6¾ inches; around first finger, near hand, 2½ inches; around thigh, 25 inches; above knee, 16 inches; below knee, 13 inches; ankle, 9 inches; around foot, 8½ inches; length of foot, 6½ inches; across shoulders, 15 inches.

Baby sleeps well and is perfectly healthy and very strong. His appetite is like that of a grown person. For breakfast he will eat three or four large biscuits, with bacon gravy, butter and sirup; two glasses of buttermilk and two cups of coffee.

Between breakfast and dinner he will eat two more biscuits with butter and sirup.

For dinner he can eat a large plate of greens or any kind of vegetables, with boiled bacon, corn bread biscuit and a whole pie if he can get it, with two glasses of buttermilk.

Baby eats again between dinner and supper, and his supper is in keeping with breakfast and dinner.

HOT WEATHER
and dirt breed germs. Germs bring diseases and are a menace to your health. Our sanitary dyeing and cleaning processes render your clothes free from germs.
Get The Sanitary Habit!
We call for and deliver the work
WARSHAW'S
DYE HOUSE
"The Home of Cleanliness"
1503 HANCOCK STREET
QUINCY
July 15-tf

TOM'S HOME IN A FAIRY TREE.

In the middle of a sun splashed wood there stood an old hollow tree, and in the hollow of this tree there lived a little boy named Tom Tucker. Tom had not been brought up in that hollow tree. In fact, when this story happened he had lived there only about an hour. Before that he had lived in a house like other sensible persons, but one sunshiny morning, when all the birds in the wood were calling, he felt that it was a great trial to have to live in a house and wear collars, and so, without saying anything to his parents, who were much too settled to fall in with his idea, he stocked a cardboard box with cakes and good things that he found in the pantry and set out to make his home in the woods.

THE FAIRIES ROSE IN THE AIR.

He made his way to the hollow tree and climbed inside to inspect his new home. Then what do you suppose he found? Something he had never noticed before—a tiny little staircase carpeted with green velvet, which wound its way up inside the tree trunk.

Tom was utterly amazed. He had never seen or heard of a staircase inside a tree, and he gave a low and expressive whistle of surprise. As if in answer a tiny voice above him cried. "Boys must not whistle in the house!" Looking up, Tom saw a dainty little fairy in a green dress coming down the stairs.

"Well, boy creature," said the fairy, "what did you come here for?"

"I came here to live," answered Tom. "I'm tired of houses and collars and brushing my hair."

"Very well," said the fairy; "that's easily arranged." And she waved her wand and recited the multiplication table backward. Tom thought she was just "showing off," but when she had finished and remarked "Presto, change!" he suddenly discovered that he had changed—to the size of the fairy herself.

"Come on up," she said, holding out her hands, with a welcoming smile. And Tom eagerly ran up the little staircase and joined her. The stairs led up through the darkness that was lighted by tiny lamps made of acorns suspended on spider webs. At the head of the stairs the fairy opened a little door and led Tom into a tiny room, the walls of which were draped with rose leaves and in which a number of fairies were playing.

"Come play with us!" they cried, holding out their hands to Tom.

So Tom ran up and took his place in the circle. Merrily they began marching around, singing the old song of "oats, peas, beans," but when they came to the part where the farmer stamps his foot and claps his hands and Tom stamped his foot with the rest the whole tree shuddered and swayed, and with a tearing of roots it fell to the earth.

It was an astonished small boy that crawled out from the broken branches.

"What has happened? What made it fall like that?" he asked the ruffled company of fairies who came climbing out of the wreck of the tree.

"Why, you see," they explained, "when we made you our size we forgot to make you our strength, and so of course when you stamped your foot you knocked down the whole tree."

"I'm sorry," said Tom. "I didn't know I was so strong."

"Oh, well, it doesn't matter," said the fairy. "We can easily get another tree. But first we'd better make you your own size again. You are much too dangerous as you are."

So the first fairy raised her wand and recited the multiplication table, forward this time, and as soon as she had said "Presto, change!" Tom found himself his own size again.

Then with a farewell wave of their wands the fairies rose in the air like a cloud of butterflies and flew away in search of a new home.

Since he had now no place in which to live Tom decided to go home, where, even if there were collars to be worn, there were other good things to make up for them. So he left the woods, where the evening shadows were falling, and arrived at his own door just in time for supper.

168 Hours Away From the Kitchen in Hot Weather

Women who owa Hoosier Kitchen Cabinets tell us that it makes an actual saving of one to three hours daily in their kitchen work.

That's all the year round, of course. But let's consider the hot old summer time—right now.

At that rate in three months it would easily give you 168 hours free and away from the kitchen. Without the Hoosier you would have to spend those 168 hours in broiling, baking, muscle-aching work in the kitchen.

168 hours is three weeks. How would you like to have a vacation of 3 weeks during August and September?

Does it seem too wonderful to believe? Come in and see for yourself. Special demonstration now in progress.

One Hoosier Cabinet Given Away

Every housekeeper who visits this store before July 24th, will have an opportunity to win one absolutely free.
Just leave yonr name on a Hoosier Coupon.

LICENSED AGENTS FOR HOOSIER KITCHEN CABINETS

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
495 Hancock St., Quincy. Open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings

ROOSTER COAL BRIQUETS
THE NEW ANTHRACITE COAL

ROOSTER BRIQUETS are made from the choicest small Scranton Anthracite coal, mined in Pennsylvania, called TWENTIETH CENTURY CHESTNUT size.

Just consider for a moment what we offer here in this 20th CENTURY CHESTNUT.

First, 200 pounds of clean, pure, hard coal without a rock or a piece of slate.

Second, fuel that cannot form into a clinker, by any known method of firing, consequently the linings and grates last indefinitely.

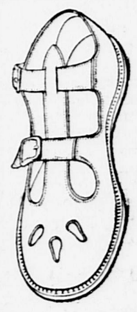
Third, they are made in nut size, being equally convenient for furnace heaters, open grates, as well as stoves; therefore, only one storage bin is necessary.

Fourth, and very IMPORTANT, the quality of this fuel is the SAME EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR, not a good ton today, and nothing like it the next time, in other words, when you once learn how to regulate your draits you have nothing more to learn about burning BRIQUETS.

Fifth, no more sifting ashes these Briquets burn out clean. They require less wood to kindle.

Be sure to ask for "ROOSTERS" and get the Briquet made from pure Scranton Coal, from the largest Briquet plant in the country. They are better than coal, will last as long and cost less.

J. F. SHEPPARD & SONS,
AGENTS



BAREFOOT SANDALS
The best thing for the children to wear during the warm weather. They are light and comfortable and give good satisfaction.

CHILDS	5 to 8	45c
MISSES	8 to 11	50c

HEFFERNAN'S SHOE STORE
1375 Hancock Street, Quincy

Quincy Daily Ledger

HIGH TIDE FOR WEEK.

Monday, July 17,	3.00	3.30
Tuesday,	4.00	4.30
Wednesday,	4.45	5.15
Thursday,	5.45	6.15
Friday,	6.45	7.15
Saturday,	7.45	8.15
Sunday,	8.45	9.15

1911 JULY 1911

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
						1
2	3	4	5	6	7	8
9	10	11	12	13	14	15
16	17	18	19	20	21	22
23	24	25	26	27	28	29
30	31

BRIEFS

Miss Annie Allen of Johnson avenue has gone to Plymouth to spend a few weeks with relatives.

Mrs. Myron B. Turner and daughter Dorothy Lee and Mrs. Agnes L. Emery are summering at Clima Lake, Maine.

Miss Mary MacCanell of Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island is the guest for a fortnight of her aunt Mrs. William D. Purdom of Highland avenue.

Master Ralph Smith of Hancock street, Wollaston, went to Plymouth Tuesday to stay a fortnight with his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Holmes.

A club of boys connected with the Swedish M. E. church including Herbert Carlson, Elmer Carlmark, Claus Gelotte, Ernest Gelotte, Alfred Olson, Berger Ellison and Viking Kjellander, have gone to Walpole to enjoy camp life for two weeks.

SOULE—RUGGLES.

Cards are out announcing the marriage of Miss Harriet Elthina Ruggles of Weymouth daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Ruggles formerly of Wollaston to Mr. Albert Lewis Soule of Braintree on Monday, July 17th, at North Weymouth. Mr. and Mrs. Soule will receive their friends after Sept. 1st in their attractive new home on Wachusett road, North Weymouth.

VANITY FAIR.

William Makepeace Thackeray was born 100 years ago Tuesday. "Vanity Fair," esteemed the greatest of all English novels, and holding its own bravely in spite of changes of taste and the shifting vagaries of criticism, was published 36 years later, and Thackeray died nearly half a century ago. We may observe the semcentennial of his death, if we care to, two years hence, says the N. Y. Times.

"Men who are still fairly active in the affairs of the world can remember "Vanity Fair" as a new book. Its author lived a busy life. As artist, journalist, magazine editor, essayist, versifier and novelist he filled the years, after a youth of gay irresponsibility, with hard work.

Yet the books which come into mind when his name is mentioned, his indisputable master work and "Pendennis," "The Newcomes" and "Henry Esmond," belong to a brief period. Much else that he wrote was worthy. "The Virginians" lacks only a little the vitality and interest of its greater predecessors.

For our own part we still cherish the discursive "Philip," the fragmentary "Denis Duval," the Roundabout Papers, and the observations of Mr. Jeames Yellowplush more highly than much else of lasting fame in English literature."

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, Lucas County, ss.
Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure. FRANK J. CHENEY.
Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.
A. W. GLEASON,
(Seal) Notary Public.
Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.
F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by all Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

PATENTS
TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 25 years experience.
Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.
READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.
D. SWIFT & CO.
PATENT LAWYERS,
303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

IN FASHION'S REALM

One-Piece Suits of Thin Blue Serge Popular.

Empire Skirt With Wide Hem A Favorite Model.

Trifles in fashion count for a good deal these days. It is at the season of the year when all manner of clever things are invented to catch the eye of those who congratulate themselves that their shopping is finished. This is a ruse of the merchants to empty the purse of the buyer.

Business must proceed, even though the weather is hot and vacation time is at hand. Also the dressmakers swing the fashions around, here and there, to interest their patrons and to get away from routine. In the first of the season, when the new clothes are brought over from Paris, the models are copied by the hundred to an alarming extent. Now it is time to introduce innovations ,and so we see quaint and attractive things in every gathering of women. It might be said with truth and emphasis that the public is responsible for this variety of fashions more than the dressmakers.

It is so hard to get one of the latter to depart from the French models or the crinoline patterns which she has in the workroom. If she is thrown on her own resources, she can do remarkably good designing, but for some reason that she does not explain she never gives herself a chance for individual experiment. No matter how many patrons she has, she follows for each a model that she brought from abroad, if she is a big importer, or she copies a sketch in a fashion book if she is a little dressmaker.

If any suggestions of important changes are made they usually come from the buyer and not from the maker. It is a pity that this is so to such an overwhelming degree in America. One should be able to look to those who make clothes a life work for suggestion, innovation, and artistic development. But the experience taken from the multitude is that the dressmaker stands passive and copies, unless a patron directs differently and produces the remedy.

It is because of this condition that one sees a larger variety of clothes in June than in March. The public is inthe hands of its dressmakers and tailors during the first month of the season before it emancipates itself from routine and established precedent later in the season and thinks for itself.

This will continue as long as the American public is satisfied with wearing a gown like one made for some one else. When we demand individual clothes our dressmakers will rise to the demand. They have intelligence, artistic fitness and a critical judgment. They are merely lazy when they copy some French model by the hundred and have their cutters use one pattern for the great majority of clothes made in one season.

It is rather wonderful to observe the popularity of the one-piece suit of thin blue serge. It has been amazingly developed in the last four weeks, and has all manner of individual touches that make it worth while. It is a good kind of gown for every woman to include in her wardrobe. It may not stand for any one occasion, but may serve for half a hundred. It is just this kind of gown that is available for all changes of climate and unexpected trips.

It can be worn with or without a coat, and in many ways pays for itself over and over.

The favorite model is an Empire skirt, more or less wide at the hem, according to our new measurements, which run from a yard and a half to two yards and a quarter. The panel down the back is rarely eliminated and the fastening is in front. There may be folds of the serge or surah or taffeta, either in blue or black, to cut off the length, and if one is averse to a narrow skirt, fashion allows an inserted box plait at each side from hips down.

The skirt, rising moderately on the bodice, is stitched to it with three rows of machine stitching. It is hung on a four-inch band of silk belting, which is fastened with hooks and eyes in front. The bodice is also attached to this belting, which preserves a neat look around the waist, although the skirt does not curve in to fit. The cut of the bodice is much fuller than it has been. The short kimono sleeves are used and the underarm seam is long, but there are tucks or plaits that run over the shoulder, or begin at the waist and make for fullness over the bust and under arms. The arrangement of the neck is a matter of individual preference, and there is always an undersleeve, or the simulation of one at the elbow.

One of the most attractive of these suits worn by a girl who knows how to dress has a plain skirt with panel down front and back, and a five-inch hem of the material finished with rows of black silk stitching. It is about three inches higher than the normal waist line and curved very slightly at the sides. The bodice is folded in to it, stitched down, and has a long wedge of white maline net in the shape of a vest that runs into a high-boned stock.

There is one of the deep new sailor collars that does not quite reach to the arm, but drops down nearly to waist line front and back; it is made of heavy ercu lace in one of the popular meshes called ecclesiastical. This is bound or rather piped with a tiny edge of black satin. The sleeves are almost tight, reach to the elbow, and are finished with an inch-wide fold of black chiffon cloth, dropping over a two-inch fold of white maline net.

The individual touch was given by the wearer, who added two ragged silk poinsettias just at the high waist line in front, resting against the ecru lace collar. This note was repeated in her high-crowned blue turban made of hemp with a visor of black satin turned up flatly across the hat at the back; three red poinsettias were massed at the side of its front.

One of the materials that have come into being at the beginning of the hot weather is the figured cotton net that we had with us several seasons ago. It is usually in blue and white, although one can find it in two or three other color combinations. Blouses are made of it to wear over low silk slips or fine muslin corset covers run through with colored ribbon.

These net blouses, you know, are quite the fashion, and are immensely popular for warm days with suits that have a dressy atmosphere. Some women wear them in the morning with plain linen suits, but they look more fit in the afternoon or for luncheon.

The coarse figured ones are made in kimono style or with the revived armhole and shoulder seam. They have a double plaited frill down the front finished with a hem of blue net or cluny lace, and are fastened with white crochet buttons down the front. The high collar is made in folds with a turnover band at the top of heavy lace. The sleeves are finished with a tight folded cuff fastened with crochet buttons at the back.

The net is also used for overdrapery. It takes the place in some gowns of chiffon cloth or marquisette. One good-looking gown is of very thin blue messaline made with a plain Empire slip with the net draped into a long tunic which opens in front, has the right side crossed well over the left, and is bordered with a half-inch plaiting of blue satin ribbon, which matches the figure in the net.

The short-waisted bodice is unusually full for these days, has a deep round guimpe of thin French lace, which only extends to the collarbone. The Empire girdle is made from three bands of box-plaited ribbon finished with a twisted circle of blue ribbon in front and two long ends. There are undersleeves of lace, which hang free of the elbow and are shaped to a rounded point at the back, and the upper sleeves of the figured net are edged withthe plaited blue ribbon.

As an economical suggestion it would be well to think of this net as a covering for an evening gown that needs repairing and that has seen its best days. Stripped of its gewgaws and reduced to a simple slip, it could be covered with figured net at small expense. One small point would be wise for every woman to remember, that the drapery of today does not come to the foot line of the lower skirt. It stops about six inches above. It is usually looped up in some fashion at side or back, and is often finished with a three-inch band of colored or figured floral satin or a ruching.

It has been repeated so often that all white wash frocks are not in first fashion, that one is apt to become tiresome by referring to it. However, it seems worth while to say that a compromise has been effected between fashion and tradition by the invention of charming gowns of white voile and marquisette, which have all the earmarks of the best lingerie frocks, and are trimmed with dashing lines of color to give them a novel effect.

Such a gown brought out by one of the well-known importers. It is delightfully effective and can be copied by any one who wants something out of the commonplace without much expense. It is made in two pieces with a slim skirt and a graceful kimono bodice, which has extra wide square, sleeves made comfortable with a diamond-shaped patch at the arm's eye. The marquisette is just off the dead white, having that artistic tone of ivory that is much admired this season. There are two rows down the front of bold embroidery done in the same tone of silk floss with enlarged eyelets on each side. These extend from collarbone to instep.

The bodice is short waisted, slightly low at the neck, and finished with a shallow fitted guimpe of heavy lace. The sleeves have the embroidery down the back and are finished with a three-inch band under the hem of the lace.

Color is given by a two-inch hem of pink taffeta and a wider band of it around the figure under the bodice. This goes straight across the back, crosses in front, and goes over each shoulder like a bretelle. A band of light blue ribbon goes straight around the figure under the arms and is finished with a small flat bow in the middle of the back. The combination of blue and pink copied from the old French pictures is rarely revived these days, but when it is the effect has all the artistic merit of that other epoch.

The girdle on this particular gown was an Empire affair of thin black satin finished with two ends at side of front, that started from a small Empire wreath of pink rosebuds. The touch of black was the one thing needed to keep the gown from being too frivolous in its coloring. The hat that went with it carried out this scheme by being of white hemp with an enormous black satin bow across the side and front and held in place by an Empire wreath of pink satin roses.

There seems no end to the fashion for eyelet embroidery, and it is used more on voile and marquisette than on muslin, possibly because one sees more of the former fabrics than of the latter. Plain white wash material is not even used for everyday frocks; it has given way to striped muslins in violet and white, brown, and ecru, black and white, blue and white. There are many other combinations, both in stripes, in pin dots, and in circles, and one sees a dozen of these gowns to one of the old-fashioned plain white lawn.

Pink and white—that new rich pink—seems to have started into fashion all of a sudden. It has been on the shelf for several seasons, while blue, green and purple held first place. Now pink has come again into its own. Frocks of it for everyday wear are made with four-gored skirts cut off at the ankles and trimmed with three flounces or folds that have no fullness. These are double or single which ever one prefers.

The bodice is made like a plain shirt-waist, usually with armholes and long sleeves. There are turnover cuffs finished with tiny ruffles and lace, a double frill down the front, and the buttons of white crochet or studs of pink coral. These fancy studs have come back into fashion for all manner of wash waists. They can be bought at the shops for a small price in nearly all fashionable colors. They are a change from buttons and they can be detached when the blouse is going to the tub.

That kind of lattice work made of cords or straight bands of the material which was once called macrame and used for mantel lambrequins has returned to high favor as a trimming for all manner of gowns under the old name. It first came out on one-piece linen frocks that were full of color and made to wear in the afternoons. It then found its way to one-piece serge gowns and to coat and skirt suits of taffeta, satin and silk serge.

It is simply fashioned of a thin or a thick cord dyed to match the material and placed into a conventional lattice work. The edges of it are framed in with bands of the amterial.

Its popularity has brought about the use of lattice work made of ribbon. Taffeta or satin about a quarter of an inch in width or less is laid into latticed strips and placed on any fabric that needs it. It is an effective ornament and has not been in fashion for some years, so it would be wise to make the best of it now. —Anne Rittenhouse in New York Times.

FOOD SUPPLY EXHAUSTED

Provisions Supplied by Red Star Liner to Starving Sailors

New York, July 19.—The Red Star liner Kroonland halted her last recurrent rush between Antwerp and New York to save from probable starvation twelve men aboard the Russian schooner Rembit, which was becalmed off the Grand Banks.

When the Kroonland arrived here her captain reported that the Lembit's signal of distress caused him to stop his engines last Friday and send a small boat to the rescue. The Russian sent word that she had been sixty-five days out from Laguna, bound for Weymouth, Eng., and although drinking water held out, the food supply was exhausted.

Enough provisions were put aboard the schooner to last out the voyage, even if the calm was long continued.

In Behalf of New London

Hartford, July 19.—One million dollars was voted by the general assembly for improvements in New London harbor looking to its use as an ocean terminal.

TO LIMIT PRICE PAID FOR VOTES

Measure Regulating Campaign Expenses Broadened In Scope

BILL MORE COMPREHENSIVE

Than One Acted Upon Earlier by House Democrats—Amount Properly Allowed by Law Definitely Stated—Action on Its Passage In the Senate Is Nearly Unanimous—Meets With Some Opposition

Washington, July 19.—The campaign publicity bill, broadened in scope and so amended as to include primary as well as other elections, was passed by the senate Tuesday after several hours of debate. Definite limits were fixed for the amounts of money that may properly be spent by candidates for congressional offices—$10,000 for senators and $5000 for representatives. In addition, no campaign expenditure is to be in excess of 10 cents for each voter or in excess of the amount allowed by the laws of the state in which the election is held. The bill as passed by the senate is far more comprehensive than the measure which the house passed early in the session as an evidence of the Democratic spirit of reform. The house did little more than amend the existing law by requiring that statements of campaign expenditures be made before as well as after election. The senate committee on privileges and elections added another section making the law applicable to candidates as well as committees and extending its operation to give publicity to all contributions and expenses at primary elections where congress nominations are made, all general elections where representatives are chosen, all primary elections for the nominations of senators, general elections at which candidates are seeking indorsement and the election of senators by legislatures.

Several Democratic senators objected to broadening the scope of the measure in this fashion, giving as a reason the further invasion of state affairs by the federal courts in adjudicating contests arising out of the violation of so stringent a law. The amendments proposed by the senate committee, however, were adopted by a vote of 50 to 7, the Republicans voting solidly for them. Senators Burton and Sutherland secured also the adoption of an amendment requiring candidates to report all promises of office made by the candidates or by their authorized agents.

Senator Reed offered an amendment fixing the limit of expenditures for aspiring senators at $5000 and for representatives at $1500. On the appeal of Senator Owen, who declared that the sums were very small, the amounts were increased to $10,000 and $5000, respectively. Campaign expenditures in excess of these amounts were made the occasion for unseating the candidate, if successful, according to the first form in which Senator Reed introduced his amendment. This feature was regarded as unconstitutional, and that caused its defeat in the committee of the whole. It was stricken from the amendment adopted by the senate proper. In this form the bill, covering the entire field of elections and far more comprehensive than the house measure, was adopted by an almost unanimous vote.

The chief advocates of the measure were Senators Root, Lodge, Burton, Sutherland and Borah. Senator Root made a strong plea for the bill on the ground that adequate laws against campaign corruption were necessary in order that honest candidates might not have their rights taken away from them by corrupt men.

CAUGHT IN PAWN SHOP

Charged With the Robbery of Mrs. Whitney's Valuables

Boston, July 19.—That Mrs. Helen M. Whitney was robbed of a 1500 necklace and a gold cigaret case became known yesterday afternoon when Inspectors Norton and Patterson arrested Rev. Israel Davis, a negro, of Providence, R. I., in a North End pawn shop, charged with the theft. The robbery took place on July 8 on a New York, New Haven and Hartford train running from Providence to Boston.

Davis was a preacher at the Ebenezer Baptist church in Providence, but had given up the ministry, he said, because there was no money in it.

He said, according to the police, he had found the neeklace on the floor of the car, and although he did not steal it, he made no attempt to find the owner.

Rejected by Governor Dix

Albany, July 19.—Declaring that the direct nominations bill as reported by the assembly judiciary committee does not measure up to the pledge of the Rochester convention Governor Dix demanded that the legislature enact a measure that would square the party with its promises.

Anty Drudge tells Mr. Peters Why His Daughter isn't Home.

Mr. Peters—"Well, well. Here I've come all the way from Perkinsville to visit Mandy, and she's gone. She used to be home all day on wash day."

Anty Drudge—"That was before she began using Fels-Naptha soap, Mr. Peters. She used to boil the clothes and stew and fret over them most of the day. Now Mandy gets up at 7 o'clock and does the wash in ordinary cool or lukewarm water with Fels-Naptha soap and is off for a visit at ten.

The woman whose years rest lightly on her shoulders is the woman who saves herself wherever possible—who never wastes her energies.

She doesn't stand all day Monday over a tub of steaming suds, chasing the weekly wash up and down the washboard.

There's an easier—a better method. And she knows it.

She does her wash in the Fels-Naptha way; with lukewarm or cool water and Fels-Naptha soap.

No boiling the life out of the fabric; no rubbing the clothes to shreds 'gainst a washboard.

She just soaps them well with Fels-Naptha—rolls them—let's them soak a while, and then rinses them. She's through by Monday noon.

It's the easiest way in the world—the quickest and best. Makes clothes just as clean and fresh and pure as clothes can possibly be.

And it is just as superior for household cleaning, too.

Look for directions on red and green wrapper.

WHEELER'S

The Store for Ladies' Furnishings

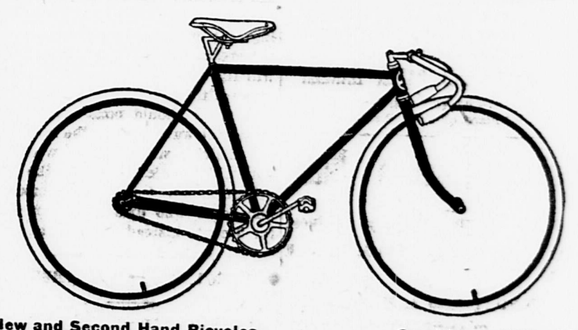
We will continue our Sale of Shirt Waists and Long Gloves

See what we offer in Shirt Waists for 79c and 98c and Long Gloves for 50c and 75c

We are also showing a new line of Children's Parasols, all colors, for 25c and 29c

WE GIVE CASH DISCOUNT SLIPS

City Square G. W. WHEELER Quincy



New and Second Hand Bicycles. Sundries and Repairing

Agency for Columbia and Hartford Bicycles

HUB CYCLE CO.

Thomas Nelson, 20 Granite Street, QUINCY

May 15 3m

GET THE HELP QUINCY GROW HABIT

HISTORIC QUINCY.

City of Presidents Has Much Of Interest

Old historic Quincy settled in 1625 has much of interest to visitors When Braintree was incorporated in 1640, the territory now known as Quincy, was a part. In 1792 Quincy became an independent town, and in 1888 was incorporated as a city.

Quincy was named in honor of Col John Quincy, descendant in the third generation from Edmund, 2d, who settled in Quincy, in 1634; grand-father of Abigail (Smith) Adams, the wife and mother of a President of the United States.

The city includes Wollaston, Atlantic, Quincy Point, South Quincy, West Quincy, Montclair, Norfolk Downs, Wollaston Park, Squantum, Houghs Neck, Adams Shore, Germantown and Quincy Neck, comprising in all over 16 square miles, of which 2,530 acres are in public parks.

Birthplaces of Presidents.

Birthplace of John Adams, the first Vice President and second President of the United States, Franklin street, Quincy Adams house built in 1681 and restored in 1897 by Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution. Open to public. Admission charged.

Birthplace of John Quincy Adams the sixth President of the United States, junction of Franklin street, Presidents road and Independence avenue. Built 1716, restored 1896 by the Quincy Historical Society. Open to public afternoons from 2 to 5. Admission charged.

Abigail Adams Cairn.

Penns Hill, erecteld June 17, 1896, by Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, to the memory of Abigail Adams, who with her son, John Quincy, from the spot watched the smoke of battle at Bunker Hill. Cairn composed of many historic stones, the corner stone being part of the old sleeper of first railroad in United States which ran from Quincy quarries to tide water, Neponset river.

Burial Place of Presidents.

First Congregational Church (Unitarian) at Quincy centre. In auditorium each side of high pulpit, are mural monuments, to the memory of John Adams, the second president, and John Quincy Adams, the sixth president of the United States, and their wives. The funeral of John Quincy Adams was held in this church. Beneath the entrance is the Adams tomb reached by stairways from the vestibule. Near the tomb is the box in which was brought from Washington the body of John Quincy Adams, also the old town hearse. Admission may be secured on application to W. E Dewhurst, sexton, 3 Maple street. A fee is asked for attendance, etc.

Hancock Cemetery.

Hancock cemetery across the street from First church contains many old stones. Among the old graves are those of Henry Adams founder of the Adams family who died Oct. 5, 1646; Rev. William Thompson, 1st pastor over the Braintree church who died Dec. 10, 1666; Rev. Henry Flint who died Oct. 11, 1668; Rev. John Hancock father of the Patriot who died May 7 1744, and many other notable people.

John Hancock Birthplace.

Adams street, junction of Dimmick and Hancock streets. A bronze tablet has been placed by the City of Quincy on Adams Academy to mark the place where the house stood in which the patriot John Hancock, the bold signer of the Declaration of Independence was born.

Presidents Adams Mansion.

Adams street, corner Newport avenue, Quincy. Residence of President John Adams and contains many family relics. Occupied by descendants Not open to public.

Presidents Lane.

Now Goffe street, leading from Adams street, near Mansion. Opened by John Adams to drive his cows to pasture.

Dorothy Q. House.

Hancock street, corner Butler road Quincy, Old Quincy homestead in which Dorothy Q was born. Owned by the Massachusetts Society of Colonial Dames. Has quaint old paper on parlor put on for wedding of John Hancock and Dorothy Quincy; also secret chamber and other interesting features. Open free to the public on Saturdays, from 11 A. M., until 4 P. M Other days admission charged.

Myles Standish Cairn.

Squantum heights, erected in 1895 by the Daughters of the Revolution of Massachusetts, in memory of Captain Myles Standish and his men of Plymouth Colony, who landed here Sept 30, 1621, guided by the Indian Tisquantum.

Myles Standish Spring.

On the beach to the left and back of Squantum Inn. Spring of fresh cold water, where Standish and his party breakfasted and thence started to explore the country around Boston Bay

Squaw Rock.

Pile of rock, on which is a perfect head of a squaw, frequently mentioned in early Squantum history. Near by is also Sachem's Knoll.

THE DANGER TRAIL

By JAMES OLIVER CURWOOD

Copyright, 1910, by Bobbs-Merrill Company.

SYNOPSIS

Jack Howland, engineer, sent to build the Hudson Bay railroad, is appealed to for help by a beautiful girl who writes that she is a mute and invites him to accompany her. They are followed by Jean Croisset, half breed.

They go to her camp. He is attacked and nearly killed by a huge stranger. The girl disappears. Howland hears her speak. Croisset gives him the little Meleese's warning not to go north. He goes.

Howland again sees the girl, who tells him by note his life is in danger. She asks his forgiveness. Gregson and Thorne are mere wrecks of their former selves.

Mysterious perils threaten Howland. The girl visits him and confesses that she had lied to him. She entreats him to return south.

He tells her he loves her. Her name is Meleese. She partly promises to tell him why enemies seek his life.

Howland is lured to a mine, taken prisoner and bound to a box of dynamite which is soon to be exploded.

He frees himself and prevents the explosion. Meleese meets him again, refuses to marry him and again lures him into the hands of enemies.

Croisset takes Howland, his prisoner, into the wilderness. They are followed by Meleese. Howland promises not to attempt to escape.

They reach the house of the Red Death, a deserted Hudson Bay post. Then Croisset departs for several days. Howland plans to capture him upon his return.

Howland and Croisset fight. Croisset tells Howland he intends to kill him

(Continued from last issue)

With the same calculating attention to detail that he would have shown in the arrangement of plans for the building of a tunnel or a bridge, he drew a mental map of his scheme and its possibilities. There would be at least two men with the sledge and possibly three. If they surrendered at the point of his rifle without a fight he would compel Jean to tie them up with dog traces while he held them under cover. If they made a move to offer resistance he would shoot. With the automatic he could kill or wound the three before they could reach their rifles, which would undoubtedly be on the sledge. The situation had now reached a point where he no longer took into consideration what these men might be to Meleese.

As they continued into the northwest Howland noted that the thicker forest was gradually clearing into wide areas of small banskian pine and that the rock ridges and dense swamps which had impeded their progress were becoming less numerous. An hour before noon, after a tedious climb to the top of a frozen ridge, Croisset pointed down into a vast level plain lying between them and other great ridges far to the north.

"That is a bit of the barren lands that creeps down between those mountains off there, m'seur," he said. "Do you see that black forest that looks like a charred log in the snow to the south and west of the mountains? That is the break that leads into the country of the Athabasco. Somewhere between this point and that we will strike the trail. Mon Dieu, I had half expected to see them out there on the plain."

"Who? Meleese and Jackpine, or"—

"No; the others, m'seur. Shall we have dinner here?"

"Not until we hit the trail," replied Howland. "I'm anxious to know about that one chance in a hundred you've given me hope of, Croisset. If they have passed"—

"If they are ahead of us you might just as well stand out there and let me put a bullet through you, m'seur."

He went to the head of the dogs, guiding them down the rough side of the ridge, while Howland steadied the toboggan from behind. In a small open space free of bush Croisset's voice rose sharply and the team stopped.

"What do you think of it, m'seur?" he cried, pointing to the snow. "What do you think of that?"

Barely cutting into the edge of the open was the broken crust of two sledge trails. Croisset had fallen on his knees in the trail.

"The crust is freshly broken," he said after a moment. "They have been gone not less than two or three hours, perhaps since morning. See this white glistening surface over the first trail, m'seur, like a billion needle points growing out of it? That is the work of three or four days' cold. The first sledge passed that long ago."

Howland turned and picked up Crosset's rifle. The Frenchman watched him as he slipped a clip full of cartridges into the breech.

"If there's a snack of cold stuff in the pack dig it out," he commanded. "We'll eat on the run if you've got anything to eat. If you haven't we'll go hungry. We're going to overtake that sledge some time this afternoon or tonight—or bust!"

"The saints be blessed, then we are most certain to bust, m'seur!" gasped Jean. "And if we don't the dogs will. Non, it is impossible!"

"Is there anything to eat?"

"A morsel of cold meat; that is all. But I say that it is impossible. That sledge"—

Howland interrupted him with an impatient gesture.

"And I say that if there is anything to eat in there get it out and be quick about it, Croisset. We're going to overtake those precious friends of yours, and I warn you that if you make any attempt to lose time something unpleasant is going to happen. Understand?"

Jean had bent to unstrap one end of the sledge pack and an angry flash leaped into his eyes at the threatening tone of the engineer's voice. For a moment he seemed on the point of speech, but caught himself and in silence divided the small chunk of meat which he drew from the pack, giving the larger share to Howland as he went to the head of the dogs. Only once or twice during the next hour did he look back, and after each of these glances he redoubled his efforts at urging on the huskies. Before they had come to the edge of the black banskian forest which Jean had pointed out from the farther side of the plain Howland saw that the pace was telling on the team. The leader was trailing lame, and now and then the whole pack would settle back in their traces, to be urged on again by the fierce cracking of Croisset's long whip. To add to his own discomfiture Howland found that he could no longer keep up with Jean and the dogs, and with his weight added to the sledge the huskies settled down to a tugging walk.

Thus they came into the deep, low forest, and Jean, apparently oblivious of the exhaustion of both man and dogs, walked now in advance of the team, his eyes constantly on the thin trail ahead. At last the engineer jumped from the sledge and overtook his companion.

"Hold on, Jean!" he cried. "I've got enough. You're right, and I want to apologize. We're busted—that is, the dogs and I are busted—and we might as well give it up until we've had a feed. What do you say?"

"I say that you have stopped just in time, m'seur," replied Croisset with purring softness. "Another half hour and we would have been through the forest, and just beyond that—in the edge of the plain—are those whom you seek, Meleese and her people. That is what I started to tell you back there when you shut me up. Mon Dieu, if it were not for Meleese I would let you go on. And then—what would happen then, m'seur, if you made your visit to them in broad day? Listen!"

Jean lifted a warning hand. Faintly there came to them through the forest the distant baying of a hound.

"That is one of our dogs from the Mackenzie country," he went on softly, an insinuating triumph in his low voice. "Now, m'seur, that I have brought you here what are you going to do? Shall we go on and take dinner with those who are going to kill you, or will you wait a few hours? Eh, which shall it be?"

For a moment Howland stood motionless, stunned by the Frenchman's words. Quickly he recovered himself. His eyes burned with a metallic gleam as they met the half taunt in Croisset's cool smile.

"I'M GOING TO KILL YOU!"

"If I had not stopped you we would have gone on?" he questioned tensely.

"To be sure, m'seur," retorted Croisset, still smiling. "You warned me to lose no time—that something would happen if I did."

With a quick movement Howland drew his revolver and leveled it at the Frenchman's heart.

"If you ever prayed to those blessed saints of yours do it now, Jean Croisset. I'm going to kill you!" he cried fiercely.

CHAPTER XIII.

THE GLEAM OF THE LIGHT.

In a single breath the face of Jean Croisset became no more than a mask of what it had been. The taunting smile left his lips and a gray pallor spread over his face as he saw Howland's finger crooked firmly on the trigger of his revolver. In another instant there came the sound of a metallic snap.

"The devil! An empty cartridge!" Howland exclaimed. "I forgot to load after those three shots at the cup. It's coming this time, Jean!"

Purposely he snapped the second empty cartridge.

"The great God!" gasped Jean. "M'seur"—

From deep in the forest came the baying of the Mackenzie hound. This time it was much nearer, and for a moment Howland's eyes left the Frenchman's terrified face as he turned his head to listen.

"They are coming!" exclaimed Croisset. "M'seur, I swear to"— Again Howland's pistol covered his heart.

"Then it is even more necessary that I kill you," he said, with frightful calmness. "I warned you that I would kill you if you led me into a trap, Croisset. The dogs are bushed. There is no way out of this but to fight. If there are people coming down the trail. Listen to that!"

This time, from still nearer, came the shout of a man and then of another, followed by the huskies' sharp yelping as they started afresh on the trail. The flush of excitement that had come into Howland's face paled until he stood as white as the Frenchman. But it was not the whiteness of fear. His eyes were like blue steel flashing in the sunlight.

"There is nothing to do but fight," he repeated, even more calmly than before. "If we were a mile or two back there it could all happen as I planned it. But here"—

"They will hear the shots," cried Jean. "The post is no more than a gunshot beyond the forest, and there are plenty there who would come out to see what it means. Quick, m'seur—follow me! Possibly they are hunters going out to the trap lines. If it comes to the worst"—

"What then?" demanded Howland.

"You can shoot me a little later," temporized the Frenchman, with a show of his old coolness. "Mon Dieu, I am afraid of that gun, m'seur. I will get you out of this if I can. Will you give me the chance, or will you shoot?"

"I will shoot—if you fail," replied the engineer.

Barely were the words out of his mouth when Croisset sprang to the head of the dogs, seized the leader by his neck trace and half dragged the team and sledge through the thick bush that edged the trail. A dozen paces farther on the dense scrub opened into the clearer run of the low hanging banskian through which Jean started at a slow trot, with Howland a yard behind him and the huskies following with human-like cleverness in the sinuous twistings of the trail which the Frenchman marked out for them. They had progressed not more than 300 yards when there came to them for a third time the hallooing of a voice. With a sharp "hup-hup" and a low crack of his whip Jean stopped the dogs.

"The Virgin be praised, but that is luck!" he exclaimed. "They have turned off into another trail to the east, m'seur."

(To be Continued.)

NEW YORK WELFARE EXHIBIT.

What it has Accomplished for the Children.

Two years ago the Welfare Association was formed to concentrate the stored wisdom of the leading social workers, thinkers and investigators, on the difficult problem of safeguarding the children so that we shall produce a nation of strong, happy upright men and women.

THE WELFARE EXHIBIT.

Last winter's "Child Welfare Exhibit" held in the great Armory of the Seventy-first Regiment was an effort to show what was being done and left undone for the city's children. No one who saw that exhibit will ever forget it, and the throngs of people of all classes, ages and conditions, that came day after day and night after night, testified eloquently, that the heart of the City had been reached, and wide spread interest aroused.

CHILDISH DEMONSTRATORS.

Some of the most fascinating exhibits were the spaces where boys from the manual training school were making gay, strong "do-with" toys, and the play shop with its delightful array of toys built from spools and paper boxes, especially the dolls house furnishings that every small girl was anxious to duplicate. In another place children trained in cooking, were preparing an appetizing meal for their working father and mother, and a thoroughly equipped nursery was shown, the entire furniture made from old Grocery boxes. A "nursery corner" that could be duplicated in a very small space was occupied by little children happily playing regardless of spectators. The children themselves everywhere were by far the most wonderful exhibit shown.

IN THE CENTRE COURT.

In the very centre of the vast drill hall, a court was used every afternoon and evening for talks, moving pictures, folk dances, etc., all bearing on the healthful enjoyment and wise upbringing of the child. The organization of boy scouts, Summer Camps and Bib Brother movements were described.

Boys gave a mock trial that showed their understanding of the administration of justice and the processes of the law.

TRAINED VOLUNTEERS.

The meaning of the exhibits was explained by trained volunteer workers, who showed mothers the economy and food values of different supplies, and gave hints on wise buying of materials and clothing for the family. There was a model dental clinic where the importance of caring for the mouth and teeth was demonstrated, and a nursery where the babies were to wear home their pretty white dresses, as souvenirs of their visit to the show.

CARTOONS AND STATUARY

A significant group of statuary by Mr. Louis Potter, showed a grandfather, mother and father bent under life's heavy burdens, with a little child already drooping in the shadow of the same fate. A series of cartoons showed graphically the "reason why" of a large proportion of the 12,437 infant deaths recorded in New York City last year, and how 8000 babies per year can be saved from a like fate if they are properly fed and cared for. Cheap and nourishing rations for school children formed a valuable and suggestive exhibit.

RESULTS.

It is only a few months since the Welfare Exhibit closed here, but its soul, like John Brown's, is marching on. Many of the exhibits have been transferred, intact to Chicago and other large cities, where little children are holding out their hands for the cities need of schools, playgrounds, innocent amusements and health safeguards, that will raise the standard of citizenship, and shorten the list of criminals and paupers.

BUSINESS AND PHILANTHROPY.

One does not customarily think of business and philanthropy as associated, but we are learning that helpfulness and neighborly kindness is often the best sort of practical business. Firms that manufacture articles for children were intensely interested in the Welfare Exhibit and many of them are giving efficient and practical help in solving the problems there presented. A year ago the Nestle Food Company established a model nursery over in the crowded East side, where the mothers are largely foreign-born, many unable to speak English. Trained nurses explain not only the preparation of food suited to their children, but instruct them in general hygiene as well, and show how it is possible in their surroundings to secure health and happiness for their children. The Nestle Food has the advantage of requiring only the addition of cold water and two minutes boiling to be ready for the feeding, and enough for the whole day can be prepared at one time, as it is not necessary to keep the food iced to have it sweet and wholesome.

A PHILANTHROPIC BROOKLYNITE

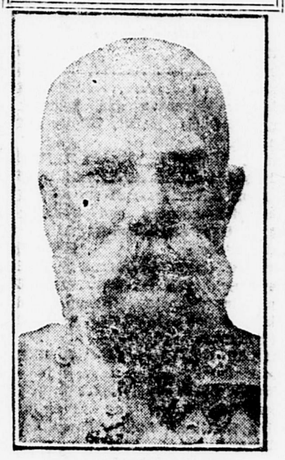
A wealthy man in the borough of Brooklyn was so pleased with the model dental clinic at the "Welfare" Show that he has given $15,000 to have it duplicated in a real clinic in Brooklyn. These are only a few of the results so far evident, but the influences set going are working in many directions for the good of the children. Eleanor Frances.

Drowned at York, Me.

York, Me., July 19.—Clayton H. Taft of the Waltham police force was caught in a strong undertow at Long Beach here and drowned in spite of the heroic endeavors of his son, Clayton H., Jr., who nearly died in a desperate atempt to save his father's life.

EMPEROR FRANCIS JOSEPH

Opened the Reichsrath In the Midst of Royalty



PRAYS FOR PEACE

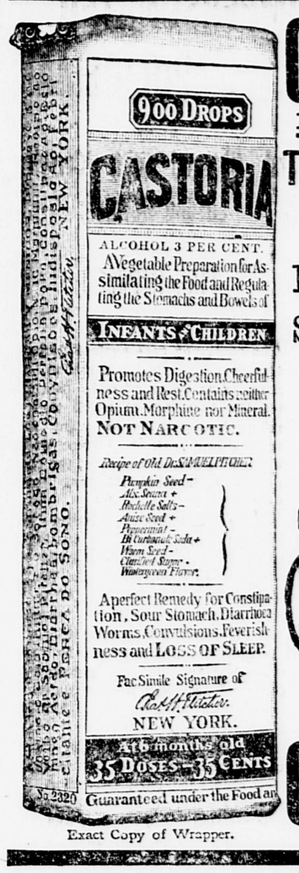
Emperor Opens Reichsrath In Presence of Large Gathering

Vienna, July 19.—Emperor Francis Joseph opened the reichsrath Tuesday. The archdukes were present and there was a large gatherin from both the upper and lower houses.

The speech from the throne, which the emperor read in a strong, clear voice, showing no trace of his recent illness, emphasized the necessity for the immediate reorganization of the army to make good the deficiencies of the past and to keep pace with "the development of military forces, which is progressing rapidly everywhere."

A little later in his speech he trusted that "the blessing of peace continues assured to Austria-Hungary by her intimate relations with her allies, which are unalterably cordial, as well as by the friendly relations which the monarchy is cultivating with all the powers."

The necessity for the creation of new financial resources was mentioned, and announcement made that provision would be made for the development of foreign commerce. The emperor urged the cessation of factional strife and the establishment of a working agreement between the Czechs and the German Liberals of the reichsrath.



Exact Copy of Wrapper.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.
In Use For Over Thirty Years
CASTORIA
THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

E. E. GRAY CO.
QUINCY and WOLLASTON
1525 Hancock Street, Music Hall Block
Corner Newport Avenue and Brook Street

Cuts for Week Beginning July 17

Eggs, Fancy Large Brown	per doz.	21c
Beans, York State, Hand Picked	per qt.	8c
Hire's Root Beer Extract	per bot.	13c
Salmon, Columbia River	large can	17c
Evaporated Milk, Peerless or Van Camps	large can	8c
Corn Flakes, Quaker	per pkg.	6c
Corn, Fancy Standard, Hunter Brand	per can	9c
Campbell's Soup, all flavors	3 cans for	25c
Extracts, Gray's Concentrated
Strictly Pure Vanilla	per bot.	17c
Orange and Lemon	per bot.	13c
Queen Olives	large bot.	20c
Jelly Powder, Golden Gate, all flavors	per pkg.	7c
Peanut Butter	per lb.	12c
Crackers, Fancy Soda	per lb.	6c

F M W

LLOYD'S
EYEGLASSES AND SPECTACLES
KRYPTOK BIFOCAL GLASSES
Far and Near Glasses in a Single Pair.
Many people can wear two vision KRYPTOK Glasses with comfort, who cannot wear two piece bifocals at all.
Any of our stores will be glad to show them.
315 Washington St.
310 Boylston St.
75 Summer St.
} BOSTON
1252 Massachusetts Ave. CAMBRIDGE.
ANDREW J. LLOYD CO.

YOUR VACATION
WON'T BE COMPLETE
UNLESS YOU LEAVE
AN ORDER FOR THE
QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
TO BE FORWARDED TO YOU
NEWS FROM HOME EVERY DAY
FOR ONLY TWO CENTS

Quincy Daily Ledger

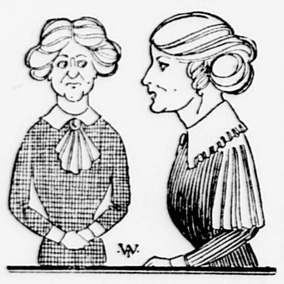
FOR SALE AT

BOSTON—At South Station after 3.30 P. M.
QUINCY—Ledger Office 1424 Hancock Street.
L. A. Chapin, 1395 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, oppo. Depot.
Thompson's Waiting Room, City Sq.
H. P. Kittredge, City Square.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
Mrs. Madden, 16 Quincy ave.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's News Stand.
PARK&DOWNS—Branschied & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
QUINCY NECK—Stetson Pierce, Newcomb Square.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith, Washington Street.
Gragg's Pharmacy.
L. A. Cook, Washington Street.
E. O. Godfrey, 538 Washington St.
E. H. Lowe, Washington Street.
George E. Sprague Cor. River St.
SOUTH QUINCY—Litchfield, Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Miss C. Booth, Brooks Avenue.
BREWER'S CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
Mrs. F. H. Stanley.
WEST QUINCY—F. A. Skinner.
John G. Belanger.
HOUGHS NECK—Capt. Fosdick's.

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	87 degrees
July 19, 1910,	78 degrees
July 19, 1909,	78 degrees
July Noon Maximum, 14 years,	101
July Noon Minimum, 14 years.	60

Where She Liked 'Em.



Aunt Margaret—I see that old time politeness among men is returning. They are again proposing on their knees.

Aunt Samantha—I'd rather have them there than on my hands.

BRIEFS

Miss Mollie Galvin of West street is having a two weeks vacation.

Charles McKenzie of Nova Scotia is the guest of Mrs. James Dillon of Common street.

Miss Grace Fisher and Mrs. Fisher of Euclid avenue are spending a few weeks in Truro, N. S.

Franz Marceau of Wollaston, the star miler, is entered in the annual track meet of The Church of Our Holy Redeemer which is taking place at Caledonian Grove, Roxbury, today.

A lawn party will be held at the home of Miss Minnie Trask this evening under the auspices of the Calvary Baptist Y. P. S. C. E. A lot of brand new games are promised and ice cream, tonics, etc., will be on sale.

THUMB NEARLY SEVERED.

Charles H. Brooks of Bent place came near losing one of his thumbs Tuesday. Mr. Brooks, who is located in a Boston market, attempted to enter the ice chest with an open knife in his hand when the door swung shut and his thumb was nearly severed. He was taken to the Relief hospital where the wound was dressed.

"Won't you be mine?" pleaded the love-stricken young man.

"I cannot," replied the fair young girl.

"I love you so! Say that you will marry me, my sweet one!"

"I tell you I cannot do it, Mr. Darlington. I hope I make myself plain."

Although rejected so emphatically, the youth's native gallantry did not desert him. Although she would not be his, she was a woman, and she was lovely. She was quite as lovely now as before she pronounced his doom.

"Make yourself plain?" he repeated. "You could not, with all your skill, do that, Miss Teeters. Your beauty cannot be disguised."

She gazed at him in surprse. Never before had a rejected one persisted in telling her she was beautiful. He interested her. A man like that was worth loving.

"Oh, George!" she exclaimed, "I'll take back all the cruel things I said, I am yours."

DEATHS

BEAN—In Quincy July 19, Elizabeth Bean, widow of the late Nicholas J. Bean. Funeral notice later.

Established 1870 Telephone
JOHN HALL
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
Carriage and Ambulance Service
1485 Hancock Street, Quincy Mass.

IMPERSONATED POLICEMAN

And Charged With Carrying Loaded Revolver

FINE IMPOSED

The continued case against Richard Robertson, for carrying a loaded revolver, came up in court by continuance this morning, at which time a new warrant was served upon him charging him with the larceny of $9 from the Braintree station of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad.

It is claimed that Robertson has been in the habit of impersonating a railroad officer and it was while assuming to be such, visited the Braintree station ticket office. After he had gone out the money was missed.

Robinson told the court that he was a painter, but had not had any work for some time, but now expected to get work. He also informed the court that he had been married Monday night.

A fine of $25 was imposed for carrying the loaded revolver, the sentence being suspended until December. In the case for larceny he was ordered to make restriction asd the case was continued on probation until December.

A GRANITE BOMB.

Jack Frost Hurled It Down Into the Yosemite Valley.

Delicate frost tracings on the window panes seem to be the work of fanciful and harmless sportiveness, but the hand that forms them is capable of greater deeds and of other kinds. Mr. J. Smeaton Chase, in "Yosemite Trails," describes an experience that must have been wonderfully impressive to the spectator. He had been spending some weeks in exploring the Yosemite valley and the "great rocks," like El Capitan, that wall it in.

Standing one day of late autumn about the middle of the valley, I was startled by a report like a cannon shot, which filled the whole valley with echoes that roared and boomed, replied and multiplied, in a long continued, glorious tumult.

As the deafening sound died away in sullen mutterings under the vizor of El Capitan I was able to distinguish the point of attack by the long, clattering descent of a vast quantity of rock.

The night had been a cold one in the valley, and on the seven to eight thousand foot levels of the upper rim the temperature must have dropped almost to zero.

Frost, working quietly with his Archimedean lever, had just succeeded in shifting from the shoulder of the sentinel a trifle of fifty tons or so of granite. For near a thousand feet the bowlder fell sheer, swift and silent; then, striking the cliff, it burst like a bomb, shattered into a myriad flying shards and splinters and dislodged a smother of fragments that trickled down to the valley in a stream that lasted for minutes.

Then from the spot where the bowlder had struck dust began to rise into the sunny air, slowly building up and burgeoning like a summer cloud and every whit as snowy. It was the flour of granite, powdered instantaneously by the terrific shock.

GOWNS AND OMENS.

Odd Superstitions That Darken the Dressmaker's Shop.

"Women who wear fine dresses are as superstitious as the girls who make them," said a dressmaker. "If the little accidents that happen in the workroom were not mercifully concealed from the owners of rich gowns they would be sick with apprehension half the time. I had one customer who refused to accept a very expensive dress because a girl who assisted with the fitting dropped a pair of scissors, which fell point down and stuck in the floor. That meant an order for mourning within six months. The customer hoped that by refusing the hoodoo dress she could avert the calamity, but the precaution was useless. In less than three months her father was dead.

"Girls are especially particular in their work on wedding dresses, for if a tiny drop of blood from a pricked finger should fall on the gown the bride would surely die before the end of the year. Then there is green thread. Whether the customer is there to see it or not, no dressmaker will keep green thread near spools of another color. Green thread used for basting means the return of a dress for alterations, and there is enough trouble of that kind in a dressmaking establishment without deliberately bidding for it.

"Women who are themselves superstitious are never surprised or offended at a sewing girl's untidy coiffure The girls tumble their hair about on purpose when working on a large order, for it is a sacred belief among dressmakers that a hair inadvertently worked into the garment shows that more work is coming soon from the same customer."—New York Sun.

LIVE SPORTING EVENTS

ON THE DIAMOND

American League

At Detroit	R	H	E
Detroit	16	16	6
Boston	7	10	1

Batteries—Donovan and Stanage; Karger, Killilay, HaHll, Cicotte and Carrigan.

At St. Louis:	R	H	E
Philadelphia	12	16	3
St. Louis	3	10	1

Batteries—Leonard and Thomas; Nelson, Criss and Stephens.

At Cleveland:	R	H	E
Cleveland	9	9	2
New York	6	10	3

Batteries—Blanding, Krapp and Fisher; Quinn, Brockett, Caldwell and Sweeney.

At Chicago:	R	H	E
Washington	7	18	3
Chicago	1	8	1

Batteries—Walker and Ainsmith; White, Olmstead, Baker, Payne and Sullivan.

National League

At Boston:	R	H	E
Chicago	14	11	0
Boston	6	10	4

Batteries—Richie, Graham and Archer; Tyler, Pfeffer and Kling.

At New York:	R	H	E
Cincinnati	8	11	1
New York	2	5	4

Batteries—Keefe and McLean; Marquard, Crandall and Myers.

At Philadelphia:	R	H	E
Philadelphia	4	7	1
Pittsburg	2	5	1

Batteries—Moore and Dooin; Camnitz, Steele and Gibson.

Second Game:	R	H	E
Philadelphia	2	8	0
Pittsburg	1	6	1

Batteries—Alexander and Dooin; Liefield and Simon.

At Brooklyn:	R	H	E
St. Louis	8	10	0
Brooklyn	3	5	2

Batteries—Harmon and Bliss; Knetzer and Erwin.

New England League

At Brockton:	R	H	E
Brockton	5	9	3
New Bedford	5	7	0

Batteries—Ward and Wadleigh; Pruitt and Rufiange.

Second Game:	R	H	E
Brockton	4	11	3
New Bedford	3	8	2

Batteries—Smythe, Foley and Tevlin; McDonald and Rufiange.

At Lowell:	R	H	E
Lowell	3	6	1
Fall River	2	7	1

Batteries—Wolfgang and Lavigne; Wormwood and Perkins.

At Haverhill:	R	H	E
Haverhill	5	11	3
Lynn	4	7	2

Batteries—Hogg and Milliman; Case, Reiger and Daum.

At Worcester:	R	H	E
Worcester	8	12	2
Lawrence	4	10	4

Batteries—Van Dyke and McCune; Luyster and Ulrich.

SPORTING NOTES.

Miss Olive Allen won the ladies' singles in the Presidents Hill tennis club tournament on Tuesday defeating Mrs. Charles Sampson, 6-2, 6-2, 9-7.

The Quincy Independents open their season at the Old Colony grounds, on Saturday with the first of a series of three games with the West Quincys. The game will be preceded by a parade and a band concert. Games will be played on the same grounds on July 29 and August 5 and the winner of two out of the three will meet all comers on the Saturdays following.

The Elliot A. A. would like to challenge any 10-11 year old team in the city. Address Philip Kelliken, 18 North Payne street.

The Utes A. C. defeated the Cranch A. C. on Tuesday by a score of 5 to 4. The battery for the Utes was McWade and Amrock.

SWITCHED THEIR VOTES.

The Incident That Won Tom Corwin's First Fight For Congress.

"When I saw the oil painting of Tom Corwin in the treasury," said an Ohio man, "I could not but recall the story told in Corwin's old home of Lebanon of how he won his first election to congress. He was a young man and already noted as an orator, but he had a hard district and little encouragement for election. He was making his tour of the counties and one night stopped at the double cabin of a farmer known to be a very fervent advocate of political policies of the opposition. Corwin talked politics carefully with the old man and his sons before bedtime, but had little hope of winning a single vote in the household. In the morning the old man took Corwin outside and announced that every voter in the family would be for him on election day. This astonished and delighted Corwin, who could not help but ask why the sudden change of heart.

"The old man told how the opposition candidate had stopped at his house one night the week before and how the host and wife had watched the candidate go to bed. To their disgust, he actually put on a nightgown like those worn by a woman. This disgusted the rugged old pioneer. Then Corwin was told how the old farmer and his wife had watched him go to bed, and as he had not bothered about a nightie they determined he was not taken to frills. Corwin could see the humor of the incident, and in every succeeding speech he told that nightshirt story on the other candidate, holding him up to scorn. The result was a victory for Corwin, and he owed it all to that story of a shirt."—Washington Post.

CORE OF THE EARTH.

It May Be a Mass of Steel Some 5,580 Miles In Diameter.

Various conjectures have been made from time to time by geologists as to the possible condition of the center of the earth. One of the most popular impressions seems to be that the earth's center, or core, is a flaming furnace. At a meeting of the Seismological association at The Hague Professor Weichert asserted that his studies of the varying velocity of earthquake tremors passing through the interior of the globe have led him to the conclusion that the earth consists of a central core of iron or steel, about 5,580 miles in diameter, surrounded with a stony shell 930 miles in thickness. Between the outer solid rind and the inner layer of rock, covering the metallic core, he thinks there is a layer of liquid or plastic material, lying a little less than twenty miles below the surface of the earth.

Men sometimes dream of enormous wealth stored deep in the earth below the reach of miners, but experts now aver that there is little or no ground to believe that any valuable metallic deposits lie very deep in the earth's crust regardless of Professor Weichert's beliefs to the contrary. Such deposits, it is said, are made by underground waters, and owing to the pressure on the rocks at great depths the waters are confined to a shell near the surface. With few exceptions ore deposits become too lean to repay working below 3,000 feet. Nine mines in ten, taking the world as a whole, are poorer in the second thousand feet than in the first thousand, and poorer yet in the third thousand than in the second.—New York World.

To Stop Hiccoughs.

Simple cases of hiccough are often relieved by such measures as sucking ice or taking salt and vinegar, says the New York Medical Journal. Pulling the tongue forward and holding it for some time is an effective procedure. Sometimes obstinate hiccough is relieved when the patient is strong by having him hang with the arms extended and grasping some beam or pole, so that his feet do not touch the floor. With all the abdominal muscles tense, have him hold his breath as long as possible. Sneezing is very efficient in certain cases, since it is the exact opposite to hiccough, being a sudden expiratory act.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

Cremo 5¢ CIGAR
You try one!

FOR SALE

The cozy home, situated No. 24 Marsh Street, consisting of a six room house, city water, 4400 square feet of land, fruit trees. Price reasonable.

Call and see,

JAMES F. BURKE,
REAL ESTATE AGENT,
Room 4, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, Mass.
July 15-tf

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.

BATHING SUITS

Caps and Water Wings

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

Boston & Northern St. Ry. Co.

QUINCY DIVISION

TIME TABLE

In effect June 24th, 1911.

Subject to Change Without Notice

Leave QUINCY for

Brockton, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M. then 9.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Brockton, 6.30, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 9.30 P. M Sundays, 8.00A. M. then same as week days.

Braintree, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Braintree, 6.25 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.25 P. M. Sundays, 7.55 A. M. then same as week days.

East Milton, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Milton, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M., and every 20 minutes to 11.45 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.15 midnight.) Sundays, 7.25, A. M. then same as week days.

East Weymouth, 6.00, 6.15, 6.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.42 P. M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Weymouth, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.45 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Holbrook, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M. then 9.50 and 10.20 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Holbrook, 5.55, 6.25, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.00 P. M. Sundays, 8.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Houghs Neck, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 5.20, 5.45, 6.10 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 4.10 P. M. then 4.25, 4.40, 4.55, 5.10, 5.25, 5.40, 5.55, 6.10, 6.25, 6.40, 6.55, 7.10 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 11.10 P. M. then 11.49 P. M. Saturdays and Holidays, 5.20, 5.45, 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, 10.10, 10.40, A. M. then every 15 minutes to 10.40 P. M. then 11.10 and 11.49 P. M. Sundays, 6.50, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, 10.10, 10.40 A. M. then every 15 minutes to 10.40 P. M. then 11.10 P. M. Return, leave Houghs Neck Mondays to Fridays, both inc. 5.45, 6.05, 6.35 A. M. and ever 30 minutes to 4.35 P. M. then 4.50, 5.05, 5.20, 5.35, 5.50, 6.05, 6.20, 6.35, 6.50, 7.05, 7.20, 7.35 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 12.05 midnight. Saturdays and Holidays, 5.45, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05, A. M. then every 15 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.35 P. M. Sundays, 7.20, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05 A. M. then every 15 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.35 P. M.

Nantasket 8.25 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 9.25 P. M. Sundays, 9.25 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Nantasket, 10.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.00 P. M. Sundays, 10.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Hancock Street, 5.45, 6.14, 6.44, 7.14, 7.44, 8.14, 8.35, A. M. then 5, 14, 35 and 44 minutes past each hour to 10.44 P. M. then 12.14 midnight. Sundays 7.14 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Neponset 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, 8.07, 8.35, 8.37, 9.05, 9.37 A. M. then 5, 7, 35 and 37 minutes past each hour to 11.07 P. M. then 12.37 midnight. Sundays, 7.37 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Wollaston, 5.59 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.59 P. M. then 11.14 and 11.44 P. M. Sundays, 6.59 A. M. then same as week days. Return leave Neponset, 6.22 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.22 P. M. then 11.37, 12.07 P. M. Sundays, 7.22 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Norfolk Downs, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 7.55, 8.25, 8.50, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 1.30 P. M. then 2.05, 2.35 P. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.05 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.00 P. M.) Sundays, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Neponset, 7.00 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 1.35 P. M. then 2.00, 2.30 P. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M.) Sundays, 8.30, 9.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Weymouth Landing, 5.20, 6.00, 6.20, 6.55, 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.00 P. M. Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days. Return leave Weymouth Landing, 5.40, 6.15, A. M and every 30 minutes to 11.15 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Wollaston, 5.59 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.59 P. M. then 11.14 and 11.44 P. M. Sundays, 6.59 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Wollaston, 6.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.30 P. M. then 11.50 and 12.20 P. M. Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days.

West Quincy, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave West Quincy, 6.00, 6.20, 6.50, A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.50 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.20 midnight) Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days.

Leave NEPONSET BRIDGE for Squantum, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 3.30 P. M. then 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30 P. M. then every 60 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Saturdays, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Sundays, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. (Note—Week Days, cars will leave Atlantic Bridge for Squantum, 5.45 and 6.15 A. M.) Return leave Squantum, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 4.05 P. M. then 4.35, 5.05, 5.35, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05 P. M. then every 60 minutes to 11.05 P. M. Saturdays, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 10.05 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. Sundays, 8.05 9.05, 10.05, A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M.

THOMAS GAMMON,
Superintendent.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

In effect June 4, 1911

The letters in the same line as the figures below stand for different stations and indicate that trains stop as follows.

a Wollaston	f Harrison Square
b Norfolk Downs	g Savin Hill
c Atlantic	h Crescent Avenue
d Neponset	i South Boston
e Pope's Hill	r Quincy Adams

Exp.—Express train.

TO BOSTON			FROM BOSTON
Leave	Stop	Arrive	Leave	Stop	Arrive
r 5 14	abcdefghi	5 41	5 45	ihgfedcba	6 14 r
r 6 16	abci	6 35	6 12	ihgfedcba	6 39 r
r 6 33	e	6 48	6 30	a	6 47
r 6 40	abcf	7 00	7 15	hgfedcba	7 41 r
r 7 08	abcd	7 30	7 41	a	7 58
r 7 25	d	7 42	7 45	c	8 03 r
r 7 33	Exp	7 48	8 35	cb	8 53
r 7 42	ab	8 00	8 42	a	8 59
7 57	a	8 13	9 10	fedba	9 32 r
r 8 09	abcd	8 31	9 45	a	10 01 r
r 8 30	Exp	8 45	10 15	ihgfedcba	10 41 r
r 8 53	ad	9 10	10 50	Exp	11 05
r 9 15	abc	9 33	11 15	hgfedcba	11 41 r
r 10 03	a	10 20	11 50	a	12 07
r 10 19	abcdefghi	10 45	12 15	hgfedcba	12 41 r
11 12	a	11 28	12 37	a	12 54 r
r 11 24	abcdefghi	11 50	12 50	Exp	1 05
12 04	a	12 20	1 11	fedcba	1 32 r
r 12 25	abcdefghi	12 52	1 45	a	2 02
1 22	a	1 40	2 15	ihgf	2 37 r
2 04	a	2 20	2 35	Exp	2 50
r 2 19	abcdefgh	2 45	3 15	hgfedcba	3 40 r
r 3 13	Exp	3 28	3 45	a	4 02
4 04	a	4 20	4 12	fedcba	4 34 r
r 4 25	abcdefgh	4 52	4 41	d	4 58
5 05	Exp	5 10	5 14	a	5 31 r
r 5 30	abcdefg	5 55	5 24	a	5 42
6 12	a	6 30	5 31	dcb	5 50 r
7 22	Exp	7 37	5 43	a	6 00 r
r 7 30	a	7 46	5 55	iedcba	6 21 r
r 8 07	abcdef	8 30	6 14	Exp	6 30 r
r 9 01	abc	9 20	6 30	ecba	6 51 r
10 04	a	10 20	7 00	fedcba	7 24 r
r 10 07	abcdef	10 30	7 12	a	7 29
r 11 25	abc	11 45	8 05	ba	8 32
			9 25	dba	9 46 r
			10 35	fedcba	11 02 r
			11 10	fedcba	11 35 r
			11 30	ba	11 49

SUNDAYS

r 7 43	abc	8 03	6 30	ba	6 48 r
8 30	Exp	8 45	45	ihgfedcba	9 13 r
8 34	abc	8 52	9 05	Exp	9 21
r 8 46	bcdefghi	9 13	10 *5	ihgfedcba	10 2 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	12 15	ihgfedcba	12 42 r
9 31	a	9 47	12 45	Exp	1 01
10 23	ac	10 40	1 30	ihgfedcba	1 57 r
10 31	Exp	10 47	2 15	hgfedcba	2 42 r
11 00	Exp	11 17	2 45	a	3 02
r 11 16	abcdefghi	11 43	3 15	ihgfedcba	3 42 r
1 02	Exp	1 17	4 27	cba	4 48 r
r 1 16	abcdefgh	1 43	5 15	ihgfedcba	5 42 r
r 3 10	abc	3 30	6 15	ihgfedcba	6 42 r
r 4 16	abcdefghi	4 43	7 00	cba	7 19 r
r 5 07	abc	5 27	8 15	ihgfedcba	8 41 r
r 6 16	abcdefghi	6 43	8 50	Exp	9 05
r 7 16	abcdefghi	7 42	9 30	ihgfedcba	9 57 r
r 8 11	abcdefghi	8 38	10 45	cba	11 04 r
r 9 05	a	9 22
r 10 46	abc	11 05
r 11 01	abc	11 20

West Quincy for Boston (stopping at East Milton)-6.23, 6.56, 7.17, 8.04, 8.11, 9.07 10.09, 11.01, A. M. 12.09, 1.23, 2.09, 3.18, 4.09, 5.13 6.06, 7.19, 9.09, 11.14 P. M. Sundays- 8.20, 9.20 A. M. 12.50, 5.15, 6.59, 11.02 P. M.

Boston for West Quincy (stopping at East Milton)-6.35, 7.27, 8.23, 9.35, 10.25, 11.35 A. M. 12.25 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 5.47, 6.18 7.20, 9.10, 11.20 P. M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M.

Montclair for Boston 6.29, 7.2', 8.17, 10.15, A. M. 12.15, 1.29, 4.15, 5.20, 6.12, 7.26, 9.15, P. M. Sundays - 8.26, 9.26, A. M. 1.06, 5.21, 11.09 P. M.

Boston for Montclair 9.35, 10.25, 11.35, A. M. 12.25, 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 6.18, 11.20 P. M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M. 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents. Three consecutive insertions 50 cents, 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.

No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

FOUND

FOUND—A gentleman's watch at Houghs Neck on Sunday, July 16th. Owner may have same by proving property and paying charges. Address O. S. Johnson, 207 Keith avenue, Campello. July 19-3t

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Two cylinder 6 h. p. marine engine, schebler carburetor and coil, price $50, also a 20 ft. semi speed boat on easy terms, take phonograph or camera as part payment. C. A. I. Ledger Office. July 19-21, 22

$125.00 Buys horse, harness and light wagon. Horse 7 years old 1000 lbs. all in good condition. A bargain. Apply Barnard's Bakery, 1587 Hancock street, Quincy. Tele. 913 M Quincy. July 18-2t

FOR SALE—At a great sacrifice income property paying 12 per cent on investment in Quincy. Owner going to N. H. No letters answered. Call 141 Upland road, city. July 15-6t

FOR SALE or TO LET—Before you buy or rent, consult me. Houses for sale or to rent in the finest residential section in Quincy. All improvements. Close to school, churches, stores and depot. C. A. ERICSON, Builder 117 Glendale Road. Tel. Quincy 586 M. W and Sat. May 22-tf

MEN and WOMEN, sell guaranteed hose. 70 per cent profit. Make $10 daily. Full or part time. Beginners investigate. Wear Proof, 3038 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, Pa. July 8-9w W. and S.

WANTED

WANTED—Ladies in need of first class help cook, 2nd, chamber, parlor maids. Light housework, also women to go out by the hour call or phone 485-W. L. M. Flynn, 1522 Hancock street. Oldest employment office in city. July 19-3t

WANTED—An experienced second girl, must have good references and be willing to spend July and August on the Cape. Apply Paul R. Blackmur, 68 Elm street, Quincy. July 19-4t

WANTED TO BUY, 2-flat house in good location, in Quincy; state lowest price, terms, and full particulars. Address F. H. Ledger Office. July 19-3t 19, 20, 22

WANTED—Young man clerk in Wet Wash Laundry. Must be good scholar, willing to work. Pay $1.50 day, 4 days each week. H. Bryan, 63 Madison street, Atlantic. July 17-3t

TO LET

TO LET—Several well located and very desirable tenements. Apply to C. H. Hardwick, 104 Revere road, Quincy at once. Tel. Quincy 85-2 or 291-2. July 18-3t

TO LET—Large front room furnished suitable for man and wife or two men. Call at 26 School street. July 18-6t

TO LET—Tenement of 5 rooms at 42 Euclid avenue. All latest improvements. Apply to C. A. Ericson 177 Glendale road or P. Curry 94 Federal avenue, Quincy Adams. July 18-6t

TO LET—Half house on Miller Stile road, 7 rooms, all improvements Apply to E. V. Fitts, 19 Miller Stile road, Quincy. July 18-L-P-tf

TO LET—Lower flat of 5 rooms and bath. Electric lights and gas. Rent $16. 5 Parsons street. Apply 7 Parson street, South Quincy. July 13-tf

TO LET—On Spear street, tenement of 4 rooms and bath. All modern improvements. Apply to C. A. Ericson, 117 Glendale road. Tel 586 M. June 27-tf

TO LET—Tenement with 9 rooms and bath at Quincy Point, also rooms to let and table board at 55 Washington street, Quincy, Mrs. Margaret S. MacDonnell. June 23-1mo.

FOR RENT—Quincy, Centre, apposite Adams Academy, house of 8 rooms and bath, also garage, 3 minutes to R. R. Station. Dr. E. S. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263L, Weymouth. May 10-tf

TO LET

Half House No. 44 Bigelow street, 7 rooms and bath. Shades, screens, electric lights, set tubs, range, etc. Rent $25. per month. Apply to Miss Prescott, Ledger Office. Quincy. July 3-tf

FOR RENT

On Spear street, very desirable house of 8 rooms, bath and laundry. All modern improvements, range, gas, electric lights shades and screens. Large piazzas and lawn. To private family only. Apply at 41 Spear street or of Miss Prescott at Ledger Office, Quincy.

June 2-tf L. P. O

TO LET

Tenement—22 B Granite Street. $16.00 per month.

Greenleaf Hall—Greenleaf Block Large Furnished Hall with various anterooms—to let by the evening or permanently.

City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 26 feet high. Splendid light, low rent

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)
Music Hall Block, Quincy.

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

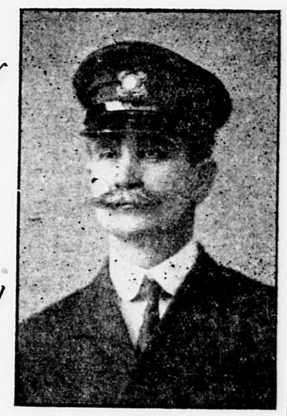
Vol. 26 No. 165 | QUINCY, MASS. THURSDAY EVENING JULY 20, 1911 | PRICE TWO CENTS

BELLES AND BEAUX OF QUINCY'S "SMART SET" ENJOY THE HOSPITALITY OF THE YACHT CLUB AT THE ANNUAL LADIES' DAY CELEBRATION YESTERDAY

Fair Weather and Fair Guests Together With Perfect Arrangements Make the Day an Unprecedented Success

Yearly Yachting Parade and Review Followed by Dainty Luncheon Enjoyed by Hundreds. Dancing in the Evening

Ex-Commodore E. W. Sheppard



Commodore Ira M. Whittemore

Ladies that were fair, bright sunny skies and a good sailing breeze left nothing to be desired to make the annual ladies' day of the Quincy Yacht club a grand success. In fact, it may be said to have been one of the most successful events of the kind ever held by the club. The lateness of the tide made the starting of the sail a little later than usual but what was lost at the beginning was made up at the end.

Special cars from Quincy carried hundreds to the club house, automobiles took many more while others whose moorings were further up the river came by yachts. It was but a little after 1 o'clock when the first special cars left City Square for the club house and every half hour, thereafter, until 3 o'clock saw others leaving. Long before this, however, the committees having the day in charge were on hand getting things in readiness, so that when the first carload of guests arrived the members were ready to receive them.

Many of the yachts were moored some distance from the club floats, so that it was necessary to transfer the guests from the floats to the yachts by motor boats, several of which had been provided by the committee. This took some time so that it was a little after 3 o'clock when the boom of a cannon from the flagship Dartwell, announced that the sail was about to take place. With the sounding of the gun the figure 1 was displayed on the flagship denoting that the No. 1 course would be sailed. This took the yachts to Jack Knife ledge buoy, back to Pig rock, thence to the black can buoy in Hingham channel and to club house.

At 3.25 a second gun was fired which was a signal for the yachts to pass in review. First came the Iris, with Vice Commodore Harry S. Crane and then the remainder of the fleet. As each yacht passed the flagship it dipped its colors to Commodore Whittemore who stood on the bow. A salute of one gun was fired in return.

It was indeed a pretty sight to see the long row of yachts with all colors flying pass in review and head for Jack Knife ledge buoy. A good sailing easterly breeze prevailed, and the sea was calm so that there was no danger of the fair guests receiving a drenching.

The return from the sail was made at a little after 5 o'clock and as tide was not until 5.16 yachts as a rule were enabled to land their guests at the club floats.

While the sail was in progress, those who from preference remained ashore, enjoyed a fine concert by Monk's orchestra.

At 5.30 the usual lunch was served in the hall of the club house and here the arrangements were the best ever. The serving of the lunch has always been a problem that the club has had to contend with, mainly for lack of room, but with the enlarged club house this was considerably simplified.

After luncheon many of the yachts took out parties for a short sail, while others enjoyed the pretty scene from club piazzas. By 7 the floor of the hall had been cleared and there was dancing until 10 o'clock. During the evening many colored lanterns were suspended about the piazzas, making a pretty sight, especially from the water. At 10.15 special cars left for Quincy and the ladies' day of 1911 passed into history.

As stated above the affair was an unqualified success, which was due to the untiring efforts of the House and Reception committees as follows:

House Committee—Vice Commodore Henry S. Crane, Commodore Ira M. Whittemore, Secretary John O. Hall, Edgar W. Emery, Thomas E. Furnald, F. W. Easterbrook, Rear Commodore Frank F. Crane, Treasurer George S. Morse, William J. Hudson, Fred E. Tupper, George L. Tupper, W. S. Hardwick.

Recpeiton Committee—L. O. Files, F. E. Winslow, Stanley F. Duncan, William H. Huy, George W. Holden, George H. Newcomb, John Winslow, W. H. Nichols, L. W. Mathews, F. R. Cowling, George E. Bell, Andrew F. Burrill, Harry E. Winslow, W. Russell Parker, James Hector.

The yachts to participate in the review and sail and their guests were as follows:

Flagship Dartwell, Commodore Ira M. Whittemore—Mrs. I. M. Whittemore, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Plummer, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Huy, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Cowling, Miss Vivian Cowling, Mrs. J. L. Sweet, Miss Laura Sweet, Miss J. Eleanor Whittemore, L. Moller.

Yacht Iris, Vice Commodore Henry S. Crane—Mrs. H. S. Crane Commodore James A. Ring, U. S. N. and Mrs. Ring; Mr. and Mrs. George G. Saville, Mrs. Amy Weeden, Rear Commodore and Mrs. Frank F. Crane, Miss Prescilla Ring, Miss Natalie Saville, Miss Helene Crane, Miss Isabel Crane, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel T. MacQuarrie, Lawrence MacQuarrie, Miss Lois Holman, Miss Carrie Crane, Capt. Frank Freeman, Sidney Crane, Morton Ring, Stanhope Ring, Harold Morse, Mr. and Mrs. William B. Dimon.

Yacht Susan W, Fleet Capt. George H. Wilkins—Mrs. G. H. Wilkins, Mrs. D. Cary Keith, Mrs. O. B. Ellis, Miss B. A. Hunt, Miss Chandler, Alex I. Smith, H. L. Baker, Miss B. C. Brown.

Launch Jennie, Capt. J. E. Kneeland—Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Balfe, Mr. and Mrs. R. Y. Woodbury, Miss Sadie G. Emmons, Rosswell Woodbury.

Yacht Waweenock, Capt. G. W. Sargent—Mrs. G. W. Sargent, Mrs. E. F. Hayden, James W. Hayes, George Clapp.

Launch Secret II, Capt. E. W. Hunt—Mrs. E. W. Hunt, Mrs. W. A. Hall, Mrs. Charles Kaler, Mrs. Leonard Hollis, E. A. Hunt, Miss Esther Cone, Miss Madeline Hunt, Frank Ness, Miss Helen Hunt, Raymond Hubbard.

Launch Saquish, Capt. A. J. Podbury, Miss Violet McConell, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. A. McConell, Miss Marion Cobb, Miss Mildred Podbury, Charles W. Dill, John Walcott, Mrs. D. J. Podbury.

Launch Ande, Capt. Joseph Kelly—Mrs. Joseph Kelley, Miss Rose Coughlin, Dr. Walter Whalen, Fred O'Brien.

Launch Alert, Capt. B. Sturgis—Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Richardson, Mrs. E. N. Tessier, Mr. and Mrs. O. Benson, Miss A. Lanson, Mrs. O. P. Blanquist, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Macdonald, E. Turner.

Launch Fire Fly, Capt. T. L. Williams, Mrs. T. L. Williams, Lindall Williams, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Richards.

Yacht Nortorious, Capt. D. D. Nickerson—Mrs. D. D. Nickerson, Arthur Neale, Harry Sweet, Vinton French, Launch Messenger, Capt. George Finlay—Mrs. A. W. Finlay, Miss Dorothea Finlay, Mrs. B. C. Gordon, Mrs. Eva Cavanagh.

Launch Rose Marie, Capt. Philip H. Sullivan—Mrs. P. H. Sullivan, Mrs. J. Winsor Davy, Mrs. Lind.

Yacht Wanderer, Capt. Helen Cavanagh—Miss Elizabeth Torrey, Miss Eleanor Files, John Cavanagh, Miss Ella Acorn, Miss Mary Cavanagh, George Coughlin, Roy Cavanagh.

Launch Amema, Capt. Ben Manly—Miss Daisy Bulmer, Mrs. M. A. Merriam, Mrs. Anthony Anderson, Charles Saunders.

Yacht Mowghi, Capt. C. C. Chapman—Mrs. C. C. Chapman, Mrs. Durgan, Miss Guenever Burrell, Miss Gladys Maclean.

Yacht Hush, Capt. W. Stoddard Hardwick—Capt. Clark Saville, Capt. George H. Newcomb, Capt. George Gordon, Capt. H. P. Kittredge, Capt. Edward Beaman, Capt. George H. Tupper, Capt. Marden Hayward, Miss Corinne Hayward, Miss Lilla M. Howard, Miss Josephine Torrey, Miss Rachel Hardwick, Miss Katherine Hardwick, Capt. Edwin Graham.

Launch Queen, Capt. W. J. O'Brien Jr.—Miss Mary Ryan, Philip J. O'Brien, Leo J. O'Brien.

Yacht Ponemah, Capt. D. J. Ring—Mrs. Edward J. Murphy, Henry DeCosta, Henry MacDonald, Miss Agnes Deasy, Miss May Gavin, Miss Esther M. Gustafson, Master Philip Murphy.

Yacht Yarita, Capt. H. E. Ayer—Mrs. John L. Ayer, Miss Martha Robinson, Miss Elizabeth Firke, Miss Helen Ayer, Douglas Care, Mr. Isbister.

Yacht Bonita, Capt. F. E. Tupper—James H. Lalley, H. E. Spear.

Launch Minora, Capt. Charles Nason—Miss Margaret Leary, Miss Mary Leary, Miss Rita McGrath, Miss I. C. Oswald.

Launch Naughty Girl, Capt. Oscar S. Sandberg—Mr. and Mrs. B. Golbranson, Miss Hannah Sandberg, Miss Marie Olson, Miss Anna Olson.

Launch Sabrina, Capt. Howard D. Spear—Mrs. H. D. Spear, Miss Elinor P. Spear, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sampson, Miss Carrie F. Spear, Miss Mary M. Souther, Miss Dorothy P. Lowe, Miss Norma C. Lowe, Raymond Hall, Herbert R. Holmes, Albert Parker.

Yacht Ella, Capt. Frank Burlse—Mrs. T. J. Burke.

Yacht Beatrice, Capt. James Hector—Mrs. James Hector, Miss Gertrude Scott, Miss Edna Holyoke, Miss Katherine Coughlin, Mrs. H. R. Dane, Miss Sadie Walmsley, Miss Mildred Cavanagh, Miss Beatrice Barnett, Miss Hilda Kelty, Miss Mabel Wentworth, Miss Bertha Hanson, Channing Furnald, George Hanson, Russell Parker.

Launch Priscilla—Capt. L. Brewster Walker, Mrs. E. W. Newcomb, Mrs. Wilson Marsh, Miss Carlina Walker, B. U. Saville.

Yacht Goblin, Capt. John Bass—Miss Harriet Baird, Miss Marie Bass, Miss Florence Howe, Howard Andrews, John Winslow.

Yacht Nigi, Capt. Ray Coyle—Miss Mary Coyle, Miss Katherine Garrity G. W. Gavin.

Yacht Emeline, Capt. H. W. Robbins—Mrs. Herbert W. Robbins, Mrs. Arthur W. Harris, Mrs R. Roy Mc-

(Continued on Page Three.)

OUTING WAS DELIGHTFUL

Granite City Club Has Sumptuous Dinner at Nantasket

SIXTY IN PARTY

The complimentary outing of the Granite City club to its fair friends, Wednesday evening, was a grand success and again demonstrated the fact that the club is a prince of entertainers. The program included an automobile trip through the South Shore, with dinner at the Pequot Inn. Owing to the ladies' day of the Yacht club, and other events the attendance was not as large as it would otherwise have been although the party numbered over sixty. The start was made from the club house a few minutes after 7 o'clock.

The run to Nantasket was without incident, allowing the usual automobile mishaps which in this case amounted to two blowouts. The hour for the dinner was 8.30 and it was but a few minutes after that time, when the party were seated in the big dining room, with appetities sharpened to a keen edge. The menu was a good one and the dinner elegant in its appointments.

Steamed Duxbury Clams
With Broth
Celery Olives Radishes
Cream Fish Chowder
Educator Wafers
Broiled Young Schrod
Drawn Butter
Saratoga Chips Chilled Cucumbers
Broiled or Baked Live Lobster
Potatoes Au Gratin New Green Peas
Lettuce and Tomato Salad
Chese Educator Toasterettes
Neapolitan Ice Cream Assorted Cake
Demi Tasse

It was after 10 o'clock before the last course was served and it was some time after that before the last automobile had left for home. Some of the party thought the evening too fine to hurry home and a ride was taken to Hull. Others paid a visit to the Palm Garden and enjoyed the concert that takes place in the garden following the concert in the park so that it was 11 o'clock before the last of the party started for home, ten miles away. Ten miles, however, amounts to little in an automobile and half an hour later saw the happy party in City Square.

The evening had been one of great enjoyment to all and great credit is due to the Entertainment Committee for their efficient management of the affair.

MRS. BEAN DEAD.

Mrs. Elizabeth Bean, mother of Edward L. Bean, and widow of Mr. Nicholas J. Bean for many years prominently known in the North End, Boston, died at the residence of her son 21 Franklin street, Wednesday noon, after an illness of several weeks.

Mrs. Bean has been a resident of Quincy for the past twelve years and had made many fast and firm friends. Her family was one of the most prominent in the North End Boston, her husband representing that ward in the Boston City Council and afterward in the legislature in the seventies. Both Mr. and Mrs. Bean were intimate friends of Gov. Andrew. Mrs. Bean was also a great worker in the St. Mary's church, in that section of Boston, and was the recipient of the personal invitation of Archbishop Williams to meet Cardinal Manning when he was on a visit to Boston 25 years ago.

Mrs. Bean leaves a son and daughter. Her son is Edward L. Bean the well known undertaker and her daughter is Sister Josephine, of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul and is at present stationed at St. Mary's infant asylum in Dorchester. Mrs. Bean also gave another daughter to the order, Sister Augustine, who died in Albany, N. Y. in 1879.

TODAY'S COURT.

John Flaherty and John R. Curtis were fined $5 each for drunkenness at Quincy and John E. Coughlin $15 for drunkenness at Braintree.

(ADVERTISE.)

Get That Vacation Suit Now

AUGUST is near. Vacations in sight. Sweltering days loaded with humidity are due. If ever a man needs a cool dressy suit, it's right now.

A good suit is almost indispensable.

That's the only kind we have.

We were never knowingly guilty of selling poor merchandise. We value public opinion too highly.

Suits at $10 to $18

These suits are fine, soft, pure worsteds of fast color. Some are plain and some are in the latest fancy weaves. The price means a saving of $3 and possibly twice as much if you traded in the Boston high rent district.

We can save many dollars for every one who has a boy.

GEORGE W. JONES

1 Granite St., "Just Around the Corner" Quincy

July 20-3t--o-1w

Lee's Inn

SQUANTUM, MASS.

Fish, Chicken, and Lobster Dinners

Also A la Carte bill

11 A. M. to 11 P. M.

Tel. 3646 M Dor.

5 cent fare (if transfer) direct to Lee's Boardwalk.

July 18-3t eod

EXTRA!

BRAINTREE TOWN HALL BURNING

Braintrees Town Hall, the scene of many a hot town meeting is in flames and when the Ledger went to press at 2 o'clock the flames had eaten through the roof and it looked as though the cupalo would fall at any minute.

The fire is thought to have started from some old oil rags and when discovered had made considerable headway. An alarm was sounded

(Continued on Page Six.)

A Cabinet That Has Made 400,000 Women Happy

You don't have to think very long to understand why every woman who sees a Hoosier in the kitchen of a friend will not be happy until she has one of her own. For a Hoosier Cabinet is so neat and sanitary, so economical of space, and it saves such an amount of endless travel from sink to stove and from table to pantry that it cuts down the time and work of preparing meals by fully a half.

Your Hoosier neighbor will tell you so!

In its compactness, its convenient equipment and the ingenuity of its construction, the Hoosier Kitchen Cabinet has all other kinds completely distanced.

One Dollar a Week for a Few Weeks will put a Hoosier Special in your home.

Eighteen women have joined this Great Club. Only seven memberships are left. Each of the 25 women who join the Club saves $2.50 on her cabinet.

One Hoosier Kitchen Cabinet Free to some woman who visits the Hoosier Display before Monday Evening, July 24th.

Come in and put your name on a Hoosier Coupon.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.

New England's Lowest Prised Home Furnishers

1495 Hancock St., Quincy Open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings

LICENSED AGENTS FOR HOOSIER KITCHEN CABINETS

DON'T FAIL TO READ THE GREAT SERIAL "THE DANGER TRAIL" NOW RUNNING IN THE LEDGER

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1889
THE HOME NEWSPAPER
Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.
BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
219 East 23d Street,
New York City
Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter.
Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50
Telephone, Quincy 425
Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

RILEY'S FIRST POEM.

Former Governor Henry A. Buchtel Gives It to His Students.

Chancellor Henry A. Buchtel of the University of Denver, former governor of Colorado, recently gave a Riley reading to his summer students and presented to each a copy of what he said was James Whitcomb Riley's first poem. At the time it was written (1876) Chancellor Buchtel was at Knightstown and was asked to deliver a funeral sermon at the burial of Hamilton J. Dunbar, a man universally popular and idolized by Riley. The poet afterward said to Buchtel:

"When the service was over I went home and wrote a poem on Ham Dunbar and sent it to the Indianapolis Journal, and the literary people said, 'A poet has arrived.' And that was the first poem I ever wrote that gave me the idea that I could be something else than a sign painter. So I always associate you," Riley said to Buchtel, "with the first poem I ever wrote."

That poem has never been published in any of Riley's books because it is so personal. Following is an accurate copy made by Henry A. Buchtel for his students:

Dead! Dead! Dead!
We thought him ours alone,
And none so proud to see him tread
The rounds of fame and lift his head
Where sunlight ever shone,
But now our aching eyes are dim
And look through tears in vain for him.

Name! Name! Name!
It was his diadem,
Nor ever tarnish, taint of shame,
Could dim its luster. Like a flame
Reflected in a gem,
He wears it blazing on his brow
Within the courts of heaven now.

Tears! Tears! Tears!
Like dews upon the leaf
That burst at last from out the years
The blossom of a trust appears,
The blossom above the grief,
And mother, brother, wife and child
Will see it and be reconciled.

J. W. R.

TO MAKE AIR VISIBLE.

Magazine Writer Thinks We May See the Atmosphere.

Even though we can fly and send telegrams without wires, there are things to which we may look forward. At least, so thinks Augustus Post, who says in the Columbian Magazine, after recounting other possible wonders:

We may also be enabled to see air by means of glasses which will polarize the light and tell us whether it is disturbed or quiet. Then we can avoid the invisible eddies and wind gusts which now we can only realize the existence of by feeling them when they strike the wings of the machine and which by quickness of thought we are able to overcome after long practice. Some scientists suggest that birds may have powers of vision which enable them to see air in motion as they fly, making it possible for them to find rising currents which carry them up without any expenditure of energy, for the currents of air blow up and down quite as frequently as they blow in a horizontal direction, as they seem to do when our knowledge and experience are limited to phenomena observed on the surface of the earth. I would suggest that in order to study the action of the wind you watch smoke as it comes out of a tall chimney or clouds of dust or loose papers blown about by the wind in the city streets. Sometimes they are carried up far above the roofs of tall buildings and suggest how a skillful bird may be able to obtain power from the wind's velocity which it may use in maintaining its own flight.

McSwiney's Gun.

Near Horn Head, County Donegal, Ireland, there is a hole in the rocks called McSwiney's gun. It is on the seacoast and is said to have connection with a cavern. When the north wind blows and the sea is at half flood the wind and the waves enter the cavern and send up jets of water from the "gun" to a height of more than 100 feet. The jets of water are accompanied by explosions which may be heard for miles.

More Worry.

"I didn't know you admired that official."

"I don't," replied the political manager.

"Then why do you insist on crediting him with a presidential boom?"

"Merely to make his life harder by giving him something more to worry about."—Exchange.

Be Slow to Indorse.

"A man should think before he speaks," said the prudent youth.

"Yes," replied Dustin Stax. "And he should think still harder before he writes his name on the back of any sort of document."—Washington Star.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Metropolitan Park Commission:

We, the undersigned of Ward Six, Quincy, constituting its committee on Organization of the Fourth of July celebration, respectfully report to your Honorable Board the following facts, and express the indignation of our fellow citizens of this locality at the outrageous treatment received by us at the hands of your local superintendent, Mr. Costello, on the Fourth of July this year.

Ward Six, Quincy popularly known as Atlantic, is a community apart from the rest of Quincy, its most rapidly growing section, and a district whose people are bound together with strong social and neighborhood ties. It is our custom to annually make a feature of the Fourth of July and to make it the biggest day of the year. To that end we assess ourselves and raise a large sum of money to carry on various kinds of sport and entertainment. Being contiguous to the ocean on the Quincy Shore boulevard where we enjoy bathing privileges we make an especial event of water sports, which are annually enjoyed by many hundred people. This year we made arrangements for swimming races and other sports at Sandy Beach, where permission is given to swim and which is located in an isolated section of the beach away from dwelling houses. To the end that better entertainment be furnished, especially to our women and children, we engaged a competent military band, at large expense to give a band concert here for an hour before the sports commenced and during their continuance. As there is abundant space on the reservation for a band to play without any possible inconvenience to any one, and without any conceivable damage whatever to the reservation, we assumed that permission to play would be granted as a matter of course.

Imagine the surprise of the citizens of Atlantic, when the band arrived shortly before three o'clock, to find that Superintendent Costello objected to the band playing on Metropolitan land. It was pointed out to him that over a thousand people would be present, to listen to the music and that if the band was not allowed to play where the sports occurred, it could only play in a field on the other side of the boulevard at a considerable distance from where the people were gathered and where the strains of music could be heard only faintly unless they stood in a hot sunny hall away from the cool breezes of the shore under most disagreeable conditions and from where the water sports were practically invisible.

The band site selected by us was under the shade of an immense tree where a band had played on several occasions in previous years without apparent objection on the part of your Board. This Fourth of July, however, which was the hottest day in the history of this vicinity, the concert was wasted on the air, to the bitter disappointment of our whole community.

Mr. Costello's objection is incomprehensible and we cannot believe that your Commission will ratify his action. The Legislature of Massachusetts annually authorizes an appropriation of $25,000 for band concerts under the auspices of the Metropolitan Park Commission, the expense of which is borne pro rata by the cities and towns within its jurisdiction and paid for out of their tax rate. It is ludicrous to compel the taxpayers to pay this large sum for concerts and at the same time prevent a liberal community at its own expense from holding a holiday concert to which the general public is invited.

Your Committee should welcome the independent spirit of a community willing to pay its own band concert bills and that does not ask you for any favors. To discourage such a spirit would be the height of public folly and to place a damper on local generosity. Especially is this true in our case, for our Committee represents the entire people of Atlantic. It is not a committee of a club, of a socety, or any organization representing part of the people.

We sincerely trust that you will take steps to prevent a like embarrassing situation in the future. If by reason of red tape your Superintendent has not the power to give a permit to play music on an occasion similar to this and under like circumstances, upon short notice, then we respectfully submit that the rules of your Commission should be revised to cover the situation, as common-sense and not technicalities should govern the conduct of the Metropolitan parks.

Respectfully submitted,
F. E. Badger, President,
C. E. Cherrington, Treasurer,
Herbert G. Beeman, Secretary.

Atlantic, Mass. July 17, 1911.

OTHER EDITORS ARE SAYING

Nine thousand feet above New York with no gasoline is almost as bad as to be down in it with no money (Herald)

It is said that the demand for drinking cups in the trains through the state is not very great, although some complaint is heard that there is more or less trouble for those who want cups to get them. It may be that the demand for them was more pressing among the friends of the people at the State house than among the people themselves.—Fall River Herald.

One of the good traits of plain American citizens who have mastered the arts of reading and writing is that when an honest man tells them the straight truth they generally recognize it. There's just where Mr. Taft has the "pull" over his noisy political enemies (Hartford Courant)

Are women's feet really growing bigger, as that shoe manufacturer declares, or are women just beginning to admit the demnition facts?—Boston Globe.

At any rate, Woodrow Wilson is not endeavoring to hide his light under a bushel. "The root of all evil is concealment," he says. (Haverhill Gazette.)

The forest fire peril in Massachusetts is discussed in interesting fashion by the Boston Transcript, calling attention to a fact which we forget every year till the spring and summer come and bring the annual visitation. We read of Ontario and Minnesota losses but don't bother with what may happen in our own section of the country till the happening comes. The woodland burns in this part of the world just as frely as elsewhere although there isn't so much of it to make as disastrous a blaze as comes in some other more heavily wooded parts of the world.

Those who come back from Spain or Mexico protesting against the bull fight should not fail to take notice that the pursuit of the greased pig is still permitted at the American picnic. The Spanish sport is on the whole the more uplifting.—Boston Journal.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

TOO LONG—Salvation Lassie (whose laddie is on top of the bus)—"You'll get my fare above."

Conductor—"Sorry, miss; but I can't wait till I get there."—Everybody's Weekly.

"Where is your wife going this summer?"

"She is looking around for some place where none of the women have more than two gowns. She has three."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

"You women bear pain more heroically than men."

"Who told you that—a doctor?"

"No, a shoemaker."—London Opinion.

SACRIFICE—Mrs. Bargandy (at ball game)—"Dear me! What a miserable little hit that is! He ought to be ashamed of himself.

Bargandy (excited) — "Why, you marbletop, that's a sacrifice!"

Mrs. Bargandy—"O-o-o-oh! And is that why so many players rushed to it?"—Puck.

THE KICK—"Huh!" says the friend "You got your money easy enough!"

"Oh, I know I got it easily," replies the other. "All I have to do is stand in line for my pay envelope. It was the earning it I was kicking about."—Judge.

WANTED TO LEARN—"Burglar—"Don't shoot me, sir."

Householder—"On one condition, that you tell me how you got in without waking my wife."—Pele Mele.

The Marketer—Aren't you wasting a good deal of that steak in trimming it?

The Butcher—No, ma'am; I weighed it first.—Toledo Blade.

HAP HAZARD.—"I was surprised when I heard that Grarox had joined the church."

"I wass't. I happened to be present when he and his business partner shook dice to see which member of the firm should join."—Indianapolis Journal.

PLEASURE TRIP HAS SAD ENDNG

Wealthy Women Killed In an Auto Collision

CHAUFFEUR IS BADLY INJURED

The Victims Were Hurled With Great Force and Died Shortly After—The Chauffeur Severely Injured and Will Probably Die—Pilot of Engine Entirely Torn Off—Boston Woman One of Prominence

Granville, N. Y., July 20.—Four prominent women lie in the morgue at the undertaking rooms of this city, the result of an auto accident at Raceville, N. Y. The dead are Mrs. Elizabeth Grant, Mrs. Charles Wells, Mrs. George W. Yates and Mrs. F. M. Robinson, widow of Dr. Robinson of Boston, a guest of Mrs. Wells. The chauffeur, Charles A. Ostrander, is alive, but with small chances for recovery.

The party was hit by an extra express train at a grade crossing. The chauffeur says that the engine of his machine was stalled.

The chauffeur said he did not hear the train and the view of the engineer was also cut off. It was necessary to change the gears and Ostrander attempted to do this, the engine stalled and the train crashed into the machine.

None of the victims were hurled any great distance, but as the train was running fully fifty miles an hour the impact tossed the car some distance along the track. The people were pinned under the train and Mrs. Grant and Mrs. Wells were killed outright, their bodies being terribly cut and bruised.

Mrs. Yates lived for a short time. Mrs. Robinson lived until the train reached Granville, and was able to give an account of the accident.

The chauffeur is in a critical condition, the bones of the left ankle were sticking out through his trousers when found. The right leg is also fractured and his collar bone is broken and left arm fractured. The engine was damaged to some extent. The pilot was torn entirely off.

The four victims were all prominent in Saratoga society and were from wealthy families. Mrs. Wells was an officer of the Humane society; Mrs. Grant was a sister of Mrs. Wells and also a charitable worker.

Mrs. Robinson, who was 65 years old, was well known in Boston. She was for a number of years a guest at the Hotel Brunswick. Her late husband practised in Boston and vicinity for many years up to the time of his death. She was possessed of considerable property, which was taken care of by a trustee.

She left the hotel June 1, stating that she was going to Saratoga Springs and asking that her mail be forwarded there. The remains will undoubtedly be taken to Boston for interment.

THE "SHARKS" BILL SIGNED

Radical Reforms Looked For When New Bill Goes Into Effect

Boston, July 20.—The loan shark bill has been signed by Governor Foss. This law goes into effect on Aug. 1, and radically reforms the regulation of loan agencies..

This bill puts the entire regulation of loan agencies into the hands of a state supervisor who at least once a year shall investigate the business of the agencies. He is also to have absolute power to grant or revoke licenses with the aid of the state and local police.

In regard to the assignment of wages the bill provides that no assignment to secure a loan of less than $300 shall be valid unless the assignment is accepted by employer of the borrower.

The supervisor is to have the power to fix the rates of interest to be charged.

LARGEST IN THE WORLD

Massive Cold Storage House to Be Built In Pittsburg

Pittsburg, July 20.—It is announced that the Pennsylvania railroad will built in this city the largest cold storage house in the world at a cost of $5,000,000. It will cover at least two blocks of property owned by the company on Penn avenue.

It is said millions of dollars' worth of fruit and vegetables have spoiled within the last ten years because of the great lack of cold storage facilities. Besides furnishing cold storage facilities, there will be storerooms, salesrooms and office accommodations.

Massacred on British Territory

Livingston, Rhodesia, July 20.—German District Commissioner Von Frangenberg, two white sergeants, fourteen black police and twenty carriers have been massacred by the Okarango tribe of Bechuanaland. According to native reports the scene of the massacre was on British territory.

FUNERAL OF MRS. VAUGHAN

Services Held at the Home of Friend at West Lebanon

Biddeford, Me., July 20.—The funeral of Mrs. Olea B. Vaughan, who died just after her mother's contested will had been compromised in her favor, giving her the greater part of a fortune of $500,000, was held in West Lebanon, Me. The services were held in the home of Mrs. Abbie Shapleigh.

The will of Mrs. Vaughan, which it is expected will leave all her property to her three adopted children, will be filed for probate before Judge Hobbs at Biddeford, Tuesday. The children lived at West Lebanon, at the home of Mrs. Abbie Shapleigh, where Mrs. Vaughan died.

Attorney Bartlett requested the court that he be appointed special administrator of Mrs. Vaughan's estate, and the appointment immediately was made. Next Mr. Bartlett filed an application that he be named as the administrator of the estate. Mr. Bartlett stated that he would file the will of Mrs. Vaughan within a few days.

GRAIN DEALERS SUSPEND

Offices Closed Without Explanation and Managers Reticent

St. Paul, Minn., July 20.—W. H. Dickinson & Co., grain brokers and owners and operators of a large chain of elevators, suspended business in this city and in Minneapolis.

The offices were closed without explanation from the managers and they stated that they had simply received instructions from Chicago to close. They said the firm had been correspondents of the Peavey Grain company of Chicago, but would not admit that this fact had anything to do with the suspension of business.

The extent of the liabilities of the firm could not be learned from the officials.

Several large elevators in the twin cities are owned by the concern and have been used as terminals for the country elevator lines which it controlled.

FRAGMENTS OF BODIES TAKEN FROM MAINE

The Discovery Made In a Pile of Mud and Rubbish

Havana, July 20.—Fragments of bones, believed to represent three bodies, were recovered from the wreck of the Maine.

The discovery was made in a pile of mud and rubbish on the main deck almost directly beneath an inverted conning tower which had been upset and hurled sixty feet aft from its original position, and close to the spot where the bones of a foot encased in a shoe and other fragments were found several weeks ago.

BOSTON'S GOOD SHOWING

Large Increase In Exports Reported For Past Fiscal Year

Boston, July 20.—An increase of $514,679 in the value of exports for the fiscal year ending June 30 over that of 1910 is shown in the report of the government of the commerce of the port of Boston for the past year. The exports totalled $71,232,354. This is a great showing.

The value of imports during the year was $116,596,840, as compared with $128,751,189 in 1910, a decrease of $12,154,349, the first decrease in imports since 1908. The 1910 value of $128,751,189 was the largest in the history of the port.

Since 1899 the value of imports has increased $64,498,880, or 123 percent, while the value of the exports has decreased $56,804,795, or 44 percent.

February, 1911, was the largest import month of the past year, the smallest month being October. The largest export month was December, 1910.

SERVICES WERE BRIEF

Funeral of Late Colonel Clarke In Charge of Grand Army Comrades

Rochester, Vt., July 20.—The Grand Army comrades of the late Colonel Albert Clarke laid their brother at rest in the little cemetery among the mountains. Relatives and friends of the colonel came from all parts of the country to assist them.

The funeral was held at the home of E. L. Pierce, a nephew of Colonel Clarke. The G. A. R. were in charge. The service was brief, and Rev. E. J. Rainslow of Swanton, Vt., officiated.

Bryce Report Denied

London, July 20.—The foreign office denies a report cabled from the United States that James Bryce contemplates retiring from his post as British ambassador at Washington following the conclusion of the Anglo-American Arbitration treaty.

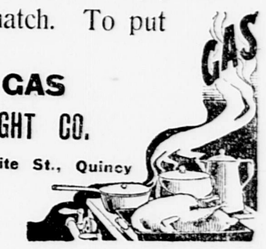
Tickets and Mileage Books Stolen

Exeter, N. H., July 20.—Railroad tickets and mileage books were stolen here, to the value of $100, by burglars who broke into the Rockingham Junction station of the Boston and Maine railroad. The station was also entered on July 4.

This Bank
FOR BUSINESS MEN
Keep your money in Quincy—here are some of the advantages of dealing with this bank.
Liberal Accommodations to depositors
Prompt Discounting of Business Notes
Convenient Banking Hours
Commodious Banking Quarters
Courteous attention on the part of bank's attaches
You, as a business man, will find this an ideal bank to serve your needs.
NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

WHEELER'S
The Store for Ladies' Furnishings
We will continue our Sale of Shirt Waists and Long Gloves
See what we offer in Shirt Waists for 79c and 98c
and Long Gloves for 50c and 75c
We are also showing a new line of Children's Parasols, all colors, for 25c and 29c
WE GIVE CASH DISCOUNT SLIPS
City Square G. W. WHEELER Quincy

A WELL COOKED DINNER
If you have a good cook is assured when you use a gas stove or gas range. The heat is steady and uniform, which is not the case with a wood or coal stove, and you can raise or lower the flame as you please—which of course, is impossible on any other kind of cook-stove. To make a fire, you simply turn on the gas and apply a match. To put it out, turn off the gas.
COOK WITH GAS
CITIZENS' GAS LIGHT CO.
11 Granite St., Quincy



LINEMEN KILLED

One Man Killed and Another Fatally Burned by Live Wires

Boston, July 20.—One lineman was killed and another fatally burned by coming in contact with live wires while at work on telegraph poles here.

James Slamin, 25, of Newton Lower Falls was electrocuted while painting a pole on Chestnut street, Wellesley Hills. His body was found, strung across the wires that had caused his death, at the top of the pole, by his foreman, Clifton Smith.

In East Milton Marvin Schenck of Dorchester was working at the top of a light pole. In some way he brushed against a live wire. He was shocked loose, and fell into a tangle of telephone and telegraph wires. Fellow workers brought him to the ground. He was hurried to the Quincy city hospital in an automobile. He is not expected to recover.

FAVORABLE TO WILEY

Sensational Developments In Case Ascertained at Bureau of Chemistry

Washington, July 20.—New and sensational developments occurred in the Dr. Wiley case. It was ascertained at the bureau of chemistry that the Remsen board is accused of being paid, in violation of the same law which Dr. Wiley is charged with breaking. Members of the Remsen board are drawing $2000 annual salary each, $400 more apiece than the law allows.

What makes this alleged violation of the law more glaring is that Attorney General Wickersham himself passed on the legality of the payments and put his O. K. on them, while later he decided that Dr. Wiley be dismissed for exactly the same kind of a transaction.

HOT WEATHER
and dirt breed germs. Germs bring diseases and are a menace to your health. Our sanitary dyeing and cleaning processes render your clothes free from germs.
Get The Sanitary Habit!
We call for and deliver the work
WARSHAW'S
DYE HOUSE
"The Home of Cleanliness"
1503 HANCOCK STREET
QUINCY
July 15-tf

PATENTS
TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 26 years experience.
Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.
READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.
D. SWIFT & CO.
PATENT LAWYERS,
303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

HOME TRADE WILL HELP QUINCY AND EVERYONE IN QUINCY.

HOLDS 35TH ASSEMBLY

New England S. S. Chautauqua at Mt. Wayte

WELL ATTENDED

The first work day of the 35th annual assembly of the New England Sunday School Chautauqua was held Wednesday at Mt. Wayte, when the classes in the several departments were formed.

The morning devotions in the Baptist building were well attended and were led by Rev. Dr. A. Morrill Osgood, superintendent of instruction, whose topic was "Pain a Punishment." The first chorus drill was held in the auditorium, under the direction of Prof. Ashton Lewis.

Dr. Ada Ruth Kinsman of Cambridge who is to have charge of the Bible study classes, both for adults and children, organized the children's class in Normal hall at 9, a large number of the little ones being in attendance. Dr. Kinsman's opening topic was "A Favorite Son." The class in ornithology was formed in Alumni hall at 10, under the direction of Mrs. Harry A. Bray. The adult class in Bible study was formed by Dr. Kinsman in Alumni hall. Dr. Kinsman selected for her talk "Abraham the Friend of God." The opening lecture in the health institute was in the auditorium at 11 with Dr. George L. Starr the speaker.

This afternoon Dr. Loren A. Clevenger gave his lecture, "Is Life Worth Living?" in the auditorium. Mrs. George L. Starr gave the first of her health talks to women in Alumni hall. The two Bible classes had sessions in Alumni hall and the chorus had its first rehearsal of "Faust" which is to be given the last night of the assembly. "Patriotism of Peace" was the topic for the first round table held in Alumni hall at 5, which was in charge of George W. Penniman. At 7.30 Mr. Penniman gave an illustrated lecture on "America Wonderful."

ANNUAL PICNIC.

The annual picnic of the Hall Place Methodist Episcopal Sunday school was held at Highland Park, Wednesday, July 19th. A crowded car left the West Quincy depot at 9 A. M. and went by the way of Braintree and Randolph. The weather left nothing to be desired, the sun being in strong evidence all day, but even this did not deter the people from enjoying the day. The car arrived at the Park at about eleven o'clock and dinner followed at 12 M.

At one o'clock a series of sports for boys and girls were held on the ball field, with a large crowd of spectators who had seats in the grand stand.

15 yd. dash (boys)—Leslie McCormick, 1st; Russell Williams, 2d.

15 yd. dash (girls)—Madeline Roberts, 1st; Anna Lamb, 2d.

100 yd. dash (men)—Harold Williams, 1st; John Williams, 2d.

50 yd. dash (girls)—Hilda Francis, 1st; Jennie Manhire, 2d.

Ball Throw (girls)—Jennie Manhire, 1st; Jessie Burke, 2d.

100 yd. dash (boys)—Lawrence Martin, 1st; Wesley Williams, 2d.

Throwing Shot—Julius Fuller, 1st; Rev. T. C. Martin, 2d.

One-half Mile Race—Harold Williams, 1st; Julius Fuller, 2d.

Challenge Race 50 yds.—Hilda Francis, 1st; Mrs. Fred L. Badger, 2d.

Challenge Race (excluding all previous winners)—Frances Burke, 1st; Mrs. Fred Badger, 2d.

Hobble Race—Jennie Manhire, 1st; Helen Ford, 2d.

A ball game was called at 3 o'clock between the boy's and girl's nines, but after the second inning the umpire called the game off as the sun was too hot.

At 4 o'clock "Rollo" the great roller skater performed his wonderful feat on roller skates.

Swings, roller-coasters and merry-go-rounds were enjoyed until 6.30 when the car left for home. There certainly could be no doubt in the minds of bystanders that they were returning home after a day's frolic, for laughter, shouting and singing played no small part in the return trip, and wherever the car stopped for any length of stay, the people had the advantage of a free concert.

RIGHT — Collector — "Tickets, please."

Passenger—"'Aven't got it—losht it."

Collector (making out ticket)—"Six and five, please."

Passenger — "Hic- 11!" — London Opinion.

LADIES' DAY AT QUINCY YACHT CLUB

(Continued from Page One.)

Farland, Miss Alice G. Marco, Miss Esther Lundin, Miss L. Gladys James, Miss Lena McPhail, Mrs. H. Lawrence Baker, Mrs. W. F. Brett, Mrs. A. I. Smith, Mrs. Arthur L. Brett, Miss Ruth A. Winslow, Andrew F. Burrell, W. Harry Brooks, Stanley F. Duncan, F. Everett Winslow, Erik Lundin.

Yacht Osceola, Capt. A. W. Wyman—Miss Ella M. Stafford, Miss Katherine Borst, Miss Florence Wyman, Miss A. H. Wattles, Charles E. Wyman, Edward F. Eckert, Jr., W. E. Bennett.

Launch Alpha, Capt. Edmund I. Whittemore—Miss W. Tougas, Miss V. Huy, Miss J. Chandler, W. C. Billing, G. O. Ockwall.

Yacht Ardelle, Capt. Louis F. Billings—Clarence Billings, R. H. Billings, Mrs. P. C. Catarius, Mrs. William Norteman, Mrs. William G. Norteman, Mrs. F. W. Blanchard, Mrs. F. W. Scott, Mrs. F. T. Catarius, John Chellman, G. E. Chellman, H. W. Huy.

Launch Cosey, Capt. Thompson B. Crane—Mrs. T. B. Crane, Mrs. Isabelle Cameron, Miss Isabelle Crane.

Launch Adriana, Capt. Edward M. Wight—Mrs. E. M. Wight, Mrs. J. S. Swingle, Miss Pauline Swingle, Mr. and Mrs. Warren S. Parker, Miss Alice Parker, Frank Cushing, William Glover, Galen Vinton Bowditch.

Yacht Rutland, Capt. Erland D. Debes—H. B. Hills.

Launch Goblin, Capt. S. B. Blodgett—Miss Irene Arbuckle.

Steamer Houghs Neck.—Miss Maude Tibbetts, Mrs. M. L. Richards, Mrs. Albert Acorn, Mrs. M. A. Patterson, John Emery, Mrs. M. L. Melick, Esther Harkins, Mrs. John Harkins, Mrs. J. A. Keating, J. A. Keating, James Keating, Arthur Dix, Mrs. Arthur Dix, Helen Dix, A. H. Taber, Mrs. A. H. Taber, Mrs. J. E. Bean, Carl Finney, Mrs. C. A. Patterson, Mrs. E. B. Ford, Charles H. Johnson, Mrs. Charles H. Johnson, Mrs. A. F. Cross, Frank Johnson, Mrs. Joseph Johnson, Miss Emmie S. Newcomb, Miss Norma Johnson, Miss Nellie Fallon, Miss Edith Olson, Miss Marie Cahill, Mrs. Edward Sandberg, Mrs. J. Keniley, Miss Katherine Connors, Miss Beatrice Cashman, Miss Margaret Connors, T. F. O'Brien, Mrs. M. A. Norwood of Dorchester, Mrs. W. J. Tilley, Mrs. J. A. Cameron of Dorchester, Mrs. J. S. Rockwell, J. S. Rockwell, J. C. Cameron of Dorchester, Eva Slaunwhit, Helen Leonard, Sadie Files, Dorothy Acorn, Mrs. A. A. Brown, Mrs. H. W. Howard, Mrs. W. H. Leathers, Irving Fletcher, Miss Anna Dunham of Brattleboro, Vt. Mrs. W. H. Mayforth of Springfield, W. H. Binnian, R. E. Robie, Charles W. Hall, Mrs. Charles W. Hall, Miss Charlotte Hall, Henry Boutilier, George H. Sullivan, Thomas McSorley, Mrs. C. G. Fletcher, Mrs. Frank Hardwick, Mrs. Richard Newcomb, Mrs. George H. Davis, R. A. Hubbard of Braintree, Edward A. Hunt, Frank McNess, Mrs. Leonard Hollis, Mrs. Charles Kaler, Mrs. William Hall, Miss Minnie Packard, Miss Ella Packard, Miss Hannah Litchfield, Gordon Adams, Warren Williams, William Shaw, Charles Walther, Edward Bradley, Girard Cannon, Mrs. Henry Belcher, Henry Belcher, Frank Stackpole, Alice Reardon, Oscar Swanson, Mrs. Oscar Swanson, Mrs. Rufus W. Billings, Mrs. George E. Urann, Miss Margaret O'Brien, Phyllis Arnold, Beryl Arnold, Mrs. H. E. Hudson, Mrs. F. N. Mowry, Mrs. N. J. Regan, Mrs. A. H. Hammond, Mrs. James Bailey, Mrs. Charles W. Hanson, Mrs. P. F. O'Brien, Miss Lillian McCabe, Mrs. Ernest L. Adams, Miss Mildred Carlson, Miss Esther Cavanagh, Miss Winnifred Cavanagh, Miss Marie Dolan, Mrs. C. W. Putnam, Miss Margaret Boland, Mrs. George E. Sprague, Mrs. Edward Blanchard, Miss Caroline Wenners, Miss Gertrude Wenners, Miss Rose Wenners, Mrs. Chester Whittredge, Mrs. D. B. Sydleman, Mrs. John Cavanagh, Miss Ethel Miller, Mrs. Clement B. Nash, Mrs. Henry Mobbs, Mrs. George Forbes, Miss May E. Harvey, Miss Eleanor Shanahan, Miss Laurice Penniman, Miss Kathryn Hannaum, Mrs. George W. Arnold, Mrs. L. B. Waterman, Mrs. W. A. Bradford, W. A. Bradford, Mrs. W. I. Arnold, Mrs. G. G. Abbott, Miss Ruth Gordon, Miss Carrie Glover, Miss James Levangie, James Levangie, Mrs. Susan Simpson, Mrs. A. W. Rice, Mrs. George W. Higgins, Mrs. C. K. Endicott, Miss Bessie Ruford, Mrs. D. W. Edison, Mrs. E. Staples, Mrs. W. C. Bennett, W. C. Bennett, W. J. O'Brien, Mrs. W. J. O'Brien, Miss Leonora Matthews, Mrs. Sydney J. Richards of Providence, R. I., Harry E. Winslow, Mrs. Harry E. Winslow Miss Martha Campbell, Miss C. M. Hayes, Miss Charles Wyman, C. H. Brooks, Mrs. C. H. Brooks, A. E. Damon, Mrs. A. E. Damon, Mrs. Thomas E. Furnald, Mrs. M. D. Safford, Mrs. E. R.Kidder, Mrs. J. E. Johnson, Mrs. H. E. Knopf, Gladys Knopf, Helen Knopf, Miss Olive Johnson, James C. Fein, Miss Rena Berlo, Miss Agnes Stuper, Miss Clara Walther, Mark L. Reed, Jr., Miss Anna Connell, Miss Bessie Elcock, Walter Elcock, Miss Margaret Lyman, Mrs. Edward Williams, Mrs. J. J. Williams, Miss Helen Williams, Miss Marion Williams, Mrs. L. J. Gender, Mrs. Elmer Ricker, Elmer Ricker, Mrs. Walter P. Ela, Walter P. Ela, Miss Eleanor Williams, Miss Bessie Bradley, Miss Katherine Gender, Mrs. F. M. Brauer, Miss Lillian Brauer.

MID-SUMMER MAGAZINES.

That a future civilization ever should find it necessary to delve for centuries to piece out the annals of the present age seems preposterous, considering the loquacious public mind, the eager disposition to appear in print in all our details of living, and the advanced stage of the printing art. Our paper tomes are not so capable of weathering such destructive cataclysms as left the stone tablets of the ancients obscured but not obliterated, but we have the advantage of numbers, and if only a few volumes of Popular Mechanics Magazine were to be preserved, our successors on the globe could ask for no better portrayal of our times. The August number of the Magazine contains 278 articles and 301 illustrations covering the usual wide range of subjects. The Shop Notes and the Amateur Machanics departments for August contain the usual number of articles, all practical and "written so you can understand it."

PICNIC ENJOYED BY JANITORS.

The Quincy Public School Janitors Relief association held its first outing and dinner at Irwin's hotel, Peddocks Island on Wednesday. The track events were all hotly contested and some remarkable performances were made. The results were as follows:

Potato race—Tie between DeForest of Hancock and Hinnegan of Gridley Bryant.

100 yard dash—Won by A. Shirley.

Low Hurdles—Won by Cahoon of Atherton Hough.

Broad Jump—Won by Chippendale of Willard.

One Mile Run—Won by Niell of Cranch.

After the sports the party enjoyed a fish dinner and then President Smith of the Quincy school, called the meeting to order. After a few remarks he called on Vice President Dunham of the Wollaston school, who spoke on "The Value of Unity." The president then called on Secretary-Treasurer Caldwell of Coddington school who explained the old and new way of taking care of buildings. The only thing to mar the pleasure of the day was the absence of George Shirley of the Lincoln school who is suffering from the results of a fall.

SUCCESSFUL LAWN FETE.

The Calvary Baptist Y. P. S. C. E. lawn party at the house of Miss Minnie Trask, Pleasant street, Wednesday evening, was one of the most successful affairs given by any of the church organizations this year. A large crowd assembled early in the evening and put in three hours having a good time by means of games, music and refreshments. A graphaphone added to the enjoyment of the company also. The committee in charge of the party was: Miss Blodwen Walters, Miss Mary McDonald, Wiliam Renze and Earl Boynton.

Clever Dwarfs.

Richard Gibson and his wife, who flourished in the seventeeth century, were a remarkable pair of dwarfs, quite apart from their inches, which combined barely made up seven feet. Both were clever painters of miniatures, and Gibson was drawing master to the daughters of James II. At their wedding, which was arranged by Henrietta Maria, Charles I. gave the bride away, the queen placed a valuable diamond ring on her finger, and Edmund Waller, the court poet, wrote a poem in honor of the occasion. Gibson was seventy-four when he passed away, while his widow died at the advanced age of eighty-nine years.

Madagascar's Two Climates.

The island of Madagascar has two distinct climates, two classes of natives and two classes of fauna and flora. The island is about the size of France. Along the coast it is tropical and malarious, and the natives are darker than in the interior. The interior is a high tableland and mountainous. There the climate is cooler and the natives smaller and lighter in color than on the coast. But in the interior they are more intelligent, and they rule the island.

TO LET

IN QUINCY CENTER

SEVERAL DESIRABLE HOUSES

7, 8 and 10 Rooms

Every convenience and very desirable locations.

RENT $25 TO $40 according to house

APPLY TO

MISS PRESCOTT,

Ledger Office

Quincy, July L P Otf

"BUD" MARS' MANY ESCAPES

Nervy Aviator a Victim of Previous Accidents.

TOOK AVIATION TO FAR EAST.

Made Two Hundred and Fifty Flights In Orient and Created Prodigious Excitement—Japan Wanted a Fleet of Aeroplanes.

J. C. (Bud) Mars, who was hurt when he fell with his aeroplane at Erie, Pa., is rapidly recovering.

Mars is one of the most picturesque and darling of the fliers and in little more than a year has made his name famous as an aeroplanist in many parts of the world.

It was shortly after the Los Angeles aviation meet, early in 1910, where Mars made several sensational balloon flights, soaring to tremendous heights, that he went to Hammondsport, N. Y., and became a pupil of Glenn H. Curtiss. Less than six weeks after that he was on the road giving exhibition flights in an aeroplane and startling thousands by his daring.

Last December Mars started for the orient. He returned early in June, after having made 250 flights and leaving the populace of country after country agape with wonder. He was the first to carry aviation to the far east.

Mars spent his childhood days on the shore of Lake Michigan, but early went to Chicago to win his fortune. He tried the theater and from that drifted to the circus, making his first appearance in a trapeze act and later becoming the understudy of a high diver. For some months he was a "spectacular attraction" and won a name for fearlessness and daring.

Ballooning With Baldwin.

He next came before the public as a pupil of Captain Thomas S. Baldwin, the balloonist, and soon was appearing at exhibitions as "Mars, the lion nerved daredevil." He was then sixteen years old, and ever since he has made his living by the conquest of the air. He early experimented with the "glider," which he christened the "Fool Killer," and with this contrivance gave exhibitions.

Mars became associated with Israel Ludlow during the Jamestown exposition, and they built a number of huge men carrying kites, with which they made experiments over Hampton Roads.

After the Jamestown exposition Mars formed the United Balloon corporation, having interested nearly all the aeronauts in the country and several capitalists in the venture. The financial depression of 1907 wiped the corporation out and Mars' own fortune too.

It was in the fall of 1909 that Mars became official pilot of the Oakland (Cal.) Aero club. It was while making his balloon flights at Los Angeles, early in 1910, that Mars was attracted by the possibilities of the aeroplane, and his reputation attracted the attention of Mr. Curtiss.

Mars made his first professional aeroplane flight in Memphis, Tenn., sharing the honors of the day with Curtiss. He had a narrow escape from death that day as his aeroplane bumped into an automobile.

In August, 1910, Mars made a number of spectacular flights at the Sheepshead bay race track and on Aug. 27 almost came to grief in an attempt to fly from the course across the Narrows. He was carried to sea by a strong wind, and when opposite the Atlantic Yacht club his machine collapsed. He was then 1,000 feet in the air. He was picked up by a tug little the worse for his experience and taken to Sea Gate.

Oriental Tour Made Mars Famous.

It was by his trip to the orient, shortly after the Belmont park meet last fall, that Mars made his name known all over the world. The party that started on this trip included Captain Baldwin, Mars, two agents, three mechanics, Tod Shriver and his wife and Mrs. Mars. They showed in this country at Norfolk, Denver, Phoenix and Stockton and left San Francisco in December. Captain Baldwin stopped in Japan.

In Japan Mars flew at Osaka, Kobe, Nagoya, Tokyo and Yokohama, and at Osaka there was the biggest crowd that ever witnessed an aviation performance. At least 750,000 people saw the flight.

"The people just ate it up," said Mars, "the upper class and the rabble alike. They wanted to know how soon they could have a fleet of them."

In Japan, as well as in the other countries where he flew, Mars and his party were treated royally. In one of his flights in Japan he reached an altitude of 6,500 feet, a bit of daring that won for him the admiration of the populace.

In China Mars flew at Peking and at Tientsin, and at first his flights threw the people into a panic. In India and in the islands under English domination Mars and his party received every sort of honor that the native potentates could bestow. He also flew at Manila, in Honolulu, Sumatra, Java, Singapore, Calcutta, Korea, Siam, Siberia, Russia and Poland. At Bankok, in Siam, Mars took the king of Siam as a passenger for a twelve mile flight. His last flight abroad was made at Warsaw late in May.

BRIEFS

Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Crane of Presidents hill are at North Sutton, N. H.

Quincy lodge of Elks is arranging for a clam bake in Braintree grove at an early date.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Penniman, leave tonight for a visit to White Plains, N. Y.

Mrs. James Park of School street is spending a two weeks' vacation with friends in Wayland, Mass.

The weather this noon looked as if we were to have some of the much needed rain.

Eliot Johnson, clerk at the Quincy telephone building leaves today for Centre Harbor, Lake Winnepesaukee, for a two weeks' visit.

George A. Bolster and a party of friends took a trip to Hampton Beach N. H. on Wednesday and reported a very pleasant time.

The Golden Circle, a South Quincy organization of young people held an outing Wednesday evening at Nantasket making the trip by special car.

It is not necessary for parties desiring nomination papers under the new law to go to Boston for them as they may be obtained at the City Clerk's office.

Announcement has been made that the Washington M. French Hose association will not hold its summer outing this year but will have a big celebration next winter.

The ladies society connected with the Swedish M. E. church met with Mrs. Lambert, at the home of Mrs. Videen on Penn's hill, Wednesday afternoon, had a most enjoyable time. After the business meeting a social hour was passed and refreshments served.

The funeral of Rufus F. Leach was held Wednesday afternoon from his late home on Safford street where prayers were said by Rev. Edward A. Chase of the Wollaston Congregational church. The body was sent to Monson, Mass. for burial, where the Masonic burial service was held.

George H. Kendrick, son of the late Henry C. Kendrick, whom Kendrick avenue, South Quincy, is named after and who resided at 66 Franklin street, for twenty years, has rented a new house at 18 Beach street, Wollaston, Mass. Mr. Kendrick is N. C. manager of The Crandall Packing Co.

Work building the subway under the railroad tracks at the Atlantic station is progressing. It is proposed to have an entrance to the Atlantic depot from Hancock street which will be a great convenience to patrons living on that side of the tracks. It will be also very convenient when the four tracks are laid.

Children Cry
FOR FLETCHER'S
CASTORIA

CHICHESTER S PILLS
THE DIAMOND BRAND.
Ladies! Ask your Druggist for Chi-ches-ter's Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with Blue Ribbon. Take no other. Buy of your Druggist. Ask for CHI-CHES-TERS DIAMOND BRAND PILLS, for 25 years known as Best, Safest, Always Reliable
SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

'Phones 117 and 153
RANDALL'S
GRAPE JUICE

Is the juice of the grape—pure and undefiled, without chemicals or other deleterious preservatives.
It is made from the most carefully selected Lake Erie Concord Grapes, thoroughly sterilized, and fresh, sweet and delicious.
It possesses strengthening and tonic qualities, it is harmless and easily digested; and makes therefore an admirable drink for invalids.
Its rare flavor also makes it a most palatable Summer beverage, to be taken either in full strength or diluted with plain or carbonated water, and served with cracked ice and perhaps a dash of lemon.
Pint Bottles 20c
Half Pints 12 1-2c
R. E. FOY & CO.
Water, Corner Quincy Sts.
'Phones 117 and 153

Danderine
Grows Hair and we can PROVE IT!

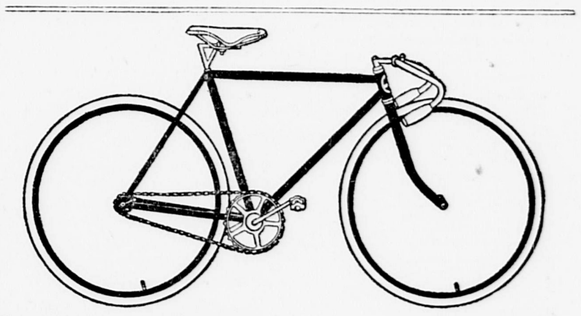
DANDERINE is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow abundantly long, strong and beautiful. It at once imparts a sparkling brilliancy and velvety softness to the hair, and a few weeks' use will cause new hair to sprout all over the scalp. Use it every day for a short time, after which two or three times a week will be sufficient to complete whatever growth you desire.

A lady from St. Paul writes in substance, as follows:
"When I began using Danderine my hair would not come to my shoulders and now it is away below my hips."
Another from Newark, N. J.
"I have been using Danderine regularly. When I first started to use it I had very little hair, now I have the most beautiful long and thick hair anyone would want to have."

NOW at all druggists in three sizes 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle

Danderine enjoys a greater sale than any other one preparation regardless of kind or brand, and it has a much greater sale than all of the other hair preparations in the world combined.

Cut This Out
FREE To show how quickly Danderine acts, we will send a large sample free by return mail to anyone who sends this free coupon to the KNOWLTON DANDERINE CO., CHICAGO, ILL., with their name and address and 10c in silver or stamps to pay postage.



New and Second Hand Bicycles. Sundries and Repairing
Agency for Columbia and Hartford Bicycles
HUB CYCLE CO.
Thomas Nelson, 20 Granite Street, QUINCY
May 15-3m

BETTER
Put in Your
Winter's Supply

Direct from the mines to our yard comes the coal we have for sale—coal that's famous the country over for its free burning qualities, its low percentage of ash, its freedom from impurities.

It's "full value" fuel, and our method of taking and filling orders ensures satisfaction. Orders placed now save money for buyers.

TAKE A LOOK IN YOUR BIN
then act.

SPECIAL RANGE COAL
Stove or Nut
$7.25 Cash

C. PATCH & SON, INC.
Office, 1422 Hancock Street, Quincy

Quincy Daily Ledger

HIGH TIDE FOR WEEK.

Monday, July 17,	3.00	3.30
Tuesday,	4.00	4.30
Wednesday,	4.45	5.15
Thursday,	5.45	6.15
Friday,	6.45	7.15
Saturday,	7.45	8.45
Sunday,	8.45	9.15

1911 JULY 1911

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
						1
2	3	4	5	6	7	8
9	10	11	12	13	14	15
16	17	18	19	20	21	22
23	24	25	26	27	28	29
30	31

HOUGHS NECK.

Louie Ordway and daughter leave for Newport Thursday. Mrs. Ordway intends playing at the casino at Newport. Last season while here Mrs. Ordway played at B. F. Keith's and the Orpheum theatre.

Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Frost are spending three weeks with Mrs. Mowry of Bell street.

Mrs. Easterbrook and daughter left for Maine Sunday. Mrs. Easterbrook lives at Bell street.

A new club has been formed by some of the young men of the Q. Y. C. alled the Unicks.

The members of the Q. Y. C. find it very convenient in having the tonic and cigar store on the pool room floor of the club.

The Casino has been changed into a skating rink.

TAP DAY AT YALE.

What It Means to the Juniors Who Have "Made Good."

The three great senior societies of Yale—Skull and Bones, Scroll and Key and Wolf's Head—choose on tap day fifteen members each from the junior class, the fifteen members of the outgoing senior class making the choice. Each senior is allotted his man of the juniors and must find him in the crowd at the tree and tap him on the shoulder and give him the order to go to his room. Followed by his sponsor, he obeys, and what happens at the room no one but the men of the society knows. With shining face the lad comes back later and is slapped on the shoulder and told, "Good work, old man," cordially and wholeheartedly by every friend and acquaintance—by lads who have "made" every honor possible, by lads who have "made" nothing, just as heartily, for that is the spirit of Yale.

Only juniors room in Durfee hall. On tap day an outsider is lucky who has a friend there, for a window is a proscenium box for the play—the play which is a tragedy to all but forty-five of the three hundred and odd juniors. The windows of every story of the graystone facade are crowded with a deeply interested audience. Grizzled heads of old graduates mix with flowery hats of women. Every one is watching every detail, every arrival. In front of the hall are a drive and room for perhaps a dozen carriages next the fence—the famous fence of Yale—which rails the campus round. Just inside it, at the northeast corner, rises the tree. People stand up in the carriages, women and men. The fence is loaded with people, often standing, too, to see that tree.

All over the campus surges a crowd—students of the other classes, seniors who last year stood in the compact gathering at the tree and left it sore hearted, not having been "taken;" sophomores who will stand there next year, who already are hoping for and dreading their tap day; little freshmen, each one sure that he at least will be of the elect, and again the iron gray heads, the interested faces of old Yale men, and the gay spring hats like bouquets of flowers.

It is perhaps the most critical single day of the four years' course at the university. It shows to the world whether or no a boy, after three years of college life, has in the eyes of the student body "made good." It is a crucial test, a heartrending test for a boy of twenty years.—Mary R. S. Andrews in Scribner's Magazine.

Obliging.

Excited Author (rushing behind the scenes)—Why are you cutting out the second and third acts of my play? Manager—I am not cutting anything out. I'm merely varying the order of the acts. Several influential persons in the audience have asked me if it would not be possible to have the hero die in the next act.—Chicago Tribune.

"Are you ever coming to bed?" he called out.

"I don't know," she replied; "I promised Mrs. Jones that I'd keep track of her husband while she is away, and I'm going to know what time he comes home if I have to stay up all night."—Detroit Free Press.

Children Cry
FOR FLETCHER'S
CASTORIA

NATURAL ICE BEST.

During the extreme heat of the past two or three weeks vast quantities of natural ice have been consumed to cool drinks and preserve food. Its use has given surcease from the effects of the high temperature and no ill effects whatever have followed this consumption of hundreds of thousands of tons of natural ice; overwhelming proof of the falsity of the oft repeated statement that ice may convey disease and that its use should be sparing and with most careful precautions to avoid contagion. In the months June to August inclusive, 70 per cent of the natural ice supply of the country is used. If natural ice ever caused typhoid fever, the disease it has been charged with spreading, then there should be a notable increase in cases of typhoid in the months of June, July and August. Careful studies of the reports of State and City Boards of Health however, shows that these three are the very months when there are fewer cases of typhoid than any other time of the year. The figures on typhoid for the State of Iowa for 1910 show an average of 24.5 deaths for January, April, 21 for May—August, and 46.7 for September—December. The fewest number of deaths from typhoid occurred in months when the most ice was used.

One epidemic has been accepted generally as proving the charge against natural ice. This was at the St. Lawrence State Hospital, Odgensburg, N. Y. Dr. H. W. Hill, Epidemiologist of the Minnesota States Board of Health recently went carefully over the evidence taken by the physicians in charge of the hospital. He found from their statement that three cases came down with temperatures of 103 degrees to 104 degrees F. on Oct. 2nd. Within four days five more had come down. Six days before the first case or September 26, the ice house, to which the infection was attributed, was first opened and put into use. Typhoid does not begin with a temperature of 103 to 104 degrees. Cases might easily be first found with that temperature, because the patient does not usually go to bed until after being sick for several days. Typhoid requires an average of two weeks from the time of infection before any symptoms whatever develop. Therefore these typhoid patients actually took the typhoid bacilli into their systems about the middle of September—at least ten or fifteen days before the ice house was opened. So the ice could not have been the cause of the epidemic. This removes from consideration the clearest and best defined case in which natural ice had been found guilty. Dr. Hill declines to consider ice as a factor in spreading disease. The Massachusetts State Board of Health after investigation, declared no case of disease had ever been traced to ice. Dr. Eugene H. Porter, Health Commissioner of New York State says the evidence in all cases where ice has been given as a carrier of typhoid, is such as to prevent any scientist from forming such a conclusion.

These facts are important to the public which by false reports and unwarranted conclusions is warned that ice may convey this dread disease, and so is continually being advised to curtail the free use of ice in drinks at a time when its consumption in large quantities brings only a grateful stimulation and renewed energy to bear the burdens of these frequent hot spells.

SESSION IS LONG.

President Treadway of the state senate protests that the legislature should not be blamed for the length of the present session. In a statement issued yesterday he says:

"There has been some hasty criticism of late of the length of the legislative session. It is only fair to the legislature that the public should understand the unusual procedure on Beacon hill this year and the unusual features of the session which explain, to a large degree, the length of this session.

"It does not take even a careful study of the situation and the amount of business transacted to show that the legislature itself is not to blame for still being in session. Last year, for example, the highest number of the senate calendar was 2,477. This year, with the rule suspended more than usual, the present highest number on our calendar is 2,914, so that, for the session, about 500 more readings will be given than last year. This, of course, would easily explain much of the so-called delay.

"Again, the public must understand by this time that the general court has been compelled to wait for the recommendations of the governor on appropriation bills and for his experts' reports, this procedure having been followed under the budget act of last year, which his excellency himself has suggested should be repealed.

"Then again the governor has sent to the legislature about 80 special messages as against seven sent in by Gov. Draper last year. To receive, have printed and respectfully consider these messages from his excellency and to give public hearings thereon obviously took a great deal of time.

"These are some of the unusual conditions which the legislature of this year has had to struggle with. Again, the legislative committees of 1910 had 1614 matters referred to them for hearing and report. This year the total has reached 2175. There have been enacted 711 bills, the record in legislative annals as against 650 last year.

"It is only fair to the legislators, the great majority of whom have labored earnestly and long, that the people should understand the situation just as it is."

MAKES EMPHATIC DENIAL

Back From Europe, Schwab Reports Regarding Brussels Conference

New York, July 20.—Charles M. Schwab gave an emphatic denial to the general report that there was an effort made at the Brussels steel conference to make an international agreement to control steel prices. Mr. Schwab, who attended the Brussels conference, returned on the Olympia from Europe. He said that iron and steel conditions in European countries were in excellent shape.

President Farrall of the United States Steel corporation, said that the steel business was in an exceedingly prosperous condition.

PETITIONS GOVERNOR FOR A STATE BOARD

Representative Lawrence Men Work In Interest of the City

Lawrence, Mass., July 20.—Following a meeting of representative financial, textile and business men of Lawrence, called to consider what could be done to relieve the low financial condition ofthe city treasury, it was voted to petition Governor Eugene N. Foss to appoint a commission of five citizens of Lawrence to act as a board of control and to hold office and administer the affairs of the city of Lawrence for the next three years.

The petition, which was unanimously passed and borne to the governor by a committee, also contained a request that the city be allowed to borrow $500,000 outside the city debt limit to tide over the present financial dilemma.

The petition was immediately taken to Boston by the committee and placed before Governor Foss.

SHOT AND KILLED SELF

After an Unsuccessful Attempt at Suicide With Paris Green

Pittsfield, Mass., July 20.—John M. Smith shot and killed himself after he had made one unsuccessful attempt at suicide by drinking a glass of paris green.

Smith fired four shots into his brain, and was dead when found. An empty glass that had contained a solution of paris green told of the first attempt at suicide.

Near the body lay his revolver with four empty shells and a note written on a scrap of paper. Smith was about 40 years of age and leaves a wife and several children.

Boston Man Dead In New York

New York, July 20.—Edward Norton, a Boston photographer, died in the Metropolitan hospital, Blackwell's Island, of tuberculosis. He told the police that he had a wealthy sister living in Boston, but would not give her name.

Still at Large

Augusta, Me., July 20.—The insane criminals who escaped from the Maine insane hospital Monday have baffled their pursuers and are still at large, though a posse of 150 officers, hospital employes and volunteers are searching for them.

FAIR EXCHANGE

A New Back for an Old One. How It Can be Done in Quincy.

The back aches at times with a dull, indescribable feeling, making you weary and restless; piercing pains shoot across the region of the kidneys, and again the loins are so lame to stoop is agony. No use to rub or apply a plaster to the back in this condition. You cannot reach the cause. Exchange the bad back for a new and stronger one. Quincy residents would do well to profit by the following example.

Richard Smith, South Central avenue, Wollaston, Mass., says: "I suffered from backache and kidney trouble for a long time. I had dull pains through the small of my back and on arising in the morning, I was so stiff and lame that I could hardly dress myself. Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a supply and in a short time after beginning their use, I was relieved. After I had taken the contents of two boxes of this remedy, I was in good health and I have had no kidney trouble since. I give Doan's Kidney Pills the credit for this change in my condition and I gladly recommend them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

TARIFF ON WOOL BEFORE SENATE

Conflicting Bills Now Up For Consideration In the Senate

PRESIDENT IS STILL FIRM

Measure Presented by the Democratic, Insurgent and Regular Factions—Smoot's Attitude Surprises His Colleagues—No Prediction Is Made as to the Outcome of a Three-Cornered Fight

Washington, July 20.—There are now three distinct wool revision bills before the senate, the bill passed by the house of representatives, the bill offered by Senator La Follette of Wisconsin, and the bill introduced by Senator Smoot. Thus each of the political parties or factions in the senate now has a wool revision bill to stand for. That the regulars or anybody else should present a wool revision bill is a surprise to most persons. No one is attempting to predict what will come out of this three-cornered fight.

Democratic leaders in the house are closely watching developments in the senate. Their expressed position is that La Follettte's wool bill is not likely to be tacked to the farmers' free list bill as a rider and that the senate Democrats will keep the bills separated. The house leaders say they feel that after the La Follette bill has been voted down in the senate the Republican insurgent senators may be induced to vote with the Democrats on the Underwood woolen schedule bill. The Democratic leaders contend that the La Follette bill is not really a revenue raising measure in the same sense as the Underwood bill. House Democrats have taken the view that they would rather have the Underwood bill defeated than to accept the La Follette bill.

Senator Reed Smoot astonished his colleagues by introducing a bill making general reductions in the duties on wools and woolens. Smoot is a woolen manufacturer and has been a champion of schedule K ever since he entered the senate. He is a member of the committee on finance, hence his course in voluntarily proposing a cut in the wool and woolen rates will excite intrest in the woolen trade generally. Senator Smoot explained his bill, which will now divide interest with the measures sent over from the house and that introduced by La Follette of Wisconsin. Smoot's bill is purely an individual product. It is not fathered by the finance committee nor is it an administration bill, as President Taft is known to be standing firmly on his declaration that the textile schedules should not be revised until after the tariff board has reported. Senator Smoot does not expect his bill to pass.

According to the best light now obtainable, the senate will reject the Underwood bill and then, the Democrats and Republican progressives combining, will try to tack the La Follette bill to the free list bill as an amendment. The regulars could not vote for the Democratic bill nor would they for that of La Follette.

If the revolting carded woolen men should prove to be contented with the Smoot reclassification, aside from the question of rates, the woolen manufacturers would stand a fair chance of being united.

MISSING FROM HOME

Prominent Plymouth Grocer Thought to Be Mentally Unbalanced

Plymouth, Mass., July 20.—Edwin White, proprietor of the Boston Branch grocery, is missing from his home. He was last seen Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock. For three months Mr. White has acted strangely, according to his clerks.

Friday afternoon he went to his home and, after changing his clothes, was last seen going in the direction of the railroad station. All his papers and other receipts were found in his pockets, and he is known to have very little money when he left. A few weeks ago he had an attack of the grippe. As business troubles are not thought to have caused him to disappear, the general opinion is that he has become mentally unbalanced and wandered away, and is either lost or has committed suicide.

How Heat Affected Horses

Boston, July 20.—Two hundred horses died and between 400 and 500 were prostrated during the recent hot weather in Boston. The monthly report of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals contains an unusual record of service to the dumb creatures who suffered so terribly at that time. In seven of the hottest days, 38,045 horses were watered, and the services at the eleven hydrant stations were in constant demand.

Train Goes Through Bridge

Muskogee, July 20.—A passenger train on the Midland Valley railroad, went through a bridge half a mile west of Avant, Okla. The bridge is fifty feet high. The structure had been weakened by a swollen creek.

PREMIER ASQUITH

Working on the Veto Bill In London

TO THIRD READING

House of Lords Reported to Be In Favor of Veto Bill

London, July 20.—It is said the house of lords will not only pass the third reading of the veto bill without division, but that when the government bill is returned to the upper chamber shorn of the lords' amendments they will pass that also.

Practically the whole Unionist press has now fallen into line in the admission that this is the only reasonable policy of the cabinet to follow. Long meetings of the cabinet and of the Unionist leaders, including Balfour and Lords Lansdowne, Selbore, Curzon, Salisbury and others were held to make final arrangements for the coming debates.

Premier Asquith has postponed his intended visit to Scotland on account of the crisis, and urgent whips have been issued to all parties for Monday's sittings of the house of commons.

On that date the prime minister will move the excision of the lords' amendments and he is expected to make an important pronouncement on the ministerial intentions. According, also, to persistent reports, whatever happens, fifty new peers will be created before the bill is sent back to the house of lords as an earnest of the government's intentions, should there still be a disposition on the part of the peers to display obduracy.

BIG PROPERTY DEAL BY SOUTHERN FIRM

Extensive Coal Interest Purchased by Millionares

Louisville, Ky., July 20.—A big coal deal has been consummated at Pineville by which local capitalists organized as the Pioneer Coal company, acquire the Edgemont Coal company's property, situated on Straight creek and consisting of 5000 acres of coal lands.

The company also secures the leases of the East Tennessee Coal company. The Louisville and Nashville railroad built a railroad to this property last year, and the new owners expect to be in full operation by Oct. 1.

FAKE "FRAME-UP"

Said to Be the Means Employed to Swindle Butter

Providence, July 20.—William A. Crane, arrested in Boston as one of the quartet who fleeced Samuel Butter, the Boston metal dealer, out of $7500 here, declared that Mr. Butter lost his roll on a fake horse poolroom "frame-up" and that the copper deal of which Mr. Butter told the police was merely the lure to bring him to this city for the "plant."

The police say Big Lem Crosneider, formerly associated with Larry Summerville and "Big" Hawley, was the leader of the gang who took the Boston man's roll of bills.

Big Lem is among the missing, as is a man named Kane, who posed as the brother-in-law of "Big Lem."

Notwithstanding the publicity given to this type of swindling the police believe that Boston men have been coming here right along to be fleeced.

Plead Not Guilty

New York, July 20.—Pleas of not guilty on all three counts were entered by Lillian Graham and Ethel Conrad to the charge of shooting W. E. D. Stokes. They were indicted for attempted murder and assault. Their counsel was granted ten days in which to change the pleas. The bail bond of $5000 in each case was continued.

The Weather

Almanac, Friday, July 21.
Sun rises—4:44; sets—7:22.
Moon rises—12:50 a. m.
High water—6:45 a. m.; 7:15 p. m.
Forecast for New England: Probably fair; not much change in temperature; light to moderate south and southwest winds.

ROOSTER COAL BRIQUETS

THE NEW ANTHRACITE COAL

ROOSTER BRIQUETS are made from the choicest small Scranton Anthracite coal, mined in Pennsylvania, called TWENTIETH CENTURY CHESTNUT size.

Just consider for a moment what we offer here in this 20th CENTURY CHESTNUT.

First, 200 pounds of clean, pure, hard coal without a rock or a piece of slate.

Second, fuel that cannot form into a clinker, by any known method of firing, consequently the linings and grates last indefinitely.

Third, they are made in nut size, being equally convenient for furnace heaters, open grates, as well as stoves; therefore, only one storage bin is necessary.

Fourth, and very IMPORTANT, the quality of this fuel is the SAME EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR, not a good ton today, and nothing like it the next time, in other words, when you once learn how to regulate your drafts you have nothing more to learn about burning BRIQUETS.

Fifth, no more sifting ashes these Briquets burn out clean. They require less wood to kindle.

Be sure to ask for "ROOSTERS" and get the Briquet made from pure Scranton Coal, from the largest Briquet plant in the country. They are better than coal, will last as long and cost less.

J. F. SHEPPARD & SONS,
AGENTS

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.

BATHING SUITS

Caps and Water Wings

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

BAREFOOT SANDALS

The best thing for the children to wear during the warm weather. They are light and comfortable and give good satisfaction.

CHILDS	5 to 8	45c
MISSES	8 to 11	50c

HEFFERNAN'S SHOE STORE
1375 Hancock Street, Quincy

Are You Going Away?

If so have the DAILY LEDGER sent to your vacation address. You cannot afford to be without your home paper.

FILL OUT THIS BLANK

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER:—

Send the Daily Ledger for _____

Address below. _____

SEND YOUR ORDER AT ONCE

PATTERSON, "The Florist"
92 South Central Ave.
WOLLASTON, MASS.
Telephone 392 Quincy

Quincy Savings Bank
BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.
SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.
CLARENCE BURGIN, Treasurer.

HOUSEKEEPERS
TELL YOUR TROUBLES
HOLMES & HALL
We make a business of repairing the things about the house that get out of order such as DOORS, LOCKS, SHADES, BELLS and FURNITURE.
96 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 974 L

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.
FIRE INSURANCE.
The Best Insurance. The Lowest Rates
Insurance Department,
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Telephone, Quincy 95-3.

A. M. DEANE & CO.
MONUMENTS
MEMORIALS ERECTED IN ANY CEMETERY IN THE UNITED STATES
Aug. 1.-1y

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER and GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

STORAGE
—FOR—
Furniture and Pianos
Storage Warehouse with Separate Rooms
Furniture and Piano Movers
HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy Tel. Con.

UPHOLSTERING
My only ambition is to get the work and to show the people of Quincy Town that nobody can beat me with my good work. Low prices on all kinds of furniture, repairing, mattresses, and cushions. Can give references. M. Mirkin 67 Washington street, next to Y.M.C.A. Quincy. Tel. 1112W. April 10-4mo.

JAMES F. BURKE
Real Estate and Insurance
AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES
Justice of the Peace Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Tel. 285-3 Jan. 17-tf

M. T. SULLIVAN
Real Estate Insurance
Auctioneer Care of Property
Justice of the Peace
Corner School and Hancock Streets
QUINCY.

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock treet, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1173 M Nov. 5-tf

R. D. CHASE
QUINCY MASS.
INSURANCE REAL ESTATE MORTGAGES TRUSTS CONVEYANCES
MONEY TO LOAN ON REAL ESTATE MORTGAGES
CARE OF PROPERTY

PATENTS
PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo. for expert search and free report, free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES.
Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent.
Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively.
Write or come to us at
710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office,
WASHINGTON, D. C.
CA-SNOW & CO.

THE DANGER TRAIL

By JAMES OLIVER CURWOOD

Copyright, 1910, by Bobbs-Merrill Company.

SYNOPSIS

Jack Howland, engineer, sent to build the Hudson Bay railroad, is appealed to for help by a beautiful girl who writes that she is a mute and invites him to accompany her. They are followed by Jean Croisset, half breed.

They go to her camp. He is attacked and nearly killed by a huge stranger. The girl disappears. Howland hears her speak Croisset gives him the little Meleese's warning not to go north. He goes.

Howland again sees the girl, who tells him by note his life is in danger. She asks his forgiveness. Gregson and Thorne are mere wrecks of their former selves.

Mysterious perils threaten Howland. The girl visits him and confesses that she had lied to him. She entreats him to return south.

He tells her he loves her. Her name is Meleese. She partly promises to tell him why enemies seek his life.

Howland is lured to a mine, taken prisoner and bound to a box of dynamite which is soon to be exploded.

He frees himself and prevents the explosion. Meleese meets him again, refuses to marry him and again lures him into the hands of enemies.

Croisset takes Howland, his prisoner, into the wilderness. They are followed by Meleese. Howland promises not to attempt to escape.

They reach the house of the Red Death, a deserted Hudson Bay post. Then Croisset departs for several days. Howland plans to capture him upon his return.

Howland and Croisset fight. Croisset tells Howland he intends to kill him.

(Continued from last issue)

Howland had broken the breech of his revolver and was replacing the three empty cartridges with fresh ones.

"There will be no mistake next time," he said, holding out the weapon. "You were as near your death a few moments ago as ever before in your life, Croisset—and now for a little plain understanding between us. Until we stopped out there I had some faith in you. Now I have none. I regard you as my worst enemy, and though you are deuced near to your friends, I tell you that you were never in a tighter box in your life. If I fail in my mission here you shall die. If others come along that trail before dark and run us down I will kill you Unless you make it possible for me to see and talk with Meleese I will kill you. Your life hangs on my success."

"I am glad that you changed your mind, m'seur, and I will not tempt you again. I will do the best that I can," said Jean. "Within an hour it will be snowing heavily," he affirmed. "If they do not run across our trail by that time, m'seur, we shall be safe."

He led the way through the forest again, more slowly and with greater caution than before. Half an hour later the Frenchman halted where the banskians climbed the side of a sloping ridge.

"If you could trust me I would ask to go on ahead," whispered Jean "This ridge shuts in the plain, m'seur, and just over the top of it is an old cabin which has been abandoned for many years. There is not one chance in a thousand of there being any one there, though it is a good fox ridge at this season. From it you may see the light in Meleese's window at night."

He did not stop to watch the effect of his last words, but began picking his way up the ridge with the dogs tugging at his heels. At the top he swung sharply between two huge masses of snow covered rock, and in the lee of the largest of these, almost entirely sheltered from the drifts piled up by easterly winds, they came suddenly on a small log hut.

"Mon Dieu, so far I have saved my hide," he grinned. "Now, m'seur, look for yourself and see if Jean Croisset has not kept his word!"

A dozen steps had taken him through a screen of shrub to the opposite slope of the ridge. With outstretched arm he pointed down into the plain, and as Howland's eyes followed its direction he stood throbbing with sudden excitement. Less than a quarter of a mile away, sheltered in a dip of the plain, were three or four log buildings rising black and desolate out of the white waste. One of these buildings was a large structure similar to that in which Howland had been imprisoned, and as he looked a team and sledge appeared from behind one of the cabins and halted close to the wall of the large building. The driver was plainly visible, and to Howland's astonishment he suddenly began to ascend the side of this wall. For the moment Howland had not thought of a stair.

Jean's attitude drew his eyes. The Frenchman had thrust himself half out of the screening bushes and was staring through the telescope of his hands. With an exclamation he turned quickly to the engineer.

"Look, m'seur! Do you see that man climbing the stair? I don't mind telling you that he is the one who hit you over the head on the trail and also one of those who shut you up in the coyote. Those are his quarters at the post, and possibly he is going up to see Meleese. If you were much of a shot you could settle a score or two from here, m'seur."

The figure had stopped, evidently on a platform midway up the side of the building. He stood for a moment as if scanning the plain between him and the mountain, then disappeared. Howland had not spoken a word, but every nerve in his body tingled strangely.

"You say Meleese—is there?" he questioned hesitatingly. "And he—who is that man, Croisset?"

Jean shrugged his shoulders and drew himself back into the bush, turning leisurely toward the old cabin.

"Non, m'seur, I will not tell you that," he protested. "I have brought you to this place. I have pointed out to you the stair that leads to the room where you will find Meleese. You may cut me into ribbons for the ravens, but I will tell you no more!"

Again the threatening fire leaped into Howland's eyes.

"I will trouble you to put your hands behind your back, Croisset," he commanded. "I am going to return a certain compliment of yours by tying your hands with this piece of babeesh, which you used on me. After that"—

"And after that, m'seur"— urged Jean, with a touch of the old taunt in his voice and stopping with his back to the engineer and his hands behind him. "After that?"

"You will tell me all that I want to know," finished Howland, tightening the thong about his wrists.

He led the way then to the cabin. The door was closed, but opened readily as he put his weight against it. The single room was lighted by a window through which a mass of snow had drifted, and contained nothing more than a rude table built against one of the log walls, three supply boxes that had evidently been employed as stools, and a cracked and rust eaten sheet iron stove that had from all appearances long passed into disuse. He motioned the Frenchman to a seat at one end of the table. Without a word he then went outside, securely toggled the leading dog, and returning, closed the door and seated himself at the end of the table opposite Jean.

The light from the open window fell full on Croisset's dark face and shone in a silvery streak along the top of Howland's revolver as the muzzle of it rested casually on a line with the other's breast. There was a menacing click as the engineer drew back the hammer.

"Now, my dear Jean, we're ready to begin the real game," he explained. "Here we are, high and dry, and down there—just far enough away to be out of hearing of this revolver when I shoot—are those we're going to play against. So far I've been completely in the dark. I know of no reason why I shouldn't go down there openly and be welcomed and given a good supper. And yet at the same time I know that my life wouldn't be worth a red copper if I did go down. You can clear up the whole business, and that's what you're going to do. When I understand why I am scheduled to be murdered on sight I won't be handicapped as I now am. So go ahead and spiel. If you don't I'll blow your head off."

"You may shoot, m'seur," Jean said quietly. "I have sworn on a cross of the Virgin to tell you no more than I have."

Slowly Howland raised his revolver.

"Once more, Croisset—will you tell me?"

"Non, m'seur."

A deafening explosion filled the little cabin. From the lobe of Jean's ear there ran a red trickle of blood. His face had gone deathly pale. But even as the bullet had stung him within an inch of his brain he had not flinched.

"Will you tell me, Croisset?"

This time the black pit of the engineer's revolver centered squarely between the Frenchman's eyes.

"Non, m'seur."

The eyes of the two men met over the blue steel. With a cry Howland slowly lowered his weapon.

"Good God, but you're a brave man, Jean Croisset!" he cried. "I'd sooner kill a dozen men that I know than you."

He rose to his feet and went to the door. There was still but little snow in the air. To the north the horizon was growing black with the early approach of the northern light. With a nervous laugh he returned to Jean.

"Deuce take it if I don't feel like apologizing to you," he exclaimed. "Does your ear hurt?"

"No more than if I had scratched it with a thorn," returned Jean politely. "You are good with the pistol, m'seur."

"I would not profit by killing you—just now," mused Howland, seating himself again on the box and resting his chin in the palm of his hand as he looked across at the other. "But that's a pretty good intimation that I'm desperate and mean business, Croisset. We won't quarrel about the things I've asked you. What I'm here for is to see Meleese. Now, how is that to happen?"

"For the life of me I don't know," replied Jean as calmly as though a bullet had not nipped the edge of his ear a moment before. "There is only one way I can see, m'seur, and that is to wait and watch from this mountain top until Meleese drives out her dogs. She has her own team and in ordinary seasons frequently goes out alone or with one of the women at the post. Mon Dieu, she has had enough of sledge riding of late, and I doubt if she will find pleasure in her dogs for a long time."

"I had planned to use you," said Howland, "but I've lost faith in you. Honestly, Croisset, I believe you would stick me in the back almost as quickly as those murderers down there."

"Not in the back, m'seur," smiled the Frenchman, unmoved. "I have had opportunities to do that. Non, since that fight back there I do not believe that I want to kill you."

"But I would be a fool to trust you. Isn't that so?"

"Not if I gave you my word. That is something we do not break up here as you do down among the Wekusko people, and farther south."

"But you murder people for pastime—eh, my dear Jean?"

Crossiet shrugged his shoulders without speaking.

"See here, Croisset," said Howland with sudden earnestness, "I'm almost tempted to take a chance with you. Will you go down to the post tonight, in some way gain access to Meleese and give her a message from me?"

"And the message—what would it be?"

"It would bring Meleese up to this cabin—tonight."

"Are you sure, m'seur?"

"I am certain that it would. Will you go?"

"Non, m'seur."

"The devil take you!" cried Howland angrily. "If I was not certain that I would need you later I'd garrote you where you sit."

He rose and went to the old stove. It was still capable of holding fire, and as it had grown too dark outside for the smoke to be observed from the post he proceeded to prepare a supper of hot coffee and meat. Jean watched him in silence, and not until food and drink were on the table did the engineer himself break silence.

"Of course I'm not going to feed you," he said curtly, "so I'll have to free your hands. But be careful."

He placed his revolver on the table beside him after he had freed Croisset.

"I might assassinate you with a fork," chuckled the Frenchman softly, his black eyes laughing over his coffee cup. "I drink your health, m'seur, and wish you happiness."

"You lie!" snapped Howland.

Jean lowered the cup without drinking.

"It's the truth, m'seur," he insisted. "Since that beautiful fight back there I cannot help but wish you happiness. I drink also to the happiness of Meleese, also to the happiness of those who tried to kill you on the trail and at the coyote. But, mon Dieu, how is it all to come? Those at the post are happy because they believe that you are dead. You will not be happy until they are dead. And Meleese—how will all this bring happiness to her? I tell you that I am as deep in trouble as you, M'seur Howland."

He drank, his eyes darkening gloomily. In that moment there flashed into Howland's mind a memory of the battle that Jean had fought for him on the Great North trail.

"You nearly killed one of them—that night—at Prince Albert," he said slowly. "I can't understand why you fought for me then and won't help me now. But you did. And you're afraid to go down there"—

"Until I have regrown a beard," interrupted Jean with a low, chuckling laugh. "You would not be the only one to die if they saw me again like this. But that is enough, m'seur. I will say no more."

With another length of babeesh Howland tied his companion's legs.

"I'm going to investigate a little," he explained.

A few minutes later, after he had made his prisoner as comfortable as possible in the cabin, Howland went again through the fringe of scrub bush to the edge of the ridge. Below him the plain was lost in the gloom of the night. He could see nothing of the buildings at the post but two or three lights gleaming faintly through the darkness.

In these moments a desire that was almost madness swept over him. Since his fight with Jean the swift passing of events had confined his thoughts to their one objective—the finding of Meleese and her people. He had assured himself that his every move was to be a cool and calculating one; that nothing—not even his great love—should urge him beyond that reason which had made him a master builder among men. As he stood with the snow falling heavily on him he knew that his trail would be covered before another day; that for an indefinite period he might safely wait and watch for Meleese on the mountain top. And yet slowly he descended to the foot of the ridge and headed into the plain, taking the precaution to bury his feet deep in the snow that he might have a trail to guide him back to the cabin. There would be no harm done, and he might get a glimpse of the light, of her light.

It came on his vision with a suddenness that set his heart leaping. A dog barked ahead of him, so near that he stopped in his tracks, and then suddenly there shot through the snow gloom the bright gleam of a lamp. Before he had taken another breath he was aware of what had happened. A curtain had been drawn aside in the chaos ahead. He was almost on the walls of the post, and the light gleamed from high up, from the head of the stair.

The one lighted window was plainly visible now, its curtain two-thirds drawn, and as he looked a shadow passed over it. Was it a woman's shadow? The window darkened as the figure within came nearer to it, and Howland stood with clinched hands and wildly beating heart, almost ready to call out softly a name.

The shadow disappeared. Dimly Howland made out the snow covered stair, and he went to it and looked up. Ten feet above him the light shone out. Swiftly he mounted the stair.

(To be Continued.)

Knox Satisfies Cuba

Washington, July 20.—Annoyed by rumors that the visit of Secretary of War Stimson was preliminary to American intervention, Secretary of State Knox addressed a note to the Cuban government explaining that Mr. Stimson's visit is partly to inspect the work on the wreck of the battleship Maine and primarily to pay a friendly visit to the republic of Cuba.

TWO COMPANIES IN TRADE MIX-UP

Sweeping Charges of Conspiracy Against Icemen

MAY BE JAILED IF GUILTY

Officers and Directors Sweepingly Charged Relative to the Production and Sale of Ice—In Case of Conviction Imprisonment Will Be Asked For—Comments of Attorney DeFord Who Is Conducting the Case

New York, July 20.—Sweeping charges of conspiracy in restraint of trade covering both production and sale of ice, were lodged here by District Attorney Whitman against the Knickerbocker Ice company, the Ice Manufacturing company and their officers and directors. The complaint alleges that the monopoly created by the American Ice company has been perpetuated by the defendants, and prays that the court subpoena fifteen witnesses named and examine the records of the two concerns to determine the truth of the accusations. The formal complaint was laid before Magistrate Appleton. Public sittings for the taking of testimony will be held.

Counsel for the defendants expressed his willingness to produce the desired records and witnesses without subpoenas. The date of the alleged conspiracy is given as May 5, when the American Ice company surrendered its charter.

On that date the Knickerbocker company and the Ice Manufacturing company were chartered, the former in New Jersey, the latter by New York, for the express purpose, the complaint charges, of taking over the business of the American Ice company. All the appliances and plants used by the American Ice company in the production of artificial ice, according to the complaint, were taken over by the Ice Manufacturing company, while the Knickerbocker Ice company continued the American company's entire business in the harvesting, housing and selling of the natural product.

Jail sentences and not fines will be sought in the cases of the officials of the two companies, should the state secure convictions, according to Assistant District Attorney DeFord, who is conducting the case.

"This inquiry is in exactly the same position as six or seven trust investigations have beeen," said DeFord, "with the exception that in this case, if the proper evidence is secured, our whole fight will be to secure jail sentences for the persons responsible. I have aided in the prosecution of six trusts, and to my mind it appears clear that any work resulting in a mere fine imposed upon the corporation is wasted work."

THIS STATE AGAIN IN LEAD.

Robert Luce, for six years house chairman of the committee on election laws, says:

"In the Stearns bill amending the corrupt practices act, which has just become law, the legislature has taken perhaps the most important step of recent years in election reform.

"The extension of the primary election law at this session was an important measure, but it simply carried farther a policy on which we had already entered and which has been adopted in many other states. In the Stearns bill, however, we are pioneers so far as this country is concerned and we take a position on a problem which is really a national issue, being part of the programme of the progressives.

"Our law has not provided any incentive for anybody to enforce it.

"The new act provides that:—

Whoever is convicted of wilfully violating any provision of law relating to corrupt practices in elections shall be deemed ineligible to hold public office for three years following the date of conviction, and if a person elected to public office is convicted of any wilful violation of the law relating to corrupt practices in connection with the election in question his office shall thereby be vacated and a new election shall be held for the purpose of filling the same.

"It will be seen that this holds out an inducement to defeated candidates and defeated parties for taking the initiative in bringing offenders into court.

"Every candidate hereafter will realize that if he does not obey the law he runs serious danger of having his trouble for his pains, and finding himself not only deprived of his office, but forbidden to be a candidate again for three years.

"If progressive members of congress are really serious in their avowed purpose of applying to national elections the principles with which we have been experimenting in Massachusetts they will fail of real results unless they couple with the publicity laws precisely this penalty which we have adopted in Masachusetts.

"Undoubtedly the provision that will attract most attention is that which restricts any candidate from spending more than $5,000 or more than $25 for each 1000 voters in his district.

"In the work of practical politics there is likely to be more noticeable result from the law through the new definition of the classes of expenditure that may hereafter be incurred.

"For instance, the use of more than one carriage or other conveyance at any one polling place by any one committee is prohibited. Unless campaign buttons could be brought within the word 'decorations' they will be illegal.

"More important still, the hiring of workers at the polls is no longer permissible.

"Both candidates and holders of elective office will find great relief in the distinct prohibition of a class of solicitation which sometimes has come dangerously near resembling blackmail. Hereafter it is to be an offence to solicit from them orders for advertising, gratuities, donations, tickets, programs, or any other purpose whatsoever.

"That last clause 'any other purpose whatsoever' is exceedingly broad and the promoters of schemes of all sorts, who have hitherto confidently approached candidates and holders of elective office, may prudently take notice.

"Personal expenses are hereafter to be reported. The conscientious candidate will not object to this, but he is sure to find much difficulty in determining just what to class as expenditures for campaign purposes."

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, Lucas County, ss.
Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure. FRANK J. CHENEY.
Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.
A. W. GLEASON, (Seal) Notary Public.
Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.
F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by all Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

In effect June 4, 1911

The letters in the same line as the figures below stand for different stations and indicate that trains stop as follows.

a Wollaston f Harrison Square
b Norfolk Downs g Savin Hill
c Atlantic h Crescent Avenue
d Neponset i South Boston
e Pope's Hill r Quincy Adams
Exp.—Express train.

TO BOSTON			FROM BOSTON
Leave	Stop	Arrive	Leave	Stop	Arrive
r 5 14	abcdefghi	5 41	5 15	ihgfedeba	6 14 r
r 6 16	abcd	6 35	6 12	ihgfedeba	6 39 r
r 6 33	e	6 48	6 30	a	6 47
r 6 40	abcf	7 00	7 15	hgfedeba	7 41 r
r 7 08	abcd	7 39	7 41	a	7 58
r 7 25	d	7 42	7 45	c	8 03 r
r 7 33	Exp	7 48	8 35	cb	8 52
r 7 42	ab	8 00	8 42	a	8 59
7 57	a	8 13	9 10	fedba	9 32 r
r 8 19	abcd	8 31	9 45	a	10 01 r
r 8 30	Exp	8 45	10 15	ihgfedeba	10 41 r
r 8 53	ad	9 10	10 50	Exp	11 05
r 9 15	abc	9 33	11 15	hgfedeba	11 41 r
r 10 03	a	10 20	11 50	a	12 07
r 10 19	abcdefghi	10 45	12 15	hgfedeba	12 41 r
11 12	a	11 28	12 37	a	12 54 r
r 11 24	abcdefghi	11 50	12 50	Exp	1 05
12 04	a	12 20	1 11	fedeba	1 32 r
r 12 25	abcdefghi	12 52	1 45	a	2 02
1 22	a	1 40	2 15	ihgf	2 37 r
2 04	a	2 20	2 35	Exp	2 50
r 2 19	abcdefgh	2 45	3 15	hgfedeba	3 40 r
r 3 13	Exp	3 28	3 45	a	4 02
4 04	a	4 20	4 12	fedeba	4 34 r
r 4 25	abcdefgh	4 52	4 41	d	4 78
5 05	Exp	5 10	5 14	a	5 31 r
r 5 20	abcdefg	5 55	5 24	a	5 42
6 12	a	6 30	5 31	dcb	5 50 r
7 22	Exp	7 37	5 43	a	6 00 r
r 7 30	a	7 46	5 55	fedeba	6 21 r
r 8 07	abcdef	8 30	6 14	Exp	6 30 r
r 9 01	abc	9 20	6 30	edba	6 51 r
10 04	a	10 20	7 00	fedeba	7 24 r
r 10 07	abcdef	10 30	7 12	a	7 20
r 11 25	abc	11 45	8 05	ba	8 32
			9 25	dba	9 46 r
			10 35	fedeba	11 02 r
			11 10	fedeba	11 35 r
			11 30	ba	11 49

SUNDAYS

r 7 43	abc	8 03	6 50	ba	6 48 r
8 30	Exp	8 45	45	ihgfedeba	9 13 r
8 34	abc	8 52	9 05	Exp	9 21
r 8 46	bcdefghi	9 13	10 05	ihgfedeba	10 22 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	12 15	ihgfedeba	12 42 r
9 31	a	9 47	12 45	Exp	1 01
10 23	ac	10 40	1 30	ihgfedeba	1 57 r
10 31	Exp	10 47	2 15	hgfedeba	2 42 r
11 09	Exp	11 17	2 45	a	3 02
r 11 16	abcdefghi	11 43	3 15	ihgfedeba	3 42 r
1 02	Exp	1 17	4 27	cba	4 48 r
r 1 36	abcdefgh	1 43	5 15	ihgfedeba	5 42 r
r 3 10	abc	3 30	6 15	ihgfedeba	6 42 r
r 4 16	abcdefghi	4 43	7 60	cba	7 19 r
r 5 07	abc	5 27	8 15	ihgfedeba	8 41 r
r 6 16	abcdefghi	6 43	8 50	Exp	9 05
r 7 16	abcdefghi	7 42	9 30	ihgfedeba	9 57 r
r 8 11	abcdefghi	8 38	10 45	cba	11 04 r
r 9 05	a	9 22
r 10 46	abc	11 05
r 11 01	abc	11 20

West Quincy for Boston (stopping at East Milton)—6.23, 6.56, 7.17, 8.04, 8.11, 9.07, 10.09, 11.01, A. M. 12.09, 1.23, 2.09, 3.18, 4.09, 5.13, 6.00, 7.19, 9.09, 11.14 P. M. Sundays—8.20, 9.20 A. M. 12.50, 5.15, 6.50, 11.02 P. M.

Boston for West Quincy (stopping at East Milton)—6.35, 7.27, 8.23, 9.35, 10.25, 11.30 A. M. 12.25 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 5.47, 6.18, 7.20, 9.10, 11.20 P. M. Sundays—8.58 A. M. 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M.

Montclair for Boston 6.29, 7.27, 8.17, 10.15, A. M. 12.15, 1.29, 4.15, 5.20, 6.12, 7.26, 9.15, P. M. Sundays—8.26, 9.26, A. M. 1.06, 5.21, 11.09 P. M.

Boston for Montclair 9.35, 10.25, 11.35, A. M. 12.25, 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 6.18, 11.20 P. M. Sundays—8.58 A. M. 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M.

Boston & Northern St. Ry. Co.

QUINCY DIVISION

TIME TABLE

In effect June 24th, 1911.
Subject to Change Without Notice

Leave QUINCY for

Brockton, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M. then 9.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Brockton, 6.30, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 9.30 P. M Sundays, 8.00A. M. then same as week days.

Braintree, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Braintree, 6.25 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.25 P. M. Sundays, 7.55 A. M. then same as week days.

East Milton, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Milton, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M., and every 20 minutes to 11.45 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.15 midnight.) Sundays, 7.25, A. M. then same as week days.

East Weymouth, 6.00, 6.15, 6.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.42 P. M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Weymouth, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.45 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Holbrook, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M. then 9.50 and 10.20 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Holbrook, 5.55, 6.25, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.00 P. M. Sundays, 8.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Houghs Neck, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 5.20, 5.45, 6.10 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 4.10 P. M. then 4.25, 4.40, 4.55, 5.10, 5.25, 5.40, 5.55, 6.10, 6.25, 6.40, 6.55, 7.10 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 11.10 P. M. then 11.49 P. M. Saturdays and Holidays, 5.20, 5.45, 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, 10.10, 10.40, A. M. then every 15 minutes to 10.40 P. M. then 11.10 and 11.49 P. M. Sundays, 6.50, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, 10.10, 10.40 A. M. then every 15 minutes to 10.40 P. M. then 11.10 P. M. Return, leave Houghs Neck Mondays to Fridays, both inc. 5.45, 6.05, 6.35 A. M. and ever 30 minutes to 4.35 P. M. then 4.50, 5.05, 5.20, 5.35, 5.50, 6.05, 6.20, 6.35, 6.50, 7.05, 7.20, 7.35 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 12.05 midnight. Saturdays and Holidays, 5.45, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05, A. M. then every 15 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.35 and 12.05 P. M. Sundays, 7.20, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05 A. M. then every 15 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.35 P. M.

Nantasket 8.25 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 9.25 P. M. Sundays, 9.25 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Nantasket, 10.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.00 P. M. Sundays, 10.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Hancock Street, 5.45, 6.14, 6.44, 7.14, 7.44, 8.14, 8.35, A. M. then 5, 14, 35 and 44 minutes past each hour to 10.44 P. M. then 12.14 midnight. Sundays 7.14 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Neponset 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, 8.07, 8.35, 8.37, 9.05, 9.37 A. M. then 5, 7, 35 and 37 minutes past each hour to 11.07 P. M. then 12.37 midnight. Sundays, 7.37 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Wollaston, 5.59 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.59 P. M. then 11.14 and 11.44 P. M. Sundays, 6.59 A. M. then same as week days. Return leave Neponset, 6.22 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.22 P. M. then 11.37, 12.07 P. M. Sundays, 7.22 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Norfolk Downs, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 7.55, 8.25, 8.50, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 1.30 P. M. then 2.05, 2.35 P. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.05 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.00 P. M.) Sundays, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Neponset, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 1.35 P. M. then 2.00, 2.30 P. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M.) Sundays, 8.30, 9.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Weymouth Landing, 5.20, 6.00, 6.20, 6.55, 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.00 P. M. Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days. Return leave Weymouth Landing, 5.40, 6.15, A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.15 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Wollaston, 5.59 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.59 P. M. then 11.14 and 11.44 P. M. Sundays, 6.59 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Wollaston, 6.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.30 P. M. then 11.50 and 12.20 P. M. Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days.

West Quincy, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave West Quincy, 6.00, 6.20, 6.50, A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.50 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.20 midnight) Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days.

Leave NEPONSET BRIDGE for Squantum, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 3.30 P. M. then 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30 P. M. then every 60 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Saturdays, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Sundays, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. (Note—Week Days, cars will leave Atlantic Bridge for Squantum, 5.45 and 6.15 A. M.) Return leave Squantum, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 4.05 P. M. then 4.35, 5.05, 5.35, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05 P. M. then every 60 minutes to 11.05 P. M. Saturdays, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 10.05 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. Sundays, 8.05 9.05, 10.05, A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M.

THOMAS GAMMON,
Superintendent.

Quincy Daily Ledger

FOR SALE AT

BOSTON—At South Station after 3.30 P. M.
QUINCY—Ledger Office 1424 Hancock Street.
L. A. Chapin, 1395 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, oppo. Depot.
Thompson's Waiting Room, City Sq.
H. P. Kittredge, City Square.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
Mrs. Madden, 16 Quincy ave.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's News Stand.
PARK&DOWNS—Branschied & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
QUINCY NECK—Stetson Pierce, Newcomb Square.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith, Washington Street.
Gragg's Pharmacy.
L. A. Cook, Washington Street.
E. O. Godfrey, 538 Washington St.
E. H. Lowe, Washington Street.
George E. Sprague Cor. River St.
SOUTH QUINCY—Litchfield, Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Miss C. Booth, Brooks Avenue.
BREWER'S CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
Mrs. F. H. Stanley.
WEST QUINCY—F. A. Skinner.
John G. Belanger.
HOUGHS NECK—Capt. Fosdick's.

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	85 degrees
July 20, 1910,	77 degrees
July 20, 1909,	76 degrees
July Noon Maximum, 14 years,	101
July Noon Minimum, 14 years.	60

Humpty Dumpty Gets a Loving Cup

BRIEFS

The Hall Place M. E. church picnic was held at Highland park, Brockton, yesterday.

R. N. Tinney, clerk at R. E. Foy's store, is enjoying a vacation at Ocean Bluffs, Mass.

L. A. Hurley, clerk at R. E. Foy's store starts on his vacation next Monday.

Dorothy, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Smith of Arnold street is very sick.

Edward Hodge of Town Hill has entered the employ of C. W. and G. W. Nightingale.

The lunch room at Brewer's corner will soon move into roomier quarters. It will be located in the building soon to be vacated by the Pellervo co-operative store.

John Hector, formerly of Quincy, is now located in Bellingham, Washington, where he is superintendent of the Bellingham street R. R. Co. which runs from Bellingham to Seattle.

Foster Bumpus, son of Judge E. C. Bumpus, of President's Hill, when last heard from was at Berlin, Germany. He is on a cruise on one of the Naval Academy ships.

Miss Ardis Raupach, daughter of Rev. Carl H. Raupach of Jamaica Plain, former pastor of the Hall Place M. E. church, is visiting Miss Hilda Francis of Centre street, for a few days.

TOUCHED LIVE WIRE.

In East Milton, Marvin Schenck of Dorchester was working at the top of a light pole, 30 feet above the ground. In some way he brushed against a live wire. He was shocked loose, and fell into a tangle of telephone and telegraph wires. Fellow workers climbed up and brought down the body. He was hurried to the Quincy City Hospital in an automobile. He is not expected to live.

HOME TRADE WILL HELP QUINCY AND EVERYONE IN QUINCY.

DEATHS

BEAN—In Quincy, July 19, Elizabeth, widow of the late Nicholas J. Bean, of 21 Franklin street. Friends are kindly invited to attend the solemn high mass of requiem at St. John's church, Quincy, Saturday July 22, at 10 A. M.
Burial private. Friends will kindly omit flowers. 20-2t

McGIBBON—In South Braintree, July 19, Jennie, wife of Peter McGibbon, aged 58 years.
Funeral from her late residence Porter avenue, Saturday, July 22, at 2 P. M. 20-2t

Established 1870 Telephone
JOHN HALL
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
Carriage and Ambulance Service
1485 Hancock Street, Quincy Mass.

BRAINTREE TOWN HALL BURNING

(Continued from Page One.)

from Box 42 at 1.15 by Leo Dennedy but for some reason the fire department was late in arriving.

TOWN HALL, BRAINTREE

In the mean time the flames had gone through the building to the roof which was a mass of flames.

At 2 o'clock it was said that there was but little hopes of saving the building.

The town hall is situated on the main street leading from North to South Braintree. It is located some feet back from the street although there are a number of wooden buildings in the immediate vicinity.

The offices of the Selectmen, Town Clerk, Treasurer and other officers are located on the street floor while on the second floor is a large hall, which is let for public gatherings as well as the place where the town meetings are held.

Official papers and documents will all be saved.

At 1.45 aid from Quincy was asked.

NEW STATUE FOUND OF THE EMPEROR CLAUDIUS.

Unearthed In Recent Excavations and Is Seven Feet High.

For three years Vittorio Spinazzola, director of the Museum of Naples, has been conducting a scientific excavation among the temples of Pesto and from time to time has brought to light many objects of bronze and of marble and has uncovered several of the old walks around the temples.

On June 17 at the end of a broad way his men came upon a great edifice with twenty columns lying before its facade, with a monumental entrance and sala thirty meters in length and eighteen in width.

The sala contained six niches in which had originally stood as many statues. Five of these had long since been destroyed or carried away. There was one niche, however, which had been overlooked either through superstition or carelessness, and before this there lay where it had fallen the statue which had once stood within.

It was a heroic size statue made of Parian marble and showed a face like that of the youthful Caesar Augustus, grown old with the cares of state. But instead of the toga it appeared to wear the sacerdotal robe of a priest of Neptune.

At first glance Signor Spinazzola recognized the type of the imperial family of Julia Claudia and more particularly one of the Drusi. It was perhaps Nero or Drusus.

Now, however, all doubt is ended, for Signor Spinazzola, who is very learned in all matters pertaining to political Rome of the early Christian centuries, has identified the statue as that of Claudius himself—Claudius imperator. He did this by comparing the robe with others of known dates and the features with those of others on well identified statues of the emperor.

The statue is nearly seven feet in height and shows Claudius in the robe of Pontifex Maximus in the act of sacrificing with veiled head.

It is a wonderful piece of sculpture both in design and creation, even to the smallest details. It easily takes its place among the most notable works belonging to the first century. It was probably made between 42 and 45, for it bears a striking resemblance to a mural portrait of that date preserved in the Naples museum.

They Were All "Pills."

One of the fashionable east side churches recently witnessed a funny incident at a choir rehearsal. They were preparing for the following Sunday morning a beautiful selection, the first words of which were, "I am a pilgrim." It so happened that the music divided the word "pilgrim" and made a pause after the syllable. The effect was most amusing. The soprano sang in a high key "I am a pil" and then stopped. The tenor acknowledged that he was a "pil," and when the bass came thundering in with a like declaration, "I am a pil," it was too much for the gravity of the singers, and they roared. No amount of practice could get them past the fatal pause without an outburst, and the piece had to be given up.—Musical World.

Her Concession.

"How do you know she's older than you are?"

"Why, she admitted it herself."

"Honestly? What did she say?"

"She said, 'You and I are just the same age, dearie.'"—Toledo Blade.

HOW TO BECOME INVISIBLE.

A Sample of the Mummery Used In Ancient Witchcraft.

Some curious formulas of ancient witchcraft are given in Mr. A. E. Waite's "Book of Ceremonial Magic." Here is a recipe for becoming invisible:

"Begin this operation on a Wednesday before the sun rises, being furnished with seven black beans. Take next the head of a dead man. Place one of the beans in his mouth, two in his eyes and two in his ears. Then make upon the head the character of the figure which here follows. (Omitted.) This done, inter the head with the face toward heaven, and every day before sunrise for the space of nine days water it with excellent brandy.

"On the eighth day you will find the cited spirit, who will say unto you: 'What doest-thou?' You shall reply: 'I am watering my plant.' He will then say: 'Give me that bottle; I will water it myself.' You will answer by refusing, and he will again ask you, but you will persist in declining until he shall stretch forth his hand and show you the same figure which you have traced upon the head suspended from the tips of his fingers. In this case you may be assured that it is really the spirit of the head, because another might take you unawares, which would bring you evil, and, further, your operation would be unfruitful. When you have given him your vial he will water the head and depart. On the morrow, which is the ninth day, you shall return and shall find your beans ripe. Take them, place one in your mouth and then look at yourself in a glass. If you cannot see yourself it is good. Do the same with the rest or they may be tested in the mouth of a child."

Rebuking an Emperor.

Once, so the story goes, Emperor Nicholas of Russia asked Liszt to play in his presence. The musician complied, but during the performance the czar started a conversation with an aid-de-camp. Liszt stopped playing at once. The czar asked what was the matter. "When the emperor speaks," said Liszt, "every one must be silent." The czar smilingly took the hint, and the playing proceeded.

Longest Family Tree.

The biggest family tree in the world is believed to be the one which traces the genealogy of Queen Elizabeth back to King David and thence to Adam, or at least as near to Adam as one could get. The coat of arms is given in almost every case, with full particulars of the dates of births and deaths. The labor of providing coats of arms is abandoned before Methuselah's time, but the chart measures forty-five feet and certainly does take one through a maze of nobility.

An Afterthought.

"Ye-es," remarked a young husband at breakfast, "these biscuits are pretty good, but don't you think there ought to be a little more"—

"Your mother made them," interrupted the wife quickly.

—"of them?" ended the husband, with a flash of inspiration.

Man is his own star, and that soul that can be honest is the only perfect man.—Fletcher.

Good News.

"My dear, our landlord says he's going to raise our rent."

"Glad to hear he can do it. I can't."—Baltimore American.

Though some of us are poor, let us all be genteel.—Stevenson.

LIVE SPORTING EVENTS

ON THE DIAMOND

American League

At Cleveland:	R	H	E
Boston	10	16	3
Cleveland	2	9	4

Batteries—Wood and Carrigan; Young, Kaler and Smith.

National League

At Boston:	R	H	E
Chicago	5	11	4
Boston	3	10	0

Batteries—Toney, Brown and Archer; Mattern, Pfeffer and Kling.

At New York:	R	H	E
New York	4	11	1
Cincinnati	2	8	0

Batteries—Ames and Wilson; Gaspar, Humphries and McLean.

At Brooklyn:	R	H	E
St. Louis	4	7	2
Brooklyn	2	6	0

Batteries—Steele and Bresnahan; Barger and Erwin.

Second Game:	R	H	E
St. Louis	8	13	2
Brooklyn	5	8	1

Batteries—Geyer, Sallee and Bliss; Schardt, Burk, Bergen and Erwin.

At Philadelphia:	R	H	E
Philadelphia	5	7	1
Pittsburg	4	10	4

Batteries—Beebe, Chalmers and Dooin; Adams and Gibson.

New England League

At Worcester:	R	H	E
Worcester	12	12	6
Lowell	8	8	3

Batteries—Crum and O'Neil; Maybohm, Buzick and Huston.

At New Bedford:	R	H	E
Lynn	2	5	1
New Bedford	1	10	4

Batteries—Barry and Daum; Bushelman and Ruflange.

At Fall River:	R	H	E
Lawrence	10	9	1
Fall River	4	8	6

Batteries—Pearson and Ulrich; Jensen, Blum and Perkins.

At Haverhill:	R	H	E
Brockton	8	171	4
Haverhill	4	11	3

Batteries—Gaw and Wadleigh; Swormstedt, Ferris and Millman.

GREAT GAME NEXT SATURDAY.

The Manet Baseball Club will play the Fore River Apprentices at Ward 3 on Saturday for a purse of $25 dollars which will be posted by both teams. Mr. Neary feels quite confident that his team will put one across on the Manets though the Manets have won from Fore River twice. Since Williamson twirled a no-hit-no-run game last week it looks as if he would cause the South Quincy boys some trouble.

Manager Butler thinks his team has a good chance to win the championship of the city since it has won 8 games and lost only 4.

The Manets have been greatly strengthened by Kane at third base in place of Gillis. It is one good bet that Kane is easily the best man at that corner in Quincy as he is good not only in fielding but in base running and batting and knows when to take a chance when it will mean runs for his team.

With Kerr pitching in fine form and the rest of the team working well together it is safe to say that the Manets are rather a formidable string of ball-tossers.

The Manets have two good infielders that they can call on at any time in Ray Fowler and "Put" Murphy. Fowler played 1b and at 3rd last season and his work at the initial sack was easily the sensation of the later part of the season.

Murphy is the ideal first baseman, being a left hand tosser and batting right. "Put" is a second baseman also and a strong batter, he batted for 500 in 13 games last year for the Ramblers and put many a game away on the ice.

The Manets are ready to meet all claimants for the Championship of this city. The possible contenders are South Quicy, Makaria and possibly the new team the Quincy Independents who are to play their first game this week.

Although Makaria put the kibosh on the South Quincys on the "Fourth" it is a sure thing that had the South Quincy team played together more the story might have been different as Hawks was in much better form than Rice.

Then comes the Manet and South Quincy game which many thought would pull "Higs" charges down a peg but which was thrown away by some weird fielding. Kerr and Hawks were never in better form than in that one game and Hawks was lucky, Thede Galvin gathering in some long hits that were tagged for triples.

The game is always followed with great interest here in Quincy especially when it comes to a question of deciding the championship and it will be the main subject of discussion on every street corner until it is settled.

SPORTING NOTES.

The baseball fans will have all the baseball they want on Saturday, after two or three weeks' rest. The game which is sure to attract the biggest crowd, is the one at the Old Colony league grounds, between the Quincy Independents and the West Quincys. The game will be preceded by a band concert and a parade.

The probable lineups of the teams will be as follows:

Quincy Independents—Grethe, p; Falvey, c; MacDonald, 1b; Hoyt, 2b; Gillis, 3b; Fay, ss; Keohane, lf; Fallon, cf; Kelly, rf.

West Quincys—Williams, p; S. Dugan, c; J. Desmond, 1b; E. Desmond, 2b; Rooney, 3b; Mulligan, ss; McTiernan, lf; O'Rourke, cf; Fitzgerald, rf.

George Sullivan of Quincy wearing the colors of the South Boston A. C. won the 44 yard run at the field day of the Holy Redeemer parish in Caledonia Grove, Roxbury, Wednesday afternoon. Sullivan did the distance in 54.3. He was to have been a member of the four man relay team to run against the B. A. A. team but the latter did not appear and the race was defaulted. E. T. Marceau of Wollaston finished second in the 88 yard run.

The Y. M. C. A. first team will start in next Saturday at the lower field of Merrymount park in a game with the South Quincy Extension club. Arthur Robertson and Holmes will probably be the battery for the Y. M. C. A. team. On July 29 the team will go to Somerville for a game with the Somerville Y. M. C. A. and on August 5 Cunningham Gym. will be met at East Milton.

JAPANESE TIDBITS.

Fillet of Raw Fish, Whales and Rice Locusts Among Them.

One of the great food delicacies of Japan is sashimi, a fillet of raw fish served with soy and condiments. This dish, though highly recommended by both Japanese and European medical authorities, is pronounced queer or uncivilized by those not born to the custom of eating it.

When these critics are reminded, however, of their eating live oysters with gusto it occurs to them, says the Oriental Review, that the one is at least more artistic in appearance than the other, though both may be equally palatable and nutritious.

It is likely that very few English people know that the fisher folk along the Devonshire coast are accustomed to eat laver, an edible seaweed, and so think it very odd that the Japanese should use certain seaweeds as an articles of diet.

Ferns, burdock roots, lily buds, lotus roots and bamboo sprouts are among the Japanese vegetables not enjoyed by occidental peoples, while the chrysalis of the silkworm, rice locusts, the octopus, whales and sea slugs eaten in some parts of China and Japan are sure to shock their fine sensibilities.

And yet the most civilized epicures relish snails and frogs' legs, which are just as odd in their way as those varieties of animal food mentioned above. Shark's fin soup, edible birds' nest and lime cured eggs are farfamed Chinese luxuries, the last item of which is equal to the strongest animated cheese in its power over the olfactory nerves.

A Case of Necessity.

"Why are you breaking up housekeeping?"

"My wife's florist says she'll have to take the rubber plant to a different climate." Washington Herald

MORTGAGEE'S SALE

Pursuant to the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by William W. Dromey of Quincy in the County of Norfolk and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, to Malachi L. Jennings, Executor, of Boston in said Commonwealth, dated October 28th, 1910, and filed in the Norfolk Registry District of the Land Court, on December 3d, 1910, Document 1867, will be sold at public auction on the premises described in said mortgage for breach of the conditions of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same on Tuesday, August the 15th, A. D. 1911, at 12 o'clock noon, all and singular the real estate described in said Deed:

A certain parcel of land situated in that part of Quincy called Hillside Park Montclair, in the County of Norfolk and said Commonwealth, bounded and described as follows:—Northerly and Northeasterly by Pope Street shown on a plan hereinafter referred to ninety-six and 46-100 (96.46) feet; Southeasterly by lot numbered fifty-six (56) on said plan eighty-seven and 3-10 (87.3) feet; Southerly by land now or formerly of Pope sixty-nine and 25-100 (69.25) feet; and Southwesterly by lot numbered fifty-nine (59) on said plan ninety (90) feet; containing seven thousand three hundred sixty square (7360) feet. Said parcel is shown as lots numbered fifty-seven (57) and fifty-eight (58) on a plan made by H. T. Whitman C. E. dated February, 1901, a copy of a portion of which is filed in Norfolk Registry District with Certificate No. 18, Vol. 1, Sheets 1 and 2.

Said premises will be sold subject to the taxes assessed as of the year 1911 and subject to accrued interest, if any, and to any existing restrictions. The sum of Two Hundred ($200) Dollars will be required at the time and place of sale; balance in ten days.

MALACHI L. JENNINGS,
Executor Mtgee.
43 Tremont Street.
July 20-3t 20, 27, 3

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents. Three consecutive insertions 50 cents, 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.

No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

LOST

LOST—This is to notify the Houghs Neck gentleman who took by mistake, the blue suit (not his own) to return same to 9 Pandora avenue, Houghs Neck. July 20-1t

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—At a great sacrifice income property paying 12 per cent on investment in Quincy. Owner going to N. H. No letters answered. Call 141 Upland road, city.
July 15-6t

FOR SALE

The cozy home, situated No. 24 Marsh Street, consisting of a six room house, city water, 4400 square fee: of land, fruit trees. Price reasonable.

Call and see,

JAMES F. BURKE,
REAL ESTATE AGENT,
Room 4, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, Mass.
July 15-tf

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

LAND COURT.

To Joseph J. Donahue of Medford, in the County of Middlesex, and said Commonwealth; Edith G. Dorchester of Boston, in the County of Suffolk, and said Commonwealth; Wilton A. Dunham and Bertha M. Anderson of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, and said Commonwealth; Charles F. Adams, 2nd, and Arthur F. Adams, Executors of the will of Fanny C. Adams, late of said Quincy, deceased; the Adams Shore Land Company of said Boston; and to all whom it may concern:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court by William B. Edwards of Germania, in the State of Wyoming and Henrietta W. Koeller of Everett, in said County of Middlesex, to register and confirm their title in the following described land:

A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon, situate in said Quincy, and being Lot No. 186 on a plan by H. T. Whitman and E. W. Branch, surveyors, dated March 14, 1896, and recorded with Norfolk Deeds Book of plans 19, plan 852, bounded and described as follows: Northerly by a private way called Shelton Road fifty nine and 17-100 (59.17) feet; easterly by lot No. 185 on said plan, owned by Edith G. Dorchester, one hundred twenty-five (125) feet; southerly by lot No. 175 on said plan, owned by Wilton A. Dunham fifty-four and 13-100 (54.13) feet; westerly by lot No. 187 on said plan owned by Joseph J. Donahue, one hundred twenty-five (125) feet.

The above described land is shown on a plan filed with said petition, and all boundary lines are claimed to be located on the ground as shown on said plan:

You are hereby cited to appear at the Land Court to be held at Boston, in the County of Suffolk, on the fourteenth day of August A. D. 1911, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted. And unless you appear at said Court at the time and place aforesaid your default will be recorded, and the said petition will be taken as confessed and you will be forever barred from contesting said petition or any decree entered thereon.

Witness, Charles Thornton Davis, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this nineteenth day of July in the year nineteen hundred and eleven.

Attest with Seal of said Court.
(Seal)
CLARENCE C. SMITH,
Recorder.
July 20-3t 20, 27, 3.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

Sealed bids for Plumbing, Wiring, etc., Heating and Ventilation of a building for a District Court, Quincy, Norfolk County, Massachusetts, will be received by the County Commissioners at their office at the Court House, Dedham, Norfolk County, Massachusetts, until 12 o'clock A. M. Tuesday, August 1st, 1911. Plans and Specifications may be seen at the office of William Chapman, 15 Ashburton Place, on and after Tuesday July 18th, or can be obtained at Spaulding Print Paper Co., 44 Federal Street, Boston.

The Commissioners reserve the right to reject any and all bids.

JOHN F. MERRILL,
EVAN F. RICHARDSON,
SILAS A. STONE,
Norfolk County Commissioners.
July 18-3t eod

MAKE YOUR PURCHASES FROM LEDGER ADVERTISERS. BE SURE TO READ THE ADVERTISEMENTS IN TODAY'S LEDGER

FOUND

FOUND—A gentleman's watch at Houghs Neck on Sunday, July 16th. Owner may have same by proving property and paying charges. Address O. S. Johnson, 207 Keith avenue, Campello. July 19-3t

WANTED

WANTED—Ladies in need of first class help cook, 2nd, chamber, parlor maids. Light housework, also women to go out by the hour call or phone 485-W. L. M. Flynn, 1522 Hancock street. Oldest employment office in city. July 19-3t

WANTED—An experienced second girl, must have good references and be willing to spend July and August on the Cape. Apply Paul R. Blackmur, 68 Elm street, Quincy.
July 19-4t

WANTED TO BUY, 2-flat house in good location, in Quincy; state lowest price, terms, and full particulars. Address F. H. Ledger Office.
July 19-3t 19, 20, 22

TO LET

TO LET—Several well located and very desirable tenements. Apply to C. H. Hardwick, 104 Revere road, Quincy at once. Tel. Quincy 85-2 or 391-2. July 18-3t

TO LET—Large front room furnished suitable for man and wife or two men. Call at 26 School street.
July 18-6t

TO LET—Tenement of 5 rooms at 42 Euclid avenue. All latest improvements. Apply to C. A. Ericson 177 Glendale road or P. Curry 94 Federal avenue, Quincy Adams. July 18-6t

TO LET—Half house on Miller Stile road, 7 rooms, all improvements Apply to E. V. Fitts, 19 Miller Stile road, Quincy. July 18-L-P-tf

TO LET—On Spear street, tenement of 4 rooms and bath. All modern improvements. Apply to C. A. Ericson, 117 Glendale road. Tel 586 M.
June 27-tf

TO LET—Tenement with 9 rooms and bath at Quincy Point, also rooms to let and table board at 55 Washington street, Quincy, Mrs. Margaret S. MacDonnell. June 23-1mo.

FOR RENT—Quincy, Centre, apposite Adams Academy, house of 8 rooms and bath, also garage, 3 minutes to R. R. Station. Dr. E. S. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263L, Weymouth. May 10-tf

TO LET

Half House No. 44 Bigelow street, 7 rooms and bath. Shades, screens, electric lights, set tubs, range, etc. Rent $25. per month. Apply to Miss Prescott, Ledger Office. Quincy.
July 3-tf

FOR RENT

On Spear street, very desirable house of 8 rooms, bath and laundry. All modern improvements, range, gas, electric lights shades and screens. Large piazzas and lawn. To private family only. Apply at 41 Spear street or of Miss Prescott at Ledger Office, Quincy.
June 2-tf L. P. O

TO LET

Tenement—22 B Granite Street. $10.00 per month.

Greenleaf Hall—Greenleaf Block Large Furnished Hall with various anterooms—to let by the evening or permanently.

City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 20 feet high. Splendid light, low rent

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)
Music Hall Block, Quincy.

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 26 No. 166 QUINCY, MASS. FRIDAY EVENING JULY 21, 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

QUINCY AT FIRE ON THURSDAY

Ledger Repor'er Tells About Heroic Firemen

ABOUT THE FLAG

If it had not been for Chief Williams and his two companies of Quincy fire fighters, it is doubtful, if there would now be anything left of Braintree Town Hall but the foundation walls.

The call for help was sounded on the Quincy fire alarm circuit, at 1.45, and before the bells had done ringing, Steamer No. 1 and Combination No. 1 were well on their way to Braintree. The run of nearly four miles was made in remarkably quick time, and as the Combination pulled into Taylor street, there were shouts and cheers from the crowd, for up to this time the local department, owing to lack of water pressure had been unable to do any efficient work. At this time the Braintree department had six streams playing on the burning building. The

(Continued on Page Six.)

STREET BEING REPAIRED.

After many years of waiting, Stillwater street is being repaired and built. This is the street that runs from Merrymount road to Butler road along Butlers pond. When the addition to the High school was built several years ago, this street was used as a dumping ground for the gravel that came from the excavation for the cellar. It has been there ever since, although an effort has been made at various times to have something done. Now it is being fixed and the rear of the High school yard put in shape.

RAIN BADLY NEEDED.

Owing to the drought, many of the trees about town are beginning to shed their leaves. On School street, in front of the Stetson and McDonnell estates, the sidewalks are covered with dead horse chestnut leaves giving the appearance of autumn. The gypsy moth men under the direction of the local superintendent, Andrew Stewart are cutting back or cutting down altogether, a number of the large elm trees on School street and the end of Hancock street. This morning they are cutting down one of the big elm trees in front of Dr. Welch's estate. Yesterday they removed a large one from in front of Dr. Sheahan's. In both cases, there are large horse chestnut trees just inside the fences enclosing the estates which make the elm trees superfluous for furnishing shade.

MAY COME TO QUINCY.

At the annual meeting of the Quarry Workers International Union held in the Quincy House, Boston, on Thursday, a resolution was adopted and will go to a referendum vote, favoring the removal of the headquarters office in Barre, Vt., to Quincy.

The officers of the past year were reelected, George Thompson of Barre, Vt., as president and Fred W. Suitor of Barre as Secretary-Treasurer. Resolutions were adopted favoring a better understanding with the other unions in the stone industry. The constitution was amended to provide for biennial conventions in the future. The holding of district conventions was favored and it was voted that in the future the four district councils elect the delegates to the international convention.

R. E. FOY & CO.

Quality Foods at Eatable Prices

That the people of Quincy appreciate our Saturday Suggestions is evidenced by the large increase of business each succeeding Saturday. While we realize that the exceptionally low price's we have been quoting has had considerable to do with this steady increase, still there are other features that the public demands, that is QUALITY and SATISFACTION.

That, you'll always find at this Big Food Mart.

Best Service---Fairest Prices

QUALITY STORE

CONDENSED MILK		CANNED GOODS
Eagle	can 15c	Japanese Crab Meat	25c
Rose	can 11c	R & R Chicken	30c
Tip Top	can 11c	Underwood's Dev. Ham	15c
Hire's	can 10c	Veribest Ham Flavor	5c
		Campbell's Pork & Beans	10c
EVAPORATED MILK		CRACKERS
Borden's Peerless large size	3 cans 25c	Kennedy's Grahams,	lb 10c
Small size	can 5c	Kennedy's Royal Toast	10c
Van Camp's large size	10c	Triscuit	pkg 10c
small size	5c	Shredded Wheat	pkg 12c
SOUPS		MISCELLANEOUS
Campbell's	can 9c	Snider's Catsup	bot 15c
Heinz Tomato	can 25c	Peanut Butter	lb 18c
Franco-American	33-35c	Jello,	3 pkgs 25c
		Lipton's Jelly Tablets	3 pkgs 25c

QUALITY STORE

The Best Meats—The Freshest Vegetables always on hand.

R. E. FOY & CO.

Water cor. Quincy Street

July 21-2t

Phones 117 and 153

BRAINTREE'S HISTORIC TOWN HALL BURNED

Old Building Was the Center Of the Social and Civic Life Of the Town. One Of the Best Halls In This Section Of the State

ALL BOOKS, RECORDS AND PAPERS SAVED

Braintree was visited by a real calamity on Thursday afternoon when the old landmark, the Town hall, was destroyed by fire. The interior of the building was being painted by Luther R. Barnes and his men and shortly after one o'clock one of the workmen smelled smoke. Flames were seen bursting from the cupalo and the whole attic was found to be a roaring furnace.

Leo Dennehy, who is employed by Mr. Barnes ran to box 42 at the corner of Union and Washington streets and sounded the alarm. The apparatus responded as quickly as possible but were greatly handicapped by insufficient water pressure, it being practically impossible to get a good stream of water on the blaze. Aid was summoned by telephone from Quincy and Chief Williams and his men came with the steamer and although they worked hard it was too late to save the structure.

All the books, papers and Town records were saved and conveyed to the Thayer public library and the furnishings and fixtures were all removed from the various offices. The building is practically ruined and will probably have to be torn entirely down. The boiler house and heating apparatus situated at the rear are uninjured. It is understood that the property was insued for about $20,000. Hundreds of people watched the conflagration and on all sides were heard words of regret from the townspeople.

The old hall was the center of the social and civic life of Braintree and besides one of the best assembly halls in this section it contained a banquet room and the offices of the several departments of the town. At one time the high school occupied the lower portion and also the kindergarten children assembled there.

Much praise is due the citizens who rushed in and rescued much valuable property from the flames. Owing to the absence of wind and the isolated position of the building near by property was not endangered. The falling of heavy cornices and pieces of slate from the roof was a menace to the lives of the firemen and Millard Dyer of Hose 2 and Perley Proctor of Hook & Ladder 2 received painful injuries. Both men were attended by Dr. C. A. Sullivan.

The cause of the fire is somewhat of a mystery but it seems to have started near the cupalo. In the process of renovation the large central electrolier had been removed and the wires disconnected and it is assumed that the dangling ends of these wires which enter through the attic caused a short circuit and thus started the blaze. It is probable that he whole loft was burning some time before the flames broke through the roof.

On January 26, 1857, the town voted to build a new Town House and a committee consisting of Ezra Penniman, John Beath, Joseph Dyer, Harvey Thayer and Alexander Bowditch were appointed to procure plans and estimates. March 9, 1857, this committee made a report presenting two plans, one at $10,000 and the other at $11,000.

It is evident that one of these plans was accepted although the records do not mention it, for on April 6, 1857 at an adjournment of the annual meeting the building committee was authorized to locate the Town House anywhere they saw fit on the Town common.

On April 8, Joel E. Holbrook, Alva Morrison, S. W. Hollis, Alverdo Mason and Thomas Pratt were added to the building committee and it was also voted that the two selectmen not on the committee be added. It is stated on good authority that the building was erected at a total cost including grading of $15,000.

The hall was dedicated on the afternoon of the 29th of July 1858. The weather was fine and the occasion attracted large numbers of people. The committee of arrangements and the guests assembled at three o'clock at the house of Colonel J. H. D. Blake where His Excellency the Governor of the Commonwealth was present. After refreshments, a procession was formed under direction of William Potter, Esquire, chief marshal and his aids.

The escort duty was performed by the Braintree Light Infantry under command of Captain Bumpus. The Weymouth Brass band furnished music. The order of the procession was as follows: Braintree Light Infantry, committee of arrangements, the president of the day and the orator, his Excellency the Governor, the high sheriff of Norfolk county, the clergy and invited guests, citizens.

The school children joined the procession which entered the building at four o'clock and soon all seats were taken and many were unable to gain admittance. There was an elaborate program of dedication closing with an address by Hon. Chas. Francis Adams of Quincy and a few remarks by the governor.

The services were concluded by a benedicion from Rev. Jonas Perkins, pastor of the Union church of Weymouth and Braintree. In the evening a levee and entertainment were given by the Braintree Light Infantry in the hall of the Town House.

ENJOYABLE SURPRISE PARTY.

William Curtis of 18 Quarry street was very pleasantly surprised by about thirty-seven of his friends, at his home last evening. The merry party met at Jones corner at 7.45 and then proceeded to the house. William, although taken completely by surprise bade them all make merry. The fun commenced at once, and when at its zenith, the presentation of a handsome signet ring, took place. Thomas Curtin in a very eloquent speech made the presentation and William responded accordingly.

The evening was spent in playing games, dancing, singing etc. Joseph Gillis gave some pleasing harmonica solos, which were well received. Refreshments were served during the evening and the party broke up at a late hour after spending a delightful evening. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Curtis, Mrs. George McDonald, Mrs. Albert Martell, the Misses Grace McKinnon, Hazel Taylor, Flora Thompson, Rachel Vergobbi, Mary Higgins, Marjorie Clark, Ruth Tytler, Louise Dunbar, Lillian Deacon, Frances Curtin and Cynthia Curtis.

The Messrs. William Small, Robert Summers, Walter Main, William Murray, Robert Grassick, George McDonald, Timothy Cremins, Jerome Markham, John Matson, Howard Bishop, Walter Morrison, Joseph Gillis, Thomas Curtin, William Curtis, Theodore Turner, John Curtin, Daniel Stevens, John Curtis, John Maliar, George Curtis, George Tytler and James Curtis.

B. P. O. E. OUTING.

The announcement for the annual outing of Quincy lodge of Elks issued today contains full details of the affair which will be held at Elcock's grove, Braintree, August 6. The big event on the program is the clam bake which will be served under the direction of Mike Shea. The menu of the bake will include clams, lobster, spare ribs, chicken, green corn, sweet potatoes, onions and watermelon. Music will be by the Elks band under the leadership of Signor Thomas P. Butler and then there will be numerous sports such as base ball, running races, etc. The committee having the affair in charge are Maurice F. Cohen, Rednor P. Coombs, John R. S. Ross, James W. Sweeney, John D. Smith, Alphonse LeClair, Joseph A. Monahan, Philip H. Sullivan and James Coleman.

WEDDING AT MILTON.

A romance which started in Constantinople resulted yesterday in the marriage of Miss Cornelia Strong Huntington of Milton to Theron Johnson Damon, a journalist of Constantinople, in the First Congregational church, Milton. The bride is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Henry S. Huntington, and her father, formerly pastor of the Milton Congregational church, officiated. Guests from several states and from Turkey attended. The bride was accompanied by her sisters, Mrs. Charles L. Ziegler of Roxbury and Mrs. Samuel A. Fletcher of East MacKeesport, Pa., as matrons of honor, and by Miss Alice Damon, sister of the groom, of Concord, as bridesmaid. John C. Damon of Telluride, Col., brother of the groom, was best man.

The ushers were Dr. Ellsworth Huntington of Yale University, Prof. George H. Huntington of Robert College, Constantinople, and the Rev. Henry S. Huntington, Jr., of Watertown, N. Y., brothers of the bride; Everett K. Taylor of New York city, brother of the groom; Charles L. Ziegler of Roxbury and Samuel Adams Fletcher of East MacKeesport, Pa.

The couple will live in Constantinople.

SECURES GREAT PROPERTY.

John R. Graham a former resident of Quincy, now of Bangor, Maine and president of the Bangor Railway & Electric Co., has purchased the great hydro-electric plant of the Bodwell Water Power Co., at Old Town and Milford, on the Penobscot river, and will proceed, it is understood, to build a dam across the Stillwater branch of the river, thus completing the original project and creating a vast power.

The Bodwell plant was constructed in 1905-7 at a cost considerably exceeding $1,000,000. The dam, 2000 ft. long, controls the entire flow of the Penobscot river between Milford and Old Town.

The price paid by Mr. Graham is not made public, but is understood to be somewhat in excess of $500,000. The acquisition of this great property gives Mr. Graham and his associates control of most of the important water powers in the vicinity of Bangor.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

FACTS REFUSED THE COMMITTEE

Steel Investigators Held Up by Commissioner Smith

SECRETARY ADVISES

Washington, July 21.—Efforts of the house steel trust committee to get from Commissioner of Corporations Smith facts relating to his investigation of the United States Steel corporation were blocked by Smith's emphatic refusal to answer all such questions, saying the law forbade such disclosures except upon the president's authority. Smith agreed to take up with President Taft the matter of making public the information sought.

The steel investigation was resumed after nearly a month's respite, and Commissioner Smith was the first witness.

Chairman Stanley, who personally inquired into the affairs of the alleged trust at Pittsburg and New York, expects to develop a new line of testimony. The committee will look into the recent international conference of steel manufacturers at Brussels.

Commissioner Smith stated that the corporation bureau's "steel trust" inquiry began in 1906 and his bureau has an annual appropriation of $260,000 for its work.

Chairman Stanley asked for the basis of Smith's conclusion that the ruling motive of the great consolidations which began in 1908 was the removal of competition and that in 1900 the threats of the Carnegie Steel company to erect a tube plant near Cleveland really started the negotiations which resulted in the formation of the United States Steel corporation.

The witness, pending the president's authority, declined to discuss the facts which he said would appear in the full text of his report. Stanley said he had been advised in a letter from Secretary Nagel, Smith's superior, that the president had no objection to making public the data available, but Smith did not understand it "that way exactly."

Members of the committee and the commissioner clashed frequently, and Representative Littleton of New York denounced the law governing the bureau as it is construed as a "monstrocity."

Upon statements made by the commissioner that the bureau permitted the steel trust to furnish it with information at its own expense, Littleton implied that perhaps the steel trust had been allowed to investigate itself.

Attorney Lindabury, for the company, said that the corporation did not want to be condemned for cooperating with the government in its effort to get at all the facts.

Mr. Littleton urged quick release of all facts.

Representative Beall asked why no subpoenas were issued in investigating the "steel trust." Smith replied:

"Mr. Garfield was commissioner when this inquiry began. I was deputy commissioner. Under the law a subpoena carried immunity and none of us wanted to take a chance on that. The law governing the bureau never has been legally construed, and had we resorted to subpoenas it might have forced litigation in the courts that would have hung us up two or three years."

NARROW ESCAPE.

The knock about Ramona owned by Dr. J. T. McGrath of Boston, a member of the Quincy Yacht club, narrowly escaped destruction on the rocks at the entrance of Newburyport harbor, Wednesday evening. The tide was on the ebb and with a light breeze blowing, Dr. McGrath, was endeavoring to work the boat into the harbor. While going between the jetties at the entrance of the harbor, she was carried by the tide toward some sunken rocks outside the north jetty. The anchor was dropped just in time and signals of distress were flown. The Newburyport Life Saving launch towed the boat to a safe anchorage in the harbor.

On board the boat with Dr. McGrath were Dr. Nicholas A. Gallagher of Malden, formerly of Quincy, Dr. Fred Keyes of Boston, Leo Wilson and Martin Brazzell of Boston and Houghs Neck.

FIRE IN PEAT BOG.

Combination No. 2 was called out twice Thursday, for a fire in a peat bog, off Squantum street, near the corner of Botolph street. It was about noon when the first call came in, and the men worked sometime on the fire. Thursday evening the whole company went down about 6.30 and worked until nearly 9 o'clock before the fire was all out. While these fires do not do much damage, they create a lot of smoke and are hard fires to extinguish.

ACCIDENT TO AUTO.

The electrical automobile of Dr. John H. Gordon, met with an accident on Woodward avenue, Thursday afternoon, and wound up on the lawn of Mark L. Reed, Jr. The accident was due to a sprung axle. While on the lawn, a man attempted to run it off, with the result that considerable more damage was done to it.

QUINCY MARKET SPECIAL

THE FAMILY DINNER.

does not require as an elaborate a menu as when guests are entertained but good housekeepers demand food just as good. They find that Quincy Market will supply small orders with the same satisfaction as is given to larger ones. The quality of our meats and poultry is always kept to the highest point of excellence and value of our service is thoroughly appreciated by our steady customers who like a generous table.

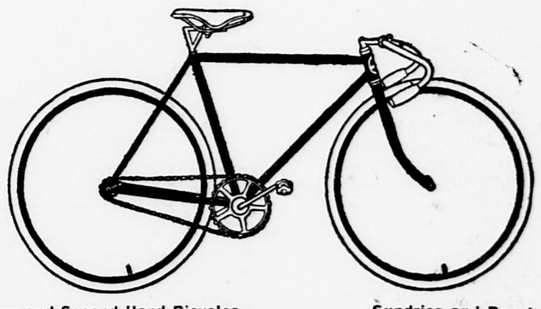
1st cut Rib Roast Beef	12 1-2 to 15c
Short Rib Roast	10 to 12 1-2c
Pot Roast	10 to 12 1-2c
Rib Steak	12 1-2c up
Corned Beef	5c
Heavy Roll Corned Beef	10c
Flank Corned Beef	6c to 18c

Lamb and Veal
Native Vegetables

QUINCY MARKET

Next to Woolworth's 5 and 10c Store

July 21-2t



New and Second Hand Bicycles. Sundries and Repairing

Agency for Columbia and Hartford Bicycles

HUB CYCLE CO.

Thomas Nelson, 20 Granite Street, QUINCY

May 15-3m

DON'T FAIL TO READ THE GREAT SERIAL "THE DANGER TRAIL" NOW RUNNING IN THE LEDGER

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

Established 1889

THE HOME NEWSPAPER

Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .

GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.

Incorporated.

BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
210 East 23d Street,
New York City

Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter.

Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50

Telephone, Quincy 425

Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

The New York-Montreal macadam highway is to be called Champlain road. Banker's Salvation would be more descriptive.

The Chicago police warn women not to be on the streets alone at night. Evidently the men are too timid to need that warning.

The prospect of one cent postage will seem less alluring if your creditors are thereby encouraged to send their bills fortnightly instead of monthly.

For every dollar the yellow newspaper saves the people in exposure of public frauds, it steals two by permitting financial shysters to use its columns to sell gold brcks to innocent investors.

The propriety of wearing detachable cuffs is again discussed. Many men whose cuffs are rubbing all over an inky desk all day will always feel they must wear the same things that suit the fellow in the club easy chair.

The Associated clubs of Domestic Science in Chicago have forwarded resolution in favor of Dr. Wiley, Chief of the Bureau of Chemistry, to President Taft and Secretary Wilson. Dr. Wiley's friends all over the country are quick to speak in his favor. It looks as though our people want pure food and are ready to stand back of Dr. Wiley in his endeavor to see that they get it.

SABBATH DESECRATION.

A group of ministers belonging to one of our larger denominations has resolved that President Taft is guilty of "Sabbath desecration," and have requested him not to do it again. The circumstances are these: The Brotherhood of Trainmen were holding a convention in Harrisburg, Pa. President Taft was requested to come over from Washington and speak to these men. He did so on Sunday, May 14, which was the most convenient time for all parties. This is the offence. We have read the speech which President Taft delivered. It was in relation to the organization of labor unions among Government employees, and it is the honest, brave word of a strong man concerning one of the questions which involves the honor and loyalty of men in public service. It is such a speech, in both matter and style, as we would be glad to hear from any pulpit, in a social or industrial crisis. If the denomination to which these ministers belong had been holding a church convention in Harrisburg, and if President Taft had gone to that convention on a Sunday with an address which in its spirit struck the same note that this one did, there would be only the highest commendations for it and for him from those who are his critics now. Are the interests of a religious sect so much more sacred than the interests of a great body of railroad men who are trying to raise the standards of employment and labor in this calling?

This incident raises the whole question of "Sabbath desecration" as the question is so often stated by those who have constituted themselves the committee of public safety on the issues involved. We need a definition of what Sabbath desecration really is. The term is in the mouth of all who are quick to denounce any act which does not conform to their notions of Sabbath observance. It is an epithet hurled like a stone from a catapult at any offender, however innocent he may be in his own mind of intent to desecrate anything. It is time that the term be rescued from this foolish habit, or time that some other and more sensible formula be provided in its place. The whole question of Sabbath observance is becoming involved in a mass of ridiculous distinctions which would do justice to an ancient casuistical ecclesiastical legalist.—Universalist Leader.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

THE LEAST.—Mother—"In his last letter, my son asked me to send him a half dollar to buy him a logarithm table."

Friend—"Well, really, I do think his college should at least supply his furniture."—Pall Mall.

DID SHE DANCE?—The Caller—"I hear that you've been to a party, Mabel. Did you dance much?"

Mabel (aged eight)—"I should say I did. I danced two quadrillions."—Plain Dealer.

AN ENTHUSIAST—Towne— "Oh, yes, he's quite an enthusiast. He goes in for things in real earnest."

Browne—"Yes, if some one were to send him on a wild goose chase he'd speak of himself afterwards as a sportsman."

RATHER MIXED— "There goes Jenkins' widow."

"Yes, but he was married twice, you know."

"Well, what of that?"

"Well, is she his first or second widow?"—The Catholic Standard and Times.

Laborer—And have they tall buildings in America, Pat?

Pat—Tall buildings have they—faith, Mike, the last one I worked on we had to law on our stomach to let the moon pass.—Life.

TAKE IT FROM HIM—Judge—"You are charged with beating your wife. What have you to say?"

Prisoner—"Not guilty. If I could lick her I'd be the White Hope!"—Puck.

HEALTH HINT.

Full many a man both young and old,
Is sent to his sarcophagus
Through touring water icy-cold
Adown his warm esophagus.—M.J.D.

Mabel—I am sure he must have loved her very dearly.

Maude—I should say so. He married her in spite of the fact that he had been out in the rain with her all one afternoon, was seasick with her and saw her unexpectedly at home the morning after a dance.—Puck.

Briggs—I have made a will leaving my brain to the hospital, and just got an acknowledgment from the authorities.

Lofty—Were they pleased?

Briggs—They wrote that every little helps.—American Family Journal.

MANUEL—Little Tim—"Father, I'm going to take up manual training."

Murphy—"Don't ye dare! Ye see what happened to him,didn't ye? Ye kin follow Emp'ror Willyum or the Mikedoo of Chiny, but Oi'll not have ye imitatin' that Portygese dago."—Puck.

THE LAND OF PUZZLEDOM.

No. 1404.—Riddle.

They come when you had not bade them;
A score in a month you've had them.

You never can seek them nor choose them,
Yet it's not in your power to refuse them.

No fragrance, no form, no hue;
Seldom a one that's true.

Some funny, some dark, some deep,
But none could you ever keep.

No source and no goal and no name;
No two in a lifetime the same.

Yet till the heart is dust
They shall be man's, we trust.

No. 1405.—Charades.

I.

My first is a little word
Of letters only three,
Sentences to correct
That seem to disagree.

My second, a certain weight;
A kind of cave my third,
Yet sometimes in a stocking
'Tis found, so I have heard.

My whole alone is worthless,
And you'll find it useful quite
If to my first and second
You make my whole unite.

II.

My first is a bank of obstruction;
The second is one hundred years;
My whole is allied to destruction
And oft causes sorrow and tears.

III.

My first is a word that means to shiver;
My next to deviate from right in deed;
My third is a letter not found in quiver;
My whole a woman of well known creed.
—Youth's Companion.

No. 1406.—Changed Initials.

Change a home, to finest, a trial, vim, a trouble, unless, a joke, remainder, point of compass.

No. 1407.—Double Central Acrostic.

Each of the words described contains eight letters. When these are rightly guessed and placed one below the other in the order here given the fourth row of letters, reading downward, will spell the name of one who has been called "the greatest orator that has ever lived in the western hemisphere." He was born in January, 1782. The fifth row of letters will spell the name of another famous orator who succeeded the former in an important office and died in January, 1865.

Crosswords: 1. Blames. 2. A place of bliss. 3. In a descending course. 4. Disagreement. 5. Slandered. 6. A measure of thirty-six bushels. 7. Bestowed liberally. 8. Painful. 9. Stipends in cathedral churches. 10. A kind of rose. 11. Simulation. 12. Accosting. 13. A member of a princely court.

No. 1408.—Pictured Word.

What kind of needlework?

No. 1409.—Concealed Word Square.

[One word concealed in each couplet.]

1. Max owned, without a thought of shame,
   He'd not a thaler to his name.
2. The children searched the fields all over
   And failed to find a four leaved clover.
3. Eva declares she did not go
   Where is the friend who told you so?
4. There Fred and Harry waiting sat.
   Beside them purred the yellow cat.
5. Be brave, my dear, and do not sigh.
   It rends my heart to say "Goodby."

No. 1410.—Enigma.

I'm found in seam, but not in mend,
And church I always must attend.
I bide with house and hope and home;
From good itself I never roam;
In onward, too, you will me find;
I'm not in eyes, alas! I'm blind.

No. 1411.—Riddle.

Look for me in empty spaces,
Look in vain in many faces,
Look the whole wide world around,
Never, never I am found,
But divide me, he who will,
Find me present, waiting still.

No. 1412.—Diamond

My first is a consonant. My second is fit, qualified. My third is a particle of fire. My fourth is what you must do to succeed. My fifth is a letter.

Key to Puzzledom.

No. 1404.—Riddle: Dreams.

No. 1405.—Charades: 1. But, ton, hole—buttonhole. 2. Dam, age—damage. 3. Quake, err, s—Quakeress.

No. 1406.—Changed Initials: Nest, best, test, zest, pest, lest, jest, rest, west.

No. 1407.—Double Central Acrostic: Fourth row—Daniel Webster. Fifth row—Edward Everett. Crosswords: 1. Condemns. 2. Paradise. 3. Downward. 4. Variance. 5. Aspersed. 6. Chaldron. 7. Showered. 8. Grievous. 9. Prebends. 10. Moss-rose. 11. Pretence. 12. Greeting. 13. Courtier.

No. 1408.—Pictured Word: Quilting.

No. 1409.—Concealed Word Square: Alert, lover, evade, redan, trend.

No. 1410.—Enigma: School.

No. 1411.—Riddle: Newhere, now here.

No. 1412.—Diamond: S, apt, spark, try, k.

COURTESY REWARDED

Georgian Awarded a Fortune of $20,000 For His Kind Consideration

Atlanta, July 21.—A courteous act on the part of William O'Neil of Bainbridge, Ga., has been rewarded by a fortune. When O'Neil exchanged a lower for an upper sleeping car berth with J. T. Young of Oakland, Cal., four years ago he thought little of the incident.

Evidently Mr. Young considered it a great favor, for in his will he left $20,000 to the Georgian. O'Neil is in Atlanta and was informed of his good fortune.

Crops In Need of Moisture

Augusta, Me., July 21.—The potato crop in this vicinity will be almost a complete failure, according to a statement of one of the state assessors. The drought is generally blamed for the shortage. The hay crop is also short. Corn, peas and beans appear to be doing well, but all root crops are suffering from lack of moisture.

Brockton Has Strong Old Man

Brockton, Mass., July 21.—Seventy years of age, hale and hearty, and stronger than most men thirty years his junior, Trueman H. Huntress of Fletcher Webster post, G. A. R., lifted a 350-pound barrel of sugar and carried it twenty feet. Mr. Huntress conducts a grocery store on Thatcher street.

Opened His Eyes to the Future.

"Dickie, I'm awfully sorry you use tobacco. I don't like it, and mamma simply loathes it. Will you stop when we are married?"

"Isn't that asking a lot, dearie?" asked Dick.

"I wouldn't care for myself," answered the girl, "but you know it makes mamma deathly sick."

"Well, then," he promised cheerfully, "I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll never smoke when your mamma is with us."

She threw her arms around him. "Darling," she murmured, "that's so good of you! I was afraid you'd insist on smoking once in awhile after we were married!"—New York Globe.

OFFICIAL REGRETS

Spanish Government Apologizes For Arrest of French Consular Agent

Paris, July 21.—The Spanish ambassador to France called on M. De Selves, the French foreign minister, and expressed the regrets of the Spanish government for the arrest recently of M. Boiset, the French consular agent at Alcazar, Morocco, by a Spanish patrol. The ambassador said that the Spanish foreign minister had not yet received a report on the subject, but that after reading the French official version of the incident he had expressed regret to the French ambassador at Madrid and his government.

Senor Perez-Caballero added that the minister requested him to repeat this expression to M. De Selves and to inform the French foreign minister that he would instruct Colonel Sylvestre to convey adequate apologies to M. Boisset. The Spanish ambassador said the government was desirous of maintaining cordial relations with France and had forwarded instructions to its agents at Alcazar in this sense.

SHOWING FIRM FRONT

Persian Cabinet Is United Against Threatened Rebellion

Teheran, July 21.—The premier has emphasized the necessity of absolute union in the crisis which has been brought about by the presence of the former shah in Persia and the revolutionary movement in Kurdistan. Several speeches were made indorsing this view.

The national council empowered the government to proclaim martial law of the most rigorous description.

An expedition composed of a contingent of volunteers will start forthwith against Mohammed Ali.

Opinion here is interested in the attitude of Great Britain will adopt as co-signatory of the protocol of Aug. 28, 1909, in which Russia promised to prevent political agitation by the ex-shah.

TORTURED TO DEATH IN A PANAMA PRISON

San Franciscan Placed In Stocks and Confined Sixty Days

Colon, July 21.—William Harrington of San Francisco was driven insane and tortured to death in a Panama prison, according to his brother. The brother is here investigating with a view to having the American state department put in a heavy claim for damages. Harrington's offense is that he refused to pay for a bottle of beer.

He was placed in the stocks and confined there sixty days. Following the discovery employes of the commission raised such a storm of indignation that the Panamanian authorities were forced to have physicians treat the prisoner.

A number of physicians passed upon the case and declared Harrington's death was a result of his imprisonment. He was insane thirty days before he died.

PASSED THE THIRD READING

Veto Bill Passed by Lords Without Apparent Opposition

London, July 21.—The house of lords passed the third reading of the veto bill without division after only three hours' debate. The revolt of the insurgent peers failed to materialize. All the threats of the extremist lords to throw out the bill and precipitate a crisis proved a bluff. One solitary peer raised his voice to demand a veto.

Lord Morley, for the government, and Lard Lansdowne, leader of the opposition, repeated some familiar arguments for and against the measure. Lord Halsbury threatened a fight if the house of commons rejects the amendments. The future of the measure may be predicted with reasonable certainty.

Newburyport Girl Missing

Newburyport, Mass., July 21.—Mary Jordan, aged 14, an accomplished piano player, is missing from her home here. Miss Jordan disappeared a week ago last Tuesday. She left the house as usual and has not been seen since. The police believe that she is playing in some moving picture house in Boston or at some of the nearby beaches. The Boston police have been asked to lend aid in the search.

Held Up by Masked Men

Boston, July 21.—Four masked men held up the boy clerk in Mrs. Rebecca Levy's little candy store in South Boston and rifled the cash drawer. The robbery occurred at a time when there were perhaps 500 people in the streets of the populous neighborhood. The men ran and it was impossible to identify them.

Boston Teachers Get Salary Raise

Boston, July 21.—An increase of $48 per year, or at the rate of $4 per month, was granted the teachers in the elementary grades of the Boston school department by the Boston school committee at a special meeting held last night, to take effect Sept. 1, 1911.

HEALTH BOARD INVESTIGATES

Case Showing Indications of Cholera In Boston

FEAR FELT BY PHYSICIANS

Woman Found In North End Is Taken to the Infection Hospital, Where She Dies—Officials Go Through Regular Protective Courses—Many Anxious People In Thickly Settled Community

Boston, July 21.—The board of health has under investigation the death of a woman here. The woman was removed to the infection hospital at Gallup's island and died there. Dr. Durgin said that an autopsy was being performed to determine the nature of the disease of which the woman died. The health board was in doubt but their diagnosis showed signs of Asiatic cholera. It is the same disease that has been brought to New York by immigrants.

Wednesday a physician was summoned to attend the case of Mrs. Tommassina Mastrodomenico of 27 North square, and what he found so alarmed him that he notified the authorities, expressing the opinion that the case looked like cholera.

The authorities took the woman and her daughter, Mary, to Gallup's island. The physicians feared that if the disease should be found to be cholera the daughter in all probability had also become infected with it and they wanted her kept under surveillance.

The woman was subjected to all the diagnoses for the disease that the board of health were able to subject her to, and Dr. Durgin said that the results indicated cholera. To be absolutely certain, however, the doctor ordered the woman removed to Gallup's island where she died, almost immediately after her arrival yesterday afternoon. All day yesterday the physicians were at work on an autopsy and up to late last night they had not reached a final decision, but Dr. Durgin holds to his opinion that Boston had a case of Asiatic cholera.

Before the woman was removed from her home she was questioned by the attending physicians, and she said that she had been in this country for four years or more. She further said that she had kept no lodgers, but went out to work, and was in contact with many people throughout the North End.

The officials took many precautions. They locked up the two rooms occupied by her and her daughter, and went through all the regular protective courses. However, there are more than twenty-five families in the building, and there are fully fifty children among them.

It was learned also that for the past week they have had as boarders two sailors who only recently landed from a port in Italy where the cholera is now rampant.

On the night before she was stricken Mrs. Mastrodomenico told the men they would have to leave the house, as she had but one extra room, and her son, Tomasso, was expected home. The men went from there to 38 Fleet street, and on the next day, when Mrs. Mastrodomenico was stricken, an ambulance called at this house and two men were taken away. The men are supposed to be brothers and their last name is Vincenzo.

DRASTIC MEASURES TAKEN

All Italian Immigrants to Be Subjected to Rigid Examination

Washington, July 21.—As a further guard against the importation of Asiatic cholera every Italian immigrant will be subjected to bacteriological examination.

This order was sent to the public health officers of all ports of call. By this method quarantine officials will detect cholera carriers.

New York state has agreed with the federal government to pay a portion of the expense of the examinations at New York. Massachusetts has been asked to pay part of the cost of the examinations at Boston. Local authorities at other ports have been asked to co-operate with the federal government.

Woman Volcano Climber

Lima, Peru, July 21.—Miss Angie S. Peck, the American mountain climber, accompanied by Carl Volkmar and five Peruvians, ascended two peaks of the volcano Corpuna on July 16. The Corpuna is one of a number of giant volcanies in southern Peru, the elevation of which are from 18,000 to 20,000 feet.

Druggist Commits Suicide

New York, July 21.—Henry Felder, known through the Bronx as the "Philanthropic Druggist," committed suicide, a victim of overwork and a kind heart. Felder had not taken a vacation for seventeen years.

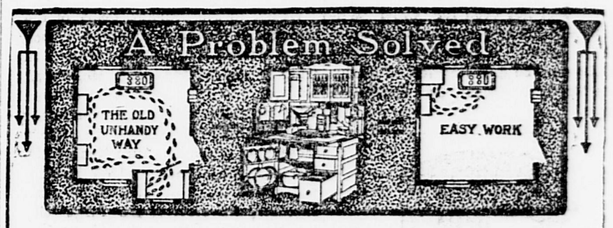
Taft's Body Recovered

York Beach, Me., July 21.—The body of Clayton H. Taft who was drowned in front of the Hiawatha hotel, was recovered yesterday.

THE SAFEST PLACE
For Your Valuables

Legal documents, and private papers is a safe deposit box in the Granite Bank. Our vaults are fire proof, burglar proof and convenient. The expense is trifling, $5.00 a year for a box like those costing twice as much in Boston. Delays are dangerous and often costly. Private coupon rooms for your exclusive use free if you hire a safe deposit box.

NATIONAL GRANITE BANK



HOOSIER KITCHEN CABINETS SIMPLIFY KITCHEN WORK

21 Women Have Solved The Problem

Think of the satisfaction of knowing this meal is going ahead without any loss of motion; without any jumping up for pots or pans or supplies—of knowing you can sit comfortably in one spot and have the meal ready on time.

Only 4 memberships are left. You pay a fee of $1 to have the cabinet delivered immediately, and

One Dollar a Week for a Few Weeks

On Monday evening one Hoosier Cabinet will be given away—ABSOLUTELY FREE.

Come in and get a Coupon

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.

1495 Hancock St., Quincy. Open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings

E. E. GRAY CO.

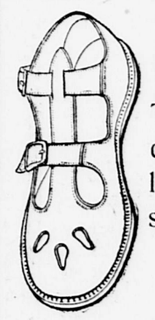
QUINCY and WOLLASTON

1525 Hancock Street, Music Hall Block — Corner Newport Avenue and Brook Street

Cuts for Week Beginning July 17

Eggs, Fancy Large Brown	per doz.	21c
Beans, York State, Hand Picked	per qt.	8c
Hire's Root Beer Extract	per bot.	13c
Salmon, Columbia River	large can	17c
Evaporated Milk, Peerless or Van Camps	large can	8c
Corn Flakes, Quaker	per pkg.	6c
Corn, Fancy Standard, Hunter Brand	per can	9c
Campbell's Soup, all flavors	3 cans for	25c
Extracts, Gray's Concentrated
Strictly Pure Vanilla	per bot.	17c
Orange and Lemon	per bot.	13c
Queen Olives	large bot.	20c
Jelly Powder, Golden Gate, all flavors	per pkg.	7c
Peanut Butter	per lb.	12c
Crackers, Fancy Soda	per lb.	6c

F M W



BAREFOOT SANDALS

The best thing for the children to wear during the warm weather. They are light and comfortable and give good satisfaction.

CHILDS	5 to 8	45c
MISSES	8 to 11	50c

HEFFERNAN'S SHOE STORE
1375 Hancock Street, Quincy

GET THE HELP QUINCY GROW HABIT

LATE NEWS FROM MILTON

Society and Local Notes Of Interest. Tax May Be Cut

CHURCH NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. W. Q. Baxter have gone to Greenville, Maine, for the remainder of the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. John Poulton of Granite place have gone to Brudinell, P. E. I. for their summer vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Kelsey of Washington street are spending a month at Potten Springs, Quebec.

Rev. Allen E. Gregg, pastor of the East Congregational church, is spending his vacation in Goffstown, N. H.

Charles L. Curtis, principal of Milton high school, and his family are summering at Hampton Beach, N. H.

Miss Florence Macdonald of Bryant avenue is spending her vacation at the Mountain Shade house, Jaffrey, N. H.

Miss Laura Macdonald of Bryant avenue has gone to Bridgewater, N. H. for a few weeks vacation.

George B. Bearse, son of D. N. Bearse of Bunton place, is learning the automobile business in Boston.

Miss Susan P. Tuckerman, who has been visiting friends in Pittsfield, returned to East Milton this week.

The contract for putting in the new concrete sewer has been awarded to R. P. Cushing of Dorchester.

There is a possibility that the Milton tax rate may be cut this year. Action is pending until the amount of the State tax has been ascertained from the authorities. If this is not too large there is good reason to expect a reduction in the taxes.

The Carnation club composed of seven Milton girls will camp at Glen Echo pond Stoughton for two weeks in August.

The engagement is announced of Miss Ruth Gallagher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Clifford Gallagher of Russell street to Frederick Chase of School street. Mr. Chase is a Dartmouth graduate of the class of 1905.

The poll tax bills have been sent out by the collector, Josiah Babcock.

Hammer's drugstore will be enlarged to twice its present size when the addition to the Ellsworth building is completed. A new set of mahogany fixtures has been ordered and a 14 foot soda fountain will be installed.

The still alarm at box 34 Sunday afternoon at 2.20 was for a grass fire off Pleasant street. The auto responded to the call and the fire was easily extinguished.

There will be no services in the Mission Church of Our Savior during the month of August.

Rev. W. D. Roberts, rector of the Episcopal church, East Milton goes to York Harbor, Maine for his summer vacation.

Josiah Babcock is spending a week at Hampton Beach, N. H.

MUSICALE.

A musicale by the pupils of Miss Mary E. Donovan was held Thursday evening at her home 29 Foye avenue, Weymouth. Miss Donovan is a pupil of Prof. Foote of Boston and the proficiency of the pupils speaks well for the teacher. The assisting artists were Miss Eva Cronin and Miss Agnes Donovan, soloist. The special guests were Dr. George Colton and Mrs. Colton of New Haven, Conn., Joseph B. Broderick and Miss May E. Hyland of Valley Falls, R. I. Wm. J. Shea of West Quincy, Miss Alice Kennedy of South Weymouth and Mrs. Margaret Hyland, Miss Eva M. Nyland and Mrs. Margaret Bradley of Weymouth.

AT WOLLASTON YACHT CLUB.

The annual ladies' day of the Wollaston Yacht club, takes place Saturday afternoon at the club house on Wollaston beach. The program includes a review and sail in the harbor, after which refreshments will be served in the club house. In the evening the club house will be illuminated and given over to dancing. A good time is anticipated by the members and their friends.

HURT PLAYING BALL.

William Lyons aged 18 years of Conant street met with a painful accident late Thursday afternoon while playing ball in Sullivan's field. He stood at the home plate when a swift ball delivered by the pitcher hit him in the stomach. He was taken to the office of Dr. Reynolds and from there to his home. While painful it is not thought that his injury is a serious one.

DR. H. W. WILEY AND HIS FAMOUS "POISON SQUAD"

Long the Storm Center in the Pure Food Fight.

Career of Chief Figure in Latest Administration Controversy.

THEY are at it again in Washington. Never can tell when a new controversy will arise in the city by the Potomac. This time the center of the fight is Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, better known as the chief of the "poison squad." Wiley is a big man, physically, mentally and otherwise. He also makes a good fight and tells a good story. Dr. Wiley was married not long ago and should be able to put up a better fight than ever.

Dr. Wiley was born in Indiana in 1844. He was graduated from Hanover college and now holds degrees of A. M., M. D., Ph. D., LL. D. and various others that would use up most of the letters in the cap case.

Resignation Often Announced.

During the past three years especially numerous reports have announced the resignation of Dr. Wiley as chief of the bureau of chemistry either of his own free will or at the request of his superiors—or have informed the public that he was to be fired bodily from the department of agriculture for the commission of many alleged sins. But the man whose "poison squads" and frequently published rules for health and death made the people of the country take such an interest in their food and drink as never before always remained in his position. When the time came for him to go Dr. Wiley used to say it wouldn't be hard to find another job when he should step out from the tangles of the bureau where he saved the government $12,000,000 in ten years—at least according to the food expert's own statement.

To those who charge Dr. Wiley with arranging and countenancing the spending of $20 or $50 a day in place of the legal maximum of $11 he might reply in the words he used a year ago last February when money matters in his bureau brought him before the house committee on expenditures in the department of agriculture—"Every dollar we have spent in our laboratory has saved Uncle Sam $100. The work of the chemistry bureau has thus saved the government a vast deal of money."

Not only has Dr. Wiley always looked after the interests of this bureau of chemistry for twenty-eight years—he first became connected with the department's chemistry work in 1883, when it was limited to analyses of fertilizers and sugar—but he has had at heart the interests of the digestive organs of the people of the United States. Only a few days ago Dr. Wiley was heard from in view of the relation of the heat wave and man's stomach. Almost every summer Dr. Wiley has announced new summer diets for the people, high and low: "Eat no meat; consume plenty of fruits, but have them cooked; drink nothing below 60 degrees in temperature; banish all alcoholic vegetables; seek cheerful friends; don't worry." From these rules it will be seen how Dr. Wiley added to his enemies by suggestions that, if carried out by the advised, would injure the business of butcher, iceman, saloon keeper and pessimist.

But it seems that the preacher did not always practice what he preached. Only a few days after issuing a bulletin similar to the above three years ago his enemies said that the dietarian sat down to a meal of "two imperial crabs, one large steak and trimmings, a special salad and several mugs of musty ale." All this furnished material for the opponents of pure food and reasonable living.

Dr. Wiley had and perhaps still has other ideas. A man should eat "1 per cent of his weight in dry foods, and so it requires 100 days for him to eat his own head off." If a man eats less he loses weight, and Dr. Wiley was only relying on crabs, steak and salad to keep him robust. "Every man ought to choose his own rations," was a former Wileyan opinion that gave an excuse for the crabs, etc.

Marries a Good Cook.

The best cook in Washington's younger set, Miss Anna Kelton—also a suffragist—earlier in the year became the wife of the food expert in his sixtieth year. Dr. Wiley himself is a master at the stove or chafing dish. It used to be one of his proud boasts that he cooked his own mush while attending Hanover college, in Indiana. The mush, acting on his intellect by way of the stomach, enabled the young Hoosier to take his A. B. degree in 1867. Four years later at the Indiana Medical college he received the degree of doctor of medicine, but its connection with mush has never been established. At least he did not cook his own meals, for while he was not long laying the foundation for the knowledge that was to provide his ideas on "eating to live" he taught Latin and Greek in Butler college. Further training, principally in chemistry, was secured at the Lawrence Scientific school of Harvard university, where the degree of B. S. indicated a part of his mental equipment.

For one year he was professor of chemistry at Butler college, which he left to take a similar teaching position at the Agricultural college of Indiana, situated at Purdue. Feeling that he must gain more knowledge to keep up with the Hoosier minds, he spent the year 1878-79 doing research work in chemistry at Berlin. Indiana made Dr. Wiley state chemist in 1881, and he remained in that position two years, until going to Washington to become the chief of the division of chemistry in the department of agriculture. His career as a servant of the government—his enemies say he was more of a boss than a servant—has caused the Hoosiers to point at him and say, "He is one of us." Kent county considers that Wiley bestows special honor upon it by being born within its limits.

Not Satisfied to Test Fertilizers.

When Wiley got to going in Washington he displayed the power to eat work. Those under him and many above him did not hold the same opinion as to exerting themselves for Uncle Sam. Dr. Wiley thought that his office ought not to confine itself to seeing if fertilizers were up to snuff or not. It was the new chief's aim to create a division of chemistry for the study of food adulteration, and in 1885 his office was authorized to study the adulteration of foods.

While in Germany Dr. Wiley's interest in the chemistry of foods and in physiological chemistry had been greatly increased by work in the health laboratory of Berlin, under the direction of Dr. Sell. After Dr. Wiley had become state chemist of Indiana he set about to create a popular demand for pure food and legislation relative to food inspection. Not until the division of chemistry was allowed to take up the study of food adulteration did Dr. Wiley begin to see the possibility of the realization of his ideas on the exposing of adulterated foods and drugs.

A part of bulletin 13 in 1887 contains the first report of his researches. The interest aroused by the publication led to Senator Faulkner's introduction of a comprehensive food inspection bill similar in many respects to that passed by parliament in 1874. After leading a harassed life for several years this bill was finally killed by the house of representatives. Other bills that Dr. Wiley was behind failed to pass.

But Dr. Wiley was not discouraged by these setbacks. Largely through his efforts the national pure food convention met in Washington in 1896. Its whose duty it was to investigate adulterations resulted in the appointment of the "Mason senate committee," whose duty it was to investigate adulterated foods. As the most prominent leader of the pure food movement and the government's chief expert, Dr. Wiley took the leading part in the committee's investigations. He directed the taking of testimony, which filled a volume of 800 pages when completed.

Finally Wins Long Fight.

The slowness of congress to act upon the committee's report might have discouraged any one but Dr. Wiley, and the pure food movement entered in 1904 upon the final stage preceding the passage of the national pure food and drugs act two years later. Since then the work of the bureau of chemistry has greatly increased, for its duty under the bill was to supply analyses of foods and drugs as a basis for prosecution and information to legislators needing aid in the preparation of measures.

According to the policy of Secretary Wilson, Dr. Wiley, in whom the head of the agricultural department has had full confidence, was allowed a rather free hand. The food and drugs act conferred enormous power upon the chief of the bureau of chemistry. Dr. Wiley's many enemies have disclosed that he used his power arbitrarily, but those of a less prejudiced mind are inclined to credit him with a fair interpretation of the act and the rulings made under it. His first chief setback was received when the Remsen board two years ago, contrary to Dr. Wiley's view, reported that benzoate of soda as a preservative was not harmful. Dr. Wiley threatened to resign when the board was upheld, but he didn't.

The reason that Dr. Wiley is so well known to the public in general is due to his popularization of advice and technical information regarding harmful foods and drugs. He has kept the public informed upon the improvement or deterioration of products in cold storage. For the benefit of the people he fought hayseed jam, glucose honey and white flour. In New York city several years ago he startled the Sphinx club members at a dinner by telling them what they were drinking was not whisky, although the label on the bottles said it was. To the members of a house committee on agriculture he once served food and drink to illustrate the difference between the pure and the adulterated.

According to Dr. Wiley, shad have more sense about steering clear of polluted water than human beings have. An instance of the way in which he would attract popular attention to certain subjects was a paper that he read in New York on arsenic in glycerine and women's black stockings. He hates tobacco and would close all bars. In fifteen years he says people won't dare smoke in public. He has also talked about the day when men will be strong and active although eighty years old. The poison squads established by Dr. Wiley ate food containing borax and other preservatives, lived on a diet of cheese and underwent tobacco and alcohol tests.

Manufacturers of foods and drugs affected by Dr. Wiley's analyses, rulings and general activity have long demanded his removal. His attitude toward them may be summed up in his own words, "I don't give a hang for the business world. What I care for is the health of the people. Where there are hundreds of dollars involved there are millions of lives hanging in the balance. It is these I consider and not the business done by any corporation."

As to criticisms against him, Dr. Wiley says:

"Bless you, I don't mind what the boys have to say. They like it, and it doesn't hurt me. If they didn't get mad at me I'd think I hadn't stirred them up enough."

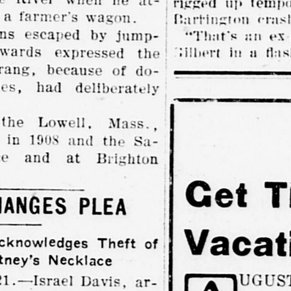
Copyright by American Press Association.

DR. HARVEY W. WILEY.

PATCH'S

Special Range Coal

IGNITES QUICKLY



If it were stony or of bad quality it wouldn't.

It is the most reliable coal imaginable, helps the cook when she's in a hurry and shows up best when needed most.

Besides it burns up so thoroughly as to leave the smallest quantity of ash.

Buy it and try it and see why so many will burn no other.

One ton should prove it.

C. PATCH & SON, INC.

Office, 1422 Hancock Street, Quincy

FAMOUS RACER KILLED IN AUTOMOBILE RACE

Turns Over Bank and Makes No Effort at Escape

Richland Centre, Wis., July 21.—Louis Strang, hero of many thrilling auto races from which he escaped practically unscathed, drove to his death near Blue River when he attempted to pass a farmer's wagon.

His companions escaped by jumping, and afterwards expressed the opinion that Strang, because of domestic difficulties, had deliberately sought death.

Strang won the Lowell, Mass., automobile race in 1908 and the Savana road race and at Brighton Beach.

DAVIS CHANGES PLEA

Negro Porter Acknowledges Theft of Mrs. Whitney's Necklace

Boston, July 21.—Israel Davis, arrested while trying to pawn the $1500 diamond necklace belonging to Mrs. Whitney, withdrew his plea of not guilty and entered a plea of guilty. His case was continued until Monday and he was placed under $2000 bail.

Mrs. Whitney visited police headquarters and identified the other contents of the handbag which she lost, containing the gold cigaret case and about a dozen other articles, the whole being valued at more than $1000, was recovered in Providence.

Chasing Butterflies, Meets Death

Cambridge, Mass., July 21.—The efforts of little Charles Drage of 799 Cambridge street, to catch a butterfly in front of his home caused him to run nder the wheels of a heavy caravan which was passing and resulted in his receiving injuries which caused his death at the Cambridge hospital shortly after.

Insane Burglar Captured

Augusta, Me., July 21.—Clarence A. Conant, the insane burglar who escaped from the state hospital here, was captured at Farmington. He will not talk much about his trip except to admit that he crossed the Kennebec at Waterville. Frederick Reynolds, the murderer, is still at large.

How to Make Elderberry Wine.

Over eight quarts of elderberries pour four quarts of boiling water and allow them to stand for twelve hours, stirring occasionally. At the end of that time strain, pressing out all the juice. To this add one-half ounce of cloves (powdered), one ounce of powdered cinnamon and three pounds of sugar. These proportions are proper for four quarts of the juice. Boil for five minutes and set away to ferment in a stone crock. Cover with a cloth. When fermentation ceases, pour off carefully, bottle and seal.

Gilbert's Witty Comment.

Sir W. S. Gilbert's wit and humor were always ready. He was a fine raconteur and a good after dinner speaker. Rutland Barrington, the old Savoyard, said that "staying in Gilbert's house was like living in a literary fireworks factory."

Barrington played the Captain in "Pinafore." At rehearsal one day Gilbert, who was an autocratic and magnificent stage manager, told him to cross the stage, which represented the deck of H. M. S. Pinafore, and sit on a skylight "in a pensive attitude." Barrington obeyed orders, but unfortunately the skylight had only been rigged up temporarily, and the portly Barrington crashed through it.

"That's an ex pensive attitude," said Gilbert in a flash.

Chattel Mortgages.

A man who gives a chattel mortgage should always examine it carefully to make sure it is not "on demand." Sharp money lenders who loan funds on chattel mortgages often try to have this clause inserted, and when it is the borrower may expect to part with his chattels at almost any moment. It is a trick by which advantage is often taken of the unwary.

On the Fence.

"Are you an optimist or a pessimist?"

"Both. I hope for the best, but I don't bet on it as a sure thing."—Exchange.

To live long it is necessary to live slowly.—Cicero.

Get That Vacation Suit Now

AUGUST is near. Vacations in sight. Sweltering days loaded with humidity are due. If ever a man needs a cool dressy suit, it's right now.

A good suit is almost indispensable.

That's the only kind we have.

We were never knowingiy guilty of selling poor merchandise. We value public opinion too highly.

Suits at $10 to $18

These suits are fine, soft, pure worsteds of fast color. Some are plain and some are in the latest fancy weaves. The price means a saving of $3 and possibly twice as much if you traded in the Boston high rent district.

We can save many dollars for every one who has a boy.

GEORGE W. JONES

1 Granite St., "Just Around the Corner" Quincy

July 20-3t--o-1w

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.

BATHING SUITS

Caps and Water Wings

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

M. T. SULLIVAN

Real Estate Insurance
Auctioneer Care of Property

Justice of the Peace
Corner School and Hancock Streets
QUINCY.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.
FIRE INSURANCE.

The Best Insurance. The Lowest Rates
Insurance Department,
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Telephone, Quincy 97-3.

JAMES F. BURKE
Real Estate and Insurance

AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES
Justice of the Peace Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Tel. 385-3 Jan. 17-tf

PATTERSON, "The Florist"
92 South Central Ave.
WOLLASTON, MASS.
Telephone 392 Quincy

UPHOLSTERING

My only ambition is to get the work and to show the people of Quincy Town that nobody can beat me with my good work. Low prices on all kinds of furniture, repairing, mattresses, and cushions. Can give references. M. Mirkin 67 Washington street, next to Y.M.C.A. Quincy. Tel. 1112W. April 10-4mo.

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner

Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock treet, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point
Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1153 M Nov. 3-tf

STORAGE
— FOR —
Furniture and Pianos
Storage Warehouse with Separate Rooms
Furniture and Piano Movers
HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy Tel. Con.

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER and GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

Quincy Savings Bank

BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.
SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.
CLARENCE BURGIN,
Treasurer.

A. M. DEANE & CO.
MONUMENTS
MEMORIALS ERECTED
IN ANY
CEMETERY
IN THE
UNITED STATES
Aug. 1.-1y

HOUSEKEEPERS
TELL YOUR TROUBLES
HOLMES & HALL

We make a business of repairing the things about the house that get out of order such as DOORS, LOCKS, SHADES, BELLS and FURNITURE.
96 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 974 L

PATENTS
PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES.
Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent.
Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively.
Write or come to us at
710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office.
WASHINGTON, D. C.
CASNOW & Co.

Quincy Daily Ledger

HIGH TIDE FOR WEEK.

Monday, July 17,	3.00	3.30
Tuesday,	4.00	4.30
Wednesday,	4.45	5.15
Thursday,	5.45	6.15
Friday,	6.45	7.15
Saturday,	7.45	8.15
Sunday,	8.45	9.15

1911 JULY 1911
S	M	T	W	T	F	S
						1
2	3	4	5	6	7	8
9	10	11	12	13	14	15
16	17	18	19	20	21	22
23	24	25	26	27	28	29
30	31

BRIEFS

Quincy was well represented at the big fire at South Braintree Thursday afternoon.

Post 88 G. A. R. band gives a concert Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the foot of great blue hill, Milton.

Paul J. Revere, W. R. C. is to hold an outing at Nantasket on Wednesday afternoon, leaving on the 3.50 car from the Centre.

Many freight automobiles pass through Quincy every day. Thursday afternoon two big touring cars from Chicago stopped at the Greenleaf for dinner.

There are no racing events in which Quincy Yacht club boats are interested, Saturday. This is mainly due to the lateness of the tide, high water being nearly 8 o'clock.

The sky was black Thursday evening, and numerous flashes of lightning gave evidence that a good storm was taking place somewhere. There were a few sprinkles of rain in Quincy, but the much needed downpour did not materialize.

The telephone company is fast getting its wires underground, especially in and near City Square and it is a grand good thing, although expensive at the start. In the long run, however, it more than pays for itself in minimizing line trouble.

Owing to the fact that the name of the Quincy Blue Granite Quarry Co., conflicts with the name of another quarrying company, the stock-holders have voted to change the corporate name to Bay View Quarry Co., the change to take effect August 1.

HOUGHS NECK.

M. J. Connors of Great Hill has established a wireless station on the hill. July 4th, 1911 he received the reports of the fight in San Francisco. He has received as far south as Panama canal.

Mr. Moses of Houghs Neck is building an open air theatre on the hill by Pandora lake.

There is to be a special race for small boats to be held Saturday, July 22, at 2.45 P. M.

T. J. Barry and sister Alice from Dorchester are spending a few days with F. L. West of Great Hill.

Miss Brown of Chicago, Miss Anderson of Glenwood, Iowa, and Mr. and Mrs. Laungren of Johnston, Penn., are visiting Mr. P. W. Ekwall of Great Hill.

W. J. Forten and family from Brockton and Miss Lilliam Forten and Miss S. A. McCarthy former matron of Milford sanitorium have moved down on Great Hill.

J. Cannon from Dorchester is visiting J. H. Galvin of Great Hill.

POPULAR TROLLEY LINE.

One of the popular trolley trips from here is to Worcester on the swift limited cars of the Boston & Worcester Air Line. These cars can be taken at Park Square, Boston, or at Chestnut Hill, Brookline. It is now a double track road, over the hills, and the views are the finest in the state. In the old center of Framingham thousands of dollars are being spent to move buildings and widen the narrow main street to allow for double tracks and automobiles. This line of electrics is also very popular to those who desire to go to Natick, Marlboro, Westboro or Hudson.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, Lucas County ss.
Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure. FRANK J. CHENEY.
Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.
A. W. GLEASON,
(Seal) Notary Public.
Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.
F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by all Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

WAGON LAMPS IN DEMAND.

Horse Owners Preparing to Comply with "Light" Law That Goes Into Effect July 22.

Manufacturers and dealers in the lantern and lamp trade report a marked increase in the demand for their goods, which is due to the preparations of many owners of horse-drawn vehicles to comply with the "light" law recently approved by Governor Foss, and which goes into effect one week from today. The law require all vehicles on wheels, with certain special exceptions, to carry a light at night on public highways and bridges. As all motor vehicles are already obliged to carry lights, this law applies particularly to horse-drawn vehicles, and aims especially toward making traffic safer on country roads, where accidents on dark nights are most prevalent. It is claimed that the law will have the effect of preventing collisions.

The demand for lamps is mostly for those which may be attached to the carriage or wagon sides or dash-boards, though many teamsters will comply with the law by hanging a lantern under the axle of their wagons. The vehicles that are excepted from the law are those designed for the transportation, as their principal freight, of hay or straw while loaded with such freight. Other freight vehicles may be exempted by the Highway Commission upon written application. So far the Commission has received no petitions for exemptions, but it is in receipt of inquiries that indicate that petitions may be put before it for action.

The law also does not apply in well-lighted cities and towns, it being specifically provided that the requirement as to a light shall not apply to any vehicle, while upon any lighted street where street lights are maintained at a distance of 500 feet apart or less. Hand-propelled vehicles are exempted.

An important clause in the law provides a penalty for any person who while driving or in charge of or occupying a vehicle refuses when requested by a police officer to give correctly his name and address. The driver or custodian of a vehicle is deemed the responsible party in relation to the provisions of the "light" law; in other words it is incumbent upon the party who is actually driving to see that his lights are trimmed and burning. The penalty for violation of the "light" law is a fine of not over $5.—Boston Transcript.

PRACTICAL CHARITY.

A gentleman in Kansas City asked by a reporter if he had any news to communicate, replied that he had something better than news, but not too good to print.

It proved to be the story of a prominent manufacturer who, about to start out for a ride in his automobile to escape the 100-degree heat that had settled down on the city, despite the fact that the sun had gone down, bethought himself of other people who needed a relief from the heat even more than he did.

So he called up the Swope Settlement and said he would like to take two passengers for a drive—the two that needed it most.

Twenty minutes later he picked up a poor woman who had just been discharged from a hospital. She had a sick baby that had scarcely slept for several days, and the mother was nearly exhausted by caring for it. After fifteen minutes in the open air the child went to sleep and slept continuously for the next two hours. The mother was revived and strengthened. She saw the boulevard, the Cliff Drive. Electric Park, Penn Valley Park and other parks for the first time, although she had lived in Kansas City for years.

While this is not always a practical thing for every motor owner to do, there are times when it might be easily done by some of them. It is a practical charity and in addition it might become the greatest pleasure ride the owner could have.

There would be no trouble in finding people to whom the experience would be more delightful and valuable than the gift of money.—Minneapolis Journal.

—The most touching incident of the Christian Endeavor convention at Atlantic City," says a Bostonian, who has just returned, "was the meeting between Father Clark and Fanny Crosby, the blind poet and hymn writer. The famous woman had never met Francis E. Clark before, and was obviously moved at the meeting. Later on she addressed a great audience, and told how the meeting with Clark had inspired her and fired her to further writing. Miss Crosby, who is 91, said that she had a feeling that she would live to be 103, and that she knew that she was not written out, but that she would write many more hymns."

TREATY MAKING MOVES RAPIDLY

Success of General Arbitration With France Near at Hand

KNOX IS MOST SANGUINE

Regarding Negotiations With Great Britain—Jusserand and Bryce Now In Possession of Drafts Prepared by This Government—Unofficial Reports From Japan—Evidence Germany Is Considering Program

Washington, July 21.—The negotiations between the state department and the French government for a general arbitration treaty have reached a point which practically insures success. It is expected that the state department in the near future will issue a statement to that effect.

Secretary Knox already has announced that the United States and Great Britain have agreed upon all the principal questions in the proposed Anglo-American arbitration convention and the final shaping of the treaty now depends merely on a discussion of phraseology. It is expected that the treaty with Great Britain will be ready for the signatures of the contracting parties in time to be presented for ratification at the special session of congress, and it is likely also that the treaty with France will be submitted at the same time.

The general impression was that the negotiations with France would be held in abeyance until the convention between Great Britain and the United States had been executed as a model.

The state department officials upset all speculation by announcing that the tentative draft of the treaty as prepared by this government had been submitted to J. J. Jusserand, the French ambassador, at the same time that it was transmitted to James Bryce, Great Britain's representative in Washington.

Since then public attention has been centred altogether on the progress made on the treaty with Great Britain, but it has been learned that an almost equal advance had been made in the negotiations with France and that the administration hopes to be able to submit both treaties to the senate at the same time.

It is expected that the two conventions will be practically identical in substance and form. To these two general arbitration treaties, it is expected, at least a third will be ultimately added. Unofficial information from Japan has indicated that the government would be glad to undertake the drafting of such an agreement with this country.

Count Bernstorff, the German ambassador in Washington, called at the state department and asked for a copy of the treaty, and his action was generally interpreted as evidence of a disposition on the part of the German emperor seriously to consider the arbitration program.

STILL PURSUING ROSINI

Fifth Attempt to Take Man's Life May Be Successful

New York, July 21.—Mysterious enemies who have been pursuing Frank Rosini for more than a year, have made another attempt to kill him, and this time they may be successful.

Rosini's friends say that he had been shot four times before and that on two of these occasions his wounds had been pronounced fatal.

The young man was shot on the street here and the physicians say he will die. Rosini declares he will get well and refuses to give any clue that may lead to the capture of his assailants.

HIGH PRICES OF ICE

New Yorkers Are Protesting Against Exorbitant Rates

New York, July 21.—Fifteen small ice dealers testified that they and the consumer were victims of prohibitive charges by larger dealers.

One of them said he paid $2 for two cakes of ice at a dock of the Knickerbocker Ice company one day and $3 the next day.

Another dealer testified that he bought it at $2.50 a ton all summer up to July 7 and then he was asked to pay $2.50 a cake.

Fined For His Attack

Malden, Mass., July 21.—In the Malden district court yesterday, Daniel Casey was arraigned on a charge of attacking Clara and Martha McClary of Wakefield in Malden square Saturday night. Judge Bruce, before imposing a fine of $50, declared that when young women happen to be out late at night they must not be molested by young men.

Famous Landmark In Ruins

Braintree, Mass., July 21.—The town hall, a historic landmark and the scene of many a hot political conflict, was completely destroyed by fire, causing a loss estimated at $35,000. All the official papers and documents of the town were saved.

J. J. JUSSERARD

Now at Work on Arbitration Treaty

WILL NOT STAND HIGH PRICE

Boston People Protesting High Price of Milk

Boston, Jul 21.—In view of the fact that the milk dealers of Boston are making nearly $1000 a day surplus profit by selling a pint of milk for 5 cents, a movement has been started among the conssumers to force the dealers to issue pint checks costing 4½ cents.

Settlement workers and authorities at the Children's hospital of the Boston dispensary agree that people cannot afford that extra half cent per pint, nor can they buy in larger quanities unless they can afford to keep ice.

And all over the city people protest vigorously against the recent raise in price from 4 cents to 5 cents a pint, declaring they positively will not stand for it.

"BLACK HAND" WORK IN A CHICAGO STORE

Police Have Some Difficulty In Keeping Crowd Peaceful

Chicago, July 21.—His failure to comply with demands for money made in threatening letters from the "Black Hand" led to the wrecking of the front of the grocery store of Vincent LaCognata by a dynamite bomb. Families occupying the house were thrown from their beds.

The explosion brought hundreds of excited Italians to the scene and the police had difficulty in quieting the crowd. No one was seriously injured.

NEED OF MORE WARSHIPS

Lack of a Sufficient Number to Cover the Coast of Hayti

Washington, July 21.—The lack of a sufficient number of warships available to cover all parts of the coast of Hayti, now seething with rebellion, is creating some anxiety for officials here.

The little gunboat Peoria has been undergoing repairs for some time and will not be in condition to leave San Juan, P. R., until today. The Des Moines has sailed from Boston for Port Au Prince, but the voyage will consume a week.

Reports from Minister Furniss clearly indicate that he views the situation with alarm.

EXPEND LARGE AMOUNTS

Fabulous Sums of Money Spent Annually by Women

Madison, Wis., July 21.—More than $10,000,000,000 is spent in the United States annually for food, shelter and clothing, and 90 percent of this vast sum is spent by women who have no adequate knowledge of money values. These statements are made in a bulletin issued at the University of Wisconsin.

In any other phase of life, it is pointed out, the persons intrusted with such expenditures would be required to pass through a rigid system of training.

Train Held Up and Robbed

Grand Forks, N. D., July 21.—The east-bound north coast limited, on the Northern Pacific railroad, was held up by three masked men near Buffalo, N. D. The robbers secured about $500 in cash by going through the passengers, and shot Engineer S. P. Olsen of Fargo. The robbers made a successful escape.

Heavy Fine For Smuggling

New York, July 21.—A fine of $25,000 was imposed on Hugo Rosenberg, a dry goods importer, when he pleaded guilty to four indictments charging him with defrauding the government out of customs duties.

The Weather

Almanac, Saturday, July 22.
Sun rises—4:44; sets—7:21.
Moon rises—1:39 a. m.
High water—7:45 a. m.; 8:15 p. m.
Forecast for New England: Probably fair; not much change in temperature; light to moderate south to southwest winds.

HOUSEHOLD RECIPES.

Pineapple Shortcake. Pare, core and grate or chop a fresh pineapple; stew with pulverized sugar and let stand in a cool place until the cake is made. Sift one pint of flour, half a level teaspoonful of salt and three level teaspoonfuls of baking-powder together, then rub into this mixture two rounding tablespoonfuls of butter and work until the flour feels like meal; gradually wet with enough milk to make a soft dough easily patted into greased pans, dividing the dough in two parts. Press the sides higher than the middle and bake in a quick oven for twenty minutes or less. Remove to a warm dish and spread the pineapple between each layer and on top. If for a company dish and whipped cream is liked this may be spooned about the base and dotted over the top or piped through a tube.

Veal loaf. Mince fine three pounds lean, raw veal and a quarter of a pound of fat pork. Add a half onion chopped fine or grated, a tablespoonful of salt, a teaspoonful pepper and a teaspoonful mixed seasoning herbs. Mix well, add two-thirds of a cup cracker crumbs, a half cup veal gravy, the yolks of one egg and the whites of two beaten together. Form into a loaf, pressing firmly together. Brush over with the yolk of an egg, dust with finely rolled cracker crumbs and set on a greased rack in the dripping pan. When it begins to brown turn a cup of hot water in the pan and baste frequently until done. It will bake about an hour and a half in a moderate oven.

Lemon Pie. Moisten three level tablespoons of cornstarch with a little cold water and turn into one cup of boiling water. Cook five minutes, add a teaspoon of butter and one cup of sugar. After the mixture has cooled add a well beaten egg, and the juice and grated yellow rid of one lemon. Bake between two crusts.

Gates Continues to Improve

Paris, July 21.—John W. Gates is resting well. Steady improvement has been noted in his condition for several days past.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

In effect June 4, 1911

The letters in the same line as the figures below stand for different stations and indicate that trains stop as follows.

a Wollaston	f Harrison Square
b Norfolk Downs	g Savin Hill
c Atlantic	h Crescent Avenue
d Neponset	i South Boston
e Pope's Hill	r Quincy Adams

Exp.—Express train.

TO BOSTON			FROM BOSTON
Leave	Stop	Arrive	Leave	Stop	Arrive
r 5 14 abedefghi	5 41		5 45 ihgfedeba	6 14 r
r 6 16 abci	6 35		6 12 ihgfedeba	6 39 r
r 6 33 e	6 48		6 30 a	6 47
r 6 40 abef	7 00		7 15 hgfedeba	7 41 r
r 7 08 abed	7 30		7 41 a	7 58
r 7 25 d	7 42		7 45 c	8 03 r
r 7 33 Exp	7 48		8 35 cb	8 53
r 7 42 ab	8 00		8 42 a	8 59
7 57 a	8 13		9 10 fedba	9 32 r
r 8 09 abed	8 31		9 45 a	10 01 r
r 8 30 Exp	8 45		10 15 ihgfedeba	10 41 r
r 8 53 ad	9 10		10 50 Exp	11 05
r 9 15 abc	9 33		11 15 hgfedeba	11 41 r
r 10 03 a	10 20		11 50 a	12 07
r 10 19 abedefghi	10 45		12 15 hgfedeba	12 41 r
11 12 a	11 28		12 37 a	12 54 r
r 11 24 abedefghi	11 50		12 50 Exp	1 05
12 01 a	12 20		1 11 fedeba	1 32 r
r 12 25 abedefghi	12 52		1 45 a	2 02
1 22 a	1 40		2 15 ihgf	2 37 r
2 04 a	2 20		2 35 Exp	2 50
r 2 19 abedefgh	2 45		3 15 hgfedeba	3 40 r
r 3 13 Exp	3 28		3 45 a	4 02
4 04 a	4 20		4 12 fedeba	4 24 r
r 4 25 abedefgh	4 52		4 41 d	4 58
5 06 Exp	5 20		5 14 a	5 31 r
r 5 30 abedefg	5 55		5 24 a	5 42
6 12 a	6 30		5 31 deb	5 50 r
7 22 Exp	7 37		5 43 a	6 00 r
r 7 30 a	7 46		5 55 iedeba	6 21 r
r 8 07 abedef	8 30		6 14 Exp	6 30 r
r 9 01 abc	9 20		6 30 ecba	6 51 r
10 04 a	10 20		7 00 fedeba	7 24 r
r 10 07 abedef	10 30		7 12 a	7 29
r 11 25 abc	11 45		8 05 ba	8 32
			9 25 dba	9 46 r
			10 35 fedeba	11 02 r
			11 10 fedeba	11 35 r
			11 30 ba	11 49

SUNDAYS

r 7 43 abc	8 03	6 30 ba	6 48 r
8 30 Exp	8 45	45 ihgfedeba	9 13 r
8 34 abc	8 52	9 05 Exp	9 21
r 8 46 bedefghi	9 13	10 15 ihgfedeba	10 32 r
r 9 13 abc	9 33	12 15 ihgfedeba	12 32 r
9 31 a	9 47	12 45 Exp	1 01
10 23 ac	10 40	1 30 ihgfedeba	1 57 r
10 31 Exp	10 47	2 15 hgfedeba	2 42 r
11 00 Exp	11 17	2 45 a	3 02
r 11 16 abedefghi	11 43	3 15 ihgfedeba	3 42 r
1 02 Exp	1 17	4 27 eba	4 48 r
r 1 16 abedefgh	1 43	5 15 ihgfedeba	5 42 r
r 3 10 abc	3 30	6 15 ihgfedeba	6 42 r
r 4 16 abedefghi	4 43	7 00 eba	7 19 r
r 5 07 abc	5 27	8 15 ihgfedeba	8 41 r
r 6 16 abedefghi	6 43	8 50 Exp	9 05
r 7 16 abedefghi	7 42	9 30 ihgfedeba	9 57 r
r 8 11 abedefghi	8 38	10 45 eba	11 04 r
r 9 07 a	9 22
r 10 46 abc	11 05
r 11 01 abc	11 20

West Quincy for Boston (stopping at East Milton)-6.23, 6.56, 7.17, 8.04, 8.11, 9.07 10.09, 11.01, A. M. 12.09, 1.23, 2.09, 3.18, 4.09, 5.13 6.06, 7.19, 9.09, 11.14 P. M. Sundays- 8.20, 9.20 A. M. 12.50, 5.15, 6.50, 11.02 P. M.

Boston for West Quincy (stopping at East Milton)-6.35, 7.27, 8.23, 9.35, 10.25 11.35 A. M. 12.25 1.55, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 5.47, 6.18 7.20, 9.10, 11.20 P. M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M.

Montclair for Boston 6.29, 7.24, 8.17, 10.15, A. M. 12.15, 1.29, 4.15, 5.20, 6.12, 7.26, 9.15, P. M. Sundays - 8.26, 9.26, A. M. 1.06, 5.21, 11.09 P. M.

Boston for Montclair 9.35, 10.25, 11.35, A. M. 12.25, 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 6.18, 11.20 P. M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M. 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M.

Boston & Northern St. Ry. Co.

QUINCY DIVISION

TIME TABLE

In effect June 24th, 1911.
Subject to Change Without Notice

Leave QUINCY for

Brockton, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M. then 9.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Brockton, 6.30, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 9.30 P. M Sundays, 8.00A. M. then same as week days.

Braintree, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Braintree, 6.25 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.25 P. M. Sundays, 7.55 A. M. then same as week days.

East Milton, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Milton, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M., and every 20 minutes to 11.45 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.15 midnight.) Sundays, 7.25, A. M. then same as week days.

East Weymouth, 6.00, 6.15, 6.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.42 P. M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Weymouth, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.45 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Holbrook, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M. then 9.50 and 10.20 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Holbrook, 5.55, 6.25, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.00 P. M. Sundays, 8.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Houghs Neck, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 5.20, 5.45, 6.10 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 4.10 P. M. then 4.25, 4.40, 4.55, 5.10, 5.25, 5.40, 5.55, 6.10, 6.25, 6.40, 6.55, 7.10 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 11.10 P. M. then 11.49 P. M. Saturdays and Holidays, 5.20, 5.45, 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, 10.10, 10.40, A. M. then every 15 minutes to 10.40 P. M. then 11.10 and 11.49 P. M. Sundays, 6.50, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, 10.10, 10.40 A. M. then every 15 minutes to 10.40 P. M. then 11.10 P. M. Return, leave Houghs Neck Mondays to Fridays, both inc. 5.45, 6.05, 6.35 A. M. and ever 30 minutes to 4.35 P. M. then 4.50, 5.05, 5.20, 5.35, 5.50, 6.05, 6.20, 6.35, 6.50, 7.05, 7.20, 7.35 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 12.05 midnight. Saturdays and Holidays, 5.45, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05, A. M. then every 15 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.35 and 12.05 P. M. Sundays, 7.20, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05 A. M. then every 15 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.35 P. M.

Nantasket 8.25 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 9.25 P. M. Sundays, 9.25 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Nantasket, 10.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.00 P. M. Sundays, 10.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Hancock Street, 5.45, 6.14, 6.44, 7.14, 7.44, 8.14, 8.35, A. M. then 5, 14, 35 and 44 minutes past each hour to 10.44 P. M. then 12.14 midnight. Sundays 7.14 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Neponset 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, 8.07, 8.35, 8.37, 9.05, 9.37 A. M. then 5, 7, 35 and 37 minutes past each hour to 11.07 P. M. then 12.37 midnight. Sundays, 7.37 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Wollaston. 5.59 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.59 P. M. then 11.14 and 11.44 P. M. Sundays, 6.59 A. M. then same as week days. Return leave Neponset, 6.22 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.22 P. M. then 11.37, 12.07 P. M. Sundays, 7.22 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Norfolk Downs, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 7.55, 8.25, 8.50, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 1.30 P. M. then 2.05, 2.35 P. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.05 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.00 P. M.) Sundays, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Neponset, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 1.35 P. M. then 2.00, 2.30 P. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M.) Sundays, 8.30, 9.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Weymouth Landing, 5.20, 6.00, 6.20, 6.55, 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.00 P. M. Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days. Return leave Weymouth Landing, 5.40, 6.15, A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.15 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Wollaston, 5.59 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.59 P. M. then 11.14 and 11.44 P. M. Sundays, 6.59 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Wollaston, 6.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.30 P. M. then 11.50 and 12.20 P. M. Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days.

West Quincy, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave West Quincy, 6.00, 6.20, 6.50, A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.50 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.20 midnight) Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days.

Leave NEPONSET BRIDGE for Squantum, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 3.30 P. M. then 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30 P. M. then every 60 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Saturdays, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Sundays, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. (Note—Week Days, cars will leave Atlantic Bridge for Squantum, 5.45 and 6.15 A. M.) Return leave Squantum, Mondays to Fridays, both inc. 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 4.05 P. M. then 4.35, 5.05, 5.35, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05 P. M. then every 60 minutes to 11.05 P. M. Saturdays, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 10.05 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. Sundays, 8.05 9.05, 10.05, A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M.

THOMAS GAMMON,
Superintendent.

Northern St. Ry. Co.

CY DIVISION

TIME TABLE

ct June 24th, 1911.

Change Without Notice

ave QUINCY for

6.20 A. M. and every 30
.50 P. M. then 9.50 P. M.
0 A. M. then same as Return, leave Brockton,
M. and every 30 minutes
Sundays, 8.00A. M. then k days.

6.20 A. M. and every 30
0.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50
ame as week days. Re-Braintree, 6.25 A. M. and utes to 10.25 P. M. Sun-
M. then same as week

, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M. and utes to 11.10 P. M. (Wed-Saturdays, 11.50 P. M.)
A. M. then same as week
, leave East Milton, 5.55,
M., and every 20 minutes
. (Wednesdays and Sat-midnight.) Sundays, 7.25,
me as week days.
outh, 6.00, 6.15, 6.35 A. M.
minutes to 11.05 P. M.
M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M.
week days. Return,
Weymouth, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45
ery 30 minutes to 11.45 P.
7.35 A. M. then same as

6.20 A. M. and every 30
0 P. M. then 9.50 and
Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then
days. Return, leave
, 6.25, 7.00 A. M. and
utes to 10.00 P. M. Sun-
M. then same as week

rk, Mondays to Fridays,
, 5.45, 6.10 A. M. and utes to 4.10 P. M. then
5.10, 5.25, 5.40, 5.55, 6.10,
7.10 P. M. then every 30
10 P. M. then 11.49 P. M.
Holidays, 5.20, 5.45,
0, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10,
40, A. M. then every 15
40 P. M. then 11.10 and
Sundays, 6.50, 7.40, 8.10,
0, 10.10, 10.40 A. M. then
utes to 10.40 P. M. then turn, leave Houghs Neck
Fridays, both inc. 5.45,
M. and ever 30 minutes to n 4.50, 5.05, 5.20, 5.35,
, 6.35, 6.50, 7.05, 7.20, n every 30 minutes to
t. Saturdays and Holi-
05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05,
, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05, A. M.
minutes to 11.05 P. M.
d 12.05 P. M. Sundays,
5, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, en every 15 minutes to en 11.35 P. M.

.25 A. M. and every 30
5 P. M. Sundays, 9.25 A.
as week days. Return, ket, 10.00 A. M. and every
0 10.00 P. M. Sundays,
nen same as week days.
in Hancock Street, 5.45,
, 7.44, 8.14, 8.35, A. M.
and 44 minutes past each P. M. then 12.14 mid-ys 7.14 A. M. then same
Return, leave Neponset
7, 8.07, 8.35, 8.37, 9.05, n 5, 7, 25 and 27 minutes
r to 11.07 P. M. then
t. Sundays, 7.37 A. M.
week days.
a Wollaston, 5.59 A. M.
minutes to 10.59 P. M.
d 11.44 P. M. Sundays,
n same as week days.
Neponset, 6.22 A. M. and utes to 11.22 P. M. then
M. Sundays, 7.22 A. M.
week days.
a Norfolk Downs, 6.25,
8.25, 8.50, 9.30 A. M.
minutes to 1.30 P. M.
P. M. and every 20 min-
P. M. (Wednesdays and
00 P. M.) Sundays, 8.00,
then same as week
n, leave Neponset, 7.00,
9.00, 9.35 A. M. and tes to 1.35 P. M. then and every 30 minutes to Wednesdays and Satur-
M.) Sundays, 8.30, 9.00
me as week days.
Landing, 5.20, 6.00, 6.20,
. and every 30 minutes
Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then days. Return leave nding, 5.40, 6.15, A. M.
minutes to 11.15 P. M.
A. M. then same as week

.50 A. M. and every 30
50 P. M. then 11.14 and
Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then days. Return, leave
A. M. and every 30
30 P. M. then 11.50 and
Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then
days.
, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M.
minutes to 11.10 P. M.
nd Saturdays 11.50 P.
6.50 A. M. then same as turn, leave West Quin-
.50, A. M. and every 20
50 P. M. (Wednesdays
12.20 midnight) Sun-
then same as week

ONSET BRIDGE for ondays to Fridays, both
7.30, 8.00, 8.30 A. M. inutes to 3.30 P. M.
5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30 P.
60 minutes to 10.30 P.
6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00,
and every 30 minutes
Sundays, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30
y 30 minutes to 10.30 P. ek Days, cars will leave
e for Squantum, 5.45
Return leave Squan-
to Fridays, both inc.,
7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05 A.
30 minutes to 4.05 P. M.
5.35, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05 P.
60 minutes to 11.05 P.
5.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05,
A. M. and every 30
5 P. M. Sundays, 8.05
. and every 30 minutes

THOMAS GAMMON,
Superintendent.

A Matchless Complexion For 15 Cents.

That small sum is the price of Pears' Soap, with its power to repair the harm done by common soaps and to give healthful, fresh and lovely skin. There's beauty in

Pears' SOAP

15c. a Cake for the Unscented

Sheriff's Sale

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
Norfolk, ss.

Quincy, June 6th, A. D., 1911.

Seized on execution and will be sold at public auction on Saturday the 22nd day of July 1911 at 9 o'clock A. M., at my residence No. 163 Franklin Street in Quincy in said County, all the right, title and interest which Peter T. Fallon had (not exempt by law from attachment or levy on execution) on the 6th day of June, 1911 at 9 o'clock A. M. (being the time the same was seized on execution) in and to the following described real estate, to wit:—

Two parcels of land in said Quincy:

First parcel situated on the westerly side of Quarry Street, bounded and described as follows:

Easterly by Quarry Street, two hundred sixty-nine (269) feet, more or less and on land formerly of Richard Mann & Company, two hundred twenty-one (221) feet, more or less; Southerly, Five hundred twenty (520) feet, more or less; Southwesterly, Five hundred twenty (520) feet, more or less; Southwesterly, Five hundred thirty-two (532) feet, more or less and Northerly, Seven hundred eighty (780) feet, more or less on land formerly of the heirs of Josiah Bass.

Second parcel situated on the Southwesterly side of Quarry street, bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at a point at the Northeasterly corner of land now or formerly owned by Eleazer Frederick and William Field as shown on a plan by H. T. Whitman and C. E. Breck, November 1871 and recorded with Norfolk Deeds, thence running Northwesterly along said Quarry Street; Three hundred seventy (370) feet, more or less to an iron bolt in a rock near the Northerly end of an old stone wall, said rock is marked with a letter "C" cut in the rock on the Easterly side of the bolt, and the letter "S" cut in the rock on the Westerly side of the bolt; thence turning and running in a Southwesterly direction along the line of land of Nathaniel M. Safford to an iron bolt in a rock; said rock being marked "C" on the East side and the letter "S" cut in the rock on the West side; thence continuing in a straight line to the Northerly line of land formerly owned by Eleazer Frederick and William Field, being a distance of Two hundred sixty (260) feet, more or less; thence turning and running in an Easterly direction along the line of land now or formerly owned by said Frederick and Field, Three hundred eighty-five (385) feet, more or less to the point of beginning on the southwesterly side of said Quarry Street.

GEORGE H. FIELD,
Deputy Sheriff.

July 7-3t 7, 14, 21

TO LET

IN QUINCY CENTER

SEVERAL DESIRABLE HOUSES
7, 8 and 10 Rooms

Every convenience and very desirable locations.

RENT $25 To $40 according to house

APPLY TO
MISS PRESCOTT,
Ledger Office

Quincy, July LPOtf

HOT WEATHER

and dirt breed germs. Germs bring diseases and are a menace to your health. Our sanitary dyeing and cleaning processes render your clothes free from germs.

Get The Sanitary Habit!

We call for and deliver the work

WARSHAW'S DYE HOUSE
"The Home of Cleanliness"
1503 HANCOCK STREET
QUINCY

July 15-tf

PATENTS

TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 25 years experience.

Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.

READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.

D. SWIFT & CO.
PATENT LAWYERS,
303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

THE DANGER TRAIL

By
JAMES OLIVER CURWOOD

Copyright, 1910, by Bobbs-Merrill Company.

SYNOPSIS

Jack Howland, engineer, sent to build the Hudson Bay railroad, is appealed to for help by a beautiful girl who writes that she is a mute and invites him to accompany her. They are followed by Jean Croisset, half breed.

They go to her camp. He is attacked and nearly killed by a huge stranger. The girl disappears. Howland hears her speak. Croisset gives him the little Meleese's warning not to go north. He goes.

Howland again sees the girl, who tells him by note his life is in danger. She asks his forgiveness. Gregson and Thorne are mere wrecks of their former selves.

Mysterious perils threaten Howland. The girl visits him and confesses that she had lied to him. She entreats him to return south.

He tells her he loves her. Her name is Meleese. She partly promises to tell him why enemies seek his life.

Howland is lured to a mine, taken prisoner and bound to a box of dynamite which is soon to be exploded.

He frees himself and prevents the explosion. Meleese meets him again, refuses to marry him and again lures him into the hands of enemies.

Croisset takes Howland, his prisoner, into the wilderness. They are followed by Meleese. Howland promises not to attempt to escape.

They reach the house of the Red Death, a deserted Hudson Bay post. Then Croisset departs for several days. Howland plans to capture him upon his return.

Howland and Croisset fight. Croisset tells Howland he intends to kill him. Howland knocks out the half breed and orders him to take him to Meleese.

Croisset tells him he is going to his doom. Howland's plan to ambush his enemies fails. He is desperate, and Croisset aids him.

They reach a deserted cabin overlooking the home of Meleese and Howland's enemies. Though threatened with death, Croisset refuses to explain why Howland's life is sought. At night Howland goes to Meleese.

(Continued from last issue)

CHAPTER XIV.

IN THE BEDROOM CHAMBER.

FLATTENING himself closely against the black logs of the wall, Howland paused on the platform at the top of the stairs. His groping hand touched the jam of a door, and he held his breath when his fingers incautiously rattled the steel of a latch. In another moment he passed on three paces—four—along the platform, at last sinking on his knees in the snow close under the window. His eyes searched the lighted room an inch at a time. He saw a section of wall at first dimly illuminated, then a small table near the window covered with books and magazines and beside it a reclining chair buried thick under a great white bear robe. On the table, but beyond his vision, was the lamp. He drew himself a few inches more through the snow, leaning still farther ahead, until he saw the foot of a white bed. A little more and he stopped, his white face close to the window pane.

On the bed, facing him, sat Meleese. Her chin was buried in the cup of her hands, and he noticed that she was in a dressing gown and that her beautiful hair was loosed and flowing in glistening waves about her, as though she had just brushed it for the night. A movement, a slight shifting of her eyes, and she would have seen him.

He was filled with an almost masterful impulse to press his face closer, to tap on the window, to draw her eyes to him, but even as his hand rose to do the bidding of that impulse something restrained him. Slowly the girl lifted her head, and he was thrilled to find that another impulse drew him back until his ghostly face was a part of the elusive snow gloom. He watched her as she turned from him and threw back the glory of her hair until it half hid her in a mass of copper and gold. From his distance he still gazed at her, choking and undecided, while she gathered it in three heavy strands and plaited it into a shining braid.

For an instant his eyes wandered. Beyond her presence the room was empty. He saw a door and observed that it opened into another room, which in turn could be entered through the platform door behind him. With his old exactness for detail he leaped to definite conclusion. These were Meleese's apartments at the post, separated from all others, and Meleese was preparing to retire for the night. If the outer door was not locked and he entered, what danger could there be of interruption? It was late. The post was asleep. He had seen no light but that in the window through which he was staring.

The thought was scarcely born before he was at the platform door. The latch clicked gently under his fingers. Cautiously he pushed the door inward and thrust in his head and shoulders. He was in a narrow corridor. Ahead of him there shone a thin ray of light from under the door that opened into Meleese's room. Nerving himself for the last move, he went boldly to the door, knocked lightly to give some warning of his presence and entered. Meleese was gone. Then at the far end of the room he saw a curtain, undulating slightly as if from the movement of a person on the other side of it.

"Meleese!" he called softly.

White and dripping with snow, his face bloodless in the tense excitement of the moment, he stood with his arms half reaching out when the curtain was thrust aside and the girl stood before him. At first she did not recognize him in his ghostly storm covered disguise. But before the startled cry that was on her lips found utterance the fear that had blanched her face gave place to a swift sweeping flood of color. For a space there was no word between them as they stood separated by the breadth of the room, Howland with his arms held out to her in pleading silence, Meleese with her hands clutched to her bosom, her throat a-tremble with strange sobbing notes that made no more sound than the fluttering of a bird's wing.

And Howland as he came across the room to her found no words to say, none of the things that he had meant to whisper to her, but drew her to him and crushed her close to his breast, knowing that in this moment nothing could tell her more eloquently than the throbbing of his own heart, the passionate pressure of his face to her face, of his great love, which seemed to stir into life the very silence that encompassed them.

It was a silence broken after a moment by a short choking cry, the quick breathing terror of a face turned suddenly up to him robbed of its flush and quivering with a fear that still found no voice in words. He felt the girl's arms straining against him for freedom. Her eyes were filled with a staring, questioning horror, as though his presence had grown into a thing of which she was afraid. The change was tonic to him. This was what he had expected—the first terror at his presence, the struggle against his will—and there surged back over him the forces he had reserved for this moment. He opened his arms, and Meleese slipped from them, her hands clutched again in the clinging drapery of her bosom.

"MELEESE!" HE CALLED SOFTLY.

"I have come for you, Meleese," he said as calmly as though his arrival had been expected. "Jean is my prisoner. I forced him to drive me to the old cabin up on the mountain, and he is waiting there with the dogs. We will start back tonight—now." Suddenly he sprang to her again, his voice breaking in a low pleading cry. "My God, don't you see now how I love you?" he went on, taking her white face between his two hands. "Don't you understand, Meleese? Jean and I have fought—he is bound hand and foot up there in the cabin—and I am waiting for you—for you." He pressed her face against him, her lips so close that he could feel their quavering breath. "I have come to fight for you—if you won't go," he whispered tensely. "I don't know why your people have tried to kill me, I don't know why they want to kill me, and it makes no difference to me now. I want you. I've wanted you since that first glimpse of your face through the window, since the fight on the trail, every minute, every hour, and I won't give you up as long as I'm alive. If you won't go with me—if you won't go now—tonight"— He held her closer, his voice trembling in her hair. "If you won't go—I'm going to stay with you!"

"No, no, no!" she panted, her hands clutching at his arm. "You must go back now—now"— She pushed him toward the door, and as he backed a step, looking down into her face, he saw the choking tremble of her white throat, heard again the fluttering terror in her breath. "They will kill you if they find you here," she urged. "They think you are dead—that you fell through the ice and were drowned. If you don't believe me, if you don't believe that I can never go with you, tell Jean"—

Her words seemed to choke her as she struggled to finish.

"Tell Jean what?" he questioned softly.

"Will you go then?" she cried with sobbing eagerness, as if he already understood her. "Will you go back if Jean tells you everything—everything about me—about"—

"No," he interrupted.

"If you only knew, then you would go back and never see me again. You would understand"—

"I will never understand," he interrupted again. "I say that it is you who do not understand, Meleese! I don't care what Jean would tell me. Nothing that has ever happened can make me not want you."

"If one should come and find you here"—

"There would be a fight," he said grimly. "I have come prepared to fight." He waited a moment, and in the silence the brown head in front of him dropped slowly, and he saw a tremor pass through the slender form, as if it had been torn by an instant's pain. The pallor had gone from Howland's face. The mute surrender in the bowed head, the soft sobbing notes that he heard now in the girl's breath, the confession that he read in her voiceless grief, set his heart leaping, and again he drew her close into his arms and turned her face up to his own.

"You—you told me something that wasn't true—once—back there," he whispered, "and you promised that you wouldn't do it again. Why don't you tell me everything? You believe that if I knew certain things I would never want to see you again; that I would go back into the south. You have told me that. Then, if you want me to go, why don't you reveal these things to me? If you can't do that go with me tonight. We will go anywhere—to the ends of the earth"—

He stopped at the look that had come into her face. Her eyes were turned to the window. He saw them filled with a strange terror, and involuntarily his own followed them to where the storm was beating softly against the windowpane. Close to the lighted glass was pressed a man's face. He caught a flashing glimpse of a pair of eyes staring in at them, of a thick, wild beard whitened by the snow. He knew the face. When life seemed slipping out of his throat he had looked up into it that night of the ambush on the Great North trail.

With a quick movement Howland sprang away from the girl and leveled his revolver to where the face had been. Over the shining barrel he saw only the taunting emptiness of the storm. Scarcely had the face disappeared when there came the loud shout of a man, the hoarse calling of a name and then of another and after that the quick, furious opening of the outer door.

Howland whirled, his weapon pointing to the only entrance. The girl was ahead of him, and with a warning cry he swung the muzzle of his gun upward. In a moment she had pushed the bolt that locked the room from the inside and had leaped back to him, her face white, her breath breaking in fear. She spoke no word, but with a moan of terror caught him by the arm and pulled him past the light and beyond the thick curtain that had hidden her when he had entered the room a few minutes before. They were in a second room, palely lighted by a mass of coals gleaming through the open door of a box stove and with a second window looking out into the thick night. Fiercely she dragged him to this window, her fingers biting deep into the flesh of his arm.

"You must go through this!" she cried chokingly. "Quick! Oh, my God, won't you hurry? Won't you go?"

Howland had stopped. From the blackness of the corridor there came the beat of heavy fists on the door and the rage of a thundering voice demanding admittance. From out in the night it was answered by the sharp barking of a dog and the shout of a second voice.

"Why should I go?" he asked. "I told you a few moments ago that I had come prepared to fight, Meleese. I shall stay and fight."

"Please, please go!" she sobbed, striving to pull him nearer to the window. "You can get away in the storm. The snow will cover your trail. If you stay they will kill you—kill you."

"I prefer to fight and be killed rather than to run away without you," he interrupted. "If you will go"—

She crushed herself against his breast.

"I can't go—now—this way," she urged. "But I will come to you. I promise that—I will come to you." For an instant her hands clasped his face. "Will you go if I promise you that?"

"You swear that you will follow me—that you will come down to the Wekusko? My God, are you telling me the truth, Meleese?"

"Yes, yes; I will come to you if you go now." She broke from him, and he heard her fumbling at the window. "I will come; I will come, but not to Wekusko. They will follow you there. Go back to Prince Albert—to the hotel where I looked at you through the window. I will come there—sometime—as soon as I can."

A blast of cold air swept into his face. He had thrust his revolver into its holster, and now again for an instant he held Meleese close in his arms.

"You will be my wife?" he whispered.

He felt her throbbing against him. Suddenly her arms tightened around his neck.

"Yes, if you want me then—if you want me after you know what I am. Now, go—please, please go!"

He pulled himself through the window, hanging for a last moment to the ledge.

"If you fail to come within a month I shall return," he said.

Her hands were at his face again. Once more, as on the trail at Le Pas, he felt sweet pressure of her lips.

"I will come," she whispered.

Her hands thrust him back, and he was forced to drop to the snow below.

(To be Continued.)

The Optimist.

"You're looking blue, doc. What's the matter?"

"Well, I'll tell you. A patient I began to treat died this morning."

"Ah, cheer up. He might have died even if you hadn't been called."—Toledo Blade.

AMUSEMENTS

DOINGS ON THE STAGE OF

LOCAL AND BOSTON THEATRES

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

A farcial play such as "On the Quiet" is especially adapted to summer entertainment at the Castle Square, and it will be Mr. Craig's offering next week. It was in this play that Willie Collier made no little sensation several seasons ago, and it was written by Augustus Thomas, one of the best known and most popular of American playwrights. Mr. Thomas has no little skill at the construction of plot and the creation of character, and with "Alabama," "The Witching Hour" and a dozen other plays he has amused hundreds of thousands of theatre-goers. The plot of "On the Quiet" deals with the rough course of the true love of a reckless young New Yorker and a girl whose ambitious brother wants her to marry a Russian. The action begins promisingly in the conservatory of a millionaire's mansion, proceeds with merry comedy in the parlor of a New Haven hotel, and is completed on board a yacht stuck in the mud in Long Island sound. It will therefore be seen that "On the Quiet" lacks not for diversity of scene and character, and no little of its amusement comes from that as well as from its bright and witty dialogue. Mr. Craig for his production of "On the Quiet" will furnish it with an exceptionally effective cast, the leading roles being acted by Gertrude Binley Mabel Colcord, William P. Carleton, Frederick Murray and Donald Meek.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE.

Never in the history of vaudeville has there been such wide spread interest aroused over an attraction as that which has been shown over "The Meistersingers' All-Star Minstrels" at B. F. Keith's Theatre. In fact this wonderful company of fifty has proved a revelation not only in vaudeville but in the minstrel history of America. There has certainly never been a chorus to equal the forty male voices that are singing the old Southern songs and the modern minstrel numbers while "The Meistersingers" themselves are being heard to better advantage than at any time during their engagement. As for the end-men George Thatcher, Lew Benedict, Jughie Dougherty, and John Healy, everyone of them has made an individual hit that has revived new interest in ministreisy, and there will probably never be another similar organization so complete in all its parts as the "Meistersingers' All-Star Minstrels." It will be well worth while for parents to bring their children to see this form of amusement that was so popular in America for many years at its highest development, and see the men whose names have been so long identified with it. As last week, Mr. Keith has provided an exceptionally strong bill, outside of the minstrel circle. It will include Trovato, the wonderful Filipino violinist, who has to be heard to be appreciated; Menetekel, whose appearance brings a novelty in the way of invisible writing never before seen in Boston; Neff & Starr, musical comedians; Cullison & Villa Co., Duff & Walsh; and the Ioleen Sisters.

PARAGON PARK.

Always the first to introduce novelties in the way of summer amusement Manager Dodge has now instituted the cabaret idea in the Palm Garden at Paragon Park at Nantasket Beach, borrowing the idea which is so popular in New York. New York, by the way, borrows the idea from Paris and Vienna. As a matter of fact the Palm Garden has always had what was practically a cabaret show, for after all it only means that guests while dining are entertained by singers, or dancers or other amusement features. The attractive feature of the Palm Garden has always been that one might enjoy the menu and wine list while listening to the alternating band and orchestra concerts, the various singers, the free circus acts on the lagoon, and the fire works displays on Wednesday and Saturday nights, but these entertainment features have always been in their regular place, either in the band stand or the balcony of the Palm Garden. The new scheme is to vary the entertainment by having the singers at the tables to sing at the most unexpected moment. You may be in the midst of your dinner and suddenly find that the Paragon Male Quartette is sitting at the next table, dining as guests just as you are, and during the coffee and cigars they may break into song. Or Marie Ungvarsky, the soprano soloist, may beg a seat at your table, if the Palm Garden is crowded, as it usually is, and while waiting for her ice cream may sing "I love you honey, dear," or some other such taffy. The Grand Opera Trio too is included in the cabaret entertainment. It is something of a treat to have such singers giving selections from grand opera at the neighboring table during dinner. For a climax sprightly dancing girls pirouette among the tables. The crowds at Paragon are breaking all records this season.

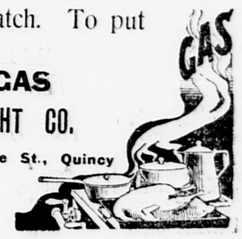
HIGHLAND PARK.

Somthing novel in the wy of a concert will be presented at Highland Park next week every afternoon and evening as a special free attraction. This will be furnished by the American Indian Band under the direction of David Russell Hill, a full-blooded Onandaga Indian chief and the descendant of a long line of famous chiefs. The band is the only professional organization of Indians doing this sort of work. They have played at the Madison Square Gardens in New York and other big amusement places to large and enthusiastic audiences. The first part of the program is an excellent grade of band concert music. The second half is devoted more to typical Indian music. Some of the wierd, wild strains of war dances with tom-toms and other aboriginal instruments are heard. In the afternoon the Indians appear in regulation band uniforms but in the evening appear in all their tribal glory of war paint and feathers.

A WELL COOKED DINNER

If you have a good cook is assured when you use a gas stove or gas range. The heat is steady and uniform, which is not the case with a wood or coal stove, and you can raise or lower the flame as you please—which of course, is impossible on any other kind of cook-stove. To make a fire, you simply turn on the gas and apply a match. To put it out, turn off the gas.

COOK WITH GAS
CITIZENS' GAS LIGHT CO.
11 Granite St., Quincy



ROOSTER COAL BRIQUETS

THE NEW ANTHRACITE COAL

ROOSTER BRIQUETS are made from the choicest small Scranton Anthracite coal, mined in Pennsylvania, called TWENTIETH CENTURY CHESTNUT size.

Just consider for a moment what we offer here in this 20th CENTURY CHESTNUT.

First, 200 pounds of clean, pure, hard coal without a rock or a piece of slate.

Second, fuel that cannot form into a clinker, by any known method of firing, consequently the linings and grates last indefinitely.

Third, they are made in nut size, being equally convenient for furnace heaters, open grates, as well as stoves; therefore, only one storage bin is necessary.

Fourth, and very IMPORTANT, the quality of this fuel is the SAME EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR, not a good ton today, and nothing like it the next time, in other words, when you once learn how to regulate your drafts you have nothing more to learn about burning BRIQUETS.

Fifth, no more sifting ashes these Briquets burn out clean. They require less wood to kindle.

Be sure to ask for "ROOSTERS" and get the Briquet made from pure Scranton Coal, from the largest Briquet plant in the country. They are better than coal, will last as long and cost less.

J. F. SHEPPARD & SONS,
AGENTS

WHEELER'S

The Store for Ladies' Furnishings

We will continue our Sale of Shirt Waists and Long Gloves

See what we offer in Shirt Waists for 79c and 98c
and Long Gloves for 50c and 75c

We are also showing a new line of Children's Parasols, all colors, for 25c and 29c

WE GIVE CASH DISCOUNT SLIPS

City Square G. W. WHEELER Quincy

If you live at Quincy Neck
You can get the Daily Ledger
after 3.30 P. M.
at the store of
J. S. Pierce

REVISED FIRE ALARM

The Ledger prints the complete list of boxes today. It is the only complete and authentic list of fire alarm boxes, and the arrangement is original with the Daily Ledger:

7 Corner Farnum and Edison Streets.
12 Palmer Street, near Whiten's.
13 Corner Shelton Road and Sea Sts.
14 Church turn-out, Manet Avenue.
15 Germantown, Sailors' Snug Harbor.
16 Sea Street, near Rock Island Road
17 Sea street, near Dunham's.
19 Rock Island.

21 Corner Whitwell and Granite Sts.
23 Hancock Street, near Hall's stable.
24 Whitwell Street, near Hospital.
25 Corner Newcomb and Canal Sts.
26 Hancock, opposite City Hall.
27 Corner Elm and Washington Sts
28 Corner Greenleaf and Hancock Sts.
29 Corner Butler Road and Putnam

31 Phipps Street, near Payne Street.
32 Independence Avenue and Franklin
34 Corner High and Franklin Streets.
35 Corner Hancock and School Streets.
36 Junction Pleasant and Quincy Sts
37 Corner Franklin and Water Sts.
38 Corner Liberty and Plain Sts.
39 Corner Penn and Liberty Streets.

41 Corner School and Granite Streets.
42 Corner Copeland and Granite Sts.
43 Corner Common and Copeland Sts.
45 Corner Crescent and Willard Sts.
46 Copeland and Furnace avenue.
47 Corner Bates Avenue and Grove
48 Corner Robertson and Willard Sts.
49 Corner Doble and Willard Streets.

51 Tubular Rivet Factory.
52 Elmwood Avenue and Farrington.
53 Winthrop and Warren Avenues.
54 Hancock Street,, near Elm Avenue.
56 Beale, opposite Wollaston Hotel.
57 Corner Beach and Willow Streets.
58 Corner Beale and Adams Streets.
59 Beale Street and Central Avenue.

61 Squantum and Hancock Streets.
62 Corner Atlantic and Hancock Sts
63 Hancock Street, near Atlantic depot.
64 Billings Street and Newbury Ave.
64 (D) Combination No. 2 House.
65 Faxon Road and Squantum Street.
66 Prospect and Billings.
67 Corner Atlantic and Squantum Sts
68 Squantum.
69 Montclair.

71 Corner Mill and Washington Sts.
72 Washington Street, corner South.
73 Corner Winter and Howard Sts.
74 Corner River and Washington Sts
75 Corner Main and Sumner Streets.
76 Washington corner Wharf.
76 (D) Power House, Q. & B. St. R'y.,
78 Fore River Ship Building Works.

112 Sea street near Willows.
113 Post Island.
114 Engine House, Houghs Neck.
116 Centre road and Darrow Street.
117 Great Hill, Hough's Neck.
119 Rockland and Rhoda, R. I.
121 President's Hill.
122 Chestnut Street and Revere Road.
123 Hancock Street, near Car Barn.
124 Corner Goffe and Adams Streets.
126 Russell Park.
136 Brook Road and Water Street.
138 Corner Brooks Avenue and Centre
143 Station Street.
147 Granite Railway Yard.
151 Billings Road and Beach Street.
152 Corner Billings and Rawson Roads.
153 Farrington near Wol. Foundry.
154 Wollaston Ave. near Sailors' Home.
155 Warren Avenue, near Newton St.
161 Newport avenue opp. Foundry.
171 Whicher's factory, Union Street.
172 Corner Glencoe place and New Rd.
173 Newcomb Square, Quincy Avenue.
174 Junction North and South Streets.
175 Quincy Avenue, near Mrs. Baxter's.

221 Glendale road and Beacon.
223 Washington and Foster.
226 Dimmock and Upland road.
242 (P) City Hospital.
272 Corner Washington and Pray Sts.
273 (P) Baker Basin.
321 Intervale Street and Brook Avenue.
324 Adams St., near Whitwell St.,
331 Franklin and School.
332 Federal and Independence aves.
412 Corner Willard and West Streets.
413 Buckley and Arthur
431 Rogers Street, off Hall place.
432 Willard and Furnace avenue.
441 Smith Street, rear C. H. Hardwick's
442 Quarry Street, near Hitchcock's.
443 Corner Hayden and West Streets.
445 Corner Quarry and Common Streets.
446 Opposite Willard School, Copeland.
512 Grand View and South Central Ave.
513 Foot Beach Street.
515 Quincy Mansion School.
524 Berlin and Woodbine.
552 Brook and Granger.
553 Belmont and Warren avenue.
612 Hancock Street and Billings Road.
613 Hayward opp. Gear Works.
614 Glover avenue and Newbury avenue
615 Oak and Walnut.
617 Squantum and Huckins avenue.
712 Broadway and Commonwealth ave.
718 (P) Johnson's Lumber Yard.
721 South and Chubbuck.
722 Washington and Union.
723 South and Clairmont Avenue.
725 South and Winthrop park.

D—Duplicate. P—Private.

For brush and grass fire, send word by telephone or otherwise, to the nearest Fire station.

SIGNALS—Fire Department.

Twelve (12) blows, followed by Box number—General Alarm
Ten (10) blows followed by Box number—Second alarm.
Four (4) blows—Special call for Hose No. 1.
Two (2) blows—Recall.
Three (3) blows—Chief Engineer's call.
One (1) blow, 7 A. M. and 5 P. M.—Fire Alarm test.
2-2 three times—No school.
4-4-4—Military call.
Seven (7) blows—Electric Light Co. to shut off current.
3-3-3—Police call.
Lost Child call. 5-5-5—then one round of the Box nearest to where the lost child lives.
Six (6) blows—Superintendent Water Works call.
Two (2) blows, 8.55 P. M.—Curfew Law.

132—Out of City Call, Braintree.
135— " " " Weymouth
158— " " " Milton.
162— " " " Boston.

Quincy Daily Ledger

FOR SALE AT

BOSTON—At South Station after 3.30 P. M.
QUINCY—Ledger Office 1424 Hancock Street.
L. A. Chapin, 1395 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, oppo. Depot.
Thompson's Waiting Room, City Sq.
H. P. Kittredge, City Square.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
Mrs. Madden, 16 Quincy ave.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's News Stand.
PARK&DOWNS—Branschied & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
QUINCY NECK—Stetson Pierce, Newcomb Square.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith, Washington Street.
Gragg's Pharmacy.
L. A. Cook, Washington Street.
E. O. Godfrey, 538 Washington St.
E. H. Lowe, Washington Street.
George E. Sprague Cor. River St.
SOUTH QUINCY—Litchfield, Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Miss C. Booth, Brooks Avenue.
BREWER'S CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
Mrs. F. H. Stanley.
WEST QUINCY—F. A. Skinner.
John G. Belanger.
HOUGHS NECK—Capt. Fosdick's.

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	77 degrees
July 21, 1910,	85 degrees
July 21, 1909,	77 degrees
July Noon Maximum, 14 years,	101
July Noon Minimum, 14 years.	60

Three Balls Problem.

Winkle—I wish I knew some way of hanging up my clothes.
Nodd—I wish I knew some way of getting mine out after I have hung 'em up.

BRIEFS

Walter H. Cobb has so far recovered from his illness that he is able to be out of doors although he is unable to take much exertion.

James Bird late of East Boston died at the National Sailors Home Tuesday aged 66 years, 8 months and 23 days. The burial was held Friday.

Late afternoon bathing has been popular this week and large crowds have patronized the city bath house in Ward Two. There has also been a large crowd every afternoon bathing along the Quincy Shore boulevard.

Work on Quincy's two new brick school buildings is being pushed as rapidly as possible. At the Wollaston building, the brick work has been completed above the first story, and the end of the week should see the second story outside work, about ready for the interior timbers. At the Montclair school, the foundation is about completed and brick laying will be commenced in a few days.

Doubtless the fastest motor boat in Boston waters for her size, is the Naughty Girl owned by Sandberg Bros. She is long and narrow and is equipped with an automobile engine which sends her through the water at express speed. She was used by the managers of the aviation meet at Squantum last year, to patrol the waters of Dorchester bay every day during the meet and assist any of the aviators should they land in the water.

James Joss of Garfield street is entertaining business friends from Chicago.

MARRIAGES

VAUGHN—LEMON—At Houghs Neck, July 15 by Rev. W. J. Sayre Alfred W. Vaughn and Eva C. Lemon, both of Quincy.

DEATHS

BEAN—In Quincy, July 19, Elizabeth, widow of the late Nicholas J. Bean, of 21 Franklin street. Friends are kindly invited to attend the solemn high mass of requiem at St. John's church, Quincy, Saturday July 22, at 10 A. M.
Burial private. Friends will kindly omit flowers. 20-2t

McGIBBON—In South Braintree, July 19, Jennie, wife of Peter McGibbon, aged 58 years.
Funeral from her late residence Porter avenue, Saturday, July 22, at 2 P. M. 20-2t

BIRD—In Quincy, July 18, Mr. James Bird, formerly of East Boston, aged 66 years, 8 months and 23 days.

Established 1870 Telephone
JOHN HALL
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
Carriage and Ambulance Service
1485 Hancock Street, Quincy Mass.

BRIEFS

The Granite Railway Co. are installing a new 40 horse power hoisting engine at their quarry.

Vacation season is now at its heighth and scores of Quincy people are out of town for a few weeks.

Excavating for the new court room building on Coddington street is well along and work on the cellar foundation walls will probably be commenced next week.

The portable stone crusher, which is at present located on Brook street, South Quincy, is being kept steadily at work crushing stone chips. A large amount of these chips are now being used in street repairing.

Mayor Shea and City Treasurer Curtis were among the interested spectators at the Braintree fire Thursday afternoon. The Mayor said that Braintree could have all the aid it desired from Quincy.

COLLECTION OF ASHES.

The Board of Health recently advertised that during the summer months, ashes would be collected only once a month. The residents want to know, however, what day of the month the ash teams will be in each ward. As it is now, people do not know when to put their ash barrels out.

BASEBALL GAMES FOR SATURDAY.

Makaria vs. Miah Murrays at Merrymount park, upper field. Quincy Independents vs. West Quincys at Old Colony grounds. Manets vs. Fore River Apprentices at Ward Three playgrounds, Y. M. C. A. vs. South Quincy Extension club at Merrymount park, lower field.

THE FOURTH DIMENSION.

To Catch a Glimpse of It Just Get Delirium Tremens.

The majority of us are like brutes. We believe but in the reality of things. Science, more hospitable, acknowledges the fourth dimension and with it the constant parade before our eyes of things and events ordinarily unseen. The phenomena of delirium tremens forms a case in point. The shapes which the layman believes the patient only imagines are really seen and are rendered visible through the excitation of the pineal gland, which now is the rudimentary organ of what once was psychic vision. Alcohol stimulates this gland. The drunkard in his aftercups sees with it the hideousness of shapes which his own hideousness has attracted to him. For they are there, or, rather, they are here, about us in the fourth dimension, precisely as there are other shapes as gracious as these are revolting. Only ordinarily we do not see them. There are, though, those who can and do, and without being drunkards either.

Thinkers as sober as Jevons and Babbage go a bit further. They will, if you let them, tell you that whatever occurs in the privacy of a room remains photographed in it. A mere extension of this enables oculists to say that nothing has ever occurred anywhere which is not also photographed; that in the ether above us is the great picture gallery of the world.

In India, at Adyar, the chief lieu of theosophy, this gallery is constantly being studied. The results, occasionally bizarre, are sometimes trivial. It has been found that Herbert Spencer was Aristotle; Gladstone, Cicero; Tennyson, Ovid.—Edgar Saltus in Forum.

HOW TO SWEEP A ROOM.

Work Can Be Made Easy by Proper Methods.

In the first place, supply yourself with sweeping sheets. Many times the soiled sheets from the bed are used for this purpose, but that is not exactly a clean method. If you do not have them already buy the coarse, unbleached cotton cloth, double width, and bind with turkey red. Make the sheets big enough to cover the largest piece of furniture you wish to protect. The next thing is to dress properly for the work. Have a cotton frock which fits easily in the waist and sleeves so that your arms may move unhampered, easy shoes, a sweeping cap and a pair of loose old gloves. Carry from the room all small objects which you cannot lay on couches or chairs that can be covered. Dust them before you lay them aside. Then move out of the room all small furniture which can be taken from the room easily, dusting it carefully also. Now cover with the dusting sheets all the remaining pieces of furniture, using the smaller sheets for the pictures. Remove rugs and the like. Have ready the damp tea leaves or shreds of paper, for it is not wise to do dry sweeping. The dust will fly no matter what you may do. The damp tea leaves prevent it flying about and settling down again in the crevices and corners. Sweep from the corners toward the center of the room.

SMALL FARM WANTED

We have a customer who wants to locate in or about South Braintree. If your property is for sale there will be no charge for listing, no expense to you unless we make a sale. For quick sale write, giving discription, location and price of property, and we will bring customer. Frank W. Rand 27 State street, Boston, Room 41. Tel. Fort Hill 3694. July 21-2t
O1w

QUINCY AT FIRE ON THURSDAY

(Continued from Page One.)

interior was a roaring furnace and it was only occasionally that a drop of water touched it.

At intervals, a piece of the coping would fall with a loud crash, sending out a great cloud of smoke and dust, and it looked as if the building would burn itself out.

The Quincy company laid two streams from Taylor street to the building and by this time the steamer had arrived and was ready to get to work. One of these streams was taken into the rear of the building and the other into the front entrance.

Up to this time no attempt had been made to carry a stream into the building owing to lack of water pressure. Chief Williams advanced with his men to the front entrance and was about to enter when someone tried to stop him, saying that it was impossible to get into the building. The big chief paid no attention to the warning, however, but crying out, "come on boys," led the way into the burning furnace. As the powerful streams struck the flames it was seen that it would not be many minutes before the fire would be under control.

The next seen was Chief Williams climbing the stairway on the northerly side of the building, with his men and a line of hose, and a few minutes later they had put out the fire in that section of the hall.

It was while the Quincy men were on the second floor, that John F. Desmond of Combination I opened a closet door and saw the big American flag that waves from the Town Hall on holidays. He picked it up carefully and handed it to Edmund F. Hayden, another member of the Quincy company. Fireman Hayden took the flag in his arms and going back through the ruins, passed it to Walter Blanchard, of 26 Adams street, a member of the 10th company Massachusetts Coast artillery and Frank Torrey of Allen street East Braintree.

Fifteen minutes after the Quincy men got to work, the fire was under control and nothing remained to do but to extinguish any burning embers that remained. The upper floors of the building are gone, but it said that the damage to the first floor is such that the building can be rebuilt.

The damage by the fire is estimated at $60,000 and there is an insurance on the building of $20,000. All of the town records were saved and the selectmen will have their office, for the present, in the Monatiquot school building.

HOUGHS NECK POST OFFICE.

Because of a protest made by the people of Houghs Neck on account of their being deprived of mail service, Senator W. Murray Crane and Congressman James M. Curley have taken up the matter. Congressman Curley is in Boston for the purpose of interviewing Postmaster Mansfield with regard to it and Senator Crane will call on the Post Office department heads in Washington to urge the reinstating of the branch office at the Neck. The reason why the service was discontinued was that the postmaster was dissatisfied with the salary he was receiving and resigned his position.

DUMPS LOAD OF HAY.

As one of the Boston and Quincy Express Co. wagons was rounding the corner of Water and Franklin streets Friday morning, the rope which held the load slipped and the twenty bales of hay, which constituted the load, fell off the back of the wagon. One of the men on the drivers seat thought the wagon was going over and jumped off. The horses did not become frightened but stopped immediately when the driver pulled on the reins. The two men were nearly an hour in reloading the wagon.

FINED FOR CRAP PLAYING.

Chief Loring interrupted a game of crap at Braintree, Thursday, and placed Chester Ellison under arrest. He was arraigned in court in Quincy this morning for gaming and fined $15.

SPORTING NOTES.

One of the most interesting games of the day will be that between the Makarias and the Miah Murrays, of Dorchester. The local fans have not seen the Makarias play for some weeks and they have been putting up a pretty good article of baseball. The opposing team will make them hustle if they are to win for it has met defeat but once or twice this season.

☞Going away for the summer? If so don't forget to have the Daily Ledger sent to your address and keep posted on home news. If you have forgotten to send in your order in the rush of getting away drop us a postal and we will do the rest. tf

A FEAST IN SAMOA

Develops Into a Conglomerated Scramble For Food.

A SCENE OF WILD DISORDER.

The Native Guests Steal All the Eatables Within Reach, Which They Pass Over to Crowds of Waiting Relatives Gathered on the Outside.

The principal native foods of Samoa are bananas, breadfruit, taro, fish and pork. Bananas prepared "Fa Samoa" would not appeal very strongly to an epicurean taste, for they are gathered unripe and baked under heated stones, as all Samoan cooking is accomplished. A baked green banana favors somewhat a roasted chestnut, but not enough to cause any mistake between the two.

The breadfruit, in my estimation, appeals more strongly to a white man's taste than any other Samoan food. The large, mealy balls are baked, broken open and eaten, usually with one or other of the two Samoan sauces palusami and fai-ai. Palusami is made from the young shoots of the taro plant, cocoanut milk and sea water. Fai-ai is evaporated cocoanut milk. The milk is poured into a leaf, the ends and edges tied at the top, and it is then baked until the water evaporates, leaving a thick cream, which is very rich and quite palatable. Faro is the root or bulb of a plant which is an exact counterpart of what we call "elephant ear" in the United States and is somewhat like a yam, but inclined to be stingy or shreddy. The inside of a baked faro bulb is very solid and of a bluish tint.

The fish needs no explanation.

Pork is the supreme delicacy, according to the Samoan mind, and it is always eaten in a half cooked state. Since a Samoan will sell his birthright for a piece of pig, one-half grown is worth $30 or $40 and will always find a market; therefore it is easily seen that pork can be afforded only on holiday occasions. The Samoan method of killing a pig is unique. The animal's feet are tied together, and it is laid upon its back. Then two large, heavy natives place a 2 by 4 scantling across its neck, after which they seat themselves one on each end of the scantling.

As the unfortunate pig is slowly strangled to death his heartless executioners calmly talk politics. The reason for strangulation in putting a hog to death is simply this: A pig is held in such high esteem that it breaks the Samoan heart to see even the blood being wasted. The blood is used in conjunction with the fatty parts of the entrails and when baked forms some kind of pudding. I have never tasted this kind of pudding myself, but a Samoan will tell you that it is simply delicious, and I am willing to take his word for it. Even the cleaned entrails are utilized, and right here in Samoa we can again bring into use the Chicago stockyard phrase that "only the squeal is lost."

I well remember the first and only Samoan feast I ever had the pleasure of attending. I received an invitation one day from a Samoan whose friendship I had formed to attend a feast the following night which he was giving to dedicate his new home. There were several white men present and about fifty natives. We were arranged in two rows facing each other, sitting cross legged, and in front of each was a small mat on which was a profusion of food, including a lupe (or pigeon), a piece of pork (palusami), taro (breadfruit)—in fact, everything which goes to make a Samoan feast—all to be washed down with cocoanut milk. I had taken two or three mouthfuls of the pigeon when I noticed that there was a ring of natives each with a basket waiting impatiently just outside the house. As I turned to the man on my right for the purpose of asking why these people were assembled outside I sensed a movement in close proximity on my left. Turning quickly around, I was just in time to catch a farewell glimpse of my fine supper being dumped bodily into one of those waiting baskets. I saw at once the reason for that overflow meeting outside. The woman who sat next to me had taken a favorable opportunity when my back was turned to pick up my mat and dispose of my meal to her waiting relative, who had attended the overflow meeting with a basket.

Then ensued a conglomerated scramble, and the feast was turned into a scene of wild disorder as each native strove to outdo his neighbor in securing the most food to send home. The strategy, flank movements and tact that they exhibited under the inspiring grab game so far provoked my comedy bump that I was more than repaid for the loss of my supper in watching their energetic struggles to obtain food gratis.

I was afterward informed that the spectacle I had witnessed was simply the natural course of a Samoan feast, that they always ended the same way and I was indeed fortunate to have secured a taste or so of my pigeon.—Los Angeles Times.

The Indispensable Boy.

Caller—How is your new office boy getting along these days? Lawyer—Oh, fine! He's got things so mixed up now that I couldn't get along without him.—Puck.

Think all you speak, but by no means speak all you think.

ON THE DIAMOND

American League

At Cleveland:	R	H	E
Cleveland	8	14	2
Boston	7	13	2

Batteries—Mitchell, Gregg and Fisher; Pape, Cicotte, Collins, Wood, Williams and Carrigan.

At Detroit:	R	H	E
New York	8	12	4
Detroit	6	12	4

Batteries—Vaughan and Sweeney; Mullin, Willett and Stanage.

At Chicago:	R	H	E
Chicago	4	10	0
Philadelphia	3	9	2

Batteries—Scott, Young and Sullivan; Bender, Lapp and Thomas.

At St. Louis:	R	H	E
St. Louis	2	4	3
Washington	0	3	0

Batteries—Lake and Stephens; Gray and Ainsmith.

National League

At Boston:	R	H	E
Pittsburg	6	9	4
Boston	3	12	2

Batteries—Ferry, Camnitz and Simon; Griffin, Perdue and Kling.

Second Game:	R	H	E
Pittsburg	8	12	4
Boston	5	6	1

Batteries—Hendrix, Steele and Simon; Weaver, Pfeffer, Brown and Rariden.

At New York:	R	H	E
St. Louis	8	11	2
New York	5	7	0

Batteries—Sallee, Harmon and Bresnahan; Mathewson, Crandall and Myers.

At Brooklyn:	R	H	E
Cincinnati	4	3	0
Brooklyn	3	4	3

Batteries—Suggs and McLean; Ragan, Scanlon and Bergen.

At Philadelphia:	R	H	E
Chicago	4	7	2
Philadelphia	3	9	0

Batteries—Reulbach and Archer; Ewing and Dooin.

New England League

At Worcester:	R	H	E
Worcester	5	10	3
Lowell	4	11	3

Batteries—Hale, Van Dyke and O'Neil; Buzick and Huston.

At Haverhill:	R	H	E
Brockton	14	21	3
Haverhill	8	10	1

Batteries—Smith, Foley, Eastman and Tevlin; McIntyre, Ferris, Kite and Milliman.

At Fall River:	R	H	E
Lawrence	5	8	0
Fall River	1	4	1

Batteries—Duffy and Braymafer; Jensen and Haight.

At New Bedford:	R	H	E
Lynn	7	11	0
New Bedford	3	12	2

Batteries—Harrington and Daum; Griffith and Wheeler.

The Iron Cross.

The Iron Cross, an order of knighthood, was established by Frederick William III. of Prussia in March, 1813. The order was founded in order to honor patriotic bravery in the war against France. It was revived by Emperor William I. during the Franco-Prussian war and awarded by him to his son for his great victory at Wissembourg on Aug. 4, 1870. Later on the order was bestowed most generously, some 40,000 persons being decorated between 1870 and 1872.

Cremo 5¢
CIGAR
QUALITY PLUS

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents. Three consecutive insertions 50 cents, 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.
No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Two cylinder 6 h. p. marine engine, schebler carburetor and coil, price $50, also a 20 ft. semi speed boat on easy terms, take phonograph or camera as part payment. C. A. I. Ledger Office. July 19-21, 22

FOR SALE—At a great sacrifice income property paying 12 per cent on investment in Quincy. Owner going to N. H. No letters answered. Call 141 Upland road, city. July 15-6t

FOR SALE

The cozy home, situated No. 24 Marsh Street, consisting of a six room house, city water, 4400 square feet of land, fruit trees. Price reasonable.

Call and see,

JAMES F. BURKE,
REAL ESTATE AGENT,
Room 4, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, Mass.
July 15-tf

FOUND

FOUND—A gentleman's watch at Houghs Neck on Sunday, July 16th. Owner may have same by proving property and paying charges. Address O. S. Johnson, 207 Keith avenue, Campello. July 19-3t

WANTED

WANTED—Ladies in need of first class help cook, 2nd, chamber, parlor maids. Light housework, also women to go out by the hour call or phone 485-W. L. M. Flynn, 1522 Hancock street. Oldest employment office in city. July 19-3t

WANTED—An experienced second girl, must have good references and be willing to spend July and August on the Cape. Apply Paul R. Blackmur, 68 Elm street, Quincy. July 19-4t

TO LET

TO LET—Rooms and table board at 55 Washington street, Quincy, Mrs. Margaret S. MacDonnell. June 23-1mo.

TO LET—Large front room furnished suitable for man and wife or two men. Call at 26 School street. July 18-6t

TO LET—Tenement of 5 rooms at 42 Euclid avenue. All latest improvements. Apply to C. A. Ericson 177 Glendale road or P. Curry 94 Federal avenue, Quincy Adams. July 18-6t

TO LET—Half house on Miller Stile road, 7 rooms, all improvements Apply to E. V. Fitts, 19 Miller Stile road, Quincy. July 18-L-P-tf

TO LET—On Spear street, tenement of 4 rooms and bath. All modern improvements. Apply to C. A. Ericson, 117 Glendale road. Tel 586 M. June 27-tf

FOR RENT—Quincy, Centre, opposite Adams Academy, house of 8 rooms and bath, also garage, 3 minutes to R. R. Station. Dr. E. S. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263L, Weymouth. May 10-tf

TO LET

Half House No. 44 Bigelow street, 7 rooms and bath. Shades, screens, electric lights, set tubs, range, etc. Rent $25. per month. Apply to Miss Prescott, Ledger Office, Quincy. July 3-tf

FOR RENT

On Spear street, very desirable house of 8 rooms, bath and laundry. All modern improvements, range, gas, electric lights shades and screens. Large piazzas and lawn. To private family only. Apply at 41 Spear street or of Miss Prescott at Ledger Office, Quincy. June 2-tf L. P. O

TO LET

Tenement—22 B Granite Street. $10.00 per month.

Greenleaf Hall—Greenleaf Block Large Furnished Hall with various anterooms—to let by the evening or permanently.

City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 20 feet high. Splendid light, low rent

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)
Music Hall Block, Quincy.

BE SURE TO READ THE ADVERTISEMENTS IN TODAY'S LEDGER

SEMENTS

one time 25 cents.
nsertions 75 cents.
ved by mail or at the

OUND

gentleman's watch at on Sunday, July 16th. ave same by proving ying charges. Address
07 Keith avenue, Cam-
July 19-3t

NTED

adies in need of first 2nd, chamber, parlor housework, also wom-
the hour call or phone Flynn, 1522 Hancock employment office in
July 19-3t

experienced second good references and pend July and August pply Paul R. Black-eet, Quincy.
July 19-4t

LET

ns and table board at street, Quincy, Mrs.
Donnell.
June 23-1mo.

ge front room furnor man and wife or at 26 School street.
July 18-6t

ment of 5 rooms at
All latest improve-
C. A. Ericson 177
P. Curry 94 Federal
Adams. July 18-6t

f house on Miller
ms, all improvements
tts, 19 Miller Stile
July 18-L.P-tf

pear street, tenement
ath. All modern imply to C. A. Ericson,
d. Tel 586 M.
June 27-tf

Quincy, Centre, appo-
my, house of 8 rooms
rage, 3 minutes to R.
S. Taylor, 527 Main
eymouth. Tel. 263L,
May 10-tf

O LET

44 Bigelow street,
h. Shades, screens,
tubs, range, etc.
mth. Apply to Miss
Office, Quincy.
July 3-tf

RENT

et, very desirable
bath and laundry.
vements, range, gas,
ades and screens.
d lawn. To private pply at 41 Spear
Prescott at Ledger

June 2-tf L. P. O

LET

Granite Street. $10.00

Greenleaf Block
ll with various antee evening or perma-

ll, Office or Shop—
2 flights up, 28x43 feet
endid light, low rent

Estate Trust,
Mr. Kribs.)
lock, Quincy.

READ THE SEMENTS DAY'S GER

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 26 No. 167 QUINCY, MASS. SATURDAY EVENING JULY 22, 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

SERIOUS WATER PROBLEM IN VIEW

Reported That Water In Penn's Hill Standpipe Has Had Big Drop Causing Some Anxiety

Pressure In Some Sections Is Very Low

It is reported that the water in the stand pipe, on Penn's hill, has lowered thirty feet during the past few weeks, and unless a hard rain comes very soon, a serious water problem is sure to come. The pressure at the present time is very low, and it is said that in some houses on Presidents hill only a tiny stream of water comes from the pipes, when the faucet is opened.

Gardens all over the country are suffering from the want of water and unless rain comes soon vegetation will be ruined and the prices advanced. Lawns have also suffered.

Many people in past years kept their lawns green by the frequent use of the lawn hose and they were willing to pay for the water. This year, however, the pressure is so low that the Commissioner has ordered that the strictest economy be exercised, and the use of lawn hose has been restricted to one hour a day, which is hardly sufficient to do much good.

The Janitors of the High and Woodward schools have always taken a great pride in the lawns about these buildings for by the frequent use of water they have been kept a handsome green. Not so this season, however, these lawns like others in the city are dried up to a dirty brown.

It is reported that in the City of Boston stringent measures are to be taken the coming week, to curtail the use of water, for the people should understand that a serious situation exists which only frequent and hard rains can remedy.

—Wakefield's tax rate is $18.40 a reduction of $1.30 per thousand from last year. The year before there was also a good reduction which encourages the townspeople.

CARPETS
Oriental Domestic RUGS
Floor Coverings
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION
At Lowest Possible Prices
John H. Pray & Sons Co.
Established 1867
646-653 Washington St., Opposite Boylston St.

All Goods will be Delivered Free at Residences in Quincy
REPRESENTED IN QUINCY BY
Messrs. OTHO A. HAYWARD and WALTER J. WELLINGTON.

Get That Vacation Suit Now

AUGUST is near. Vacations in sight. Sweltering days loaded with humidity are due. If ever a man needs a cool dressy suit, it's right now.

A good suit is almost indispensable.

That's the only kind we have.

We were never knowingiy guilty of selling poor merchandise. We value public opinion too highly.

Suits at $10 to $18

These suits are fine, soft, pure worsteds of fast color. Some are plain and some are in the latest fancy weaves. The price means a saving of $3 and possibly twice as much if you traded in the Boston high rent district.

We can save many dollars for every one who has a boy.

GEORGE W. JONES

1 Granite St., "Just Around the Corner" Quincy

July 20-3t--o-sw

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

Dr. Sargent's Interesting Talk At Summer School

VISITORS WELCOME

At the summer school on Friday, there were a number of visitors who seemed very much pleased with the size of the classes and were greatly surprised at the amount of work that had been accomplished in the few weeks' time.

The folk dancing and songs are now at a point, where they are very pleasing to lookers-on. Visitors are always welcome at all the classes of the school.

Dr. Walter Sargent gave an interesting talk on "Contagious Diseases" and spoke of those which most closely affect the child, such as scarlet fever, measles, chicken pox and German measles. These have many many things in common in the early symptoms. He spoke of the early symptoms of measles and scarlet fever telling where the rash and eruption first came out. He emphasized the need of isolation, gave directions for treatment during illness and for baths and treatment during convalescence. The talk was informal, logical and given in such a way that the young girls could not help but get much from it. All were certainly most attentive which indicated both interest and understanding.

Dr. Reardon spoke on "Infectious and Contagious Diseases." He mentioned among other things that Influenza was infectious and that home treatment was not enough. Asiastic Colera, a timely topic, was dealt with, and typhoid fever, tuberculosis and spinal meningitis or spotted fever.

In talking about tuberculosis, he told what the different societies were trying to do both in regard to cure and to prevention. Prevention is the slogan of the majority although of course all that is possible is done for those who have the disease. Prevention by means of getting all to live in the sunshine and fresh air as much as possible is a common thing today but people do not always do what they know is best to do. If fresh air and sunshine were expensive commodities people would buy them at exorbitant prices for use but since they are so cheap and so free to all we neglect to take advantage of them. Keep the windows open and keep out in the direct sunlight as much as possible. Young people who are growing and maturing should stimulate their circulations with plenty of good exercise, and should eat plenty of good substantial food, not pastry and such things but eggs, milk and so on. Nourish the body and make a good foundation for future life. Prepare for the future so as to be able to withstand germs and the wrong environment which you may not be able to avoid. A house with poor foundations cannot stand and so with the body. In youth, take care of the body, get strength. We can make ourselves proof against germs in this way. He cautioned the girls against cooling off too suddenly. One may be run down, and at a dance will rush out doors to cool off. A little cold will be the result, this will develop a cough and before you can realize it tuberculosis has set in. In closing his very excellent address Dr. Reardon again emphasized the point that prevention was worth so much more than cure.

Mrs. Elizabeth Alden read a most excellent paper on her trips to London. She began by speaking of the size of London and comparing the city to Paris. "Paris, she says," was clean, beautiful, full of flowers and gaiety, all seemed to be a holiday." "London, with its smoke and fog, its hard-working people and its many poor, might seem on the surface not to appeal, but as a matter of fact, London does appeal more to the American than Paris, for in London one could not help thinking that his ancestors were once there toiling as the citizens of today were toiling for their daily bread.

The church going in London appealed very strongly to the American also, and the respect of the Sabbath day. In spite of its dirt and wretchedness one knew that there was a high moral sense there, found lacking in Paris.

The distances in London are so great that even the best walkers take a hansom, cab or omnibus to get about sightseeing. Over there the public conveyances are limited to the number they can comfortably carry and when the seating capacity is reached a sign "Comple" meaning "full" is placed on the side of the vehicle. An American lady who was once asked if she had seen everything there was to see in London said that she had been everywhere but to Comple and the cabs that went there were always so full she could never get on one.

A circus, like the Picadilly circus, is a circle from which many streets radiate. It has nothing to do with the kind of thing called a circus in this country.

The Zoo one of the finest in the world and was most interesting. Camels harnessed and at work, elephants hauling logs, ostriches dragging cartloads of children and hundreds of other strange and amusing things were to be seen there.

Dickens has made London so familiar that one finds herself continually expecting to meet some of his characters in the different places described so fully in his works.

Windsor castle, the Abbey, the British Museum containing the Elgin Marbles brought from Greece, South Kensington, where there are not only paintings but fabrics from all over the world and the famous Raphael cartoons, were most interesting to

(Continued on Page Six.)

TO LET

IN QUINCY CENTER

SEVERAL DESIRABLE HOUSES
7, 8 and 10 Rooms
Every convenience and very desirable locations.
RENT $25 TO $40 according to house

APPLY TO
MISS PRESCOTT,
Ledger Office
Quincy, July L P O ff

CHAUTAUQUANS ARE BUSY

Many Meetings, Classes And Lectures Men's Meeting Today

SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR

SOUTH FRAMINGHAM, July 22.—Many meetings were held today at the 35th annual assembly of the New England Chautauqua association at Mt. Wayte. "Pain an Education" was the topic of the address of Rev. Dr. A. Morrill Osgood, superintendent of instruction, at the devotional hour in the Baptist building.

Dr. Ada Ruth Kinsman spoke on "An Attentive Boy" at the children's hour, in Normal hall, while Miss Marion J. Webster conducted the children's physical culture class in the hall of philosophy. The bird study class met in Alumni hall and the Bible study class for adults was held there later, at which Dr. Kinsman talked on "Deborah, the Woman Judge." The morning session of the health institute was held in the auditorium, with a talk by Dr. George L. Starr.

This afternoon Rev. John S. Brant, the temperance advocate and lecturer, spoke before a large audience on "Moral Battles Won and Waiting" in the auditorium. Mrs. George L. Starr gave another of her talks for women in Alumni hall, and at the round table Miss Helen Bryce spoke on "Mexico." Tonight a large audience greeted Rev. Charles C. Charlton, chaplain of the U. S. navy, who delivered an interesting lecture on "Christianity Around the World," illustrated with the stereopticon.

WELL KNOWN WOMAN BURIED

Respected Resident Laid at Rest on Saturday Afternoon

NOTABLE CAREER

The funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth S. Bean was held Saturday morning from St. John's church and was very largely attended. A solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated with Rev. John J. Coan as celebrant, Rev. Patrick J. Scannell as deacon, Rev. Neil Paul Brennan as sub deacon and Rev. John P. Cuffe of the Sacred Heart church as master of ceremonies.

On the altar in addition to these were Rev. Peter Ronan of St. Peters church Dorchester, Rev. William J. Duffy of St. Mary's church West Quincy, and Rev. Howland J. Harkins of Amesbury.

John Mahan presided at the organ and the Gregorian Mass was sung by the choir the solo parts being sung by Miss Mary Burns, Miss Margaret Gallagher and Dr. Daniel B. Reardon.

The burial was at Mt. Auburn the bearers being Edward J. Parker, Timothy J. Colins, John Harkins, Michael Barry, Charles P. Pike of Winthrop, Daniel J. Gillespie and Eugene Devlin of Boston and John H. Murphy of Neponset.

Mrs. Bean came to this country in 1854 and was on eyewitness of many exciting episodes that occurred in Boston previous to the outbreak of the civil war. She saw the attack on St. Mary's church in the North end, Boston, by the "Angel Gabriel" and his followers. She was an eyewitness of the Cooper street draft riots in Boston during the civil war. She was an intimate friend and next- door neighbor of Col. Cass of the 9th Massachusetts regiment and was at his funeral services. Mrs. Bean also enjoyed the confidence of Gov. Andrew and by him was given a pass admitting her to all islands in the harbor and on all ships where soldiers were stationed during the civil war. She was a constant visitor to those islands and ships and did much to comfort the men about to leave for the front and those who had been invalided home.

Mrs. Bean was also an intimate friend of Rev. Fr. McElroy, SJ, the builder of Boston college, Rev. Fr. Brady, SJ, the builder of the present St. Mary's church in the North End, and Rev. Fr. Bapst, SJ, who was tarred and feathered in Ellsworth, Me., during the height of the "Know Nothing" times. Mrs. Bean assisted all these priests in the enterprises undertaken by them and gave unsparingly of her time to help the efforts in building churches and institutions of learning, begun by them. As a recognition of her most successful efforts along these lines, Mrs. Bean was honored with a personal invitation from Archbishop Williams to meet Cardinal McCluskey 35 years ago. She was acquainted with Rev. Fr. Haskins of the House of the Angel Guardian when he was the pastor of a church on Moon street, Boston, and she assisted Sister Simplicia to arrange for the first fair ever held in aid of the Carney hospital, after the Sisters had been assigned there. She was an intimate friend of the late Mayor Hugh O'Brien of Boston and entertained the late John Boyle O'Reilly when he first came to Boston after his adventurous escape from the penal colony in Australia.

Mrs. Bean's husband, the late Nicholas J. Bean, was a member of Boston city council and a member of the house of representatives from the North End section of Boston in the late 60's and early 70's and she will be remembered by as many old-time residents of Boston as are now living. Mrs. Bean was the mother of six children. She gave two daughters to religion, Sister Josephine, at present stationed at St. Mary's infant asylum, Dorchester, and Sister Augustine, who died in Albany, N. Y., in 1879. Another daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth McMaster, the mother of Leo J. McMaster of this city, is also dead. The only living son is Edward L. Bean, a well-known local undertaker. Two other sons, Nicholas Joseph, Jr., and James A. Bean, died several years ago.

ANOTHER CHANGE IN NAME OF RAILWAY

Boston and Northern Will Now Be Known As Bay State Street Railway Co.

Means Little Change In Road's Operation

Another change in the name of the street railway operating in Quincy is about to be made. The name Old Colony street railway company disappeared July 1, and the street railways south of Boston were known as the Boston & Northern street railway. Now there is to be another change, and in place of the Boston & Northern will come the Bay State street railway co., This change was decided upon at a special meeting of the stockholders of the Old Colony and Boston & Northern companies Friday.

The meeting was held to complete the formal consolidation of the two companies and from sixteen names suggested that of Bay State was selected as the most feasable, as all but about forty miles of the 830 miles of trackage are in Massachusetts. To make the formal change however the approval of the Railroad Commissioners and Commissioners of Corporations must be had, but there will be no difficulty in getting that.

The officers of the corporation will remain unchanged, as the Boston & Northern and Old Colony had the same officers. There are some changes in the directorate of the new company. The Bay State Company will have as president P. F. Sullivan; vice president, Robert S. Goff; treasurer, Chas. Rockwell, and assistant treasurer, J. H. Goodspeed. The new company will have fourteen directors, each of the old companies having seven. Mr. Goodspeed retires from the board and Philip Dexter, G. L. Stone, C. E. Cotting and Charles Francis Adams, 2d, are added, the directors elected today being:

Gordon Abbott, C. F. Adams, 2d, J. S. Bartlett, C. E. Cotting, J. H. Cunningham, B. D. Darroll, Philip Dexter, R. S. Goff, F. S. Hall, John P. Morse, J. A. Parker, Percy Parker, G. L. Stone, P. F. Sullivan.

While making little change in the actual operation of the properties, today's action is important in street railway history. The Boston & North-

(Continued on Page Three.)

Lee's Inn
SQUANTUM, MASS.
Fish, Chicken, and Lobster Dinners
Also A la Carte bill
11 A. M. to 11 P. M.
Tel. 3646 M Dor.
5 cent fare (if transfer) direct to Lee's Boardwalk.
July 18-3t-eod

THE HOOSIER SPECIAL SAVES MILES OF STEPS FOR TIRED FEET

Come MONDAY
It's the LAST Day

Of the Hoosier Kitchen Cabinet Demonstration and special sale—the last opportunity to buy a Hoosier Special Cabinet.

At a Special Price on $1.00 a Week Club Plan

Join the Hoosier Club and get a Hoosier Cabinet at once, begin to enjoy it now just as hundreds of Hoosier Club members have done and are now doing. By joining a Hoosier Club by Monday you will save $2.50.

Absolutely FREE

Every housekeeper who visits this store by Monday evening will have an opportunity to win a Hoosier absolutely free. Just leave your name on a Hoosier Goupon.

Drawing at 8 o'clock Monday Evening. Come.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1495 Hancock St., Quincy. Open Monday, Friday and Saturday Evenings

HOOSIER KITCHEN CABINETS

DON'T FAIL TO READ THE GREAT SERIAL "THE DANGER TRAIL" NOW RUNNING IN THE LEDGER

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1889
THE HOME NEWSPAPER
Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.
BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
219 East 23d Street,
New York City
Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter.
Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50
Telephone, Quincy 425
Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

Dr. G. Stanley Hall wants school teachers to be more graceful. Good practice for that would be to waltz the small boys around the room by the ear more frequently.

President Taft might save embarrassment on his next German ambassador by feeding him on sauerkraut some day, and seeing if he can keep it down until he has time to get out doors.

The Humane Society wants blinders taken off horses. Let Dobbin enjoy the scenery like the poet he is, and put the blinkers on the joy rider who is merely interested in the next mud puddle.

The brokers are trying to sell Chinese railroad bonds in this country. But will the Chinks ride on railways, which would probably take them out of sight of the graves of their ancestors?

RESPECT THE KICKER.

"The kicker regulates the street car service, knocks out the high car step, allows no neglect of crosswalks unless his howl is heard," says the Norwich Bulletin. The neighborhood of best kickers have the finest streets and the brightest illumination at night in all the cities. Both greed and audacity like the patient and long suffering citizen because he whispers his grievances to himself instead of getting up and howling so that three neighborhoods are made aware of them at once.

Those who impose upon others always appear to be afraid of those who cry aloud and agitate for better conditions.

Instead of less kickers the world needs more of them. Those who cannot be controlled by love need be moved by fear. Do not think the kickers make unnecessary noises—It is the steam whistles and locomotives that do that.

If you want things different just kick for better things and you will get them. Rewards do not go to those who sit in silence and in tears. If you do not think this is so, open your weather eye and watch out.

THE MAINE.

Reports from Havana are to the effect that all the water has been pumped out from around the hull of The Maine and although still encased in many feet of mud there is every evidence of an exterior explosion.

As the uncovering advances and facts accumulate that the first tremendous explosion was an exterior one, the value of the original inquiry is the more strikingly shown.

For satisfactory reasons to themselves, and possibly on personal grounds, there are persons who will not relish the latest news from the Cuban harbor. They were content to reject the commission report, made more than a dozen years ago and prefer to stick to the theory that the warship was destroyed from inside. If there are parties whose pride of opinion will render a re-affirmation of this verdict a source of more or less embarrassment, because of positiveness in the beliefs they entertained, the exhibition will serve as a reminder of the folly of jumping at conclusions.

BATHING COSTUMES.

It is with a feeling of satisfaction that we note in the news column of the Boston papers that the Metropolitan park police are "rounding up" the crowd of disgusting young sports, who, for something better to do, parade the beach in bathing costumes, that any right minded person would call objectionable. Just as much sport may be had in the surf, if properly attired. The average person's visit to the shore is made for some other reason than to admire the curves (and angles, too) of some conceited Adonis.

RAILROAD CROSSINGS.

Pitiful indeed was the railroad crossing accident at Raceville, New York, when an automobile was struck by a train, sacrificing the lives of four women. It may have been the direct fault of the chauffeur, the engine of whose machine stalled directly on the rails. So much for human recklessness. The women, at least, were not to blame and should have been protected. It is a fact that no one will deny that travelers on the public highways should be amply protected at every railroad crossing.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

AS TO WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

Editor Quincy Ledger:—

A writer in your columns lately quoted an utterance against woman suffrage by Cardinal Gibbons. Cardinal Moran, of Australia, in his official organ, The Catholic Press of Sydney, says:

"The woman who votes only avails herself of a rightful privilege that democracy has gained for her. No longer a mere household chattel, she is recognized as man's fellow worker and helpmate, and credited with public spirit and intelligence. As a mother, she has a special interest in the legislation of her country, for upon it depends the welfare of her children. She should deem it one of the grandest privileges of her sex that she can now help to choose the men who will make the laws under which her children must live, and exert her purer influence upon the political atmosphere of her time. How can she sacrifice any dignity by putting on her bonnet and walking down to the polling booth? Women think nothing of transacting ordinary commercial business, of working alongside men, of playing their part in the practical business of life. They do not mind going to the box office of a theatre to purchase tickets for the play. There is very little difference between doing that and putting their vote in a ballot box. The men about the booths show them every courtesy, the officials are anxious to make things easy for them, and the whole business of voting does not occupy more than five minutes. The woman who thinks she is making herself unwomanly by voting is a silly creature."

Of the two cardinals, which is the more likely to be a good judge of this question, Cardinal Gibbons, who has never had a chance to see woman suffrage in practice, or Cardinal Moran, who has seen women voting for years?

The same writer in your columns refers to the fact that the students at Radcliffe College are not allowed to have a Woman Suffrage League. There is a flourishing Woman Suffrage League at Bryn Mawr College, and similar organizations exist in more than a score of other colleges and universities. A Men's League for Woman Suffrage has lately been formed among the Harvard students, without objection from the faculty, and in the recent great suffrage procession in London, the Cambridge University Men's League for Woman Suffrage was one among several organizations of men that took part in the march. It is not easy to see why less liberty of thought and discussion should be allowed to Radcliffe students than to Harvard students. In view of the greater freedom permitted at many other colleges, including those of the highest standing, the ultra-conservative action of the authorities at Radcliffe should cause more concern to the friends of that college than to the friends of equal suffrage.

Alice Stone Blackwell.

Chilmark, Mass.

OTHER EDITORS ARE SAYING

It is not too much to apply the epithet of wonder to the Chinese postal system. There was, indeed, something extraordinary in the fact that down to fifteen years ago it had no existence. That in so short a time a comprehensive, accurate, expeditious, and remarkably cheap system of posts should be developed throughout the immense domain is nothing less than marvelous.—New York Tribune.

The Government's statisticians say that Americans are drinking less champagne than formerly. Most of the fizz-money probably has gone into buzz wagons.—Chicago Post.

The United States press has teemed with editorial expressions of sympathy for Mrs. Napolitano, yet if the woman were set free tomorrow and attempted to enter the country whose newspapers have thus overflowed with feeling for her, she would be turned back at the border.—Toronto Mail.

Dr. Johnson said "There are few ways in which a man can be more innocently employed than in getting money." If the good man had once ridden in a New York subway during rush hours he would have rewritten his dictum.—Boston Herald.

According to the Chicago Post the great objections to being a Prince of Wales are that one has to make an address in Welsh and wear a ring on his middle finger. They are sufficient.—Buffalo Times.

Philadelphia has solved the near-side stop problem by having passengers enter and alight from the front door only. That is progress, but when the company adds to it a cosey corner on what was formerly the rear platform, that is applied religion.—Baltimore Sun.

Civic beauty and civic good are synonyms for Jacksonville. * * Jacksonville's rattling progress is made at home, if you'll notice.—Florida Times-Union.

The Illinois clockmaker who offers to present alarm clocks to church members to be used in waking them in time for the services, thereby preventing any necessity of ringing the church bells, apparently prefers to sleep Sunday mornings, rather than go to church himself.—Boston Globe.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

WOMAN'S WAY—"By throwing herself at Percy, Lulu has finally succeeded in getting Arthur to propose."

"That's the way with a woman. She never hits what she throws at."

HIS HOPE—"Do you think we shall know each other in heaven?"

"Gee, I hope not. I owe nearly everybody in this town."

AGED—Tommy—"Pop, does liquor improve with age?"

Tommy's Pop—"Yes, my son, but the trouble is the average man won't let it."—Philadelphia Record.

RENTAL—Friend—What about the rent of a place like this? I suppose the landlord asks a lot for it?

Hardup—Yes, rather. He's always asking for it.—London Opinion.

Journalistic — She — "And you are a strict vegetarian?

He—Oh, yes.

"What made you a vegetarian?"

"Oh, I've been running a country newspaper for 25 years."—Yonkers Statesman.

FORECAST—"Jennie had her fortune told yesterday, but she doesn't believe a word of it."

"Why not?"

"Because the fortune teller didn't say that she is going to marry a rich man."—Detroit Free Press.

CANINE—Lady (to tramp who had been commissioned to find lost poodle)—"The poor little darling, where did you find him?"

Tramp—"Oh, a man 'ad 'im, miss, tied to a pole, and was cleaning the windows with 'im."—London M. A. P.

PROFESSIONAL—The Professor—"I went to the lost property office today and got that umbrella I left on the train last week."

"That's good. Where is it now?"

"Eh? By Jove? I—really, my dear, I'm afraid I—er—left it on the train."—Life.

MAD SUSPICIONS—"Very suspicious man, they say."

"Very. Bought a dictionary last week and now he's counting the words to see if it contains as many as the publishers claim."—London Answers.

ONE REASON—"Was that student carouse a mad one?"

"I suppose so. All the beer glasses were foaming at the mouth"—Baltimore American.

FICTION—"There's an English novelist at the next table. He's looking for pointers on American manners and customs, I understand."

"In that case, I suppose he'll be disappointed if we don't eat with our knives."—Kansas City Journal.

SHOOTS TO KILL MOTHER OF CHUM

Murderer Is Arrested By the Somerville Authorities. The Victim's Statement

He Attempted To Chloroform the Woman Before Shooting

Somerville, Mas., July 22.—Mrs. Frances E. Wilkinson, 49, was shot in the back twice in her home, 437 Somerville avenue, yesterday afternoon by Frank F. Blaskoveck, 20, and died last night at the Somerville hospital.

Blaskoveck was arrested on Bow street while on his way to the police station.

In his confession to Chief of Police Kendall he says that he shot the woman because she had inoculated him with tubercular germs, given him to drink with some syrup during a fainting spell he had at her house last October.

Four shots were fired. Two wounded the woman, the other two bullets are missing.

Before shooting Mrs. Wilkinson, the prisoner attempted to chloroform her. He saturated his handkerchief with chloroform and threw it on the woman's face. Mrs. Wilkinson screamed and ran.

Blaskoveck followed her and kept up a continual fire at the woman until she dropped in the entry way. He then retraced his steps, went out of the rear door by which he had entered, jumped the fence and ran up School street.

From Somerville Junction he went to Boston, where he disposed of the revolver.

There were no eye witnesses to the shooting. The only person who saw him when he entered the house was Mrs. Ellen Conway.

Mrs. Wilkinson's niece, looking down the stairs, saw her aunt lying on the floor, and became so terrified that she jumped from the window to the ground, but fortunately escaped without the slightest injury.

Blaskoveck admitted to Chief Kendall that he went to the home of Mrs. Wilkinson for the purpose of killing her, and the police have located two drug stores where, within a few days, he has purchased chloroform, in one place only yesterday morning.

On the way to the hospital Mrs. Wilkinson told Patrolman Hopkins that it was "Skovie" that shot her. This is a nickname that the prisoner was known by. She also made this statement in her dying declaration to Chief Kendall and also to her husband, William Wilkinson.

Blaskoveck will be arraigned in the Somerville police court on a charge of murder.

SUMMER COSTUMES FOR MEN.

For years there has been unrest among the masculine half of creation, over the hot clothes convention compels them to wear during all through a torrid summer.

This spirit of revolt is augmented by gazing on the cool draperies of women, who are permitted by modern custom to interpose merely a cobweb between their shoulders and the cooling breeze.

Meanwhile, the men must wear at least three thicknesses of clothing over the upper portion of their bodies. The top thickness is of a somewhat firm cloth, usually lined, a constant dragging weight.

Some years ago, a determined stand was taken in behalf of the "shirt waist" costume. This came to nought through the slovenliness of a large section of men, who appeared in places of polite resort with greasy suspenders and soiled shirts. It became impossible for the managers of hotels and other public places to draw the line between the clean man and the dirty man, so that both fell alike under the ban.

Meanwhile, a certain proportion of independent men, mostly elderly, wear comfortable linen and alpaca coats at work and on the streets. So after all comfort is within our reach, if we are not prohibited from grasping it by our own vanity.

MILTON TUB WON.

The Milton hand tub, which was supposed to have tied with the Granite of Quincy at the Atlantic muster on the Fourth of July, has been awarded the first prize by the judge. It was found that Milton was the winner and that the difference in the two streams was 4 1-2 inches. The tub will enter the muster to be held in Weymouth on July 29.

THRIFT AMONG SCHOOL CHILDREN

Act To Authorize Savings Banks To Receive Deposits

CO-OPERATION ASKED

Last year the legislature passed an act, entitled "An act to provide compulsory instruction in thrift in the public schools." This year the legislature has passed "An act to authorize savings banks to receive deposits from school children." It is not the purpose of this act to open banks in the schools, but to encourage thrift among the pupils by having them save their pennies, which are collected by the teacher or some representative of the savings bank, and deposited in the local savings bank.

The full act is as follows:

"In order to encourage saving among the children in the schools of this commonwealth, any savings bank may, with the written consent of and under regulations approved by the commissioner and, in the case of public schools, by the commissioner and the school committee in the city or town in which the school is situated, arranged for the collection of savings from the school children by the principal or teachers of such schools or by collectors. All moneys so collected shall be entered on an individual deposit card furnished by the savings bank, but the total collections received by the savings bank from any one principal or teacher may be entered in the name of such principal or teacher as trustee. When, however, the amount deposited by any one pupil and credited on the deposit card equals the minimum amount upon which interest is allowed, the savings bank shall issue a pass book to such pupil and thereafter, when the amount deposited by the pupil and credited on the deposit card equals the sum of one dollar, it shall be transferred to the deposit book by the savings bank. The principal, teacher, or person authorized by the savings bank to make collections from the school children shall be deemed to be the agent of the savings bank, and the savings bank shall be liable to the pupil for all deposits made with such principal, teacher or other person and entered upon the deposit card, the same as if the deposit were made by the pupil directly with the savings bank." In a circular letter which has been sent to members of the School Committees throughout the Commonwealth, Arthur B. Chapin, Bank Commissioner, says:

It is hoped that the Committee will encourage this effort to cultivate thrift among the children by having the Superintendent of Schools or some member of the Committee take active charge of the installation in the schools and arrange to have each principal interest the teachers therein. The teachers will find it does not entail great additional work after the system is in operation, not taking more than ten or fifteen minutes per week.

ARRESTS HIS OWN WIFE

Woman Charged With Habitual Drunkenness Creates Scene In Public

New York, July 22.—On a charge that his wife was an habitual drunkard, Police Lieutenant William H. Nedwell obtained a warrant for her arrest, and proceeded to his home. Mrs. Nedwell put up a terrific fight.

Mrs. Nedwell pleaded guilty and was sentenced to six months in the home of the good shepard. Her husband took her back into his car seemingly subdued, but as soon as the machine was started she took off her hat, shoes and some other clothes and flung them into the street. Then she grasped her husband by the arms and caused him to run the car into a horse and wagon.

OUR USEFULNESS IN QUINCY

This bank is a public utility, just as the street railway and lighting systems are public utilities. We are here to accommodate the business men of Quincy and to make doing business easy for them. Our policy will be found as broad as sound banking principles will allow.

CONSULTATION INVITED

NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

ROOSTER COAL BRIQUETS

THE NEW ANTHRACITE COAL

ROOSTER BRIQUETS are made from the choicest small Scranton Anthracite coal, mined in Pennsylvania, called TWENTIETH CENTURY CHESTNUT size.

Just consider for a moment what we offer here in this 20th CENTURY CHESTNUT.

First, 200 pounds of clean, pure, hard coal without a rock or a piece of slate.

Second, fuel that cannot form into a clinker, by any known method of firing, consequently the linings and grates last indefinitely.

Third, they are made in nut size, being equally convenient for furnace heaters, open grates, as well as stoves; therefore, only one storage bin is necessary.

Fourth, and very IMPORTANT, the quality of this fuel is the SAME EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR, not a good ton today, and nothing like it the next time, in other words, when you once learn how to regulate your drafts you have nothing more to learn about burning BRIQUETS.

Fifth, no more sifting ashes these Briquets burn out clean. They require less wood to kindle.

Be sure to ask for "ROOSTERS" and get the Briquet made from pure Scranton Coal, from the largest Briquet plant in the country. They are better than coal, will last as long and cost less.

J. F. SHEPPARD & SONS, AGENTS

A WELL COOKED DINNER

If you have a good cook is assured when you use a gas stove or gas range. The heat is steady and uniform, which is not the case with a wood or coal stove, and you can raise or lower the flame as you please—which of course, is impossible on any other kind of cook-stove. To make a fire, you simply turn on the gas and apply a match. To put it out, turn off the gas.

COOK WITH GAS

CITIZENS' GAS LIGHT CO.

11 Granite St., Quincy

The Cancer Plague

London, July 22.—A meeting of the Imperial cancer research fund committee disclosed the fact that but small progress has been made in the experimental laboratory in combating the scourge.

The Weather

Almanac, Sunday, July 23.
Sun rises—4:45; sets—7:20.
Moon rises—2:42 a. m.
High water—8:45 a. m.; 9:15 p. m.
Forecast for New England: Probably fair; moderate south and southwest winds.

PATENTS

TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 26 years experience. Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune. READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.

D. SWIFT & CO.
PATENT LAWYERS,
303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

The Social Realm

Friends of Mrs. Alfred Bean will be glad to learn that she has returned to her home after a serious operation at the Charlesgate hospital, Boston.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert A. Deans of New York City spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. George Deans of Appleton street.

• • •

Archie Briggs, Roger Allen, Frank Fulton, Elsmere Smith and Herbert Atkins returned Saturday from a week's camping with the Hyde Park choir boys at Camp William Lawrence on the Annisquam river, West Gloucester. They had a delightful time bathing, boating and fishing. One of the best trips while at camp was a motor boat ride through Annisquam river, around Cape Ann, down the coast to Gloucester and back to camp by the Gloucester entrance of the Annisquam. There were forty-eight men and boys in camp. The boys had an athletic meet and played a number of games of base ball.

• • •

Alfred W. Vaughn and Eva C. Lemon were married on Saturday by Rev. W. J. Sayre of Union church, Houghs Neck.

• • •

Carleton Stocker and George R. Bennett are spending their vacation of two weeks at Locke's Mills, Maine.

• • •

Mrs. Joseph L. Whiton, Jr., and children of Whitney road are in New Hampshire for the rest of the summer.

• • •

Capt. J. W. Remmonds of Boston is making a brief visit to his daughter Mrs. H. E. Davidson at the Engleside, Bay View, North Weymouth.

• • •

Misses Eva and May Clare are at Lake Sunapee, N. H., for two weeks.

• • •

W. A. Brandeau of New York has joined his wife for two weeks at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Francis P. Loud, Washington street, where she is spending the summer.

• • •

J. A. Sparrow of Wollaston has gone to Mt. Clemens, Michigan, for a few weeks' stay.

• • •

Dr. and Mrs. N. S. Hunting gave up their plan of going to the Pacific coast this summer and in place of it are to tour England sailing last week. They will be away only a few weeks.

• • •

Miss Violet Deans of Madison street returned this week from a seven weeks' vacation at Woodsville, N. H., but return today for a camping tour through New Hampshire.

• • •

Misses Etta and Annie Prescott of Spear street have been in East Gloucester for a few days this week stopping at The Rockaway. Miss Annie Prescott plans to go down again in August for a longer stay.

• • •

Miss Eva Mildred Frazier of South Walnut street has gone to Providence, R. I., to spend a two weeks' vacation.

• • •

Miss Bessie Drew has returned from Hampton, Virginia to spend the remainder of the summer with her parents on Walker street.

• • •

Miss Doris Elizabeth Frazier of 128 South Walnut street is at Waltham for two weeks.

• • •

Dr. E. R. Johnson's family of Newport avenue are at their summer home, Camp Holly on Great pond, South Weymouth, for the rest of the summer.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Talbot and Miss Jane Foretier start on a trip abroad the first of next week.

• • •

Mrs. Lucius A. Bassett of Walker street is spending a few days with her daughter, Mrs. Charles Hendrie of Wollaston.

Mr. and Mrs. John Foley of Whitwell street are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a daughter born July 18th.

• • •

Miss Vera Leonard of Oregon terrace left Monday night for New York. She expects to visit western New York, Niagara Falls, Canga lake, Lake Ontario and the Adirondacks and be away until September.

• • •

Mr. Franklin A. Howe announces the engagement of his daughter Marion L to George K. Newbury of Harrisburg, Pa.

• • •

Miss Anna Ryden of Ryden street has returned from an enjoyable two weeks' trip to Bath, Maine.

• • •

Alfred Millikin spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. George Deans of Appleton street.

• • •

Leslie Arthur and Allyne Litchfield, Q. H. S. '11 return Friday from a three weeks' camping trip at Lake Cobbosseentee, Maine.

• • •

Mrs. Emma Kelley celebrated her 72d birthday anniversary on Monday at the home of her daughter Mrs. B. F. Hodgkinson at Germantown. All her children, grandchildren and her great grandchild Helene Hodgkinson daughter of B. F. Hodgkinson, Jr., were present. It was a happy occasion and one long to be remembered.

• • •

Clifford Taylor of Elm street has gone to Home farm, Sunapee, New Hampshire, for a ten days' stay.

• • •

Edgar E. Willey and David Perkins perchasing agent of the George E. Keith Co., of Brockton, are spending two weeks at Mr. Willey's new camp at Lake Cobbosseecontee, Maine. Mrs. Willey will remain at their summer home at Sea View, with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Burditt who have recently returned from Olean, N. Y.

• • •

Miss Margaret C. Gill, is enjoying her vacation at Assowompset lake, with her sister Mrs. M. V. Maloney of West Somerville.

• • •

Mrs. William G. Gassett with two children and maid has come from Mt. Vernon, New York, to spend the remainder of the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Hall of Newbury avenue.

• • •

Harold and Waldo Fraser of East Braintree are enjoying a visit with relatives at Cole beach, Hoxsie, R. I.

• • •

Bernard L. Bristol, second son of Rev. Frank Bristol, formerly pastor of Memorial church, was married at four o'clock Wednesday at the Riverside Congregational church to Miss Ethel Kingsford of Riverside, Rhode Island.

• • •

Miss Kathrine Billings of Glover avenue is spending her vacation with relatives in California. She had a most enjoyable trip across the continent.

• • •

Mrs. Chase Pope of Billings street has returned from a visit to Mrs. Frank Gurney of Brockton.

• • •

Miss Sarah Tuttle of Apthorpe street, Norfolk Downs, has returned from a two weeks' cisit in Southboro and has gone for a short stay in Brookline.

• • •

Lawrence Pope returns today from a two weeks' visit at Rangely Lakes, Maine. He has been a guest at the cabin of Robert Kent of Monclair, New Jersey.

• • •

Mrs. J. Montgomery of Hancock street is visiting her daughter Mrs. William A. Gromm in Bath, Maine, for a few weeks.

• • •

Mrs. Everett M. Pope spent the week end with friends in Somerville.

• • •

Miss Cordelia Carlisle of Bangor, Maine, is visiting Mrs. Elmer E. Gray of Newton street.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark L. Read, Jr., of Woodward avenue have gone to Camp Wyanoke, Winnepesaukee, for a few days' visit.

• • •

Miss Dora Browning of Brookline has been the guest of Miss Pearl Keay of Faxon road for a few days.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. Manley T. Perry of Upland road returned from Rockland, Maine, Thursday after a week's vacation.

• • •

Misses Olive and Gertrude Allen of Presidents hill started this morning for a week's camping trip in Auburn, N. H.

• • •

The Misses Burt of Billings street, have returned after a pleasant sojourn of five weeks in Newton, New Hampshire.

• • •

The many friends of Mrs. May Flowers of Newcomb place are sorry to hear she is in the Quincy hospital suffering with rheumatic fever.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick V. Kolb are staying with Mr. Kolb's mother on Clive street, until the completion of their new home in East Braintree.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice P. Spillane of Elm street go to West Harwich today to be guests of the W. H. Dobles at their summer home. Mr. Spillane will be a guest over the week end and Mrs. Spillane for a week.

• • •

Miss Esther U. Sidelinger of Presidents hill returned today from a few days' visit with Mrs. W. E. Blanchard in Sherborn.

• • •

The Misses Sheridan of Newark, New Jersey, formerly of Atlantic have been visiting their brother David Sheridan of Botolph street.

• • •

Mrs. Luther Glover and son Wellington of Elm street are spending the week end with the Paul R. Blackmurs at their cottage in East Dennis, the Cape.

• • •

Mrs. Everett M. Pope spent the week end with friends in Somerville.

• • •

John F. Wentworth of Miller Stile road left today for his home in Rochester, N. H., to attend to some business matters. He will be present at the dedication of the new Masonic Temple in that city and at the celebration of the 100th anniversary of the organization of Humane lodge No. 21 A. F. and A. M. This is Mr. Wentworth's home lodge and his uncle Micajah Wentworth age 93 a former resident of Quincy, is the oldest living member of the lodge. Mr. Wentworth will have with him as guests Albert M. Parker, Master of Rural lodge and Henry Miller of Adams shore.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. Walter P. Pinel announce the quiet marriage of their daughter Eleanor A. Pinel to Alexander C. Smith which took place in Boston Tuesday evening, July eighteenth.

• • •

Miss Marion White of North Weymouth is the guest this week of Waltham friends.

(Continued on Page Six.)

ANOTHER CHANGE IN NAME OF RAILWAY

(Continued from Page One.)

ern is the outgrowth of the Lynn & Boston Street Railway, formed in 1859, taking the name of Boston & Northern in 1901.

The name Old Colony was adopted for the lines south of Boston in 1901, being the successor to the Brockton street railway. Originally, there were half a dozen different companies operating south of Boston, between that city and Fall River and New Bedford, that in Quincy being known as the Quincy & Boston street railway, which was the successor of the Quincy street railway company formed in the late eighties. In this connection it is interesting to note that the Quincy & Boston street railway was the first to be operated by electricity.

Then came the consolidation with the Brockton street railway company under the name of the Brockton street railway company. Then came the Old Colony and the Boston & Northern and now the Bay State, all of which lines are owned by the Massachusetts Electric Companies.

SUNDAY SERVICES

SIXTH SUNDAY AFTER TRINITY

Church services inserted in this paper without charge, but none will be accepted to run until further order. A notice should be sent each week though it is but a renewal. Give subject and special services when possible. Let all churches be represented.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST—Quincy, Alpha Hall, cor. Hancock street and Cottage ave. Morning service and Sunday school at 10.45. Subject, "Truth" Golden Text; "If I say the truth, why do ye not believe me? He that is of God heareth God's words." John 8: 46,47. Wednesday 7.45 P. M. a testimony and experience meeting. Reading rooms open from 3 to 5 P. M., weekdays, Holidays excepted. All are welcome.

CHRIST CHURCH, EPISCOPAL—Quincy, corner Elm street and Quincy avenue. Rev. Richard E. Armstrong, rector. Holy Communion at 8.00 A. M. 10.30 Morning Prayer and Sermon. The Evening service is discontinued until September. Tuesday July 25, St. James' Day Holy Communion 10.00 A. M.

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH, Franklin —street—Rev. R. J. Davis, pastor, residence 206 Franklin street. Preaching service at 10.30 A. M. Subject, "The Effect Of God's Wonderful Love." Sunday school at 11.45 A. M. "Davis" Class for Men at the same hour. All men are invited. Y. P. S. C. E. at 6 P. M. Praise and preaching service at 7.00 P. M. Theme: "How Have You Crowned Him?" These services are open to all. Seats free. Good singing. A cordial invitation is extended to you to meet with us. "Come thou with us and we will do thee good."

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH — Corner Quincy and Water streets. Rev. James A. Matheson, minister. Morning worship at 10.30 Bible School and Men's Bible Class at 11.45. C. E. service at 6.15. Evening worship and praise at 7.00. Prayer and praise service Thursday at 7.30. C. E. business meeting after the service on Thursday.

FIRST UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH—Fort Square. Rev. A. M. Thompson, pastor. Residence 182 Glendale road Quincy. Morning service at 10.30. Topic: "The Moral Law." Its origin, nature, authority, and purpose. Sabbath school and Men's League at 11.45. Y. P. S. C. E. at 6.30. Topic; "Lessons from the animals." Psalms 10-31. Evening service at 7.30. The Morning Service will be discontinued during the month of August. The evening service will be conducted as usual at 7.30 o'clock. Seats free. All welcome.

HALL PLACE M. E. CHURCH—West Quincy Rev. T. C. Martin, pastor. Residence, 12 Hall place. Morning worship at 10.30 A. M. Sunday school at 11.45 M. Evening Praise and Gospel service at 7 o'clock. Prayer meeting Friday at 7.30 P.M.

PEOPLE'S UNION CHURCH—Bay View avenue Houghs Neck. Rev. W. J. Sayre, pastor. Morning worship 10.45. Subject, "The Faultless Christ." Sunday school 12 M. Y. P. S. C. E. 6.45 P. M. Evening worship 7.30. A song service will take the place of the regular evening service. Bible Study every Thursday evening at 8.

ST. CHRYSOSTOM'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH—Hancock street, Wollaston—Rev. Frederick H. Steenstra, rector, residence, the rectory, 523 Hancock street. Holy Communion at 8 A. M. Morning Prayer and sermon at 10.30.

WOLLASTON M. E. CHURCH—Corner Beale and Safford streets. Rev. Wesley Wiggin, pastor. Residence 52 Brook street, Telephone Quincy 378-2. Morning worship and sermon by Rev. H. E. Dorr at 10.45. "One Hour Sunday School" at 12 M. Epworth League at 7 P. M. Leader, the Pastor. Special music.

MEMORIAL CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH—Atlantic. Rev. Thomas W. Davison, pastor. Morning service at 10.45. Rev. Edward Norton of Quincy will preach in exchange with the pastor. Music by Male quartet. Sunday School at 12 M.

ATLANTIC M. E. Church—Rev. Harvey Emmonds Dorr, pastor. 10.45 morning service preaching by Rev. Wesley Wiggin of Wollaston M. E. church. Sunday school 12 M. Evening service for boys and girls. Every one invited.

Makaria Fraternity

SUNDAY 12 TO 1—SHARP

Bethany Church, City Square

If YOU are a young man, and not associated with any other Quincy church, YOU are most cordially invited to come to our meeting.

A warm welcome—Hearty singing—A helpful hour together.

BLUE HILL BAND CONCERT.

Another of the enjoyable state concerts is to be given in the Blue Hill reservation on Sunday from 4 to 6 P. M., by Post 68 G.A.R., band, Harry Bettoney, director, with the following program:

March—"A Frangesa," P. M. Costa
Overture—Jeanne Maillotte, Reynaud
Euphonium Solo—selected
Frank L. Warren
Medley—All Alone (Medley Overture)
Harry Van Tilzer
Concert Waltz—Chocolate Soldier
Straus
Selection—Carmen G. Bizet
Descriptive—Jolly Blacksmiths
Suckley
Popular Songs—a Summer Days
Painta Dosi
b Swing me high swing me low Hollaender
c Chicken Reel Joe Daley
Galop—La Chasse au Lion
Koelling
March—Front Section E. E. Bagley

SMALL FARM WANTED

We have a customer who wants to locate in or about South Braintree. If your property is for sale there will be no charge for listing, no expense to you unless we make a sale. For quick sale write, giving discription, location and price of property, and we will bring customer. Frank W. Rand 27 State street, Boston, Room 41. Tel. Fort Hill 3694. July 21-2t Olw

PATCH'S

Special Range Coal

IGNITES QUICKLY

If it were stony or of bad quality it wouldn't.

It is the most reliable coal imaginable, helps the cook when she's in a hurry and shows up best when needed most.

Besides it burns up so thoroughly as to leave the smallest quantity of ash.

Buy it and try it and see why so many will burn no other.

One ton should prove it.

C. PATCH & SON, Inc.

Office, 1422 Hancock Street, Quincy

FREE EMPLOYMENT BUREAU.

The State Free Employment Office, at 8 Kneeland street, Boston, which is maintained by the Commonwealth, (service free to all) sends to the clerk of each municipality within the fivecent fare zone of the office a daily bulletin, showing opportunities open at 9 A. M. at that office. It is sent out the evening before for posting the following morning, and, as required by law, is posted promptly in a conspicuous place by the clerk of the municipality receiving it.

Its facilities for supplying high grade male and female help are unsurpassed. Building, mechanical, and technical trades; engineers; agricultural, factory, hotel, mercantile, professional, restaurant, domestic and transportation help; stenographers, bookkeepers; laborers—light or heavy work.

Employers may make application to the office by mail, telephone, or in person, giving full name of individual, or firm, and if a corporation, the title; to whom, when, and where, the help wanted should apply, giving adequate information as to the nature of the employment offered, wages, hours of labor, etc. Better results can usually be obtained by calling at the office and talking personally with applicants for employment, with whom an interview may be arranged, provided reasonable notice is given. Telephone Oxford 2960. Farm hands, hotel and restaurant help, and laborers can be more readily secured by calling at the office from 9 A. M. to 10 A. M. on appointment. Housework girls can be more readily secured by calling at the office between 2 and 3 P. M., excepting Saturdays.

Persons seeking employment in skilled occupations may send for application blank, enclosing stamp for reply, stating definitely the kind of employment preferred. All others can be best served by calling at the office. The office reserves the right to give preference to applicants experienced in the opportunity open, and who can furnish written references as to experience and habits. Telephone injuries concerning opportunities advertised cannot be answered.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

Sealed bids for Plumbing, Wiring, etc., Heating and Ventilation of a building for a District Court, Quincy, Norfolk County, Massachusetts, will be received by the County Commissioners at their office at the Court House, Dedham, Norfolk County, Massachusetts, until 12 o'clock A. M. Tuesday, August 1st, 1911. Plans and Specifications may be seen at the office of William Chapman, 15 Ashburton Place, on and after Tuesday July 18th, or can be obtained at Spaulding Print Paper Co., 44 Federal Street, Boston.

The Commissioners reserve the right to reject any and all bids.

JOHN F. MERRILL,
EVAN F. RICHARDSON,
SILAS A. STONE,
Norfolk County Commissioners.
July 18-3t eod

R. E. FOY & CO.

Quality Foods at Eatable Prices

That the people of Quincy appreciate our Saturday Suggestions is evidenced by the large increase of business each succeeding Saturday. While we realize that the exceptionally low prices we have been quoting has had considerable to do with this steady increase, still there are other features that the public demands, that is QUALITY and SATISFACTION.

That, you'll always find at this Big Food Mart.

Best Service---Fairest Prices

QUALITY STORE

CONDENSED MILK		CANNED GOODS
Eagle	can 15c	Japanese Crab Meat	25c
Rose	can 11c	R & R Chicken	30c
Tip Top	can 11c	Underwood's Dev. Ham	15c
Hire's	can 10c	Veribest Ham Flavor	5c
		Campbell's Pork & Beans	10c
EVAPORATED MILK		CRACKERS
Borden's Peerless large size	3 cans 25c	Kennedy's Grahams,	lb 10c
Small size	can 5c	Kennedy's Royal Toast	10c
Van Camp's large size	10c	Triscuit	pkg 10c
small size	5c	Shredded Wheat	pkg 12c
SOUPS		MISCELLANEOUS
Campbell's	can 9c	Snider's Catsup	bot 15c
Heinz Tomato	can 25c	Peanut Butter	lb 18c
Franco-American	33-35c	Jello,	3 pkgs 25c
		Lipton's Jelly Tablets	3 pkgs 25c

The Best Meats—The Freshest Vegetables always on hand.

R. E. FOY & CO.

Water cor. Quincy Street

July 21-2t

Phones 117 and 153

QUALITY STORE

BAREFOOT SANDALS

The best thing for the children to wear during the warm weather. They are light and comfortable and give good satisfaction.

CHILDS 5 to 8 45c
MISSES 8 to 11 50c

HEFFERNAN'S SHOE STORE

1375 Hancock Street, Quincy

M. T. SULLIVAN

Real Estate Insurance
Auctioneer Care of Property

Justice of the Peace
Corner School and Hancock Streets
QUINCY.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.
FIRE INSURANCE.

The Best Insurance. The Lowest Rates
Insurance Department,
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Telephone, Quincy 97-8.

JAMES F. BURKE
Real Estate and Insurance

AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES
Justice of the Peace Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Tel. 385-3 Jan. 17-tf

PATTERSON, "The Florist"
92 South Central Ave.
WOLLASTON, MASS.
Telephone 392 Quincy

UPHOLSTERING

My only ambition is to get the work and to show the people of Quincy Town that nobody can beat me with my good work. Low prices on all kinds of furniture, repairing, mat tresses, and cushions. Can give references. M. Mirkin 67 Washington street, next to Y.M.C.A. Quincy. Tel. 1112W. April 10-4mo.

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner

Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock treet, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point
Mass? Tel. Quincy. 1153 M Nov. 3-tf

STORAGE
—FOR—
Furniture and Pianos
Storage Warehouse with Separate Rooms
Furniture and Piano Movers
HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy Tel. Con.

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER and GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

Quincy Savings Bank

BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.
SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.
CLARENCE BURGIN,
Treasurer.

A. M. DEANE & CO.
MONUMENTS
MEMORIALS ERECTED
IN ANY
CEMETERY
IN THE
UNITED STATES
Aug. 1.-1y

HOUSEKEEPERS
TELL YOUR TROUBLES
HOLMES & HALL

We make a business of repairing the things about the house that get out of order such as DOORS, LOCKS, SHADES, BELLS and FURNITURE.
96 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 974 L

PATENTS
PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES.
Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent.
Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively.
Write or come to our
710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office,
WASHINGTON, D. C.
CA·SNOW & Co.

Quincy Daily Ledger

HIGH TIDE FOR WEEK.

Monday, July 17,	3.00	3.30
Tuesday,	4.00	4.30
Wednesday,	4.45	5.15
Thursday,	5.45	6.15
Friday,	6.45	7.15
Saturday,	7.45	8.15
Sunday,	8.45	9.15

1911 JULY 1911

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
						1
2	3	4	5	6	7	8
9	10	11	12	13	14	15
16	17	18	19	20	21	22
23	24	25	26	27	28	29
30	31

BRIEFS

Rev. Wesley Wiggin, pastor of the Wollaston M. E. church and Rev. Harvey Emonds Dorr pastor of Atlantic M. E. church will exchange pulpits on Sunday.

The regular morning service at the Atlantic M. E. church at 10.45 will be conducted by Rev. Wesley Wiggin of the Wollaston M. E. church. Sunday school at 12 M. The evening service will be a Boys' and Girls' service. There is to be boys' choir and the Pastor Rev. H. E. Dorr will tell a parable story of the "Beautiful Southern Isle."

Rev. Daniel Monroe Wilson was in town Thursday to officiate at the funeral of Lydia W., widow of John Hall, the services being held at the home of her daughter Mrs. James L. Edwards.

Mrs. Charles Hendrie is convalescing at her home on Marlboro street, having had an operation for appendicitis at the Quincy Hospital.

The annual banquet of the Norfolk South Medical Society was held Thursday at the Atlantic house Nantasket. The association entertained members of the Plymouth County Medical Society during the day.

There have been two lawn parties in aid of the L. B. S., one given on the lawn of Mrs. Alfred Jelinek which took the form of a basket lunch and the other in the open lot on Billings street which was well patronized by the young people.

Miss Mary C. Geary of Federal avenue left Friday for Detroit, Michigan to attend the funeral of her aunt Miss Anna M. Cronin who died suddenly Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Frank Bowman, who recently fractured her kneecap, is improving slowly at the Homeopathic hospital.

ABATING IN NEW YORK

Cholera Situation Gives Encouragement to Physicians

New York, July 22.—Federal and state physicians guarding the country from a threatened invasion of cholera, were encouraged by the fact that no cases of the disease have been found among the latest arrivals from Italy.

Dr. Doty denied charges made at the investigation of his administration by the state authorities, that he had failed to report cases of cholera when they first appeared here.

SAVED HER MAID

Brave Act of Miss Armstrong In Rescue From Drowning at Beach

Fairfield, Conn., July 22.—Miss Dephine Armstrong, daughter of C. D. Armstrong of New York, rescued her negro maid, Miss Louise Bunce, from drowning at the beach here.

The maid was bathing about 150 feet from the shore and in response to her call for assistance Miss Armstrong swam out, caught her as she was sinking and supported her to the shore.

Delegate to Alcoholism Congress

New York, July 22.—Among those appointed by President Taft as delegates to the international congress on alcoholism at The Hague, Sept. 11 to 16, is Mrs. Lillian M. M. Stevens of Boston, president of the National Women's Christian Temperance union.

Governor Signs L Bill

Boston, July 22.—The Boston Elevated and West End lease omnibus bill, to authorize consolidation of the properties and franchises of the Boston Elevated Street Railway company and the West End Street Railway company has been signed by Governor Foss.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, Lucas County, ss.
Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure. FRANK J. CHENEY.
Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.
A. W. GLEASON,
(Seal) Notary Public.
Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.
F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by all Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

ARMED VESSELS SURROUND PORT

American Interests to Be Safeguarded In Hayti

PRESIDENT SIMON IS VERY ILL

This Is Said to Increase the Gravity of the Situation—Revolutionists Are In Control—Government Officials Seeking Refuge In German and French Consulates—Cruisers Being Rushed to Scene

Washingotn, July 22.—In the light of official information that the Hayten government contemplates bombarding the unfortified towns of St. Marc and Gonaives, now occupied by rebels, the United States in all probability will cable a strong protest to President Simon against any such action. The dispatch has not yet been sent, but the question is under serious consideration and the present disposition of officials here seems to foreshadow such a definite stand in the matter.

The representations probably will call to the attention of President Simon the fact that Hayti is a party to The Hague convention prohibiting the shelling of unprotected ports. President Simon returned to his castle an ill man and is now confined to his bed, Minister Furniss reported to the state department. This increases the gravity of the most critical situation which has faced him during his administration.

He arrived at Port au Prince unexpectedly, taking his opponents unawares before any attempt to prevent his landing could be perfected. Practically all of the northern part of the island, Mr. Furniss added, is in the hands of the rebels. The revolutionists are reported to be marching on Port au Prince from St. Marc, according to a dispatch from Commander Dismukes of the gunboat Petrel, which arrived at Port au Prince.

Finding the rebels in peaceful control at Gonaives and American interests there not in danger, Commander Dismukes, with the Petrel, went to the capital to consult with Minister Furniss. All of the people at Gonaives are in sympathy with the revolutionary movement and the government was overthrown there without strong resistance. The former government officials there have sought refuge in the German and French consulates.

With one warship in Haytien waters and three others racing toward the war-torn republic, the navy department is preparing to throw a cordon of armed vessels about the island in case of danger to American life and property. The scout cruiser Salem, one of the fastest in the service, is now in Hampton Roads coaling for active service, if necessary, and the Chester is on the way.

Mr. Sannon, the Haytien minister here, confirms the report that the strange yacht American, which appeared at Cape Haytien, flying the American flag, and offering refuge to foreigners in that port, is the property of the Haytien government. The yacht was purchased in New York and provided with what amounts to a formidable battery for a vessel of her class.

POWER OF LORDS GONE

Great Britain In Future Will Be Governed by House of Commons

London, July 22.—The constitutional revolution last night appears to be an accomplished fact. Great Britain in the future will be governed by the house of commons, with its hereditary upper house possessing only a veto with a time limit of two years.

Yesterday the future career of the veto bill was apparent to all politicians, and its eventual acceptance by the house of lords was not doubted. Premier Asquith dispelled all doubts by communicating informally with Mr. Balfour the substance of an announcement he will make Monday.

The minister said the king had agreed to take such measures as were necessary to secure the passage of the bill, and this dashed the lingering hope a few peers had cherished.

Dies of Scythe Wound

Waterville, Me., July 22.—Joseph Dostin, the 6-year-old son of John Dostin, died yesterday afternoon as the result of a scythe wound in his right leg. The boy was playing in the hay field, where men were cutting grass with scythes.

Saving the Forests

Concord, N. H., July 22.—From a fund raised, 800 acres of forest land on Mt. Sunapee, overlooking Sunapee lake, have been purchased from its owners, who were intending to cut off the timber for paper mill uses.

Consolidation of Railways

Boston, July 22.—The Boston and Northern railway and the Old Colony Street railway have effected a formal consolidation under the new title, the Bay State Street Railway company, and elected new directors.

PRESIDENT SIMON
President of Hayti
Now Said to Be Ill

REBEL FORCES ROUTE SIMON AND CABINET

President's Supporters Desert Him As Rebels Grow Stronger

Port au Prince, Hayti, July 22.—President Simon, the members of his cabinet and the remnant of his army are in this city in broken and demoralized condition. They arrived here as fugitives after they had been routed by the rebel forces.

It is predicted the aged executive will soon become an exiled fugitive. His supporters are fast deserting him and the rebel cause is gaining strength. Port au Prince is the only city now left him. The entire northern end of the republic is in possession of the rebels.

Reports from Cape Haytien state that the reign of terror is still in full sway.

The yacht American is reported to be standing off Port Haytien, threatening to turn her guns on the town.

The German and Italian ministers have appealed to their governments to send warships, and vessels are also expected from both France and England.

BRAVERY AT FIRE

Young Woman Takes Dangerous Chances In Burning Building

Cambridge, Mass., July 22.—Walter Motz, manager of a grocery store, was slightly burned and Miss Ethel Dwyer distinguished herself by rushing into the building and carrying out a can of gasolene, preventing an explosion, last evening, during a fire.

Miss Dwyer, as the smoke rolled into the office, rushed to the street, and then remembering that the books were not in the safe, rushed back into the office, grabbed the cash book and rushed out.

By this time Miss Dwyer remembered that a five-gallon can of gasolene was on a bench. She made a dash for the building, and before she could be stopped, disappeared inside in smoke so thick that the firemen could hardly live while directing their streams.

ENTERPRISING INVENTOR

Fisher, Though Blind, to Tour Europe to Boom Products of His Skill

Boston, July 22.—Daniel C. Fisher, the blind inventor, will leave Boston for Europe next Tuesday. He intends to take along some of his textile machinery, which he will demonstrate to the manufacturers there. Mr. Fisher's object is to advertise that Boston manufactures textile machinery. He feels certain that his new textile machines will revolutionize the cotton industry.

Mr. Fisher is a native of Hinsdale, N. H. Two-thirds of his life he has spent in Boston. About nine years age he became totally blind.

WORLD'S RECORD BROKEN

Aviator Remains In Air Eleven Hours and Travels 465 Miles

Mourmelon, France, July 22.—Aviator Loridan, piloting a small biplane at the aerodrome here yesterday, covered 465¾ miles, remaining in the air 1 hours and 45 minutes. This is a new world's record for distance and time.

The best previous record was 388 miles, made this week by Olieslager at Brussels. Loridan beat the endurance record for time by three hours and a half.

Steamer Strikes a Snag

Burlington, Ia., Juy 22.—The steamer Dubuque of a Mississippi river line, with 100 passengers on board, lies in the dry docq north of Keokuk with a large hole in her hull. She struck a snag while en route from St. Louis to Burlington and sank in four feet of water.

Ship Chandlery Store Burned

Vineyard Haven, Mass., July 22.—The ship chandlery store of E. C. Lord was destroyed by fire yesterday. Mr. Lord had goods valued at $4000 in the store, on which there was no insurance, while there was $500 insurance on the building.

TO BE SETTLED IN SEPTEMBER

New Haven Road Is Enjoined In the Big Injunction Case

HEARING IS AT PROVIDENCE

Court Decides In Favor of Grand Trunk, So Far as It Pertains to Rhode Island—Massachusetts Territory Is Involved and Case May Come Up For Hearing In Courts of the Bay State

Providence, July 22.—Rival railway interests had their first encounter in open court here when the Grand Trunk railway and the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, the one seeking and the other attempting to block an entrance into Rhode Island for a Grand Trunk tidewater terminal, clashed at a hearing on a petition embodied in a bill in equity wherein the Southern New England, a branch of the Canadian road, asks for an injunction to halt the building of freight houses by the New Haven corporation at Woonsocket.

The Southern New England's prayer for an injunction was supplementary to a petition at present pending in which the court is requested to adjudge necessary to the development of the Southern New England the land where the New Haven road has been busy in preparing to erect freight houses one of which is intended to be across the line in the Bay State.

It was proposed to allow the court proceedings to take their customary course, until signs of unusual activity demonstrated to the Grand Trunk people that the New Haven interests were not intending to surrender title to land controlled by them without a struggle. These activities took the form of a swarm of workmen who were sent into the privilege section to grade up the land in question.

Counsel for the proposed new branch of the Grand Trunk then filed the petition that the land in question be adjudged necessary to the uses of the Southern New England and not necessary to the New Haven road, and followed that petition speedily with a bill in equity requesting an injunction against the building of the freight houses.

The petition which furnished the foundation for the proceedings in the superior court sets forth that the Southern New England has filed the necessary certificate of condemnation showing the location of the proposed new road and of lands to be taken for it.

Judge Darius Baker finally granted the prayer of the Southern New England for an injunction against the building on Rhode Island soil by the New Haven road, the same to run until the main question at issue should be settled. Counsel were requested to confer and come to an agreement.

After the hearing it was intimated by counsel for the Southern New England that it would be necessary now to take similar action in Massachusetts as half of one of the proposed houses was across the state line.

DEATH OF A JUDGE

Dropped Suddenly While Engaged In Deep Sea Fishing

Portland, Me., July 22.—Judge Charles M. White of Warrenton, Va., dropped dead yesterday on the schooner Fannie Belle, while engaged in deep sea fishing. The cause of death was heart failure, induced by an attack of acute indigestion.

This is the sceond sudden death within ten days on this schooner, which is used to take summer visitors out deep sea fishing. The first was Nathan Grotta of Newark, N. J., who expired just after he had caught the biggest fish of the day.

COMPLAINS OF HIGH TAX

John D. Rockefeller Not Satisfied With Property Appraisment

Cleveland, July 22.—John D. Rockefeller's realty property in Cleveland and Cuyahoga county has been appraised at $6,000,000, according to the announcement made by the quadrennial board of appraisers.

Mr. Rockefeller has protested that the valuation of his Cleveland Heights property, fixed at $20,000, is too high. He is the largest individual property owner in Cleveland.

Getting Ready For the Meet

Grand Rapids, Mich, July 22.—Gangs of men were put to work to build a new grand stand at Comstock park for the grand circuit harness meet here next week. The old stand burned down on Wednesday. It is announced the stand will be ready before next Tuesday, when the meet opens.

House Struck by Lightning

Gloucester, Mass., July 22.—The fierce lightning which flashed over this city in the heavy storm struck the home of Mrs. Hugh Parkhurst and caused $2000 damage. No one was at home and the building was well ablaze before the flames were discovered.

Anty Drudge for President.

Miss Ballot—"When women have secured the vote, whom will we nominate for president?"

Mrs. Panhurst—"A women who has devoted her life to the uplift of her sex, who has struck off her chains and made her free."

Miss Ballot—"Why, that will be Anty Drudge! Before she taught me to use Fels-Naptha soap, I never got the clothes clean and white by boiling and rubbing. Now, I wash the things with Fels-Naptha soap in cool or lukewarm water and washing is almost a pleasure."

Anty Drudge—"Thanks, but I'd rather be plain Anty Drudge than president. I can do more good for tired out women."

Every Monday morning more than a million women—the most thrifty housewives in America—go at their week's wash armed with Fels-Naptha.

Instead of boiling the clothes and then standing over steaming tubs rubbing hard to get the dirt out, they simply soap the clothes thoroughly with Fels-Naptha in cool or lukewarm (never hot) water; roll them, and let them soak for thirty minutes; rinse thoroughly.

By Monday noon these more than a million women can sit at their second-story back windows and look with pride at their week's wash, as it flaps snow white in the breeze.

It's done! And the clothes are cleaner, sweeter, purer than you could possibly get them with the old-fashioned boil-and-rub-hard method.

Fels-Naptha does more than save you time and energy. It saves your clothes—makes them wear longer.

Use Fels-Naptha the Fels-Naptha way. Follow the directions on the red and green wrapper.

It's fine, too, for removing spots and stains from paint, carpets and other things.

LLOYD'S
EYEGLASSES AND SPECTACLES
KRYPTOK BIFOCAL GLASSES
Far and Near Glasses in a Single Pair.

With Kryptok Bifocals there is no more trouble than raising the eyes to look off, and dropping them for reading.
At any of our stores.

315 Washington St.
310 Boylston St.
75 Summer St. } BOSTON
1252 Massachusetts Ave. CAMBRIDGE.
ANDREW J. LLOYD CO.

WHEELER'S
The Store for Ladies' Furnishings

We will continue our Sale of Shirt Waists and Long Gloves

See what we offer in Shirt Waists for 79c and 98c
and Long Gloves for 50c and 75c

We are also showing a new line of Children's Parasols, all colors, for 25c and 29c

WE GIVE CASH DISCOUNT SLIPS

City Square G. W. WHEELER Quincy

Advertise in The Ledger

dent.
l the vote, whom oted her life to k off her chains rudge! Before ap, I never got
g and rubbing.
ptha soap in cool nost a pleasure."
be plain Anty re good for tired nore than a rifty house-week's wash
cs and then bbing hard y soap the Naptha in water; roll ty minutes;
re than a econd-story
ide at their hite in the are cleaner, ossibly get il-and-rub-n save you r clothes—
aptha way.
and green spots and her things.

TACLES ASSES gle Pair. s no more
o look off,
STON BRIDGE.
CO. nishings and Long Gloves and 98c
for 50c and 75c
Children's 9c
SLIPS
ER Quincy
Ledger

THE DANGER TRAIL

By JAMES OLIVER CURWOOD

Copyright, 1910, by Bobbs-Merrill Company.

SYNOPSIS

Jack Howland, engineer, sent to build the Hudson Bay railroad, is appealed to for help by a beautiful girl who writes that she is a mute and invites him to accompany her. They are followed by Jean Croisset, half breed.

They go to her camp. He is attacked and nearly killed by a huge stranger. The girl disappears. Howland hears her speak. Croisset gives him the little Meleese's warning not to go north. He goes.

Howland again sees the girl, who tells him by note his life is in danger. She asks his forgiveness. Gregson and Thorne are mere wrecks of their former selves.

Mysterious perils threaten Howland. The girl visits him and confesses that she had lied to him. She entreats him to return south.

He tells her he loves her. Her name is Meleese. She partly promises to tell him why enemies seek his life.

Howland is lured to a mine, taken prisoner and bound to a box of dynamite which is soon to be exploded.

He frees himself and prevents the explosion. Meleese meets him again, refuses to marry him and again lures him into the hands of enemies.

Croisset takes Howland, his prisoner, into the wilderness. They are followed by Meleese. Howland promises not to attempt to escape.

They reach the house of the Red Death, a deserted Hudson Bay post. Then Croisset departs for several days. Howland plans to capture him upon his return.

Howland and Croisset fight. Croisset tells Howland he intends to kill him. Howland knocks out the half breed and orders him to take him to Meleese.

Croisset tells him he is going to his doom. Howland's plan to ambush his enemies fails. He is desperate, and Croisset aids him.

They reach a deserted cabin overlooking the home of Meleese and Howland's enemies. Though threatened with death, Croisset refuses to explain why Howland's life is sought. At night Howland goes to Meleese.

(Continued from last issue)

Scarcely had his feet touched when there sounded the fierce yelp of a dog close to him, and as he darted away into the smother of the storm the brute followed at his heels, barking excitedly in the manner of the mongrel curs that had found their way up from the south. Between the dog's alarm and the loud outcry of men there was barely time in which to draw a breath. From the stair platform came a rapid fusillade of rifle shots that sang through the air above Howland's head, and mingled with the fire was a hoarse voice urging on the cur that followed within a leap of his heels.

HOWLAND STAGGERED BACK.

The presence of the dog filled the engineer with a fear that he had not anticipated. Not for an instant did the brute give slack to his tongue as they raced through the night. There was but one chance, and he determined to take it. Gradually he slackened his pace, drawing and cocking his revolver; then he turned suddenly to confront the yelping Nemesis behind him. Three times he fired in quick succession at a moving blot in the snow gloom, and there went up from that blot a wailing cry that he knew was caused by the deep bite of lead.

Again he plunged on, a muffled shout of defiance on his lips. For a moment he stopped to listen and stare futilely into the blackness behind him. When he turned to go on his heart stood still. A shadow had loomed out of the night half a dozen paces ahead of him, and before he could raise his revolver the shadow was lightened by a sharp flash of fire. Howland staggered back, his fingers loosening their grip on his pistol, and as he crumpled down into the snow he heard over him the hoarse voice that had urged on the dog. After that there was a space of silence, of black chaos in which he neither reasoned nor lived, and then there came to him faintly the sound of other voices. Finally all of them were lost in one—a moaning, sobbing voice that was calling his name again and again, a voice that seemed to reach to him from out of an infinity of distance and that he knew was the voice of Meleese.

The voice died away. He lived through a cycle of speechless, painless night into which finally a gleam of dawn returned. He felt as if years were passing in his efforts to move, to lift himself out of chaos. But at last he won. His eyes opened, he raised himself. His first sensation was that he was no longer in the snow and that the storm was not beating into his face. Instead there encompassed him a damp dungeon-like chill. Everywhere there was blackness—everywhere except in one spot, where a little yellow eye of fire watched him and blinked at him. At first he thought that the eye must be miles and miles away. But it came quickly nearer and still nearer until at last he knew that it was a candle burning with the silence of a death taper a yard or two beyond his feet.

CHAPTER XV.

JEAN'S STORY.

It was the candlelight that dragged Howland quickly back into consciousness and pain. He knew that he was no longer in the snow. His fingers dug into damp earth as he made an effort to raise himself, and with that effort it seemed as though a red-hot knife had cleft him from the top of his skull to his chest. The agony of that instant's pain drew a sharp cry from him, and he clutched both hands to his head.

The fingers of Howland's right hand were sticky when he drew them away from his head, and he shivered. The tongue of flame leaping out of the night, the thunderous report, the deluge of fire that had filled his brain, all bore their meaning for him now. It had been a close call, so close that shivering chills ran up and down his spine as he struggled little by little to lift himself to his knees. His enemy's shot had grazed his head.

It seemed an interminable time before he could rise and stand on his feet and reach the candle. Slowly he felt his way along the wall until he came to a low, heavy door barred from the outside, and just beyond this door he found a narrow aperture cut through the decaying logs. It was a yard in length and barely wide enough for him to thrust through an arm. Three more of these narrow slits in his prison walls he found before he came back again to the door.

Near the table on which he replaced the candle was a stool, and he sat down. Carefully he went through his pockets. His belt and revolver were gone. He had been stripped of letters and papers. Not so much as a match had been left him by his captors.

He stopped in his search and listened. Faintly there came to him the ticking of his watch. He felt in his watch pocket. It was empty. Again he listened. This time he was sure that the sound came from his feet, and he lowered the candle until the light of it glistened on something yellow an arm's distance away. It was his watch, and close beside it lay his leather wallet. What money he had carried in the pocketbook was untouched, but his personal cards and half a dozen papers that it had contained were gone.

He looked at the time. The hour hand pointed to 4. Was it possible that he had been unconscious for more than six hours? He had left Jean on the mountain top soon after nightfall—it was not later than 9 o'clock when he had seen Meleese. Seven hours! Again he lifted his hands to his head. His hair was stiff and matted with blood. It had congealed thickly on his cheek and neck and had soaked the top of his coat. He had bled a great deal, so much that he wondered he was alive, and yet during those hours his captors had given him no assistance, had not even bound a cloth about his head.

Did they believe that the shot had killed him, that he was already dead when they flung him into the dungeon? Or was this only one other instance of the barbaric brutishness of those who so insistently sought his life? The fighting blood rose in him with returning strength. If they had left him a weapon, even the small knife they had taken from his pocket, he would still make an effort to settle a last score or two. But now he was helpless.

There was, however, a ray of hope in the possibility that they believed him dead. If they who had flung him into the dungeon believed this, then he was safe for several hours. No one would come for his body until broad day and possibly not until the following night, when a grave could be dug and he could be carried out with some secrecy. In that time, if he could escape from his prison, he would be well on his way to the Wekusko. He had no doubt that Jean was still a prisoner on the mountain top. The dogs and sledge were there and both rifles were where he had concealed them. It would be a hard race—a running fight perhaps—but he would win, and after a time Meleese would come to him, away down at the little hotel on the Saskatchewan.

He rose to his feet, his blood growing warm, his eyes shining in the candlelight. The thought of the girl as she had come to him out in the night put back into him all of his old fighting strength, all of his unconquerable hope and confidence. She had followed him when the dog yelped at his heels, as the first shots had been fired. She had knelt beside him in the snow as he lay bleeding at the feet of his enemies. He had heard her voice calling to him; had felt the thrilling touch of her arms, the terror and love of her lips as she thought him dying. She had given herself to him, and she would come to him—his lady of the snows—if he could escape.

He went to the door and shoved against it with his shoulder. It was immovable. Again he thrust his hand and arm through the first of the narrow ventilating apertures. The wood with which his fingers came in contact was rotting from moisture and age, and he found that he could tear out handfuls of it. He fell to work, digging with the fierce eagerness of an animal. At the rate the soft pulpy wood gave way he could win his freedom long before the earliest risers at the post were awake.

A sound stopped him—a hollow cough from out of the blackness beyond the dungeon wall. It was followed an instant later by a gleam of light, and Howland darted quickly back to the table. He heard the slipping of a bolt outside the door. The door swung open, and a shaft of light shot into the chamber. For a space Howland was blinded by it, and it was not until the bearer of the lamp had advanced halfway to the table that he recognized his visitor as Jean Croisset. The Frenchman's face was wild and haggard. His eyes gleamed red and bloodshot as he stared at the engineer.

"Mon Dieu, I had hoped to find you dead," he whispered huskily.

He reached up to hang the big oil lamp he carried to a hook in the log ceiling, and Howland sat amazed at the expression on his face. Either fear or pain had wrought deep lines.

"I HAD HOPED TO FIND YOU DEAD, M'SEUR"

"I had hoped to find you dead, m'seur," he repeated. "That is why I did not bind your wound and give you water when they turned you over to my care. I wanted you to bleed to death. It would have been easier—for both of us."

From under the table he drew forth a second stool and sat down opposite Howland. The two men stared at each other over the sputtering remnant of the candle. Before the engineer had recovered from his astonishment at the sudden appearance of the man whom he believed to be safely imprisoned in the old cabin Croisset's shifting eyes fell on the mass of torn wood under the aperture.

"Too late, m'seur," he said meaningly. "They are waiting up there now. It is impossible for you to escape."

"That is what I thought about you," replied Howland, forcing himself to speak coolly. "How did you manage it?"

"They came up to free me soon after they got you, m'seur. I am grateful to you for thinking of me, for if you had not told them I might have stayed there and starved like a beast in a trap."

"It was Meleese," said Howland. "I told her."

Jean dropped his head in his hands. "I have just come from Meleese," he whispered softly. "She sends you her love, m'seur, and tells you not to give up hope. The great God, if she only knew—if she only knew what is about to happen! No one has told her. She is a prisoner in her room, and after that—after that out on the plain—when she came to you and fought like one gone mad to save you—they will not give her freedom until all is over. What time is it, m'seur?"

A clammy chill passed over Howland as he read the time.

"Half past 4."

"The Virgin bear me witness that I wish I might strike ten years off my life and give you freedom," Jean breathed quickly. "I would do it this instant, m'seur. I would help you to escape if it were in any way possible. But they are in the room at the head of the stair, waiting. At 6"—

"At 6—what then?" urged Howland. "My God, man, what makes you look so? What is to happen at 6?"

"I have no time to lose in further talk like this, m'seur," he said almost harshly. "They know now that it was I who fought for you and for Meleese on the Great North trail. They know that it is I who saved you at Wekusko. Meleese can no more save me than she can save you, and to make my task a little harder, they have made me their messenger, and"—

Again he stopped, choking for words.

"Their executioner, m'seur."

"Great God!" Howland gasped.

(To be Continued.)

DENIAL BY DURGIN

Declares Boston Woman's Death Was Not Due to Cholera

Boston, July 22.—Officials of the city health board emphatically denied the existence of a case of cholera in this city and declared that there were not even symptoms of the disease, despite a cholera scare that was started.

Dr. Durgin was wrought up over the stories and sent out denials, giving the public every assurance that there is no danger whatever.

The fact that woman died of a disease which might be considered cholera started the stories.

This woman's illness suggested a case of cholera. It was taken care of, an autopsy was made, and every evidence from the laboratory and the autopsy is negative. The health department does not know that there is any case of cholera in the city of Boston.

A BOSTON GIRL'S BUDGET.

New England Suffragists Return from study of British Suffragettes—A Distinguished Psychologist Allows He's Going to Vote Next Fall—Author of "Book of Snobs" Is Commemorated in "Cultured Boston"—Babies Invade the "Great White City of Healing"—Out of the Water, Yet All In—Hence New Facilities for Annual Bath.

Literary Boston observed the hundredth anniversary of Thackeray's birth with fitting ceremonies. Nowhere in America is the humorist's memory more highly honored than in this city, which greeted him with open arms in 1852, and in which occurred the immortal experiences with the large oyster and the small hack. Thackeray remarked that the Hub was to him easily the most likeable city of the new world. The Boston Public Library has arranged an exhibition of Thackeray rarities, mostly owned by Francis Bullard, which includes a number of rare and original editions of Thackeray's works, several portraits, one being the Lawrence portrait, and reproductions of two of the writer's drawings of himself. These interesting reminiscences will be on view in the Fine Arts Department for a month and are well worth dropping in to see, when you are in town.

A nearly completed building adjacent to the white marble Harvard medical school which has aroused much speculation among passersby in recent months is rapidly approaching the time when its healing facilities as the Rotch Memorial Infants' Hospital will become available. The construction is of the same material as the medical group, adding one more to the imposing collection of buildings which are becoming more and more widely known as the "great white city of healing." The field for its activities is a wide one, for Boston despite race suicide still has some kids, but the institution seems to be amply provided with every facility.

The craze for sea bathing these summer days has caused complications at the beaches such as never before existed. The perspiring hinterland, however, need not fear being deprived of the cherished annual bath. At Revere Beach a big tent has been erected in addition to the State bathhouse, in the shelter of which men and boys bringing their own suits may be accommodated. The tent will take in 1500 additional bathers, so the authorities hope that the congested lines waiting for lockers at the bathhouse will be no longer in evidence. Many of those whom inadequate facilities kept out of the water found themselves all in, and did not hesitate to tell the newspapers so. Hence the scurry for additional facilities.

Ideas from England, a few of them, have been brought back by the Boston suffragists, Florence Luscomb and Margaret Foley, who went abroad last April to study militant methods, most of which, however, will not be useful in this country. The young ladies not only saw a lot of campaign work in Great Britain and had a glimpse at the industrial conditions in which hundreds of thousands of English women work, but they also attended the international Woman Suffrage Congress in Stockholm and made a tour of Sweden, Norway, Holland, Belgium and France. Their experiences on the steamer returning home were typical of the propaganda that is not only bringing equal suffrage nearer in all American states, but that is strengthening men's interest in governmental problems. On board was an American gentleman, a professor of psychology in a western university, who lurked in the background of several animated discussions—for the news that there were suffragettes in the cabin had caused the formation of impromptu debating societies. After several days of listening to the arguments, pro and con, the psychologist remarked in a precise, scholarly tone of voice, to one of the young ladies: "Miss Foley, I am going to vote at the next election, for the third time in my life, I am sorry to say, although I am over forty years of age. Politics has always seemed to me a dirty game, one quite outside the range of my tastes and interests. But as I have heard what you suffragists have to say about the need of laws that will better protect the home and the children I have felt ashamed of having never even tried to make my influence felt in political life. Henceforth I shall vote at every election while I live. You have impressed that duty on me, as no one ever done before. As to woman suffrage, I greatly admire women and their characteristics, but I am still a little afraid that contact with the rough political world may wear off the bloom. Isn't it enough to exert an influence—" "We know just what you are going on to say," interrupted one of the suffragettes, "but it isn't so, because you see—." And the western educator had to admit that she made out another good case. A dozen or more men, including some of the ship's officers, became suffrage shouters during this voyage. It is uncertain whether or not conversion was accomplished in the case of a peculiarly gruff and serious officer who parted the American sheep from the alien goats at disembarkment. "Are you an American citizen?" growled this representative of the immigration laws. "No, sir, I am not an American citizen," replied one of the young women. "I don't vote. But I am an American subject." The young Boston girl was, nevertheless, recorded as a "citizen" with the occupation of a "Suffragette."

Ethel Angier.

OLD MAN ENDS LIFE

Suicide of Sensational Nature Said to Be Cause of Death

Milford, N. H., July 22.—It was announced at the burial here of N. H. Sheppard, who died at Coventry, Vt., that the cause of death was suicide of a sensational nature. He was 85 years of age.

He first took arsenic, but it was an overdose. Seeing that it did not bring death quickly, he deliberately slashed his throat with a razor. He was found soon after by inmates of the house, but refused aid.

No Coke Trust

Washington, July 22.—Chairman Stanley of the house "steel trust" investigating committee made the surprising admission that he had discovered from his own investigation that the United States Steel corporation has no monopoly of coking coal.

Hanged Himself In Cell

Concord, N. H., July 22.—At Concord reformatory George Rogers, an inmate, committed suicide by hanging himself from the ventilator in his cell. He was said to have been an exemplary prisoner.

Thieves In a Church

Hazelton, Pa., July 22.—Unknown persons removed the clappers of the bell in the Italian Church of the Precious Blood and prevented the tolling of the chimes for mass.

Endorsed at Home

Such Proof as This Should Convince Any Quincy Citizen.

The public endorsement of a local citizen is the best proof that can be produced. None better, none stronger can be had. When a man comes forward and testifies to his fellow-citizens, addresses his friends and neighbors, you may be sure he is thoroughly convinced or he would not do so. Telling one's experience when it is for the public good is an act of kindness that should be appreciated. The following statement given by a resident of Quincy adds one more to the many cases of Home Endorsement which are being published about Doan's Kidney Pills. Read it.

John R. Duffy, 14 Copeland St., Quincy, Mass., says: "I am so favorably impressed with Doan's Kidney Pills that it gives me pleasure to recommend them to anyone suffering from kidney complaint. I am fully convinced that this remedy will do all that it is claimed to do. If anyone would like to obtain further details regarding my case, I will be glad to answer any questions."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's— and take no other.

CHICHESTER S PILLS

THE DIAMOND BRAND.
Ladies! Ask your Druggist for Chi-ches-ter's Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with Blue Ribbon. Take no other. Buy of your Druggist. Ask for CHI-CHES-TER S DIAMOND BRAND PILLS, for 25 years known as Best, Safest, Always Reliable
SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

HOT WEATHER

and dirt breed germs. Germs bring diseases and are a menace to your health. Our sanitary dyeing and cleaning processes render your clothes free from germs.

Get The Sanitary Habit!

We call for and deliver the work

WARSHAW'S
DYE HOUSE
"The Home of Cleanliness"
1503 HANCOCK STREET
QUINCY
July 15-tf

Secure Health

while you may! The first good step is to regulate the action of your sluggish bowels by early use of

Beecham's Pills

Sold Everywhere. In boxes 10c. and 25c.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is Pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. It destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. It cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. It relieves Teething Troubles, cures Constipation and Flatulency. It assimilates the Food, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS
Bears the Signature of
Chas. H. Fletcher.

The Kind You Have Always Bought
In Use For Over 30 Years
THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

ZOROID
TRADE MARK
LENSES
FOUNDED A. D. 1883

For Your Convenience

And to enable us to have time for a thorough examination, we make appointments.

Instead of wasting from a half to a whole day you need only an hour or two for a thorough and scientific examination of your eyes.

When in need of glasses 'phone OXFORD 790 for an appointment.

Briggs S. Palmer President
Sanborns
3 Winter St.-Boston

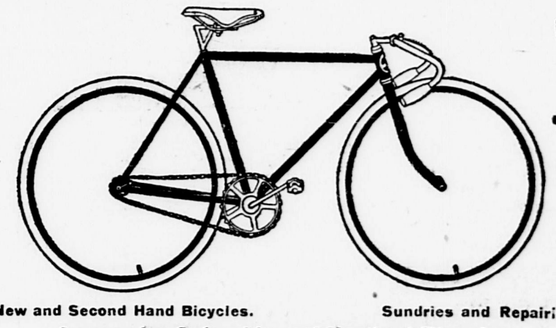
REPRESENTED IN QUINCY BY
WILLIAM F. SIDELINGER
July-19-22

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.

BATHING SUITS

Caps and Water Wings

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE



New and Second Hand Bicycles. Sundries and Repairing
Agency for Columbia and Hartford Bicycles
HUB CYCLE CO.
Thomas Nelson, 20 Granite Street, QUINCY
May 15-3m

GET THE HELP QUINCY GROW HABIT

Quincy Daily Ledger

FOR SALE AT

BOSTON—At South Station after 3.30 P. M.
QUINCY—Ledger Office 1424 Hancock Street.
L. A. Chapin, 1295 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, oppo. Depot.
Thompson's Waiting Room, City Sq.
H. P. Kittredge, City Square.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
Mrs. Madden, 16 Quincy ave.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's News Stand.
PARK&DOWNS—Branschled & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschled & Marten.
QUINCY NECK—Stetson Pierce, Newcomb Square.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith, Washington Street.
Grang's Pharmacy.
L. A. Cook, Washington Street.
E. O. Godfrey, 538 Washington St.
E. H. Lowe, Washington Street.
George E. Sprague Cor. River St.
SOUTH QUINCY—Litchfield, Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Miss C. Booth, Brooks Avenue.
BREWER'S CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
Mrs. F. H. Stanley.
WEST QUINCY—F. A. Skinner.
John G. Belanger.
HOUGHS NECK—Capt. Fosdick's.

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	82 degrees
July 22, 1910,	81 degrees
July 22, 1909,	81 degrees
July Noon Maximum, 14 years,	101
July Noon Minimum, 14 years.	60

Pond Palaver.

"How's your oldest pollywog?"
"Oh, he is doing first rate. He is cutting his eyelegs."

BRIEFS

The showers promised for the late afternoon Friday did not come.

The west side of Hancock street between Granite street and Music hall is being resurfaced.

The days of the Gypsy Moth are gone and now comes the Brown Tail moth. One is as bad as the other.

Gov. Foss has signed the bill for the new bridge over Weymouth back river between North Weymouth and Hingham.

Work was commenced this morning laying underground conduits on Washington street between the man hole on Temple street to Maple street.

Rev. Richard E. Armstrong will have charge of the services at Christ church, tomorrow, for the last time until September.

The class D boats of the Quincy Yacht club are taking part in the yacht race at Savin Hill this afternoon.

Rev. L. B. Sears will preach at Bethany church tomorrow at both morning and evening services. In the morning his topic will be "The Perils of Middle Life.' The evening address will have for its theme "The Sermon of the Flowers."

HOUGHS NECK.

Miss Marie Dolan and Miss Boland of Dorchester are visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Adams of Rock Island.

George Smith of New York a visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Donnly of Great hill.

Miss Annie Devainny of Boston is visiting M. J. Conners of Great hill.

There is to be a reception to the Rev. W. J. Sayre of Union church by the Ladies' Aid on Tuesday to which every one is invited.

Mrs. Martin H. Carr of Stoughton is visiting her daughter Mrs. P. C. Catarius of Great hill.

Union church is to hold its Sunday school picnic on Wednesday at Glen Echo park. Cars will leave Bay View avenue at about 8.30 A. M.

A song service with a brief biography of the authors and the circumstances under which the hymns were written will take the place of the regular evening service at the People's Union church.

BIRTHS

FOLEY—In Quincy, July 18, a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. John Foley of Whitwell street.

Established 1870 Telephone
JOHN HALL
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
Carriage and Ambulance Service
1485 Hancock Street, Quincy Mass.

BIG INCREASE FOR THE ARMY

The General Staff Will Ask Congress For Million Men

CONGRESS INTERESTED

Washington, July 22.—The general staff of the army wants congress to provide a definite program for raising a volunteer army. If the staff can persuade congress to enact the legislation it wants, plans will be perfected for raising a volunteer army of 1,000,000 men on short notice.

The general staff wants authority to provide what it calls "a workable plan for the enrolment, enlistment and organization of volunteer troops so that they can be raised without confusion and needless delay." Congress seems disposed to give the general staff the authority it desires.

Social Realm

(Continued from Page Three.)

The wedding of William Coyle, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Coyle of Weymouth and Miss J. Louise Dillon, daughter of Thomas D. Dillon of Quincy is announced for Wednesday evening They will reside at 83 Richmond street, Weymouth

• • •

Mrs. Herbert Hammond is the guest of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Freeman of South Hanover.

• • •

Miss Ella Oliver of Taylor street, Braintree, is spending a fortnight at Sunapee, New Hampshire, a guest at Home farm.

• • •

Mrs. George McFarlane of Merrymount road is entertaining Dr. and Mrs. Wiley of Syracuse, N. Y., for a few days. Mrs. Wiley was before her mariage, Miss Genevra Gwynn, and from December, 1893 to June 1896, was a teacher at Quincy High school.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. Theophilus King of Adams street are to enjoy a month in Maine as is their custom each summer passing two weeks at Poland Springs and two at The Samoset, Rockland.

• • •

Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution hold an outing on Saturday at Lexington. Quincy members are to leave on ten o'clock trolley from the Centre.

—The measure of baseball possibilities was reached when an old umpire was asked at Cleveland what he would do if he was umpiring in a brush league and the 11th inning found the home team at bat with two runs to make to win the game. He answered: "I would take the first train out of town and wire in my decision." And that's the safest way to answer weather qeries right now.—Worcester Telegram.

QUINCY MARKET
SPECIAL

THE FAMILY DINNER.

does not require as an elaborate a menu as when guests are entertained but good housekeepers demand food just as good. They find that Quincy Market will supply small orders with the same satisfaction as is given to larger ones. The quality of our meats and poultry is always kept to the highest point of excellence and value of our service is thoroughly appreciated by our steady customers who like a generous table.

1st cut Rib Roast Beef	12 1-2 to 15c
Short Rib Roast	10 to 12 1-2c
Pot Roast	10 to 12 1-2c
Rib Steak	12 1-2c up
Corned Beef	5c
Heavy Roll Corned Beef	10c
Flank Corned Beef	6c to 18c

Lamb and Veal
Native Vegetables

QUINCY MARKET
Next to Woolworth's 5 and 10c Store
July 21-2t

SAUNDERS IS WANTED HERE

Man Arrested In Haverhill Wanted For Quincy "Hold-Up"

MAN CONFESSED

Robert P. Saunders who was arrested in Haverhill Friday, for robbery in New Hampshire, is also wanated by the Quincy police for robbery in this city last July. Warrants are out for his arrest and it is hoped that after New Hampshire is through with him he may be brought to Quincy.

The charge on which he is wanted in Quincy is robbery. It is alleged that he is the man who held up Ernest Godfrey at Quincy Point on the night of July 1, 1910 and at the point of a revolver relieved him of a gold watch and $130 in money. A day or two later or on July 5, E. A. Andrews was held up in the same way and he was relieved of $35 in money. Godfrey's watch was later recovered by Lieut. McKay in a Boston pawnshop.

At that time Saunders boarded on Edison street and he was suspected of having something to do with the affair but the police did not have evidence enough upon which to warrant his arrest. It was not until the watch was recovered that the crime was practically fastened upon him.

By that ime Saunders had shaken the dust of Quincy's streets from his feet and disappeared. Nothing more was heard of him until his arrest in Haverhill. It is said that Saunders is wanted in several Massachusetts cities for robbery and the chances are that before the courts are done with him he will receive a long sentence.

He was employed at the Fore River Shipbuilding Co. as a painter but was discharged together with a number of other men in the same department.

Saunders claimed in his confession that he did not commit the crimes for the sake of being a criminal but for love of his wife who was the mother of a newly born infant. Nothing was said in his confession of the holdups in Quincy which are accredited to him but after his trials in New Hampshire and Haverhill he will be sent to Quincy at the request of Chief Burrell. As a result of his confession considerable money has been sent to his wife and she will not have to worry for a time at least with regard to the means of sustenance for herself and her babe.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

(Continued from Page One.)

the sightseer. One could see everything in South Kensington in a short time and thus one finds it more to his liking than the Museum. Guild Hall, the shops of Regent street, Christopher Wren's great monument. St. Pauls cathedral, and many more interesting points were mentioned. Mrs. Alden was given a vote of thanks by the girls for her very interesting travel talk.

The sloyd and cooking classes are making great progress and splendid results are being accomplished. The sewing classes are likewise doing splendid work.

QUINCY MAN HAS RIVAL.

Ex-Representative Louis E. Flye, of Holbrook, is a candidate for county commissioner against Commissioner John F. Merrill, whose term expires this year.

STOLE LOT OF TOOLS.

It was reported to the police this morning that sometime Friday night thieves entered the house in the process of erection near the Norfolk Downs depot and stole a lot of tools belonging to Beckford & Lynce as well as a number of carpenters tools.

TAFT IN BEVERLY

Presidential Party Contemplating Trip Along Maine Coast

Beverly, Mass., July 22.—President Taft will arrive in Beverly Sunday morning for his first stay since he came on early in July.

The president will leave Washington on the Federal express this evening. According to present plans, the president's special will leave Montserrat Monday afternoon and return to Washington.

A cruise along the Maine coast with Mrs. Taft is being planned by the president. Last year a run was made along the Maine coast as far as Bar Harbor and proved a particularly enjoyable one. A stop will be made at Biddeford Pool, where a sister of Mrs. Taft has a beautiful summer home.

BASEBALL GAMES GALORE TODAY

So Many Good Ones Hard To Decide Which To See

STANDING OF CLUBS

There are so many good games today, that the fans will be up a stump when it comes to deciding which game to take in. The Manets and Fore River Apprentices will play for a purse of $25 at the Ward Three playgrounds, The Quincy Independents and the West Quincys, will meet at the Old Colony Grounds and Makaria will endeavor to make Miah Murrays White Bears bite the dust at Merrymount park. All three games will be closely contested, and it will be a "toss up" as to which will bring out the best baseball playing.

The standing of the Quincy Junior league is as follows:

	W.	L.	P. C.
Naps	3	0	.1000
Red Sox	2	1	.667
Athletics	1	2	.333
Tigers	0	3	.000

The results of games for the week:
Naps 10, Tigers 9.
Red Sox 22, Athletics 5.
Naps 14, Red Sox 7.
Athletics 14, Tigers 4.
Red Sox 4, Tigers 1.
Naps 18, Athletics 9.

SPORTING NOTES.

S. H. Lawton of the Wollaston Golf club, qualified in the second sixteen at the tournament of the Essex Country club at Manchester-by-the-Sea, and in the first round of match play defeated F. Sargent of the Essex club by 5 and 4. In the second round he lost to S. T. Hicks of Oakley by 3 and 2.

The Rambler Juniors defeated the Eliot A. A., on the parochial school grounds Friday afternoon, by a score of 3 to 1. The battery for the winners was Ford and Shaugnessy. The Rambler Juniors would like games with any 10-11 year old teams in Quincy. Address Herbert Shaugnessy, 100 Revere road.

The Y. M. C. A., first team will open its season today at the lower field in Merrymount park. The opponents will be the South Quincy Extension club. The Y. M. C. A team is an uncertain quantity since the men have not played together, and it is not known just how good some of the "come-backs" will be. A few of the Intermediates will probably play.

ENTERTAINS TONIGHT.

The Showandasee club of North Weymouth entertains tonight at its clubhouse. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Blanchard have charge of the entertainment and judging from the one given under their direction a year ago, this should be one of the most enjoyable events of the season. Among those taking part is H. C. Hallowell, Jr., of Quincy. A number of Quincy people will attend.

POPULAR SECRETARY.

All visitors to Fore River, where the great ship-building works keep an army of men busy, are likely to get glimpses of a small, active man who, they may learn, is one of the most important personages about the plant, although they will be told that his name is merely "Harry Brown." Mr. Brown is secretary to the president, Admiral Bowles, and has confidential relations with him, of course, that make him the custodian of most of the important secrets and plans of the concern. Happy is the visitor who meets the secretary. His information is instantly available and he imparts it in a colloquial and accurate fashion that makes it fit to print without revision. But—the visitor will also learn that navy yards, like navies, have their secrets, too, and that there are bounds beyond which the secretary will not go. When a ship yard is bidding against the world in the competition for business, it would be great indiscretion to "give away" business intentions. Quiet, courteous and businesslike. Mr. Brown is a most adaptable and agreeable official. —Boston Herald.

—It is said that 40 deer will live on land that will support one steer. They thrive best on coarse grass, leaves, mosses and other vegetation that cattle will not eat. Moreover, they can be made a source of profit on land that is good for nothing else. With such facts as these, the United States department of agriculture is urging the stocking of private game preserves and other lands with deer, elk and moose for food purposes.—Medford Mercury.

DISAGREEMENT AT MEETING

Lawrence Committees Unable To Agree Confer With Governor

A DEADLOCK EXISTS

Lawrence, Mass., July 22.—After a wrangle a conference between a committee for the city administration and for the bankers who seek a commission form of government ended in a deadlock.

Unable to come to any agreement, the two committees will wait upon Governor Foss Monday.

It was at the governor's suggestion that the conference was held, to see if some amicable solution for governing the city and for straightening out its finances could not be found.

The governor told them to talk it over, and if unable to agree to come back to him. Having achieved only a deadlock, the committee will have recourse to the governor again.

HOUGHS NECK POST OFFICE REOPENED

The post office at Houghs Neck which has been closed for several weeks because Capt. Oliver G. Fosdick the postmaster refused to longer continue as postmaster at the salary he was receiving from the government, was reopened for business this morning, and Houghs Neck is happy once more. A dispatch from Washington in a morning paper says:

Congressman Curley saw Mr. Grandfield, first assistant postmaster general, today on the reopening of the postoffice station at Houghs Neck, and in consequence, Mr. Grandfield sent a telegram to Postmaster Mansfield of Boston authorizing him to sign a contract for reopening of the station until the end of the year.

It is stated that the owner of the premises demanded increased rental, which the postoffice department at first declined to pay, but which it has now yielded.,

TODAY'S COURT ITEMS

William Greenfield was fined $10, Varciance Labarso, John Conrad, Martin Olson, Iny Olson, and William Kamp $5 each for violation of the clam law.

Paul Franzie was arraigned for non support at Quincy. Case continued until next week Saturday.

Elmer A. Onthank was fined $15 for exceeding the automobile speed limit at Milton.

John McDonald was arraigned for assault at Cohasset. Case continued until August 5.

Sandford Whiting was assessed the costs amounting to $2.15 for larceny at Braintree.

Frank J. Spearerian was fined the costs amounting to $8.30 for violation of the automobile law at Cohasset.

The liquors seized from Christe Dracus at Quincy were forfeited.

Israel Sternberg was fined $15 for collecting junk without a license at Quincy.

BICYCLES RECOVERED.

The bicycles stolen last Tuesday and Wednesday in City Square were recovered by the police Friday. That belonging to Oscar F. Frisk was found by Carl Nicol near the Mt. Wolaston cemetery and that owned by Joseph Purpora was found at the Hub Bicycle store undergoing repairs. There is no clew to the thief.

IN AID OF PROHIBITION

Call of Maine Responded to by Massachusetts Temperance Workers

Boston, July 22.—The call for help has been sounded by the temperance workers of Maine who fear an adverse decision of the people on Sept. 11 on the prohibition law, unless work is done to counteract the sentiment fast gaining ground in the Pine Tree State. The call was taken up at Tremont Temple and the Masaschusetts temperance workers here are ready to start their attack on the state. The ground will be covered by an automobile.

From now until the last day of voting on the referendum the citizens of Maine will be bombarded from automobiles and through the mail.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents. Three consecutive insertions 50 cents, 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.

No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

LOST

LOST—Black and white cat. Answers to name of Muffet. Information wanted. 242 Safford street, Wollaston. July 22-3t

LOST
SAVINGS BANK BOOKS

Savings Bank Books as listed below have been lost and application has been made for payment of the accounts in accordance with Section 40 Chapter 590 of the Acts of 1908. Payment has been stopped.

Book No. 8,658	Book No. 31,737
Book No. 15,170	Book No. 31,975
Book No. 18,200	Book No. 32,578
Book No. 20,644	Book No. 33,021
Book No. 23,908	Book No. 34,612
Book No. 25,089	Book No. 36,334
Book No. 28,806	Book No. 37,199

QUINCY SAVINGS BANK
CLARENCE BURGIN, Treasurer.
July 22-3t--22-20-5

FOR SALE

$125.00 Buys horse, harness and light wagon. Horse 7 years old 1000 lbs. all in good condition. A bargain. Apply Barnard's Bakery, 1587 Hancock street, Quincy. Tele. 913 M Quincy. July 22-1t

FOR SALE or TO LET—Before you buy or rent, consult me. Houses for sale or to rent in the finest residential section in Quincy. All improvements. Close to school, churches, stores and depot. C. A. ERICSON, Builder 117 Glendale Road. Tel. Quincy 586 M. W and Sat. May 22-tf

FOR SALE—Two cylinder 6 h. p. marine engine, schebler carburetor and coil, price $50, also a 20 ft. semi speed boat on easy terms, take phonograph or camera as part payment. C. A. I. Ledger Office. July 19-21, 22

FOR SALE

The cozy home, situated No. 24 Marsh Street, consisting of a six room house, city water, 4400 square feet of land, fruit trees. Price reasonable.

Call and see,

JAMES F. BURKE,
REAL ESTATE AGENT,
Room 4, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, Mass.
July 15-tf

WANTED

MEN and WOMEN, sell guaranteed hose. 70 per cent profit. Make $10 daily. Full or part time. Beginners investigate. Wear Proof, 3038 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, Pa. July 8-9w W. and S.

WANTED TO BUY, 2-flat house in good location, in Quincy; state lowest price, terms, and full particulars. Address F. H. Ledger Office. July 19-3t 19, 20, 22

WANTED—An experienced second girl, must have good references and be willing to spend July and August on the Cape. Apply Paul R. Blackmur, 68 Elm street, Quincy. July 19-4t

TO LET

TO LET—Rooms and table board at 55 Washington street, Quincy, Mrs. Margaret S. MacDonnell. June 23-1mo.

TO LET—Large front room furnished suitable for man and wife or two men. Call at 26 School street. July 18-6t

TO LET—Tenement of 5 rooms at 42 Euclid avenue. All latest improvements. Apply to C. A. Ericson 177 Glendale road or P. Curry 94 Federal avenue, Quincy Adams. July 18-6t

TO LET—Half house on Miller Stile road, 7 rooms, all improvements Apply to E. V. Fitts, 19 Miller Stile road, Quincy. July 18-L-P-tf

TO LET—On Spear street, tenement of 4 rooms and bath. All modern improvements. Apply to C. A. Ericson, 117 Glendale road. Tel 586 M. June 27-tf

FOR RENT—Quincy, Centre, apposite Adams Academy, house of 8 rooms and bath, also garage, 3 minutes to R. R. Station. Dr. E. S. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263L, Weymouth. May 10-tf

TO LET
Half House No. 44 Bigelow street, 7 rooms and bath. Shades, screens, electric lights, set tubs, range, etc. Rent $25. per month. Apply to Miss Prescott, Ledger Office. Quincy. July 3-tf

FOR RENT
On Spear street, very desirable house of 8 rooms, bath and laundry. All modern improvements, range, gas, electric lights shades and screens. Large piazzas and lawn. To private family only. Apply at 41 Spear street or of Miss Prescott at Ledger Office, Quincy. June 2-tf L. P. O

ON THE DIAMOND

American League

At Cleveland:	R	H	E
Boston	7	9	1
Cleveland	2	8	0

Batteries—Collins and Carrigan; Krapp and Fisher.

At Detroit:	R	H	E
New York	6	14	3
Detroit	4	6	2

Batteries—Ford and Sweeney; Fafitte, Summers and Stanage.

At Chicago:	R	H	E
Philadelphia	10	12	1
Chicago	2		1

Batteries—Plank and Lapp; Olmstead and Sullivan.

At St. Louis:	R	H	E
St. Louis	3	9	0
Washington	2	7	0

Batteries—Powell and Stephens; Hughes and Ainsmith.

National League

At Boston:	R	H	E
Pittsburg	7	12	1
Boston	5	10	1

Batteries—Gardner and Simon; Ferguson, Mattern and Kling.

At New York:	R	H	E
New York	4	8	0
St. Louis	0	2	3

Batteries—Wiltse and Myers; Harmon and Bresnahan.

At Brooklyn:	R	H	E
Cincinnati	7	11	2
Brooklyn	6	9	2

Batteries—Fromme and McLean; Knetzer, Ragan and Erwin.

New England League

At Haverhill:	R	H	E
Haverhill	3		2
Lowell	2	6	1

Batteries—Hogg and Milliman; Maybohm, Yount and Lavigne.

At Worcester:	R	H	E
Brockton	5	13	3
Worcester	3	12	2

Batteries—Ward and Wadleigh; Van Dyke, Curtin and O'Neil.

At Fall River:	R	H	E
Fall River	7	13	0
Lynn	2	7	3

Batteries—Blum and Haight; Abbott and Daum.

☞Going away for the summer? If so don't forget to have the Daily Ledger sent to your address and keep posted on home news. If you have forgotten to send in your order in the rush of getting away drop us a postal and we will do the rest. tf

TO LET

Tenement—22 B Granite Street. $16.00 per month.

Greenleaf Hall—Greenleaf Block Large Furnished Hall with various anterooms—to let by the evening or permanently.

City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 20 feet high. Splendid light, low rent

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)
Music Hall Block, Quincy.

MAKE YOUR PURCHASES FROM LEDGER ADVERTISERS.
BE SURE TO READ THE ADVERTISEMENTS IN TODAY'S LEDGER

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 26 No. 168 | QUINCY, MASS. MONDAY EVENING JULY 24, 1911 | PRICE TWO CENTS

DESPERADO KILLS TWO ON TROLLEY CAR

Five Others Wounded On Board Crowded Car In Motion At Adams

Culprit Barely Escaped Lynching Will Not Talk

Adams, Mass., July 24.—A young woman and a man were shot and instantly killed, five more women were dangerously wounded and other men, women and children were terrorized here by Fablo Mallak, a young mill worker, who poured ten shots into the helpless passengers on an electric car.

The thrilling tragedy took place between here and North Adams. This whole section of the state has been shocked at the mad act of the apparently crazed young man, who barely escaped lynching before he fell into the hands of the police and was locked up.

As he fired the last of the ten shots Mallak was seized and disarmed. He then drew a knife and jumped down an embankment.

A score or more of men leaped from the car and followed him. As he appeared in an open field one of the men threw a stone which struck Mallak and he dropped his knife and fell. Before he could rise the crowd of men were on him and he was securely bound.

Calls to North Adams brought the police, doctors and an ambulance. The doctors found that Motorman Hoyt had been shot through the back and instantly killed. Martha Esler was shot through the heart and instantly killed. The dead girl's sister received a bullet wound in her left arm.

Victoria Sovie, aged 21, was almost unconscious with a bullet wound in her thigh.

Mrs. Stephen L. A. Hall received a bullet through the right shoulder which is feared will prove fatal. Mrs. Alice Bryant, aged 34, was shot in the neck, and is also probably fatally injured. The fifth woman to receive bullet wounds was Miss Kate Shea, aged 38, who received a bullet in the left arm.

All of the injured were hurried to North Adams and placed in a hospital. Mallak was taken to the North Adams police station and locked up, but later turned over to the Adams police.

Motorman Hoyt was heard to speak to Mallak, cautioning him about getting off the car and telling him to get back to his eat. Meanwhile the car was slowing down, and just before it came to a dead stop Mallak pulled out a 38-calibre revolver. He aimed the first bullet at the back of the motorman and then turned upon the women passengers and fired point blank till his revolver was emptied.

QUINCY GIRLS HURT IN MAINE

After Explosion On Motor Boat Are Sent To Hospital

L VE IN WOLLASTON

A dispatch from Bath, Me., states that two Quincy girls were injured on the Kennebec river Sunday, when the compressed air tank of a power boat, in which were a party of Wollaston people, exploded. When the tank exploded the pieces of metal flew about creating quite a panic for a few minutes. Two of the party Miss Anna Witham, aged 13 years and Miss Joyce Buchanan, aged 12 years were most painfully injured. Miss Buchanan having one of her legs fractured. Both were later taken to the hospital. Others in the party were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur P. Homer and P. C. Leonard. All of the party are well known in Wollaston.

BATTLESHIP COMING.

Three first-class battleships will be in Boston harbor Aug. 1, 2, 3, and 4, in response to a request made by the Pilgrim Publicity Association, so that delegates to the convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America may have opportunity to view examples of Uncle Sam's Navy. The Rhode Island, New Jersey and Georgia, sister ships, will be open for inspection and will be objects of interest to many at that time. An additional feature is the fact that all three ships were built in New England shipyards, the Rhode Island and New Jersey having been launched from the Fore River Works, and the Georgia from the Bath Iron Works, being the first battleship ever built in Maine, and the largest vessel launched in the Pine Tree State.

K K

A DOLLAR

Puts A Hoosier in Your Home

Copyrighted, 1906, by Hoosier Mfg. Co.

We'll Give a Hoosier Away This Evening

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

1495 Hancock Street

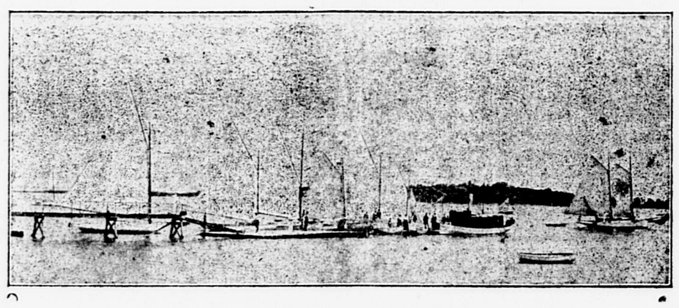
Open This Evening

K K

GUESTS OF HONOR AT WOLLASTON YACHT CLUB

Elegant Entertainment Ashore and Afloat Provided For the Fair Friends Of the Well Known Club

Annual Ladies' Day Held Saturday Afternoon. Sailing And Dancing With Dain y Supper On the Club House Veranda



The annual ladies' day of the Wollaston Yacht club held on Saturday afternoon and evening was an unqualified success from start to finish. The club is noted as a royal entertainer and the affair easily held its own with social events of the past, both in numbers and hospitality.

In the early afternoon, weather conditions seemed rather dubious with storm clouds in the sky a few raindrops and but a capful of wind from the East. Shortly after the starting gun boomed, however, the wind veered around to the west with increasing force, and by the time the yachts were fairly underway, a good sailing breeze was to be had.

The preparatory gun was fired at 4.30 and the start was made at 4.35. Taking a course around red spar buoy, off Nut Island, and return, the yachts passed in review before Commodore Louis E. Crosscup and a party of guests on the flagship Coroneta.

A large number of yachts well filled with members and guests took part in the sail. Numbered among them were several yachts from other clubs.

By those who preferred the broad piazzas, music by Estes orchestra was enjoyed, while from the club the view of the white winged boats dotting the water, broken here and there by a motor launch, made a most refreshing picture.

The club house looked its smartest, being fairly hidden with gray bunting. Covering the entire runaway from the shore to the club house was a canopy of bunting surmounted by the flags of all nations. This augmented by numberless Japanese lanterns made a most effective scene.

The return was made to the club shortly before six at which time the call to supper was sounded. Responsible for the excellent management of the sail were the regatta committee consisting of Clifton H. Sass, Fred P. Hill, Walter Coombs, Fred Raymond and Albert Harriman.

At supper close to 600 were served, the entertainment committee coming through in flying colors, considering the enormous crush.

In the evening dancing was enjoyed by large numbers the floor being excellent and the orchestra most accommodating.

The entertainment committee were in charge of the decorating and the house arrangements and they consisted of George S. Sherman, Frank F. Taylor, J. A. Podbury, Burt Seymour, George Winslow, Harold Winslow and George Stebbins.

The untiring efforts of Secretary A. N. Potterton in the reception of members and guests were much appreciated by those present.

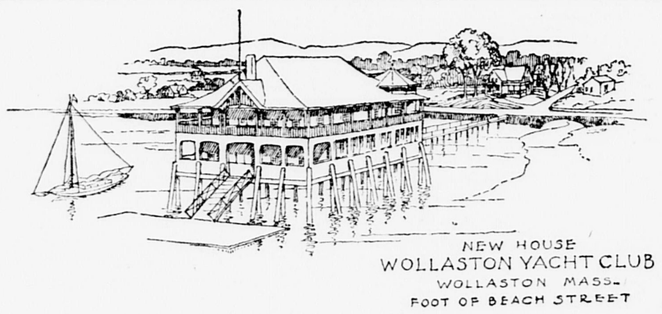
The boats participating in the review and sail, together with their captains and guests, were:

Flagship Corneta, Commodore Louis E. Crosscup—Mrs. Frank G. Brown, Mrs. Seymour, Miss Ruby Burgess, Herbert S. Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Sanborn, Miss Edna C. Sanborn, Waldemar Crosscup, R. W. Tufts, Frank Burgess, Mrs. E. Y. Tufts.

Yacht Adelaide, Capt. Clarence L. Quinby—Mrs. Clarence L. Quinby, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Taylor, Miss Elsie M. Taylor, Miss Margaret E. Westergren, Mr. and Mrs. William Clark, William C. Clark Jr.

Launch Hypatia, Capt. James H. Stedman—Mrs. J. Francis Merrill, Mrs. James H. Stedman, Mrs. F. P. Stiles, Benjamin Ayer, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Stiles; A. G. Baker and family, Mrs. T. P. Sheridan, Miss Pauline Lordan, Mrs. M. A. Musgrave, Mrs. S. V. White, Mrs. Albert R. Park, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Hicks, Miss Hazel Jones, Miss Ruth Page Miss Gertrude Sass, Miss Marian Smith, C. W. Page, Chester R. Allen, C. L. Coombs, Mrs. C. H. Taber, Mrs. A. F. Forbes, Robert Voight, Miss

(Continued on Page Four.)



E. E. GRAY CO.

QUINCY and WOLLASTON

1525 Hancock Street, Music Hall Block — Corner Newport Avenue and Brook Street

Cuts for Week Commencing July 24

Flour, (Golden Gate)	per Bag	69c
Salmon, (Good Alaska)	per can	13c
Condensed Milk, (Rose Brand)	per can	9c
Cornstarch,	per pkg.	4c
Macaroni or Spaghetti	per pkg.	7c
Ox Tongue, (Armor's Veribest)	per can	50c
Deviled Meats (Ham Flavor)	small can	4c
	large can	9c
Sardines (Norwegian Smoked)	per can	8c
Catsup, (Gray's Golden Gate)	large bot.	16c
Quaker Oats,	2 pkgs.	15c
Grape Juice, (Randall's)	med. bot.	16c
Gray's Self-Rising Flour	5 lb. bag	21c
Fancy Large Lemons	per doz.	30c
Crackers, (Royal Lunch Milk)	per lb.	8c

F M W

SERIOUS FIRE THIS MORNING ON FREEMAN STREET, NORFOLK DOWNS

Flames Spread Rapidly And Young Child Has Hard Time In Rushing From Attic To Safety

The alarm from box 152, at 10.13 this morning, called the department to a serious fire in a double house, on Freeman street, Norfolk Downs, and but for the hard rain at the time would have been more serious. When the department arrived the fire had broken through the roof and several houses but a few feet away were in immediate danger of catching. Prompt work on the part of the department, however, confined the fire to the building where it started.

The house, a double one, is owned by the estate of C. A. & F. E. Staples and is situated at 36 Freeman street. The house is occupied on the upper floor by C. M. Laing and on the street floor by Mrs. G. A. Barnes. The fire started in the kitchen of the tenement of Mr. Laing.

According to Mrs. Laing, the fire was caused by some papers near the gas stove taking fire. She put a small kettle on the stove to heat and went down stairs. On returning, a few minutes later, she found the kitchen all ablaze. She rushed out of the house and gave the alarm. At the time, a young son of Mrs. Laing's was in the attic playing and he had a hard time making his way through the flames to safety. So rapidly did the flames spread, that it was impossible to get out any of the furniture.

The family on the street floor were enabled to get out some of their furniture but it was more or less damaged.

The nearest hydrant was some distance away, being near the corner of Freeman street and Rawson road. Here the steamer was stationed and two lines of hose were run to the building. Another line of hose was taken across the lot from Royal street.

Once at work the department made short work of the flames, although the upper part of the building was badly gutted and practically all of the furnishings in the upper tenement were ruined. The fire also worked up through the roof of the rear of the house and the lower floor was flooded with water, that came through the floors.

(Continued on Page Three.)

OPPOSED BY QUARRYMEN

Want No Union Men To Be Members Of Civic Federation

DEFEND McNAMARA

International quarry workers' union, which concluded its first convention Saturday at the Quincy house, went on record as being opposed to any member of the union or organized labor being a member of the National civic federation.

Several important changes in the constitution were affected Saturday, among them being an increase in the death benefit from $50 to $125, an exemption from payment of dues for those more than 60, and an increase in the initiation fee from $1 to $3 and the dues from 50 cents to 60 cents.

Among the resolutions adopted were those defending the McNamara brothers, favoring a workingmen's compensation bill, favoring the election of U. S. senators by referendum vote and subject to recall by vote of the people and opposing the unwarranted issuing of injunctions in labor disputes.

The delegates gave a vote of thanks to Sec.-Treas. Suitor for his work in building up the organization.

The 60 delegates from various parts of the United States and Canada and International Pres. George Thompson of Barre, Vt., and International Sec-Treas. Fred W. Suitor, also of Barre, declared the convention highly successful from every point of view.

HOME TRADE WILL HELP QUINCY AND EVERYONE IN QUINCY.

Low Cuts

That Will Fit You

Don't be satisfied with a pair that gap at the sides, slip at the heel or pinch the toes.

Our Oxfords

are especially designed to fit your foot perfectly. Set closely around the top, fasten snugly over the instep.

Come In! and let us fit you properly

RALSTON'S for MEN — JONES Just around the Corner 1 Granite Street — AMERICAN LADIES for WOMEN

July 24-3t

DON'T FAIL TO READ THE GREAT SERIAL "THE DANGER TRAIL" NOW RUNNING IN THE LEDGER

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1889

THE HOME NEWSPAPER

Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.

BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
219 East 23d Street,
New York City

Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter.

Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50

Telephone, Quincy 425

Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

But as all the rest had sought cover in the cloak rooms, no one can disprove it.

The Congressional Record reverberates with the words "loud applause" inserted by the men who made the speeches.

A man who spends his mornings and nights digging in his vegetable garden rarely ever votes the Socialist ticket.

Indiana, after manfully swatting the fly, is to have a "kill the rat" day, on which occasion the Hoosier poets should be able to get a square meal.

Cleo de Merode, the Paris dancer, is coming over to lecture on "How to attract men." From her experience of the bald headed row, she ought to know.

Dr. Forman of Cornell says study of Greek would divert young men from the passion for money getting. Possibly, if there was anyone left in college to be diverted.

This paying duty on animals taken out of the country and brought back, must be hard on people near the line who raise chickens with a well developed wanderlust.

If all the money that will be invested in get rich quick mining stocks in the next five years could be put into the postal savings banks at only two per cent, our people would be much wealthier.

We are glad that the west side of Hancock street is receiving the attention of our road commissioner. It has been in bad shape for many months, especially at the head of Granite street, which needs considerable filling in and grading to eliminate the holes and bring it to a level with the street car tracks.

Grand Army men and their friends who are anxious to have a hall in Quincy should induce Albert Donovan of Rockland to come to our city and stir things up. Recently he created a sensation in Natick by asking in his speech: "Have you a Women's Relief Corps in town?" "Yes," came the answer from some one in the audience. "Have they a hall?" "Yes." "Who pays for it?" "They do." "Then why in the name of God, don't you go over and help them? It is business and patriotism."

PROTECT TOWN RECORDS.

When Braintree builds her new town hall, doubtless it will include a fireproof vault for the storage o f the priceless town records, which were fortunately saved from Thursday's fire. If other Massachusetts towns are wise, they won't wait for a fire before providing a safe place for their records.—(Globe.)

Excellent advice. No city or town should be without the proper facilities for guarding its papers and records against fire. Braintree's experience should be a warning to all municipalities which have been lax in that particular.

MILK INSPECTION.

It is an irrefutable fact that hundreds of infants die each year in the state from excessive quantities of bacteria in the milk given to them. The Ellis bill will give the State Board of Health power to exclude unsanitary milk from the State market and to guarantee Massachusetts producers fair competition and uniform inspection. The Ellis bill will reduce to a minimum the possibility of deaths from milk infection. It is therefore important that such an important measure should not be vetoed.

Dealers only are required to take out permits. Producers who are not dealers are simply registered. Dealers selling not over five quarts a day need not take out permits. This exception was made in order that neighbors might get milk of each other without the inconvenience of writing to the State Board of Health for a permit.

It was made less than a can because anything less than a can would not be likely to get into the general supply, and it was felt that if a can was excepted, it might be the very one from which an epidemic might start.

The intemperance of the unreasoning opposition constitutes its own answer. It is generally considered good business to please one's customers. Why not in the milk business? Somethink like three million consumers ask for an effective system of milk inspection as a protection to life. If they are given this protection, they will have confidence in the milk; they will buy more; and the producers will make greater profits as they ought to.

On one side is the prospect of saving many human lives; on the other side, nothing but groundless and fanciful fears which we know from experience will vanish as soon as the act is in full operation.

ON HAPPY VACATIONING.

A chance acquaintance met by us this summer at a widely popular resort made the remark, that "This is a mighty fine place for a fellow who has got a lot of money to spend."

But the place referred to was neither stiff Newport, aesthetic Bar Harbor, nor any other of the more costly playgrounds of our social higher ups. Automobiles with expensive purrs were numerous to be sure, and there was the exclusive glitter of private club life and a lavish array of multifarious servants.

But there were some thousands of people there who were not ashamed to save a quarter by walking half a mile, nor bothered if their shoes did look dusty as the Smart Set pranced past.

The remark quoted above is typical of an increasing number of people who have failed to develop within themselves resources by which they can make leisure pleasant without a spendthrift fling of money.

Thus the acquirement of skill at some diversion often proves a means of money saving. The man who becomes a fairly good player at Lawn tennis, golf, billards, pool, gets just as much fun out of the $25 to $50 a year more or less that his game may cost him, as if he was spending $2500 on keeping up an automobile.

Indeed he gets far more. What does you the most good is the consciousness of power, the feeling that you have acquired a degree of mastery over some art. When you send one of those sweeping low cut twisting strokes just clearing the net at tennis, with a shoot on it that baffles a skilful opponent, you feel a personal sense of satisfaction a hundred times more thrilling than the restless love of speed enjoyed by the man who sits behind the chauffeur.

The only thing in motoring that can compare with it would be the personal fun of driving the machine yourself, if you happen to like it. Even then there would be missing the sense of triumphant competition that comes to the man that plays any kind of a winning game. All which goes to show that the fun you have on your outing this summer depends not on the size of the roll you carry, but what you have trained your hand to do and your mind to feel.

BULL RUN.

Just fifty years ago this section of the country was wild, suffering with the terrible depression over the certainty that the Union army, turned into a rabble, were fleeing for the protection of Washington. We called it Bull Run; the Gray, Manasses.

At any rate, fifty years is a short span in the life of a nation and it is with a feeling of gratefulness to know that on the old field of disaster for the federal troops—the Blue and Gray will meet in brotherly festivities, the reunion marked by the presence of the President of the whole United States, himself, testifying to the healing processes of time.

A POLITICAL TIP.

And now the two factions of democrats of Pennsylvania at "loggerheads" about most everything else agree upon Woodrow Wilson for President. There were present old fashioned democrats who thought well of Harmon, but Wilson carried each faction by a large majority. Clark's name was hardly mentioned.

This looks like first blood for Wilson. It shows the popularity of the professor-governor. Harmon labors under the disadvantage of the disapproval of Bryan and this is a factor that cannot be ignored with any safety. However, it is a little too soon for any kind of prediction. Some idea as to the lasting quality of Gov. Wilson's popularity might be gained from a perusal of the columns of any issue of his old supporter, The New York Sun.

SERIOUSLY INJURED IN MALDEN RIOT

Police Have A Strenuous Time Battling Things Paving Stones Fly Through Air

Riot Detail Fight Half Hour To Get Control

Malden, Mass., July 24.—Two men were seriously injured and a score badly bruised in a riot last night at Suffolk square, which called out a riot detail of police officers to quell. Eight police officers battled for nearly half an hour before they were in control of the situation. The men said to be the ringleaders of the trouble were captured in the melee and placed under arrest.

Max Missenbaum, aged 22, was most seriously injured. A huge iron bar was jammed down his throat in the height of the fight.

Philip Fleischner, aged 13, was felled by a blow from a club, which laid open his skull.

Every drug store in the vicinity had people come in and ask for treatment for cuts and bruises. The police estimate that at least twenty must have been injured.

The police arrester Everett Ballard, 17 years old, Garrett Kelly, 20, and John J. Mayer, 20.

The riot was provoked by about 100 men and boys, believed to compose gangs from Malden and Everett, who, it is stated, deliberately invaded the district where the riot took place with the intention of causing trouble.

Clubs, brickbats, iron bars and weapons of every description were used and scores of windows were broken.

About 8:50 the mob appeared in Suffolk square and proceeded to clean out each street running into the square. For some time they marched about, driving people from the sidewalks. Their shouts could be heard for blocks, bringing out practically every resident of the district.

The incensed people at last turned at bay, and a battle began which was only broken up by the arrival of the police.

The gang, possessed of a great deal of confidence because of their numbers, laid about them with the weapons with which they had provided themselves, while the angry citizens fought back to protect home and property.

Huge paving stones flew through the air and splintered through neighboring windows, and the thuds made by descending clubs as they struck mingled with the shouts of the rioters.

Drawing their clubs, the officers forced their way into the centre of the howling, whirling, cursing, fighting mob and succeeded in capturing Ballard, Kelly and Mayer.

Young Fleischer was picked up unconscious with a wound on his head, evidently made by an iron bar, and after being treated, was removed to his home, where his condition was said to be serious.

Missenbaum was taken to Dr. Fischer's office, where it was found an iron bar had been forced down his throat, penetrating his lower jaw. He was taken to his home and his recovery is doubtful.

STOP THE SPEEDING.

Sooner or later something will have to be done in this country to properly regulate the speed of automobiles. Under a recent municipal police ordinance, high powered automobiles in England are required to carry an apparatus which will give warning when the city speed limit is exceeded or will automatically diminish the speed in such cases.

The apparatus for the first class, which is much used consists of an air-comprising cylinder prolonged at the bottom by a smaller cylinder containing a piston which has two peripherl vents and is forced down by a spring. The piston of the air compressing cylinder is connected with the driving mechanism and its velocity is proportional to the speed of the vehicle.

So long as this speed is below the prescribed limit the pressure of the air which continually escapes through one of the vents of the small piston, remains too low to move this piston and compress the spring. When the legal speed limit is exceeded, however, the pressure rises and the small piston is forced back until the second vent comes opposite a whistling vent in the wall of the small cylinder, so that the whistle is sounded by the escaping air.

HOME TRADE WILL HELP QUINCY AND EVERYONE IN QUINCY.

FOSS HEEDS PROTEST OF THE FARMERS

MILK BILL TO BE VETOED

As matters stand now Gov. Foss is likely to veto the Ellis milk bill which calls for a very rigid inspection. The farmers of the state are up in arms against it and at a mass meeting in Worcester the other evening roundly condemned it.

Myron Pierce, who has represented the advocates of the Ellis bill, saw the governor yesterdy. The governor told him that he had written his veto and that he would send it to the house tomorrow.

The governor believes in a rigid inspection of milk, but it has been represented to him that the Ellis bill would result in a further increase of the price of milk. He does not believe that the poor people can afford to pay any more for milk than they are paying now.

Besides, the governor believes that the Ellis bill would drive the small milk producer out of business, as he could not live up to the demands of the Ellis law. Milk production in Massachusetts has fallen off greatly in the past few years and there are 20,000 fewer cans in the state than there were a few years ago, it is said.

The grange has protested against the Ellis bill, but there is a strong demand for it from professional men.

POSTAL BANK IN BOSTON OPENS AUG. 1.

Saturday evening Postmaster Mansfield will leave Boston for Washington to confer with Postmaster General Hitchcock relative to the installation of the new postal Savings Bank for the Boston postal district on Aug. 1st. In Chicago and New York, postal banks will also be opened on that date

Postmaster Mansfield said yesterday that at the outset the business of the bank would be confined to the Central or Devonshire Street office, but be extended in the near future to other postal stations of the district. For the present the bank will be under the supervision of the money order division.

The success of the postal banks already installed in certain manufacturing centres leads the postmaster to anticipate a large volume of business which at the start, however, he thinks can be handled by the present force in the money order department.

MIDSUMMER MAGAZINES.

WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION. One of the most interesting things in the August Woman's Home Companion is an article which reports the girlhood of Mary Garden, the famous grand opera singer. The article is one of a series just beginning which is to treat of the girlhood of a number of prima donnas. The present article contains a thrilling account of Miss Garden's first great public appearance in Paris. It was a sudden call into an important part, and the young woman made herself famous in a night. "How I Sold My Daughters," is the title ofa n extraordinary piece of self-revelation by a omther. Unusual fiction is contributed by Zona Gale, Fannie Heaslip Lea, Dorcas Davis, Frederick M. Smith, Mary Hastings Bradley, Harriet P. Spofford and others. On the practical side are several important contributions in addition to the regular fashion and household departments. All sorts of excellent, useful suggestions are made along various lines.

QUINCY REAL ESTATE SALES.

John E. Andrews to Mary A. Sawyer Crosby street.

Frances S. Barry to Marie A. Hersey, Washington street.

Verena L. Bennett to Annie M. Kelley, Safford street.

Annie E. Boisclair to Charles E. Stratton, Newbury avenue.

Christen P. Christenson to Annie M. Kelley, Old Colony street.

Mary W. Dinegan to Eugene W. O'Connor, Franklin and Payne street.

Jeremiah W. Donovan to Annie M. Kelley, Felton street.

Dorchester Co-operative Bank to Annie M. Kelley, Glover and Newbury avenue.

Joseph L. Eaton to Annie M. Kelley, Lenox street.

Rosa Fleischman to Frank Cooperman, Sumner street.

Mary E. Goodhue to Vincenzo Di Scinilo et al Phipps street.

Louis Gottlieb to Annie M. Kelley, West Howard street.

Charles A. Jones to Harlow H. Rogers, Wendell avenue.

Alice Kelly to Elizabeth Kelly, Copeland street.

Wilbur F. Lakin to Quincy Savings Bank, Robertson street.

Wilbur F. Lakin to Quincy Savings Bank, Willard street.

Elmer E. Lord to John F. McDevitt, Elm avenue.

Clara B. Macdonald to Jane M. Freno, Shore road.

James McAllister to Vittorio Verzari Liberty street, extd.

Manet Land Associates to Annie M. Kelley, River road.

Manet Land Associates to Annie M. Kelley, Sea street.

Roberta A. Newcombe to Annie M. Kelley, Botolph street.

Nathan G. Nickerson to Edward H. Sears, Kemper street.

Ella M. Norris to City of Quincy, Whitwell street.

Eugene W. O'Connor to Arthur Murphy, School and Hancock streets.

James R. Oxner to City of Quincy, Fayette street.

Thomas F. Padula to Quincy Savings Bank, School street.

Horace W. Richmond to Hattie I. Bates, Fayette street.

Theo K. Sahlsten to Annie M. Kelley, Curtis street, Matson street.

Theo K. Sahlsten to Annie M. Kelley, Matson street.

Patrick J. Shannon to Harlow H. Rogers, Centre road.

William T. Shea et al trs to Eugene W. O'Connor, School and Hancock streets.,

Walter Webb to City of Quincy, Sagamore street.

Walter Webb to City of Quincy, Prospect street.

Charles H. Winslow et al to Peter Swanson, Edwards street.

Charles H. McSweeney to Annie M. Kelley, Dorchester street, Parke avenue.

Charles H. McSweeney to Annie M. Kelley, Wedgewood street.

Charles H. McSweeney to Annie M. Kelley, Bellevue road, Monmouth street.

Charles H. McSweeney to Annie M. Kelley, Huckins avenue.

Lillie B. Titus to Frank J. Watts, Brunswick street, Orchard street, Huckins avenue.

Frank J. Watts to Charles S. Judkins Brunswick street, Orchard street, Huckins avenue.

FOR MISSION WORK

Anonymous Gift Received by the American Board of Foreign Missions

Boston, July 24.—The American board of foreign missions confirmed the report that it had received an endowment of $1,000,000, the sum to be used in mission work. The gift is anonymous, although it is known that the donor is of a well known New York family.

The board will receive the interest on the money, which will amount to $50,000 annually, and it will be applied to the various universities in the east.

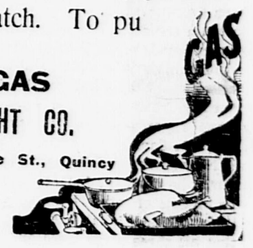
TO LET
IN QUINCY CENTER
SEVERAL DESIRABLE HOUSES
7, 8 and 10 Rooms
Every convenience and very desirable locations.
RENT $25 TO $40 according to house
APPLY TO
MISS PRESCOTT,
Ledger Office
Quincy, July LPOff

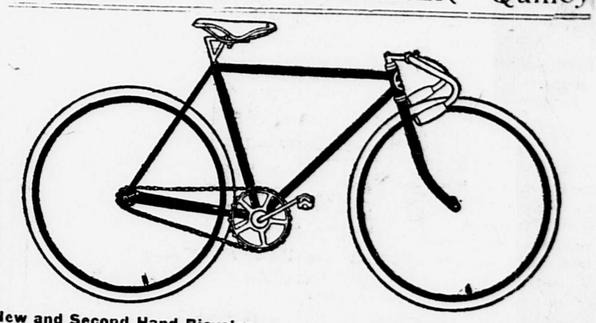
PATENTS
TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 25 years experience.
Send 3-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.
READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.
D. SWIFT & CO.
PATENT LAWYERS,
303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

THE LOGICAL YOUNG MAN'S BANK
The young man's bank should be the bank that will, by its sturdy character and solidity, dignify his relations with it and his standing in the business world. Young men who habitually bank their earnings and surround their incomes with banking safe-guards will find their habits of thrift improving steadily. If you don't see why, call and talk it over.
NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

Our Teas Have a Reputation
Because we put our heart and soul in the tea business and look after it with a zealous care.
We're particular in our sampling to get tea that is perfectly blended, because now that we have you suited it would be poor policy to allow the quality to depart from its usual high standard.
LIPTON'S, 1-2 lb. can 28c
C. & S. Orange Pekoe, 1-2 lb. can 28c
S. S. PIERCE'S Choisa, 1 lb. can 60c
R. E. FOY & CO.
July 24-2t

A WELL COOKED DINNER
If you have a good cook is assured when you use a gas stove or gas range. The heat is steady and uniform, which is not the case with a wood or coal stove, and you can raise or lower the flame as you please—which of course, is impossible on any other kind of cook-stove. To make a fire, you simply turn on the gas and apply a match. To pu it out, turn off the gas.
COOK WITH GAS
CITIZENS' GAS LIGHT CO.
11 Granite St., Quincy



WHEELER'S
The Store for Ladies' Furnishings
We will continue our Sale of Shirt Waists and Long Gloves
See what we offer in Shirt Waists for 79c and 98c
and Long Gloves for 50c and 75c
We are also showing a new line of Children's Parasols, all colors, for 25c and 29c
WE GIVE CASH DISCOUNT SLIPS
City Square G. W. WHEELER Quincy


New and Second Hand Bicycles. Sundries and Repairing
Agency for Columbia and Hartford Bicycles
HUB CYCLE CO.
Thomas Nelson, 20 Granite Street, QUINCY
May 15-3n

CHARGED THAT LIQUOR IS SOLD ILLEGALLY

Case Against the Exclusive Country Club Of Brookline Excites Much Interest

Judge Perkins Has Issued Two Summonses

The case of the exclusive Country club of Brookline, which is charged with maintaining a place in which liquor is kept illegally, has assumed a new phase, and as there are several members of the club who reside in Quincy, the case is somewhat of local interest. Aside from this, City Solicitor John W. McAnarney is one of the attorneys for the club.

Over a month ago, the law Enforcement League tried to get a summons against the club, which resulted in several star chamber meetings between counsel of the league, and the court, Judge Perkins has now issued two summonses against the club, in which is charged with maintaining a place in which it illegally kept liquor and also with selling liquor illegally to members and visitors.

The cases will be given a hearing Tuesday and the legal papers will be served on John W. McAnarney and John P. Fegan, attorneys for the Country Club, today. Should the attorneys refuse to receive the papers they will then be served upon President Lawrence Curtis or some other officer of the club.

TEAM FOUND IN ROCKLAND

Driver Left It To Chase Boys Who Threw Stones

WAS NOT STOLEN

The police department was requested Saturday afternoon, to hunt up a two horse team belonging to the Norwell store of Berry Bros., which was reported to have been stolen. It seems that the team started for Quincy, and on the way out, the driver picked up a friend and gave him a ride. After leaving Quincy the team started down Washington street for Norwell. At the corner of Washington and Canal streets, some boys threw stones at the team and the driver gave chase. Returning a few minutes later, he was surprised to find that the team had disappeared. After a fruitless search, the police were notified and Chief Burrell sent word to the police of surrounding towns to look out for it. All there was in the team at the time, was a twenty pound tub of butter.

Late Saturday night, word was received from the police of Rockland that the team was there. The man who drove off the team said that he had waited fifteen minutes in Quincy for the driver to return, and then getting tired of waiting had driven to Rockland.

IN INNOVATION.

The Manchester Woman's club is to undertake the work of furnishing escorts to the beach for children whose parents do not care to have them go alone. A list will be printed in the local papers every week of time and place the children are to meet the chaperon.

They want the parents to understand this chaperon is to escort their children to the beach and look after them to the best of her ability while there. This does not mean that she will be able to watch every child every second of the time she is there, but she will be on hand in case of need, and can, in a general way, superintend their play. Any misdemeanor will be reported to the parents. All children between the ages of five and fifteen years will be welcome.

One day a week will be an all day picnic and the children must furnish their own lunch.

AT DRIVING CLUB.

The most interesting race in the weekly matinee meet of the Old Colony Gentlemen's Driving club, at South Weymouth, Saturday, was in class F. Five horses started in the race. B. T. Wilkins big Brownie took the first heat and B. F. Daly's big Acqueline took the next two heats and won the race. The winner in the several events were as follows: Class A, Altro L; Class B, Duffy's Malt; Class E, May Boy; Class F, Acqueline; Class G, Bertha B; Class H, Arena; Class I, Mecena.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

WAS ROLLING IN WEALTH

Stranger With A Large Roll Taken Into Custody

GIVEN TIME TO SOBER

A man who claimed that he had recently came from Portsmouth, N. H., to Quincy, looking for work, was taken in charge Sunday evening by Officer Bishop for drunkenness. The man came to Quincy on a car and being under the influence of liquor made some disturbance. When searched at the police station Sergt. Barry thought he must have been a bank president, for the fellow was loaded with money. From his pockets Dave took $58.75 in money and bank books showing deposites of $1,500. The fellow claimed that it was his intention if he did not find work at the Fore River to go back to Portsmouth. He was taken to court this morning and fined $5. After court he demanded his money, but as he was not fully sobered, Chief Burrell sent him to the station and had him put to bed until he was in proper condition to take care of his money.

SERIOUS FIRE THIS MORNING

(Continued from Page One.)

The loss is a hard one to estimate but the total will not be far from $2,000. Mr. Laing had a lot of new furniture in his tenement which as noted above is practically ruined and his loss will not be far from $1,200. The building is damaged to the extent of $500 and the furnishings of Mrs. Barnes will not be far from $300. It is understood that all parties are covered by insurance.

Chief Williams was at the Central Station when the alarm sounded, and went to the fire on the auto chemical, which made a quick run considering the condition of the streets which are dangerous to fast driving. Driver Dillon had just finished putting chains on his rear wheels however when the alarm sounded so that the chemical was in fit condition to make a quick run.

The local newspaper men are indebted to Chief Maurice Pierce of Milton for taking them to the fire. When the alarm sounded, Chief Pierce was at the court room and he directed William Fallon, who drives the Milton auto catcher to take the scribes to the fire. A remarkably quick run was made.

Mr. Laing was notified in Boston by telephone that his house was on fire and arrived at the scene after the fire was out.

Some of the neighbors put up quite a kick at the lack of hydrants. They claim that although the street is an acepted one there is not a hydrant on it.

SUNDAY'S FIRE.

The alarm from Box 75 at 1.15 Sundaywas for a fire in the upper part of a house at Winthrop park, owned by Mrs. William Hill, of Melrose and occupied in part by Abraham Levinson. The fire was caused by the explosion of an oil stove in the attic and did a damage of $5.

SUNDAY IN OUR CHURCHES

Topics and Announcements For Coming Week

WOLLASTON METHODIST CHURCH

Rev E. H. Dorr preached a very excellent sermon at the Wollaston Methodist church. He took for his text Matt. 6-33. He showed that each and every one was seeking after something in life. Then, he showed the value of seeking after righteousness. At the close of the "One hour Sunday school" the superintendent Mr. J. A. Sedgwick summed up the lesson. Mr. Dorr spoke to the children at this service.

There was a very large audience at the Epworth League, which was led by the pastor. An inspiring praise service was led by Mr. Harry Brooks and Miss Irma Douglas sang a solo. Mrs. Bennett played the piano. The service was turned into a "telegraph meeting" and the testimonies were given thick and fast.

UNITED PRESBYTERIAN.

The pastor preached at the Sunday morning service, using as his subject "The Moral Law, its origin, nature, authority and purpose." The choir rendered a pleasing anthem. The attendance at the meeting was fair.

The session of the Sunday school was fairly well attended.

The Y. P. S. C. E. meeting was led by Malcolm McKenzie. There was a larger attendance than during the past few Sundays.

In the evening, the pastor preached from the text "Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth." The sermon contained much practical advice to the young people. A tenor solo "The sinner and the song" was sung by Wesley McLean.

The regular prayer meeting will be held Thursday evening at 7.30. Following the service there will be a meeting of the officers and teachers of the Sunday school.

The Sunday school picnic will take place Saturday afternon at Glen Echo park, Stoughton. Cars will leave Doble's corner at 1 o'clock sharp. Returning will leave the park at 6.30. A good attendance is expected.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN.

The pastor took for his Sunday mornin gtheme "Responsive and Reflective Types" getting the text from Prov. 27:19. "As in water face answers to face so the heart of man to man." Paul, Peter and Thomas were pointed out as signifcant types which were used to illustrate the points of the sermon.

In the evening the pastor exchanged pulpits with Rev. W. W. Iliffe of Brookline. Mr. Iliffe preached on the topic, "Marks of a Christian." Both services had very good attendances.

There will be a meeting of Session Thursday evening after the regular prayer meeting.

A business meeting of the Y. P. S. C. E. will be held after the prayer meeting Thursday evening.

The prayer meeting Thursday evening will be the last until September. The Sunday services will continue right through the summer.

The Ruth and Lydia class will hold a picnic at Highland park, Brockton, Saturday afternoon.

CALVARY BAPTIST.

At the service Sunday morning the pastor preached from Eph. 3:16. The topic of his sermon was "The effect of God's wonderful love." "We are not saved only that we may have eternal life but that we may be strengthened for all things." "The most wonderful thing is not the controlling of the Universe but God's power to change a man's heart so that he will be a power for good in the world. The saving grace gives us strength for withstanding suffering, for making an effort and for rendering service in His Name. All is given freely, an unmerited favor from God.

The Sunday school services were held as usual and the Y. P. S. C. E. service took place at the usual hour. Miss Robina Skinner led the meeting.

In the evening the pastor took for his theme "How have you crowned Him?" John 19:5 was the text. "Then came Jesus forth wearing a crown of thorns." He is a king worthy of wearing a crown and it rests with us what kind of a crown he shall wear. Those who turn a deaf ear to the gospel, rejecting it altogether and those who are indifferent to its teachings are placing a crown of thorns upon His brow. The crowning of Christ with thorns excites Divine surprise, divine grief and sorrow.

The Bible Study class will meet in the church Tuesday evening at the usual hour.

The Standing committee of the church will meet Wednesday evening.

The regular prayer meeting will be held Thursday evening.

(Continued on Page Six.)

MORTGAGEE'S SALE.

By virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed, given by Christina Campbell to Wilton A. Dunham, recorded with Norfolk Deeds, Book 1176, Page 337, for breach of the conditions of said mortgage deed, and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction, on the premises hereinafter described, on Thursday the seventeenth day of August 1911, at ten o'clock in the forenoon all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed, namely:

A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon situated in Quincy in that part called Adams Shore, comprising lots numbered 172-173 as shown on the plan of house lots at Adams Shore, Quincy Mass., dated December 19, 1908, owned by Wilton A. Dunham, Ernest W. Branch Surveyor recorded with Norfolk Registry Deeds Plan 2430 book 51 said lots contain 6000 square feet of land according to said plan.

The premises will be sold subject to any and all unpaid taxes and assessments thereon.

Two hundred ($200) dollars will be required to be paid in cash by the purchaser at the time and place of sale.

WILTON A. DUNHAM
Mortgagee and present holder of said mortgage.
Julian C. Woodman, Esq., Attorney,
911 Old South Building,
Boston, Mass.
3t July 24, 31,7

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
Norfolk,ss Probate Court.
To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, creditors and all other persons interested in the estate of Albert L. Nason late of Quincy in said County, deceased, intestate:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, to John A. Nason of said Quincy without giving a surety on his bond. You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Dedham in said County of Norfolk, on the sixth day of September A. D. 1911, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And the petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in said Quincy the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-first day of July A. D. 1911.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.
July 24, 31, 7

CLAM BAKE AT WOLLASTON

Annual Club Run And Bake Of Wollaston Yacht Club

HELD ON SUNDAY

The annual club run and clam of the Wollaston Yacht club was held Sunday, between 15 and 20 yachts participating. The fleet left the club house a little after 9 o'clock, with a strong west, southwest breeze allowing the boats to carry all canvas. The rendezvous of the fleet was Weymouth back river. This gave the boats a run across Quincy bay rounding Houghs Neck, thence across Weymouth Fore river and across back river to the bridge where the fleet arrived about noon.

On arriving, the fleet found that the vanguard had already started the bake which was served shortly after noon. It was a good one, and the crews had their fill of steamed clams and the "fixins" that go with a bake. The run home was made late in the afternoon the boats arriving at their moorings off the club house at 6.30. The committee in charge were Fred Raymond, Fred Hill, Walter J. Coombs, George Sherman, Albert Harriman and Clifton Sass.

DREADNOUGHT NEARING COMPLETION

LAUNCHING AUG. 26TH

Quincy, Mass., July 24.—An international mystery surrounds the construction of the dreadnought Rivadavia, which is fast nearing completion at the Fore River shipyards in Quincy. This and her sister ship, which is being built at Camden, N. J., when fully equipped will be the world's two greatest battleships.

There is much speculation as to which nation will eventually own this powerful ship of war. She is being built for the Argentine republic, but her sale by that country is considered almost certain.

"'Ere, Bill! wot's the matter?—you're lookin' worried."

"Work—nothing but work from mornin' till night."

"'Ow long 'ave you been at it?"

"I begin tomorrow."

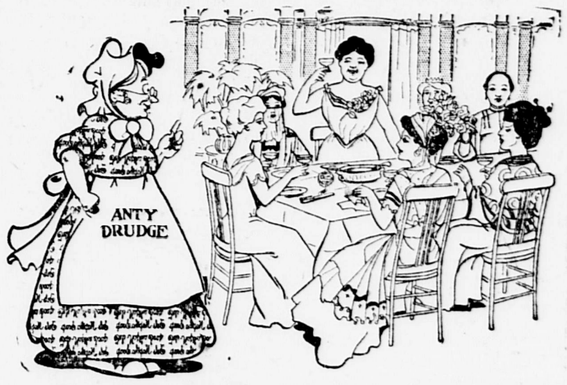
Mortgagee's Sale of Real Estate.

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Alice M. Tucker to Mary G. Pierce dated June 28, 1905 and recorded with Norfolk Deeds, book 1003, page 224, which mortgage was transferred by mesne assignment to the undersigned, for breach of the condition of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction on the premises hereinafter described on the fifteenth day of August 1911 at nine o'clock in the forenoon, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage and therein described as follows, to wit: Two certain parcels of land with all the buildings thereon situated in said Quincy, and bounded and described as follows: The first parcel being the northeasterly portion of lot numbered 18 on "Plan showing lands owned by the Edison Park Land Associates, in the City of Quincy, Mass." made by H. T. Whitman, Surveyor, dated October 1895, and recorded with Norfolk Plans, book 20, plan 901, and is bounded: Southeasterly on River Street, so-called, sixty (60) feet; Northeasterly on lot No. 19 on said plan one hundred and three and sixty-two hundredths (103.62) feet; Northwesterly on lot No. 20 on said plan seventy-three and ninety-six hundredths (73.96) feet; and Southwesterly on the remaining portion of said lot No. 18 ninety-six and six tenths (96.6) feet; containing according to said plan 6676 square feet of land. Being the same premises conveyed to said Alice M. Tucker by Herbert T. Whitman, et al, trustees, by deed dated March 5, 1902 and recorded with Norfolk Deeds, book 916, page 42, and the premises are hereby conveyed subject to the restrictions recited in said deed so far as now in force and applicable. The second parcel is bounded: Commencing at a point one hundred (100) feet northeasterly from Bay View Street so-called, thence bounding Northwesterly on land belonging to the Edison Park Land Associates, seventy-seven (77) feet; thence running Southeasterly and bounding northeasterly on land now or formerly of Gavin and others about one hundred and four (104) feet; thence running Southwesterly and bounded southeasterly on land of the grantor (being the first parcel above described,) sixty (60) feet; thence running Northwesterly parallel with and one hundred (100) feet distant from Bay View Street, a distance of one hundred feet to point of beginning; containing 7460 square feet of land more or less, and being the same premises conveyed to said Alice M. Tucker by John W. Chisholm by deed dated June 7, 1905, duly recorded with Norfolk Deeds, and this conveyance is made subject to the easement recited in said deed.

Said premises will be sold subject to said easement and to any unpaid taxes, assessments and tax titles, if any.

Further terms at sale.

ELLEN F. GALLIVAN.
Assignee and present owner of said mortgage.
Boston, Mass., July 24, 1911.
July 24-3t 24, 31, 7



Anty Drudge Honored at a Banquet.

Toastmistress—"Here's to her who has lightened the work of a million weary women; who has done away with hot fires, rooms full of unhealthful steam, with resulting colds and other ailments; who has made it possible to wash white clothes without making them yellow; colored clothes without fading; woolen and flannel things without shrinking; who has changed wash-day from a horror almost to a pleasure. Here's to Anty Drudge! May she live long to spread the good news of Fels-Naptha soap among all women."

Monday has no terrors for those who wash with Fels-Naptha.

No early rising, no hot fire, no dangerous vessels of scalding water, no unhealthful steam, no hard rubbing, no chapped hands, aching bones and muscles.

Instead—rise at your usual time, soap the wash in cool or lukewarm water, rub the things with Fels-Naptha, roll and then let them soak for half hour; rub lightly, rinse and hang on the line.

You'll find that Fels-Naptha removes the dirt as if by magic.

And the clothes are cleaner and sweeter than if washed in the old, hard work way. The white things are pure white; the colored goods are not faded; flannels and other woolens are not shrunk.

Add to all this the fact that clothes last about twice as long when washed the Fels-Naptha way.

Follow the directions on the red and green wrapper in which Fels-Naptha is sold

Advertise in The Ledger

PATCH'S

Special Range Coal

IGNITES QUICKLY

If it were stony or of bad quality it wouldn't.

It is the most reliable coal imaginable, helps the cook when she's in a hurry and shows up best when needed most.

Besides it burns up so thoroughly as to leave the smallest quantity of ash.

Buy it and try it and see why so many will burn no other.

One ton should prove it.

C. PATCH & SON, INC.

Office, 1422 Hancock Street, Quincy

HOUSEKEEPERS

TELL YOUR TROUBLES

HOLMES & HALL

We make a business of repairing the things about the house that get out of order such as DOORS, LOCKS, SHADES, BELLS and FURNITURE.

96 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 974 L

UPHOLSTERING

My only ambition is to get the work and to show the people of Quincy Town that nobody can beat me with my good work. Low prices on all kinds of furniture, repairing, mat tresses, and cushions. Can give references. M. Mirkin 67 Washington street, next to Y.M.C.A. Quincy. Tel. 1112W. April 10-4mo.

JAMES F. BURKE

Real Estate and Insurance

AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES

Justice of the Peace Notary Public

Room 4, Savings Bank Building

Tel. 385-3 Jan. 17-tf

A. M. DEANE & CO.

MONUMENTS

MEMORIALS ERECTED IN ANY CEMETERY IN THE UNITED STATES

Aug. 1. 1y

PATTERSON, "The Florist"

92 South Central Ave.

WOLLASTON, MASS.

Telephone 392 Quincy

STORAGE

— FOR —

Furniture and Pianos

Storage Warehouse with Separate Rooms

Furniture and Piano Movers

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.

1425 Hancock Street, Quincy Tel. Con.

HERBERT A. HAYDEN

Piano Tuner

Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock treet, Quincy.

Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1153 M Nov. 3-tf

M. T. SULLIVAN

Real Estate Insurance

Auctioneer Care of Property

Justice of the Peace

Corner School and Hancock Streets

QUINCY.

LEWIS N. CURTIS,

PAINTER and GLAZIER.

LEADED STAINED GLASS.

DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER

OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.

Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

Quincy Savings Bank

BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.

SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.

CLARENCE BURGIN,
Treasurer.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

FIRE INSURANCE.

The Best Insurance. The Lowest Rates.

Insurance Department,
1395 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Telephone, Quincy 87-3.

PATENTS

PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES. Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent. Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively. Write or come to us at 710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office, WASHINGTON, D. C.

CA·SNOW & CO.

Quincy Daily Ledger

HIGH TIDE FOR WEEK.

Monday, July 24,	9.45	10.00
Tuesday,	10.45	11.00
Wednesday,	11.30	12.00
Thursday,	12.00	12.30
Friday,	12.45	1.15
Saturday,	1.45	2.15
Sunday,	2.30	3.00

1911 JULY 1911

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
						1
2	3	4	5	6	7	8
9	10	11	12	13	14	15
16	17	18	19	20	21	22
23	24	25	26	27	28	29
30	31

PROHIBITION FOR STATE OF TEXAS

With what is estimated to be three-fourths of the votes cast in today's liquor election counted, the prohibitionist are leading by the narrow margin of 3461, according to the latest returns. Returns from all the larger towns are in, and as the rural districts are against the saloon it seems a safe prediction at this time that the state has gone dry.

BRIEFS

Peter Mead of Quincy Point has been visiting his aunt Miss Alice Redding at Plymouth.

Mrs. Ray A. Stearns of Wollaston is entertaining her mother Mrs. Effie Arnold of Duxbury.

J. S. Swingle, the Extra Dark man, has joined the ranks of the automobilists appearing Saturday in a new Rambler.

Rev. W. W. Dornan and son of Plymouth formerly of Quincy have gone to Bermuda on a nine days' trip and on their return are to go to St. John, N. B., and to Labrador.

MANY PUBLIC BEQUESTS.

Many public bequests are contained in the will of Nathaniel Thayer of Boston and Lancaster which was filed, July 21, among them $250,000 to the Boston Museum of Fine Arts; The Massachusetts Institute of Technology and the Massachusetts General Hospital each $50,000. Boston Lying-in-Hospital, $10,000; town of Lancaster, $5,000, income to be used by library committee for the purchase of books; Unitarian church, Lancaster, $5,000; Clinton Hospital, $5,000; Walter C. Harris, $10,000; testator's wife, $5,000; Alice R. Thayer, sister-in-law, $5,000, and Miss Elizabeth B. Everett, $4,000. Mr. Thayer left an estate worth at least $10,000,000.

To each of the three children there is immediately payable $200,000 each from the principal of the estate. These are daughters by first marriage.

To the widow throughout her life there is left the old family residence at Lancaster, with its appurtenances, and the trustees are also instructed to pay her $60,000 a year from income of the estate. Mrs. Thayer will be remembered as Pauline Revere whose girlhood was passed in Quincy, the family home being on Presidents hill. The local W. R. C. is named for her father who was active in the Civil war as was Paul Revere of midnight ride fame in the Revolutionary war.

Death of Lowell Ex-Mayor

Lowell, Mass., July 24.—Hon. Charles E. Howe, senior member of the firm of Charles E. Howe Lumber company and mayor of this city during the years 1903 and 1904, is dead at his home of sciatic rheumatism, after an illness of eight months' duration.

The Weather

Almanac, Tuesday, July 25.

Sun rises—4:47; sets—7:18.

Moon sets—8:06 p. m.

High water—10:45 a. m.; 11 p. m.

Forecast for New England: Probably fair and cooler; moderate to brisk south winds.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, Lucas County, ss.

Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure. FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

A. W. GLEASON,
(Seal) Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

PHILANDER C. KNOX

Who Will Sign the Arbitration Treaty Bills.

© 1910, by American Press Association.

SIGNING OF TREATIES RUSHING FORWARD

No Delay By Absence of Officials From Washington

Washington, July 24.—The signing of the general arbitration treaties, which the United States is concluding with Great Britain and France will not be delayed by the absence from Washington of the British and French ambassadors.

The president announced that arrangements had been made by which Ambassador Jusserand would sign the French treaty at Paris, and Ambassador Bryce would sign the treaty with Great Britain probably at his summer home in Maine. Secretary Knox will sign the treaties in Washington.

THE SOMERVILLE SHOOTING

Plea of Not Guilty Entered In the Wilkinson Shooting Affair

Somerville, Mass., July 24.—Frank J. Blaskoveck pleaded not guilty to the charge of murdering Mrs. Frances Wilkinson. He waived examination and was held without bail for the grand jury.

Blaskoveck was without counsel, his only adviser being his father, who is nearly distracted over the affair.

A third bullet was found in the body of Mrs. Wilkinson. Three of the four bullets have been located. Where the fourth went is a mystery.

Blaskoveck was taken to the Cambrdige jail at the conclusion of the court proceedings.

SHOOTS DIAMOND CLERK

Daring Robbery of New York Jeweler by Three Armed Men

New York, July 24.—Three armed thieves invaded the heart of the Tenderloin, smashed a Sixth avenue jeweler's show window, shot his clerk dead, seized $5000 worth of diamond rings and got away in a touring car.

Adolph Stern, 32 years old, employed by John Jacobs, was the victim. He was shot as he ran to stop a man who had thrown a rock through the window. The tray of rings was stolen from the window at the same time. A woman was concerned in the crime.

A NEW GERMAN INVENTION

Patent Taken For Pistol Which Produces Apparent Death

Berlin, July 24.—An inventive German has taken out a patent for a pistol for producing apparent death for a brief time. It is loaded with a bullet made of a chemical composition, to which is added enough powder to propel it.

The bullet explodes and causes a thick cloud of vapor, which envelopes the victim, makes it impossible for him to see, renders his breathing difficult, and he finally falls into a swoon that lasts from twenty minutes to a half hou.

Texas Goes "Wet"

Dallas, Tex., July 24.—Returns received by the Galveston-Dallas News gave the prohibition amendment to the state constitution 219,815 votes and the anti-prohibitionists 222,535 votes, a majority of 2701 votes for the "wets."

Novel Double Wedding

Auburn, Me., July 24.—An unusual double wedding has taken place here, at which the grooms were father and son and the brides mother and daughter. Charles A. Hill married Mrs. Caroline S. Lebby and Lester E. Hill married Miss Orrah M. Lebby.

Son to Bury Mother

New York, July 24.—Selwyn C. Egar, Jr., left his home at Tarrytown and started for Chicago to claim the body of his mother, who was a servant when she was killed there by an automobile.

Injured by Auto

Boston, July 24.—William Mottee, 4 years old, while at play on Hyde Park avenue, Hyde Park, ran in front of an automobile and was knocked down and sustained a fractured skull and broken leg.

MEASURE GIVEN GOOD MAJORITY

Democrats and "Regular" Republicans Unite on Reciprocity

BILL PASSED BY SENATORS

Now Awaits Action of Canadian Parliament—Laurier In Favor and Said to Have a Majority of Sixty Members Behind Him—Bitter Struggle on Wool Is Expected—Prospects of Adjournment

Washington, July 24.—The reciprocity trade agreement between the United States and Canada, embodied in the reciprocity bill passed the senate without amendment by a vote of 53 to 27. A majority of Republicans voted against it. Of 53 votes for it, 32 were Democratic and 21 Republican; of the 27 against it, 24 were Republican and 3 Democratic.

This action settles the Canadian reciprocity question so far as congress is concerned.

Congressional practice will delay the affixing the president's signature until Wednesday. The bill must be returned to the house for engrossment and for the signature of Speaker Clark.

With one exception the provisions of the bill will not become effective until the president issues a proclamation that Canada has ratified the pact. The exception is in the paper and pulp section of the bill.

The anadian government under Premier Laurier, is pledged to the agreement just as the American government was pledged to it through President Taft.

The Canadian parliament is now in session. Mr. Laurier has a majority of sixty government members behind him. They are sure to vote with him in this government emergency.

In the events that led up to the final passage of the measure when amendments were defeated, party lines were variously drawn. Every threatened change in the bill was defeated by the consistent union of Democratic and "regular" Republican forces.

President Taft followed the votes on the various amendments and on the final passage of the bill with the keenest interest at the White House and stated he was much gratified at the disposition of the matter. He will be in Washington Tuesday, after a visit to Beverly, Mass.

A bitter struggle is expected in the senate next week over the wool tariff. A wool revision bill already has passed the Democratic house. Several substitutes have been offered in the senate and a vote will be taken Thursday next.

Senator Penrose ventured the prediction that congress would adjourn not later than Aug. 9 or 10.

MORE FROM THE MAINE

Discoveries Made Beneath the Enormous Mass of Wreckage

Havana, July 24.—Remains supposed to represent the bodies of seven of the crew of the Maine were recovered here, bringing the total so far found up to eleven. All were discovered beneath the enormous mass of wreckage.

The bones were piled in a confused mass. Hardly a single member is intact, most of them showing evidence of the action of fire.

There is not the least hope of the identification of any of the remains. There is no trace of clothing and the skulls are all much shattered.

BOY DECAPITATED

Young Lad Killed While Walking on Track at Waltham

Waltham, Mass., July 24.—Alfred Maloney, 14 years old, son of Mrs. Matthew Maloney of this city, was decapitated by a freight car of the Boston and Maine west of the Moody street crossing here.

With several companions he was walking along the tracks just as an engine backed against the train. The boy was knocked down and his head was severed.

His father, Matthew Maloney, was killed from a fall off a staging two years ago.

Another "Jack the Snipper"

Lynn, Mass., July 24.—Miss Mary Colby, 14 years old, was the victim of a "Jack the Snipper" at a local moving picture show. The child was wearing her hair in two braids. Nine inches of one braid was cut from her head by some unknown man.

To Guard Against Cholera

Boston, July 24.—The bureau of public health at Washington has detailed to this city an expert. He will supervise the bacteriological examination of passengers from cholera infected ports and also will confer with Dr. Samuel H. Durgin.

Sued For Wearing Apparel

Lynn, Mass., July 24.—Harry N. Atwood, the aviator, is defendant in a suit brought in this city for clothing. The plaintiff tried to trustee money due Atwood but was informed that there was nothing due.

WOLLASTON YACHT CLUB

(Continued from Page One.)

Dorothy Musgrave, Louis A. Shay, Mr. and Mrs. John Flahive, Mrs. R. H. Walsh, Miss Grace Elcock, Miss Alicia Elcock, Mr. and Mrs. John Stuart, Miss Mildred E. Stuart, Miss Alice S. Stuart, Miss Fannie E Stuart, Miss Mae H. Landers, Miss Lucia Coombs, Mrs. J. F. Haynes, Mrs. George H. Church, Mrs. Albert L. Warner, Mrs. J. W. Cropper, Miss Blanche S. Wilde, Miss Lulu A. Goodrich, Winslow B. Weston, G. V. White.

Launch Nellie I. Capt. B. Sturgis—Miss Bertha Polk, Lester Inman, Miss Ruth Caldwell, Miss Emily White, Miss Mildred Gardner, Miss Myrle Daniels, Miss Marion Gardner, Miss Marion Cobb, Miss Gertrude Pletsch, Miss Miriam Addison, Mrs. G. L. Marr, Robert Hatch, Mrs. D. M. Sherman, Joseph Barbour, Mrs. Henry Pletsch, Mrs. Arthur Caldwell, Mrs. Frederick Raymond, Mrs. Henry K. Ellis, Miss Marie Lavery, Miss Susan Flahive, Miss Alice Flahive, Mrs. F. J. Lavery, Miss Dorothy Lavery, Mrs. James S. Sennot, Mrs. William Burrill, Mrs. J. K. Barbour, Mrs. H. A. Harding, J. K Barbour, William Burrill, H. A. Harding, Joseph McNamara, Francis McNamara, Mrs. L. R. A. Farrell, Webster Farrell, H. W. Inman, F. C. Butman, Mrs. H. W. Inman, Miss Eleanor Jones, Emery F. Waite Jr., A. H. Waite Robert H. Waite, Herbert Derley, Foster Ganzel, Lester Gummerson, Arthur E. Linnel, Albion Hill, Everett Hill, W. N. Downer, Mrs. W. N. Downer, Mrs. D. F. Burbank, Wendall Burbank, Miss Ruth Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. William K. Ellis, E. C. Maheaux.

Yacht Leda, Vice Commodore Frank F. Taylor—Harry Waldron, L. A. Waldron, Mrs. L. A. Waldron, Miss Catherine W. Ellis, Miss Edna M. Shay, Mrs. R. M. Cleale, Miss Mildred Polk, Dr. and Mrs. F. M. Little, Miss Madeline A. Guillop, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Franklin, H. C. Chase, James A. Smith, Miss Bessie White, George S. Sherman, Mrs. Armory H. Waite, Mrs. J. D. Rafter, Mrs. Jopein, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Poplin, B. L. Haines, R. B. Metcalf, R. A. Morse.

Yacht Terror, Capt. Clifton H. Sass—Miss H. A. MacDonald, Myron Stebbins.

Launch Penguin, Capt. Ira M. Cushing—Mr. and Mrs. Wyatt, Mrs. I. M. Cushing.

Yacht Pocahontas, Capt. J. Maheux—Mrs. H. K. Ellis Jr., Mrs. R. W. Boyle, Mrs. E. A. Maheux, Mrs. Katherine K. Hayes, Miss Dolly Ellis, H. K. Ellis, Jr., J. W. Hallet, E. H. R. Gardner.

Yacht Louise, Capt. C. A. Richardson— Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Crafts, Miss C. Richardson, Miss C. F. Gutterson, Miss H. F. Hendrickson, Miss Lillian Hendrickson, Miss Rose Hendrickson, Miss Alice B. Lizotte, Miss E. T. Crafts.

Launch Dorothy R. Capt. Thomas F. Raiche—Thomas Rich, Frank Raiche, Mrs. T. F. Raiche, J. Mullen, William Eaton.

Launch Gladys, Capt. T. G. Shaerer—Oscar Hilden, Mrs. H. Griffin, Mrs. T. G. Shaerer, H. Rodd.

Launch Scramble, Capt. A. B. Cassidy—Miss May Critchley, Raymond C. Cassidy, Clarence P. Cassidy, Mr. and Mrs. A. Fox, Mrs. A. B. Cassidy.

Yacht Wabun, Capt. Clifford W. Backus—Mrs. Wilbur L. Scoville, Miss Amy A. Scoville, Miss Ruth W. Scoville, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Backus, Raymond Hall.

CRANBERRY CROP IN DANGER

A Big Shortage Is Looked For In This Industry at Harwich

Harwich, Mass., July 24.—The recent drouth has badly damaged the cranberry crop of Cape Cod, according to reports received from all parts of the cape.

Cranberry bog owners look for a great shortage in this fall's harvest. Nearly all the cape bogs blossomed exceedingly well and about a month ago there was a prospect of a heavy crop.

HOT WEATHER

and dirt breed germs. Germs bring diseases and are a menace to your health. Our sanitary dyeing and cleaning processes render your clothes free from germs.

Get The Sanitary Habit!

We call for and deliver the work

WARSHAW'S DYE HOUSE

"The Home of Cleanliness"

1503 HANCOCK STREET
QUINCY

July 15-tf

Why keep your friends and family in suspense? A Western Union "Day Letter" will give them all the news before a letter could be started on its way.

THE WESTERN UNION TELEGRAPH COMPANY

ROOSTER COAL BRIQUETS

THE NEW ANTHRACITE COAL

ROOSTER BRIQUETS are made from the choicest small Scranton Anthracite coal, mined in Pennsylvania, called TWENTIETH CENTURY CHESTNUT size.

Just consider for a moment what we offer here in this 20th CENTURY CHESTNUT.

First, 200 pounds of clean, pure, hard coal without a rock or a piece of slate.

Second, fuel that cannot form into a clinker, by any known method of firing, consequently the linings and grates last indefinitely.

Third, they are made in nut size, being equally convenient for furnace heaters, open grates, as well as stoves; therefore, only one storage bin is necessary.

Fourth, and very IMPORTANT, the quality of this fuel is the SAME EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR, not a good ton today, and nothing like it the next time, in other words, when you once learn how to regulate your drafts you have nothing more to learn about burning BRIQUETS.

Fifth, no more sifting ashes these Briquets burn out clean. They require less wood to kindle.

Be sure to ask for "ROOSTERS" and get the Briquet made from pure Scranton Coal, from the largest Briquet plant in the country. They are better than coal, will last as long and cost less.

J. F. SHEPPARD & SONS,

AGENTS

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.

BATHING SUITS

Caps and Water Wings

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

BAREFOOT SANDALS

The best thing for the children to wear during the warm weather. They are light and comfortable and give good satisfaction.

CHILDS	5 to 8	45c
MISSES	8 to 11	50c

HEFFERNAN'S SHOE STORE

1375 Hancock Street, Quincy

Commonwealth of Massachusetts

Norfolk, ss. Superior Court.

To the Honorable the Justices of the Superior Court next to be holden at Dedham within and for the County of Norfolk:

Respectfully libels and represents Alina Matilda Rinne of Quincy in said County that she was lawfully married to August Rinne now at Iron River, Michigan at Iisalmi, Finland on the twenty-fourth day of March A. D. 1902, and thereafterwards your libellant and the said August Rinne lived together as husband and wife in this Commonwealth to wit, at said City of Quincy since January 1904, that your libellant has always been faithful to her marriage vows and obligations but the said August Rinne being wholly regardless of the same at said Quincy in the County of Norfolk. That the libellee is guilty of gross and confirmed habits of intoxication caused by the voluntary and excessive use of intoxicating liquors; that on divers occasions he has cruelly and abusively treated her, and that being of sufficient ability he grossly and wantonly and cruelly refuses and neglects to provide a suitable maintenance for her; that the libellee is guilty of adultery with persons unknown to your libellant.

Wherefore your libellant prays that a divorce from the bonds of matrimony may be decreed between your libellant and the said August Rinne, and that she may have the custody of their child Armas Elnari.

Dated the third day of June A. D. 1911.

ALINA MATILDA RINNE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Norfolk, ss Superior Court.

On the foregoing Libel, it is ordered that the Libellant give notice to the said August Rinne the Libellee, to appear before the Justices of this Court to be holden at Dedham, within and for said County, on the first Monday of September next, by causing an attested copy of said Libel, and of this order thereon, to be published once in a week for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper printed at Quincy in the County of Norfolk, the last publication to be fourteen days at least before the said first Monday of September next, and further, by sending through the mail, as soon as may be, by a registered letter addressed to the last known residence of the said August Rinne an attested copy of said Libel and of this order thereon that the said August Rinne may then and there show cause why the prayer of said Libel should not be granted.

By the Court,

LOUIS A. COOK, Clerk.

July 13, A. D. 1911.

A true copy of said Libel, and of Order thereon.

Attest,

R. B. WORTHINGTON,
Assistant Clerk.

July 17-3t 17, 24, 31

Commonwealth of Massachusetts

Superior Court. Norfolk ss.

To the Honorable the Justices of the Superior Court next to be holden at Dedham within and for the County of Norfolk.

Respectfully libels and represents Emil Saastamoinen of the City of Quincy in said County that he was lawfully married to Adolfiina Saastamoinen now of Finland in some parts unknown to your libellant at said Quincy on the ninth day of July A. D. 1904, and thereafterwards your libellant and the said Adolfiina Saastamoinen lived together as husband and wife in this Commonwealth to wit, at said City of Quincy; that your libellant has always been faithful to his marriage vows and obligations but the said Adolfiina Saastamoinen being wholly regardless of the same at said Quincy and on or about the tenth day of August A. D. 1907, she utterly deserted him and has continued such desertion from that day to the date hereof being more than three consecutive years next prior to the filing of this libel.

Wherefore your libellant prays that a divorce from the bonds of matrimony may be decreed between your libellant and the said Adolfiina Saastamoinen.

Dated the eighth day of July A. D. 1911.

EMIL SAASTAMOINEN.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Norfolk, ss. Superior Court.

On the foregoing Libel, it is ordered that the Libellant give notice to the said Adolfiina Saastamoinen, the Libellee, to appear before the Justices of this Court, to be holden at Dedham within and for said County, on the first Monday of September next, by causing an attested copy of said Libel, and of this order thereon, to be published once in a week for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper printed at Quincy in the County of Norfolk, the last publication to be fourteen days at least before the said first Monday of September next, and further, by sending through the mail, as soon as may be, by a registered letter addressed to the last known residence of the said Adolfiina Saastamoinen an attested copy of said Libel and of this order thereon that the said Adolfiina Saastamoinen may then and there show cause why the prayer of said Libel should not be granted.

By the Court,

LOUIS A. COOK, Clerk.

July 13, A. D. 1911.

A true copy of said Libel, and of Order thereon.

Attest,

R. B. WORTHINGTON,
Assistant Clerk.

July 17-3t 17, 24, 31

CHICHESTER S PILLS
THE DIAMOND BRAND.
Ladies! Ask your Druggist for Chi-ches-ter's Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with Blue Ribbon. Take no other. Buy of your Druggist. Ask for CHI-CHES-TER S DIAMOND BRAND PILLS, for 25 years known as Best, Safest, Always Reliable
SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

THE DANGER TRAIL

By JAMES OLIVER CURWOOD

Copyright, 1910, by Bobbs-Merrill Company.

SYNOPSIS

Jack Howland, engineer, sent to build the Hudson Bay railroad, is appealed to for help by a beautiful girl who writes that she is a mute and invites him to accompany her. They are followed by Jean Croisset, half breed.

They go to her camp. He is attacked and nearly killed by a huge stranger. The girl disappears. Howland hears her speak. Croisset gives him the little Meleese's warning not to go north. He goes.

Howland again sees the girl, who tells him by note his life is in danger. She asks his forgiveness. Gregson and Thorne are mere wrecks of their former selves.

Mysterious perils threaten Howland. The girl visits him and confesses that she had lied to him. She entreats him to return south.

He tells her he loves her. Her name is Meleese. She partly promises to tell him why enemies seek his life.

Howland is lured to a mine, taken prisoner and bound to a box of dynamite which is soon to be exploded.

He frees himself and prevents the explosion. Meleese meets him again, refuses to marry him and again lures him into the hands of enemies.

Croisset takes Howland, his prisoner, into the wilderness. They are followed by Meleese. Howland promises not to attempt to escape.

They reach the house of the Red Death, a deserted Hudson Bay post. Then Croisset departs for several days. Howland plans to capture him upon his return.

Howland and Croisset fight. Croisset tells Howland he intends to kill him. Howland knocks out the half breed and orders him to take him to Meleese.

Croisset tells him he is going to his doom. Howland's plan to ambush his enemies fails. He is desperate, and Croisset aids him.

They reach a deserted cabin overlooking the home of Meleese and Howland's enemies. Though threatened with death, Croisset refuses to explain why Howland's life is sought. At night Howland goes to Meleese.

She promises to marry him and to join him in the south if he will only flee. Enemies discover him, and he is shot and imprisoned in a cabin.

(Continued from last issue)

"First I am to tell you a story, m'seur," continued Croisset, leveling his reddened eyes to the engineer's. "It will not be long, and I pray the Virgin to make you understand it as we people of the north understand it. It begins sixteen years ago."

"I shall understand, Jean," whispered Howland. "Go on."

"It was at one of the company's posts that it happened," Jean began, "and the story has to do with le m'seur, the factor and his wife, L'Ange Blanc—that is what she was called, m'seur—the white angel. Mon Dieu, how we loved her! Not with a wicked love, m'seur, but with something very near to that which we give our Blessed Virgin. And our love was but a pitiful thing when compared with the love of these two, each for the other. She was beautiful, gloriously beautiful as we know women up in the big snows; like Meleese, who was the youngest of their children.

"Ours was the happiest post in all this great northland, m'seur," continued Croisset after a moment's pause, "and it was all because of this woman and the man, but mostly because of the woman. And when the little Meleese came—she was the first white girl baby that any of us had ever seen—our love for these two became something that I fear was almost a sacrilege to our Dear Lady of God. Perhaps you cannot understand such a love, m'seur. I know that it cannot be understood down in that world which you call civilization, for I have been there and have seen. We would have died for the little Meleese and the other Meleese, her mother. And also, m'seur, we would have killed our own brothers had they as much as spoken a word against them or cast at the mother even as much as a look which was not the purest. That is how we loved her sixteen years ago this winter, m'seur, and that is how we love her memory still."

"She is dead," uttered Howland, forgetting in these tense moments the significance Jean's story might hold for him.

"Yes, she is dead, m'seur. Shall I tell you how she died?"

Croisset sprang to his feet, his eyes flashing, his lithe body twitching like a wolf's as he stood for an instant half leaning over the engineer.

"Shall I tell you how she died, m'seur?" he repeated. "Sixteen years ago, when the little Meleese was four years old and the oldest of the three sons was fourteen, a man and his boy came up from Churchill. He had letters from the factor at the bay, and our factor and his wife opened their doors to him and to his son and gave them all that it was in their power to give.

"Mon Dieu, this man was from that glorious civilization of yours, m'seur—from that land to the south where they say that Christ's temples stand on every four corners, but he could not understand the strange God and the strange laws of our people. For months he had been away from the companionship of women, and in this great wilderness the factor's wife came into his life as the flower blossoms in the desert. Ah, m'seur, I can see now how his wicked heart strove to accomplish the things and how he failed because the glory of our womanhood up here has come straight down from heaven. And in failing he went mad—mad with that passion of the race I have seen in Montreal, and then—ah, the great God, m'seur, do you not understand what happened next?

Croisset lifted his head, his face twisted in a torture that was half grief, half madness, and stared at Howland, with quivering nostrils and heaving chest. In his companion's face he saw only a dead white pallor of waiting, of half comprehension. He leaned over the table again, controlling himself by a mighty effort.

"It was at that time when most of us were out among the trappers, just before our big spring caribou roast, when the forest people came in with their furs, m'seur. The post was almost deserted. Do you understand? The woman was alone in her cabin with the little Meleese, and when we came back at night she was dead. Yes, m'seur, she killed herself, leaving a few written words to the factor telling him what had happened.

"The man and the boy escaped on a sledge after the crime. Mon Dieu, how the forest people leaped in pursuit! It was the factor himself and his youngest boy who found them far out on the Churchill trail. And what happened then, m'seur? Just this: While the man fiend urged on his dogs the son fired back with a rifle, and one of his bullets went straight through the heart of the pursuing factor, so that in the space of one day and one night the little Meleese was made both motherless and fatherless by these two whom the devil had sent to destroy the most beautiful thing we have ever known in this north. Ah, m'seur, you turn white! Does it bring a vision to you now? Do you hear the crack of that rifle? Can you see"—

"My God!" gasped Howland. Even now he understood nothing of what this tragedy might mean to him—forgot everything but that he was listening to the terrible tragedy that had come to the woman who was the mother of the girl he loved.

"They escaped, m'seur."

With a deep breath Howland sank back. In a moment he leaned again toward Jean as he saw come into the Frenchman's eyes a slumbering fire that a few seconds later blazed into vengeful malignity when he drew slowly from an inside pocket of his coat a small parcel wrapped and tied in soft buckskin.

"They have sent you this, m'seur," he said. "'At the very last,' they told me, 'let him read this.'"

With his eyes on the parcel, scarcely breathing, Howland waited while with exasperating slowness Croisset's brown fingers untied the cord that secured it.

"First you must understand what this meant to us in the north, m'seur," said Jean, his hands covering the parcel after he had finished with the cord. "We are different who live up here—different from those who live in Montreal and beyond. With us a lifetime is not too long to spend in avenging a cruel wrong. It is our honor of the north. I was fifteen then and had been fostered by the factor and his wife since the day my mother died of the smallpox and I dragged myself into the post, almost dead of starvation. So it happened that I was like a brother to Meleese and the other three. The years passed, and the desire for vengeance grew in us as we became older until it was the one thing that we most desired in life, even filling the gentle heart of Meleese, whom we sent to school in Montreal when she was eleven, m'seur. It was three years later, while she was still in Montreal, that I went on one of my wandering searches to a post at the head of the Great Slave, and there, m'seur—there"—

Croisset had risen. His long arms were stretched high, his head thrown back, his upturned face aflame with a passion that was almost that of prayer.

"M'seur, I thank the great God of heaven that it was given to Jean Croisset to meet one of those whom we had pledged our lives to find, and I slew him. It was the father, and I killed him, m'seur—killed him slowly, telling him of what he had done as I choked the life from him—and then, a little at a time, I let the life back into him, forcing him to tell me where I would find his son, the slayer of Meleese's father. And after that I closed on his throat until he was dead, and my dogs dragged his body through 300 miles of snow that the others might look on him and know that he was dead. That was six years ago, m'seur."

Howland was scarcely breathing.

"And the other, the son," he whispered tensely—"you found him, Croisset? You killed him?"

"What would you have done, m'seur?"

Howland's hands gripped those that guarded the little parcel.

"I would have killed him, Jean."

He spoke slowly, deliberately.

"I would have killed him," he repeated.

"I am glad of that, m'seur."

Jean was unwrapping the buckskin, fold after fold of it, until at last there was revealed a roll of paper, soiled and yellow along the edges.

"These pages are taken from the daybook at the post where the woman lived," he explained softly, smoothing them under his hands. "Each day the factor of a post keeps a reckoning of incidents as they pass, as I have heard that sea captains do on shipboard. It has been a company law for hundreds of years. We have kept these pages to ourselves, m'seur. They tell of what happened at our post sixteen years ago this winter."

As he spoke the half breed came to Howland's side, smoothing the first page on the table in front of him, his slim forefinger pointing to the first few lines.

"They came on this day," he said, his breath close to the engineer's ear. "These are their names, m'seur—the names of the two who destroyed the paradise that our Blessed Lady gave to us many years ago."

In an instant Howland had read the lines. His blood seemed to dry in his veins and his heart to stand still. For these were the words he read, "On this day there came to our post from the Churchill way John Howland and his son."

HIS HANDS CLINCHED, HIS BODY BENT AS IF ABOUT TO SPRING.

With a sharp cry he sprang to his feet, overturning the stool, facing Croisset, his hands clinched, his body bent as if about to spring. Jean stood calmly, his white teeth a-gleam. Then slowly he stretched out a hand.

"M'seur John Howland, will you read what happened to the father and mother of the little Meleese sixteen years ago? Will you read and understand why your life was sought on the Great North trail, why you were placed on a case of dynamite in the Wekusko coyote and why, with the coming of this morning's dawn, at 6"—

With the dazed speechlessness of one recovering from a sudden blow Howland turned to the table and bent over the papers that the Frenchman had laid out before him. Five minutes later he raised his head. His face was as white as chalk. Deep lines had settled about his mouth. As a sick man might, he lifted his hand and passed it over his face and through his hair. But his eyes were afire. Involuntarily Jean's body gathered itself as if to meet attack.

"I have read it," he said huskily as though the speaking of the words caused him a great effort. "I understand now. My name is John Howland. And my father's name was John Howland. I understand. And you, Jean Croisset—do you believe that I am that John Howland—the John Howland, the son who"— "M'seur, it makes no difference what I believe now. I have but one other thing to tell you here and one thing to give to you," replied Jean. "Those who have tried to kill you are the three brothers. Meleese is their sister. Ours is a strange country, m'seur, governed since the beginning of our time by laws which we have made ourselves. To those who are waiting above no torture is too great for you. They have condemned you to death. This morning, exactly as the minute hand of your watch counts off the hour of 6, you will be shot to death through one of these holes in the dungeon walls. And this—this note from Meleese—is the last thing I have to give you."

He dropped a folded bit of paper on the table. Mechanically Howland reached for it. Stunned and speechless, cold with the horror of his death sentence, he smoothed out the note. There were only a few words, apparently written in great haste:

I have been praying for you all night. If God fails to answer my prayers I will still do as I have promised and follow you. MELEESE.

He heard a movement and lifted his eyes. Jean was gone. The door was swinging slowly inward. He heard the wooden bolt slip into place, and after that there was not even the sound of a moccasined foot stealing through the outer darkness.

(To be Continued.)

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, creditors and all other persons interested in the estate of Charles C. Nash late of Weymouth in said County, deceased, intestate:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, to Juliett C. Nash of Weymouth without giving a surety on her bond. You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Brookline in said County of Norfolk, on the twenty-sixth day of July A. D. 1911, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And the petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in Quincy, Mass., the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this eighth day of July A. D. 1911.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.

July 11-3t 11, 17, 24

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next-of kin and all other persons interested in the estate of Susannah Curtis late of Quincy in said County, deceased:

Whereas, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for Probate, by Henry F. Tilden of Quincy who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, without giving a surety on his official bond; You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Brookline in said County of Norfolk, on the twenty-sixth day of July A. D. 1911, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in Quincy the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, postpaid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this thirteenth day of July in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.

July 14-3t 14, 17, 24

LLOYD'S
EYEGLASSES AND SPECTACLES
KRYPTOK BIFOCAL GLASSES
Far and Near Glasses in a Single Pair.
Common bifocals are homely because of the bad seam between the two pieces.
KRYPTOKS have no seam at all.
Any of our stores will be glad to show them.
315 Washington St.
310 Boylston St.
75 Summer St. } BOSTON
1252 Massachusetts Ave. CAMBRIDGE.
ANDREW J. LLOYD CO.

DISCHARGED FROM PRISON

Naval Prisoner Said to Have Political Pull to Secure Release

Portsmouth, N. H., July 24.—S. A. Williams of St. Louis, a naval convict, has been discharged from the prison ship Southery at the navy yard. Williams, a chief petty officer, was on recruiting duty in New York. Court martial proceedings charged him with selling transfer tickets of navy men and withholding the money.

The court recommended fifteen years. He came to the prison on New Year's day, 1909, and has had an easy life ever since.

Williams made up his mind that fifteen years was too long to wear the prison rig and he worked every day for a release. The doctors partly recommended his discharge and the pull he had with politicians was sufficient to release him.

SWITZERLAND FOR DIAZ

Suffers From Asthma and Must Live In High Altitudes

Berne, Switzerland, July 24.—The federal council has informed Diaz that there is no objection to taking up his permanent residence in Switzerland. Diaz suffers from asthma and must live in high altitudes. If he is benefited by his residence in Switzerland he will travel a good deal in the high altitude regions of other European countries.

The German ambassador in Madrid wrote the kaiser that Diaz had expressed a wish to visit the grave of Bismarck at some future time.

To King Alfonso Diaz said that the Spaniards had twice ordered him shot and that nothing but his ability to scale walls and run like a deer saved him.

DAMAGE BY FIRE

Great Loss Caused by Big Fire Down on the Cape

Yarmouthport, Mass., July 24.—The summer residents of this section of the cape turned out to watch a lively blaze that destroyed half a dozen buildings and a large quantity of lumber here.

The grain and lumber yards of John Hinckley & Sons, a grain warehouse and more than 100,000 feet of piled lumber were burned, together with an icehouse and a tenement house owned by the New Haven road.

LEFT A FORTUNE

By Mother of the Girl He Loved and Was About to Marry

Wilkesbarre, Pa., July 24.—Harry H. Swainbank, a druggist, has been left $50,000 by the mother of the girl he loved and who died just before the time set for their wedding. Some ten years ago he fell in love with Miss Mattie Frutchie and a year later became engaged to her.

When she died, a short time before the date set for the wedding, he was broken hearted. In his grief he found consolation by consoling Mrs. Louisa C. Frutchie, the stricken mother of the girl he loved, and she was so affected by his devotion to her daughter that her will left her entire estate, worth $50,000, to him.

POINTS WITH PRIDE

Naval Authorities Praise Record of the Battleship Delaware

Washington, July 24.—Naval authorities pointed with pride to the cruise of the battleship Delaware, from the United States to England and return on her original supply of fuel, and with a sufficient amount left to continue her trip from Boston to Guantanamo.

The performance is regarded by naval officials as a remarkable engineers feat and as demonstrating the large radius of action of modern war vessels.

Busy on the Cape

Buzzards Bay, Mass., July 24.—Work is being rushed on the Cape Cod canal. Already the company that intends to establish a shipbuilding plant here is sending supplies to the site at Sandwich, and the work of building the plant will be begun within a short time.

Week's Shut Down at Cocheco Mills

Dover, N. H., July 24.—The Cocheco mills, employing 2000 cotton operatives, posted notice of a week's shut down, beginning today.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

In effect June 4, 1911

The letters in the same line as the figures below stand for different stations and indicate that trains stop as follows.

a Wollaston
b Norfolk Downs
c Atlantic
d Neponset
e Pope's Hill
f Harrison Square
g Savin Hill
h Crescent Avenue
i South Boston
r Quincy Adams

Exp.—Express train.

TO BOSTON			FROM BOSTON
Leave	Stop	Arrive	Leave	Stop	Arrive
r 5 14 abcdefghi	5 41		5 45 ihgfedcba	6 14 r
r 6 16 abcd	6 35		6 12 ihgfedcba	6 39 r
r 6 33 e	6 48		6 30 a	6 47
r 6 40 abcf	7 00		7 15 hgfedcba	7 41 r
r 7 08 abcd	7 30		7 41 a	7 58
r 7 25 d	7 42		7 45 c	8 03 r
r 7 33 Exp	7 48		8 35 cb	8 53
r 7 42 ab	8 00		8 42 a	8 59
7 57 a	8 13		9 10 fedba	9 32 r
r 8 09 abcd	8 31		9 45 a	10 01 r
r 8 30 Exp	8 45		10 15 ihgfedcba	10 41 r
r 8 53 ad	9 10		10 50 Exp	11 05
r 9 15 abc	9 33		11 15 hgfedcba	11 41 r
r 10 03 a	10 20		11 50 a	12 07
r 10 19 abcdefghi	10 45		12 15 hgfedcba	12 41 r
11 12 a	11 28		12 37 a	12 54 r
r 11 24 abcdefgh	11 50		12 50 Exp	1 05
12 04 a	12 20		1 11 fedcba	1 32 r
r 12 25 abcdefghi	12 52		1 45 a	2 02
1 22 a	1 40		2 15 ihgf	2 37 r
2 04 a	2 20		2 35 Exp	2 50
r 2 19 abcdefgh	2 45		3 15 hgfedcba	3 40 r
r 3 13 Exp	3 28		3 45 a	4 02
4 01 a	4 20		4 12 fedcba	4 34 r
r 4 25 abcdefgh	4 52		4 41 d	4 58
5 06 Exp	5 30		5 14 a	5 31 r
r 5 30 abcdefg	5 55		5 24 a	5 42
6 12 a	6 30		5 31 dcb	5 50 r
7 22 Exp	7 37		5 43 a	6 00 r
r 7 30 a	7 46		5 55 fedcba	6 21 r
r 8 07 abcdef	8 30		6 14 Exp	6 30 r
r 9 01 abc	9 20		6 30 cdba	6 51 r
10 04 a	10 20		7 00 fedcba	7 24 r
r 10 07 abcdef	10 30		7 12 a	7 29
r 11 25 abc	11 45		8 05 ba	8 32
			9 25 dba	9 46 r
			10 35 fedcba	11 02 r
			11 10 fedcba	11 35 r
			11 30 ba	11 49

SUNDAYS

r 7 43 abc	8 03	6 30 ba	6 48 r
8 30 Exp	8 45	45 ihgfedcba	9 13 r
8 34 abc	8 52	9 05 Exp	9 21
r 8 46 bcdefghi	9 13	10 15 ihgfedcba	10 32 r
r 9 13 abc	9 33	12 15 ihgfedcba	12 42 r
9 31 a	9 47	12 45 Exp	1 01
10 23 ac	10 40	1 30 ihgfedcba	1 57 r
10 31 Exp	10 47	2 15 hgfedcba	2 42 r
11 00 Exp	11 17	2 45 a	3 02
r 11 16 abcdefghi	11 43	3 15 ihgfedcba	3 42 r
1 02 Exp	1 17	4 27 cba	4 48 r
r 1 16 abcdefgh	1 43	5 15 ihgfedcba	5 42 r
r 3 10 abc	3 20	6 15 ihgfedcba	6 42 r
r 4 16 abcdefghi	4 43	7 00 cba	7 19 r
r 5 07 abc	5 27	8 15 ihgfedcba	8 41 r
r 6 16 abcdefghi	6 43	8 50 Exp	9 05
r 7 16 abcdefghi	7 42	9 30 ihgfedcba	9 57 r
r 8 11 abcdefghi	8 38	10 45 cba	11 04 r
r 9 05 a	9 22
r 10 46 abc	11 05
r 11 01 abc	11 20

West Quincy for Boston (stopping at East Milton)—6.23, 6.56, 7.17, 8.04, 8.11, 9.07 10.49, 11.01, A. M. 12.09, 1.23, 2.09, 3.18, 4.09, 5.13 6.06, 7.19, 9.09, 11.14 P. M. Sundays—8.29, 9.20 A. M. 12.59, 5.15, 6.50, 11.02 P. M.

Boston for West Quincy (stopping at East Milton)—6.35, 7.27, 8.23, 9.35, 10.25, 11.35 A. M. 12.25 1.25, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 5.47, 6.18 7.20, 9.10, 11.20 P. M. Sundays—8.58 A. M 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M.

Montclair for Boston 6.29, 7.27, 8.17, 10.15, A. M. 12.15, 1.29, 4.15, 5.20, 6.12, 7.28, 9.15, P. M. Sundays—8.26, 9.26, A. M. 1.06, 5.21, 11.09 P. M.

Boston for Montclair 9.35, 10.25, 11.35, A. M. 12.25, 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 6.18, 11.20 P. M. Sundays—8.58 A. M. 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M

Boston & Northern St. Ry. Co.

QUINCY DIVISION

TIME TABLE

In effect June 24th, 1911.

Subject to Change Without Notice

Leave QUINCY for

Brockton, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M. then 9.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Brockton, 6.30, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 9.30 P. M Sundays, 8.00A. M. then same as week days.

Braintree, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Braintree, 6.25 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.25 P. M. Sundays, 7.55 A. M. then same as week days.

East Milton, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Milton, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M., and every 20 minutes to 11.45 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.15 midnight.) Sundays, 7.25, A. M. then same as week days.

East Weymouth, 6.00, 6.15, 6.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.42 P. M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Weymouth, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.45 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Holbrook, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M. then 9.50 and 10.20 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Holbrook, 5.55, 6.25, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.00 P. M. Sundays, 8.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Houghs Neck, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 5.20, 5.45, 6.10 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 4.10 P. M. then 4.25, 4.40, 4.55, 5.10, 5.25, 5.40, 5.55, 6.10, 6.25, 6.40, 6.55, 7.10 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 11.10 P. M. then 11.49 P. M. Saturdays and Holidays, 5.20, 5.45, 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, 10.10, 10.40, A. M. then every 15 minutes to 10.40 P. M. then 11.10 and 11.49 P. M. Sundays, 6.50, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, 10.10, 10.40 A. M. then every 15 minutes to 10.40 P. M. then 11.10 P. M. Return, leave Houghs Neck Mondays to Fridays, both inc. 5.45, 6.05, 6.35 A. M. and ever 30 minutes to 4.35 P. M. then 4.50, 5.05, 5.20, 5.35, 5.50, 6.05, 6.20, 6.35, 6.50, 7.05, 7.20, 7.35 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 12.05 midnight. Saturdays and Holidays, 5.45, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05, A. M. then every 15 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.35 and 12.05 P. M. Sundays, 7.20, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05 A. M. then every 15 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.35 P. M.

Nantasket 8.25 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 9.25 P. M. Sundays, 9.25 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Nantasket, 10.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.00 P. M. Sundays, 10.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Hancock Street, 5.45, 6.14, 6.44, 7.14, 7.44, 8.14, 8.35, A. M. then 5, 14, 35 and 44 minutes past each hour to 10.44 P. M. then 12.14 midnight. Sundays 7.14 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Neponset 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, 8.07, 8.35, 8.37, 9.05, 9.37 A. M. then 5, 7, 35 and 37 minutes past each hour to 11.07 P. M. then 12.37 midnight. Sundays, 7.37 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Wollaston, 5.59 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.59 P. M. then 11.14 and 11.44 P. M. Sundays, 6.59 A. M. then same as week days. Return leave Neponset, 6.22 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.22 P. M. then 11.37, 12.07 P. M. Sundays, 7.22 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Norfolk Downs, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 7.55, 8.25, 8.50, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 1.30 P. M. then 2.05, 2.35 P. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.05 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.00 P. M.) Sundays, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Neponset, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 1.35 P. M. then 2.00, 2.30 P. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M.) Sundays, 8.30, 9.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Weymouth Landing, 5.20, 6.00, 6.20, 6.55, 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.00 P. M. Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days. Return leave Weymouth Landing, 5.40, 6.15, A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.15 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Wollaston, 5.59 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.59 P. M. then 11.14 and 11.44 P. M. Sundays, 6.59 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Wollaston, 6.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.30 P. M. then 11.50 and 12.20 P. M. Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days.

West Quincy, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave West Quincy, 6.00, 6.20, 6.50, A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.50 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.20 midnight) Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days.

Leave NEPONSET BRIDGE for Squantum, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 3.30 P. M. then 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30 P. M. then every 60 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Saturdays, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Sundays, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. (Note—Week Days, cars will leave Atlantic Bridge for Squantum, 5.45 and 6.15 A. M.) Return leave Squantum, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 4.05 P. M. then 4.35, 5.05, 5.35, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05 P. M. then every 60 minutes to 11.05 P. M. Saturdays, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 10.05 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. Sundays, 8.05 9.05, 10.05, A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M.

THOMAS GAMMON,
Superintendent.

Quincy Daily Ledger

FOR SALE AT

BOSTON—At South Station after 3.30 P. M.
QUINCY—Ledger Office 1424 Hancock Street.
L. A. Chapin, 1395 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, oppo. Depot.
Thompson's Waiting Room, City Sq.
H. P. Kittredge, City Square.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
Mrs. Madden, 16 Quincy ave.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's News Stand.
PARK&DOWNS—Branschied & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
QUINCY NECK—Stetson Pierce, Newcomb Square.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith, Washington Street.
Gragg's Pharmacy.
L. A. Cook, Washington Street.
E. O. Godfrey, 538 Washington St.
E. H. Lowe, Washington Street.
George E. Sprague Cor. River St.
SOUTH QUINCY—Litchfield, Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Miss C. Booth, Brooks Avenue.
BREWER'S CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
Mrs. F. H. Stanley.
WEST QUINCY—F. A. Skinner.
John G. Belanger.
HOUGHS NECK—Capt. Fosdick's.

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	73 degrees
July 24, 1910,	94 degrees
July 24, 1909,	80 degrees
July Noon Maximum, 14 years,	101
July Noon Minimum, 14 years.	60

Taking No Chances.

"Is there no hope, Mabel, of your ever loving me?"

"The odds are a thousand to one against it."

(After a pause)—"It's a long shot, but with nothing else in the field I'll take it."

BRIEFS

Harold Newcomb of Winter street is spending his two weeks' vacation at home.

Miss Arabella MacDougall of Garfield street starts today for a month's trip through Western Canada.

Miss Minnie Miller of Liberty street has returned from her visit in Yonkers, N. Y.

Miss Anna J. Walsh of Quincy avenue left Saturday for a two weeks' stay at Harwich on the Cape.

Mrs. John McLennan of Liberty street has returned from a two weeks' visit in New York.

Mrs. Effie Arnold of Duxbury who has been visiting her daughter Mrs. Ray A. Stearns of Green street has returned home.

The Eastern Star porch party will be held this week at the home of Mrs. Henrietta Files, Sea street, Houghs Neck, at two o'clock, Thursday afternoon.

Miss Agnes Kelley and Miss Cecelia Kelley of Liberty street have gone to Centre Harbor, Lake Winnepesaukee, New Hampshire, for two weeks.

The Charles Pratts are occupying the Faxon estate corner Hancock and Beale streets during the building of their new home on Fenno street near Hancock.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Moody and Mrs. Lizzie Evans of Pasadena, California, who are spending the summer in the East, were week end guests of their relative Mrs. Elmer E. Gray of Newton street.

Mrs. William Wilson and daughter, Floris, of 4 Presidents avenue started today for a month's vacation at Rye Beach, N. H. Mr. Wilson and daughter, Wilma, will join them in a few days.

DEATHS

BURR—In Braintree, July 22, Miss Martha A. daughter of the late Henry D. Burr in her 69th year. Funeral services at late home 460 Washington street, Tuesday, July 25 at 2.30 P. M. Relatives and friends invited. 1t

MELVIN—In West Quincy, July 23, Mary J. Melvin.
Funeral from residence of her sister Mrs. M. A. Dolan, 56 Copeland street. Requim Mass., at St. Mary's church.

Established 1870 Telephone
JOHN HALL
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
Carriage and Ambulance Service
1485 Hancock Street, Quincy Mass.

YOUNG TOUGHS DID MUCH DAMAGE

Roll Boulder Down Quarry Embankment On Sunday

$300 PUMP RUINED

A gang of hoodlums did considerable damage, Sunday, at the quary of the late T. F. Mannex at West Quincy It is alleged that a gang of young toughs, frequent many of the quarries on Sundays, and that they frequently do damage to the machinery. Sunday this gang rolled a lot of big boulders over the embankment into the quarry with the result that a seam pump valued a $300 was smashed into scrap iron. The Mannix quarry is one of the deepest on the hill and the wonder is that more damage was not done. The affair was reported to the police this morning. Lieut McKay was assigned to the case.

SUNDAY SERVICES

(Continued from Page Three.)

SWEDISH LUTHERAN.

At the Sunday morning service the pastor preached on the subject, "The Use of the Law."

In the evening the theme of his sermon was "The Mercy of God."

The Young People's Society will meet in the church Thursday evening. A delegation from the Brockton Young People's Society will have charge of the program. Refreshments will be served.

SWEDISH CONGREGATIONAL.

At the Sunday morning service the pastor preached from Eph. 6:10-18. "The Christians Enemies and His Armor" was the theme of the sermon.

In the evening the sermon delivered by the pastor had as its subject "The Ideal Life." Miss Signe Wilbas sang a pleasing solo. The meeting was very well attended.

Rev. C. J. Holm of East Orange, N. J., who is spending his vacation in Massachusetts will preach at the meeting Thursday evening. Mr. Holm is an intimate friend of the pastor and was formerly located in Fitchburg.

The Women's society will meet on church lawn, Thursday afternoon. Refreshments will be served by Mrs. Golbranson.

The Sunday school will start again next Sunday after three weeks' vacation.

BETHANY CHURCH.

At the Sunday morning service the acting pastor Rev. L. B. Sears, preached an excellent sermon on the subject "The Perils of Middle Life." In the evening his subject was "The Sermon of the Flowers." Both meetings were well attended.

The Sunday school attendance was up to the average. The Y. P. S. C. E. meeting was led by Wesley Beckford.

At the Thursday evening prayer meeting the subject will be "Rest."

CHRIST CHURCH.

The pastor preached his last sermon of the season at the service, Sunday morning. There will be services next Sunday and the first Sunday in August, with visiting pastors in charge. During the last three Sundays of August and the first in September the church will be closed for repairs.

Rev. James A. Thompson of Walpole rector of the Church of the Epiphany, will be in residence in the Rectory during the absence of the rector on his vacation and will be ready to respond to any calls for ministrations of the church.

QUINCY POINT CHURCH.

The pastor preached the third and last of his series of sermons on the Lords prayer at the morning service on Sunday. The series have been very excellent and has been listened to very attentively by the summer audience.

The regular prayer meeting will be held Friday evening and no more will be held after that until September.

The pastor will occupy the pulpit next Sunday but the church will be closed during the month of August.

BRIEFS

Harry Sherburne who has been living in Skowhegan, Maine, for the past two years will spend the summer at Quincy Point.

Carl M. Bosworth, formerly of Quincy Point, who has been living in Highland, California, for the past four years is soon to come back to his old home for a visit, bringing his wife and little daughter with him.

LIVE SPORTING EVENTS

ON THE DIAMOND

American League

At Cleveland:	R	H	E
Cleveland	3	11	2
Boston	2	6	1

Batteries—Gregg, Mitchell and Fisher; Wood and Carrigan.

At Detroit:	R	H	E
New York	7	8	5
Detroit	4	8	4

Batteries—Fisher and Blair; Donovan and Stanage.

At St. Louis:	R	H	E
Washington	5	10	0
St. Louis	1	5	5

Batteries—Johnson and Ainsmith; George, Mitchell and Stephens.

	Won.	Lost.	P. C.
Detroit	59	28	.687
Philadelphia	54	31	.635
Chicago	44	40	.524
New York	45	41	.523
Cleveland	47	44	.516
Boston	44	45	.494
Washington	30	58	.341
St. Louis	25	61	.291

National League

At Cincinnati:	R	H	E
St. Louis	3	5	0
Cincinnati	2	8	1

Batteries—Sallee and Bliss; Gaspar and McLean.

	Won.	Lost.	P. C.
Chicago	51	31	.622
Philadelphia	52	33	.612
New York	51	33	.607
St. Louis	49	36	.576
Pittsburg	47	37	.560
Cincinnati	35	48	.422
Brooklyn	31	52	.373
Boston	20	66	.233

New England League

	Won.	Lost.	P. C.
Lowell	50	29	.633
Lawrence	43	34	.558
Worcester	42	34	.553
Brockton	41	36	.532
Lynn	39	36	.520
Fall River	33	41	.446
New Bedford	28	43	.394
Haverhill	25	48	.342

MANET DEFEATED FORE RIVER.

The Manet baseball club won the purse of $25 from the Fore River Apprentices on Saturday at Ward Three playgrounds taking the game 7 to 0. Kerr pitched a fine game and allowed his opponents but 2 hits. Of the 27 putouts but three were made by outfielders showing that the Apprentices did not rap the ball very hard. Timely hitting together with the error by Pepper scored the runs for the Manets. McCarty and Kerr did the heavy hitting for the winners while Williamson was the only one able to connect with Kerr's curves. Barry who was catching for the Manets hit for two bases and Creswell got his usual long hit which was good for three. Sacrifice hits were used very effectively by the Manets. Boyle, catcher for the Apprentices, caught four men trying to steal second and as many more were caught trying to force runs in. Barry played a strong game at all times and Kane showed up finely in the third corner. Williamson was wild during the last part of the game, but showed up strong in the first part, getting himself out of several tight holes.

The score:

MANET BASEBALL C.

	BH	PO	A	E
Howley, 2b	0	3	1	0
McCarty, ss	2	0	3	1
Artis, lf	1	1	0	0
Kane, 3b	0	4	0	1
Creswell, 1b	1	5	1	0
Hoyt, rf	0	0	0	0
Berlucchi, rf	0	2	0	0
Barry, c	1	11	3	0
Kerr, p	3	1	2	0
O'Rourke, cf	1	0	0	0
Totals	9	27	10	2

FORE RIVER APPRENTICES

	BH	PO	A	E
Boyle, c	0	9	3	0
Williamson, p	2	1	6	0
Blackwood, ss	0	0	0	0
Poehler, cf	0	0	0	0
Pepper, 1b	0	7	0	1
Lang, lf	0	0	0	0
F. Erickson, 2b	0	4	1	0
G. Erickson, 3b	0	3	3	0
Thomas, rf	0	0	0	0
Totals	2	24	13	1

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Manet B. B. C.	1	1	0	0	0	1	2	2	0	—7
Fore River App.	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	—0

Runs made by—Howley 2, McCarty, Creswell, O'Rourke, Berluchi and Barry. Two base hits—Barry. Three base hits—Creswell. Stolen bases—Howley 2, McCarty, Berluchi 2, O'Rourke, Barry and Kerr. Base on balls by—Kerr 3; Williamson 5. Struck out by—Kerr 10; Williamson 7. Sacrifice hits—McCarty 2, Artis, Kane, Barry and Kerr. Hit by pitched ball —O'Rourke and Berluchi. Umpire—Conway and Duffy. Time—1.45.

WEST QUINCY'S WIN.

The opening game in the series between the Quincy Independents and the West Quincys, was won by the latter, Saturday afternoon, at the Old Colony grounds by a score of 7 to 3. Grethe was not in good shape and the opponents found him for 9 hits while the Independents got but five off Williams. The star of the game was undoubtedly Joe Desmond, who got 18 putouts, many of them on difficult pickups and one on a hard run into right field for a pop fly. He was there with the stick, also, and shared the batting honors with his brother Ed. and McTiernan. Keohane played a good game for the Independents both at the bat and in the field and Falvey worked well as a backstop. His two hits were both good ones and figured in the scoring. Hoyt was the only man to get a hit for extra bases for the Independents and it was a clean two bagger. Ed. Desmond got the hit of the game however, putting the ball way beyond the ditch in left field. Keohane fielded it fast and held him on third base. Smith of the Independents played a good fielding game picking off three long ones. Berry, playing centre field for West Quincy sent in the last two runs with a clean hit along the right field line. Williams pitched a good game allowing but five hits, three of them figuring in the run getting Grethe was not as effective as usual, owing to his poor physical condition.

The score:

WEST QUINCYS.

	AB	BH	PO	A	E
J. Desmond, 1b	3	2	18	1	0
O'Brien, lf	2	0	1	0	0
S. Duggan, c	5	0	3	1	0
McTiernan, rf	4	2	0	0	0
E. Desmond, 2b	4	2	1	4	0
Mulligan, ss	3	1	0	1	0
Fitzgerald, 3b	3	0	2	4	2
Berry, cf	4	1	2	0	0
Williams, p	4	1	0	4	0
Totals,	32	9	27	16	2

QUINCY INDEPENDENTS.

	AB	BH	PO	A	E
Keohane, lf	4	2	3	0	1
alvey, c	4	2	7	4	0
Kelley, 3b	4	0	1	0	0
Hoyt, ss	4	1	3	1	1
Grethe, p	4	0	0	3	1
McDonald, 1b	3	0	8	1	0
Gillis, 3b	2	0	2	1	1
Smith, cf	3	0	3	0	0
Phinney, rf	2	0	0	0	0
Totals,	30	5	27	10	4

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
West Quincy	1	0	0	2	2	0	0	2	0	—7
Quincy Ind.	0	0	0	0	0	3	0	0	0	—3

Runs—J. Desmond, O'Brien, S. Duggan, McTiernan 2; E. Desmond, Fitzgerald, Keohane, Falvey, Phinney. Two-base hits—Hoyt. Three-base hits—E. Desmond. Stolen bases—J. Desmond 2, Gillis, Falvey. Struck out —By Williams 3, Grethe 6. Bases on balls—By Grethe 4. Umpire—Flynn. Time—1 hr., 50 min.

BELNAP SQUARES WIN.

The Belnap Squares defeated the Railers at Peddocks Island yesterday afternoon, by a score of 6 to 4. Belanger did the twirling for the Railers with Sid Duggan on the receiving end while O'Rourke twirled for the Belnaps with Batty Flaherty as a backstop. The star features of the game were phenomenal catches by O'Connell of the Railers and Joyce of the Belnap Squares. Peter Farrell Leary and Dan Duggan did the heavy stick work for the Railers while Flaherty, Mulligan, Donovan and Perkins excelled for the Belnaps. McCue and Falvey did the umpiring. The Belnaps outclassed their opponents both at the bat and in the field. Quite a gallery of rooters for both sides witnessed the game and helped to make it exciting from start to finish.

MAKARIA WON GREAT GAME.

Makaria won from Miah Murrays White Bears at Merrymount park Saturday afternoon by a score of 5 to 2, in a game featured by the pitching of Rice who allowed his opponents but one hit. Makaria played loosely at times and deserved to lose if one judged only by the errors. The home team was right there with the stick however and got a total of 10 hits. The visitors played a good fielding game but were unable to solve Rice's delivery. All the run-geting was done during the first four innings and by the way things started off it looked as if the visitors were to go home with a victory. Makaria soon settled down to business however and got her lead of three runs which Rice's fine pitching enabled her to hold.

The score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Makaria	1	2	1	1	0	0	0	0		—5
Miah Murray	2	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	—2

Batteries, Rice and Chapman; Thayer and De Renne.

SPORTING NOTES.

The Y. M. C. A. team with a number of substitutes playing was defeated by the South Quincy Extension club on the lower field of Merrymount park, Saturday afternoon by a score of 13 to 11.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

QUINCY BOATS IN YACHT RACE

Under The Auspices Of Savin Hill Club In Dorchester Bay

CLASSES D AND S

A large number of yachts participated in the open race, Saturday under the auspices of the Savin Hill yacht club in Dorchester bay. As usual the Quincy boats sailed in Class D. and S. In the former class the Busy Bee was again a winner although the Mudjekeewis finished first. All of the boats of this class have to allow the Busy Bee. The latter boat is but 25 feet long while all of the other boats in the class run over 26 feet. The Arawak finished third and the Dolly III fourth.

In class S, the Winnlahdin won both on actual and corrected time. The summary of these two classes was as follows:

CLASS S.

Name and owner.	Actual time. h m s	Corrected time. h m s
Winninhdin, J. Spratt	2:38:31	2:25:03
Zoe, F. J. Stewart	2:41:21	2:26:02
Maritza, C. H. Porter	2:42:41	2:17:05
Wawenock, Gearwar and Sargent	2:28:59	2:17:16

CLASS D

Name and owner	Actual time h m s	Corrected time h m s
Busy Bee, W J Coombs	2:36:05	2:32:34
Mudjekeewis, E W Emery	2:33:32	2:33:15
Arawak, H C Nickerson	2:36:03	2:34:37
Dolly III, W W Arnold	2:35:45	2:34:52
Iris, F F Crane	2:37:19	2:37:15
Hush, Tupper and Hardwick	2:31:08	2:39:23
Dartwell, I M Whittemore	2:47:08	2:47:08
Emeline, H W Robins	withdrew

Two glasses containing dregs of poison which stood on a table beside the bed disclosed the manner of their death.

TWO LIQUOR RAIDS MADE ON SUNDAY

Two liquor raids were made by Inspector Goodhue and a squad of Quincy officers, Sunday. Inspector Goodhue was accompanied by Officers Dinneen, Whalen, Reiley, Hinchen and Milford. The first place visited was that of Mrs. Grazia Zanon at 107 Liberty street where five barrels of beer, a jug of wine, a barrel containing a small quantity of wine and a lot of empty bottles were seized.

At house of Adriano Crescini at 45 Brook road the officers seized 100 bottles of ale.

TODAY'S COURT ITEMS

It was a busy session of the district court this morning a number of cases being disposed of.

Rosco Fenelli was fined costs amounting to $7.72 for bathing without proper costume at Braintree.

Frank Martell was fined $3 for violation of the automobile laws at Milton.

Fred W. Ross was fined $3 for violation of the park rules at Milton.

Edward A. Claxton was fined $15 for drunkenness at Milton.

William J. Murphy was fined $5 and George E. Gage $15 for drunkenness at Quincy.

Daniel J. Maloney was sent to the state farm for being a vagrant at Holbrook.

Albert Mullen, William J. Lennan, George O'Brien, Christopher Fox, Timothy F. Murphy, James Flaherty, George Kelley, William Carter, John Scanlon, Edgar C. Tool, Charles Vane, Edwin L. Smith, Frank B. Howland, Daniel L. McGaffgan and Bernard McGaffgan were arraigned for disturbing the peace at Weymouth. They were ordered to pay the costs amounting to $18 and the cases continued on probation until Sept. 8.

UNCLAIMED LETTERS.

Letters remain uncalled for at the Quincy Post Office for: Wm. Campbell, Charles Dustin, John Jeppen, K. Kalin, Miss Fiina Kallberg, Earl Lonsberry, George Malmkvist, Miss Dellina McAskill, Miss Kate McLaughlin, John Mulcahy, Filyus Nyystrom, Mr. Peresada, M. Perisad, W. K. Sibley, Robert Stirling, Harry Thomas, Leland L. Wallace and Richard Watson.

Rescued at Revere

Revere, Mass., July 24.—Three men were rescued from drowning some two miles off Revere Beach yesterday afternoon when a yacht capsized, throwing them in the water.

TROOPS DEMORALIZED AND CAUSE HOPELESS

Fate of Republic to Be Determined by Forthcoming Battle

Port au Prince, Hayti, July 24.—With the rebel troops moving on the capital, President Simon, with the remnants of the army which he brought back from the Cape Haytien rout is intrenching himself for his last stand. The fate of the "republic" will be determined in the forthcoming battle, and it is generally believed here that the aged executive's cause is hopeless, as his troops are demoralized.

The American gunboat Petrel is here and is expected to take a firm stand against any attempt by the rebels to bombard the capital.

FIGHT FOREST FIRE

Women and Children Join With Men In Saving Acres of Young Growth

Sanford, Me., July 24.—Women and children were forced to join with the men in fighting a forest fire which burned over seventy-five acres of young growth, and for a time threatened to wipe out the village of West Kennebunk. Help was summoned and about 200 men spent the day in setting back fires and other ways combating the flames until the fire was reported under control.

The fire burned over the property of John Judkins and C. A. Moulton to the west of West Kennebunk, along the Atlantic Shore railway and extending back to the forest to the eastward. Several hundred cords of piled cord wood were consumed.

WATER FAMINE IN PARIS

Not a Drop Has Fallen For Past Month and No Relief In Sight

Paris, July 24.—Paris is in the grip of a water famine and sweltering in the worst heat wave of the past quarter of a century.

Not a drop of water has fallen for the past month. The fields lie parched and burned. No relief is in sight.

To add to the suffering of the people the water system has broken down. Two leaks in the main water pipes which have been discovered necessitated the shutting off of the water.

WILL NOT AID COMMITTEE

Department of Justice Has No Desire to Prosecute Labor Leaders

Washington, July 24.—Aid in prosecuting Samuel Gompers and other American Federation of Labor officials for alleged contempt of court before Justice Wright in the District supreme court will not be given by the department of justice representing the administration.

Justice Wright was advised, it is reported, that the department of justice has no desire to take a hand in prosecuting labor leaders and will not assist the committee appointed by Justice Wright.

—Taxicabs and horse-cabs are not in nearly so general use in America as they are in European cities, and as they probably will be in the future on this side of the ocean. This is due largely to our high rates, the lowering of which would, in the end, cause profit to the cab-owners as well as to public.—Chicago Record-Herald.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents. Three consecutive insertions 50 cents, 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.

No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

LOST

LOST— Small open face silver watch, between Post Island and Quincy Centre. Finder will be suitably rewarded by returning to 215 Goffe St., Quincy or to Mrs. Bennett, Post Island. July 24-3t

LOST—Lady's gold Waltham watch. B. L. M. between River street, Q. P., and Commercial street, Weymouth Heights. Return same to 42 River street, Quincy Point. July 24-3t

LOST—Black and white cat. Answers to name of Muffet. Information wanted. 242 Safford street, Wollaston. July 22-3t

TOO PROUD TO BEG

Married Couple of Middletown, N. Y., Found Dead In Each Others Arms

Middletown, N. Y., July 24.—Suffering from lack of the barest necessities of life, and yet too proud to make their condition known, Mr. and Mrs. Edward D. Crane of this place were found dead in each other's arms here, attired in the clothing they had worn on their wedding day.

Two glasses containing dregs of poison which stood on a table beside the bed disclosed the manner of their death.

WANTED

LATHERS WANTED—6 good men at once. $3.00 a thousand. Call F. Favorite, 181 Belmont, near Brook street, Wollaston. July 24-2t

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Grade Jersey cow, 4 years old, giving 8 1-2 to 9 quarts milk a day. Will freshen in February. Apply 456 Quincy avenue. July 24-2t

FOR SALE

The cozy home, situated No. 24 Marsh Street, consisting of a six room house, city water, 4400 square feet of land, fruit trees. Price reasonable.

Call and see,

JAMES F. BURKE,
REAL ESTATE AGENT,
Room 4, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, Mass.
July 15-tf

TO LET

TO LET—A flat of five rooms with all the latest improvements. Inquire 58 Federal avenue. July 24-6t

TO LET—Large front room furnished suitable for man and wife or two men. Call at 26 School street. July 18-6t

TO LET—Tenement of 5 rooms at 42 Euclid avenue. All latest improvements. Apply to C. A. Ericson 177 Glendale road or P. Curry 94 Federal avenue, Quincy Adams. July 18-6t

TO LET—Half house on Miller Stile road, 7 rooms, all improvements Apply to E. V. Fitts, 19 Miller Stile road, Quincy. July 18-L-P-tf

TO LET—On Spear street, tenement of 4 rooms and bath. All modern improvements. Apply to C. A. Ericson, 117 Glendale road. Tel 586 M. June 27-tf

FOR RENT—Quincy, Centre, opposite Adams Academy, house of 8 rooms and bath, also garage, 3 minutes to R. R. Station. Dr. E. S. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263L, Weymouth. May 10-tf

TO LET
Half House No. 44 Bigelow street, 7 rooms and bath. Shades, screens, electric lights, set tubs, range, etc. Rent $25. per month. Apply to Miss Prescott, Ledger Office. Quincy. July 3-tf

FOR RENT
On Spear street, very desirable house of 8 rooms, bath and laundry. All modern improvements, range, gas, electric lights shades and screens. Large piazzas and lawn. To private family only. Apply at 41 Spear street or of Miss Prescott at Ledger Office, Quincy. June 2-tf L. P. O

TO LET

Tenement—22 B Granite Street. $10.00 per month.

Greenleaf Hall—Greenleaf Block Large Furnished Hall with various anterooms—to let by the evening or permanently.

City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 20 feet high. Splendid light, low rent

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)
Music Hall Block, Quincy.

MAKE YOUR PURCHASES FROM LEDGER ADVERTISERS.

MENTS time 25 cents.
tions 75 cents.
by mail or at the

TED

ED—6 good men at sand. Call F. Fa-near Brook street,
July 24-2t

SALE

e Jersey cow, 4
-2 to 3 quarts milk
in February. Ap-
ue. July 24-2t

SALE

situated No. 24
sisting of a six water, 4400
nd, fruit trees.

BURKE,
E AGENT,
Bank Building,
Mass.
July 15-tf

ET

five rooms with rovements. In-ue.
July 24-6t

ront room furn-
m and wife or School street.
July 18-6t

of 5 rooms at l latest improve-
A. Ericson 177
Curry 94 Federal
s. July 18-6t use on Miller ll improvements

19 Miller Stile
July 18-L-P-tf

street, tenement
All modern im-
C. A. Ericson,
l 586 M.
June 27-tf

, Centre, appoouse of 8 rooms
3 minutes to R.
Taylor, 527 Main
uth. Tel. 263L,
May 10-tf

Bigelow street,
ades, screens,
s, range, etc.
Apply to Miss
Quincy.
July 3-tf

T ery desirable
h and laundry.
uts, range, gas,
and screens.
n. To private at 41 Spear
cott at Ledger

2-tf L. P. O

ET e Street. $10.00
enleaf Block
h various ante-
ning or perma-
ce or Shop—s up, 28x43 feet light, low rent
e Trust, ribs.)
Quincy.

UR FROM RTISERS.

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 26 No. 169 QUINCY, MASS. TUESDAY EVENING JULY 25, 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

STORY DISCREDITED BY OFFICIALS OF FORE RIVER CO.

Take Little Stock In Sensational Story Going "Rounds" Of Metropolitan Papers

Also Stamp As "Fake" Story About Government Dissatisfied With Turbines on North Dakota

But little stock is taken by the officials of the Fore River Ship Building Co., in the sensational story that appeared in many of the metropolitan newspapers, Monday, relative to the sale to a foreign nation of the two dreadnoughts, now building in Quincy and in New Jersey for the Argentine navy.

According to the story, an international mystery surrounds the construction of these two mamouth war vessels, which when fully equipped will be the world's two greatest battleships. At the Fore River yard, the story is looked upon as simply a newspaper fake. The story, by the way is not a new one for rumors to the effect that the two vessels would be sold to some foreign nation by the Argentina Republic, have been circulated for some time, but it is understood that the Fore River Co. has been assured by those in position to know, that there is not the least grounds for the stories.

Another story that is being given wide circulation, is that the government is dissatisfied with the Curtis turbines with which the North Dakota is equipped and that it is seriously considering the proposition to replace the turbines with recipocating engines. It can be said with absolute authority, that there is not a particle of truth in the North Dakota story which is evidently being circulated with a sinister motive by some person.

As for the Argentina battleship it is true that work is being rushed night and day on the Rivadavia at the Fore River shipyard, in order that everything may be in readiness for the launching on Aug. 26. It is also true that the progress of these two vessels is being watched by a corps of naval officials and inspectors of the Argentine navy, but that is nothing unusual, and no more than the United States government does when a vessel is being built for it.

It is a well known fact that wherever a vessel is being built for United States government, there are scores of inspectors who watch the progress of the vessel as well as to carefully inspect every piece of material that goes into the vessel. If our own government takes such precautions, is it to be wondered at that the Argentine Republic should do the same thing.

Socially, the Argentine officials who have been in Quincy since the work on the Rivadavia was commenced, have frequently attended social functions. They have proved themselves cultured and are all very pleasant gentlemen to meet. The one drawback, if anything, is the fact, that they speak the Spanish language, which naturally makes them a little diffident.

Externally the Rivadavia closely resembles the British Lion, building at Devonport, or the Arkansas and Wyoming, now building for the United States navy. In height she agrees with several of the latest English and American dreadnoughts.

The displacement of the Rivadavia, 26,500 tons, exceeds that of even the largest of the English and American dreadnoughts now building. The Arkansas and Wyoming of the United States navy will be 26,000 and 26,400 respectively, while the Hercules and Colossus of the British navy are 24,000 and 25,000. The Lion of the English navy will be 26,000, however.

The dimensions of the hull are: Length, 585 feet; breadth, 98 feet;

(Continued on Page Four.)

SENATE PASSES BRIDGE BILL

Sen. Lodge's Bill Appropriating $50,000 Goes Through

REP. WEEKS HOPEFUL

The Senate at Washington on Monday passed Senator Lodge's bill appropriating $50,000 toward the cost of the proposed Weymouth back river bridge. An additional $50,000 is to be appropriated by the towns benefitted by the bridge. Representative Weeks has a similar bill in the house, which he hopes to get through during the closing days of the session.

HIS MAIDEN TRIP.

Miss Avonia Eldridge and Mrs. Laura Arnold made an interesting trip to Provincetown last week. Their object was not only to view the battleships, but to send off a carrier pigeon from that port. This beautiful bird of dove grey, flecked with silver points, with neck of green and old rose and eyes like tiny stars, soon made himself known to the passengers, by his gentle and continuous cooing. They urged and insisted upon Miss Eldridge having the ascension made from the steamer as she neared Provincetown. Capt. Olson of the Dorothy Bradford was an interested spectator.

As the bird was freed from the basket, he cast a rapid glance about him, then flew quickly upward, followed by a downward dip to the ocean, rising gracefully in a succession of circles, only to disappear almost instantly from delighted and fascinated gaze of the passengers. He returned to the home nest early the morning of July 23 having made his trial trip of 48 miles in less than two days. He probably flew, however, five times that distance, as high winds and atmospheric influences often throw them miles out oftheir course. He comes from a family famous as prize winners and will no doubt add many laurels to his sire's fame. Miss Eldridge always a lover of animals and birds, is much charmed with the sport, and will take a lively interest in it after this season.

SPEAR FAMILY REUNION.

On Thursday the Spear family is to hold its annual reunion at Houghs Neck, the original home of the family. The reunion will be at the Quincy yacht club house from eleven until six o'clock with dinner at one.

This is one of the oldest and largest families in the city and was also one of the first to hold annual meetings, the first one being over fifty years ago. They were held for over forty years and then interest seemed to flag and for a dozen or more years were omitted to be revived again a few years ago largely through the efforts of Mrs. Frank F. Crane, nee Spear, the efficient family secretary.

The meeting on Thursday will be the fourth since the gatherings were resumed and promises to be a large and enjoyable one.

SAUNDERS HEARS BABY IS DEAD

Buried in Haverhill, Father in Jail, Few Mourners

HE IS GRIEF STRICKEN

Haverhill, Mass., July 25.—With its mother and a few friends as the mourners, the baby of Robert P. Saunders was buried in the St. James cemetery. Saunders, the father, is in a cell at the Grafton county jail at Plymouth, N. H., awaiting trial on a charge of being a fugitive from justice.

He grieves with his wife at the loss of the little one, for whom he stole and led the police a long chase before he was captured in this city.

The baby had been seriously ill with cholera infantum.

TURKEY SENDS A WARNING ABOUT MARRIAGES

As a result of a communication from Secretary of State Knox, Gov. Foss has has sent a message to the people about marriages. The communication is a translation of a memorandum received by the State Department from the Imeprial Ottoman Embassy. This formidable missive calls the attention of prospective brides and grooms to certain formalities of the law governing Ottoman subjects betrothed in the United States.

In brief, if states that prior to marrying a couple the local authorities should get in touch with the nearest Imperial Ottoman Consulate to find out if there are any legal barriers in the case of Ottoman subjects about to contract marriage. In Boston, Frank G. Macomber is the officer to be so notified.

Governor Foss desires to call the attention of the American authorities who are authorized to solemnize marriages in this Commonwealth to this matter.

TODAY'S COURT.

Edward P. Kennedy was fined $10 for exceeding the automobile speed limit at Milton.

—Dr. Wiley is too valuable a man to be thrown aside in the Spartan fashion. Mr. Wickersham believes that he ought to receive "condign punishment." The President perhaps will think differently, in view of Dr. Wiley's splendid services to his country and to humanity. He may remember that Mr. Wickersham did not receive "condign punishment" for misdating public documents to oblige his friend Mr. Ballinger. He may refuse to strain at a gnat after swallowing a camel. He will injure himself rather than Dr. Wiley if he yields to an agitation inspired by such obvious motives.—Providence Journal.

BATTLE FOR NOMINATION

Papers For Republican Representative Circulated

MEANS A FIGHT

The battle is on for the Republican nomination for Representative in the general court, from the Fifth Norfolk district and from now on there is likely to be something doing.

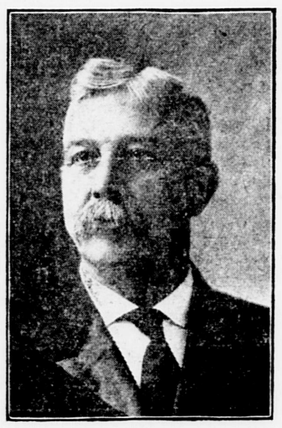
REPRESENTATIVE THOMAS

The Ledger announced some weeks ago, that ex-Councilman Walter E. Piper and Councilman George A. Bolster intended to enter the contest and both of these gentlemen now have nomination papers in circulation.

There have been rumors that Representative Thomas intended to try for a fourth term, but as far as known, he has not as yet taken out papers.

GEORGE A. BOLSTER

The Fifth Norfolk district comprises Wards One, Two and Three and last year gave Representative Thomas a plurality of 159 over Michael T. Sullivan the Democratic candidate.



WALTER E. PIPER

Both Messrs Piper and Bolster have been long residents of Ward Three, where they are well and favorably known and either gentleman would make an acceptable candidate.

Mr. Piper has served his ward in the

(Continued on Page Three.)

QUINCY LADS NEARLY BLOWN TO SEA WHEN BOAT IS SWAMPED

Were Caught In Hull Gut By Wind and Tide---Rescued By Portuguese Fishermen

Boys Went Out From Houghs Neck and Boarded Yacht---Unable to Get Back Are Carried Three Miles

Lester Morey and Harold Burnham of Houghs Neck, each 12 years old, were rescued from a dangerous situation in Hull Gut, Monday, by two Portuguese fishermen.

The two boys went out from Houghs Neck in a small punt to board a yacht which was seen drifting before the wind toward Peddocks island. The boys made the yacht all right and tied their punt to the stern. Just as they boarded the yacht a sudden storm broke and the boys, being unable to handle the bigger boat in the teeth of the south-west wind which swept down Fore river, soon found themselves drifting into Hull Gut, which was very rough and made the handling of the craft impossible.

The boys realizing their helplessness, jumped into their punt and cut loose. They were almost swamped by the waves. They tried to row the punt against the wind and tide, but were being swept toward the open sea when the two Portuguese fishermen came along in their power boat and rescued them.

The boys were landed on Peddocks island, wet and exhausted. Their clothes were dried at fort Andrew. Col. Ridgway telephoned to Houghs Neck and the mothers of the boys hired a big power boat and sent it over to Peddocks island. The yacht which the boys tried to rescue drifted ashore on Peddocks island, and was high on the beach. Her owner is not known.

BRIEFS

Many Quincy people have received souvenir postals from Quincy members of the Boston Chamber of Commerce who are touring Europe.

J. F. Allen, inspector of meats, will move his family from Johnson avenue, to the house on the corner of Greenleaf and Hancock streets formerly occupied by Walter Berry.

It is hard to estimate the great amount of good done by the hard rain Monday morning and during Monday night. It would be a good thing if it would rain every night for a week.

The first nomination papers to be filed in Quincy under the new law were received by the City Clerk Monday. The papers filed were those of Herbert W. Burr of 19 Frost avenue, Boston, for state auditor.

The grand clam bake under the auspices of Quincy lodge of Elks at Elcock's grove Braintree, Aug. 6, promises to be one of the most enjoyable events the Elks have ever held.

Letters received from Bath, Me., report that Miss Anna Witham and Miss Joyce Buchanan who were injured, Sunday, by the explosion of the air tanks on the power boat in which they were sailing on the Kennebeck, are doing nicely.

The clerks and bookkeepers at R. E. Foy's store go to Nantasket, Wednesday afternoon, for an outing. The big auto truck will be fitted with seats and can accommodate all of the crowd. The afternoon will be spent in bathing, sightseeing, etc.

Beginning next Saturday evening, a series of special services will be held at Bethel beach, under the direction of Rev. A. P. Hanson, pastor of the Swedish Baptist church. Meetings will be held every evening during the week following closing with a big service on Saturday evening.

OBJECTED TO SUITOR

Marked Attention to Daughter Caused Strange Will

MAY HAVE BEEN WHIM

The strange clause in the will of Mrs. Mary Lawrence of Milton which forbids adopted daughter to marry was a whim, according to her husband. His wife believed, he says that that Mr. Bulger was showing Mary too much attention.

"Mr. Bulger is a young man who lives in this vicinity and whom we have always known and respected," said Mr. Lawrence, and he said there had been no breaking off of an engagement between his daughter and Mr. Bulger on account of the will, because there had been no engagement to break off.

Vincent Bulger is a plumber and lives on Rogers street, West Quincy, and is highly respected among the younger people of that place and East Milton, where he is well known.

Miss Mary E. Lawrence is an attractive young woman of 27 years and has been a bookkeeper in Boston. She was adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence many years ago, and she still lives at Mr. Lawrence's house.

Mr. John R. Lawrence is a contractor, having charge of most of the work done by the health board of the town. He lives at 41 Pleasant street, Milton, the premises left him by Mrs. Lawrence's will.

RAILWAY BUILDING NEW TRACK

The street railway has commenced work, building the branch off track from its line on Washington street, to the new trolley freight depot. The branch-off track leaves the main line, just north of Foster street and enters the freight yard to the north of the freight house now being built. It will in no way interfere with the entrance to Foster street even when the track is being used by a car. When completed the street for a distance of something like 130 feet is to be paved with vitrified brick.

—This is a good time to remember that the expenses of the church go on just the same during the summer time and it is very important that you should pay up your subscriptions promptly. The minister and choir and sexton must live, even if it is hot weather, and the little you have neglected to pay may mean a considerable real suffering. Why not pay up all your dues before you go away on your vacation? You will probably not have as much money at the end of your vacation as you have at the beginning!—Universalist Leader.

ENTHUSIASTIC MEETINGS

Rev. John Lillback Preaches to Large Audiences

IN FINNISH SECTION

"I believe that people are more in need of spiritual teaching in the summer than in the winter season," said Rev. John Lillback, pastor of the Finnish Congregational church on Buckley street and in that belief he has undertaken to give the people the teaching which they need. Instead of waiting for them to come to him, he has gone to them, and nearly every evening since summer set in he has conducted open air meetings in the Finnish district of the city. "Night after night," he said, "I have started the meetings with good enthusiastic singing at 6.30 and kept on until 8.30, my pulpit being sometimes a high standing rock, sometimes house-steps, yard or piazza, lastly I took an ordinary chair to stand upon and preach to 500 people right in the heart of the Finnish section." In speaking of his belief with regard to the need of spiritual teaching in the summer he said that ministers would do well to take their vacations in January or February instead of in the summer months so that they could be with their people in the time of greatest need. These open-air meetings will be continued until September 15.

Besides these, Mr. Lillback has been conducting a summer school in the John Hancock school and a confirmation class in his own church. On Sunday evening the members of this class were given their diplomas. The exercises were held in the church which was nicely decorated with evergreen and flowers. Again it was found that the church was not half big enough to accommodate the crowd which desired entrance. In connection with the confirmation exercises each child was given a Bible as a present from the pastor.

Monday morning Mr. Lillback took an early train for Wellfleet, Mass., to preside at the Finnish Congregational Ministers' association meetings which are being held there the first three days of this week. On his way home he will preach at Hyannis and West Barnstable.

ORDER OF ST. GEORGE.

The two days' session of the grand lodge, Order Sons of St. George opened in Electa hall this morning at 9 o'clock with 46 delegates, representing the different lodges in the state in attendance. This morning's session was taken up with general reports and routine business. At noon the session adjourned until 9 o'clock Wednesday morning.

This afternoon a special car was taken at 2 o'clock for Nantasket, where the afternoon will be taken up in sight seeing. The party will return from the beach late this afternoon and this evening the delegates will be banqueted by the members of Granite lodge of Quincy.

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1889

THE HOME NEWSPAPER

Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.

BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
219 East 23d Street,
New York City

Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter.

Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50

Telephone, Quincy 425

Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

Nova Scotia is having forest fires, but not for the purpose of warming up the climate.

Some statesmen think that Arizona has ruined its constitution by an overdose of "recall."

For the Lorimerites to call themselves Lincoln Republicans is the quintessence of gall.

Probably the Illinoisan who says he'd give $1,000 to locate a man from whom he stole something thirty years ago" wants to find out if the man is still "easy."

No one will waste much sympathy on the Brighton man who was recently fined $15 for beating a cat. The cat was so ill treated it had to be killed.

A Vermont editor says "A rainy day now and then makes a nice weather sandwich.' The trouble down Boston way is that there is no meat in its sandwich, all dry bread, and needing moisture badly.

Have you looked up a lantern for your carriage? The new law compels all owners of vehicles, whether carriages or autos to show lanterns at night. It's a good law and should be enforced.

The time to put force into advertising is when business is dull. The dull season is now here; make your advertisements so attractive and your offerings so reasonable that a lethargic public will sit up and take notice

It is in the summer time when they are away on their vacations that many people are most interested in reading the local paper. Send a copy to the absent members of your family. Or, if you are going yourself, become a regular subscriber before you go.

Motors whether on land or water seem to be under the eyes of the law. This summer the motor boat is being looked to to see that they are not violating the law, with the result that many owners are summoned into court.

Inquiry as to the form of hypnotism that caused the Wisconsin legislature to pick "Uncle Ike" for senator will be delayed until next winter, thus giving the lumbermen that may be called as witnesses, and solemnly sworn as such, a longer time to think out favorable facts, or get away to Europe.

And now it is Willis L. Moore, chief of the Weather Bureau at Washington who is to be investigated. They seem to be having a regular merry-go-round of investigation at the capital, but seriously don't you think it is time the weather was looked into for it doesn't seem to be quite up to the mark?

We are glad there has been another change of name for our street railway. The Old Colony meant something to this locality and we are sorry to see the name go and the road become the Boston & Northern for it seemed to leave us out entirely but now that it has again changed and become the Bay State Street Railway Company, it seems good and appropriate for there is nothing like the old Bay State."

Now if the steam railroad would do likewise it would please Bostonians. The good old name of Old Colony was wiped out and it became the New York, New Haven & Hartford. Boston and old Massachusetts don't seem to be in it at all.

Unscrupulous food manufacturers and their political allies are trying to stuff doped food down the throats of the American people. Dr. Wiley has fought to stop them. For twenty-five years he has stood for pure food. Naturally the battle cry of the doped food crowd is "Get Wiley—never mind how—but get him." And now they think they have got him. They have waited and watched their chance for years and "never mind how" is a part of their slogan. Manufacturers who would feed embalmed food to millions of their fellow countrymen —men, women and children, are not going to scruple as to how they would try to down the man who "blocked their game."

What are the great American people going to do about it?

Dr. Wiley's downfall must be accomplished through the administration. Will the administration dare to stand up as the champion of the manufacturers who dope the people? Will the administration dare to let the people know that they have representatives in Washington who are willing to see them fed on emblamed food. And if the administration does drive out the protector of the peoples food what will the people do to the administration?

Would you have a spark of confidence in a set of politicians who would permit a few influential men to deceive you and your family to the extent that you and those you loved would be fed on filth?

Well, would you?

PITY THE CONDUCTOR.

It was an open car, had been signaled to stop but before it had been able to do so, a woman arose and alighted from the step in about the same manner that she would "trip" down the steps at home. More by good luck than management she landed upright. Why do women presist in getting off a car the wrong way? Editorials have been written upon the subject, signs have been hung in the cars calling the women's attention to their failing, talks have been given on the subject, but everything, so far, has been unable to remedy the evil.

Is it because women think they have a special prerogative in doing what may result in a serious accident to themselves? There is hope yet; it is coming; it is on the way. Like the star of promise that is dimly seen over the mountain, gradually growing brighter, until it bursts on the vision in all its great beauty, so the age of reason is advancing when women will alight from a street car, firmly grasping the rail with the right hand, facing the forward end, alighting as gracefully as a bird and in perfect safety, without causing thrills of apprehension from onlookers for fear she may fall and severely injure herself. And that age of reason that is advancing it the time when women shall have universal suffrage, because at that time they will have to do men's work and take upon themselves men's responsibilities, says an exchange.

For up against what is on the way, it would be a good plan for all the women to commence to practice in getting off of street cars in the proper manner at once, so when they assume man's place in this busy world of ours, they will be able to cry aloud: "I have accomplished and solved the great problem, why women always get off of street cars in the wrong way."

SHATTER THE TRADITION.

President Taft is right, when he says, the idea that the President is disloyal to his trust simply because he sets foot on foreign soil is a "foolish tradition" Reciprocity will soon be before the Canadian public. An excellent opportunity will then be offered the American-born citizens of Canada to invite Mr. Taft to run over and address them on that important subject, incidentally putting tradition into the oblivion, where it rightly belongs.

MR. TAFT.

William Howard Taft, Republican President of the United States, has a mind broad enough and a heart big enough to place some of the credit, following the passage of the reciprocity bill, where it properly belongs. In a statement issued on Sunday, he said:

"In a sense, the bill passed was a non-partisan measure, though the Republicans who voted for it probably did so on one economic theory, and the Democrats who voted for it on another. I should be wanting in straightforward speaking, however, if I did not freely acknowledge the credit that belongs to the Democratic majority in the House and the Democratic minority in Senate for their consistent support of the measure, in an earnest and sincere desire to secure its passage. It would not have been difficult for them to fasten upon the bill amendments affecting the tariff generally in such a way as to embarrass the executive and to make it doubtful whether he could sign the bill, and yet to claim popular approval for their support of reciprocity in its defeat. In other words, the Democrats did not 'play politics,' in the colloquial sense in which those words are used, but they followed the dictates of a higher policy.

President Taft has worked hard and faithfully for the passage of the bill and is sure to reap the benefit of an increased popularity. The passage of the bill means the following to the consumers in the United States.

1. Admit to the United States free of duty articles to the value of $39,811,560 upon which under the Payne-Aldrich tariff law where there is now a duty. In return, Canada, by a similar remission of her duties, will admit free products of the United States to the value of $21,957,605, according to the statistics for last year obtainable for purposes of calculation.

2. Place upon the free list wheat, rye, oats, barley, buckwheat, dried peas, beans and corn upon which the United States at present imposes a varying schedule of duties ranging from 10 cents per bushel for rye to 45 cents per bushel for dried beans, all this benefit to the consumer being accomplished at a revenue cost to the United States of less than $300,00.

3. Place upon the free list cattle, horses, mules, sheep and swine , at present dutiable at varying rates, averaging approximately, 25 per cent, but at a revenue cost to the United States of less than $275,000.

4. Place upon the free list vegetables of all sorts, including potatoes, cabbages, onions, turnips, sweet potatoes and yams, now taxed at from 25 cents to 40 cents per bushel, and all other fresh vegetables not enumerated at 25 per cent ad valorem, and at a cost in revenue to the United States of $380,000.

5. Relieve from the tariff of 1-4 cent per pound the annual importation of 31,841,152 pounds of fresh water fish, and from the tariff of from 3-4 to one cent per pound of 13,341,921 pounds of mackerel, cels, smelts, halibut and herring; 17,085,091 pounds of cod, haddock, hake, and other dried, smoked and salt fish, and 10,000,000 pounds of salted and smoked mackerel and herring, at a revenue cost to the United States of $380,000.

6. Remove the existing tariff on pulp wood and print paper, thereby admitting to the United States free 160,217,659 pounds of pulp wood now dutiable, and 86,766,027 pounds of print paper, according to the importations of 1910, at a revenue cost to the government of $300,0000 and 75,446,100 pounds of chemically prepared unbleached and 19,345,312 pounds of bleached pulp wood at a revenue cost of 175,000.

7. Place lumber upon the free list, thereby relieving the American consumer of the tariff of $1.25 per 1,000 feet upon the 975,975,000 feet of sawed lumber imported last year at a revenue sacrifice of $1,219,970.

8. Reduce the present tariff on fresh meats from 1 1-2 cents per pound to 1 1-4 cents per pound for the return concession on the part of Canada of a reduction from three cents a pound to 1 1-4 cents. Reduce the tariff on bacon and hams from four cents per pound to 1 1-4 cents per pound, on all other dried and smoked meats from 25 per cent ad valorem to 1 1-4 cents per pound, in return for a reduction on the part of Canada from two cents per pound to the same figure. These changes in the meat tariff to be effected at a revenue loss to the United States of less than $8,000.

9. Reduce the duty on canned vegetables from 40 per cent ad valorem at 1 1-4 cents per pound, at a revenue loss of $86,000.

10. Reduce the tariff on flour from 25 per cent ad valorem to 50 cents per barrel of 196 pounds, at a revenue loss of $72,000.

11. Reduce the tariff on maple sugar and maple syrup from four cents per pound to one cent per pound, at a revenue loss of $18,000.

12. Reduce the tariff on laths from 20 cents per 1,000 to 10 cents per 1,000, and upon shingles from 50 cents per 1,000 to 30 cents per 1,000, at a revenue loss for the two items of $200,000.

13. Articles to the value of $47,333,158 are affected by the new reciprocal agreement. Upon these articles the total tariff levied at present is $5,649,826 per annum. Of this revenue the United States will remit duties to the amount of $4,849,933.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

SELF MADE.—"He is a self-made man, I am told."

"Quite true, but his mother-in-law insists on making some alterations."

HISTRIONIC.—Fist Actor—"I am in a quandary. I have been offered an engagement by two managers, and I don't know how to act."

Second Actor—"Well don't worry. They'll soon find it out."

THE HOST.—Tommy—"Ma, may I make b'lieve that I'm entertain' another little boy?"

Ma—"Certainly, dear."

Tommy—"All right, give me some cake for him, then."

READY—"What would you do, Fraulein Irma, if I were suddenly to give you a kiss?"

"Oh, I don't know, I'm sure. I've never been asked. What would you advise me to do?"—Filegende Blaeter.

"Jinks would have spent his fortune on himself in a year if it hadn't been for his wife."

"How did she stop him?"

"Spent it on herself."—Stray Stories.

REVISED.—"I am afraid that I am not worthy enough for your daughter."

Parent—"Bosh! The point nowadays is are you worth enough for her?"—Judge.

TOO RAPID—"I see by the paper that the playing of checkers has been made unlawful in a Georgia town," said the southerner.

"Well," replied the traveling man. "I can understand why checkers might be considered too rapid a game for some Georgia towns."—Yonkers Statesman.

HOW HE RECKONS IT.—"Going on your vacation soon?"

"I can't leave for four more paydays yet."—Detroit Free Press.

MORE THAN SHE COULD BEAR.—"They really fear she will become insane. You see, she found a diary kept before he married her."

"Oh, I see! And the awful revelations ——"

"'Revelations?' No; it was in cipher, and she couldn't read a word of it."—Tit-Bits.

PROHIBITION.

Returns from Texas this morning point to another "dry" state and the war against "John Barleycorn" goes merrily forward—West Virginia in recent elections, having closed the saloons all the way to Grafton, in the middle of the state. However, we do not have to go far from home to note that something more drastic than the closing of the saloons will have to be done to stop the consumption. Swat the distillery!

SEC'Y WILSON SHOULD RESIGN.

As far as the attack has gone, nobody can question the popularity of Dr. Wiley. Whatever else comes of it, it should at least result in a reorganization of the Department of Agriculture. The great work done by the present secretary can never be overestimated and the country will always be his debtor. Certain affairs, however, connected with the Pinchot case and now with the present one, proves limitations due to advancing years, which cannot be overlooked. There is one sure thing, which is, that if the American people can have their way, the prosecution of food and drug frauds will be made more efficient, notwithstanding the increased cost for competent experts.

THE HOBBLE SKIRT DID IT.

The economic losses of fashion, with the throwing away of fabrics and furnishings that are not worn out, only out of style, has often been pointed out. The added cost to the consumer is evident. But occasionally cases come along where a much more serious disaster hits the producer.

For instance, thousands of mill girls throughout the country have been out of work a considerable part of this summer, because the demand for cloth has been cut by the hobble skirt fashion. It does not take as much material to produce the garment as formerly, consequently many mills making women's dress goods have had to run on short time.

Now if that thing could become permanent, the result would be just the same as that which follows the introduction of labor saving machinery. If twice the amount of cloth needed has been used in making the round-flowing skirts of the past, it follows that there has been an economic waste, and that the present fad is merely a return to a sensible form. In that case, the suffering among the people thrown out of work would be deplorable, but sooner or later they would find other work, and the production of the world as a whole would be increased by the amount of cloth saved in making skirts for women.

But fashion flouts its saucy face at the sober prudence of economics. Should the out of works in the dress goods trade seek other employment, by the time they had earned enough to pay the expense of a change of trade, the caprice of fashion would be ordering skirts fuller than ever. These same mills would have to work nights to fill my ladies' wardrobe with fulsome apparel.

So any saving of cothing fabrics temporarily accomplished by the present fad is merely illusory, offset by the idleness of a large number of producers, and those often in pitifully needy circumstances.

HOME TRADE WILL HELP QUINCY AND EVERYONE IN QUINCY.

WILEY VS. REMSEN BOARD.

It is freely predicted that the charges against Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, Chief of the Bureau of Chemistry in connection with the salary of Dr. H. H. Rusby will prove a boomerang and recoil upon the doped food interests which have handicapped his administration of the pure food laws and have sought to oust him. It seems more than probable that the Remsen board will be abolished and many members of Congress believe that "Uncle Jere Wilson," the aged head of the department of agriculture, will find it convenient to resign. The House Committee on expenditures in the Department of Agriculture, of which Representative Moss, of Indiana, is chairman, will go to the bottom of the efforts to get Wiley's scalp and many interesting developments are scheduled. A genuine sensation is promised when the Remsen Board is smoked out. Some years ago the attacks in Congress on the legal status of the board became so violent that it was thought well to have an opinion from Attorney General Wickersham on the subject. One was made public in which Mr. Wickersham held the board was legally appointed. It now develops that he referred the question to an Assistant Attorney General, yet in the Department, who prepared an opinion that the board was illegal and had been appointed without authority of law. It was quickly recognized that such an opinion would place Secretary Wilson, and ex-President Roosevelt, under whose administration the Remsen Board was created, in a very bad hole especially as the board had expended a hundred thousand dollars in investigating benzoate of soda. Consequently the opinion of the assistant attorney general was suppressed and the question was referred to Solicitor George P. McCabe, of the department of Agriculture, who has no connection with the Department of Justice, who wrote an opinion sustaining his Chief, Secretary Wilson. The McCabe opinion was sent to the Department of Justice and there promulgated as the opinion of the Attorney General. A copy of the original opinion declaring the board illegal and which was suppressed in favor of the McCabe opinion, is in existence and will be produced before the committee if called for, as it doubtless will be.

It is not unprobable that Former President Roosevelt will be summoned by the committee to tell of the circumstances leading to the appointment of the Remsen Board. It is reported on good authority that he indicated to a prominent member of the American Medical Association that he had been mislead in creating the board and in selecting its personnel, and it is common gossip in Washington that the creation of the board and its membership was quietly suggested to him from a source which he did not then connect witht he benzoate of soda and saccharin interests, and other manufacturers opposed to the enforcement of the law as outlined by Dr. Wiley.

While so much fuss has been raised over the salary of $1,600 set aside for Dr. H. H. Rusby, it is interesting to note some of the sums paid the members of the Remsen board, which, in the three and one-half years of its existence has cost government several hundred thousand dollars and which has rendered two decisions, one reversing Wiley on benzoate of soda and the other sustaining him on saccharin. From March 1, 1908, to Dec. 31, 1909, this board drew $86,793, which was divided among its members as follows: Dr. Ira Remsen, of John Hopkins, President of the Board, $11,631, salary and $4,040, expenses; total $15,662; Dr. Russell H. Chittenden, Yale University, $13,709 salary and $5,769 expenses, total $19,469; Dr. Christian A. Herter, Columbia University, $9,822 salary and $3,518 expenses, total $13,340; Dr. John A. Long, Northwestern University, $15,685 salary and $8,473 expenses, total $24,158; Dr. A. E. Taylor, University of California, $9,732 salary and $4,419 expenses. Since then $60,000 has yearly been set aside for the salaries and expenses of the board.

—Our country is so vast that the sixty explosions of dynamite which are said to have been planned and executed for the destruction of property attracted little attention, and would not have impressed themselves upon the consciousness of the general public, had not the blowing up of the buildings in Los Angeles startled the people into attention. In spite of rapid transit and the means provided for the diffusion of the news of the day people living in different parts of the country have little knowledge of distant sections which they have never visited. Even citizens of Boston and Chicago actively engaged in business, when for the first time they exchange visits, confess to mutual surprises. Among the phrases that are frequently heard are such as "I had no idea" or "I did not realize," or, like the Queen of Sheba, they confess to each other, "The half was not told me."—Christian Register.

USE OUR SAFE DEPOSIT FOR VALUABLES

If you have valuable papers in the drawer of some desk at home; if you have fine jewels that you do not wear except on special occasions; if you rely too much upon the honesty of your servants—rent one of our safety deposit boxes. They are made of steel, and enclosed in our big steel vault—proof against theft, fire and carelessness.

$5.00 a year

NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

Low Cuts
That Will Fit You

Don't be satisfied with a pair that gap at the sides, slip at the heel or pinch the toes.

Our Oxfords

are especially designed to fit your foot perfectly. Set closely around the top, fasten snugly over the instep.

Come In! and let us fit you properly

RALSTON'S for MEN — JONES Just around the Corner 1 Granite Street — AMERICAN LADIES for WOMEN

July 24-3t

WHEELER'S
The Store for Ladies' Furnishings

We will continue our Sale of Shirt Waists and Long Gloves

See what we offer in Shirt Waists for 79c and 98c
and Long Gloves for 50c and 75c

We are also showing a new line of Children's Parasols, all colors, for 25c and 29c

WE GIVE CASH DISCOUNT SLIPS

City Square G. W. WHEELER Quincy

GOOD FOR HUNDRED YEARS

Are the Reports on Condition of Statue of Liberty by Officials

New York, July 25.—Contrary to other reports, Miss Liberty, of Bedloe's island, will remain firm on her pedestal for another hundred years. The fifty-odd holes that have appeared in the folds of her bronze gown are due to wear and the thinness of the metal, but can be readily repaired.

The holes range in size from a pin's head to a bullet and are irregular in shape. It was thought at first that corrosion was the cause, but an examination brought to light the fact that Miss Liberty's gown is moulded of light metal.

MATE OF STEAMER CAUSES A WONDER

A Remarkable Rating For an Eleven-Months-Old Child

Boston, July 25.—Erling Iversen, an 11-months-old infant, has the distinction of being the youngest officer on any sea-going liner. He is third mate on the Norwegian fruit liner Ida Cunco, which took its berth at Commercial wharf yesterday, having come from Sama, Cuba.

Erling's title as third mate is not merely an honorary one. On the ship's papers is the following in black and white: "Erling Iversen, third mate." Little Erling entered upon his duties of the office when he was two weeks old.

In all he has made eighteen trips, covering 32,400 miles. Captain Iversen vouches for the fact that one day in the last trip, when the gale raged fiercest, his wife became ill and had to go below. Little Erling, however, stayed on the bridge with his father, clinging to the middle bar of the rail and balancing himself with his feet.

STRANGLED TO DEATH

Sad Ending of Young Student at His Home In Cambridge

Cambridge, Mass., July 25.—An attempt by George Tracey, 14 years old, to perfect a new gymnastic trick by the aid of two looped ropes in the cellar of his house resulted in his death by strangulation, when one of the loops caught about his neck.

The boy was a student at the Rindge manual training school. Only last Saturday he was found in a dangerous position by his sister, Gertrude Tracey.

Tracey went to the cellar of the house to practice on the ropes. After a few minutes had passed and his sister did not hear him in the cellar, she went down to investigate.

TO LET
IN QUINCY CENTER

SEVERAL DESIRABLE HOUSES
7, 8 and 10 Rooms
Every convenience and very desirable locations.
RENT $25 TO $40 according to house

APPLY TO
MISS PRESCOTT,
Ledger Office
Quincy, July LPOff

OPENING GUN FIRED IN BLOODLESS WAR

Blue Troopers Scamper When They Meet Volley of Reds

First Skirmish, Reds Successful, Occured at Reading

Boston, July 25.—The first powder in the bloodless war between the Red and Blue armies of the Massachusetts militia which are striving for the possession of the city of Boston, was burned about a mile north of the town of Reading, when the cavalrymen of the opposing armies had a short, sharp skirmish.

At the conclusion of the engagement the umpires ruled that the movement of each side had been successful, and hostilities were suspended for the remainder of the day and the troopers were directed to return to quarters.

Orders were issued by General E. P. Clark, commander of the Blue army, and General W. A. Pew, Jr., the Red commander, calling for the general suspension of fighting. These orders were due in great part, to the fact that a downpour of rain was drenching the soldiers.

Early in the morning, the cavalrymen of each army set out on tours of reconnaisance. The Reds made their way through Wakefield and Reading, and in Reading the scouts reported that they had seen the cavalry of the Blue enemy. The soldiers dismounted, and acting as infantry took up a strong position on the top of a thickly wooded knoll.

The Blue troopers marched toward the Red cavalrymen, but were surprised when they were met with a sharp volley from the hidden Reds. The Blue riders retreated out of range and dismounting, deployed, and when the umpires called the game off for the day, each side was endeavoring to outflank and pass the other.

No general engagement between the opposing armies is expected to take place before next Thursday. During the first three days of the campaign, the staff of army officers will give attention to the individual militiamen, teaching them how to handle their weapons in the most effective manner.

Visitors had plenty to see at Billerica, where the Blue army, under Brigadier General Clark, had headquarters, at Lynnfield, where was the headquarters of the Red army under Brigadier General Pew, and at Boxford, where was the field artillery. The troops who went into camp were busy about routine work, while new arrivals furnished views of about every branch of the service arriving on the field and going into camp.

Five thousand men are in the field armed and equipped for the greatest maneuvers ever conducted by the militia of any state. Thousands of people are at the various camps watching the interesting maneuvers.

President Taft is expected at the headquarters during the week. Major Frederick D. Grant, commander of the department of the east, is expected here on Wednesday.

GEN. FREDERICK D. GRANT

Who Is to Witness Army Maneuvers

Photo by American Press Association.

TECHNICAL WORLD.

"Houses Shot From Guns" and "Making The Farm Pay" can not but interest readers. The first deals with a new and—almost—startling application of concrete; the second with the principles of the new science of efficiency as applied to agriculture. These are only a few of the interesting and timely articles to be found in August Technical World. Published at Chicago and found on all the newstands.

How to Drink Milk.

The proper way of drinking milk is little understood. Thousands of people drink a glass of milk without removing the receptacle from their lips. No sooner does this mass of milk reach the stomach than the gastric juices curdle it and form masses of hard, tough and impenetrable curd. If the digestion is sufficiently vigorous it may be taken care of, but few have such digestion. If the milk were drunk slowly, at the same time a piece of bread being taken, it would be finely divided and the curd would be broken up and the processes of digestion would proceed readily. However, it is an evident rule that milk should never be taken rapidly in any considerable quantity, but should be slowly sipped or taken with a spoon or in connection with bread or some dry cereal.

☞Going away for the summer? If so don't forget to have the Daily Ledger sent to your address and keep posted on home news. If you have forgotten to send in your order in the rush of getting away drop us a postal and we will do the rest. tf

GREATER ASSETS FOR STANDARD OIL COMPANY

People who are well informed regarding the affairs of the Standard Oil Co. are now predicting the segregation of the great corporation into thirty-five companies will show assets of much greater value than is represented by the present market price of the stock, with the result that the latter is very likely to reach a higher level before the reorganization plan is actually worked out.

Incidently it may be added that there are at present 6,200 shareholders with an average holding of seventeen shares each. The actual control of the big company is ,however, lodged in less than 200 persons and estates. The average holdings of 500 of the stockholders will not exceed five shares per capita. Although the officials assert that no definite plan of readjustment has as yet been agreed upon, it is known upon excellent authority that a scheme has been devised which has received the tentative approval of the government and that the same will probably be worked out to a consummation early next fall. It may likewise be added that while the methods of doing business will be radically changed thereunder, the control of the subsidiary companies will remain in the hands of the same 200 individuals and estates that now hold it.

KILLED WITH BRICK

Restaurant Robber Pursued by Waiter and Stricken Down

New York, July 25.—After he had robbed a restaurant an unidentified man was killed by a brick thrown by James Trakakes, a waiter. The victim was about 30 years old.

Trakakes picked up a brick and hurled it at the robber. It struck him squarely on the head, and he dropped like a log. From his hands as he stretched out his arms in the death struggle the robber dropped $18 in bills which he had taken from the drawer.

—The trouble with nearly all of us is that the prospect of a vacation makes us summon unconsciously all our reserve energy and we go forth and put in two weeks at high tension and then plod home conscious that our account at the Bank of Stamina has been sadly o'erdrawn. Really it is a fine art to take a vacation and get the most out of it.—Worcester Gazette.

WILL GIVE AID AT FIRES IN METROPOLITAN DISTRICT

System For Cities and Towns Practically Arranged and In Working Order

Will Soon be Connected to Boston by Telegraph

The system of aid in the case of large fires in Boston in the cities and towns of the Metropolitan district, is practically completed, and in working order although up to the present time Quincy has not been connected with the fire alarm system of Boston, so that in case of aid being required, the telephone will have to be depended upon. It is the intention, however, to connect Quincy with the Boston fire alarm telegraph in the near future.

The cities and towns included in the zone are Winthrop, Revere, Chelsea, Everett, Somerville, Malden, Cambridge, Watertown, Newton, Dedham, Hyde Park, Milton and Quincy, and the central fire station has been supplied with a running card showing the location of all the boxes in the nine districts of Boston and the apparatus that responds to each box, in order that the local firemen may familiarize themselves with them.

The scheme provides a series of special boxes for these nine districts, numbered from 3221 to 3229 inclusive for the notifying of outlying departments that their services are needed. The scheme in brief not only provides sufficient apparatus to take care of a conflagration, but at the same time to give protection to the rest of the city.

Under this system, in case of any of the above numbered boxes being sounded, Steamer 1, will go immediately to the house of engine 20 at Neponset to cover in. For Box 3221 the steamer alone will go to Neponset, but on all of the other special boxes the steamer and Combination 2 of Atlantic will go to Neponset. While covering in Neponset, they will answer Boston alarms in a certain district, which is practically that usually covered by the Neponset company.

There is one other special box in which Quincy is interested and that is Box 998. The sounding of this box will send the steamer to East Milton. In case the Atlantic combination should go to Neponset one of the pieces of Wollaston apparatus will move to Atlantic.

The running card for Quincy is not completed yet, but when it is Quincy will be given a certain number, the same as Milton, the sounding of which in case of a conflagration in Quincy will bring aid from Neponset and Milton while the stations, there, will be covered by apparatus that will move up from other stations.

It will thus be seen, that under the system established, aid in case of a big fire can readily be obtained and at the same time the sections from which the aid comes will still be fully protected by the moving up in regular order of other apparatus.

As fast as any changes are made in the Boston running card, the new card system is brought to the central station at Quincy by special messenger, to insure its safe arrival, Several changes have been made since the plan first began to assume shape the latest running card being dated July 15.

The Ledger has frequently referred to the system of protection being arranged but it was not until within a few days that the system was practically perfected.

CAUSE OF HIGH PRICES OF VEGETABLES

Prominent wholesale fruit and produce dealers and commision merchants in Greater Boston, yesterday declared that the dry weather which prevailed in all the Southern centres, from whence nearly all our early supplies of vegetables come, is responsible for the shortage and the consequent high prices. First there was the shortage in milk, which resulted in the price being raised and now comes the shortage in all kinds of vegetables.

These same merchants declare that vegetables have been a kind of luxury with the poor people. They state that some hope was entertained earlier in the season that when the local season for garden vegetables was reached there would be an abundance. This hope, however, has been dashed to pieces, owing to the scarcity of rain, which caused the local garden crops to burn up.

The most common of all vegetables, potatoes, have soared to an enormous price. Last year potatoes averaged 30 cents a peck, today this commodity cannot be bought for less than 50 cents a peck anywhere and sometimes the cost is even more.

One housewife gave some idea of the problem she faces since all kinds of vegetables have gone up. She quoted the prices she is compelled to pay for the various vegetables which show that the cost of some of these eatables has nearly doubled. Onions, she declared, were less than a cent a bunch last summer, while today she pays a cent and a half for the same quantity.

The new beets, for which last year she paid 2 cents a bunch, or two bunches for 5 cents, have advanced to the exorbitant price of 6 cents; at this price she bought beets only yesterday.

Fruits, too, have gone up in price, especially all kinds of berries. Last year strawberries varied in price from 8 to 10 cents per quart, today strawberries retail for from 12 to 18 cents a quart. Green peas, lettuce, cabbage and, in fact, every kind of vegetable, have gone up in price from 30 to 40 per cent.

"These high prices will be maintained on all the summer vegetables," declared a prominent merchant yesterday. "But if we will get some good rain, it would help the winter growth and of course will again restore vegetables to a normal condition

NON-USE O LIQUOR.

When the newspapermen's banquet was held at the Wellington a few days ago, as the men sat down to the tables, at each place was a Manhattan cocktail. It is most noteworthy to say that only about ten per cent. of the cocktails were consumed. Nearly every merchant of this city who was present as an invited guest left the cocktail untouched. The majority of newspapermen did likewise.

The newspapermen were on a special trip to inspect the tunnel and they knew if the brain was artifically stimulated with liquor they would not be in a condition to make a report worthy of the newspaper they represented.

This incident of the banquet should preach a strong sermon to those who think they must take a drink of liquor to be able to describe in a fitting manner an official trip they may be sent on, or to those who believe it is absolutely necessary to take a drink to appear more eloquent when showing goods to a merchant to get his patronage.

A man with a clear brain can accomplish far more than one whose brain is artifically stimulated by liquor for the stimulating effect will soon wear off, and the brain becomes weary and benumbed by the unusual tax put upon it to concentrate thought and have clear ideas at the crucial moment when everything depends on steady and decisive action.

It is to be hoped the editors of the newspapers who sent their representatives on this inspection trip will take note of this editorial and realize that the practical non-use of liquor was noticed by the people of this city and highly commended. It showed to all the invited guests what a high class of men are now engaged in newspaper work, and with these men in charge there need never be fear but what the news will be reported in a faithful and truthful manner.

The young men who are starting out in life to become traveling salesmen, or journalists, or bankers, or any other position, should take this lesson to heart: That a clear, active brain will win success, while a brain that is befogged and heavy with strong drink will mean the downfall of all hopes and aspirations.—North Adams Herald.

PATCH'S

Special Range Coal

IGNITES QUICKLY

If it were stony or of bad quality it wouldn't.

It is the most reliable coal imaginable, helps the cook when she's in a hurry and shows up best when needed most.

Besides it burns up so thoroughly as to leave the smallest quantity of ash.

Buy it and try it and see why so many will burn no other.

One ton should prove it.

C. PATCH & SON, INC.

Office, 1422 Hancock Street, Quincy

THE POCKETKNIFE

Many Machines and Processes Used In Its Making.

ART IN FORGING THE BLADES.

To Become an Adept In the Delicate Work of Tempering Edge Steel Necessitates a Long Course of Training and Years of Experience.

The labor of making a pocketknife is, as usual in every industry that is carried on by the aid of a great deal of machinery, much divided. Each blade must go through six separate processes—first, forging; second, laying on the "tangs," that part which is inserted into the handle and through which the blade is riveted; third, marking or stamping with the name of the manufacturer; fourth, "chilling," or filing a depression in the neck of the blade between the sharp edge and the heavier part or "tang;" fifth, tempering; sixth, grinding.

All this applies to the two ordinary blades of a knife. Nail blades are subjected to still another process—namely, the cutting of the file, which is a department of work in itself.

Should we inspect the material room of a knife manufactory we should find heavy iron presses, which stamp out from sheets of brass or iron the metal scales and lining. The bright tips on the end of the knife, called "bolsters," are pressed out of German silver under another heavy weight, which does its work in one blow. Huge shears cut from sheets of steel, used only for this purpose, long strips that are afterward fashioned under a press into springs for the back of the knife.

The rod of steel from which the blades are made is taken from the material room to the forge. Here one end is put into a bed of hot coals, the bellows are pumped, and the end is soon red.

The skilled forger then hammers the blade into shape upon his anvil, and so accurate is his eye and so exact his hand that the blade does not deviate a hair's breadth from the little brass pattern that is before him and to which each blade must correspond exactly.

The blade is next dipped in water and becomes as hard and brittle as glass. But the edges are rough. It is nearly uniform in thickness and is a light gray in color.

Again the forger's skill is brought into play in the tempering. Laying the blades on a copper plate over the fire, he watches them as they change their hue with the degree of heat, first to straw color, then to darker straw and now to the dark purple which denotes that the proper degree of heat has been obtained. They are plunged into cold water as fast as they reach this point.

If the blades were allowed to remain longer over the fire the steel would change to a light blue and become so soft that the blades could be bent easily. This is perhaps the most important process in the manufacture.

The blades are taken next to the grinding room. The grinder must also depend upon the accuracy of his eye and the training of his hand, for as he presses the blade on the rapidly revolving stone, turning it on both sides and grinding all its edges, he practically finishes it, though afterward, in the cutler's room, a higher finish is given it.

From the "wheel room" the blades go to the cutler's room, where they find the other parts of the knife and where all the parts are put together.

Each workman here is at work upon a particular lot of knives, all of one pattern. Upon his work bench are the various parts of the knives, prepared by other hands—the center scales that separate the blades, the outer brass scales of lining, with the German silver bolsters, which have been secured to the ends by a heavy drop hammer; the wood, ivory or pearl scales, the springs and the wire rivets.

Each brass lining, with its covering, is put in a vise, and holes are drilled in it for the rivets. A brass wire is thrust through the middle of the handle toward the back. This secures the spring, and it is then broken off with nippers and headed down with a hammer. This holds the scales and springs. Another rivet through the bolster secures one blade or two blades if the knife has more than one blade hung at each end.

The several parts are now put together. The next process is "hafting" or finishing the covers of the handle, which is done on a leather wheel coated with glue and emery. The rough edges are rounded and smoothed, and then the knives are carefully examined to see if the cutler has done his work properly.

If the spring works easily and the blades close without striking the knives are sent to the blade polisher.

On a wooden wheel covered with fine leather the ordinary blades are given a polish called a "glaze finish." Finer grades of knives are given a "crocus finish"—a mirror-like surface—on a leather wheel which revolves very slowly, in order that the blades shall not become heated and lose their temper.

The knives are now taken to another room, where, on an oilstone, the keen cutting edges are "set." This done, the blades are closed, and the "buffing wheel" gives the final polish to the outer side.—Philadelphia Record.

That endless book, the newspaper, is our national glory.—Henry Ward Beecher.

Wanted to Convert Utopia.

When the "Utopia" was first published it occasioned a pleasant mistake. This political romance represents a perfect but visionary republic in an island supposed to have been somewhere in the Atlantic, near these western shores.

"As this was the age of discovery," says Granger, "the learned Budneus and others took it for genuine history and deemed it expedient to send missionaries thither to convert the people."—"Book of Queer Things."

Philosophy.

Learn to be pleased with everything—with wealth, so far as it makes us of benefit to others; with poverty, for not having much to care for, and with obscurity, for being unenvied.—Plutarch.

BATTLE FOR NOMINATION

(Continued from Page One.)

City Council, as well as Councilman-at large for several years part of the time as its president. He has always been a staunch Republican and has stood by the party nomines and if nominated is almost assured of election.

Mr. Bolster is a member of the present City Council and has served two years the present year being a member at large. He has however made some enemies in his own party it being claimed that he supported Mayor Shea last December in preference to Ralph W. Hobbs the regular Republican nominee.

As stated above it is not known if Representative Thomas intends to enter the contest this year. The established president has been after a man who has served three years for him to step down and out and give some one else a chance.

"Darn the flies; let's swat the Republicans!" exclaims the Jacksonville Times-Union. Wrong. Let us swat the flies, the Republicans are swatting one another.

HOT WEATHER

and dirt breed germs. Germs bring diseases and are a menace to your health. Our sanitary dyeing and cleaning processes render your clothes free from germs.

Get The Sanitary Habit!

We call for and deliver the work

WARSHAW'S DYE HOUSE

"The Home of Cleanliness"

1503 HANCOCK STREET QUINCY

July 15-tf

PATENTS

TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 26 years experience.

Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.

READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.

D. SWIFT & CO.

PATENT LAWYERS,

303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

FIRE INSURANCE.

The Best Insurance. The Lowest Rates.
Insurance Department,
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Telephone, Quincy 97-3.

HERBERT A. HAYDEN

Piano Tuner

Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock treet, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point
Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1153 M Nov. 3-tf

Quincy Savings Bank

BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.

SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.

CLARENCE BURGIN,
Treasurer.

UPHOLSTERING

My only ambition is to get the work and to show the people of Quincy Town that nobody can beat me with my good work. Low prices on all kinds of furniture, repairing, mattresses, and cushions. Can give references. M. Mirkin 67 Washington street, next to Y.M.C.A. Quincy. Tel. 1112W. April 10-4mo.

HOUSEKEEPERS
TELL YOUR TROUBLES
HOLMES & HALL

We make a business of repairing the things about the house that get out of order such as DOORS, LOCKS, SHADES, BELLS and FURNITURE.

96 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 974 L

STORAGE
— FOR —
Furniture and Pianos
Storage Warehouse with Separate Rooms
Furniture and Piano Movers
HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy Tel. Con.

JAMES F. BURKE
Real Estate and Insurance
AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES
Justice of the Peace Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Tel. 585-3 Jan. 17-tf

A. M. DEANE & CO.
MONUMENTS
MEMORIALS ERECTED
IN ANY
CEMETERY
IN THE
UNITED STATES
Aug. 1. 1y

PATTERSON, "The Florist"
92 South Central Ave.
WOLLASTON, MASS.
Telephone 392 Quincy

M. T. SULLIVAN
Real Estate Insurance
Auctioneer Care of Property
Justice of the Peace
Corner School and Hancock Streets
QUINCY.

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER and GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

PATENTS
PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES.
Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent.
Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively.
Write or come to us at
710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office,
WASHINGTON, D. C.
C.A.SNOW & Co.

Quincy Daily Ledger

HIGH TIDE FOR WEEK.

Monday, July 24,	9.45	10.00
Tuesday,	10.45	11.00
Wednesday,	11.30	12.00
Thursday,	12.00	12.30
Friday,	12.45	1.15
Saturday,	1.45	2.15
Sunday,	2.30	3.00

1911 JULY 1911

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
						1
2	3	4	5	6	7	8
9	10	11	12	13	14	15
16	17	18	19	20	21	22
23	24	25	26	27	28	29
30	31

BRIEFS

The Registrars of Voters met Monday evening to revise the voting lists.

Fifteen delinquents from Quincy were inthe juvenile court this morning.

Miss Maud Tayor of Quincy Point, has acepted a position as cashier at Thompson's restaurant.

Mrs. Clara A. Penley of the Sewer department office, at City Hall, is having her annual vacation.

Paul Revere , W. R. C., has an outing tomorrow afternoon at Nantasket. They leave Quincy about quarter of four and return in the evening.

Miss Leona Byrne Mischler of Whitwell street is the guest of her uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Lawton of North Weymouth for an indefinite time.

A. M. Mischler of Whitwell street, his nephew Charles Harberstrah of Boston and Mr. Ritchie of Boston have gone to Ware, Mass., for a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Howe and Miss Irene A. Howe of Cottage street left Monday for a two weeks' stay on the Cape, with Mr. Howe's brother Zenas A. Howe of Wellfleet and his father Zenas T. Howe at Chatham.

THE RIVER.

Charlotte Becker, in the New York Sun

A glimpse of the river, it glimmers
Through the stems of the beeches;
Through the screen of the willows it shimmers
In low winding reaches;
Flowing so softly that scarcely
It seems to be flowing,
But the reeds of the low, little islands
Are bent to its going.

And soft as the breath of a sleeper
Its hearing and sighing,
In the coves where the fleets of the lilies
At anchor are lying.
It looks as if fallen asleep
In the lap of the meadows, and smiling
Like a child in the grass, dreaming deep
Of the flowers and their golden beguiling.

A glimpse of the river—it glooms
Underneath the black arches,
Across it the black shadow looms,
And the eager crowd marches,
Where, washing the feet of the city,
Strong and swift it is flowing;
On its bosom the ships of the nations
Are coming and going.

Heavy laden, it labors and spends
In a great strain of duty
The power that was gathered and nursed
In the calm and the beauty.
Like thee, oh, my river, like thee,
May our lives in beginning and ending,
Fair in their gathering be
And great in the time of their spending.

Pickpocket Sent to Jail

Boston, July 25.—William Corcoran's well preserved hands caused Judge Bolster yesterday to send him to the house of correction for six months. Cocoran, who was charged with picking the pocket of Frank Coughlin of Cambridge, declared to Judge Bolster that he was a steamfitter's helper.

Board of Health on Cholera

Boston, July 25.—No new cases of cholera have made their appearance, according to a statement by the board of health yesterday, following a rigid examination of all those likely to have come in contact with the North End woman who died of the disease at Gallup's island.

Burned to Death

Los Angeles, Cal., July 25.—Returning to a burning structure to try and rescue an Angora cat and three kittens, Miss Louise B. Frederici, aged 30, lost her life.

The Weather

Almanac, Wednesday, July 26.
Sun rises—4:48; sets—7:17.
Moon sets—8:35 p. m.
High water—11:30 a. m.; 11:30 p. m.
Forecast for New England: Probably fair; brisk southwest and west winds.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

HOSTILITY HAS BRITISH HOUSE

Freedom of Speach Not Permitted Premier Asquith

SCENES OF WILD DISORDER

Political Hatred Engendered by the Veto Cause of the Dissatisfaction—Lord Cecil and F. E. Smith In Outbursts Against the Premier—Stormiest Scenes Witnessed For Many Years In Parliament

London, July 25.—The last act of the parliamentary revolution was ushered in with a revolutionary scene. For the first time in its history the house of commons refused to listen to a speech by the prime minister.

No such hostile passions have been given free rein in a chamber which traditionally carries on its debates with chivalrous courtesy since the stormy days of the Gladstone home rule bills. Probably there has been no such passage in the American congress since the reconstruction era.

Again and again the prime minister tried to speak, but his voice was drowned in the uproar. He gave utterance to a few broken sentences, a word or two of which could be heard.

Having announced the government's intentions as briefly and hurriedly as possible—although they were not heard—the premier sank back into his seat.

The leaders in the outburst against the prime minister were Lord Hugh Cecil and F. E. Smith, who recently achieved prominence in the Conservative party. The former kept up a constant fire of monotone cries, and the Labor member, Will Crooks several times jumped up as though about to assault him.

The speaker's pleadings that the members "observe the decencies of debate" were lost in the tumult. The wonder was that the crowded house did not come to blows.

The political hatred engendered by the veto bill made the session the stormiest in the memory of the oldest member. Every means short of physical force was successfully used to prevent Mr. Asquith from placing the views of the government before the house and the nation.

Mr. Asquith issued to the newspapers a summary of the speech he was prevented from delivering. In the speech he contended that the principles of the machinery of the bill had been before the people at two lections. By no form of referendum devisable could the opinion of the electorate have been more carefully ascertained.

Mr. Balfour accused Premier Asquith of dragging the crown in the dust and of abusing the confidence of the sovereign against the views of himself and his colleagues.

Sir Edward Grey, the foreign secretary, followed Mr. Balfour with a ringing expression of the majority's loyalty to the premier. He spoke in a voice tense with passion.

Every seat was occupied. The peers' gallery above the clock was filled to its capacity, the public galleries were overflowing and on all sides were evidences of intence excitement.

SEARCH FOR HIGHWAYMEN

Bloodhounds Aid In Search For Culprits Who Tried to Wreck Train

New York, July 25.—Bloodhounds are aiding the detectives searching for the highwaymen who made an attempt to wreck a Long Island railroad train near Valley Stream, L. I.

A fifteen-car passenger train crowded with pleasure seekers was speeding to this city when Engineer Whitford saw an obstruction on the track.

He threw on the brakes, reversed his engine and brought the train to a stop within fifteen feet of the obstruction. A tie had been planted in a hole, firmly spiked down between two ties, and then secured by ropes.

BOMB IN MILK CANS

Discovery Made of "Black Hand" Work on New York Ferryboat

New York, July 25.—Police patrol boats and fire tugs were sent up the North river by the explosion of a Black Hand bomb on board the ferryboat Netherland.

The bomb had been placed in a milk can, which was part of the cargo of a milk van on it from an Italian dairy company's depot on the lower East Side. The side of the van was blown out, milk and fragments of the steel cans were scattered over the boat and a wagon load of chickens was thrown overboard by the explosion.

Funeral of Mrs. Wilkinson

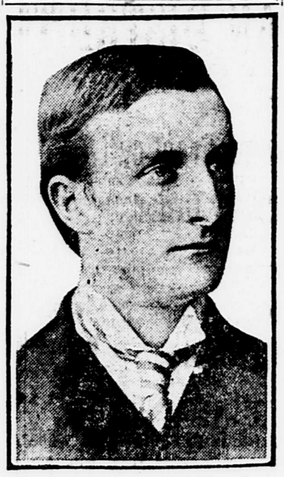
Somerville, Mass., July 25.—Funeral services for Mrs. Frances E. Wilkinson, who was shot in her home here by Frank J. Blaskoveck, were held in St. Catherine's church.

Self-Confessed Murderer Hanged

Digby, N. S., July 25.—John Teba, the 19-year-old youth who confessed Sunday night to the murder of Edward McGregor, last October, was hanged here yesterday.

SIR EDWARD GREY

Foreign Secretary and Speaker In British Row



COMPLAINS OF AMBASSADOR

Wealthy Woman Hot on Trail of a United States Official

San Francisco, July 25.—Principals in what is declared will result in a stir in diplomatic circles are Thomas J. O'Brien, United States ambassador to Japan, and Mrs. Carl F. Drury, widow of a millionaire stove manufacturer of Cincinnati.

Mrs. Drury ordered clothes from a garment maker in Japan. She refused to pay for them until they had been altered to suit her.

She said a Japanese bailiff, accompanied by the garment maker and an interpreter, came to her room to serve papers on her in a suit and that the bailiff attempted to pull her diamonds from her fingers and open a bag which contained $1000 in gold.

She says she complained to American Ambassador O'Brien, but got no satisfaction or even courtesy from him. She will spend a lot of money to see that the affair is investigated. She put up a bond of 2000 yen in order to come home.

NO COMMISSION NEEDED

Lawrence Affairs Under Present Administration Satisfies Governor

Boston, July 25.—Governor Foss has decided that the city of Lawrence is all right under its present administration and that he will not appoint a commission to take charge of the city's affairs.

He declared that the administration of Lawrence is all right as far as he can learn.

This is a victory for Mayor Cahill and a defeat for those who sent a committee to urge the governor to have the legislature authorize him to appoint a committee of five to take complete control.

MYSTERIOUS FISH PLAGUE

Experts Around Lake Erie Are Investigating the Matter

Buffalo, July 25.—A mysterious plague, which baffles experts on fish, is killing thousands of blue pike and dead fish are are being washed ashore in Lake Erie in great numbers.

H. C. Crossley is making an investigation. He finds that the small fish are dying from a fungus growth on the gills. The large fish are not affected. The unusually low temperature of the water is believed to be one of the causes.

For Sending Slanderous Postcards

Cambridge, Mass., July 25.—Mrs. Leonora Andrews appeared before United States Commissioner Hayes yesterday o nthe charge of sending a number of defamatory postal cards through the mail.

Ambassador Guild at St. Petersburg

St. Petersburg, July 25.—Curtis Guild, Jr., who succeeds William W. Rockhill as United States ambassador to Russia, has arrived here.

COOL IN DANGER

Girl Maintains Wonderful Composure Wedged In Between Trains

Flemington, N. J., July 25.—Miss Edith Cook of Three Bridges, while attempting to cross the Lehigh Valley railroad bridge near here, was caught between a passenger and freight trains while walking on the planks between the two tracks.

Miss Cook was whirled about between the two trains, hit by one of the cars and thrown to the planks. She did not lose her senses and remained quiet until both trains were past.

How to Make Disinfectant.

Disinfectants are occasionally required in the home. They are used to destroy the germs of contagious and infectious diseases. A deodorant is sometimes necessary. Some pleasing disinfectants are easily made. The following is a refreshing one for a sickroom or any room that has an unpleasant odor pervading it: Put some freshly ground coffee into a saucer and in the center place a small piece of camphor gum. Light it with a match. As the gum burns allow sufficient coffee to consume with it. The perfume is very pleasant and healthful.—Philadelphia Record.

THE NEST OF BLUEBIRDS.

Robert and Josephine were much excited when they saw a bird flutter out of a hole in an old stump near which they were playing in the orchard. They peered into the hole, and there was a nest with three little eggs.

They hurried to the house, and Aunt Clara came out to the orchard with them. They all waited at a little distance, and soon two birds appeared. One, which was grayish blue in color, flew straight into the hole in the stump. The other bird, which was a deeper blue, with a breast of reddish brown, alighted in an apple tree near by.

"They are bluebirds," said Aunt Clara, "and we must not harm their nest or frighten them away."

The bird in the tree seemed to pay no attention to the visitors; but, lifting his wings, he quavered out a clear little song which sounded like "Tru-al-ly tru-al-ly."

"How beautifully blue he is!" exclaimed Josephine.

"Yes," said their aunt. "There is an old Indian legend that the bluebird is a piece of the sky which came down to the earth to live. When the pilgrims came to New England they called the bluebird the blue robin, because its warblings reminded them so much of the robins in their native land. The bluebird is very friendly and likes to live near people. There used to be many bird houses for the bluebirds in parks and in the yards of houses, but the quarrelsome sparrows have driven most of the bluebirds away. Once when I was a girl we had a little house for the bluebirds, but the sparrows took possession of it. Then we found that by taking away the perch in front of the house the sparrows could not get in, for they had to alight before entering the small door. But the bluebirds could fly directly inside, and so they kept their home, and the sparrows had to go away."

All this made Josephine and Robert feel that they knew the bluebirds pretty well, and they hurried back to the house to get some crumbs to scatter around the old stump. And day by day they watched the pair of bluebirds and their nest, until the three baby birds, spotted with white, came out of the little shells and grew big enough to fly off among the orchard trees.—Youth's Companion.

Cat and Mouse.

For cat and mouse choose from a group of children a tall girl for a cat, a short one for mouse. Then the rest take hands and form a circle into which the mouse creeps, while they dance around, singing, "Pray, Mrs. Mouse, are you within?" Mouse—Yes, kind sir, I am sitting to spin. Cat (outside, prowling around)—Mew, mew, mew!

The game is this: The cat watches her opportunity to catch the mouse. If she can reach her by putting her hand into the circle she may do so, provided she does not forget to mew at the same time.

The mouse must try to keep in the very center of the circle, out of the enemy's reach. But she must run out now and then, just to give the cat a chance of catching her.

The dancers must try to help and defend the mouse, opening and raising their arms to admit her when running back to the circle and then depressing their arms or drawing them close together to keep the cat out.

Freight Rates Lowered

Washington, July 25.—The interstate commerce commission ordered material reduction in freight rates from the east to points between Denver and western terminals of the great transcontinental railroads.

Fined For Taking Bait

St. John's July 25.—The fifteen members of the crew of the Gloucester, Mass., fishing schooner Arethusia paid fines of $50 each for taking bait illegally at Cape Race.

DOWNWARD COURSE

Fast Being Realized by Quincy People.

A little backache at first.
Daily increasing till the back is lame and weak.
Urinary disorders quickly follow:
Diabetes and finally Bright's disease.
This is the downward course of kidney ills.

Don't take this course. Follow the advice of a Quincy citizen.

Mrs. George L. Nott, 99 North street Quincy, Mass., says: "I have every reason for holding a high opinion o Doan's Kidney Pills. I was troubled a great deal by headaches and dizzy spells which were so severe at times that I had to grasp something for support to keep from falling. My sight was also affected, spots often appearing before me and my back ached intensely. Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a supply at the Cox Drug Store and began their use. I was helped from the first and after I had taken the contents of five boxes, my case being of long standing, I was cured. Other members of my family have used Doan's Kidney Pills with equally good results."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

STORY DISCREDITED BY FURE RIVER OFFICIALS

(Continued from Page One.)

normal draught, 27 feet 6 inches. In height above the normal water line the forecastle will be 25 feet 6 inches; amidships, 22 feet 8 inches, and astern, 17 feet 1 inch.

The coal bunkers have a capacity of 4,000 tons, while the oil tanks will carry 660 tons of that fuel.

The main turbines can develop 39,500 horsepower with one inch of air in the firerooms, but the blowers will be required to produce a pressure of two inches of water. A speed of 22 1-2 knots an hour can be maintained.

The main battery consists of 12 12-inch 50-calibre guns, mounted in pairs in six turrets arranged so as to fire from either side; 12 6-inch 50 calibre guns installed in the central casemate, six on each side; 12 4-inch 50 calibre guns and many other smaller field and saluting guns.

The Stickleback.

In Great Britain and in Europe there is a curious fish called the stickleback, which builds a nest. These fishes collect pieces of straw or sticks, with which they make a bottom for their nest among the water plants, cementing the fragments together by a kind of whitish thread, fine and silken, which they exude from their own bodies. The sides of the nest are made after the bottom. In fresh water the size of the nest is about the size of a hazelnut. The eggs, about the size of poppy seed, are deposited within. The male not only makes the nest, but when there are eggs in it he watches it with care lest some other stickleback come and eat them.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

In effect June 4, 1911

The letters in the same lines as the figures below stand for different stations and indicate that trains stop as follows.

a Wollaston
b Norfolk Downs
c Atlantic
d Neponset
e Pope's Hill
f Harrison Square
g Savin Hill
h Crescent Avenue
i South Boston
r Quincy Adams
Exp.—Express train.

TO BOSTON

Leave	Stop	Arrive
r 5 14	abcdefghi	5 41
r 6 16	abcd	6 35
r 6 33	e	6 48
r 6 40	abcf	7 00
r 7 08	abcd	7 30
r 7 25	d	7 42
r 7 33	Exp	7 48
r 7 42	ab	8 00
7 57	a	8 13
r 8 09	abcd	8 31
r 8 30	Exp	8 45
r 8 53	ad	9 10
r 9 15	abc	9 33
r 10 03	a	10 20
r 10 19	abcdefghi	10 45
11 12	a	11 28
r 11 24	abcdefgh	11 50
12 04	a	12 20
r 12 25	abcdefghi	12 52
1 22	a	1 40
2 04	a	2 20
r 2 19	abcdefgh	2 45
r 3 13	Exp	3 28
4 04	a	4 20
r 4 25	abcdefgh	4 52
5 05	Exp	5 40
r 5 30	abcdefg	5 55
6 12	a	6 30
7 22	Exp	7 37
r 7 30	a	7 46
r 8 07	abcdef	8 30
r 9 01	abc	9 20
10 04	a	10 20
r 10 07	abcdef	10 30
r 11 25	abc	11 45

FROM BOSTON

Leave	Stop	Arrive
5 45	ihgfedeba	6 14 r
6 12	ihgfedeba	6 39 r
6 30	a	6 47
7 15	hgfedeba	7 41 r
7 41	a	7 58
7 45	e	8 03 r
8 35	cb	8 53
8 42	a	8 59
9 10	fedba	9 32 r
9 45	a	10 01 r
10 15	ihgfedeba	10 41 r
10 50	Exp	11 05
11 15	higfedeba	11 41 r
11 50	a	12 07
12 15	hgfedeba	12 41 r
12 37	a	12 54 r
12 50	Exp	1 05
1 11	fedeba	1 32 r
1 45	a	2 02
2 15	ihgf	2 37 r
2 35	Exp	2 50
3 15	hgfedeba	3 40 r
3 45	a	4 02
4 12	fedeba	4 34 r
4 41	d	4 78
5 14	a	5 31 r
5 24	a	5 42
5 31	deb	5 50 r
5 43	a	6 00 r
5 55	iedeba	6 21 r
6 14	Exp	6 30 r
6 30	ecba	6 51 r
7 00	fedeba	7 24 r
7 12	a	7 29
8 05	ba	8 32
9 25	dba	9 46 r
10 35	fedeba	11 02 r
11 10	fedeba	11 35 r
11 30	ba	11 49

SUNDAYS

r 7 43	abe	8 03	6 30 ba	6 48 r
8 30	Exp	8 45	45 ihgfedeba	9 13 r
8 34	abe	8 52	9 05 Exp	9 21
r 8 46	bedefghi	9 13	10 15 ihgfedeba	10 32 r
r 9 13	abe	9 53	12 15 ihgfedeba	12 42 r
9 31	a	9 47	12 45 Exp	1 01
10 23	ac	10 40	1 30 ihgfedeba	1 57 r
10 31	Exp	10 47	2 15 hgfedeba	2 42 r
11 00	Exp	11 17	2 45 a	3 02
r 11 16	abcdefghi	11 43	3 15 ihgfedeba	3 42 r
1 02	Exp	1 17	4 27 eba	4 48 r
r 1 16	abcdefgh	1 43	5 15 ihgfedeba	5 42 r
r 3 10	abe	3 50	6 15 ihgfedeba	6 42 r
r 4 16	abcdefghi	4 43	7 00 eba	7 19 r
r 5 07	abe	5 27	8 15 ihgfedeba	8 41 r
r 6 16	abcdefghi	6 43	8 50 Exp	9 05
r 7 16	abcdefghi	7 42	9 30 ihgfedeba	9 57 r
r 8 11	abcdefghi	8 38	10 45 eba	11 04 r
r 9 05	a	9 22
r 10 46	abe	11 05
r 11 01	abe	11 20

West Quincy for Boston (stopping at East Milton)-6.23, 6.56, 7.17, 8.04, 8.11, 9.07 10.09, 11.01, A. M. 12.09, 1.23, 2.09, 3.18, 4.09, 5.13 6.06, 7.19, 9.09, 11.14 P. M. Sundays- 8.20, 9.20 A. M. 12.59, 5.15, 6.59, 11.02 P. M.

Boston for West Quincy (stopping at East Milton)-6.35, 7.27, 8.23, 9.35, 10.25, 11.35 A. M. 12.25 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 5.47, 6.18 7.20, 9.10, 11.20 P. M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M.

Montclair for Boston 6.29, 7.2', 8 17, 10 15, A. M. 12.15, 1.23, 4.15, 5.20, 6.12, 7.26, 9.45, P. M. Sundays - 8.26, 9.26, A. M. 1.06, 5.21, 11.09 P. M.

Boston for Montclair 9.35, 10 25, 11.35, A. M. 12 25, 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 6.18, 11.20 P. M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M. 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M

Boston & Northern St. Ry. Co.

QUINCY DIVISION

TIME TABLE

In effect June 24th, 1911.
Subject to Change Without Notice

Leave QUINCY for

Brockton, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M. then 9.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Brockton, 6.30, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 9.30 P. M Sundays, 8.00A. M. then same as week days.

Braintree, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Braintree, 6.25 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.25 P. M. Sundays, 7.55 A. M. then same as week days.

East Milton, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Milton, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M., and every 20 minutes to 11.45 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.15 midnight.) Sundays, 7.25, A. M. then same as week days.

East Weymouth, 6.00, 6.15, 6.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.42 P. M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Weymouth, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.45 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Holbrook, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M. then 9.50 and 10.20 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Holbrook, 5.55, 6.25, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.00 P. M. Sundays, 8.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Houghs Neck, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 5.20, 5.45, 6.10 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 4.10 P. M. then 4.25, 4.40, 4.55, 5.10, 5.25, 5.40, 5.55, 6.10, 6.25, 6.40, 6.55, 7.10 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 11.10 P. M. then 11.49 P. M. Saturdays and Holidays, 5.20, 5.45, 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, 10.10, 10.40, A. M. then every 15 minutes to 10.40 P. M. then 11.10 and 11.49 P. M. Sundays, 6.50, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, 10.10, 10.40 A. M. then every 15 minutes to 10.40 P. M. then 11.10 P. M. Return, leave Houghs Neck Mondays to Fridays, both inc. 5.45, 6.05, 6.35 A. M. and ever 30 minutes to 4.35 P. M. then 4.50, 5.05, 5.20, 5.35, 5.50, 6.05, 6.20, 6.35, 6.50, 7.05, 7.20, 7.35 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 12.05 midnight. Saturdays and Holidays, 5.45, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05, A. M. then every 15 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.35 and 12.05 P. M. Sundays, 7.20, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05 A. M. then every 15 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.35 P. M.

Nantasket 8.25 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 9.25 P. M. Sundays, 9.25 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Nantasket, 10.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.00 P. M. Sundays, 10.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Hancock Street, 5.45, 6.14, 6.44, 7.14, 7.44, 8.14, 8.35, A. M. then 5, 14, 35 and 44 minutes past each hour to 10.44 P. M. then 12.14 midnight. Sundays 7.14 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Neponset 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, 8.07, 8.35, 8.37, 9.05, 9.37 A. M. then 5, 7, 35 and 37 minutes past each hour to 11.07 P. M. then 12.37 midnight. Sundays, 7.37 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Wollaston, 5.59 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.59 P. M. then 11.14 and 11.44 P. M. Sundays, 6.59 A. M. then same as week days. Return leave Neponset, 6.22 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.22 P. M. then 11.37, 12.07 P. M. Sundays, 7.22 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Norfolk Downs, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 7.55, 8.25, 8.50, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 1.30 P. M. then 2.05, 2.35 P. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.05 P. M. (Wednesday and Saturdays, 11.00 P. M.) Sundays, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Neponset, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 1.35 P. M. then 2.00, 2.30 P. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M.) Sundays, 8.30, 9.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Weymouth Landing, 5.20, 6.00, 6.20, 6.55, 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.00 P. M. Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days. Return leave Weymouth Landing, 5.40, 6.15, A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.15 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Wollaston, 5.59 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.59 P. M. then 11.14 and 11.44 P. M. Sundays, 6.59 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Wollaston, 6.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.30 P. M. then 11.50 and 12.20 P. M. Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days.

West Quincy, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave West Quincy, 6.00, 6.20, 6.50, A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.50 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.20 midnight) Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days.

Leave NEPONSET BRIDGE for

Squantum, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 3.30 P. M. then 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30 P. M. then every 60 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Saturdays, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Sundays, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. (Note—Week Days, cars will leave Atlantic Bridge for Squantum, 5.45 and 6.15 A. M.) Return leave Squantum, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 4.05 P. M. then 4.35, 5.05, 5.35, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05 P. M. then every 60 minutes to 11.05 P. M. Saturdays, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 10.05 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. Sundays, 8.05, 9.05, 10.05, A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M.

THOMAS GAMMON,
Superintendent.

THE DANGER TRAIL

By JAMES OLIVER CURWOOD

Copyright, 1910, by Bobbs-Merrill Company.

SYNOPSIS

Jack Howland, engineer, sent to build the Hudson Bay railroad, is appealed to for help by a beautiful girl who writes that she is a mute and invites him to accompany her. They are followed by Jean Croisset, half breed.

They go to her camp. He is attacked and nearly killed by a huge stranger. The girl disappears. Howland hears her speak. Croisset gives him the little Meleese's warning not to go north. He goes.

Howland again sees the girl, who tells him by note his life is in danger. She asks his forgiveness. Gregson and Thorne are mere wrecks of their former selves.

Mysterious perils threaten Howland. The girl visits him and confesses that she had lied to him. She entreats him to return south.

He tells her he loves her. Her name is Meleese. She partly promises to tell him why enemies seek his life.

Howland is lured to a mine, taken prisoner and bound to a box of dynamite which is soon to be exploded.

He frees himself and prevents the explosion. Meleese meets him again, refuses to marry him and again lures him into the hands of enemies.

Croisset takes Howland, his prisoner, into the wilderness. They are followed by Meleese. Howland promises not to attempt to escape.

They reach the house of the Red Death, a deserted Hudson Bay post. Then Croisset departs for several days. Howland plans to capture him upon his return.

Howland and Croisset fight. Croisset tells Howland he intends to kill him. Howland knocks out the half breed and orders him to take him to Meleese.

Croisset tells him he is going to his doom. Howland's plan to ambush his enemies fails. He is desperate, and Croisset aids him.

They reach a deserted cabin overlooking the home of Meleese and Howland's enemies. Though threatened with death, Croisset refuses to explain why Howland's life is sought. At night Howland goes to Meleese.

She promises to marry him and to join him in the south if he will only flee. Enemies discover him, and he is shot and imprisoned in a cabin.

(Continued from last issue)

CHAPTER XVI.

MELEESE.

FOR many minutes Howland stood waiting as if life had left him. The note fluttered from his fingers, and he drew his watch from his pocket and placed it on the table. It was a quarter after 5. There still remained forty-five minutes.

Three-quarters of an hour and then—death! There was no doubt in his mind this time. Through one of the black holes in the wall he was to be shot down, with no chance to defend himself, to prove himself innocent. And Meleese—did she, too, believe him guilty of that crime?

He groaned aloud and picked up the note again. Softly he repeated her last words to him, "If God fails to answer my prayers I will still do as I have promised and follow you." Those words seemed to cry aloud his doom. Even Meleese had given up hope. And yet was there not a deeper significance in her words? He started as if some one had struck him, his eyes agleam.

"'I will follow you.'"

He almost sobbed the words this time. His hands trembled, and he dropped the paper again on the table and turned his eyes in staring horror toward the door. What did she mean? Would Meleese kill herself if he was murdered by her brothers? He could see no other meaning in her last message to him, and for a time after the chilling significance of her words struck his heart he scarce restrained himself from calling aloud for Jean. If he could but send a word back to her, tell her once more of his great love—that the winning of that love was ample reward for all that he had lost and was about to lose, and that it gave him such happiness as he had never known even in this last hour of his torture!

Twice he shouted for Croisset, but there came no response save the hollow echoings of his own voice in the subterranean chambers. After that he began to think more sanely. If Meleese was a prisoner in her room it was probable that Croisset, who was now fully recognized as a traitor at the post, could no longer gain access to her. In some secret way Meleese had contrived to give him the note.

In Howland's breast there grew slowly a feeling of sympathy for the Frenchman. Much that he had not understood was clear to him now. He understood why Meleese had not revealed the names of his assailants at Prince Albert and Wekusko. He understood why she had fled from him after his abduction and why Jean had so faithfully kept secrecy for her sake. She had fought to save him from her own flesh and blood, and Jean had fought to save him. And because he had fought for him and Meleese the Frenchman's fate was to be almost as terrible as his own. It was he who would fire the fatal shot at 6 o'clock. Not the brothers, but Jean Croisset, would be his executioner and murderer.

The minutes passed swiftly, and as they went Howland was astonished to find how coolly he awaited the end. He even began to debate with himself as to through which hole the fatal shot would be fired. No matter where he stood, he was in the light of the big hanging lamp. There was no obscure or shadowy corner in which for a few moments he might elude his executioner. He even smiled when the thought occurred to him that if, was possible to extinguish the light and crawl under the table, thus gaining a momentary delay. But what would that delay avail him? He was anxious for the fatal minute to arrive and be over.

There were moments of happiness when in the damp horror of his death chamber there came before him visions of Meleese, grown even sweeter and more lovable now that he knew how she had sacrificed herself between two great loves—the love of her own people and the love of himself. And at last she had surrendered to him. Was it possible that she could have made that surrender if she, like her brothers, believed him to be the murderer of her father—the son of the man fiend who had robbed her of a mother? It was impossible, he told himself. She did not believe him guilty. And yet why had she not given him some such word in her last message to him?

His eyes traveled to the note on the table, and he began searching in his coat pockets. In one of them he found the worn stub of a pencil, and for many minutes after that he was oblivious to the passing of time as he wrote his last words to Meleese. When he had finished he folded the paper and placed it under his watch. At the final moment, before the shot was fired, he would ask Jean to take it. His eyes fell on his watch dial, and a cry burst from his lips.

"AFTER YOU HAVE KILLED ME TAKE IT TO MELEESE."

It lacked but ten minutes of the final hour.

Above him he heard faintly the sharp barking of dogs, the hollow sound of men's voices. A moment later there came to him an echo as of swiftly tramping feet and, after that, silence.

"Jean," he called tensely. "Ho, Jean! Jean Croisset"—

He caught up the paper and ran from one black opening to another, calling the Frenchman's name.

"As you love your God, Jean, as you have a hope of heaven, take this note to Meleese!" he pleaded. "Jean—Jean Croisset"—

There came no answer, no movement outside, and Howland stilled the beating of his heart to listen. Surely Croisset was there! He looked again at the watch he held in his hand. In four minutes the shot would be fired. A cold sweat bathed his face. He tried to cry out again, but something rose in his throat and choked him until his voice was only a gasp. He sprang back to the table and placed the note once more under the watch. Two minutes! One and a half! One!

With a sudden fearless cry he sprang into the very center of his prison and flung out his arms with his face to the hole next the door. This time his voice was almost a shout.

"Jean Croisset, there is a note under my watch on the table. After you have killed me take it to Meleese. If you fail I shall haunt you to your grave."

Still no sound, no gleam of steel pointing at him through the black aperture. Would the shot come from behind?

Tick—tick—tick—tick—

He counted the beating of his watch up to twenty. A sound stopped him then, and he closed his eyes, and a great shiver passed through his body.

It was the tiny bell of his watch tinkling off the hour of six!

Scarcely had that sound ceased to ring in his brain when from far through the darkness beyond the wall of his prison there came a creaking noise as if a heavy door had been swung slowly on its hinges or a trap opened, then voices, low, quick, excited voices, the hurrying tread of feet, a flash of light shooting through the gloom. They were coming. After all, it was not to be a private affair, and Jean was to do his killing as the hangman's job is done in civilization—before a crowd. Howland's arms dropped to his side. This was more terrible than the other—this seeing and hearing of preparation, in which he fancied that he heard the click of Croisset's gun as he lifted the hammer.

Instead it was a hand fumbling at the door. There were no voices now, only a strange moaning sound that he could not account for. In another moment it was made clear to him. The door swung open and the white robed figure of Meleese sprang toward him with a cry that echoed through the dungeon chambers. What happened then—the passing of white faces beyond the doorway, the subdued murmur of voices—were all lost to Howland in the knowledge that at the last moment they had let her come to him, that he held her in his arms and that she was crushing her face to his breast and sobbing things to him which he could not understand. Once or twice in his life he had wondered if realities might not be dreams, and the thought came to him now when he felt the warmth of her hands, her face, her hair and then the passionate pressure of her lips on his own. He lifted his eyes, and in the doorway he saw Jean Croisset and behind him a wild, bearded face—the face that had been over him when life was almost choked from him on the great north trail. And beyond these two he saw still others, shining ghostly and indistinct in the deeper gloom of the outer darkness.

(To be Concluded.)

HOUSEHOLD RECIPES.

Ice Cream Served in Cantaloupe. Either vanilla or ginger ice cream are frequently and appropriately served in cantaloupe halves. Another good combination consists of plain vanilla cream served in the halved melon, with a little ginger syrup poured over the cream.

Tomato Tulip Salad. Drop round ripe tomatoes into boiling water for a minute and take off the skin. Chill in the ice chest, cut from the top in five sections nearly through to the stem and press the sections apart like the petals of a flower. Put each tomato on a bed of water-cress that has been washed and drained or shaken free of water. Put one spoonful of mayonnaise in the center of each tomato or "tulip" and serve at once, as the tomato will liquefy the mayonnaise if left to stand.

Banana Snow. Take six good, ripe bananas, not dark. Cut and slice them, and then mash as fine as possible. Add juice of one lemon, the white of one egg, and whip to a cream, as you would whipped cream. The longer you whip, the more banana snow you will have. When nearly done add two spoonfuls of sugar and whip until it is dissolved. When ready to serve, put a few English meats on top of it.

Coffee Cake. One egg, one cup of brown sugar, one cup of butter, one cup of molasses, one cup of cold, strong coffee, one pound of chopped seedless or seeded raisins, one-half teaspoonful clove, one-half nutmeg grated, one teaspoonful cinnamon, one heaping teaspoon soda, and flour to mix quite stiff. Bake in moderate oven about one hour.

Peanut Cookies. Cream one-fourth cup of butter with one-half cup of sugar, add the beaten yolks of two eggs and beat thoroughly. Mix one cup of flour, one-half teaspoon of salt and one rounded teaspoon of baking powder, add to the first mixture in alternation with one-fourth cup of milk, add one teaspoon of lemon juice and two cups of chopped peanuts. When well beaten drop from top of spoon on buttered pan, place three halves of nuts on each and bake in a moderate oven until light brown.

Clams in Batter. Clams in batter are best prepared from the soft-shelled variety. The batter is a simple one, such as is used for fritters and timbale cases. One-half of a cupful of cold water is mixed with the beaten yolks of two eggs, then stirred into one cupful of flour. Add a quarter of a teaspoonful of salt, one tablespoonful of melted butter or olive oil, and beat again. Lastly, stir in the stiffly whipped whites of the eggs and set aside for a few hours. Dip into this the washed and dried clams, one at a time; then fry in deep, smoking hot fat.

HEARING IN STEEL CASE

Alleged Agreement Entered Into by Eleven Steel Companies

Washington, July 25.—The expected sensation in the house steel investigation hearing came with the introduction of an alleged agreement entered into in November, 1900, by eleven steel companies to co-operate for their mutual interests, and to form an organization. What purports to be a copy of this agreement was introduced as evidence by Chairman Stanley.

From statements made by Representative Stanley, he and Representative Littleton were the only members of the committee who knew of this agreement.

The discussion had waxed hot.

"Bosh!" exclaimed Banks. "Say, you used to be an agriculturist, didn't you?"

"I did," replied Rivers.

"Well, if you couldn't raise better vegetables than you can arguments—"

"Stop right there! You used to be in the mining business, didn't you?"

"I did."

"Well, if you couldn't dig for precious metals any better than you can dig for facts—"

"Hold on! I've known agriculturists that were good for nothing but raising—"

"Don't you say it! It's too much like swearing. That isn't an agricultural operation, anyhow. It's more like mining. To raise the place you had in your mind you need only to resume your spade and pick and dig like—"

But outsiders interferred.

MONEY WENT QUICKLY

Woman With Large Annual Income Failed to Save Funeral Expenses

New York, July 25.—While she lived for years on an income of $25,000, the body of Mrs. Caroline Hazeton, an interesting an eccentric character, is now lying dead and there is no money to supply her funeral expenses and carry out her last wish that her body should be cremated and her ashes taken to the top of the Liberty statue and scattered to the winds.

The income which she enjoyed stopped immediately upon her death, and as Mrs. Hazelton lived extravagantly it seems that every dollar that reached her hands was quickly spent. She long was known as a prominent member of the upper class Bohemian circles, made up of wealthy and cultured women.

FOUND IN THE ALPS

Body of Former Arlington Boy Discovered In a Glacier

Boston, July 25.—The body of Homer Diman, the former Arlington boy who has been lost in the Alps since July 5, was found imbedded in the ice in the crevice of a glacier, according to cablegrams.

The youth, who was 18 years old, was ambitious to climb the Alps. It was evident that the boy had attempted to leap a crevice and had failed, falling into the crevice, where he was killed.

RECEIVER APPOINTED FOLLOWING PETITION

Result of Agreement In Case of Wireless Telegraph Company

Portland, Me., July 25.—As the result of an agreement between attorneys, the United Wireless Telegraph company was declared bankrupt in the United States district court. Selden Bacon of New York was appointed general receiver for the corporation.

The agreement followed a petition filed by Roger Foster of New York, representing Ohio and New York investors in a subsidiary company, to vacate the receivership of Mr. Bacon, who had recently been appointed federal receiver by Judge Hale of this court.

SICK FROM SNEEZING

Young Brockton Woman Thought Hay Fever to Be Cause of Trouble

Brockton, Mass., July 25.—Miss Margaret Hendrigan, aged 18, sneezed several times last Wednesday and several times each day until Saturday, when she was taken seriously ill. She was near to death, but has fully recovered.

Miss Hendrigan thought she had hay fever and did not pay much attention to the fact that she sneezed so frequently. When she was taken ill a physician was called and he diagnosed the case as concussion of the brain, due to sneezing.

The girl's head was packed in ice in an effort to save her life and the remedy proved effective. The sneezing ceased and she is once more able to be about.

UNDER HEAVY BONDS

Four Men Arrested For Gold Robbery Held at Southbridge

Southbridge, Mass., July 25.—Heavy bail was placed upon the four men who were arrested in connection with the alleged theft of $25,000 worth of gold from the plant of the American Optical company.

John C. Anderson pleaded not guilty. Judge Clarke held him in bonds of $10,000 for a hearing on Friday.

The other three defendants, Michael Dumas, Paul Cournoyer and Pierre La Mountain, were held in $5000 each for hearing at the same time.

Real Daughter of American Revolution

Atlanta, July 25.—Mrs. Mary T. Proctor, aged 111 years, a real daughter of the American revolution, has been discovered in Barlow county. Her sole companions are her daughter and two great-greatgranddaughters.

Taft Leaves Beverly

Beverly, Mass., July 25.—After a brief week-end visit to Paramatta President Taft waved a fond farewell to the cottage and motored into Boston where he boarded the express for the run to Washington.

Must Do Better

Boston, July 25.—Unless John Canning of 11 Bradford street finds work and supports his wife and three children better than he has he will have to serve a sentence in the house of correction, he was told in court yesterday. Mrs. Canning told Judge Bennett that her husband gave her only 50 cents to support herself and three children for four days at a time.

Germany In Grip of Heat Wave

Berlin, July 25.—Berlin and Germany are in the grip of a heat wave which would do credit to Americas. The thermometer hovers between 90 and 96 in the shade, which is almost unprecedented.

THE INSURGENT NOW HAS SAY

Holds the Balance of Power In the Matter of Wool Revision

VOTE TO BE TAKEN THURSDAY

General Tariff Changes Considered Very Improbable at Special Session of Congress, and a Likelihood That Material Matters Will Go Over Until After Next Presidential Election —Outlook For Close of Session

Washington, July 25.—Wool is now the great issue in the senate. Debate on the Underwood revision bill will run until the vote next Thursday. There are no confident predictions as to the result.

Everybody here realizes that there is only one way to get through a bill revising the wool and woolen schedule. This way is for the insurgent Republicans to vote for the bill revising it that passed the house of representatives and was taken up by the senate. They feel that these senators ought to show their good faith by supporting the bill that has come over from the house.

Apparently the insurgents have no thought of supporting either the wool bill or the free list bill. So as the situation stands today, the prospect seems to be that this special session of congress will come to an end without any general tariff revision being accomplished.

Genuine tariff reformers are interested in the situation because such a favorable opportunity to obtain a revision of the wool schedule will not soon come again. It is true President Taft intends to ask congress to revise this schedule at the long session in December, but it is plain that the conservative Republicans in the senate have no thought of permitting a revision of this schedule at the next session that will mean anything.

It is understood that such a bill as the senate may be willing to pass at the next session will be unacceptable to the Democrats of the house. And so failure to obtain revision of the wool schedule at this time means that the whole subject wil go over until after the presidential election.

Democrats in the senate are in favor of the Democratic senators supporting the wool revision bill introduced by La Follette, but there is enough Democratic opposition to this program to make it impossible.

Even if the Democrats should support the La Follette bill and put it through there would be no certainty that the bill would ever reach the president. Followers of the insurgent Republican senators are urging them to vote for the Democratic revision bill. Nearly all the insurgents have received letters urging them to show they are real tariff refromers by supporting the house bill. The real test will come Thursday when the senate must vote on the Democratic wool revision bill. If this bill shall be voted down, as seems probable today, this special session will, it is believed, be brought speedily to an end.

PLANS FOR BIG STEAMER

Arrangements Made For a Cunarder of More Than 900 Feet In Length

London, July 25.—The plans for the new steamer Aquitania, which the Cunard company is building, have been amplified to make the vessel the largest in the world. Her length will exceed 900 feet, ten feet greater than the 50,000-ton liner Imperator, which the Hamburg-American line will put into service in the spring of 1914.

It is also stated that the Aquitania will be one knot faster than her German rival. She will accommodate 4000 passenger.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, Lucas County, ss.
Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure. FRANK J. CHENEY.
Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.
A. W. GLEASON, (Seal) Notary Public.
Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.
F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by all Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

EXECUTOR'S NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed executor of the will of Joseph A. McCrory late of Quincy in the County of Norfolk, deceased, testate, and has taken upon himself that trust by giving bond, as the law directs. All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased, are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to the subscriber.

WILLIAM P. THOMPSON, Executor.

(Address)
25 Equitable Bldg., Boston, Mass.
July 10, 1911.
July 11-3t 11, 18, 25

Let Go Counterfeits!

Sometimes they do harm—produce roughness, redness and irritation of the skin; they are wasteful, moreover, and, at their best, they never can equal Pears. Best be sure then and famous Pears' Soap. It is low in price; it is never cheapened by the addition of water. It is all soap—pure soap—with no impure or inferior ingredients.

And Get the Genuine

Try it and see how thoroughly cleansing, best for health of the skin, and matchless for the complexion is

Pears' Soap

15 cents a cake for the unscented.

ROOSTER COAL BRIQUETS

THE NEW ANTHRACITE COAL

ROOSTER BRIQUETS are made from the choicest small Scranton Anthracite coal, mined in Pennsylvania, called TWENTIETH CENTURY CHESTNUT size.

Just consider for a moment what we offer here in this 20th CENTURY CHESTNUT.

First, 200 pounds of clean, pure, hard coal without a rock or a piece of slate.

Second, fuel that cannot form into a clinker, by any known method of firing, consequently the linings and grates last indefinitely.

Third, they are made in nut size, being equally convenient for furnace heaters, open grates, as well as stoves; therefore, only one storage bin is necessary.

Fourth, and very IMPORTANT, the quality of this fuel is the SAME EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR, not a good ton today, and nothing like it the next time, in other words, when you once learn how to regulate your drafts you have nothing more to learn about burning BRIQUETS.

Fifth, no more sifting ashes these Briquets burn out clean. They require less wood to kindle.

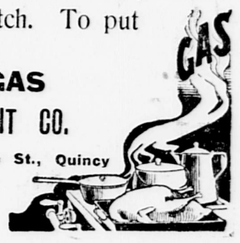
Be sure to ask for "ROOSTERS" and get the Briquet made from pure Scranton Coal, from the largest Briquet plant in the country. They are better than coal, will last as long and cost less.

J. F. SHEPPARD & SONS,
AGENTS

A WELL COOKED DINNER

If you have a good cook is assured when you use a gas stove or gas range. The heat is steady and uniform, which is not the case with a wood or coal stove, and you can raise or lower the flame as you please—which of course, is impossible on any other kind of cook-stove. To make a fire, you simply turn on the gas and apply a match. To put it out, turn off the gas.

COOK WITH GAS
CITIZENS' GAS LIGHT CO.
11 Granite St., Quincy



Are You Going Away?

If so have the DAILY LEDGER sent to your vacation address. You cannot afford to be without your home paper.

FILL OUT THIS BLANK

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER:—

Send the Daily Ledger for _____

Address below.

_____

_____

_____

SEND YOUR ORDER AT ONCE

THAT HOOSIER CABINET

will save

MRS. M. C. DALY

19 Foye Ave.,

Weymouth, Mass.,

millions of steps every year

We congratulate Mrs. Daly on her good luck

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.

Our Teas Have a Reputation

Because we put our heart and soul in the tea business and look after it with a zealous care.

We're particular in our sampling to get tea that is perfectly blended, because now that we have you suited it would be poor policy to allow the quality to depart from its usual high standard.

LIPTON'S, 1-2 lb. can 28c
C. & S. Orange Pekoe, 1-2 lb. can 28c
S. S. PIERCE'S Choisa, 1 lb. can 60c

R. E. FOY & CO.

July 24-2t

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.

TUB DRESSES

Ginghams, Muslins, Chambrays and Cotton Foulards

12 DIFFERENT STYLES

--- FOR ---

$1.98

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

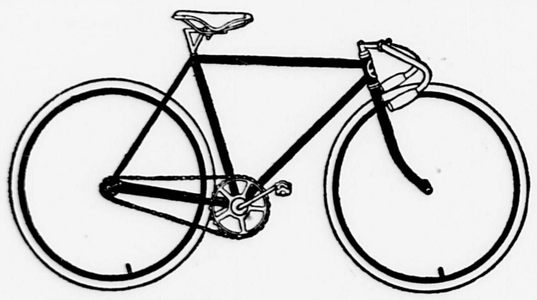
BAREFOOT SANDALS

The best thing for the children to wear during the warm weather. They are light and comfortable and give good satisfaction.

CHILDS	5 to 8	45c
MISSES	8 to 11	50c

HEFFERNAN'S SHOE STORE

1375 Hancock Street, Quincy



New and Second Hand Bicycles. Sundries and Repairing

Agency for Columbia and Hartford Bicycles

HUB CYCLE CO.

Thomas Nelson, 20 Granite Street, QUINCY

May 15-3m

GET THE HELP QUINCY GROW HABIT

Quincy Daily Ledger

FOR SALE AT

BOSTON—At South Station after 3.30 P. M.
QUINCY—Ledger Office 1424 Hancock Street.
L. A. Chapin, 1395 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson. oppo. Depot.
Thompson's Waiting Room, City Sq.
H. P. Kittredge, City Square.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
Mrs. Madden, 16 Quincy ave.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's News Stand.
PARK&DOWNS—Branschied & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
QUINCY NECK—Stetson Pierce, Newcomb Square.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith, Washington Street.
Gragg's Pharmacy.
L. A. Cook, Washington Street.
E. O. Godfrey, 538 Washington St.
E. H. Lowe, Washington Street.
George E. Sprague Cor. River St.
SOUTH QUINCY—Litchfield, Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Miss C. Booth, Brooks Avenue.
BREWER'S CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
Mrs. F. H. Stanley.
WEST QUINCY—F. A. Skinner.
John G. Belanger.
HOUGHS NECK—Capt. Fosdick's.

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	85 degrees
July 25, 1910,	90 degrees
July 25, 1909,	73 degrees
July Noon Maximum, 14 years,	101
July Noon Minimum, 14 years.	60

In Microbe Hollow.

Dr. Bacillus—Hem! Very serious case. Total loss of vitality. Just called me in time. You must move to a healthy, congenial resort and recuperate. I would advise a season in the tenement district of New York. It will strengthen and fatten you.

BRIEFS

Overseer of the Poor Elcock returned this morning from a brief business trip to New York.

R. N. Tinney, the popular clerk at Foy's has returned from his vacation greatly invigorated by his two weeks' rest.

Hancock street about City Square is receiving the much needed attention of the Commissioner of Public Works.

The young ladies' society of the Swedish Baptist church, the Busy Workers will have an outing at Squantum tomorrow.

An open and interclub race will be held under the auspices of the Squantum yacht club Saturday off the club house at Wollaston beach.

The married and the single men at Foy's are organizing baseball teams and will play a pame some Wednesday afternoon in Aupust.

The telephone company is laying six additional underground dues between Merrymount road and School street. Additional dues have also been laid on Washington street.

Sacred Heart church, Atlantic, is to hold its annual lawn party on the grounds surrounding the church Saturday afternoon and evening. There will be races, automobile rides, vaudeville entertainment and sports for the children in the afternoon, dancing, band concerts, illuminations, tables of useful gifts for the elders in the evening also refreshments.

BE A DETECTIVE

Earn $100 and over per month and not interfering with your present occupation at first. Modern Ass'n., 709 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo.

July 25 6t

DEATHS

MELVIN—In West Quincy, July 23, Miss Mary J. Melvin.
Funeral from residence of her sister Mrs. M. A. Dolan, 56 Copeland street, Wednesday, July 26, at 8.15 A. M. Requiem mass at St. Mary's church at 9 A. M. Relatives and friends invited. It

Established 1870 Telephone

JOHN HALL

FUNERAL DIRECTOR

Carriage and Ambulance Service

1485 Hancock Street, Quincy Mass.

LARNED MAY GO TO AUSTRALIA

National Tennis Champion Likely to Lead Team For Davis Cup.

TO BID STRONG FOR TROPHY.

American to Select Best That Could Possibly Be Sent to the Antipodes In Hope of Winning Back Cup—To Play Challenge Tie at Christchurch.

Although it may seem a trifle premature to talk about America's plans for the Dwight Davis lawn tennis cup, there is no denying the fact that the outlook for this trophy has become the topic of a vast amount of thought among the powers that be in the sport.

Since the announcement was made some weeks ago that South Africa had decided not to try for the trophy this year, leaving just America and England in the field to play for the right to challenge Australia, every lawn tennis follower on this side of the Atlantic has speculated to some degree on what steps would be taken to go after the cup.

The more recent announcement made that Christchurch, New Zealand had been selected as the place where the challenge tie shall be played has attracted further attention to the international matches, and, although there probably will not be any play until the fall, interest is growing steadily.

Last year the United States failed to send a team to try for the Davis trophy, but indications are that the 1911 season will not go by without this country making a bid. Dr. James Dwight, president of the United States Lawn Tennis association, and Robert W. Wrenn, also a leading officer of the organization, both of whom are committeemen on the international event are keen on America's chances for lifting the cup. There will be no repetition of last year's failure to send over a representative combination if they can help it.

The committee is hopeful of getting together the strongest team possible for the event. The body will not, of course, make known at this early date the names of any team possibilities but confidence is expressed that the combination selected will be a representative one.

William A. Larned is being banked on by both Dwight and Wrenn, it has been said, to bring back the coveted trophy. With him there are several other possible strong candidates. The old standbys of the east and several of the newer crack California stars will be the most likely eligibles.

Ten years of tennis battling has figured in the contest for possession of the famous Davis cup. The history of the struggle shows that three countries have striven and won the title emblematic of international supremacy on the courts.

Australia, with its invincible Brookes and Wilding, has held possession of the trophy since 1907. Competition for the prize was first started in 1900, and the United States for two years successfully withstood the British invasion. The stars of Great Britain came back again the following year and lifted the cup. They held it until 1907, when the Australian team of Brookes and Wilding won and have held the trophy ever since.

It is hard to say what the complexion of the English team will be this year, but America with its hopeful candidates is figured to be able to defeat the Britishers for the right to challenge the Australian team. Many are of the opinion that with a good selection from the old guard and a first rate nomination from the younger element of racket wielders even Australia, with its great pair, will be unable to withstand the 1911 American invasion.

M'FARLAND CAN MAKE 133 LBS.

Can Do It Easily and Beat 'Em All, Says Sammy Kelly.

Skeptics who refuse to be convinced persist in declaring that McFarland is a welterweight and cannot make 133 pounds at any time. Sam Kelly, who managed Jack Goodman when the latter was stopped by Packy at 135, scaling at 3 o'clock, said the other day:

"McFarland can do 133 easily and whip any man in the world. He actually weighed 133¼ pounds when he scaled at 3 o'clock for Goodman, and yet he was as strong as a bull and never showed better skill. Packy is a foxy chap who has fooled a lot of people with his plea that he can't do 133 and be strong, but if Wolgast makes a match with him at 133 six hours before ring time go out and bet all you can that there'll be a new world's champion. Why? Because Wolgast couldn't put a glove on Packy in twenty or twenty-five rounds, while Packy would simply cut Ad to pieces and blind him.

"These lightweights who are talking so much steer clear of McFarland, you'll notice, and that's because they know he is the best man of his weight in the world. I don't believe Wolgast will ever fight him, but he'll tackle K. O. Brown and break Morgan. Wolgast didn't try when he boxed Brown last winter. He just picked up $11,000 boxing a mug."

ON THE DIAMOND

National League

At St. Louis:	R	H	E
St. Louis	10	13	1
Philadelphia	2	6	3

Batteries—Harmon and Bliss; Alexander, Burns and Dooin.

At Pittsburg:	R	H	E
Pittsburg	8	15	0
Brooklyn	2	9	0

Batteries—Adams and Simon; Barger and Erwin.

At Cincinnati:	R	H	E
New York	8	13	1
Cincinnati	3	9	2

Batteries—Marquard and Meyers; Keefe, Smith and McLean.

SPORTING NOTES.

Golf Tournament.

An innovation in local golfing circles will be the big "professional men's tournament" which is to take place on the links of the Wollaston golf club next week. This tournament is to be held under the auspices of the Boston Press club. Newspapermen, lawyers, doctors, clergymen and men of other professions will be eligible to compete. The tournament will last throughout the week with a qualifying round on Monday and match play in the several flights of sixteen up to and including Friday when the final round of 36 holes will be played. On Saturday, a handicap stroke competition will be held. Suitable prizes will be awarded all the winners.

Entries may be made with James E. O'Connell, Boston Press club, 3 Beacon street, Boston. The entry fee is $1 which covers the entire week including the stroke competition on Saturday.

The game between the West Quincys and the Quincy Independents, to be played next Saturday, at the Old Colony grounds is awaited with much interest by the fans. The Independents will have another pitcher next Saturday owing to the injury to Grethe and they will make a mighty effort to wipe out the defeat of last week.

The Quincy and Squantum Yacht clubs have an inter-club race on Saturday afternoon.

The challenge cup match at the Quincy Tennis club will be sure to draw the largest crowd of the season to the courts on Whitney road. Barker and Hillman, the present holders of the trophies, will defend them against the team, Rockwell and Carleton, who won the annual open doubles tournament a week ago Saturday.

A number of the Wollaston Golf club members will compete in open amateur tournament at Crow Point golf links in Hingham Saturday afternoon.

AT THE PLAYGROUND.

An athletic meet was held on the Ward One playground Saturday afternoon and it worked so well that a bigger one will be held on Wednesday. Ribbon prizes will be given to the winners in the different events. A lot of "I Got One" buttons have been received and every child who gets another child to go to the playground with him will receive one of these buttons.

THE JUICY WATERMELON.

"Up from the South, by boat and train,
Now comes the King of Fruits again;
Luscious feast for judge or felon,
Glorious, sun-kissed Watermeon;
Green as emerald is its rind,
But cutting through it thou shalt find
Sweetest mass of crimson beauty,
Tempting angel e-en from duty."

The joys ofthe juicy watermelon and cantaloupe are manifold at this season, says Lillian Mason in the Salem News provided the melons are well selected and attractively served. While Southerners prefer to take their melons without too much chilling, declaring that like the strawberry, they need the warmth of the sun, the weight of opinion seems to be in favor of the ice box. Failing an ice box large enough to hold them (and muskmelons must not be put in an ice box where there is milk or butter) an excellent way to keep them cold is to put them in the fireless cooker with a piece of ice for companionship. Friends, a year or two ago, camping in the South West had a double home-made fireless cooker. In one compartment they tucked a chicken that had been brought to a good boil in water to cover and in the other, laid a choice watermelon with a piece of ice. When the dinner time arrived and with it the hungry members of the camp, they found the chicken deliciously cooked and piping hot, in one side of the cooker, and the water-melon chilled and ready for desert on the other side. And this is a plain unvarnished statement of facts.

Another way of cooling watermellons in the South and West, is to cover them with a wet carpet or gunny sack, and let them chill through by evaporation. It is a mistaken idea to chill melons by filling with crushed ice, as is often recommended. The ice melting, takes away the delicious flavor of the melon.

FOOD VALUE OF MELONS.

In food value the cantaloupe runs ahead of the watermelon, though neither oft hem are valued so much for their protein orenergy giving qualities, as for the refreshment they furnish. Unripe melons of either sort produce colic; but the watermelon, when ripe, is considered excellent for liver, kidney or bladder affections. Among the peasants of Russia and Turkey fresh watermelon juice is held in high esteem for intestinal catarrh or dropsical affections.

IN SELECTING MELONS.

The test of a watermelon is its weight. ripe watermelon is heavy. As a melon ripens tiny blisters that form on the rind enlarge, and when the melon is pressed with both hands, one on either side, a crispy sound like the breaking of celery comes from within.

Another test is to drive a nail in the side of the melon that has lain on the ground. If it goes in easily, the melon is ripe.

The test of a cantaloupe is its spicy odor, when a bit of the stem is broken.

IN SERVING MELON.

The prettiest way of serving watermelon as well as the most economical, is in mounds, or circles. To make the half globes, cut the melon in two, the long way, then, with a tablespoon and rotary motion, cut out the crimson hemispheres, lay on fresh grape leaves or cracked ice and serve.

The other fashion, also a delight to the eye is to cut the melon in thick slices, then with a circular or heart shaped cutter stamp out the pieces, serving three to each person While there is no better way of serving the watermelon than au naturel, a variation in service is sometimes desirable.

To serve cantaloupes, chill thoroughly, cut in halves and remove the seeds taking care not to waste the delicate pulp nearest the seeds, as this is the most spicy portion of the fruit. Place the halves on a bed of cracked ice, if desired, though they look prettiest when served an a bed of vine leaves. Tastes vary as to the best accompaniment for cantaloupes, some calling for a powdering of sugar, while others think that a suspicion of salt brings out the flavor best. Pepper and ginger also have their adherents.

As to the Fireplace.

The sides of a fireplace should be well splayed or beveled in order to reflect the heat, says Arts and Decoration. The back should lean forward at the top for the same purpose, and the fireplace should not be too deep. A projecting chimney produces an effect of pushing the guest away, whereas a receding one beckons him nearer to enjoy the hospitality of the open fire. For this reason the inglenook—that is, the fireplace built into the wall of the room—is especially cozy and attractive.

Tongue Twister.

Betty Botter brought some butter.
"But," she said, "this butter's bitter.
If I put it in my batter
It will make the batter bitter.
But a bit of better butter
Will make my batter better."
So she bought a bit of butter
Better than the bitter butter
And made her bitter batter better.
So 'twas better Betty Botter Bought a bit of better butter.

—A cantaloupe train believed to be longest world has ever seen started east the first of the week from the Imperial valley. The train consisted of 130 cars, was a mile and a half in length and contained more than one million pounds of cantaloupes.

Cremo 5¢ CIGAR

You try one!

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents. Three consecutive insertions 50 cents, 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.

No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

LOST

LOST— Small open face silver watch, between Post Island and Quincy Centre. Finder will be suitably rewarded by returning to 215 Goffe St., Quincy or to Mrs. Bennett, Post Island. July 24-3t

LOST—Lady's gold Waltham watch. B. L. M. between River street, Q. P., and Commercial street, Weymouth Heights. Return same to 42 River street, Quincy Point. July 24-3t

LOST—Black and white cat. Answers to name of Muffet. Information wanted. 242 Safford street, Wollaston. July 22-3t

WANTED

LATHERS WANTED—6 good men at once. $3.00 a thousand. Call F. Favorite, 181 Belmont, near Brook street, Wollaston. July 24-2t

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Grade Jersey cow, 4 years old, giving 8 1-2 to 9 quarts milk a day. Will freshen in February. Apply 456 Quincy avenue. July 24-2t

FOR SALE

The cozy home, situated No. 24 Marsh Street, consisting of a six room house, city water, 4400 square feet of land, fruit trees. Price reasonable.

Call and see,

JAMES F. BURKE,

REAL ESTATE AGENT,

Room 4, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, Mass.

July 15-tf

TO LET

BOARD AND ROOM—Two young men can be accommodated with room and board in strictly private family near centre. Everything first-class. Home privileges to right party. References exchanged. Address "R. F. E." care Ledger office. July 25-6t

TO LET—New house, 6 rooms and bath, modern conveniences, 10 minutes walk from shipyard. Can be bought on easy terms. Apply to Frank Leben, 76 Howard street, East Braintree. July 25-6t

TO LET—A flat of five rooms with all the latest improvements. Inquire 58 Federal avenue. July 24-6t

TO LET—Half house on Miller Stile road, 7 rooms, all improvements Apply to E. V. Fitts, 19 Miller Stile road, Quincy. July 18-L-P-tf

TO LET—On Spear street, tenement of 4 rooms and bath. All modern improvements. Apply to C. A. Ericson, 117 Glendale road. Tel 586 M. June 27-tf

FOR RENT—Quincy, Centre, apposite Adams Academy, house of 8 rooms and bath, also garage, 3 minutes to R. R. Station. Dr. E. S. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263L, Weymouth. May 10-tf

TO LET

Half House No. 44 Bigelow street, 7 rooms and bath. Shades, screens, electric lights, set tubs, range, etc. Rent $25. per month. Apply to Miss Prescott, Ledger Office, Quincy. July 3-tf

FOR RENT

On Spear street, very desirable house of 8 rooms, bath and laundry. All modern improvements, range, gas, electric lights shades and screens. Large plazzas and lawn. To private family only. Apply at 41 Spear street or of Miss Prescott at Ledger Office, Quincy. June 2-tf L. P. O

TO LET

Tenement—22 B Granite Street. $10.00 per month.

Greenleaf Hall—Greenleaf Block Large Furnished Hall with various anterooms—to let by the evening or permanently.

City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 26 feet high. Splendid light, low rent

Quincy Real Estate Trust,

(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)

Music Hall Block, Quincy.

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 26 No. 170 QUINCY, MASS. WEDNESDAY EVENING JULY 26, 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

23RD ANNUAL CONVENTION ORDER SONS OF ST. GEORGE

New Officers Installed By Supreme President W. T. Barlow Of Boston

Entertainment Included Enjoyable Trip To Nantasket

The second day of the 23d annual meeting of grand lodge, Order Sons of St. George opened at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning in Electa hall and completed its business by noon.

One of the most important matters was the election and installation of officers. The new officers were installed by Supreme President W. F. Barlow and suite of Boston. The officers for the ensuing year are as follows:

President—Hammond Asquith of Fitchburg.

Vice President—Harry Coaly of Boston.

Secretary—J. W. C. Sargent of Westminister.

Treasurer—Thomas Hallows of Lawrence.

Assistant Secretary—John Lessy of Lynn.

Assistant Messenger—John H. Collins of Quincy.

Chaplain—Francis H. Creed of Waltham.

Inside Sentinel—Thomas Broughton of Fall River.

Outside Sentinel—Charles H. Vanner of Quincy.

Trustee—George Andrews of Fall River.

Chairman Finance Committee—William Taylor of Fall River.

Chairman of Law Committee—Charles Booth of Fall River.

Chairman of Appeals and Grievances—Joseph Harley of Brockton.

After the installation of the grand officers, a past grand president's collar was presented to the retiring president, George Watts of Worcester and a beautiful silver loving cup was presented by the grand lodge to Lawrence Davenport, of Lawrence, who is in his eightieth year, and who, this year, retired from the office of Grand Treasurer after having served for twenty years.

Tuesday afternoon the delegates to the grand lodge, as well as many from Granite lodge of Quincy, had an enjoyable trip to Nantasket beach. The afternoon was passed in sight seeing, the return to Quincy being made in the early evening. At 7.30 the delegates were tendered a banquet by Granite lodge at Union hall.

After the banquet there were remarks by the majority of the delegates attending the meeting, all of which were on matters of interest to the order. The delegates also had many words of thanks for the committee of Granite lodge who are in charge of their entertainment. This committee includes: Henry J. Rendle, J. H. Pierce, Charles H. Vanner, George Runnells, Frank Hodge, E. J. Meluish and J. O. Moyle.

The principal after dinner speakers were W. T. Barlow, supreme president, J. Rapson of Granite lodge, Lawrence Davenport, the retiring grand treasurer, J. W. C. Sargent, grand secretary. J. Tate, grand deputy was also present.

"Chicken" was delightfully rendered by H. Collins and other songs were well rendered by Junior Past Grand George Watts of Worcester.

Regular business will be conducted this afternoon in concluding the two days' meeting.

The postal department has been asked to have rural carriers blow bugles as a signal of their approach. The carriers could probably perform better on an old fashioned fish horn.

MIDSUMMER POLITICS

Just A Little Ripple Among Candidates For Mayor

CHANGES IN LAW

There are so many changes in the election law, this year, that the general public are doubtless unfamiliar with many of the new features. The reguarl war horse politicians, have posted themselves in regard to it however.

Under the new law it is provided that candidates for the following offices shall be by direct nomination:

Governor.
Lieutenant Governor.
Treasurer and Receiver General.
Auditor.
Attorney General.
Councillor.
Senator.
County Commissioner.
Representative in General Court.
Clerk of Courts.
Registrars of Deeds.

In addition to these at the state caucuses, members of the district committee must be elected as well as members of the city and town ward committees and delegates to the state convention.

These are entirely new propositions. Under the old law ward committees were elected at the municipal caucuses and members of the state committee were elected at the Senatorial convention and deelgates to the state convention nominated the state officers. All that delegates to the state convention will now do is to form the state platform.

The election of ward committees, however, in the most important change in which Quincy is concerned. That these must be elected at the state caucus is probably not generally understood, for up to the present time no papers for these committees have been taken out.

The state caucuses will be held Sept. 26, and all nomination papers must be filed with the registrars of voters in cities and towns on, or before 5 P. M. Aug. 26, and must be certified to the secretary of the Commonwealth by the registrars on or before 5 P. M. Aug. 29.

POLITICAL NOTES.

The registrars of voters met again Tuesday evening and completed their work of revising the voting lists.

Papers nominating Robert Luce for Lieut. Governor were filed with the City Clerk Tuesday. They contain the names of 32 good and true Republicans.

ROBERT LUCE

Papers were in circulation Tuesday for Norman White as Republican candidate for Governor.

(Continued on Page Three.)

WANTED

South Quincy Boy for paper route in his district. Papers to be delivered each day at 3.30 P. M. Good route, good pay.

Apply at
LEDGER OFFICE,
Quincy Centre.

WILLIAM J. GAYNOR

In Controversy With the Head of Harvard

COPYRIGHT, BY J. E. PURDY, BOSTON-NO3

ANOTHER SHOT HANDED GAYNOR

Friend Of University Head Scores N. Y. Mayor

CALLED "CHILDISH"

Cambridge, Mass., July 26.—Another shot in the battle between Mayor Gaynor of New York and President Lowell of Harvard concerning the New York board of education was fired by C. C. Little. Mr. Little is secretary to the Harvard corporation.

On behalf of the president Little answers Mayor Gaynor's accusation that President Lowell has suppressed the former's communication with a statement to the effect that the president had not published the mayor's letter "because it contained some things that were hardly creditable to the mayor."

Mr. Little characterized Mayor Gaynor's charge that the president was unfair in the whole controversy as "childish."

IMPORTANT MEETING OF CLAN MCGREGOR

An important meeting of Clan McGregor, was held this week at which there was a long discussion on several of the amendments to the constitution that are to come up for action at the convention to be held, in Boston next month, of the Scottish Clans of Massachusetts. Several of the proposed amendments are said to be paving the way for state organizations which plan is opposed by Clan McGregor. The convention will probably continue through four days. The delegate to the convention from Clan McGregor is Thomas Johnston.

TWO WARRANTS FOR SAUNDERS

Quincy Point Man Says He Was Also Held Up

DID NOT LOSE ANYTHING

According to E. B. Andrews of Packard street, Quincy Point, Robert Saunders held him up shortly after robbing Ernest Godfrey of $85 and a watch. Saunders did not succeed in getting anything from Mr. Andrews however. The latter says there was a man with Saunders, at the time of the hold-up, but that he escaped and word has been received from him since from Canada where Saunders letter of confession came from. Saunders claimed that he was a graduate of Bates college a fact which is denied by the college authorities. The Quincy police have two warrants out or him, one for larceny from Ernest Godfrey and one for holding up E. B. Andrews.

WILL GREATLY IMPROVE THE NARROW STREET

A large gang of men were put at work this morning, widening Hancock street on the westerly side between Saville and Dimmock streets. The proposed widening starts at nothing at Saville street and ends at nothing at Dimmock street. Hancock streets between these points has always been very narrow. It is what might be called the neck of a bottle, entering City Square and is the most congested part of the street. That part of the street between the car tracks and the sidewalk, is very narrow and the street has long been in a wretched condition. It is proposed that this side of the street between the points mentioned shall be paved when completed, which will do away with the mud hole.

The property at this point now curves toward the street, but the new line of the street will take out this curve and make it straight. It will be necessary to sacrifice some of the trees, now on the edge of the present sidewalk, but the inner row of trees will be saved for they will come at the outer edge of the new sidewak.

—The statistics of street railways show that here is a large increase in the number of accidents when closed cars are taken off and open cars put into service. Where a careful record is kept of all accidents, a warm day in early spring, when open cars have been run, can be picked out simply by the largely increased number of accidents. One of the great advantages of the pay as you enter car is that the number of accidents is very largely decreased owing to the constant presence on the platform of the conductor.—Science Conspectus.

EXHIBITION OF THE WORK OF SUMMER SCHOOL PUPILS

Will Be Held In the Council Chamber At City Hall On August 11th

Will Include Vegetables and Flowers From Home Gardens

The exhibition of the work of Summer school pupils will be held on August 11th in the Council Chamber at City Hall. The work of the classes es in cooking, sewing, embroidery and sloyd and the vegetables and flowers from the home gardens will all be exhibited. The young people are finishing up some fine work for the exhibition. One girl is making an especially beautiful collar, and others are working on various other fancy and useful articles which will be well worth seeing. Although it has been a very dry season for gardens, many of them have been more than successful. One little fellow whose garden is in rather a rocky locality, has cared for his vegetables constantly and now has a fine looking crop to exhibit. The children who have kept their patience and interest in the gardens deserve a great deal of praise.

The class in gymnastics will give an exhibition at the club house, the day before the exhibition at City Hall. The girls will do their gymnastic drills and the Swedish and Danish folk songs and dances which Miss Murray has taught them. This will take place at the club house, August 10.

At the session Tuesday Dr, William J. McCausland gave the class in Home Nursing a very practical and interesting talk on "Local Infections." He spoke of the cause, methods of prevention and treatment. Germs are to be found all about us but there is a difference in germs. Some are essential to life and others are harmful and destroy life. The harmful ones were those dealt with in the lecture. By the introduction of these in the tissues the damage is done and the effects are soon felt, feverishness, throbbing and other well known symtoms which accompany poisoning for that is what it is, Ptomaine poisoning is no more or less than the introduction of germs into the tissue.

In speaking of the treatment of cuts, scratches, bruises and the like he urged above all other things cleanliness to prevent the multiplication of the germs. Bathing in warm water and washing the wound in a solution of corrosive sublimate prove very effectual. Nature aids very materially with her processes of healing but these are not always sufficient. Poultices, bandages, opening wounds to remove the puss and other simple remedies help nature in effecting a cure. The treatment of poisoning by powder, rusty nails, burns, blisters, cuts, etc., were dealt with in some detail. Dr. McCausland also spoke of the diet during treatment urging light meals and plenty of rest.

David H. Goodspeed, master of the Wollaston and Massachusetts Fields schools, gave a most delightful talk on his trip to Washington. He spoke of the beauties of the city, the capi-

(Continued on Page Three.)

BE A DETECTIVE

Earn $100 and over per month and not interfering with your present occupation at first. Modern Ass'n., 709 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo.

July 25-6t

CARPETS
Oriental Domestic RUGS
Floor Coverings
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION
At Lowest Possible Prices

Established 1867
John H. Pray & Sons Co.
646-658 Washington St., Opposite Boylston St.

All Goods will be Delivered Free at Residences in Quincy
REPRESENTED IN QUINCY BY
Messrs. OTHO A. HAYWARD and WALTER J. WELLINGTON.

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.
TUB DRESSES
Cinghams, Muslins, Chambrays and Cotton Foulards
12 DIFFERENT STYLES
--- FOR ---
$1.98
THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

JELL-O All Flavors
Cooling
Delicious
Satisfying
Easy to Make
For a dessert it is better and far more healthier than ice cream. Ice Cream contains millions of bacteria to the cubic inch. Geltine is pure. Make your dessert, gelatine today.
Lipton's Jelly Tablets
Wine Flavor
3 PACKAGES OF EITHER 25c
R. E. FOY & CO.

ROOSTER COAL BRIQUETS
THE NEW ANTHRACITE COAL
ROOSTER BRIQUETS are made from the choicest small Scranton Anthracite coal, mined in Pennsylvania, called TWENTIETH CENTURY CHESTNUT size.
Just consider for a moment what we offer here in this 20th CENTURY CHESTNUT.
First, 200 pounds of clean, pure, hard coal without a rock or a piece of slate.
Second, fuel that cannot form into a clinker, by any known method of firing, consequently the linings and grates last indefinitely.
Third, they are made in nut size, being equally convenient for furnace heaters, open grates, as well as stoves; therefore, only one storage bin is necessary.
Fourth, and very IMPORTANT, the quality of this fuel is the SAME EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR, not a good ton today, and nothing like it the next time, in other words, when you once learn how to regulate your drafts you have nothing more to learn about burning BRIQUETS.
Fifth, no more sifting ashes these Briquets burn out clean. They require less wood to kindle.
Be sure to ask for "ROOSTERS" and get the Briquet made from pure Scranton Coal, from the largest Briquet plant in the country. They are better than coal, will last as long and cost less.
J. F. SHEPPARD & SONS,
AGENTS

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1889

THE HOME NEWSPAPER

Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.

BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
219 East 23d Street,
New York City

Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter.

Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50

Telephone, Quincy 425

Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

Certainly some very bad reports are being circulated about the weather.

It looks as though part of the country was having cool weather—a five minute snowstorm being reported at Bay City, Mich., Monday night.

Eggs, we see by the market report attract but few buyers. Of course not. How could they expect to? Eggs are not potatoes.

In flying from New York to Chicago Mr. Atwood should avoid Dayton lest the Wright brothers send up a messenger to see his permit.

It must break the hearts of baseball magnates to think of London's 7,000,000 inhabitants out on the street with no where to go.

As many people have only just got to the point where they dare ride in an automobile, the air ship lines will not be universally popular yet.

Senator Joe Bailey wants to know how the man in a baloon feels, whose ballast is all overboard and whose gas is escaping. Texas will tell him soon.

"A professional life-saver at Atlantic City received three proposals of marriage in one day. Verily the professional life saver takes desperate chances.

Gov. Woodrow Wilson says he is two kinds of a Democrat. He will have to be more kinds than that if he is going to get the support of all the varieties.

No doubt when Pure Food Wiley shall have subjected the charges against him to expert investigation he will pronounce them pure nonsense and malice.

It's a portentous sociological fact, that while you could formerly entertain your best girl with a trolley ride and five cent bag of peanuts, now an automobile ride and hotel supper are needful.

Mr. Attorney General Wickersham is determined not to permit the magazine trust to grind the faces of the poor. Why can't it be reasonable, like the sugar and beef and steel and money trusts?

The Kansas Agricultural college has graduated 55 domestic science teachers. But what will they do with the millions of girls who have always refused to learn domestic science with ma in the kitchen?

Georgia people are to give President Taft rabbit sausage next time. In view of the way Brer Rabbit used to elude Brer Fox, Georgia would better keep still until Brer Rabbit is safely in the refrigerator.

Malden hit upon a good plan recently of testing its mail service. A batch of letters was sent out to ascertain the facilities in the Malden office for handling the same and a committee was appointed to ask postmaster Mansfield for improved service.

A new use has been found for the vacuum cleaner, it is said to be the best thing ever invented to remove fleas from cats and dogs and does away with the risk of using doubtful soaps and concoctions as well ten exterminate the animal as well as the fleas. No kennel will now be complete without a vacuum cleaner. Next.

THE SUMMER GIRL.

There is a standing joke going the rounds of the paragraphers at this time of year, to the effect that the Summer Girl is a creature very easily approached. The funny papers print cartoons setting forth her loneliness in a fluffy desert of petticoats, her mouth almost fixed in one perpetual yawn.

Then for a companion piece you are shown the tumult of the weekends, how the girls chirk up as the men come down for their Sundays off from the wilting office, how they cluster around each new arrival, compete with feminine wiles for the exclusive use of His Masculine Lordship. And he is but a trifling numerator when divided among the large denominator of surplus girlhood.

The fellows who make these smart pictures, however, perhaps gained their impressions from that type of hotel where you call people by their front names the second day. It is not thus in those silent halls of suspicion, where the elite must guard their skirts from contact with the ever present social climber.

This does not mean that summer girlhood is not interested in you. She is very deeply interested. At some carefully chosen moment, she descends and carefully inspects the hotel register. If you come from a place of less than 100,000 inhabitants, there is a prima facie case against you. This is not as convincing evidence as it was 10 years ago, because it is slowly becoming good form to live in the country. But the number of people from small towns who find social prestige increased by registering from the nearest big city, instead of from their own country home, is still quite considerable.

It still remains true that you can sit just as close to the Summer Girl as ever in the hammock, provided that you are properly introduced, that you know the correct people, and have an air of familiarity with the ways of the Smart Set. But beware of the people whose acquaintance you seek on the first days of your stay, for it is examination day for you in the eyes of the Summer Girl. She is testing you in delicate balances, in which the most trifling indications of association and social history are weighty considerations.

20TH CENTURY METHODS.

One of the queer old fashioned phrases about trade is to the effect that "good wine needs no bush," the word "bush" meaning an old fashioned tavern sign, and the phrase indicating that a good article sells itself.

Today, after the article is produced, you have got to let people know about it and make them believe it to be the best, which is an entirely different proposition.

The change is simply the difference between the point of view of the 18th and the 20th century. One has to conform to the methods and spirit of the age, or he remains in the industrial cemetery beside his contemporaries of the year 1711.

In the 18th century the buyer took the initiative. That was because few people had got ahead in life so that they had anything to sell. Buyers being more numerous than sellers, the seller was sure of his market.

Today a far larger proportion of the people have achieved financial independence, and are looking to sell something. Consequently there are great many more sellers than is necessary to supply the public wants. The one who succeeds is the one who proves in definite facts, figures, and argument, that he has the best goods. Hence the sweep and power of modern advertising.

WORK HARD.

Hard work will hurt no one—its worry. That's an old saying, but a true one and contains so much good, common sense that it is made the subject of this editorial.

There is nothing like work, especially when it is of a congenial nature. Work will keep the mind away from tempting thoughts, and when the person is employed there is very little danger that he will be lead astray by evil companions. "Idleness is the devil's workshop," for it is through idleness that one is led astray by evil companions, drunkenness encouraged and ambition wrecked, says an exchange.

There are young men in every city who are wasting their lives in doing nothing. You will find them hanging around street corners, loafing in saloons and pool rooms, and when the mind is not employed by honest labor, it is open to temptations of all kinds, because it is through the mind the noble or evil thoughts come.

The minds of young people are active and they have to have something to satisfy their longings. If it is desire for advancement, for perfection in their daily work, or profession, happiness will result But if the mind is filled with evil thoughts and desires, they may satisfy for the time being, but the final result will be unhappiness and misery.

Too little attention is paid in public schools by the teachers in instructing the pupils of the wonderful capabilities of the brain, which is the seat of thought, memory, desire, ambition. Every pupil should be told they are laying the foundation for his or her future life, and the knowledge, whether of books or everyday affairs should be of such a nature that in after years there would not be a brain cell filled with that knowledge that leads to destruction, but that which would guide to a better and holier existence.

VETO FOR ELLIS BILL.

It seems unfortunate that the Governor found it his duty to veto the Ellis Milk bill, which appears to have been done without the executive's usual clear reasoning and good logic. Mr. Foss' chief objection, says the Boston Post, to the measure turns out to be his dislike of the concentration of power in an appointed board of milk commissioners "having no authority from the people," although it is evident that this same board would have to satisfy public sentiment or die a sudden death at the hands of the next Legislature. It could never be very far nor very long removed from the lawmaking power.

Furthermore, its authority is not absolute, for—a matter which the Governor appears to have overlooked, since he says that "from its decision there is no appeal"—the bill distinctly provides that "no permit shall be refused or revoked without due hearing by the States Board of Health."

In his message of June 16, the Governor urged legislation "to create one definite, simple line of State control" over the production of milk. The Ellis bill does this, if it does anything. It will be unforunate for the cause of clean and pure milk, unfortunate for the invalids and the children in every one of our cities, if the measure is not passed, despite the executive disapproval.

SCHOOL SAVINGS BANKS.

Following his circular letter, soliciting the co-operation of the various school boards in the establishing of School Savings Banks, Hon. Arthur B. Chapin, Bank Commissioner, has issued the following suggestions to be used in their operation.

The organization of school savings banks differs somewhat as to detail in different localities. Unless the local savings bank delegates one of its employees to go to the school and act as collector, there should be a head of each school bank and one or more collectors, who are directly responsible to the head of the bank.

Each school savings bank should select a name to be printed on its various forms.

In small cities and towns where all of the schools could be brought under the head of one school savings bank, the superintendent of schools might act as the head of the bank, and could appoint a collector for each school.

In cases where it would seem best, each school could have its own school savings bank, the principal of the school being head of the bank and appointing one or more collectors. This detail should be left entirely with the one in charge of instituting school savings banks in each city or town or locality.

When the organization of the school savings bank has been completed and a day set for collecting the first savings of the pupils, and the place and time in which the collections shall be made decided upon, the bank is then ready to receive deposits, and the manner of conducting its business should be along the lines here mentioned.

We will assume, for example, that we are dealing with a school savings bank which is made up of three or four schools, each school having a collector, with the superintendent of schools as its head. We will also assume that the collector of each school is its principal; that he has given notice to the pupils that, commencing Monday, October 2, he will receive deposits from 9 to 9.15 every Monday till June 1, in sums of 1 cent or more, from any pupil wishing to open a savings account.

It will probably take longer than fifteen minutes the first week, but when the school bank has been in operation a few weeks, fifteen minutes should be ample time in which to make the collection for the school.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

A CHILD'S REQUEST.

Bobby's aunt had quite often brought him some tiny chocolate mice, which he liked very much except for their size. One day he sidled up to her coaxingly and said: "Auntie, next time you buy chocolate mice won't you please buy rats?"

NOT A RARE AILMENT.

"There goes Spriggins. They say that man has been given up by half a dozen doctors."

"What's the trouble with him?"

"He won't pay his bills."

SANDWICHES SUGGEST ANTIQUITY.

Fogg remarks that they must have had railroad lunch counters in Isaiah's time for we read in that prophet's writings: "And he shall snatch on the right hand and be hungry, and he shall eat on the left hand and then not be satisfied."

ON THE SUBJECT OF THE GIRL.

"Pa, why does love make the world go round?"

"Because every lover is a crank, my son."—Judge.

NATURALIZING HIM.

"This man does not seem to know much about the Constitution."

"But he didn't miss a ball game last season, judge."

"Then I guess he's assimilated."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

SONG OF THE SENATE.

Arbitration is vexation,
Revision is as bad;
The rule of T. perplexes me,
And Tariff drives me mad.
(W. B. A.)

FOREHANDED AND INTELLIGENT.

Storekeeper—"Well, my little man, what can I do for you?"

The Kid—"Say, when I comes in here this afternoon with a lady and asks you for a dollar's worth of your best chocolates, just pass me out a penny's forth of them little things in the corner, will you?"—Puck.

THE UMPIRE—Suddenly the umpire called time.

"Aw, what's the matter!" demanded the catcher.

"Somebody in the grand stand applauded me," he said, wiping the blinding tears from his eyes, "and I wasn't prepared for that.———Play ball!"—Chicago Tribune.

KINGLY—"The King of England seems to have a worried look," said the man who was looking at the pictures.

"I don't see what he has to worry about," replied Mrs. Flimgilt's husband. "His wife doesn't play bridge."—Washington Star.

HUMOR—"Has she any sense of humor?"

"I don't think so. She can look at her hat without laughing."—Lippincott's.

GOOD WORK DONE FOR MAINE PROHIBITION

Whirlwind Campaigners Out In Support of Maine Law

Bath, Me., July 26.—The prohibition campaign grows exciting here as the time draws near to Sept. 11, when the people of Maine will vote on the question of taking out or leaving in the state constitution the plank prohibiting the manufacture or sale of liquor in this state.

The prohibition people are fighting hard to show that law enforcement will follow if the state goes prohibition, and that present conditions have grown up because there was a general belief that the state is now opposed to prohibition.

The Prohibitionists are working their mightiest. They have been aided by the whirlwind campaigners from Boston, who are touring the state in an automobile.

—This "ad" would seem says the Boston Record that Cambridge has a cow of rare accomplishments:

Wanted—A steady, respectable young man to look after a garden and milk a cow who has a good voice and is accustomed to sing in the choir.

You Ought To Know that impure blood with its weakening results, unpleasant breath, headaches, unrestful nights, poor appetite, sallow skin, pimples and depression, comes from constipation

BEECHAM'S PILLS

have been doing good to men and women for many, many years and their value has been tested and proved. They remove the cause of physical troubles. A few small doses will show their safe tonic action on you. Beecham's Pills will surely help you to an active liver, a good stomach, a sweet breath, clear head and refreshing sleep. In young or old they will

Relieve Constipation

Sold Everywhere. In boxes 10c. and 25c.

CONVENTION IN CHICAGO

Republican Leaders Say That City Has Best Advantages

TAFT BY ACCLAMATION

The next Republican National Convention will be held in Chicago. Although the Convention will not meet until a year hence and the selection of the convention city is supposed to rest with the national committee, the powers that be, including the President, have agreed that Chicago offers the greatest advantage for the convention.

It has the hotel, auditorium and telegraph facilities, without which no city can hope to capture the convention, and its geographical position makes it a half-way house between east and west. It is too far for the great majority of the eastern delegates to go to the Pacific coast, just as the great majority of westerners object to having to go to the Atlantic coast, while Chicago is convenient to both coasts as well as the south and southwest.

While officially the national committee, which will meet in Washington in December, has the selection of the convention city, when the President is to be renominated he is always consulted and his wishes are complied with. The national committee has a decided Taft majority and the committee will hold the convention where Mr. Taft indicates.

The President has no preference one way or the other, but he has agreed to Chicago because of the conveniences it offers and after hearing the claims of various cities, the committee will go into secret session and solemnly vote for Chicago.

The date for the convention has not yet been determined upon. It makes no difference whether it is held the last week in June or the first week in July, and it will be between those dates.

The men who will run the convention next year look upon it as a cut and dried affair. They anticipate the renomination of President Taft by acclamation, and they expect to have everything their own way in shaping the platform. The convention ought to be able to meet, make the nominations, adopt the platform and adjourn in a day, but the proceedings will probably be dragged out four days, so to make it seem like a real live convention.

The only uncertainty at the present time seems to be in regard to the vice presidential nomination, but that will undoubtedly be decided long before the convention meets. Next year's Republican convention promises neither fireworks nor surprises.

☞Going away for the summer? If so don't forget to have the Daily Ledger sent to your address and keep posted on home news. If you have forgotten to send in your order in the rush of getting away drop us a postal and we will do the rest. tf

HOT WEATHER

and dirt breed germs. Germs bring diseases and are a menace to your health. Our sanitary dyeing and cleaning processes render your clothes free from germs.

Get The Sanitary Habit!

We call for and deliver the work

WARSHAW'S DYE HOUSE
"The Home of Cleanliness"
1503 HANCOCK STREET
QUINCY
July 15-tf

PATENTS

TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 26 years experience.
Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.
READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.
D. SWIFT & CO.
PATENT LAWYERS,
303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

CHOOSE THE HOME BANK

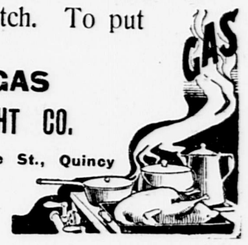
Quincy is a small city, but its banking facilities and accommodations are good. You need not go to Boston to do your banking or to rent a safety deposit box. This bank is right at home—it is convenient—its business hours are conveniently arranged so that you can bank here easily.

NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

A WELL COOKED DINNER

If you have a good cook is assured when you use a gas stove or gas range. The heat is steady and uniform, which is not the case with a wood or coal stove, and you can raise or lower the flame as you please—which of course, is impossible on any other kind of cook-stove. To make a fire, you simply turn on the gas and apply a match. To put it out, turn off the gas.

COOK WITH GAS
CITIZENS' GAS LIGHT CO.
11 Granite St., Quincy



ZOROID
TRADE MARK
LENSES
FOUNDED 1883

For Your Convenience

And to enable us to have time for a thorough examination, we make appointments.

Instead of wasting from a half to a whole day you need only an hour or two for a thorough and scientific examination of your eyes.

When in need of glasses 'phone OXFORD 790 for an appointment.

Briggs S. Palmer President
Sanborns
3 Winter St.-Boston

REPRESENTED IN QUINCY BY
WILLIAM F. SIDELINGER
July-26-29

Are You Going Away?

If so have the DAILY LEDGER sent to your vacation address. You cannot afford to be without your home paper.

FILL OUT THIS BLANK

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER:—
Send the Daily Ledger for _____
Address below. _____
_____
_____

SEND YOUR ORDER AT ONCE

TOGO WILL VISIT QUINCY

Japanese Admiral's Trip To Fore River Co.

AROUND AUG. 17th

Advices received from Washington state that Admiral Togo of the Imperial Japanese navy will visit Quincy, his visit to Boston including a trip to the Fore River Shipbuilding Company, where he is desirous of inspecting its wonderful works and facilities. The arrangements for Admiral Togo's visit to Boston contemplate a stay of two days, as now planned. He will arrive Wednesday, Aug. 16 and leave for Buffalo Friday, Aug. 18th. The program will include a visit to the Charlestown Navy Yard and as above stated to the Fore River Co. The Admiral wants to see buildings and places of interest and will visit Cambridge and Harvard College.

The Admiral is undoubtedly the great man of Japan, its leading naval officer, having gained renown when he defeated the Russians in the great naval battle of the recent war. He was Japan's representative at the coronation of King George and is now on his way home. Before sailing from England on Monday he gave out a message of good will to the American people whose meeting he seems to anticipate with much pleasure.

CASE AGAINST COUNTRY CLUB CONTINUED

There was another adjournment in the celebrated Country club case Tuesday when the case came up in the court at Brookline before Judge Parker. The case was continued until today when it is understood that John W. McAnarney and John P. Fagan, attorneys representing the club, will ask for a further continuence, to a date which they with Fred H. Williams counsel forthe town can agree upon. Late Tuesday Messrs McAnarney and Fagan accepted service for the club.

BOYS FOUND OLD ALBUM AT CAMBRIDGE

While searching in a public dump at Cambridge, Monday, some boys found a photograph album full of photographs. On the cover of the album were the names George H. Wheeler and Flora A. Wheeler. Mr. Wheeler was an inmate of the Quincy Home who died July 9, owing to the excessive heat. His wife was Flora A. Wheeler who died some years ago. It is believed that the album belonged to him although there is considerable mystery as to how the album should have been thrown into a dump in Cambridge.

FOUND MISSING BOY.

There was quite a little excitement at Houghs Neck Monday over the disappearance of Clifford Sathey, the three year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Sathey of 1263 Sea street. Neighbors and the police assisted in the search for the little fellow, who was found asleep behind a door in his father's tailor shop. Some little excitement was added to the search by the rumor that the boy had been abducted. It was said that a man had been seen coming from the tailors shop in the early evening carrying a bundle under his arm and the rumor was that the missing boy was in the bundle.

TODAY'S COURT.

Charles Nordstrom was fined $3 and James W. Bailey $5 for drunkenness at Quincy.

John F. Carey was arraigned for assault on Daniel Callahan at Holbrook. Case continued until Thursday.

If Mr. Hearst buys that London daily, he will teach the English how to make a newspaper look like an auction bill.

LEAVES HIS YOUNG WIFE A FORTUNE

New Haven, July 26.—Burr S. Peck, who came into prominence recently by his elopement with Miss May Bryne, who was fifty-six years younger than he, died yesterday at his home. He was 80 years old. His father was a joiner by trade, and his frugality enabled him to accumulate a small fortune. Burr Peck followed the occupation of his father.

Mr. Peck accumulated a large amount of property. He had been a widower several years when he took Miss Bryne for his second wife. Announcement of Peck's marriage to Miss Bryne caused a sensation. Peck and his young wife lived together for a short time, when they had a disagreement. Divorce proceedings were instituted but the suit was afterwards withdrawn.

Peck will leave an estate of $100,000, and this will go to his widow, who was a waitress in a Yale student boarding house.

EXHIBITION OF WORK OF SUMMER SCHOOL PUPILS

(Continued from Page One.)

tol, White House, and the many government buildings. Mr. Goodspeed told of his walk to the top of the Washington Monument and gave the young people a vivid picture of the view from the top. A detailed account was given of the Bureau of Engraving and the Mint and the way money and stamps are engraved. A description of the Easter Egg rolling on the grounds of the White House was of great interest.

These travel talks by Mrs. Alden and Mr. Goodspeed have been of especial interest to these young people who have not had an opportunity to see for themselves and the fact that they were given by interesting people added to their charm.

NO MYSTERY ABOUT WARSHIPS.

A denial of the statement with regard to the intended sale of the big Argentine battleships was made yesterday by Captain Diogenes Aguirre head naval commissioner from Argentine Republic. He said that there was no mystery attached to the construction of the huge ships for the Argentine navy and that they wanted them for their own use. "The printed story of an international mystery was evidently concocted in the brain of some sensationalist or by some one of the diplomats of our Southern brothers," he said In making the denial he asked the question, "Why should Argentina not have two battleships?" Although they will be the largest afloat he affirmed that they were to use them for the defense of their own country and had no intention of selling.

GOOD DEED OF OFFICER

Patrolman Walsh Rescues a Little Girl by Prompt Action

Boston, July 26.—Lorna Dawes, 6 years old, was seriously burned about the body, arms and face yesterday afternoon, and would probably have been burned to death had it not been for the prompt action of Patrolman A. J. Walsh of station 9.

The child, who lives at 19 Huckins street, Roxbury, was playing with matches when one of her companions, it is believed, unwittingly set her dress afire.

With her clothes ablaze the terror-stricken child rushed toward home, but had scarcely gone five yards before she was enveloped in flames. Her screams of agony attracted Patrolman Walsh. Seeing the child a living torch he rushed to her and smothered the flames.

Ends In Compromise

New York, July 26.—By the compromise of the contest over the will of Mrs. Jennie S. Gookins, who died in Boston in 1907, her husband, Charles F. Gookins, will get one-fourth of the estate.

Fears For Safety

Boston, July 26.—A mysterious sea tragedy would seem to have developed yesterday when Ernest W. Day had not returned from a yachting trip on which he started June 17.

How to Fold Sheets.

Sheets, tablecloths, spreads and the like are difficult to fold when taking from the line, but if you will unpin one end, then pull over from line, catching in center, and take fastened end from line you will discover it a very simple method.

Her Own Introduction.

"When did you first become acquainted with your wife?"

"The first time I disagreed with her after we were married."—Puck.

There's beggary in the love that can be reckoned.—Shakespeare.

YORK, ME., AGAIN VISITED BY FIRE

Various Properties Destroyed In Big Conflagration

INVESTIGATING CAUSE

York Cliffs, Me., July 26.—Fire yesterday afternoon destroyed a stable, garage and blacksmith shop on the grounds of the Passaconaway Inn. The loss is estimated at $18,000 on buildings, and $12,000 on three autos that were in the garage.

Several horses and carriages were saved.

An investigation is being held to determine whether the fire was caused by a gasolene explosion or was the work on an incendiary.

Summer boarders from Boston and other cities helped in fighting the flames.

MIDSUMMER POLITICS

(Continued from Page One.)

Papers are being circulated for John F. Merrill as County Commissioner to succeed himself.

JOHN F. MERRILL

It is reported that ex-Councilman John J. McDevitt is to take out papers as Democratic candidate for Representative from the Sixth Norfolk district, comprising Wards Four, Five and Six. Mr. McDevitt was a candidate last year against Representative Langelier. His vote was 1104 to 1196 for Representative Langelier.

JOHN J. MCDEVITT.

Papers are being circulated for Louis A. Cook of South Weymouth as Clerk of Courts. This is a five year term.

Mayor Shea will probably send his appointment of election officers to the City Council at its adjourned meeting Aug. 28.

It is a little early yet for city politics, but there is a slight movement. Among those named as possible candidates for the Republican nomination for Mayor are Ralph W. Hobbs, who was defeated by Mayor Shea last year, Walter F. Nichols and Eugene R. Stone, both of whom met defeat at the hands of Mayor Shea, the first two years he was elected. There was also a rumor that John L. Miller, chairman of the school committee may enter the contest.

Another rumor is that friends of ex-Councilman Richard R. Freeman of Wollaston are trying to get him interested in the Mayoralty contest.

TO CREATE ENVY—"There is no use giving you a check, my dear. My bank account is overdrawn."

"Well, give it to me, anyway, George. And, say make it out for $500. I want to pull it out of my shopping bag with my handkerchief at the bridge game this afternoon."—Philadelphia Times.

CRESCENT STREET IMPROVED

Work has been commenced rebuilding Crescent street for which the City Council of 1910 made an appropriation of $2,000. The street will be rebuilt with what is known as town road construction, which is similar to that section of Hancock street recently done in front of the Hancock house. It consists of macadam with several coatings of tar. It will make an ideal construction, for Crescent street, which under an order passed a few weeks ago by the City Council has become a street restricted to light vehicle use.

WILL MEAN REDUCTION IN EXPRESS RATES

General Agent Johnson of the Adams Express Co. has received orders from the headquarters of the company to the effect that on and after Aug. 1, there will be a radical change in the shipping system which promises a great reduction to shippers.

Heretofore the system of two charges prevailed when packages were transferred from one company to the other, but under the new system only one charge will be levied.

It is thought that if the plans work out as they are expected to the reduction will probably reach 15 percent and the shippers will get the benefit.

DELIGHTFUL HOP.

The weekly hop at the Quincy Yacht club last evening was one of the most enjoyable of the season. A large crowd gathered early in the evening and found sufficient inspiration in the music furnished by Monk's orchestra to dance until 11. The usual number of dances were enjoyed including the Paul Jones. Refreshments were served in the Cafe during the intermission.

RAILWAYS IN JAPAN.

Filthy Cars and Dirty Stations In a Land of Cleanliness.

"The railway journey from Kioto to Yokohama, despite the fact that most beautiful country is traversed, is not the pleasantest of experiences," declares a writer in the Wide World. "One buys a railway ticket in Japan in installments.

"The ordinary ticket only enables one to go by a train covering the minimum distance in the maximum time. An extra express ticket is purchased, which means that the engine moves a little more quickly toward its appointed goal.

"Next a platform ticket must be procured to enable one to board the train, and finally one has to fight one's way into a first class carriage. Why do all the passengers in Japan take their luggage into the already painfully small carriage instead of leaving it in the van? And why, again, does a nation that is a password for cleanliness the world over possess a train service so shockingly dirty in every detail?

"We once in a weak moment looked into a station master's room at a large station, and for pure dirt it could have given points to a dust heap. In the rain carriages the floors are covered with the dirt of ages, cigarette ends, orange peel, sandwich papers. At intervals a porter saunters in with a brush and leisurely sweeps all the refuse into a corner, having first carefully closed every window, so that no atom of discomfort or infection shall be lost.

"Finally he departs, leaving behind him the rubbish and an atmosphere charged with germs and angry words. Truly a Japanese porter's definition of clearing up is removing rubbish from one place to another."

A Bird Mystery.

After years of study devoted to the topic Professor Alfred Newton of Cambridge stated that without doubt bird migration is the greatest mystery in the entire animal kingdom. "a mystery," he added, "that can be no more explained by the modern man of science than by the simple minded savage of antiquity."

TO LET

IN QUINCY CENTER

SEVERAL DESIRABLE HOUSES

7, 8 and 10 Rooms

Every convenience and very desirable locations.

RENT $25 TO $40 according to house

APPLY TO

MISS PRESCOTT,

Ledger Office

Quincy, July LPOtf

PATCH'S

Special Range Coal

IGNITES QUICKLY

If it were stony or of bad quality it wouldn't.

It is the most reliable coal imaginable, helps the cook when she's in a hurry and shows up best when needed most.

Besides it burns up so thoroughly as to leave the smallest quantity of ash.

Buy it and try it and see why so many will burn no other.

One ton should prove it.

C. PATCH & SON, INC.

Office, 1422 Hancock Street, Quincy

SHELLFISH AND DISEASE.

How to Avoid Any Danger From Eating Mollusks.

Authoritative confirmation is given in a British expert report to the theory, which has been disputed in this country, of the transmission of disease through the medium of shellfish and particularly, for obvious reasons, of those varieties of shellfish which are often eaten uncooked. The report is made by Dr. Bulstrode for the London local government board, and after citing in detail a number of well attested cases of illness arising from the consumption of shellfish it says:

"From the foregoing illustrations, which could be supplemented without difficulty, it will have become apparent that circumstantial evidence approximating as nearly to proof as is practicable in investigations of this nature points to the conclusion that numerous outbreaks of enteric fever, of gastro-enteritis and of obscure intoxications are to be attributed to the consumption of certain shellfish (oysters, mussels and cockles)."

It would be foolish to become frightened and abjure all the delicious and nutritious forms of food which mollusks supply. Despite the "numerous" outbreaks to which Dr. Bulstrode refers and which have been perhaps more numerous here than in England, probably not more than one shellfish in a million of those consumed has done its consumer harm. Yet it would also be foolish to incur needlessly even so small a risk as that proportion suggests. For its avoidance Dr. Bulstrode prescribes two courses. One naturally is to cook thoroughly all shellfish before eating them. The other and much the better, since a multitude of persons want them raw, is to prevent the gathering of edible shellfish from or the storage of them in contaminated water. — New York Tribune.

A Shadow Fifty Miles Long.

The peak of Tenerife projects a huge shadow stretching upward of fifty miles across the deep and partly eclipsing the adjoining islands. Exaggerated shadows of immense size are commonly seen in many other places. On the Harz mountains the so called Specter of the Brocken throws gigantic shadows of mountain climbers into the sky, repeating every movement made by them. The same occurs on the summit of Pambamarca, in Peru.

On the tops of Alpine peaks and on the summit of Ben Lomond, in Scotland, mists in one case and rarefied air in the other explain these optical illusions. The same causes produce also colored shadows, varying at each hour of the day and traceable to the dispersion of the solar rays.—Scientific American.

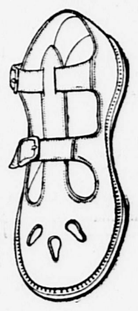
One Want.

"What the world is waiting for," said a man whose garments glistened, "is some sort of a simple, easily applied and inexpensive preparation that would give a dull finish to shiny coats."—New York Sun.

Kept Him Guessing.

"The course of true lover never does run smooth."

"Well, it's a good thing. When a young man finds things running too smoothly he is apt to get bored and wander away."—Kansas City Journal.



BAREFOOT SANDALS

The best thing for the children to wear during the warm weather. They are light and comfortable and give good satisfaction.

CHILDS	5 to 8	45c
MISSES	8 to 11	50c

HEFFERNAN'S SHOE STORE

1375 Hancock Street, Quincy

E. E. GRAY CO.

QUINCY and WOLLASTON

1525 Hancock Street, Music Hall Block — Corner Newport Avenue and Brook Street

Cuts for Week Commencing July 24

Flour, (Golden Gate)	per Bag	69c
Salmon, (Good Alaska)	per can	13c
Condensed Milk, (Rose Brand)	per can	9c
Cornstarch,	per pkg.	4c
Macaroni or Spaghetti	per pkg.	7c
Ox Tongue, (Armor's Veribest)	per can	50c
Deviled Meats (Ham Flavor)	small can	4c
	large can	9c
Sardines (Norwegian Smoked)	per can	8c
Catsup, (Gray's Golden Gate)	large bot.	16c
Quaker Oats,	2 pkgs.	15c
Grape Juice, (Randall's)	med. bot.	16c
Gray's Self-Rising Flour	5 lb. bag	21c
Fancy Large Lemons	per doz.	30c
Crackers, (Royal Lunch Milk)	per lb.	8c

F M W

WHEELER'S

The Store for Ladies' Furnishings

We will continue our Sale of Shirt Waists and Long Gloves

See what we offer in Shirt Waists for 79c and 98c and Long Gloves for 50c and 75c

We are also showing a new line of Children's Parasols, all colors, for 25c and 29c

WE GIVE CASH DISCOUNT SLIPS

City Square G. W. WHEELER Quincy

GET THE HELP QUINCY GROW HABIT

PATTERSON, "The Florist"
92 South Central Ave.
WOLLASTON, MASS.
Telephone 392 Quincy

Quincy Savings Bank
BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.
SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.
CLARENCE BURGIN, Treasurer.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.
FIRE INSURANCE.
The Best Insurance. The Lowest Rates
Insurance Department,
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Telephone, Quincy 97-6.

R. D. CHASE
QUINCY MASS.
INSURANCE REAL ESTATE MORTGAGES CONVEYANCES TRUSTS
MONEY TO LOAN ON REAL ESTATE MORTGAGES
CARE OF PROPERTY

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock treet, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point
Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1153 M Nov. 3-tf

UPHOLSTERING
My only ambition is to get the work and to show the people of Quincy Town that nobody can beat me with my good work. Low prices on all kinds of furniture, repairing, mattresses, and cushions. Can give references. M. Mirkin 67 Washington street, next to Y.M.C.A. Quincy. Tel. 1112W. April 10-4mo.

HOUSEKEEPERS
TELL YOUR TROUBLES
HOLMES & HALL
We make a business of repairing the things about the house that get out of order such as DOORS, LOCKS, SHADES, BELLS and FURNITURE.
96 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 974 L

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER and GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

JAMES F. BURKE
Real Estate and Insurance
AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES
Justice of the Peace Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Tel. 385-3 Jan. 17-tf

A. M. DEANE & CO.
MONUMENTS
MEMORIALS ERECTED IN ANY CEMETERY IN THE UNITED STATES
Aug. 1.-1y

M. T. SULLIVAN
Real Estate Insurance
Auctioneer Care of Property
Justice of the Peace
Corner School and Hancock Streets
QUINCY.

STORAGE
—FOR—
Furniture and Pianos
Storage Warehouse with Separate Rooms
Furniture and Piano Movers
HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy Tel. Con.

PATENTS
PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo. for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES. Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent.
Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively.
Write or come to us at
710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office,
WASHINGTON, D. C.
CA·SNOW & CO.

Quincy Daily Ledger

HIGH TIDE FOR WEEK.

Monday, July 24,	9.45	10.00
Tuesday,	10.45	11.00
Wednesday,	11.30	12.00
Thursday,	12.00	12.30
Friday,	12.45	1.15
Saturday,	1.45	2.15
Sunday,	2.30	3.00

1911 JULY 1911

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
						1
2	3	4	5	6	7	8
9	10	11	12	13	14	15
16	17	18	19	20	21	22
23	24	25	26	27	28	29
30	31

BRIEFS

Dr. H. C. Hallowell has returned from a short vacation in Maine.

Miss Sara Curran of Upland road is at East Hampton with friends for two weeks.

Miss Ruth Burleigh of Quincy avenue is visiting relatives at Gloucester for a few days.

James E. Neary, instructor of the Fore River apprentice school, is taking a week's automobile trip through Maine.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Lynch and son William of 40 Upland road are passing their vacation very pleasantly at Bristol, N. H.

Foster street is impassable at its junction with Washington street for a short time owing to work being done on the Washington street end of the street.

The session of the Norfolk probate court at Brookline, this morning, was the last session until September as the court does not sit during the month of August.

A number of the Harvard summer school students are in town today visiting some of the many places of historical interest. This afternoon they will be entertained at lunch by the Daughters of Revolution at the John Adams birthplace at South Quincy.

SUGGESTED MEMORIAL DAY.

The woman credited with having first expressed the idea of a general Memorial day, Mrs. Sue Landon Vaughn, died this week in Washington at the home of the Eastern Star, a Masonic order, on which she was dependent.

She was a descendant of John Adams, the second President of the United States. On April 26, 1865, she led some Southern women in strewing with flowers the confederate graves in Vicksburg, and the date and custom were perpetuated in the South. Three years later, May 30 was adopted throughout the North as Memorial day.

Mrs. Vaughn was of distinguished ancestry, and was the wife of Judge J. H. Vaughn of San Francisco. The earthquake there destroyed the family property, and his subsequent death left Mrs. Vaughn without resources.

U. S. S. CHESTER AT HAYTI.

The U. S. S. Chester, which was stationed at Houghs Neck on the Fourth of July, is now in the harbor of Cape Haitien, Hayti, guarding the American interests there. The situation is tense at the present time with no less than five men striving for the supreme command of the army of Hayti.

BIG SUIT IN SIGHT

Claim to Recover $15,000,000 Filed In Philadelphia Court

Philadelphia, July 26.—A statement of claim to recover $15,000,000 damages has been filed in the United States court here by the Bluefields Steamship company to the use of Elmer E. Wood, receiver of the company, against the United Fruit company.

The Bluefields company claims damages in this amount for alleged stifling of competition and alleges monopoly in the sale of bananas in this country. The suit was brought under the Sherman anti-trust law.

RESULT OF A JOKE

Luncheon Burlesquing a Funeral Drove Man to Suicide

New York, July 26.—The body of Alexander J. Schem was found at Rockaway Beach. Schem mailed a letter to his uncle, Julius Beissearth, in which he announced his intention of taking his life.

That a luncheon, burlesquing a funeral, given Schem by friends on his wedding day, preyed on his mind until the thought of it drove him to suicide is the opinion of the relatives.

SERIOUS WORK IN SKIRMISHES

Will Now Proceed In the War to Retake Boston

GOOD WORK IS REPORTED

In the Preliminary Operations by the Militiamen of Massachusetts—The Troops Are Watchful of Opportunities to Gain Advantages and Annihilate Their Opponents—No Big Battles Considered Probable Till Friday

Boston, July 26.—Serious work by both the main armies in the big war game began for the first time today.

The outposts of each army were only eight miles apart last night and the armies themselves were separated by only twelve miles.

This is the first day when the armies will be near enough to each other to make possible an infantry engagement. Up to now there have been only cavalry skirmishes.

It seems to be understood, however, that there will be no big battle until tomorrow or Friday, but there seems to be considerable uncertainty about what will happen today.

At 5:30 o'clock yesterday morning the Red army started to break camp at Suntaug lake, Lynnfield, and was soon under way. They proceeded up the road to Lynnfield Centre by way of Pilling's pond and Pine Hill to North Reading and thence to Middleton.

Skirmishers of the Blue cavalry were encountered in several places. At North Reading there was a picturesque battle between the two troops of Red cavalry, acting as skirmishers, and the two troops of Blue cavalry skirmishers.

Soon after passing Wilmington Captain Blake was tipped off by a "spy" that about 200 Red cavalry were gathered at the North Reading town house. As a result he made his way more carefully. Near the poor farm the enemy was discovered in a field and the Blue troopers were halted and dismounted.

Captain Blake sent half of Troop B, under Lieutenant B. S. Blake, and Captain Swan with Troop C, up the hill in the rear of the barn, all being sheltered by a stone wall. While this move was being made three squads of Troop B engaged the half dozen Red troopers in the field. The Reds quickly withdrew, but as all had to go out into the open to reach the road they were theoretically annihilated.

The firing warned the main body of Red cavalry, Troops A and D, of the approach of the Blues, but too late to prevent the hot attack. The Blue troopers drove in the few skirmishers located in advance of the Reds, in a field. Over this field the Blues ran and reached the woods by short rushes.

The Blue soldiers continued without a stop until they reached an orchard. Here a regular slaughter took place, as the Reds had no idea the Blues were there in force.

After the battle Major Schmitz and his Red cavalrymen were riding back to the camp and halted for a brief rest at Jenkin's Corner. While there Trumpeter Williams was sent up on a hill to look for the enemy.

There he captured a scout of the Blue army and brought him back a prisoner of war. The captive was Trooper Byron Tuckerman, Jr., of Troop B of the Blue cavalry.

Yesterday afternoon the preliminaries in the athletic competition being held by the soldiers of both armies were held in the two camps and aroused a lot of interest.

AN ALL-NIGHT SEARCH

Schooner Warner Moore Discovered With Captain Dead on Board

Newport, R. I., July 26.—An all-night search for the three-masted schooner making her way over a troubled sea with her flag floating union down and her crew acting strangely, resulted in the discovery that the vessel is the Warner Moore, bound from Providence for a Florida port, and that her skipper, Captain Crockett, was dead.

The destroyers Reid and Flusser, and the naval tug Chickasaw searched for her until daylight, when she was sighted off Saunderstown.

Jewelry Bandit Turns Up In Gotham

New York, July 26.—The same man who shot and killed Adolph Stern here, appeared on Bleecker street and held up the proprietor of a shoe store. The man escaped after he had fired five shots.

Death of an Editor

Natick, Mass., July 26.—William T. Howard, editor of the Natick Citizen, is dead. For several months he had been in ill health. He died at the home of his sister, Mrs. A. F. Story.

Picked Up at Hull Gut

Boston, July 26.—Lester Morey and Harold Burnham of Hough's Neck, each 12 years old, drifted from the Hough's Neck shore three miles across Quincy bay and were picked up exhausted in Hull Gut.

LIBERALS ARE TO DINE LEADER

Resentment Manifested at Recent Treatment of Premier

KING WATCHES SITUATION

King George to Appoint 500 Additional Peers Immediately—Unionists Interrupted by Liberals—Movement on Foot to Tender Austen Chamberlain eand Lord Selborn Leadership of the Unionist Party

London, July 26.—Following the meeting of the cabinet, it was reported that a decision had been reached by the government and King George to create 500 new peers immediately.

Unionists who shouted down Premier Asquith in the house of commons were interrupted by Liberals when they attempted to address the house.

Supporters of the government gave a very fair imitation of the tumultuous scenes when the Unionists attempted to speak upon issues at stake.

One result of the remarkable scene of disorder when Premier Asquith was hooted and jeered is an increase of sympathy and support for home rule for Ireland. The anti-home rule men were among the principal offenders in the demonstration which forced the premier to adjourn the sitting and their actions met with strong disapproval.

There is a report in circulation here that there is a well defined conspiracy among the more radical Tories to depose Mr. Balfour and Lord Lansdowne from the leadership of the Unionist party. The proposal is to substitute for them Austen Chamberlain and Lord Selborne.

King George is watching the situation closely and is using his influence to bring about a settlement.

The demonstration was wholly unexpected and all Conservatives recognize that their party is facing an extreme crisis—one which may leave it, instead of a strong minority, a hopeless minority.

The extremists in the Unionist party propose to give a show of their strength in the dinner to the Earl of Halsbury. If the party splits as a result of the present situation the extremists probably will make the Earl of Selborne their leader. They find their chief inspiration in Joseph Chamberlain.

While the "last ditchers" are making the most noise, the real influential members of the Conservative party stand with Lord Lansdowne and Mr. Balfour for a peaceful solution. These include almost all the members of the last Conservative cabinet.

The Liberal leaders are planning a demonstration which probably will take the form of a great dinner in Mr. Asquith's honor to express resentment at his treatment.

THE WILEY PAPERS

Documents Tendered President Taft by Secretary Wilson

Washington, July 26.—Secretary Wilson brought the papers in the case of Dr. Wiley to the White House. He refused to say what recommendations he had made regarding the charges against the pure food expert.

Mr. Wilson had an opportunity to discuss the Wiley case with the president. He said that he did not know whether his recommendation would be acceptable to the president or not.

If the recommendations made were not agreeable to the president he could change them. It was inferred from Mr. Wilson's remarks that his recommendations were not favorable to Dr. Wiley. There is every reason to believe, however, that Wiley at worst will receive but a mild reprimand.

LIVES TO TELL TALE

Bobby Leach Goes Over Horseshoe Falls In Safety

Niagara Falls, N. Y., July 26.—Bobby Leach, 49 years old, of Niagara Falls, Ont., went over the Horseshoe Falls in a barrel and still lives. Though he was severely battered and bruised in the drop of 158 feet he sustained only superficial injuries and last night was able to be about.

This is the second time in the history of the river that the cataract has ever been successfully navigated. Mrs. Anna E. Taylor of this city made the trip in a barrel on Oct. 24, 1901, and came out alive.

Peculiar Stipulation In Will

Evansville, Ind., July 26.—Becoming a woman hater because, as he said, his wife deserted him at Louisville, Ky., after inducing him to sign half his property to her, John Steller, 67 years old, stipulated in his will that none but men should attend his funeral.

Watch Company In Receivers' Hands

Waterbury, Conn., July 26.—On the application of Attorney Harriman, acting for A. A. Brown, vice president of the company, the New Haven county superior court has appointed temporary receivers for the Bannatyne Watch company of this city.

A NEW TERMINAL

The Canadian Pacific Will Establish New Station at Chicago

Chicago, July 26.—Through the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie and the Wisconsin Central railroads, both of which it controls, the Canadian Pacific is planning the establishment of a terminal of its own here.

This is regarded as an indication that Canadian Pacific interests propose further to develop the traffic of the lines within the United States and is a step in preparation for increased traffic between the United States and Canada, following the acceptance by Canada of the reciprocity agreement.

WEALTH OF CONNECTICUT

Taxable Property According to Figures of State Tax Commissioner

Hartford, July 26.—The amount of taxable property in Connecticut in 1910, according to figures completed by State Tax Comissioner Corbin, was $997,500,664, an increase over 1909. The value of the 180,894 houses in the state is placed at $474,-217,545. The federal census recently taken showed a population of 1,114,-756.

The combined value of mills, factories and stores in the state was $175,355,945. The number of horses and mules decreased 621. Road vehicles increased in value $2,500,000 during the year.

New Company Formed

Hartford, July 26.—The Fibre License company of Norwich has been incorporated with a capital stock of $50,000 to carry out a new process of manufacturing wood pulp which is the invention of J. T. Collins of this city.

Appointed to Peace Congress

Boston, July 26.—Urbain J. Ledoux has been appointed delegate to the nineteenth peace congress, to be held in Rome, in September, by the Boston chamber of commerce.

American Drowned at Berne

Berne, July 26.—Miss Mary L. Thomas, an American, and her Swiss teacher, Miss Levanchy, were drowned in Lake Leman near Clarens.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

In effect June 4, 1911

The letters in the same line as the figures below stand for different stations and indicate that trains stop as follows.

a Wollaston	f Harrison Square
b Norfolk Downs	g Savin Hill
c Atlantic	h Crescent Avenue
d Neponset	i South Boston
e Pope's Hill	r Quincy Adams

Exp.—Express train.

TO BOSTON			FROM BOSTON
Leave	Stop	Arrive	Leave	Stop	Arrive
r 5 14	abcdefghi	5 41	5 45	ihgfedcba	6 14 r
r 6 16	abcd	6 35	6 12	ihgfedcba	6 39 r
r 6 33	e	6 48	6 30	a	6 47
r 6 40	abcf	7 00	7 15	hgfedcba	7 41 r
r 7 08	abcd	7 30	7 41	a	7 58
r 7 25	d	7 42	7 45	c	8 03 r
r 7 33	Exp	7 48	8 35	cb	8 53
r 7 42	ab	8 00	8 42	a	8 59
7 57	a	8 13	9 10	fedba	9 32 r
r 8 09	abcd	8 31	9 45	a	10 01 r
r 8 30	Exp	8 45	10 15	ihgfedcba	10 41 r
r 8 53	ad	9 10	10 50	Exp	11 05
r 9 15	abc	9 33	11 15	hgfedcba	11 41 r
r 10 03	a	10 20	11 50	a	12 07
r 10 19	abcdefghi	10 45	12 15	hgfedcba	12 41 r
11 12	a	11 28	12 37	a	12 54 r
r 11 24	abcdefgh	11 50	12 50	Exp	1 05
12 04	a	12 20	1 11	fedcba	1 32 r
r 12 25	abcdefghi	12 52	1 45	a	2 02
1 22	a	1 40	2 15	ihgf	2 37 r
2 04	a	2 20	2 35	Exp	2 50
r 2 19	abcdefgh	2 45	3 15	hgfedcba	3 40 r
r 3 13	Exp	3 28	3 45	a	4 02
r 4 04	a	4 20	4 12	fedcba	4 34 r
r 4 25	abcdefgh	4 52	4 41	d	4 58
5 06	Exp	5 20	5 14	a	5 31 r
r 5 30	abcdefg	5 55	5 24	a	5 42
6 12	a	6 30	5 33	dcb	5 50 r
7 22	Exp	7 37	5 43	a	6 00 r
r 7 30	a	7 46	5 55	ledcba	6 21 r
r 8 07	abcdef	8 30	6 14	Exp	6 30 r
r 9 01	abc	9 20	6 30	ecba	6 51 r
10 04	a	10 20	7 00	fedcba	7 24 r
r 10 07	abcdef	10 30	7 12	a	7 29
r 11 25	abc	11 45	8 05	ba	8 32
			9 25	dba	9 46 r
			10 35	fedcba	11 02 r
			11 10	fedcba	11 35 r
			11 30	ba	11 49

SUNDAYS

r 7 43	abc	8 03	6 30	ba	6 48 r
r 8 30	Exp	8 45	45	ihgfedcba	9 13 r
8 34	abc	8 52	9 05	Exp	9 21
r 8 46	bcdefghi	9 13	10 15	ihgfedcba	10 32 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	12 15	ihgfedcba	12 42 r
9 31	a	9 47	12 45	Exp	1 01
10 23	ac	10 40	1 30	ihgfedcba	1 57 r
10 31	Exp	10 47	2 15	hgfedcba	2 42 r
11 00	Exp	11 17	2 45	a	3 02
r 11 16	abcdefghi	11 43	3 15	ihgfedcba	3 42 r
1 02	Exp	1 17	4 27	cba	4 48 r
r 1 16	abcdefgh	1 43	5 15	ihgfedcba	5 42 r
r 3 10	abc	3 30	6 15	ihgfedcba	6 42 r
r 4 16	abcdefghi	4 43	7 00	cba	7 19 r
r 5 07	abc	5 27	8 15	ihgfedcba	8 41 r
r 6 16	abcdefghi	6 43	8 50	Exp	9 05
r 7 16	abcdefghi	7 42	9 30	ihgfedcba	9 57 r
r 8 11	abcdefghi	8 38	10 45	cba	11 04 r
r 9 05	a	9 22
r 10 46	abc	11 05
r 11 01	abc	11 20

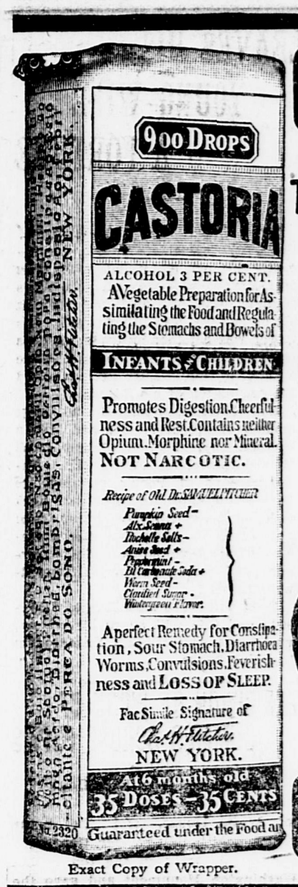
West Quincy for Boston (stopping at East Milton)—6.23, 6.56, 7.17, 8.01, 8.11, 9.07 10.09, 11.01, A. M. 12.09, 1.23, 2.09, 3.18, 4.09, 5.13 6.06, 7.19, 9.09, 11.14 P. M. Sundays—8.20, 9.20 A. M. 12.50, 5.15, 6.59, 11.02 P. M.

Boston for West Quincy (stopping at East Milton)—6.35, 7.27, 8.23, 9.35, 10.25, 11.35 A. M. 12.25, 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 5.47, 6.18 7.20, 9.10, 11.20 P. M. Sundays—8.58 A. M 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M.

Montclair for Boston 6.29, 7.27, 8.17, 10.15, A. M. 12.15, 1.29, 4.15, 5.20, 6.12, 7.23, 9.15, P. M. Sundays—8.26, 9.26, A. M. 1.06, 5.21, 11.09 P. M.

Boston for Montclair 9.35, 10.25, 11.35, A. M. 12.25, 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 6.18, 11.20 P. M. Sundays—8.58 A. M. 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M.

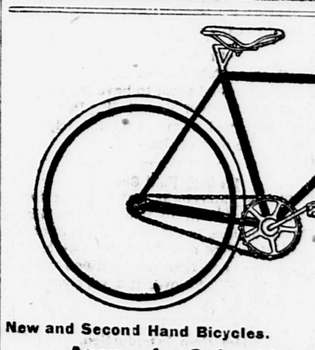
CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.
In Use For Over Thirty Years
CASTORIA



Exact Copy of Wrapper.
THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

Low Cuts
That Will Fit You
Don't be satisfied with a pair that gap at the sides, slip at the heel or pinch the toes.
Our Oxfords
are especially designed to fit your foot perfectly. Set closely around the top, fasten snugly over the instep.
Come In! and let us fit you properly
RALSTON'S for MEN
JONES
Just around the Corner
1 Granite Street
AMERICAN LADIES for WOMEN
July 24-3t

LLOYD'S
EYEGLASSES AND SPECTACLES
KRYPTOK BIFOCAL GLASSES
Far and Near Glasses in a Single Pair.
As young looking as Single Glasses: yet your "far" and "near" vision are always ready.
At any of our stores.
315 Washington St.
310 Boylston St. } BOSTON
75 Summer St.
1252 Massachusetts Ave. CAMBRIDGE.
ANDREW J. LLOYD CO.



New and Second Hand Bicycles. Sundries and Repairing
Agency for Columbia and Hartford Bicycles
HUB CYCLE CO.
Thomas Nelson, 20 Granite Street, QUINCY
May 15-3m

STORIA
nts and Children.
nd You Have ys Bought the ure
Fletcher.
In Use
For Over rty Years
TORIA
COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

Cuts
l Fit You be satisfied air that gap s, slip at the ch the toes.
rds your round step. properly
MERICAN LADIES
for WOMEN
July 24-3t

TACLES
SSES gle Pair.
Glasses:
sion are TON
BRIDGE.
CO.

dries and Repairing
Bicycles
hite Street, QUINCY
May 15-3m

THE DANGER TRAIL

By JAMES OLIVER CURWOOD

Copyright, 1910, by Bobbs-Merrill Company.

SYNOPSIS

Jack Howland, engineer, sent to build the Hudson Bay railroad, is appealed to for help by a beautiful girl who writes that she is a mute and invites him to accompany her. They are followed by Jean Croisset, half breed.

They go to her camp. He is attacked and nearly killed by a huge stranger. The girl disappears. Howland hears her speak. Croisset gives him the little Meleese's warning not to go north. He goes.

Howland again sees the girl, who tells him by note his life is in danger. She asks his forgiveness. Gregson and Thorne are mere wrecks of their former selves.

Mysterious perils threaten Howland. The girl visits him and confesses that she had lied to him. She entreats him to return south.

He tells her he loves her. Her name is Meleese. She partly promises to tell him why enemies seek his life.

Howland is lured to a mine, taken prisoner and bound to a box of dynamite which is soon to be exploded.

He frees himself and prevents the explosion. Meleese meets him again, refuses to marry him and again lures him into the hands of enemies.

Croisset takes Howland, his prisoner, into the wilderness. They are followed by Meleese. Howland promises not to attempt to escape.

They reach the house of the Red Death, a deserted Hudson Bay post. Then Croisset departs for several days. Howland plans to capture him upon his return.

Howland and Croisset fight. Croisset tells Howland he intends to kill him. Howland knocks out the half breed and orders him to take him to Meleese.

Croisset tells him he is going to his doom. Howland's plan to ambush his enemies fails. He is desperate, and Croisset aids him.

They reach a deserted cabin overlooking the home of Meleese and Howland's enemies. Though threatened with death, Croisset refuses to explain why Howland's life is sought. At night Howland goes to Meleese.

She promises to marry him and to join him in the south if he will only flee. Enemies discover him, and he is shot and imprisoned in a cabin.

Croisset, who has been appointed his executioner, visits the cabin. Meleese's three brothers believe that Howland's father wronged Meleese's mother and that Howland when a mere boy killed Meleese's father

(Concluded from last issue.)

He strained Meleese to him, and when he looked down into her face he saw her beautiful eyes flooded with tears and yet shining with a great joy. Her lips trembled as she struggled to speak. Then suddenly she broke from his arms and ran to the door, and Jean Croisset came between them, with the wild, bearded man still staring over his shoulder.

"M'seur, will you come with us?" said Jean.

The bearded man dropped back into the thick gloom, and without speaking Howland followed Croisset, his eyes on the shadowy form of Meleese. The ghostly faces turned from the light, and the tread of their retreating feet marked the passage through the blackness. Jean fell back beside Howland, the huge bulk of the bearded man three paces ahead. A dozen steps more and they came to a stair, down which a light shone. The Frenchman's hand fell detainingly on Howland's arm, and when a moment later they reached the top of the stairs all had disappeared but Jean and the bearded man. Dawn was breaking, and a pale light fell through the two windows of the room they had entered. On a table burned a lamp, and near the table were several chairs. To one of these Croisset motioned the engineer, and as Howland sat down the bearded man turned slowly and passed through a door. Jean shrugged his shoulders as the other disappeared.

"Mon Dieu, that means that he leaves it all to me," he exclaimed. "I don't wonder that it is hard for him to talk, m'seur. Perhaps you have begun to understand?"

"Yes, a little," replied Howland. His heart was throbbing as if he had just finished climbing a long hill. "That was the man who tried to kill me. But Meleese—the"— He could go no further. Scarce breathing, he waited for Jean to speak.

"It is Pierre Thoreau," he said, "eldest brother to Meleese. It is he who should say what I am about to tell you, m'seur. But he is too full of grief to speak. You wonder at that? And yet I tell you that a man with a better soul than Pierre Thoreau never lived, though three times he has tried to kill you. Do you remember what you asked me a short time ago, m'seur—if I thought that you were the John Howland who murdered the father of Meleese sixteen years ago? God's saints, and I did until hardly more than half an hour ago, when some one came from the south and exploded a mine under our feet. It was the youngest of the three brothers. M'seur, we have made a great mistake, and we ask your forgiveness."

In the silence the eyes of the two men met across the table. To Howland it was not the thought that his life was saved that came with the greatest force, but the thought of Meleese, the knowledge that in that hour when all seemed to be lost she was nearer to him than ever. He leaned half over the table, his hands clinched, his eyes blazing. Jean did not understand, for he went on quickly.

"I know it is hard, m'seur. Perhaps it will be impossible for you to forgive a thing like this. We have tried to kill you—kill you by a slow torture, as we thought you deserved. But think for a moment, m'seur, of what happened up here sixteen years ago this winter. I have told you how I choked life from the man fiend. So I would have choked life from you if it had not been for Meleese. I, too, am guilty. Only six years ago we knew that the right John Howland—the son of the man I slew—was in Montreal, and we sent to seek him this youngest brother, for he had been a long time at school with Meleese and knew the ways of the south better than the others. But he failed to find him at that time, and it was only a short while ago that this brother located you.

"As our Blessed Lady is my witness, m'seur, it is not strange that he should have taken you for the man we sought, for it is singular that you bear him out like a brother in looks, as I remember the boy. It is true that Francois made a great error when he sent word to his brothers suggesting that if either Gregson or Thorne was put out of the way you would probably be sent into the north. I swear by the Virgin that Meleese knew nothing of this, m'seur. She knew nothing of the schemes by which her brothers drove Gregson and Thorne back into the south. They did not wish to kill them, and yet it was necessary to do something that you might replace one of them, m'seur. They did not make a move alone but that something happened. Gregson lost a finger. Thorne was badly hurt, as you know. Bullets came through their window at night. With Jackpine in their employ it was easy to work on them, and it was not long before they sent down asking for another man to replace them."

For the first time a surge of anger swept through Howland.

"The cowards!" he exclaimed. "A pretty pair, Croisset, to crawl out from under a trap to let another in at the top!"

"Perhaps not so bad as that," said Jean. "They were given to understand that they—and they alone—were not wanted in the country. It may be that they did not think harm would come to you and so kept quiet about what had happened. It may be, too, that they did not like to have it known that they were running away from danger. Is not that human, m'seur? Anyway, you were detailed to come, and not until then did Meleese know of all that had occurred."

The Frenchman stopped for a moment. The glare had faded from Howland's eyes. The tense lines in his face relaxed.

"I—I—believe I understand everything now, Jean," he said. "You traced the wrong John Howland, that's all. I love Meleese, Jean. I would kill John Howland for her. I want to meet her brothers and shake their hands. I don't blame them. But somehow it hurts to think of her—of Meleese—as—as almost a murderer."

"Mon Dieu, m'seur, has she not saved your life? Listen to this! It was then—when she knew what had happened—that Meleese came to me—whom she had made the happiest man in the world, because it was she who brought my Mariane over from Churchill on a visit especially that I might see her and fall in love with her, m'seur—which I did. Meleese came to me—to Jean Croisset—and instead of planning your murder, m'seur, she schemed to save your life—with me—who would have cut you into bits no larger than my finger and fed you to the carrion ravens, who would have choked the life out of you until your eyes bulged in death, as I choked that one up on the Great Slave! Do you understand, m'seur? It was Meleese who came and pleaded with me to save your life—before you had left Chicago, before she had heard more of you than your name, before she had learned"—

Croisset hesitated and stopped.

"Before what, Jean?"

"Before she had learned to love you, m'seur."

"God bless her!" exclaimed Howland.

"You believe this, m'seur?"

"As I believe in a God."

"Then I will tell you what she did, m'seur," he continued in a low voice. "The plan of the brothers was to make you a prisoner near Prince Albert and bring you north. I knew what was to happen then. It was to be a beautiful vengeance, m'seur—a slow torturing death on the spot where the crime was committed sixteen years ago. But Meleese knew nothing of this. She was made to believe that up here, where the mother and father died, you would be given over to the proper law—to the mounted police who come this way now and then. She is only a girl, m'seur, easily made to believe strange things in such matters as these, else she would have wondered why you were not given to the officers in Prince Albert.

"It was Meleese's eldest brother who thought of her as a lure to bring you out of the town into their hands, and not until the last moment, when they were ready to leave for the south, did she overhear words that aroused her suspicions that they were about to kill you. It was then, m'seur, that she came to me."

"And you, Jean?"

"On the day that Mariane promised to become my wife, m'seur, I promised in our Blessed Lady's name to repay my debt to Meleese, and the manner of payment came in this fashion. Jackpine, too, was her slave, and so we worked together. Two hours after Meleese and her brothers had left for the south I was following them, shaven of beard and so changed that I was not recognized in the fight on the Great North trail. Meleese thought that her brothers would make you a prisoner that night without harming you. Her brothers told her how to bring you to their camp. She knew nothing of the ambush until they leaped on you from cover.

"Not until after the fight, when in their rage at your escape the brothers told her that they had intended to kill you, did she realize fully what she had done. That is all, m'seur. You know what happened after that. She dared not tell you at Wekusko who your enemies were, for those enemies were of her own flesh and blood and dearer to her than life. She was between two great loves, m'seur—the love for her brothers and"—

Again Jean hesitated.

"And her love for me," finished Howland.

"Yes, her love for you, m'seur," said Jean.

The two men rose from the table and for a moment stood with clasped hands in the smoky light of lamp and dawn. In that moment neither heard a tap at the door leading to the room beyond nor saw the door move gently inward and Meleese, hesitating, framed in the opening.

It was Howland who spoke first.

"I thank God that all these things have happened, Jean," he said earnestly. "I am glad that for a time you took me for that other John Howland and that Pierre Thoreau and his brothers schemed to kill me at Prince Albert and Wekusko, for if these things had not occurred as they have I would never have seen Meleese. And now, Jean"—

His ears caught sound of movement, and he turned in time to see Meleese slipping quietly out.

"Meleese!" he called softly. "Meleese!"

In an instant he had darted after her, leaving Jean beside the table. Beyond the door there was only the breaking gloom of the gray morning, but it was enough for him to see faintly the figure of the girl he loved, half turned, half waiting for him. With a cry of joy he sprang forward and gathered the trembling girl close in his arms.

"Meleese—my Meleese!" he whispered.

After that there came no sound from the dawn lit room beyond, but Jean Croisset, still standing by the table, murmured softly to himself, "Our Blessed Lady be praised, for it is all as Jean Croisset would have it—and now I can go to my Mariane!"

THE END.

THE GERMAN DEMAND IN MOROCCO AFFAIRS

Practically No Progress Toward Settlement Has Been Made

Berlin, July 26.—The hand of Great Britain is thought here to be the bar which prevents Germany from securing her demands in the Morocco dispute with France.

That the latest conferences between Foreign Minister Kiderlen-Waechter and Ambassador Cambon of France the negotiations regarding Morocco have reached an extremely difficult stage is no longer denied. Practically no progress toward a settlement has been made.

The unexpectedly firm support which the British ministry is giving France seems as an unwelcome surprise to the foreign officers here and in the opinion of best informed diplomats threatens to place the German government in a position of considerable embarrassment.

The kaiser will return from his North sea cruise next week and it is believed will expedite the progress of the negotiatoons.

BODY FOUND IN SECTIONS

Remains of Human Body Discovered In Surf at Long Beach

Long Beach, L. I., July 26.—Floating in the surf here, a dismembered right leg was found.

The limb is of extraordinary size. Those who inspected it say that the leg was severed by some one experienced with a surgeon's knife.

Following the discovery of the leg, was found a large section of the right back of the same body. A section of rib in which showed through the flesh was cut cleanly as though by a saw. A liver was also discovered floating near the beach by sojourners at the resort, but it drifted out with the ebbing tide before it could be recovered.

Physicians state that the flesh has been in the water probably about a week or ten days.

HAYTIEN REVOLT SPREADING

Scout Cruiser Chester In Cape Haytien In American Interests

Port au Prince, Hayti, July 26.—The revolution is spreading in the south, where heretofore it has made little progress. The town of Jeremie has risen in favor of General Callisthene Fouchard. Fouchard was made chief executive of the army in 1908 and was appointed to the Berlin post.

The United States scout cruiser Chester has arrived at Cape Haytien and is lying in the harbor to protect American interests.

The Weather

Almanac, Thursday, July 27.
Sun rises—4:49; sets—7:16.
Moon sets—9:04 p. m.
High water—12 m.; 12:30 p. m.
Forecast for New England: Fair; rising temperature; light to moderate west winds.

WOOL REVISION IN THE SENATE

Ways and Means Committee of House Busy With Cotton

REVENUE WILL BE LESSENED

If Bill Passes, Which Passage Is Now Declared Assured by Chairman Underwood—Revenue Figures From Cotton Manufacturers For the Past Year—Senator Newlands Proposes Congressional Recess

Washington, July 26.—An average reduction of 40 percent in the present rates on cotton goods is provided for in the cotton schedule revision bill which was presented to the Democratic caucus by the majority members of the ways and means committee of the house.

A summary of the bill presented by Chairman Underwood states that there will be probably a loss of $3,000,000 in the revenues under the Democratic plan of revision. The revenue from cotton manufactures for the year ending June 30, 1910, was $13,673,801.20. The cotton bill substitutes ad valorem rates for specifics in each instance. Under the Payne law the average equivalent ad valorem rate was 48.12 percent. Chairman Underwood expects the bill to pass within a week after its introduction.

Wool revision was again the fixed subject for debate in the senate. The bill is before the senate as "unfinished business" and cannot be set aside without a majority vote in favor of such a proposition. Senators La Follette, Smoot and several others took part in the debate.

Signatures of all the parties to the negotiations for general arbitration treaties appended to one document would, it is said, greatly please President Taft and Secretary Knox. But it is realized that the time is not yet ripe for such a great stride toward a pact that would make for universal peace and disarmament.

Having been ratified by the senate in executive session, the fur seal treaty to which tht United States, England, Russia and Japan are parties, is in a fair way to become effective by Dec. 15, the date set for its coming into operation.

Senator Newlands of Nevada has proposed in a senate resolution that congress take a recess immediately folowing the completion of the present senate program until the first Monday in November.

NEGRO THIEVES AT WORK

Philadelphia Major Loser of Jewels and Wearing Apparel

Philadelphia, July 26.—Major George E. Peabody is mourning the loss of several thousand dollars' worth of jewels and some wearing apparel. The loss came through the victim's misplaced confidence in the honesty of negroes.

Major Peabody went to Wilmington and returning, three negroes offered to carry a satchel containing jewels and clothing. The major gave them the satchel. He told his troubles to the Germantown police. The jewelry included diamond rings, stick pins, cuff buttons, links and studs.

A SERIOUS CHARGE

An Engineer Is Arrested For Throwing Hot Coals on Fireman

Boston, July 26.—As the result of a complaint Chief Engineer Dix of the collier Everett is under arrest, charged with assault upon James Chadwick.

It is alleged that Chadwick was overcome by heat on Juy 3, while the vessel was south of Cape Henry and that Engineer Dix threw hot coals upon him. Chadwick died in a Baltimore hospital. The complaint was made by the Marine Firemen's union. Dix was bailed in $1500.

FINANCIER JAILED

Ernest Hooley, Who Once Dazzled London, Disobeys Court Order

London, July 26.—Ernest Terah Hooley, one of the financial meteors that dazzled the city a few years ago, was lodged in Brixton jail because of his failure to obey the orders of the court in connection with bankruptcy proceedings.

Hooley, prior to his failure in 1898, was regarded as one of the richest men in England.

Indicted For Murder

Montpelier, Vt., July 26.—Indictments of murder in the first degree, in connection with the death of John McAulay at Barre on July 11, were returned against John Turley and Frank Primavera.

Wrecking Train Jumps Track

Portsmouth, N. H., July 26.—While the wrecking train from this city was on its way to clear up a bad freight wreck, the blocking car jumped the track at Rockingham.

Found Dead In Swamp

Hanover, Conn., July 26.—The dead body of Harry Levine, 4½ years of age, was found in a blackberry swamp a little over a mile from the Levine summer home here.

Nellie Went to the Picnic.

Bobby—(to Mrs. Boilem) "I want to take Nellie to the picnic to-morrow afternoon. Can she go?"

Mrs. Boilem—"Robert, you know I told you Nellie can't go out on washday. We won't get through until four o'clock."

Anty Drudge—"You let Nellie go, Mrs. Boilem. If you do your washing with Fels-Naptha soap, you won't have to boil the clothes. You'll be all done before noon. My word for it!"

Has it ever occured to you, Madam who-spends-all-Monday-at-a-steaming-tub, that you are devoting one seventh of your life in that back breaking work?

Just think! One whole year out of every seven you spend steaming and boiling and rubbing-hard clothes.

It's unnecessary! An absolute waste of time, energy, coal and clothes.

You can do the work better—in half the time, and with one-tenth the work—

If you do it in the FELS-NAPTHA WAY:

No boiling to weaken the fabric; no nauseous steam; no hard rubbing to wear and tear.

You wash the clothes in cool or lukewarm (never hot) water—soap them well; roll and soak them for about thirty minutes; rinse thoroughly—ready to hang out on the line.

More than a million women do the week's wash with Fels-Naptha!

They use it for general household cleaning, too.

Follow the directions on the red and green wrapper.

NEW TOILET CASE.

Placed In the Crown of Milady's Best Summer Hat.

A hat in whose crown reposes a tiny powder puff charged with powder for milady's face is shown here. Often in an emergency far from home a woman wishes to repair the effect of wind or rain upon her face. Nowadays when she has no pockets and the contents of the reticule are likely to be displayed whenever it is opened this method of carrying a toilet accessory is a satisfactory one. Any hat may thus be fitted out, for these silk linings with pockets containing puffs are sold separately. The pretty convenience was evolved from the brain of the clever fashion designer Ora Cne.

Photo by American Press Association.

THE POWDER PUFF HAT.

It is the French peasant cap shapes which are furnishing the motive for many plays on headwear just now. The smallest hat covers the features the most completely, for there is little, if any, chance for flare in the caps. The Brittany and Normandy caps are two leading models, but they are not becoming to everybody—not to all the women who are choosing them. It takes a pretty, girlish face to wear one.

All white hats are a perfect fad, if not a full sized craze. They are trimmed with flowers, feathers and all sorts of sheer stuffs, but their trimmings, like the foundation, is dead white.

DRESSMAKERS DODGE GERMS

Antiseptic Solution Instead of the Tongue For Moistening Thread.

"Fighting microbes has reached its highest development in this shop," said a dressmaker. "The principle of extermination was recommended by a customer. She is a rampant foe to germs, and she nearly had a fit when she saw a girl moisten the end of her thread in her mouth.

"'Do you allow that?' she gasped.

"I said: 'Why, yes! What harm is there in it?'

"'It is extremely dangerous,' she said. 'I cannot allow my clothes to be made under such insanitary conditions.'

"Then she recommended that on the table beside each girl's sewing outfit we place a small glass bowl containing a sponge soaked in some antiseptic solution and make the girls moisten the end of their thread on that. The woman was such a good customer that we could not afford to offend her on a question of germs, so we adopted her suggestion. It has met with such high favor among other women who never before had had time to get scared at microbes that an antiseptic preparation is now a part of every girl's outfit."

A Poor Recommendation.

"He means well," she said.

"Say no more," he replied. "I know now exactly what sort of a fool he is."—Detroit Free Press.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, Lucas County, ss.

Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure. FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

A. W. GLEASON,
(Seal) Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by all Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Boston & Northern St. Ry. Co.

QUINCY DIVISION

TIME TABLE

In effect June 24th, 1911.

Subject to Change Without Notice

Leave QUINCY for

Brockton, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M. then 9.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Brockton, 6.30, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 9.30 P. M Sundays, 8.00A. M. then same as week days.

Braintree, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Braintree, 6.25 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.25 P. M. Sundays, 7.55 A. M. then same as week days.

East Milton, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Milton, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M., and every 20 minutes to 11.45 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.15 midnight.) Sundays, 7.25, A. M. then same as week days.

East Weymouth, 6.00, 6.15, 6.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.42 P. M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Weymouth, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.45 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Holbrook, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M. then 9.50 and 10.20 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Holbrook, 5.55, 6.25, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.00 P. M. Sundays, 8.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Houghs Neck, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 5.20, 5.45, 6.10 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 4.10 P. M. then 4.25, 4.40, 4.55, 5.10, 5.25, 5.40, 5.55, 6.10, 6.25, 6.40, 6.55, 7.10 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 11.10 P. M. then 11.49 P. M. Saturdays and Holidays, 5.20, 5.45, 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, 10.10, 10.40, A. M. then every 15 minutes to 10.40 P. M. then 11.10 and 11.49 P. M. Sundays, 6.50, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, 10.10, 10.40 A. M. then every 15 minutes to 10.40 P. M. then 11.10 P. M. Return, leave Houghs Neck Mondays to Fridays, both inc. 5.45, 6.05, 6.35 A. M. and ever 30 minutes to 4.35 P. M. then 4.50, 5.05, 5.20, 5.35, 5.50, 6.05, 6.20, 6.35, 6.50, 7.05, 7.20, 7.35 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 12.05 midnight. Saturdays and Holidays, 5.45, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05, A. M. then every 15 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.35 and 12.05 P. M. Sundays, 7.20, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05 A. M. then every 15 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.35 P. M.

Nantasket 8.25 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 9.25 P. M. Sundays, 9.25 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Nantasket, 10.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.00 P. M. Sundays, 10.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Hancock Street, 5.45, 6.14, 6.44, 7.14, 7.44, 8.14, 8.35, A. M. then 5, 14, 35 and 44 minutes past each hour to 10.44 P. M. then 12.14 midnight. Sundays 7.14 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Neponset 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, 8.07, 8.35, 8.37, 9.05, 9.37 A. M. then 5, 7, 35 and 37 minutes past each hour to 11.07 P. M. then 12.37 midnight. Sundays, 7.37 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Wollaston, 5.59 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.59 P. M. then 11.14 and 11.44 P. M. Sundays, 6.59 A. M. then same as week days. Return leave Neponset, 6.22 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.22 P. M. then 11.37, 12.07 P. M. Sundays, 7.22 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Norfolk Downs, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 7.55, 8.25, 8.50, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 1.30 P. M. then 2.05, 2.35 P. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.05 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.00 P. M.) Sundays, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Neponset, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 1.35 P. M. then 2.00, 2.30 P. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M.) Sundays, 8.30, 9.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Weymouth Landing, 5.20, 6.00, 6.20, 6.55, 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.00 P. M. Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days. Return leave Weymouth Landing, 5.40, 6.15, A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.15 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Wollaston, 5.59 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.59 P. M. then 11.14 and 11.44 P. M. Sundays, 6.59 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Wollaston, 6.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.30 P. M. then 11.50 and 12.20 P. M. Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days.

West Quincy, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave West Quincy, 6.00, 6.20, 6.50, A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.50 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.20 midnight) Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days.

Leave NEPONSET BRIDGE for Squantum, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 3.30 P. M. then 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30 P. M. then every 60 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Saturdays, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Sundays, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. (Note—Week Days, cars will leave Atlantic Bridge for Squantum, 5.45 and 6.15 A. M.) Return leave Squantum, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 4.05 P. M. then 4.35, 5.05, 5.35, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05 P. M. then every 60 minutes to 11.05 P. M. Saturdays, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 10.05 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. Sundays, 8.05 9.05, 10.05, A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M.

THOMAS GAMMON,
Superintendent.

Quincy Daily Ledger

FOR SALE AT

BOSTON—At South Station after 3.30 P. M.
QUINCY—Ledger Office 1424 Hancock Street.
L. A. Chapin, 1295 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, oppo. Depot.
Thompson's Waiting Room, City Sq.
H. P. Kittredge, City Square.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
Mrs. Madden, 16 Quincy ave.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's News Stand.
PARK&DOWNS—Branschied & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
QUINCY NECK—Stetson Pierce, Newcomb Square.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith, Washington Street.
Greig's Pharmacy.
L. A. Cook, Washington Street.
E. O. Godfrey, 538 Washington St.
E. H. Lowe, Washington Street.
George E. Sprague Cor. River St.
SOUTH QUINCY—Litchfield, Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Miss C. Booth, Brooks Avenue.
BREWER'S CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
Mrs. F. H. Stanley.
WEST QUINCY—F. A. Skinner.
John G. Belanger.
HOUGHS NECK—Capt. Fosdick's.

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	79 degrees
July 26, 1910,	90 degrees
July 26, 1909,	88 degrees
July Noon Maximum, 14 years,	101
July Noon Minimum, 14 years.	60

Why Is It—

"That a large dog will allow a lot of small children nearly to tease the life out of him and never move——"but a respectable gentleman who happens to call him 'good dog' is likely to meet some such reception as this?

BRIEFS

Mrs. Charles H. Wilkins of Old Colony avenue, Wollaston, went to Fitchburg Tuesday for a few days' stay.

Michael E Shea and family of Common street have taken up their residence on the shores of town river for a few weeks

An athletic meet will be held at the Ward One playground this afternoon. Ribbon prizes will be given to winners in the different events.

Gilbert H. Rhodes of Old Colony avenue, Wollaston, was called suddenly to Brockton Tuesday on account of the death of his father Samuel C. Rhodes. The burial will be at Port Lorne, Nova Scotia, where Mr. Rhodes will take the body.

PETITION OF RAILWAY CO.

There was no opposition, Tuesday, at the hearing before the Railroad Commissioners on the petition of the Boston & Northern street railway that it might act as a common carrier in that part of the City of Boston known as Neponset. As has been stated in previous issue of the Ledger, the Street Railway company is building a trolley freight house near its car barn at Neponset and the permit desired is probably that the company may operate its trolley freight line from this depot.

"May we have the pleasure of your company this evening, Colonel?" she asked.

The Colonel drew himself up haughtily and replied, with every evidence of offended dignity: "Madam, I command a regiment."—Kansas City Independent.

DEATHS

HICKEY—In West Quincy, July 25, Mrs. Catherine Hickey of 367 Copeland street.

Established 1870 Telephone

JOHN HALL

FUNERAL DIRECTOR

Carriage and Ambulance Service

1485 Hancock Street, Quincy Mass.

CLERKS FOR POSTAL BANK

Are Being Drilled At Boston Post Office---Opens Aug. 1

ENCOURAGE SAVING

The first move toward the establishment of a postal savings bank in Boston has been started by Postoffice Inspector Perkins, who, acting under directions from Chief Inspector Letherman, commenced a course of instructions in the money order department at the central postoffice to clerks who are to have charge of the work.

The new bank will be opened to the public at the central postoffice, Devonshire street, on Aug. 1. In a few days carpenters will commence tearing away a part of the partition in the money order department, where a window similar to those in banking houses, will be constructed.

The age limit for depositors is 10 years and over, and only even dollars wil lbe accepted from depositors. The lowest amount that can be deposited is $1 and no one person can exceed $500.

Inspector Perkins explained that the government will give certificates in exchange for the currency, the denominations of which will be $1, $2, $5, $10, $20, $50 and $100. The rate of interest paid by the government will be 2 per cent. The interest starts one month after the first deposit is made, and the person must have the money on deposit for one year before receiving interest.

Inspector Perkins explained that the post office department has formulated a plan to encourage children over 10 years to save their money. This will be done by means of a saving card system.

The child purchases a savings card for 10 cents. On this card are placed green stamps that cost 10 cents each. When the child has nine stamps on card Government will then exchange the card, which is then worth $1, for a certificate valued at that amount.

In that way the children will be encouraged to open bank accounts and the post office department will aid them in this way.

Purchasers of cards are obliged to continue adding the required stamps or forfeit their card in a certain length of time.

Postmaster Mansfield is in Washington today conferring with the postmaster-general relative to the new project, and will return home in a few days with final instructions for the new enterprise.

LOOKS LIKE QUINCY.

The indications are that the vote now being taken by the Quarrymens Unions throughout the country, relative to the location of the headquarters of the union, will result in Quincy being selected as the place. The vote is being taken by referendum and will require several weeks before it is definitely decided. From what returns that have been received up to date it is said that the sentiment is strongly in favor of Quincy.

DIAMOND CHAT

Fielder Jones is scouting for the St. Louis American league club on the Pacific coast.

Young Nunnamaker has crowded out Bill Carrigan as the grand vizier of the Boston Americans' catching staff.

Ty Cobb, the "Demon Tiger," has the greatest ambition ever possessed by a ball player—that of making 300 hits in one season.

Hal Chase is still reaping rich dividends in his old trick of taking a long lead off second, drawing a throw to second from the catcher and then rushing to third and making it easily.

Roger Bresnahan believes that Pitcher Roy Golden is one of the greatest youngsters in the business. With another year of experience Roy will rank among the high class slabbers of either league, says Bres.

Manager McGraw of the Giants has given Pitcher Drucke every opportunity to get started this season, but the Texan hasn't had the confidence and is disheartened. He loses control so quickly at times that in close games it is impossible to get another pitcher warmed up and on the slab in time to cut off runs.

—The law which goes into effect this month requiring carriages to carry lighted lamps at night is just and equitable. Fewer accidents will happen and more night driving will be done. In the past it has been no pleasure to drive at night, for automobiles and teams were apt to collide. The law meets with popular favor and we hope it will be enforced. —Mansfield News.

SQUANTUM PROGRESSES

Through Endeavors Of Improvement Association

WANT STREET LIGHTS

An important meeting of the Squantum Improvement association was held Tuesday evening at the Squantum Inn. Among those present, was Harry Atwood, the aviator, who had just returned from Washington after his sensational flight to that city from Squantum. Mr. Atwood was made an honorary member of the association and in thanking the association for the honor given him, gave them an interesting and humorous account of his flight from Squantum to Washington. Mr. Atwood will remain in Squantum for a few days. He came on to arrange for the shipping of a new airship to Washington where he will fill a contract.

The question of the mosquito evil was taken up and discussed at length and the attention of the city and state will be called to the matter as to the necessity of doing something to eliminate these disease breeding insects.

The association feels very much pleased that the city has commenced work rebuilding the lower end of Squantum street, for which the City Council made an appropriation of $6,000. By the beginning of work, now, it means that the work will probably be completed before the aviation meet the latter part of next month.

One of the things that is being done at Squantum this year that will be hailed with delight, by the summer residents, has been the building of a bathing float, and wharf on the Quincy Bay side of the peninsula.

Until recently Squantum has hardly been recognized by other sections of Quincy as being on the map. This year, however, through the efforts of the Improvement association, people in other sections of the city have begun to sit up and take notice. The association first made itself known when the matter of granting common victuallers licenses to the Squantum and Lee's Inns came up in the City Council and it was largely through their efforts that several of the City Council were prevailed upon to change their minds and vote for the orders.

The association has a number of projects under consideration for the improvement of this section, one of which is the matter of street lights which will be brought to the attention of the City Council at an early date.

WOLLASTON TENNIS CLUB.

The Wollaston Tennis club has two interesting dates for the near future. Saturday afternoon six players will journey to Abington where they will meet the North Abington Y. M. C. A. for a five point match in singles and doubles and on August 5 the Wollaston club will be the host of the Quincy Tennis club whom they will meet in a tournament. The six players going to Abington are Charles Bates, Herbert H. Albee, Clifton H. Baker, William Northrop, Verne S. Brokaw and Jesse I. Litchfield.

MACKIES FEAR HOODOOS.

Weird Rites Practiced by Athletics In Warming Up.

If active and well trained superstitions would win games the Athletics would never lose. They have more of that stuff to the square inch than nine out of ten clubs. Here's where the fans are let in on a couple.

As everybody knows, the infielders have a practice ball that they throw around during the time that the pitcher is warming up.

That ball cannot be thrown back to the Athletic bench at random. No, siree! It has to go through the mystic channels or else the game is gummed. The last man to handle that ball must be Claude Derrick. He throws it to Jack Barry, who is hors du combat, or has a bum runner, and when Jack gets the ball he touches John Shibe on the knee. That repels any hoodoo.

When the pitcher takes his place to start things off and to warm up between innings, the last ball must go to Eddie Collins and then straight back to the twirler. Nobody else is allowed to catch the last ball, which the catcher usually smashes down to second. That is to keep off the hoodoos.

QUINCY POINT WATER SPORTS

Gala Time Is Anticipated Next Saturday Afternoon

RACE FOR MOTOR BOATS

The residents of the Point are anticipating a gala time on Saturday. First when they bring off their water sports in Town River Bay. An enthusiastic committee under the able guidance of Mr. J. D. McBride has the matter in hand and an excellent and varied program of events has been arranged including motor and sail boat race, rowing and canoe races, swimming, diving and swimming under water, tub race and tilting match. There are separate races for the ladies, boys, and girls in the rowing and swimming events, and the list of entries in all classes to date promise, with suitable weather conditions, a pleasant afternoon's sport. On account of the tide the first race, that for motor boats, is called for 1.30 and it will be necessary for competitors to be on time so that there may be no delay in starting. All entries are expected to be in by Thursday evening July 27, but any received later will doubtless be received by the committee. Entry fees have been made as follows: Motor boats 25 cents each boat; sail boats 25 cents each boat; for rowing and canoe races one entry fee of 25 cents will entitle any competitor to go in for both if so desired. The same condition holds good for the swimming, diving, tub race, and tilting match, one entry fee of 25 cents enabling any competitor to compete in all of these events. For boys under 16 years of age and girls under 18 years the entry fee will be 10 cents. The starting and finishing point for the races will be the stone wharf at the foot of River street and the following officials will have charge of the various events.

Motor boat races W. E. Lee, H. A. Small and F. A. Drake.

Sail boat races: E. P. Barrows, F. P. Larkin and D. Kidd.

All other events: J. W. Hendry, C. P. Marshall and G. Myers.

PECULIAR THUMB HELPS FORD

Yanks' Crack Pitcher Wets Ball, but Little Digit Does the Rest.

The success of Russell Ford's pitching is a peculiarly shaped thumb. The digit bends back and the second joint seems to be double jointed. He throws all of his spitters off the freaky looking thumb. By simply twisting it different ways he makes the ball break accordingly.

Photo by American Press Association.

RUSSELL FORD, NEW YORK AMERICAN'S FAMOUS SPITBALL PITCHER.

He has three separate and distinct spitters. By a slight change of his thumb he can make the ball break in, out or down. It all depends upon the position of the batsman as to which he may dish up. Catcher Sweeney is forced to "ride" with the ball and has to guess, like the batter, which way the pellet is going to shoot.

Ford wets the ball very little, and, despite the fact that many players have claimed their errors were due to grabbing a damp spot, it is not so with Ford's ball. He doesn't wet a spot any larger than a dime.

But it is different with other spitball twirlers. For instance, Jack Chesbro, father of the wet fling, would dampen his ball so much that it resembled a sponge filled with water.

Big Ed Walsh is another pitcher who gives the ball a good, thorough soaking, and the White Sox infielders have to be careful how they heave it to the base after making a stop.

GOTCH GETTING READY FOR HACK

Champion Wrestler Starts Training For Labor Day Bout.

MAPS OUT HARD SCHEDULE.

Title Holder Expects Terrific Struggle of Endurance With "Russian Lion," So Has Engaged Some of Best Grapplers In Country to Prepare Him.

By TOMMY CLARK.

Frank Gotch, the world's champion wrestler, has started training for his match with George Hackenschmidt, the Russian Lion, to be held in Chicago Labor day. The title holder is preparing at Bicknel's park in Humboldt, Ia.

The camp has been christened by the champion "Riverside Camp," inasmuch as it is just at the side of the Des Moines river in the middle of a heavy growth of trees. It consists of a large handball court, a regulation wrestling stage, and a dressing and trainers' room.

For the past few weeks Gotch has been doing hardly anything but road work to keep his muscles in shape, so that he will not become sore and stiff when the real heavy work begins. The plan now is for the champion to start in every afternoon at about 2:30 for a wrestling match with his helpers, which will last on the start about twenty-five minutes.

As the days advance the time will be gradually lengthened until at the end of August Gotch will be wrestling with all the speed and strength he has in him for a full stretch of two to two and a half hours. He expects another terrific struggle of endurance with the Russian Lion and so will spare himself no pains in hardening his muscles for a long drawn out struggle.

Gotch will have some of the best wrestlers in the country to help him. They will come in pairs to stay a definite length of time and will be succeeded by others who are capable of assisting him in special stages of the game. Big Rogers, who weighs 290 pounds, will give him the tugging work, while such as Beel and Ordeman will develop his speed and skill.

Farmer Burns will be on hand most of the time and is to act in the role of Professor Burns. Kid Cutler, Jesse Reimer, Emile Klank and a number of other notables will be on hand. Klank, Gotch's manager, having general supervision of the work. Gotch will train in Humboldt until probably Aug. 27, when he will leave for Chicago, as he is under contract to spend the last week of training in that city.

According to his manager, Hack is now in fine shape, and about two weeks' training will fit the Russian for his bout with Gotch. Hack is due to arrive in this country about Aug. 15.

The men will wrestle for a guaranteed purse of $32,500, the largest sum ever offered for grapplers in this country, and each man is to receive a share of the picture privileges. Hack has been hot on the trail of Gotch ever since the American champion forced him to quit and to relinquish the world's title.

TRIPLE PLAY UNASSISTED.

Carlisle Joins Select Band of Five Other Players.

Walter Carlisle, center fielder of the Vernon club of the Pacific Coast league, made the sixth unassisted triple play recorded in organized baseball July 19 against Los Angeles in a game won by Vernon at 5 to 4.

In the sixth inning, with the score tied, Moore and Metzger of Los Angeles walked. Akin, third baseman for Los Angeles, then hit the first ball Stewart pitched low over the second base for what looked like a clean single. Moore and Metzger both got off to a hit and run signal, but Carlisle, playing close in, came forward like a flash and picked the ball off his shoe tops. His lunge carried him off his feet, and when he recovered both base runners, counting Akin's drive a sure safety, had passed the second station. Carlisle raced to second and touched the bag while Moore was well on the way to the plate, then trotted to first, retiring Metzger.

The unassisted triple plays on record are:

Paul Hines of Providence at Providence, 1878; Harry O'Hagan of Rochester at Jersey City, 1902; Larry Schafley of Portland at Portland, Ore., 1904; Murch of Manchester at New Bedford, 1906; Neal Ball of Cleveland at Cleveland, 1909; Walter Carlisle of Vernon at Los Angeles, 1911.

Lord May Succeed Duffy.

Harry Lord is named as the possible successor of Hugh Duffy as manager of the Chicago White Sox. Lord is captain of the team and is playing a great game at third base, but, according to Boston critics, he was traded by the Red Sox because of his tendency to cause dissension. Duffy has built up Comiskey's team, and fair minded critics in Chicago say he is entitled to another year's engagement.

Jimmy Sheckard Best Waiter.

Sheckard, Cub outfielder, is probably the best waiter in the National league. Pitchers will admit this. The fact that he has been given thirty-seven bases on balls in forty-five games alone bears out the statement.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents. Three consecutive insertions 50 cents, 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.

No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Two horses, stone wagon, harness, and sleigh in good condition. Inquire at 34 Clark avenue, Quincy. July 26-3t

FOR SALE—A Steck grand square piano, New York make, in first-class condition. For information inquire at 49 Upland road. Terms low. Tel. 507-1, Quincy. July 26-6t

FOR SALE or TO LET—Before you buy or rent, consult me. Houses for sale or to rent in the finest residential section in Quincy. All improvements. Close to school, churches, stores and depot. C. A. ERICSON, Builder 117 Glendale Road. Tel. Quincy 586 M. W and Sat. May 22-tf

FOR SALE

The cozy home, situated No. 24 Marsh Street, consisting of a six room house, city water, 4400 square feet of land, fruit trees. Price reasonable.

Call and see,

JAMES F. BURKE,

REAL ESTATE AGENT,

Room 4, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, Mass.

July 15-tf

LOST

LOST— Small open face silver watch, between Post Island and Quincy Centre. Finder will be suitably rewarded by returning to 215 Goffe St., Quincy or to Mrs. Bennett, Post Island. July 24-3t

LOST—Lady's gold Waltham watch. B. L. M. between River street, Q. P., and Commercial street, Weymouth Heights. Return same to 42 River street, Quincy Point. July 24-3t

WANTED

MEN and WOMEN, sell guaranteed hose. 70 per cent profit. Make $10 daily. Full or part time. Beginners investigate. Wear Proof, 3038 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, Pa. July 8-9w W. and S.

TO LET

TO LET—In Wollaston Park, small suite, modern improvements, nice locality, near beach and cars. Apply 132 Marlboro street, Wollaston. July 26-6t

BOARD AND ROOM—Two young men can be accommodated with room and board in strictly private family near centre. Everything first-class. Home privileges to right party. References exchanged. Address "R. F. E." care Ledger office. July 25-6t

TO LET—New house, 6 rooms and bath, modern conveniences, 10 minutes walk from shipyard. Can be bought on easy terms. Apply to Frank Leben, 76 Howard street, East Braintree. July 25-6t

TO LET—A flat of five rooms with all the latest improvements. Inquire 58 Federal avenue. July 24-6t

TO LET—On Spear street, tenement of 4 rooms and bath. All modern improvements. Apply to C. A. Ericson, 117 Glendale road. Tel 586 M. June 27-tf

FOR RENT—Quincy, Centre, opposite Adams Academy, house of 8 rooms and bath, also garage, 3 minutes to R. R. Station. Dr. E. S. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263L, Weymouth. May 10-tf

TO LET

Half House No. 44 Bigelow street, 7 rooms and bath. Shades, screens, electric lights, set tubs, range, etc. Rent $25. per month. Apply to Miss Prescott, Ledger Office. Quincy. July 3-tf

FOR RENT

On Spear street, very desirable house of 8 rooms, bath and laundry. All modern improvements, range, gas, electric lights shades and screens. Large piazzas and lawn. To private family only. Apply at 41 Spear street or of Miss Prescott at Ledger Office, Quincy. June 2-tf L. P. O

ON THE DIAMOND

American League

At Boston:

	R	H	E
Boston	4	8	0
Chicago	1	7	3

Batteries—Collins and Carrigan; Lange, Payne and Sullivan.

At New York:

	R	H	E
New York	3	9	0
St. Louis	2	3	1

Batteries—Quinn, Caldwell and Sweeney; Mitchell and Stephens.

At Philadelphia:

	R	H	E
Philadelphia	3	8	0
Cleveland	1	5	3

Batteries—Bender and Thomas; Krapp and Fisher.

Second Game:

	R	H	E
Philadelphia	8	15	5
Cleveland	4	10	0

Batteries—Coombs and Lapp; Mitchell, Kaler and Smith.

At Washington:

	R	H	E
Detroit	5	11	0
Washington	2	11	4

Batteries—Mullin and Stanage; Gray, Hughes and Ainsmith.

National League

At St. Louis:

	R	H	E
Philadelphia	2	12	0
St. Louis	0	1	1

Batteries—Chalmers and Dooin; Steele and Bliss.

At Cincinnati:

	R	H	E
Cincinnati	3	8	3
New York	2	8	1

Batteries—Suggs and McLean; Ames and Wilson.

At Pittsburg:

	R	H	E
Pittsburg	7	10	1
Brooklyn	1	3	3

Batteries—Schardt, Burke, Ragan, Bergen and Erwin.

New England League

At Lynn:

	R	H	E
Lynn	8	13	2
Worcester	7	9	2

Baterles—Harrington and Daum; Hale, Van Dyke and O'Neil.

Second Game:

	R	H	E
Worcester	4	8	0
Lynn	3	7	0

Batteries—Swarmstedt and McCune; Barry, Reiger and Daum.

At Lowell:

	R	H	E
Lawrence	3	7	0
Lowell	0	3	0

Batteries—Pearson and Barymaier; Buzzick and Huston.

At Brockton:

	R	H	E
Brockton	15	18	2
Fall River	3	11	3

Batteries—Eastman, Foley and Wadleigh; Blum, Jensen and Perkins.

At Haverhill:

	R	H	E
Haverhill	4	15	3
New Bedford	3	8	4

Batteries—Hogg, Reynolds and Milliman; McDonald and Rufiance.

SPORTING NOTES.

Quite a number of Quincy's tennis enthusiasts have been taking in the Eastern championship matches at Longwood and report that they have been more than rewarded for the daily trips out there.

The Brockton and Wollaston Golf clubs have a team match on the Montclair links today. The men will play scotch foursomes. This is one of the interclub matches in the State sectional series. The Wollaston club will send a team to Brockton August 2 for a match in singles.

Hugh McKinnon who pitched for Atlantic on July 4th will be in the box for the Quincy Independents on Saturday in place of Grethe.

TO LET

Tenement—22 B Granite Street. $10.00 per month.

Greenleaf Hall—Greenleaf Block Large Furnished Hall with various anterooms—to let by the evening or permanently.

City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 20 feet high. Splendid light, low rent

Quincy Real Estate Trust,

(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)

Music Hall Block, Quincy.

MAKE YOUR PURCHASES FROM LEDGER ADVERTISERS.

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 26 No. 171 QUINCY, MASS. THURSDAY EVENING JULY 27, 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

MANY STUDENTS VISIT QUINCY

Party From Summer School Were Here Wednesday

ENTERTAINED AT TEA

Quite a party of the students of the Harvard summer school were in Quincy, Wednesday visiting places of historic interest. The party arrived in the early afternoon and first visited the birthplace of President John Adams where they were entertained at tea by the Daughters of the Revolution. They also visited the birthplace controlled by the Quincy Historical society, and from there visited the Dorothy Q. house, returning to Boston in the late afternoon.

In the party were the following: Miss Anna Werberk, Mrs. Sophia Lucas, Miss Sophia Lucas and Mrs. G. C. Lucas of Brooklyn, N. Y., Paul Madison of Quincy, William Dorman of Lynn, Miss Mary K. Blanford of Washington, D. C., Miss Bertha Larkin of Georgetown, Mass., Joe P. D. H. Wells of Brownsville, Tex., Miss Margaret Berry of Baltimore, Md., Miss Louise Pinchon of Atlantic City, Miss Mary Wolfe Smith of Cannon Falls, Min., Miss M. Eleanor Smith, Miss Maude Cayton, Ira C. Rotzier and James M. Hooper of Pittsburg, Pa.

WILL NOT CHANGE STATION AT NEPONSET

The Railroad commission has declined to recommend to the New Haven road that it change the location of the station at Neponset.

A petition was received from the Neponset Improvement association and a number of other residents of Neponset urging a change of location and asking that the station be relocated at a point nearer the new highway. This petition was dismissed by the Commission.

MEETING OF 4th OF JULY COMMITTEE

A meeting of the Committee of the 4th of July Celebration was held at the Board of Trade rooms on Wednesday evening to look over the amount of money received and bills paid. They find that they are about $100 short. Any donations will be thankfully received by any of the committee. The committee includes Eugene R. Stone, James F. Burke, Arthur W. Stetson, Clarence Burgin, James H. Elcock, Alfred N. LaBreque, George A. Wardwell, A. L. Whitman, James F. Brogan, James E. Neary, Charles H. Johnson, George F. Elcock, C. W. Hanscom, James L. Trainer and Mayor Shea.

SPEAR FAMILY REUNION.

The annual reunion of the Spear family, is being held today at the Quincy Yacht club house, and is the occasion for the gathering of representatives of this old Quincy family from far and near. The descendants of the family begun to gather this morning, and by 1 o'clock, when dinner was served there was a large number present. The program for the morning included the renewal of friendships and the recounting of incidents that have transpired since the gathering a year ago. This afternoon there will be a business session at 2.30, at which officers will be elected for the ensuing year and a discussion of matters of interest to the family.

EAGLES AT LAWRENCE.

A large delegation from John Adams Aerie of Eagles went to Lawrence today, to attend the big field day and parade. The parade took place this morning at 11 o'clock and the athletic meet is in progress this afternoon.

DEVELOPMENT OF WATER FRONT IS NOW ASSURED BY PASSAGE OF BILL

City May Borrow Sum Not Exceeding $100,000 ---Passage Of Bill Through Legislature Was Unusually Rapid--Signed By Governor July 18th

The special act of the legislature to allow the City of Quincy to borrow a sum, not exceeding in the aggregate $100,000, for the development of its water front, passed the Senate July 17, and was signed by the Governor the following day July 18, and is now a law.

REPRESENTATIVE LANGELIER

Although the bill was signed by the Governor July 18, no definite information of the fact has, as yet, been officially received by the city, it is a fact however. The passage of this bill through the legislature was unusually rapid. It was not until June 5, that Councilman Sandberg offered a resolve in the City Council, requesting the Mayor to petition the legislature for authority to borrow $100,000 outside of the debt limit for public dock and improving its water front.

The following day Representative Langelier introduced the petition and bill in the legislature which was referred to the Committee on Rules who after a hearing reported favorably and the bill was admitted.

There was no opposition from any source, to the bill, and it was rushed through the house as fast as possible, and sent to the senate. The senate was equally as quick in acting on the bill and as stated above, the bill was p assed and signed in a little over a month from the time it first came up in the City Council.

Much of the credit for the enacting of the bill is due to Representative Langelier who kept close track of its progress and saw to it that the bill did not become sidetracked and pigeon-holed.

The bill is practically as follows:

Sec. 1. The City of Quincy is hereby authorized to expend a sum not exceeding one hundred thousand dollars for the development of its water front, and the construction of piers, floats, wharfs and approaches thereto, and to issue therefor notes or bonds to the said amount outside of the statuatory debt limit of the city. The said notes or bonds shall bear upon their face the words: City of Quincy Water Front Loan, Act of 1911; shall be payable in periods not exceeding thirty years from the dates of issue; shall bear interest not exceeding four and one-half per cent, per annum, and shall be signed by the treasurer and countersigned by the Mayor of the city.

Sec. 2. At the time of authorizing the said loan, the City Council shall provide for the payment thereof in such annual proportionate sums as will extinguish the same within the time prescribed herein; and when a vote to that effect has been passed, the sum required to meet the interest as it accrues on the said notes or bonds and the principal due in each year shall annually be assessed and collected in the same manner in which the other taxes of the city are assessed and collected.

Sec. 3. This act shall take effect upon its passage.

EXCELLENT LOCATION

Camp Mt. Pleasant Has Fine Site And Doing Much Good

NURSING THE BEST

Have you visited Camp Mt. Pleasant? The Boston Record publishes a most favorable nad pleasant impression made on some visitor who was delighted with the site of the camp and the fine care it was giving to those fortunate enough to be admitted. One patient reported a gain of five pounds during the week. The diet of good milk and fresh eggs with rest, open air and the excellent nursing of Mr. Campbell the superintendent makes the camp a most favorable place for cure if taken in time.

It is hoped that more of those who need help may go there for day treatment although no more permanent patients can be accommodated until another shack is built. Dr. Hunting before going abroad had received $200 in contributions toward a special shack for women and girls to be constructed from newer and better ideas.

The expense of running the camp is only partially met by receipts from the board of patients as no one is refused who may be unable to pay.

For the eight months of the current year this extra expense of nearly $1,000 has been met by the sale of Christmas seals; the receipts from benefit entertainments and a few large contributions. There is now immediate need of funds and it is hoped that those interested in the success of this camp which is doing such good work for the benefit of the community will send their contributions to the Treasurer Mr. Perry Lawton, Goffe street.

The Superintendent has received some donations of fresh fruit, strawberries, cherries. Such donations of fruits, vegetables, jellies, etc., are always welcome, also summer reading, games, picture puzzles, etc.

Remember Camp Mt. Pleasant.

CONTRACTS FOR COAL DIVIDED

The contract for supplying coal to the Quincy Almshouse and to the outside poor in half ton lots was awarded this morning by Overseer Elcock. But two bids were received by the Overseer in response to his advertisement both of which were from Quincy. They were submitted by William Cashman and by J. F. Sheppard & Sons. The two bids were practically alike as to price, and the Overseer desired to divide the contract between them.

OUTING OF GRANITE MEN

Quincy Manufacturers Association At Bass Point

SPORTING EVENTS

The annual outing of the Quincy Granite Manufacturers' Association, will be held Saturday at Bass Point and will be the occasion for the gathering of all of the granite manufacturers of the city. The party leaves Quincy Adams at 8.28 and Quincy at 8.30, taking the 9.30 boat from Otis wharf for the Point. On arrival at the Point there will be sports of varying character, which are in charge of a competent committee. For these events special prizes of a souvenir nature will be given. It is reported that several of the manufacturers have been in active training for some weeks, with the idea of capturing all the prizes in sight.

Promptly at 12.30, the party will march to the Bass Point house, where one of the shore dinners for which this resort is famous will be served. After dinner there will be more sports until 5 o'clock when the boat will be taken back to Boston.

The outing is to be strictly confined to members of the association, or those directly connected with the granite firms. The committee in charge of the outing includes President John C. Murray, Alfred O. Diack and William T. Spargo.

WORKING HOURS FOR POST OFFICE CLERKS

Congressman Curley introduced a bill at the session of the House of Representatives yesterday calling for a better regulation of the working hours of postal clerks and letter carriers. The bill calls for a limit of 48 working hours each week and eight out of ten hours each day. The working day shall begin when the clerk or carrier reports for duty. "According to the present system," he said, "a man may be called upon to work three hours today and twenty-three hours tomorrow." He has talked with many of the clerks and carriers and has framed the bill in accordance with their ideas of a fair system of working hours.

EMPLOYEES OF POPULAR STORE HAVE OUTING

The employees at Remick's clothing store, were taken on a fishing trip by A. L. Remick, proprietor of the store, Wednesday afternoon. The store closed at 12.30 and the party took the 12.40 car for Houghs Neck, where a fine shore dinner was enjoyed at Norteman's. After the inner man was satisfied, Harvey's launch was sought out and a very enjoyable sail to Boston Light followed. The fishermen here dropped their lines overboard and made pretty good hauls. Sculpins and dogfish were prominent in the catch at first, but soon a better fishing ground was found and several good sized cod and hake were hooked. Walter Wilson won the prize for the largest catch. Mr. Remick, himself, did some great fishing but dogfish and sculpins seemed to have a great foudness for his bait. After the party landed at Houghs Neck a bowling match took place and then they returned to their homes after one of the best afternoons within their recollection.

—Already there are more than 14,000 entries for the beauty contest to be held at the South Carolina state fair. The South Carolina girls seem to have a good opinion of themselves.—Somerville Journal.

BEAD LEDGER ADVS.

REP. LANGELIER'S INTENTION TO RETIRE MEANS HOT FIGHT IN DISTRICT

Rumor That Rep. Thomas May Seek Republican Nomination For Mayor

A Number Of Others Mentioned ---The Mayor Silent

Unless all signs fail a hot campaign is promised in the Sixth Norfolk district for Representative. Representative Louis F. R. Langelier, who has represented this district in the legislature, for three years, is not to be a candidate for reeletcion. Representative Langelier says that he has had three terms and that he intends to withdraw and give some one else a chance.

While no papers have been taken out at the City Clerks office for Representative from this distict, as yet, it is said that there will be at least three condidates from Ward Five to seek the nomination. The 3 mentioned are all ex-councilmen, namely: Arthur W. Loud, Eugene F. DeNormandie and Nathan G. Nickerson. Any one of these gentlemen would be acceptable to the voters of the district.

ARTHUR W. LOUD

Whether either oft he 3 have taken out papers from the state house is not known. There is plenty of time, however, for all that is necessary to get their names before the caucus, is five names from each ward in the district.

This morning it was reported on good authority in Ward Six, that Assessor John A. Duggan of that ward was to enter the caucuses as the Democratic candidate for the nomination, in opposition to ex-Councilman John J. McDevitt. This means that there will be lively caucuses in all of the wards.

RALPH W. HOBBS

The only Ward Committee taken out, thus far, was obtained by Councilman Studley, Wednesday. This was for ward committee from Ward Two.

Not a word has been heard from Representative Thomas as yet as to his intentions, although there was a rumor about City Square, this morning, that he would not enter the contest for Representative, but might become a candidate for the Republi-

(Continued on Page Three.)

A Sale of Women's Footwear

No profit for Jones, but a money saving opportunity for you.

All are bright, clean goods, no old shopworn stock. You can't find every size among them—they're what we call broken lots—but perhaps we have yours. Why not come in and see.

Women's Tans and Patent Calf Oxfords
were $2.50, now $1.48

Gunmetal Pumps and Oxfords
were $2.00, now $1.48

Gunmetal and Patent Pumps and Oxfords
were $3.00, now $1.98

FOR MISSES
White Canvas Oxfords
were $1.25, now 75c

FOR CHILDREN
White Canvas Low Shoes
were $1.00, now 50c

Women's White Oxfords
were $2.00 now $1.00

The store where you get full value for your money.

GEORGE W. JONES

1 Granite Street, "Just Around the Corner," Quincy

July 27-3t--o-29-1w

ORDER WILL NOT CHANGE NAME

Convention Of St. George Decided To Keep Old One

THANK GRANITE LODGE

The 23d annual convention of the Order Sons of St. George, closed its sessions Wednesday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, at which time the out of town delegates left for home, after passing a vote of thanks to the members of Granite lodge for the hospitable manner in which they had been entertained.

The subject of the discussion at the afternoon session was on the proposition to change the name of the order to Sons of England. This proposition was advanced by Hammond Asquith of Fitchburg, the newly installed grand president. It was argued however, that there was now in Canada an organization known as the Sons of England, and that the Sons of St. George had been in existence for forty years. The wisdom of changing the name was seriously questioned and no vote was taken on the proposition.

The standing of the order was reported as being flourishing and that there were branches in every state in the union and that the membership was now more than 30,000.

Duirng the afternoon, a letter was read from Mayor Shea congratulating the order upon its flourishing condition and wishing it continued success. Some regret was expressed by the delegates that they were unable to meet the Mayor.

During the visit to Quincy of the delegates, they were given many opportunities to visit some of the many places of historic interest, being piloted about the city by a special committee appointed by Granite lodge for that purpose. The officers and members of Granite lodge did all in their power to make the visit of the grand lodge a pleasant one, and when leaving for home several expressed the sentiment that the convention had been one of the most successful the order had ever had and that they were indebted to Granite lodge for many courtesies shown.

EMPLOYEES OF R. E. FOY'S AT NANTASKET

About 35 employees at R. E. Foy's had an outing at Nantasket beach Wednesday afternoon. The party left the store at two o'clock armed with lunch boxes, sweaters, etc., and arrived at the beach a little before three. The afternoon was spent on the beach and in the park, in the sand and on the sand bumps. Supper was eaten at six o'clock and the return was made at 8.

BIG STATE TAX ASSURED.

House Ways and Means Committee has not yet decided just what to report the State tax. Two bills have been drawn and engrossed, one making it $5,500,000 and the other $6,000,000. If the tax should be fixed at any other sum the work of engrossment would have to be done over in the secretary's office.

BE A DETECTIVE

Earn $100 and over per month and not interfering with your present occupation at first. Modern Ass'n., 709 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo.

July 25-6t

WANTED

South Quincy Boy for paper route in his district. Papers to be delivered each day at 3.30 P. M. Good route, good pay.

Apply at
LEDGER OFFICE,
Quincy Centre.

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1889
THE HOME NEWSPAPER
Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.
BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
219 East 23d Street,
New York City
Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter.
Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50
Telephone, Quincy 425
Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

Shore birds are scarcer than ever this year. There are too many sure shots.

Bull frogs are being taken to Japan for breeding purposes. The Japs are artistic and perhaps appreciate song birds better than we.

The New York shoe dealers say women's feet are bigger than formerly. The Chicago girl can wear short skirts at last.

Sunday drowning accidents keep right on. It takes only about three feet of water for the human animal to swim in, but he ish't really happy with less than thirty.

A lot of bogus 1910 nickels are said to be in circulation, and the detectives can get an idea of the volume of the counterfeit by examining the contribution boxes.

A new novel called "The Man with the Honest Face" is popular. But how the magazine circulations would drop if they discharged their muck rakers and printed a few articles about honest men.

The Kansas City probation officer says he knows of no red haired people who have gone wrong. Why should they, when everyone gives them whatever they ask for in order to secure a quiet life?

The railroads have ordered heavily of equipment, and strange to say the railroad presidents have not yet taken the rooms in the poor houses which they promised to occupy if they did not get the higher rates.

Mr. Vaniman now announces that he will cross the ocean in a dirigible balloon. We made considerable fun of Wellman, but as it makes us dizzy to get out on the piazza roof, we refrain from further comment.

A new Missouri law makes it a felony to use profane language to a telephone girl. But some 5,000 words of censure are left in the saurus dictionary, by which the Missourians can legally express condemnation of Central.

ONE WEYMOUTH WONDER IS DOOMED TO GO.

Antiquarians and few others will hear with regret that a second bill to provide for a new bridge over Weymouth Back river in this State has taken the place of one which mysteriously disappeared after going through both branches of Congress and starting for the White House.

It is believed that the second bill will not be lost, but there are a few worshipers at ancient shrines who pray that it will be.

Although there are few people who know it, the Weymouth Back river bridge is one of the seven wonders of the world. The Weymouth Fore river bridge is two of the other wonders. The Back river bridge, as well as the Fore River bridge, is crossed daily by those who journey in carriages and automobiles to and from the South Shore via. Quincy and Hingham. Some of Governor Foss's most biting messages have been bitten off while crossing one or both of the bridges.

The Back river bridge is famous because of the fact that it leaps with joy when vehicles cross it, and does not always leap as a whole. Timber after timber rises in the air to bid the pilgrim welcome or farewell, and it is difficult at times to tell whether the draw is being opened or two timbers are leaping at the same time.

The Fore River bridge has leaping and singing timbers, but it also has a draw of mystery. It moves without seeming to move. They tell of barges, going to the Fore river ship works fully laden, that pass through the draw discharge cargoes and return in season to pass through again while the draw is being closed after the first passage.

It is apparent that Back river bridge must go, but is Fore river and especially its draw of mystery, also going?

Not so that one or even two can notice it without the aid of instruments of precision.—Boston Journal.

There is hope. We hear that ere the autumn wanes the "draw of mystery" is to be replaced by one with a movement that's more active. However pity the mark, it will not be guaranteed as a governortorial message "biter."

A CLEAN—UP NECESSARY.

A cetrain type of newspapers, very much under the thumb of Wall street is very willing to have the trusts required to put the business of the country in their trousers pocket instead of their waistcoat pocket, or to comply with any other formal regulations that the government may desire.

But when it comes to putting trust magnates in jail for violating law, it is another matter. No doubt many honest men sincerely believe that business will never be good in this country, until the heads of the great corporations are given a free rein, and told to go ahead confidently, and without fear that law will do things to them.

Their attitude reminds us strikingly of a young woman who was visiting in our home some years ago, and who was a resident of the city of New York. It was just at the time when the first subways were being built in that city.

It was a time when life in the metropolis seemed absolutely insufferable, owing to the jam of people in the surface and elevated roads.

But this girl was unalterably opposed to the building of any subways, on the ground that the excavations let loose an enormous amount of dust, and created personal discomfort to all who had to walk the streets in the teeth of this gritty and dirty wind. Until the subways were finished, the dust undoubtedly added to public disfort, without making it a bit easier to get from Wall street to Harlem.

The fact that after a few years the subways would again make life tolerable for her, and all the rest of her fellow citizens, was outweighed by the immediate fact that for the time being the dust was going to blow in her eyes on windy days.

It is much so with the trusts. We are in a period of economic change. We suffer intolerable evils from the tyranny of great combinations. But we must consider not merely the question of how much money we are going to make in 1911 and 1912 and 1913, but the establishment of our industy on a permanently serviceable basis. We are too impatient for immediate results.

The American people are bright enough and smart enough to remedy these evils, and without upsetting the prosperity band wagon, either. It is simply a question of some dust in our eyes until the business world gets its bearings, until some new avenues of commerce are dug and set running.

CONTINUES TO PARDON

Governor Foss Adds Two More to His Already Long List

Boston, July 27.—Governor Foss added two more names to the already long list of pardons he has granted since assuming office.

Liberations have been granted John Dumblas of Worcester, who was serving a thirteen to fifteen-year sentence for a shooting affray in Worcester, April, 1903, and Frank Kelly of Dorchester, who had served seven years of a long term for highway robbery.

VESSEL FOUND FLOATING

Searchers Are Confident It Is Wreck of Gloucester Fishing Vessel

Gloucester, Mass., July 27.—A Gloucester fishing vessel is floating, with one spar out of water and the hull ten feet below the surface, forty-seven miles southeast of Halifax, a serious menace to navigation.

It was found that the spar, which was a mainmast, was attached to the whole hull of a vessel, and that hull but ten feet below the surface. They rowed all over the spot where the hull lay, and although they were unable to make out the name of the craft, they are convinced they were looking down on the wreck of a Gloucester fishing vessel.

WILL CONTEST IN SIGHT

Parties In Dorchester Are Interested In a Fortune

Boston, July 27.—Mrs. Mabel E. Torrey of Dorchester, a grandchild of Mrs. Mercy F. Roberts, who died at her residence on Hancock street last April has retained counsel to contest the allowance of that instrument.

Mrs. Roberts was about 90 years of age when she died, and the will was made in 1907. She left about 25,000 to relatives and friends and the residue, said to be worth in the vicinity of $400,000, to her son, Frank Roberts of Boston.

The case will be heard in the fall.

BRAINTREE TOWN HALL.

All true citizens of Braintree are sad, because of the burning of their historic Town house which was the pride of the village and served for so many years the varied needs of the people. No other building however grand will have the same associations connected with it and a short history of the structure will to many people prove interesting and well worth preserving.

The first Town house stood at the corner of Union and Washington streets, South Braintree, on the site of the Ellis estate and was later cut in twain and moved to Taylor street where it can be seen as two separate dwelling houses.

On Jan. 26, 1857, the town voted to build a new Town house and a committee consisting of Ezra Penniman, John Beath, Joseph Dyer, Harvey Thayer and Alexander Bowditch were appointed to procure plans and estimates. March 9, 1857, this committee made a report presenting two plans, one at $10,000 and another at $11,000. It is evident that one of these plans was accepted although the records do not mention it, for on April 6, 1857 at an adjournment of the annual meeting the building committee was authoried to locate the structure anywhere they saw fit on the Town common. On April 8, Joel E. Holbrook, Alva Morrison, S. W. Hollis, Alverdo Mason and Thomas Pratt were added to the building committee and it was also voted that the two selectmen not on the committee be added.

"The afternoon of the 29th of July, 1858 was fixed upon as the time for the dedication of the new house. Very fortunately the weather proved all that could be desired and the occasion attracted large numbers of people from the surrounding towns. The committee of arrangements and the guests assembled at three o'clock at the house of Colonel J. H. D. Blake, where his Excellency, Gov. Nathaniel P. Banks was present, agreeably to invitation. After partaking of refreshments, a procession was formed under the direction of William Potter, Esquire, Chief Marshall and a large number of aids.

The escort duty was performed by the Braintree Light Infantry under the command of Captain Bumpus. The Weymouth brass band furnished the music. The order of the procession was as follows:

The Braintree Light Infantry,
Committee of Arrangements,
The President of the Day and the Orator.
His Excellency the Governor.
The High Sheriff of Norfolk County.
The Clergy and invited guests.
Citizens.

As the procession passed along, the public school children were found formed in a line on either side of the street making a most pleasing part of this most interesting exhibition. They joined the procession in their order and contributed by their fresh and hearty and gay appearance to the pleasure of the occasion.

After moving along Washington, through Hancock and across to Washington street again, the procession entered the Town house at about four o'clock and in a few minutes every part of the spacious hall in which the exercises were appointed to take place was crowded to overflowing. Numbers were unable to gain admittance.

The services were commenced with a voluntary by the Weymouth brass band.

Prayer was offered by the Rev. Richard S. Storrs, D. D., the venerable pastor of the First Congregational church.

A piece of vocal music was executed by a choir of voluntary performers assisted by the Germania band.

Hon. Caleb Stetson, the president of the day, then arose and made the following statement of facts connected with the rise and progress of the new edifice:

"At the annual meeting of the citizens of Braintree in March 1857, it was voted to build a new Town house and Ezra Penniman, John Beath, David H. Bates, Jason C. Howard and Caleb Stetson were chosen a committee with full power to contract for the same provided only that the entire cost should not exceed $12,000 above the cellar, etc. In accordance with the Town's instructions the committee employed Mr. J. D. Towle of Boston as the architect to furnish the plan of the building. It is 96 feet in length by 55 in width—two stories high.

On the lower story are large and commodious rooms for a high with accommodations for a high school of the first class, agreeably to a vote of the Town establishing the same. There are also other rooms for the use of Town officers and of committees and one apartment is set apart for an armory for the Braintree Light Infantry.

On the second story are rooms for the use of the selectmen, and the spacious hall in which the present company is assembled. It is 80 feet long by 53 feet wide and finished in the manner now to be judged of by all.

The whole cost of the building, including the grading, cellar and other expenses is $15,000. The land upon which the house is built was a liberal donation by the late Josiah French. The committee had deemed the completion of this work an event worthy of special commemoration. To that end they had extended a cordial invitation to all the citizens residing within the ancient limits of Braintree to be present with them and they had called upon one of these persons, living in that part now called Quincy, whose name and whose forefathers had long been associated with the history of the old town to favor them with an address. The chairman would therefore without further encroaching upon the time content himself with introducing the Hon. Charles Francis Adams."

Mr. Adams was received with much cordiality and delivered an address which was listened to with great attention, though it occupied on hour and thirty minutes. Governor Nathaniel P. Banks was then introduced and enthusiastically received. "He made a short speech commenting pleasantly on various points mentioned in the address and concluded by intimating that with the progress which the metropolis was making in this direction, it was not impossible that in the course of time the latest state of his territory might be like the first and Boston would again vote to be enlarged at Mount Wollaston, in a manner that would convince the orator of his mistake in supposing its earliest would be its nearest connection with the name of a popular city.

His Excellency's remarks were closed with great applause. An ode was then sung by the choir of voluntary performers. The services were concluded by a benediction from the Rev. Jonas Perkins, the pastor of the Union church of Weymouth and Braintree. In the evening a levee and entertainment were given by the Braintree Light Infantry in the hall of the Town house.

Many distinguished gentlemen invited to honor the assembly with their presence appeared and made brief congratulatory addresses on the occasion. The Germania band was in attendance and the company present of both sexes terminated in a most agreeable manner a day that will long be remembered in the annals of the ancient town."

ALLIGATOR CARRIES WATCH

Timepiece Said to Belong to Georgia Girl Long Missing

Forsyth, Ga., July 27.—The finding of a valuable gold watch and chain in the stomach of a large alligator is believed to solve the disappearance of 12-year-old Janet Thornton.

The alligator was captured by J. M. Jackson. When last seen the little girl was standing on the bank of the lake where Jackson captured the alligator wearing a gold watch with her initials engraved on the back. The same initials are on the back of the watch discovered inside the alligator.

It is believed by Jackson and others that while the girl was playing on the bank of the lake the alligator came up on the bank and devoured her. The parents of the girl have been notified.

FAVOR HIGH ALTITUDES

Statement by Eminent Scientists Studying the Subject

Colorado Springs, July 27.—Red corpuscles in the blood are 40 percent greater at the altitude here than at sea level. This is an indication of purer blood in high altitudes than at sea level.

This statement was made by four eminent medical scientists who are making their observations on the summit of Pike's Peak, 14,147 feet above sea level. They are Drs. J. A. Haldan and Gordon Douglas of Oxford university, England; Dr. Yambell Henderson of Yale university and Dr. E. C. Schneider of Colorado college.

TO LET
IN QUINCY CENTER
SEVERAL DESIRABLE HOUSES
7, 8 and 10 Rooms
Every convenience and very desirable locations.
RENT $25 TO $40 according to house
APPLY TO
MISS PRESCOTT,
Ledger Office
Quincy, July LPOH

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor of Quincy Ledger:

I would like to ask through the columns of your paper, the sufferers from those instruments of torture, namely a stone cutting machine, could we not organize a movement to prevent those machines being placed near our homes and schools. The noise and dust from them are beyond description. Not telling of the agony endured by the sick when one of those large machines are worked less than forty feet from a sick bed. Let us hear from all the mothers who have to suffer from the powdered steel and dust and din from those machines.

A Mother.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

A SUBSTITUTE.—
"Bobby, you're shy a thumb,
Poor little man-
Firecrackers?" "No, by gum—
Electric fan!"
—Chicago Tribune.

ANECDOTE.—"What is an anecdote, pa?" "An anecdote, my son, is a short and funny tale which at once reminds the other fellow of a tale which is neither short nor funny."—Puck.

CRAPE.—"Gracious, what is all that crape for?" "I had a chance to get it at a bargain, and you know, my husband goes in for flying!"—London Opinion.

APPROVED.—Customer—"Why do you complain of my having goods sent to my house on approval?"

Merchant—"I don't, madam. What complain of is that about all of it is returned on disapproval."

SOX—"It has taken Billinger six years to save enough money to visit Europe. He sailed today." "How long will be be gone?" "Six weeks."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

LOOK BEFORE YOU LEAP—Agitated Old Gent—Quick! My daughter is overboard! Save her, and she shall be your wife!

Blase Person—Wait till a wave rolls her over and I can see her face!—Puck

BREAKING INTO SOCIETY—"He had his wealthy wife arrested for non-support."

"Are they prominent socially?"

"They haven't been. This affair may help them some."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

SEEKING THE DEPENDABLE—"You say you had a 60-horsepower automobile?"

"Yes," replied Mr. Chuggins, "and there were times in my trip when I would have been willing to trad off all 60 for one real horse."—Washington Star.

HOBO—"This is a peculiar world," sighed Harry the Hobo. "I've always noticed that the poorer cook a woman is the more likelier she is to have some cold vittles left for me when I ask her for them!"—Toledo Blade.

HISTRIONIC.—"You can't bring that chorus girl into my house." "Dad, she's the sweetest butterfly on earth." "All right, let her flutter about in the yard."

IMPOSSIBLE.—"Talk about Napoleon! That fellow Wombat is something of a strategist himself." "As to how?" "Got his salary raised six months ago, and his wife hasn't found it out yet."—Washington Herald.

MAL DE TETE—"Doc, give me something for my headache." "Did you ever have a headache before?" "Nope—usually after."—Toledo Blade.

"My good woman, I think you are suffering from an acute attack of nostalgia."

"No, doctor 'taint that. I'm only homesick."—Baltimore American.

SOME DISTANCE—"They tell me that the Swedes are very thrifty," said Dawson. "They make a little money go a great ways."

"You bet they do," said Dubbleigh. "They send pretty nearly all they get back to Sweden—that's a good 6000 miles, isn't it?"—Judge.

CAUGHT—Mrs. Benham—Did you mail the letter I gave you this morning?

Benham—Sure.

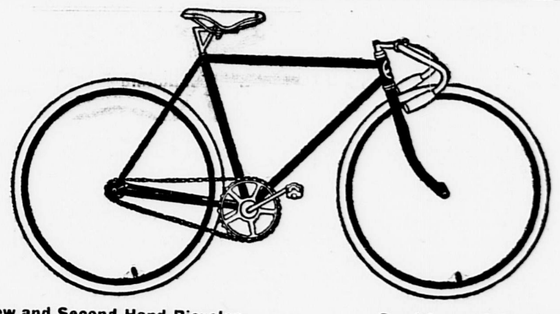
Mrs. Benham—But it was addressed to me and should have been delivered here this afternoon.—Chicago News.

IN THE SUBURBS—"How are your vegetables looking?"

"As if they were ashamed of themselves. There isn't one in the whole batch that dares to look me in the eye."—Puck.

WE MAKE
BUSINESS LOANS
We are here to help along the prosperity of Quincy. Legitimate loans on approved security lubricate the wheels of business. We should be glad to explain to you the limits within which our rules permit us to use our funds for your accommodation as a business man.
ASK US ABOUT THIS.
NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

JELL-O All Flavors
Cooling
Delicious
Satisfying
Easy to Make
For a dessert it is better and far more healthier than ice cream. Ice Cream contains millions of bacteria to the cubic inch. Gelatine is pure. Make your dessert, gelatine today.
Lipton's Jelly Tablets
Wine Flavor
3 PACKAGES OF EITHER 25c
R. E. FOY & CO.



New and Second Hand Bicycles. Sundries and Repairing
Agency for Columbia and Hartford Bicycles
HUB CYCLE CO.
Thomas Nelson, 20 Granite Street, QUINCY
May 15-3m

WHEELER'S
The Store for Ladies' Furnishings
We will continue our Sale of Shirt Waists and Long Gloves
See what we offer in Shirt Waists for 79c and 98c
and Long Gloves for 50c and 75c
We are also showing a new line of Children's Parasols, all colors, for 25c and 29c
WE GIVE CASH DISCOUNT SLIPS
City Square G. W. WHEELER Quincy

Are You Going Away?
If so have the DAILY LEDGER sent to your vacation address. You cannot afford to be without your home paper.
FILL OUT THIS BLANK
QUINCY DAILY LEDGER:—
Send the Daily Ledger for
Address below.
SEND YOUR ORDER AT ONCE

MAY LOOK FOR A BIG BATTLE TODAY

Red and Blue Armies Only A Few Miles Apart ---Red Cavalryman's Narrow Escape

Infantry and Cavalry Are In Brisk Clashes

Boston, July 27.—Today the artillery of both armies entered into the fighting out of the big war game.

A great battle involving all the infantry, cavalry and artillery will make the outpost skirmishes of the past few days look like child's play.

A trooper of the Red cavalry captured Sergeant Lovering of Troop B of the Blue cavalry, and he proved to be indeed a prize. He was picked up by a Red outpost. He was searched and in his pocket was found a map showing the route of march of the Blue army from Tewksbury to Frye's Village, North Andover. This was in blue pencil.

In black pencil was marked Lovering's own route from the Blue camp to within a short distance of where he was captured. Marked in red pencil was the position of the Red army with its outposts.

Last night General Clark with the Blue army was camped at North Andover, and his troops are in a position directly in front of the bridges across the Merrimac river at Lawrence, while General Pew, with the Red forces, is only about seven miles away, at Middleton.

General Clark must maintain open communication with Newburyport and Portland, Me., while the Red army will try to dislodge the Blue forces and cut them off.

The spirited engagement at Wilson's Corner was considered by the officers on both sides as one of the most important of the week. The Red cavalry did specially fine work.

Troops B and C of the Blue cavalry were in position just at the side of the road. Coming down the road were Troops A and D of the Red cavalry.

Concealed along the road was a battalion of the Blues, companies H, A, G and C of the Sixth infantry.

The Blue cavalry made a wide circle thus forming a complete ambush for the Red cavalry to run into. The two troops of Red cavalry approached. They waited for the Blues to fire before doing so themselves. When the firing began the Red cavalrymen retreated. They had just time to escape in safety.

If the Blues had made a wider circle, as they might have done, it is claimed they would have successfully ambushed all of the Red cavalry and annihilated them, which would have been a crushing blow to the entire Red army.

PRESIDENT SIGNED BILL

Signature Attached In the Presence Of Cabinet Officers

SEN. PENROSE GETS PEN

President Attaches His Signature In the Presence of Cabinet Officers

Washington, July 27.—President Taft signed the bill for Canadian reciprocity in the presence of Secretary of State Knox and other cabinet officials.

The bill was signed earlier in the day by Speaker Clark of the house and Vice President Sherman, for the senate.

As he picked up the pen the President turned to Sec. Knox.

"Come over her brother Knox," he said, "you are responsible for this."

The secretary of state stood beside the President as he placed his name on the parchment.

"It's done," said Mr. Knox.

"It's done," echoed the President as the two clasped hands across the desk.

To give the photograhers a chance the President went through the motion of signing the act again a few seconds later.

"I didn't know there was so much interest in it as this," he said, "but—"

He was snapped wearing a broad smile. The gold pen used by the President in signing the treaty was sent to Chairman Penrose of the senate finance committee, who led the fight for the bill in the senate.

Instructions that as much of the law as is effective be followed until the whole agreement is ratified by the Canadian parliament were telegraphed to customs collectors along the Canadian border today. The new regulations provide for proper identification of imports to prove they are of Canadian origin and the state department has been asked to instruct consular officers in Canada to add their certificates to the declarations of the importers.

Until the Canadian parliament ratifies the agreement, only section 2, which covers wood pulp, paper and paper board, will be in force. The regulations under the new law provide free entry to all such imports from private lands or from crown lands, provided no export tax has been levied. British Columbia, Ontario and Quebec impose export duties on wood. New Brunswick will do so after Oct. 1.

Four Lads Rescued From Drowning

Winthrop, Mass., July 27.—Four young boys were saved from drowning here when the skiff in which they were paddling overturned near the big whirlpool. They were rescued by James Barry, 18 years old.

U. S. COURTS WILL PROSECUTE

Federal Government To Handle Shoe Machinery Case

UP NEXT TUESDAY

Boston, July 27.—It is announced that the federal government is to take action against the United Shoe Machinery company, as an alleged monopoly.

For five months the United States government conducted an investigation into the methods of the company, and now, in accordance with instructions received from Attorney General Wickersham ,the results of that work will be laid before the federal grand jury, which has been summoned for next Tuesday for that purpose.

The object of the grand jury proceedings will be to determine whether the company is a monopoly that exists in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

ARRESTED AT HOUGHS NECK.

Chief Burrell accompanied Sheriff Turner of Scituate, to Houghs Neck, Wednesday evening, and placed Andrew Wallace under arrest on a capias warrant. Wallace was wanted as a witness in a Scituate case. Wallace was employed on the Hodgekinson farm.

An Island In a Cloud.

White island, thirty miles to the northeast of New Zealand, is perhaps the most extraordinary island in the world. It is an enormous mass of rock nearly three miles in circumference, rising 900 feet above the sea, and is perpetually enveloped in dark clouds, which are visible for nearly 100 miles. The island consists almost entirely of sulphur, with a small percentage of gypsum. Some years ago an attempt was made to float a company to work the sulphur, which is of high quality, but sufficient capital was not subscribed. Therefore the export of sulphur from White island is still very small. In the interior is a lake fully fifty acres in extent, the water of which has a temperature of 110 degrees F. and is strongly impregnated with acids. On one side of this lake are craters from which steam escapes with great force and noise. This steam and the vapor from the lake form the dark cloud that envelops the island.

—It begins to look at this distance as if the people of Mexico needed the strong hand of Diaz, or another steel-handed statesman of the Diaz pattern, to restore order and curb the bandit-strain in the Mexican blood. Perhaps it is too early to judge, but Madero does not appear to be made of the stern material necessary to keep order among the Spanish-Indian people of the land.—Providence Journal.

PRESIDENT TAFT BRANDS LETTER AS FABRICATION

Sends Alaska Message To Congress In Which He Takes Responsibility For Order

Believe He Acted For Interest Of the Nation

Washington, July 26.—President Taft today sent to the senate a message concerning the Controller bay affair and the reduction of the area of the Chugach national forest reserve to permit the Controller Bay Railway and Navigation company to acquire land on the bay to be used as terminals for a railway line to the Bering coal fields, twenty-five miles away. The message is in response to a resolution passed by the senate June 27 last, which asked for copies of all departmental orders, maps, surveys, letters, reports and official documents in the case. Copies of these documents accompany the message.

The executive order of Oct. 28, 1910, referred to in the resolution was in the terms following:

CHUGACH NATIONAL FOREST, ALASKA.

Under authority of the act of congress of June 4, 1897 (30 Stat., 11, at 34 and 36), and on the recommendation of the secretary of agriculture it is hereby ordered that the proclamation of Feb. 23, 1909, enlarging the Chugach National forest be modified to reduce the area of such national forest by eliminating therefrom the following described tract, containing approximately 12,800 acres of land, which has been found upon examination to be not chiefly valuable for national forest purposes:

Beginning at a point where the meridian of longitude 144 degrees 5 minutes west crosses the coast line of Controller bay, thence north along said meridian line to the parallel of latitude at 60 degrees 10 minutes north, thence west along said parallel to a point where the same crosses the coast line at or near the mouth of Bering river and thence along the coast to the place of beginning.

The tract above described is hereby restored to the public domain.

WILLIAM H. TAFT.

The White House, Washington, Oct. 28, 1910.

The president declares that the order does not permit the Controller Bay Railway and Navigation company to secure a monopoly of the Controller bay harbor as, under the law, a strip eighty rods wide must be left between each entry, having a frontage of 160 rods on navigable water. The law also keeps the control of the shore, which includes the flats lying between high water and low water, under the direction of congress. This provision, says Mr. Taft, fully protects the public and absolutely prevents any individual or corporation from acquiring a monopoly.

In regard to the "Dick to Dick" letter, in which there is a reference to Charles Taft, the president denies that his brother ever spoke to him concerning Controller bay, Richard S. Ryan or any grant in Alaska. He says that the letter in question cannot be found in the files of the government, and he refers to it as a "wicked fabrication." He declares that his brother never heard of Controller bay until the president sent him a cablegram regarding the subject.

Possible Harbor In Controller Bay.

The message describes the location of Controller bay, which was originally included in the Chugach forest reserve. For a time it was thought that the water of the bay was too shallow to make it valuable as a harbor, but in 1907 a channel was discovered extending into the bay about seven miles. The tract taken from the forest reserve by the president's order covers 12,800 acres in a triangular form, the side along Controller bay being between six and seven miles long, which covers the channel mentioned.

The president's message then says:

All the territory surrounding Controller bay was included in the Chugach forest reservation in 1909 by a proclamation of President Roosevelt. The importance of Controller bay is that it lies about twenty-five miles from very valuable coal deposits, known as the Bering coal fields. Katalla bay is to the west of Controller bay and almost immediately adjoins it. It is an open roadstead, upon the shore of which an attempt was made by the Morgan-Guggenheim syndicate to establish a railway terminal and thence to build a road to the Bering coal fields, already mentioned. The attempt failed for the reason that the breakwater protecting the terminals was destroyed by storms and the terminals became impracticable. Some fifty miles or more farther west of Katalla bay is the mouth of the Copper river, where there is an excellent harbor, on which is the town of Cordova. There the Copper River railroad, owned by the Morgan-Guggenheim interests, has its terminals, and the line runs to the northeast along the Copper river and has nearly reached certain rich copper mines in the interior. A branch from this main line is projected to the Bering coal fields and is feasible.

When the channel in the Controller bay was discovered Mr. Tittman, superintendent of the coast survey, as shown by his letter in the record, was of opinion that it was of great value and ought to be maintained as a naval reservation because or its proximity to the coal fields. His letter was submitted by the secretary of commerce and labor to the secretary of the interior, who invited the comment of the director of the geological survey. That officer replied that the harbor was a poor one and that it would not be as good for a naval reservation as one already selected, but that he thought that private capital ought to be encouraged to construct a railway from the channel over the mud flats to the shore and thence to the coal fields.

Captain Pillsbury of the army engineers in a report in the record made in 1907 mentions three possible objections to Controller bay—first, that the surrounding islands may prove to be so low as not fully to protect the channel; second, that the flats extend two or three miles from the shore, and, third, that ice formed in the rivers entering the bay and, affected by tidal currents, may destroy structures put upon the flats and especially a long trestle built over them.

Ryan Asks For Land.

In December, 1909, Richard S. Ryan, representing the Controller Railway and Navigation company, applied to Mr. Pinchot, the then forester, for an elimination from the Chugach forest reservation of a tract of land to enable his company to secure railroad terminals, bunkers, railroad shops, etc., on the northwest shore of Controller bay. This application was referred by the associate forester to the district forester at Portland, Ore., and by him to the forester in Alaska. The result of these references and the application was that early in 1910 Mr. Graves, who had in the meantime become forester, reported that there was no objection from the standpoint of forestry interests to the elimination of the tract indicated or, indeed, of 18,000 acres on the northwest shore of Controller bay.

The attention of the navy department was invited by the forestry bureau to the proposal to open the shore of Controller bay to entry and occupation, and inquiry was made whether the navy department desired to use Controller bay as a reservation and whether it objected to its being opened up. The answer was in the negative.

The matter was considered by the forestry bureau, by the secretary of agriculture, by the secretary of the interior and by the general land office, and the result was a recommendation to me in May, 1910, that an elimination be made of 320 acres with a frontage of 160 rods on the northwest shore of Controller bay.

I considered the whole case in August, 1910, and directed that the 320 acres, recommended by both departments, be eliminated as recommended. The question finally came before the cabinet late in October. After a full discussion of the matter and after a consideration of the law I expressed dissatisfaction with the order because it purported on its face to make the elimination for the benefit of a railroad company of a tract of land which the company could not secure under the statute, for it was a tract 320 acres in one body when only 160 acres could be thus acquired. In the second place, I preferred to make a much larger elimination of a tract facing the entire channel and with sufficient room for a terminal railway town.

I was willing to do this because I found the restrictions in the law sufficient to prevent the possibility of any monopoly of either the upland or the harbor or channel by the Controller Railway and Navigation company or any other persons or company.

It had been originally suggested by the forestry bureau that 18,000 acres might safely be eliminated so far as forestry purposes were concerned, but fear had been expressed by one of the district foresters that such a large elimination would offer an opportunity to the company to use land scrip and acquire title to extensive town sites, and the result of the joint consideration of both departments had been the reduction to 320 acres.

Assumes All Responsibility.

I wish to be as specific as possible upon this point and to say that I alone am responsible for the enlargement of the proposed elimination from 320 acres to 12,800 acres and that I proposed the change and stated my reasons therefor, and, while both secretaries cordially concurred in it, the suggestion was mine.

The statement of Mr. Ryan, who had been properly vouched to the forester by two gentlemen whom I know, Mr. Chester Lyman and Mr. Fred Jennings, and who had produced a letter from a reputable financial firm, Probst, Wetzler & Co., was that the railway company which he represented had expended more than $75,000 in making preparations for the construction of a railway from Controller bay to the coal fields, twenty-five miles away, but that they were obstructed in so doing by the order reserving the Chugach forest reservation, which covered all of the Controller bay shore. He, as well as Probst, Wetzler & Co., gave every assurance that the Copper River Railway company, owned by Messrs. Morgan and Guggenheim, had no connection with them and that they were engaged in an independent enterprise in good faith to build an independent railroad. No evidence to the contrary has been brought to my attention since.

Of course it was possible that the owners of the Copper River Railway company might attempt to buy this railroad when and if it was built. It was possible that Mr. Ryan was acting in the interests of the Copper River railroad, although I did not believe it.

Protected by Congress.

If a railroad was to be constructed from Controller bay to the Bering coal fields it was perfectly evident that there must be a terminal town on the shore of Controller bay, and I was therefore glad and anxious to throw it open to entry and settlement as one important step in encouraging railroad

(Continued on Page Five.)

Expert Advice.

The prison turnkey found the two cellmates deeply engrossed. One pored over the market reports of a newspaper and figured on the margin with a pencil. His cellmate sat expectant.

"Bill," said the mathematician at last, "you could make $34 a night stealin' hogs in Iowa."—Success Magazine.

"Ah! pretty lady," said the fortune teller, "you wish to be told about your future husband?"

"Not much," replied Mrs. Gailey. "I've come to learn where my present husband is when he's absent."—Philadelphia Press.

DON'T BE CAUGHT

unprepared for the hot weather. Get your dresses before you go away on that vacation trip; otherwise you may have cause to regret your lack of foresight. Have you your sweater? If not, better see us before you leave town. And what about that Linen Skirt? Don't keep putting it off. Do it now.

H. SARKIN

1369 Hancock St., Quincy, Mass.

July 27-3t

PATCH'S

Special Range Coal

IGNITES QUICKLY

If it were stony or of bad quality it wouldn't.

It is the most reliable coal imaginable, helps the cook when she's in a hurry and shows up best when needed most.

Besides it burns up so thoroughly as to leave the smallest quantity of ash.

Buy it and try it and see why so many will burn no other.

One ton should prove it.

C. PATCH & SON, INC.

Office, 1422 Hancock Street, Quincy

CONTEST FOR OFFICE OF REPRESENTATIVE

(Continued from Page One.)

can nomination for Mayor, later in fall.

Ex-Councilman Ralph W. Hobbs, when asked this morning if he intended to be a candidate for Mayor, this fall, said that he had been considering it, but that it was rather too early as yet to get Municipal politics started.

Another rumor about City Square in regard to the Mayoralty contest is that ex-Senator Eugene C. Hultman was thinking seriously of being a candidate. Mr. Hultman is now in Europe, with the Boston Chamber of Commerce party, so that this rumor could not be veried.

The question, however that is puzbling the local political lights is whether or not Mayor Shea is to run again. It was common talk last year that he could be elected to the office of Mayor as many years as he desired. Some of his opponents, however, quote the old maxim that a pitcher that goes too often to the well may be broken. The Mayor is silent on the question, but straws point to the belief that he is seriously considering the idea of again being a candidate.

ENGINEERING MAGAZINE.

The leading place in The Engineering Magazine for August is given to a thoughtful study of the principles and methods of compensation for injured workmen, by William Mayo Venable. Following a comprehensive outline of the economic and psychological aspects of the general problem and of the methods now in vogue, Mr. Venable offers a constructive suggestion for an employers' liability law which shall be fair to employers, to workmen, and to the public generally. Among illustrated features of importance may be mentioned T. Lane Carter's review of engineering opportunities in Nicaragua in the development of transportation and of agricultural and mineral resources, and William D. Ennis' study, from an engineering standpoint, of recent progress and present conditions in aviation.

Inquisitiveness.

"One half the world doesn't know how the other half lives," quoted the wise guy.

"That's right," agreed the simple mug. "Men are not so inquisitive as women."—Philadelphia Record.

—Judge McGuire of Brooklyn, N. Y., has ruled that ten days shall be the limit for a mother-in-law's visit,—provided the son-in-law or daughter-in-law objects to her staying longer. The mother-in-law in this case was from Boston visiting her son at Brooklyn.—Athol Chronicle.

SUBMARINE TRIP

Secretary Meyer Studying Lower Marine Life at Narragansett Bay

Newport, R. I., July 27.—Rushing through the waters on a level with the surface and then sinking far below the surface to pick her way among the lower marine life of Narragansett bay, the submarine Octopus made a notable trip.

She carried on his first trip in a submarine the secretary of the navy, George von L. Meyer, also Commander George W. Williams of the torpedo sattion and a woman, Mrs. Robert Goelet.

LOOKING UP A CASE

Police Investigating an Alleged Fake Faro Syndicate

Boston, July 27.—Charles H. Tibbetts, proprietor and manager of the Manufacturing Merchants company, a concern that had offices in Summer street until within a few weeks ago, is being searched for by the police.

They say they have recognized him as "Charlie" Tibbetts, the self-boasted "father of the fake faro syndicate" which fleeced George W. Coleman, the Cambridge bank clerk, out of over $200,000.

Minard's Name Sent to Council

Boston, July 27.—Governor Foss has sent to the executive council the name of Asa R. Minard of Medford for supervisor of loan agencies, at a salary of $2500 a year. This office was created by the anti-loan shark bill.

☞Going away for the summer? If so don't forget to have the Daily Ledger sent to your address and keep posted on home news. If you have forgotten to send in your order in the rush of getting away drop us a postal and we will do the rest. tf

HOT WEATHER

and dirt breed germs. Germs bring diseases and are a menace to your health. Our sanitary dyeing and cleaning processes render your clothes free from germs.

Get The Sanitary Habit!

We call for and deliver the work

WARSHAW'S DYE HOUSE

"The Home of Cleanliness"

1503 HANCOCK STREET QUINCY

July 15-tf

PATTERSON, "The Florist"
92 South Central Ave.
WOLLASTON, MASS.
Telephone 392 Quincy

UPHOLSTERING

My only ambition is to get the work and to show the people of Quincy Town that nobody can beat me with my good work. Low prices on all kinds of furniture, repairing, mattresses, and cushions. Can give references. M. Mirkin 67 Washington street, next to Y.M.C.A. Quincy. Tel. 1112W. April 10-4mo.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.
FIRE INSURANCE.
The Best Insurance. The Lowest Rates
Insurance Department.
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Telephone, Quincy 87-3.

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock treet, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point
Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1153 M Nov. 3-tf

HOUSEKEEPERS
TELL YOUR TROUBLES
HOLMES & HALL
We make a business of repairing the things about the house that get out of order such as DOORS, LOCKS, SHADES, BELLS and FURNITURE.
96 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 974 L

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER and GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

STORAGE
— FOR —
Furniture and Pianos
Storage Warehouse with Separate Rooms
Furniture and Piano Movers
HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy Tel. Con.

JAMES F. BURKE
Real Estate and Insurance
AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES
Justice of the Peace Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Tel. 385-3 Jan. 17-tf

A. M. DEANE & CO.
MONUMENTS
MEMORIALS ERECTED
IN ANY
CEMETERY
IN THE
UNITED STATES
Aug. 1-1y

M. T. SULLIVAN
Real Estate Insurance
Auctioneer Care of Property
Justice of the Peace
Corner School and Hancock Streets
QUINCY.

Quincy Savings Bank
BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.
SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.
CLARENCE BURGIN,
Treasurer.

PATENTS
PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc. IN ALL COUNTRIES.
Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent.
Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively.
Write or come to us at
710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office,
WASHINGTON, D. C.
CA·SNOW & Co.

Quincy Daily Ledger

HIGH TIDE FOR WEEK.

Monday, July 24,	9.45	10.00
Tuesday,	10.45	11.00
Wednesday,	11.30	12.00
Thursday,	12.00	12.30
Friday,	12.45	1.15
Saturday,	1.45	2.15
Sunday,	2.30	3.00

1911 JULY 1911

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
						1
2	3	4	5	6	7	8
9	10	11	12	13	14	15
16	17	18	19	20	21	22
23	24	25	26	27	28	29
30	31

BRIEFS

Delcevare King is attending a No-License convention in Toronto, Canada.

A new slide has been added to the equipment of the Ward One playground.

L. F. LaRose will be back at the playground Monday morning after a two weeks' vacation.

Miss Eva Hubert of Water street has returned from a three weeks' visit with friends at East Providence, Rhode Island.

Richard MacConnell, formerly of Quincy, is visiting friends here for a few weeks. He will return to New Mexico next month.

OUTING AT NANTASKET.

Thirty members of the Women's Relief Corps went to Nantasket beach for an outing Wednesday afternoon. A number of them went down by boat from Boston but all returned together on the electrics. A fine shore dinner was eaten at Richard's hotel and the evening was spent on the beach and in Paragon park.

TODAY'S COURT.

Albert Peterson was arraigned for non support of his family at Holbrook. Case continued until Dec. 12 the defendant in the mean time to contribute $10 per week for the support of his family.

Adriano Carescini was fined $50 for violation of the liquor law at Quincy.

Oscar E. Djerf was arraigned for assault on Selma Djerf at Quincy. Case continued until Friday.

Sadie White and Sadie Millett of Lynn and Alexander Biaggini were arraigned for a statuatory offence at Quincy. Cases continued until Aug. 10.

Giazio Zanon was arraigned for violation of the liquor law at Quincy. Case continued until Aug. 10.

SEARCHING FOR RECORD

Superintendent Watts Seeking Information From Kansas Authorities

Boston, July 27.—Deputy Superintendent of Police Watts has asked the Kansas City police to send him whatever information they have regarding "Allie" Lewis, the young woman, who, with her husband, was arrested here charged with the larceny of $525. The woman secured bail in $2000, but her husband has not been so successful.

The police have learned that the woman was known in other cities under the name of Sherrill, and that she also takes the name of Mrs. Thomas Martin.

Threatened Strike

Boston, July 27.—The coal hoisting engineers of this city declare that they will go out on a strike Monday unless their demands for $1 increase in weekly wage is allowed by the coal dealers and say that if they do strike all the big steamships of the port will be tied up because no coal will be shipped aboard.

West Indies English.

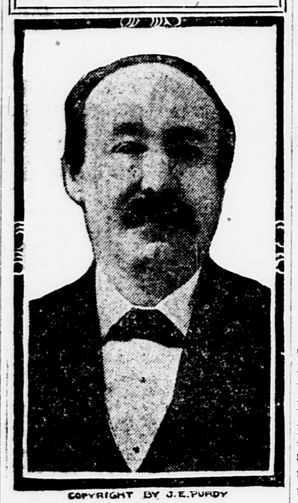
The moot question as to why English is spoke as she is has apparently been settled by a colored mammy of the old school. In a recent visit to the West Indies she accompanied her mistress and after returning regaled her envious neighbors with vivid accounts of her travels.

"In dem Wes' Indies," she remarked, "dey don' talk Unahted States. No, suh, dey don'. Dey talks foreign an' English—English, yes, suh. An' dat English dah ain't de same as what we all talks. No, suh. Dey says down dah, dey says, 'ahn't' for 'ain't' and 'cahn't' for 'can't' an' such like doin's. Yes, suh. An' you wan' to know how come dey talk dat fool talk? Why, suh, when he English done busted away f'um de Unahted States dey was so 'shamed dey'd evah belonged to us dat dey trahd to get eben, an' jes' out'n spite dey done change de pronouncement of de whole language."—St. Louis Republic.

Children Cry
FOR FLETCHER'S
CASTORIA

CHARLES J. BONAPARTE

To Be Brought Before Investigating Committee



COPYRIGHT BY J.E.PURDY

DENIED MAIL PRIVILEGES

Misscellaneous Complaints Against Postoffice Authorities

Washington, July 27.—The sensational charge has been made that Leonard Goodwin, brother of Russell P. Goodwin, assistant attorney general for the postoffice department, was exploiting mail order houses, telling them he could arrange any trouble they might have through a denial of mail privileges, etc.

The charge was made by E. G. Lewis, who was denied certain mail privileges. Lewis said a Rochester, N. Y., man had written to him that Goodwin was the man he ought to employ to get him out of his troubles with the postoffice inspectors.

One of the detectives told Lewis, so the latter testified, that postoffice officials and inspectors at St. Louis had told him they would be upheld by the department in whatever methods they used to put Lewis out of business.

BEAUMONT WINNER OF THE AERIAL RACE

Frenchman Makes Splendid Volplane and Wins $50,000

Brooklands, Eng., July 27.—A. Beaumont (Lieutenant de Conneau) won the $50,000 prize offered by the London Daily Mail for the circuit of Great Britain aviation race of 1010 miles. The Frenchman made a splendid volplane from a height of 1000 fect. J. Vedrines reached the goal an hour later.

Beaumont's total actual flying time was 22 hours 28 minutes, and Vedrines' 23 hours 39 minutes.

FORMALLY CHARGED

Brookline Town Authorities Take Up Case of Country Club

Boston, July 27.—The fashionable Country club of Brookline was formally charged by the town authorities with being a common nuisance because it is alleged to sell and keep for sale intoxicating liquors.

Tuesday next a hearing will be held in the municipal court. The complainant is Chief of Police Corey, and the two official documents which charge the club with the offense of selling liquor without a license follows attempts by agents of a law enforcement society to have the club brought into court.

MYSTERY IN CASE

Disappearance of Jamaica Plain Woman Causes Uneasiness

Boston, July 27.—The disappearance of Mrs. Lillian C. Nickerson of Jamaica Plain has caused a great deal of mystery. Some say that she committed suicide—some say that she was the victim of foul play.

She has been traced aboard one of the Joy liners at Providence. She was aboard the boat when it sailed Thursday evening, July 20.

When the boat arrived in New York she failed to leave it, as far as can be learned. She had given the purser her money—some $40 and her jewelry. In her stateroom was found her hat and her bag.

THE WILEY CASE

Secretary Wilson's Recommendation Is Rendered In His Favor

Washington, July 27.—It became known here that Secretary of Agriculture Wilson in a report to President Taft had recommended that Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, the pure food expert, be admonished, but not dismissed.

Secretary Wilson, it is understood, declares leniency must be shown Dr. Wiley because of his valued services to the government in the past and his usefulness for the future. For this reason he does not believe that "condign punishment" should be meted out in the case.

HOW THE TRUST HANDLES TRADE

Ex-Attorney-General Bonaparte Now Wanted by Investigautrs

HARVESTER COMPANY'S CASE

The House Steel Investigating Committee Probing Into the Townsend Report—Charges Made to Bonaparte While In Office During Roosevelt Administration—What Is Said by Chairman Stanley

Washington, July 27.—Another document of sensational interest was laid before the Stanley steel trust investigating committee. It was a report by Burdette Townsend to former Attorney General Bonaparte on the International Harvester company, the so-called trust. The report showed that the United States Steel corporation allowed rebates of $3 a ton to the harvester company, and Mr. Stanley declared that it indicated that the giant steel corporation and the harvester trust were practically one.

The charges made to former Attorney General Bonaparte during his term of office that the United States Steel corporation gave refunds of $3 per ton to the harvester combine companies, was revealed to the committee. Chairman Stanley introduced in the proceedings a voluminous copy of the Townsend report. Mr. Townsend was a special investigator of the department of justice.

Mr. Stanley announced that a subpoena had been issued for Bonaparte, who is now in Canada, and that an effort would be made to ascertain from him and from other government officials why there never was any prosecution of the International Harvester company upon Townsend's charges.

Mr. Stanley also announced his intention of endeavoring to show a close connection between the United States Steel corporation and the International Harvester company, and as a basis for future inquiry he had read into the record the names of the directors of both corporations, the same being identical in many instances.

Mr. Townsend's report was exhaustive, going into the entire history of the harvester companies involved and the organization of the international in 1902. The steel committee will call attention to the forming of the steel trust the year before.

A feature of the report which the steel inquirers lay stress upon is that the International Harvester company sells to the foreign trade at a cheaper price than the domestic trade. It sells machines of all kinds for export, delivered at New York, at the same price for which they are sold to domestic purchasers f. o. b. Chicago. This makes a difference of from $6 to $10 per machine.

Attorney General Wickersham testified that he had never seen the Townsend report until now. He did not know why the harvester case was not pressed in 1908-09.

United States Senator Kenyon of Iowa, former assistant attorney general, and Herbert K. Smith, commissioner of corporations, also testified.

TO CLIMB MOUNT MCKINLEY

Feat to Be Attempted by Miss Dora Keen of Philadelphia

Philadelphia, July 27.—Miss Dora Keen is equipping an expedition to attempt the ascent of Mount McKinley, in Alaska, a feat Dr. Cook claimed to have performed. She is now at Sewark, where the expedition is fitting out.

When Miss Keen starts on her expedition she will have to establish various stations to which a retreat may be made. It is understood she has discovered a new route.

She will have three Swiss guides and a number of Alaskans to assist her.

Gas Meter Robbers

Malden, Mass., July 27.—Ten gas meters have been robbed within the past few days in Malden, and ten reports flowed into the Malden police headquarters from victims of the thief. The robberies were committed on Linden avenue, Highland avenue, Chester street and Pearl street.

Prince's Speech Affected

Fribourg, July 27.—Specialists who have been examining Prince Jaime, the youngest son of King Alfonso, have informed his mother that an operation cannot be performed at present. The young prince has trouble which affects his speech.

Heavy Winds Damage Crops

Buffalo, July 27.—The high winds have destroyed between 30 and 40 percent of the growing apple and pear crops. Many cornfields were swept clear by the wind and will be practically a total loss.

The Weather

Almanac, Frday, July 28.
Sun rises—4:49; sets—7:15.
Moon sets—9:29 p. m.
High water—12:45 a. m.; 1:15 p. m.
Forecast for New England: Probably fair; slowly rising temperature; light west winds.

REPUBLIC IN REVOLT

Situation In Hayti at Present Is Considered Desperate

Port au Prince, Hayti., July 27.—The situation of the government is desperate. With the exception of the capital the whole republic is in revolt.

The departure of President Simon cannot be long delayed and there is fear of trouble here when he leaves. The army of revolutionists is marching rapidly on this city.

The United States cruiser Des Moines arrived here yesterday. The German cruiser Bremen is expected.

The Haytien gunboat "17 Decembre" left here yesterday, carrying government troops. The troops will march to Jeremie, where the revolutionists are in control. The gunboat Verteries also sailed, but her destination was kept secret.

SUSPECTED PRESS AGENT

A Lioness, Carefully Caged, Sent to Ex-President Roosevelt

New York, July 27.—An ingenious press agent is suspected of responsibility for the delivery of a full grown lioness at Theodore Roosevelt's editorial offices.

The cage was addressed to Colonel Roosevelt, but before he had a chance to see its contents the police took charge of the snarling animal and held it until the owner called. After some difficulty the owner obtained permission to take the lioness back to Coney Island.

COLLISION OF AUTOS

Wealthy Man Killed and Chauffeur Injured In Peculiar Accident

New York, July 27.—Charles Hirsch, a manufacturer of Brooklyn, was killed and John Wolka, a chauffeur, was injured fatally in an unusual automobile accident. Hirsch had crawled beneath his car to make repairs when a second automobile crashed into it.

The chauffeur of the second automobile had been blinded by the glare of a third automobile and in swerving out struck the Hirsch machine.

GREAT GAIN IN YIELD OF WHEAT IN ILLINOIS

Experiment With Phosphorous Fertilizer Proves Good

Champaign, Ills., July 27.—The greatest gains by soil treatment that the world has ever known have been made on the University of Illinois experiment.

When wheat threshing ended the expectations of the state experts were exceeded. By the use of phosphorus fertilizer the yield was more than doubled. The average yield on the fertilized plots was 58½ bushels. This is an average gain of 34½ bushels an acre.

DECREE ENTERED

Bond of $50,000 to Indemnify the New Haven Road Against Loss

Providence, July 27.—A decree was entered in the superior court under the terms of which the Southern New England railway is to give a bond of $50,000 to the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad to indemnify it against any loss entailed by reason of an injunction which the Grand Trunk secured last week.

The injunction restrains the New Haven road from proceeding with the construction of its proposed freight houses at Woonsocket. The injunctio will be effective until Sept. 15.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, Lucas County, ss.

Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure. FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

A. W. GLEASON,
(Seal) Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

CHICHESTER S PILLS

THE DIAMOND BRAND.
Ladies! Ask your Druggist for Chi-ches-ter's Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with Blue Ribbon. Take no other. Buy of your Druggist. Ask for CHI-CHES-TER S DIAMOND BRAND PILLS, for 25 years known as Best, Safest, Always Reliable
SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

PATENTS
TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 26 years experience.
Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.
READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.
D. SWIFT & CO.
PATENT LAWYERS,
303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

WALL STREET.

The Human Side of New York's Great Financial Quarter.

To the man who looks from without upon Wall street it seems a place of deep and dangerous mystery, a region of dens and caves and labyrinths full of perils which threaten loss and perhaps ruin to him who enters there. And such in too many instances it has proved to be. But nevertheless there is a decided human side to Wall street. It is perhaps the most "two faced" street in the world. Here men who occupy the highest pinnacle of financial success and who are powerful kings, in fact, daily brush elbows with office boys and bank messengers, "get-rich-quick" highwaymen, silly and pretty girl stenographers, curb brokers and curb merchants and sharp tongued and ready witted "newsies"—with all the motley tide that flows into "the street" each morning and ebbs back again at night.

Wall street may be said to be the most democratic street in the world, for all its vast wealth. There is no street where a crowd will gather more quickly than there, even upon the smallest pretext. It may be a street faker selling some newfangled toy or a man gilding the ball on a flagpole 500 feet up in the air. A suffragette making a speech would transfer practically the entire population from a dozen skyscrapers to the "standing room only" in her immediate vicinity. But unless one hurries he will not get a good view of the fair creature, for soon she is lost from view in tangles of ticker tape tossed in reels from the nearby office windows, a favorite sport among the brokerage house clerks.

This sort of thing usually takes place during the noon hour, and at that time all work is suspended at the first sound of a band in the distance. Everybody flies to the curb. Business can wait in this busiest of streets for most anything before 2 o'clock, when the chimes of Trinity sound the afternoon session and "the street" settles down to its serious business of making financial history.

Such is the everyday "outside" little crooked street, "with the river at one end and a cemetery at the other," which has sent scores upon scores to one or the other—the street with a destiny.—Strand Magazine.

All Must Help.

A wise man who does not assist with his counsels, a rich man with his charity and a poor man with his labor are perfect nuisances in a commonwealth.—Swift.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

In effect June 4, 1911

The letters in the same line as the figures below stand for different stations and indicate that trains stop as follows.

a	Wollaston	f	Harrison Square
b	Norfolk Downs	g	Savin Hill
c	Atlantic	h	Crescent Avenue
d	Neponset	i	South Boston
e	Pope's Hill	r	Quincy Adams

Exp.—Express train.

TO BOSTON			FROM BOSTON
Leave	Stop	Arrive	Leave	Stop	Arrive
r 5 14	abedefghi	5 41	5 45	ihgfedeba	6 14 r
r 6 16	abci	6 35	6 12	ihgfedeba	6 39 r
r 6 33	e	6 48	6 30	a	6 47
r 6 40	abef	7 00	7 15	hgfedeba	7 41 r
r 7 08	abcd	7 30	7 41	a	7 58
r 7 25	d	7 42	7 45	c	8 03 r
r 7 33	Exp	7 48	8 35	cb	8 53
r 7 42	ab	8 00	8 42	a	8 59
7 57	a	8 13	9 10	fedba	9 32 r
r 8 09	abcd	8 31	9 45	a	10 01 r
r 8 30	Exp	8 45	10 15	ihgfedeba	10 41 r
r 8 53	ad	9 10	10 50	Exp	11 05
r 9 15	abc	9 33	11 15	hgfedeba	11 41 r
r 10 03	a	10 20	11 50	a	12 07
r 10 19	abedefghi	10 45	12 15	hgfedeba	12 41 r
11 12	a	11 28	12 37	a	12 54 r
r 11 24	abedefgh	11 50	12 50	Exp	1 05
12 04	a	12 20	1 11	fedeba	1 32 r
r 12 25	abedefghi	12 52	1 45	a	2 02
1 22	a	1 40	2 15	ihgf	2 37 r
2 04	a	2 20	2 35	Exp	2 59
r 2 19	abedefgh	2 45	3 15	hgfedeba	3 40 r
r 3 13	Exp	3 28	3 45	a	4 02
4 04	a	4 20	4 12	fedeba	4 34 r
r 4 25	abedefgh	4 52	4 41	d	4 58
5 06	Exp	5 20	5 14	a	5 31 r
r 5 30	abedefg	5 55	5 24	a	5 42
6 12	a	6 30	5 31	dcb	5 50 r
7 22	Exp	7 37	5 43	a	6 00 r
r 7 30	a	7 46	5 55	iedeba	6 21 r
r 8 07	abcdef	8 30	6 14	Exp	6 30 r
r 9 01	abc	9 20	6 30	eeba	6 51 r
10 04	a	10 20	7 00	fedeba	7 24 r
r 10 07	abedef	10 30	7 12	a	7 29
r 11 25	abc	11 45	8 05	ba	8 32
			9 25	dba	9 46 r
			10 35	fedeba	11 02 r
			11 10	fedeba	11 35 r
			11 30	ba	11 49

SUNDAYS

r 7 43	abc	8 03	6 30	ba	6 48 r
8 30	Exp	8 45	45	ihgfedeba	9 13 r
8 34	abc	8 52	9 05	Exp	9 21
r 8 46	bcdefghi	9 13	10 15	ihgfedeba	10 42 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	12 15	ihgfedeba	12 42 r
9 31	a	9 47	12 45	Exp	1 01
10 23	ac	10 40	1 30	ihgfedeba	1 57 r
10 31	Exp	10 47	2 15	hgfedeba	2 42 r
11 00	Exp	11 17	2 45	a	3 02
r 11 16	abcdefghi	11 43	3 15	ihgfedeba	3 42 r
1 02	Exp	1 17	4 27	eba	4 48 r
r 1 16	abcdefgh	1 43	5 15	ihgfedeba	5 42 r
r 3 10	abc	3 30	6 15	ihgfedeba	6 42 r
r 4 19	abedefghi	4 43	7 00	eba	7 19 r
r 5 07	abc	5 27	8 15	ihgfedeba	8 41 r
r 6 16	abedefghi	6 43	8 50	Exp	9 05
r 7 16	abedefghi	7 42	9 30	ihgfedeba	9 57 r
r 8 11	abedefghi	8 38	10 45	eba	11 04 r
r 9 05	a	9 22
r 10 46	abc	11 45
r 11 01	abc	11 20

West Quincy for Boston (stopping at East Milton)—6.23, 6.56, 7.17, 8.04, 8.11, 9.07 10.09, 11.01, A. M. 12.09, 1.23, 2.09, 3.18, 4.09, 5.13 6.06, 7.19, 9.09, 11.14 P. M. Sundays—8.20, 9.20 A. M. 12.59, 5.15, 6.50, 11.02 P. M.

Boston for West Quincy (stopping at East Milton)—6.35, 7.27, 8.23, 9.35, 10.25, 11.35 A. M. 12.25 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 5.47, 6.18 7.20, 9.10, 11.20 P. M. Sundays—8.58 A. M 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M.

Montclair for Boston 6.29, 7.27, 8 17, 10 15, A. M. 12.15, 1.29, 4.15, 5.20, 6.12, 7.26, 9.15, P. M. Sundays—8.26, 9.26, A. M. 1.06, 5.21, 11.09 P. M.

Boston for Montclair 9.35, 10.25, 11.35, A. M. 12.25, 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 6.18, 11.20 P. M. Sundays—8.58 A. M. 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M

Boston & Northern St. Ry. Co.

QUINCY DIVISION

TIME TABLE

In effect June 24th, 1911.

Subject to Change Without Notice

Leave QUINCY for

Brockton, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M. then 9.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Brockton, 6.30, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 9.30 P. M Sundays, 8.00A. M. then same as week days.

Braintree, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Braintree, 6.25 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.25 P. M. Sundays, 7.55 A. M. then same as week days.

East Milton, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Milton, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M., and every 20 minutes to 11.45 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.15 midnight.) Sundays, 7.25, A. M. then same as week days.

East Weymouth, 6.00, 6.15, 6.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.42 P. M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Weymouth, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.45 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Holbrook, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M. then 9.50 and 10.20 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Holbrook, 5.55, 6.25, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.00 P. M. Sundays, 8.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Houghs Neck, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 5.20, 5.45, 6.10 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 4.10 P. M. then 4.25, 4.40, 4.55, 5.10, 5.25, 5.40, 5.55, 6.10, 6.25, 6.40, 6.55, 7.10 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 11.10 P. M. then 11.49 P. M. Saturdays and Holidays, 5.20, 5.45, 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, 10.10, 10.40, A. M. then every 15 minutes to 10.40 P. M. then 11.10 and 11.49 P. M. Sundays, 6.50, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, 10.10, 10.40 A. M. then every 15 minutes to 10.40 P. M. then 11.10 P. M. Return, leave Houghs Neck Mondays to Fridays, both inc. 5.45, 6.05, 6.35 A. M. and ever 30 minutes to 4:35 P. M. then 4.50, 5.05, 5.20, 5.35, 5.50, 6.05, 6.20, 6.35, 6.50, 7.05, 7.20, 7.35 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 12.05 midnight. Saturdays and Holidays, 5.45, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05, A. M. then every 15 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.35 and 12.05 P. M. Sundays, 7.20, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05 A. M. then every 15 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.35 P. M.

Nantasket 8.25 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 9.25 P. M. Sundays, 9.25 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Nantasket, 10.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.00 P. M. Sundays, 10.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Hancock Street, 5.45, 6.14, 6.44, 7.14, 7.44, 8.14, 8.35, A. M. then 5, 14, 35 and 44 minutes past each hour to 10.44 P. M. then 12.14 midnight. Sundays 7.14 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Neponset 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, 8.07, 8.36, 8.37, 9.05, 9.37 A. M. then 5, 7, 35 and 37 minutes past each hour to 11.07 P. M. then 12.37 midnight. Sundays, 7.37 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Wollaston. 5.59 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.59 P. M. then 11.14 and 11.44 P. M. Sundays, 6.59 A. M. then same as week days. Return leave Neponset, 6.22 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.22 P. M. then 11.37, 12.07 P. M. Sundays, 7.22 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Norfolk Downs, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 7.55, 8.25, 8.50, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 1.30 P. M. then 2.05, 2.35 P. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.05 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.00 P. M.) Sundays, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Neponset, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 1.35 P. M. then 2.00, 2.30 P. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M.) Sundays, 8.30, 9.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Weymouth Landing, 5.20, 6.00, 6.20, 6.55, 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.00 P. M. Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days. Return leave Weymouth Landing, 5.40, 6.15, A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.15 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Wollaston, 5.59 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.59 P. M. then 11.14 and 11.44 P. M. Sundays, 6.59 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Wollaston, 6.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.30 P. M. then 11.50 and 12.20 P. M. Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days.

West Quincy, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave West Quincy, 6.00, 6.20, 6.50, A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.50 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.20 midnight) Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days.

Leave NEPONSET BRIDGE for Squantum, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 3.30 P. M. then 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30 P. M. then every 60 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Saturdays, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Sundays, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. (Note—Week Days, cars will leave Atlantic Bridge for Squantum, 5.45 and 6.15 A. M.) Return leave Squantum, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 4.05 P. M. then 4.35, 5.05, 5.35, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05 P. M. then every 60 minutes to 11.05 P. M. Saturdays, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 10.05 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. Sundays, 8.05 9.05, 10.05, A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M.

THOMAS GAMMON,
Superintendent.

DANGER IN DELAY

Kidney Diseases Are Too Dangerous for Quincy People to Neglect.

The great danger of kidney troubles is that they get a firm hold before the sufferer recognizes them. Health is gradually undermined. Backache, headache, nervousness, lameness, soreness, lumbago, urinary troubles, dropsy, diabetes and Bright's disease follow in merciless succession. Don't neglect your kidneys. Cure the kidneys with the certain and safe remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills, which has cured people right here in Quincy.

P. J. Garrity, 367 Granite St., Quincy, Mass., says: "Some time ago I suffered so severely from kidney disease that I could hardly get about. I was restless at night and could not find any position that was comfortable. The kidney secretions were too frequent in passage and contained a heavy sediment. I was rapidly growing worse and was at a loss to know what to do, as the many remedies I tried failed to help me. Finally Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended to me and I procured a supply at the Cox Drug Store. After I had taken the contents of four boxes, I was in good health. I highly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to other kidney sufferers."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE

Pursuant to the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by William W. Dromey of Quincy in the County of Norfolk and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, to Malachi L. Jennings, Executor, of Boston in said Commonwealth, dated October 28th, 1910, and filed in the Norfolk Registry District of the Land Court, on December 3d, 1910, Document 1867, will be sold at public auction on the premises described in said mortgage for breach of the conditions of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same on Tuesday, August the 15th, A. D. 1911, at 12 o'clock noon, all and singular the real estate described in said Deed:

A certain parcel of land situated in that part of Quincy called Hillside Park Montclair, in the County of Norfolk and said Commonwealth, bounded and described as follows:—Northerly and Northeasterly by Pope Street shown on a plan hereinafter referred to ninety-six and 46-100 (96.46) feet; Southeasterly by lot numbered fifty-six (56) on said plan eighty-seven and 3-10 (87.3) feet; Southerly by land now or formerly of Pope sixty-nine and 25-100 (69.25) feet; and Southwesterly by lot numbered fifty-nine (59) on said plan ninety (90) feet; containing seven thousand three hundred sixty square (7360) feet. Said parcel is shown as lots numbered fifty-seven (57) and fifty-eight (58) on a plan made by H. T. Whitman C. E. dated February, 1901, a copy of a portion of which is filed in Norfolk Registry District with Certificate No. 18, Vol. 1, Sheets 1 and 2.

Said premises will be sold subject to the taxes assessed as of the year 1911 and subject to accrued interest, if any, and to any existing restrictions. The sum of Two Hundred ($200) Dollars will be required at the time and place of sale; balance in ten days.

MALACHI L. JENNINGS,
Executor Mtgee.

43 Tremont Street.

July 20-3t 20, 27, 3

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

LAND COURT.

To Joseph J. Donahue of Medford, in the County of Middlesex, and said Commonwealth; Edith G. Dorchester of Boston, in the County of Suffolk, and said Commonwealth; Wilton A. Dunham and Bertha M. Anderson of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, and said Commonwealth; Charles F. Adams, 2nd, and Arthur F. Adams, Executors of the will of Fanny C. Adams, late of said Quincy, deceased; the Adams Shore Land Company of said Boston; and to all whom it may concern:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court by William B. Edwards of Germania, in the State of Wyoming and Henrietta W. Koeller of Everett, in said County of Middlesex, to register and confirm their title in the following described land:

A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon, situate in said Quincy, and being Lot No. 186 on a plan by H. T. Whitman and E. W. Branch, surveyors, dated March 14, 1896, and recorded with Norfolk Deeds Book of plans 19, plan 852, bounded and described as follows: Northerly by a private way called Shelton Road fifty nine and 17-100 (59.17) feet; easterly by lot No. 185 on said plan, owned by Edith G. Dorchester, one hundred twenty-five (125) feet; southerly by lot No. 175 on said plan, owned by Wilton A. Dunham fifty-four and 13-100 (54.13) feet; westerly by lot No. 187 on said plan owned by Joseph J. Donahue, one hundred twenty-five (125) feet.

The above described land is shown on a plan filed with said petition, and all boundary lines are claimed to be located on the ground as shown on said plan:

You are hereby cited to appear at the Land Court to be held at Boston, in the County of Suffolk, on the fourteenth day of August A. D. 1911, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted. And unless you appear at said Court at the time and place aforesaid your default will be recorded, and the said petition will be taken as confessed and you will be forever barred from contesting said petition or any decree entered thereon.

Witness, Charles Thornton Davis, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this nineteenth day of July in the year nineteen hundred and eleven.

Attest with Seal of said Court.

(Seal)

CLARENCE C. SMITH,
Recorder.

July 20-3t 20, 27, 3.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

(Continued from Page Three.)

enterprise. I was certain that congress had provided in the statutes affecting the entry and settlement of land in Alaska limitations which would prevent the possibility of the exclusive appropriation of the harbor and channel of Controller bay or its shores or upland to any one railroad. This I propose now to show.

The only practicable method for securing title from the government in such a tract as this after its elimination is by the use of what is called "soldiers' additional homestead right" evidenced by scrip. The statutory limitations upon this method of acquiring title are threefold:

First.—No more than 160 acres can be entered in any single body by such scrip.

Second.—No location of scrip along any navigable waters can be made within the distance of eighty rods of any lands along such waters, and no entry can be allowed extending more than 160 rods along the shore of any navigable water, and along such shore a space of at least eighty rods must be reserved from entry between all such claims.

Third.—Nothing in the act contained is to be construed to authorize entries to be made or title to be acquired to the shore of any navigable waters within said district.

Under the first limitation the navigation company and every other person is prevented from locating more than 160 acres in one body. By the construction of the land department, as shown in the record, this requires a separation between any two entries by the same person or in the same interest of a tract of forty acres. This would prevent the possibility of any one person or any one interest acquiring an entire tract like that of 12,800 acres.

Frontage Held by Government.

The second limitation is important in that it prevents the entry of claims at any point on the shore having a greater frontage than half a mile and requires that between that and the next claim taken up there shall be a frontage reserved to the public and kept in public control of a quarter of a mile. The consequence is that in the seven miles of the frontage of this eliminated tract there must be reserved for government control and use and such disposition as congress may see fit to make and free from private appropriation a frontage aggregating two and three-quarter miles and so distributed along the shore in frontages of eighty rods as to make certain of a public frontage of this width having all the advantage that any private frontage can have. In other words, if a tract with a half mile frontage is located at a particularly advantageous place with reference to the harbor then on each side of that frontage must be reserved to the public a frontage of a quarter of a mile, or a half mile in all, for public uses.

These two restrictions necessarily prevent a monopoly of land abutting on the shore, and as they necessarily prevent a monopoly by any one locator or in the interest of any company for whom locators are acting they take away the motive for the acquisition of land and frontage merely for the purpose of excluding other companies and possible competitors and tend to confine locators to the acquisition of land to be profitable in its use.

Since the executive order was issued, Oct. 28, 1910, there have been four locations under soldiers' scrip, three of them of 160 rods each along the bay, separated by two divisions of eighty rods. I shall assume that all of them are in the interest of the Controller Railway and Navigation company. None of them has been approved or passed to patent, but I shall assume they can be passed to valid patent.

Frontage Left Open.

Of the shore frontage unlocated which may be appropriated by scrip there remain six frontages of 160 rods each on the shore of the tract opened by the executive order facing the bay and channel, and in addition at least two and three-quarter miles of frontage distributed in eleven eighty-rod strips, subject to public use and the disposition of congress. There is thus ample room for many other railroads to reach high water mark on Controller bay and there to acquire tracts for terminals. Of the 12,800 acres the entries in area have covered only 800 acres, and all the rest is available for scrip location under the provisions of the act.

There is a third reason why the opening of this tract to settlement and limited private appropriations cannot lead to a monopoly in the Controller Bay company or any one else. The distance from the dry land—i. e., the shore land—the line of high water mark—to the line of low water mark is between two and three miles, and the distance to deeper water is about a mile farther, making it necessary, if a harbor is to be reached and used, to construct a viaduct or trestle three or four miles long from the shore to the channel. This tidal flat is owned by the United States, and the acquisition under the public land laws of tracts on the shore abutting these tidal flats gives no right or title to those flats. This would be the law if the statute was silent on the subject, but not only the statute of 1898 but also the amending statute of 1903 expressly imposes the restriction that no title or right can be obtained under the act in the shore of a navigable body of water.

I submit to all fair minded men who may have been disturbed over the charges made in respect to the executive order of Oct. 28, 1910, that it has been demonstrated by the foregoing that no public interest has suffered from its issue, that great good may come from it and that no dishonest or improper motive is needed to explain it. I might, therefore, stop here; but, rather, for the purpose of the moral to be drawn from them than to vindicate the order, I propose to consider the attacks upon the order that hysteria or rancor has prompted.

Order Was Made Public.

The charge has been made that this was a secret order and that though it was made in October, 1910, no one knew it until April, 1911. This is utterly unfounded. The statement of Mr. Vernon, the correspondent of the Post-Intelligencer of Seattle, a newspaper of wide circulation among a people most interested in Alaska, shows that ten days before the order was made news of the details of Ryan's application and the probability of its being granted was given wide publicity. It further appears from the records of the interior department that the evening the order was signed, Oct. 28, 1910, a full notice of the issue of the order and its details was furnished by the department to all correspondents in the form of a news bulletin. Finally the agent of the Associated Press certifies that at 7:23 p. m., Oct. 28, 1910, there was sent out by that association to all its newspaper clients a telegram taken from a typewritten statement issued by the interior department as follows:

Washington, Oct. 28.—Approximately 12,800 acres of land in the Chugach National forest, Alaska, have been restored by the president for disposition under appropriate land laws, according to information made public today by the interior department. These lands are situated on the coast line of Controller bay, in southern Alaska, near the Cunningham claims, and have been found upon examination to be of little value for forestry purposes.

It would be difficult to prepare an advertisement more informing to the public or more likely to attract the attention of all likely to desire acquisition of land on Controller bay. On the 29th the chief forester sent a telegram making a similar announcement to his district forester at Portland, Ore.

The order has been attacked on the ground that it did not contain a provision delaying its taking effect for thirty days after its publication, as orders restoring land to settlement by homesteaders frequently do. An examination of the record furnishes an explanation of this feature of the order as made. When in October the two departments had agreed, with my acquiescence, that the order should be an elimination of only 320 acres an...der describing the 320 acres, directing its restoration to settlement and containing the usual provision postponing its taking effect thirty days was prepared in the forestry bureau and forwarded to the interior department. There it was deemed wiser to spread on the face of the order a specific declaration that it was made to afford terminals for the Controller Railway and Navigation company, and as no one else was expected to intervene and take up any part of the eliminated tract the restoration was made immediate.

Approved by Secretary.

The form thus amended was submitted to the secretary of agriculture, who expressed his preference for the immediate restoration order through his solicitor's memorandum on the face of the order, as follows:

Mr. Clements, Assistant Attorney In the Interior Department—We think this O. K. The secretary says it is the direct way and appeals to him.

GEORGE P. M'CABE.

The idea of the secretary doubtless was that the short form of order was preferable because on its face it was directly indicative of the purpose to secure an opportunity to the railway company by proper entry to settle on the land eliminated, and as no one else was expected to intervene no postponement was needed. Accordingly when the case came for decision in the cabinet the order was without any postponement clause. This was the form sent me for my signature by the acting secretary of the interior department.

When I directed the striking out of the reference to the railway company and the enlargement of the area from 320 acres to 12,800 acres the form of the order in its provision for immediate restoration was not changed. I have no doubt that this was the reason why the order issued took the form it did. Had the postponement clause been suggested I would doubtlessly have directed it to be embodied in the order. But the event has proven that it was really not important in this case, for in now nearly nine months only the Controller Railway Navigation company has made any scrip entries on the eliminated tract, and this although 11,000 acres and three miles of water front still remain open to entry and there are several different railway companies in addition to the Controller Railway and Navigation company that had filed locations for rights of way in the vicinity in the last two years who have had in the last nine months the fullest notice of their opportunity if they wished to enter on this land.

The "Dick to Dick" Letter.

Before closing I desire to allude to a circumstance which the terms of this resolution make apt and relevant. It is a widely published statement attributed to a newspaper correspondent that in an examination of the files of the interior department a few weeks ago a postscript was found attached to a letter of July 13, 1910, addressed by Mr. Richard S. Ryan to Secretary Ballinger—and in the present record—urging the elimination of land enough for terminals for the Controller Railway and Navigation company. The postscript was said to read as follows:

Dear Dick—I went to see the president the other day. He asked me who it was I represented. I told him, according to our agreement, that I represented myself. But this didn't seem to satisfy him. So I sent for Charlie Taft and asked him to tell his brother, the president, who it was I really represented. The president made no further objection to my claim. Yours, DICK.

The postscript is not now on the files of the department. If it were, it would be my duty to transmit it under this resolution. Who is really responsible for its wicked fabrication, if it ever existed, or for the viciously false statement made as to its authenticity is immaterial for the purposes of this communication. The purport of the alleged postscript is and the intention of the fabricator was to make Mr. Richard S. Ryan testify through its words to the public that although I was at first opposed in the public interest to granting the elimination which he requested, nevertheless through the undue influence of my brother, Mr. Charles P. Taft, and the disclosure of the real persons in interest I was induced improperly and for the promotion of their private gain to make the order.

The statement in so far as my brother is concerned—and that is the chief feature of the postscript—is utterly unfounded. He never wrote to me or spoke to me in reference to Richard S. Ryan or on the subject of Controller bay or the granting of any privileges or the making of any orders in respect to Alaska. He has no interest in Alaska, never had and knows nothing of the circumstances connected with this transaction. He does not remember that he ever met Richard S. Ryan. He never heard of the Controller Bay railroad until my cablegram of inquiry reached him.

Mr. Ballinger says in a telegram in answer to my inquiry that he never received such a postscript and that he was in Seattle on the date of July 13, when it was said to have been written.

Mr. Richard S. Ryan, in a letter which he has sent me without solicitation, says that he never met my brother, Mr. Charles P. Taft, and that so far as he knows Mr. Charles P. Taft never had the slightest interest in Controller bay, in the Controller Railway and Navigation company or in any Alaskan company, and he utterly denies writing or signing the alleged postscript. The utter improbability of his writing such a postscript to Mr. Ballinger at Washington when the latter was away for his vacation for two months must impress every one.

The fact is that Mr. Ballinger never saw the letter of July 13, 1910, to which this postscript is said to have been attached. It was sent to me by Mr. Carr, Secretary Ballinger's private secretary, at Beverly, on July 14—the next day. I read the letter at Beverly in August with other papers and sent them to the White House. It was placed upon the White House files and remained there until April 22, 1911, when it was, by request of Secretary Fisher, for use in connection with his answer to a senate inquiry, returned to the interior department, and it was after this that the correspondent is said to have seen the letter with the postscript attached. Mr. Carr saw no such postscript when he sent the letter to me. I did not see it when I read it. No one saw it in the executive office, but it remained to appear as a postscript when it is said that the correspondent saw the letter in April or May on the files of the interior department. All others were denied the sight.

The person on whose statement the existence of what has been properly characterized as an amazing postscript is based is a writer for newspapers and magazines, who was given permission by Secretary Fisher, after consultation with me, to examine all the files in respect to the Controller bay matter, and this under the supervision of Mr. Brown, then private secretary to the secretary of the interior. After the examination, at which it is alleged this postscript was received from the hand of Mr. Brown, the correspondent prepared an elaborate article on the subject of this order and Controller bay, which was submitted to Mr. Fisher and which was discussed with Mr. Fisher at length, but never in the conversation between them or in the article submitted did the correspondent mention the existence of the postscript. Mr. Brown states that there was no such postscript in the papers when he showed them to the correspondent and that he never saw such a postscript. Similar evidence is given by Mr. Carr and other custodians of the records in the interior department.

Stronger evidence of the falsity and maliciously slanderous character of the alleged postscript could not be had. Its only significance is the light it throws on the bitterness and venom of some of these who take active part in every discussion of Alaskan issues. The intensity of their desire to besmirch all who invest in that district and all who are officially connected with its administration operates upon the minds of weak human instruments and prompts the fabrication of such false testimony as this postscript. I dislike to dwell upon this feature of the case, but it is so full of a lesson that ought to be taken to the heart of every patriotic citizen that I cannot pass it over in silence.

When I made this order I was aware that the condition of public opinion in reference to investments in Alaska, fanned by charges of fraud, some well founded and others of an hysterical and unjust or false character, would lead to an attack upon it and to the questioning of my motives in signing it. I remarked this when I made the order, and I was not mistaken. But a public officer when he conceives it his duty to take affirmative action in the public interest has no more right to allow fear of unjust criticism and attack to hinder him from taking that action that he would to allow personal and dishonest motives to affect him. It is easy in cases like this to take the course which timidity prompts and to do nothing, but such a course does not inure to the public weal.

I am in full sympathy with the concern of reasonable and patriotic men that the valuable resources of Alaska should not be turned over to be exploited for the profit of greedy, absorbing and monopolistic corporations or syndicates. Whatever the attempts which have been made, no one, as a matter of fact, has secured in Alaska any undue privilege or franchise not completely under the control of congress. I am in full agreement with the view that every care, both in administration and in legislation, must be observed to prevent the corrupt or unfair acquisition of undue privilege, franchise or right from the government in that district. But every one must know that the resources of Alaska can never become available either to the people of Alaska or to the public of the United States unless reasonable opportunity is granted to those who would invest their money to secure a return proportionate to the risk run in the investment and reasonable under all the circumstances.

On the other hand, the acrimony of spirit and the intense malice that have been engendered in respect of the administration of the government in Alaska and in the consideration of measures proposed for her relief and the wanton recklessness and eagerness with which attempts have been made to besmirch the characters of high officials having to do with the Alaskan government and even of persons not in public life present a condition that calls for condemnation and requires that the public be warned of the demoralization that has been produced by the hysterical suspicions of good people and the unscrupulous and corrupt misrepresentations of the wicked. The helpless state to which the credulity of some and the malevolent scandal mongering of others have brought the people of Alaska in their struggle for its development ought to give the public pause, for until a juster and fairer view be taken investment in Alaska, which is necessary to its development, will be impossible, and honest administrators and legislators will be embarrassed in the advocacy and putting into operation of those policies in regard to the territory which are necessary to its progress and prosperity.

WILLIAM H. TAFT.

The White House, July 26, 1911.

TO INSIST UPON ORIGINAL PACT

Group of Ministers Handling the Situation In Morocco

KING ALFONSO ON THE SCENE

London, July 27.—There are strong evidences in the German press of increasing nervousness with reference to the Moroccan situation. Columns of dispatches from various points record pessimistic rumors.

That Germany will get compensation in South Africa as a result of her descent upon Agadir in return for the freer hand which France is seeking in Morocco is conceded, but it is also clear that Great Britain is not going to permit the establishment of a German naval base on the west coast of Africa, if she can prevent it.

The status of the negotiations might be described as a deadlock.

Vessels carrying Great Britain's trade pass within striking distance of Agadir, Morocco, and British statesmen maintain that to allow a hostile power to establish itself on the flank of these lines of communication would be a vital menace to this country.

It is understood that Germany is insisting upon her original program of compensations. Should France persist in returning a non possimus, Germany would want the application of the Algeciras act, namely, that France should evacuate the interior of the country. The mandate of the powers authorizing France with Spain to police Morocco expires this year and this mandate Germany would be unwilling to renew.

The activity of the foreign office is again marked, the indications pointing to the near approach of a stage where the crisis either will become acutely virulent or begin to dissolve. The composition of the group of ministers actively handling the situation proves the continued solidarity of the Anglo-French entente.

King Alfonso appeared on the scene and immediately came into London, where he conferred with Sir Edward Grey.

Unless an arrangement is reached in the meantime the Atlantic fleet, the projected visit of which to Norway was cancelled, will be sent back to its base at Gibraltar at the end of the week.

There was later an unconfirmed rumor in stock exchange circles that another conference of the powers would be held in August to dispose of the Moroccan question.

ROOSTER COAL BRIQUETS

THE NEW ANTHRACITE COAL

ROOSTER BRIQUETS are made from the choicest small Scranton Anthracite coal, mined in Pennsylvania, called TWENTIETH CENTURY CHESTNUT size.

Just consider for a moment what we offer here in this 20th CENTURY CHESTNUT.

First, 200 pounds of clean, pure, hard coal without a rock or a piece of slate.

Second, fuel that cannot form into a clinker, by any known method of firing, consequently the linings and grates last indefinitely.

Third, they are made in nut size, being equally convenient for furnace heaters, open grates, as well as stoves; therefore, only one storage bin is necessary.

Fourth, and very IMPORTANT, the quality of this fuel is the SAME EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR, not a good ton today, and nothing like it the next time, in other words, when you once learn how to regulate your drafts you have nothing more to learn about burning BRIQUETS.

Fifth, no more sifting ashes these Briquets burn out clean. They require less wood to kindle.

Be sure to ask for "ROOSTERS" and get the Briquet made from pure Scranton Coal, from the largest Briquet plant in the country. They are better than coal, will last as long and cost less.

J. F. SHEPPARD & SONS,
AGENTS

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.

TUB DRESSES

Ginghams, Muslins, Chambrays and Cotton Foulards

12 DIFFERENT STYLES

--- FOR ---

$1.98

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

A WELL COOKED DINNER

If you have a good cook is assured when you use a gas stove or gas range. The heat is steady and uniform, which is not the case with a wood or coal stove, and you can raise or lower the flame as you please—which of course, is impossible on any other kind of cook-stove. To make a fire, you simply turn on the gas and apply a match. To put it out, turn off the gas.

COOK WITH CAS

CITIZENS' GAS LIGHT CO.

11 Granite St., Quincy

BAREFOOT SANDALS

The best thing for the children to wear during the warm weather. They are light and comfortable and give good satisfaction.

CHILDS	5 to 8	45c
MISSES	8 to 11	50c

HEFFERNAN'S SHOE STORE
1375 Hancock Street, Quincy

Children Cry
FOR FLETCHER'S
CASTORIA

Quincy Daily Ledger

FOR SALE AT

BOSTON—At South Station after 3.30 P. M.
QUINCY—Ledger Office 1424 Hancock Street.
L. A. Chapin, 1395 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, oppo. Depot.
Thompson's Waiting Room, City Sq.
H. P. Kittredge, City Square.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
Mrs. Madden, 16 Quincy ave.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's News Stand.
PARK&DOWNS—Branschied & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
QUINCY NECK—Stetson Pierce, Newcomb Square.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith, Washington Street.
Gray's Pharmacy.
L. A. Cook, Washington Street.
E. O. Godfrey, 538 Washington St.
E. H. Lowe, Washington Street.
George E. Sprague Cor. River St.
SOUTH QUINCY—Litchfield, Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Miss C. Booth, Brooks Avenue.
BREWER'S CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
Mrs. F. H. Stanley.
WEST QUINCY—F. A. Skinner.
John G. Belanger.
HOUGHS NECK—Capt. Fosdick's.

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	77 degrees
July 27, 1910,	91 degrees
July 27, 1909,	91 degrees
July Noon Maximum, 14 years,	101
July Noon Minimum, 14 years.	60

Not at the Reunion.

First Vet—I didn't see old Genera Skipp at our reunion.
Second Vet—No; he is in retreat. "He always was."

BRIEFS

Another month and all eyes will be on the Squantum aviation field.

The City Treasurer has advertised for bids for a temporary loan of $50,000.

Whist party tonight at the Quincy Yacht club house. These parties are free to members and their ladies.

Some great improvements are being made to Hancock hall, which is being remodelled into an up to date theatre.

Although the number of horses seen on the streets is growing less every day, the price of good horses remains at top notch.

The telephone company is expending a large sum in Quincy this summer, extending its underground conduit system.

Judge George of Suffolk county, officiated for Judge Flint Wednesday at the Brookline session of probate court.

More rain is promised for Friday. It has been so dry for several weeks that a little more rain will be very acceptable.

Mrs. Herbert F. Doble of West Quincy who has been a patient at the Quincy Hospital for some weeks returned to her home Tuesday.

Arthur L. McGilvray clerk at Walsh's Hancock street drug store, goes to Georges Mills, N. H., for a two weeks' vacation starting early next month.

The Granite Railway Co. have some fine photographs, showing the interior of one of their celebrated dark stock quarries as well as a car loaded with stock ready for shipment.

The funeral of Mary Melvin was held Wednesday, from St. Mary's church, where mass was celebarted by Rev. William J. Duffy. The Gregorian mass being sung by the regular choir. The burial was at St. Mary's cemetery.

It has been a long time since there was much work underway in the street department as at the present time, large gangs of men being at work in every ward of city on street improvements. This makes the weekly pay roll quite large.

BIRTHS

VAN IDERSTINE—In Quincy, July 26, a son to Mr. and Mrs. George H. Van Iderstine of Glendale road.

Established 1870 Telephone
JOHN HALL
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
Carriage and Ambulance Service
1485 Hancock Street, Quincy Mass.

ATHLETIC MEET ON PLAYGROUND

150 Children Participated On Wednesday Afternoon

THE WINNERS

An athletic meet was held in the Ward One playground Wednesday afternoon with over 150 children participating. Prizes were awarded to the winners of first, second and third places. Great enthusiasm was shown by the children and all the events were keenly contested. In the babies dash a very amusing thing occurred. Little Bill, the Y. M. C. A. mascot, was many yards ahead when half way to the finish. He fell down and the other children were unable to stop and pigpiled over him. The race was finally won by a little girl, Agnes McDonald.

The summary:

Events for boys 11 years old and under.

50 yard dash—Won by V. Pitts; V. Moynihan, 2nd; Charles Deacon, 3rd.

Standing Broad Jump—Won by M. Levinson; J. McDonald, 2nd; W. Pierce, 3rd.

Running Broad Jump—Won by G. Hurley; D. Desarvo, 2nd; R. Guston, 3rd.

Shot Put—Won by D. Whinhouse; G. Hurley, 2nd; J. Moynihan, 3rd.

Eight Potato Race—Won by Moynihan; D. Desarvo, 2nd; W. Hurley, 3rd.

Events for boys 12 to 15 years old:

50 yard dash—Won by W. Falconer; H. Maloney, 2nd; J. McDonald, 3rd.

Standing Broad Jump—Won by S. Socket; G. Gronberg, 2nd; R. Melandy, 3rd.

Running Broad Jump—Won by W. Falconer; C. Gronberg, 2nd; S. Socket, 3rd.

Shot Put—Won by S. Socket; C. Gronberg, 2nd; W. Falconer, 3rd.

Eight Potato Race—Won by J. McNeil; W. Falconer, 2nd.

Events for girls 11 years old and under:

50 yard dash—Won by Rena Stoddard; Ruth Dunham, 2nd; Florence Clarkin, 3rd.

Potato Race—Won by Mildred Anderson; Rena Stoddard, 2nd; Julia Moynihan, 3rd.

Babies Race—Won by Agnes McDonald; Morris Socket, 2nd; Paul Hurley, 3rd.

Events for older girls:

50 yard dash—Won by Beatrice Levinson; Evelyn Rogers, 2nd; Julia Moynihan, 3rd.

Potato Race—Won by Ethel Anderson; Marion Finn, 2nd; Florence Ellis, 3rd.

Three Legged Race—Won by Marion Finn and Florence Ellis; E. Anderson and J. Moynihan, 2nd; J. Whinhouse and D. Houlihan, 3rd.

Officials—Starter, L. H. Clee; Clerk of Course, I. T. Gumb, Judges at Finish, Miss Bass, McDonald, McNeil.

The widow's young son sat down on the curbstone and refused to budge. "He is afraid I will marry again," the widow explained to her escort."

"I don't see the connection of Ideas," was the reply.

"He won't go a stepfather," the widow explained.—Harper's Weekly.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Massachusetts Highway Commission.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

Sealed proposals, addressed to the Massachusetts Highway Commission and endorsed "Proposals for building a reinforced concrete beam bridge over the Neponset River and the approaches thereto, in the town of Walpole, will be received by the Massachusetts Highway Commission at its office, 15 Ashburton Place, Boston, Mass., until 12 o'clock noon, on the first day of August, 1911, and at that time and place will be publicly opened and read.

Bids must be made upon blanks to be furnished by the Commision.

A pamphlet containing the necessary information and blanks will be furnished upon application, upon receipt of a deposit of $2.00, said amount to be returned if the person taking the pamphlet makes a bid for the work on the form provided in said pamphlet, or returns the pamphlet at or before the time of the opening of the bids.

No bids will be received unless accompanied by a certified check for the sum of $250, payable to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

The Commission reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

HAROLD PARKER,
WILLIAM D. SOHIER,
FRANK D. KEMP,
Massachusetts Highway Com.
Boston, July 25, 1911.
July 27-1t

TO LET—A flat of five rooms with all the latest improvements on Berkley street, Bigelow park. Apply to 47 Main street, Quincy. July 27-3t

USED DIAMOND STUD AS BAIT FOR FISH.

Jack London, the Novelist, Caught Trout With a Sparkler.

Tucked snugly in the heart of the Olympic mountains, in northwestern Washington, is Lake Crescent. The attraction there recently was the author, Jack London. Just why Mr. London chose this region for an outing was because of a desire of his sporting blood to respond to a new call of the wild.

In Lake Crescent abound the renowned Beardslee trout, found nowhere else in the world.

London went to Lake Crescent with the avowed intention of remaining until he had captured a Beardslee trout. For four days he went out in the morning and rowed back at night, ate his meals and retired to his tent. Not a word was said. Guests saw him bring in strings of fine speckled and Dolly Varden trout, but not a Beardslee.

Among the guests was Alexander Pantages, who learned of London's great desire and planned to play a little trick on the author. One morning he approached London at breakfast and offered to bet $195 against all the money London had in his pockets that he would not catch a good Beardslee trout during his stay.

London found $3, and they left the money with the innkeeper. In the flat bottomed boat assigned to each guest London rowed across the lake, fully five miles, and fished all day. His boat was fairly swamped with various species of trout and some nice landlocked salmon. But in spite of forty-seven changes of flies and three hours of trolling not a Beardslee trout even made a strike at the hooks and spoons.

Suddenly the author was seized with an inspiration. Selecting a wondrously well made trolling spoon, London took his diamond stud and tied it to the gut leader an inch above the cluster of hooks, and then bent to the task of trolling the placid waters of the cove. Hardly had the hook touched the water when a strike and a tug of the line assured the author that a fish was hooked. Fish and man fought a battle for fifteen minutes. In the end the man won. Soon in the stern of the boat lay a beautifully spotted trout, thirty-four inches long and weighing about nine pounds.

About dinner time London carried the prize to the veranda, where guests had assembled, and displayed it, remarking what a fine mounted specimen it would make. Then he walked to the clerk's counter and pocketed the $198. It cost Pantages another $50 to learn how the trout was caught, as the author told of the diamond display on his trolling spoon.

"And it's no nature fake," said London, "for there is the trout and here is the diamond stud."

NEW COLLEGE PLANNED.

Southern Bureau of Education Will Erect Great Institution.

The southern bureau of education, with headquarters at Chattanooga, Tenn., is considering propositions for a site for a great agricultural and industrial institute. Heretofore this bureau has helped worthy institutions already established, but now the intention is to erect an institution for the benefit of mountain whites of both sexes.

Definite action on the proposition is to be taken at a meeting to be held at Nashville on Aug. 29.

The institution which the bureau will build will give boys and girls an education equal to a high school curriculum less the languages. Also each pupil must study some branch of industry, such as agriculture, carpentering and joining, blacksmithing, tinsmithing, bricklaying, wagon making, machinery, foundry work of all kinds, confectionery and all the industrial arts, together with dressmaking, millinery, domestic science and practical housekeeping. Commercial business training will also be a part of the instruction.

It has been stipulated that the community securing the location of the institution must donate 5,000 acres of land, part of which will be devoted to demonstrative farming and the remainder timbered in order to furnish material for perpetual manufacturing uses.

Bishop Thomas C. Carter of Chattanooga is president of the bureau.

ADMINISTRATRIX NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administratrix of the estate of Annie McDevitt late of Quincy in the County of Norfolk, deceased, intestate, and has taken upon herself that trust by giving bond as the law directs.

All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to

(Address)
No. 103 Elm Avenue, Wollaston Mass.
MARY AGNES MCDEVITT
Administratrix.
July 26, 1911.
July 27-Aug. 3-10

Cremo 5¢
CIGAR
QUALITY PLUS

GIRLS ARE ARRESTED IN LYNN

Inspector Goodhue went to Lynn, Wednesday night, and sought the aid of the police of that city in the arrest of two twenty year old girls, Sadie White and Sadie Millett for whom he held warrants for a serious charge. The arrest was the outcome of the raid made by the police at the premises of Giazio Zanon, at 107 Liberty street, early this week. Before the officers made the raid, Inspector Goodhue, was watching the house through one of the windows and what he saw, caused him to secure warrants against the two girls in question and against Alexander Biaggini a son of the Zanon woman. All three were arraigned in court this morning and their cases continued until Aug. 10.

BRIEFS

Since the recent raids at Houghs Neck by the police, things in that berg have been quiet and orderly as they should be. Wednesday and Saturday are great nights at the beach, owing to the dancing parties.

All of the houses on the C. H. Spear property on Franklin place, on the land recently purchased by the railroad, in anticipation of the abolishing of the grade crossing at Water street and the laying of the four track system, have been moved to their new location.

BULLETINS FREE.

The Massachusetts Agricultural Experiment Station has just issued two bulletins which should prove of much value.

1. No. 137 relates to lime. It tells how to determine what soils are in need of an appliaction of lime and the beneficial effects which follow its use. It teels also what crops are especially benefitted by lime, and points out that some are injured. It tells where lime can be obtained, gives the composition of different kinds and their relative cost. No subjects interest land owners at the present time more than the questions as to whether their soils need lime, the kind of lime which will be best, and the right methods of using it. This bulletin gives just the information needed.

2. No. 138, Tomato Diseases. This bulletin will be especially valuable to those engaged in the production of tomatoes as a hot house crop, but it will be of value also to those producing it as an out-door crop. It discusses all the common diseases from which the crop suffers, gives information as to causes in-so-far as these are known, as well as the methods to be followed for prevention or treatment.

These bulletins will be sent on application. Address Massachusetts Agricultural Experiment Station, Amherst, Mass.

WOLLASTON DEFEATED BROCKTON.

The Wollaston Golf club team easily defeated the Brockton team at the Montclair links Wednesday taking all 3 matches of foursomes. All the victories were by large margins. This is one of the state sectional matches which have been introduced with great success this year.

The summary:

C. M. Hart and J. J. Gallagher defeated E. G. Hudson and R. C. Ward by 6 and 5.

C. Price and J. Mulcahy defeated F. H. Thayer and K. A. Fried by 6 and 4.

R. R. Freeman and S. H. Lawton defeated A. G. Chase and L. Hazeltine by 6 and 5.

A team from the Wollaston club will go to Brockton for a match in singles on August 2.

SPORTING NOTES.

The challenge match of the Quincy Tennis club takes place Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clok. Messrs. Rockwell and Carleton of the Vesper Country club, Lowell will meet Barker and Hillman of the Wollaston Tennis club, the present holders of the Challenge cups. Mrs. Harold Davenport and Miss Maude Perkins are the hostesses of the afternoon. Everyone is invited to attend the match whether a member of the club or not.

The Y. M. C. A. baseball team goes to Somerville on Saturday to play the Somerville Y. M. C. A. team. The local association team hopes to get its regular lineup on the field this time and although the men have had little time to practice together this year, they should be able to put up a good game and stand a chance of winning.

ALEXANDER AFTER COOMBS' RECORD

Phillies' Star Pitcher Has Lofty Ambition First Year In League.

EXPECTS TO BE GREATEST EVER

Admits That He Is Learning More About Art of Twirling With Every Game—Players Say He Never Knows When to Quit.

Grover Cleveland Alexander, affectionately termed Alexander the Great by the baseball fans, has an ambition so great that the baseball world is due for a sensation if he succeeds in achieving it.

The big Nebraskan is a modest sort of chap and has but little to say in regard to himself or his ability to twirl. Alex's general expression is: "Well, I don't mind a little work if Charley wants men to work overtime. He is the boss, and I'll do whatever he says."

But down deep in his heart Alexander has a desire to eclipse the record made by Jack Coombs last season, when the Athletics' twirler won thirty-one games, breaking the local Philadelphia record.

Photo by American Press Association.

ALEXANDER, PHILLIES' CRACK YOUNG TWIRLER.

Alex does not like to talk about it and hardly dares hope that he will be successful, but he has informed Manager Dooln that he can work every other day if the team needs a few victories.

One morning recently while the big twirler was seated in the clubhouse he turned to a reporter and said, "Say, how many games did this fellow Jack Coombs win last summer?"

He was told thirty-one, and Alex said: "Well, I have eighteen now, and the season is mighty young. Gee, I would give anything to beat that record, and I think I might if I am worked enough.

"Wouldn't it be great if I could break in with a record like that? But at that I don't care and won't ask to be worked out of turn if the other fellows are going good and we win the games.

"They always worked me lots up at Syracuse, and I did not get going until the middle of the season. I never went so well this early in the season, and I generally get better as the season progresses.

"I have learned a lot since I've been with the Phillies. Dooln and Moran and all the players teach me something new all the time. Some of the other pitchers who have been in the game for a long time have been good to me in this way, and it all helps."

No one is stronger for the big, red haired chap than Manager Dooln, and it is not simply because he is pulling the team. Charley likes nerve, and if Alex were with another club the Phillie manager would still think the same of him.

Dooln is now nursing Alexander carefully, but at the same time has lots of fun kidding "Dode," as Alexander is known in St. Paul, Neb., about needing more work.

Prior to the game with Boston recently Alexander warmed up for at least three-quarters of an hour and then came in to the bench and said: "Does any one want to field a few bunts? I need a little batting practice."

One of the players said: "Come on; sit down and take a rest. Don't you ever get tired?"

"What's the use? A fellow has to have work," grinned the big fellow.

Dooln was seated on the bench and, with a wink to the other players, called out:

"Pretty near time you got out there and warmed up a little, Alex. You know a little bit of work won't hurt you."

"I know it, Charley, but I am in pretty good shape at present."

The fiery topped leader of the Phillies sat back and took a hearty laugh.

"You can't beat him," he said. "He is the funniest kid I ever saw. The more he works the better he likes it. He never seems to tire."

At present he tips the beam at 173 pounds, and he has not been under 170 nor over 175 pounds since the start of the season.

ON THE DIAMOND

American League

At Boston:	R	H	E
Boston	3	8	1
Chicago	1	9	3

Batteries—Pape and Carrigan; Baker, Young and Payne.

At Washington:	R	H	E
Washington	12	14	5
Detroit	5	11	4

Batteries—Walker, Groom and Ainsmith; Lafitte, Covington, Mitchell, Works, Casey and Stanage.

At Philadelphia:	R	H	E
Philadelphia	6	7	0
Cleveland	5	9	4

Batteries—Morgan, Plank, Lapp and Thomsa; James, Fisher and Smith.

At New York:	R	H	E
St. Louis	7	10	3
New York	6	11	2

Batteries—Hamilton, Nelson and Kritchell; Caldwell, Vaughan, Brockett, Williams and Sweeney.

Second Game:	R	H	E
New York	5	8	3
St. Louis	1	5	0

Batteries—Warhop and Blair; George and Kritchell.

National League

At Chicago:	R	H	E
Chicago	4	4	2
Boston	1	2	1

Batteries—Reulbach and Archer; McTigue, Weaver and Kling.

Second Game:	R	H	E
Chicago	7	10	1
Boston	2	6	8

Batteries—Cole and Archer; Purdue and Kling.

At St. Louis:	R	H	E
St. Louis	7	12	0
Philadelphia	6	8	1

Batteries—Geyer, Harmon and Bliss; Moore, Alexander, Moran and Dooin.

At Cincinnati:	R	H	E
New York	5	11	1
Cincinnati	3	8	2

Batteries—Wiltse, Matthewson and Meyers; Gaspar and McLean.

At Pittsburg:	R	H	E
Pittsburg	12	10	2
Brooklyn	1	6	1

Batteries—Camnitz, Gardner and Simon; Scanlon, Burke and Bergen.

New England League

At Lowell:	R	H	E
Lowell	6	9	3
New Bedford	3	6	2

Batteries—Yount and Lavigne; Bushelman and Rufiange.

At Lawrence:	R	H	E
Lawrence	10	12	1
Brockton	6	9	2

Batteries—Duffy, Luyster and Breymaier; Ward, Gaw and Wadleigh.

Second Game:	R	H	E
Lawrence	8	14	0
Brockton	0	5	3

Batteries—Howard and Ulrich; Ward, Foley, Tevlin and Wadleigh.

At Haverhill:	R	H	E
Lynn	10	12	4
Hayerhill	6	15	4

Batteries—Abbott and Daum; Kyte, Blery and Milliman.

Second Game:	R	H	E
Haverhill	1	7	3
Lynn	0	4	1

Batteries—McIntyre and Milliman; Reiger and Wakefield.

HOME TRADE WILL HELP QUINCY AND EVERYONE IN QUINCY.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents. Three consecutive insertions 50 cents, 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.
No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

LOST

LOST—A sum of money at the Quincy depot, Wednesday, P. M. Reward of $10 if returned to S. S., Ledger office. July 27-3t

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Two house lots, 3000 feet each, on Liberty street, Quincy. Apply Miss McLeod, 76 Chandler street Boston. July 27-3t

FOR SALE—Two horses, stone wagon, harness, and sleigh in good condition. Inquire at 34 Clark avenue, Quincy. July 26-3t

FOR SALE—A Steck grand square piano, New York make, in first-class condition. For information inquire at 49 Upland road. Terms low. Tel. 507-1, Quincy. July 26-6t

FOR SALE

The cozy home, situated No. 24 Marsh Street, consisting of a six room house, city water, 4400 square feet of land, fruit trees. Price reasonable.

Call and see,

JAMES F. BURKE,
REAL ESTATE AGENT,
Room 4, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, Mass.
July 15-tf

WANTED

WANTED AT ONCE—1 good Granite Polisher Machine Work. $3.00 to $3.50 per day. Syenite Granite Co., 125 S.4th street, St. Louis, Mo. July 27-1t

BOY

MORE MONEY IN ONE DAY may be earned with me than during AN ENTIRE WEEK, in other ways. Applicants must be bright, neatly dressed, clean hands and face. I want the MANLIEST boy in the city. Come early prepared for work.
H. J. SMITH,
40 North Street,
Quincy, Mass.
July 27-1t

TO LET

TO LET—A tenement, range and bath. Moderate rent. Inquire 70 Glencoe place, Quincy. July 27-tf

TO LET—In Wollaston Park, small suite, modern improvements, nice locality, near beach and cars. Apply 132 Marlboro street, Wollaston. July 26-6t

BOARD AND ROOM—Two young men can be accommodated with room and board in strictly private family near centre. Everything first-class. Home privileges to right party. References exchanged. Address "R. F. E." care Ledger office. July 25-6t

TO LET—New house, 6 rooms and bath, modern conveniences, 10 minutes walk from shipyard. Can be bought on easy terms. Apply to Frank Leben, 76 Howard street, East Braintree. July 25-6t

TO LET—A flat of five rooms with all the latest improvements. Inquire 58 Federal avenue. July 24-6t

TO LET—On Spear street, tenement of 4 rooms and bath. All modern improvements. Apply to C. A. Ericson, 117 Glendale road. Tel 586 M. June 27-tf

FOR RENT—Quincy, Centre, opposite Adams Academy, house of 8 rooms and bath, also garage, 3 minutes to R. R. Station. Dr. E. S. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263L, Weymouth. May 10-tf

TO LET

Half House No. 44 Bigelow street, 7 rooms and bath. Shades, screens, electric lights, set tubs, range, etc. Rent $25. per month. Apply to Miss Prescott, Ledger Office, Quincy. July 3-tf

FOR RENT

On Spear street, very desirable house of 8 rooms, bath and laundry. All modern improvements, range, gas, electric lights shades and screens. Large piazzas and lawn. To private family only. Apply at 41 Spear street or of Miss Prescott at Ledger Office, Quincy. June 2-tf L. P. O

TO LET

Tenement—22 B Granite Street. $10.00 per month.

Greenleaf Hall—Greenleaf Block Large Furnished Hall with various anterooms—to let by the evening or permanently.

City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 20 feet high. Splendid light, low rent

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)
Music Hall Block, Quincy.

EMENTS

e time 25 cents.
ertions 75 cents.
by mail or at the

NTED

NCE—1 good Gran-ine Work. $3.00 to yenite Granite Co.,
. Louis, Mo.
July 27-1t

OY
Y IN ONE DAY
ed with me than TIRE WEEK, in plicants must be dressed, clean
. I want the y in the city.
ared for work.
Street,
uincy, Mass.
July 27-1t

ET ent, range and
nt. Inquire 70
cy. July 27-tf

aston Park, small ovements, nice lo-and cars. Apply
Wollaston.
July 26-6t

M—Two young dated with room
y private family thing first-class.
ight party. Ref-
Address "R. F.
July 25-6t

se, 6 rooms and nces, 10 minutes
Can be bought to Frank Leben, st Braintree.
July 25-6t

five rooms with rovements. Innue.
July 24-6t

street, tenement
All modern im-
o C. A. Ericson,
el 586 M.
June 27-tf

y, Centre, appo-house of 8 rooms
3 minutes to R.
Taylor, 527 Main
uth. Tel. 263L,
May 10-tf

T
Bigelow street,
hades, screens,
bs, range, etc.
Apply to Miss
. Quincy.
July 3-tf

NT
very desirable
h and laundry,
nts, range, gas,
and screens.
wn. To private at 41 Spear
cott at Ledger

2-tf L. P. O

ET
e Street. $10.00

enleaf Block
h various ante-
ning or perma-

ice or Shop—
ns up, 28x43 feet
light, low rent

te Trust, ribs.)
Quincy.

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 26 No. 172 QUINCY, MASS. FRIDAY EVENING JULY 28, 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

WAR CLOUD HANGS LOW OVER ENGLAND AND GERMANY

Situation Is Now Critical As Premier Issues Solemn Warning That Great Britain Will Tolerate No Trifling With Rights

CONFERENCE OF POWERS IS ASKED

London, July 28.—Premier Asquith has made his promised statement on the Moroccan situation in the house of commons, giving warning that the situation is critical and urging the members of parliament not to urge further details at the present moment.

The first real move in the threatened war between Germany and England was made when the Atlantic fleet was ordered to Gibraltar preparatory to a hostile demonstration in the waters adjacent to Morocco.

First Lord of the Admiralty McKenna came to London for a conference with Foreign Minister Grey. It is believed that England has decided to settle Morocco trouble one way or the other immediately, and the naval demonstration, it is believed will bring the trouble to a climax.

The admiralty has ordered all shore leave stopped and all officers on extended leaves of absence recalled. The second division of the home fleet has also been ordered to coal immediately.

The whole trouble was complicated, if not aggravated, by a report that France had manifested a willingness to grant Germany a coast slice of the French Congo in exchange for free rein in Morocco.

The Anglo-Franco-Russian combination more than counterbalances the triple alliance, as in a general European war Austria and Italy would be too much on the defensive against one another to give decisive aid to Germany.

England, on the other hand, is so anxious to get rid once for all of the German naval menace that she has taken an attitude which will compel Germany to back down or fight.

The news of the proposed invasion of Moroccan waters by the British navy, and the fact that the health of the king had been seriously affected by his coronation duties and the Franco-German Moroccan imbroglio, were almost the sole topic of discussion in government circles.

There is a rumor in circulation that a conference of the powers will be called to meet next month to consider the whole Moroccan situation. A similar conference, some years ago, led to the signing of the Algeciras convention. The United States was represented at the last convention, but was only there from a commercial viewpoint.

REUNION OF SPEAR FAMILY

Most Successful In History Of Association

OFFICERS ELECTED

The annual reunion of the Seth Spear family at Houghs Neck, Thursday, was the most successful gathering that the association has ever had. The attendance was unusally large fifty-nine representatives of this old family being present coming from all over New England, New York state and as far away as Denver, Col.

The descendants of the family began to gather shortly before noon, at the Quincy yacht club house and the views from the broad piazzas were enjoyed, while the family engaged in reminiscences of bye gone days. Shortly after 1 o'clock dinner was announced. The dinner which was of the shore variety, was served by William Norteman, and was excellent.

After dinner, an adjournment was made to the club house, where a business session was held. Principal Assessor Warren W. Adams presided, and the following officers elected for the ensuing year:—

President—Joseph G. Spear of Braintree.

Vice Presidents—Howard Stone of Lincoln and James Spear of Roxbury.

Secretary and Treasurer—Mrs. Chas. A. Gragg of Quincy.

The business session over there was a very pleasing entertainment which included recitations by Mrs. W. H. Stock of Neponset, musical recitation by Theo Spear of Braintree, piano solo by Miss Edith Ames of Quincy. Songs by Miss Evelyn Ames, Miss Edna Stock and Mrs. Theresa Spear.

In addition to this there was a brief address by Joseph G. Spear the new president, Warren W. Adams the retiring president, Warren W. Spear of Somerville and Gordon Adams, of Denver, Col., a son of Assessor Adams.

Among those present were: Miss Abbie Whiting, Miss Annie Newcomb, Miss Lizzie Newcomb, Mrs. Freeman Josephs, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Adams, Gordon Adams, Mrs. Nathan Ames, Edith Ames, Evelyn Ames, Miss Alice Breck of Mattapan, Mrs. T. W. Addison, Mrs. Warren Parker, Mrs. Preston Kittridge, Miss Burrell, Miss Lucy Spear, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Spear, Mildred Spear, Theo Spear, Mr. and Mrs. Francis P. Loud, William Loud, Miss Carrie Spear, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fessenden Crane, Mrs. E. Granville Pratt, Mrs. Jennie Morse of Kendall Green, Frank Veazie, Miss Sarah Veazie, Mrs. Harry Stock and daughter of Neponset, Mrs. Ida Buswell of Milton, James Spear of Roxbury, Mrs. John D. Williams, Mrs. Albert J. Williams, Ada Williams, Esther Williams, John Williams, Miss Marcella Souther, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Gragg, Allen Gragg, Mrs. Brackett and Leon Brackett of Lynn, Edward A. Spear of Lynn, Mrs. Caroline Spear, Mrs. Emma Blake, Warren W. Spear of Somerville, Miss Lillie Marsh, Mrs. Lucy Marsh, Mrs. Theresa Spear of Boston and others.

TEMPORARY LOAN.

City Treasurer Curtis has awarded the $50,000 temporary loan to F. S. Moseley & Co., at 3.58 per cent. discount, and 85c premium. Of the loan $25,000 is due Oct. 18, and $25,000 Jan. 18.

Other bidders were as follows:

R. L. Day & Co.,	3.59
Blake Bros. & Co.,	3.48
Curtis & Sanger,	3.50
Perry, Coffin & Burr,	3.19

—Huckleberries and milk is now a popular dish, but it cannot compare with crackers and milk for luncheon; but is there any better delicacy than a large piece of huckleberry pie reinforced with a glass of creamy milk.—Mansfield News.

THE GRANITE SHOE STORE

IS HEADQUARTERS FOR SUMMER SHOES, BAREFOOT SANDALS, BATHING SHOES, WHITE CANVAS NOVELTIES.

THE LARGEST STOCK AND ALWAYS THE LOWEST PRICES.

L-July 28 1t.

DON'T BE CAUGHT

unprepared for the hot weather. Get your dresses before you go away on that vacation trip; otherwise you may have cause to regret your lack of foresight. Have you your sweater? If not, better see us before you leave town. And what about that Linen Skirt? Don't keep putting it off. Do it now.

H. SARKIN

1369 Hancock St., Quincy, Mass.

July 27-3t

MIDSUMMER FESTIVAL

Of Sacred Heart Parish Saturday Afternoon And Evening

GIFT FROM MISS TAFT

Tomorrow afternoon and evening the annual midsummer festival of the Sacred Heart parish, Rev. John P. Cuffe pastor, will be held on the grounds adjoining the church in Atlantic. If enthusiasm and elaborateness of detail are any criterion of a good time to come, then the affair to be held tomorrow under the auspices of this parish ought to be the best of the many successful ones held in past years.

For several weeks pase committees have been busily engaged in arranging the details of the affair and the promises of support that have come from all parts of the city, for Rev. Fr. Cuffe was curate at all three churches, in days gone by, are a sufficient guarantee that the festival will be both a social and a financial success. In his efforts to provide an enjoyable time for his parishoners, Rev. Fr. Cuffe is being ably assisted by his zealous curate, Rev. James F. McNiff, who, though here only about a year, has long since endeared himself to every member of the parish.

In connection with this festival Rev. Fr. McNiff has published a souvenir history of the parish, containing illustrations of the church and the pastors. In this souvenir is an original poem written expressly for the occasion by Cornelius M. Duggan, high chief ranger of the M. C. O. F., and a member of this parish. Mayor Shea has promised to be present at the festival, to show his regard for Rev. Fr. Cuffe, who used to be a curate at St Mary's church, in West Quincy, which the mayor attends. Many other prominent men in public life are expected.

Tables representing various parts of the parish will be erected and on the Sanctuary table will be an offering from Miss Helen Taft, daughter of President William H. Taft, which Miss Taft sent here expressly for this affair. The various features will be in charge of committees of which the following are chairmen: Holy Name society, Frank J. Lavery; features, John A. McGowan; refreshments, Richard A. Cole; tickets, Charles Donnelly; children's sports, James and Ted Keohane; dancing, Daniel J. Nyhan. The tables will be in charge of committees as follows:

Sanctuary table—Mrs. John A. McGowan, Mrs. R. J. Canning, Miss Alice Golden, Miss Helen Welch, Miss Mary Keliher, Miss Catheran Dugan, Miss Margaret Moran, Miss Agnes Golden, Miss Clara McCue.

Candy table and grab bag—Miss Catherine Keohane, Miss Annie Golden.

Cane ring—John Donovan, Joseph Clark, William R. Gay.

Doll throw—John McCarthy.

Wollaston and Montclair table—Mrs. Sarah Burns, Miss Mary Whelan, Miss Annie Sullivan, Mrs. Michael McGrath, Miss Louise Costello, Mrs. Shea, Mrs. Margaret Havillan, Mrs. Jeremiah Dineen.

Norfolk Downs table—Rev. James F. McNiff, Mrs. R. J. Walsh, Mrs. D. J. Nyhan, Mrs. John Stuart, Mrs. Bernard Cullen, Mrs. John E. Poland, Mrs. Wendell Sprunk, Mrs. Connell, Mrs. R. Canning, Miss Alice Mullaney, Miss Alice Moran.

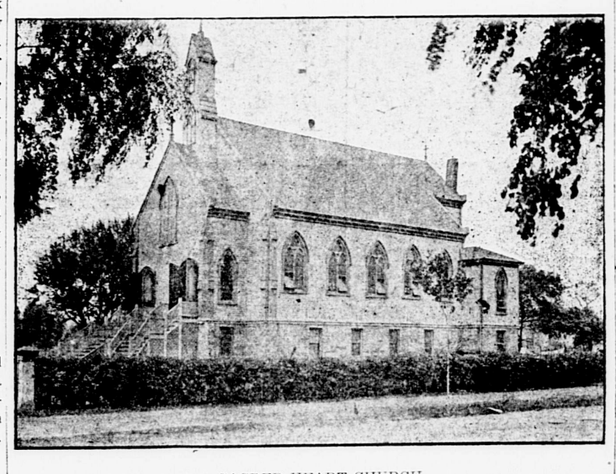
Japanese tea room—Miss Mary Driscoll.

Squantum street table—Mrs. William Gay, Mrs. John Donovan, Mrs. Joseph Clark, Mrs. Frederick Rhines, Mrs. Fred Brown, Mrs. Daniel Golden, Mrs. Myles Creamer, Mrs. R. J. Barry Mrs. Ellen Granahan.

Lower Hancock street table—Miss Myra Shea, Miss Marie Duggan, Miss Mary Dolan, Miss Ellen Pitts, Mrs. David Davidson, Mrs. Timothy Callahan and Mrs. George Stearns.

During the afternoon there will be a series of games for children which will be in charge of Ted Keohane, the former High school athletic star, and his brother, James Keohane.

REV. JOHN P. CUFFE.



SACRED HEART CHURCH.

FOR RENT

BY FRANK FESSENDEN CRANE,
Temple Street, Quincy.

Single House in first class condition, conveniently located good neighborhood for Private Family. 8 rooms, laundry, bath, piazzas, and all modern conveniences. Ready for occupancy.

Half House, right up to-date, all improvements, 7 rooms and bath. Sunny location and good neighborhood. Just right for small family.

July 28-1po tf

—The Government's statistics say that Americans are drinking less champagne than formerly. Most of the fizz money probably has gone into buzz wagons.—Chicago Evening Post.

ANNUAL OPEN REGATTA SQUANTUM YACHT CLUB

To Be Sailed Saturday Off Its Club House In Quincy Bay At Three O'Clock

Hospitalities To Be Extended To Visiting Yachtsmen

Cash prizes, aggregating $126, are offered by the Squantum yacht club, for the annual open regatta to be sailed Saturday, off its club house in Quincy bay. The prizes in classes D, I and X of the Y. R. A. of M. are as follows:— Classes D. and I $8, $5, and $3. In class X the prizes are $5, $3, and 2. The prizes in classes A. B. C. and S of the interclub classes are also $8, $5, and $3, while in the cabin and open power boat classes the prizes are $5, $3, and $2.

All starts will be flying, time to be taken from the starting gun. Should the gun fail, the start will be by lowering and hoisting of the flag on the judges boat.

The preparatory signal will be fired at 3 o'clock and the warning gun at 3.05 and the gun for the first class to start at 3.10. The classes will be sent away at intervals of five minutes in the following order, A, C, D, I, B, X, S open power boats and cabin power boats.

The course to be sailed, will be denoted by a penant on the judges boat, and the time limit for all classes will be three and one half hours. Any boat starting after her class, must notify the judges which class she is sailing in, and all protests must be made in writing within thirty minutes after the finish.

The judges are Hamilton Flood, Howard Gannett, and F. P. Loud of the Squantum club, Arthur Fuller of the South Boston club, William Daly Winthrop club, Sidney C. Higgins, Mosquito club, W. J. Jones, Wollaston club, C. F. Mower, Lynn club, Harry Chase, Quincy club, R. J. Huntley, Columbia club, C. W. Chapin, Cottage Park club and A. A. Swallow Savin Hill club. The Squantum club will extend hospitalities to the visiting yachtsmen after the races.

DILLON—COYLE WEDDING.

Miss Jane Louise Dillon, of 29 Hall place, and William J. Coyle of Weymouth were united in marriage at the parochial residence of St. Mary's church on Thursday by Rev. Henry T. Grady. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Isabelle Dillon and the best man was John Coyle, brother of the groom. After a wedding tour to Montreal, Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Coyle will live in their new home on Richmond street, Weymouth. They will be at home to friends after Sept. 1.

R. E. FOY & CO.

OUR BIG MEAT SECTION

Is the only sanitary kept meat department in Quincy, and "quality for quality" always costs less here, besides you can always get just the cut of steak, roast or chop you want.

A 'phone order will do.

QUALITY STORE

GENUINE SPRING LAMB Legs lb. 18c	FRESH KILLED FANCY FOWL lb. 21c
CORNED RIBS BEEF lb. 10c Corned just right.	DOWN EAST VEAL 12c up not the cheap Western Veal, but the real "Down East." There's a difference.

QUALITY STORE

We Built a Reputation

by selling only fine fresh fruits and vegetables. We maintain our reputation by scouring the country for the best products that are grown with which to fill our customers' orders.

Sweet Corn, Butter Beans, String Beans, Bunch Beets, Bunch Onions, Native Tomatoes, Summer Squash, Cucumbers, Maine Peas.

Fancy Blueberries, 18c. Cantaloupes, 4 for 25c.
Purple Plums Bananas
Extra Fine Watermelons Choice Oranges

Worthy Groceries—Low Prices

That single line explains the phenomenal success of our GREAT FOOD MARKET

4 lbs Good Rice	25c	3 lbs Equal Lunch Bisc	25c
6 lbs Bulk Starch	25c	7 Bars Lenox Soap	25c
3 pkgs Minute Tapioca	25c	6 bars Welcome Soap	25c
3 pkgs Swampscott Gelatine	25c	3 cans Evap Milk	25c

R. E. FOY & CO.
Water corner Quincy Street

Phones 117 and 153

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1889

THE HOME NEWSPAPER

Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.

BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
219 East 23d Street,
New York City

Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter.

Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50

Telephone, Quincy 425

Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

When a hot wave takes its departure it leaves few mourners.

Japan takes naturally to a front seat in the world's diplomacy.

Speaking of Summer resort—but whats the need of that? It speaks for itself.

Chicago cheerfully surrenders to San Francisco the reputation of being the wickedest city.

Chicago had forty-nine automobile thefts in June. The footpad is evidently grown ambitious.

Dr. Wiley's motto is to the effect that if he can make the pure food laws he cares not who makes the political pie.

When a man declares that the office should seek the man he usually feels confident that the office is headed in the right direction.

Dr. Wiley the pure food expert has already analyzed those charges against him and found them in violation of the pure food law.

Senator LaFollette may think that President Taft has dropped the Roosevelt policies, but the big trusts are not generally ofthat opinion.

Business is booming at Schwab's Steel plant in Bethlehem, Pa. Mr. Schwab may soon be able to repeat the flier he took at Monte Carlo some seasons ago.

Having run down testimony enough to get indictments, it is to be resumed that the government has greased the ways leading towards conviction in the Oleo fraud cases.

An alligator is at large in Massachusetts and the minute men are sleeping on their arms. The greatest alarm is felt lest it should wander across the state line and swallow Rhode Island.

LET'S GET BUSY.

Now that the bill allowing the City of Quincy to borow a sum of $100,000 for the development of its water front has been signed by the Governor and becomes a law, it behooves the powers that be, to lose no time in making ready to take advantage of the opportunity which has now presented itself. Of course, quite a time must elapse before any outward signs of the river improvements will show. The affair must go through a regular routine, be considered from various phases and acted upon by the City Council. In the interval, however, it would be well for all interested to figure out in their minds, just what they think the best way and plan to start the development. It must be understood that the amount involved is merely a "drop in the bucket" to what will eventually be needed. But what is wanted is the start, being sure that it is in the right direction.

SUMMER ADVERTISING.

A past tradition in advertising persuades many merchants to cut down this part of their selling expenses during the summer.

When asked why this is done, the merchant will tell you that everyone is out of town.

And yet, our personal impression is, that if you would count the number of people passing a given point today, and the number passing that point on the same day in the week in January or April, you would find little difference.

There are a great many people who take no vacations. The bulk of the working people, farm help, factory hands, railroad employes, get no vations.

The usual outing for most people who actually get a holiday, is one to two weeks. The net result is to reduce but slightly the number of people who are away at a given time.

Moreover, it is customary with many people in places of this size, more than formerly, to stay at home in the summer, and go to some of the big cities in the winter to attend the theatre, opera, or concerts. They thus find more to amuse them than either in the primitive life of the less developed summer resorts, or in the tinsel of great popular gathering places like Atlantic City or Coney Island.

Still further there are not a few strangers here in summer. Many people take a vacation by going to visit relatives, regardless whether the place has any reputation as a summer resort or not. They read our newspapers and are in the mood to pick up bargains.

Practically there are just as many people here as ever ready to buy goods, if you can make them believe it is worth while.

The metropolitan department stores have studied the art of publicity to the limit. You will find many heavy advertisements from them during summer in spite of the fact that the depletion of the big cities is greater than in the case of towns of our size.

A SATISFACTORY ANSWER.

The President answers the "muckrackers" in the straight forward way for which he has become famous and adds another host of admirers for the satisfactory message just handed to the senate. It is full, fair, frank and final.

The message is a typical instance of the ingenuity and the utter recklessness of those disciples of the "progressive movement" who have been conducting a campaign of scandal against the administration for more than a year, in the hope that some day some of the mud thrown may stick says the Advertiser.

President Taft is right in taking this occasion to say that the chief value of this episode, so discreditable to those who aided in exploiting this baseless and indefensible story, is because of the light it throws on "the biterness and venom of some of those who take active part in every discussion of Alaskan issue," and that the intensity of their desire "to besmirch all who invest inthat district, and all who are officially connected with its administration, operates upon the minds of weak human instruments and prompts the fabrication of such false testimony as this postscript." While dwelling with some reluctance upon this feature of the case, he admits that it is so full of a lesson that ought to be taken to the heart of every patriotic citizen that he could not pass it over in silence.

Yet if the President had not been officially bound to reply to the request of the senate for the facts it is possible that he might have done in this case, as he did in so many other similar instances, when he held his peace, trusting to the ability of the people some day to discover the truth for themselves, and holding it beneath his dignity to notice every scurrilous slander that might be printed, from day to day.

This particular story has been proven false by evidence so convincing that there is not a prominent man in public lif today, who will ever allude to it again, except to characterize it as outrageous. But that is not the most important feature of the case. The real question is: How much longer is this outrageous campaign of slander and misrepresentation to be tolerated? The people themselves can best answer that quetsion.

As we have said, certain professedly reputable newspapers and other periodicals print all such stories against President Taft with eager avidity. That statement is true in Boston, as of other places. When the readers of such journals of slander protest determinedly against the continuance of this campaign and enforce their protests by refusing longer to countenance such unfair treatment of the chief officer of the people and only then, will this campaign stop. So long as it pays to make sensational news features of slanders on our public servants, however indefensible the slanders may be they will be printed.

EDITOR WILLIAM T. HOWARD.

The town of Natick has lost an active citizen in the death of Editor William T. Howard—one who has kept in close touch with that town's affairs for nearly a quarter of a century. Editor Howard was a fearless writer and although thoroughly interested in town affairs was a candidate for office before the voters but once.

—Mark Twain's estate is large enough to make the period of his life seem amazing when he was living in London lodgings on aid from his friends. If his fortune was due, as has been stated, to the wise advice of the late Henry H. Rogers, there is at least one act of a trust magnate which people will advise Congress to pass over without investigation.—Providence Journal.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

HER RECORD.—Judge—"You are charged with non-support of your wife? What have you to say for yourself?"

Rastus—"Well, jedge. I done got her three more washings a week than any other cullud lady in the block."—Toledo Blade.

ALL RIGHT.—"You don't know what that's a picture of Johnny?" asked Mrs. Lasping, in a tone of reproof. "You ought to read your ancient history more. That is the temple of Dinah at Emphasis."—Chicago Tribune.

FOUND OUT—Gouty and grimly humorous old gentleman wires to his doctor.

Doctor's wife (reading telegram)—If you are interested in a pretty foot and ankle come over this evening."—London Punch.

A GOOD MOP.—Lady (to tramp who had been commissioned to find lost poodle)—"The poor little darling, where did you find him?"

Tramp—"Oh, a man 'ad 'im, miss, tied to a pole, and was cleaning the windows with 'im.—M. A. P.

THE FUNNY THINGS WE HEAR.

First young miss (in drug store examining directory)—I can't find his name in this book, Alice.

Second young miss—Can't you? Let's go across to the other drug store and look in their directory.

COLOR TRANSITION.—An aged colored man was engaged in burning the grass off the lawn of a young broker when the latter returned to his home and, thinking to have some fun with the old man, said:—

"Sambo, if you burn that grass, the entire lawn will be as black as you are."

"Dat's all right, suh," responded the negro. "Some o' dese days dat grass grow up an' be as green as youh are."—Judge.

LINGUISTIC—"Has Perry ever done anything to add to the gayety of nations?"

"Yes. He tries to speak French, German and Italian when he is in those countries."—Philadelphia Times.

VOTES FOR WOMEN—"Young Mrs. Dilham—"Arthur, won't it be grand when women vote? You and I can go to the polls together."

Mr. Dilham—"But what if the election happens to fall on bargain day?"—Houston Post.

"That man is persistently contentious."

"Yes," replied Senator Sorghum; "if he can't find anybody else to call down, he keeps on arguing till he contradicts himself."—Washington Star.

John E. Parsons, "the father of trusts," is the Hahnemann of finance. His monopoly cure is to have more monopoly.—Cleveland Leader.

HER GIDDINESS—"I suppose Catherine Brown has her hair bleached now," said the returned traveller.

"Yes," replied the stay-at-home, "but how did you know? You've been away nearly a year."

"Yes, but I thought that would be the next step; she had just begun to spell her name 'Kathryn' when I went away."

HE AGREED WITH HER—"It's hard," said the sentimental landlady at the dinner table, "to think that this poor little lamb should be destroyed in its youth just to cater to our appetites."

"Yes," replied the smart boarder, struggling with his portion "It is tough."—Catholic Standard and Times.

DECIDED.—Young Bachelor — "I often wonder if I am making enough money to get married on." Old Benedict—"Well, I don't know how much you're making; but you ain't."—Puck.

WHERE WILL IT END?

James M. Pully of Melrose writes as follows:

"At a recent meeting of the Massachusetts Bee Keepers at Stoughton, at which were present members from the state board of agriculture, the use of poisonous sprays was condemned most strongly, as they killed the honey bees which were responsible for the pollenation of the blossoms. This in itself is an old story to bee keepers, but the present season has developed the fact most fully that spraying not only kills the honey bees but it also kills the bumble bees; these latter pollenate many blossoms which are too deep for the honey bees to reach.

In the destruction of these two insects ,the most useful of the pollenators, we lost the means that nature employs to fertilize the blossoms o the larger portion of our garden and farm plants, except such as are fertilized by the wind, like corn and some grasses. The far-reaching il effects will be felt, are being felt now by the failure of some vegetables t produce seed pods, the blossoms fall ing off without being fertilized.

I would mention, among the bes known of our garden vegetables, boti peas and beans. It is full early to say that all the local bumble bees are killed and to foretell the complete failure of seed this year, but I would suggest that it will be several years before these insects will have reached their usual numbers if no spraying is resorted to the benefits of which are very doubtful so far as leaf-eating insects are concerned. The writer now has a number of fruit trees that no caterpillars have injured for several years and no summer spraying has been done on them, while the fruit crop has been equal to the best."

—Aviation continues with unabated interest. You cannot keep a good man down, and the laws of nature sometimes object to keeping a good man up. One hundred years from now the present trips and trials will be read with great interest as people ride in finely appointed flying machines to and from their work.—Mansfield News.

CYMRIC PASSENGERS TO BE INVESTAGATED

Immigrants Taken to Gallups Island by the Authorities

Boston, July 28.—One hundred and thirty-seven immigrants from Russia, Austria, Turkey and Syria who rrived off Boston on the White Star iner Cymric were taken to Gallups sland by the health officials and thoroughly examined for traces of Asiatic holera. Food which the immigrants arried consisting of hard bread, dry sh, cheese and sausage was burned n the island.

The precautions of the health offials were unusual in every respect. hey would not even allow the cusoms officers or the newspapermen board until after the whole list of asengers were cared for.

RESCUED BY SEAMAN

Man Who Fell While Trying to Board Steamer Badly Injured

Boston, July 28.—John McKay, one f the firemen on the Warren line teamer Sachem, which sailed for iverpool from this place last night, ell into the water while trying to board the steamer and was rescued with difficulty.

McKay in falling struck the cap log of the pier, receiving a severe scalp wound. Harvey Barker, a boatman in the employ of the Warren line, went to the rescue of McKay.

Barker pulled him into his boat and resuscitated him. The Sachem pulled out into the stream, leaving McKay ashore.

WOULD PAY LIBERALLY

Wealthy Philadelphia Widow Anxious to Secure New Index Finger

Los Angeles, Cal., July 28.—Mrs. Reginald Waldorf of Philadelphia, a wealthy young widow, is willing to pay several thousand dollars for a new index finger.

She is here to recuperate from the effects of an operation by which her right forefinger was amputated. She appealed to Dr. Fred B. West, who has advertised for a finger. He names no price, but says his patient is willing to pay liberally.

GRANITE SHOE STORE
PRICES ARE ALWAYS LOWEST ON GOODYEAR GLOVE TENNIS AND YACHTING SHOES .. ..
L-July 28-1t.

SAYS HE BROKE LIBERTY BELL

E. J. Rauch Declares All the Histories Are Wrong.

SCHOOLBOYS CRACKED IT.

Rauch and Others Were Ringing the Bell In Honor of Washington's Birthday In 1835 When They Noticed Change In Tone.

Nearly every American knows about the Liberty bell, which for many years hung in the belfry of the old statehouse at Philadelphia, now Independence hall, and rang on numerous days that have become famous in American annals—most especially on July 4, 1776, when it proclaimed to all within hearing and through them to the entire world that the American colonies had declared their independence of British rule.

For more than a century the bell, still preserved in Independence hall, has been a shrine for hosts of patriotic pilgrims from every corner of the United States. These pilgrims as well as other hosts of Americans who knew the Liberty bell merely by seeing pictures of it are aware that in one side of it is a wide crack. If, growing curious, they seek to find out how that crack came there several conflicting explanations at once present themselves.

The one commonly accepted is that the famous bell was cracked while tolling for the funeral of Chief Justice John Marshall on July 8, 1835.

Rauch Breaks Silence.

Now, more than three-quarters of a century after the old bell was silenced, comes a man who declares that none of the more or less accepted versions of how it came to be cracked is correct; that his version alone is the true explanation of the incident. For more than fifty years, he declares, he has been reading in newspapers and elsewhere all the various conflicting stories of the accident, but inasmuch as his has been an extremely busy life he has never bothered his head overmuch about them until quite recently.

So when a few days ago this man saw yet another story of how the Liberty bell was cracked and realized yet again that his memory branded it as incorrect he hastened to protest.

"I was one of those who were present and assisted in the cracking of that bell. Perhaps I am the only person now living who was present," he stated.

The man who, as he says, helped crack the old Liberty bell is Emmanuel Joseph Rauch of 386 West One Hundred and Sixteenth street, New York. He is eighty-six years old. He was born at Chester, Pa., of Pennsylvania Dutch stock, on Nov. 6, 1825, and removed with his parents to Philadelphia when he was seven years old. It was three years later, in 1835, that, according to him, the cracking of the Liberty bell occurred. That is the year usually given as the one in which the mishap occurred, but Mr. Rauch is emphatic in his statement that the bell was not cracked on the occasion of Chief Justice Marshall's funeral. Here is his own version of the occurrence:

"The Liberty bell was cracked, as I remember, on Washington's birthday, 1835, and this is the way it was done:

How Bell Was Cracked.

"I was then ten years old. On that day I had been sent by my mother on an errand to a shop not far from our home. On my return I was walking through Statehouse square when I noticed that the janitor or steeple keeper of the old statehouse building was beckoning to me. His name was Downing—Major Jack we used to call him—and he was a well known character in Philadelphia at that time.

"'Come here!' he called to me and to several boys whom he spied in the square. After he had corralled six or eight of us—I don't remember exactly how many—he told us that he wanted us to ring the Liberty bell in honor of Washington's birthday. The idea pleased us very much—we boys were not in the habit of ringing the old bell—and we agreed to do it.

"Then Downing climbed into the steeple of the statehouse and tied a rope to the clapper of the bell. Coming down again, he put the end of this rope into our hands and instructed us to pull with all our might, which we did.

"We were working away and the bell had struck, so far as I can recall, about ten or a dozen times when we noticed a change in the tone. We kept on ringing, though, but after awhile the steeple keeper noticed the difference too. Surmising that something might be wrong, he told us to stop pulling the rope. Then he climbed back into the steeple, we boys following behind.

"On the side of the bell that hung toward Walnut street we found that there was a big crack a foot or fifteen inches long. Downing then told us to run along home. We obeyed.

"What happened after that I forget. Boylike, I didn't do any worrying and heard no more about the cracking of the bell until some years later. Then, however, and many times since I have read of how the bell came to be cracked, but never have I seen the version which I have just given. I honestly believe it is the correct one."

THESE MEN
Are Known To You

Here are the business men who direct the affairs and policy of the National Granite Bank:

President, Theophilus King
Cashier, Rupert F. Claflin

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Theophilus King — Rupert F. Claflin
Clarence Burgin — Russell A. Sears
Joseph H. Vogel — Delcevare King
Henry L. Kincaide — H. Gerrish Smith
William T. Shea — Herbert T. Whitman

Every one of these men is keenly alive to the interests of the bank and its patrons. Your funds are safe in their hands. Open an account at this strong bank.

NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

A Sale of Women's Footwear

No profit for Jones, but a money saving opportunity for you.

All are bright, clean goods, no old shopworn stock. You can't find every size among them—they're what we call broken lots—but perhaps we have yours. Why not come in and see.

Women's Tans and Patent Calf Oxfords
were $2.50, now $1.48
Gunmetal Pumps and Oxfords
were $2.00, now $1.48
Gunmetal and Patent Pumps and Oxfords
were $3.00, now $1.98
FOR MISSES
White Canvas Oxfords
were $1.25, now 75c
FOR CHILDREN
White Canvas Low Shoes
were $1.00, now 50c
Women's White Oxfords
were $2.00 now $1.00

The store where you get full value for your money.

GEORGE W. JONES
1 Granite Street, "Just Around the Corner," Quincy
July 27-3t--o-2-w

ROOSTER COAL BRIQUETTES
NO SLATE NO CLINKERS
ROOSTER COAL BRIQUETS

THE NEW ANTHRACITE COAL

ROOSTER BRIQUETS are made from the choicest small Scranton Anthracite coal, mined in Pennsylvania, called TWENTIETH CENTURY CHESTNUT size.

Just consider for a moment what we offer here in this 20th CENTURY CHESTNUT.

First, 200 pounds of clean, pure, hard coal without a rock or a piece of slate.

Second, fuel that cannot form into a clinker, by any known method of firing, consequently the linings and grates last indefinitely.

Third, they are made in nut size, being equally convenient for furnace heaters, open grates, as well as stoves; therefore, only one storage bin is necessary.

Fourth, and very IMPORTANT, the quality of this fuel is the SAME EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR, not a good ton today, and nothing like it the next time, in other words, when you once learn how to regulate your drafts you have nothing more to learn about burning BRIQUETS.

Fifth, no more sifting ashes these Briquets burn out clean. They require less wood to kindle.

Be sure to ask for "ROOSTERS" and get the Briquet made from pure Scranton Coal, from the largest Briquet plant in the country. They are better than coal, will last as long and cost less.

J. F. SHEPPARD & SONS,
AGENTS

Advertise i The Ledger

NEWS ITEMS FROM MILTON

Enjoyable Vacations Are Taken By Prominent Residents

CHURCH PICNIC

Miss Pauline Davis who is summering at Bar Harbor has done well in the recent tennis tournaments, taking part in mixed doubles and ladies' singles.

The annual picnic of the First Congregational church Sunday school was held at Glen Echo park, Stoughton, on Saturday.

E. C. Howard of Church place has gone for his vacation to Vinal Haven, Maine.

Frank M. Richardson, the well known carrier from the East Milton post office, who nas been ill for several months has returned to his route.

Cornelius Van Ham, carrier from the East Milton post office has gone for his vacation to Concord, Mass.

Josiah Babcock, the tax collector, is spending a few days at West Ossipee, N. H.

Misses Margaret and Mary Joe of Granite place go to Haverhill the first of the week for a two weeks' vacation.

R. J. Corkery, clerk at Hammer's drugstore is taking his vacation this week.

John Robinson of State street, East Milton, is on a two weeks' vacation. Next week he will go to Maine to complete his vacation there.

The East Milton Baptist Y. P. S. C. E. had a very enjoyable trolley ride to Nantasket Wednesday evening.

John Haley, the night officer in East Milton is on a two weeks' vacation.

Mrs. John Bryden of Squantum street sailed on the Franconia Tuesday for a two months' visit in Dumfries, Scotland.

Work on the foundation of the new cement addition to the Ellsworth building is progressing rapidly.

RECEIVED PAINFUL INJURIES

Niles Ryden, a quarryman employed at the quarry of the Bay View Granite company whose quarry in the one formerly operated by Field & Wilde, met with a painful accident, Thursday afternoon when a flying piece of granite struck his arm severing one of the main arteries. The wound bled profusely and but for the first aid rendered by fellow workmen, who supplied a turn quit, he would doubtless have bled to death.

Dr. Sheahan was notificed by telephone and he made a remarkably quick run to the quarry. After dressing the wound the man was taken to his home in West Quincy. His injuries will force him to take a vacation for a few days.

MORE MONEY TO RAISE MAINE.

Congress is to be asked by the war department to appropriate $200,000 more to pay for the removal of the wreck of the Maine at Havana, according to information from Washington. Thus far more than $400,000 has been expended in the task. It is said that at least three months more would be required for the work.

—Over six hundred horses died from heat prostrations in New York city during last week's hot wave, and it required considerable effort on the part of the health officials to remove them from the streets and prevent their becoming a menace to the public health. But for the rapidly increasing use of motor trucks and vehicles, these fatalities would have been much greater, resulting in serious interruption to the city's transportation facilities. These experiences will undoubtedly accelerate the substitution of motor for horse-drawn vehicles, their advantages for all seasons being readily apparent. In summer they are in no danger from the blazing sun, while in winter, storms that would seriously impede horses are no obstacle to motor traffic.—Milford Gazette.

BE A DETECTIVE

Earn $100 and over per month and not interfering with your present occupation at first. Modern Ass'n., 709 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo.

July 25-6t

ONE BISHOP DISCHARGED

The Other Held For Entering Store At South Braintree

ALLEGED CONFESSION

Robert A. Bishop, who was arraigned in court, late Thursday, for breaking and entering the store of Charles Lothrop, at South Braintree, was discharged this morning for want of prosecution. Immediately following his discharge Roy Bishop was arraigned for the break and his case continued until Aug. 8.

Robert A. and his brother Roy are both employed at the South Braintree car barn and the back window of the store opened near the barn. For sometime past, Mr. Lothrop has been aware that some person has been entering the store after it had closed for the night. A watch was kept several nights, without success, until Wednesdaw night, when Carl Lothrop who was watching saw two men near the rear of the window and later one of them come to the window and raise it up. Mr. Lothrop had allowed himself to be locked in the store that he might watch. He recognized the two men whom he had seen near the store window, and as a result Robera A. Bishop was arrested.

He proclaimed his innocence in the case and after investigation the police came to the conclusion that his claim had been substantiated and recommended his discharge.

The younger brother Roy, however, is alleged to have confessed that he is the one that entered the store.

According to his alleged story, he had observed while being in the store, that the rear window was left unfastened and he took advantage of this. Both he and his older brother are employed about the car barn at night and the plan of the young man was to wait until about 4 o'clock in the morning, when the elder brother lay down to sleep. Then he would quietly go to the rear window, raise it and enter. It was a neat trick, but at last, by watching, he fell into the trap set. Both of the Bishop brothers live at Atlantic.

TODAY'S RAIN WELCOME.

Early this week, the weather man predicted rain for Friday and for once, at least, he hit the nail on the head. It commenced to rain early this morning and by daylight there was a steady downpour. The wind was light, but from the east so that the air was cool and top coats were not uncomfortable. No one will regret the rain, however, for it is very much needed, not only for vegetation but to help replenish the water supply which in many places is very low. There has been an unusual scarcity of rain this summer, and everything was drying up for lack of water. Handsome green lawns which are usually one of the attractions of country places in summer, have been lacking this season, for the restrictions put on the use of water has prevented those who usually kept their lawn hose working from doing so. The result has been that instead of being a bright green lawns are now a dull brown color. Pleasant and warmer weather is predicted for Saturday.

AFTER SCIENTIFIC WORKS

Arrested For the Robbery of Books From Professor Lowell

Boston, July 28.—Hugo Helliner, 31 years old, employed as a butler by Professor Percival Lowell, the astronomer, was arrested charged with stealing $100 worth of astronomical and other scientific books.

Helliner was arrested as he was about to board a train for Nantucket, where he said he had secured a place as butler. His baggage was taken to police headquarters, and the missing articles found in one of his trunks.

WORTH OF A SOUL

A Careful Calculation Presented by a Baseball Evangelist

Winona Lake, July 28.—Billy Sunday, the basebal evangelist, who is conducting a series of meetings here, has made a careful calculation as to the saving of souls in large cities.

"It costs $620 to save one soul in Indianapolis," he said. "In New York city the cost is $525; in Boston, $450; in Denver, $425; in Chicago, $395; in New Orleans, $78; in Atlanta, $75."

—The government has put 1,890,000 trout into the streams of Maine, for the fishermen to take out one by one when they are grown, if they can catch them.—Somerville Journal.

What Reciprocity Will Accomplish For Consumers of United States

Debate on the Bill In the Senate Lasted 29 Days

More Than 60 Deadly Amendments Were Voted Down

THE Canadian reciprocity agreement was passed in the senate after twenty-nine days of debate. Some of these sessions were wasted with other matters, but during that period the agreement remained the unfinished business and had preference over all other matters.

More than sixty amendments were offered to the reciprocity agreement. All were rejected by votes approximating five to one. The one causing the most apprehension was proposed by Senator Root of New York. It provided that paper and pulp should not be admitted from Canada until the Dominion permitted shipments of American materials and paper into all its provinces.

Almost every conceivable kind of tariff revison amendment was suggested and rejected.

The passage of the agreement was effected by a combination of Democrats and regular Republicans. The progressives, with two exceptions, voted against it. Three Democrats, Bailey, Simmons and Thornton, steadfastly opposed it.

An understanding existed in advance between the president and leaders of the regular Republicans and Democrats that the reciprocity agreement should be passed without change. This proved a continual source of irritation to its opponents.

Effect of the Agreement.

The Canadian reciprocity agreement is expected to materially reduce the cost of living, although this may not be appreciable at the outset. Its purpose is to bring the necessaries of life in greater quantities. The belief is that it will prevent higher prices and check the continual advance in foodstuffs.

The agreement affects 91 per cent of the goods imported from Canada into the United States.

The free list contains wheat and other grains, fresh fruits and vegetables, all kinds of fish, poultry and eggs, cattle, sheep and other live stock.

A mutual reduction of rates is provided for fresh and canned meats, bacon and hams, canned vegetables, flour and cereal preparations.

Concessions are made on agricultural implements and coal and iron ore.

Print paper and wood pulp are made free so far as the provincial restrictions of Canada will permit.

Cottonseed oil is made free by Canada and rough lumber by the United States.

Gypsum and mica are made free by the United States.

The Canadian rate on harvesters, plows, drills and thrashing machines is reduced to the duties imposed by the United States.

Canada reduces the rate on coal to 45 cents per ton. The United States fixes the duty on iron ore at 10 cents a ton.

Cutlery, clocks, motor vehicles, watches, leather goods, printing ink and a variety of miscellaneous articles are mutually reduced. The rate on fresh meats, beef, mutton and lamb, are reduced from 1½ to 1¼ cents per pound; bacon, salt beef, pork, dried, smoked and salted meats, from 4 to 1¼ cents per pound; canned meats from 25 to 20 per cent ad valorem; cornmeal from 40 cents a hundred pounds to 12½ cents per hundred.

Told In Dollars and Cents.

The value of the dutiable articles on which Canada reduces rates aggregates $25,870,000.

The value of the dutiable articles on which the United States reduces rates aggregates $7,521,000.

The value of the articles imported from the United States into Canada affected by the reciprocity compact totals $47,828,000.

The value of the articles imported from Canada into the United States affected by the agreement totals $47,333,000.

The aggregate amount of the duties remitted by Canada is $2,560,000. The value of dutiable articles placed on the free list is $21,958,000.

The aggregate amount of duties remitted by the United States, $4,850,000. The total value of dutiable articles placed on the free list, $39,811,000.

Situation In Canada.

The Canadian government intends to press reciprocity to a definite conclusion and passage, if such is possible. But equally determined is the opposition that it shall not pass. The result will be a deadlock, and then dissolution and the immediate calling of the general election, a development which seemingly both sides welcome.

Opinions differ as to when the crisis will happen. Some think it will not be delayed longer than three weeks; others believe it may be two months away. It will mainly depend upon developments from day to day, all of which cannot now be foreseen, but whatever transpires in the intervening period of time and whatever tactics and byplay may be resorted to by the parties, there does not appear to be the remotest doubt that it will all eventuate in dissolution and a general election early in September next.

CURE SICK BUSINESSES.

Harvard University Will Open a New Clinic.

Harvard University School of Business, of which Professor Edwin F. Gay is dean, is to spend years in scientific effort to determine what is wrong with sick businesses.

When the results are all tabulated the knowledge will be placed at the disposal of merchants whose businesses are ailing.

If Professor Gay sees fit and the state of the case demands it, he will place one of his corps of experts in the store of the merchant who knows that something is wrong with his enterprise but cannot himself determine just what the trouble is.

"We propose to spend years if necessary in ascertaining just what is right and just what is wrong with the retail trade," said Professor Gay. "We are beginning with an investigation of the retail shoe business, which will be done so thoroughly that it may take us from four to six years.

"It is our intention to help the failing merchant make his business pay and to help the successful merchant make his business pay him better."

CENTER OF VIRTUE.

Ohio Town Hasn't Had an Arrest In Two Years.

Ohio possesses the center of virtue. It is none other than the village of Degraff, in the center of a strictly "dry" region, which boasts of 1,200 inhabitants and the fact that there has not been an arrest within its borders in the last two years.

The peace and good order have been contagious, and the stranger within the gates has also conducted himself decorously.

Owing to the unparalleled goodness of the inhabitants the jobs of the mayor and the marshal are in jeopardy. The citizens of Degraff are not only virtuous, but they are saving and see no reason why they should pay a marshal and a mayor who have not sat in judgment of a criminal in two years.

The mayor and the marshal have made common cause and declare that it is their show of authority which keeps the citizens in the paths of rectitude.

The picture of a carnival of crime drawn by the two officials is having its effect, and they may be retained in office for the arrests which they have not made.

RUEF SUGGESTS REFORM.

Convicted Boss Has Plan For Self Help of Convicts.

Abe Ruef, the former political boss of San Francisco, has written from San Quentin prison a remarkable letter to the state board of prison directors, in which he urges a plan originated by himself for a self help organization among the convicts.

It is an appeal for converting the despair and despondency with which Ruef says the discharged convict now faces the battle of life into encouragement and hope that he may again become a respected member of society.

The plan, which Ruef says has never been tried in any state, includes a voluntary organization among the prisoners, whose objects shall be to aid discharged prisoners to tide over nonemployment by providing good lodging, suitable clothing and employment and also within the prison to aid in preparing men to qualify for work outside by special attention and instruction.

Each prisoner shall be encouraged to give the names of three or four persons on the outside who are interested in his welfare and who may become contributors to an outside affiliated society. The plan also includes instruction of convicts and official headquarters in San Francisco, Los Angeles and other cities, where released convicts may go with assurance that they will be helped in the search for work.

Ruef says there are 3,000 convicts in San Quentin and another 3,000 in jails throughout the state, or one criminal to every 300 people in California, so he argues that his scheme of help will appeal to a large number of relatives and friends of convicts.

FREAK EGG.

It Is a Foot Long and Contains a Chick and Two Other Eggs.

The prize freak egg was discovered at Gainesville, Ga. The egg is one foot long and contains three other eggs, the last of these holding a matured chicken and the others ordinary whites and yolks.

It is said that the egg was laid by a prize Buff Orpington hen. The egg, or eggs, were opened before several citizens, who were astounded at the freak.

A common shell covered the three remarkable eggs.

PATCH'S

Special Range Coal

IGNITES QUICKLY

If it were stony or of bad quality it wouldn't.

It is the most reliable coal imaginable, helps the cook when she's in a hurry and shows up best when needed most.

Besides it burns up so thoroughly as to leave the smallest quantity of ash.

Buy it and try it and see why so many will burn no other.

One ton should prove it.

C. PATCH & SON, INC.

Office, 1422 Hancock Street, Quincy

MUCH SERVICE SURROUNDS THE POPE.

Difficult For Him to Get a Glass of Water—His Hard Life.

Although Pius X has been nearly eight years a pope, he has not yet become accustomed to the etiquette of the Vatican. It is quite true that he has abolished many customs and formalities, but his efforts to simplify the routine of his everyday life have only been partly successful, says a Rome dispatch to the Washington Post.

The pope no longer dines alone in solitary grandeur like his predecessors, but occasionally he sits at table with his sisters, and as a rule one of his private secretaries is invited to luncheon or dinner. When he takes his daily drive in the Vatican gardens he is not escorted by a squad of noble guards. As a rule he spends most of his time in his private library, where he receives cardinals and prelates and transacts all his ordinary work. He insisted on remaining at his desk even during his recent attack of gout, and Dr. Petacci used to visit him there twice daily.

Some time ago the doctor reminded the pope that a considerable amount of pure water as a drink was beneficial, and the pope there and then rang a bell and asked the prelate in attendance to bring him a glass of water. Fully ten minutes passed before the prelate returned to the library, followed by an attendant and a waiter.

The latter carried a silver tray with a glass of water on it. The prelate, the attendant and the waiter made a deep genuflection when the door was opened. They crossed the room and made a second genuflection when they were halfway to the pope's chair, and a third one when they got near the pope. Then the attendant took the glass off the tray and handed it to the prelate, who knelt down and handed it to the pope. The same business was repeated after the pope had drunk the water. Turning to the doctor, the pope then said:

"I wanted to show you how difficult it is for me to get a glass of water, and I hope you will not blame me for neglecting the cure and not drinking more water. I hate to disturb these three men and make them kneel six times every time I want a drink of water. I tried to get the water myself, but I have been told that, being a sovereign, I must not serve myself."

A Hospital Nurse's Hands.

As an example of trademarks have you ever noticed the hands of the hospital nurse? The soft white hand which in fiction is occupied in cooling fevered brows does not exist and could not. It is a skilled hand, but its work makes it rough and chapped. Try bathing your hands in disinfectants twenty times a day and you will find that, look after them as you may, they will soon be seamed with cracks, which an east wind often turns to bleeding cuts. And as they are worked hard for some twelve or thirteen hours a day the nurse takes a somewhat larger size in gloves than most women. If you ever see the photograph of a hospital nurse you may observe that she prefers to keep those hands behind her back.—London Chronicle.

CATTLEMEN SUSPECTED

Baggage of Two Men Men Returning on the Cymric Is Seized

Boston, July 28.—Abraham Nuenes and Thomas Nash, two cattlemen who returned on the steamship Cymric, were held by the customs officials, and their baggage seized.

Nuennes had an elegant brooch in his possession. He said, however, that it was only paste in composition. This statement did not satisfy the customs inspector, who kept the piece of jewelry for appraisal.

Nash had several pieces of jewelry in his baggage which he said were the property of his wife. She, however, was not on the Cymric.

A WAR WIDOW

A Woman In Georgia Seeking Pensions After Burying Five Husbands

Atlanta, July 28.—Claiming that she is the widow of five husbands, all of whom fought in the Civil war, a woman of Walton county, Ga., has applied for five pensions, amounting to $60 a month.

The applicant stated that she was a Miss Malcolm before marriage, that her first husband was killed the first year of the war, her second soldier husband met a like fate toward the close of the conflict, and that the three men she married since the war were veterans of the confederacy.

SPANISH WAR VETERANS

Massachusetts Sailors Who Served In the War Awaiting Back Pay

Boston, July 28.—Attorneys are holding up the back pay of 480 Massachusetts sailors who fought in the war with Spain.

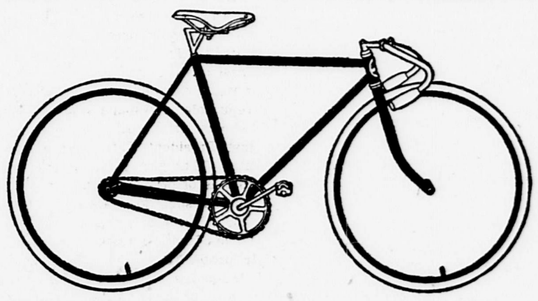
When they volunteered they were paid only from the day they were accepted by the United States, but later put in claims for pay for the time between enlistment and being mustered into the service.

The claims were negotiated by Attorney H. D. Campbell of this city. Mr. Campbell has put in a claim for $11,000, and until this is met the payroll may remain among the missing things.

Campbell notified the individual beneficiaries of the waiting time award by mail that the money is ready for them. They are now clamoring for wages, but until the payroll is sent to the state treasurer by the attorney they cannot get their money.

Body Found In the Bay

Warwick, R. I., July 28.—A well-dressed man, believed to have lived in Boton, was picked up in Narragansett bay of Conanicut Point. The man was aparently of middle age, and his clothing bore names of Boston stores. It is believed he either jumped or fell from one of the New York-Providence boats.



New and Second Hand Bicycles. Sundries and Repairing

Agency for Columbia and Hartford Bicycles

HUB CYCLE CO.

Thomas Nelson, 20 Granite Street, QUINCY

May 15-3m

WHEELER'S

The Store for Ladies' Furnishings

We will continue our Sale of Shirt Waists and Long Gloves

See what we offer in Shirt Waists for 79c and 98c
and Long Gloves for 50c and 75c

We are also showing a new line of Children's Parasols, all colors, for 25c and 29c

WE GIVE CASH DISCOUNT SLIPS

City Square G. W. WHEELER Quincy

HISTORIC QUINCY.

City of Presidents Has Much Of Interest

Old historic Quincy settled in 1625 has much of interest to visitors. When Braintree was incorporated in 1640, the territory now known as Quincy, was a part. In 1792 Quincy became an independent town, and in 1888 was incorporated as a city.

Quincy was named in honor of Col. John Quincy, descendant in the third generation from Edmund, 2d, who settled in Quincy, in 1634; grand-father of Abigail (Smith) Adams, the wife and mother of a President of the United States.

The city includes Wollaston, Atlantic, Quincy Point, South Quincy, West Quincy, Montclair, Norfolk Downs, Wollaston Park, Squantum, Houghs Neck, Adams Shore, Germantown and Quincy Neck, comprising in all over 16 square miles, of which 2,530 acres are in public parks.

Birthplaces of Presidents.

Birthplace of John Adams, the first Vice President and second President of the United States, Franklin street, Quincy Adams house built in 1681 and restored in 1897 by Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution. Open to public. Admission charged.

Birthplace of John Quincy Adams the sixth President of the United States, junction of Franklin street Presidents road and Independence avenue. Built 1716, restored 1896 by the Quincy Historical Society. Open to public afternoons from 2 to 5. Admission charged.

Abigail Adams Cairn.

Penns Hill, erecteld June 17, 1896, by Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, to the memory of Abigail Adams, who with her son, John Quincy, from the spot watched the smoke of battle at Bunker Hill. Cairn composed of many historic stones, the corner stone being part of the old sleeper of first railroad in United States which ran from Quincy quarries to tide water, Neponset river.

Burial Place of Presidents.

First Congregational Church (Unitarian) at Quincy centre. In auditorium each side of high pulpit, are mural monuments, to the memory of John Adams, the second president, and John Quincy Adams, the sixth president of the United States, and their wives. The funeral of John Quincy Adams was held in this church. Beneath the entrance is the Adams tomb, reached by stairways from the vestibule. Near the tomb is the box in which was brought from Washington the body of John Quincy Adams, also the old town hearse. Admission may be secured on application to W. E Dewhurst, sexton, 3 Maple street. A fee is asked for attendance, etc.

Hancock Cemetery.

Hancock cemetery across the street from First church contains many old stones. Among the old graves are those of Henry Adams founder of the Adams family who died Oct. 5, 1646; Rev. William Thompson, 1st pastor over the Braintree church who died Dec. 10, 1666; Rev. Henry Flint who died Oct. 11, 1668; Rev. John Hancock father of the Patriot who died May 7 1744, and many other notable people.

John Hancock Birthplace.

Adams street, junction of Dimmick and Hancock streets. A bronze tablet has been placed by the City of Quincy on Adams Academy to mark the place where the house stood in which the patriot John Hancock, the bold signer of the Declaration of Independence was born.

Presidents Adams Mansion.

Adams street, corner Newport avenue, Quincy. Residence of President John Adams and contains many family relics. Occupied by descendants Not open to public.

Presidents Lane.

Now Goffe street, leading from Adams street, near Mansion. Opened by John Adams to drive his cows to pasture.

Dorothy Q. House.

Hancock street, corner Butler road, Quincy, Old Quincy homestead in which Dorothy Q was born. Owned by the Massachusetts Society of Colonial Dames. Has quaint old paper on parlor put on for wedding of John Hancock and Dorothy Quincy; also secret chamber and other interesting features. Open free to the public on Saturdays, from 11 A. M., until 4 P. M Other days admission charged.

Myles Standish Cairn.

Squantum heights, erected in 1895 by the Daughters of the Revolution of Massachusetts, in memory of Captain Myles Standish and his men of Plymouth Colony, who landed here Sept. 30, 1621, guided by the Indian Tisquantum.

Myles Standish Spring.

On the beach to the left and back of Squantum Inn. Spring of fresh cold water, where Standish and his party breakfasted and thence started to explore the country around Boston Bay

Squaw Rock.

Pile of rock, on which is a perfect head of a squaw, frequently mentioned in early Squantum history. Near by is also Sachem's Knoll.

Quincy Daily Ledger

HIGH TIDE FOR WEEK.

Monday, July 24,	9.45	10.00
Tuesday,	10.45	11.00
Wednesday,	11.30	12.00
Thursday,	12.00	12.30
Friday,	12.45	1.15
Saturday,	1.45	2.15
Sunday,	2.30	3.00

1911 JULY 1911

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
						1
2	3	4	5	6	7	8
9	10	11	12	13	14	15
16	17	18	19	20	21	22
23	24	25	26	27	28	29
30	31

BRIEFS

Annual outing tomorrow of the Granite Manufacturers association at Bass Point.

The many out of door laborers are having an enforced holiday today on account of the rain.

Michael O'Brien, head shipper at Kincaide's is spending his vacation touring the White Mountains.

There is talk that the Riker-Jaynes drug company are seeking a location in Quincy to open a branch store.

There was a good attendance on Thursday evening at the whist party at the Quincy yacht club house.

Cards have been received from William Edmunston of the Goodyear Repair who is spending his vacation with his family on a farm in Milford, Mass.

Members of Adams Chapter go on an outing tomorrow to Lexington. The trip is to be made by electrics, leaving Quincy centre at 10 A. M.

A number of the ladies of Adams chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, go to Lexington Saturday to visit the places of historical interest.

George S. Waterhouse, district superintendent of the International Correspondence School, with his family has removed from Brockton to Wollaston.

Col. Henry L. Kincaide who is traveling in Europe with the Chamber of Commerce party is remembering his friends with handsome post cards.

The second in the series of base ball games between the West Quincys and Quincy Independents, will be played on the Water street grounds Saturday.

Annual open and interclub races, tomorrow, under the auspices of the Squantum yacht club. Good cash prizes are offered in each class and in addition percentages count in the seasons racing. High water is at 1.15.

SUMMER PHILOSOPHY.

Judd Mortimer Lewis.

The white clouds are a-driftin'
In a white go as you please,
And the oak trees are a-liftin'
Their broad branches in the breeze
An' the mockin' bird is tunin'
Up the pipes that's in his throat,
And the field lark is a-croonin'
A preliminary note.

An' I take my red bandana
An' I wipe away the' sweat
An' I smile back at the' canna
Bloomin' red—I'm wringin' we—t
Fer I've found it ain't no matter
What the trouble that you're in,
There can't any trouble batter
Down the breastwork of a grin.

Some one says: "Wow! this is summer!
Ain't this here a whizzer—whee!"
An' I say: "Yep it's a hummer,
But it ain't too hot fer me,
There's a little breeze a-blowin'
Cooler than the breath o' morn,
An' the corn is just a-growin'—
This is what we need for corn."

An' the minute that I say it
I can feel the little breeze,
Come a-whisperin' my way; it
Comes a-brushin' through the trees
And a-bendin' down the grasses
Off across the medder lot
And the cannas as it passes,
Singin': "No, it isn't hot."

And it ain't! Guess God's a-knowin'
What we're needin' rain or shine;
So when the wild wind's a-blowin'
Why, I take the wind fer mine!
An' when the hot sun's a-peltin',
And a-blisterin' your skin,
An' you're pretty near a-meltin',
It'll help some if ye grin.

To People Who Know a reminder is enough, that Pears' Soap acts like a restorative balm upon the skin and that its low price makes it economical to use

Pears' SOAP

15c. a Cake for the Unscented

GRAND OPERA SINGER

Luisa Tetrazzini, Who Was Sued by Hammerstein

FOR BREACH OF CONTRACT

Hammerstein Wins In His Suit Against Tetrazzini, the Soprano

New York, July 28.—The suit brought by Oscar Hammerstein against Lusia Tetrazzini, the soprano, claiming damages on the allegation that the singer appeared in this country last year under auspices of other managers, in violation of a contract, was settled by the award of $19,250 to Hammerstein.

The settlement was agreed upon by attorneys for the parties and signed by Judge Lacombe of the United States circuit court.

PROBABLE MURDER

Man Found In New York Hotel Room Covered With Bruises and Gagged

New York, July 28.—Murdered, apparently by burglars, William H. Jackson was found dead on the floor of his bedroom. The body was covered with bruises. A washcloth was stuffed in the mouth as a gag.

The dead man's pajamas and the whole room bore evidence of a terrible struggle. In the bathroom of his suite was found a bottle containing traces of chloroform.

BEATS BEST RECORD IN AN AERIAL FLIGHT

Johnstone of Chicago Establishes New Endurance Record

Hempstead, N. Y., July 28.—St. Croix Johnstone of Chicago, flying in an all American aeroplane, established a new endurance record for America on Hempstead Heath yesterday.

He was in the air four hours and two minutes in sustained flight, having broken the old American record of 3 hours, 39 minutes and 49½ seconds, made by Phil O. Parmalee in a Wright machine at San Francisco in January, 1911, by 22 minutes and 10½ seconds.

VERDICT REVERSED

"Rule of Reason" Governs In a Supreme Court Case In New York

New York, July 28.—The "rule of reason" laid down by the supreme court in the Standard Oil and tobacco trust cases caused a reversal of judgment in a suit brought against the Union Castle Mail Steamship company.

In overturning its former decision, granting damages against the steamship company for violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, the United States circuit court said that its former action was based upon the supposition that it was immaterial whether restraint of trade was reasonable or unreasonable.

SCISSORS IN ABDOMEN

Mysterious Ailment Which Baffled Physicians In Ohio

Youngstown, O., July 28.—The mysterious ailments of Mrs. Lavina Dunn, that have been baffling physicians for months, were solved when surgeons operated and found inside her abdomen a pair of surgeon's scissors, carelessly sewed up there after a previous operation.

The scissors had been there from two to five years, as she had been operated on twice before. She has suffered agony for over a year and was at the point of death when removed to the city hospital.

The Weather

Almanac, Saturday, July 29.
Sun rises—4:50; sets—7:14.
Moon sets—9:52 p. m.
High water—12:03 a. m.; 1:15 p. m.
Forecast for New England: Probably fair; not much change in temperature; light to moderate east to south winds.

COMBINATION IS EFFECTIVE

Compromise Wool Measure Given Passage In Senate

THE SCHEDULE PRESENTED

Democrats and Standpatters Unite—House Disposed to Stand For Its Own Measure—No Final Action Seems Probable at This Session of Congress—Reduction Said to Benefit Farmers

Washington, July 28.—The La Follette substitute for the Underwood wool bill, revising the woolen schedule, was passed by the senate by a vote of 48 to 32, after a preliminary maneuver which necessitated five rollcalls.

This was forced upon the senate by reason of the attitude of the Democrats in following out the program which they adopted at their caucus, when it was agreed that they should stand solid for the Underwood bill as it passed the house, and in the event of the failure to get the necessary insurgent vote to pass it, they should turn in and support the La Follette substitute.

While they are not totally in sympathy with it, the Democrats regard it is preferable to the existing schedule.

The action in passing the La Follette measure will throw the subject into conference, and permit of an adjustment and change of rates which it is thought may be acceptable to the revisionists of both houses.

There is some doubt of this, as the Democrats of the house are disposed to stand by their own measure. In that event no final action can be had on the woolen schedule at this session.

In order to carry out the Democratic measure of standing for the Underwood bill, it was necessary for them to vote against the La Follette substitute offered as an amendment. On this question, the regular standpat Republicans voted with the Democratic minority.

Several standpatters voted for reconsideration. This action again left the bill before the senate and open to amendments.

Thereupon Senator La Follette again offered his amendment in the nature of a substitute, which only a few minutes before was defeated. His amendment was adopted 48 to 32. The Democrats and insurgents voted together for its adoption. Amended, the bill was then passed on rollcall by a vote of 48 to 32.

It is said the reductions, as adopted, will compensate the farmers—at least in part—for the losses which they will suffer as a result of free trade in agricultural products with Canada. They will, in some measure, relieve all of the people of the United States who have been made to pay tribute to the woolen trust, long the pampered favorite of the tariff law.

The schedule submitted by La Follette follows: "Duty on clothing wools, 40 percent; duty on carpet wools, 10 percent; duty on tops, 45 percent; duty on yard, 50 percent duty on carpets, 40 percent; upon cloths and all other manufactures composed entirely of wool or having wool as the component material of chief value, 60 percent.

A BAD SHAKEUP

Two Women and Three Small Children Narrowly Escape Death

Lynn, Mass., July 28.—Two women, three small children and a man narrowly escaped death on the Lynn boulevard last night, when a carriage in which they were riding was struck from behind by an automobile, and narrowly escaped going into the waters of the harbor.

The women, Mrs. Hattie Muse and Miss Edith Joy, were so badly shaken up that they were removed to the Lynn hospital, while the others escaped injury.

The automobile, containing two persons, sped away into the night and no trace of it was found up to a late hour.

SERIES OF ILL FORTUNE

A Tarrytown Family Meet With a Succession of Fatalities

Tarrytown, N. Y., July 28.—Sorrow has fallen heavily on Patrick Gallagher of this town. Three weeks ago his right arm was blown off by a premature blast.

A week ago his wife's dress caught fire and she died in the hospital Tuesday night. Yesterday his daughter, Mary, when going to the store, was bitten by a mad dog.

Gallagher has ten children.

Gambler In a Predicament

Boston, July 28.—Jumping out of a window at a gambling raid at 340 Harrison avenue last night, Julius Kates hung by his suspenders to the blind catch on the window ledge. As he hung there helpless and kicking his legs, an officer pulled him back into the room.

SEAMAN INSANE

One of Ship Crew Stricken on His Return From Foreign Trip

Provincetown, Mass., July 28.—Carl von Sneider, commissary steward on the battleship South Carolina, became violently insane and had to be sent to the Chelsea naval hospital.

Sneider, who has always been an efficient and likeable fellow, suddenly lost his reason while the South Carolina and the other ships of the second division were on their two months' cruise in Europe.

He had not been to his home in Germany for thirty-five years. Members of the crew claim that he was so excited over old faces and places, that his reason, which had slowly been getting weaker, according to intimate friends, suddenly gave way.

PROMISED EXEMPTION

Church to Be Exempt From Payment of One-Third of Revenue

Lisbon, July 28.—The government has delivered to the representatives of the owners copies of the promised amendments to the law of separation exempting the foreign churches from the payment of one-third of their revenues for charities.

The diplomatic corps is insisting that the government also amend that article in the law which makes obligatory the furnishing to the government of information relative to the officiating clergymen.

GOVERNMENT AID FOR GOOD ROADS PURPOSES

Large Amounts to Be Divided to Further Project

Washington, July 28.—The roads of the country will be benefited to the extent of $200,000,000 during the next five years if the house adopts and the senate and president approve a measure introduced. It provides for an expenditure of $20,000,000 by the government for five successive years, the states to add an equal amount for improving their roads.

The money would be divided among the states according to population, not counting cities with 30,000 or more population.

THE "BLACK HAND" AGAIN

Wealthy Minneapolis Woman Has Home Guarded by Police

St. Paul, July 28.—The residence of Mrs. Thomas Lowry in Minneapolis is being guarded by a cordon of police and Pinkerton detectives, as the result of thirteen Black Hand letters, which have been received by Mrs. Lowry.

Each letter stated that the Lowry house would be shattered to atoms unless the sum of $10,000 was placed on a nearby vacant lot.

The vacant lot on which the Black Hand men wanted the money placed is being watched by a number of detectives.

☞Going away for the summer? If so don't forget to have the Daily Ledger sent to your address and keep posted on home news. If you have forgotten to send in your order in the rush of getting away drop us a postal and we will do the rest. tf

HOT WEATHER

and dirt breed germs. Germs bring diseases and are a menace to your health. Our sanitary dyeing and cleaning processes render your clothes free from germs.

Get The Sanitary Habit!

We call for and deliver the work

WARSHAW'S DYE HOUSE

"The Home of Cleanliness"

1503 HANCOCK STREET QUINCY

July 15-tf

PATENTS

TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 38 years experience.

Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.

READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.

D. SWIFT & CO.

PATENT LAWYERS,

303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

E. E. GRAY CO.

QUINCY and WOLLASTON

1525 Hancock Street, Music Hall Block — Corner Newport Avenue and Brook Street

Cuts for Week Commencing July 24

Flour, (Golden Gate)	per Bag	69c
Salmon, (Good Alaska)	per can	13c
Condensed Milk, (Rose Brand)	per can	9c
Cornstarch,	per pkg.	4c
Macaroni or Spaghetti	per pkg.	7c
Ox Tongue, (Armor's Veribest)	per can	50c
Deviled Meats (Ham Flavor)	small can	4c
	large can	9c
Sardines (Norwegian Smoked)	per can	8c
Catsup, (Gray's Golden Gate)	large bot.	16c
Quaker Oats,	2 pkgs.	15c
Grape Juice, (Randall's)	med. bot.	16c
Gray's Self-Rising Flour	5 lb. bag	21c
Fancy Large Lemons	per doz.	30c
Crackers, (Royal Lunch Milk)	per lb.	8c

F M W

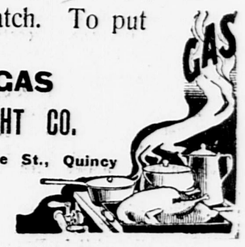
A WELL COOKED DINNER

If you have a good cook is assured when you use a gas stove or gas range. The heat is steady and uniform, which is not the case with a wood or coal stove, and you can raise or lower the flame as you please—which o course, is impossible on any other kind of cook-stove. To make a fire, you simply turn on the gas and apply a match. To put it out, turn off the gas.

COOK WITH GAS

CITIZENS' GAS LIGHT CO.

11 Granite St., Quincy



D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.

TUB DRESSES

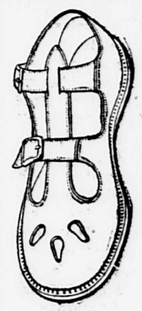
Ginghams, Muslins, Chambrays and Cotton Foulards

12 DIFFERENT STYLES

--- FOR ---

$1.98

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE



BAREFOOT SANDALS

The best thing for the children to wear during the warm weather. They are light and comfortable and give good satisfaction.

CHILDS	5 to 8	45c
MISSES	8 to 11	50c

HEFFERNAN'S SHOE STORE

1375 Hancock Street, Quincy

YOUR VACATION

WON'T BE

COMPLETE

UNLESS YOU LEAVE AN ORDER FOR THE

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

TO BE FORWARDED TO YOU

NEWS FROM HOME EVERY DAY FOR ONLY TWO CENTS

CO.

Newport Avenue
Brook Street

July 24

per Bag	69c
per can	13c
per can	9c
per pkg.	4c
per pkg.	7c
per can	50c
small can	4c
large can	9c
per can	8c
large bot.	16c
2 pkgs.	15c
med. bot.	16c
5 lb. bag	21c
per doz.	30c
per lb.	8c

F M W ood cook is a gas stove steady and case with a u can raise ease—which ther kind of simply turn o put incy

CO. Inc.
ES
ays and ES STORE ANDALS
dren to wear
r. They are d give good 45c
50c
STORE y
GER DAY

STORAGE
—FOR—
Furniture and Pianos
Storage Warehouse with Separate Rooms
Furniture and Piano Movers
HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1485 Hancock Street, Quincy Tel. Con.

HOUSEKEEPERS
TELL YOUR TROUBLES
HOLMES & HALL
We make a business of repairing the things about the house that get out of order such as DOORS, LOCKS, SHADES, BELLS and FURNITURE.
96 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 974 L

R. D. CHASE
QUINCY MASS.

Quincy Savings Bank
BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.
SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.
CLARENCE BURGIN,
Treasurer.

PATTERSON, "The Florist"
92 South Central Ave.
WOLLASTON, MASS.
Telephone 392 Quincy

M. T. SULLIVAN
Real Estate Insurance
Auctioneer Care of Property
Justice of the Peace
Corner School and Hancock Streets
QUINCY.

UPHOLSTERING
My only ambition is to get the work and to show the people of Quincy Town that nobody can beat me with my good work. Low prices on all kinds of furniture, repairing, mattresses, and cushions. Can give references. M. Mirkin 67 Washington street, next to Y.M.C.A. Quincy. Tel. 1112W. April 10-4mo.

A. M. DEANE & CO.
MONUMENTS
MEMORIALS ERECTED
IN ANY
CEMETERY
IN THE
UNITED STATES
Aug. 1. 1y

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.
FIRE INSURANCE.
The Best Insurance. The Lowest Rates.
Insurance Department,
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Telephone, Quincy 97-3.

JAMES F. BURKE
Real Estate and Insurance
AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES
Justice of the Peace Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Tel. 385-3 Jan. 17-tf

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock treet, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point
Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1153 M Nov. 3-tf

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER and GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

PATENTS
PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo for expert search and free report, free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES.
Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent.
Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively.
Write or come to our office
710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office,
WASHINGTON, D. C.
CASNOW & CO.

AMUSEMENTS

DOINGS ON THE STAGE OF

LOCAL AND BOSTON THEATRES

MAJESTIC THEATRE.

The tremendous success of "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" as presented by the Lindsay Morison Stock Company the past week at the Majestic Theatre has made it necessary to keep the play on for another week beginning Monday afternoon, July 31. Although performances were given every afternoon and evening the past week it was simply impossible to accommodate all who wished to see it. Mr. Morison has not felt content with having offered this season already several attractions for the first time in stock on any stage, to say nothing of the plays he has offered for the first time in stock in Boston, but shows the growing popularity of stock companies and its possibilities by paying an almost unbelieveable amount for the use of "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch." Rose Morison is cast for the title role Mrs. Wiggs, and all who are familiar with her character work may well anticipate a rich dramatic treat. Eleanor Gordon proves delightful in the role of Lovey Mary. Wilson Melrose easily duplicate the eccentricities of Wm. Hodge as Mr. Stubbins, and Mrs.. George A. Hibbard is capitally fitted with the role of Mrs. Eichorn.

SHUBERT THEATRE.

The Shubert Theatre will open its season on Monday, Aug. 7, with "Over Night," the daintiest merriest farce, that for nine months filled the Hackett Theatre and the Playhouse, New York, under the direction of Wm. A. Brady (ltd.) Philip H. Bartholmae is responsible for "Over Night," which is said to overflow with bright lines and situations that would make the most pronounced pessimist laugh.

"Over Night" tells the laugh-creating story of two newly wedded couples who inaugurate what they hope to be a joyous honeymoon by taking a daylight trip on a Hudson River steamboat. The two husbands are old college chums, but the wives have never previously met. Owing to a mix-up in baggage, the big husband of one of the women—a little, retiring, elfin creature—and the tall wife of the other husband—a little, rarely-leave home, mother's sort of a young man—disembark at Poughkeepsie and are left as the boat starts up the river. This leaves the two little people in a predicament, which is accentuated when the others in the boat insist on regarding them as a newly-wedded couple. They resolve to keep up the deception, and this leads to many excruciatingly funny situations.

A SECENE FROM THE MERRY FARCE "OVER NIGHT" Which opens at the Shubert Theatre, Monday, August 7th.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE.

Following the minstrels at B. F. Keith's Theatre will be another extraordinary attraction in the Old Timer's Variety Shaw, among those taking part being some of the most famous actors and actresses before the American public, both on the legitimate and the vaudeville stage. All will go back to the early days when vaudeville was known as "variety." These old times have already appeared in New York, Philadelphia, and other cities, and made a tremendous hit. The surprising part of it being how really up to date some of them are. One of the foremost is Mrs. Annie Yeamans, who goes back to the days of Harrigan & Hart; Lottie Gilson, known as "The little Magnet," who will sing her famous "Sunshine of Paradise Alley," Maggie Cline of "Throw him down McCluskey" fame; Gus Williams, the old time German comedian; Ward & Curran, who are still playing their "Terrible Judge;" Mr. and Mrs. Harry Thorne, who will present an old time vaudeville sketch; Fox & Ward, two of the oldest blackface comedians in the county; Allen & Clarke, a musical team that dates back to the old days, and others.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

The final week of Mr. Craig's third successful season begins on Monday with a revival of "A Bachelor's Honeymoon." The Castle Square Theatre will thus have been open continuously for forty-nine successive weeks, and it will be closed but a short interval of time in order to make ready for the opening of the new season of 1911-1912. "A Bachelor's Honeymoon" is a lively farce in which the audience will find plenty of opportunity for laughter. It is funny from the start, and its ingenity of plot, its witty dialogue and its amusing characters place it among the best plays of its kind. In laughter-giving power it is fully the equal of "All the comforts of Home" and "Are You a Mason?" "A Bachelor's Honeymoon" has for its hero a widower with three charming daughters, and having married again he finds that because of a sister who has charge of his moral and financial welfare, he has involved himself in great trouble. It is amusingly worked out, in a fashion that provides generous means for laughter throughout the entire play. The cast will include Donald Meek, W. P. Carleton, Gertrude Binley and Mabel Colcord. The new season at the Castle Square under Mr. Craig's direction will open on the first of September, and due announcement will be made of the play selected for that purpose.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, Lucas County, ss.
Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure. FRANK J. CHENEY.
Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.
A. W. GLEASON,
(Seal) Notary Public.
Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.
F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by all Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

TROOPS NOW IN CLOSE CONTACT

A Night Full of Excitement For Commanders and Men

THE COST OF THE MANEUVERS

Fully 150 Prisoners Were Captured by the Blue Forces—Close at Hand Is the Decisive Battle of the War Game—Where the Forces Are Located—Cost of the Maneuvers Will Probably Be Over $200,000

Boston, July 28.—Close at hand is the great and decisive battle of the war game.

Last night was full of excitement for the soldiers of both armies. General Pew and his Red force of neary 3000 men were camped at Fowler's pond, North Andover, with his outposts towards the Blues.

Only three miles away was the Blue army, equally large. General Clark established his headquarters at Dead hill in the Bradford district of Haverhill.

The outposts of both forces were in close contact, and the patrols were constantly clashing. There was firing all night. With the Blues and Reds so close together heavy fighting is occurring today.

General Pew, commanding the Reds, acknowledged last night that General Clark and the Blues had the advantage. The Reds are the aggressors.

The Red army will find it very difficult to dislodge the Blue force now lying between it and Portland, Me., from which reinforcements are expected for the Blue army.

Another skilful move made by General Clark was when he succeeded in sending his train of baggage auto trucks and wagons out across the North Andover bridge.

The artillery did not join the main body, as was expected, but went into camp a mile distant.

When the Blue army broke camp at North Andover Troops B and C of cavalry started out to reconnoitre and had a skirmish. They discovered the enemy.

Troop C, to support Troop B, started to charge up a hill at the Red force. They had gone 100 yards when the report was received that there were Red cavalry in the rear of the Blue troopers. The charge was halted, although the Blues were already firing on the Red cavalry.

Fully 150 prisoners from the Red army were captured by the Blue forces. This is the largest haul of the week.

One of the more important skirmishes took place on a dike across Johnson's pond. Two officers of the Red army were captured by the Blues.

It was stated last nght that the maneuvers will cost much more than the $200,000 appropriated by the state. Just how much more cannot be stated, however. There have been distributed to the troops of both armies 400,000 rounds of ammunition.

STRANDED ON ROCK

Steamer of Canadian Pacific Stranded In Foreign Waters

Tokio, July 28.—The steamship Empress of China of the Canadian Pacific railway line stranded on a submerged rock off No Jima Saki light. The passengers were rescued.

The Empress of China sailed from Vancouver, B. C., July 12, and was making for Tokio bay en route to Yokohama.

As soon as the word of the accident was received the minister of marine dispatched cruisers to the assistance of the distressed steamer. The cruisers took off the mails and baggage of the Empress and aided in removing passengers. The passengers were temporarily sheltered and later proceeded by train to this city.

The steamer's bottom was badly damaged and if the craft is saved it will take three months' time to repair her.

CHESTER MAKES GOOD TIME

Successful Trip of Scout Cruiser on Her Journey to Haytien Waters

Washington, July 28.—The flying trip of the scout cruiser Chester to Hayti to protect Americans in that country during the revolution has amply justified the building of the rapid scouting ships of this class.

The Chester got her sailing orders Thursday and was able to steam away from Bradford the next morning. She struck a gait of 18 2-3 knots an hour and covered the 1400 miles in three days and three hours, arriving there Monday morning.

Death of Prominent Business Man

Meriden, N. H., July 28.—John D. Bryant, a prominent lawyer of Boston, and identified in various businesses and other corporations, as an officer, died at his summer home here in his 82nd year.

Two Killed In Accident

Barre, Vt., July 28.—Two men were killed here when a large derrick fell at a Websterville quarry.

CONTAINED DIAMONDS

Valuable Bracelet Lost or Stolen From Miss Krauss

Boston, July 28.—The Boston police have been asked to locate a costly bracelet which was either lost or stolen from Miss Etta Krauss of Indianapolis yesterday while she was on her way from the Eastern Steamship company's wharf to the Hotel Westminster.

The bracelet, which bore the inscription "Lisette Krauss," and contained five diamonds, was removed from the young woman's chatelaine bag and disappeared. It was not missed until she and the party with whom she was traveling reached the hotel.

THE TIME TABLE.

A Happening That Led to a Great Family Reform.

TRY A STUFFED PINEAPPLE.

An Easy Treatment For the Ubiquitous Guimpe of Lingerie or Lace. The Season's Fichus Especially Dainty on Foulard Frocks.

My Dear Elsa—Dick was perfectly furious the other evening when he came home. You know we have left town and are living in a convenient suburb away from the bustle and heat of New York city. I was calmly sitting on the porch reading one of the best sellers when the gentleman indignantly burst in upon my enjoyment with the remark, uttered in no gentle tone, "I missed my train by relying on a time table you handed me last night."

Now it seems that Dick received an important business telegram night before last which required his presence in town early the next morning, and his first thought was to look up the trains. Naturally he asked me for a time table, and I cheerfully gave him the old one, which lost him his appointment and incidentally a contract that would have netted him $11, simply by missing a train. It was the old story of the other man getting there first.

In your orderly household such a collection of time tables probably never would have been allowed to accumulate. Ours are, or rather were, kept in a writing table drawer, not arranged in order, but thrown in any old way, old and new together.

A CHIFFON SET.

In this instance I had happened not to get a very old time table, but one about middle aged, old enough to be wrong but still young enough to make me trust it, which is plainly where I slipped a cog. Now I have inaugurated a great domestic reform which I would like to pass on to all careless persons given to hoarding time tables.

In this reform movement I was very generously aided by the victim of the lost train, for Dick brought home a complete set of current time tables, and then I emptied the drawer of all the old ones and put the new ones in, arranged in order, and afterward issued a general household order on the subject of time tables to the effect that they must be kept—those of each road in a pile by themselves—and, further, that whenever a new time table on any road was brought in the corresponding old one must be teetotally and unhesitatingly thrown away.

This scheme, I am sure, is going to work beautifully, but I fear that every time for the next year I will be reminded of the lost $11 whenever the fancy seizes me to plunge sartorially. Dick is not close fisted; still he's very human, and such an opportunity to bring a sinner to a second repentance will hardly be thrown away.

Now what do you say to this stuffed pineapple recipe for a hot weather dessert? Last Sunday, which was a record breaker in the weather line, found us enjoying the cooling dainty. All you have to do is to cut the top neatly from the pine, as our English cousins call it, and keep the green sprouted top for a future "ild." Then the work of scooping out the pulp of the pineapple begins until nothing is left but the shell. This is filled with cold water until the pulp is ready to be returned to it. This pulp is sweetened and to it is added the juice of two oranges and a quarter of a pound of maraschino cherries. Just before serving time fill the pineapple shell with the mixture and put on the lid and send to the table. As our nasturtiums are particularly thriving and beautiful this season, I used them as a decoration around the stuffed pineapple, and the green leaves and bright flowers made an effective setting for the dessert. It was both cool to look upon and a palate tickler, I tell you, for the jaded summer appetite.

Here's a cleaning tip for you which may come in useful. You know how easily the white guimpe of lingerie or lace becomes soiled and what a bother it is to put in a fresh one. Well, one day I was in a hurry to meet an engagement and a frock I determined upon to wear had a very bedraggled guimpe in it. A happy thought came into my mind—why not clean it with magnesia? So no sooner thought than a big lump of the magnesia was in my hand, being manipulated very strenuously over the guimpe. After the first application all the soil disappeared, and with a good shake the powder fell out of the lace and my guimpe was as fresh as the most exquisite taste could desire.

I suppose you always use glove snappers for inserting these guimpes? It is such a simple matter to sew several of the snaps on the dress waist where the guimpe goes in and the corresponding half of the strap on the yoke itself ready to be snapped into position. Lots of women, though, still sew their guimpes in and know nothing whatever about the easiest way.

You asked me about the new fichus? Well, it's hard to keep away from the topic of neckwear, and yet it is hard to write about the new things one sees in the shops, for they defy description. The successful fichu first and foremost must be fine in material.

It may be untrimmed, consummately simple, but never treated in coarse and cheap fabrics.

Fichus of fine point d'esprit bordered by plaited frills of the point d'esprit about the edges are charming, and the softness of the net gives an added touch of daintiness. These fichus require draping, and both the graceful draping and the effective wearing of these old fashioned affairs are ticklish matters, to be approached in a spirit of serious artistic understanding and effort. On simple foulard or lingerie frocks a fichu is most effective and brings a last year's creation quite up to date.

It is perfectly impossible to write any more in this scorching heat, for there is nothing left but a bone and a hank of hair of MABEL.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

In effect June 4, 1911

The letters in the same line as the figures below stand for different stations and indicate that trains stop as follows.

a Wollaston	f Harrison Square
b Norfolk Downs	g Savin Hill
c Atlantic	h Crescent Avenue
d Neponset	i South Boston
e Pope's Hill	r Quincy Adams

Exp.—Express train.

TO BOSTON			FROM BOSTON
Leave	Stop	Arrive	Leave	Stop	Arrive
r 5 14	abcdefghi	5 41	5 45	ihgfedcba	6 14 r
r 6 16	abcl	6 35	6 12	ihgfedcba	6 39 r
r 6 33	e	6 48	6 30	a	6 47
r 6 40	abcf	7 00	7 15	hgfedcba	7 41 r
r 7 08	abcd	7 30	7 41	a	7 58
r 7 25	d	7 42	7 45	e	8 03 r
r 7 33	Exp	7 48	8 35	cb	8 53
r 7 42	ab	8 00	8 42	a	8 59
7 57	a	8 13	9 10	fedba	9 32 r
r 8 09	abcd	8 31	9 45	a	10 01 r
r 8 30	Exp	8 45	10 15	ihgfedcba	10 41 r
r 8 53	ad	9 10	10 50	Exp	11 05
r 9 15	abc	9 33	11 15	hgfedcba	11 41 r
r 10 03	a	10 20	11 50	a	12 07
r 10 19	abcdefghi	10 45	12 15	hgfedcba	12 41 r
11 12	a	11 38	12 37	a	12 54 r
r 11 24	abcdefgh	11 50	12 50	Exp	1 05
12 04	a	12 20	1 11	fedcba	1 32 r
r 12 25	abcdefghi	12 52	1 45	a	2 02
1 22	a	1 49	2 15	ihgf	2 37 r
2 04	a	2 20	2 35	Exp	2 50
r 2 19	abcdefgh	2 45	3 15	hgfedcba	3 40 r
r 3 13	Exp	3 28	3 45	a	4 02
4 01	a	4 20	4 12	fedcba	4 24 r
r 4 25	abcdefgh	4 51	4 41	d	4 58
5 01	Exp	5 10	5 14	a	5 31 r
r 5 30	abcdefg	5 55	5 24	a	5 42
6 12	a	6 30	5 31	dcb	5 50 r
7 22	Exp	7 37	5 43	a	6 00 r
r 7 30	a	7 46	5 55	fedcba	6 21 r
r 8 07	abcdef	8 30	6 14	Exp	6 30 r
r 9 01	abc	9 20	6 30	cdba	6 51 r
10 04	a	10 20	7 00	fedcba	7 24 r
r 10 07	abcdef	10 30	7 12	a	7 29
r 11 25	abc	11 45	8 05	ba	8 32
			9 25	dba	9 46 r
			10 35	fedcba	11 02 r
			11 10	fedcba	11 35 r
			11 30	ba	11 49

SUNDAYS

r 7 45	abc	8 43	6 30	ba	6 48 r
8 30	Exp	8 45	45	ihgfedcba	9 13 r
8 34	abc	8 52	9 05	Exp	9 21
r 8 46	bcdefghi	9 13	10 15	ihgfedcba	10 -2 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	12 15	ihgfedcba	12 42 r
9 31	a	9 47	12 45	Exp	1 01
10 23	ac	10 40	1 30	ihgfedcba	1 57 r
10 31	Exp	10 47	2 15	hgfedcba	2 42 r
11 00	Exp	11 17	2 45	a	3 02
r 11 16	abcdefghi	11 43	3 15	ihgfedcba	3 42 r
1 02	Exp	1 17	4 27	cba	4 48 r
r 1 16	abcdefgh	1 43	5 15	ihgfedcba	5 42 r
r 3 10	abc	3 30	6 15	ihgfedcba	6 42 r
r 4 16	abcdefghi	4 43	7 00	cba	7 19 r
r 5 07	abc	5 27	8 15	ihgfedcba	8 41 r
r 6 16	abcdefghi	6 43	8 50	Exp	9 05
r 7 16	abcdefghi	7 42	9 30	ihgfedcba	9 57 r
r 8 11	abcdefghi	8 38	10 45	cba	11 04 r
r 9 07	a	9 22
r 10 46	abc	11 05
r 11 01	abc	11 20

West Quincy for Boston (stopping at East Milton)—6.23, 6.56, 7.17, 8.04, 8.11, 9.07 10.09, 11.01, A. M. 12.09, 1.23, 2.09, 3.18, 4.09, 5.13 6.06, 7.19, 9.09, 11.14 P. M. Sundays—8.20, 9.20 A. M. 12.50, 5.15, 6.50, 11.02 P. M.

Boston for West Quincy (stopping at East Milton)—6.35, 7.27, 8.23, 9.35, 10.25, 11.35 A. M. 12.25 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.24, 5.47, 6.18 7.20, 9.10, 11.20 P. M. Sundays—8.58 A. M 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M.

Montclair for Boston 6.29, 7.2 , 8.17, 10.15, A. M. 12.15, 1.29, 4.15, 5.20, 6.12, 7.28, 9.15, P. M. Sundays—8.26, 9.26, A. M. 1.06, 5.21, 11.09 P. M.

Boston for Montclair 9.35, 10.25, 11.35, A. M. 12.25, 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 6.18, 11.20 P. M. Sundays—8.58 A. M. 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M.

Boston & Northern St. Ry. Co.

QUINCY DIVISION

TIME TABLE

In effect June 24th, 1911.

Subject to Change Without Notice

Leave QUINCY for

Brockton, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M. then 9.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Brockton, 6.30, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 9.30 P. M Sundays, 8.00A. M. then same as week days.

Braintree, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Braintree, 6.25 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.25 P. M. Sundays, 7.55 A. M. then same as week days.

East Milton, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Milton, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M., and every 20 minutes to 11.45 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.15 midnight.) Sundays, 7.25, A. M. then same as week days.

East Weymouth, 6.00, 6.15, 6.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.42 P. M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Weymouth, 6.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.45 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Holbrook, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M. then 9.50 and 10.20 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Holbrook, 5.55, 6.25, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.00 P. M. Sundays, 8.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Houghs Neck, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 5.20, 5.45, 6.10 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 4.10 P. M. then 4.25, 4.40, 4.55, 5.10, 5.25, 5.40, 5.55, 6.10, 6.25, 6.40, 6.55, 7.10 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 11.10 P. M. then 11.49 P. M. Saturdays and Holidays, 5.20, 5.45, 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, 10.10, 10.40, A. M. then every 15 minutes to 10.40 P. M. then 11.10 and 11.49 P. M. Sundays, 6.50, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, 10.10, 10.40 A. M. then every 15 minutes to 10.40 P. M. then 11.10 P. M. Return, leave Houghs Neck Mondays to Fridays, both inc. 5.45, 6.05, 6.35 A. M. and ever 30 minutes to 4.35 P. M. then 4.50, 5.05, 5.20, 5.35, 5.50, 6.05, 6.20, 6.35, 6.50, 7.05, 7.20, 7.35 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 12.05 midnight. Saturdays and Holidays, 5.45, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05, A. M. then every 15 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.35 and 12.05 P. M. Sundays, 7.20, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05 A. M. then every 15 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.35 P. M.

Nantasket 8.25 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 9.25 P. M. Sundays, 9.25 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Nantasket, 10.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.00 P. M. Sundays, 10.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Hancock Street, 5.46, 6.14, 6.44, 7.14, 7.44, 8.14, 8.35, A. M. then 5, 14, 35 and 44 minutes past each hour to 10.44 P. M. then 12.14 midnight. Sundays 7.14 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Neponset 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, 8.07, 8.35, 8.37, 9.05, 9.37 A. M. then 5, 7, 35 and 37 minutes past each hour to 11.07 P. M. then 12.37 midnight. Sundays, 7.37 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Wollaston, 5.59 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.59 P. M. then 11.14 and 11.44 P. M. Sundays, 6.59 A. M. then same as week days. Return leave Neponset, 6.22 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.22 P. M. then 11.37, 12.07 P. M. Sundays, 7.22 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Norfolk Downs, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 7.55, 8.25, 8.50, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 1.30 P. M. then 2.05, 2.35 P. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.05 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.00 P. M.) Sundays, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Neponset, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 1.35 P. M. then 2.00, 2.30 P. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M.) Sundays, 8.30, 9.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Weymouth Landing, 5.20, 6.00, 6.20, 6.55, 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.00 P. M. Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days. Return leave Weymouth Landing, 5.40, 6.15, A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.15 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Wollaston, 5.59 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.59 P. M. then 11.14 and 11.44 P. M. Sundays, 6.59 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Wollaston, 6.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.30 P. M. then 11.50 and 12.20 P. M. Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days.

West Quincy, 5.39, 5.50, 6.10 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave West Quincy, 6.00, 6.20, 6.50, A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.50 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.20 midnight) Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days.

Leave NEPONSET BRIDGE for Squantum, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 3.30 P. M. then 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30 P. M. then every 60 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Saturdays, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Sundays, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. (Note—Week Days, cars will leave Atlantic Bridge for Squantum, 5.45 and 6.15 A. M.) Return leave Squantum, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 4.05 P. M. then 4.35, 5.05, 5.35, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05 P. M. then every 60 minutes to 11.05 P. M. Saturdays, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 10.05 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. Sundays, 8.05 9.05, 10.05, A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M.

THOMAS GAMMON,
Superintendent.

Quincy Daily Ledger

FOR SALE AT

BOSTON—At South Station after 3.30 P. M.
QUINCY—Ledger Office 1424 Hancock Street.
L. A. Chapin, 1395 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, oppo. Depot.
Thompson's Waiting Room, City Sq.
H. P. Kittredge, City Square.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
Mrs. Madden, 16 Quincy ave.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's News Stand.
PARK&DOWNS—Branschied & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
QUINCY NECK—Stetson Pierce, Newcomb Square.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith, Washington Street.
Gragg's Pharmacy.
L. A. Cook, Washington Street.
E. O. Godfrey, 538 Washington St.
E. H. Lowe, Washington Street.
George E. Sprague Cor. River St.
SOUTH QUINCY—Litchfield, Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Miss C. Booth, Brooks Avenue.
BREWER'S CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
Mrs. F. H. Stanley.
WEST QUINCY—F. A. Skinner.
John G. Belanger.
HOUGHS NECK—Capt. Fosdick's.

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	61 degrees
July 28, 1910,	83 degrees
July 28, 1909,	93 degrees
July Noon Maximum, 14 years,	101
July Noon Minimum, 14 years.	60

Black and Tan.

BRIEFS

The City Clerk reports that no nomination papers have been taken out since Thursday.

Ex-Councilman William J. Flynn and wife are receiving congratulations on the birth of a baby girl.

Fred Ward of Lowe street, goes to Camp Becket, Becket, Mass next week for a three weeks vacation.

About fifty of the youngsters from the playground had a swim in the Y. M. C. A. pool Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. E. W. Baxter and children of Greenleaf street have joined Mr. Baxter at South Harpswell, Me.

B. R. McQuinn, head meat cutter at R. S. Foy & Co's big market has been spending his vacation at Nantasket this week.

Souvenir cards have been received from Geo. Sullivan and George Reinhalter of West Quincy who are summering at George's Mills, N. H.

H. L. Kincaide & Co.'s, big auto-truck is in the war game this week, being located somewhere near Wakefield.

Rev. Michael J. Carey who is in charge of the Paulist House, Austin, Texas, is spending a few days at his old home on South street.

William H. Wood, proprietor of the Nubian Hennery, is having pictures taken of his prize stock. He will use these in the handsome new catalogue which he is getting out.

Charles H. Penniman returned this morning from a few days visit to White Plains, N. Y. Mrs. Penniman who went over with him will remain for a few days longer.

Papers are being circulated in Quincy for the Democratic endorsement for John H. Burdakin, as register of Deeds. Mr. Burdakin has held this position for years, and for a number of years has had both the Republican and Democratic nominations.

Chief of Police Burrell attended the outing of the Massachusetts Chief of Police club at the Relay House, Bass Point Thursday. Chief Pierce of Milton, Fitzgerald of Weymouth and Crooker of Holbrook were also present.

Established 1870 Telephone

JOHN HALL

FUNERAL DIRECTOR

Carriage and Ambulance Service

1485 Hancock Street, Quincy Mass.

WATER SPORTS AT THE POINT

Entries For All Events In Hands Of Sub-Committees

THE PROGRAM

The committee in charge of the water sports to be held Saturday afternoon met Thursday at the home of Mr. J. R. Mellen, Bay View street, and reported progress. After comparing notes and tabulating the results, it was announced that 22 motor boats and 10 sail boats, would compete in their respective classes, while in the rowing, canoeing and swimming events, excellent entries have been received. While it was the original intention of the committee to close the lists Thursday night, it was agreed to leave the matter of accepting entries for all events, in the hands of the sub-committee in charge of each division, and accordingly entries for any event will be received practically up to the start of same, subject to the following conditions. The motor boat race which is to be a handicap affair, requires that each boat will go once around the course, and it is stipulated that any one whose time for the race proper exceeds by 5 per cent the time made on trial will be disqualified. The time for trials has been set for the half hour between 1.30 and 2 P. M. and competitors whose trial has not commenced by or before 2 o'clock will be barred.

In the sail boat races, the handicap will be made on the waterline length and this information must be given with entry not later than 1.45 P. M., at which time the first gun will be fired, the start to take place 5 minutes later, for the other events including, rowing, canoe races, swimming, diving, tub race and tilting match, entries will be received up to five minutes of the start of the event.

In all cases entries must be given to the committee in charge of each division, the committees being as follows:

Motor boats—W. E. Lee, H. A. Small, F. A. Drake.

Sail boats—E. P. Barrows, F. P. Larkin, D. Kid.

All other events—J. W. Hendry, George Mayers, Rev. C. P. Marshall.

The following is a draft of the program which it is hoped will be carried through without a hitch:

Motor boats.
Sail boats.
Boys' swim.
Girls' swim.
Men's swim.
Ladies' swim.
Dive and swim under water.
Tub race.
Canoe race.
Boys' rowing.
Ladies' rowing.
Men's rowing.
Tilting match.

PLENTY OF POSTAL BANKS.

It was announced at the Post office Department Thursday that postal savings banks would be established in the postoffices at Manchester, Andover and Concord Aug. 25. Within six months the department hopes to have at least 500 banks in operation in Massachusetts.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

ABANDONED WRECKS MAY MEAN MONEY

The many abandoned wrecks on the New England coast particularly in the waters off southeastern Massachusetts, are to be cleaned up for the money equivalent in old metal, iron and other parts which still remain, by the schooner Mabel E. Goss, formerly in the stone carrying trade, but now fitted up as a full-fledged wrecker by a Boston company, says a dispatch from Vineyard Haven.

The Goss left today for Cuttyhunk for the purpose of tackling the remains of the Red Star liner Sylvia, which was wrecked on Sow and Pigs four or five years go. The Sylvia has been pretty well stripped by the natives and by professional wreckers, but it is hoped with the apparatus aboard the Goss will be able to secure much of value.

The wreck of the steamer Horatio Hall, which has rested on the sands of Pollock Rip for two years, was found to be unavailable for salving operations. The backers of the Goss had expected to obtain the machinery and other property still remaining on the hull but their visit to the scene resulted in their determining that the undertaking was too hazardous to continue.

BASEBALL GAMES OF SATURDAY.

Quincy Independents vs West Quincy at Old Colony grounds.

Makaria vs Middleboro A. A. at Middleboro.

South Quincy Extension Club vs. Station Outing Club at Merrymount park, lower field.

Y. M. C. A. vs. Somerville Y. M. C. A. at Lincoln park, Somerville.

A TURKEY FEAST.

General Lee Showed His Officers the Way to Enjoy It.

General Lee in the drawing room was a dignified and quiet gentleman, very kindly and gentle, especially with women and children. "On the field," says Major Ranson in Harper's Magazine, "he was the general, the commander in all essential points. But in other points he could be as sympathetic and considerate as he was at home.

"In the latter part of December a barrel was delivered at our camp marked 'General Lee and Staff.' We opened it and found it was packed full of turkeys. We sent word to General Lee, and he rode over to our camp. There was snow on the ground, and we had laid the turkeys out on a board on the snow, the biggest in the middle and the others tapering off to the smallest at each end. There were about a dozen of them.

"General Lee dismounted and joined the group gathered round the present, carrying his unslung and undrawn sword in his hand. He was told that the big turkey in the middle was his. He stood looking down at the turkeys for a moment and then said, touching the big turkey with the scabbard of his sword:

"'This, then, is my turkey? I don't know, gentlemen, what you are going to do with your turkeys, but I wish mine sent to the hospital in Petersburg so that some of the convalescents may have a good dinner.'

"He then turned on his heel and, walking to his horse, mounted and rode away. We looked at one another for a moment and then, without a word, replaced the turkeys in the barrel and sent them to the hospital."

Reason's whole pleasure lies in these words: Health, peace and competence —Pope

A DELIGHTFUL BREAKFAST

or luncheon will be eaten from our dainty spring lamb chops, spring broilers or chicken. When your appetite fails you in warm weather you can always find something to tempt and satisfy it by choosing your tidbits at the

QUINCY MARKET

Next to Woolworth's 5 and 10c Store

WHO EVER HEARD OF THESE PRICES

for this time of the year. Remember these prices are for the best goods. No Cheap Trash. Everything guaranteed or your money refunded

LEG--LOIN of SPRING LAMB	12 1-2c
FORE QUARTER SPRING LAMB	from 6 to 8c
SHORT LEG SPRING LAMBS	from 15 to 18c
LAMB CHOPS	15c
LAMB for STEW	5c
1st Cut RIB ROAST	15c
2d and 3d Cut RIB ROAST	12 1-2c
COOD RIB ROAST	10c
MIXED SALT PORK for beans	10c
BEEF LIVER	3 lbs. 25c
COOD LEAN CORNED BEEF	from 6 to 10c
NATIVE RIPE TOMATOES	3 lbs. for 25c
NATIVE LETTUCE, large head	5c
FRESH CRISP GINGER SNAPS	4 lbs. 25c
3 CANS CONDENSED MILK	25c
3 LARGE CUCUMBERS	10c
LARGE LEMONS	25c doz

July 28-2t--o-29-1w

TODAY'S COURT ITEMS

Roy Bishop was arraigned for breaking and entering at Braintree. Case continued until Aug. 8.

John D. Noe was sent to the State farm for being a tramp at Milton.

The continued case of Oscar Djerf for asault at Quincy was called. Satisfaction was acknowledged and he was discharged on payment of costs.

MANETS HAVE STRONG OPPONENT

The strong New England Telephone Company nine will play the Manets at Merrymount park on Saturday. Two months ago this team beat South Quincy by a good margin, so that a good game is sure to be seen on Saturday. Kerr and Berry will be the battery for the Quincy nine and the Telephone company will do their best to have their southpaw with them. Three new outfielders will be tried in this game by the Manets so that when the championship series begins, they will have a reliable outfield.

The Makarias have no open date until after Labor day, so that the game Manager Burton was trying to arrange between his team and the Makarias will not be played in all probability.

The Chapman brothers are no longer with the Makarias since they have gone to Philadelphia to work. Troupe is doing the catching now.

Manager Burton of the Manets wants to know how the West Quincys or the Quincy Independents can claim the championship of the city for that he believes is what the announcement that the winner of the series will meet all comers means. Who picked those teams to settle the argument, he said. He also wishes to know how they have improved the baseball situation here in Quincy.

MARKING LINEN.

Quick Ways of Applying Initials to the Family Garments.

When living in a boarding house or anywhere that washing must be sent to the laundry mark it with the full name. The easiest way to do this is to overcast firmly to the garment a small stamped label marked with the name and address. These can be bought by the hundred quite cheaply.

When marking is only for the purpose of distinguishing the belongings of various members of the family a single initial is enough. The quickest way to put this on stockings or anywhere that writing cannot be done is to work an initial in chain stitch, using a red cotton.

Some mothers of large families mark all one child's belongings in blue, another in red, and so on, that they can be quickly sorted by color.

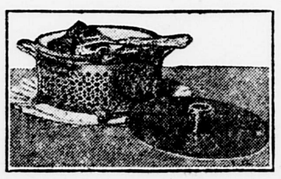
To prevent the running of ink that is so distracting when the clothing is to be marked it is said if the letters are first traced in pencil the ink will not run.

Another method is to put the garment to be marked over an embroidery hoop and hold it taut with the other ring. The smallest sized hoops can be bought for this purpose and kept with the marking ink.

FOR THE LUNCHEON.

Veal Chops Served En Casserole Are Appetizing.

An appetizing luncheon dish is veal chops en casserole. The Boston Cooking School Magazine has a recipe for preparing them. Six veal chops are wiped carefully to remove bits of bone and then rolled in flour and saute in hot fat until browned on both sides. They are then removed to a casserole.



VEAL CHOPS EN CASSEROLE.

Heat one cup of broth or water, half a cup each of tomato puree and a cereal to the boiling point. Pour this over the chops. Add also half a teaspoonful each of salt and pepper. Have ready half a dozen onions cooked half an hour and rinsed in cold water; dry these on a cloth and let brown in a little butter melted in the frying pan; add these to the casserole, cover and let cook very gently about an hour.

Conquering Nerves.

Nervous people ought to make a practice of doing the very thing that they dread most, say nerve specialists. Another "cure" advocated by a well known doctor is for nervous men and women to study an actor or actress who is essentially "self possessed," then to make a practice of copying that demeanor. It will give them something to do and to think about—the best tonic for nerves.

MORGAN CAUSES LAUGHTER

Smash on Jaw Makes Him Afraid of High Ones.

Considerable merriment is always afforded to fan and fanette whenever "Cyrano" Morgan, the Philadelphia Americans' veteran pitcher, steps toward the plate to make his bow as a batter. Cy usually bats with one foot at the water bucket and the other out of the grounds, and some of his swings look as funny as a giraffe trying to play croquet.

But there is a reason for that. Cyrus was playing for St. Paul one day when a wild busher on one of the other clubs tore loose a fast one that smashed Cyrus in the jaw, broke up all his dental work and had him expectorating teeth for ten minutes.

In addition, he got a gash in his map that required several stitches as well as marring the contour of his classic features. Since that day Cyrano has always been in mortal fear of right handers, though he says that he can hit southpaws as well as any league leader.

HIGH BALL NOT EFFECTIVE.

Ty Cobb Says Pitchers Who Use Low Curve Get Best Results.

Ty Cobb is of the opinion that with the new ball now in vogue no pitcher who uses a high ball can be effective. He says that the lively ball when pitched high can be hit just hard enough to make long flies, and while these would ordinarily have been putouts, they are now long hits, because the ball is more lively. "It has been my observation," he argues, "that the pitchers who are keeping the ball low are those who are getting best results. The ball has much to do with this, and, furthermore, there are more high ball hitters now than there used to be. The batters have mastered the high ball, but most of them are weak on the low ones."

HOW DAUBERT BROKE IN.

Failure to Open Cafe Caused Brooklyn's Star to Take Up Baseball.

Failure to obtain the location desired for a cafe was responsible for Jake Daubert's decision to make baseball his profession. The Brooklyn's first baseman as a boy was employed in the coal mines in the neighborhood of his home in Llewellyn, Pa. His father had been a miner, and Jake and his two brothers followed in his footsteps. Every opportunity Jake had he was playing ball. He made his professional debut with the Kane club, which later blew up. He then threw his fortunes with Marion, another Pennsylvania team. It was while playing with

Photo by American Press Association.

JAKE DAUBERT, BROOKLYN'S BRILLIANT YOUNG FIRST BASEMAN.

Marion that Tom O'Brien, scout for the Clevelands, saw him and recommended him to Cleveland.

The Marion club, like the Kane club, also blew up, and Jake went back to work in the mines. Cleveland ordered him to report in the spring of the next year. Jake says he will always remember his last day's work as a miner. Through a bit of carelessness he was nearly killed. The superintendent of the mines told him if he didn't stick to baseball and give up mining he would chase him out of town with a gun.

Winter Horse Racing In Oklahoma.

Another winter meeting will be launched at Oklahoma City in December, as Governor Cruce has decided that there is no law against bookmaking and betting in that state.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents. Three consecutive insertions 50 cents, 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.

No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Safe, light express, small pung, platform pung, Fairbank's platform scales, truck. J. H. Litchfield, 7 Brook street, Wollaston, near station. Tel. Quincy 42. July 28-3t

FOR SALE—Two house lots, 3000 feet each, on Liberty street, Quincy. Apply Miss McLeod, 76 Chandler street Boston. July 27-3t

FOR SALE—Two horses, stone wagon, harness, and sleigh in good condition. Inquire at 34 Clark avenue, Quincy. July 26-3t

FOR SALE—A Steck grand square piano, New York make, in first-class condition. For information inquire at 49 Upland road. Terms low. Tel. 507-1, Quincy. July 26-6t

FOR SALE

The cozy home, situated No. 24 Marsh Street, consisting of a six room house, city water, 4400 square feet of land, fruit trees. Price reasonable.

Call and see,

JAMES F. BURKE,

REAL ESTATE AGENT,

Room 4, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, Mass.

July 15-tf

LOST

LOST—A sum of money at the Quincy depot, Wednesday, P. M. Reward of $10 if returned to S. S., Ledger office. July 27-3t

WANTED

WANTED—First-class painters. No others need apply. Call John F. Anderson, 159 Whitwell street, Quincy. July 28-1t

TO LET

TO LET—Desirable Single House in Quincy Centre to private family only. Has 8 rooms, bath and laundry, range, shades, screens, open fireplaces, large porch and yard. For further particulars and keys apply at No. 41 Spear street, Quincy. July 28-tf L. P. O.

TO LET—Half house 7 rooms all improvements. $25 per month. Apply at 41 Spear street, Quincy. July 28-tf

TO LET—A flat of five rooms with all the latest improvements on Berkley street, Bigelow park. Apply to 47 Main street, Quincy. July 27-3t

TO LET—A tenement, range and bath. Moderate rent. Inquire 70 Glencoe place, Quincy. July 27-tf

TO LET—In Wollaston Park, small suite, modern improvements, nice locality, near beach and cars. Apply 132 Marlboro street, Wollaston. July 26-6t

BOARD AND ROOM—Two young men can be accommodated with room and board in strictly private family near centre. Everything first-class. Home privileges to right party. References exchanged. Address "R. F. E." care Ledger office. July 25-6t

TO LET—New house, 6 rooms and bath, modern conveniences, 10 minutes walk from shipyard. Can be bought on easy terms. Apply to Frank Leben, 76 Howard street, East Braintree. July 25-6t

TO LET—A flat of five rooms with all the latest improvements. Inquire 58 Federal avenue. July 24-6t

TO LET—On Spear street, tenement of 4 rooms and bath. All modern improvements. Apply to C. A. Ericson, 117 Glendale road. Tel 586 M. June 27-tf

FOR RENT—Quincy, Centre, opposite Adams Academy, house of 8 rooms and bath, also garage, 3 minutes to R. R. Station. Dr. E. S. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263L, Weymouth. May 10-tf

ON THE DIAMOND

American League

At Boston:	R	H	E
Boston	9	12	5
Chicago	4	8	2

Batteries—Karger and Carrigan; White, Young and Sulivan.

At Washington:	R	H	E
Detroit	7	7	0
Washington	1	11	4

Batteries—Willett and Stanage; Johnson and Ainsmith.

At Philadelphia:	R	H	E
Cleveland	6	11	3
Philadelphia	3	5	1

Batteries—Gregg and Smith; Morgan, Leonard, Livingston and Thomas.

At New York:	R	H	E
New York	5	10	2
St. Louis	4	8	0

Batteries—Fisher and Sweeney; Nelson and Stephens.

National League

At Chicago:	R	H	E
Chicago	8	11	0
Boston	2	8	0

Batteries—Toney and Archer; Griffin, Pfeffer and Kling.

At St. Louis:	R	H	E
Philadelphia	4	9	1
St. Louis	3	7	2

Batteries—Alexander and Moran; Harmon, Woodburn, McAdam, Oakes and Bliss.

At Cincinnati:	R	H	E
Cincinnati	7	11	2
New York	4	6	2

Batteries—Keefe, Smith and McLean; Drucke, Crandall and Wilson.

At Pittsburg:	R	H	E
Pittsburg	7	8	3
Brooklyn	0	6	3

Batteries—Leifield and Simon; Rucker, Knetzer, Miller and Bergen.

New England League

At Lynn:	R	H	E
Lynn	5	12	1
Brockton	5	12	1

Batteries—Harrington, Barry and Daum; Eastman and Tevlin. Eleven innings, called on account of darkness.

At Worcester:	R	H	E
Worcester	7	7	1
Fall River	4	9	2

Batteries—Swarmstedt and O'Neil; Wormwood, Blum, Jensen and Haight.

At Lowell:	R	H	E
New Bedford	8	12	1
Lowell	5	10	4

Batteries—Griffith and Rufiange; Wolfgang and Huston.

Second Game:	R	H	E
Lowell	9	16	0
New Bedford	1	6	0

Batteries—Maybohm and Lavign; McDonald and Wheeler.

The Cost of Living.

Miss Fanny Travis Cochran, head of the industrial betterment bureau of the Consumers' League of Philadelphia, says that a man cannot keep a family of five on $12 a week. He may be able to procure the bare necessaries of life, she said, but would not be able to do more than that. As the average laboring man in large cities is said to earn but $9, he cannot do even as well. It is largely women who have to wrestle with the problem of making this meager income do the work of three times that amount, yet there are still persons who sneer at the intelligence of women of the working class.

TO LET

Tenement—22 B Granite Street. $10.00 per month.

Greenleaf Hall—Greenleaf Block Large Furnished Hall with various anterooms—to let by the evening or permanently.

City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 20 feet high. Splendid light, low rent

Quincy Real Estate Trust,

(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)

Music Hall Block, Quincy.

MAKE YOUR PURCHASES FROM LEDGER ADVERTISERS.

BE SURE TO READ THE ADVERTISEMENTS IN TODAY'S LEDGER

HOME TRADE WILL HELP QUINCY AND EVERYONE IN QUINCY.

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 26 No. 173 QUINCY, MASS. SATURDAY EVENING JULY 29, 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

CARPETS
Oriental Domestic RUGS
Floor Coverings
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION
At Lowest Possible Prices

Established 1855
John H. Pray & Sons Co.
646-658 Washington St, Opposite Boylston St.

All Goods will be Delivered Free at Residences in Quincy
REPRESENTED IN QUINCY BY
Messrs. OTHO A. HAYWARD and WALTER J. WELLINGTON.

A DELIGHTFUL BREAKFAST

or luncheon will be eaten from our dainty spring lamb chops, spring broilers or chicken. When your appetite fails you in warm weather you can always find something to tempt and satisfy it by choosing your tidbits at the

QUINCY MARKET

Next to Woolworth's 5 and 10c Store

WHO EVER HEARD OF THESE PRICES

for this time of the year. Remember these prices are for the best goods. No Cheap Trash. Everything guaranteed or your money refunded

LEG--LOIN of SPRING LAMB	12 1-2c
FORE QUARTER SPRING LAMB	from 6 to 8c
SHORT LEG SPRING LAMB	from 15 to 18c
LAMB CHOPS	15c
LAMB for STEW	5c
1st Cut RIB ROAST	15c
2d and 3d Cut RIB ROAST	12 1-2c
GOOD RIB ROAST	10c
MIXED SALT PORK for beans	10c
BEEF LIVER	3 lbs. 25c
GOOD LEAN CORNED BEEF	from 6 to 10c
NATIVE RIPE TOMATOES	3 lbs. for 25c
NATIVE LETTUCE, large head	5c
FRESH CRISP GINGER SNAPS	4 lbs, 25c
3 CANS CONDENSED MILK	25c
3 LARGE CUCUMBERS	10c
LARGE LEMONS	25c doz

July 28-2t--o-29-1w

A Sale of Women's Footwear

No profit for Jones, but a money saving opportunity for you.

All are bright, clean goods, no old shopworn stock. You can't find every size among them—they're what we call broken lots—but perhaps we have yours. Why not come in and see.

Women's Tans and Patent Calf Oxfords
were $2.50, now $1.48

Gunmetal Pumps and Oxfords
were $2.00, now $1.48

Gunmetal and Patent Pumps and Oxfords
were $3.00, now $1.98

FOR MISSES
White Canvas Oxfords
were $1.25, now 75c

FOR CHILDREN
White Canvas Low Shoes
were $1.00, now 50c

Women's White Oxfords
were $2.00 now $1.00

The store where you get full value for your money.

GEORGE W. JONES
1 Granite Street, "Just Around the Corner," Quincy
July 27-3t--o-29-1w

STORM DID NOT LESSEN ARDOR AT SUMMER SCHOOL

Noted Wollaston Physician's Interesting And Instructive Talk On Surgical Cleanliness

Speaker Also Present From Mass. General Hospital

Although it was so very stormy on Friday, it did not prevent the young people attending the classes at the clubhouse and the Y. M. C. A. which showed that they had a real and great interest in their work. The first speaker was Dr. E. R. Johnson, of Wollaston, who came to fulfil his engagement, in spite of the fact that he was starting for Maine, at noon, to tend two of his little patients who were injured in the motor boat. He took for his subject "Surgical Cleanliness" or "Aseptic Surgery." He began by praising the girls for their attendance and their enthusiasm. His subject led him back to the early days when many of the patients undergoing operations, however simple, were often lost because of the lack of knowledge of Asepsis. He spoke of Pasteur, Tyndale, Schroerder and Lord Lister's discovery in 1871. It was really due to these men that we have the means of surgical cleanliness. He described getting the room ready for an operation and the regular operating room in a hospital. He spoke of the care taken in dressing, the care taken in sterilizing the instruments and the field of operation. By these means the patient should be assured of recovery as far as the germs are concerned.

"It is wrong," he said, "to have statues erected to Napoleon, who really was a murderer of men and have the world at large know so little of Pasteur, Tyndale, Schroerder and Lord Lister who were the life savers. It was Lord Lister who discovered that diseases came from, and were spread by germs, even such simple diseases as measles, mumps and tonsilitis. From that time on, the study of Bacteriology has been pursued by the pathologist, resulting in the discovery of various antitoxins to help fight disease. He brought absolute cleanlines home to the girls by means of this example. In using a needle to open a sore, boil it and take it directly from the water without letting it touch even the hand. Dr. Johnson has added to our list of kind and able physicians to give the school very important and timely information.

Miss Parsons, superintendent of the school for Nurses of the Massachusetts General Hospital, who so kindly and bravely kept her engagement was the next speaker. Miss Parsons was most delightful in the delivery and wording of the heart to heart talk which she gave the girls. She was pleased to see so many interested in doing something for their own sick, whenever the opportunity should arrive. She noticed that each girl had her own drinking cup suspended by a tape and said that it was the best way. But if you get very thirsty and are without your own cup do this way and she demonstrated how to get the water without touching the lips to the cup. Drink a lot of water, including the cupful at rising and five or six drinks during the day. As for diet, very little meat is needed by a girl in the summer time, for with cereals, vegetables, milk and eggs one can get nourishment enough. Never drink very cold water when very much heated. Endeavor through diet to keep well and not to take medicine if possible. However if the doctor is called in and gives medicine see to it that it is kept out of the reach of children, that just the amount prescribed by the doctor is taken and at just the time stated. It is very essential that the doctor's orders should be carried out to the letter. Then she told the girls that they were able to take care of the beds of the sick, changing the linen, turning the pillows etc., and to wring out and apply the cold towels to the head of the patient, take the food to her arranged daintily, carry out the tray as soon as the food was disposed of and to keep the little ones away from the sick one. Make yourselves generally useful when anyone is ill. As regard the care of oneself, clean the teeth always after eating. It saves pain, expense and oftentimes stomach trouble. Clean the hands before eating, for germs may get from soiled hands on to the bread and butter. As for the eyes do not rub them with your hands but take your handkerchief. Have your own towel. There is no reason who each one of you girls should not have her own towel, and launder it herself thus being sure that you get no eye or skin diseases from any member of your family. Also have your own comb and brush. As for candy-eating, have it only after your dinner as desert. If you and your little sisters are hungrey between meals, be sure you eat only bread and butter, not sweet things.

Miss Parsons' talk was heard with great interest by old and young alike and it is hoped that she may be heard again in Quincy by a much larger audience.

Miss Clara Thayer, whom the children always delight to hear read them a letter and some poems by Marjorie Fleming, the little friend of Sir Walter Scott. She was but between six and seven years old when she wrote these delightful and surprising things for she died at seven years of age. The book from which she read is by Brown, published by the Crowell Publishing Co., a small but exceedingly interesting volume which would make a very pretty birthday gift. At the close Miss Thayer gave a list of books for girls of their age to read and there will undoubtedly be a great demand for these at the library during the remainder of the summer. In just such ways as this Miss Thayer helps the girls to help themselves in the way of education and general culture. It has been remarked several times by speakers and visitors, that these girls were very fortunate in having such things done for them as are done by the Quincy Summer School.

The committee appreciate the work of those who help them in this work. They would like very much to have the women of the city plan during the coming week to visit the High school Monday or Thursday and observe the cooking classes, to call at the clubhouse Tuesday or Friday to watch the gymnastics and dances and the busy bees in the room upstairs sewing and embroidering. In the dining room from 10 to 11 one is always sure to hear something very much worth

(Continued on Page Six.)

QUINCY IS TAXED $43,450

House Bill Fixes State Tax At $5,500,000

LESS THAN EXPECTED

A bill providing for a state tax of $5,500,000 was passed by the house Friday under suspension of the rules, showing a reduction of $500,000 from the sum which a few days ago was expected to be the amount of the tax. Increased receipts in the office of the state treasurer which had not been expected are, according to chairman White of the ways and means committee, mainly responsible for the reduction.

The same basis of apportionment as last year is being used and the amounts apportioned to each city and town remain the same as under house bill 1791. The principal cities and towns have been assessed to pay the state the amounts named in the following list:

Boston	$1,880,395
Braintree	9,185
Brockton	63,800
Dedham	19,085
Hingham	9,295
Hull	7,205
Hyde Park	21,065
Milton	38,610
Natick	11,990
Quincy	43,450
Scituate	6,215
Somerville	93,335
Springfield	158,345
Weymouth	12,265
Worcester	204,270

Quincy's assessment is the same as that of last year.

—Good for the English cousins! Because D. Graham Gilmour, birdsman, flew during the recent Henley regatta in a manner dangerous to public safety, the Royal Aero Club has suspended him for a month, and this at a time when it would have been possible for him to compete with some chances for success in a flight for $50,000. Let us hope that American aviators will learn this lesson from overseas and not endanger their own and others' lives and limbs for the sake of popular applause.—Boston Herald.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

TRAINS CRASH HEAD ON IN RAILROAD DISASTER AT GRINDSTONE, ME.

One of the Worst Railroad Horrors In History Of the State---Scene of Wreck Lonely Place With No Facilities For Aiding Injured

GRINDSTONE, ME., July 29—Eight were killed and 17 were injured when an excursion train and a regular passenger train on the Bangor & Aroostook railroad met head-on at this station shortly after 9 o'clock last night.

The dead included five passengers, two firemen and the engineer of the excursion train. The five passengers and all of the injured were in the smoking car directly in the rear of the engine of the excursion train.

Both trains were moving slowly at the time, one just pulling out of the station and the other slowing down for the siding. None of the other cars left the rails and the other passengers escaped with a slight shaking up.

As this town has no medical facilities, help was rushed from nearby places. In a special train eight doctors were quickly on the spot, one from Sherman, five from Millinocket and one from Brewer.

The injured were placed on a special train waiting this morning to be taken to Millinocket.

It was reported that the accident was caused by a confusion of running orders.

DOCTORS RUSHED TO SCENE.

The accident occurred in one of the wildest spots in Aroostook county, and particulars of the disaster came to this town very slowly. A train load of physicians, with railroad officials, were sent to the scene from Bangor, 80 miles away, and a wrecking train was at once dispatched from Milo. It is reported that the line at the scene of the accident will probably be blocked for several hours.

The excursion train was bound for

(Continued on Page Three.)

ASHORE AT HOUGHS NECK

Friday's Storm Does Damage Along Water Front

A RECORD FALL

The storm of Friday was one of the hardest that has visited Quincy this year. The rain commenced to fall late Thursday night and increased in fury as the morning advanced. At times during the day the storm would seem to be abating but only for a few minutes, the rain would fall with seemingly increased violence and the water fell by the bucketsfull. Gutters were washed out and the streets in places were very badly gullied. This was especially true where the water rushed down the hills in great rivers tearing up the streets and leaving deep ruts all through them. Catch basins were hardly large enough to take care of the volume of water that fell at times, but as they had recently been cleaned out the stoppage was but brief. In

(Continued on Page Six.)

BE A DETECTIVE

Earn $100 and over per month and not interfering with your present occupation at first. Modern Ass'n., 709 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo.
July 25 6t

International Bible Students Association
FREE LECTURE
Where are the Dead?

What hope have you for your neighbors and friends and loved ones who have died? Believers and unbelievers?

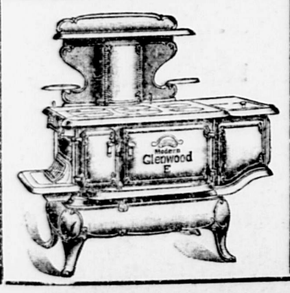
What Say The Scriptures?

HEAR! THEN JUDGE!

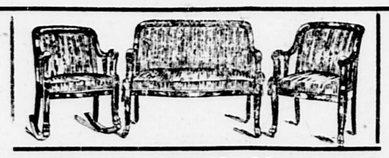
COLONIAL HALL
Quincy Savings Bank Building
QUINCY, MASS.
3 P. M. SUNDAY, July 30

SEATS FREE! NO COLLECTION!

MENTA STURGEON, V. D. M.
Peoples Pulpit Association, New York



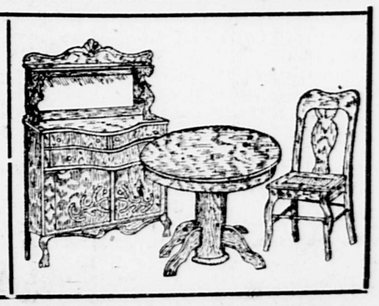
THIS BIG STORE'S
Started This Morning



BIG AUGUST SALE
It's a Money-Saving Event

Don't Buy a Thing Until You Get Our Prices

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & COMPANY



1495 Hancock St. OPEN MONDAY, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY EVENINGS. CLOSED WEDNESDAY AFTERNOONS Quincy, Mass.

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1889
THE HOME NEWSPAPER
Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.
BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
219 East 23d Street,
New York City
Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter.
Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50
Telephone, Quincy 425
Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

NOTICE.

Again we wish to suggest to those sending news to the Quincy Daily Ledger that they address it to the paper instead of to individuals. Where a letter is sent in a person's name it is only opened by him and if he is away the news gets too stale to use when it finally reaches the editor. Also in telephoning give news or communication to clerk answering the call as it will be quicker and more satisfactory.

Women should pick their friends, but not to pieces.

Marriage also proves that two can live as expensively as one.

Hold your roasting ear in your fingers and be done with it.

Nobody ever hit off more watermelon than he could chew.

Some of the food dopers were not as Wiley as they thought.

The Congressional record is a good paper, but it continues to be rather behind time in its cover design.

We would say to the whole aggregation of ribald paragraphers that the weather is no longer joking but a very serious matter.

"Champ Clark's prediction that Pennsylvania will go Democratic next year" is another evidence that he thinks he is humorous.

Don't try to get gay with an electfan, no matter how much you feel like flirting.

A girl with four feet of veil streaming behind her hat seems to be waving to every man within a mile.

What has become of the old-fashioned man who went to a picnic and sat own on a custard pie?

A month ago the college graduates competed strenuously for the honor of planting the ivy. Now you can't beg or hire anyone to water it.

One of Peary's North Pole dogs attacked a little girl the other day and hurt her badly. Wouldn't catch one of poor old Doc. Cook's dogs doing anything like that.

VACATIONS FOR WORK PEOPLE.

The newspapers annually at this time contain articles eloquently urging their readers to adopt the practice of a regular holiday. They repeat the old maxim, which is not without much truth, to the effect that "The man who never takes a vacation, takes one all the time."

And meanwhile the two largest industrial classes of this country, the farmers, the factory and mill workers, have as a general thing no regular vacation habit. In the latter case, the literal obedience to these editorial preachments would be equivalent to handing in their permanent resignation.

No doubt one reason why men break down so early in our manufacturing industries is the lack of adequate rest times. No human being can work 52 weeks in the year without suffering some physical decline. At 60 years of age the great majority of our business and professional men are putting in their best licks. But how few men of 60 you find in the machine shop and the mill!

The workingman who goes along year after year without this interval of recuperation occupies a position like that of the man with a small invested capital, who breaks in on his principal to pay his ordinary expenses.

The theory of "working class" life, is that there shall be children coming along who will support the old folks after the physical capital is all consumed. Usually there are. But in how many cases where children die, are sick or unsuccessful, or never come, is there heart breaking poverty for the human machine cast to the scrap heap before its time!

Here is a condition bringing economic loss to the whole people. If the people who do the solid work of our industries grow old 10 years before their time, the total production of our people is reduced by an enormous percentage.

To this, the ordinary manufacturer replies that vacations for work people mean heavier and prohibitory manufacturing costs.

Nevertheless, we venture to predict that the time will come when the production of our people will be increased by a general agreement of productive industries to run not over 50 weeks in a year.

NUGENT OF JERSEY.

Undoutedly Governor Wilson of New Jersey has not been the loser on account of the defamatory toast, offered by the chairman of the State Democratic committee, the other evening at a meeting of the officers of the National Guard of that state.

A good deal may be pardoned to New Jersey politicians, however, when they get going after dinner. But in "Jim" Nugent's case it is not surprising that he is a little "put out" at the Professor. It is not too far back to recall that it was this very Nugent and his crowd who planned the Governor's campaign and personally attended him in his automobile campaign through the mosquito state. Seems that he got to know the calibre of these "friends" mighty soon after election times were over.

EVENTS IN AUGUST.

Several important events are scheduled for the month of August. Among them are the special races under the auspices of the Quincy yacht club for the Day cup, offered for cat boats by Thomas Fleming Day of the Rudder, the races for the Quincy yacht club challenge cup, the launch of the monster battleship building at the Fore River for the Argentine Republic and the aviation meet at Squantum.

OUTING AT BASS POINT.

The Granite Manufacturers association have an ideal day for their annual outing at Bass Point, Nahant.

The larger part of the party left Quincy at 8.30 and left Boston on the 9.30 boat. Others of the party left Boston on the 11 o'clock boat arriving in time for the dinner which was served at 12.30 at the Bass Point house.

During the morning there were sports of various kinds. Others enjoyed boating and still others took a dip in the briney. After dinner the program called for a few remarks and more sports. The party will return from the Point on the 5 o'clock boat.

TODAY'S COURT.

The liquors seized from Cristo Drago at Quincy were forfeited.

Elza Bourgne was fined $3 costs for drunkenness at Weymouth.

The continued case of Israel Steinberg for larceny of a ring at Quincy was called. He was found not guilty and discharged.

Paul Franzie was arraigned for neglect of family at Quincy. He was ordered to contribute $6 per week for the support of his wife and minor child.

How to Tell a Safe Investment.

A new and important feature in Lippincotts, beginning with the August issue, will be a financial department, to be conducted by Dr. Edward S. Meade. Dr. Meade is a man of exceptional ability, and as Professor of Finance, in the Wharton School of Finance and Economy, University of Pennsylvania, he is amply qualified to produce articles that will prove a source of valuable information to prospective investors.

The investments principally to be discussed are stocks and bonds. Dr. Meade has specialized on these subjects and will offer suggestions and information that will be helpful to the man of limited means, and enable him to select a secure investment for his funds. Dr. Meade is a writer of considerable note on financial works. He is the author of "Trust Finance" and a contributor to various financial journals.

Interesting as well as instructive, these talks each month will prove of the utmost assistance to those who desire a thorough working knowledge of investments.

☞Going away for the summer? If so don't forget to have the Daily Ledger sent to your address and keep posted on home news. If you have forgotten to send in your order in the rush of getting away drop us a postal and we will do the rest. tf

PICKED UP IN PASSING

On THE BEACH.—"They s ay she attracted no end of attention on the beach."

"She did. Her bathing suit came almost down to her akles and everybody wondered what for."—Detroit Free Press.

RUN, BOYS, RUN—"Yes, our whole fire department made a desperate effort to save property at the fire last night."

"Did they turn in a second alarm?"

"They didn't have to. It was a distillery."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

ENFANTS TERRIBLES.—The customs official who was making the count of persons boarding the excursion boat, raised his hand.

"Only one more," he called.

"Leave us two kids through!" yelled two small boys, lustily.

Who will say that the child of today finds fractions difficult?—Bullalo Express.

PHOTOGRAPHIC.—"I wouldn't miss the pyramids for world."

"I am glad to see somebody interested in research."

"It isn't that. I want to have my photograph taken standing in front of the main dump."—Washington Herald.

MASCULINE.—She—"I'll be ready in a minute, dear."

He—"All right. I'll just fix up this paper while I'm waiting. It won't take more than an hour."—Baltimore American.

WARM WEATHER.—"How does your husband keep occupied during the vacation?"

"Oh, he's chauffeur of an electric fan."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

VACATION.—North Country Visitor (to friend, also North Country)—"Come on, its too quiet here we're getting no value for our money."

Friend—"No value?" Why, man, I can hear three bands at once!"—Punch.

CAN'T TESTIFY—"There are microbes in a kiss," said the scientist.

"I don't care," replied the summer beau. "A microbe can't be a witness in a breach-of-promise case."—Washington Star.

"Why Tommy," exclaimed the Sunday school teacher, "don't you say your prayers every night before you go to bed?"

"Not any more," replied Tommy. "I uster when I slept in a folding bed, though."—Philadelphia Record.

QUINCY REAL ESTATE SALES.

Fanny C. Adams to Mary E. Sullivan Utica street, Dorchester avenue.

Charles F. Adams et al trs to Joseph Casna et al, Intervale street.

Charles F. Adams et al trs to Emilia Zacchini, Nightingale avenue, Roberts street.

Charles C. Barton et al trs to Harry E. Willis, Quincy Bay.

Charles C. Barton et al trs to Dean G. Willis, Quincy Bay.

George W. Berry et al to James E. Berry, Copeland street, Furnace avenue.

Ernest W. Branch to Catherine E. Dhooge, Walnut terrace.

Hattie L. Burrill to Annie L. Hunter, Wendell avenue.

Agostino Carzaniga to John B. Carzaniga, Plain street.

Agostino Carzaniga to John B. Carzaniga, Columbia street.

Louis M. Clark et al trs to William S. Lewis, Robertson street.

Carmine Coletti et al to James F. Burke, Willard street.

Edward J. Costello to Willard P. Whittemore et al, Squantum.

Joseph A. Dasha to Hyman Katz, South Walnut street.

Peter Dolan to John Johnson, West street, Centre street.

Wilton A. Dunham to Garold L. Horn, Houghs N eck.

Wilton A. Dunham to Margaret F. Geddes, Adams Shore.

Wilton A. Dunham to Archibald Lloy, Adams Shore.

Wilton A. Dunham to Nellie H. Metcalf, Houghs Neck.

George H. Field to Victor Norling, Hillside street.

Algernon S. Gardner to Sarah G. Gardiner, Hancock street, Station street.

Clarence Hunter to Hattie L. Burrell, Wendell avenue.

George W. Imlay to Julia E. Fuller, Brook road.

John J. Kane to Carmine Coletti et al, Willard street.

Manet Land Associates to Julia E. Fuller, Sea street, Newton street.

Ernest S. Mann to Matthew P. Lynch, Crosby street.

Lora C. Merrill to Norfolk Varnish Co., Newport avenue.

Eliza F. Moulton to Alton E. Baker, Sachem street.

Theodore B. Munroe to Jeremiah O'Leary et al, Aberdeen road.

Ella P. Payson et al to Willard P. Whittemore et al, Squantum.

Edward T. Plaisted to Edward T. Plaisted et al trs, Vassall street, Everett street.

John W. H. Short et al to Mary O'Brien, Elm and Mechanic streets.

Nancy Waterhouse et al to Old Colony R. R. Co.

Russell C. Wood, to Anna M. Clarson, High street.

Fred W. Wood et al trs to Gustave S. Peterson, Billings road.

WHERE ARE THE DEAD.

Subject of Bible Lecture at Colonial Hall, Quincy Savings Bank Building Sunday Afternoon.

Menta Sturgeon of New York City representing the International Bible Students' Association will lecture on the subject, "Where are the Dead," in Colonial hall, Quincy Savings Bank Building on Sunday afternoon, July 30, at 3 o'clock, to which the public are cordially invited.

This lecturer has been heard on this subject in many parts of the United States, and is now returning from a tour through the Maritime Provinces.

"Death has claimed as many as a place is waiting for such entertain- among whom are our forefathers. Where is this vast number of the one great human family? Are they in heaven, earth, hell, purgatory? What is their employment? Your own son, daughter, father, mother. Where are they; and what hope is there for them beyond the grave? What do the Scriptures say? "Send out Thy light and truth O Lord! Let them our teachers be!"

MENTA STURGEON OF N. Y. CITY. Who Will Speak Sunday at Colonial Hall, Savings Bank Buliding.

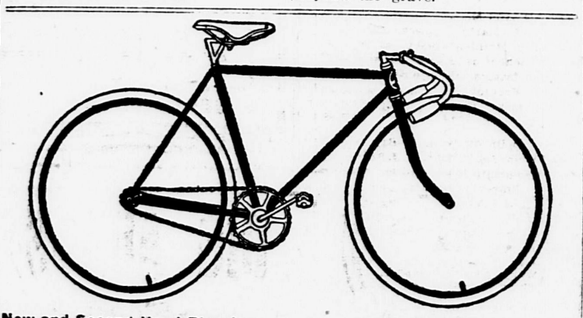
Mr. Sturgeon is an earnest believer in the divine inspiration of the Holy Scriptures, and speaks as a man who knows what they teach on this vital subject, and shows to his audiences what they say, and does so without fear or favor, and as the good Book teaches "Without money and without price."

He invites the people to leave their money at home and come bringing their heads and hearts with them, with a sincere desire to know the truth about the present state of the dead, and what hope there is for them beyond the grave.



New and Second Hand Bicycles. Sundries and Repairing
Agency for Columbia and Hartford Bicycles
HUB CYCLE CO.
Thomas Nelson, 20 Granite Street, QUINCY
May 15-3m

UPLIFTS YOUTH OF THE CITY

Juvenile Court Here One Of State's Most Efficient

WORK ARDUOUS

During the past year and a half, one of the best factors in improving the tone of the boy life in Quincy among certain classes of people, has been the juvenile court run on principles similar to those used by Judge Lindsay. State Agent Frederick Davis, Judge Avery and L. H. Clee, the juvenile probation officer have made this court one of the most efficient in the State and during the past year between 150 and 200 boys have been dealt with according to the ideas of the men in charge. Very few boys are arrested, but the majority are summoned to appear at the session. A thorough investigation is made, including the home conditions, what the boy does in his spare time, the company he keeps, the nature of his occupation and how he does his work. They find out if the boy has criminal instincts or is just bubbling over with life and does things he ought not to work off his surplus energy. After all these things are ascertained a conference is held, and the three men decide what is the best thing for the individual case. Oftentimes, more time is put into deciding one case in Juvenile court, than is expended in deciding five cases in the regular court session. An attempt is made to direct the boy's energy along its proper channels. Some boys are set to work, others are brought to a better understanding with his parents and his home conditions are made cleaner and better. The boys have to report to the probation officer quite frequently, sometimes as often as four times a week. The officer talks to them in a "big brother" sort of way and once their confidence is gained the case is sure to be successfully concluded. Many boys who were not summoned to court, are dealt with in a similar way. In order to have the scheme work successfully, there must be coperation between the home, school, church and community. The purpose of juvenile court in a nutshell is to harness energy, to develop latent ability, to eliminate the undesirable, to make character. Much good has been accomplished here in Quincy and there have been remarkably few failures. Out of the 250 boys who have been summoned to the court during the past year and a half, but two have proved disappointments to the probation officer. After an understanding is arrived at between the boy, the parent and the probation officer, unless the boy is criminally inclined by nature, he will come around all right and become in time a useful citizen.

GRANITE CO. ORGANIZES

The Central Iowa Granite Company has been incorporated at Augusta, Me. with $300.000 authorized stock issue.

MOTOR BOAT RECORD.

The world's record for 20-foot boats was lowered at race of the Western Power Boat Association on the Illinois river at Peoria, Ill., this week. The Sand Burr II., owned by A. K. and C. D. White of Atlantic City, N. J., won the race in this class against six contenders, covering the 10 miles in 19m. 59 4-5s., or just a fraction over 30 miles per hour. The previous world's record was held by the Comet of Bellevue, Ia.

Congress seems to be rapidly resolving itself into a National Bureau of Investigations.

The Sanitary Way

The so called cleansing process in use by most tailors is the pressing of dirt and stains into the garment leaving it in a very unhealthy condition. Our process is to thoroughly cleanse every fibre of your garment, removing all dust and stains, rendering them clean and sanitary.

Get the Sanitary Habit.
Work called for and delivered.

WARSHAW'S
DYE HOUSE
"Clean Cleansing"
1503 HANCOCK STREET
QUINCY
July 29-t

BANKING MADE EASY

The Granite Bank is convenient for business men and others—and it's as solid as the granite hills from whence it derives its name. Its assets are over a million dollars. Courteous, considerate treatment to all. We maintain the strictest confidence about your private banking affairs and we are pleased at all times, if you wish, to advise you on financial matters. Open for business from 8 A. M. to 3 P. M.—Saturdays, 8 A. M. to 12 M.

Travellers Checks — Cashiers Checks
SAFETY DEPOSIT BOXES

NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

R. E. FOY & CO.

OUR BIG MEAT SECTION

Is the only sanitary kept meat department in Quincy, and "quality for quality" always costs less here, besides you can always get just the cut of steak, roast or chop you want.

A 'phone order will do.

GENUINE SPRING LAMB Legs lb. 18c
FRESH KILLED FANCY FOWL lb. 21c
CORNED RIBS BEEF lb. 10c
Corned just right.
DOWN EAST VEAL 12c up not the cheap Western Veal, but the real "Down East." There's a difference.

QUALITY STORE

We Built a Reputation

by selling only fine fresh fruits and vegetables. We maintain our reputation by scouring the country for the best products that are grown with which to fill our customers' orders.

Sweet Corn, Butter Beans, String Beans,
Bunch Beets, Bunch Onions, Native Tomatoes,
Summer Squash, Cucumbers, Maine Peas.

Fancy Blueberries, 18c. Cantaloupes, 4 for 25c.
Purple Plums Bananas
Extra Fine Watermelons Choice Oranges

Worthy Groceries—Low Prices

That single line explains the phenomenal success of our GREAT FOOD MARKET

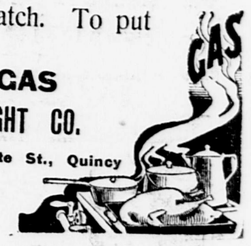
4 lbs Good Rice	25c	3 lbs Equal Lunch Bisc	25c
6 lbs Bulk Starch	25c	7 Bars Lenox Soap	25c
3 pkgs Minute Tapioca	25c	6 bars Welcome Soap	25c
3 pkgs Swampscott Gelatine	25c	3 cans Evap Milk	25c

R. E. FOY & CO.
Water corner Quincy Street
Phones 117 and 153

A WELL COOKED DINNER

If you have a good cook it is assured when you use a gas stove or gas range. The heat is steady and uniform, which is not the case with a wood or coal stove, and you can raise or lower the flame as you please—which of course, is impossible on any other kind of cook-stove. To make a fire, you simply turn on the gas and apply a match. To put it out, turn off the gas.

COOK WITH GAS
CITIZENS' GAS LIGHT CO.
11 Granite St., Quincy



Advertise In The Ledger

The Social Realm

Mrs. Edwin W. Baxter and daughters Misess Clara L. and Helen, of Greenleaf street, have joined their friends at South Harpswell, Maine, for the rest of the summer. They went down later than is their usual custom.

• • •

The Charles R. Saffords of Clive street leave today for South Royalston, Mass., where they are to spend a week at High View farm. Later in the month they will take another outing.

• • •

Miss Mildred Hirtle and Miss Edith Atkins of Bromfield street went last week to Port Medway, Nova Scotia to stay until September.

• • •

Rev. and Mrs. Richard E. Armstrong of Christ church are at Stockton Springs, Maine, until the first of September.

• • •

Mrs. Martin, wife of Rev. T. C. Martin of the Hall Place M. E. church has been chosen poet for the Doane Family reunion to be held at Harwichport, August 9 and 10. This includes all the descendants of Deacon John Doane of Plymouth of Cape Cod Puritan stock. Last year the reunion was held at Plymouth.

• • •

Mrs. Nathaniel Thayer, nee Pauline Revere of Boston and her nieces Miss Nora Thayer and Mrs. Eugene V. R. Thayer sailed on Tuesday from New York for Europe.

• • •

Miss Helen M. Ketchum of West Elm avenue went to Braintree Thursday to stay a week with Mrs. Walter E. Loud of Hollis avenue.

• • •

Miss Amy L. Fuge of Hampton Institute, Hampton, Va., who has been spending a two months' vacation with her parents on Centre street returned this week to her duties.

• • •

Mrs. Harriet Isaac of West Newton formerly of Quincy left Wednesday for Syracuse, New York, for a visit of several weeks among relatives in that city.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard L. Titus of Wollaston avenue went Saturday to Lanesboro, in the Berkshires, where they are guests at Brookside farm for two weeks.

• • •

Miss Marion H. White, a teacher in the commercial department of the Avon High school, and residing at 101 Billings road is to spend two weeks of her vacation, beginning Monday, at the Mountain View house, North Woodstock, N. H., with her aunt, Miss Laura E. White of Lynn, Mass.

• • •

William T. Isaac and sister Miss Grace M. Isaac of West Newton go to Point Allerton today to stay until into September at the Nautilus Inn. They take their auto and expect to enjoy many rides along the South shore.

• • •

Miss Eva B. Rice of Standish avenue left Thursday for Canada where she will spend the rest of the summer with friends at Montreal Coaticook.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. James Kennedy of Billings street are rejoicing in the advent of a daughter, who arrived Monday July 24th and are receiving the congratulations of friends.

• • •

Quincy members of the Alden family are to participate in the eleventh annual reunion of the Alden Kindred of America to be held Wednesday at the homestead in Duxbury. A special train will go down from Boston at 8.40 stopping at Braintree at 9.02 returning at 5.

• • •

Miss Eva Rice of Wollaston left Tuesday for Canada, and her many friends hope her sojourn will help her to thoroughly recuperate from her recent illness.

Miss Louise Kolb is spending her vacation of two weeks at Sebago Lake, Maine.

• • •

Lawyer and Mrs. George W. Abele of Goffe street have gone to Intervale, N. H., for a few weeks.

• • •

Mrs. Annie Marcy of Worcester who has been spending a few weeks with her sister Mrs. J. V. Leland of 172 Safford street has returned to her home.

• • •

Little Irma White of Brooks street, who was taken for an operation to the Children's Hospital, July 17th, passed away Friday July 21st after a short illness.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Van Iderstine, nee Catherine Nelson of Glendale road are receiving congratulations on the birth on Wednesday of a son.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. John Morgan of Standish avenue are leaving today for New Found Lake, Bristol, New Hampshire, where they will be registered at Pasquaney Inn for three weeks.

• • •

Charles Hill of Rutland, formerly of Atlantic spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Hill on Walker street.

• • •

Dr. and Mrs. Frank S. Davis of Elm street have gone to their camp at Thornton, N. H., for the month of August.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Wales and daughter Ruth of Clay street went Friday to Raymond, Lake Sebago, Me., for a two weeks' sojourn.

• • •

Mrs. Cephas Drew of Walker street went Tuesday to Marshfield for a two weeks' stay.

• • •

A meeting of the Bates Association is to be held Friday in Union church, South Weymouth, to which all persons having a Bates ancestor are invited. The business session opens at 2 o'clock in the afternoon when the incorporation of the association will be discussed. At the evening session memorials will be presented of Brig-Gen. James L. Bates, Gen. John G. Bates, Paymaster-General Alfred E. Bates, Edward Bates, attorney-general of Lincoln's cabinet, and others who served their country during the civil war period.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Rice of Adams street have returned from Peterboro, N. H., where they spent most of July on their farm.

• • •

Miss Ethel Cook of Hancock street, Wollaston, left Tuesday for Gilmanton Iron Works, New Hampshire, where she will spend the rest of the summer.

• • •

Arthur Hall is spending his vacation at his father's camp at Eastham, on the Cape.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Brown of 247 Newport avenue announce the engagement of their niece, Miss Winifred E. Baker to J. Charles Tobin, both of Wollaston.

• • •

Frank W. Neal of Summit avenue has gone to Pemaquid Harbor, Maine, to stay until the first of September.

• • •

Mrs. H. H. Schulze of Upland road has returned from a visit of several weeks to her old home bringing with her for a few weeks' stay Rev. and Mrs. H. B. Vail and daughter of South Salem, Ohio. Mrs. Vail is Mrs. Schulze's sister.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Baker have gone to New York for a few weeks' visit. They are guests at 169 Prospect Park, West Brooklyn.

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.

TUB DRESSES

Ginghams, Muslins, Chambrays and Cotton Foulards

12 DIFFERENT STYLES

--- FOR ---

$1.98

THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

WERE TAKEN OFF WRECKED SLOOP IN BREECHES BUOY

Cape Cod Scene Of Disaster---Schooner Encounters A Heavy Gale

Captain Slightly Injured And the Crew Shaken Up

Provincetown, Mass., July 29.—Through the heaviest surf that has lashed the coast of Cape Cod for the past twenty years, three men and two boys, comprising the crew of the two-masted Rockland, Me., schooner Catawamteak were taken off their wrecked vessel in the breeches buoy by a volunteer crew of the Race Point life saving station.

The wind at the time was blowing sixty miles an hour and the rescue was effected in remarkably quick time. Peaked Hill bars is one of the worst spots on the Atlantic coast.

The Catawamteak left Rockland, Me., bound for New York. She will probably be a total wreck.

The only man injured was Captain Jamison of Rockland. He had his hand badly crushed in an attempt to launch the schooner's small boat which was smashed against the side of the schooner. The men lashed themselves to the rigging and waited the assembling of a volunteer crew.

The volunteer crew was summoned from Provincetown. The seas were making a clean breach over the little schooner. Every man of the volunteer crew sprang to his station.

The wind was blowing directly against him, but so accurate was Captain Fisher's aim and judgment that the shot went directly over the schooner. Somebody was seen to swing down from the rigging and struggle along the deck toward the line, but before he could reach it a huge sea had swept it overboard.

A second shot went true. The watchers on the beach saw the man clamber back to the rigging. They saw him make fast the line and then, with a cheer, they saw the heavy cable that was to support the life car uncoil from the beach and go snaking through the combers to the schooner's side.

Quickly there came from the men in the rigging the signal that the cable was fast and the life buoy was sent to the vessel. One of the forms in the rigging was seen to climb into it and back rushed the car towards the beach, hidden from sight as a great wave leaped up to catch its escaping victim as it was hauled in by the united strength of the Cape Codders. Five times the car traveled back and forth over Peaked Hill bars until every one of the little Catawamteak's crew stood safe on the beach.

Captain Jamison said he left Rockland, Me., Thursday morning and had met a favoring wind down the coast. The breeze freshened, rising rapidly until it reached the proportions of a midwinter gale. A rag of sail was set but one gust ripped out the foresail and then the jib was torn from its boltrope, leaving the schooner almost unmanageable. The skipper tried his best to make Provincetown harbor, but fog and a driving rain shut off all observation.

By a few miles only the Catawamteak missed getting it under the forefinger of the cape and into more sheltered waters, but this few miles proved her destruction when she plunged into the midst of the surf on Peaked Hill bars.

All of the crew were pretty badly used up from the battering they had received by the waves, but they are loud in their praises for the volunteer crew that effected their rescue.

Miss Eliza Miner of Old Colony avenue, Wollaston, is enjoying a three weeks' stay at Stamford in the Catskills, New York.

• • •

George Deans of Appleton street returned to the west Saturday. Independence, Missouri is to be his destination for a while.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred J. Morcom, nee Fanny May Qualey who were married in June at the iFrst church, Braintree, after an extended tour of the United States have reached Mexico City, Mexico, which is to be their future residence and where they are now at home to their friends.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Simmons of South Central avenue and daughter Mrs. Fred Holmes of Chicago, with their families are located for the summer in the Simmons cottage on Great South pond, Plymouth.

• • •

Miss Millie Estes of Saville avenue has returned from a few weeks' vacation spent at Cape Ann.

• • •

Miss Emma Esau of East Milton is at St. John, New Brunswick, for a few weeks.

• • •

Mrs. Lena M. Stocker (nee Ballou) is the guest of Mrs. Grace Batson Lombard at Kamp Komfort, Meddybemps Lake, Maine for a few weeks.

• • •

Rev. and Mrs. Roderick Stebbins of First church, Milton, returned this week from a four months' trip abroad.

• • •

Mrs. Charles Pratt and daughter Ellen of Hancock street, Wollaston, left Tuesday for Gilmanton Iron Works, New Hampshire, to stay the rest of the summer.

• • •

Miss Florence Hall of Arlington street is the guest of Mrs. Philip Monroe of Providence, at the latter's summer home at Barrington, Rhode Island.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Sidelinger of Washington street with their children are at Plymouth, Maine, for a few weeks.

(Continued on Page Six.)

SUNDAY SERVICES

SEVENTH SUNDAY AFTER TRINITY

Church services inserted in this paper without charge, but none will be accepted to run until further order. A notice should be sent each week though it is but a renewal. Give subject and special services when possible. Let all churches be represented.

CHRIST CHURCH, EPISCOPAL—Quincy, corner Elm street and Quincy avenue. Rev. Richard E. Armstrong, rector. Holy Communion at 8.00 A. M. 10.30 Morning Prayer and Sermon. The Evening service is discontinued until September.

GOSPEL TENT SERVICES—Quincy Avenue and Scammel Street. Sundays 3 P. M. and 7.45 P. M. Week Evenings 7.45 P. M. Conducted by George Walker, A. M. Waddell, H. Goodwin. All are Welcome.

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH, Franklin street—Rev. R. J. Davis, pastor, residence 206 Franklin street. Preaching service at 10.30 A. M. Subject, "What It Means To Meet Together." Sunday school at 11.45 A. M. Y. P. S. C. E. at 6 P. M. Praise and preaching service at 7.00 P. M. Theme: "What Are You, And Why?" Baptizing will follow this service, also the Communion service will be held, with the reception of new members after baptisms. A cordial invitation is extended to all to meet with us. "Come thou with us and we will do thee good."

FIRST UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH—Fort Square. Rev. A. M. Thompson, pastor. Residence 182 Glendale road Quincy. Morning service at 10.30. Topic: "The Social Problem and its appeal to the Christian Church." Sabbath school and Men's League at 11.45. Y. P. S. C. E. at 6:30. Topic: "Missions in Burma and India." Acts 17:15-31. Evening service at 7.30. The Morning Service will be discontinued during the month of August. The evening service will be conducted as usual at 7.30 o'clock. Good singing. Seats free. All welcome.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH — Corner Quincy and Water streets. Rev. James A. Matheson, minister. Morning worship at 10.30 Bible School at 11.45. C. E. service at 6.15. Evening worship and praise at 7.00.

HALL PLACE M. E. CHURCH—West Quincy Rev. T. C. Martin, pastor. Residence, 12 Hall place. Morning worship at 10.30 A. M Sunday school at 12.00 M. A new and interesting feature will be introduced into this service. Evening Praise and Gospel service at 7 o'clock. Prayer meeting Friday at 7.30 P.M.

PEOPLE'S UNION CHURCH—Bay View avenue Houghs Neck. Rev. W. J. Sayre, pastor. Morning worship 10.45. Subject "Does God Answer Prayer?" Sunday school 12 M. Y. P. S. C. E. 6.45 P. M. Evening worship 7.30. Subject:"The Traitor went immediately out, and it was night." Bible Study every Thursday evening at 8.

ST. CHRYSOSTOM'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH—Hancock street, Wollaston—Rev. Frederick H. Steenstra, rector, residence, the rectory, 23 Hancock street. Holy Communion at 8 A. M. Morning Prayer Ante-Communion and sermon at 10.30.

WOLLASTON M. E. CHURCH—Corner Beale and Safford streets. Rev. Wesley Wiggin, pastor. Residence 52 Brook street, Telephone Quincy 378-2. Morning worship and sermon by the pastor at 10.45. Subject: "The Christian's Privilege." "One Hour Sunday School" at 12 M. Epworth League at 7 P. M. Leader, Mr. W. C. Saunders. Special music. Everybody is invited to these services.

ATLANTIC M. E. Church—Rev. Harvey Emmonds Dorr, pastor. 10.45 morning service preaching by Pastor. Music by quartette. Sunday school 12 M.

Makaria Fraternity

SUNDAY 12 TO 1—SHARP

Bethany Church, City Square

If YOU are a young man, and not associated with any other Quincy church, YOU are most cordially invited to come to our meeting.

A warm welcome—Hearty singing—A helpful hour together.

TRAINS CRASH

(Continued from Page One.)

Millinocket from Searsport. It left the latter place at 5 o'clock P. M., and most of its passengers were from Millinocket and towns in the vicinity. The excursion train was late and was running at a high speed in an effort to make up lost time.

Bad as the wreck was reported, one more minute might have made the disaster greater, for the trains then would have met on the bridge that spans the east branch of the Penobscot and in all probability the loss of life would have been greater.

As soon as Engineer Orr of the regular train saw that the collision was inevitable, he threw on the emergency brakes, and this, no doubt, lessened the shock when the trains met.

The Van Buren train was made up of an engine and six cars ,an express and mail and smoker, two passenger cars and a Pullman. The express and mail cars which were at the front of the train were the worst damaged.

Dr. Foster of Bangor, who was a passenger on No. 511, the Van Buren train, rendered much valuable aid to the injured.

MILTON.

Rev. A. E. Gregg of the East Congregational church is at Goffstown, N. H., for his vacation.

Frank Esau and W. Guy Hamilton leave today for Simpson Point, Maine, for a two weeks' stay.

The delay in the opening for public use of the fountain erected through the generosity of Nathaniel T. Kidder in East Milton square is said to be due to the fact that the fountain has not been formally presented to and accetped by the town. This formality will be attended to and the town will construct the approach to the fountain so that it can be put in operation shortly.

PATCH'S

Special Range Coal

IGNITES QUICKLY

If it were stony or of bad quality it wouldn't.

It is the most reliable coal imaginable, helps the cook when she's in a hurry and shows up best when needed most.

Besides it burns up so thoroughly as to leave the smallest quantity of ash.

Buy it and try it and see why so many will burn no other.

One ton should prove it.

C. PATCH & SON, Inc.

Office, 1422 Hancock Street, Quincy

DO YOU REALIZE THIS

Many People Are Silent Sufferers, constantly fighting pains in different parts of the body without a word. They will not admit even to themselves there is anything serious troubling them. But there comes a time when nature steps in and settles the question—for good.

Don't wait for that settling up time. If your arches are in bad condition, look into the matter at once.

We are offering an assortment of arch-supports varied enough to meet the troubles peculiar to different feet.

Don't suffer any longer, take the matter in hand now while there is time.

HEFFERNAN'S SHOE STORE

DON'T BE CAUGHT

unprepared for the hot weather. Get your dresses before you go away on that vacation trip; otherwise you may have cause to regret your lack of foresight. Have you your sweater? If not, better see us before you leave town. And what about that Linen Skirt? Don't keep putting it off. Do it now.

H. SARKIN

1369 Hancock St., Quincy, Mass.

July 27-31

ZOROID

TRADE MARK

LENSES

FOUNDED 1883

For Your Convenience

And to enable us to have time for a thorough examination, we make appointments.

Instead of wasting from a half to a whole day you need only an hour or two for a thorough and scientific examination of your eyes.

When in need of glasses 'phone OXFORD 790 for an appointment.

Briggs S. Palmer President

Sanborns

3 Winter St.-Boston

REPRESENTED IN QUINCY BY

WILLIAM F. SIDELINGER

July-26-29

GET THE HELP QUINCY GROW HABIT

LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER and GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO.
FIRE INSURANCE.
The Best Insurance. The Lowest Rates.
Insurance Department,
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Telephone, Quincy 97-3.

UPHOLSTERING
My only ambition is to get the work and to show the people of Quincy Town that nobody can beat me with my good work. Low prices on all kinds of furniture, repairing, mattresses, and cushions. Can give references. M. Mirkin 67 Washington street, next to Y.M.C.A. Quincy. Tel. 1112W. April 10-4mo.

HOUSEKEEPERS
TELL YOUR TROUBLES
HOLMES & HALL
We make a business of repairing the things about the house that get out of order such as DOORS, LOCKS, SHADES, BELLS and FURNITURE.
96 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 974 L

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock treet, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point
Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1153 M Nov. 3-tf

M. T. SULLIVAN
Real Estate Insurance
Auctioneer Care of Property
Justice of the Peace
Corner School and Hancock Streets
QUINCY.

JAMES F. BURKE
Real Estate and Insurance
AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES
Justice of the Peace Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Tel. 385-3 Jan. 17-tf

STORAGE
—FOR—
Furniture and Pianos
Storage Warehouse with Separate Rooms
Furniture and Piano Movers
HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy Tel. Con.

Quincy Savings Bank
BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.
SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.
CLARENCE BURGIN,
Treasurer.

PATTERSON, "The Florist"
92 South Central Ave.
WOLLASTON, MASS.
Telephone 392 Quincy

A. M. DEANE & CO.
MONUMENTS
MEMORIALS ERECTED
IN ANY
CEMETERY
IN THE
UNITED STATES
Aug. 1.-1y

PATENTS
PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES.
Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent.
Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively.
Write or come to us at
710 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office,
WASHINGTON, D. C.
CA·SNOW &

Quincy Daily Ledger

HIGH TIDE FOR WEEK.

Monday, July 24,	9.45	10.00
Tuesday,	10.45	11.00
Wednesday,	11.30	12.00
Thursday,	12.00	12.30
Friday,	12.45	1.15
Saturday,	1.45	2.15
Sunday,	2.30	3.00

1911 JULY 1911

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
						1
2	3	4	5	6	7	8
9	10	11	12	13	14	15
16	17	18	19	20	21	22
23	24	25	26	27	28	29
30	31

BRIEFS

Miss Eva Rice of Standish avenue returned Monday from the Homoeopathic Hospital, Brighton, where she has been confined for ten weeks with scarlet fever.

Letters received from Henry McGrath, who is recovering from a recent severe illness at The Weirs, are that his health is fast returning and that he hopes to come home soon.

Sunday morning in a tent on Hutchins avenue, Squantum, Rev. T. W. Davison started the regular religious services under the auspices of the Massachusetts Home Missionary society of Boston. The meetings held last summer were very successful, and through the large attendance, showed the great need of an independent church organization.

Alex. Shirley of Quincy Point has been doing some excellent cement work for a number of his neighbors during his vacation. He has put in granolithic walks for Marcus E. Wight, George W. Gragg, William Pierson and others. Mr. Shirley met with an accident on Friday morning when his wagon was wrecked by a heavy load, but he soon had it all in good repair.

Gospel tent services are held on Sundays at 3 and 7.45 P. M. and on week days at 7.45 P. M. on the grounds at the corner of Quincy avenue and Scammell street, conducted by George Walker, A. M. Waddell and H. Goodwin. All are welcome to the services.

BOY FRACTURES ARM.

Master Charles Parker, the twelve year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Parker, formerly of Atlantic, had the misfortune to fracture his arm in several places on July 18th while running up the beach at Pocasset, where Mr. Parker had taken a cottage for a few weeks. The bones were set, but blood poisoning set in and he was hastily brought by automobile to the Massachusetts General Hospital where it was found necessary to amputate the arm between the shoulder and elbow. Progress is very slow, but it seems now as if his life would be spared. Master Charlie was very popular with his friends and schoolmates while in Atlantic, and having a keen and bright mind always did excellent work while in the Quincy school. Atlantic friends are full of sympathy for the parents and family, who are now staying with Mrs. Parker's sister, Mrs. George Sherwin of Clive street, while Charlie remains at the hospital. Last reports from the hospital were that Charlie was holding his own.

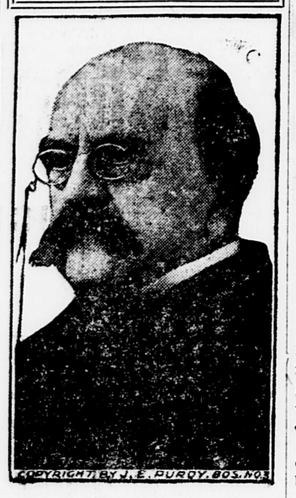
CRYING FOR HELP

Lots of It in Quincy But Daily Growing Less.

The kidneys cry for help.
Not an organ in the whole body so delicately constructed.
Not one so important to health.
The kidneys are the filters of the blood.
When they fail the blood becomes foul and poisonous.
There can be no health where there is poisoned blood.
Backache is one of the first indications of kidney trouble.
It is the kidneys' cry for help. Heed it.
Doan's Kidney Pills are what is wanted.
Are just what overworked kidneys need.
They strengthen and invigorate the kidneys; help them to do their work; never fail to cure any case of kidney disease.
Read the proof from a Quincy citizen.
Mrs. E. Burke, 143 Quincy street, Quincy, Mass., says: "I consider Doan's Kidney Pills an excellent remedy for kidney trouble. I used them and the results were of the most satisfactory nature. Doan's Kidney Pills were procured at the Cox Drug Store and have my highest recommendation."
For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.
Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

GEN. DANIEL E. SICKLES

Who Is Being Sued by His Only Daughter



DAUGHTER SUES FATHER

Suit Brought to Restrain General Sickles From Threatening Acts

New York, July 29.—Mrs. Eda S. Crackenthorpe, only daughter of General Daniel E. Sickles, has brought suit against her father in the supreme court here, the nature of which counsel for Mrs. Crackenthorpe would not disclose. A bond of $250 as security for costs was filed in the county clerk's office.

Mrs. Crackenthorpe also got an order directing her father to show cause why an injunction should not be granted restraining him from performing certain threatened acts.

AVIATORS TO BATTLE WITH WARSHIPS

Government to Furnish Aeroplanes For the Experiment

Provincetown, Mass., July 29.—Army aeroplanes will theorteically battle against the battleships of the North Atlantic fleet here in the first real naval experiments on the effectiveness of rapid-firing guns mounted at high angles against the cavalry of the sky.

It has become known that at least a half dozen of the most expert aviators in theUnited States army have reported to Rear Admiral Osterhaus, commanding the fleet, and that a number of the aeroplanes will be sent here for the experiments, which will begin the latter part of next month.

BANKBOOKS ARE RETURNED

Property Stolen From a Revere Man Discovered In Boston

Revere, Mass., July 29.—Daniel F. Clifford, ex-selectman of Revere, recovered through the Boston postoffice bankbooks and deeds representing several thousand dollars in value, which were stolen with other property from his home.

The bankbooks and deeds were in a small pasteboard box. The thieves did not dare attempt negotiations of the deeds and dropped the box into one of the big package collection boxes in Boston.

Five watches, table silver, jewelry, and even the money in the children's banks were taken, in addition to the bankbooks and deeds.

SEVERE STORM IN BOSTON

Greatest Downpour of Rain Ever Recorded at Local Weather Bureau

Boston, July 29.—The greatest downpour of rain within a given period of time visited Boston yesterday.

Fires in office buildings were extinguished, making the elevators and other machinery useless. Many washouts were reported in various parts of the city and suburbs.

It was the most severe downpour of rain ever recorded at the local weather bureau, the precipitation being 3.15 inches at 3 o'clock in the afternoon with no outlook for a letup and reaching its total of 3.49 inches at 7 p. m.

Good Showing of Postal Savings Banks

Washington, July 29.—In postal savings banks established in second class offices, up to June 30, $777,748 had been deposited and $100,974 withdrawn. The average amount of the 26,889 deposits on June 30 was $57.57.

Stephen B. Smith Dead

New York, July 29.—Stephen B. Smith, for many years a business representative of the Boston Globe, died suddenly at a hospital as the result of an operation.

The Weather

Almanac, Sunday, July 30.
Sun rises—4:51; sets—7:13.
Moon sets—10:13 p. m.
High water—1:45 a. m.; 2:15 p. m.
Forecast for New England: Unsettled; moderate west winds.

ULTIMATUM IS SENT GERMANY

Cavalry of France Is Ordered to Take the Field at Once

KAISER'S ANSWER AWAITED

War Expected Because of German Demand For Coastline Property In Africa — Announcement Startles London—Moroccan Affairs Brought to a Focus, With Intense Feeling In Great Britain

London, July 29.—That France expects that there will be a fight as a result of German's demand for coastline property in Africa is apparent to those who have watched French events closely.

London was startled when it became known that an ultimatum had been sent to Germany.

The announcement of this prompt action, in which they declared that the situation was very grave, has brought Great Britain to a realization of the fact that the war cloud is not a mirage.

The cavalry of France has been ordered to be ready to take the field at a moment's notice, and war supplies have been rushed to the frontier forts from Paris, in the secrecy of the night, according to reports.

This martial move of France, following the ultimatum of England which was sent to Germany has served to bring the Morocco embroglio to a focus and intensify the feeling throughout Great Britain.

The answer of the kaiser is anxiously awaited. In diplomatic circles the talk was boiled down to the statement that Germany will have to back down or fight.

The German newspapers were of a more conciliatory character than they have been for some time.

France is waiting and watching. She realizes that England is steering the ship of state. The French cabinet held a long conference with President Fallieres, cables from Paris say, and the entire Moroccan situation was gone over.

The information comes from reliable sources that the conversations between M. Cambon, the French ambassador to Germany, and the German foreign secretary have reached an impasse and that only Emperor William's interference can change the attitude of the German foreign office.

A cable from Teneriffe says that the German gunboat Panther left Teneriffe and that her destination is not known. It is believed that she sailed for an African port. There was considerable speculation as to the significance of the movements of the German warship.

All of the political parties of England present a united front against Germany's connection in the Moroccan matter. It is believed here now that Germany made the move with the mistaken idea that the domestic difficulties of Great Britain would prevent full attention being given to international affairs.

But by this time all Germany knows that if she thought for a moment that she would catch England napping that she was in error.

LEGISLATIVE SESSION ENDS

Massachusetts Legislature Has Busy Day and Rushes Final Adjournment

Boston, July 29.—The Massachusetts legislature brought its session for 1911 to a close late Friday afternoon. It was the longest session in the history of the commonwealth, lasting 207 calendar days. The session, which up to this time held the record, was in General Ben Butler's time, in 1883, when the session lasted 206 days.

The final session was an exciting one, with all the candidates for governor fighting hard. The day marked the killing of any United Shoe Machinery company investigation by the state, the house defeating the Bogue order for a recess investigating committee by a vote of 82 to 119.

NO ULTERIOR MOTIVES

Opinion of Brother of Late Mark Hanna on Tennessee Merger

New York, July 29.—No ulterior motives lurked behind the taking over of the Tennessee Coal and Iron company by the United States Steel corporation is the opinion of L. C. Hanan of Cleveland, one of the syndicate owners of the Tennessee concern before the merger, who spent the day on the witness stand before the steel trust investigating committee of the house of representatives.

That suspicious motives had been suggested, Mr. Hanna, who is a brother of the late Senator Mark Hanna, admitted, but he never, he said, credited the reports.

Petition For Hearing

Providence, July 29.—Relatives of the late Dr. Oliver H. Arnold, the bulk of whose estate, worth upward of $250,000, was bequeathed to Brown university, ask for a hearing before the superior court.

ELLIS MILK BILL FAILED TO PASS HOUSE

Re-enforced by scattering Republican voters, the Democrats of the House on Thursday, sustained the veto of the Governor on the Ellis Milk bill.

The Ellis milk bill went to defeat in the afternoon session, when the lower branch by a vote of 100 to 105 sustained the governor. At no time did the opposition muster the necessary two-thirds vote to override the veto of the governor. Representatives from the rural districts, many of them Republicans, aided in the defeat of the Ellis bill, which provided for a board to regulate inspection, transportation and sale.

Representative Ellis of Newton led the fight for the milk bill which bears his name and was vetoed by the governor. He said it treated both the consumer and producer fairly. He sent out a word of warning that if the producers defeat the measure this year the consumer, who outnumber them 25 to 1, would next year put in legislation which would be less fair.

AUTO TRIP TO YORK STATE.

Charles C. Hearn is getting ready for an extended automobile trip through New York state. Charles Jr., will run the car, although the senior member of the family has just been granted a license that will enable him to run the car when there are no telegraph poles about. They will be gone a week or ten days.

FLOATING HOSPITAL.

During the four weeks that the Boston Floating hospital has been in service this season it has given attention to 1995 permanent and 1945 day patients, 1899 mothers and 407 small children, a total of 6246 persons.

NEW HAVEN EXTENDS SERVICE.

Now that the work of double tracking the south shore line is completed as far as Greenbush, the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad announces that an extension of train service between Cohasset and Greenbush will go into effect Monday, July 31.

All trains now terminating at Scituate will be extended to and leave from Greenbush.

The present schedule of local trains between Boston and Cohasset and all through trains between Boston and Plymouth will not be affected by this extension of service. Folders, giving complete details of the changes, will be in the hands of ticket agents on Friday, July 28.

FLOWERS CHRISTEN TOW BOAT.

The Saturn, the latest addition to the fleet of tow boats of the Boston Tow Boat Company, was launched Wednesday from the yard of Richard T. Green, Marginal street, Chelsea. It was christened by Miss Elsie Winsor, daughter of T. I. Winsor, who has been general manager of the company since 1885.

In place of a bottle of champagne Miss Winsor tossed a large bouquet of roses and pinks across the bow of the boat.

The Saturn is 95 feet long, 22 feet beam and 11 feet deep. Her equipment will include a Scotch boiler and high pressure, non-condensing type engine. Her hull is of wood. She will be the largest boat of her kind in Boston harbor.

NEARLY SPILLED CIDER.

One of Copelands two horse cider wagons, met with a slight accident in front of the Ledger office, Thursday afternoon. The team loaded with barrels of cider was proceeding slowly along Hancock street, when the axle of the team snapped. The load was stacked up on the side of the street and the damaged wagon taken away.

He (hotly)—"Are you trying to make a fool of me?"

She (coldly)—"I really do not see the necessity for such effort on my part."—Baltimore American.

PATENTS
TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 25 years experience.
Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.
READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.
D. SWIFT & CO.
PATENT LAWYERS,
303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

Anty Drudge and Anti-matrimony Don't Agree.

Miss Bacheller—"No woman ought to get married and be the slave of man, washing his clothes and wearing out her youth and beauty in household drudgery."

Anty Drudge—"Nonsense! Bosh! Married women don't need to be slaves. If they use Fels-Naptha soap and cool water they'll make all the washing—white and colored goods, flannels and woolens—easy, quick and economical. I know!"

You know a woman who makes her housekeeping money go a great deal further than yours; who is always well dressed; who keeps her house in perfect order and still she has plenty of time to go visiting.

You say she is very clever. And you wonder how she does it.

She has simply solved the problem of living. She knows what is true and what is false-economy. She realizes that to save time and effort is quite as important as to save money.

In the weekly wash, for instance—instead of sticking to the old fashioned boil-the-clothes-and-rub-the-dirt-out idea, she does hers the Fels-Naptha way.

In cool or lukewarm water and without the tedious rubbing and scrubbing.

She gets her wash done in half the time and with one-tenth the trouble.

She saves her hands; her energy, and it means a lot to the life of the clothes.

Woolens washed in the Fels-Naptha way don't shrink or harden, but are left soft and as new.

It's fine for household cleaning, too.

Follow the directions on the red and green wrapper.

WHEELER'S
The Store for Ladies' Furnishings

We will continue our Sale of Shirt Waists and Long Gloves

See what we offer in Shirt Waists for 79c and 98c
and Long Gloves for 50c and 75c

We are also showing a new line of Children's Parasols, all colors, for 25c and 29c

WE GIVE CASH DISCOUNT SLIPS

City Square G. W. WHEELER Quincy

YOUR VACATION
WON'T BE COMPLETE
UNLESS YOU LEAVE
AN ORDER FOR THE
QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
TO BE FORWARDED TO YOU
NEWS FROM HOME EVERY DAY
FOR ONLY TWO CENTS

mony married and and wearing rudgery."

women don't tha soap and —white and y, quick and nakes her al further ssed; who and still ng.

And you

oblem of nd what t to save nt as to nce—ined boil-idea, she nd withbing.

half the ble.
rgy, and thes.
-Naptha
are left g, too.

red and hings

Long Gloves
98c
50c and 75c
ldren's
PS
Quincy

GER

DAY

Boston & Northern St. Ry. Co.

QUINCY DIVISION

TIME TABLE

In effect June 24th, 1911.

Subject to Change Without Notice

Leave QUINCY for

Brockton, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M. then 9.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Brockton, 6.30, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 9.30 P. M Sundays, 8.00A. M. then same as week days.

Braintree, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Braintree, 6.25 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.25 P. M. Sundays, 7.55 A. M. then same as week days.

East Milton, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Milton, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M., and every 20 minutes to 11.45 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.15 midnight.) Sundays, 7.25, A. M. then same as week days.

East Weymouth, 6.00, 6.15, 6.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.42 P. M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Weymouth, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.45 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Holbrook, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M. then 9.50 and 10.20 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Holbrook, 6.55, 6.25, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.00 P. M. Sundays, 8.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Houghs Neck, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 5.20, 5.45, 6.10 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 4.10 P. M. then 4.25, 4.40, 4.55, 5.10, 5.25, 5.40, 5.55, 6.10, 6.25, 6.40, 6.55, 7.10 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 11.10 P. M. then 11.49 P. M. Saturdays and Holidays, 5.20, 5.45, 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, 10.10, 10.40, A. M. then every 15 minutes to 10.40 P. M. then 11.10 and 11.49 P. M. Sundays, 6.50, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, 10.10, 10.40 A. M. then every 15 minutes to 10.40 P. M. then 11.10 P. M. Return, leave Houghs Neck Mondays to Fridays, both inc. 5.45, 6.05, 6.35 A. M. and ever 30 minutes to 4.35 P. M. then 4.50, 5.05, 5.20, 5.35, 5.50, 6.05, 6.20, 6.35, 6.50, 7.05, 7.20, 7.35 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 12.05 midnight. Saturdays and Holidays, 5.45, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05, A. M. then every 15 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.35 and 12.05 P. M. Sundays, 7.20, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05 A. M. then every 15 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.35 P. M.

Nantasket 8.25 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 9.25 P. M. Sundays, 9.25 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Nantasket, 10.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.00 P. M. Sundays, 10.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Hancock Street, 5.45, 6.14, 6.44, 7.14, 7.44, 8.14, 8.35, A. M. then 5, 14, 35 and 44 minutes past each hour to 10.44 P. M. then 12.14 midnight. Sundays 7.14 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Neponset 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, 8.07, 8.35, 8.37, 9.05, 9.37 A. M. then 5, 7, 35 and 37 minutes past each hour to 11.07 P. M. then 12.37 midnight. Sundays, 7.37 A. M then same as week days.

Neponset via Wollaston. 5.59 A. M and every 30 minutes to 10.59 P. M. then 11.14 and 11.44 P. M. Sundays, 6.59 A. M. then same as week days. Return leave Neponset, 6.22 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.22 P. M. then 11.37, 12.07 P. M. Sundays, 7.22 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Norfolk Downs, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 7.55, 8.25, 8.50, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 1.30 P. M. then 2.05, 2.35 P. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.05 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.00 P. M.) Sundays, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Neponset, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 1.35 P. M. then 2.00, 2.30 P. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M.) Sundays, 8.30, 9.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Weymouth Landing, 5.20, 6.00, 6.20, 6.55, 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.00 P. M. Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days. Return leave Weymouth Landing, 5.40, 6.15, A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.15 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Wollaston, 5.59 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.59 P. M. then 11.14 and 11.44 P. M. Sundays, 6.59 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Wollaston, 6.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.30 P. M. then 11.50 and 12.20 P. M. Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days.

West Quincy, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave West Quincy, 6.00, 6.20, 6.50, A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.50 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.20 midnight) Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days.

Leave NEPONSET BRIDGE for Squantum, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 3.30 P. M. then 4.00, 4.30, 5.00, 5.30, 6.00, 6.30 P. M. then every 60 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Saturdays, 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. Sundays, 7.30, 8.30, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. (Note—Week Days, cars will leave Atlantic Bridge for Squantum, 5.45 and 6.15 A. M.) Return leave Squantum, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05 A. M. and every 60 minutes to 4.05 P. M. then 4.35, 5.05, 5.35, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05 P. M. then every 60 minutes to 11.05 P. M. Saturdays, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 10.05 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. Sundays, 8.05 9.05, 10.05, A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M.

THOMAS GAMMON,
Superintendent.

A BOSTON GIRL'S BUDGET.

Hub to be Shot up in Texan Style—How Little Johnny Bostonbeans is Learning to Appreciate Art—Another Model Settlement House Settles on Back Bay Basin—Cabaret Show Shows Bostonese Some New Winks.

The Hub's latest among its many philanthropic movements appears in the completion of plans and beginning of active work for the building of the new Peabody settlement house in the West End. This house, which will be seven stories high, is to be located on Charles street on the site of four old brick houses to be demolished. There is about every requirement provided for that one could suggest in the way of a settlement house, from a milk dispensary on the first floor to the boys' billiard room and a broad open air garden on the roof. Quarters for resident and district nurses, a theatre in which plays in Yiddish, Italian, Gaelic and other languages, meetings of mothers' and fathers' clubs, and public meetings of various kinds, will be held. There will be kindergarten, gymnasium, manual training, printing, model tenement, kitchen, home making, dressmaking and domestic science departments, and a free immigrant school. The house fronts on the city playground and the Charles River basin and is in a location where much good may be done through its activities. Several Harvard professors are handling the details of certain departments and the personel of the workers is of the highest. Withal, the Peabody Settlement House should be enabled to continue a former good work on a very much enlarged and improved basis.

The blood curdling experience of being shot up by a Texas cowboy is eagerly awaited by prosaic Beantown. The delegates from the Lone Tree State to the big advertisers' convention are promising some such thriller. Texas wants this same convention next year and if spectacular demonstrations will win it, it is the Texans' without argument. The Associated Advertising clubs of America are, of course, anticipating the convention of their lives in the Hub from August 1 to 4, and lively proceedings are under way to make the days one continuous round of excitement. Three hundred Texans are en route in a special train of 15 cars, and an exhibit of Texas products. These gentlemen will give a parade on their arrival, in which, with police permission, they will be led by a really-truly hope-to-die cow puncher who will shoot up the town with blank cartridges as the assemblage moves towards its hotel. The Georgia delegates have sent two carloads of the best Georgia watermelons, enough to supply 4,000 people. These melons will be preserved until Thursday evening, when there will be an old fashioned Southern melon cutting at the great New England clambake to be given by the Pilgrim Publicity Association at Point of Pines. Many women advertisers and wives of men members will be present in the city, and special programmes of entertainment have been arranged for them.

Little Johnny Bostonbeans is studying art. Every week day through the summer months a carload of fifty or sixty children between the ages of 8 and 14 makes its way from some one or more of the city's playgrounds or settlement houses in the thickly populated sections to the cool, beautiful new Museum of Fine Arts on Huntington Avenue. Here Miss Dorothy Hopkins, officially known as the Museum's story teller, leads the group of wide-eyed youngsters through the various departments, telling them interesting tales about the wonderful things they are seeing, and instilling in their minds a respect and appreciation of art which they would otherwise be very unlikely to acquire. Miss Hopkins takes care not to confuse the children with too much detail, preferring them to leave with a clear impression of a few of the best things. It has been found that the Japanese stories and the visit to the Japanese Garden attract them most of all. After the tour through the museum and the illustrated lectures are over there is a treat of lemonade and the children are given post cards bearing pictures of the objects they have seen. Then they board the special car for the return trip. In this way before the fall term of school begins over 2,000 of the city's youth will have become familiar with some of the world's greatest treasures. The idea is that from the interest awakened in a few objects, the young people will return again and again to become better acquainted with the entire collection at the Museum.

Boston is coming on. With a distinct shock of surprise a Boston girl came to this realization. The occasion of the shock was the discovery that in the environs of staid old Boston an enterprising restaurant proprietor has instituted a Cabaret Show—the real thing, quite N'Yorky too. A popular palm garden, an airy and delightful eating place at one of the seaside resorts of Boston harbor, announced this Cabaret show, from 9 to 11 in the evening, and curiosity as to just what Puritan Massachusetts would stand for led the Boston girl to linger until the last train. For the benefit of those from Podunk Corners and West Centreville the management kindly places a card on each table which explains that the meaning of Cabaret is a place where food and drink is sold, while a light entertainment is given to the patrons. The conclusion is obvious. One is expected to at least buy a claret lemonade or bottle of ginger pop, and observation discovers more planked steaks and broiled lives than ham sandwiches. Then a long table is located on one side of the dining room, on which fancy dancers, trained dogs and strong men do their respective stunts, with between whiles the unexpected voice of a remarkably fine soloist ringing forth from another corner of the room, or the surprising and delightful bursting forth of an Italian trio at the table next to yours in the stirring aria from some grand opera. The delightful sense of congeniality and the personel of the crowd which participated proved that a place is waiting fo rsuch entertainments even in Boston's dignified purlieus.

Ethel Angier.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

In effect June 4, 1911

The letters in the same line as the figures below stand for different stations and indicate that trains stop as follows.

a Wollaston	f Harrison Square
b Norfolk Downs	g Savin Hill
c Atlantic	h Crescent Avenue
d Neponset	i South Boston
e Pope's Hill	r Quincy Adams

Exp.—Express train.

TO BOSTON			FROM BOSTON
Leave	Stop	Arrive	Leave	Stop	Arrive
r 5 14 abcdefghi		5 41	5 45 ihgfedcba		6 14 r
r 6 16 abcd		6 35	6 12 ihgfedcba		6 39 r
r 6 33 e		6 48	6 30 a		6 47
r 6 40 abcf		7 00	7 15 hgfedcba		7 41 r
r 7 08 abcd		7 30	7 41 a		7 58
r 7 25 d		7 42	7 45 e		8 03 r
r 7 33 Exp		7 48	8 35 cb		8 53
r 7 42 ab		8 00	8 42 a		8 59
7 57 a		8 13	9 10 fedba		9 32 r
r 8 19 abcd		8 31	9 45 a		10 01 r
r 8 20 Exp		8 45	10 15 ihgfedcba		10 41 r
r 8 53 ad		9 10	10 50 Exp		11 05
r 9 15 abc		9 33	11 15 hgfedcba		11 41 r
r 10 03 a		10 20	11 50 a		12 07
r 10 19 abcdefghi		10 45	12 15 hgfedcba		12 41 r
11 12 a		11 28	12 37 a		12 54 r
r 11 34 abcdefgh		11 70	12 50 Exp		1 05
12 04 a		12 20	1 11 fedcba		1 32 r
r 12 25 abcdefghi		12 52	1 45 a		2 02
1 22 a		1 40	2 15 ihgf		2 37 r
2 04 a		2 20	2 35 Exp		2 50
r 2 19 abcdefgh		2 45	3 15 hgfedcba		3 40 r
r 3 13 Exp		3 28	3 45 a		4 02
4 04 a		4 20	4 12 fedcba		4 34 r
r 4 25 abcdefgh		4 52	4 41 d		4 58
5 06 Exp		5 20	5 14 a		5 31 r
r 5 30 abcdefg		5 55	5 24 a		5 42
6 12 a		6 30	5 31 dcb		5 50 r
7 22 Exp		7 37	5 43 a		6 00 r
r 7 30 a		7 46	5 55 ledcba		6 21 r
r 8 07 abcdef		8 30	6 14 Exp		6 30 r
r 9 01 abc		9 20	6 30 ecba		6 51 r
10 04 a		10 20	7 00 fedcba		7 24 r
r 10 07 abcdef		10 30	7 12 a		7 29
r 11 25 abc		11 45	8 05 ba		8 32
			9 25 dba		9 46 r
			10 35 fedcba		11 02 r
			11 10 fedcba		11 35 r
			11 30 ba		11 48

SUNDAYS

r 7 43 abc		8 03	6 39 ba		6 48 r
8 30 Exp		8 45	45 ihgfedcba		9 13 r
8 34 abc		8 52	9 05 Exp		9 21
r 8 46 bcdefghi		9 13	10 05 ihgfedcba		10 -2 r
r 9 13 abc		9 33	12 15 ihgfedcba		12 42 r
9 31 a		9 47	12 45 Exp		1 01
10 23 ac		10 40	1 50 ihgfedcba		1 57 r
10 31 Exp		10 47	2 15 hgfedcba		2 42 r
11 00 Exp		11 17	2 45 a		3 02
r 11 16 abcdefghi		11 43	3 15 ihgfedcba		3 42 r
1 02 Exp		1 17	4 27 eba		4 48 r
r 1 16 abcdefgh		1 43	5 15 ihgfedcba		5 42 r
r 3 10 abc		3 30	6 15 ihgfedcba		6 42 r
r 4 16 abcdefghi		4 43	7 00 cba		7 19 r
r 5 07 abc		5 27	8 15 ihgfedcba		8 41 r
r 6 16 abcdefghi		6 43	8 50 Exp		9 05
r 7 16 abcdefghi		7 42	9 30 ihgfedcba		9 57 r
r 8 11 abcdefghi		8 38	10 45 cba		11 04 r
r 9 07 a		9 22
r 10 46 abc		11 05
r 11 01 abc		11 20

West Quincy for Boston (stopping at East Milton)-6.23, 6.56, 7.47, 8.01, 8.11, 9.07 10.09, 11.01, A. M. 12.09, 1.23, 2.09, 3.18, 4.09, 5.13 6.06, 7.19, 9.09, 11.14 P. M. Sundays- 8.20, 9.20 A. M. 12.59, 5.15, 6.59, 11.02 P. M.

Boston for West Quincy (stopping at East Milton)-6.35, 7.27, 8.23, 9.35, 10.25, 11.35 A. M. 12.25 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 5.47, 6.18 7.20, 9.10, 11.20 P. M. Sundays- 8.18 A. M 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M.

Montclair for Boston 6.29, 7.27, 8 17, 10 15, A. M. 12.15, 1.23, 4.15, 5.20, 6.12, 7.25, 9.15, P. M. Sundays - 8.26, 9.26, A. M. 1.06, 5.21, 11.09 P. M.

Boston for Montclair 9.35, 10 25, 11.35, A. M. 12 25, 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 6.18, 11.20 P. M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M. 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.45 P. M

COMPROMISE IS NOW LOOKED FOR

House Democrats Unanimous In Favor of Conference on Wool

PRESIDENTIAL VETO URGED

Strong Intimations That the President May Use His Power and End All Atempts to Revise Schedule K at the Present Time—House Now Busy With Cotton Tariff Revision—President Silent as to Attitude

Washington, July 29.—Amid applause the house received the new compromise wool bill from the senate. No action was taken, the bill being laid on the speaker's table and the cotton tariff revision debate proceeded with.

Democratic leaders in the house informally conferred over plans to meet the senate's sudden move. General sentiment among the Democratic representatives early in the day seemed to favor a compromise between the La Follette bill as it passed the senate and the house bill along the lines of 30 percent ad valorem on raw wool.

A Republican counter-move to concur with the senate bill was expected. This, however, would be overwhelmingly voted down by the house. House Democrats are almost unanimous in the belief that a bill will be agreed upon in conference.

Neither house has yet taken steps to name conferees or fix a time for conference. The members of the Democratic-Progressive Republican coalition are determined to have a majority of the senate conferees.

Democratic Leader Underwood stated that there probably would be no conference on the wool bill for two or three days.

Leaders of the house assert that the only basis on which the house and senate can come to an agreement of a revision of the wool bill is a compromise involving material concessions from the senate insurgents all along the line.

If Senator La Follette is willing to scale his duties on raw wool down to between 25 percent and 30 percent, with a corresponding decrease on the manufactures of wool, the house leaders will be willing to do business; otherwise the house members of the conference committee will prefer to report to the house their inability to agree.

President Taft was urged by general standpat Republican leaders of the senate and house to veto any wool revision bill that is likely to be agreed upon in the forthcoming conference on the house and La Follette compromise woolen measures.

While the president himself maintains silence as to what course he will pursue if a wool revision bill is presented to him, the intimations are stronger today that he will not hesitate to use the veto. This would put an end to all attempts to revise schedule K, and would serve as a deterrent to revision of other tariff schedules at this time.

LABOR TO PROSECUTE

American Federation to Take Action Against Burns Agency

Washington, July 29.—Organized labor proposes to prosecute the Burns detective agency for its part in arresting the men charged with destroying with dynamite the newspaper plant of the Los Angeles Times.

In an appeal for funds with which to defend the alleged dynamiters at their forthcoming trial, issued by the American Federation of Labor, it is declared that every man who was connected with with the kidnapping of the McNamaras will be prosecuted to the full limit of the law.

MOTHER LEARNS TOO LATE

Pretty Telephone Operator Bides Her Time and Marries Her Choice

Lawrence, Mass., July 29.—Miss Caroline Burt, a 19-year-old telephone operator, was married to Timothy Shine, a meat and provision dealer, in St. Mary's parish house by Rev. Father George Loomis. Their friends learned of the nuptials for the first time last night.

Mrs. Burt was very much surprised when told of the marriage of her daughter and immediately took steps to verify the report by communicating with City Clerk Wade, with whom the wedding intention was filed.

SHERMAN SENTENCED

Year and a Day In Jail For Man Who Would Steal Estate of Dead Woman

Boston, July 29.—Dr. Smith L. Sherman, an osteopath of Fitchburg, who pleaded guilty to the indictment for using the mails in a fraudulent scheme to obtain the $50,000 estate left by Dr. Sarah J. Williams, was sentenced to one year and one day in the Fitchburg jail.

Sherman pretended to be Dr. Williams' first cousin and only heir-at-law, and opened correspondence with the administrator of the woman's estate. The money will go to the state, as there are no heirs.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, Lucas County, ss.

Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure. FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

A. W. GLEASON,
(Seal) Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

RELIGIOUS MOVEMENT.

Delegates to the number of 450, representing 75 cities in 36 states and Canada, are in attendance at the first annual conference of the men and religion forward movement now in session at Silver Bay. W. J. Bryan is to be one of the speakers.

CHICAGO TO BOSTON BY TROLLEY

Prof. J. E. Baggett, superintendent Lake Forest schools, completed a trolley trip from Waukegan, Ill., to Boston in a little over three days. He travelled 1512 miles in 78 hours at a cost of $24.59. All but 177 miles was by trolley, this being by rail and boat down the Hudson. He went via South Bent, Fort Wayne, Toledo, Cleveland, Rochester, Syracuse, Utica, Schnectady, Albany, New York city, New Haven, Hartford, Springfield and Worcester.

"It was a beautiful trip all the way" he sad. "Beautiful scenery all the way, no accidents, weather cool and delightful, rains abundant." The following is a tabulation of the cost, mileage, stops and details of his trip.

Waukegan, Lake Forest, Evanston, fare 35 cents; Chicago Elevated, fare 15 cents; East Chicago, 10 cents; South Bend, $1.25; Goshen, Warsaw, Peru, $1.85; Wabash, Fort Wayne, Lima, O., $2.10; Toledo, $1.40; Cleveland, $1.75; Painesville, Ashtabula, $1; Conneaut, 25 cents; Erie, Pa., 60 cents; Fredonia, 70 cents; Lockport, N. Y., Rochester, $1.30; Syracuse, $1.50; Utica, 85 cents; Little Falls, 30 cents; Fonda, N. Y. (by rail,) 45 cents; Gloversville, Amsterdam, 37 cents; Schenectady, Albany, 50 cents; Hudson via Newburgh, Middleton, West Point, water and railroad to New York city, $3.22; One Hundred and Seventy-seventh street subway, 5 cents; New Rochelle, 10 cents; Stamford, Ct., 25 cents; Bridgeport, 35 cents; New Haven, 25 cents; Hartford 45 cents; Springfield, 40 cents; Palmer, Southbridge, Worcester, 80 cents; Boston, 55 cents. Totals, hours 78, miles 1512, fares $24.59.

SUMMER MAGAZINES.

SUBURBAN LIFE. The August issue of that cheerful exponent of living outside of the crowded cities, Suburban Life, is radiant with the spirit of out-of-doors. Indeed, out-of-doors and out-door affairs are presented in so attractive a light that one is tempted to abandon forthwith conventional houses of lumber or clay and live in a houseboat, tent or cabin. A most interesting treatment of the vacation problem is "Take a Vacation in Your Own Home," which is a plea for relaxation and rest by those who simply can't get away from "things." "Getting a Maid and Keeping Her" surely will appeal to the average suburban householder. It offers a solution of a pressing problem and advances some theories that will, no doubt, be earnestly discussed by many people. "The Suburban Woman and Her Children" is an intimate homey" discussion of another ever-present suburban problem. "As Human as a Hen" is an odd little story of a pen of chickens and the individuality shown by each. Besides, there is a variety of garden and household matter of the usual high quality.

NATIONAL MAGAZINE.—The very lush of massive-bowed, mediaeval carracks and galleons against unknown seas, with suggestions grateful to city dwellers of salt sea breeces and baptisms of fine, cool spray from the leaping surges, live again in Arthur Hutchins' "Rounding the Cape of Storms," which forms the three-color cover design of the National magazin for August. "Affairs at Washington' 'continue to present the same popular and versatile melange of solid information, up-to-date biography, amusing anecdote, genial comment and optimistic cheeriness characterteristic of Joe Mitchell Chapple. "The Guest of Honor" serial by the noted actor, William Hodge, closes with this issue; with a denouement arguing love and prosperity for "The Guest" and all his associates. "The Cruise of the Molly O" by Will Gage Carey, Roy R. Gardner's "The Contralto and Mrs. Gordon," and Maitland LeRoy Osborne's dainty "Love Story" furnish the fiction of an unusually interesting and attractive number.

To Enjoy Life

you need a healthy stomach, active liver, kidneys and bowels. These organs—and the nerves and the blood—are better, do better, when helped by

BEECHAM'S PILLS

Sold Everywhere. In boxes 10c. and 25c.

CHICHESTER S PILLS

THE DIAMOND BRAND.
Ladies! Ask your Druggist for Chi-ches-ter's Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with Blue Ribbon. Take no other. Buy of your Druggist. Ask for CHI-CHES-TER S DIAMOND BRAND PILLS, for 25 years known as Best, Safest, Always Reliable

SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is Pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. It destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. It cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. It relieves Teething Troubles, cures Constipation and Flatulency. It assimilates the Food, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS
Bears the Signature of
Chas. H. Fletcher.

The Kind You Have Always Bought
In Use For Over 30 Years
THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

LLOYD'S
EYEGLASSES AND SPECTACLES

KRYPTOK BIFOCAL GLASSES
Far and Near Glasses in a Single Pair.

Many people can wear two vision KRYPTOK Glasses with comfort, who cannot wear two piece bifocals at all.
Any of our stores will be glad to show them.

315 Washington St.
310 Boylston St.
75 Summer St.
} BOSTON
1252 Massachusetts Ave. CAMBRIDGE.
ANDREW J. LLOYD CO.

ROOSTER COAL BRIQUETS

THE NEW ANTHRACITE COAL

ROOSTER BRIQUETS are made from the choicest small Scranton Anthracite coal, mined in Pennsylvania, called TWENTIETH CENTURY CHESTNUT size.

Just consider for a moment what we offer here in this 20th CENTURY CHESTNUT.

First, 200 pounds of clean, pure, hard coal without a rock or a piece of slate.

Second, fuel that cannot form into a clinker, by any known method of firing, consequently the linings and grates last indefinitely.

Third, they are made in nut size, being equally convenient for furnace heaters, open grates, as well as stoves; therefore, only one storage bin is necessary.

Fourth, and very IMPORTANT, the quality of this fuel is the SAME EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR, not a good ton today, and nothing like it the next time, in other words, when you once learn how to regulate your drafts you have nothing more to learn about burning BRIQUETS.

Fifth, no more sifting ashes these Briquets burn out clean. They require less wood to kindle.

Be sure to ask for "ROOSTERS" and get the Briquet made from pure Scranton Coal, from the largest Briquet plant in the country. They are better than coal, will last as long and cost less.

J. F. SHEPPARD & SONS,
AGENTS

Quincy Daily Ledger

FOR SALE AT

BOSTON—At South Station after 3:30 P. M.
QUINCY—Ledger Office 1424 Hancock Street.
L. A. Chapin, 1395 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, oppo. Depot.
Thompson's Waiting Room, City Sq.
H. P. Kittredge, City Square.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
Mrs. Madden, 16 Quincy ave.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's News Stand.
PARK&DOWNS—Branschied & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
QUINCY NECK—Stetson Pierce, Newcomb Square.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith, Washington Street.
Gragg's Pharmacy.
L. A. Cook, Washington Street.
E. O. Godfrey, 538 Washington St.
E. H. Lowe, Washington Street.
George E. Sprague Cor. River St.
SOUTH QUINCY—Litchfield, Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Miss C. Booth, Brooks Avenue.
BREWER'S CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
Mrs. F. H. Stanley.
WEST QUINCY—F. A. Skinner.
John G. Belanger.
HOUGHS NECK—Capt. Fosdick's.

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	78 degrees
July 29, 1910,	83 degrees
July 29, 1909,	93 degrees
July Noon Maximum, 14 years,	101
July Noon Minimum, 14 years.	60

Accustomed to It.

Kathryn—Why did you refuse Lord Sidestep's offer?

Alice—Policemen and street car conductors call me "lady" so much I'm used to the title.

BRIEFS

Rev. Harris M. Barber of Wollaston will preach on Sunday at Dover, N. H.

Leo Garrity of Willard street is at Hamden beach, Me., for two weeks.

It was a welcome soak that many people got by Friday's rain.

George P. Meade, of the Mt. Wollaston bank, leaves Monday for a two weeks' vacation trip.

Miss Lillian Curran of Weymouth, operator at the Quincy telephone exchange is enjoying a vacation.

Mrs. Louie Eckert was called to New York today by the death of Mr. Eckert's father.

Miss Nellie Lane of Conant street, who underwent on operation at the City Hospital for appendicitis several weeks ago is convalescent.

Rev. T. C. Martin, pastor of the Hall Place M. E. church expects to take his vacation the last two weeks in August.

Robert C. Lonergan of Weymouth, manager of the Quincy store of the E. E. Gray Co. is having a vacation this week.

John R. Mahar of Lewiston, Maine, left for home today, after spending a very enjoyable visit with relatives in Quincy.

Mrs. George L. Badger of Crescent street is receiving the sympathy of many Quincy friends her father Edward C. Tucker passing away at his home in Brookline, N. H., on July 18th after a short illness. Mr. and Mrs. Tucker had made many friends here in their frequent visits to their daughter.

GOES TO DEDHAM JAIL.

Elizabeth Savoy of Atlantic, who was brought into court, charged with child murder will be confined to the Dedham jail until Sept. 2 when the case will come before the grand jury.

NOMINATION PAPERS FILED.

The nomination papers of Norman H. White, Republican candidate for Governor were filed with the City Clerk this morning. The papers bear the signatures of 22 Quincy voters.

Anklets are the fashion for women bathers this year. As material for bathing suits is scarce, every little addition helps out.

Established 1870 Telephone
JOHN HALL
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
Carriage and Ambulance Service
1485 Hancock Street, Quincy Mass.

POLICE LOOKING FOR GIRL

A police inspector from Worcester was in Quincy, Friday afternoon, looking for Estelle M. Hanson, who is accused of strangling her infant child to death the body of which was discovered Wednesday, in a trunk in the room which the girl occupied in Worcester. The inspector arrived in Quincy about 1 o'clock and met Inspector Goodhue by appointment at the depot. Inspector Goodhue accompanied the Worcester officer about the city visiting places where it was thought the girl might be. No trace of her was found however.

Late Friday evening the girl was arrested at the Back Bay station and taken to Worcester. She had a ticket for New York, via Fall River line and it was her intention to take the train from the Back Bay station.

It is said that the girl, when arrested stated that the child had been dead for two years. She had got wind of the fact that the police were on her trail and had planned to make her escape through New York.

It is claimed by the girl that the death of the child took place somewhere else from where it was found and that it had been taken from place to place in the trunk.

SUMMER SCHOOL

(Continued from Page One.)

while being told the Home Nursing class. Those not interested in the work of the club but in the work of the Y. M .C. A. could not do better than to watch the boys in the sloyd classes Monday, Tuesday, Thursday or Friday mornings. Mr. Clee has said it is one of the best groups of boys they ever had, orderly, painstaking, hard working. He is very much pleased that the clubwomen have sent him such a group of boys. The public is urged to keep in mind the exhibition at the club house on August 10 and the one at City Hall on the 11th.

THE STORM

(Continued from Page One.)

some places cellars were flooded, the gutters on the buildings not being large enough to care for the volume of water that fell.

No serious damage was done anywhere in Quincy, however, other than gullying out the streets and the Commissioner had a large gang of men at work in different sections of the city this morning filling up the gutters that had been made.

Along Hancock street where the telephone company had dug a trench for its underground conduits, the trenches were filled with surface water, so that it was necessary in some places to pump them out.

Along the shore front, owners of yachts saw the storm coming and made haste to securely moor their yachts and as a rule they safely rode out the gale and storm. The only yacht as far as known to come ashore was the 40 foot sloop Annette, owned by W. H. Sturgess. She was moored off Houghs Neck, but dragged her anchor and went ashore on Raccoon island. She rested easy on the mud however and was floated off this morning none the worse for the storm.

The storm abated shortly after sun down and although the weather looked a little threatening in the evening no rain fell and this morning dawned bright and clear.

Mr. N. B. Furnald, an authority on rainfall reports, states that between 3 A. M. and 5 P. M. (14 hours) on Friday, there was a fall of 3 3-4 inches more than was recorded for the previous six months.

NEW BOXING LAW.

Senator Frawley's bill establishing a State athletic commission to regulate boxing and sparring matches was signed at Albany, N. Y. Thursday by Governor Dix.

The new law provides that within 30 days the Governor shall appoint three persons to comprise the commission, vested with jurisdiction over all boxing and sparring matches and exhibitions in the State. Any club, corporation or association conducting such exhibitions must secure a license from the commission, which is to be forfeited in the event of any fake exhibition being given. No match shall go more than 10 rounds and the contestants shall wear gloves weighing at least eight ounces. Provision is made for penalizing any contestant who shall participate in a fake match. The State comptroller is authorized to collect a tax of 5 per cent of the total gross receipts from the sale of tickets to any exhibition.

Social Realm

(Continued from Page Three.)

Miss Helen T. O'Reilley of Brook street is at Higgins Beach, Maine.

• • •

Mrs. John Halloran of 99 East Squantum street is visiting at the Elm Lawn, Sharon Heights, Mass.

• • •

Congratulations are extended to Dr. and Mrs. Frank Crawford upon the birth of a son, born Tuesday.

• • •

Mrs. Henry C. Mulligan of Natick, president of the State Federation of Women's clubs, will be the guest of honor at a reception at the Hotel Vendome, Boston, on Nov. 7 which is being arranged by the Professional Women's club. Mrs. Mulligan is spending the summer with her two daughters at their home in Herricks, Maine. Senator Mulligan goes down for the week ends.

• • •

Mrs. Lynden Gurney and children and Miss Bertha Schultz returned Thursday from a three weeks' stay at Islesboro, Maine.

• • •

Miss Maria J. Morrison, who has for several years resided on Coddington street in the Faxon house, is now settled in her new home, having taken one of Mr. Ericson's attractive new apartments on Spear street.

• • •

Mrs. Minnie E. Glover of Edison park is visiting friends at Troy, New Hampshire for two weeks.

• • •

Frank Hayward Wrigley has been at the National Shawmut Bank camp at Silver Lake, N. H., for a week's vacation and will spend next week at the home of Miss Daisy F. Burnell at Gorham, Maine.

• • •

Walter Nichols has come on from Seattle, by way of Texas to spend his two weeks' vacation with his mother.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. Mark L. Read, Jr., of Woodward avenue, leave the first of the month for Meredith, N. H., where they will pass the month of August.

• • •

Mrs. Charles F. Letteney and daughter Marion are at their cottage in Hamilton for the remainder of the summer. Mr. Letteney spends Saturdays and Sundays with them.

• • •

Mrs. Harold D. Waterhouse and son Baxter Waterhouse of Prospect avenue have returned from a visit to Hamstead, N. H., where they were guests of Mrs. Clement W. Witherell.

• • •

Mrs. Clarence B. Underwood of Spear street who is passing the summer as usual at Marblehead, was in town for a few days this week. Her daughter Miss Josephine is with her and Dr. Underwood goes down for the week ends.

BRAINTREE

Mr. G. H. White has returned from a three weeks' visit with friends in New Hampshire.

Miss Helen Kyte who has been visiting friends at Chester, Vt., has returned to her home on Pond street.

Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler and children of Pigeon Cove are visiting her brother, Mr. J. J. McLellan of Pond street.

Mrs. Moses Dyer of Pond street, who has been ill for many months is much improved in health and has been visiting her mother at Quincy Point.

Rev. Joseph Kyte of Pond street is entertaining his daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Stose and sons Harold and Willis of Washington, D. C.

HOME TRADE WILL HELP QUINCY AND EVERYONE IN QUINCY

FOR RENT

BY FRANK FESSENDEN CRANE, Temple Street, Quincy.

Single House in first class condition, conveniently located good neighborhood for Private Family. 8 rooms, laundry, bath, piazzas, and all modern conveniences. Ready for occupancy.

Half House, right up to-date, all improvements, 7 rooms and bath. Sunny location and good neighborhood. Just right for small family.

July 28-1po-tf

BIG LANDSLIDE

Caravans and Carts Dumped Into the Charles River at Charlestown

Boston, July 29.—Two caravans and two large carts were precipitated forty feet into the Charles river last night when a landslide, caused by the storm, sent a section of Charles River avenue, Charlestown, 9000 square feet in area, tumbling into the salt water.

Several workmen who were busily engaged nearby when the landslide started, fled for their lives, and barely reached a point of safety when the entire end of the street near the river dropped into the water, carrying wagons, bricks, curb stones, wharf timbers, wooden piles and debris. The crash was heard for several blocks.

DEFENDS COMMUNION CUP

Transmission of Disease Prevented by Its Use Declares Bishop Grafton

Fond du Lac, Wis., July 29.—"God prevents the transmission of disease through the use of the common communion cup," declared Bishop C. C. Grafton of the Fond du Lac diocese when he commented upon the action of the state board of health in exempting churches from the operation of the rule against the use of the common drinking cup.

"The good Lord," he said, "would not permit the transmission of disease to any of the worshippers through the means of their worship of Him."

TRAVELED 3,000,000 MILES

Purser of Liner St. Paul Has Crossed Ocean One Thousand Times

New York, July 29.—One thousand trips across the Atlantic ocean, a total distance of 3,000,000 miles, will be Purser Thomas Kinsey's proud record when he arrives in England on the steamship St. Paul, which has sailed from here.

Purser Kinsey has been many years in the service of the American line. He has also seen service in the Chinese and India trades and he sailed all around the world.

MASTER APPOINTED IN KELIHER'S CASE

Receiver Seeks Money Held by a Bonding Company

Boston, July 29.—S. K. Hamilton was appointed master to the suit of John L. Bates, receiver, against William J. Keliher. The receiver seeks to reach Keliher's interest in $50,000 that was deposited with the Massachusetts Bonding and Insurance company when it went bail for Keliher, charged with aiding George W. Coleman.

Keliher was convicted and sentenced to sixteen years in prison. His appeal is now pending. The receiver claims Keliher is indebted to the bank for the amount that was illegally gotten by him, and that the collateral was his.

Other parties claim that part of the collateral belonged to them, and they seek to prevent the receiver from getting it.

THE SOLDIER BOYS

Drenched by the Rain They Are Now Encamped Close Together

Boston, July 29.—Both the Reds and the Blues were all but conquered yesterday by the heavy rain. Drenched to the skin and marching in mud and puddles of water up to their knees the campaigners in both armies were a bedraggled and disgusted looking crowd when the maneuvers ended at noon yesterday for the day.

Last night only a few companies had the courage to sleep in tents. They found shelter for the night in sheds, barns, farmhouses and elsewhere.

The Blue army was encamped about half a mile west of Newburyport and the Red forces were located about two miles and a half away.

SUES FOR DAMAGES

South Medford Woman Injured and Claims Damages at $10,000

Boston, July 29.—Mrs. Catherine J. Leavitt of South Medford, has brought suit against George G. Glines to recover $10,000 for injuries received in an accident on May 9, 1910, when she claims one of Glines' express teams ran over her and caused her to sustain a broken right thigh and a crushed foot.

In her writ of action Mrs. Leavitt says that one of Glines' teams came around a corner, driven at a speed not in keeping with public safety.

Book Thief Pleads Guilty

Boston, July 29.—Declaring that some mysterious spell must have come over him when he stole the curios belonging to Professor Percival Lowell, Hugo Hillner pleaded guilty to larceny in the police court.

Continued Hot Weather In Paris

Paris, July 29.—Another heat wave has arrived and this, complicated with the extreme humidity, is parboiling Paris. The temperature ranges as high as 90 degrees.

SPORTING NOTES.

Game At Old Colony Grounds.

The second game in the series between the Quincy Independents and the West Quincys will be played this afternoon at the Old Colony grounds. McKenna and Falvey will be the battery for the Independents and Canavan and Duggan for the West Quincys. The makeup of the rest of the teams will be the same as last week. The Independents are going to make a mighty effort to win this second game so that they may have a look in for championship later in the season.

Tennis This Afternoon.

The challenge match between Rockwell and Carleton of Vesper Country club, Lowell and Barker and Hillman of Wollaston, will take place this afternoon at 3 on the courts of the Quincy Tennis club. The Wollaston team holds the challenge cups at present.

Mrs. Harold Davenport and Miss Maude Perkins will be the hostesses of the afternoon. Everyone interested in tennis is invited to witness the match.

A team from the Wollaston Tennis club goes to North Abington this afternoon to play a five point match with the North Abington Y. M. C. A. The men who will represent the Wollaston club are Charles Bates, Herbert H. Albee, Clifton H. Baker, William Northrop, Verne S. Brokaw, Jesse I. Litchfield.

There will be an interclub race between the Squantum and Quincy Yacht clubs this afternoon. The boats will sail over the Squantum club courses.

A number of the Wollaston golf club members will participate in the State open handicap tournament to be run under the auspices of the Crow Point Golf club, Hingham this afternoon.

The Fore River Apprentices play the Dorchester A. A. at South Weymouth this afternoon at the Field Day of Sacred Heart church.

South Quincy A. A. will not play today since a number of the team are away on vacations. Next Saturday the Malden Athletics will be met at Malden.

Makaria goes to Middleboro today to play the strong Middleboro A. A. team. Next Saturday the team will go to New London for a game arranged by Eggleton, the former captain.

The game between St. Mary's Holy Name society and the team from Dorchester which was scheduled for today was cancelled last night by the Dorchester team.

FINANCIAL NEWS.

Special.

Any comprehensive view of the outlook for the financial market this week merits careful consideration of foreign affairs, even more than of developments at home. Growing out of the Moroccan rivalries of France and Germany, international relations of the great powers of Europe have reached a state of such keen delicacy as to require most skillful touches of diplomacy, of good and calm judgment and honest endeavor to prevent what promises to reach very close to a serious culmination of what at first appeared a petty affair.

I do not suggest that actual warfare will be the result. Present day civilization would not permit such an unnecessary waste of human life and destruction of property. Nevertheless, those of us who have closely followed European history for a half century or more cannot fail to recognize in the Franco-German controversy the spark of a fire that has long been smouldering, ready on the slightest encouragement to break out into a conflagration that might readily become uncontrollable.

Under such circumstances European financial centers have before them a period of nervous tension. Today there is but one money market—a world-wide market—of which London, New York, Paris, Berlin and other centers are mere branches, and rise or fall in sympathy. Until the European political outlook clears, therefore, it is not unlikely to exercise a retarding influence on our own stock market's price level.

On our own side of the water there now remain but two definite features that are calculated to restrain business in the financial, mercantile and industrial activities of the country. These influences are the waning session of Congress and the possibilities of tariff revision that still remain. Congress has already enacted the specific legislation for which it was called in extraordinary session, namely, the reciprocal trade agreement with Canada, and has now before it for probable action the Farmers' Free List, the Wood Schedule and possibly also the Cotton and Iron and Steel schedules. Of the last two named, however, there is considerable doubt whether any radical action will be taken, and best Washington advices give no reason to change the statements recently made in these advices that Congress will adjourn very close to August 10.

When this adjournment has taken place the general financial situation will be in a position in which it will be influenced by the day-to-day news developments. All the old restraints will have passed into history, including the celebrated trust cases, the Union Pacific merger, the Spokane and Reno cases, the uncertainty regarding the holdings of securities by insurance companies and a number of other influences that have been talked of so frequently during the last year that they have almost become tiresome.

Our banks are beginning to experience their usual annual demands for funds to move the crops, but there is no practical hardening of interest charges and prospects certainly continue to favor the position that the harvests will be financed this year without any serious strain on money rates and without the important liquidation of securities that such a strain would entail. Crop money will undoubtedly be very extensively released before the demands of trade and industry become insistent and our ability to promptly call in balances from abroad is a constant guarantee that the money situation for a considerable period ahead need not be considered an adverse factor in the general stock market.—Henry Clews, Banker, New York.

—When the direct primaries come into practice this fall, we wonder how many citizens who have been grunting dissatisfaction at the "rings" and "cliques" these many years, will have interest enough to go to the caucus and vote? Machine politics are made possible, largely, through the indifference of the mass of voters. If we let the machine and the corrupt rings select the candidates we must not find fault with the names on the ballot election day.—Spencer Leader.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents. Three consecutive insertions 50 cents, 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.

No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

LOST

LOST or STOLEN—A tan and white fox hound bitch. $5. reward for information leading to recovery of same. Address Ed. Bishop, Quincy, Mass. July 29-1t

LOST

SAVINGS BANK BOOKS

Savings Bank Books as listed below have been lost and application has been made for payment of the accounts in accordance with Section 40 Chapter 590 of the Acts of 1908. Payment has been stopped.

Book No. 8,658	Book No. 31,737
Book No. 15,170	Book No. 31,975
Book No. 18,200	Book No. 32,578
Book No. 20,644	Book No. 33,021
Book No. 23,978	Book No. 34,612
Book No. 25,089	Book No. 36,334
Book No. 28,806	Book No. 37,199

QUINCY SAVINGS BANK
CLARENCE BURGIN, Treasurer.
July 22-3t--22-29-5

LOST—A sum of money at the Quincy depot, Wednesday, P. M. Reward of $10 if returned to S. S., Ledger office. July 27-3t

FOR SALE

FOR SALE or TO LET—Before you buy or rent, consult me. Houses for sale or to rent in the finest residential section in Quincy. All improvements. Close to school, churches, stores and depot. C. A. ERICSON, Builder 117 Glendale Road. Tel. Quincy 586 M. W and Sat May 22-tf

FOR SALE—Safe, light express, small pung, platform pung, Fairbank's platform scales, truck. J. H. Litchfield, 7 Brook street, Wollaston, near station. Tel. Quincy 42. July 28-3t

FOR SALE—Two horses, stone wagon, harness, and sleigh in good condition. Inquire at 34 Clark avenue, Quincy. July 26-3t

FOR SALE—A Steck grand square piano, New York make, in first-class condition. For information inquire at 49 Upland road. Terms low. Tel. 507-1, Quincy. July 26-6t

FOR SALE

The cozy home, situated No. 24 Marsh Street, consisting of a six room house, city water, 4400 square feet of land, fruit trees. Price reasonable.

Call and see,

JAMES F. BURKE,
REAL ESTATE AGENT,
Room 4, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, Mass.
July 15-tf

WANTED

WANTED—Few middle-aged men with good references to cover Quincy, East Milton, Weymouth, Fairmont Station, East Braintree, East Weymouth, Braintree, Milton Hingham and W. Hingham. All summer's job. $2.75 per day. Commence now. Glen Brothers, Rochester, N. Y. July 29-1t

MEN and WOMEN, sell guaranteed hose. 70 per cent profit. Make $10 daily. Full or part time. Beginners investigate. Wear Proof, 3038 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, Pa. July 8-9w W. and S.

TO LET

TO LET—Apartment 9 rooms, modern improvements, Cleverly Court, Quincy Point. Rental $25 per month. E. M. Freeman, 653 Washington street, Quincy Point. July 29-6t

TO LET—Desirable Single House in Quincy Centre to private family only. Has 8 rooms, bath and laundry, range, shades, screens, open fireplaces, large porch and yard. For further particulars and keys apply at No. 41 Spear street, Quincy. July 28-tf L. P. O.

TO LET—Half house 7 rooms all improvements. $25 per month. Apply at 41 Spear street, Quincy. July 28-tf

TO LET—A flat of five rooms with all the latest improvements on Berkley street, Bigelow park. Apply to 47 Main street, Quincy. July 27-3t

TO LET—A tenement, range and bath. Moderate rent. Inquire 70 Glencoe place, Quincy. July 27-tf

TO LET—In Wollaston Park, small suite, modern improvements, nice locality, near beach and cars. Apply 132 Marlboro street, Wollaston. July 26-6t

BOARD AND ROOM—Two young men can be accommodated with room and board in strictly private family near centre. Everything first-class. Home privileges to right party. References exchanged. Address "R. F. E." care Ledger office. July 25-6t

TO LET—New house, 6 rooms and bath, modern conveniences, 10 minutes walk from shipyard. Can be bought on easy terms. Apply to Frank Leben, 76 Howard street, East Braintree. July 25-6t

TO LET—A flat of five rooms with all the latest improvements. Inquire 58 Federal avenue. July 24-6t

TO LET—On Spear street, tenement of 4 rooms and bath. All modern improvements. Apply to C. A. Ericson, 117 Glendale road. Tel 586 M. June 27-tf

FOR RENT—Quincy, Centre, apposite Adams Academy, house of 8 rooms and bath, also garage, 3 minutes to R. R. Station. Dr. E. S. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263L, Weymouth. May 10-tf

TO LET

Tenement—22 B Granite Street. $16.00 per month.

Greenleaf Hall—Greenleaf Block Large Furnished Hall with various anterooms—to let by the evening or permanently.

City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 26 feet high. Splendid light, low rent

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)
Music Hall Block, Quincy.

Cremo 5¢ CIGAR
You try one!

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 26 No. 174 QUINCY, MASS. MONDAY EVENING JULY 31, 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

ENJOYABLE LAWN PARTY

Large Attendance At Parish Reunion Sacred Heart Church

WINNERS OF SPORTS

There was a very large attendance, Saturday, at the annual parish reunion of the Sacred Heart church at Atlantic. The reunion was held on the parish grounds, about which were arranged many booths for the sale of useful and fancy articles and in the evening the grounds were brilliantly illuminated with electric lights and colored lanterns.

Rev. John P. Cuffe, the pastor of the church and Rev. James F. McNiff the curate, were about the grounds during the entire afternoon and evening and saw to it that everybody had a good time. In the evening Mayor Shea and other city officials were present. Souvenirs of the reunion were distributed. These souvenirs contained a history of the church and an original poem dedicated to the Sacred Heart church by Cornelius M. Duggan, High Chief Ranger of the M. C. O. F.

One of the articles that attracted much attention was a handsome pin cushion in the shape of a little golden basket. This was the gift of Miss Helen Taft, daughter o f President Taft. It bore one of Miss Taft's calling cards reading "Helen Taft." This was sold on chances but was not awarded Saturday.

In the evening there were band concerts and dancing under the direction of District Engineer Daniel J. Nyhan.

There was also a series of sports during the afternoon under the direction of Ted Keohane, a former Quincy High school athletic star and his brother James Keohane. These sports resulted as follows:

Half-mile run for boys—George Crowley won, Leon Raiche second, Paul Brown third.

100-yard dash for boys—Charles Lawler won, Henry Dolan second, Peter Creedon third.

Fifty-yard dash for boys—Henry Smith won, Vigidio Anderson second, Percy Spinney third.

Fifty-yard dash for girls—Helen McCormack won, Ethel Jameson second. ond.

Charles W. Sherburne and Charles Bailey of Quincy Point who are working in Dublin, N. H., spent Sunday at their homes.

DISASTROUS SUNDAY BLAZE IN BROCKTON

Public Market Largest Building In the City Destroyed---Loss $300,000

Quincy Fire Department Makes Record Run

Quincy sent its steamer, Combination No. 1 and the auto chemical to Brockton Sunday morning in response to a call for aid in extinguishing the $500,000 fire that was raging in the heart of the business district. It was 8.52 when the telephone call was received and 8.53 when three blows, the chief's call was sounded on the fire alarm circuit. Chief Williams immediately ordered the steamer, combination and auto chemical to the scene and one round of Box 132 was sounded.

The auto was the first to get away and they made a remarkably quick run to Brockton with Chief Williams and a crew of twenty men, the twelve miles being covered in 18 minutes. Combination 1 made the run with a three horse hitch in one hour and eleven minutes and the steamer drawn by four horses in one and a half hours.

Immediately on its arrival, the Quincy apparatus was put to work, relieving the Brockton men who were thoroughly exhausted by their long fight, the fire having started at 4 A. M. The steamer was in action for an hour and a half.

The Quincy apparatus remained as long as they were needed. The auto chemical got back to quarters at 2.30 the Combination at 4.15 and the steamer at 5 o'clock.

The run of the auto chemical was a record, for not only is the apparatus heavy but it carried a large crew of men and they were given the ride of their life. The streets between Quincy and Brockton were in excellent condition and they were given the right of way.

Brockton, Mass., July 31.—The Brockton public market, the largest building in this city, was destroyed by fire Sunday and two tenement houses were burned to the ground. More than thirty firemen were overcome by smoke while fighting the blaze, and several of them had narrow escapes with their lives by being crushed by falling walls. The damage caused by the fire is estimated at more than $500,000.

The public market building was located at the corner of Maine and West Jone streets, in the heart of Brockton. For a time the flames were so great that the entire centre of the city was threatened. The fire raged for more than six hours before it was gotten under control, and then only after aid had been given by the fire departments from adjoining cities, some apparatus coming from Boston.

There was a bakery in the cellar of the market building, and it was there that the fire started, but from just what cause could not be learned. An alarm was sent in and engines arrived on the scene quickly, but the fire spread with such rapidity that other alarms were sent out.

The flames completely enveloped the market building and then set fire to two frame tenement houses located on West Elm street, directly in the rear of the market. The occupants of these houses were hurried out to the street by the police before the buildings caught fire.

Despite the efforts of the Brockton fire department, the fire continued to spread, and finally calls were sent for aid from the adjoining cities and towns. A call was sent to Boston, and this brought apparatus from that city.

The smoke from the fire was so dense that the firemen were handicapped, and more than thirty of them were rendered unconscious. Ambulances from the Brockton hospitals were hurried to the scene, and the surgeons who went with them were kept busy reviving the fire fighters.

Chief Mullin of Boston assumed control of the fire fighting forces, and seeing that there was no chance to save either the market building or the two tenements, he devoted his efforts to preventing the fire from spreading to nearby property.

GOES TO CONVENTION.

Charles M. Bryant, President of the City Council, left Boston this noon in a special car attached to the 1 o'clock train for Chicago. President Bryant goes to Denver, Col., to attend the annual convention of the American Poultry association, of which he is president. He will be absent about three weeks.

WALDO HOLBROOK.

Waldo Holbrook of Liberty street, Braintree, a prominent Grand Army man, died Sunday at his home, aged 65 years. He was a member of Gen. Slyvanus Thayer post 87, G. A. R.

LATEST

MAN KILLED AT FORE RIVER YARD

STAGING GIVES WAY AND WORKMEN DROP SEVENTY FEET--ONE MAN SUFFERS WITH A FRACTURED HIP

Charles Chipachis aged 18 years of South street, was killed and M. Copapich seriously injured at the Fore River shipyard shortly before noon today, when a staging upon which they were at work gave way causing them to fall a distance of seventy feet to the ground.

The two men were at work on a staging near the stern of the Argentine battleship Rividavia, operating a reaming machine. In some unaccountable manner the staging gave way. Apparently it was one end of the planking that gave way, for the plank fell with the two men to the ground. The reaming machine also fell but its fall was checked by the hose and it remained suspended in the air.

The cries of the workmen, as they fell, brought other workmen to the scene and the two injured men were quickly taken to the Red Cross hospital on the grounds where Dr. Blanchard pronounced Chipachis as being dead, having suffered a fracture of the skull. Medical Examiner Jones was notified and the man removed to the Hall morgue.

The second man suffered a fracture of the hip and was also injured about the head. He was removed to the City hospital in the police ambulance. He was unconscious when taken to the hospital, but regained consciousness soon after his arrival.

No one seems to know just how the accident happened as there was no one who saw it. It was also sometime before the names of the two injured men could be learned. Both are Finns and are believed to have boarded in one of the numerous boarding houses on South street. The injured man at the hospital has not been able to throw any light on the accident up to the present time. Although severely injured he will probably recover.

CLUB FINED

The cases against the Brookline Country club were disposed of Saturday before Judge Perkins. In the case for illegal selling and keeping a plea of nolo contendre was accepted and the case was placed on file. In the case for illegally displaying and distributing liquor a plea of nolo contendre was accepted and a fine of $100 imposed.

The club will not lose its charter but the court required a written agreement that the officers of this club shall see to it that this law is strictly observed.

Wesley McLean of Quincy Adams sailed for Belfast, Ireland, Saturday afternoon.

GRANITE MANUFACTURER'S MIDSUMMER OUTING

Held Saturday Afternoon At Nahant---Mayor Shea Umpired Baseball Game

Races And Sports Were Enjoyed By All

The annual midsummer outing of the Quincy Granite Manufacturers association was held Saturday at Bass Point, Nahant.The day was an ideal one for an outing and an unusual large number participated. The larger part of the excursionists left Quincy at 8.30 taking the 9.30 boat from Otis wharf. Others took the 11 o'clock boat arriving in time to see the finish of an exciting five inning game of ball. The game was between West Quincy and South Quincy.

Soon after the party arrived they adjourned to the rear of the Bass Point house and the two nines were soon hard at it. Mayor Shea was selected as umpire, mainly for the reason that he knew little about the fine points of the game. He carried out the prediction for fouls were called fair balls and fair balls fouls. There was of course some protesting on the part of the players, but it was useless to kick against the umpire.

Many plays that were brilliant and some that were not brilliant were made Councilman Craig distinguiching himself as catcher for the South Quincys. Harold Richards also made several two base hits for the South Quincy team. At the end of the five innings the umpire said that West Quincy had won by a score of 10 to 8. There was a little howl but the Mayor said that while naturally his sympathy would be with West Quincy he was fair so his word was taken and the nines dispersed to visit some of the many places of amusement. The line up of the two nines was as follows.

South Quincy, Craig, c, Spargo, p, Marnock 1b, Diack 2b, Richards 3b, Barnicoat ss, Farquharson lf, Mavers cf, Murray rf.

West Quincy, Ballou c, Elcock p, Badger 1b, Jackson 2b, Malnati 3b, Grossman ss, Marshall lf, Cross cf, Bizzozero rf.

Runs were made as follows:—For West Quincy, Ballou, Elcock 2, Badger, Jackson, Malnati, Grossman, Cross, Bizzozero 2;—10.

For South Quincy, Craig, Spargo, Marnock, Diak, Richards, Barnicoat, Mavers, Murray;—8.

While the ball game was in progress a photographer had got his camera in position to take the time honored picture of the party but just as they were taking their positions someone said dinner was ready and there was a grand rush for the dinning room and the photographer like the Arabs of old folded his tent and silently stole away.

It was some minutes before the party were comfortably seated in the dining room and the first course of what proved to be a fine shore dinner came on. This was quickly followed by other courses and there was a constant streak of heavily laden plates going in one direction and trays of empty plates going in the opposite direction.

There was no speach making at the outing. President Murray said we come for a good time and not to talk shop. Everybody get busy. That was all there was to it. It is said that several had speeches bottled up to spring on the unsuspecting party but they were not allowed to pull the cork.

All good things come to an end and so did the dinner and with cigars lighted the party strolled to the lawn in front of the hotel. Some busied themselves watching the race of the Nahant dory class while others took part in the field sports. There were several of these sports the result being as follows:

Obstacle or barefoot race was won by J. W. Murray, Constant Tikkanen, second, Joseph B. Grossman, third:

Peanut roll, J. B. Grossman, first, Robert B. Craig, second, John W. Murray, third.

100 yards dash won by Robert B. Craig, John W. Murray, second A.Bizzozero, third.

Members race, won by Robert B. Craig, J. E. Reinhalter second, J. W. Murray, third.

Three-legged race. Owing to a foul being claimed this race hed to be run twice. The winner was declared to be Murray and Richards. Craig and Marshall second and Grossman and Reinhalter third.

There was to have been a fat mans race but there were nonein the party who could qualify and this race was declared off. Useful prizes were given in each event.

Outing 2

The sports over the party separated to go where they liked and to do what they liked. Some went to see the diving girls, others the roller coaster. Still others visited the dance halls and a few tried their hands at Bowling until 5 o'clock when the boat was taken for Boston and home.

While the party were seated at the tables an attempt was made to get the names. This was in part successful. Those at the head table were, John C. Murray, Mayor Shea, R. F. Claflin, W. E. Mitchell, Alfred O. Diack, Seward W. Jones, president of the New England association, A. M.Hunt, W. T. Spargo, T. J. Dunphy, John L. Miller, George T. Magee, William J. Parker, Joseph B. Grossman, E. M. Taynton, Ormanto Vendret, W. LeClair, Thomas D. Milne, G. S. Murray, P. E. Vendret, W. L. Jackson, Harry S. Nichol, James Joss.

At the other individual tables were Forbes Craig, Walter Deacon, Joseph H. Vogel, Peter T. Fallon, P. H. Cormack, John Garmory, J. Durhern, O. Forsatti, L. H. Gillopi, J. Shutshint, A. R. Elcock, M. Cohen, J. H. Reynolds, F. W. White, John Casey, P. Zair, F. Nicholas, J.F. Desmond, P. Fanning, A. McIntosh, A.McIntosh, Jr. Richard Gordon, Richard Bishop, John Mavers, Charles Barnicoat, Edward Marnock, George Prout, Richard Prout, George B. Hawins, John Nasson, Robert B. Craig, J. F. Fennessey, P. W. Driscoll, Alexander Falconer, James Kelly, James J. Kelley, James R. Qualey, John Roberts, J. S. Swingle, E. H. Kavanagh, Alex Mundy, Alex Kemp, H. C. Smalley, James Hector, John Goldbranson, Alfred Watters, Louis Malnati, George Howie, George Garmory, Herbert Collins, James H. Jenkins, Stephen Williams, Charles Hutt, George Murray. Harold Richards, Constant Tikkanen, William L. Saunders, W. G. Spargo.

CAPTAIN FROST COMMENDED

Rescued Four Men In Dory In Tempestuous Sea

SAILORS HOPELESS

Boston, July 31.—Across a terrific sea, when the parting of a single sheet or halyard would have thrown the Esther Gray into the trough of a sea that would have dismasted her in a second, Captain Thomas Frost jockeyed his craft, ran alongside a dory with four shipwrecked fishermen and picked them up.

The four men, Joseph Gray and Christopher Higgins of Gloucester, and William Smith and Watson Conrad of Nova Scotia, had seen their own schooner wrecked by being thrown into the trough of the sea by the parting of a bobtrope on the foresail.

The Nobomis, a 32-ton swordfishing schooner, hailing from Boston, had been laying off the Nantucket south shoals.

While the schooner was wallowing in the trough of the sea one of the seas broke aboard, carrying a pile of dories with it. Then another sea broke astern. The rudder was carried away. To bring the schooner into the wind was now impossible. But even before an attempt could be made the masts went by the board.

Two dories were brought alongside to leeward. Into one jumped Gray, Conrad, Smith and Higgins. When it was clear of the schooner the four men pulled away from the danger of being crushed into pieces against the side of the vessel.

Into the other boat jumped Captain Pettipaw, Louis Turner, Thomas Smith and Frank Dewey. This dory was unable to pull clear of the schooner.

In the crest of a succeeding wave they saw the four men struggling. Then one by one the four struggling fishermen, weighted down by sea boots and oilskins, disappeared.

The first dory was unable to pull back again in the teeth of the gale, and its occupants were obliged to watch their shipmates struggle and drown, helpless to save them.

The four survivors were again face to face with death in the seas that threatened every moment to swamp the dory. They held to their almost hopeless battle for nearly an hour before they sighted the Esther Gray nearly a mile away.

On the Gray, the whole crew marvelled at the skill of Captain Frost, who held the wheel himself. Yelling across the intervening seas, he warned the four men in the dory to jump when he came alongside. Then hands caught the four leaping men as they sprang at the gunwale of the schooner. Under them with a roar the dory was crumpled against the side of the schooner—but they had been safely hauled aboard. The Gray was then compelled to battle for her own safety.

BE A DETECTIVE

Earn $100 and over per month and not interfering with your present occupation at first. Modern Ass'n., 709 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo.

July 25-6t

FIRE INSURANCE

FIRE NEVER ANNOUNCES ITS COMING
IF IT DID YOU WOULD PREPARE FOR
IT. BETTER THINK IT OVER TODAY AND SEE IF YOU NEED ADDITIONAL INSURANCE

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.

INSURANCE

1495 Hancock Street - - - Quincy, Mass.

OPEN THIS EVENING

E. E. GRAY CO.

QUINCY and WOLLASTON

1525 Hancock Street, Music Hall Block — Corner Newport Avenue and Brook Street

Cuts for Week Beginning July 31

EGGS, Fancy Large and Brown	23c doz
CORN, Fancy Maine	10c can
ASPARAGUS TIPS	21c can
GINGER ALE, Cliquot Club	10c bot
SALMON, Columbia River Violet Brand	16c can
EVAPORATED MILK, Van Camp's	9c can
HYER'S HOUSEHOLD EXTRACT, For Making Root Beer	13c bot
TOASTED CORN FLAKES	6c pkg
SOAP, Lenox	3c bar
RICE, Carolina Head, Extra Fancy	7c lb
CAMPBELL'S SOUPS	3 cans 25c
GRAY'S EXTRACTS, 2 oz. Vanilla	17c bot
2 oz. Orange and Lemon	13c bot
POTATOES, Fancy Jersey	40c peck
CRACKERS, Sugar Crimp	8c lb

F M W

What Do You Expect Of Shoes?

"Comfort and long wear" certainly. "Good looks," yes, we all do. "And I always pay about the same price and expect to get the best shoes in town at that price." Isn't that about the way you would answer that question regarding footwear? And it's on those four basic points that we have built up our tremendous and ever-increasing Shoe business— style , fit, long-wear, value. They have all been embodied in every one of our regular lines

For Women — The American Lady Shoe — For Men — The Ralston Shoe

GEORGE W. JONES

1 Granite Street, "Just Around the Corner," Quincy

July 31-3t--31--Aug. 1-2--o-5-1w

R. E. FOY & CO.

Fresh Garden Products

ALL THE YEAR ROUND

When you can your own fruits and vegetables, you do not add preservatives—you simply sterilize them.

You take the fruits or vegetables fresh from garden and can them. You wouldn't think of using partly decayed, wormy or poor fruit, because of ptomaine poisoning. When you do your own preserving, you take no chances for they are pure, fresh and better in every way. Why not begin this year and "do up" your own garden products

Give us your order for jars, rings, cape, etc.

Economy Jars Mason Jars
Pure Cider Vinegar
Pure Spices

R. E. Foy & Co.

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
Established 1889
THE HOME NEWSPAPER
Published every evening (except Sunday) at 1424 Hancock Street, Quincy, Mass., by the . . . . .
GEORGE W. PRESCOTT PUBLISHING CO.
Incorporated.
BRANCH OFFICE
National Newspaper Bureau,
219 East 23d Street,
New York City
Entered at Post Office, Boston, Mass., as Second class Matter.
Subscription
By the year $6.00
By the month .50
Telephone, Quincy 425
Copy for changes of advertisements should be in the office on the afternoon previous to publication to guarantee insertion.

HONESTY IN EVERYTHING

NOTICE.

Again we wish to suggest to those sending news to the Quincy Daily Ledger that they address it to the paper instead of to individuals. Where a letter is sent in a person's name it is only opened by him and if he is away the news gets too stale to use when it finally reaches the editor. Also in telephoning give news or communication to clerk answering the call as it will be quicker and more satisfactory.

Many women who promised to cleave to their husbands until death did them part, evidently left reservations about the summer resort season.

If as is claimed, our corporations are all honest now, why do so many people like the government's promise to pay 2 or 3 per cent better than a railroad's promise to pay 5 per cent?

Mr. Rockefeller begs the reporters to treat him like an ordinary man. But having strained and striven for the assets of a plutocrat, he must take the liabilities too.

Gov. Hadley of Missouri wants to know intimately every plant on his farm. If he'd hoe the beans a half hour before breakfast, his ambition would perhaps be satisfied.

President Wheeler of California university complains of there being too many old maid teachers. But even if we had all men teachers, we would still have lots of old maids.

They are rushing work on the Panama canal forts, but no danger is in sight except that Cip Castro might come over and let off the balance of his July 4 fire crackers.

Several men have been found on the Senate payroll who never report for duty. This is fortunate for the tax payers, for if they did report, a new man would have to be hired to boss them.

There is a demand to have some of the navy yards abolished from misguided theorists who consider business more important than delegates.

President Fallieres of France is attacked for wearing nine cent neckties. Over here that would be almost as good a card for a candidate as callouses on his hands.

The Judge Erred.

"The exquisitely dressed Fluffy Ruffles type of woman," said Mrs. George F. Lowell, a leading woman suffrage worker of Massachusetts, "is one of the best aids to our cause, whereas the masculine attire of certain college girls and so called 'advanced' women is a great drawback. Women in men's clothes are misunderstood, and if, as is usually the case, they are suffragists they lead the public to believe we are all unwomanly.

"Then there is the confusion which masculine clothes on women cause," she said. "A judge in a suffrage state once asked:

"'Where is the lady who is the plaintiff in this case?'

"'I am the plaintiff, your honor,' a boyish looking person answered.

"'The dickens you are!' exclaimed the judge.

"'I trust,' said the plaintiff, 'your honor entertains no prejudice against the habiliments of the new woman?'

"The judge coughed. 'Not I,' he said. 'At the same time I feel it my duty to inform you that you don't stand the ghost of a show with this jury. They are all married men.'

"But a shrill voice from the box corrected him:

"'You're off, judge! Four of us are married women!'"

Beading and Embroidery.

Beading and embroidery are frequently combined in oriental patterns, worked in heavy mercerized cotton outlined with colored thread. The design is followed in the white "milk" beads.

MORE POWER IS LAURIER'S HOPE

Canadian Parliament Is Dissolved on His Recommendation

ELECTION SET FOR SEPT. 21.

Should Laurier Be Returned Parliament Will Reassemble and the Reciprocity Bill Will Be Passed—Positions of Both Sides Will Be Outlined Publicly—Relations Thought Unreasonable In Canada

Ottawa, July 31.—Obstruction by the opposition having made it clear that the government could not bring the reciprocity bill to a vote in the house of commons, Sir Wilfred Laurier recommended and Governor General Earl Grey dissolved parliament. Sir Wilfred Laurier announced that the election would be held on Thursday, Sept. 21. Both sides expressed satisfaction at this prospect of a final test of strength.

If Sir Wilfred Laurier is returned to power parliament will be reassembled, the reciprocity bill passed and at an agreed date both the United States and Canada will put the necessary tariff changes into effect.

The conservative party's headquarters will be situated in Ottawa. R. L. Borden, the opposition leader, will actively stump the eastern provinces. He will issue a statement outlining the conservative party's position. The government position will also be outlined publicly.

To keep faith with President Taft, the government is taking its life in its hand. Reciprocity has been placed ahead of everything else in the governmental program.

The conservatives are making a big point of the fact that Mr. Geoffrion, chairman of the committee appointed to investigate charges against Frank Oliver, minister of the interior, gave assurances that the committee would meet again on Tuesday. The Conservatives will charge that the government stifled the inquiry by dissolution.

If the opposition wins a majority, which appears next to impossible now, Mr. Borden will become premier, reciprocity will be dropped and Canada will remain a high tariff country desirous of continuing the present tariff relations with the United States.

These relations were criticised as unreasonable by nearly everybody in Canada until the question became a party issue. Her reciprocity overtures having been rejected continuously since the Elgin treaty was abrogated by the United States, in 1866, Canada had given up hope of closer trade relations.

President Taft, realizing the absurdity of such tariff barriers between two countries in which the conditions of life, industry and labor are so similar, held forth the olive branch. The Laurier government, being in power, "saw it first."

According to the set rule of Canadian politics, this made it necessary that the Conservative party should oppose it. The great financial and manufacturing interests, which have a stake in the continuance of a high protective tariff, rushed to the support of the Conservatives. This encouraged that party's leaders to believe they might turn the Laurier government out.

THE WOOL TARIFF

Democrats Said to Be In a Mixup on the Question

Washington, July 31.—Democratic leaders in the house adopted anything but a conciliatory tone on the wool tariff situation. Chairman Underwood and Representative Harrison of the ways and means committee and other prominent Democrats expressed themselves in unfriendly terms toward a wool tariff compromise with the senate that would mean raising the rates of the original Underwood bill.

Meantime President Taft is generally credited by those who talked with him as being fully determined to veto the bill when it reaches him.

AUTOMOBILE OVERTURNED

Four Men Are Injured In an Accident In Smith Ferry District

Holyoke, Mass., July 31.—Two men were seriously hurt, two others slightly hurt and another man has dropped out of sight as a result of the overturning of an automobile in the Smith Ferry district of this city.

The seriously injured are L. H. Hall, Springfield, and Thomas Woods, Chicopee Falls. The slightly injured are Alcede Malo and James F. Davis of Chicopee Falls.

Joseph Rivest, the fifth member of the party, disappeared after the accident and has not been seen since. The car was on its way from Chicopee to Northampton.

The Weather

Almanac, Tuesday, Aug. 1.
Sun rises—4:53; sets—7:11.
Moon sets—10:55 p. m.
High water—4:15 a. m.; 4:45 p. m.
Forecast for New England: Probably fair; moderate south and southwest winds.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

AQUATIC—"If nature had intended man to fly," said the positive person, "she would have given him wings."

"I suppose then," replied the aviator, "that if man were intended to travel by water he would be webfooted."—Washington Star.

AN ALIBI.—"She claims she has a perfect alibi."

"What is her alibi?"

"She says that she can prove that at the time the crime was committed her little girl was brushing her hair."

"That proves an alibi for her hair, but how about herself?"—Houston Post.

UP-TO-DATE.—Slim—"I have found the ideal restaurant."

Fat—"Why this effusiveness?"

Slim—"Well, the owner is so neat that all of the leftover crusts are labeled and kept separate, so each man gets his own bread back in the bread-pudding."—Toledo Blade.

HARD TO PLEASE.—New Nurse—"Please, mum, I can't do a thing with the baby. He cries all the time."

Mistress—"Well, I declare! How stupid of me. His other nurses were colored girls. You'll find some stove polish in the kitchen."—Philadelphia Times.

A GENEROUS MAN.—"Here's the electric fan for your private office, Mr. Stinjay. Where do you want it?"

"Place it so that some of the breeze will go through the keyhole into the next room. I like to make my clerks as comfortable as I can."—Washington Herald.

ANCIENT? WELL!—"But in this country," said the viscount, "you have no ancient institutions."

"O, haven't we?" the beautiful heiress replied. "You ought to see the bridge club to which mamma belongs."—Chicago Record-Herald.

THE COTTAGE.—"Pretty Daughter—"But I can't understand why you object to Clarence, father. Isn't it better to dwell in a cottage with the man I love than to dwell in a palace with one I hate?"

Wise Father—"Certainly, my dear; but Clarence hasn't the cottage."—Chicago News.

BETTER WAIT.—His Better Half—"I think it's time we got Lizzie married and settled down. Alfred. She will be 28 next week, you know."

Her lesser half—"Oh, don't hurry, my dear. Better wait till the right sort of man comes along."

His Better Half—"But why wait? I didn't!"—Throne and Country.

HOBBLE.—"Are those women moving across the field yonder in such a peculiar way, engaged in a sack race?"

"No, they are a Maying party in hobble skirts trying to get away from a tame cow."—Baltimore American.

EDUCATIONAL—'Varsity Man—"Fancy I was reading today that a Cambridge man was driving a tram in Manchester."

Miss Sharpe—"Really! Then there is some use in a college education, after all."—Illustrated Bits.

CUISINE—"I understood that you don't speak to your neighbors."

"Not any more than necessary," replied Mr. Groucher. "Of course, they are fine neighbors, but we also have a fine cook and we don't care to have them get acquainted with her."—Washington Star.

GERMAN.—"The young woman presented a check payable to Gretchen H. Schmidt and indorsed it without the middle initial."

"See," explained the teller, "you have forgotten the H."

"Ach, so I haf," she said blushingly, and added hurriedly, "Age 23."—Success.

LIGHTS ON ALL VEHICLES

New Law Says Every One On Public Way Must Carry Them

ON FRONT AND REAR

It is perhaps not generally understood that under a new law passed by the legislature this year, every vehicle on wheels on a public way must carry lights visible from the front and rear.

The full text of the new law is as follows:

(Chapter 587)

An Act to require certain vehicles to carry lights at night on public highways and bridges.

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:

Section 1. Every vehicle on wheels whether stationary or in motion, on any public highway or bridge, shall have attached to it a light or lights which shall be so displayed as to be visible from the front and the rear during the period from one hour after sunset to one hour before sunrise: provided, however, that this act shall not apply to any vehicle which is designed to be propelled by hand, or to any vehicle while upon any lighted street or highway where street lights are maintained at a distance of fivee hundred feet apart or less, or to any vehicle designed for the transportation, as its principal freight of hay or straw while loaded with such freight.

Section 2. Upon the written application and presentation of reasons therefore by the owner of a vehicle, the Massachusetts highway commission may in writing, in such form and subject to such requirements as it may elect, and without expense to the applicant, exempt said vehicle from the provisions of this act for such period of time as said commission may elect.

Section 3. Any person who, while driving or in charge of or occupying a vehicle during the period from one hour after sunset to one hour before sunrise, shall refuse, when requested by a police officer, to give correctly his name and address, shall be punished as provided in section six of this act.

Section 4. Nothing contained in this act shall be construed to affect the provisions of any existing statute, rule or regulation requiring lighted lamps on motor vehicles an dthe obligations of operators or occupants thereof.

Section 5. The driver or custodian of a vehicle shall be deemed to be the responsible party and liable to the penalty as provided in this act for a violation thereof.

Section 6. Any person violating the provisions of this act shall be subject to a fine not exceeding five dollars. (Approved June 22, 1911.

CATHOLIC SOCIETIES

At the midsummer convention of the Norfolk county branch of the Archdiocesan Federation of Catholic Societies yesterday afternoon at the Catholic delegates were elected to the national convention of the federation.

A feature of yesterday's convention was an address by the Rev. J. J. Chittick of the Church of the Most Precious Blood, Hyde Park, who spoke of the Camorra.

He dwelt upon the nature and doings of the society which people have come to know through the long trial in Italy, and he declared that the strength and influence of the organization has been made most manifest. That it works for evil he said was evident.

He urged the federation to work among the immigrants coming to the shores of America so that they might not be drawn into such societies, but might be enabled to learn the principles of proper citizenship.

The following delegates were elected: County Chaplain the Rev. J. J. Chittick, County President James F. Burke, Miss Katharine G. McGormley of Hyde Park. The alternatives are Francis W. Lyons of Dedham and Mrs. John W. Haley of East Weymouth.

END OF WAR MANEUVERS

Orders to Cease Fighting Followed Engagement South of Newburyport

Boston, July 31.—The week's war game of the Massachusetts militia came to an end late Saturday afternoon, following a general engagement to the south of Newburyport, lasting six hours.

Both armies claimed the victory, and, as there was n oocial decision just who won in the strife for the possession of Boston, is in doubt. Both General Pew of the Reds and General Clark of the Blues declared the victory was theirs.

The fighting was brought to a close at a time when General Clark was in possession of the Newburyport bridge. For thsi reason he claimed the laurels for the Blue army. General Pew's army lay just to the south of Newburyport.

HAD A LOAD OF GOLD

Keenan and His Precious Metal Is Dumped Into Basement

New York, July 31.—James Keenan, a shipping clerk at the American Exchange bank, was taking a load of gold to the vaults when the cable of the freight elevator on which he was riding parted. Keenan and his precious cargo were dumped into the basement.

Keenan felt himself over, failed to find any injuries worse than bruises and refused to be attended by a physician. He was pretty much shaken up, however, and went home.

Mortgagee's Sale of Real Estate.

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Alice M. Tucker to Mary G. Pierce dated June 28, 1905 and recorded with Norfolk Deeds, book 1003, page 224, which mortgage was transferred by mesne assignment to the undersigned, for breach of the condition of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction on the premises hereinafter described on the fifteenth day of August 1911 at nine o'clock in the forenoon, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage and therein described as follows, to wit: Two certain parcels of land with all the buildings thereon situated in said Quincy, and bounded and described as follows: The first parcel being the northeasterly portion of lot numbered 18 on "Plan showing lands owned by the Edison Park Land Associates, in the City of Quincy, Mass." made by H. T. Whitman, Surveyor, dated October 1895, and recorded with Norfolk Plans, book 20, plan 901, and is bounded: Southeasterly on River Street, so-called, sixty (60) feet; Northeasterly on lot No. 19 on said plan one hundred and three and sixty-two hundredths (103.62) feet; Northwesterly on lot No. 20 on said plan seventy-three and ninety-six hundredths (73.96) feet; and Southwesterly on the remaining portion of said lot No. 18 ninety-six and six tenths (96.6) feet; containing according to said plan 6676 square feet of land. Being the same premises conveyed to said Alice M. Tucker by Herbert T. Whitman, et al, trustees, by deed dated March 5, 1902 and recorded with Norfolk Deeds, book 916, page 42, and the premises are hereby conveyed subject to the restrictions recited in said deed so far as now in force and applicable. The second parcel is bounded: Commencing at a point one hundred (100) feet northeasterly from Bay View Street so-called, thence bounding Northwesterly on land belonging to the Edison Park Land Associates, seventy-seven (77) feet; thence running Southeasterly and bounding northeasterly on land now or formerly of Gavin and others about one hundred and four (104) feet; thence running Southwesterly and bounded southeasterly on land of the grantor (being the first parcel above described,) sixty (60) feet; thence running Northwesterly parallel with and one hundred (100) feet distant from Bay View Street, a distance of one hundred feet to point of beginning; containing 7460 square feet of land more or less, and being the same premises conveyed to said Alice M. Tucker by John W. Chisholm by deed dated June 7, 1905, duly recorded with Norfolk Deeds, and this conveyance is made subject to the easement recited in said deed.

Said premises will be sold subject to said easement and to any unpaid taxes, assessments and tax titles, if any.

Further terms at sale.

ELLEN F. GALLIVAN.
Assignee and present owner of said mortgage.
Boston, Mass., July 24, 1911.
July 24-3t 24, 31, 7

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
Norfolk,ss Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, creditors and all other persons interested in the estate of Albert L. Nason late of Quincy in said County, deceased, intestate:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, to John A. Nason of said Quincy without giving a surety on his bond. You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Dedham in said County of Norfolk, on the sixth day of September A. D. 1911, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And the petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in said Quincy the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-first day of July A. D. 1911.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.
July 24, 31, 7

MORTGAGEE'S SALE.

By virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed, given by Christina Campbell to Wilton A. Dunham, recorded with Norfolk Deeds, Book 1176, Page 337, for breach of the conditions of said mortgage deed, and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction, on the premises hereinafter described, on Thursday the seventeenth day of August 1911, at ten o'clock in the forenoon all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed, namely:

A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon situated in Quincy in that part called Adams Shore, comprising lots numbered 172-173 as shown on the plan of house lots at Adams Shore, Quincy Mass., dated December 19, 1908, owned by Wilton A. Dunham, Ernest W. Branch Surveyor recorded with Norfolk Registry Deeds Plan 2430 book 51 said lots contain 6000 square feet of land according to said plan.

The premises will be sold subject to any and all unpaid taxes and assessments thereon.

Two hundred ($200) dollars will be required to be paid in cash by the purchaser at the time and place of sale.

WILTON A. DUNHAM
Mortgagee and present holder of said mortgage.
Julian C. Woodman, Esq., Attorney,
911 Old South Building,
Boston, Mass.
3t July 24, 31,7

☞Going away for the summer? If so don't forget to have the Daily Ledger sent to your address and keep posted on home news. If you have forgotten to send in your order in the rush of getting away drop us a postal and we will do the rest. tf

STEEL vs. WOOD

Your old black-walnut desk may be a good looking piece of furniture but it isn't the modern place to keep your valuable papers, your jewelry, or money. It can burn readily, its lock is easy to pick or break, its concealment is insufficient. A steel box in our burglar-proof, fire-defying vault will cost you $5 a year—(only half the cost of a similar box in Boston). Use one and stop worrying.

NATIONAL GRANITE BANK

WHEELER'S
The Store for Ladies' Furnishings
We will continue our Sale of Shirt Waists and Long Gloves
See what we offer in Shirt Waists for 79c and 98c
and Long Gloves for 50c and 75c
We are also showing a new line of Children's Parasols, all colors, for 25c and 29c
WE GIVE CASH DISCOUNT SLIPS
City Square G. W. WHEELER Quincy

GET THE HELP QUINCY GROW HABIT

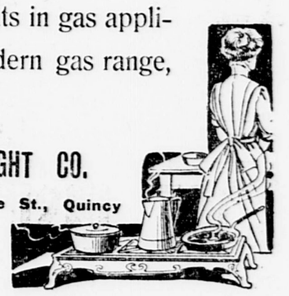
LISTEN! A WARNING!

Gas is a commodity that however good, may, by the use of poor appliance not do proper service.

It pays to get the best appliance possible and thereby reduce fuel consumption and secure best results.

The vast improvements in gas appliances has evolved the modern gas range, the best yet; sold by

CITIZENS' GAS LIGHT CO.
11 Granite St., Quincy



Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, creditors and all other persons interested in the estate of Frances S. Barry late of Quincy in said County, deceased, intestate:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, to Marie A. Hersey of Quincy without giving a surety on her bond. You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy in said County of Norfolk, on the thirteenth day of September A. D. 1911, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And the petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by pulishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in said Quincy the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-eighth day of July A. D. 1911.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.
July 31-3t 31, 7, 14

COLLAPSED ON STREEET.

Alexander White, aged about 60 years, said to be employed at the Fore River shipyard, collapsed on Main street late Sunday afternoon and died at 11 o'clock Monday. He was taken to the police station in the police ambulance where he was attended by City Physician who ordered his removal to the City Hospital. It was given out that his general weakened condition combined with heat were responsible for his condition. His only known relatives are at 40 Pine street, Baltimore.

The Sanitary Way

The so called cleansing process in use by most tailors is the pressing of dirt and stains into the garment leaving it in a very unhealthy condition. Our process is to thoroughly cleanse every fibre of your garment, removing all dust and stains, rendering them clean and sanitary.

Get the Sanitary Habit.
Work called for and delivered.

WARSHAW'S
DYE HOUSE
"Clean Cleansing"
1503 HANCOCK STREET
QUINCY
July 29-t

PATENTS
TRADE-MARKS and copyrights obtained or no fee. Send model, sketches or photos and brief description, for FREE SEARCH and report on patentability. 26 years experience.
Send 2-cent stamp for NEW BOOKLET, full of patent information. It will help you to fortune.
READ PAGES 11 and 12 before applying for a patent. Write to-day.
D. SWIFT & CO.
PATENT LAWYERS,
303 Seventh St., Washington, D. C.

SUNDAY IN OUR CHURCHES

Topics and Announcements For Coming Week

SWEDISH LUTHERAN.

At the Sunday morning service the pastor preached a sermon in keeping with Transfiguration Day. "The Transfiguration of Christ" was the subject.

In the evening he had for his theme "The Glory of Christ."

The Dorcas society will meet with Mrs. C. F. Carlson, 40 Saville avenue, on Tuesday evening.

The Ladies Aid society will entertain the 36 little inmates of the Swedish Lutheran Orphans Home at Merrymount park Thursday morning and afternoon. The children will come out from Boston on a special car with Miss Amelia Rabenius, the superintendent of the Home.

SWEDISH CONGREGATIONAL.

The pastor preached to a large congregation Sunday morning taking for his theme "The Bible, lost and found." Two selections were rendered by the male choir.

The Sunday school reopened after a three weeks vacation with a large attendance.

In the evening the pastor preached on the subject "Forgotten Blessings." There was another large attendance at this meeting.

The monthly meeting of the church will be held Tuesday evening.

The Thursday evening meeting will be omitted but in its place a special preaching service will be held Friday evening wth a sermon by Rev. E. A. Walden.

FINNISH CONGREGATIONAL.

The monthly meeting of the church was held Saturday evening and among other things plans were made for raising $200 to go toward cancelling the church debt of $400. Three new members were voted into church membership.

On Sunday the Sunday school service at 9.30 took a special form. Recitations and songs were given by the children and a six minute address was given by the pastor.

The regular morning service was conducted by the pastor. His subject was "An Ideal Christian Worship." Isaiah 6:1-7.

An outdoor meeting was held by the Y. P. S. C. E. at 5.30 on the lawn beside the church. "India" was the subject of the meeting and the pastor gave a very interesting address on the work in that country and other foreign countries.

In the evening a reception meeting was held in honor of six of the church members who have just returned from Finland. There were testimonies, greetings, songs and a twenty minute address by the pastor.

A meeting of church members will be held this evening in the church.

A special consecration meeting will be held on Tuesday evening.

An open-air meeting will take place Wednesday evening at 6.30 on Albertina street.

The regular prayer meeting will be held in the church on Thursday evening.

An open-air meeting will be held on Town Hill Friday evening at 6.30.

The quarterly business meeting of the Y. P. S. C. E. will be held on Saturday evening. Several new members will be voted in bringing the membership to over 100. Plans will be made for raising the money to buy a new upright piano for the church.

UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

The pastor took for his topic at the Sunday morning service, "The Social Problem and its Appeal to the Christian." He said in part: "There was a time when the pulpit felt the necessity of spending most of its time in announcing and defending its doctrines. Today it sees the necessity of applying these doctrines to the practical duties of life. Religion must be applied to the common duties of life. One of the greatest questions affecting life today is the Social Problem. The unrest and discontent in the Social Organism today is arousing serious concern. The church cannot afford to turn a deaf ear to its cry." He spoke of some of the inequalities of the Social Problem, of the grinding drudgery of certain classes of toilers, drawing a picture of the conditions under which the laboring man is placed in the steel mills of Pitsburg. "The man is a mere machine, the work is exhausting. In the summer it sends him home so exhausted that he is fit for nothing but sleep. He works 12 hours a day. One week he works at night and the next in the daytime. One man out of every five, works seven days in the week. What does all this drudgery mean to him?

It means this: Twelve hours for work, eight for sleep, two for meals, one to get to and from his work. How much time does this leave him out of the 24 hours for recreation, reading or thinking about life's deepest problems? One of these toilers said: "Home to me is only a place to eat and sleep in." The speaker defined the social problem from the laboring man's standpoint. It meant: "Equality of Human Rights."

The Y. P. S. C. E. meeting was fairly well attended and considerable interest was manifested in the topic which was of interest to many.

In the evenng the pastor continued with the subject of the morning. He spoke of the appeal of the social crisis to the Christian church. "It is a time of peril but it is also a time of great opportunity. Can she direct the prevailing thoughts and feelings of the social crisis? She can greatly assist in doing so. She can do much towards educating the public conscience in regard to the existence of wrongs in the social organism that ought to be removed and she can assist in removing them. She can show how to apply the principles of Christ's gospel to the social(domestic, moral and religious conditions of life. She can affim that she possesses and that it is her desire to dispense the only remedy that can reach and heal humanity's deepest plague-sore, human sin. She has that which will heal that sore. It is the gospel of Jesus Christ."

Thec hoir sang "I heard the voice of Jesus say."

The regular prayer meeting will be held next Thursday evening.

Beginning next Sunday and continuing through August the morning service will be omitted. Sunday school, the evening service and the mid-week meeting will be continued as usual.

BETHEL BEACH

Special services were held at Bethel Beach, the Swedish Baptist colony, on Sunday under the direction of the church officers. Sunday school was held at 10 o'clock followed by a preaching service at 10.45. Prof. O. Hedeen of Chicago University delivered the sermon. A song service was held at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and at 3.30 a Missionary address by Rev. N. C. Parsons of Cambridge.

A praise and preaching service was held at 7 o'clock in the evening with the sermon by Rev. J. O. Backlund of Boston.

QUINCY POINT CHURCH.

Rev. Charles P. Marshall, pastor of the church preached his last sermon of the season Sunday morning and gave a most interesting one on "The first thing mentioned in the four gospels about our Savior." The audience was large.

In the evening the usual praise service was held followed by a short address by the pastor.

The church will be closed until the first Sunday in September when the pastor will have returned from his vacation.

HALL PLACE M. E.

"The Method of Salvation" was the subject of an interesting and helpful sermon by the Rev. T. C. Martin of the Hall Place M. E. church Sunday morning. He took for his text Eph. 2, 8-9 "For by grace are ye saved through faith: and that not of yourselves; it is the gift of God: not of works, lest any man should boast."

Sunday school was held at the close of the morning service.

Prayer meeting Friday evening at 7.30.

BETHANY CHURCH.

Rev. Langley B. Sears preached at the Sunday morning service taking for his subject, "The glory of the Golden Years." This was the fourth and last of a very excellent series of sermons on "The Life of Man." Childhood, Youth, Middle Life and Old Age were all treated in a most interesting and practical manner.

The Sunday school services were attended by a good representation of the membership for the summer months.

In the evening Mr. Sears preached on the theme "The Mystery of the Night."

The Y. P. S. C. E. meeting was in charge of the Missionary committee and a very interesting program was provided.

The regular mid-week prayer meeting will be held Thursday evening at 7.45.

HOUGHS NECK

Clifford Watson of Dorchester is visiting Mrs. M. B. Macomber of Great hill.

John L. Blanchard of Great hill is spending a week with his grandmother Mrs. J. H. Blanchard of Everett.

Fred Scott of Great hill is spending a few days in North Situate.

Miss Harriet Baird is spending a few days with her aunt Mrs. Fowler of Maplewood.

Mrs. M. M. Scott of Great hill is entertaining Mrs. M. J. Scott of Mattapan, and Miss J. M. Scott of Mattapan.

THE PRESIDENT'S AUNT.

The First Old Lady In the Land Is Miss Delia Torrey.

Miss Delia Torrey, who is the favorite aunt of the president of the United States and in honor of whose apple pies this eminent gentleman has repeatedly sung paeans of praise, is pretty sure to have one of these toothsome pastries on her pantry shelves every day now. For Nephew "Will," otherwise known as the Hon. William H. Taft, president of the United States, is sojourning at Beverly, not a hundred miles from the Torrey homestead at Millbury, Mass., and is likely to drop in at any moment for a "taste of apple pie," or any of the other dainties for which Miss Torrey's pantry is famous.

The president and members of his family think nothing of a run over to

MISS DELIA TORREY.

Millbury in their automobile, for where a president is concerned the authorities are willing to wink at what for ordnary mortals might be construed "scorching."

Miss Torrey has spent about eighty years in this world, but she is one of those delightful persons whom one would describe as eighty years young. The fine old colonial mansion she occupies at Millbury is set in a sunny garden all aglow with flowers, and its hospitable verandas are overflowing with cosy rockers.

On questions of the day Miss Torrey is better posted than most men. Her sympathies with all humanity are large and liberal. She is just as bright and entertaining as a woman as she is capable as a culinary artist.

Window Flowers.

For a country where the love of flowers is almost universal a surprisingly small amount of attention is bestowed upon the possibilities of the window box. One may lack garden space, but nearly every one has window space, and nearly every one, too, has time to fill those spaces with fragrance and color.

For the town window box red geraniums, white stocks and large blue forgetmenots are well mated, and so are the new red French marigolds, white daisies and blue ageratum.

Petunias flourish like a charm even in a smoky atmosphere, and the pure white variety of the flower would go admirably with the rich red of the fuchsia and the dark blue of the lobelia.

The yellow daisy is another town loving flower and will last for weeks with very little care in boxes in combination with orange marigolds.

And what can compare with the nasturtiums for effect? A street in which every window had its box filled with nasturtiums would positively dazzle the sight.

Advice For Singers.

Mme. Jeanne Tomelli, the well known singer, gives the following suggestions for the girl who wishes to cultivate her voice:

"No method will give you a voice unless you have one. No method can tell you how to sing in tune. You will have to keep on trying for yourself until your teacher tells you that you are no longer out of tune. Likewise you will have to keep on trying to emit tones properly until your teacher informs you that the tone just emitted was satisfactory. In order to criticise you properly your teacher must be familiar with every opera and with the interpretation of the leading parts by operatic stars.

"Finally your teacher must be honest, must have the courage to criticise you, to make you work hard. A teacher is in last analysis a critical audience, a mere psychological fact, something that should spur one to do her best and warn her when she falls short of the mark."

Waist Cords.

Cotton girdles of cord, like those worn by many monastic orders, are a summer fad. These girdles may be bought in the shops in any color as well as in black and white or the two combined. They are not expensive, may be washed and are a pretty way of defining the waist line. They are usually drawn about the waist, tied in a dainty knot at the side and the ends left hanging. Finer girdles of tinsel cords in silver, gilt or gun metal may also be purchased, and these are delightful for more formal evening gowns.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor Quincy Daily Ledger:

For years past, so it is said, Houghs Neck has been the Mecca for Political Pilgrims Progress. The public streets at this Political golden gate are paved with dust (not gold dust) and inches deep, except when the blessed rains turn them into delightful mud! Even the main thoroughfare (Sea street) fronting one of our most beautiful public buildings, the Atherton Hough School has not the slightest consideration (when the politicians are not on a pilgrimage.) Even three strong healthy councilmen cannot influence the Commissioner of Public Works to use his miscellaneous appropriations in a few gallons of street oil to lay the dust instead of spending it in hacking up a fairly good portion of the causeway by Adams Shore where the result has made traffic so unbearable, for teaming, that Quincy merchants murmured loud protests in righteous anger without avail. It doesn't require Council action on miscellaneous appropriations for temporary improvements, but individual good judgment.

The writer was promised by the departmental head that if he cared to rake up the dust in front of his house as suggested, that the City Oil Wagon would be sent to the narrowest part of Sea street and sprinkle, which would mean oil from Winthrop street to the Quincy Yacht Club, or over Great Hill, "within ten days." That "promise" was made twenty days ago today. Perhaps it was caught up in the dust, or layed by the recent rains, for further consideration. Be that as it may, the writer procured a hoe and started street cleaning in front of his house, as suggested and twenty-five feet to the north and south of it. He reported to the commissioner and was told that he was a very good boy, and the good boy wondered whether he were a chump, a holiday worker, or a big joke at his earnest endeavors to help reduce the City Debt, and incidentally prevent in a measure germs of disease from flying in at his window. Then he wondered who would be the next commissioner and if "he" would make good his promises. Be that as it may, a new face in the council of 1912 might be a drop in the bucket who might be influential fighter enough to "cast oil on troubled dust."

Chas. E. Decker,
1058 Sea stret, Houghs Neck.
July 31- 1911.
yM o"-Aalt("t

HAS TRAVELED 21,000 MILES

Crippled Wheel Chair Traveler Tells Of Trip Around World

ON LAST LAP

In nearly the last lap of a journey that has covered more than 21,000 miles, most of which he has done in a wheel chair, William W. Graff of Toledo, Ohio, is in this city today selling post cards and other souvenirs for the purpose of earning money enough to take him to Baden, Germany, where he expects to be cured of rheumatic paralysis of which he has been a sufferer for 26 years.

Graff is a smiling, good-natured fellow, and as he sits back in his chair and tells of his many experiences in different parts of the world one almost forgets the great handicap under which he has labored, and envies him his good luck in having had an opportunity to visit these scenes and meet so many noted people.

Graff wheeled himself to the Ledger office. "I have done the most of my travelling by chair," he said, "but since the hot weather came on I have had to get about a great deal by train. I used to have an old Stanley automobile, with a box arrangement on the back in which I could sleep, but this was wrecked in the Alleghanies, and I had to lay in the road until morning, when a man came along and took me into the nearest town.

"I also bought a three-wheeled motorcycle a while ago, but that has been out of commission for some time. They are all right, but you can not depend on them and I think I can cover almost as much ground in a year in my chair as in a motor-driven vehicle, for I do not have to stop for repairs; and then it does not cost as much."

Graff claims that he has been in almost every country in the world. He expects to sail for Baden from Hoboken on Sept. 15. He says he has a twin brother who was afflicted with the same malady and that he was cured there. Noted physicians have told him that he has the same chance and he is going about the country in this way to earn money enough to pay the large fee demanded.

Despite the handicap of disease, which has deprived him of the use of both limbs and one arm, Graff is as dexterous as many men with all of nature's endowments at their disposal, and with it all he has a happy disposition which does not allow him to brood over his troubles. He goes through the world with a smile on his face and a cheery word for everyone, which he contends is the panacea for all ills.

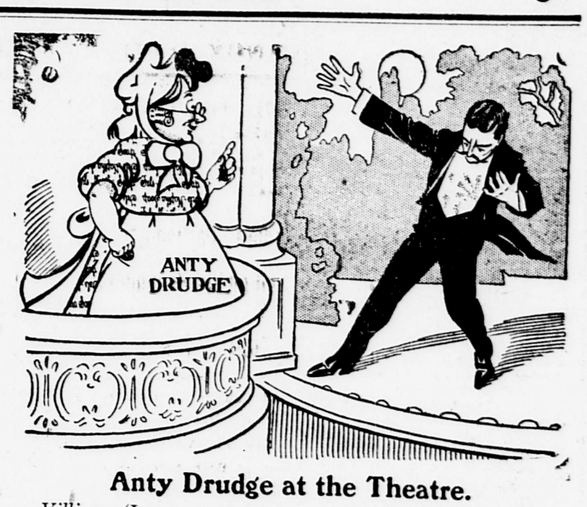
MAKE YOUR PURCHASES FROM LEDGER ADVERTISERS.

BE SURE TO READ THE ADVERTISEMENTS IN TODAY'S LEDGER

MUTUAL AID SOCIETY

Presentation to Mr. Ralph Thompson on Saturday night, the members of the "Old Timers Mutual Aid" held a Smoke talk in Johnson's Hall, with the president, Bro. Francis Hodge in the chair. A merry time was spent with song and story. There was a good supply of refreshments on hand. After recess when everyone was feeling good, the chairman said that he had a duty to perform on behalf of the members that gave him both pleasure and pain. He knew they all shared the sorrow at loosing so good a member of the club as Brother Ralph Thompson, and he knew from the large number of members who had gathered together to bid "good bye" to our late president, that they all shared his pleasure in knowing that the prospects were so much better where he was going, he hoped he would have good health and good luck and so on behalf of the members presented to Brother Thompson a "gold charm" with his initials and on the reverse side, presented by the O. T. M. A. to Ralph Thompson. The chairman said he hoped it would help to recall some of the happy times they had all spent together in Quincy. Mr. Thompson suitably responded and at the close of the evening the Old Timers send off was given to Bro. Thompson to the tune of "Auld Lang Syne."

During the evening songs were sung by Bros Hodge, Castle, McGuire, Greenbough, Inglis, Mr. C. Bert told his best stories in his best style.



Anty Drudge at the Theatre.

Villian—(In an amateur play) "Ah, the deed is done! Now I must get these blood stains out of my clothes. But how—how shall I do it?"

Anty Drudge—"Well, if you weren't such a bad, wicked man I would tell you that washing with Fels-Naptha soap in cool or lukewarm water will take out blood stains like magic. It's the only soap that will stand this test."

Nowadays, cleanliness stands for a great deal more than freeing things from dirt. It means PURITY, freedom from germ life.

Not many years ago, people purified clothes only after a "catching" illness, when they soaked them in some disinfectant.

But the careful housewife of today considers purity above all else.

She realizes that the air is alive with all kinds of germs of more or less harmful nature;

And she does her wash with the soap that not only cleans-dissolves the dirt, but that destroys harmful germ life:

FELS-NAPTHA purifies. Clothes washed the Fels-Naptha way are sweet, clean, pure and germless.

Do your wash with Fels-Naptha. No boiling water; no hard rubbing.

Fels-Naptha is just as good for household cleaning as it is for washing clothes.

Follow the directions on the red and green wrapper.

CONSTANT ADVERTISING PAYS
If YOU Want Business

PATCH'S
Special Range Coal
IGNITES QUICKLY

If it were stony or of bad quality it wouldn't.

It is the most reliable coal imaginable, helps the cook when she's in a hurry and shows up best when needed most.

Besides it burns up so thoroughly as to leave the smallest quantity of ash.

Buy it and try it and see why so many will burn no other.

One ton should prove it.

C. PATCH & SON, Inc.
Office, 1422 Hancock Street, Quincy

HERBERT A. HAYDEN
Piano Tuner
Office at C. F. Pettengill's, 1391 Hancock treet, Quincy.
Residence, 78 Cleverly Court, Quincy Point
Mass. Tel. Quincy. 1153 M Nov. 3-tf

M. T. SULLIVAN
Real Estate Insurance
Auctioneer Care of Property
Justice of the Peace
Corner School and Hancock Streets
QUINCY.

JAMES F. BURKE
Real Estate and Insurance
AUCTIONEER MORTGAGES
Justice of the Peace Notary Public
Room 4, Savings Bank Building
Tel. 385-3 Jan. 17-tf

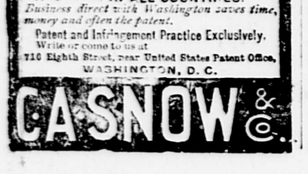
LEWIS N. CURTIS,
PAINTER and GLAZIER.
LEADED STAINED GLASS.
DECORATOR and PAPER HANGER
OLD FURNITURE REFINISHED.
Orchard Place, off Spear Street, Quincy.

H. L. KINCAIDE & CO,
FIRE INSURANCE.
The Best Insurance. The Lowest Rates
Insurance Department,
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy.
Telephone, Quincy 97-3.

UPHOLSTERING
My only ambition is to get the work and to show the people of Quincy Town that nobody can beat me with my good work. Low prices on all kinds of furniture, repairing, mattresses, and cushions. Can give references. M. Mirkin 67 Washington street, next to Y.M.C.A. Quincy. Tel. 1112W. April 10-4mo.

HOUSEKEEPERS
TELL YOUR TROUBLES
HOLMES & HALL
We make a business of repairing the things about the house that get out of order such as DOORS, LOCKS, SHADES, BELLS and FURNITURE.
96 Washington St., Quincy
TELEPHONE 974 L

STORAGE
—FOR—
Furniture and Pianos
Storage Warehouse with Separate Rooms
Furniture and Piano Movers
HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.
1495 Hancock Street, Quincy Tel. Con.



Quincy Savings Bank
BANK HOURS: Every Business Day except Saturday, 8.30 A. M. to 3 P. M.
SATURDAY—8.30 A. M. to 12 M.
CLARENCE BURGIN,
Treasurer.

PATTERSON, "The Florist"
92 South Central Ave.
WOLLASTON, MASS.
Telephone 392 Quincy

A. M. DEANE & CO.
MONUMENTS
MEMORIALS ERECTED
IN ANY
CEMETERY
IN THE
UNITED STATES
Aug. 1. 1y

PATENTS
PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES.
Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent.
Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively.
Write or come to us at
716 Eighth Street, near United States Patent Office,
WASHINGTON, D. C.
CASNOW & CO.

Quincy Daily Ledger

HIGH TIDE FOR WEEK.

Monday, July 31	3.30	3.45
Tuesday,	4.15	4.45
Wednesday,	5.15	5.30
Thursday,	6.15	6.30
Friday,	7.15	7.30
Saturday,	8.00	8.15
Sunday,	9.00	9.00

1911 JULY 1911

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
						1
2	3	4	5	6	7	8
9	10	11	12	13	14	15
16	17	18	19	20	21	22
23	24	25	26	27	28	29
30	31

BRIEFS

Nathan Ames was an interested spectator at Brockton fire yesterday.

Miss B. C. Ross clerk in the City Clerks office left Saturday for Maine on her vacation trip.

George McKay of the City Engineers office left this morning for Topsham, Vt. on his vacation trip.

H. B. Tourtellot of Glendale road returns today from a two weeks camping trip in New Hampshire.

Miss Signe Wilbus of Glendale road starts for Northfield next Monday to attend the summer conference.

Misses Olive and Gertrude Allen of Presidents Hill returned today from a week's camping trip in Auburn, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Bergfors of Pleasant street returned from Vermont on Saturday after a very pleasant vacation.

Miss Ruth Johnson of Whitwell street and Miss Esther Arveidson of Royal street, Norfolk Downs, returned Saturday from Auburn, N. H.

Mrs. Rutledge P. Pray of Elizabeth, N. J., formerly Miss Helen C. Barnes of Wollaston, is the guest of Miss Mildred Gray Huston of Revere Road.

Jerry Sullivan the popular manager of the fruit and vegetable department of Berry Bros. store has returned from a two weeks' vacation pleasantly spent in Maine.

H. W. Bosworth the advertising agent of this city had a contract to handle the advertising of the Brockton Public Market which was destroyed by fire yesterday. His first copy was to go to the Brockton papers this morning.

"AD MEN" IN BOSTON.

All signs point to a most joyous and instructive time when the "Ad Men" reach Boston in full force for their annual convention next week. The most alert and scintillating gray-matter in the country will be with us for a season, and if we do not get some new ideas as to the worth-whileness of living, the fault will probably be ours.

For our own part, we may say with all due modesty that Boston is just the place for these brilliant masters of the great art of advertising to come to. They will shine, not by comparison, but by co-operation. We believe we know what they are after and we are going to give it to them.

The finest, most intelligent and most interesting city on this continent is getting ready to give preferred positions to the members of the Associated Advertising Clubs with the serene confidence that they will all be satisfied.—Boston Post.

Evolution of the Nursing Bottle.

The original nursing bottle was a cow's horn, to the small end of which were sewed two pieces of leather, as a finger of a glove, and the infant drew its nourishment between the stitches. According to Dr. D. Forsyth, fifteenth century mothers used to nurse their babies for close upon three years, a duration still customary among the Japanese and Greenlanders. In the time of the Stuarts it had declined to between eighteen months and two years. In the time of the Georges it fell to one year, and now he reckoned the average as eight months. During the Hanoverian period the practice of feeding babies artificially became somewhat common. Cow's milk was not then considered just the food for a baby deprived of its mother's milk, and the substance called "pap" was introduced through the cow's horn. "Pap" was a mixture of crust soaked water and sugar. A baby that thrived on it was usually one of rare constitution. The nursing bottle with a long rubber stem succeeded the cow's horn, and by degrees the comparative sanitary feeding bottle of today was introduced.—New York World

CAPITULATION EXPECTED

Revolutionary Attack on Haytien Capital Looked For Immediately

Port au Prince, July 31.—An attack on the capital is momentarily expected. Word has been received from General Leconte that five divisions of the revolutionary army are ready to advance on the capital. The general expects the capitulation in a very short time.

Later advices are to the effect that General Leconte has left Cape Haytien for this place with a large escort, going by way of Limbe.

It is expected that with the arrival of the revolutionary leader a general attack will be made on the city from all sides.

It was rumored here that President Simon would resign if he was assured that the rival revolutionary factions would settle the matter of his successor peaceably.

RENOUNCES INHERITANCE

Young Woman In Cambridge Takes Husband Against Wishes of Father

Boston, July 31.—Ida S. Graustein, a daughter of W. A. Graustein of Cambridge, having married Kenneth P. Hill, 20 years of age, against her father's wishes, has renounced her inheritance. It is also claimed her husband is liable to arrest for perjury, W. A. Graustein having applied to the court for a warrant on the cahrge that Hill had stated that he had neither parents nor guardian living in Massachusetts.

Graustein declares that Hill has a mother living in Melrose and a father in Cambridge.

Graustein is one of the three largest milk contractors in the state. Hill had worked his way through three years at Harvard. He has a small printing office on Harvard square and has had the contract for Grausteins business and advertising printing.

MAY FORCE GOVERNOR TO PAY EXPERTS BILL

Interesting Developments Between Executive and Council

Boston, July 31.—An interesting situation has developed in connection with the bills of the state experts. Governor Foss signed all the contracts before the experts started to work and guaranteed them the amounts that they charged in each instance .

According to an opinion said to have been rendered to the council by the attorney general, the governor had no authority to make these contracts without the consent of the council.

If the council should refuse to settle the bills it is held that Governor Foss would himself be responsible for the charges, which amount to thousands of dollars.

MADE A MILLIONAIRE

Successful Investment of Former Hotel Clerk In Mexican Copper Mine

Paola, Kan., July 31.—From hotel clerk to millionaire is the experience of F. E. Hite and it is the result of a little investment in a Mexican copper mine twenty years ago.

At that time Mr. Hite was one of a company of promoters of Mexican copper mines near Ameca, Mex. Upon his return from St. Louis, where the sale of the copper mine was made last week, Mr. Hite announced that their holdings were sold for $20,000,000 to a Mexican syndicate. He figures that his share is $1,616,000. Mr. Hite is 71 years old.

PATIENT WAS HEAVY

Physician's Hold Could Not Restrain Man In Jump to Death

New York, July 31.—A dozen sufferers from nervous disorders, sunning themselves on the roof of an uptown hospital, were thrown into a panic when Gershon Kanstor climbed the guard rail on the six-story building roof, clambered down the cornice work when he saw the physician approaching, swung himself clear of the roof and into eternity.

The doctor grasped the patient's hand as his head disappeared at the edge of the roof, but Kanstor was heavy, and the grip did not hold.

THE WRATH OF A WOMAN

Thief Pummelled Unmercifully In Attempt to Burglarize Lynn Home

Lynn, Mass., July 31.—Mrs. James Hartley of this place was alone in the house when she heard a noise in the dining room. Without hesitation and unarmed she switched on the electric lights and found the burglar standing by the sideboard. Mrs. Hartley hurled herself at the astonished intruder with such vigor that he was borne to the floor.

She then pummelled him lustily and banged his head up and down against the hard floor. The man finally managed to wriggle loose from her clutches and sprang through a window.

Windswept In Storm

Belfast, Me., July 31.—In the terrific storm that raged in this section, John Wade of Northport, was blown from a wharf and drowned while trying to render assistance to a motor boat.

SEVENTEEN BODIES GUARDED IN CABANAS

Remains Taken From the Maine Properly Cared For

Havana, July 31.—With no ceremony seventeen bodies so far recovered from the wreck of the Maine were taken to Cabanas fortress and placed under military guard, to await the arrival of others. These bones, sealed in four metal coffins, were delivered into the custody of Captain Golderman, U. S. A., instructor coast artillery, and Colonel Pujol, the Cabanas commandante, detailed a guard of four men.

When all the bodies are recovered formal exercises will be held and their delivery on board the Leonidas will be marked by asalute from the Cabanas, Morro, La Punta and Santa Clara batteries. The bodies were taken on board a barge, and every attempt was made to keep the removal quiet.

POLICE ATTACK ROBBERS

Driven From Hiding Men Are Arrested and Stolen Articles Recovered

Gardiner, Me., July 31.—Dislodged from a thicket by several shots fired by policemen, three men giving their names as Daniel Smith of Boston, Lewis Bolton of West Roxbury and Frank Gray of Roxbury were arrested here charged with the robbery of several Water street stores.

The men took refuge in a willow thicket and the officers could not get at them until they had sent several revolver shots in that direction to drive the men out.

Six new suits of clothes, two suit cases, small sums of money, cigars and cigarets were recovered.

Girl of 13 Swims Five Miles

Boston, July 31.—Miss Nellie Hurley, 13 years old, who live in Dorchester, made her first long swim yesterday when she swam from Tenean beach to Savin Hill beach and return, a distance of over five miles.

Germans Watch Americans

Berlin, July 31.—The Employers' union in the steel manufacturing district of Solingen has sent a circular to the manufacturers warning them against American agents, whom they suspect of spying.

Togo to Visit Boston

Boston, July 31.—Admiral Togo of Japan, who is bound for this country to inspect the various navy yards and shipbuilding plants in the United States, is due at the Charlestown navy yard on Aug. 17.

PLEA OF NOLO ENTERED

Fine of $100 Imposed on Country Club For Illegal Sale of Liquor

Boston, July 31.—The cases against the Country club of Brookline were disposed of by Judge Perkins here, although the matter had been postponed to next Tuesday and the witnesses for the government each recognized in the sum of $50 to appear at that time.

On the charge of illegally dispensing and distributing liquor, counsel for the Countr club entered a plea of nolo and a fine of $100 was imposed and paid.

The officers signed an agreement that in the future they will personally seee to it that the law relative to the keeping and selling of intoxicating liquors shall be strictly enforced.

REVEALS STORY OF PAST

Pitiable Tale of Young Worcester Woman Held on Murder Charge

Worcester, Mass., July 31.—Estelle Hanson, 22 years old, charged with the murder of her 2 days old child in a Worcester hotel two years ago, made a complete confession in which she implicated a prominent Worcester man as an accessory.

The girl's story of her past also led to the arrest of a man who is to be tried on a statutory charge.

In the arrest of the Hanson woman one of the final links in a chain of circumstances that may send two persons to the electric chair has been forged, the police say, for the woman, in a pitiable tale to the authorities, has implicated a clerk of this city. He has not yet been arrested.

New Stowaway Record

Washington, July 31.—New stowaway records were set when the Royal Mail steamship Atrato recently arrived at Colon with sixty-five West Indian negroes, who had secreted themselves aboard to secure free passage to the isthmus.

INCREASING IN NUMBER

Dreadnought Type of Ship Practically In Use the World Over

Washington, July 31.—Exactly 100 ships of the dreadnought type are now built, building or ordered for the navies of the world. The number is spread over practically the whole of the world, thirteen nations contributing towards it.

The first dreadnought was begun in 1905. In the present year no fewer than thirty-three dreadnoughts will have been begun, although this includes three or four units whose keels may not be laid until early in 1912.

SUMMER SCHOOLS.

When one reads of the thongs of students flocking to the great summer schools, like Harvard, Chautauqua, and Knoxville, Tenn., more this year than ever, the dire predictions of disaster made but a few years ago by university gradgrinds seem laughable.

The old college spirit was much like the exclusive temper of the more extreme labor union. The old educational aristocrats with their ponderous literary degrees were mighty impatient of any short cuts to literary distinction.

The summer schools, they said, will encourage superficial work, will promote teh idea that this short course can be substituted for a full college education, will beget a certain arrogance among intellectual triflers, illustrating that a little knowledge is a dangerous thing, all tending to bring real culture into disrepute.

It was said that competent teachers could not be secured for these schools. The instructors, it was predicted, would be, "cheap and popular," "intellectual middlemen," mediating between the university and the vulgar herd, and the result would be intellectual sloppiness.

Thus did these exclusive magnates of culture strive to restrict education to those who had time and money to buy it wholesale, refusing to treat with those who could only negotiate for smaller purchases at retail.

Nearly every university now has more or less summer courses. There are plenty of able professors who under the strain of modern competition are glad enough to add to their income by working through the summer like other people.

One difficulty complained of is that a certain type of talky people buy what is called "auditors' tickets," by which they can come in and listen and question and take up the time of a class without further responsibility for study.

In the main these schools enable serious minded people to broaden their horizon. Teachers who graduated from the Little Red School House to the class room, by zeal and determination, at an age when others settle into mental ruts, have their chance to reap some share of the harvest of culture, belated, but none the less golden.

THE FARMER'S VACATION.

It is not so very long ago that the ordinary farmer never took any regular holiday. In the older part of the country you used to find a host of men in that business who had not slept outside their homes for untold years.

Some of our farmers have now acquired a familiarity with Pullman cars and automobiles. But even they rarely secure understudies that can fill their places for any given week or fortnight in the crisis days of summer.

It would be like Napoleon deserting his troops at the turning point of Waterloo. The fatal failure to cultivate or harvest a crop at a psychological moment may mean the throwing away of the whole season's work. Then comes the time when the cumulative results of a farmer's past experience count at their highest value. The cloud no bigger than a man's hand, meaningless to his assistants or his boys, to his eye trained to note the slightest gradations in atmospheric change, may be the sure herald of the long expected rain.

But that does not mean that the farmer gets no vacation. If he knows his business, he gets away during the winter for a sight of the big world in the cities. And he returns with the feeling that life under the sun and the stars is financially more profitable and spiritually more blessed than sky scrapers and soft coal.

—Fifteen pastors in hod carriers' garb and armed with saws and hammers raised and covered the rafters and boarded the front, rear and side walls of a building for the Minnehaha M. E. church in Spokane, Washington, working from 9 o'clock in the morning until 5 o'clock in the afternoon, with an intermission of one hour for lunch, which was served by the women of the congregation. John Ward, a journeyman carpenter directed operations and was assisted by Rev. H. E. Greening, pastor of the church. Rev. H. C. Kohr, pastor of Vincent church, flattened his forefinger in driving a nail, but continued work until the job was finished. Rev. Henry Brown, president of the Methodist Ministers' association, called to cheer the pastors, but did not assist them. The men of the cloth worked rapidly. Trained craftsmen will do the interior work and finishing and it is expected to have the building in readiness for dedication about the middle of August, when pastors from all over the Pacific Northwest will be in attendance.

LLOYD'S
EYEGLASSES AND SPECTACLES
KRYPTOK BIFOCAL GLASSES
Far and Near Glasses in a Single Pair.
These beautiful two vision Glasses are worth seeing and trying.
Any of our stores will be glad to show them.
315 Washington St.
310 Boylston St. } BOSTON
75 Summer St.
1252 Massachusetts Ave. CAMBRIDGE.
ANDREW J. LLOYD CO.

D. E. WADSWORTH & CO. Inc.
TUB DRESSES
Cinghams, Muslins, Chambrays and Cotton Foulards
12 DIFFERENT STYLES
--- FOR ---
$1.98
THE SHIRT WAIST STORE

DO YOU REALIZE THIS

Many People Are Silent Sufferers, constantly fighting pains in different parts of the body without a word. They will not admit even to themselves there is anything serious troubling them. But there comes a time when nature steps in and settles the question—for good.
Don't wait for that settling up time. If your arches are in bad condition, look into the matter at once.
We are offering an assortment of arch-supports varied enough to meet the troubles peculiar to different feet.
Don't suffer any longer, take the matter in hand now while there is time.
HEFFERNAN'S SHOE STORE

YOUR VACATION
WON'T BE COMPLETE
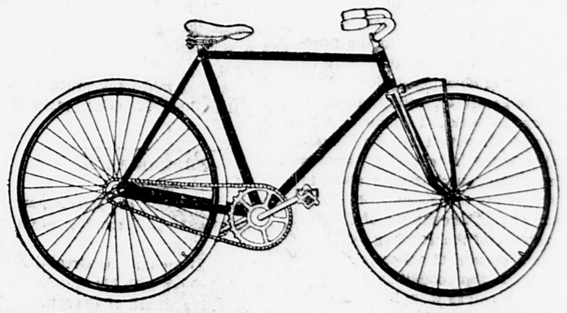
UNLESS YOU LEAVE
AN ORDER FOR THE
QUINCY DAILY LEDGER
TO BE FORWARDED TO YOU
NEWS FROM HOME EVERY DAY
FOR ONLY TWO CENTS



New and Second Hand Bicycles. Sundries and Repairing
Agency for Columbia and Hartford Bicycles
HUB CYCLE CO.
Thomas Nelson, 20 Granite Street, QUINCY
May 15-3m

Commonwealth of Massachusetts

Norfolk, ss. Superior Court.

To the Honorable the Justices of the Superior Court next to be holden at Dedham within and for the County of Norfolk:

Respectfully libels and represents Alina Matilda Rinne of Quincy in said County that she was lawfully married to August Rinne now at Iron River, Michigan at Iisalmi, Finland on the twenty-fourth day of March A. D. 1902, and thereafterwards your libellant and the said August Rinne lived together as husband and wife in this Commonwealth to wit, at said City of Quincy since January 1904, that your libellant has always been faithful to her marriage vows and obligations but the said August Rinne being wholly regardless of the same at said Quincy in the County of Norfolk. That the libellee is guilty of gross and confirmed habits of intoxication caused by the voluntary and excessive use of intoxicating liquors; that on divers occasions he has cruelly and abusively treated her, and that being of sufficient ability he grossly and wantonly and cruelly refuses and neglects to provide a suitable maintenance for her; that the libellee is guilty of adultery with persons unknown to your libellant.

Wherefore your libellant prays that a divorce from the bonds of matrimony may be decreed between your libellant and the said August Rinne, and that she may have the custody of their child Armas Einari.

Dated the third day of June A. D. 1911.

ALINA MATILDA RINNE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Norfolk, ss Superior Court.

On the foregoing Libel, it is ordered that the Libellant give notice to the said August Rinne the Libellee, to appear before the Justices of this Court to be holden at Dedham, within and for said County, on the first Monday of September next, by causing an attested copy of said Libel, and of this order thereon, to be published once in a week for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper printed at Quincy in the County of Norfolk, the last publication to be fourteen days at least before the said first Monday of September next, and further, by sending through the mail, as soon as may be, by a registered letter addressed to the last known residence of the said August Rinne an attested copy of said Libel and of this order thereon that the said August Rinne may then and there show cause why the prayer of said Libel should not be granted.

By the Court,

LOUIS A. COOK, Clerk.

July 13, A. D. 1911.

A true copy of said Libel, and of Order thereon.

Attest,

R. B. WORTHINGTON,
Assistant Clerk.
July 17-3t 17, 24, 31

Commonweal h of Massachusetts

Superior Court. Norfolk ss.

To the Honorable the Justices of the Superior Court next to be holden at Dedham within and for the County of Norfolk.

Respectfully libels and represents Emil Saastamoinen of the City of Quincy in said County that he was lawfully married to Adolfiina Saastamoinen now of Finland in some parts unknown to your libellant at said Quincy on the ninth day of July A. D. 1904, and thereafterwards your libellant and the said Adolfiina Saastamoinen lived together as husband and wife in this Commonwealth to wit, at said City of Quincy; that your libellant has always been faithful to his marriage vows and obligations but the said Adolfiina Saastamoinen being wholly regardless of the same at said Quincy and on or about the tenth day of August A. D. 1907, she utterly deserted him and has continued such desertion from that day to the date hereof being more than three consecutive years next prior to the filing of this libel.

Wherefore your libellant prays that a divorce from the bonds of matrimony may be decreed between your libellant and the said Adolfiina Saastamoinen.

Dated the eighth day of July A. D. 1911.

EMIL SAASTAMOINEN.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Norfolk, ss. Superior Court.

On the foregoing Libel, it is ordered that the Libellant give notice to the said Adolfiina Saastamoinen, the Libellee, to appear before the Justices of this Court, to be holden at Dedham within and for said County, on the first Monday of September next, by causing an attested copy of said Libel, and of this order thereon, to be published once in a week for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper printed at Quincy in the County of Norfolk, the last publication to be fourteen days at least before the said first Monday of September next, and further, by sending through the mail, as soon as may be, by a registered letter addressed to the last known residence of the said Adolfiina Saastamoinen an attested copy of said Libel and of this order thereon that the said Adolfiina Saastamoinen may then and there show cause why the prayer of said Libel should not be granted.

By the Court,

LOUIS A. COOK, Clerk.

July 13, A. D. 1911.

A true copy of said Libel, and of Order thereon.

Attest,

R. B. WORTHINGTON,
Assistant Clerk.
July 17-3t 17, 24, 31

CHICHESTER S PILLS
THE DIAMOND BRAND.
Ladies! Ask your Druggist for Chi-ches-ter's Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with Blue Ribbon. Take no other. Buy of your Druggist. Ask for CHI-CHES-TER S DIAMOND BRAND PILLS, for 25 years known as Best, Safest, Always Reliable
SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

EARL GREY

Who, With Laurier, Dissolved Parliament

STEAMER ASHORE

The Canadian Niobe Calls For Aid at an Early Hour

Halifax, July 31.—Steamers from Halifax and St. John were rushed to the assistance of the steamer Niobe, supposed to be ashore off the Nova Scotian coast, in answer to wireless calls for help from the vessel.

Its calls included an appeal for help couched in the following terms:

"Two of our boats have gone adrift with sixteen men in this tideway and are unable to regain ship. They would be off Baccaro Pont about 6 a. m. Please inform Baccaro Point to keep a lookout for them and keep us informed."

The wireless message sent out by the operator on the Niobe said that the starboard engine room had been pierced and flooded and that the vessel was taking water fore and aft.

The Niobe is a protected cruiser of 11,000 tons and is used as a training ship for the navy in the Atlantic.

INSANE MAN TRIES TO KILL HIS PHYSICIAN

Unsuccessful He Set Fire to His Farm Buildings

Burlington, Mass., July 31.—After attempting without success to shoot Dr. George W. Dodge, Alvin Carter, a farmer, while temporarily insane, set on fire and destroyed his farm buildings here. When help arrived Carter was placed in an ambulance and removed to the insane asylum at Danvers.

Dr. Dodge has been attending Carter for a mental trouble and was paying a professional visit when the farmer grabbed a shotgun and pulled the trigger. The weapon failed to explode.

Carter escaped from the doctor and going out of the house, set fire to the barn. Both the barn and the house were destroyed by the flames.

WAR TALK SUBSIDING

Feeling That France and Germany Will Come to Peaceful Settlement

London, July 31—The Moroccan crisis is believed to have been passed although the foreign office believes the negotiations will drag on for months.

England, too, would rather come to blows with Germany over Morocco or some question in which France is interested, than on a question in which only England and Germany are concerned. In the former case it is pointed out, England would have the assistance of France, but in the latter France might be inclined to stand aside.

There is a feeling in Paris that the controversy between France and Germany over Morocco will be settled peacefully. The negotiations are understood to have progressed to the point of fixing what part of the French Congo France is willing to cede for Germany's disintertedness in Morocco.

A GRAND TRUNK PURCHASE

Deeds Filed For Property For Freight Yards In Rhode Island

Providence, July 31.—The Southern New England Railway company filed the deeds of several parcels of land—the whole making a plot six acres in area—which it has purchased for freight yards.

The land lies a short distance from the business centre of the city. This is the first purchase of land by the Grand Trunk officially recorded in Rhode Island.

Meyer to Go to Europe

Washington, July 31.—Secretary of the Navy Meyer will leave for Europe this week to secure information concerning the method of administration in foreign navy yards.

Cohasset Man Electrocuted

Cohasset, Mass., July 31.—George Morse, 33 years old, an employe of the electric light company here, was electrocuted by touching a bare wire with a hand.

One's Meat Another's Poison

By MARTHA V. MONROE

Copyright by American Press Association. 1911.

Mrs. Mary Archard was sitting in the drawing room of a hotel in a western city when an old school friend, Sarah Bowles, came in.

"Why, Sallie," exclaimed Mrs. Archard, "what in the world are you doing here?"

"I have just arrived. What are you doing here?"

"I haven't seen you, Sallie, since our graduation day."

"It's nine years this June. Are you married?"

"Unfortunately, yes."

"That explains your being here. I came for the same purpose."

"Married a"—

"Brute."

"Singular, isn't it? That's our case exactly. Thank heaven, I am rid of mine. My divorce has been granted, and I expect the papers to be sent me any minute."

"Oh, dear, I have months of waiting before me."

Mrs. Archard was handed a telegram, which she read hastily and crumpled in her hand. It contained congratulations from a man whom she expected to marry. Unfortunately he was a married man, though he was hoping to be free. Considering that he was still bound to a wife, Mrs. Archard did not confide the matter to her friend. Then a telegram was handed Mrs. Bowles. It was from a man she expected to marry as soon as she became a single woman again. He, too, had been married, but had been liberated.

Mrs. Archard inquired the time of departure of the first train and learned that to take it she had only sufficient time to pack. Her only other meeting with her friend was when she passed hurriedly out to a conveyance for the station.

"Write me," said Mrs. Archard, giving the number and street of an eastern city, "and tell me how you come out with your suit."

"I will."

But no sooner had Mrs. Archard gone than Mrs. Bowles remembered that neither woman had asked the other's married name.

"Oh, dear," said Sarah Bowles, "how unfortunate! I can't write her, but when I go east I can call at the address she has given me."

But when Mrs. Bowles had got her decree and went east she did not find her friend at her former home. Mrs. Archard had just been married and gone abroad.

Mrs. Bowles, now being free, lost but little time in taking another partner, and the newly married couple also concluded to spend the honeymoon in Europe. One morning the two ladies while shopping in Paris met on the Rue de la Paix.

"Why, Mame," exclaimed Mrs. Bowles, "what are you doing here?"

"Enjoying life with the best man in the world. Did you get your decree?"

"Yes. I've just been married to the other best man in the world."

"I'm in an awful hurry. I'm to go to Fontainebleau at 11 o'clock. I've only time to meet my husband at the station. Do come and see me, or, rather, you and your husband dine with us tomorrow evening at 7, No. 45 Rue de B., second floor. We're in apartments. By-by!"

A taxicab was passing, and, hailing it, the lady got in and was driven away.

"Good gracious," exclaimed the other, "she didn't give me her married name. But I have the number, the street and the floor, so we will have no trouble in finding her."

The next evening the guests were received on the second floor of No. 45 Rue de B. by a maid, who showed the gentleman to a robing room and the lady to the hostess' bedroom. When dinner was announced the two ladies entered the drawing room with their arms around each other's waist. At the same time the two men entered by different doors. The four stood looking at one another with eyes and mouths wide open. Without knowing it they had swapped partners.

Had they possessed a sense of humor they would have laughed in spite of the trying situation. They stood awkwardly before one another, the women very red, the men restlessly changing position every moment.

"Sallie," said Mame, turning to her friend, "you said you had married a brute."

"And you said 'Our case exactly.'"

The two men looked, the one at the floor, the other at the ceiling.

"My dear," said one of the men, "etiquette requires that we two be introduced."

"My husband, Mr. Patterson," said the lady addressed.

"My husband, Mr. Archard," said the other.

"Mrs. Archard," said Mr. Patterson to the lady who had been his recent wife, "will you honor a brute by permitting him to escort you to dinner?"

"Mrs. Patterson," said Mr. Archard, "will you honor another brute by permitting him to escort you into dinner?"

Still, there was never a smile on the face of any one of the four. Each looked as if he or she was capable of biting a nail in two pieces.

But the juicy grape of La Belle France gradually dispelled the lowering look from their faces. At the conclusion of the dinner the host, raising her glass, said:

"What's meat to one is poison to another. May we be happy."

THE LAND OF PUZZLEDOM.

No. 1387.—Double Decapitations.

1. Behead to wander and leave a broad, flat utensil; again and leave a line of light.

2. Behead a strip of leather and leave a device for snaring animals; again and leave a smart blow.

3. Behead tasteless from age and leave a story; again and leave a beverage.

No. 1388.—Anagram.

Transpose the following letters and make the name of a poet beloved by all Americans:

"Enjoin the right; flee war."

No. 1389.—Diamond.

My first is a vowel. My second is a reptile used by Cleopatra. My third is the remains of burnt coal. My fourth is used to write with. My fifth is a consonant.

No. 1390.—Name Charades.

I.

My first was a fat little boy;
My second was very sweet.
It was his chiefest joy
That second for to eat.
One day he helped himself
More freely than he reckoned.
Cried mother at the pantry shelf,
"First, you've been third the second!"

II.

My whole's a very common name that's borne by many a youth.
Each whole, if questioned who he is, can answer quite with truth,
"Second third first," for so they are, and one who bore this name,
A mighty warrior from afar, to win all England came.

—Youth's Companion.

No. 1391.—A Riddle.

It would be stretching the truth to say that I go to school, yet I have taken many scholars to their daily studies, and, though no scholar myself, I am often found in schools. I travel at rather a rapid gait at times, but never have been caught gambling or squandering money recklessly, yet I often find myself strapped. The water is my home, but you may see me almost any day traveling over hot asphalt pavements. After death I am often kept on ice, but am no dead one when it comes to getting over the ice. Give me a good, sharp tempered mate and we will surely cut some ice when it comes to a question of speed; still I am often sneered at and referred to contemptuously by horsemen as "old."

No. 1392.—Picture Puzzle.

A Reminder of George Washington.

No. 1393.—Charade.

Dinner must wait; the train was late—
The train that carried Uncle Cutter;
So in the kitchen Bobby ate
A dozen ONES of bread and butter.

His tender mother knew, of course,
The consequence of TOTAL diet,
Yet knew as well it was, perforce,
The only way to keep him quiet.

At last the long suspense is done;
The guest, likewise the dinner, comes;
Our youngster drops his thirteenth ONE
And brushes off the telltale crumbs.

That TWO, be sure, was in the class
Of banquets spread for favorite sons,
But Bobby could not eat. Alas,
His appetite had gone to ONES!

No. 1394.—Curtailments.

In each sentence curtail the first blank to get the second. The curtailed letters are all the same.

1. She * her child do nothing ***.
2. She wore a blue * and red ***.
3. "Com *," he said crossly to ***.
4. I * to see a woman wear a red ***.
5. I fairly * for a diamond ***.
6. Baby was so tired I had to * the little ***.

No. 1395.—Homonym.

The day was cool. I took my gun
And to the woods I went,
There shot a great big **********
And took him to our tent.
My wife came out to meet me,
But when she took my prize
I had to chase the tomcat out
Or he  *  eyes.

Key to Puzzledom.

No. 1379.—Anagram: Miserable.

No. 1380—Word Square: Bird, idea, rent, date.

No. 1381.—Charades: 1. Win, dow (dhow)—window. 2. Sin, till, ate—scintillate. 3. King, fish, err—kingfisher. 4. Mat, a door—matador.

1382.—Beheadings: 1. W-heel. 2. S-hovel. 3. S-crawl. 4. M-ode. 5. H-eight. 6. F-right.

No. 1383.—Riddle: Ink.

No. 1384.—Pictured Word: O, shun, ocean.

No. 1385.—Crossword Jingle: August.

No. 1386.—Geographical Numerical Enigma: Great Britain. Words: Ararat, Tiber, Tangier.

ROOSTER COAL BRIQUETS

THE NEW ANTHRACITE COAL

ROOSTER BRIQUETS are made from the choicest small Scranton Anthracite coal, mined in Pennsylvania, called TWENTIETH CENTURY CHESTNUT size.

Just consider for a moment what we offer here in this 20th CENTURY CHESTNUT.

First, 200 pounds of clean, pure, hard coal without a rock or a piece of slate.

Second, fuel that cannot form into a clinker, by any known method of firing, consequently the linings and grates last indefinitely.

Third, they are made in nut size, being equally convenient for furnace heaters, open grates, as well as stoves; therefore, only one storage bin is necessary.

Fourth, and very IMPORTANT, the quality of this fuel is the SAME EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR, not a good ton today, and nothing like it the next time, in other words, when you once learn how to regulate your drafts you have nothing more to learn about burning BRIQUETS.

Fifth, no more sifting ashes these Briquets burn out clean. They require less wood to kindle.

Be sure to ask for "ROOSTERS" and get the Briquet made from pure Scranton Coal, from the largest Briquet plant in the country. They are better than coal, will last as long and cost less.

J. F. SHEPPARD & SONS,
AGENTS

Advertise In The Ledger

HOUSEHOLD RECIPES.

Swedish Soup. Take equal quantities prunes and raisins and cook very slowly in plenty of water until tender. Strain and sweeten. Cook sago until clear; mix with the hot fruit and juice and chill before serving.—Emma Paddock Telford.

Huckleberry Cakes. Mix together one quart of flour, one scant teaspoon salt, four teaspoons baking powder and one-half cup of sugar. Mix one-third cup butter, melted with one cup of milk, add it to the flour and then add enough more milk to make a dough stiff enough to keep in shape when dropped from a spoon. Flour one pint of berries, stir them in quickly, and drop by the large spoonful on a well-buttered pan or in muffin rings. Bake 20 minutes.—Mary J. Lincoln.

Banana Ice Cream. Cook two cups of sugar and two cups of water together for five minutes. Peel and press through a colander six large ripe bananas and add to the boiling syrup. Add the beaten yolks of three eggs and cook three minutes, stirring all the time. Take from the fire and set in a pan of ice or ice cold water, and beat the mixture 10 minutes. When cold add one quart of cream and freeze. Pack and let stand to ripen two hours.—Martha Dunmore.

Chocolate Pie. Mix one pint of new milk, two tablespoonfuls of grated chocolate and the yolk of an egg. Place in a pan that has been set into a skillet of boiling water. When it is ready to boil stir in two tablespoonfuls of flour and the same quantity of sugar. Flavor with vanilla to taste. Bake in one crust as a custard and cover with a meringue made of the white of the egg mixed with enough sugar to make a stiff froth.

Currants. Wash in a colander and strip the fruit from the stems. Heat one quart of the fruit with one cupful of sugar, and extract the juice; strain. Prepare a syrup from the juice and three pints of sugar; when boiling hot add five quarts of the prepared currants. Cook slowly for fifteen minutes, or until the mass is boiling hot; jar and seal.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, Lucas County, ss.
Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure. FRANK J. CHENEY.
Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.
A. W. GLEASON,
(Seal) Notary Public.
Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.
F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by all Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R.

In effect June 4, 1911

The letters in the same line as the figures below stand for different stations and indicate that trains stop as follows.

a Wollaston	f Harrison Square
b Norfolk Downs	g Savin Hill
c Atlantic	h Crescent Avenue
d Neponset	i South Boston
e Pope's Hill	r Quincy Adams

Exp.—Express train.

TO BOSTON			FROM BOSTON
Leave	Stop	Arrive	Leave	Stop	Arrive
r 5 14	abcdefghi	5 41	5 45	ihgfedeba	6 14 r
r 6 16	abci	6 35	6 12	ihgfedeba	6 39 r
r 6 33	e	6 48	6 30	a	6 47
r 6 40	abef	7 00	7 15	hgfedeba	7 41 r
r 7 08	abcd	7 30	7 41	a	7 58
r 7 25	d	7 42	7 45	e	8 03 r
r 7 33	Exp	7 48	8 35	eb	8 53
r 7 42	ab	8 00	8 42	a	8 59
7 57	a	8 15	9 10	fedba	9 32 r
r 8 19	abcd	8 31	9 45	a	10 01 r
r 8 30	Exp	8 45	10 15	ihgfedeba	10 41 r
r 8 53	ad	9 10	10 50	Exp	11 05
r 9 15	abc	9 33	11 15	hgfedeba	11 41 r
r 10 03	a	10 20	11 50	a	12 07
r 10 19	abcdefghi	10 45	12 15	hgfedeba	12 41 r
11 12	a	11 28	12 37	a	12 54 r
r 11 34	abcdefgh	11 50	12 50	Exp	1 05
12 04	a	12 20	1 11	fedeba	1 32 r
r 12 25	abcdefghi	12 52	1 45	a	2 02
1 22	a	1 40	2 15	ihgf	2 37 r
2 04	a	2 20	2 35	Exp	2 50
r 2 19	abcdefgh	2 45	3 15	hgfedeba	3 40 r
r 3 13	Exp	3 28	3 45	a	4 02
4 04	a	4 20	4 12	fedeba	4 34 r
r 4 25	abcdefgh	4 52	4 41	d	4 58
5 06	Exp	5 10	5 14	a	5 31 r
r 5 20	abcdefg	5 55	5 24	a	5 42
6 12	a	6 30	5 31	dcb	5 50 r
7 22	Exp	7 37	5 43	a	6 00 r
r 7 30	a	7 46	5 55	fedeba	6 21 r
r 8 07	abcdef	8 30	6 14	Exp	6 30 r
r 9 01	abc	9 20	6 30	ecba	6 51 r
10 04	a	10 20	7 00	fedeba	7 24 r
r 10 07	abcdef	10 30	7 12	a	7 29
r 11 27	abc	11 45	8 05	ba	8 32
			9 25	dba	9 46 r
			10 35	fedeba	11 02 r
			11 10	fedeba	11 35 r
			11 30	ba	11 49

SUNDAYS

r 7 43	abc	8 03	6 30	ba	6 48 r
8 30	Exp	8 45	45	ihgfedeba	9 13 r
8 34	abc	8 52	9 05	Exp	9 21
r 8 46	bedefghi	9 13	10 15	ihgfedeba	10 42 r
r 9 13	abc	9 33	12 15	ihgfedeba	12 42 r
9 31	a	9 47	12 45	Exp	1 01
10 23	ac	10 40	1 30	ihgfedeba	1 57 r
10 31	Exp	10 47	2 15	hgfedeba	2 42 r
11 00	Exp	11 17	2 45	a	3 02
r 11 16	abcdefghi	11 43	3 15	ihgfedeba	3 42 r
1 02	Exp	1 17	4 27	eba	4 48 r
r 1 16	abcdefgh	1 43	5 15	ihgfedeba	5 42 r
r 3 10	abc	3 30	6 15	ihgfedeba	6 42 r
r 4 16	abcdefghi	4 43	7 00	eba	7 19 r
r 5 07	abc	5 27	8 15	ihgfedeba	8 41 r
r 6 16	abcdefghi	6 43	8 50	Exp	9 05
r 7 16	abcdefghi	7 42	9 30	ihgfedeba	9 57 r
r 8 11	abcdefghi	8 38	10 45	eba	11 04 r
r 9 06	a	9 22
r 10 46	abc	11 05
r 11 01	abc	11 20

West Quincy for Boston (stopping at East Milton)-6.23, 6.56, 7.17, 8.04, 8.41, 9.07, 10.00, 11.01, A. M. 12.00, 1.23, 3.09, 3.18, 4.09, 5.13, 6.06, 7.19, 9.09, 11.14 P. M. Sundays- 8.20, 9.20 A. M. 12.59, 5.15, 6.50, 11.02 P. M.

Boston for West Quincy (stopping at East Milton)-6.35, 7.27, 8.23, 9.35, 10.25, 11.35 A. M. 12.25 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 5.47, 6.18 7.20, 9.10, 11.20 P. M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M.

Montclair for Boston 6.29, 7.27, 8.17, 10.15, A. M. 12.15, 1.29, 4.15, 5.20, 6.12, 7.24, 9.15, P. M. Sundays - 8.26, 9.26, A. M. 1.06, 5.21, 11.09 P. M.

Boston for Montclair 9.35, 10.25, 11.35, A. M. 12.25, 1.35, 2.45, 3.35, 4.35, 5.22, 6.18, 11.20 P. M. Sundays- 8.58 A. M. 12.38, 4.37, 5.37, 10.15 P. M.

Boston and Northern St. Ry. Co.

TIME TABLE

In effect June 24, 1911

(Subject to change without notice)

Leave QUINCY for

Brockton, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M. then 9.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Brockton, 6.30, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 9.30 P. M Sundays, 8.00A. M. then same as week days.

Braintree, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.50 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Braintree, 6.25 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.25 P. M. Sundays, 7.55 A. M. then same as week days.

East Milton, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Milton, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M., and every 20 minutes to 11.45 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.15 midnight.) Sundays, 7.25, A. M. then same as week days.

East Weymouth, 6.00, 6.15, 6.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.42 P. M. Sundays, 7.35 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave East Weymouth, 5.55, 6.15, 6.45 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.45 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Holbrook, 6.20 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 8.50 P. M. then 9.50 and 10.20 P. M. Sundays, 7.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Holbrook, 5.55, 6.25, 7.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.00 P. M. Sundays, 8.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Houghs Neck, Mondays to Fridays, both inc., 5.20, 5.45, 6.10 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 4.10 P. M. then 4.25, 4.40, 4.55, 5.10, 5.25, 5.40, 5.55, 6.10, 6.25, 6.40, 6.55, 7.10 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 11.10 P. M. then 11.49 P. M. Saturdays and Holidays, 5.20, 5.45, 6.10, 6.40, 7.10, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, 10.10, 10.40, A. M. then every 15 minutes to 10.40 P. M. then 11.10 and 11.49 P. M. Sundays, 6.50, 7.40, 8.10, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, 10.10, 10.40 A. M. then every 15 minutes to 10.40 P. M. then 11.10 P. M. Return, leave Houghs Neck Mondays to Fridays, both inc. 5.45, 6.05, 6.35 A. M. and ever 30 minutes to 4.35 P. M. then 4.50, 5.05, 5.20, 5.35, 5.50, 6.05, 6.20, 6.35, 6.50, 7.05, 7.20, 7.35 P. M. then every 30 minutes to 12.05 midnight. Saturdays and Holidays, 5.45, 6.05, 6.35, 7.05, 7.35, 8.05, 8.35, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05, A. M. then every 15 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.35 and 12.05 P. M. Sundays, 7.20, 3.05, 8.35, 9.05, 9.35, 10.05, 10.35, 11.05 A. M. then every 15 minutes to 11.05 P. M. then 11.35 P. M.

Nantasket 8.25 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 9.25 P. M. Sundays, 9.25 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Nantasket, 10.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.00 P. M. Sundays, 10.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Hancock Street, 5.45, 6.14, 6.44, 7.14, 7.44, 8.14, 8.35, A. M. then 5, 14, 35 and 44 minutes past each hour to 10.44 P. M. then 12.14 midnight. Sundays 7.14 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Neponset 6.37, 7.07, 7.37, 8.07, 8.35, 8.37, 9.05, 9.37 A. M. then 5, 7, 35 and 37 minutes past each hour to 11.07 P. M. then 12.37 midnight. Sundays, 7.37 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Wollaston. 5.59 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.59 P. M. then 11.14 and 11.44 P. M. Sundays, 6.59 A. M. then same as week days. Return leave Neponset, 6.22 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.22 P. M. then 11.37, 12.07 P. M. Sundays, 7.22 A. M. then same as week days.

Neponset via Norfolk Downs, 6.25, 6.55, 7.25, 7.55, 8.25, 8.50, 9.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 1.30 P. M. then 2.05, 2.35 P. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.05 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.00 P. M.) Sundays, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Neponset, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30, 9.00, 9.35 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 1.35 P. M. then 2.00, 2.30 P. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.30 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.30 P. M.) Sundays, 8.30, 9.00 A. M. then same as week days.

Weymouth Landing, 5.20, 6.00, 6.20, 6.55, 7.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.00 P. M. Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days. Return leave Weymouth Landing, 5.40, 6.15, A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.15 P. M. Sundays, 7.45 A. M. then same as week days.

Wollaston, 5.59 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 10.59 P. M. then 11.14 and 11.44 P. M. Sundays, 6.59 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave Wollaston, 6.30 A. M. and every 30 minutes to 11.30 P. M. then 11.50 and 12.20 P. M. Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days.

West Quincy, 5.30, 5.50, 6.10 A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.10 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays 11.50 P. M.) Sundays, 6.50 A. M. then same as week days. Return, leave West Quincy, 6.00, 6.20, 6.50, A. M. and every 20 minutes to 11.50 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 12.20 midnight) Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days.

Leave NEPONSET BRIDGE for Squantum, Week Days: 6.25, A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 9.25 P. M. then 10.25 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.25 P. M.) Sundays, 7.30 A. M. then same as week days.

Return, Leave Squantum for Neponset, Week days—6.00 A. M. and every 30 minutes until and including 10.00 P. M. then 11.00 P. M. (Wednesdays and Saturdays, 11.45 P. M.) Sundays, 7.00 A. M. then same as week days.

(Note)—Week Days, cars leaving Car House at 5.30 and 6 A. M, will run direct to Squantum. Sundays, cars leaving Car House at 6.30 and 7.00 A. M., will run direct to Squantum.

THOMAS GAMMON,
Superintendent.

VACATION.—North Country Visitor (to friend, also North Country)—"Come on, its too quiet here we're getting no value for our money."

Friend—"No value?" Why, man, I can hear three bands at once!"—Punch.

Quincy Daily Ledger

FOR SALE AT

BOSTON—At South Station after 3.30 P. M.
QUINCY—Ledger Office 1424 Hancock Street.
L. A. Chapin, 1395 Hancock St.
C. F. Carlson, oppo. Depot.
Thompson's Waiting Room, City Sq.
H. P. Kittredge, City Square.
J. P. O'Brien, 1595 Hancock St.
Mrs. Madden, 16 Quincy ave.
WOLLASTON—Shunk's News Stand.
PARK&DOWNS—Branschied & Marten.
ATLANTIC—Branschied & Marten.
QUINCY NECK—Stetson Pierce, Newcomb Square.
QUINCY POINT—H. H. I. Smith, Washington Street.
Gragg's Pharmacy.
L. A. Cook, Washington Street.
E. O. Godfrey, 538 Washington St.
E. H. Lowe, Washington Street.
George E. Sprague Cor. River St.
SOUTH QUINCY—Litchfield, Water St.
A. Pierson, 92 Granite St.
Miss C. Booth, Brooks Avenue.
BREWER'S CORNER—Emma Lark.
F. J. Pierson, 149 Granite St.
Mrs. F. H. Stanley.
WEST QUINCY—F. A. Skinner.
John G. Belanger.
HOUGHS NECK—Capt. Fosdick's.

QUINCY NOON TEMPERATURES.

At 12 M. today.	82 degrees
July 31, 1910,	80 degrees
July 31, 1909,	85 degrees
July Noon Maximum, 14 years,	101
July Noon Minimum, 14 years.	60

The Turning of the Tide.

BRIEFS

An interesting account of the water sports on Town river Saturday and other matter crowded out today, will appear in Tuesday's Ledger.

Mr. and Mrs. William Cleaves of Brookline were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Cleaves of Warren avenue.

Lester H. Clee, boys work director of the Y. M. C. A., left town last evening. He will take his vacation during the month of August and will start work in Providence the first of September.

The Ruth and Lydia class of the First Presbyterian church held an outing at Norumbega park, Saturday. The committee in charge was Misses Ellen Joss, Ruth McCullock and Matilda Bishop.

St. Peter and St. Paul courts of So. Boston and St. Francis court of West Quincy, M. C. O. F. held a joint outing at King Hill farm, Braintree yesterday afternoon. Among the prominent men present were Cornelius M. Duggan, H. C. R. and members of the high standing committee.

SOUTH BRAINTREE

Miss Clara Rushton of Kingston is visiting her aunt, Mrs. J. Alonzo Dyer of Pond street.

Mrs. Helen Gilman of Washington, D. C., is visiting her sister, Mrs. Joseph Kyte of Pond street.

Mrs. T. D. Cook and Miss E. E. Brigham have been visiting Mrs. J. A. Brigham of Pond street.

MARRIAGES

ASKERN—McFARLANE—In Quincy, July 29, by Rev. Edward Norton, Mr. Henry R. Askern and Mrs. Sarah McFarlane both of Quincy.

DEATHS

WALKER—In North Weymouth, July 29, Willis M. son of Ezra J. and Grace E. Walker of 23 Pratt avenue. Aged 4 months, 17 days.

DUNN—In Quincy, July 30, Margaret, widow of Patrick Dunn in her 77th year.

DYER—In South Braintree, July 31, Jacob A. Dyer of 286 Pond street, aged 65 years, 8 months, 18 days.

BENZIE—In West Quincy, July 30, Gertrude, daughter of Peter and Johanna Benzie, of 18 Hill street, aged 6 years, 11 months, 4 days.

Established 1870 Telephone
JOHN HALL
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
Carriage and Ambulance Service
1485 Hancock Street, Quincy Mass.

ASSUMED ROLL OF DETECTIVE

Follows Man To Boston And Has Him Arrested

STOLE HIS WATCH

Michael Collins of South street, assumed the roll of a detective in Boston Sunday and succeeded in having Percy St. Clair arrested for the larceny of his silver watch valued at $15. Both Collins and St. Clair boarded with John Shea at the corner of South and North streets. Last Friday night, St. Clair left and immediately following his departure Collins watch was missing. Sunday Collins saw St. Clair in Boston and followed him until he met an officer when he caused his arrest. Officer Whalen went to Boston and brought St. Clair to Quincy. In court this morning he pleaded guilty and was sentenced to six months in jail.

TODAY'S COURT.

Louis Rosenberg and Louis Becker were arraigned for violation of teh Metropolitan park rules at Quincy. Cases placed on file on payment of costs.

Charles Sulivan of Stoneham, Harold Flanagan, Robert Godfrey, William Linsen and Ernest McBeth of Wakefield were arraigned for disturbing the peace at Quincy. Cases continued until Thursday.

Arthur W. Hamilton and Hugh MacKenzie were fined the costs for disturbing the peace at Weymouth.

Percy St. Clair was arraigned for the larceny of a watch valued at $15 from Michael Collins at Quincy. He was sentenced to six months in the house of correction.

John E. Anderson was arraigned for breaking and entering the building of Peter A. Nelson and the larceny therefrom of goods to the value of $6.95. He pleaded guilty and was held in $500 for the grand jury.

BROKE IN STORE

John E. Anderson was arrested by officer Doran about 6 o'clock Sunday morning for breaking and entering the store of Peter A. Nelson on Granite street and the larceny therefrom of cigars, cigarettes, etc., to the value of $6.95.

When the officer met Anderson he had two bags with him and the officer noticing blood stains on them held Anderson up and opened the bags and found they contained a quantity of cigarettes, etc. On being questioned it is alleged that Anderson admitted he had broken into Nelson's store. Entrance was made by breaking a window.

He was arraigned in court this morning for breaking and entering in the night time and larceny. He pleaded guilty and was held in $500 for the grand jury. Anderson who is about 28 years of age resides at 181 Granite street.

CLUB HOUSE RAIDED AT HOUGHS NECK

Another club came to grief at Houghs Neck, early Sunday morning, when Officer Corbett arrested five young men in a cottage on Centre road on the charge of disturbing the peace. There have been numerous complaints against the cottage, it being alleged that loud talk, profane language and singing coming from it constituting a nuisance.

Sunday morning about 1 o'clock Officer Corbett went to the cottage, and arrested the five present. They gave their names as Charles Sullivan of Stoughton, Harold Flanagan, Robert Godfrey, William Linsen and Ernest McBeth of Wakefield. They were arraigned in court this morning and their case continued until Thursday.

The Wareham Courier, which has ever done its utmost to promote the progress and prosperity of that section, and has contributed to the full extent of its power to the increasing prestige which it has acquired, intends still further to herald its fame abroad to the people of the country by publishing on August 31 a summer souvenir edition. Local industries will be illustrated by means of halftone cuts.

LIVE SPORTING EVENTS

ON THE DIAMOND

American League

	Won.	Lost.	P. C.
Detroit	61	32	.656
Philadelphia	60	3	.652
Chicago	47	3	.522
New York	48	45	.516
Boston	48	46	.511
Cleveland	48	49	.495
Washington	33	60	.355
St. Louis	27	65	.293

National League

At Chicago:	R	H	E
Philadelphia	2	11	1
Chicago	1	4	1

Batteries—Moore, Alexander and Moran; Richie and Archer.

At St. Louis:	R	H	E
New York	6	14	0
St. Louis	0	2	2

Batteries—Wiltse, Wilson and Meyers; Harmon, Laudermilk and Bliss.

At Cincinnati:	R	H	E
Brooklyn	5	8	3
Cincinnati	4	12	3

Batteries—Knetzer, Scanlon and Erwin; Suggs, Humphries and McLean.

Second Game:	R	H	E
Brooklyn	4	7	0
Cincinnati	2	10	1

Batteries—Ragon, Schardt and Miller; Gaspar and Severoid.

	Won.	Lost.	P. C.
Chicago	55	33	.625
Philadelphia	56	36	.609
New York	55	36	.604
Pittsburg	54	37	.593
St. Louis	52	40	.565
Cincinnati	38	53	.418
Brooklyn	34	57	.374
Boston	20	72	.217

New England League

	Won.	Lost.	P. C.
Lowell	53	31	.631
Lawrence	47	35	.573
Worcester	45	37	.549
Brockton	44	38	.537
Lynn	41	39	.513
Fall River	35	44	.443
New Bedford	29	48	.377
Haverhill	28	50	.359

INDEPENDENTS GET EVEN.

The Quincy Independents got back at the West Quincys, on Saturday and won the second game of the series of three, by a score of 11 to 8. The Independents acquired a new battery for this second contest, but even so the West Quincys got 15 hits to 14 by the Independents. There were more features at the bat than in the field, practically every man on either team getting a hit. The West Quincys lost the game on base-running, not less than six men being put out at home plate and almost as many at third base trying to stretch their hits for an extra base or attempting to get runs by force draught methods. The third and last game next Saturday is sure to bring out a record attendance and the game will be all that is desired. The West Quincys will feel the loss of Berry who received an injury to his leg and will be unable to play again for some time.

The score by innings of Saturday's game:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Quincy Ind.	1	2	0	1	3	0	1	2	1—11
W. Quincy	0	0	0	0	4	0	0	4	0— 8

Batteries, Hawks and Barry; Williams and Duggan.

MOHAWKS DEFEATED.

The Mohawks were defeated by the North End Unions of Boston at Ward Six on Saturday by a score of 8 to 5. The home team should have won the game since it outbatted its opponent 9 to 5. Errors counted largely in the defeat. Smith pitched a good game allowing but five hits but ragged support defeated his best efforts.

The score by innings:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
No. End U.	0	1	0	4	0	0	1	2	0— 8
Mohawks	0	0	0	0	4	0	0	1	0— 5

Batteries, Fisher and Criss; Smith Duggan and Allicon.

MANETS LOST

The Manets lost to the Linden A. A. at Merrymount Park on Saturday by the score of 17 to 2.

The New England Telephone Co. was scheduled to play but their manager was unable to get his team together, so had to cancel. The Linden A. A. was without a game so it was taken on. Friday night it was seen that the Manets would have to play with subs as most of the team had promised to play at the Weymouth Fair. McCarty is laid up with a bad ankle for at least three weeks. "Jep" Saunders caught "Ed" Hoyt, but Hoyt was either badly supported or he let loose a wild pitch or Saunders a passed ball. As it was only 6 hits were got off Hoyt.

Of the regulars there was O'Rourke, Kane and Howley.

The score by innings:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R
Linden	0	2	4	1	0	1	2	7	0	—17
Manet B. B. C.	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	2	—2

Batteries, Hines, Clapp, Linehan and Kendall.

Umpires: Pinel and Cosgrove.

GOOD GAME AT SOMERVILLE

Quincy Y. M. C. A. was defeated by St. Joseph's C. T. A. on Saturday at Lincoln park, Somerville by a score of 10 to 5. Robertson had the home team well in hand up to the sixth inning when they landed on him for four hits which coupled with an error gave St. Josephs 5 runs. The features of the game were the hitting of Holmes for Quincy and of Dunleavy for St. Josephs.

The score by innings:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R
St. Josephs	0	0	3	0	0	5	1	1	—10
Q Y M C A	4	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	1— 5

MAKARIA LOST HARD GAME.

Makaria lost to the Child's team of Middleboro, on Saturday in a 10 inning game by a score of 3 to 2. The home team got two runs in fourth innings and Makaria evened up in the sixth. During the next three innings there was no scoring by either side. In the tenth a timely hit with a man on second brought in the winning run. The game was one of the most interesting of the season according to the fans and both pitchers gave good accounts of themselves. Rice and Troupe worked well together and should do good work throughout the rest of the season.

The score by innings:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10
Middleb.	0	0	0	2	0	0	0	0	1	—3
Makarias	0	0	0	0	0	2	0	0	0	—2

Batteries, Clark and Belmont; Rice and Troupe

APPRENTICES WON GREAT GAME

The Fore River Apprentices won from the Dorchester A. A. at the Weymouth Fair grounds on Saturday by a score of 8 to 7. The Apprentices won on their superior hitting getting 14 hits to their opponents eight. Creswell and Lang led in individual honors at the bat each getting three hits, one a two bagger, Gilbert, shortstop on the Dorchester team, led his team in batting with an equally good record The fielding of both teams was also remarkably good. Blackwood at shortstop accepted five chances with out an error, Williamson made eight assists, Creswell playing third base did exceptionally well in a new position. Boyle was up to his usual high standard and Horgan and O'Brien played very well.

For the losers, Gilbert covered a lot of ground at shortstop and made four assists without an error. The Menedeer brothers on first and behind the bat did good work. Williamson and Sheehan divided the honors pretty evenly in pitching. Williamson allowed fewer hits but struck out fewer men than the opposing twirler.

The score:

FORE RIVER

	bh	po	a	e
Blackwood, ss	1	0	5	0
Williamson, p	1	0	8	0
Boyle, e	2	9	3	0
Creswell, 3b	3	3	2	1
Pepper, 1b	2	10	2	1
Lang, lf	3	0	0	0
Thomas, rf	0	0	0	0
Horgan, 2b	1	3	2	0
O'Brein, cf,	1	2	2	0
Totals	14	27	24	2

DORCHESTER A. A.

C. Menedeer, c	2	13	3	0
Gilbert, ss	3	0	4	0
Morallis, 2b	1	2	3	1
A. Hennessey, 3b	0	0	2	1
W. Menedeer, 1b	0	10	2	0
Edwards, cf	1	1	0	0
Sheehan, p	0	0	2	0
Parker, lf		01	1	0
W. Hennessey, rf	1	0	1	0

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Fore River	r	0	1	0	1	2	1	2	1	0—8
Dorchester A.A.	0	0	0	0	0	5	0	1	0	1—7

Runs made by Blackwood, Boyle 2, Creswell, Pepper, Lang, Williamson, Horgan, Menedeer, Gilbert, Edwards Sheehan, Hennessey 2. Two-base hits, Gilbert, Boyle, Creswell, Lang. Stolen bases, Blackwood 2, Boyle, Pepper, Lang, O'Brien, Gilbert, Mendeer, Hennessey. Bases on balls by Williamson, 2, Sheehan. Struck out by Williamson 7, by Sheehan 10. Sacrifice hits, Pepper, Lang, Boyle. Umpire, Bowker. Time 1h 55m.

WON FROM WEYMOUTH

The Wollaston tennis team visited Weymouth Saturday in a match tournament with the Abington Y. M. C. A. by a score of 5 to 1. The summary:

SINGLES

Brokaw of Wollaston defeated Wheatley of Abington, 6—4, 6—4.

Bates of Wollaston defeated Russell of Abington, 6—1, 6—3.

Hubbard of Abington defeated Litchfield of Wollaston, 6—5, 6—3.

DOUBLES

Northrup and Baker of Wollaston defeated W. P. Arnold and Wales of Abington, 6—4, 6—3.

Brokaw and Litchfield of Wollaston defeated Homer and Stanley Arnold of Abington, 6—4, 2—6, 6—1.

Bates and Allen of Wollaston defeated Russell and Turner of Abington 6—2, 6—1.

STATION OUTING CLUB WINS.

The Station Outing Club won a fast and interesting game from the South Quincy Extension Club by the score of 6 to 3. The feature of the game was the pitching of DiBona getting fifteen strike outs and the fielding of Cummings for the winners, and the fielding of Carlson for the losers.

Station Outing Club Battery, DiBona and Carlson,

South Quincy Extention Club, Carlson and Veale.

Score by innings 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9

Station O. C.	5	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	0
So. Quincy Ex. Club	0	1	0	0	1	0	0	0	1

PRESS CLUB TOURNAMENT

The first day of the Press Club golf tournament at the links of the Wollaston golf club is bringing out a large field of men of all professions. Doctors, lawyers, actors, authors, newspaper men and numerous other kinds are to participate. Lt. Gov. Frothingham is expected to take part in the tournament as well as many other well known professional men and well known golfers. Among those from the Wollaston club are W. F. Kearns, J. J. Gallagher, J. E. McLaughlin, J. J. Daniels, Paul Sherwin, J. R. Thayer and James Mulcahy.

HORSE TROTTING

There was some exceptionally good racing, Saturday, at South Weymouth park under the auspices of the Old Colony Gentlemens driving club, in connection with the annual picnic of the Sacred Heart church of Weymouth

The winners in theseveral classes were Class A. Camelle; class B, Young Bayard; Class E, Acquiline; class F, Firebug; class I, Lady B; class D, May boy; class H, Macana; class G, Arena; class C, Duffy's Malt.

RACE NOT FINISHED.

Lack of wind prevented the ocean race of the Wollaston yacht club being finished within the time limit of eight hours, Sunday, and it will be sailed again. The race started at 11.30 with twelve boats. The course was to Boston lightship, to the Graves light and home. There was a fair breeze at the start but it petered out. At the time of the expiration of the time limit the Eleanor was leading and she had been in the same position during the greater part of the race. It was after dark before the boats finished.

DEFEND TITLE

Baker and Hillman of the Wollaston Tennis club, holders of the Quincy Tennis club challenge cup, defended their title to the cup Saturday at the courts of the Quincy club on Whitney road. The challenging pair were Rockwell and Carleton of the Quincy club, who won the July Fourth doubles, which gave them a right to challenge for the cup which was won by Baker and Hillman last year. There was a large gallery of spectators and the play was closely watched. Messrs Baker and Hillman successfully defended their title to the cup winning three out of five matches. The summaary:

Baker and Hillman beat Rockwell and Carleton 5-7, 6-4, 2-6, 6-0, 6-3.

SQUANTUM YACHT RACES

The annual open and interclub race under the auspices of the Squantum yacht club was held Saturday, 52 sailing and power boats participating. There was a very light breeze at the start, in fact not enough air to fill the sails and the start of the race was delayed for an hour while the yachtsmen whistled for wind.After a while there was a light south westerly breeze and the race as started over the 7 1-2 mile course. The same course was used for all classes and they were sent away at intervals of five minutes. The course gave the sailing boats a close reach, a run and windward work to the finish line. The actual work of the race however came on the last leg for the yachts not only had to work against the wind but the tide at that time was on the ebb.

The race made a pretty sight from the club house and the race was watched by a large number of visitors who were entertained by the club in its usual hospitable manner. Owing to the lateness in starting it was late before the last of the fleet had finished.

Local interest was largely centered in the cape cat class but as several fastest boats depend on a stiff breeze the usual winners finished low in the list with the exception of the Mudjekeewis which was an easy winner on both actual and corrected time defeating the Arawak, one of the old time crack boats by over a minute corrected time.

NOTICE

On and after this date I will not be responsible for any bills contracted by my wife, Elizaberth L. Sadlier.

FREDERICK E. SADLIER.

July 29, 1911. 31-3t

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements under this head 25 words or less one time 25 cents. Three consecutive insertions 50 cents, 6 consecutive insertions 75 cents.

No advertisements taken over the telephone, received by mail or at the office unless accompanied by cash.

LOST

LOST—Saturday, July 29, 9 A. M., Coddngton street near Newcomb, a cover for fish tail back of auto, painted maroon. Reward, James Nichols, Jr., 87 Coddington street. July29-3t

LOST
SAVINGS BANK BOOKS

Savings Bank Books as listed below have been lost and application has been made for payment of the accounts in accordance with Section 40 Chapter 590 of the Acts of 1908. Payment has been stopped.

Book No. 8,658	Book No. 31,737
Book No. 15,170	Book No. 31,975
Book No. 18,200	Book No. 32,578
Book No. 20,644	Book No. 33,021
Book No. 23,9 8	Book No. 34,612
Book No. 25,089	Book No. 36,334
Book No. 28,806	Book No. 37,199

QUINCY SAVINGS BANK
CLARENCE BURGIN, Treasurer.
July 22-3t--22-29-5

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—2 family house 7 rooms and bath each, 6800 feet land, renting for $62. a month, 3 minutes walk from city square. Wm. H. Teasdale, Room 23 Adams building. July31-6t

FOR SALE—One lot 2d hand furniture, refrigerator, 4 chests drawers, couch, hall rack, dozen odd chairs. Address W. X. Care Patriot Office. Quincy. July 29-2w. L 31-1t

FOR SALE or TO LET—Before you buy or rent, consult me. Houses for sale or to rent in the finest residential section in Quincy. All improvements. Close to school, churches, stores and depot. C. A. ERICSON, Builder 117 Glendale Road. Tel. Quincy 586 M. W and Sat. May 22-tf

FOR SALE—Safe, light express, small pung, platform pung, Fairbank's platform scales, truck. J. H. Litchfield, 7 Brook street, Wollaston, near station. Tel. Quincy 42. July 28-3t

FOR SALE—Two horses, stone wagon, harness, and sleigh in good condition. Inquire at 34 Clark avenue, Quincy. July 26-3t

FOR SALE—A Steck grand square piano, New York make, in first-class condition. For information inquire at 49 Upland road. Terms low. Tel. 507-1, Quincy. July 26-6t

Cremo 5¢
CIGAR
QUALITY PLUS

INSURES THUMBNAIL.

Painter Uses It In Graining and Can't Risk Losing It.

Determined that he shall not suffer financially for any injury to his thumb nail, causing him enforced idleness, Charles Heinsey, a grainer employed by a Newton (N. J.) painter, took out an accident insurance policy for $50 on his thumb nail. Heinsey says he would not take $100 and part with the nail, but he thought that $50 insurance would be enough.

Heinsey's fifty dollar nail is on his right thumb and is one and one-half inches long. He uses the nail almost entirely in his business and says it is much better than an artificial grainer. Heinsey says he got the idea of insuring his nail when he suffered an accident some months ago which caused him to lay off work. Several times the nail has been broken, and each time he lost money by remaining idle.

Loss Through Bark Disease.

Property owners in New Jersey have lost $4,500,000 in chestnut trees within the last few years owing to the chestnut bark disease.

For the Housewife.

To remove the smell of fresh paint put a pail of cold water in the room and change it every two or three hours.

An excellent aid toward curing stammering, if there is no absolute malformation of the organs of articulation, is to read aloud with the teeth closed.

If lime gets into the eyes when passing buildings that are being torn down bathe with a little weak vinegar and water and remove any pieces of lime with a feather or a little absorbent cotton.

To remove grease from a kitchen table scrub well with hot water to which half a teaspoonful of whiting has been added; wipe and then dry thoroughly with a clean cloth. This will make the table look equal to new.

A slice of lemon put into the copper when boiling clothes will make them beautifully white and will remove all stains from handkerchiefs and children's clothes. Cut the lemon, with the rind, into slices and allow it to remain in the boiler until the clothes are ready to come out.

TO LET

TO LET—Apartment 9 rooms, modern improvements, Cleverly Court, Quincy Point. Rental $25 per month. E. M. Freeman, 653 Washington street, Quincy Point. July 29-6t

TO LET—Desirable Single House in Quincy Centre to private family only. Has 8 rooms, bath and laundry, range, shades, screens, open fireplaces, large porch and yard. For further particulars and keys apply at No. 41 Spear street, Quincy.
July 28-tf L. P. O.

TO LET—Half house 7 rooms all improvements. $25 per month. Apply at 41 Spear street, Quincy.
July 28-tf

TO LET—A tenement, range and bath. Moderate rent. Inquire 70 Glencoe place, Quincy. July 27-tf

TO LET—In Wollaston Park, small suite, modern improvements, nice locality, near beach and cars. Apply 132 Marlboro street, Wollaston.
July 26-6t

BOARD AND ROOM—Two young men can be accommodated with room and board in strictly private family near centre. Everything first-class. Home privileges to right party. References exchanged. Address "R. F. E." care Ledger office. July 25-6t

TO LET—New house, 6 rooms and bath, modern conveniences, 10 minutes walk from shipyard. Can be bought on easy terms. Apply to Frank Leben, 76 Howard street, East Braintree.
July 25-6t

TO LET—On Spear street, tenement of 4 rooms and bath. All modern improvements. Apply to C. A. Ericson, 117 Glendale road. Tel 586 M.
June 27-tf

FOR RENT—Quincy, Centre, opposite Adams Academy, house of 8 rooms and bath, also garage, 3 minutes to R. R. Station. Dr. E. S. Taylor, 527 Main street, South Weymouth. Tel. 263L, Weymouth. May 10-tf

TO LET

Tenement—22 B Granite Street. $10.00 per month.

Greenleaf Hall—Greenleaf Block Large Furnished Hall with various anterooms—to let by the evening or permanently.

City Square Hall, Office or Shop—Hancock Chambers, 2 flights up, 28x43 feet and 20 feet high. Splendid light, low rent

Quincy Real Estate Trust,
(Ask for Mr. Kribs.)
Music Hall Block, Quincy.

FOR RENT

BY FRANK FESSENDEN CRANE, Temple Street, Quincy.

Single House in first class condition, conveniently located good neighborhood for Private Family. 8 rooms, laundry, bath, piazzas, and all modern conveniences. Ready for occupancy.

Half House, right up to-date, all improvements, 7 rooms and bath. Sunny location and good neighborhood. Just right for small family.

July 28-'po-tf

FOR SALE

The cozy home, situated No. 24 Marsh Street, consisting of a six room house, city water, 4400 square feet of land, fruit trees. Price reasonable.

Call and see,

JAMES F. BURKE,
REAL ESTATE AGENT,
Room 4, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, Mass.
July 15-tf